Cease-Fire Reported

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)-China was reported Saturday to have decided on a cease-fire in its two-week old border war with Vietnam after capturing Lang Son and other Vietnamese frontier cities. Tens of thousands of casualties were claimed on both sides.

Japan's Kyodo news service said the cease-fire decision as reported by an unidentified Chinese government official in Peking.

The report said the official did not say when the cease-fire was to take place or when the Chinese were to pull back their troops to the Chinese side of the 450-mile-long border.

Texas As Waste Site

AUSTIN (AP)-Gov. Bill Clements says Texans should be open to the possibility of disposing of radioactive waste from their nuclear power plants on their own soil.

He said at a news conference Friday that Texans "ought possibly - please underline possibly - consider" accepting a disposal site for nuclear wastes generated in this state.

"As we in Texas are advocating all-out production of energy...we can't on the one hand say we should build more nuclear plants and on the other hand close our minds to the possibility that we ought to consider - underline consider - a small nuclear waste facility in this state," Clements said.

Attack Police Station

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)-Gunmen described as "anti-revolutionary" attacked a police station in downtown Tehran today but were repulsed, the government said. Authorities said three persons were killed there and one other in a clash between rival guerrillas in nearby Shahbaz.

Despite Many Precautions...

Worthless Checks Still Go Into Cash Registers

There was a story back in the days before computers, when banks provided "counter checks" for business firms, about the woman who made a purchase in a store and asked for a blank check.

"Which bank?" asked the store clerk.

"Any bank ought to have enough money to pay for this," said the woman.

The days of counter checks are gone, but the personalized variety hasn't eliminated the "rubber" check. Worthless checks still go into the cash registers of retail firms at a rapid clip, as personnel in the office of Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway confirm. They wind up in the Justice of the Peace's office when the victims decide to take legal action to collect or prosecute.

"You'd be surprised how many hot checks some individuals are able to cash," said Wanda Rushing, the office secretary as she looked through a stack from a folder. "Here's one who has 38 in his file."

And, strangely, many of them are for small amounts, some as small as one dollar. It has resulted in worthless check cases becoming one of the biggest items in the daily routine in Callaway's office. It has reached the point that it just about requires one sheriff's deputy's time to locate the offenders and serve the citations.

In fact, the hot check business has become so brisk that Callaway and prosecuting attorneys have distributed a letter defining policy on the prosecution of worthless check complaints.

Criminal complaints will not be taken on checks for the following reasons: The check is post-dated; the check is a "hold" check; the check was not presented to the bank for payment within 30 days; the check is over one year old; the check was received by mail, or was left in a receptacle; the person

Retailers Rally For Repeal Of Texas Blue Law

DALLAS (AP)—A group of some 2,500 competing Texas retailers has organized to make a concerted effort to win legislative repeal of the state's so-called "blue law."

"We no longer wish to be asked to enforce a law our customers don't want," said Lawrence M. Turner of Kroger Co., acting as spokesman for the group, "Retailers for Repeal of the Blue Law."

He said participating companies will provide the means and instructions for customers to contact their state senators and representatives.

The new group, however, does not have unanimous support among retailers. In a message supporting the blue law, the Retail Merchants Association of Houston called upon its members to place posters in employee lounges asking, "Do you want to work on Sunday?"

Turner called the ploy a "scare tactic."

He said the aim of his group's drive is to have consumer opinion heard on the blue law, which prohibits the sale of certain products on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays.

Dr. Ward Dies; Rites Monday

Dr. Harry W. Ward, 65, well-known Snyder physician, died at 4 a.m Saturday in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo.

He had practiced medicine in Snyder since 1948 when he graduated from the University of Texas Medical School. A native of Moran, Dr. Ward attended public schools there, graduating from high school at the age of 15. He graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1934.

He was married on Feb. 24, 1934, in Abilene to Maurine Stimson, and they moved to Snyder in 1938. He was elected by local doctors to serve as the first chief of staff at Cogdell Memorial Hospital when it opened in 1953 and he continued on the staff until his death.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Monday at the 37th Street Church of Christ, with Pat Abbananto, minister, officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Harilynn Smith of Houston; a son, John Ward of Snyder, and five grandchildren.

Scurry Farmer Views Protest

BILLY W. WILLIAMS

The Washington, D.C., cops are really not such a bad lot, Billy Wayne Williams discovered when he visited the nation's capital for 10 days last month.

Williams, a Scurry County farmer and rancher, decided to visit Washington last month during the height of the farmers' protest movement and see for himself what was happening, what the prospect was of getting something done, and why things were happening as they were.

"I couldn't believe that they (the Carter Administration and government leaders) made the positive statements that they wouldn't do this and they wouldn't do that," said Williams. "It gets your curiosity aroused."

So he went to the capital and stayed there from Feb. 3 to Feb. 13. Although there were confrontations between farmers and police, Williams said he was not drawn into the affrays. "You can do as you please as long as you behave," he observed.

There were thousands of farmers in Washington, he said, and whether they spoke with "a wang, a twang, or a drawl, they were darn sure farmers." Williams said he found that farmers across the country are having financial troubles.

At the protest's height, Williams estimated there were approximately 2,000 tractors and assorted vehicles along the Washington mall. Despite the impressive turnout, he feels little was accomplished.

"Really, other than an attempt to get national attention, I think there was very little accomplished," said Williams. The protest in the capital was mostly symbolic, he believes, and will achieve little if anything this year.

Most farmers, he said, are not interested in government subsidies. "All we want is a fair shake. Anything beats losing money," said Williams.

"They're (government leaders) exporting our products that we produce at a loss to make up for that trade deficit. How do you say that's economically feasible?" he asked. "They're using us as political footballs."

Frank Osborne, who, as district manager, oversees General Crude Oil Company's operations all the way from this area to Wyoming, gave us an opportunity to look through some issues of Texas Illustrated, a magazine published at Liberty. Osborne was especially interested in these particular issues because they carry installments of a history of General Crude Oil Company.

He thought we would also be interested in seeing them, not only because of the General Crude history, but one of the issues has stories and pictures about the Borden family.

Although the Bordens involved in the story are mostly others (descendants of on Abel Head "Shanghai" Pierce), there is some interesting reference to Gail Borden, for whom Borden County and its county seat of Gail were named.

Of course you can't go into many grocery stores now without seeing the name "Borden" on dairy products and the company that still bears his name is one of the world's largest. But, an expert from a book, "I'll Take Texas" by Mary Lasswell, reveals that Gail Borden was flat broke at 50. A few years later, he succeeded in developing a process to condense milk. Shortly thereafter, the Civil War broke out and his product was in great demand.

The item notes that the town of Gail in Borden County is interesting because of what is hasn't got as well as for what it has.

"First of all, it is the only town in the county. It has no bank, no theater, no railroad, no hotel, no doctor, no preacher and no lawyer in the county....I thought how pleasant it would be to live in Gail, away from the screech of automobile tires peeling rubber at night and day."

Getting back to General Crude, its story began in 1921, and within six years it was in this part of the country. It acquired leases on acreage in West Central Texas in 1927 which resulted in production in the Royston Field west of Hamlin, which is now the site of the company's Hamlin District Office.

Development is traced on through discoveries in Scurry and Kent Counties, including the Salt Creek Unit, one of General Crude's most productive properties.

Survey Slated On Deep Creek

Work toward development of a watershed work plan on a proposed Deep Creek flood control project will bring a survey crew here this week, Erwin A. Pavlik, district conservationist, Snyder Office, Soil Conservation Service, has reported.

Pavlik said the survey crew from the San Marcos Watershed Planning staff is due to begin work here Monday to obtain valley section surveys and house elevations for the watershed work plan. The crew is expected to be in Scurry County for approximately five weeks.

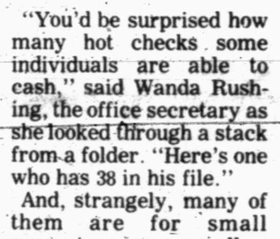

Anyone who needs further information on the project may contact Pavlik, or other personnel at the SCS office in the Agricultural Service Center at 3412 Avenue T. The telephone number is 573-0171.

The development of the watershed work plan is another step in proposed project which was initiated following a damaging flood on Deep Creek on Aug. 13, 1972. Local sponsors of the project are the City of Snyder, Scurry County and the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District.

Q--Is it possible to print the school menu rather than "Manager's choice" that they have at least once a week?

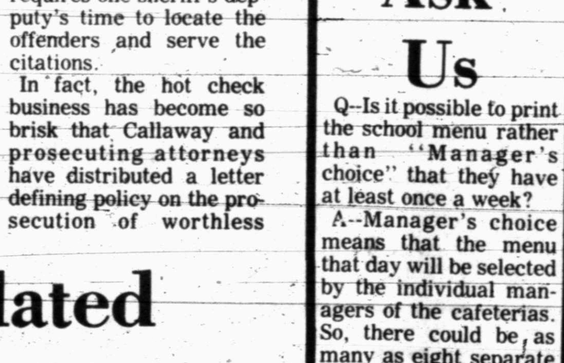

A--Manager's choice means that the menu that day will be selected by the individual managers of the cafeterias. So, there could be as many as eight separate menus that day, and they might not necessarily be selected in some cases until the last minute.

'Open House' Monday...

Public Schools Week Events Planned Here

Snyder area residents will be encouraged to visit their schools during the coming week as Texas Public Schools Week is observed.

Snyder elementary schools have special "open house" events scheduled for Monday night, and visitors will be welcome during regular school hours throughout the week. However, those who plan to have lunch in elementary school cafeterias with their children during the week have been asked to follow this schedule: Monday, if the child is a kindergartner; Tuesday if the child is in the first or fourth grade; Wednesday if the child is in the second or fifth grade, and Thursday if the child is in the third or sixth grade.

The price of adult meals in the school lunchrooms will be $1.25. Pre-schoolers accompanying parents may get lunch for the regular 55 cents charged to elementary pupils. Those who come to breakfast will be charged 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for pre-schoolers.

At Central Elementary, visitors are asked to register at the office when they arrive to visit. The open house program will begin at 7 p.m. Monday with a short meeting in the auditorium, after which visits will be made to classrooms. On Thursday, there will be a spelling bee from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. for grades 4, 5 and 6, with parents invited to attend. Also, a music program by 5th graders will be presented at the Senior Center at 11 a.m. On Friday, there will be a 5th grade music program by 5th graders will be presented at the Senior Center at 11 a.m. On Friday, there will be a 5th grade music program from 8:30 to 9 a.m. in the auditorium for students and parents. There will be displays of student art work in the cafeteria and hallways, and bulletin board displays of student work in classrooms throughout the week.

Stanfield Elementary School will have a PTA business meeting at 7 p.m., followed by open house in the classrooms. Visitors will be welcome throughout the week.

East Elementary also has scheduled a PTA meeting and open house. The PTA session will begin at 7 p.m. in the auditorium, and then classrooms will be visited.

North Elementary plans to have folders showing broad samples of pupils' work available for inspection by visitors during Texas Public Schools

inflation charade

The Administration's director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability says that without public cooperation, Carter's "voluntary" wage-price guidelines won't work. The director, Barry Bosworth, who is the chief honcho among the so-called inflation fighters, also said that lack of such cooperation would undetermine even a mandatory program.

We are of the opinion that with the best of public cooperation, the guidelines will still not work to halt inflation. Wage and price increases are only the symptom of the disease, not the cause.

The cooperation which is really needed will only be found within government. All the guidelines that can be imagined will not stop the fiscal irresponsibility displayed by elected officials and the agencies they are supposed to control.

Seeking causes of inflation related to the activities of the private sector is only an exercise in futility and a smokescreen designed to take attention away from the basic causes of inflation.

An honest frontal attack with solutions to the basic problem is about the last thing most politicians and their bureaucrats care to contemplate. It would strike at the very roots of an ongoing bonanza for the political menage which began its escalation several decades ago.

Bosworth said, "An anti-inflation program only works if the people of this country want it to work." What he failed to say was that the people first need to know where the problems of inflation are based.

Another thought was expressed by an economic advisor to the Nixon administration who said that a steady slowdown in the economy is essential to reduce the inflation rate. He advocated economic growth to be cut to about 6 percent over the next five years. Here again is the idea that all inflation pressure rests with activities in the private sector.

Daily we read of this or that measure in Congress to chip away a bit of tax impact from one group or another. But neither the administration nor the Congress seem at all willing to come to grips with reality.

We hear that the dollar's problem lies with our importing of nearly half our crude oil. Yet the currencies against which the dollar is falling are those of nations which import 100 percent of their oil needs. No one seems to ask why the dollar falls as we import half our oil and have great resources in gas and coal, while the yen, marc and franc retain their position.

Bosworth and company should be calling for cooperation from all branches of the federal government to stop the proliferation of their spend, borrow and tax syndrome.

Until the federal government makes a drastic move to stop the money printing presses and begins to lower the national debt, there is little that can be accomplished by seeking cooperation from the people in the private sector.

We do not expect to see much along these lines until the politicians begin to think about the next election. We can expect much rhetoric and little action to curb governmental spending this year.

As more and more people realize just where their plight resides, we may see some reasonable activity toward fiscal responsibility displayed by politicians in 1980. The nearness of another election and a disturbed electorate could have a salutary effect on the actions of our federal officials.

Until then we can expect to see the charade continued by the "inflation fighters."

schools on display

What are our schools coming to?

That is not an infrequent question these days, as formal education has encountered pressures from patrons as well as state and federal governments while attempting to fulfill a traditional role.

