Accident Near City Limits Is Fatal to Youth

One man was killed and another injured in a car accident just south of the city limits on the Big Spring highway about 10:30 o'clock Friday night.

James Weldon Rowlett, 21-year-old oil field worker, was killed instantly when the car he was driving left the pavement and went out of control. Rowlett lived at the Flare Motel here, but his home was at Alvord, Tex.

Rowlett's death was the third traffic fatality in Scurry County this year.

A passenger in Rowlett's car, Deryl Preston Draper, 24 years old, was injured in the Friday night accident, but his condition was not believed serious by Snyder Hospital attendants yesterday.

Draper said they were returning from Big Spring to Snyder at the time of the accident.

"We were approaching Snyder from the south when a number of cars leaving the Canyon Drive-In theatre pulled onto the pavement in front of our vehicle," Draper said following the accident.

"It was either hit the cars or leave the pavement and go around on the right side of them," Draper said.

"Evidently when the car left the pavement, Rowlett lost control and it overturned," Bill Zimmerman, who investigated the accident, said.

Draper was taken to Snyder Hospital by a Bolger-Barnes Funeral Home ambulance.

Mrs. T. L. Freeman, Rowlett's mother, came to Snyder from Alvord to accompany his body there.

Jose Martinez, 30, of Post, died Feb. 5 here from injuries suffered Jan. 31 in a car crash near Dermott.

Pete Rochelle, 25, of Lubbock, died March 11 of injuries suffered in an accident north of here on March 10.

Deferment Of Collegians On Scholar Basis

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—President Truman today authorized deferment from the draft of college students who make good enough grades or pass an aptitude test.

The order applies to approximately 1 million students now in college, and is applicable to the 1951-52 school year.

At present no aptitude test is provided.

TEST PLANNED

Along with the White House authorization, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey announced plans for a nationwide test which will afford registrants the opportunity to demonstrate their aptitude for their present college or university work.

Hershey did not specify the test scores which would qualify a student for draft deferment, nor the scholastic standing that would be required. These are expected to be determined later.

The test scores or scholastic standing, Hershey said, will be used by local boards in determining the eligibility of registrants to be considered for occupational deferment as students.

Some lawmakers expect the new policy to defer almost all Freshmen who enter college this coming fall; all Sophomores who rank scholastically in the upper half their Freshman year; all Juniors who were in the upper two-thirds their second year; and all Seniors who were in the upper three-fourths of their third year.

The new aptitude tests will be given on May 26, June 16, and June 30, 1951 to college Seniors and others contemplating entrance into graduate or professional schools, and to other students who plan to continue college studies they have already begun.

High school seniors and other prospective college entrants will not be permitted to take the test until after they have commenced their first year of college work.

HEART OF ORDER

The heart of the President's order says a draft registrants' activity in study may be considered to be necessary to defer him if he has "maintained a required scholastic standing, or has attained on a qualification test, a score or both such standing and score, to be prescribed by the director of Selective Service with the approval of the president."

The tests will be given at approximately 1,000 examination centers.

Printed instructions concerning the test and application blanks will be available through the 4,000 local draft boards about April 12 or soon afterward.

FOUR REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible to take the test an applicant:

1. Must be a registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student.
2. Must be under 26 years old.
3. Must have already begun and plan to continue his college or university studies (The applicant need not be in a four year college but his entire course must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree-granting institution).
4. Must not have taken the test previously.

Search Is Continuing

Sheriff's deputies said yesterday that there had been no new developments in the search for the five prisoners who escaped from the county jail Tuesday night.

Commissioners Court And Oil Companies Not Agreed On Tax

The commissioners court and 27 tax consultants representing oil companies with properties in Scurry County failed to reach an agreement Friday in an all-day meeting to determine the county's oil valuation for tax purposes.

Throughout most of the day the commissioners held out for setting the oil property valuation total at $123 million, whereas the oil company representatives contended the valuation should be set at $87 million. All the company representatives agreed in the morning session to acceptance of a total county valuation setting of $100 million, 87 per cent of which would be imposed upon oil properties.

PRIVATE SESSION

In the afternoon session, a committee from the tax representatives was selected to hold a brief session in private to discuss possible offers and whether they should accept a lower offer to be made by the court. Meanwhile, Edgar Taylor, county judge, sought to lower the figure tentatively set by the court.

The court then met with the committee, which was headed by V. R. Shurmon, of the Fort Worth firm of Shurmon & Kirkwood, tax consultants. Judge Taylor told the group he had persuaded the court to lower its tentative setting to $105 million on oil properties. "I have talked the court down $18 million," he said, "and I hope the companies can see fit to accept that. These are my personal views and not those of the court, but I believe you could accept this figure which has been reduced considerably."

Shurmon then spoke for the companies, saying that they could not accept that high a figure. "I wish we were in a position to accept the court's proposition," he said. "I wish we could like it, but we can't."

Pleading for a spirit of co-operation, Shurmon then stated that the oil companies "might accept a valuation of about $106 million on all property," but he held that they still could not accept a figure near that on oil alone. He did not make any other offer, nor did any of the other representative.

Judge Taylor said then that he had done about all he felt he could do, and that as far as he was concerned the county's proposition could be withdrawn. He repeated, however, that his remarks were his "own personal views."

Absent from the meeting was Walter Grant, commissioner for precinct No. 1, whose brother died in New Mexico Thursday night.

In the morning session, 11 representatives spoke, all urging the county to set the total valuation at about $100 million of which about $87 million would be the value of oil property.

1950 VALUATION

The total valuation for 1950 was $49 million. Two years ago, the valuation was between $6 million and $9 million (actually about $8 million), which was a bracket automatically setting salaries of the county commissioners at $1,800 a year.

