General has no plans to seek phone rate boost

No automatic LD dialing

General Telephone has no present plans to ask the new Texas Utilities Commission for a phone rate increase and chances are pretty dim that Post will ever achieve long distance automatic dialing status.

Those were just two of the answers given by Kenneth Klutts, division service office manager for General Telephone at Brownfield, to questions following his talk before the Post Rotary Club here Tuesday in the city hall auditorium.

In responding to the automatic dialing question, Klutts said that eventually all stations with 5,000 connections or more would receive automatic dialing.

The 5,000 connections mark appears to be well out of Post's reach.

When asked about any request for a phone rate increase, Klutts said while his firm has no present plans to make such a request it is surveying all its Texas operations to accurately determine its present costs. This could be used as a base for a future rate request.

In his talk, Klutts gave a brief history of the independent telephone movement in the United States, pointing out it is preparing to commemorate its 100th anniversary.

The speaker said some 1,600 independent telephone companies in this country today serve some 26 million telephones while 25-Bell related companies serve some 121.8 million telephones.

He went on to give a brief history of General Telephone Electronics, which originally was organized in 1926, was reorganized in 1935 during the depression under its present name and has grown to a size where today it has 16 million phones serving areas with populations totaling 23 million Americans.

Meeting to be Feb. 9 of museum group

A special meeting of the Garza County Museum Association has been called for 4:30 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 9 in the museum building by Jack Alexander, president of the association.

All members are urged to attend.

Governor's plaque is given at breakfast

Postex Plant Manager Ed Bruton was presented with a certificate and desk plaque from Governor Dolph Briscoe as a highlight of the Post Chamber of Commerce's second quarterly breakfast in the Post Community Center Friday morning.

The presentation to Bruton was made by Chamber president Charles McCook. It represented Governor Briscoe's recognition of Postex Plant's participation in the governor's recent Texas First jobs creation program in which Briscoe sought industry's aid to create 4,000 new industrial jobs.

The quarterly breakfast, hosted by the First National Bank, was very successful with about 65 turning out for a good

'77 red auto tabs on sale

The little red 1977 auto "tabs" went on sale Tuesday in County Tax Assessor T. H. Tipton's office, but there wasn't the rush there used to be for new auto tags.

Since everybody keeps the same number, few are in a hurry to replace their 1976 blue tabs with the 1977 red ones.

Tipton reported sales brisk, but not rushing.

In the old days, the early comers got to pick specific numbers. Now by paying extra you get your own plate made.

It was Chamber president McCook himself and he was quite embarrassed about his name being drawn, but the other business men insisted he should keep it.

McCook reminded Chamber members that Friday, Feb. 4, is the deadline for returning ballots for Chamber directors and president to the Chamber office. The ballots were mailed all members some days ago.

WANT TO BOOST HOSPITAL — Jack Alexander, chairman of the Post Rotary Club's benefit pancake supper for Garza Memorial Hospital holds up a handful of tickets for the pancake and bacon extravaganza in the Post Community Center Friday night, Feb. 11. Jack also is one of the directors of Garza Memorial Hospital. Tickets are going for "$3 or more donation." Some 40 other Rotarians besides Jack are selling them, hoping to raise $5,000 or more to aid the hospital. — (Staff Photo)

TREES, TREES — Something you don't find many of in West Texas but plentiful in Hawaii is shown above is part of the group that went recently with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Head in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. This picture was taken in Cocoa Palms on the island of Kauai.

Trip to Hawaii helps couple observe 50th

The dream of a lifetime came true for a local couple recently when they journeyed to Hawaii to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Head were honored on their 50th anniversary with a trip to Hawaii by their son, Mack Head and wife of Baton Rouge, La. Actually their anniversary was June 22, and the trip was planned but their son couldn't get time off at that time, so the trip had to be planned for a later date.

That date arrived January 19 when Mr. and Mrs. Head accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.

Durwood Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nichols and Mrs. Basil Puckett left Lubbock for Dallas, joined there by their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Head, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Lou Saucier and Mrs. Mae McMillan all of Baton Rouge, La. The group left Dallas on a direct flight to Hawaii on a 747.

The group had an eight-day tour of the islands including Honolulu, Kauai and Oahu. They reported the weather was beautiful with 80 degree days and 68 degree nights.

One of the highlights of their trip was to see the Don Ho

Show where the couple were recognized and presented with a bottle of champagne. They also attended a luau where they were recognized. Other attractions were to visit the sunken US battleship, Arizona, and to tour the Little Grand Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Head were married June 22, 1926 in Tahoka and have lived in and around Post most of their married life, living in Arkansas and Louisiana at various times. Mr. Head is now retired and works with the local Green Thumbers.

They returned to Post last Wednesday.

903 books read in January

Post Library patrons went back to reading in January. Mrs. C. K. Pierce, librarian, reports a total of 903 books checked out in January.

These included 267 non-fiction books and 637 of the fiction variety with 742 checked out by adults and 161 by boys and girls.

Forty-seven new books were placed on library shelves during the month.

Fines, book sales, donations totaled $29.39 for the first month of 1977, according to the librarian's monthly report.

Larry Gilbreath is new deputy Sheriff Jim Pippin has brought his sheriff's department to full strength with the employment this week of Larry Dennis Gilbreath, former highway patrolman, as a deputy.

Gilbreath, 29, who comes to Post from Haskell where he was employed in the Ford Agency, is a brother of Ken Gilbreath, former highway patrolman here. He is a certified officer.

The Dispatch was in error two weeks ago in reporting that other hirings had brought the force to full strength.

Dr. Hudman gives paper at symposium

Dr. Joe Hudman with Champion Chemicals in Houston presented a paper "Flow-metric Monitoring of Corrosion Inhibitor Residual" during a symposium held in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 17.

The symposium, entitled "Water for Subsurface Injection", included 12 papers presented. These papers included Evaluation of Treatment, Water Quality, and Corrosivity of Subsurface Water Injection Systems.

Dr. Hudman is a 1967 graduate of Post High School and received his doctorate from the University of Kansas.

Library Friends are reorganized here

The Friends of a Public Library were reorganized here as an action group Saturday morning with Mrs. Louise McCrary elected chairman and two projects—a weekly story hour for pre-school children and a beginners knitting class immediately launched.

Other projects are to come. Seventeen turned out for the first session of the Friends since the organization was instrumental a decade ago in guiding public interest in the development of the Post Public Library.

Mrs. McCrary is the Friends only officer. There are no dues and members decided against formally affiliating with either state or national Friends of the Library organizations.

The first of the new February projects, which will be operated by the Friends, will be the story hour for pre-school children, ages three through five, from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. each Friday morning in the library, beginning Friday morning, Feb. 4.