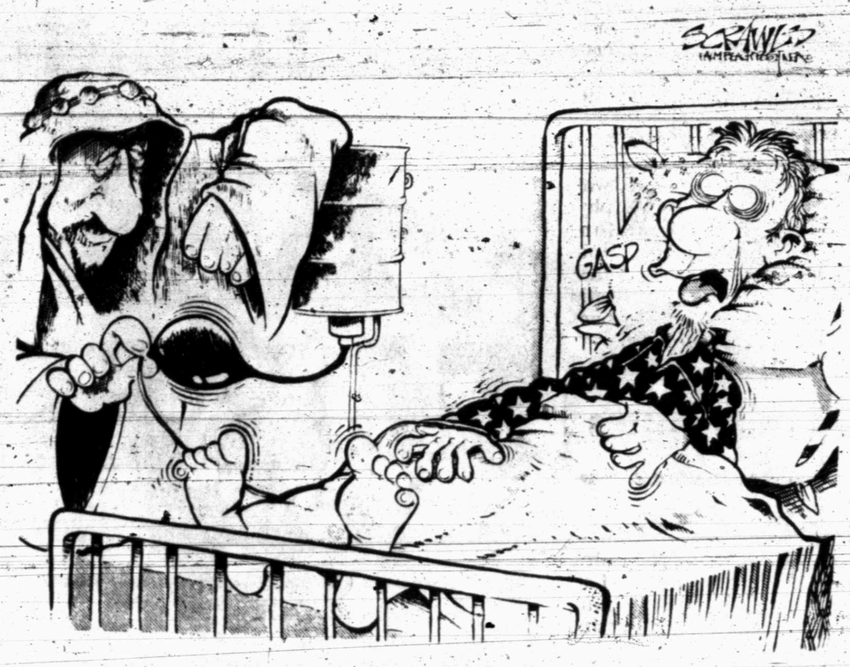

If you have asked the question, or even pondered it, the coming week offers an excellent opportunity to get an inside view. Texas Public Schools Week, observed each year during the first full week in March, is observed for that purpose ----to focus attention on public schools and to encourage citizens to see for themselves how the process of educating children is carried out today.

Visitors will be welcomed throughout the week, and for those who are unable to visit during regular school hours, Snyder Public Schools will observe "open house" Monday night. So, if you are wondering about our schools today, take a look.

magic of superman

The Harveys, at the suggestion of our son, recently visited a suburban Chicago movie on Saturday afternoon: "A kiddies' matinee."

The audience, sure enough, was almost exclusively school-agers.

Son Paul had promised I would be fascinated by the manner in which the cast was introduced and the credits rolled at the opening of the film. I was. It was breathtaking electronic wizardry.

Then, more than halfway through the movie, when Superman is responding to questions from the lady reporter, son Paul leaned over and said, "Here it comes: get ready for a surprise."

I was ready--but it was still a surprise.

The new movie "Superman" applies the most ingenious special effects that modern technology can conjure.

And the oldest theme of the New Testament.

Writers protest that the corollary is unintentional but there it is.

Down to earth from the idyllic planet Krypton comes this only begotten son of Krypton's godfather.

He is adopted and reared by an otherwise childless rural couple. Then, when he is of age, the young man, now called Clark Kent, announces that he must be "about his father's business" and leaves home.

Thereafter, he devotes his life to righting wrongs.

Any student of contemporary history must also be fascinated by human psychology.

The "do your own thing" rebellion of the Sixties was an entirely normal and logical response to the hypocrisy and duplicity which characterized the public and private life of that era.

One can be brought up to date on the persuasion of the Now Generation by analyzing its increasing preoccupation with vocational education and its newest fascinations in entertainment.

"Happy Days"--where morality prevails.

"Star Wars"--where the good guys win.

And "Superman."

This biggest box office success of the 1979 season would surely have been considered "camp" and "corny" in the Sixties.

In the Seventies there is obviously a great hunger for righteousness to prevail.

In from the now soiled and dangerous asphalt jungle young people flock to see a simple love story involving a lady fair and a knight in shining armor.

And then came that moment which son Paul said I would have to experience to believe...

Only a few lines, characteristic of the cartoon cahracter, are included in this modern treatment--but one important one is.

When the lady reporter is seeking to identify Superman she gets to the question "why?" As I recall her question she wanted to know, "What is it you're fighting for?"

And he replied, "Truth, justice and the American Way."

And all over the theater--children cheered!

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Compliments are like perfume. They should be inhaled, but not swallowed."

Monday begins Public School Week in Texas, and parents going back to the classrooms will find both strange and familiar things.

The traditional still exists. Despite programmed teaching devices, learning machines, tape recorders, visual aides, computers and the like--the key to a successful learning program remains the classroom teacher.

It's never been an easy job, and in today's complicated and complex world, the job is even more demanding. In just 10 years, the role of the classroom teacher has expanded into more than a person who imparts facts.

Because children and their experiences have changed, teachers must now compete and be compared with television and other graphics in maintaining student interest.

A classroom teacher must walk the tight rope between moving along fast enough to challenge the gifted student and slowly enough to allow a slower student to also experience some degree of academic success.

There have always been good, dedicated teachers. Today there is a dire need for more of them--folks who do more than just fill the time frame.

Too often, educators do not have the support of the home as they once did. Some of the modern trends have been to analyze Johnny rather than to motivate him with a paddle.

A teaching program--whether in Snyder or in some distant city--is as good as only the community wants and demands that it be.

For this reason we commend the vast majority of teachers who dedicate their lives to our children. Also, we urge parents to get involved. Teaching is a team effort--a partnership between the school and the parents.

In 1979, far too many parents are wanting the school to assume parental as well as educational responsibilities.

in washington

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA)— President Carter, in a scramble to recapture respect at home and abroad for his foreign policy leadership, has taken to preaching the virtues of reason and restraint in a complex and changing world.

It is not a message to stir the blood, and it is not what his critics are clamoring to hear, but the new Carter sermon contains the seeds of a long-overdue and badly needed clarification of the philosophic underpinnings and practical objectives of this administration's foreign policy.

Carter, as usual, has no one to blame but himself for the confusion which has led so many Americans, and perhaps foreign leaders as well, to question his grasp of world affairs and his capacity to cope with them.

In his two years as president, he has failed to articulate in a clear and comprehensible fashion exactly what he believes the United States can realistically expect to accomplish on the world stage today.

Carter does not try to use the White House as a "bully pulpit." Lacking eloquence, he simply abdicates his role as educator and opinion shaper - creating a vacuum his critics hasten to fill. He thus pays a heavy price, as he is doing now, when the public fails to find the wisdom of his ways self-evident.

Twice in the last week - at Georgia Tech on Feb. 20 and here in Washington on Feb. 22 before a conference of editors and broadcasters - Carter finally started to explain his view of the U.S. role in world affairs.

He was driven to speak out by the rush of events in Iran, in Afghanistan, in Southeast Asia which appeared, on the surface, to embarrass and perhaps even threaten this country and its interests.

What he said at those gatherings made pretty good sense. Carter cautioned against oversimplification, a tendency to "see all change as inevitably against the interests of the United States, as a kind of loss for us or a victory for 'them.'"

Change and turmoil, he said, are the order of the day in much of the world - Africa, Asia and the Middle East, most particularly.

The United States, he insisted, remains "fully prepared to protect our vital interests wherever they may be challenged," but the key test is discerning "where our true interests lie."

So far, so good. The problem, however, arises at precisely this point. Even in last week's speeches, his clearest foreign policy pronouncements to date, Carter stopped short of defining what constitutes the "vital interests" of this country.

Exactly which countries are crucial to our own interests? How far are we prepared to go to influence internal political developments in those nations?

Under what circumstances is this president prepared to commit U.S. military power to the defense of our allies, and which allies? Thailand? Korea? Israel? Turkey?

Where, in other words, is the bottom line?

A generation ago, both the world and our own view of the U.S. role in it were simpler by far. Nobody had any doubts what John F. Kennedy was saying in his 1961 inaugural address: "Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty."

Vietnam has proven, however, that we as a people no longer will "pay any price" in the support of just "any friend." The "success of liberty" is of secondary importance in much of the world to the attainment of a decent standard of living, and we have been forced to acknowledge the right of other nations to so decide.

It is both appropriate and important for Carter to convey the new complexity of the world, and the distinctions between "vital" U.S. interests and peripheral ones. But he has barely begun the process of sharing his views on these matters and seeking a consensus in support of them.

Wills, Key Win Big In Borden County Show

GRAND CHAMPION PIG-Brice Key, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Key of Gail had the grand champion barrow in the Borden County livestock show with this light weight cross. The beast brought $1675, possibly the most money ever paid for an animal in the history of the stock show sale.

TOP LAMB-Ben Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brent Murphy, Star Route Ira, won the sheep show with this heavy weight medium wool.

MOST DECORATED-Kim Wills, seventh grade daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Wills of the Fluvanna community, captured the most ribbons, trophies and awards from the show including the coveted Top Hand trophy and a banner for exhibiting the grand champion steer, a heavy weight cross.

GAIL—When the dust finally settled at the Borden County Livestock Show and Sale last weekend, seventh-grader, Kim Wills, walked away with the most awards, and elementary student, Brice Key, pocketed $1675 for his grand champion barrow, possibly the highest price ever paid in the County's stock show sale. Miss Wills also had the grand champion steer and Ben Murphy, another elementary student at Borden School, exhibited the Grand champion lamb.

Purchasing the winning barrow was Ezell-Key Feed and Seed and Key Implement both of Snyder. Malone-Hogan, Medical Arts and Cowper hospitals, all of Big Spring, shared the cost of the grand champion steer, $800. Dewey Everett of Snyder bought the grand champion lamb for $552.

The 76 animals shown in this year's competition sold for a total of $28,755. Sweetwater Livestock Auction set the floor price for the 14 steers sold with a high bid of $66 per hundred weight. The Sweetwater company also set the price for the 46 sheep at $68 per hundred weight. A floor bid of $54 was received from South Plains Hog Co. of Lamesa for the 16 barrows sold.

Other big winners included Kelli Williams reserve champion barrow of show; Sid Westbrook, reserve champion steer of show, and Glen Gray reserve champion lamb.

Judges were Denny Belew barrows; Kyle Smith, lambs; Bo Castleman steers.

Showmanship award winners were, Ben Murphy, Pennye Thompson, Tammy Miller, Joie Brummett, Scott Jones, Michael Murphy, Julie Ridenour, John Stephens III and Cody Newton.

On Mortgage Money... Defends 10% Interest

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, says legislators are being oversold on the notion that mortgage money won't be available if the ceiling on interest rates is left at 10 percent.

Patman said he is ready to filibuster if a bill raising the ceiling on mortgage loans to 12 percent reaches the Senate floor. The measure currently is lodged in a subcommittee.

The House version of the bill also is in subcommittee while sponsors determine whether there are enough votes on the floor to warrant bringing the measure out for debate.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has expressed support for the legislation, saying it is healthy for the price of money - as with other comodities - to be determined in the marketplace instead of by the state.

Gov. Bill Clements said at his news conference Friday that he still has not taken a position on the bill and needs more information before making a decision.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

A minor traffic accident was investigated Friday afternoon by city police.

The collision occurred in the 2000 block of Ave. E about 3:15 p.m. It involved a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Ray Warren McKeehan and a 1979 Ford driven by Carl Edward Scott.

A wrecker was summoned to remove the Chevrolet, reports show.

FARMERS

found less response from the government this year than last year but more response from the legislature to the economic plight of American farmers. Overall, however, he sees dark days ahead for the farmer and the consumer, too.

"The most efficient, productive workforce was the American farmer," said Williams. "I say 'was' because he may be forced out of business."

Williams, a fourth-generation farmer, feels the current wave of problems has been brewing for 40 years. Solutions, he said, will have to come about in less time than that. Part of the problem is a top-heavy government and bureaucracy.

Speaking of the government and bureaucracy, Williams said, "I don't see any way that we can move a force that has so much inertia."

14¢ By Year's End Likely...

Gas Prices Going Up

By RANDOLPH SCHMID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Get ready to dig deeper into your wallet. Gasoline prices are going up, perhaps as much as 14 cents a gallon by the end of next year.

New regulations that could boost prices a nickel a gallon were revealed Friday by the Department of Energy. And this is in addition to the 9-cent hike anticipated from rising world oil prices and other factors over the next two years.

Oil companies were unwilling to comment Friday on when prices might begin to change because of the new rule, but some increases would come immediately.

While gasoline prices will be heading upwards, the complex new "tilt" regulation could benefit some Americans by defusing price increases for other petroleum products, such as home heating oil.

Officials had sought to decontrol oil prices altogether last year, but inflation and the shortages caused by the Iranian cutoff have discouraged this.

A 1978 analysis estimated that if price controls were continued, prices would rise 9 cents in two years. The tilt rule would add 3.4 cents to the nine cents while complete decontrol would add 3.8 cents.

Doug Robinson, author of the Energy Department analysis, said the 3.4 cent estimate was probably on the conservative side because of developments in Iran, but added that the department believes the maximum increase oil companies could impose on consumers under the tilt rule would be 5.1 cents over the next two years.

Including 9 cents added by increases from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and other factors, this could raise average gasoline prices to 82 cents per gallon for regular to nearly 89 cents for premium, based on recent American Automobile Association price reports.

The new rule is called a "tilt" regulation because it allows the refiners to tilt the impact of price increases. This will result in gasoline prices going up more than other petroleum products to compensate for the extra costs of producing unleaded gasoline.

Before the rule took effect, oil companies had to allocate their production cost among all their products, even if much of the expense was related to a single item, such as unleaded gasoline.

When Wife-Shopping Try the No-Frills!

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: About the letter from ONLY KIDDING, who compared women to automobiles, and your reply—"A restored antique is worth much more than a new model":

Maybe so, but a man keeps his antique car locked up to preserve it and brings it out in public only on special occasions. His antique wife would never hold still for that!

In addition to his antique car, a man keeps a later model for everyday use—something he can't do with a wife.

The ideal place to go wife-shopping would seem to be at a nudist camp, where all the merchandise is on display for inspection.

Imagine shopping at a car lot where all the cars were covered except for the headlights and grille!

R.S. IN SWISHER, IOWA

DEAR R.S.: I understand that's the customary way to shop for a bride in some of the Mideast countries. So, kiss your Stars and Stripes!

DEAR ABBY: Fourteen years ago my husband had lower back pain and went to a doctor who told him to take a swim. Well, George can't swim. He nearly drowned.