Last year the increase in valuation to $49 million put the county in a bracket between $30 million and $75 million, which automatically increased base salaries of the commissioners to $3,600. After passing the $75 million mark, salaries will jump again to $4,000 while the valuation is between $75 and $120 million. Salaries are raised to $4,800 after the valuation passes $120 million. Now the commissioners are paid $3,600 plus $1,200 a year for being road commissioners also.

No definite action has been taken by the court on the tax matter, Judge Taylor said, and will probably not be until the equalization meeting in the latter part of May or early June.

No Injuries When Car Strikes Bridge on 25th

No one was injured last night when a 1941 Buick coupe driven by Jack Dwaine Carr, 23, temporarily of Snyder, collided with another vehicle near the intersection of Avenue V and Twenty-fifth Street, then struck a bridge abutment a block east.

With Carr at the time of the accident was Harvey Howard, 22, who said he resided with Carr at George's Court's north of town.

Both men were held at the county jail. The accident occurred about 8:15 o'clock.

Think Income Tax Difficult? Then Try Pricing Straw Hat

BY ALINE WHITBY
Snyder Daily News Staff

If I had a retail store, I'd sell it.

A few hours spent struggling with instructions for figuring ceiling prices have convinced me there would be no use trying to go on.

The red tape boys in Washington have come out with some real gems pertaining to ceiling prices for the Office of Price Stabilization. They have published all this in bulletins varying from a "Retailer's Basic Guide" through numerous appendices, each of which moves along rapidly, casting glib references to previous basic references.

By combining all these bulletins, the merchant is supposed to come up with a ceiling price for each item he sells. If he struggles through the instructions, he is rewarded with a list of his goods neatly divided into major categories. Take, for example, the simple straw hat.

EXCEPTIONS

The price fixers really got going on straw hats. Out of thousands of items, they gained the distinction of a footnote all to themselves, since they are an exception to the category in which they were first listed.

The footnote advises straw hat venders that said hats are to be priced in category 123A as if they belonged to category 123, a neat hand-off if there ever was one.

Referring back to category 123A, the merchant finds this is a "specific" category, which covers all types of summer straw hats except those covered by category 105C. Taking the hand-off again, he goes to section 105C which seems to be broad enough to cover a multitude of products, "men's work accessories including gloves, bandannas, hoisery, caps and hats including straw."

If he can still calculate, the merchant is now ready to fix his own price. However, the footnote probably had the best suggestion of all when it gave the example of a straw hat which would mark up to sell for $5.40. There just may be a lot of straw hats selling for that this season.

PREPARING DATA

Lest the merchant grow discouraged when faced with the prospect of preparing all the required data, regulation No. 7, has been given a two-page "statement of considerations" explaining the purposes of the project. It merrily suggests there is hardly any need for explaining the purpose of the project, since everybody already knows how important price controls at the retail level are, anyhow.

The system was really "tailored to meet the needs of individual commodities or levels of production or distribution," the explanation divulges. Five thousand words later, the essence of the program

H. G. Towle Is Honored By State Houses

Both the Senate and House of Representatives have passed resolutions honoring the late Dr. H. G. Towle for his work in optometry and in civic affairs in Snyder.

Dr. Towle was born in Wisconsin in 1881, and was educated there. He had lived in Snyder for 45 years, and was mayor here for 26 years. "He was an outstanding leader in the civic life of his city, giving unselfishly of his time toward the building of a better Snyder," the Senate resolution says in part.

Dr. Towle was a member of the Texas Board of Optometry Examiners at the time of his death on Nov. 11, 1950, and had served as president of the board for several years prior to that time.

The House resolution was introduced by Rep. Sterling Williams of Snyder, while Sen. Pat Bullock of Colorado City introduced the Senate measure.

County To Act On State Offer To Maintain, Let Contracts

The offer of the state highway department to maintain 80.2 miles of farm to market roads to be built by the county, as well as the state's offer to engineer the road project and let contracts for it, will be considered at the next meeting of the commissioners court, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said yesterday.

"Since the county has requested the state to engineer, let contracts for, and maintain its new roads, there should be no hesitation about accepting the offer made by the highway department," Judge Taylor said.

QUICK ACTION

"I hope the commissioners can act quickly in accepting this offer, so that work on the roads can begin as soon as possible," he added.

In a letter received Friday from D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, the highway department offered to maintain 80.2 miles of the 157-mile project to be built with $2,500,000 in bonds authorized Feb. 10 by the county's voters.

"A big saving to the county will result from the state's maintaining these roads," Judge Taylor commented.

"Other big savings will result from the state's engineering and letting of contracts," he continued. "By putting our contracts in the hands of the state for letting, we will benefit from the trained and expert knowledge of engineers experienced in road contracts."

"Their only interest will be to let contracts which will give the most roads for the money.

"These savings to the taxpayers of the county will not only mean more miles of paved roads in the county now, but will be reflected in the long run maintenance of the roads, which is one of the biggest factors to be considered when any project is undertaken," Taylor stated.

In his letter Greer indicated that the state's handling of the project would mean about 10 miles more farm to market road paving than the county had estimated could be built with the road bonds.

The county's prior estimates on the amount of roads that could be constructed were 157 miles. In his letter Greer indicated that actually about 167.4 miles could be built.

"State maintenance of these roads will mean,' Judge Taylor explained, "that road tax dollars in the future can be diverted to the construction of more miles of all weather caliche roads, and better maintenance of the roads, both paved and unpaved, left to maintain," Taylor said.

In his letter to Taylor, Greer said, "the state has planned a 35,000-mile system of farm to market roads equitably distributed over the state, providing for logical and orderly development of such a balanced system over a period of years."

"A study of proposed farm to market roads in Scurry County indicates that 116 miles of additional roads may be added to the state system over the next several years in order to constitute Scurry County's quota for the 35,000 mile system," Greer said.