Mrs. Debra Adams will conduct the story hour for the month of February with direction being rotated on a monthly basis.

Melanie King in SPC beauty competition

LEVELLAND — Melanie King of Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robbie King, is one of the 16 candidates who were scheduled to compete here Wednesday night, Feb. 2, for the title of Miss Caprock Beauty of South Plains College.

A queen and a court of four runners-up were to be selected. Miss King was nominated for the contest by Forrest Hall.

Pickup hit by freight train

A pickup truck belonging to one of the Southland area Wheelers was demolished about 5 p. m. Friday when it was hit by a Santa Fe freight train at Southland's north crossing.

Sheriff Jim Pippin, who helped the highway patrol investigate the accident, said the pickup had stalled on the track at the crossing.

When the train approached, the woman employee driving the pickup jumped from it safely and was not injured.

the person's driving record or used for any purpose."

County Attorney Poole's interpretation of this law is that the justice of the peace has the choice of dismissing the charge or letting it stand.

The attorney for Lindsey obviously thinks otherwise, that once the course is subsequently taken the charge must be dismissed.

At present there are 38 appeals from Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson's decisions on traffic violations on County Attorney Preston Poole in answering the petition of Eugene Ramon Lindsey of Lubbock contends that Lindsey cannot take action in a civil court on a criminal matter.

In his petition, Lindsey's attorney cites Section 143A, Article 6701d of the Texas Revised Civil statutes to support his contention that the speeding charge must be dropped.

Those pancakes are first

A big turnout to the Rotary Club's benefit pancake supper Friday night, Feb. 11, is the first action response this community can give to its financially troubled hospital.

Proceeds from the supper will go to the hospital which is struggling to maintain services and make ends meet.

The tickets are $3, or any larger amount one wishes to contribute to this fine cause.

Hospital directors will hold their February meeting tonight and the financial picture is expected to be temporarily brighter because January is usually the biggest business month of the year for hospitals and normal December collections ran behind because of the holidays.

It looks to us as if the board should go to work tonight to call a special election Saturday, April 2, to increase the maximum tax the district can levy from 25 cents to 75 cents per $100 valuation.

If that fails probably so will the hospital. If it succeeds there is a light at the end of the tunnel for the hospital.

Then we will all have to work together to get there.

But to start with, the hospital needs to "manage" until an April election. You can help by eating pancakes and bacon at the community center Feb. 11 and putting your small hospital contribution into the community pot.

Bitter winter---a blessing?

The bitter winter in the upper midwest and eastern portions of the United States probably will produce some long range good to go along with all the bad--closed schools and factories, deaths and damage.

The losses of this bitter winter are sure to total into the billions, but it may be a cheap price at that.

The last two winters before this one have been mild in this country and no fuel crisis resulted as experts had predicted. Their cries of wolf fell on deaf ears. Things were going along all right--on imported oil--so why change them.

The United States today is about the only country on this earth without an energy plan. If this sounds strange, it isn't really. Americans do not get tough, especially with themselves, until it is absolutely necessary.

There have been a number of energy plans in Washington all along. The President has had one. There have been various others in Congress. But there was no political will to enact one into law simply because the people were not ready to buy--and the bill is going to be rather steep--a real energy plan for this country's future.

Maybe now, with almost half the nation in economic paralysis by winter weather, this will be possible. Especially if winter's cold grip holds on a while--and get's worse.

Certainly, Americans need to awaken to their energy needs.

New sources, new kinds, new searches, tough decisions, a whole lot of money, and worst of all--some loss of the individual's "energy freedom" must result. It won't be easy. It won't be nice. There will be goofs, and who knows what in the end will happen to what is left of Texas' supply of natural gas.

But come it must. And better now than later. Better after one terrible winter than two, six, or twenty.

Better now in peace than in some future confrontation with the Soviets who have built a navy which can easily cut off our Middle Eastern oil supply.

Better now when there is some oil and gas left for a transition to other energy sources.

Better now!

Selfish motive really

As a part of his economic recovery package President Carter sent to Congress this week with a $31.2 billion price tag is the creation of 92,000 jobs for Vietnam-era veterans, focussing first on the disabled.

Under the Carter plan, the government would pay private firms a varying amount, depending on the person's job, for employment and training up to one year.

Certainly, this is one segment of the President's program that has The Dispatch's wholehearted support.

It isn't exactly new of course. The "on the job training" programs have been offered by the government for years now in an effort to work unemployed into employables by training them.

Of course there will be the usual ripoff in which some employers will take advantage of the government, and the veterans, and accept government training funds to get positions filled at a lower than usual cost.

And there will be too much bureaucratic paper work and crazy requirements to meet for many employers who want to do the right thing and take a veteran to accept.

In trying to prevent the ripoffs, the government drives off a real group of exactly the kind of employers they are trying to reach.

One of the major difficulties in succeeding with this "jobs for veterans" program will be communicating with the business community. We trust some of the bright-eyed young Georgians think of this because the old bureaucratic ways are not enough.

The selling point for the program to the harassed business man who constantly fights against rapid turnover in skilled or semi-skilled positions is that such employees, once trained and fitted into a business organization, could be expected to be more permanent than those he generally hires and trains--and loses.

It is a good, selfish sales motive, no flag waving whatsoever involved. But it is difficult for bureaucratic government to sell a package like this without getting it all entwined in red tape excessive paper work, and loss in the end of at least part of the employer's freedom of choice.

Jimmy Carter isn't suggesting a new idea, you see. It's an old one. But it can be sold providing some new salesmanship is involved.

RETURNS HOME

Herbie and Ann Hays and son of Austin returned home Sunday after spending some time visiting his mother, Mrs. Mattie Hays and other relatives and friends. They also attended the funeral services of Raymond Lee in Odessa.

AUSTIN — Atty. Gen. John Hill is setting up a new unit to investigate white-collar crime which costs Texans an estimated $840 million a year.

Hill will rely on the Deceptive Trade Practices Act, the State Securities Act and other laws to crack down on so-called "Corporate crime committed with a fountain pen."

Since Hill has only civil powers, he must cooperate with district attorneys and federal officials where criminal violations are suspected.

A unit director, three investigators and two attorneys will be financed by a $235,000 federal grant extending over an 18-month period.

Investigations already under way include South Texas banking irregularities spotlighted by collapse of banks at Carrizo Springs and Rio Grande City, disappearance of a Wichita Falls grain dealer and possible misapplication of state funds by a state highway employee.

A three year old Chamber of Commerce study classifies as white collar crimes deceptive trade practice, embezzlement and pilferage, securities theft and fraud, receiving stolen property, bribery, payoffs, kickbacks and various other forms of fraud.