He was still in pain, so he went to an orthopedic doctor who took X-rays and told George it wasn't his back, it was his hip. George let this doctor operate on his hip, then his neck started to bother him.

He went to a chiropractor, who gave him a series of adjustments which seemed to help some. But George bent down to take off his shoe and his back went out on him. By this time he was beginning to look like a pretzel.

The neck pain came back, so George tried acupuncture. That helped for a while, but not for long.

Three-quarters of George's life is gone and he's still walking the floors at night because he can't sleep for the pain.

We live only 36 miles from the Mayo Clinic, but my husband got into an argument with someone at the clinic 15 years ago and vowed he'd never go back.

Any suggestions before George turns into a complete pretzel?

MINNESOTA MRS.

DEAR MRS.: Tell George to bury the hatchet with the Mayo Clinic before you bury HIM. He needs a complete check-up—including from the neck up!

DEAR ABBY: How long does a person have to live in a place before it's "home"?

Even after 14 years of marriage, whenever my husband goes to see his parents he says, "I'm going home."

Maybe I'm out of line to get so upset, Abby, but it just burns me up to hear him say that. Don't you think "home" is where a man's wife and children are? Or do you think maybe my husband actually still feels more at home with his parents than he does with me?

ONLY HIS WIFE

DEAR ONLY: Where one has spent his childhood is usually "home" no matter how long he's been away from it. Many old-timers who have been on this side of the ocean most of their lives still refer to their native lands as "home," so don't take it personally.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WISHING": Benjamin Franklin once said, "If a man could have HALF his wishes, he would double his troubles." (Small wonder someone told him to go fly a kite.)

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

First UMC Sets 4 Nights Of Worship

Dr. Jack Heacock, the pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Austin, will be the featured speaker during four nights of worship at the First United Methodist Church of Snyder.

The special worship services will be held Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights beginning at 7:30. In addition to the evening services, special morning worship services and Bible study classes will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The morning services begin at 10.

A different subject emphasis has been prepared for each night of worship. On Sunday, the traditional morning worship service used since 1961 will be studied. On Monday, early American worship services are the topic. Camp meeting worship is the Tuesday study. Wednesday, churchgoers will study contemporary worship.

Congregation singing and special music will be a part of each service of worship.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Your Birthday

Bernice Bede Osol

March 4, 1979

Your range of friends and acquaintances is likely to expand considerably this coming year. Contacts you make socially will prove to be helpful in business areas as well.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) With friends, you are likely to be a bright and cheerful companion today. However, with members of your family you could be short-tempered and grumpy. Learn more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you'll have the desire, you'll have the knowledge, but you'll also have a case of all thumbs that could prevent you from achieving your goals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Spending a lot of money to get what you want today isn't necessary. Use that brain of yours. You'll find a cheaper way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you profit from a material transaction today it won't be due to your efforts. A pal will take pity on you and help make things right.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to be philosophical when little annoyances pop up today. Otherwise, you might blow off more steam than necessary.

LEO (July 23- Aug. 22) A well-meaning friend may butt his nose into your personal affairs today. Even though this may annoy you, think of a nice way to tell him to direct his interest elsewhere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It may appear as if a companion is trying to use you for selfish purposes today. Events will later bear out that he had your interests at heart as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something you thought to be an unpleasant task may turn out to be quite enjoyable today, once you get into it. Keep an open attitude about your work.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you may be a bit too possessive for your own good. Don't put restrictions on a loved one you wouldn't want foisted on yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If your relationship with your mate has been a bit strained, a thoughtful gesture could help turn things around today. It doesn't have to be something you buy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Subordinates will have a difficult time pleasing you today. You may be a trifle more demanding than usual. Ease up. They'll be more productive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Extravagance is in order today if your generosity is directed toward one you love but not if it's just spending for spending's sake.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

March 5, 1379

Many changes are in the offing this coming year. You could find yourself breaking unproductive old habits. The transition could give you a new base from which to operate.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Overreacting emotionally to problems today could cause you to behave in a selfish manner. Keep control by exerting your sympathies for others. Like to find out more about yourself? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's far better today to look for new solutions if self-doubts keep troubling you. First thoughts are not necessarily your best ones.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extra-careful as to whom you trust with your hard-earned money today. There is someone with little scruples lurking in your shadow, waiting to take advantage of you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You can tell who your real friends are today by the ones who choose to stand by you. Those giving you difficulties fly false colors.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There are days when it pays to keep your mouth shut, and this is one of them. Be open and frank if you must, but only with those who love you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Listen to all sides and be prepared to consider the desires of others today. If you try to manipulate them, you're the one who will suffer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The only way to come out on top and gain cooperation today is to employ only methods you can be truly proud of. Don't stoop to another's level.

LIBRA (Sept.23-Oct. 23) Forget trying to make peace among dissenting co-workers today. They don't want it, so go off and do your own thing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It is always good to be kind to those truly in need, but avoid being a sentimental softy today. Some sob stories are only ploys to get you to pick up the tab.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) What's good for the majority should be your credo today. Only those things you do that take into consideration everybody's needs will work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be alert for someone who will try to have all believe he deserves credit for something you did. Don't let him get away with it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be discriminating today. Associate with only your most wholesome pals. Don't be influenced by those trying to escape from reality. They'll pull you down with them.

From TESCO Official...

PUC Hearings Draw Response

Texas Electric Service Co. President, Bill Marquardt, said Friday he has heard no testimony in the current Public Utility Commission hearing that would support any punitive action against TESCO or any other Texas Utilities company.

The Public Utility Commission hearings are investigating transactions among Texas Utility system subsidiaries. The hearing's were recessed Wednesday after seven days of testimony by officers of TU companies, the PUC staff and intervenors in the case.

"I think the testimony so far in this hearing has supported this contention," Marquardt said.

"We've said from the start that all our efforts have been made in an effort to save our customers money and to provide them with adequate electric service. We've said that none of the transactions being reviewed here were intended to, or did, benefit stockholders.

Marquardt said the issues in the hearing have boiled down to differences of opinion over legal technicalities and some accounting procedures.

"Before the start of this hearing, there seemed to be a great many allegations and a lot of innuendo about so-called improprieties on the part of our company.

"I believe all the testimony, including that by the PUC staff and by the intervenors, demonstrates that these allegations were unfounded," he said.

Marquardt said the overall impact of the staff and intervenor testimony has been to show that the TU system companies have acted in good faith to do what is best for their customers.

He noted PUC General Counsel John Bell's written brief in which Bell acknowledged that he has found no reason to believe that anyone connected with the TU system has willfully or knowingly violated any law or PUC order.

He also noted Bell's statement that all the TU companies "have made all of their books and records available for inspection and audit and have been cooperative in facilitating the staff."

Marquardt said he could not speculate on what the final ruling of the PUC will be.

At the age of 41 in 1926, Walter Johnson pitched his seventh opening day shutout for the Washington Senators.

Students Prepare For Annual District Meet

HERMLEIGH - Students from the junior high and high school are currently practicing for the District 8-B University of Interscholastic League Literary Meet at Westbrook High on April 2 and 4.

The students will compete in speaking events on April 2. At this time, they will participate in debate, informative speaking, oral reading, persuasive speaking, poetry interpretation, and prose interpretation.

Mike Brown and Phyllis Smith are helping high school students sharpen their skills in the areas of debate, informative speaking, and persuasive speaking. Darlene Peel, Jean Schooler, and Clarence Spieker instruct high school students in the areas of poetry and prose interpretation, and they are instructing junior high students in oral reading.

On April 4, pupils will take part in writing events--number sense, ready writing, slide rule, spelling, feature writing, newswriting, editorial writing, headline writing, science, and typing.

Randy Peel helps students prepare for the number sense and slide rule contests. Darlene Peel and Brenda Row instruct pupils in spelling. Jean Schooler is assisting students in ready writing and the journalism events--newswriting, feature writing, editorials, and headlines. Clarence Spieker will also assist students in ready writing. Mike Brown is instructing students in the area of science, and Phyllis Smith is drilling her typing students to help them type more efficiently.

All students hope to place first, second, or third in their divisions. If the high school students do so, they qualify for the regional U.I.L. Literary Meet to be held in Levelland on April 20. Junior high students cannot advance past district competition.

Thieves Get Traffic Signs On Area Road

Thievery of traffic signs might lead to traffic accidents involving serious injury, said deputy sheriffs in response to the theft of three signs from the Golf Course Road.

Stolen, said deputies, were a yield sign, a curve sign, and a stop sign. The signs were taken along a stretch of road running from Price Construction Co. southeasterly to the Ponderosa Motel on the Lamesa Highway.

"The signs are up there for a reason," said Deputy Larry Ball. "It's like the stop sign at the Lamesa Highway. Since there's not a sign there now, someone could go on through that intersection and maybe cause an accident.

"The people taking them are possibly endangering someone's life by carrying those signs off," he said.

ACU Alumni To Have Meeting

The Snyder chapter of the Abilene Christian University Alumni Association will meet at 7 p.m. today at East Side Church of Christ in the multi-purpose building. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish. Anyone interested as well as charter members are invited to attend.

East PTA To Elect Officers

East Elementary PTA will meet Monday at 7 p.m in the school cafeteria for the election of officers for 1979-80 school term.

The meeting will be followed by open house. Parents are urged to attend.

Healing of diverticulosis

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some months ago I read your column about diverticulosis (pockets of the colon). I have read other articles about the use of fiber so I got some bran. My doctor didn't give me any encouragement to use it as I had been on a bland diet for years. I was afraid to try it but then I read The Health Letter on diverticulosis and decided I would give it a try. I do think it's important to point out that you get gas from eating cereals that contain lots of bran for the first three weeks and this is why some people don't continue it.

In a short time I noticed some improvement. I didn't expect miracles because I'd had the problem for 20 years. Now I have only slight discomfort and hardly any gas, and I'm eating solids every day, corn on the cob, peas and also strawberries.

Would you please explain to me the actual healing process and do the pockets actually disappear? I am still hesitant to eat seeds, nuts and tomatoes. Could you tell me about when it would be safe to eat these, if at all? Before when I ate these, I'd suffer for about a month with an attack.

-DEAR READER — It sounds to me like you're getting along pretty well, so why take the chance? I'm sorry to say there are no really good studies to show what happens to the pockets of the colon, or diverticula, on a long term basis after a person started using bran or significantly increased bulk in his diet.

A lot of the symptoms of diverticulosis are related to underlying spastic colon. Some people think that's why the little pockets, or ruptures, develop in the first place. The symptoms are often improved when bulk is added to the diet.

You're absolutely right about having increased symptoms of gas for the first three weeks. This is why I sometimes suggest to people that they sneak up on the problem by adding a little bran at a time.

The pockets are really little ruptures, and I suspect that they will not really disappear. But many people have diverticulosis and don't have any symptoms. If your dietary regime causes improved bowel function so you don't have any symptoms, that in itself is considerable improvement.

Since the pockets persist, I think it might be a good idea to continue to avoid seeds and such material. With your improved bowel function, they might not cause trouble, but I'm not sure anyone could guarantee they wouldn't.

I'm glad you got some value from The Health Letter. Other readers who want the issue, number 5-6, Diverticulosis, can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Some readers may be confused about the different terms used. A diverticulum is one pocket. Two or more pockets are diverticula. The disease itself is diverticulosis. If one of those little diverticulum gets inflamed, it is diverticulitis.

Legislators Want Raise

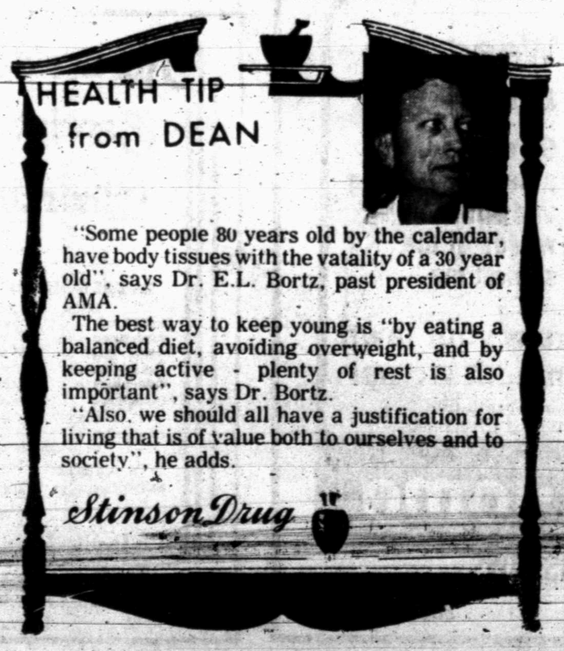

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-At least two state representatives say legislators deserve a raise.

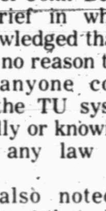

Rep. Lloyd Criss and Ed Watson have proposed a constitutional amendment that would raise salaries from $7200 to $18,000 annually.

"Our pay is inadequate for the demands made on our time. Texas ranks 29th in the 50 states in pay to its legislors," said Criss, D-La Marque.

The amendment also calls for annual sessions of the Legislature, which now meets for 140 days every other year unless a special session is called.

"One hundred and forty days in a two-year period to take care of our state's business," said Watson, D-Deer Park.

WTC To Exhibit Smith's Ceramics

The Art Department of Western Texas College will continue its 1978-79 schedule of special exhibits with a show of ceramics by Dennis Smith during March.

Smith is head of ceramics at the Southwest Crafts Center in San Antonio. He was graduated from the Kansas City Art Institute with the Bachelor of Fine Arts and received the Master of Fine Arts from the University of Montana.

The new exhibit may be seen in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building each weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is no charge for admission, and the public is invited to see the show. The building will be open today because of the dinner theatre production of "Never Too Late" in the Fine Arts Theatre. Campus visitors may also see an exhibit of photographs by Bill Wright of Abilene in the Scurry County Museum.