"Additional studies have been made indicating that approximately 80.2 miles of farm to market roads in Scurry County would carry sufficient traffic volume, when improved, to justify inclusion in the state system of roads," he said.

The roads to be included in the states maintenance program, if the commissioners court accepts the states proposal, are:

1. From the present end of F. M. 1231, eight miles north of Snyder to the Kent County line, a distance of approximately 7.6 miles. That is a section of the Clairemont road north of the present paving project to the county line. The road is now one of the most important in the county, and is high on the state's priority list for immediate improvement to connect Clairemont with Snyder by a paved road.

2. From U. S. 180, 7.5 miles west of Snyder South, West, South, and East to State highway 350 at Ira, a distance of approximately 17 miles. That road would leave U.S. 180 and go south and west to the Lion Oil Camp and Plant on the Diamond M ranch, on south and east back into the Snyder-Big Spring highway at Ira.

3. The only part of the Snyder by-passes included in the states maintenance proposal is a section from U.S. 180 in West Snyder south to the Thirty-seventh Street by-pass, then west along a straight line to its intersection with the road that will go north and south past the Snyder Gasoline Plant.

4. From proposed F. M. Road of U.S. 180 East to road intersection a distance of approximately three miles.

5. From State highway 350 at Ira east to State highway 101 at Dunn, a distance of approximately 7.2 miles.

6. From U.S. 180, 4.5 miles west of Snyder south of Ira, a distance of approximately 10 miles.

7. From proposed F.M. road seven miles southwest of U. S. 180 west, south, and west to Borden County line. A distance of approximately 7.5 miles.

8. From State 101 at Dunn east to U.S. 84, a distance of approximately 9.7 miles.

9. From U.S. 180, 2.5 miles West of Snyder north to U.S. 84, a distance of approximately 4.5 miles. It would be the road passing the Snyder Gasoline Plant.

10. From U.S. 84 in Hermleigh Northeast to U.S. 180, a distance of approximately 5.0 miles.

From U. S. 84, 5.5 miles southeast of Hermleight east and north to road intersection near Pyron, a distance of approximately 3.5 miles.

12. From U. S. 180 north to Camp Springs, a distance of approximately 2.2 miles.

In his letter Greer said, "the state highway engineer is directed to advise the appropriate officials of Scurry County that the above described roads, totaling approximately 80.2 miles, will be designated and constructed as farm to market roads subject to the following conditions

"Scurry County will provide 100 per cent of the cost of construction and will furnish all required right of way free of cost to the state."

"The Texas Highway Department will furnish engineering services free of cost to the county and will maintain the roads upon completion."

"The order is a tenative proposal to Scurry County and if accepted the State Highway Engineer is directed to proceed with the development of preliminary estimates of the cost of construction and to report back to the highway commission in 60 days for consideration of designation and finance," Greer's letter continued.

"We will be pleased to hear from your court at an early date in regard to this proposal and your attitude toward same, so the department may make plans for this project," Greer's letter ended.

Allied Patrols Probe Across 38th Parallel

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO, Sunday, April 1 (AP)—Two American tank columns prowled across parallel 38 a half-mile into North Korea Saturday with guns blazing.

Seeking to determine the aims of a threatening Chinese Red buildup, the American tanks tested Communist postions for three and one-half hours, then made shooting withdrawals to their own lines on the West and Central fronts.

The Chinese knocked out one tank with a land mine and splattered mortars, potato masher hand grenades and machinegun fire at the others.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph, who accompanied the tankers, said the crossing of the parallel was not a general advance. It was part of the U. S. Eighth Army's limited offensive against Reds still fighting south of the old political boundary between the Communist North and Republican South.

Elsewhere, fierce but localized firefights took place Saturday on the Central Front, north, east and west of Allied-held Chunchon.

South Korean troops on the Western Front splashed across the Imjin River north of Munsan and engaged an enemy company during the day. In announcing the crossing, the Eighth Army made no mention of a retirement. Presumably Republican forces remained on the north bank of the river.

The Chinese, who are reported preparing a massive spring drive with 300,000 men just north of the parallel, continued heavy supply and troop movements by night.

Allied pilots reported a total of 5,900 Communist vehicles were seen moving to and from the battlezone on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Of 1,800 vehicles spotted Friday night Fifth Air Force pilots claimed about 100 destroyed.

BERLIN, March 31. (AP) — The two postal systems of Berlin engaged today in a battle of rubber stamps.

Letters originating in East Berlin were stamped in red ink:

"Conserving for the rebuilding of the economy is just as necessary as stone for rebuilding our homes."

In the western Berlin postal headquarters, the envelopes were stamped again in the same type red ink:

"Yes, but not under Communistic dictatorship."

Mickey Cohen Will Manage Tucson Store

TUCSON, Ariz., March 31. (AP)—Mickey Cohen, California gambler, will go into the drug store business in Tucson, his brother said tonight.

Harry Cohen of Chicago, Mickey's brother, told a reporter that he was purchasing the Owl Drug Store at the corner of Congress and Sixth Ave. here.

"Mickey will manage the store," Harry said.

An undisclosed amount of money has been placed in escrow, as a deposit on the purchase, Harry said.

"I plan to eventually expand the store into a chain of neighborhood drug stores in Tucson," Harry said. "The deal will be completed by May 1."

Harry said he wanted his brother to get into something legitimate, and Mickey, who was standing nearby at the interview, added:

"Everything is going to be legitimate. I'm tired of all this notoriety. I want to keep things peaceful."

Mickey's brother said he plans to sell a Chicago construction company which he has operated for 12 years and move to Tucson.

Mickey likewise plans to move to Tucson. What disposition he will make of his Hollywood home was not disclosed.

