Schools ready to open

Mitchell County schools all underwent changes in personnel and remodeling this summer, and now they have something else in common: they all have their first day of classes on Monday, Aug. 20.

That's just the formal opening, though.

Teachers, administrators and members of football and volleyball teams and Colorado High School's Wolf Band will work and practice over the next 2 1/2 weeks to get ready.

Prison community service crews have worked through the heat of the summer, painting, building and cleaning.

The middle school and high school C-City Wolves will have their Pigskin Preview from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 23.

The varsity Wolves open their season vs. the Stamford Bulldogs at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 31 in Wolf Stadium.

Westbrook's Wildcats contest San Angelo Christian High School at the same time in San Angelo, and the Loraine Bulldogs try Klondike in a 7:30 Sept. 7 road game.

"We have a new counselor's office, and the coaches put a sand volleyball court between the fine arts building and the gym," said CHS Principal Janey Burke.

"The inmates did a lot of painting. They painted nearly

Warden O'Reilly to be transferred Cooper to return here

Wallace and Ware Unit employees say an informal report is circulating that popular former Senior Warden Rodney Cooper will be reassigned to Colorado City.

Wallace-Ware Senior Warden Tom O'Reilly, who has also made a good impression here with his friendliness and support of community projects, may reportedly go to Gatesville, effective Sept. 1.

Cooper and his family left C-City for the Telford Unit at New Boston in Northeast Texas last summer.

Texas Department of Criminal Justice spokesman Larry Fitzgerald of Huntsville told the Record Tuesday afternoon that the agency expects to announce some changes in wardens' assignments in about two weeks.

But he could not yet say that County stays in Junell's district

There were lots of red, and even purple, faces when the Legislative Redistricting Board (LRB) passed House and Senate redistricting schemes last week in Austin.

But not in Mitchell County. Democratic State Rep. David Counts of Knox City was outraged and the reserve of House Speaker Pete Laney of Hale Center cracked a little when the five member LRB approved a plan written by Attorney General John Cornyn.

But in the often politically traumatic process that occurs every 10 years after the Census, Mitchell County came out smelling like the Yellow Rose of Texas.

Contrary to a scheme proffered by Speaker Laney, a minority LRB member, the county stayed in San Angelo Rep. Rob Junell's 72nd District.

Rep. Junell quoted the late British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a telephone interview from his law office: "Never give up, never give up, never give up!"

"I am just as pleased as I can be that Mitchell County and me are still together, but I'm not happy for my colleagues whose districts did not wind up as good as I had hoped," he said.

The county loses Sen. Troy Fraser of Marble Falls and gains well regarded Sen. Robert Duncan of Lubbock -- both Republicans -- and moves from the 24th Senatorial District to the 28th.

However, the plan appears to give Republicans statewide an advantage toward gaining control of the House, which could jeopardize Junell's re-election as chairman of the Appropriations Committee and Laney's as Speaker.

Laney's plan would have put Colorado City and Mitchell

A LAKE C-CITY WATER PIPELINE is shown by Colorado River Municipal Water District official Chris Wingert, who said it flows at 5,000 gallons a minute northwest of town.

Lake C-City receives 7 million gallons a day

In dynamic fashion, Lake Spence water churns up out of a 21 inch pipe northwest of town, running at 5,000 gallons a minute down Morgan Creek to Lake Colorado City.

It's directed up to lessen the outward force of the water below the silver steel grate over the pipe and splashes noisily down the rough rock sluice into the creek three quarters of a mile north of Interstate 20.

Seven million gallons a day have been pumped from E. V. Spence Reservoir, west of Robert Lee in Coke County, since July 1 to offset evaporation in Lake C-City and help TXU

Electric Co. maintain the steam powered Morgan Creek Plant.

The lake level dropped to 38 percent in the spring of last year, raising the specter of the plant's pumping air instead of water.

So when it fell to 57 percent in mid summer this year, Plant Manager Alvin Goodman asked the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring to reinstate the arrangement the two entities had 15 months earlier.

The last pumping project had only been going for about a week when a March 22-23

Hospital site soil testing underway

Soil test hole borings were scheduled to begin this week at the site of Mitchell County Hospital District's hospital-clinic project, providing information for the injection of a concrete like material to shore up sandy areas under the clay foundation pad.

When Terra Engineers of Lubbock finish finding the places that need flyash and lime, architect Robert Cox of Austin plans to bring in the Land Stabilizer Co. of San Antonio to do the work.

It's expected to cost $70,000 to $80,000, and Cox said the district should not have to pay for it.

Project Manager Bob Wallace of Lockhart, near Austin, Monday said the development is not a cause for alarm.

About 30 test hole borings will take two or three days and the flyash injections a week to 10 days, he said.

Then the general contractor, Cooper Construction of Odessa, can resume work on the underground plumbing and preparing the pad for pouring the concrete foundation.

The action is being taken with the consent of the hospital board's building and maintenance committee.

"It's just a bump in the road," Wallace said. "There are always a few in construction."

"Either the steel is late or the brick is late or the glass is late."

"It's just something they discovered. You never know when you get into soil what you're going to get."

Cox told the hospital board at its regular monthly meeting last Tuesday that test holes had shown too much sand in places under the pad, mostly on the south end.

He said some watering had caused the pad to sink two or three inches in that area, and he recommended more test holes and the use of a combination of flyash and lime.

The "slurrie" is a dark, sticky material that hardens underground and offsets the unstable effect of the sand.

"You don't want to get it

Mitchell County continues to work on disaster plan

(Editor's note: This is the second part of a story we began last week about Mitchell County's lack of an up to date disaster management plan -- a situation that could be a disaster in itself.)

Disaster planning breeds a "Doomsday" mentality that many people find unpleasant or even unjustified, believing the dire events allowed for in the plan will never happen.

"You plan for the worst and hope for the best," said Don Rogers, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety's Division of Emergency Management (DEM) in Austin. "That way, you have some kind of basis for people to work from."

"In 1975, the police, EMS and fire departments were not in the same positions they are now, so you need something people can refer to quickly and easily to get information and make decisions from."

Rogers said the last emergency plan Mitchell County has on file with the DEM dates to April '75 and runs only 31 pages.

Without the organization required by a clear, well thought out plan, he said, the terror and confusion of an emergency like a multiple fatality tornado strike can lead to a reaction like "a Chinese fire drill."

"I'm not passing judgment on your judge, but plans go in all shapes and sizes," he said.

on your shoes," Wallace said, laughing.

"It's not an uncommon building method. It's used a lot."

Cooper's top man at the project, Job Supt. Raymond Chaisson of Midland, said his crew is "still unloading and tying rebar. We still have some things going on."

"But we need to get going to get back on my schedule."

Asked if the company will now seek more time on its 450 working days contract, Chaisson said, "I would think we need some more time."

"There should be an easier way to do it than there was before. We have plan outlines on our Internet website, and it has become more of a fill in the blank operation."

Most emergency plans are produced by the county judge's office, and County Judge Ray Mayo confirmed that he has been working on a document of several hundred pages since he took office 11 years ago.

Rogers said regional DEM representative Bobby Densman of Abilene is available to help write one, as is the West Central Texas Council of Governments in Abilene.

He said counties with up to date schemes are eligible for matching grants from the DPS and the regional office of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in Denton.

"The Mitchell County plan is not considered current by our standards, but there is no penalty for not having a current plan," he said.