Attorneys Dominate

As in most other states and Congress, lawyers dominate other professional groups in the Texas legislature.

Of the 150 House members, 38 per cent are attorneys.

And 21 of 31 Senate places are now held by lawyers.

The House includes 30 businessmen, 11 ranchers and farmers, 15 insurance or real estate men, six school teachers, three homemakers and six who classify themselves as full-time, professional legislators.

The Senate includes three insurance men, a housewife and five in business fields.

Speaker Bill Clayton is a farmer and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby is a newspaper and television executive.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named Sam E. Carter of Temple to the State Banking Board replacing James L. Lindsey of College Station whose term actually expired in 1973.

Briscoe reappointed Raul Jimenez of San Antonio to the State Board of Public Welfare and Jackie St. Clair of Austin as Commissioner of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards.

Other reappointments included Gen. Thomas S. Bishop as Texas adjutant general; Gen. Willie Scott as assistant adjutant general for Army and Gen. Belisario D. J. Flores as assistant adjutant general for Air.

Taxes Booming

Comptroller Bob Bullock reported major state taxes brought in more than $4 billion last year, a 16.8 per cent increase over calendar 1975.

Natural gas tax revenue went up 48.1 per cent and sales tax collection 18.2 per cent, nearly double the national average.

Car sales taxes rose 31.6 per cent and franchise taxes 35.5 per cent.

Bullock noted his earlier projection of $2.9 billion in additional revenue for appropriation by the legislature represents a 34 per cent increase over money available in 1975.

Courts Speak

Finance charges of more than 10 per cent a year cannot be added to customers' open accounts by retail dealers, the State Supreme Court held.

In other actions, the high court:

—Refused to order dismissal of defeated Republican former Congressman Dr. Ron Paul's election contest against Congressman Bob Gammage who defeated him last year by a narrow vote.

—Held a state university cannot legally close a city street without legislative authority.

—Took under study the question whether juries must find "beyond reasonable doubt" that a person should be committed to a mental hospital against his or her will.

—Agreed arson investigation records cannot be kept out of the hands of the property owner.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a five-year sentence for aggravated assault given a Killeen woman on grounds evidence didn't show a knife used was a deadly weapon.

AG Opinions

Rules for conduct of hearings issued by Texas Education Agency are inapplicable to hearings before junior college boards except those on vocational and technical programs.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—A list of former university students credited with funds remaining in their general property deposit is public information. —Judges of special juvenile and domestic relations courts retire under terms of the county and district retirement act. —An agriculture commodity board is not authorized to reduce the number of positions on its board of directors by resolution.

Short Shorts

The State Senate urged television broadcasters not to use their court-won right to televise executions.

Atty. Gen. Hill said portions of a proposed settlement of city suits against La Vaca Gathering Company dealing with gas search programs is of questionable legality.

The Senate Jurisprudence Committee legislation to penalties for passing a bill to take away the attorney general's suits for damages consumers.

The large number of deaths can be major part of the according to Commissioner White.

Gov. Briscoe as emergency creation of courts and removal of three existing.

Training under has been made with increased allowances, the administration report.

This huge stone head discovered in the town of La Venta, Tabasco, Mexico, is one of the few remains of a talented and mysterious people who appeared as early as 1,000 B.C. and built great burial mounds and pyramids.

They also created a court with 600 basalt columns, each 10 feet tall and weighing two tons, and an assortment of huge, round, stone heads, with features unlike those of other Indians.

At the peak of their development, the Olmecs influenced other peoples, colonized vast areas and developed a numbering system, a calendar, writing, astronomical observations, and possibly astrology.

Today, while archeologists are discovering Olmec artifacts, Americans are discovering an exotic drink named for these ingenious, inscrutable people. First popular with the young, one of Mexico's authentic tequila brands called Olmeca is becoming popular with people of all ages. This tequila, with a label that features an Olmec head, mixes well with fruit juices and other ingredients or can be enjoyed on the rocks.

Texas taxes in '76 up 16.8 pct.

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock announced Thursday that the state's major tax funds brought in just over $4 billion in revenue last year, a 16.8 percent increase over calendar year 1975.

Natural gas tax revenues were up a whopping 48.1 percent and sales tax collections rose 18.2 percent, nearly double the national average for the year.

Revenue from the motor vehicle sales tax was $275.9 million, up 31.6 percent over 1975 and franchise tax collections were up 35.5 percent, according to the analysis released by Bullock.

As It Looks From Here

OMAR BURLESON, M. C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — If the first amendment to the constitution guarantees "freedom of association" the converse of the principle is also the right not to associate. If the first is to be protected, it follows that the second should also.

This is important in the field of employment. Just as one should not be prevented from joining a union, neither should one be required to join to keep a job.

Twenty states, including our state of Texas, have "right to work" laws. Section 14(b) is an amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act, amended by what is commonly known as the Landrum-Griffin Act, which protects the laws of the States which prohibit the requirement that a person must belong to a union in order to work.

In this session of the Congress there is no doubt that an attempt will be made to repeal this provision.

On the other side of the issue there is being introduced legislation with three parts — one would guarantee that students who work part or full time not be forced to join a union to keep their jobs. The second would assure Federal employees that they could join or not join a union. The third extends to private sector employees the same rights extended to students.

While individual freedom is the primary issue at stake, passage of "right to work" legislation would actually be of material benefit to those who, by choice, join unions. The very fact that membership would be voluntary would make union leadership more responsive to the rank and file member. Instead of relying on the force of the law, leaders would have to justify the handling of union dues. Surprisingly enough, in a poll in 1976 by Opinion Research, 66 percent of all union members declared themselves in favor of "right to work" laws. It has been assumed that those belonging to unions would oppose such a provision but, seemingly, it turns out it is the leadership of the unions which lead the opposition.

One of the most glaring cases originated in Wisconsin in which a school board was held to be in the wrong for even permitting a representative of non-union school teachers to present their case before the board. The union filed a complaint with the Wisconsin

Employment Relations Committee, charging the board of education with "unfair labor practices" by even hearing the other side. Their action was upheld in the State's Supreme Court but, just recently, the Supreme Court of the United States unanimously reversed the State's court decision. Non-union teachers, the court ruled, still have their First Amendment right to free speech.

The principle recognized in this case certainly extends to the private sector employees who are forced to pay dues regardless of whether they agree to the union's policies and

Hance seeks full coverage

AUSTIN — "It is time for the responsible drivers of this state to be protected against the uninsured motorist," commented state senator Kent Hance (D-Lubbock) after introducing legislation aimed at preventing uninsured Texas motorists, who cannot establish financial responsibility, from operating their vehicles.