The pudgy little hoodlum, watched closely by police, said he will return to Los Angeles Sunday.

He will meet Bill Jenkins, Jack Love and Joe J. Johnson of the Texas Stock Car Racing association there Monday, he said.

They are purchasing his bullet proof sedan for $12,000. The car is to be returned to Texas where it will be shown at various tracks.

This was a change in earlier plans for the three to fly to Tucson.

Mickey said that during the day he received a new offer of $16,000 for the sedan from the "President of Manila." He didn't clarify the title.

"But I've already closed the deal and I can't go back on my word," he said.

Washington Is Doubtful Of Open Revolt

Albanian Unrest Said Part of Insurrection Against Red Rulers

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 31. (AP) — Albanian refugees based in Italy are being parachuted into combat against the Soviet-backed Albanian government, Premier Marshal Tito's official newspaper said today.

From abroad came reports, unconfirmed here, that Soviet Russia has sent both jet planes and fresh men to her isolated satellite.

Denouncing "Albanian feudalists and other hotheads" for actions it said might touch off the Balkan powder keg, Tito's newspaper, Borba, declared "Armed groups are being parachuted into Albania and they are fighting there."

MIGS SAID SENT

Yugoslav sources in London declared about a dozen MIG Russian jet fighters were sent into Albania early this month. A Paris diplomatic source who has a representative in Albania said two Soviet fighters have been patroling daily for several days over Tirana, the capital.

Rome newspapers quoted refugees from Tirana as saying the Russians have boosted their controlling personnel in Albania—meaning military, naval, police and technical men — from 3,000 to 5,000.

As much as they hate the Pro-Cominform regime of Albania's Premier Enver Hoxha, Yugoslavs stressed that the growing troubles of their Adriatic neighbor might give Russia an excuse to launch an attack against the Moscow-hating Tito.

Albania is land locked by Yugoslavia and Greece.

GENERAL TURMOIL

But the Yugoslavs said the latest happenings in Albania are part of the general turmoil taking place in all Cominform countries, where the people are beginning to resist a policy of "complete dependence on the U. S. S. R.

Some credence was given to the reported parachute drops inside Albania by previous statements from the Official Albanian Telegraph Agency that Italian spies had parachuted into the country.

Borba's account was written by Vladimir Dedijer, one of Tito's top propagandists and former director of information.

Dedijer said the parachutists had come from Italy, where some 5,000 Albanian exiles now reside. There is a "Free Albania" movement among the exiles and they have told of a long-running campaign of dropping leaflets over their wild and mountainous homeland.

UNREST SEEN

Diplomatic sources elsewhere said there is little doubt that Albania, hungry under a dictatorship, is seething with unrest.

But American officials in Washington were skeptical that the unrest had or soon would reach the proportions of a general revolt.

Plans to Let Japan Rearm For Fighting Communists Revealed

LOS ANGELES, March 31. (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles disclosed tonight American plans for a series of Pacific Pacts designed to let Japan rearm against Asian Communism and still guard against a revival of aggressive Japanese militarism.

In the center of a three-part system of agreements is a Japanese Peace Treaty which the United States is now negotiating with its Pacific Allies.

Dulles described its key provisions officially for the first time. He called the proposed pact "a peace of reconciliation."

SELF-DEFENSE RIGHT

In an address prepared for delivery at Whittier College, he presented the pact as essentially a document of about half a dozen brief sections which would restore to Japan the power to run its own affairs. It would also recognize Japan's "inherent right" of self-defense.

The other major links in the series of treaties would be an agreement for the United States to maintain forces in and about Japan to help protect those islands from the Red menace of Asia, and a Pacific Security System designed to assure Australia and New Zealand that there will be, in the words of Dulles, "no unbridled rearmament which could become an offensive threat."

President Truman has given Dulles the assignment of negotiating the Pacific peace settlement.

The ambassador chose tonight to describe in detail the treaty provisions which the United States circulated at Washington this week among Russian representatives and those of all other nations which were principally involved in the war against Japan.

The Russians have broken off discussions with the United States on the treaty. Dulles said their leaders "seem to have taken fright" at the prospect of actually getting a Japanese treaty instead of just talking about one.

He said he still hopes the Soviets will join in the treaty, but added that Russia "has no legal power to veto" it.

Dulles did not quote the actual words of the treaty text, but he said it provided Japanese sovereignty would be limited to the "four home islands and minor adjacent islands." Japan would renounce "all rights, titles and claims to Korea, Formosa, the Pescadores and the Antarctic area." Provision would be made also for United Nations trusteeship over the Ryukyu and Bonin Islands with the United States administering them.

The decision to limit treaty action on Formosa to a renunciation by Japan of rights is a new point at view. Previously the United States proposed elaborate steps by the Big Four Powers including Russia, and by the United Nations, to settle the future of Formosa. The present proposal would leave Formosa's future up in the air.

Paving a Co-operative Deal

Some people can't afford to sign a contract for city paving.

Some people misundertsand, and therefore mistrust the lien provisions of the paving program.

And some people are just born opposing all progress.

To the first class of people ,there is little argument. Either a person can afford the paving or he cannot.

However, it should be borne in mind that the paving is not exorbitantly expensive nor are the payments made difficult. For the average 60-foot lot, the property owner's third of the cost at $3.77 a foot would total $226.20, which he could pay as a lump sum or in five equal installments over a four-year period, each installment with interest running about $50.

The lien provisions have been widely misunderstood. The comment is heard that Brown & Root, paving contractors, soon will be among the biggest property owners in the city because of the lien provisions of the contracts. The liens for paving are like mechanics liens and give the paving contractor a claim on the property equal only to the amount owed on the paving.

Although they have the right to foreclose, most paving contractors have a very good record of leniency with property owners who have difficulty meeting their payments.