Another DEM official, administrative planning technician Marcos Jimenez, said before faxing the Record a copy of Mitchell County's old plan that the agency prods, but cannot force, counties to maintain their emergency response outlines.

"There are a lot of situations like that where we're kind of in a bind," he said.

"We send expressions of concern, but they're not pressured that much to keep up to date."

While a complete plan has "annexes" going into much more detail than the basic outline, Jimenez said, the Mitchell County scheme has no annexes.

Former County Judge Bill Carter is Judge Mayo's immediate predecessor except for Mac Morris, who served only a year after his appointment before being defeated.

Carter recalls two exigencies from the '70's.

One was a freak snowstorm that blocked Interstate for 20 miles east and west but no farther, stranding travelers here who had to sleep on mats and blankets in Carter's courtroom and the district court and jury rooms upstairs on the third floor of the courthouse.

It happened in January '73.

The second was an oil tank fire on a hill west of Colorado City, sparked by a welder who was dismantling the tank with a torch.

Toxic black smoke blew over the southwest side of town and sent residents running, coughing and choking, to their neighbors for refuge.

No one had to be hospitalized, though, and the wind had broken up the smoke by the time it reached the Spade Ranch in South Mitchell County.

"I came home and put a storm cellar in my backyard," said the 78 year old Carter. "Mac Morris has one. We're the only two on this block."

A ONE CAR ROLLOVER injured 15 year old Nicole Neff of Colorado City at 1 p.m. Tuesday 3 1/2 miles north of here on North Hwy. 208. Her southbound 1999 Chrysler Sebring convertible went out of control and rolled once in the east barrow ditch. She was taken to the county hospital by Mitchell County EMS but was not believed to be seriously injured. DPS Trooper Donald Wilks said Miss Neff was looking in her back seat for a credit card when the accident happened. The CHS sophomore is the daughter of Mickey and Sally Neff of FM 1808. She was wearing a seatbelt.

deluge on Lake C-City's watershed refilled the lake to 92 percent capacity.

Perhaps promisingly, the same thing happened the only other time the method was employed -- in 1972.

The lake was low, the pipeline was activated and a big rain immediately made it unnecessary.

"It's about time for the cavalry to ride over the hill again," said CRMWD Assistant General Manager Chris Wingert during a trip to the Rabbit Hollow pumping site last Friday.

The pumping is being done now on a five year contract TXU signed with the water district in 1999.

Goodman said the lake cannot be refilled this way, but heavy evaporation in 100 degree weather can be offset.

Wingert said the line -- 35 miles from Spence to Moss Creek Reservoir west of Big Spring and another 20 south and southwest to the open line in Rabbit Hollow -- was first laid in 1970.

Spence is only about 15 percent full, but it's such a big lake that it still has plenty of water for Lake C-City, he said.

The system was reinstated with the replacement of pumps and valves in '98 and used again two years later.

Pumping actually started on May 17 this year and continued for nine days until the CRMWD stopped to make some adjustments.

Wingert said the Lake C-City replenishment is a reversal of the lines' and pumps' normal use, to take water out of the Colorado River near Barber Lake and run it from there in a less salty form to Spence or sell it to oil companies for use in injection wells.

Spence is also fed by Beals Creek, running southwesterly from Howard County.

Rabbit Hollow is three miles west of Barber Lake.

The line goes under I-20 at a rest area west of Westbrook.

CRMWD maintains more than 600 miles of pipelines, including 53 and 60 inch lines that run 156 miles from O. H. Ivie Reservoir southeast of Ballinger in Runnels, Coleman and Concho Counties.

The district supplies all of Snyder's, Big Spring's and Odessa's water and has partial service contracts with San Angelo, Midland, Robert Lee, Stanton, Grand Falls and a number of other towns.

Lake J. B. Thomas, southwest of Snyder, is the oldest lake in its system.

all the doors red with black accents.

"The school has that refreshed look."

Inmates put a new coat of gray paint on teacher Dan Galey's automobile technology floor, switched the counselor's office and teachers' lounge with extensive remodeling and put new plumbing in the lounge.

Loraine Principal William Clements said first grade teacher Holly Rivas and special education teacher Joni Hartman studied a new technique to teach reading this summer at the Linda Mood-Bell School in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

"It deals with phonemic awareness and verbalizing and visualizing what you're reading," he said.

"It teaches students who have learning disabilities to read, and if you don't have one, it just augments and makes you better."

Phonetics deals with the sounds of spoken language.

The Loraine School District has an interim superintendent, James Logan, who retired as Merkel superintendent at the end of the past school year.

He is working two or three days a week.

New Loraine teachers are four year veteran Miles business teacher Mary Montelongo and former Rotan Spanish teacher Byrde Sparks, who will teach high school English.

Westbrook Principal Doc Rowell said the most noticeable change to visitors who come through the front entrance may be the rearrangement of offices.

Receptionist Dana Moody's office has been moved around the hall to Supt. Todd Burleson's former office, Supt. Burleson is now in Rowell's office, the principal is in District Secretary Teresa Matlock's former quarters in the middle area, Ms. Matlock has moved to the old board room and the board will now meet in Ms. Moody's former office.

"It will make things more feasible and workable," Rowell said.

But the centerpiece of summertime improvements there is the Wildcats' new football field and sprinkler system.

The Hanson Nursery Co. in Big Spring brought in the rolls of new sod and grass in five 18 wheeler tractor trailer rigs.

"They just brought it here and rolled it out," the principal said. "It looks great."

He said the school board plans to install new heating and air conditioning and carpeting but has decided to wait until next summer rather than get into a rush.

New Westbrook faculty members are Dee Threatt, high school mathematics, formerly of Olney; Athletic Director and history teacher Don Jones, formerly of Sanderson, southeast of Fort Stockton; assistant girls' coach and computer teacher T. J. Christian, a recent Howard Payne University graduate in Brownwood who replaces retired 40 year teacher Hontas Hines; and girls' coach and junior high math teacher Gary Fox, who moved from Weatherford.

Colorado Middle School Principal Mark Merrell said inmates were moving 20 unneeded computers from teachers' classrooms to make an old special education room, No. 25 on the second floor, into a computer classroom.

New tile will be installed in eighth grade science teacher Pam Alvarez's third floor room, No. 35, and disabled ramps were poured Monday at the library and cafeteria.

County in Counts' 70th District with Big Spring, Sweetwater, Snyder and Lamesa, which would have cost the county the uniquely advantageous position it enjoys in the 72nd.

Attorney General Cornyn's plan was approved on a 3-2 vote with Comptroller Carole Keeton Rylander, Land Commissioner David Dewhurst and him voting against Laney and interim Lt. Gov. Bill Ratliff of Mount Pleasant.

Although the House and Senate outlines are subject to court challenges, the LRB recommendation takes Irion and Sterling Counties out of Junell's district and adds Runnels and Scurry Counties with Balingier and Snyder.

It leaves Junell with the same number of counties he had, five, but provides the required additional population.

The 70th District was actually wiped out, leaving Counts with only two of his old counties and pushing him to north of the Red River and Gainesville.

He is "paired" with Republican Rep. Rick Hardcastle of Vernon, meaning he would have to beat Hardcastle to be re-elected.

"David Dewhurst, John Cornyn and Carole Keeton Rylander used partisan gerrymandering and brought it to a new low," Counts said.

"This just leaves me with two percent of my base. . ."

He pledges a hard re-election campaign.

Laney, whose 85th District would now reach all the way to Big Spring and Howard County, rejoined after the Tuesday, July 24, vote that the plan will be subjected to intense court scrutiny.