Smith's pieces are monolithic raku forms, many pieces contrasting organic with geometric shapes. The raku method was adopted from a technique invented in Japan in the 16th century. Bisque fired and glazed pieces are thrust into red hot kilns, left long enough for the glaze to melt, then removed with tongs and put into pails containing some type of combustible, organic material. The pieces are covered for a time, then removed and lowered into cold water. The technique produces metallic colored glazes different from any obtained by different ceramic processes.

Soil Fertility Seminar Set At College

Area farmers and ranchers are invited to attend a one-day Soil Fertility Seminar scheduled March 10 at Western Texas College.

Subjects to be covered include soil characteristics, soil nutrients, commercial fertilizers, organic matter, soil testing and soil fertility management. A panel discussion will close the seminar.

Speakers for the program will be Kent Mills, assistant professor of Farm & Ranch Management at WTC; Erwin Pavlik, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service; Billy Roach, Scurry County Agriculture Agent; Carl Williams, former agriculture instructor now engaged in farming, and Byron Hedges, owner of Snyder Farm & Ranch and a former agriculture instructor at Howard College in Big Spring.

The seminar is to begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. with time out for lunch. All sessions will be in the Science Lecture Hall.

Cost of the seminar will be $3 per person. Persons wishing to pre-register or to receive information about the seminar are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Spotlight On Schools...

Semi-Open Classrooms Featured At Stanfield

Editor's Note: This is an article in a series sponsored by the Scurry County Teachers Association. Today's featured school is Stanfield Elementary.

Located in southeast Snyder, Stanfield Elementary is a neighborhood school in a stable area where many students attend all the years from kindergarten through sixth grade. The school incorporates aesthetic features which contribute to an enjoyable and cheerful educational atmosphere and for many years has been pointed out as a school modeled along modern or architectural concepts with semi-open type classrooms.

The building features low ceilings and skylights along with central heating and cooling in its two main wings. There is a carpeted central area designed for media materials. Guidance facilities are provided, and every effort is made to provide counseling and health services.

A cafetorium does double duty in serving breakfast and lunch meals to children and offering stage facilities for many programs. Transportation services include buses for field trips. Easy access to the school is gained by three curved driveways.

Parents of Stanfield children are very involved with the PTA program and many school activities. Several mothers donate time to aid teachers. They also devote many hours to art projects, the annual fall spaghetti supper, safety programs, and provision of new playground equipment.

Several Stanfield teachers report special classroom activities at this particular time of year. Other teachers will be outlining their activities in late Spring.

Marsha Fitzjarrell, kindergarten teacher, says, "I like to spend about two weeks in February talking about our country. One part of this unit is making a mobile of the American symbols. On the mobile we make and hang Uncle Sam's hat, a Betsy Ross flag, an eagle, a U.S. map outline, liberty bell, and outline of the Statue of Liberty. We use styrofoam cups, paper rolls, construction paper and glitter. Each child makes a mobile. These twenty-five or so mobiles hanging from our ceiling make a nice display for open house."

"My third grade class wrote Pen Pal letters to a third grade class at Rusk Elementary (Midland) for a Language activity," Daisy Lewis said.

"In addition to the regular reading program, we are using the controlled reader to increase our speed and to sharpen comprehension skills. After studying 'Haiku' we are composing and illustrating poems in this form. We will soon begin building dioramas to show various events from Texas History," Jeanelle Hammack, fourth grade teacher, stated.

"Besides learning about their native Texas, my students study the surrounding states and Mexico. They are working on a comic Old West melodrama to be presented in the spring," according to Jo Nell Smylie, fourth grade teacher.

Bobbie Taylor, fifth grade teacher, said, "We put a lot of emphasis on the reading program. Some students are going to PRI reading programs three mornings a week. Increased emphasis is put on the use of the controlled reader."

Increased priority on meeting individual needs is a major objective of June Brock, fifth grade teacher. This goal involves more refined grouping techniques and providing a wider range of materials.

Sixth grade students of Jean Sealy and Sammie Jarrell are getting paid to go to school this year. Tokens, not money, are earned by doing a job. In order to have a certain job they must make written application for it. After earning sufficient tokens the students may open bank accounts and deposit their tokens. Then they may write checks, keep a bank book and receive bank statements.

Aviation Ground School Delayed

An Aviation Ground School scheduled to begin last Thursday at Western Texas College has been postponed until next Thursday night.

Additional students will be required to reach minimum enrollment for the class. Persons interested in the course are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511; extension 240.

AT CONSERVATION SESSION--Shown at a meeting of the South Plains Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Directors at Lubbock are, from left, Sam Ellis, secretary-treasurer of the association; Carl Spencer, executive director, state soil and water conservation board; Frank Gray, chairman of the State SWCD board; Carl Williams, chairman of the Upper Colorado SWCD; C.L. Gale, vice president of the association; R.H. Farris, past president of the association; Charles Wood, vice president of the Association of Texas SWCDs, and Leon Sterling, member of the Upper Colorado SWCD board.

Area Conservationists Attend Lubbock Session

Local conservationists were in Lubbock on Tuesday attending a meeting of the South Plains Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Directors.

Carl Williams, Leon Sterling, Walter Stirl and W. L. Wilson, Jr., directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, and Erwin Pavlik, district conservationsit for the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service attended from Borden and Scurry Counties.

Participating on the program were David Firor, Field Representative, National Association of Conservation Districts; George Davis, assistant state conservationist (Operations), Soil Conservation Service; Frank Gray, chairman, Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board; Charles Wood, vice president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts; Carl Spencer, executive director, Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board; and R. H. Farris, Jr., President, South Plains Association.

Firor reviewed the highlights of the NACD Convention recently held in Washington, D.C. He discussed the NACD policy and priorities for action during the coming year as set by the NACD Council. Firor pointed out that one of the major actions of the Council was the adoption of a "Resource Agenda for the 1980's. This 4-point platform sets forth general policy and guidelines that will affect NACD and the nation for many years.

Davis, formerly of Amarillo, who has been an Assistant State Conservationist since September, complimented the conservationists on working relations between the soil and water conservation districts and the Soil Conservation Service. He told the more than 60 conservation leaders present that the dollar was the critical factor at the present time in assistance available to landusers from the Soil Conservation Service through soil and water conservation districts.

Gray and Wood reviewed state board and state association activities. Both urged directors to stay in contact with legislators.

Spencer discussed with conservationists the effects the Resource Conservation Act of 1977 could have on present and future soil and water related resource programs.

During the business session conducted by South Plains Association President R. H. Farris, conservationists attending elected W. L. Wilson, Jr. of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District as their 1979 president. C. L. Gayle of the Yoakum SWCD was elected vice president and Sam Ellis of the Garza SWCD was re-appointed secretary-treasurer. The conservationists accepted the invitation of the Upper Colorado Soil and Watera Conservation District to host the February 1980 meeting.

The meeting was hosted by the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District at the Plains Co-op Oil Mill.

The summer meeting will be hosted by the Garza Soil and Water Conservation District in Post on Aug. 28.

BRENDA HEDGES

1st Federal Promotes Mrs. Hedges

Brenda G. Hedges, the manager of the Snyder branch of First Federal Savings and Loan, has been named assistant vice president of the three-city firm. Other offices of the savings and loan firm are in Big Spring and Odessa.

Mrs. Hedges will retain her managerial role of the local office and will continue to live in Snyder. Her husband, Byron Hedges, is the owner of Snyder Farm and Ranch Supply. She has one daughter, Jennifer, 7.

Mrs. Hedges, 29, began her employement with First Federal four years ago in Big Spring as a loan processor. She moved to Snyder two years ago.

"I was real pleased with the decision and hope I can fulfill my duties," she said.

Other positions held by Mrs. Hedges include a position as an affiliate member of the Snyder Board of Realtors, a member of the Snyder chapter of the American Business Women's Association, and a member of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Hedges' promotion to assitant vice president has resulted in Fran Farmer being named assistant branch manager of the Snyder Office.

CHECKS

who took the check is not known, is deceased, or cannot be located; the check was not passed in Scurry County; the check was drawn on an out-of-state bank; the check was for an amount under $5; the check was returned marked "unauthorized signature," or "refer to maker," or "drawn against uncollected funds;" the check was a two-party check; the check was passed and nothing of value was received at that time; a check marked "stopped payment," unless it was given for cash or in exchange of property that has not been returned; the person who accepted the check cannot positively identify the person who passed the check.

Most merchants are "hot check" conscious, but still many get by. The word may get around about worthless check offenders, but changes in clerical personnel usually means that it will take time to educate a new employee and invariably that seems to be the time that a known "checker" will appear.

On the other hand, some otherwise astute business people become careless in accepting checks and also in prosecuting. The JP's office once got an inquiry about taking a complaint on some worthless checks that were more than four years old. The statue of limitations is two years.

The justice of the peace, along with County Attorney George Killam and District Attorney Pete Greene say that a check should be examined on the spot to make sure it has the current date and that the figures and the amount written in words agree (the written amount controls). The check casher's driver's license number should be recorded, and a notation should be made about what it was for. Personal checks should be made to the person, or firm, cashing the check.

SCHOOLS

Week. Visitors also will have an opportunity to see normal classroom work in progress. North also will have open house at 7 p.m. Monday.

At Northeast Elementary, programs including music and choral readings will be presented throughout the week, following the same schedule as the cafeteria visitation, with kindergartners on Monday, grades 1 and 4 on Tuesday, grades 2 and 5 on Wednesday and grades 3 and 6 on Thursday. Parents of children performing are especially invited to attend on those dates. Open house will begin at 7 p.m.

West Elementary will have spelling contest for 4th, 5th and 6th graders Tuesday morning, and on Friday morning, Texas Electric Service Co. will present a program on 'Conservation of Energy.'' A program is set for 7 p.m. Monday in the West auditorium, to be followed by open house in the classrooms.

At Humble-Smith School, there will be a slide presentation on the Early Childhood Program for Handicapped Children during its open house event.

ROWDY SECTION--Western Texas College basketball fans have never been large in number despite all of the national rankings and conference championships, but those that do root for the Westerners and Dusters would rather be no place else. Above is a portion of the "Mean Green Rowdy Section," true die-hard WTC fans who know top caliber basketball when they see it. Comprised largely of WTC students and senior citizens, they will be on hand to back the Westerners when the Region V Tournament begins in Big Spring next week. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Tigers Fourth, Eighth In Local Golf Meet

After one round of competition Snyder High School golf team was in fourth and eighth place in the second annual Tiger Classic being held at Western Texas College golf course.

Play was to have concluded Saturday morning.

Snyder's Lance McMillan was leading for the medalist spot with a seven-over par 77. Pecos' Richard White turned in a 79 Friday.

The Tigers scored a 344 for fourth place and a 372 for eighth in the first 18 holes of action. Sweetwater I led the meet with a 334, followed by Sweetwater II, 341; Lamesa I, 342; Snyder I; Pecos, 347; Brownfield, 350; Levelland, 360; Snyder II and Lamesa II, 393.

For Snyder I, in addition to McMillan's 77, Mike Wolf had a 95, Randy Wolf and Devin Donelson fired 86's and Joe Lee had a 112.

Randy Chambers and Barry Blackmon each carded 92's for Snyder II while Kris Seale and Chris Raines had 94's and Joe League noted a 108.

The Tigers will travel to a Big Spring tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday and to Andrews on Saturday. District 3-3A competition will begin March 17 in Sweetwater.

Eagles Ink Yarbrough

PHILADELPHIA (AP)-The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League have signed veteran offensive tackle Jim Yarbrough as a free agent, the team announced Thursday.

Yarbrough, 32, was a starter for most of his 10 previous seasons in the NFL with the Detroit Lions but spent 1978 on the Lions' injured reserve list.

The 6-foot-6, 270-pounder was Detroit's second-round draft choice in 1969 out of Florida.

Netters Play Big Spring

BIG SPRING--Snyder tennis team will play dual match action here at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

The Tigers finished second in District 3-3A play behind Brownfield with a 3-1 mark.

Also Tuesday, Snyder JV will host Colorado City at 3:30.

Women's Tourney Reaches Finals

ABILENE -- McLennan Community College and Amarillo College were headed into Saturday's 2 p.m. championship game as the NJCAA Region V Women's Basketball Tournament finished its round-two play here Friday.

The victor in Saturday's contest would advance to the National Tournament in Overland, Kan.

McLennan ripped Weatherford College 91-72 as Deb Davis rolled in 25 points, Jackie Valentine scored 14 and Gaye Pack had 20.

Weatherford, which upset WJCAC co-champion Western Texas College on Thursday, kept up the pace during during the first half, but McLennan scored 18 straight points to blow ahead 80-60 at one point.

Amarillo made the finals by ousting Odessa College 81-60. Tammy Crafton basketed 23 points and Ramona Spencer added 14 while Gay Lundy had 13 for the Badgers.

Cats Try Mid-High

MIDLAND--Snyder High School varsity baseball team will play Midland High here at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

The Tigers were 0-1 going into a game against Ector in Odessa on Saturday.

His Clippers Trim Celtics 106-99...

Shue Likes It One-On-One

By The Associated Press

Gene Shue knows what one-on-one basketball is all about. He coached the Philadelphia 76ers when that team boasted solo artists like Julius Erving, George McGinnis and Lloyd Free, and he took them to the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

Now Shue is coaching San Diego, and he's got another bunch of one-on-one aces.

"Everyone knocks one-on-one basketball but I think it can be quite successful in the NBA," declared Shue, whose Clippers beat the Boston Celtics 106-99 Friday night for their eighth consecutive victory and 15th in their last 20 games.

The Clippers now lead the Portland Trail Blazers by two games in the race for the final Western Conference playoff berth.

"For us, one-on-one allows our forwards to get position under the boards," explained Shue. "When our shooters do miss, we get the rebounds. Look at the statistics. We had a 63-53 advantage in rebounds and that tells a lot.

"Of course, the overall reason we're successful is that everyone is playing up to his ability."

That includes the Clippers' guards, who know how to put the ball in the hold. Lloyd Free led the way with 28 points, Randy Smith scored 20 and reserve Freeman Williams contributed 18.