There is, unfortunately, another group which can afford paving but which refuses to sign a contract.

In so doing they are obstructing a community effort at beautification, greater convenience, and increased safety. One of the principal distinctions between a country town and a city is paved streets.

The city cannot bear the entire burden. The council, in a wise and generous ordinance, agreed to pay one-third the cost of a 14-mile project. Midland at the same time agreed to pay only one-tenth of paving costs there.

If the citizens refuse to co-operate, the most progressive city council in the world cannot advance the community very far.

On Kefauver's Report

(Editors note: This editorial was not written by a member of the Daily News staff, but appeared as an advertisement in metropolitan papers and was published in the public interest by Young & Rubicam, Inc., a major advertising agency.)

With staggering impact, the reports of the Kefauver investigation have brought a shocked awakening to millions of Americans.

Across their television tubes have paraded the honest and dishonest, the frank and the furtive, the public servant and the public thief. Out of many pictures has come a broader picture of the sordid intermingling of crime and politics, of dishonor in public life.

And suddenly millions of Americans are asking: "What's happened to our ideals of right and wrong?" "What's happened to our principles of honesty in government?" "What's happened to public and private standards of morality?" Then they ask the most important questions of all: how can we stop what's going on? Is there anything we can do about it?

It's a challenge to each of us—a challenge to every American who believes in the ideals and the principles of America.

That's the real challenge of the Kefauver investigation.

As the investigation brings out the violations of American principles, it also brings out—as nothing else ever has—the duties and responsibilities of citizenship in our democracy.

The responsibility as individuals to make our own lives good examples of the things we think are right. To be honest, open, four-square in all our dealings. And to speak out boldly against what's wrong, not shut our eyes to it.

The responsibility as parents to raise our children so that they will know good from evil, and will follow the good. To teach them that truth, justice, honor are not empty words but are a full, rewarding way of life.

The responsibility as citizens to take an active part in local, state, and national affairs. To see that good men are chosen as candidates for office. To vote thoughtfully and wisely for men and issues in which we believe. And to insist that those whom we vote into office observe the highest standards in their official conduct.

Have we lived up to those responsibilities?

Obviously not, or there would be no need for a Kefauver investigation.

So, now it's up to us to live up to them—in word, in fact, and in every action. That's what we can do to meet the present challenge.

Strict Laws to Curb Rackets Asked by State Prosecutors

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP) — Texas prosecutors today asked lawmakers to give them tougher laws on gambling that mobsters can't dodge or flaunt.

They asked Attorney General Price Daniel to furnish them a list of all Texans who have paid federal taxes on slot machines. This came after District Attorney Homer Dean of Alice told the conference the Federal Internal Revenue office at Austin wrote him it was "too busy" to furnish him with a list, and for him to come and get it.

Daniel said he would gladly pass the information along.

"This will do more good than all the laws the legislature can pass from now until doomsday," observed Maverick County Attorney David E. Hume of Eagle Pass.

BILLS ENDORSED

The prosecutors unanimously endorsed pending or proposed bills tightening up or writing new laws to ban slot machines, football gambling cards, policy games, and punchboards.

An anti-bombing bill written to curb gangland reprisals also was unanimously approved by the conference.

The prosecutors also urged a statewide front of "organized resistance" against crime. Formation of local commissions to dig into crime was suggested.

Daniel, who called the two-day session of district and county attorneys, predicted that the conference's action on slot machines would mean the one-armed bandits would be virtually wiped out in Texas.

U. S. TO LOSE

"I believe the federal government is going to lose about a million and a half dollars in slot machine tax revenue from Texas next year," the attorney general cracked.

Daniel has recently obtained from the Collector of Internal Revenue here and at Dallas lists of the Texans who paid Federal taxes on slot machines.

Chairman Fred Meridith of the House Crime Investigating committee asked the prosecutors for help in future on-the-spot hearings in localities "where it is suspected crime is flourishing."

Meridith did not mention Gambler Mickey Cohen by name, but noted that the committee has two ways of dealing with witnesses who refuse to testify.

He said the constitution provides for contempt proceedings before the House itself, or for criminal charges under strictly legislative procedure, a witness who won't talk may be imprisoned for 48 hours for each offense.

The committee has already invoked the criminal procedure against Cohen, and a grand jury to consider it will be empanelled here Monday.

Passage of resolutions at noon completed the conference, which also empowered Daniel to name a legislative committee. He designated District Attorney Bob Long of Austin as chairman.

Regents Retain Ayers Despite House Critics

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP) — No evidence has been found to justify the firing of Economics Professor Clarence E. Ayres, the University of Texas Board of Regents told the Texas House today.

That was the regents' answer to a House resolution ordering investigation of statements by Ayres which Rep. Marshall Bell and other members considered Socialistic. The House had asked whether Ayres would be kept on the payroll.

Advised of the regents' decision, Ayres told The Associated Press "I have never wavered in my confidence that the board would uphold the integrity of the university, and I think the whole faculty feels the same way."

INDIRECT REBUFF

One indirect note of rebuff for Ayres was voiced in the five and one-half page letter prepared by a three-man committee representing the board.

"We are keenly conscious that unfortunately and regrettably the entire university sometimes suffers from the indiscreet or unpopular actions or utterances (often distorted or misunderstood) of a single member of the faculty," they noted.

The committee, comprised of Regent Claude W. Voyles of Austin, University Chancellor James P. Hart, and President T. S. Painter, sent their reply to House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt after sending copies to other board members for approval. The board had directed them to determine the "truth or falsity" of statements attributed to Ayres.

STUDY MADE

The committee said its answer was based on conferences with Ayres and "such study of records, files, and other sources of information as has been possible within the alloted time." It had been working two weeks.