Senator Hance's bill would prohibit county tax assessors from registering motor vehicles and prevent the department of public safety from licensing drivers unless the car owner is able to prove financial responsibility.

If a liability insurance policy is terminated, the insurer must notify the D.P.S. and the insured at least twenty days in advance.

In addition, the car owner must prove financial responsibility after his or her liability insurance policy is terminated, or the D.P.S. will suspend his or her registration.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Three-quarters of a million residential fires will occur throughout the nation this year, with 300,000 Americans to be injured, and 8,000 of those dying. Property damage will range in the billions of dollars for all fires.

But you can minimize the chances for injury or property loss by fire, say our Consumer Protection Division lawyers.

Experts recommend the following steps. One is to be sure all members of your family know exactly what to do in case a fire breaks out. You should have regular drills with escape routes planned in advance, preferably ways that don't involve opening bedroom doors. Fire experts recommend sleeping with closed bedroom doors, because a closed door can hold back heat and poisonous gases, giving more escape time. If you suspect fire, never open a door to check. Instead, touch the door frame with your hand. If it's hot, leave it closed, and use another way to get out of the room.

Always get out of the house as quickly as possible, never stopping to look for papers or other valuables. Arrange for family members to meet at a certain location in the yard. Call the fire department from a neighbor's, and never go back into a burning home for anything—not even family pets. Fire safety officials urge. It goes without saying that you should guard against three classic examples of carelessness that can multiply your chances of fire losses: smoking in bed, cleaning with gasoline or other flammable liquids, and leaving children alone at home.

You can also reduce risks of home fires by installing detection devices that can warn you of fire dangers. There are two types of home detection devices marketed—heat detectors and smoke detectors. Heat detectors alone have been found to be essentially useless for homes.

That's because most home fires may smoke and smolder for quite a while before building up enough heat to trigger the alarm, sending out smoke and gases that can overcome you and your sleeping family. Ideally, a home would have a smoke detector between sleeping areas of the house, providing protection against both rapidly developing high heat fires and slow smoldering ones.

However, if cost precludes such a combination detection system, the best protection for most home fires, according to safety experts, is a smoke detector. There are two basic kinds of smoke detectors: ionization models and photocell, or photoelectric, models. In photoelectric models, a small electric light bulb shines on a photosensitive cell. If smoke from a fire interrupts the light beam, the alarm goes off. Ionization models use very small radioactive particles that give light enough electrical energy to complete a circuit. Smoke particles break the alarm is set off.

There are advantages to each type, and it's important to check with your department to find out which type is best for you. Then shop for smoke detectors for any other product, get the different brands, compare shop features, price, installation, and so on. Be sure the unit you be tested monthly, smoke at it or by match nearby. To sure the device alarms every time, fire in the fireplace, steaks in the kitchen, don't buy from a salesperson unless comparison-shop stores. Remember, you can cancel a sale for $25 or more three business days

Williams honored Saturday reception

Only 100 persons attended the retirement honoring Joe Williams, Jan. 29 in the room of the city Bank between 9 and 9 p.m.

Peppers presented a plaque to Williams which read "Joseph W. Williams, Texas Highway Department, 1945-1977." The plaque was in the shape of Texas with a star in the place of Post and the map of brass.

Out of town guests included C. W. Nall, assistant district engineer of Lubbock, James W. King, district administrative engineer, Mel Pope, maintenance engineer and J. W. Gooch, maintenance superintendent all of Lubbock.

Other out of town guests registered from Tahoka, Lockney, Plains, Grand Prairie, Garland and Slaton.

Hosts for the occasion were the Post Maintenance Department employees and their wives.

Trail Blazers have luncheon

The Garza Trail Blazers met for their semi-monthly luncheon at the Community Center, Thursday, Jan. 27.

Mrs. Bonnie Medlin presented a program on "Home Nursing Care" and the services available. Syd Conner presented a movie "Agriculture Through a Microscope."

The next meeting will be Feb. 10 and all members are asked to wear red for Valentine's Day. This is also the date on which all those having birthdays in February will be honored. Any member, or guest, having a birthday during the month should advise so that records may be kept up to date.

weather curtails vegetable, egg output

STATION—Frigid conditions have upset fresh tender-veg- and curtailed egg — with resulting shortages on some items for consumers.

Of that, economy is still possible in several instances, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, says.

Items that grocery stores previously planned to "special" will now be particularly good values, and items harvested before the weather hit their supplies may still be good values.

Fresh citrus fruit from favorable-weather areas is in good supply and includes oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos—but their prices may fluctuate due to diminishing supplies from Florida, the specialist reported.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For vegetable economy, choices of fresh items generally are limited to dry onions, white and sweet potatoes, hard-shell squash and rutabagas. But consumers can look for frozen-vegetable features.

At meat counters, pork supplies continue to increase—lowering the price to consumers. Good values appear on Boston butt roasts and quarter-loin sliced into chops—along with hams, bacon, roll sausage and frankfurters.

At beef counters, supplies are adequate and prices are the same as last week or slightly higher. However, greater economy is available on the less-demanded cuts, so consumers might consider rib and shoulder steaks—as well as the popular sirloin and T-bone steaks, ground beef and liver, Mrs. Clyatt advised.

Fryer promotions continue in some stores, despite a general price increase. Also turkey offers good values, she said.

MRS. RANDY JOE MASON (Juliana Compton)

Compton-Mason vows are read here Jan. 22

Miss Juliana Compton and Randy Joe Mason exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Jan. 22 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Compton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mason.

Bro. Robert Griffin of Carthage, Tex., performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by two brass poles featuring lavender candles, and lavender baby's breath, carrying out the bride's chosen colors of peach and orchid.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a peach colored street length dress with long sleeves and featuring a square neck and princess bodice. She wore a peach colored hat and carried a

Welfare is seeking foster homes in Post

The State Department of Public Welfare is looking for foster homes for low-income aged, blind, or disabled adults whose homes are no longer safe, or who, for one reason or another, have no homes.

"When aged or disabled adults are no longer able to live in their own homes, they are faced with the choice of living with friends or relatives or moving into an institution," according to Rochelle Rombokas, welfare department social service worker at Post.

"Unfortunately, the choice is not always there. In the absence of friends or family, many are sent unnecessarily to institutions, such as mental institutions or nursing homes."

"However, the welfare department is trying to give those individuals another choice with the foster home program," continued. "This is for ambulatory people who need shelter and some help with activities of daily living."