In other NBA games Friday night, the San Antonio Spurs edged the Kansas City Kings 129-125 in overtime, the Houston Rockets beat the Portland Trail Blazers 118-98, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Phoenix Suns 119-105, the Cleveland Cavaliers nipped the Seattle SuperSonics 111-109, the Los Angeles Lakers outscored the Philadelphia 76ers 126-111, the Golden State Warriors beat the Indiana Pacers 105-98 and the New Jersey Nets defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 99-91.

Spurs 129, Kings 125, OT

James Silas scored eight of his season-high 31 points in overtime as the Spurs beat the Kings in a battle of division leaders. Larry Kenon scored 32 points for San Antonio and Geroge Gervin added 30, extending his streak of 20-plus point games to a franchise-record 35 in a row.

Kansas City's Otis Birdsong hit a jumper with 16 seconds left to tie the score at 111 and was fouled by Gervin. But he missed the free throw and the game went into overtime.

Rockets 118, Blazers 98

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 33 points and Moses Malone got 29 points and 16 rebounds as Houston beat the Blazers in Portland. The Rockets broke the game open with a 13-4 but late in the third period that established a 74-62 lead.

Dunbar Pops Lanier 76-69 In Cage Meet

AUSTIN (AP)-Lufkin ruined Houston Madison's perfect record and Fort Worth Dunbar spoiled the night for Austin Lanier's hometown crowd in the Class 4A semifinals of Schoolboy basketball.

Lufkin whipped in seven points in 49 seconds to start a scoring binge by Martines Grimes and Ronnie Blake that halted Madison's 39-game winning streak, 62-55, Friday.

Dunbar piled up a 17-point second-quarter lead but had to break a fourth quarter tie to pull away from Lanier, 76-69, in the nightcap before a mostly partisan Lanier audience at the Super Drum.

In the Class A semifinals, Larue La Poynor snared 74 rebounds in whipping Hull-Daisetta, 81-54, and Vega used Ronnie Williams' 32 points to upset Big Lake Reagan County, 67-60.

The other championship games Saturday were to include Huntsville-Mineral Wells in 3A, Altair Rice-Seminole in 2A and Krum-Snook in B.

The Krum-Snook title game was to be the first title matchup between two defending champions in the tournament's 59-year history. Krum won the B title last year and Snook captured A.

Spring Drills Kicked Off By Longhorns

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Longhorns kicked off spring football practice Friday with 34 of the 38 lettermen expected back next fall.

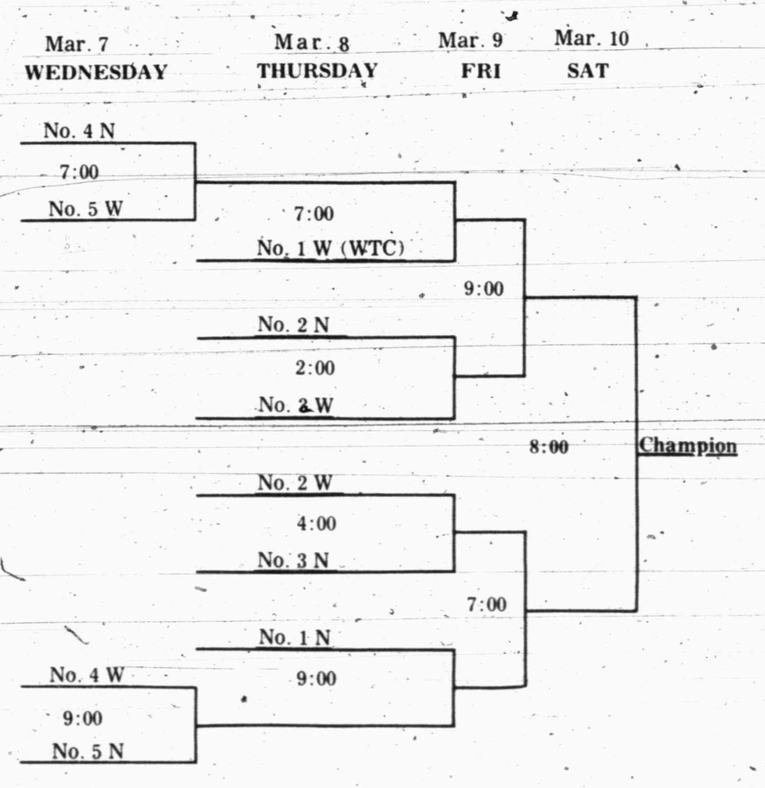

A two-hour workout was held in partial pads.

"We're concentrating on our starts, splits, stances and condition - basic fundamentals for awhile," Coach Fred Akers said. 'We don't put on full pads until Monday."

Akers added than an off-season conditioning program helped keep the Longhorns in excellent shape.

Three of the four lettermen not present are injured while a fourth, flanker Johnny "Lam" Jones, is not in school for spring semester.

Sideline Glances...

Disastrous Weeks

By BILL McCLELLAN

I NEED friends in high places—like a Nikon or Canon representative.

IT HASN'T been a good week basketball-wise for Snyder and the area. It could have been, though.

I can remember almost losing control a week or so back when checking the possibilities of what might be going on over the weekend.

PROBABLE SCHEDULES called for the SHS Tigers to be in the state tournament March 1-3, Ira girls to be in regional action the 2nd and 3rd, the Dusters to be in Abilene on the same days, Snyder baseball to begin here on the 1st, and a track meet in Lamesa on the 3rd.

Frankly friends, I was kinda worried about what to go cover, when and where. Unfortunately though, it all fell through—except for the track meet and the baseball game. Oh, and I forgot to mention the Westerners versus NMMI here on the 1st also. That didn't fall through either.

THE DUSTERS lost in overtime, the Tigers lost in regulation time and Ira never really got started. It's disheartening really, the way all three teams lost their games.

Losing when you've really done your best hurts enough. Losing when you know you are capable of doing better is the worst, though.

IT'S NOTHING you can put any blame on. Shots won't go in or it seems the official's whistles have your name on them. You tried, but nothing worked. Maybe you tried too hard.

ANYWAY, THAT'S what happened to me during the middle of all this mess...my own tragedy. I tried too hard.

It happened very near the end of the Ira-Sands game in Big Spring. The contest was, for all intents and purposes, over with. I was getting ready to make my way to the exit for a quick getaway when it happened.

FLASHBACK. Upon entering Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, and making my way down from the stands and on to the arena floor, I bumped my camera. Not hard, just a little. I did it while climbing over those bars on top of that cement wall that separates the audience from the players. 'Sorta like Scurry Coliseum, except here they have provided ramps for us uncoordinated people.

Anyway, I was determined not to bump the camera again on my way back up, so I gently set it down on top of the wall and was hoisting myself up next to it when a little blonde-haired, striped-skirted kid came racing past, caught the strap with his hand or leg and slam-dunked the camera to the coliseum's cement floor.

HE WAS gone in a second. I didn't even catch his name, though I did make up one or two for him.

Actually, I'm sure it was an accident. He probably didn't even know what happened.

What did happen though, is my lense caught the brunt of the fall, denting in the metal housing around it and making it generally un-focusable.

A QUICK test the next day also indicated that the camera's meter, crank and back suffered too, and though it's being sent off to the repair shop for an estimate, I fear it has exposed its final piece of film.

There was - or is, let's not give up hope - a lot of sentimental value tied up in that camera. It's taken everything from basketball photos of Bob Lilly to a Black Culture Fashion Show to congressmen and senators. It acted up sometimes, but was almost always reliable. And I took pride that the results that came out of it were many times better than other newsmen around me, loaded down with two or three Nikons, autowinders and the like.

NO, I haven't given up all hope, but it would still be nice to know I had friends in high places. Gee sir, you say you are a Canon representative? Say, how 'bout lunch on me?

ANNOUNCING
AN IBM SEMINAR
FOR INSURANCE AGENTS AND BROKERS

If you're an Insurance Agent or Broker, you've probably thought about how a computer could help with your expanding information needs.

Well, now there's a free IBM seminar designed for agents and brokers just like you. It features a discussion of the applications and benefits of an IBM system in Insurance Agency management accounting.

The IBM Insurance Agency management account systems, handles a wide range of important jobs, including automatic preparation of invoices, monthly statements, accounts current, commission accounting and expiration reports. In fact, the Insurance Agency management accounting system, even provides sales analysis by line of business, producer, insurance company, transaction type and location, allowing management to identify trends quickly.

But whatever your data processing requirements, the IBM seminar for Insurance Agents and Brokers can help you with the kind of basic information you need to make an informed decision about the role of a computer in your Agency.

If you'd like to attend this free IBM seminar for Insurance agents and brokers, call your Lubbock IBM General Systems Division office....Ask for Ronna Davis to reserve a seat.

'Horns, Hogs In Finals

HOUSTON (AP)-Like a rematch of heavyweight championship contenders, the Texas Longhorns and Arkansas Razorbacks were to meet Saturday night in the rubber match of their on and off the court struggles for Southwest Conference basketball supremacy.

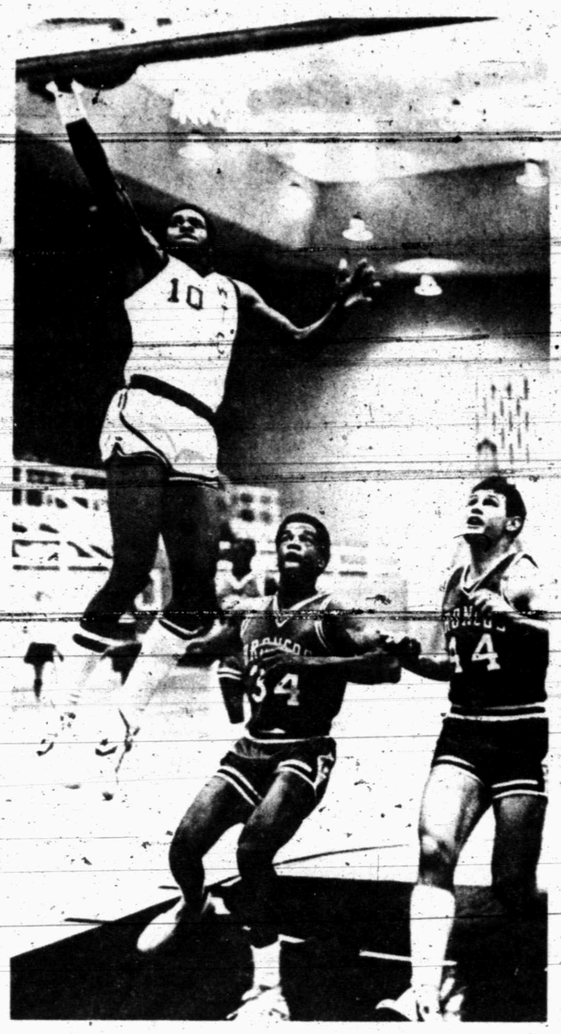

Texas, which shares the SWC regular season title with Arkansas, took advantage of Houston's first half sluggishness Friday night en route to a 70-65 victory in one semifinal game of the SWC basketball tournament before a sellout crowd of 15,449 in the Summit.

Arkansas, fueled by the wizardry of All-American Sidney Moncrief, blew out Texas Tech in the first half and then hung on for a 93-77 victory in the other seminfinal contest to set up a third emotional confrontation for the tournament title.

At stake was the right to represent the SWC in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship playoffs although both teams could receive NCAA inviations in the expanded format.

Arkansas and Texas split a pair of tense regular season games, including a face-to-face confontation between Texas Coach Abe Lemons and Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton in the second meeting at Austin.

Lemons and Sutton squared off after Sutton chided Texas guard John Moore at halftime for his conduct during the first half.

Birdsong Leads SWC Top Decade Players

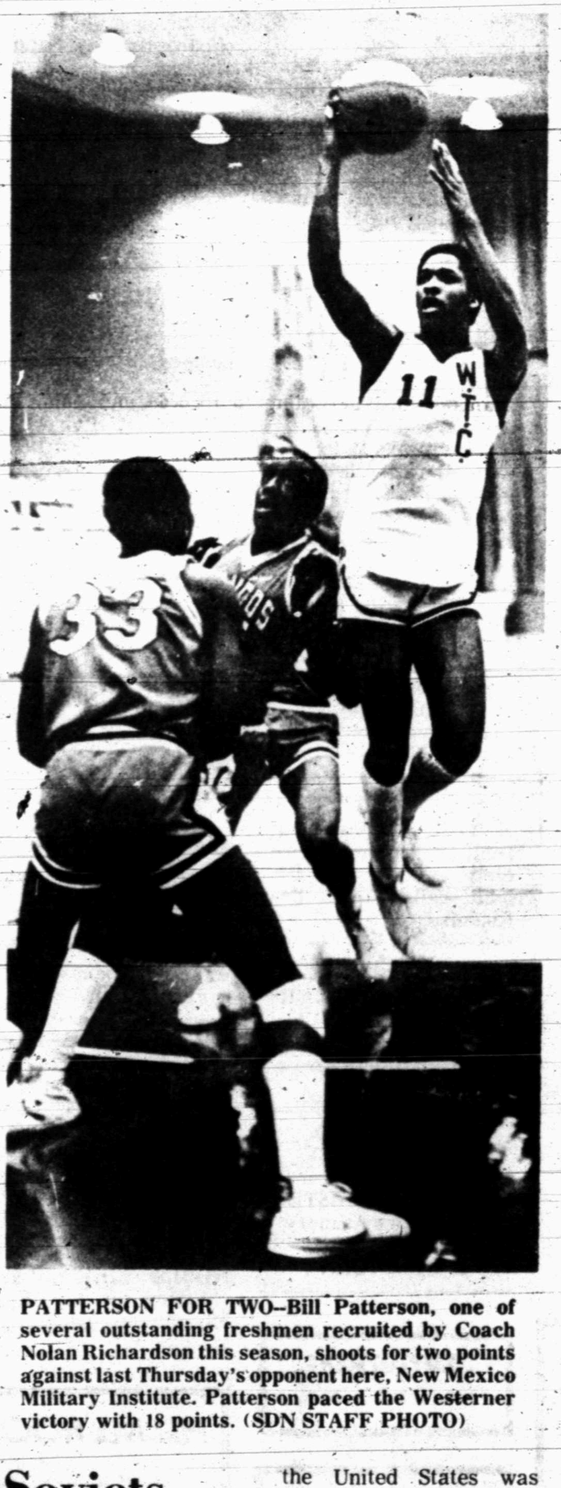

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Write

HOUSTON (AP)—University of Houston All-American Otis Birdsong, who compiled a career scoring average of 28.1 points per game, has been named Southwest Conference basketball player of the decade in a poll of SWC sports writers and sportscasters.