Bell's resolution listed several statements by Ayres as quoted in stories in the Daily Texan, University student newspaper. Bell interpreted them as Socialistic. He said Ayres had termed the system of free enterprise "decadent." Ayres did not recall use of that particular word.

The regents said their investigation indicated the Daily Texan "failed to give a complete report or in some resects a correct impression of Dr. Ayres' speech."

Colorado City Lake Opening Set for May 1

A. W. Hubbard, president of the Mitchell County Sportsman's Club, has received a wire from Sen. Pat Bullock stating that Lake Colorado City will be opened to fishermen May 1 instead of July 1, as planned. Bullock states that the State Fish and Game Commission will meet April 13 and that "he has been assured" that the lake will be opened at that time.

The Sportsman's Club counts more than 500 members from Colorado City and the West Texas area, and has recently completed a clubhouse with large screened in porch, which is located on 30 acres of land leased by the club. Caretaker's quarters are built into the clubhouse and a caretaker is being sought at the present time.

He will sell bait, tackle and groceries and will rent boats. The club has built a concrete ramp into the water for loading and unloading boats and has built a 90-foot fishing pier and two floating rafts, both connected to shore.

Present plans call for planting shade trees, designating picnic grounds and building barbecue pits and making some improvements, according to R. B. Baker, club secretary.

"Membership is from March 1 to March 1, each year," says Baker, "and dues are $25 for the first year and $5 each succeeding year." The membership will include your family.

Should you care to join the club, mail your check or money order to box 441, Colorado City.

Lawson was a passenger in a car driven by Burl F. Walker, 42, also of Colorado City.

Walker's car and one driven by Sammie Terrell, of Snyder, collided at Avenue L and Twenty-fifth Street.

Jury Finds Second Man Guilty in Pipe Theft

A Borden County district court jury Friday returned a verdict of guilty against Hilliard W. White, 35, of Seagraves, charged as a principal in the theft of casing in Borden County.

A district court jury earlier in the week found E. E. (Ed) Burge guilty. He was also charged in the theft of the casing.

Sentences of two years have been recommended for both men. Both men have filed appeals, Judge Ben F. Thorpe said.

The casing, valued at about $16,000, was taken from L. H. Armer's McAdams lease in Borden County on Jan. 26. Two other men were also charged in the theft.

District court is to re-open in Borden County May 7, Bob Davie, district attorney, said.

Kefauver Hearings Submerge Trials Of Atom-Bomb Spies

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

Some aspects of the televised hearings of the Kefauver committee recall a remark attributed to a charwoman during the air attacks on London "The bombin' does take yer mind off the war."

For, while thousands of persons have sat glued to television sets for the fascination of seeing persons accused of fabulous racketeering, another case has attracted relatively little attention, with the Kefauver hearings pushed off the front pages the trial of atom-bomb spies.

Yet, the activities of gamblers are surely of less import than that trusted government employees gave away information which may one day cause the death of millions of Americans, and that the security regulations at the Los Alamos project were childishly easy to circumvent.

• • •

It is slowly coming to light that scientists such as Klaus Fuchs, Allen Nunn May, and many Americans and Canadains associated in spy rings gave the atom bomb to a country and cause which they knew were bent on obliterating all the nations and social systems except the one they served.

And it is surely less significant that Costellos should remain at large, to satisfy for profit a widespread love of gambling, than that a physicist who delivered an atomic formula to a Russian agent still teaches in a midwestern university, and another who headed espionage efforts against radiation laboratories in California should still be free in Pennsylvania.

• • •

The combination of administration anti-sovietism with a peculiar lack of vigilance at home recalls the events preceding Pearl Harbor.

There is still public reluctance to face the truth about soviet machinations in America itself. The reason probably is that the man who sells out his country is a type not easily associable with crime. He may be a person of scientific eminence or high culture, who appears moved by a winning idealism. Long discipline has made him able to separate his mind and behavior into two parts, one lying among and even feeling genuine affection for anti - communist friends, while the other part of the mind anticipates the time when they will be shot against the wall.

Human instinct revolts against acknowledgment that such mentalities exist; loyalty rejects warnings, as coming from "witch-hunters"; and, indeed, to live in perpetual suspicion is to feel the foundations trembling under one's feet.

• • •

I have just read hede Massing's "This Deception." It shook me greatly.

I knew Hede and her husband, Paul Massing, and many of the people around them, when they first reached this country as refugees from Hitler. I met them at parties. Hede was attractive, vivacious, generous, warmhearted. This is her personality. But at the very time I knew her she was a member of the secret police apparatus, the foreign division of the GPU, handling large sums of anonymous-origin money, co-operating in forging passports, and having the direct assignment of bringing into her apparatus a member of the state department — Noel Field, which assignment put her in touch with Alger Hiss. I never knew, until having broken with apparatus and party she was subpoenaed to testify in the Hiss case, that she had been a communist and the first wife of Gerhart Eisler!

• • •

Her book reveals a complicated personality, the roots of whose motives remain partially obscure, baffling even her own efforts at self-analysis. It is, however, clear that until she discovered that "home" was a specific place in America, she never had one; not in childhood; not in a succession of marraiges; not in a religion; and having no feeling or concept of home, she had no feeling or concept of loyalty or betrayal.

A Costello reveals himself at first sight as dubious—not someone you would invite into your family. But the communist member of the underworld often appears as someone you would put your hand in the fire for.

Until we realize this sad truth, we shall fail to face the facts of life—and national survival.

"This Deception" by Hede Massing; Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc.)

Teen Talk

BY SHIRLEY TEAGUE

The Junior-Senor Banquet, honoring the senior graduating class of 1951, and one of the most important events of the year, was given at the north ward cafeteria Friday night.