"We are seeking warm hearted people who have room in their homes for one to three aged or disabled persons who are not related to them. The foster family must be willing to help provide opportunities for social, recreational and religious activities as appropriate, as well as room and board. It is, really, a family-sharing program which would enrich the lives of all concerned."

Cost of the care is shared by the individual and the welfare department. Payment to the foster family is $220 per person per month.

Mrs. Rombokas asked persons interested in learning more about providing this service to contact her at 302 W. 8th St., or Box 897, Post, Texas 79356 or to call (806) 495-2881.

Priscilla Club meets with Mrs. Vi Terry

The Priscilla Club met with Vi Terry Friday, Jan. 28 with ten members and one guest present.

The afternoon was spent visiting and doing needle work. Refreshments were served to members Gladys Hendrix, Emma Mueller, Velma Lee Lane, Wanda Cox, Lillian Nance, Maudie Smith, Sybil Cockrum, Vi Terry, Thelma Epley and Nita Barrow and guest, Ila Mae Wells.

Mrs. Storie hostess for Merrymakers

Mrs. Pearl Storie was hostess for the Merrymakers club when it met Tuesday, Jan. 25 in her home.

Secret pals were revealed and new names drawn for the coming year.

Those attending were Mmes. Sadie Storie, Bonnie Adamson, Opal Williams, Annalou Cline-smith, Ida Wheatly, Nora Kiker, Linda Malouf and Bertha Prietz.

The next meeting will be February 8 in the home of Opal Williams.

Some people have it, and some people who don't have it don't want it.

What is it? Allergies, which affect about half the adult population in one form or another. This half may sneeze or sneeze, itch or wheeze, suffer intestinal disturbances or other uncomfortable symptoms, says the Department of Health Resources.

If you have burning, scratchy eyes and a running nose during ragweed season, it may be little consolation that some 13 million people in the United States have hay fever. About a half of adults and a third of our children are allergic to something—something they eat, smell, or contact. Some people have been found to be affected by a certain color.

In some people, allergies occur only at certain seasons of the year, such as ragweed season. In Texas, thousands upon thousands time their allergies by the pollinating of cedar trees, which begins around Christmastime each year. It may last a month or longer. Others are bothered in early spring by the blooming of trees and flowers. Grasses later in the spring and summer affect others.

The very unfortunate individual may have some form of allergy on a daily basis.

When the allergy-producing substance enters your system and comes in contact with the antibodies in the cell, that union produces dramatic effects. The best known of the results of these miniature explosions is the release of the chemical histamine from the cell. Normally, presence of histamine stimulates production of adequate amounts of antihistamine which would of course cause no symptoms to develop. Sometimes enough antihistamine is not produced to counter the levels of histamine.

Histamine is perfectly harmless when inside the cell, but once released outside the cell it produces undesirable changes. It dilates and congests blood vessels so that fluids from your blood stream leak out into the tissue, causing swelling.

If this change takes place in the skin the result is hives. If this reaction occurs in the nose, the membrane swells and you have a condition known as hay fever or "sinus." Another action of histamine is to contract or put into spasm involuntary muscle fibers—muscles not controlled by your own will, such as stomach, intestine, urinary bladder, or the uterus. If this muscle effect takes place in the muscle fibers around the bronchial tubes, asthma is the result; if in the intestine, cramps and diarrhea may be the effect.

At least one in three Texans who have untreated hay fever will develop asthma. In many cases, seasonal asthma may fail to subside with the end of

Burlington sales up but profits dip for quarter

New York. — Burlington Industries, Inc. was reported slightly higher sales and lower net earnings for the first quarter of its 1977 fiscal year compared with the first quarter of 1976.

Consolidated net earnings for the quarter ended January 1, 1977 were $20,128,000, or 71 cents per share on net sales of $550,586,000. Reported earnings included a charge of 3 cents per share reflecting the adoption by the Company of new accounting rules requiring translation of foreign currency items in a manner different from that followed in prior fiscal years.

In comparison, consolidated net earnings for the December quarter of 1975, as restated, were $24,526,000, or 88 cents per share on net sales of $536,821,000. Restatement of December quarter 1975 earnings to comply with the new foreign currency accounting rules resulted in an increase of 13 cents per share over the earnings of 75 cents per share previously reported.

In commenting on the Company's performance, Burlington Chairman William A. Klopman said, "Although retail sales showed a significant upturn in the December quarter, a general caution in fabric markets and some lingering excess of inventories forward of the mill prevented a proportionate sales increase in significant segments of our business. As anticipated, the heavyweight textured woven and knit businesses remained under pressure, while lightweight knits, denims, corduroys and worsteds continued to be in strong demand. Hosiery activity was also better and virtually all segments of our home furnishings area performed well. Similarly, our industrial fabric lines continued their trend of steady improvement.

"While the natural gas shortage that is threatening the Southeastern states is of great concern to us, Burlington at this time has adequate supplies of alternate fuels. Along with company-wide emphasis on energy conservation, we have spent considerable money and effort over the past few years to provide alternate fuel burning facilities to operate our plants. Thus, at the present time we do not anticipate any major problems that would cause a shutdown of key operations."

Mr. Klopman added, "We believe that increased consumer confidence was evident in the stronger retail sales in December. This reinforced the current recovery and brightens the picture for the economy and for Burlington in 1977."

The Board of Directors declared a quarterly dividend of 35 cents payable on March 1, 1977 to shareholders of record at the close of business on February 4, 1977.

Local collie wins in two dog shows

"Goldie", a sable and white collie owned by Rochelle Rombokas, won bitch and best of opposite sex honors in the West Texas Kennel Club Dog Show in Odessa Saturday, Jan. 29.

This gives Goldie her first point toward a championship.

In the Abilene Dog Show Sunday, Jan. 30, Goldie won her class of Open Sable and White Collie bitches for a blue ribbon also.

'77 ray of hope for cattlemen

COLLEGE STATION — Although cattlemen may have a difficult time seeing a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, 1977 does offer a ray of hope.

Dr. Edward Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, sees a reduction in fed cattle marketings for the early part of the year, about 9 per cent below last year's level. But he believes marketings will increase slightly—two to three percent—during the second quarter, April through June. This rather small increase, together with lower levels of cow and non fed cattle kill, should keep cattle slaughter low for the next six months.

"All this means that beef supplies should be down for a while," says Uvacek. "Therefore, fed cattle prices should move up during the next few months. This, plus more favorable feed grain prices, could stimulate an increase in feedlot placements."

Thus, if the feedlot business does pick up during the first part of 1977, then some beef supply problems could develop during the latter part of the year.

Because of a limited carry-over of calves from last year and a lower calf crop, feeder cattle and calf numbers should be down during most of the year, adds the specialist.