Birdsong, who played for the Cougars in 1975-77, received 22 of 43 first place votes in the balloting, announced during the SWC post-season basketball tournament at the Summit.

Arkansas' Sidney Moncrief and Ron Brewer tied for second place in the voting with a total of 279 points compared to Birdsong's point total of 389. Moncrief, named last week to the Associated Press All-American team, had 10 first place votes and Brewer had six.

Rounding out the top 10 in the balloting were: Rick Bullock, Texas Tech, 231 points; Gene Phillips, Southern Methodist, 221; Sonny Parker, Texas A&M, 205; Ira Terrell, SMU, 195; Larry Robinson, Texas 146; Vinnie Johnson, Baylor, 106 and Marvin Delph, Arkansas, 91.

PATTERSON FOR TWO--Bill Patterson, one of several outstanding freshmen recruited by Coach Nolan Richardson this season, shoots for two points against last Thursday's opponent here, New Mexico Military Institute. Patterson paced the Westerner victory with 18 points. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

U.S. Defeats Soviets In Septathlon Trial

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—The United States swept the top four places in the final event and defeated the Soviet Union by a scant 47 points in the first indoor septathlon competition between the two countries, a two-day event completed Friday.

The United States trailed by 246 points going into final event, the 1,000 meter run. But Grant Niederhaus won it in a time of 2:34.2, and Mike Hill, John Crist and Mauricio Bardales completed the sweep.

That gave the United States a total of 32,932 points for the seven-event competition to 32,885 points for the Soviets.

Other American winners were Fred Samara, long jump, 24-7¾. Lee Palles, high jump, 7-1, and Bob Coffman, 60-meter dash, 6.97 seconds, and 60-meter hurdles, in 7.96.

Victor Gruzenkin of the Soviet Union won the pole vault at 15-5 and was the overall individual winner with 5,649 points.

In a three-way women's pentathlon competition held Friday, the Soviets won with 16,891 points, the United States was second with 15,887 and Canada was third with 15,091.

Some Fighting For Better Contracts; Others Just Battling For A Job

By The Associated Press

Bob Horner is 21 years old, the 1978 National League Rookie of the Year, a budding star with a brilliant future. He is not in spring training because of a contract dispute.

Bob Robertson is 32 years old, a major leaguer since 1967 whose best years are behind him - and he knows it. He can't afford to skip spring training.

"I know I've had some physical problems, but I'm in perfect condition now. All I want is a chance," said Robertson, a power-hitting first baseman who spent the bulk of his career with the Pittsburgh Pirates, but is now trying to hook on with the Kansas City Royals.

One factor working in Robertson's favor is that designated hitter Hal McRae, also a right-handed hitter, is recuperating from shoulder surgery and may not be ready to open the season.

Another Royal batting star, third baseman George Brett, underwent surgery on his right thumb Friday but is expected to be ready to rejoin the club in three weeks.

Horner, meanwhile, officially became a holdout when he failed to appear at the Atlanta Braves' spring training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Horner's agent, Bucky Woy, filed a grievance contending the team failed to offer his client a valid contract by the Dec. 20 deadline set by major league baseball and that Horner should be declared a free agent. He also contends the Braves reneged on an agreement reached in January that would have provided Horner with about $300,000 a year.

The Braves have filed a counter-grievance in the case, but no arbitration date has been set.

In other contract matters, free agent outfielder Bernie Carbo signed a two-year pact for a reported $225,000 with the St. Louis Cardinals and pitcher Pat Zachry signed a one-year deal pegged at $125,000 with the New York Mets.

The Cincinnati Reds are negotiating with outfielder George Foster and are expected soon to announce a five-year deal for $750,000 a year. "We have made good progress and we're hopeful the signing can be done by Monday," said Reds General Manager Dick Wagner.

San Francisco General Manager Spec Richardson said he had made a final offer to free-agent outfielder Billy North, but North has not responded yet. Richardson also said he would invoke the renewal clauses in the contracts of four unsigned players - pitchers Bob Knepper and Gret Minton, outfielder Jack Clark and infielder Tom Heintzelman - on Monday.

The clause, if invoked by a club by March 10, binds the player to the team for another year even if he has not signed a new contract.

The Times of London first appeared under that name in 1788.

Yarborough Screams Innocent; Officials Spread The Blame

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP)-"It's still not completely fair, but it's fairer than it was. It still doesn't win the Daytona 500 for me," Donnie Allison muttered.

The National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing announced Friday that it had decided to spread the blame equally between Allison and Cale Yarborough for the last lap crash that cost them both a chance to win at Daytona two weeks ago.

An angry Yarborough told an official of NASCAR that he would appeal the new ruling.

In a decision announced Feb. 20 by NASCAR Competition Director Bill Gazaway, the sole blame was placed on Allison, who was leading that last lap, for putting an unorthodox block on Yarborough that resulted in a crash. Allison got six months probation while Yarborough was exonerated.

However, Allison, his brother Bobby and Yarborough were each fined $6,000 for fighting after the race.

However, the National Stock Car Racing Commission, which convened last Monday to hear an appeal by the Allisons on the matter, judged that "the accident was a result of two competitors' errors in judgment and not solely the fault of Donnie Allison."

Based on the commission's recommendations, Allison's probation period was cut in half and Yarborough was also given a matching three months probation. The fines were all upheld.

Allison's mood, not helped by his crash in practice Friday morning for the Rockingham 500, was noticeably improved by the action. He celegrated with a round of golf in the afternoon.

Yarborough, who claimed he was an innocent victim of malicious double-teaming by the Allisons, was greatly upset by the reversal.

The three-time national champion told NASCAR offical Ray Hill he would appeal. Hill informed him an appeal would have to be made in writing within 30 days. Hill said no written appeal had been filed by the end of action at the track Friday.

"It's not fair. I'm not guilty," Yarborough said angrily.

Cason Wins 'Life' Golf Tournament

HARLINGEN (AP)—Jim Cason of Harlingen used a "lucky" putter to claim a quick 6 and 4 championship victory over defending champion Fred Rohde of San Antonio in the 27th annual Life Begins at 40 Golf Tournament.

The 51-year-old Cason sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie on the 14th hole which Rohde three-putted to wrap up the match play victory in less than two hours Friday on the Harlingen Country Club course.

Cason, the 1972 champion and runnerup to 1977 winner Jack Williams of Plainview, won seven of the last eight holes with a closing flourish. Cason's 20-foot putt saved par on 13 and a 25-foot putt from beyond the green for a birdie on No. 9 sent him two-up.

A former defensive back with the San Francisco 49ers, Cason credited his victory to a "lucky putter" he has been using since 1950 and was once tempted to sell for $100.

"I lost my concentration every time I saw him hit the ball straight," said the 58-year-old Rohde, whose drives from the tee were far short of Cason's long, straight wallops. "I predicted before the tournament that Cason would win it, but I hoped it wouldn't come true when I advanced into the finals."

Cason's hot putting over the last eight holes was a dramatic contrast to his early play in the match. After sinking a 10-foot putt for a birdie to go one-up on the No. 2 hole, Cason three-putted to lose the third hole and he missed a two-foot putt to bogey No. 4.

Young Gifford Stable After Auto Wreck

NEW YORK (AP)—Sportcaster Frank Gifford's 24-year-old son, injured in a one-car collision that killed two other persons, remained in serious but stable condition today after being transferred to a third hospital.

Kyle Gifford of Scarsdale, N.Y., underwent several hours of surgery Friday morning at Englewood, N.J., Hospital with skull and internal injuries, a hospital spokesman said.

He was later transferred to Hackensack, N.J., Hospital, where he received special skull X-rays, said spokesman Ed Goren. Gifford then went to New York Hospital in the early afternoon, at the request of his family doctor, Goren said.

The accident occurred Thursday afternoon when the automobile Gifford was riding in ran off the Palisades Interstate Parkway in New Jersey, rammed a tree and split into three pieces.

JV Tripped In Opener

Lubbock Monterey junior varsity popped Snyder 9-6 here over the weekend.

Snyder held a 5-2 lead going into the fourth inning behind the hitting of John Igo and Trussel Thane and the strong pitching of John Davis.

Monterey took the lead in the fourth inning with four runs, but Snyder came back and tied the score at 6-6 in the bottom of the stanza.

Monterey then moved three runs on top in the seventh to go in front 9-6. Relief pitcher Steve Case pulled the Tigers out of the inning.

Monday, the Tigers will play in Abilene at 4 p.m.

Ceremony Weds Couple

Teresa Lynn Havner became the bride of Dewey Keith McAnear in a double ring ceremony Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. Buck Hatfield officiated the formal ceremony at Faith Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Havner, 2404 41st, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey McAnear, 308 36th Place.

The father of the bride presented her in marriage. She was attired in a formal, white wedding gown of polyester trimmed in Alencon lace and pale pink satin ribbon. The softly flowing chapel train was attached to her gown. Her nylon net veil, edged in lace was attached to her headpiece of lace and pearls.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of pink and white flowers.

Maid of honor Celissa Shipp wore a short pink polyester dress and she carried a pink and white bouquet. She wore a pink lace hat to complete her attire.

Neika Porter, flower girl, wore a long pink dress and carried a basket of white and pink petals.

Bridesmaids Kathy Havner, bride's sister, and Rhonda Slater of Colorado City, wore short pink dresses with lace pink hats and carried bouquets of pink and white flowers.

Scotty Prince was ring bearer. He wore a tan suit.

Timmy Prince was best man and groomsman was Mike Havner.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "You Light Up My Life" was sung by Alton Weidel, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Weidel.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The three tiered cake, decorated in pink and white was served by Jewel McAnear, Abby Havner registered guests.

Following a wedding trip to Big Spring and Odessa the couple will reside in Wichita Falls. The bride chose for her going away attire an off-white polyester shirt with pink satin disco pants.

Girl Scout Week Underway

March 11-17 is Girl Scout Week in the U.S.A. It marks the 67th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting, March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Georgia, where 18 girls dressed in blue uniforms gathered at the home of Juliette Gordon Low. In honor of this first meeting Girl Scouts of the United States celebrate Girl Scout Week each year during the week of March 12.

Snyder's roots in Girl Scouting go back 49 years when Miss Elva Lemons, a Snyder school teacher and Miss Inez Caskey, of Snyder Drug Store, secured their commissions as "Captain" and "Lieutenant" (leader and assistant leader) to organize Lone Troop No. 1. Fourteen girls were invested May 5, 1930. They were Frances Northcutt, Estine Dorward, LaFrances Dunman, Mary Margaret Towle, Alma Alice Caskey, Valdeen Killer, Rosanna Reynolds, Mittie Crowder, Elizabeth and Geneva Glasscock and Elizabeth Blakey.

Twelve more girls soon joined, then four more, then one Dorothy Dulany a former resident of Rotan, then another girl joined ... and on it grew. At that time there were 250,000 Girl Scouts in the U.S.A. and Snyder belonged to "The Cactus Region" along with troops of Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona. Scurry County Scouts soon joined forces with 12 other area towns to form West Texas Area Council of Girl Scouts. In 1962 the name of the Council changed to West Texas Girl Scout Council, Inc.

Today, Abilene acts as the nucleus for serving 230 troops organized by WTGSC operating from the Girl Scout Service Center at 3165 South 27th. Mrs. Jim Sturrock is the executive director. Currently there are over 3,000 registered Girl Scouts and 700 men and women members in the 16 county area of the council.

Snyder Girl Scouts have grown to more than 200 girls in 15 troops. There are 10 Brownie troops, four Junior troops, and one Cadette troop. They belong to Service Unit No. 46 of WTGS Council. Fifty adults serve as leaders, board members, committee members, troop organizers, consultants, service team, and event chairman.

Snyder Scouts are celebrating Girl Scout Week in the traditional way... March 11 is Girl Scout Sunday; Scouts attend the church of their choice wearing their uniform and - or the Girl Scout pin which signifies the three parts of their Girl Scout Promise, "On my honor I will try to serve God, my country and mankind, and to live by the Girl Scout Law."

The WTGSC is a participating agency of the United Way.

The Vatican City in Rome became a sovereign state in 1929.

CANNING NUTRITIOUS BABY FOOD AT HOME

Many mothers may enjoy canning baby food—and the process is easy and inexpensive.

Select fresh, tender vegetables. Cook them in a small amount of water, then press them through a fine sieve or food mill. Use a blender to puree the vegetables.

Add boiling water if necessary to make the puree about the same thickness as heavy cream. Reheat to boiling and pour into hot half-pint or pint jars, leaving one-half inch head space. Insert a table knife into the jar to remove any air bubbles.

Adjust the caps and process according to the recomended time for pureed vegetables at 10 pounds pressure. Processing time for strained vegetables is longer than for chopped or canned whole, because the puree is thicker and slows the rate of heat penetration.

For older babies eating chopped vegetables, the process is even easier. Simply wash, drain and chop the vegetables. Boil three minutes in enough water to cover. Pack, leaving about one-half inch head space. Process as instructed for low acid vegetables.

Baby fruits such as peaches and apricots should be cooked. For strained fruits, follow recipes for fruit puree.