"Thank you for the use of the hall," he said dryly.

West Texas districts had to be greatly expanded because population shifts increased Houston's and Harris County's number of representatives to 25.

Several lawsuits have been filed, but the decisive court is expected to be the federal Eastern District of Texas in Tyler, where a three judge panel is considering congressional redistricting.

"San Angelo and Colorado City have been in the same district for over 20 years, and we should all cross our fingers and hope the courts feel the same way," Junell said.

"This is a much better fit." He does not know if the profusion of sentiment flowing from here to the LRB or his support of President Bush in the 2000 election had any influence.

"I'm so appreciative of the people of Mitchell County that wrote and came and testified and made sure their voice was heard," Junell said.

Mayor Bob Reily and County Board of Economic Development Chairman Woody Anderson testified before the LRB in Austin on June 18.

They said a move out of the 72nd would hurt the county's economic development and put it at a competitive disadvantage with the bigger towns.

Asked if he plans to continue in office, Junell said, "We'll see as time goes on. My intent right now is to run for office and continue representing the 72nd, particularly as it's currently drawn."

Teen undergoes surgery after wreck

Toni Jackson
A 17 year old Hermleigh girl who was injured in a traffic accident north of Colorado City last week underwent intestinal surgery at a Lubbock hospital and was reported to be improved.

Toni Jackson, riding in a car driven by her mother, Sandra W. Jackson, that collided with a Jeep last Monday afternoon, was initially thought to have a pelvic injury.

Her grandmother, Evelyn Wiggins of 943 E. 15th St., said Toni's abdomen started swelling before she was flown from Mitchell County Hospital.

Doctors at University Medical Center in Lubbock discovered that her small intestine was twisted, and they removed six to eight inches of it in surgery that ended after midnight Tuesday.

"She is such a strong little fighter, and I really feel like she's going to come out of this okay," Mrs. Wiggins said last Thursday.

Toni is deaf. Her mother, who attended Colorado High School until her senior year, was treated for glass cuts and bruises after the 2:22 p.m. wreck with Loyd Finch of 861 Marshall St. in the 2800 block of North Hwy. 208.

Finch was treated at the local hospital and released.

For Toni, a student at the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin who previously attended Hermleigh schools, it's the latest in a series of bad breaks that she has had.

Born prematurely and not expected to live, at age 6 she got leukemia.

Mrs. Wiggins said the leukemia has been in remission for three years.

Her condition improved last Tuesday, and she was moved from intensive care to the UMC pediatric unit. However, she was moved back to ICU Wednesday to receive a blood transfusion.

Mrs. Wiggins said her daughter did not get treatment for her arm until after Toni came out of surgery.

Employees' insurance protected

By Bill Hammond, President, Texas Association of Business & Chambers of Commerce

Preserving the affordability of health insurance for business owners and employees is a constant battle on the state and federal levels.

Every year, so many mandates and regulations become law that employers can do little except wave the white flag of defeat.

Since 1996, 18 percent of small employers in Texas have had to discontinue their employees' coverage.

Seeing 20 to 60 percent annual premium increases, many of those who continue it are considering the same unfortunate decision.

As more and more small businessmen are calling it quits, Gov. Rick Perry has told the Texas Legislature that enough is enough.

By vetoing House Bill 1862, he sent a clear message that he will not support or allow legislation that drives up the cost of insurance and increases the number of uninsured Texans.

Sponsored by Democratic Reps. Craig Eiland of Galveston and Leticia VanDePutte of San Antonio and dubbed the "Clean Claims Act," this bill would have cost employers, employees and families $900 million a year.

Intended to help doctors get paid in a timely fashion by insurance providers, the end product was more about lawsuits for lawyers than health care.

In '95, the Legislature made a commitment to stop the legal lottery game by passing laws to stem frivolous lawsuits and use the courthouse as a last resort.

HB 1862 would have turned the clock back, promoting lawsuits over arbitration, prohibiting arbitration and alternative resolutions and forcing insurers and doctors into court.

Time and experience have taught us that courthouse battles can take years to resolve, costing a large amount of money that isn't paid by the plaintiff or defendant but is passed on to consumers.

Gov. Perry has supported measures sought by the medical community like collective bargaining for doctors and stronger privacy laws, but he realized this bill would have hurt more people than it helped.

In fact, he met privately with the Texas Medical Association and business groups to reach a compromise giving doctors the relief they need without opening the door to more lawsuits.

It was why, in his veto message, he directed the State Department of Insurance to become more aggressive in helping physicians and providers settle claims disputes.

Current law allows the Commissioner of Insurance to fine companies up to $1,000 a day or revoke their licenses.

Doctors will get more support from the Insurance Department and consumers will receive the best protection of all -- health insurance.

This will be accomplished without trial lawyers taking our dollars away from services.

Saving private insurance is all about keeping our families healthy and our workers working.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

I couldn't believe it: They were selling corn in flower pots! Who ever heard of buying sweet corn plants to put in your garden?

These weren't exactly flower pots, but those little plant containers one finds in a nursery. Some held five-plants and others contained a single plant. The five-plant containers cost $1.79.

I couldn't find a price for the single plants, and I surely wasn't going to ask. Someone might think I was going to buy one!

This was my annual trip to the nursery with my wife. Connie goes to buy roses and bedding plants, and I tag along, reading the labels and grousing about prices. She tries to lose me as quickly as possible.

My wife visits the nursery often, but she only takes me about once a year. That's understandable, I guess.

The sweet corn was the object of my ire on this trip. I couldn't believe folks would pay good money for corn transplants. The crop is so easy to grow from seed or by starting plants in the house.

My mind raced back to the only time I can remember transplanting corn. It was 1956, and I was 12 years old. The old John Deere was fitted with duck-footed shovels in the front and smaller spring-toothed points behind the rear wheels.

I had just made the turn on the end rows and skipped over four rows to head back across the field. We had a two-row planter and a two-row cultivator in those days; so a person cultivating corn could make the turn as big as necessary -- as long as he skipped an even number of rows.

A four-row turn was OK, and a six-row swing was fine, too; but skipping three rows or five meant you were on two separate planter laps, and the spacing wasn't always consistent.

A sixth grader should be able to count, of course, but he has other things to think about. He recalls the last shot of the basketball game, the proper weight line for casting bluegill flies, or the camping trip when the biggest bear you can imagine walked out of the woods with six little pigs.

All of these things were bounding through my mind when I looked over and noticed three rows between me and the previous pass with the cultivators. A glance between the wheels showed this had been going on for some time. That's how I learned to transplant corn.

First you dig a hole, and then cover the plants roots with dirt. Stalks that are cut in half, or don't have any roots remaining are planted leaf-side-up and buried deeply. When these turn brown a few days later, Dad and the neighbors might think the corn borners got 'em.

It's a thankless job, transplanting corn. Certainly not something I would recommend. Any 12-year-old kid can tell us about that.

Artistry on the Lake

By Tumbleweed Smith

Well done. Uplifting. Family oriented. High quality. Standing ovations every night. A totally professional show.

The comments are being made about LONE STAR RISING, the new outdoor musical drama being staged at the amphitheater on Lake Meredith just outside the panhandle city of Fritch.

It has Broadway-quality costumes with lighting, sound, scenery and talent to match. There's everything from Indian dances to tap and ballet, along with a medicine show and cowboy poetry contest.