Many beautiful formals were seen at the banquet. A few of the outstanding dresses noticed were worn by Ramona Harless, who had a stunning ballerina length pale green organdy dress, barely off the shoulders, with a green velvet belt that blended in with her dress, and a corsage of three small green orchids.

Madline Johnson had a lovely formal of blue net over taffeta, also ballerina length, with a fitted bodice and silver trimmings with a corsage of pink carnations.

Rita Rhodes wore a beautiful formal, a strapless pink net with a net stowle to match her dress, with blue velvet bows on the stowle and rossets on the skirt with blue ribbons in the middle of each rosset. She had a corsage of pale pink carnations at her waist.

Jolene Vance was seen in a chartruse dress fitted at the bodice with matching mitts and a dusty pink carnation corsage.

Patsy Pogue was noticed in an outstanding dress of pink net with a ruffle across the skirt brought up to her waist, with aqua bows, and a ruffle at the top of her formal with a dusty pink carnation corsage.

Anne Richardson wore a white net over taffeta with a very full skirt. Billie Alford wore a blue dotted swiss formal with a ruffled-top almost off the shoulder, and a wide ruffle with lace on the bottom of the skirt with a flared skirt. She had a corsage of red rosps.

A few of the couples that were seen together at the banquet were Jo Ann Gee, Cobb McCormick; Anne Richardson, David Harlin; Darlene Nixon, Billy John Voss; Geraldine McDaniels, Tommy Ridley; Jolene Vance, Billy Wayne Williams; Patsy Pogue, N. J. Harrison; Madeline Johnson, Bill Hanks; Shirley Miller, Jay Fish; Ramona Harless, Junior Weathers; Wanda Jean Rainwater, Franklin Woods; Barbara Lewis, Jerry Allen; Islasu Blakely, Billy Hicks; Charlene Stewart, Benny Simms; Pauline Yandell, Herbert Reed and Rita Rhodes, Wendell Autry.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stanfield, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wiman, and most of the other faculty members were also seen at the banquet.

The theme of the banquet, "Hitch a Wagon to a Star", was carried out by the main decorations of a wagon made out of blue crepe paper, which hung down from the ceiling at the front of the cafeteria with streamers leading from the wagon to a large star in the middle of the room, with small stars hanging around.

The favors were of miniature blue and silver wagons with a blue star on the front of the wagon, and the wagons filled with nuts.

The place cards and programs were also in blue and white with the theme being carried out.

The meal was served by some of the members of the sophomore class.

Mr. Wiman gave the invocation, Billy John Voss, president of the junior class, made the toast of welcome, and Jay Fish, president of the senior class, made the toast of thanks.

The program included songs sung by the Flying Comets and Little Sunbeams.

The Rev. Thomas Keenan from Brownfield, the guest speaker, spoke on "What's Wrong and What's Right in your Life."

Following the banquet, a dance was given at the Country Club by Grant Teaff and Billy Wayne Williams.

Mrs. R. L. Gray, 330 Avenue, returned home Thursday from visiting her son, Private William Gray, who is stationed in Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

To Appeal Her Conviction Of Insulting Pope

CAPRI, Italy, March 31. (AP)—Communist Deputy Laura Diaz planned today to appeal her conviction on a charge of insulting Pope Pius XII by declaring in a speech that his hands "are dripping with blood."

The 31 - year - old society girl turned Communist was given an eighty-month suspended jail sentence by the three-judge court that convicted her Friday night after a one-day trial. She could have been sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Before leaving for Rome, she filed notice of intention to appeal.

Miss Diaz, the first member of Italy's Parliament to be tried on charges of offenses against the Pope, testified she never had said the Pontiff's hands were bloody. She admitted she had said the Pope id nothing to prevent bloodshed in Greece, Spain and Palestine.

The charge was brought under provisions of the Latern Pact of 1929, covering relations between Italy and the Vatican.

Best Defense Wasn't Enough

FAYETTEVILLE, March 31. (AP)—Arkansas had the third best basketball defense in the nation last year but couldn't make enough points to win.

Starting Monday, the Razorbacks are going to see what they can do about offense for 1951-52.

Arkansas opens a 25-day spring practice session, and Coach Presley Askew, well-known advocate of the control-ball system, said everything possible would be done to build up a good, solid, scoring punch.

"I realize that my clubs of the past two years have lacked the necessary offensive balance to win more games and I hope to cope with the situation by demanding more and more offensive ability of eacy player. From now on," Askew continued, "My players must realize that I will require this added offensive punch if they are to make the ball club.

"Scoring opportunities have been open time and time again in the past, "but we've just lacked the shooting ability to cash in on them. This year if I see certain players are hitting well—whether it be from five or twenty five feet out—I'll let them shoot."

Car Production Curtailed By Steel Order

DETROIT, March 31. (AP)—Government restrictions on steel will force layoffs at some auto plants starting Monday, industry spokesman said today.

The exact number of workers affected will not be known until the full impact of the curtailment order is determined.

General Motors Corp. already has started layoffs at plants in Kansas City, Baltimore and South Gate, Calif. Several thousand workers were affected.

Ford Motor Co. said no general layoffs have been scheduled.

At South Bend, Ind., Studebaker Corp. planned to lay off 4,000 employees.

Chrysler Corp. will not drop any employees immediately. But a strike that was settled yesterday will keep 9,000 employees at the Dodge main plant from working Monday due to a shortage of axles.

Chrysler attributed the shortage to a series of walkouts which began Thursday night when 40 maintenance employees quit in a grievance dispute.

Experiments Showing What The Heart Needs To Keep Healthy

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Staff)

BOSTON, April 1. — Tissue-thin slices of living heart muscle are showing what foodstuffs your heart needs to stay strong and healthy.

The slices of heart live four to five hours in glass flasks when well nourished.

The heart studies are directed by Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, head of the department of nutrition of Harvard School of Public Health. The goal is to learn how nutrition can help cut the toll from heart diseases.