Extension publication 'Home Canning-Fruits, Vegetables'-194, contains a section on canning purees which is applicable to canning baby food. This publication can be obtained from the County Extension office at 2605 Ave. M. There are other recipes for making your own baby food which you may also inquire about through the County Extension Office.

Snyderites Attend Family Institute

Eagle Forum members, Bertha Terry, Vera Holsinger, Velma Lunsford, are off to Austin to attend the International Year of the Child conference. The meeting begins today and continues through Wednesday. It is sponsored by Texas Child Care '76. They will be there to witness and record what goals the IYC plans for our families and children and also to observe and prove what they are doing.

They will hear Mrs. Andrew Young who is chairperson of the International Year of the Child Commission speak along with Helen Farabee of Wichita Falls chairperson special committee on human services delivery systems.

There will also be an opportunity to testify at a hearing before some of the other IYC commissioners and to present opposition information on the International Year of the Child.

People from all over the United States will be coming and the format is laid out as the International Women's Year Meeting in Houston which many Snyderites attended.

Twenty-five years ago, a new chapter in our lives opened when we started a business, in what many of you will remember was a very small way.
Your friendship and support have long been appreciated and saying thank you seems inadequate in expressing our gratitude. We have always been aware of the fact, that each time you came thru our door, whether to look, to buy, or just to say hello, it is a compliment to us! If we closed our doors tomorrow, our town would continue in much the same way, but when you do not come to see us, we feel the loss! Without you and your support, we would not be here.
Won't you help us celebrate our Twenty-fifth Birthday beginning March 1st, by coming in and letting us say
Thank You personally?

On a certain TV quiz show, they want to know how many people out of 100 select a certain answer.

We wonder if as many as two bridge players out of 100 will play a low spade at trick one, in the East seat.

It looks like a mighty silly play. You know your partner has led a singleton. You know the declarer also holds a singleton.

Now let's see what happens if you rise with the ace of spades. Your best play is to lead a spade back. South ruffs. Draws trumps while making sure to win the third trump in dummy. Discards two minor suit losers on the last two spades and winds up with six trumps, two spades and the ace of club and diamonds.

Suppose you duck the first spade. South leads a second spade from dummy. East ducks again. South discards a low card, West ruffs and leads any low card he wants to lead.

South has only one entry to dummy. He can get in with the ace of trumps and lead another spade. East will finally play that ace. South will ruff, but will have no way to get back to dummy to cash the last spade. He will wind up with just one spade trick for a total of nine.

Ask the Experts

A New York reader asks if there are as many as 50 slam conventions.

The Encyclopedia of Bridge lists over 70, but very few of them are really used.

MR. AND MRS. CARL WOOD
...to be honored on 50th
(Photo By Craft Studio)

Couple Celebrates Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wood of 2112 Peyton, will be honored Sunday, March 11 in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. Their children and their families are hosts for reception from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room. Friends are invited to join the celebration.

Children of the couple are Mrs. Van Meador of Snyder, Daryl Wood of Big Spring and two foster sons, Billy Rinehart of Arlington and Wallace Rinehart of Lanham, Maryland. There are 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Wood, a native of Griffithville, Ark., and Essie Bell Rinehart, a native of Sidney, met when their parents, W.R. Wood and O.C. Rinehart, moved to joining farms in Scurry County, and were married March 9, 1929. Wood is a retired employee of the Snyder Street Department.

Last-Minute Tips For Groom

The morning of the wedding, the groom is apt to be a bit nervous.

The following check list, suggested by Robert C. Rudofker, president of After Six Formal, should help him accomplish what he needs to with a minimum of confusion.

Line up clean underwear and appropriate socks beforehand.

Make sure shoes are ready and, remember, clean handkerchiefs are a must at all but the dullest weddings.

If garments are on wire hangers or in a box, put them on wooden hangers which will help hold their shape best.

Arrange with the best man to have wallet and bulky pocket items tucked safely away out of sight. Nothing is worse than keys jingling at the altar or a pack of cigarettes ruining the line of the jacket.

Henry V, the uncrowned Holy Roman Emperor, was kidnapped by the Pope in 1111.

February Beef Prices Higher

WASHINGTON (AP)-Retail beef prices climbed in February to another record, up 4.4 percent from January, according to preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department.

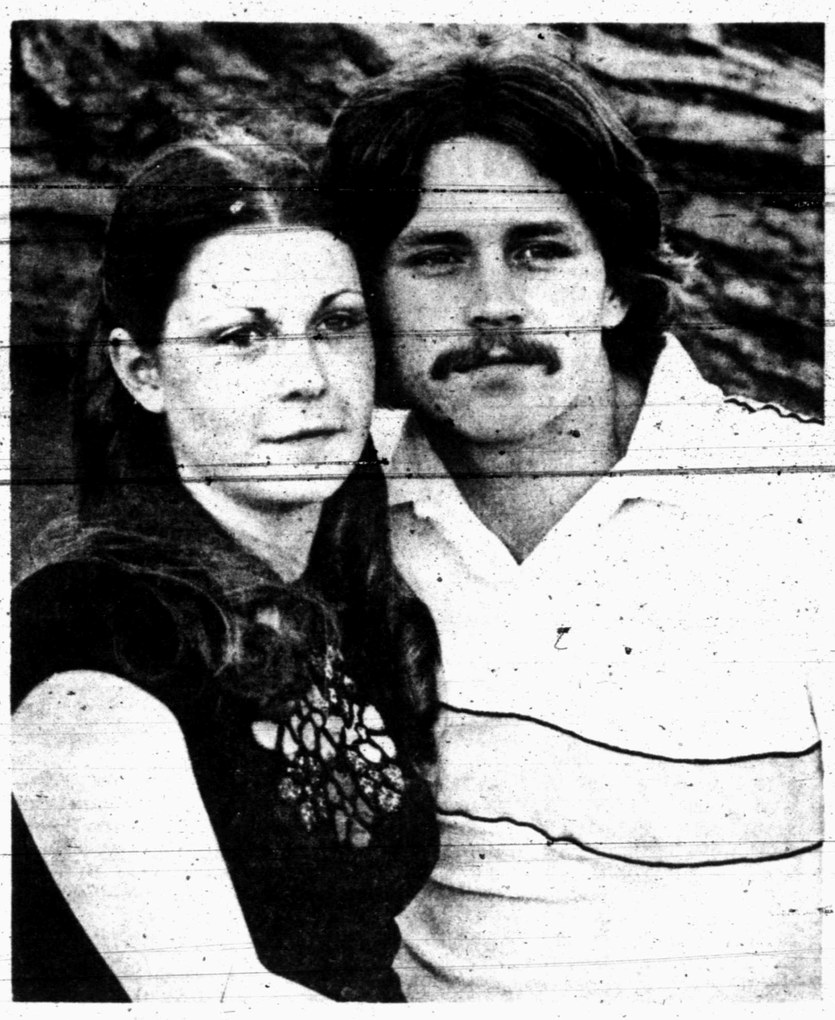

The department said Friday that the supermarket price of choice-grade beef last month averaged $2.14 a pound on an all-cut basis, compared to a revised January price of slightly less than $2.05 a pound.

That was up 32.3 percent from an average of less than $1.62 a pound in February of last year, the preliminary figures showed.

Everyone Enjoys Pasta

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Pasta is an international food favorite. Although Americans tend to think of noodle or pasta dishes as typically Italian, the Chinese, for example, eat almost as much pasta as do Europeans.

All pasta has nutritional value, and many U.S. brands of spaghetti and macaroni are also fortified with iron and the B vitamins (thiamin, riboflavin and niacin) to aid those whose diets are less than well-rounded.

One-pot dishes such as Spanish Noodles are a double blessing these days because they are both quick and economical.

For a complete meal, start with a glass of fruit juice, such as pineapple or apple. Add green beans or peas as a side dish and fresh fruits in season for dessert. Children will devour this dinner without urging.

ONE-POT SPANISH NOODLES

6 slices bacon
1 medium onion, chopped
1 medium green pepper, chopped
1 pound ground beef
1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes in puree
1½ cups water
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon oregano
Dash black pepper
6 ounces (about 3 cups) medium egg noodles

Fry bacon until brown and crisp in a Dutch oven or heavy saucepan. Remove and set aside.

Saute onion, green papper and ground beef in drippings over medium heat until beef is browned. Pour or skim off fat.

Add tomatoes, water and seasonings. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Bring to a full boil. Gradually add noodles so that mixture continues to boil. Cover and simmer until noodles are tender. Stir occasionally.

Sprinkle bacon over top. Serve immediately. Makes six servings.

Don't use too much detergent in the washer, advises Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Oversudsing makes the washing machine work harder and wastes energy, she points out.

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Fertile Crescent: Plants of the Ancients" may be seen at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden through March 25.

The garden says that "in a simulated Middle-Eastern garden setting, plants will be displayed that were domesticated or introduced during the 2nd and 3rd Millennium 2000-3000 years B.C. in the geographic area of what is considered the Fertile Crescent."

Erasable Ink Worry Some

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)-The first paragraph of this story could have been written with a ballpoint pen whose "now-you-see-it-now-you-don't" ink is causing a stir.

The reason? The ink is erasable.

Bankers are worried. So are lawyers. Both groups fear the new ballpoint pen will make it easy to change signatures and endorsements.

The pen - called Eraser Mate, price $2 - is scheduled for marketing this spring by the Paper Mate Division of the Boston-based Gillette Co.

The pen's ink doesn't become permanent until about two days after it hits paper, according to the manufacturer. Until then, the ink can be erased as easily as pencil lead.

Bankers are worried that if the pen is used to write and endorse checks, someone could remove the name of the person to whom the money is to go and write his name or change the amount of the check - if not both.

Scurry Chapter ABWA Has Program On Herbs

ABWA met recently for their dinner meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Vern Beasley presided.

Mary Ellen Meador introduced her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ailene Reed of Fort Worth. She presented a film, "Herbally Yours" to the group. Following the film, she explained many uses of herbs.

The vocational talk was given by Pat Snider. She explained her duties as co-owner of Don Snider and Co.

Maxie McNew was presented her 15-year perfect attendance pen. Two-year pens were presented to Pat Snider and Ileta Hall. Irene Brooks, Janetha Payne, Carol Young, Linda Elledge, Cheryl York, Vern Beasley, Vivian Cockran, Helen Greenway, Barbara York and Leona Wiggins, all received one-year pens.

The chapter has set March 13 for their Spring Tea date. It will be held at the MAWC.

The Boss Night banquet will be held April 26, also at MAWC.

ATTENDS MEETING-Mrs. Ellen Meador, right, program chairman for Scurry Chapter of American Business Women's Assn., introduced Mrs. Ailene Reed of Fort Worth who presented the program at the chapter's recent meeting. Mrs. Meador's mother-in-law, Mrs. R.V. Meador, left was a guest. (SDN Staff Photo)

Two Shows On Exhibit

NEW YORK (AP)—Two shows, "Pompeii AD79" and "Volcano!" will be on exhibit at the American Museum of Natural History April 22-July 31.

"Pompeii AD79" consists of 350 examples of Roman art and artifacts. The museum says it will "present these beautiful objects in the context of how Pompeiians used them, of Roman life as it was 2,000 years ago."

"Volcano!" will "with light, sound and film take visitors inside the heart of an erupting volcano, have them peer down inside the cone, give them a tour of active volcanoes from Iceland to Indonesia, and introduce them to the causes of these massive eruptions in the crust of the earth."

Lettuce Strike Support Sought

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)-With the winter lettuce season nearly over in the Imperial Valley, union leader Cesar Chavez is seeking support for the United Farm Workers' lettuce strike in other areas.

Chavez met with 500 sympathizers in San Luis, Ariz., Wednesday to discuss the union's strike against 11 growers who account for 40 percent of the nation's winter lettuce crop. The harvest will shift soon to other parts of California and Arizona, a Chavez aide said.

The union wants a 40 percent wage increase in a one-year contract. The growers have offered increases averaging 7 percent a year for three years.

NEW PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT—Pupils at North Elementary School are beginning to make use of new playground equipment now that warmer weather is returning. North is the oldest "new" campus in the Snyder system. (SDN Staff Photo)

North Is Oldest 'New' Elementary

North Elementary School, located on the northwest edge of the city limits, was the first "boomtown" new campus school, erected in 1950. Pat Falls was the first principal. The site was chosen because population growth was expected to occur in that direction. But established neighborhoods took form more to the south than north and left the school in a mostly commercial-business district with sparcely settled housing in the immediate vicinity and a large rural area to serve.

The enrollment declined in the 60's, but in recent years the population served by the school boundaries has steadily increased until at the present time about 340 students attend classes in grades kindergarten through six.

Common to all elementary programs in Snyder, the school day is enriched with daily music, library and physical education classes. The academic program is reinforced with various supplemental learning experiences such as peer tutoring, sixth grade students helping younger students, flexible reading programs that assist both the slow and fast developing readers, and continuous basic mathematics reinforcement.

Also, good citizenship, respect for authority, and learning to get along with others is a part of the conscious effort of the teaching staff and cafeteria workers. To have a school where parents are confident their child is well received, treated respectfully, and provided a good educational opportunity is the goal of North Elementary.

Of recent interest to the children is the replacement and addition of playground equipment. With warm weather returning there has been lots of laughter and skinned knees trying out the new things to play on.

Stanfield Students Get Feel Of Freedom Loss

If you have always been free, how can you really know what it is like to not have any freedom. The sixth grade students at Stanfield Elementary report that it is not much fun.

In connection with a study of Russia, her satellite countries, and their government these student experience a loss of freedom.

For one week they live, at school, under a very strict set of rules. These rules are established by the government (the teachers). The rules are applied basically to three areas, the classroom, the hall and restrooms and the cafeteria. In the classroom a few of the rules are: no talking at any time without recognition by the teacher; stand when teacher stands and any time an adult enters the room; may not leave desk without recognition and permission. Some rules for the hall and restroom are: go and return in a straight line; no talking or unnecessary noise of any kind. Cafeteria rules include: sit in assigned chair; absolute silence. Any rules that are broken are taken care of by fines, extra work and other methods of punishment.