The play focuses on two love stories. One couple is old, the other young. Texas history is there, too. Everything from Sam Houston to Cynthia Ann Parker.

Neil Hess directed this fine piece of work. He's the same person who directed TEXAS in the Palo Duro Canyon 32 years.

"I woke up one morning and this lake was on my mind. I drove out and looked at the theater. It was kind of run-down but had a magnificent view. I started making phone calls and we got this put together in eight weeks. I'm talking from ground zero. We wrote the script, provided the costumes, created the music, orchestrated the music, built the scenery, refurbished the theater, planned out opening night's festivities and everything else in eight weeks.

"Phil Price of Lubbock wrote the play in three weeks. We were rehearsing the first act while he was writing the second act."

The amphitheater is in one of the prettiest spots in the panhandle. The audience can see both the stage and the lake.

John Benjamin, superintendent of the Lake Meredith National Recreation Area, is thrilled with the play. "It's just what we were looking for," he says. The amphitheater was built back in 1982 by teenagers working on a summer project. "We hope to have it renovated by next year," says John.

The play opened June 15th. On the 30th, there was a huge fireworks show over the lake after the play. There was standing room only in the 1250-seat facility.

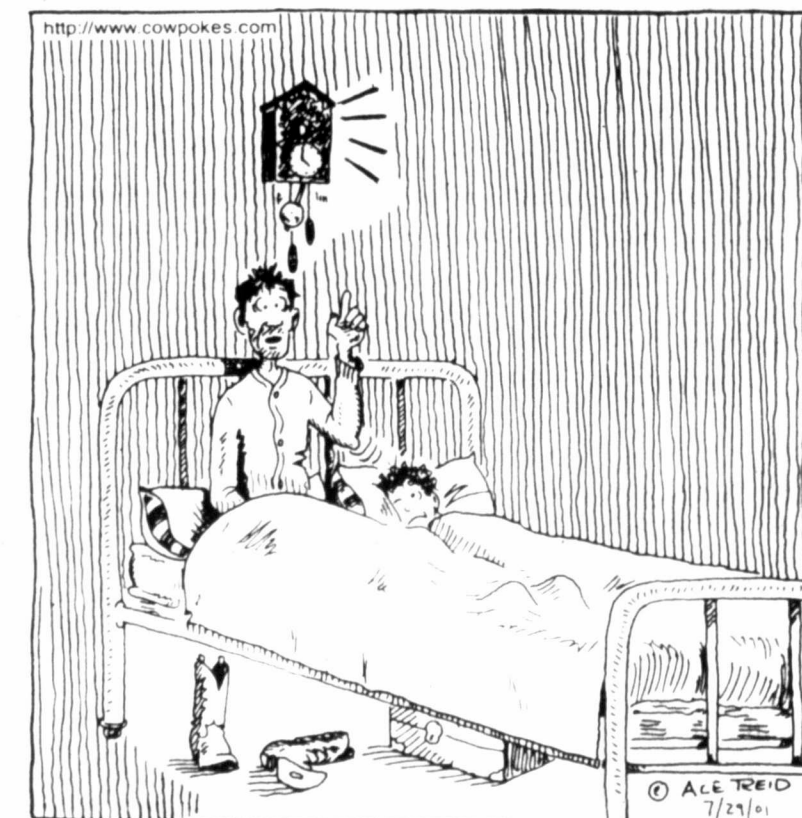

Cody Duncan, house manager, says response has been overwhelming. "When the people are leaving after the show and I thank them for coming, they thank me for giving them some great entertainment."

He teaches high school drama and seven of his students are working with the show doing technical work. "They think it's real special that they are the very first crew to work the show. They're talking about when they're old and coming to see the show they can tell their kids about building that rock wall."

The panhandle's Lone Star Ballet put up front money, but it'll be paid back after the season ends on August 19. The play is on stage Wednesday through Sunday evenings. Starting time is 8:15.

Neil Hess says when you see the colorful dancers, the moon over the water and the stars, it's great. "This is a superior experience for me."

Stenholm happy with farm bill

Unlike 1996, when the House Agriculture Committee had little influence on the "Freedom to Farm" Bill, U. S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Abilene was able to help craft a much more satisfactory bill this year, he said Tuesday.

The last five year legislation was written by House leaders chosen by Speaker Newt Gingrich, but Committee Chairman Larry Combest of Lubbock and Stenholm, the top ranking Democrat, Stenholm ran the show this time, starting with preliminary hearings two years ago.

Their 10 year, $168 billion Agricultural Act of 2001 goes to the House floor in September, where Rep. Stenholm expects opposition amendments by critics and radical conservationists to be defeated.

He is particularly proud of the bill's "counter cyclical" provisions to protect farmers from adverse market conditions.

"Some say we're returning to target prices, but it's going to prove very beneficial to the 17th District," he told the Record in a telephone interview from Washington, D. C.

"I'm also very happy about the $30 million a year for emergency water needs. In dry West Texas, we have a need of that."

Asked what the money will be used for, Stenholm said, "Whatever it takes to bring water to Colorado City. We hope to have a public announcement of some of the things very soon."

The bill's conservation section allocates $16.5 billion over the 10 years to soil, water and wildlife programs -- a 75 percent increase that is still not expected to satisfy environmentalists.

"We would have liked to do more, but we do the best we can with what we have got," he said.

Commodity programs in the multifaceted bill include the following:

-- Payment limits of $50,000 for fixed decoupled payments, $75,000 for counter cyclical payments triggered when a crop's price is below the target price and $75,000 for marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments.

-- Retained fixed decoupled payments and marketing loan program, marketing loan rates maintained for all commodities except oilseeds, which is reduced to an equivalent level with other commodities, grain sorghum raised to the level of corn.

-- Producers have the option of updating base acreage while keeping current base yields.

-- Fixed and decoupled payments made on 85 percent of the producer's base.

-- Payment yields comparable to current AMTA yields in an area will be developed for oilseeds and farms without an AMTA payment base and yields.

"Doc" Gray to be featured speaker

Dr. R. N. Gray of Loraine, a retired veterinarian and authority on the history of West Central Texas Indian tribes, will be the featured luncheon speaker at the annual Mitchell County Reunion on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Of Cherokee and Choctaw descent himself, Dr. Gray is expected to discuss the Comanches and Kiowas who lived here in the 19th Century, forming an alliance.

"Doc Gray is noted for his excellent knowledge of Indian life and lore, which will be incorporated with this year's Reunion theme, 'Digging Up the Past,'" said Publicity Chairman Ray Anne Carlock.

An organizational meeting July 17 at the Heart of West Texas Museum resulted in Ernestine Venus Odell's election as Reunion chairman and the appointment of committees to organize the Civic Center event.

"A capacity crowd of 300 is expected to attend this year's gathering," Ms. Carlock said.

"Invitations are being mailed to out of town addresses only. Anyone who has ever lived in Mitchell County is invited to make plans to attend."

You may make a reservation by calling the Museum at 728-8285 or faxing 8944.

Tickets for meal, catered by David Stubblefield, are $6.50.

Sissy Merritt and R. J. and Mary Lloyd are handling invitations, and the string band of Sarah Gohery, Gus Armstrong, Joe Williamson and Charles Dunn will again entertain.

The morning coffee committee is headed by Betsy Aycock and Flo Bodine, and registrations will be handled by Dorothy Shurtleff, table setups by Larry Johnson and decorations by Margaret Rees and the Colorado City Garden Club.

Souvenir programs are being designed and printed and Bob Ratliff and Shirley Delaney.