This means feeder cattle prices should also show some improvement, following the pattern being set by the fed cattle market.

Uvacek believes that cattle feeders will remain much more cautious in the new year, and this will keep them from over-paying for feeder animals.

Does upset at Tahoka after big win at Roosevelt

Karen Williams scores 63 points in two games

The Post Does had their second half district title hopes severely jolted Tuesday night when they were upset at Tahoka, 47 to 46, by the Tahoka girls.

Post had gone into the game with a 2-0 string for the second half and a chance to go into their final at Slaton next Tuesday night undefeated.

Karen Williams hit 15 fielders for 30 points to lead the local attack against Tahoka who had three girls in double figures at 18, 15 and 14.

Post went into the final period of a tight game leading 38 to 34 but Tahoka rallied to come from behind for the victory.

Infringements whistled against the Does — a total of 21 of them compared to only nine called against Tahoka — enabled Tahoka to actually win the game at the charity line. The winners made only half of their free — 13 of 30 — but Post only had five trips to the line all night and got but two of the tosses through the hoop.

The two teams were tied 8 all at the end of the first period with Post moving ahead to a 24 to 20 advantage at the half.

Kerri Pool was second high for Post with eight points. Nancy Clary had six and Debbie Wyatt the other two.

The Does had scored a sparkling 32 to 45 win over Roosevelt at Roosevelt last Friday night for their second half win with Williams 11 fielders and just as many free throws for 33 points.

Post had the lead, but not by much, at all the quarter poles.

It was 16 to 13 at the first quarter, 27 to 21 at the half, and 36 to 35 at the end of the third.

It was a foul-plagued game with a total of 49 infractions being called on the two teams, 25 on Roosevelt and 24 on Post with Post converting half of 32 free and Roosevelt got 17.

When Williams scored 21 points in the first half, the Roosevelt defense concentrated on her and fouled her frequently in the final two periods effectively cutting down her field scoring. She went to the charity line 17 times in the last two periods and converted eight times.

Clary scored eight for Post, Pool seven and Brenda Weaver four.

Lope bugaboo shifts to fourth quarter

Third quarters used to be the Post Antelopes bugaboo, but don't talk to Coach John Alexander about fourth quarters now. Not after the Lopes' last two road games.

8th girls bow in overtime

The Post eighth grade girls cagers lost an overtime game at Tahoka Monday night in district play, 28 to 26, the margin being a pair of free throws.

The two teams wound up regulation play tied at 24 all, after Post had led through the first half, 7 to 2 at the quarter and 12 to 9 at the intermission, but with Tahoka going ahead 19 to 18 in the third.

Post lost it at the charity line, converting only four out of 15 throws, while Tahoka high eight of 12.

Holly Giddens led the Post scoring with 16 points. Mariette Hays and Amy Thuet had four each and Stella Harper two.

Starting guards were Tresha Craig, Sharla Macy, and Luann Kennedy.

Up at Roosevelt Friday night the score was tied at 48 all with only seconds to play.

The Eagles had the ball. When the clock was down to five seconds, Forward Richard Adams took a 20-foot shot. The ball bounced up and down on the rim "for four seconds" — according to Coach Alexander — and fell through the hoop for the Roosevelt victory, 50 to 48, with the buzzer sounding about the time the ball hit the floor.

At Tahoka Tuesday night, the Lopes came on like "gang busters" in the third period to outscore the district leading Tahoka Bulldogs 15 to 8 and pull within three points of the Dogs at 36 to 33 going into the final period.

But somebody put a lid on the Lope basket in the fourth. The ball just wouldn't go in. Post managed but two points and Tahoka pulled away again to win 47 to 35.

The Roosevelt game was a strong one for the Lopes. They couldn't get started and scored but three points in the first period to trail 10-3 going into the second period. Then they really got rolling for 20 second period points spearheaded by Mike Waldrip's 11. They pulled ahead with 16 more in the third to take a 39 to 34 lead, but lost it in the fourth.

Waldrip wound up with 19 points. Rodney Teaff had nine. Kyle Duren had eight, Jimmy Dorland seven, and Dan Sawyers five.

It turned out to be probably the final cage appearance for the year for the injury-plagued Sawyers. The speedster came down with a case of mono over the weekend and didn't suit up against Tahoka and probably won't play in the three remaining contests.

In the Tahoka game, the Bulldogs jumped out in front with a 10-point first period lead and held it through the second for a 28-18 advantage at the half.

Teaff was Post's top scorer in this one with 12 points. Waldrip had 10, Duren six, Dorland five, and Brad Shepherd two.

7th grade boys bow before Tahoka 50-16

Coach Bill Unterhagen's seventh graders were defeated by Tahoka 50 to 16 in a district game here Monday night.

Ronnie Price led the locals with seven points and Gary Lamb had four.

The next outing for the team will be against Roosevelt here next Monday night and will be the last game of the season.

Frosh boys runnersup in tourney

Coach Lane Tannehill's Post freshman boys came home with a second place trophy in the Wilson JV tournament held last weekend.

In their first game of the tourney, Post defeated Sundown 54 to 40 with Scott Walker hitting for 15, Chuck Black 8, Mike Macy, Jackie Stelzer and Bobby Finch each had six, Larry Rodriguez with five.

In the second game Post defeated the Smyer JVs 49 to 39, in a rather close game with Post leading at the half 20 to 19, and Smyer in front at the end of the third 31-27. Walker was again high point with 19, Finch 12, Black 7, Macy 6, Stelzer 4 and David Poole had one.

In the championship game Saturday night, Wilson JVs got revenge as they defeated Post 51 to 34. Post had defeated this same team in their local tournament just two weeks before.

Chuck Black led the scoring with eight, Macy had six, Walker, Finch, and Rance Adkins each had four, Stelzer, Larry Rodriguez and Lynn Simpson each had two.

The team was under the 7th girls upset at Tahoka 26-19

Coach Chili Black's seventh grade girls team were upset Monday night at Tahoka, 26 to 19, for their second loss in district play.

Just where the Post team stands with Slaton no one knows for sure because seventh grade games aren't reported in the Slaton paper.

Tahoka scored a single point in the first period but led 1-0 going into the second quarter. It was 10 to 9 for Tahoka at the half and 17 to 13 for the winners at the end of three.

Tahoka won it at the charity line, netting 12 out of 19 while Post converted but three of 10. Trushell Marts led the Post shooters with 10, Tina Bevers had four, Deann Ammons and Charla Williams, two each, and Lana Dunn, one.

The team will finish its season Monday night at Roosevelt.