Because these students are paid (tokens) for jobs, class work, etc. all wages are deposited in a community bank for the use of all citizens. At the end of the week the students get together for a community meeting. At this time banks (each room has one) are opened, fines paid, IOU's taken care of and remaining tokens counted. After the government takes its share of any profit, the rest is divided equally among the students.

Next is a discussion of the things they liked about the rules and the week. Following this they discuss the things they dislike and the things they have learned. At the end of the discussion things return to a more democratic form of rule and there is a great celebration.

VOLUNTEER AIDES--Stanfield Elementary School has a Volunteer Parent Aide Program sponsored by the PTA. Duties are primarily to aid teachers in class preparation and collecting materials for the teacher. In some cases, parents relieve teachers for short periods so that teachers make take care of personal programs. Janet Mosley and Kay Redeker, shown in the Stanfield teachers workroom, have given more than 50 hours in an effort to help the school. (SDN Staff Photo)

Handicaps Identified At Early Age

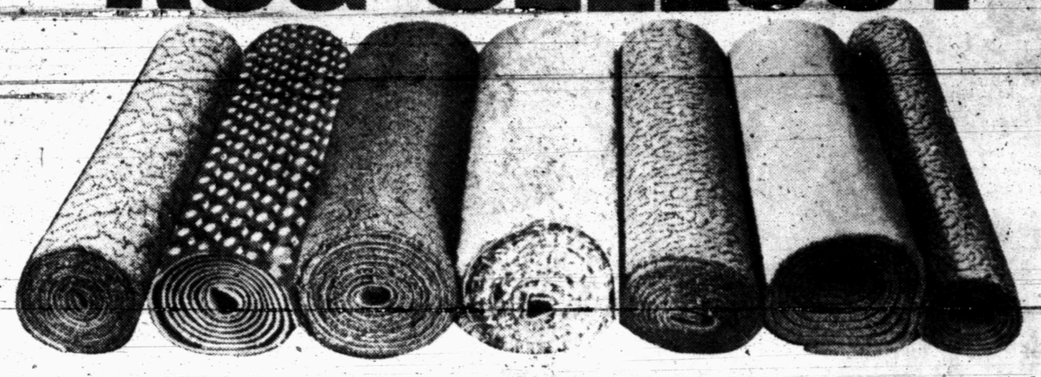

Early identification of learning disabilities is one of the main features of the early childhood program in Snyder. Children become eligible for the program when they reach three years of age. Any parent in the district may request an appraisal for their preschool child if they suspect the child may have a developmental lag in at least two of the following areas: perceptual-motor development, language development, socialization, self-help skills, and cognitive development.

The program seeks to provide services for children with three general needs. Some children have been identified as having mild learning disabilities. These children, with proper early instruction, will be successful in the regular school kindergarten program on the elementary school campuses. There also are identified within the existing kindergarten programs, children who have learning disabilities and behaviors which would indicate that a more individualized, structured, closely monitored program would allow the early childhood teacher to provide immediate concentrated help and delay a decision concerning special education placement. The program also provides services for children who are severely impaired who can have an early start in coping with their handicap.

The early childhood program provides support and assistance to families of the pupils enrolled in the program. Parents are a very important part of the intervention program and they participate in planning the educational program. They are involved further through weekly conferences with the teacher. Goals and objectives for the pupil are discussed during these conferences. Specific assignments are generated for the parents to carry out at home. The Snyder Schools recognize the value of support and assistance to the families and have arranged for the parent conferences to continue throughout the year including the summer months.

There were 33 holes-in-one on the PGA tour in 1978, three being made on the last day of the Disney World Tournament, by Orville Moody, Randy Erskine and George Cadle.

Central Features Learning Centers

During the 1976-77 school year the Snyder schools began a program in the Kindergarten entitled Early Prevention of Childhood Failure. In the fall of 1976 the Kindergarten children were given a series of tests in the areas of language, fine motor, visual, auditory, gross motor, and speech. These were given to help the teachers determine the childrens' deficit areas.

During the school year, learning centers pertaining to these areas were set up in individual kindergarten rooms where the student could work in his specific area or areas where he might need extra help. In the spring of 1977, the children were given the same series of tests to help evaluate their progress, and then these test results are used in the first grade to continue the process of assisting children in deficit areas.

This school year, 1978-79, the first grades of Central Elementary have in operation a learning center room consisting of 11 different centers for the children to work in daily. These learning centers fulfill the needs of the children in the six main areas of the Early Prevention of Childhood Failure. Enrichment centers are also available for children who do not show deficit areas.

Mini-Courses Scheduled At Northeast

Parents, grandparents and community friends will teach mini-courses at Northeast Elementary School this month. Students in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades will participate in the series on four consecutive Friday afternoons beginning March 16.

Students may select from the following categories: Kite-making, silk flowers, cake decorating, breadmaking, money-checking and savings accounts, crochet, macrame, CPR and first aid, grooming and hair styling, Barry Manilow workshop, police investigation, selected chemistry experiments. Northeast staff members will assist in the classes.

The Northeast Parents Club is sponsoring the series of workshops and providing materials.

Bullock Reports Million Recovered

AUSTIN (AP)—Comptroller Bob Bullock says his office has recovered $1 million in delinquent taxes the past eight months by withholding payment of bills to businesses that owe the state money.

A computer cross checks the bills with records of unpaid taxes.

Bullock said his office was holding back 1,200 warrants (checks) in February, pending payment of delinquent taxes. He said most of the delinquencies involve sales taxes.

Endangered Deer Killed In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—One of the world's rarest deer was shot to death in the Dashtenaz Forest north of here, state radio said. The report Sunday said only four of the deer were known to exist, all in the Dashtenaz, and that the hunter was arrested.

Peer Tutoring Program Helps Pupils At West

In an attempt to assist students falling behind in reading and math skills, West Elementary has established peer tutoring programs. Students from the 5th and 6th grades are selected and given instruction on what to teach and how to work with their tutees. These students are then matched with tutees from the kindergarten, first, second and third grades.

This idea was recommended by Dr. V. Sowell, consultant from Texas Tech University and implemented with teachers' assistance by Anna Ketchum and Barbara Lee DaBoll, Snyder ISD Reading Consultants.

Participating teachers include Mrs. Carole Haynes, Wayne Kennedy, Mrs. Marilyn Crownover, Mrs. Carolyn Reon and Mrs. Patti Palmer from West Elementary.

At West Elementary, Wayne Kennedy and Mrs. Carole Haynes report that the tutoring experience is frequently as beneficial for the tutor as it is for the tutee. Some tutors must plan their tutees' lessons ahead as well as be responsible for completing their own assignments in class. They are also responsible for getting and returning their tutees on time.

Tutors say they enjoy it even though it is an extra burden while the tutees enjoy the individualized attention and the help that they are receiving.

Dewey Barlett Dead Of Cancer

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Dewey Bartlett, 59, of Oklahoma died in his sleep Thursday night after a long battle with lung cancer. Despite his Ohio birth, Princeton educated, Roman Catholic faith and Republican Party affiliation, Bartlett won acceptance in Oklahoma politics, where native-born, Baptist Democrats have the edge. He served one term as governor and one term in the U.S. Senate.

Canadians Are Counting On Synthetic Crude Oil

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)-Synthetic crude production from its vast deposits of oil sands holds a major role in Canada's energy self-reliance objectives.

One of the objectives is to limit oil imports by 1985 to one-third of domestic demand or to 800,000 barrels a day, whichever is the smaller.

Synthetic crude production from Alberta's Athabasca oil sands deposits this year is expected to approximate 150,000 barrels a day and the 1978 oil supply report by Canada's National Energy Board indicates steady growth in the years ahead.

While assuming all currently operating and announced projects and two undefined projects are operational, the board forecast the synthetic output could reach 755,000 barrels a day by 1995. This would be about one-third of projected demand for 2.3 million barrels of oil a day.

A report on the current status of the Canadian operations has been published by the Institute of Gas Technology as a supplement to its International Gas Technology Highlights publication.

The Canadian oil sands deposits cover about 16,000 square miles of central and northern Alberta. Four major deposits are believed to hold an estimated 1 trillion barrels of oil in place.

The Alberta Energy Resources Conservation Board estimates some 23 billion barrels to be recoverable through existing surface mining methods and recovery technology, another 17 billion barrels as ultimately recoverable with improved mining technology, and as much as 150 billion barrels as eventually recoverable from deeper deposits through use of in-situ methods nearing commercialization.

The IGT report says some experts predict the oil sands deposits could ultimately support 20 to 30 plants, each producing more than 100,000 barrels a day.

This year's production from the Athabasca deposits near Fort McMurray is expected to run 45,000 to 50,000 barrels from the Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. plant and about 100,000 barrels a day from the Syncrude Canada Ltd. plant.

Oil sands deposits, primarily in Utah and Wyoming, have been estimated to have ultimately recoverable resources approximating 26 billion barrels but the IGT report says development progress in the United States has been very slow when compared with Canada.

"In the United States, by contrast, despite decades of research and development on oil sands, oil shale, coal liquefaction, and coal gasification, not a single plant has yet been commercialized, nor, for that matter, has a demonstration plant been built," the report said.

"And the prospects for the near future do not appear particularly encouraging in the light of government failure to provide the incentives industry considers essential before proceeding with commercial-scale facilities."

The report said the main barriers to the commercialization of synthetic fuels in the United States have not been as much technological as environmental, economic, and institutional.

"In Canada as well, the two existing oil sands projects encountered initial difficulties," the report said, adding that for a while it looked as if the Syncrude plant would not see the light of the day while the GCOS plant still shows an overall financial deficit after 8 years of operation.

"But the major barriers have been removed, thanks to a high degree of industry-government cooperation and a strong commitment to oil sands development," the report said.

"On the government's part, this has meant a willingness to permit the world oil price for the product and to allow favorable income tax treatment to synthetic crude projects, direct financial support in the form of equity participation in the Syncrude project, provision of a reasonably stable regulatory climate, and funding by the province of Alberta of a massive research and development effort."

Industry meanwhile was said to have shown a willingness to meet and even surpass stringent government, social, and environmental requirements, and to cooperate with government on all levels.

"In the relatively harmonious atmosphere that now exists, two more commercial-scale plants have been proposed and are now awaiting government approval," the report said.

"In addition, some 16 in-situ-pilot projects are in operation in Alberta, one or several of which could prove commercially feasible in subsequent years."

Dr. Tan Of Texas Tech WTC Guest Lecturer

Dr. Alexis S. Tan, associate professor and director of graduate studies in mass communication at Texas Tech University, will speak to Western Texas College students and faculty Monday.

His session will center on the role of mass communication in modern society. The guest lecture, sponsored by WTC's department of journalism, will be in Student Center 105 from 10:20-11:10 a.m.

Dr. Tan has taught at Texas Tech since 1970. Other professional and teaching experience includes science writer and teaching assistant at the University of Wisconsin--Madison, communication arts instructor at Cornell University, instructor and information office editor at the University of the Phillippines and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in agricultural journalism and mass communications from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

His research and publications include approximately 12 articles in Journalism Quarterly, Journal of Communication, Journal of Broadcasting, Public Opinion Quarterly and Communication Research, plus 17 papers read at research meetings throughout the United States and in the Philippines and Berlin, West Germany.

Dr. Tan has two book manuscripts in progress, Intercultural Communications (Praeger Publishers) and Mass Communication Theory and Society (Grid Publishing, Inc.). He also has a monograph pending on political socialization and mass media use with Jornalism Monographs.

In addition to securing six research grants, with four more in progress, he has directed 21 M.A. theses at Texas Tech, has served on 10 additional committees, and was on four doctoral committees.

A native of the Philippines, Dr. Tan was appointed Graduate Advisor in the department at Texas Tech in 1970 and last year was named chairman of the mass communication Internal Review Committee. He holds membership in the Association for Education In Journalism and the International Communication Association.

Fluent in English and Tagalog (Philippine national language), Dr. Tan received first place, Teacher Innovation Awards, mass communications advisory committee in 1976.

He is married to Gerdean Tan, area director for the Texas Commission for the Blind and practicing psychologist in Lubbock.

They have one child.

Extender Completed In Kent County Field

Durham, Inc., of Midland No. 1-60 Wallace is a new well in the Elam (Strawn) field of Kent County, nine miles southwest of Clairemont.

On a 24-hour potential test it pumped 161 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil and no water, through perrforations from 6,900 to 6,904 feet after 400 gallons of acid.

Total depth is 7,125 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 734-1.

Location is 772 feet from north and 2,041 feet from west lines of section 60, block 4, H&GN survey, abstract 1403.

It is one location west of other production.

Hamilton Brothers Oil Co. of Denver, Colo., has skidded the rig from his No. 1 Wallace, wildcat in Kent County, six miles northwest of Fayton.

The original location for the 6,750-foot project was 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 39, block L H&TC survey.

The wildcat now will be operated as No. 1-A Wallace, 1,980 feet from north and 671 feet from east lines of the same section.

Empire Drilling Co. No. 2-346 Shannon Estate has been finaled in the Shannon Ranch (Ellenburger) filed of Scurry County, 12 miles northwest of Snyder.

The well, the second in the field, was finaled for a 24-hour pumping potential of 83 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 12 barrels of water, from open hole section at 8,206 feet, where 5.50 inch casing is set, and total depth of 8,213 feet.

The gas-oil ratio is 600-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 346, block 97, H&TC survey.

William L. Rogers of Fort Worth No. 5-C Thelma J. Cole has been completed in the Vincent (lower Clear Fork oil) pool of Howard County, two miles southwest of Vincent.

The 10th well in the field, it finaled for a daily pumping potential, natural, of 125 barrels of 28-gravity oil, no water, through perforations from 4,278 to 4,384 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 250-1.

Location is 970 feet from south and 2,470 feet from west lines of section 14, block 26, H&TC survey.

The total depth is 4,409 feet and 4.5-inch casing is cemented at 4,405 feet, the plugged back depth.