Plans have not been completed for the traditional "Cowboy Breakfast" from 7 to 9:30 a.m. in Kiwanis Park at East Second and Chestnut Streets or the high school class reunions that are often held in conjunction with the event.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

It often amazes me that in this day in time that someone would build a permanent structure in a flood plain or anywhere where it might easily come to harm. Now some will say that you can not build any structure that is completely safe from nature and that is true. However, it is a very foolish individual who builds a structure that is easily destroyed by nature. Now many will say that God created a foolish species when he created man but while some of that is true man can, with God's help, stand above his ingrained foolishness.

Proverbs 10:8, The wise in heart will receive commandments; But a prating fool shall fall.

We all have the ability to be wise in heart so to continue being foolish well... is the antics of the fool of fools. Why would anyone build a permanent structure on an unstable foundation? Especially when the structure is being built with public funds.

Proverbs 13:16, Every prudent man worketh with knowledge; But a fool flauntheth his folly.

The argument has been made that the old hospital is beyond repair and that only a new hospital will meet the needs of the county. This may be true but why would anyone build a permanent structure on unstable soil, especially unstable soil they do not even own.

Proverbs 14:16, A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil; But the fool beareth himself insolently, and is confident.

We are in the sixth year of a drought and the red clay that was brought into the building site will be compacted because of a lack of moisture. What happens when it begins to rain? Everyone has driven across Iatan flats on Interstate 20, right now that stretch of road is fairly smooth but during a prolonged wet spell the road begins to buckle in long swells making the trip across Iatan flats a bumpy experience. Therefore, what happens to the new hospital when it finally starts to rain and water flows through the sand under the red clay and well, the foundation starts to buckle and move just like I-20 across Iatan flats. The building would probably be safe if it were built on piers that were sunk into the bedrock under the sand. Nevertheless, for some unknown reason this simple construction technique is not being used on the new hospital foundation.

Matthew 7:24, Everyone therefore that heareth these words of mine, and doeth them, shall be likened unto a wise man, who built his house upon the rock; 25, and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon the rock. 26, And everyone that heareth these words of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, who built his house upon the sand; 27, and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and smote upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall thereof.

I do not claim to be wise but why would anyone not take the advice of the builder of the universe when it comes to a simple construction technique?

Proverbs 12:15, The way of a fool is right in his own eyes; But he that is wise hearkeneth unto counsel.

Sincerely,
Warren Lee Zant

Dear Editor,

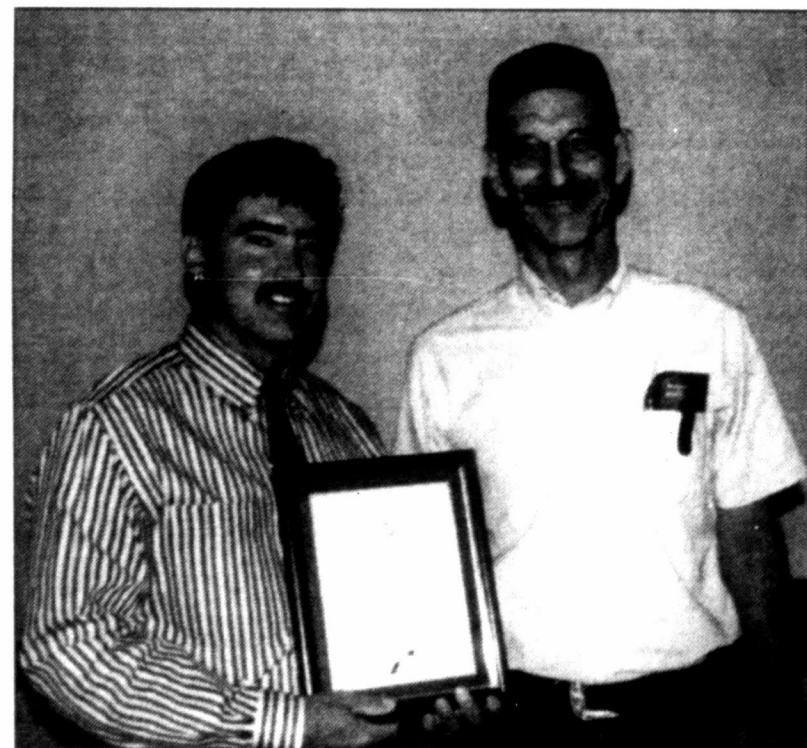

Welcome back to a new year. We are looking forward to serving you again during the 2001-2002 school year. We would like to take this time to encourage you to participate in our Free and Reduced Price meals Program. Please read through the material and do not hesitate to contact the Food Service Department at 728-1013 if you have any questions, concerns, or comments.

If your child's application was current at the end of the 2000-2001 school year and appeared on our list, he/she will receive free or reduced price meals (according to previous benefits) for the first 30 calendar days of the new school year. After 30 days, if we have not received a new application on your child, he/she will no longer be eligible for free or reduced price meals until an application is approved.

Any charges after the 30 day period will be your responsibility.

Again, please contact the Food Service Department if you have any questions or need help in filling out an application. Thank you for your cooperation and have a wonderful school year.

COOK'S CORNER

School is about to begin and it's time to start thinking about lunch box recipes. A recent survey showed that most kids do not like what is in their lunch box and one in four either trades or throws it away. If that's the case, what should you do?

- Take your kids to the grocery store to help pick items and get their input.
- Pack fruits and vegetables.
- Pack smaller portions.

- Use a variety of colors and shapes.
- Include a funny note or picture and a colorful napkin.
- Make sandwiches with different shapes by using cookie cutters.

TURKEY WRAPS

- 1/2 cup plain low-fat yogurt
- 2 tsp. ketchup
- 1 tsp. sweet pickle relish
- Sliced turkey breast
- Sliced American cheese

Five-inch bread sticks

In a small bowl, mix together yogurt, ketchup and relish. Set aside.

Cover a smooth working surface with waxed paper. Place turkey breast slices side by side on the prepared working surface. Spoon 1 tablespoon of yogurt mixture onto each turkey slice. Place slice of cheese on top. Lay a bread stick on each prepared turkey slice. Roll each turkey and cheese slice around a bread stick. Enclose each turkey wrap snugly in plastic. Secure ends with twist ties.

APPLE DIP

- 1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 Tbsp. vanilla extract

In a medium-sized mixing bowl, combine cream cheese, brown sugar and vanilla. Mix well until all of the brown sugar has been blended into the cream cheese and vanilla. If the mixture is too runny for your taste, add a small amount of brown sugar to the mixture. If the mixture is too thick for your taste, add a small amount of vanilla extract.