Freshmen edge Tahoka, 36-32

The Post freshmen edged out the Tahoka frosh here Monday night by 36 to 32.

Tahoka led at the end of the first quarter 11-10 and were still in front at the half 16 to 12. The scoring picked up in the third with Post leading 24 to 22.

Scott Walker led the locals with 14, Jackie Stelzer had 12, Rance Adkins and Mike Macy both with four and Chuck Black had two.

The final game of the season will be here next Monday night against the Roosevelt frosh.

But week left in cage whirl

Basketball fans will get their final chance to see both the Post Does and Antelopes play on the home court Friday night when the varsity teams take on the Freshmen teams.

After that, the Whirlwind basketball season will whirl into the final week with the Does and Lopes not playing on the same program again.

The boys JV team will play the 5 p. m. preliminary here Friday night.

Next Tuesday, cage fans will have to choose between the Does and the Lopes.

The Does will be winding up their season at Slaton against the district leading Tigerettes while the Lopes will be entertaining the Denver City Mustangs here.

Both of these will be twin bills with the JV teams meeting in the preliminaries.

Then next Friday the Lopes will wind up the cage campaign by playing the Slaton Tigers in Slaton.

Between halves of the Denver City game here Tuesday night, Jackie Arwine's tumbling class will put on an exhibition and the Flying Matadors from Texas Tech may also perform although this hasn't been definitely firmed up as yet.

All other local cage teams will wind up district play Monday night.

The final tournament of the season, as far as local participation is concerned, comes in an eighth grade tournament for both boys and girls at Jayton, starting today.

Frosh girls 3rd in JV tourney

Coach Joan Bearden's Post freshman girls won third place in Wilson's junior varsity basketball tournament Saturday afternoon by defeating New Home, 43 to 23.

Donna Baumann had 21 points and Linda Abraham 20 to account for all but two points of the Post scoring. Jendy Thomas scored the other two.

Post jumped into a 10 to 2 lead and led 24 to 8 at the half.

The local freshman girls won their opener from Sundown JVs Thursday, 60 to 42, but bowed to Ropesville JVs, 52 to 43, Friday afternoon.

Baumann led the Post shooters in both games with 33 against Sundown and 32 against Ropesville.

Abraham had 24 against Sundown with Susan Jackson adding two, and nine against Ropesville with Jackson again getting the other basket.

Starting guards for Post were Susan Sawyers, Leanna Davis and Linda Martinez.

8th graders bow in overtime

What started out to be a rather slow game turned out to be a cliff hanger when the Post eighth grade boys coached by Mickey Long suffered defeat by the Tahoka team here Monday night 27 to 25 in an overtime game.

Post led at the end of the first quarter by 2 to 0, and tied at the half 8-8. The score was knotted 25 all at the end of the fourth, but Post couldn't find the mark in overtime play and Tahoka managed but one field goal.

Scoring for Post was Drew Kirkpatrick and Jessie Taylor each with six, Alvin Taylor had four. Charles Curtis had five, Barry Morris and David Foster each with two.

The locals will play in the Jayton tournament Thursday at 4:15 against Spur. If they win they will play Saturday at 4:15, but if they lose they will play Friday at 6:45.

The next district outing will be the final game of the season here next Monday night against the Roosevelt eighth grade.

JV girls defeat Tahoka 46-20

Coach Lu Allen's Post JV girls scored an easy 46 to 20 win over the Tahoka JV girls in the prelim at Tahoka Tuesday night, holding their opponents to but four points in the first half of play.

Karla Kennedy led the Post attack with 18 points followed by Dana Bird with 10, Karla Duren with eight, Karen Perkins with five, Danna Giddens with two and Sylvia Curtis with one.

Freshman girls win 43-20 at Tahoka

Post's freshman girls defeated Tahoka's girls, 43 to 20, at Tahoka Monday night.

They piled up a 16 to 3 lead in the first period, led 26 to 8 at the intermission and were ahead 39 to 19 at the end of three.

Donna Baumann led the Post attack with 20 points, followed by Carolyn Pringler with 14, Linda Abraham with 5, and Susan Jackson and Christie Workman with two each.

Fifteen Post girls saw action.

Hawks most persecuted and least understood

LUBBOCK — Of all predaceous birds, the hawk family is the most persecuted and least understood even though they are protected by law.

In this family of birds are the kites, hawks, harriers, and eagles, all of which reside in Texas or migrate across the state twice a year.

Many of these beneficial birds winter in our state but nest in northern latitudes.

The kite family in Texas is represented by the white-tailed, swallow-tailed, and Mississippi kites and each deserves greater protection than they have been given.

Large insects, lizards, snakes, and frogs make up the kite's diet. Nearly all their food is taken and eaten on the wing. Farmers observing these small birds will notice the main diet is insects including beetles, moths, locusts, crickets, caterpillars, and other potentially dangerous species.

The term "chicken hawk" has been applied to nearly all hawks but the Cooper's hawk comes closest to this role with an occasional domestic poultry included in its diet. Small birds such as sparrows, rodents, and game birds make up 84 percent of the Cooper's diet according to stomach samples analyzed across Texas.

The buzzard hawks are large birds with broad wings and rounded tails. They usually soar in wide circles high in the air. Hawks seen across the Panhandle-South Plains in this family include the Swainson's, Ferruginous, and rough-legged hawks.

These hawks are territorial birds that mate for life and usually return to the same nesting area year after year. As a group, these are perhaps Texas' most beneficial hawks.

Their diet consists of field mice, small mammals, fish, crayfish, snakes, frogs, and snails.

The marsh hawk is the only representative of the harrier family in Texas and it is found throughout the state. This bird is easily recognized by its slow wing beat and flight close to the ground. A large white patch at the base of the tail shows distinctly when it is flying.

This hawk can be seen flying over fencerows, playa lake beds, and grain fields looking for food. According to a USDA study of 124 stomachs, 45 percent was mice; 18 percent other small mammals; and 18 percent reptiles, frogs, and insects.

The landowner who is lucky enough to have hawks frequent his property will notice few mice or rats and one bad act such as a hawk making off with a chicken should not mean condemnation for all hawks.

A reduction in the number of hawks will certainly remove one of the most effective natural checks on rodents and insects enjoyed by Texas.

National Beef board may aid research marketing

DALLAS — The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced that evidence received at a public hearing justifies proposing a nationally coordinated research and information order for beef.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) set a Feb. 24, 1977 deadline for filing written exceptions to its recommended decision on the beef research and information order. After that date, a final decision will be made. If the final decision is favorable, beef producers will vote on the proposed program in a national referendum.