PEANUT BUTTER CRISPIES

- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/3 cup corn syrup
- 1/4 cup peanut butter
- 4 cups crispy rice cereal

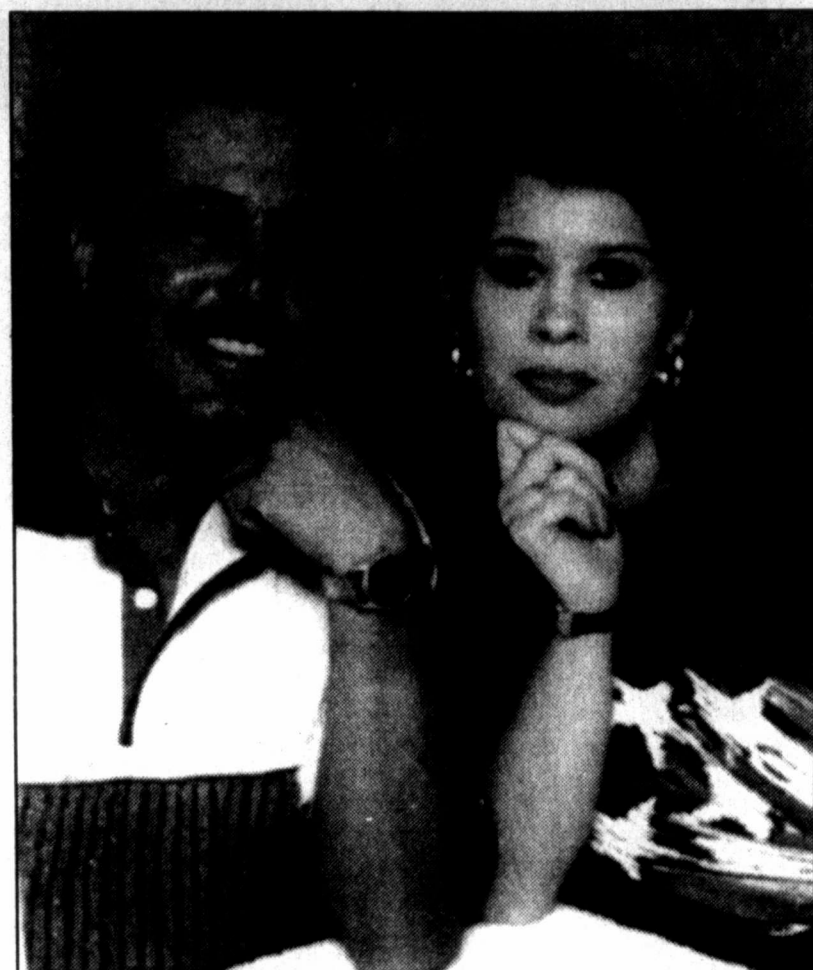

Combine brown sugar and corn syrup in 3 quart saucepan. Mix until sugar dissolves and remove from heat. Stir in peanut butter and cereal. Spread into a buttered 9x13" pan and let cool. Cut into 2 inch squares.

APPLE CRISPIES

- Nonstick vegetable spray
- 6 cups peeled, thinly sliced apples

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 cups toasted rice cereal
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Preheat oven to 350°. Prepare a baking pan 8x8" with nonstick vegetable spray. In a mixing bowl, combine the brown sugar and margarine with a pastry blender until crumbly. Using a wooden spoon, stir the cereal into the margarine mixture. Sprinkle the cereal topping over the apples. Bake for 20 minutes or until apples are tender and topping is lightly browned. Remove from oven. Place on a wire rack to cool. Place 1/2 cup apple crisps in each of 6 small plastic containers with snap-on lids.

Child screening scheduled at Wallace Center

Is your child between the ages of 3 and 6, and you think that he/she may have a disability or developmental delay? Do you think that your child may need help in learning to talk, to walk, or to follow directions?

West Central Texas SSA (WCTSSA) servicing Colorado ISD, Hermleigh ISD, Ira ISD, Loraine ISD, and Westbrook ISD is screening all preschool children whose parents or guardian believe that they may be delayed or disabled and in need of educational services.

How do you know if a child is or is not developing normally? Before a child's 4th birthday, a child typically: rides a tricycle, opens doors, is toilet trained, hops on one foot, plays with other children, responds to simple commands, identifies at least four body parts, and talks in three or four word sentences.

If you believe your child may be disabled or developmentally delayed, the SSA will evaluate your child. If he/she qualifies for the program, the SSA will provide an educational program that will assist your child in developing age-appropriate milestones.

Screening will be conducted at the Wallace Center, 149 South Hwy 208, in Colorado City, on Friday, August 17, 2001, between the hours of 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:00-3:30 p.m.

These service are free. If you have questions, please call Denise Love at 728-1021 or Dr. Nancy Jobs at 235-8621 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Fun Day scheduled at WTC August 18

Western Texas College will host a Freshman Fun Day on Saturday, August 18 for all new WTC students. There will be a guest speaker on campus presenting "Making College Count!", a nationally recognized program for students and their parents.

Students will also be allowed to move into their dorm rooms at this time. Lunch will be provided on campus and fun activities are planned for the afternoon.

Children from families whose income falls within the level shown on the above scale are eligible for either free or reduced price meals. The reduced price for lunch is .40 cents and for breakfast is .30 cents.

Every household will be furnished with an application, which must be completed to apply for free or reduced price meals. To complete, please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the following information is not complete and cannot be processed by the school: 1) Names of all household members; 2) Amount of income received by each household member such as wages, welfare, alimony, etc., or your Food Stamp or AFDC/TANF number if you receive these benefits; 3) the word "none" if that person has none.

Within 10 days of the receipt of the application, the school will notify you whether or not your child is eligible. The school or other officials may check the information on the application at any time during the school year.

If your child is approved for meal benefits, you must notify the school when your income increases by $50 per month/$600 per year or when your household size decreases. You may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If you are not eligible now, but have a decrease in household income, become unemployed, or have an increase in family size, fill out an application at that time.

Children who receive free or reduced price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for their meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child is discriminated against because of race, sex, color, age, handicap, national origin, political belief, or religion. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling, or writing to Mr. Clinton Compton, Superintendent of Schools, 1132 Hickory, Colorado City, Texas 79501, or call (915)728-3721.

Deadline for ACT Assessment registration set for August 17

The next ACT Assessment will be administered on September 22, 2001. College-bound high school students must register for the college admissions and placement exam by August 17 - the deadline for having your registration postmarked. There is a late registration postmark deadline of August 31, but an extra fee is charged for late registrations.

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all U.S. colleges and universities, including all Ivy League schools. The ACT is not an aptitude test - it is an academic achievement test that measures students on what they learned in high school. Because it is curriculum-based, colleges use ACT scores for more than admission decisions - they use scores to place freshmen into classes that the students are academically prepared to handle. For admissions decisions, colleges use ACT scores along with a student's high school grade point average, college prep courses taken, extracurricular activities and other information. The test fee is $24.

Students can register for the ACT by getting information from their high school counselor or online at ACT's website www.act.org. The website also has helpful information, sample tests and the opportunity to order test prep materials including an students build a study plan.

The ACT Assessment is given in all 50 states and is the number one college entrance exam taken by high school students in 25 states. There are four sections to the exam. English, reading, main and science reasoning. The ACT Assessment was taken more than 1.7 million times last year by college-bound students.

Students who take the exam more than once can report only their highest composite score to prospective colleges if they choose. ACT, Inc. is based in Iowa City, Iowa.

Hutchinson Elementary to receive grant money

During the 2000-2001 school year, Hutchinson Elementary used Class-Size Reduction funds to pay the salary of one teacher for third grade in order to maintain a lower student/teacher ratio and to provide staff development for all Hutchinson staff.

The maximum class size for third grade for 2000-2001 was 17 students to 1 teacher. For staff development, a reading consultant was hired to provide one day of staff development in February 2001, and the 3rd grade teacher attended the 3rd grade convention Austin in June during 1999-2000.

The amount of funds received was $39,552.00. The effect of the use of these funds was seen by the improvement of TAAS scores and continued improvement in the area of math scores.

For school year 2001-2002, the district will receive $47,643 from the grant. This program is part of the Division of Student Support Program at the Texas Education Agency.

Hutchinson Elementary would like to thank Lucy Smith and Region XIV Education Service Center in Abilene for their assistance with the grant.

Rogers named USNA winner in Science

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that David Rogers from Sweetwater has been named a United States National Award winner in Science.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

David Rogers, who attends Sweetwater High, was nominated for this national award by Joe Paty, a teacher at the school.

David will appear in the

David Rogers

United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

David Rogers is the son of Katherine Rogers of Sweetwater and Michael Rogers of Big Spring. The grandparents are Betty Robertson of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers, also of Colorado City.

Host families needed for students

Host families are needed for international exchange students for the 2001-2002 academic year. The students hope to arrive in early August and will stay with the host family for one semester or until the end of the school year. They are in need of caring American families with or without children to provide a home and share with them this unique experience.

The host family will provide a bed, meals, as well as friendship, understanding, and a genuine desire to share the American way of life with a youngster from overseas. The students are between the ages of 15 and 18, speak English, are covered by medical insurance, and have spending money for their personal expenses.

For more information, please call Yvette Coffman at the SHARE! Southwest Regional Office at 1-800-941-3738.

The Westbrook ISD, in participation with the National Lunch and Breakfast Program, is announcing the free or reduced price meal policy statement for the 2001-2002 school year.

The Board of Trustees of Westbrook ISD has adopted the following family size and income scale to assist determining eligibility.

For each add'l family member add:	+$3,926	+$5,587	+$328	+$466	+$76	+$108

Children from families whose income falls within the level shown on the above scale are eligible for either free or reduced price meals. The reduced price for lunch is .30 cents and for breakfast is .20 cents.

Every household will be furnished with an application, which must be completed to apply for free or reduced price meals. To complete, please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the following information is not complete and cannot be processed by the school: 1) Names of all household members; 2) Amount of income received by each household member such as wages, welfare, alimony, etc., or your Food Stamp or AFDC/TANF number if you receive these benefits; 3) the word "none" if that person has none.

Within 10 days of the receipt of the application, the school will notify you whether or not your child is eligible. The school or other officials may check the information on the application at any time during the school year.

If your child is approved for meal benefits, you must notify the school when your income increases by $50 per month/$600 per year or when your household size decreases. You may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If you are not eligible now, but have a decrease in household income, become unemployed, or have an increase in family size, fill out an application at that time.

Children who receive free or reduced price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for their meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child is discriminated against because of race, sex, color, age, handicap, national origin, political belief, or religion. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling, or writing to Mr. Todd Burleson, Superintendent of Schools, P.O. Box 99, Colorado City, Texas 79512, or call (915)644-2311.

Mrs. Thomas recognized for work in Wichita Falls

Yolanda Thomas and family

Yolanda Thomas, daughter of Rev. H.H. and Allene Lee of Colorado City, is a hard-working job skills director at the Boys & Girls Clubs of Wichita Falls. The club and Thomas were recognized in a story by Ted Buss of the Times Record News in Wichita Falls recently.

Wichita Falls is one of 100 TeenSupreme Centers currently up and running. One program which is being used by the center is the CareerPrep program, designed to benefit teens in a number of ways, but employers also stand to gain.

One of the many ways in which Yolanda facilitates the program is by filling out enrollment applications for teens at the Boys & Girls Club.

Yolanda has been quoted as saying, "Right now we are trying to target kids who have dropped out of school but are eager to get their GED and gain skills that will help them get jobs, or better jobs."

"It's more than just computer needs. We do a self-evaluation to help them determine their strengths and weaknesses and their interests. We teach them the importance of being punctual, of professional appearance and how to do a resume and conduct an interview. We also try to eliminate negative behavior and teach them the importance of responsible living."

"We are planting the seeds to excel in capabilities and qualifications," she added. We want to provide realistic job search goals and give hope in situations where there is very little."

Other parts of the CareerPrep program include:

Career Explores Club is for teens 13-15 and focuses on 15 career clusters include communication skills, visualizing the impact of technology, predicting future trends, exploring, researching, choosing careers and considering non-traditional careers.

Job Ready is pre-employment training for teens ages 16-18. It assesses skills and evaluation for job readiness through 11 competencies designed to build essential job skills.

"Many of these kids have had troubled pasts," said Thomas. "But they want a chance to learn and move into the workplace. It's just that they don't have the necessary skills. We are trying to not only save kids, but to get them ready for jobs and the real world."

"It takes time," she added, "but I'm convinced this program has a chance to benefit many, including employers who constantly need good help."

Part of the function, Thomas said, is to help in job placement and provide 90-day follow-up support for employers and the employees.

Mrs. Thomas is a 1986 graduate of Colorado High School and earned her bachelor's degree from McMurry in 1991. She is the wife of Wayne Thomas, E-6, and has a son, Torrence Thomas.

Balanced teen diet important for growth

Eating a balanced diet based on the Food Guide Pyramid can be a difficult goal to achieve at any age. Nutritionists have educated the public for years on the value of eating a balanced diet throughout all stages of the life cycle.

Stressing diet education to all ages is important, but one age group that should take special precautions is teenagers.

"The Food Guide Pyramid guides healthy Americans over the age of 2 in building a balanced diet," said Dr. Sharon Robinson, nutrition specialist and registered dietitian with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

"However, teenagers have specific needs due to the rapid growth occurring at their age," she said. "Many don't have enough calcium intake because they don't consume enough dairy products and other calcium fortified foods."

Robinson stressed the importance of folic acid in teenage girls' diets because recommended amounts of the B vitamin folic acid can prevent certain birth defects later when they become mothers.

"Teenage girls should make sure to get 400 micrograms of folic acid every day, even if they aren't expecting a baby or planning to conceive for years," Robinson said. Proper amounts of folic acid can be found in multi-vitamins.

She said teens have caloric needs based on their growth rate and activity level. "Teens who are very active may need extra calories from snacks such as breads, muffins, fruits, or yogurt. They should balance their caloric intake to achieve optimal height and appropriate weight."

For all healthy teenagers, Robinson suggested exercising for 30 minutes on most days. For teenage boys, who are often interested in building muscle mass, she said, weight gain supplements are not necessary and, more often than not, have no added benefit in muscle gain.

Many teenagers are concerned with diet programs and achieving specific weight loss goals that may not be healthy for their bodies.

Robinson warned that many diet programs are not recommended for teens because teenagers are still growing. Because teens are still growing, weight loss must be supervised by a physician.

Dr. Jenna Anding, Extension nutrition specialist, also warned against fad diets.

"Many fad diets aren't proven and aren't necessarily the most healthy and nutritious way to reach a healthful weight."

"Fad diets often fail to promote the adoption of life-long healthy behaviors, which is vital for long-term healthful weight management. These behaviors include a nutritious diet and regular physical activity. In addition, people tend to lose interest in fad diets because the diets are too strict and unrealistic, or because people don't see the results as soon as they would like," Anding said.

For best results, Robinson stressed, teens should enjoy sensible servings of a wide variety of foods and be physically active every day.

MOVIE REVIEWS

By Casey Eagan

My movie reviews have gone to the dogs. And cats. And gorillas and dinosaurs.

Movie studios are banking on animals, real or pretend, this summer at the box office with films such as Jurassic Park III, Cats and Dogs, Dr. Doolittle II and The Animal raking in the dollars.

I'm pretty sure this trend will continue. Animals come cheaper than most actors and are less temperamental, although I truly believe my great Dane would eat me if he were hungry enough.