Under the recommended order, a Beef Board composed of producers would have the power to collect assessments on the sales of cattle and to use the funds for research, producer and consumer information, and promotion to improve, maintain, and develop markets for cattle, beef, and beef products. Producers not wishing to participate in the program could have their assessment refunded by the Board.

Such a program is authorized by the Beef Research and Information Act of May, 1976. USDA's recommended decision is based on evidence received at public hearing sessions held during September and October in Dallas, Tex.; Denver, Colo.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Atlanta, Ga.; San Francisco, Calif.; and Des Moines, Iowa.

Until Feb. 24, 1977, anyone interested can file exceptions to the recommended order and a brief in support of their exceptions. Five copies of such exceptions should be submitted to the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, where they will be available for public inspection.

The recommended decision is scheduled to be published in the Jan. 25, 1977 Federal Register. Single copies of recommended decision can also be obtained from the Hearing Clerk's office.

Sr. Citizen News

By WINNIE HARRELL
Remember me? I'm Mrs. Senior Citizen. You may have read my letters to Santa Claus last Christmas. I have some more news to pass on, and I thought I could just write to all of you through the newspaper.
If you don't know about the Homemaker Service Aide Program, just look for my letter each week and you'll learn more.

There are several ladies still going to the HSA training classes each Friday in Lubbock. Last week the class was in-service training and 12 people attended from Post. They were: Cora Bowman, Daisy Britton, Bill Crowley, Mable Dunlap, Winnie Harrell, Juanita Hawkins, Helen Hubble, Donna Nowell, Marvel Pearson, Marietta Pruitt, Jean Tipton and Gladys Wright.

My homemaker tells me several of you have been in the hospital recently. Winnie Harrell sends a message to Mr. Bo Wheatly, Mrs. Lucy King, Mrs. Lillie Kitchen, and Mrs. Freida Reeves to "please hurry home." "I'm getting lonely with most of my clients in the hospital." Ethyl Feagin has also been a patient recently. To all of you, I wish a speedy recovery.

And now for a trade last. You know what that is? Trade last compliments. I'll tell you one I've heard, and then you owe me one. I'll try to have one for you each week. This week it's on Mable Dunlap. The HSA program director says we need more "Mables" because she has done such a good job with the program here in Garza County. Mable has really worked hard here in Post visiting all of us Senior Citizens. She lines us up with just the right homemakers.

See you next week I hope. Keep those Trade Last's going. I can't write them if I don't hear them.

Mrs. Senior Citizen

LUBBOCK — The legislative policy adopted Jan. 18 by the board of directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. indicates much improved confidence among High Plains cotton producers in their ability to produce and sell cotton at a profit with a minimum of assistance from government farm programs.

Evidence of this is seen in the board's agreement to "favor a long-range government cotton program which follows a market-oriented philosophy."

The strongest indication came in the policy section which deals with the Commodity Credit Corporation loan program. The directors overwhelmingly voted to work for a CCC loan that will, among other things, "continue to base the loan price on average market prices."

Discussion revealed that the board favors a loan price high enough to give protection against total price disaster and be useful as a marketing tool, but not so high as to encourage cotton production in foreign countries and in less efficient cotton growing areas of the U. S.

There is a feeling in some quarters that the cotton loan price should be at or near the cost of production. But throughout the PCG discussion fear was expressed that such a loan would lead to surplus production in the U. S. and abroad, low prices and an almost certain return to government restrictions on cotton production.

This fear more than any other factor led to the directors' decision that loan prices in future programs, as now, should be directly connected to market prices.

Other parts of the PCG policy call for a CCC program that will:

—strengthen to the greatest extent possible producer advice and participation in the administration of the loan program and management of CCC stocks;

—promote the orderly marketing of cotton, assist in crop financing, and assure adequate U. S. production without unduly encouraging an increase in foreign production;

—improve the data and procedure under which the loan is calculated;

—provide for a mechanism whereby for any given year the spread between the loan rate and the target price shall not exceed ten percent;

—determine and announce as final a minimum loan level by November 1 of the calendar year preceding the marketing year for which the loan is to be effective;

—establish CCC interest rates not in excess of the cost of money to government; and —authorize producers to re-new loans for a period of at least eight months beyond the current ten-month maximum loan period.

Joy Greer heads historical group

Distinguished Service Award Certificates were presented to members present when the Garza County Historical Commission held their annual appreciation meeting Feb. 1 in the community room. Mrs. Gwen Boren, chairman, reviewed the activities and accomplishments of the commission during the Bicentennial year 1976.

The awards are given by the Texas Historical Commission and the Texas Historical Foundation for outstanding accomplishments in the field of preservation and restoration. The local commission has been recipient of this award each year for the past 12 years.

Joy Greer was selected to head the commission, replacing the retiring chairman, Mrs. Gwen Boren.

Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boucher, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Runkles, Mattie Belle Fluit, Joy Greer, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Lottie Shelton, Ted Aten, Nita Burress, Maxine Marks, Gwen Boren and Enid Gossett.

Postings—

size of the 1976 Garza cotton crop. We looked it up and told him — "35,900 bales but a lot of guesses are involved." It seems Syd's first prediction was 36,000 bales but everybody laughed so hard they backed him down a few thousand. How about that? Nobody will know the exact count until late spring.

Two prospective buyers have been in Post to look at the old Tower Theatre in recent weeks, but no news on a sale — and possible reopening.

Also, the theatre chain has finally arranged to have the old Garza theatre marquee pulled down in the 200 block of East Main, though it was still up at their writing. That will be a real eye improvement. We thought we had that laid on several years ago, but we never got the "okay from Kansas City."

Latest we've heard on the widening of US-84 through Post on Broadway is that it probably won't start before March. That worries us. A lot of business folks on that route are dependent on the tourist business.

Open house.

What we needed was a place for the First Continental Congress.
A place that would be open to all the people.
A place to call our own. Without any vestige of the British Empire.

So Carpenter's Hall of Philadelphia was chosen.
An American building built by American craftsmen.

And the doors were opened.
Bringing Americans together at last to build the constitutional foundations of a new country.

Today, Americans are still building together. Head of state, or head of household, they buy U. S.

Savings Bonds.

Bonds give everyone a chance to take stock in their country. And a chance to build safe, dependable savings of their own, too.

When you join the Payroll Savings Plan, a little is set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds.

Automatically, easily.

So buy U. S. Savings Bonds.
They can open your door to a bright future.

Occupational Rules Favor Civil Servants

The Civil Service retirement program holds that a person may be classified as disabled when he cannot perform the duties of his job.

An extreme case of the liberal interpretation used under the Civil Service program is that of a federal fireman who had initially met vision standards, but whose later need for glasses made him incapable of meeting those standards.