Sure, the way animals greet each other isn't pleasant, but all in all these films have been more enjoyable than most movies I've seen this summer.

My first review of the week is for Planet of the Apes (rated PG-13: violence) now playing at Snyder Cinema I and II through August 9.

Planet hardly resembles the 1968 version, with Mark Wahlberg taking over the starring role as an astronaut in the not-too-distant future who crash lands on a mysterious planet in which apes rule and humans are the "animals".

Wahlberg is captured along with a small group of humans by the general of the ape society (Tim Roth) who believes that man should be exterminated.

With help from a sympathetic female gorilla (Helena Bonham Carter), the astronaut engineers an escape and eventually leads the humans in rebellion.

Director Tim Burton is a very interesting director and gives the film a unique style to the action sequences, but he can't keep the momentum as the movie becomes increasingly silly by the time the climactic battle arrives.

Wahlberg is only so-so, but Roth and Bonham Carter are excellent and the twist finale is a surprise as Planet of the Apes earns 2 1/2 stars out of 4.

Next up is The Score (rated R: language, violence) now playing at Cinema 4 in Big Spring.

Robert DeNiro stars as a longtime thief who is ready to settle down with his girlfriend (Angela Bassett) when he is coerced into planning one final "score" by an old associate (Marlon Brando) in a deal that could set them up for life.

Complicating matters is DeNiro's new partner, an egotistical young hoodlum played by Edward Norton.

As the "score" draws closer, the pressure mounts as DeNiro becomes unsure of who, if anyone, he can trust.

The idea of this film has been used before and is fairly predictable, but rarely do you get to see actors of this caliber work together.

DeNiro is terrific and more likable than he used to be, and Norton is one of the best young actors around.

With a great supporting cast and an entertaining, if somewhat slow-paced story, The Score earns 3 1/2 stars out of 4.

Loraine news

By Bessie Ann Vaughn
Greetings. Hot Diggedy Dog! I don't really know what this means but I do know it's hot and the dogs are apt to be feeling diggedy these days.

If we don't get some relief from this hot weather soon. I may have to make a doctor's appointment. For instance, the telephone rings at the doctor's office...

"Is this the doctor's office?"

"Yes lady, what is your problem?"

"Well, my diggedy isn't working very well and all I want to do is lie around on the porch in a dog daze this summer."

"What doctor would you like to see?"

The Hot Diggedy Dog doctor of course, and my specimen is in this doggie bag.

A mini cousin reunion took place at the center Monday. Attending were Charles Richburg, Kitty Gage, and Don Richburg.

Sunday night, July 29, churches melded together for the traditional fifth Sunday sing-a-long hosted by the Methodist Church this month.

Special singing was done by Baptist men singers Rick Lucas, Roland Graham and Danny Butler. Bro. Keifer Caudle was the piano player for the evening. Refreshments were served. The next sing-a-long will be hosted by the Baptist Church.

Irene Kidd accompanied M.L. and Maureen Chandler of Snyder to New Braunfels, Texas to visit a nephew and his wife for a few days then went on to Lake Conroe where they met Bill and Barbara Long from Savanna, Georgia and their children and Clovis and Jean Hale from Austin, Texas and their children.

The family group spent a week right by the water fishing, swimming, dining out, shopping and having a wonderful get-together.

The James Waddels have recently met other family members in Maryneal, Texas as Rebecca's brother, Tim Stevenson, his wife, Harriet and their two sons, Daniel and Ben were leaving the United States for a five year stay in southern Germany. Tim is a food toxicologist and does extensive work in studying diseases caused by food.

Brad, Penny and Morgan Henderson were here with their parents, Doris and Tharon Henderson Sunday. They celebrated a belated birthday for Brad. Ashley didn't attend as she was at a band concert. Happy belated birthday Brad.

"Senior Center"
We enjoyed the Aubrey Wilson Band from Snyder on the 23rd. They make good music and are a nice group of fellas.

Aubrey Wilson, Jack Denman, Don Johnson and Billy

Wilson. Charles Dunn was absent this time as he and his wife were on vacation.

If you missed the Old Sorehead band last Wednesday you missed a good time.

The musicians and singers are wonderful and sound as if they should be classified as professionals.

This band volunteers to play for nursing homes, Senior Centers and churches. Soreheads were Mamie Roten, Louis Roten, Gerry Yardley, Clara Clements, Gene Clements, Verla Doggett, Babe Lindsey, Pete Morrison and Bill Pinkston.

Ken Northcutt sang for us on the 25th. We always enjoy his program.

Last Wednesday at the Senior Center we had our birthday dinner and had a very nice attendance, and a very good lunch. The Sorehead band from Stanton provided the music.

Friday, some hometown talent put on a variety show for the audience at the center. Vida Mae McDaniel played piano, Juanice Butler, Nell Doyle, Allie Ruth Wiggins, Charlene Walker took part in the program. Royce and Margaret Mahan sang a duet. They harmonize very well together.

Vacation Bible School has just ended at Loraine Baptist Church. They had a nice attendance all week.

We have concerns at this time for Elsa Freeman, Geneva Bunum and Jim Sanders. We wish them, get well wishes.

"Gals in Space"

A blonde, a brunette and a redhead, all working for Nasa were trying to figure out where to go on their next trip.

One said, "We could go to Mars!" Another said, "We should go to the moon."

Suddenly the blonde said "We could all go to the sun."

The other girls laughed and laughed at her. You would melt or burn up before you even got close!"

The blonde said, "Not if we go at night... Duh! Duh!"

Welcome to Loraine. See you around town.

Betty Chandler made a trip to her hometown of Seagraves last week for the annual city celebration. She met her sister Pat, then went home with her to Kingsland where kids and grandkids from Abilene went for a few days visit. They enjoyed going out to Buchanan Lake to swim every evening.

Johnny and Helen Price visited with me Friday, helping me celebrate being another year older. The Price's live in Sweetwater where there is strict water rationing.

My brother Johnny has a passion for gardening (flowers and vegetables), so this restriction has crippled his green thumb. He still has pretty roses though.

The musicians and singers are wonderful and sound as if they should be classified as professionals.

This band volunteers to play for nursing homes, Senior Centers and churches. Soreheads were Mamie Roten, Louis Roten, Gerry Yardley, Clara Clements, Gene Clements, Verla Doggett, Babe Lindsey, Pete Morrison and Bill Pinkston.

Ken Northcutt sang for us on the 25th. We always enjoy his program.

Last Wednesday at the Senior Center we had our birthday dinner and had a very nice attendance, and a very good lunch. The Sorehead band from Stanton provided the music.

Friday, some hometown talent put on a variety show for the audience at the center. Vida Mae McDaniel played piano, Juanice Butler, Nell Doyle, Allie Ruth Wiggins, Charlene Walker took part in the program. Royce and Margaret Mahan sang a duet. They harmonize very well together.

Vacation Bible School has just ended at Loraine Baptist Church. They had a nice attendance all week.

We have concerns at this time for Elsa Freeman, Geneva Bunum and Jim Sanders. We wish them, get well wishes.

"Gals in Space"

A blonde, a brunette and a redhead, all working for Nasa were trying to figure out where to go on their next trip.

One said, "We could go to Mars!" Another said, "We should go to the moon."

Suddenly the blonde said "We could all go to the sun."

The other girls laughed and laughed at her. You would melt or burn up before you even got close!"

The blonde said, "Not if we go at night... Duh! Duh!"

Welcome to Loraine. See you around town.