DUCK HEARTS USED

The hearts of ducks are used in the studies. The duck is given an otherwise good diet, lacking in some nutrient. So far the ducks have been made to go without some one of the B-complex vitamins—B-1 or thiamine, B-6 or pyridoxin, niacin, the anti-pellagra vitamin, and folic acid, an anti-anemia vitamin. The lack of other vitamins and different amino acids, the bricks for making proteins will also be studies.

After few weeks on a diet lacking one nutrient, 15 to 20 slices are taken from the duck's heart. Each slice is about half an inch long, and is only twice the thickness of tissue paper. The slice is made through the auricle and ventricle of the heart.

The slices are put in flasks containing salt and sugar solutions that keep them alive. Different nutrients, such as sugar, protein, and starches are added to the flasks, to see how well the heart slice makes use of these nutrients.

[illegible] so far greatly reduces the ability of the heart slice to make normal use of foodstuffs, Dr. Stare said. This use is measured by devices that show how much oxygen is consumed. Lack of the B vitamins interfered with the normal chemical process of using food fuels.

EASIER TO DIE

A person whose heart muscle isn't getting the essential foodstuffs would be more subject to death from a heart attack or sudden strain, the studies show.

This was demonstrated by making the ducks exercise violently. The trick for exercising them was to add a detergent or wetting agent to the water in which they swim. The duck's feathers get wet and they lose buoyancy if they have to swim far harder to stay afloat.

The studies also show that the ventricle, which pumps blood through the body, consumes food faster than the auricle, for it needs more energy.

The method is a novel approach to nutrition of the heart, but it probably will be several years before the tests lead to practical methods of strengthening human hearts, Dr. Stare said. The research is supported by the life insurance medical research fund.

NEW YORK, (AP) — Late this year scientists will complete a three-year, world-wide search to identify all the different viruses that cause human polio. It is a fundamental step toward developing a comprehensive vaccine that could protect against this disease. The search is being made at the universities of Kansas, Pittsburgh, Utah and Southern California, aided by $1,370,160 in March of Dimes funds.

CLEVELAND, (AP) — There are some 60 known causes of high blood pressure. If any of these can be found, then the chances of helping or possibly curing a patient are far better, Dr. Irvine H. Page told the American Medical Association clinical session.

"The outlook in the field today is one of optimism. The interest of both investigators and the public has grown so much that many tunnels have been started from both the 'cause' and the 'cure' terminals of the problem. Ultimately these working teams must meet and open passageways through which all hypertensive (high blood pressure) patients may walk back to health."

NEW YORK, (AP) — Thanks to increasing longevity, a man now has 88 chances in 100 of surviving from his 23rd to his 52nd birthday, the usual interval from marriage to the time the last child leaves his family, the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. reports. In 1900, his chances were only 74 in 100.

LONDON, (AP) — The earth is now slowing down in its daily rotations a millionth of a second more to make one revolution now than in the fall. These fluctuations occur every year, and are reported in Nature, the official British Science Journal. Quartz crystal clocks show the irregularities, but the reasons are not known.

• • •

NEW YORK, (AP) — It takes a quarter of a second to blink your eye, and in that time, says the Better Vision Institute, this is what happens: The lower lid comes up slowly, and the upper lid comes down like the visor of a helmet. The two lids start to come together at the outer corner of the eye, and then close as though a zipper were being pulled across toward the nose. The weaker of your eyes usually is slower in closing, stays shut for less time, and opens sooner than the other.

Texas League Umpires Told

DALLAS, March 31. (AP) — A twelve-man staff of umpires, only one of whom is an absolute newcomer, was announced today by President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas League.

Two of the men worked the last six weeks of the 1950 campaign and another worked the last four days.

Dean of the staff is Bill Wilson, who has umpired in the league for 10 years. Next is Milt Steengrafe, with 9½ years. Mike Williamson has worked 8 years.

Other staff veterans are Andy Andrews and Buster Capps, 5 years; K. P. (French) Archeneaux, 3 years; Frank Secory and Bob Smith, 2 years.

Ed Cassini and Dick Nash, who umpired the last six weeks of 1950, are back. Bill Malesky, who got in four days at the close of the season, also returns.

The new member of the staff is Cy Simon, who replaces Troy harp.

The contracts of Nash and Cassini were purchased from the big state league last year as was that of Malesky. Simon comes from the West Texas - New Mexico league.

Failure in Howard

Sunray Oil Corp. has plugged and abandoned its 1-A Lester, wildcat in Northwest Howard County, at a depth of 8,800 feet in Pennsylvanian lime and shale.

The formation was showing salt water.

Location was 1,980 feet from west and 610 feet from north lines of section 27, block 33, T&P survey and three miles west of Vealmoor.

Test Fails In Kent Wildcat

Kewanee Oil Co. No. 1 Oliver, Northwest Kent County wildcat, one and one-half miles north of the Salt Creek field, tried a drillstem test at 6,388-6,420 feet in the top of the Canyon reef lime.

The tool was plugged with cavings and there was no test. Operator pulled the tool, conditioned the hole and will drill a few feet deeper.

A drillstem test will then be undertaken.

This project topped the Pennsylvanian reef lime at 6,380 feet on a datum of minus 4,251 feet. That is 90 feet high on that marker to the nearest completed producer from the reef on the north side of the alt Creek field.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 11, block 1, H&GN survey. It is 12 miles northwest of Clairemont.

County Judge To Speak

Edgar Taylor, county judge, will be guest speaker at noon tomorrow for the Women's Christian Temperance Union luncheon in honor of Snyder ministers and their wives.

Some of the ministers present will also speak, Mrs. M. W. Clark, former president and a leader in the Snyder chapter, said. The luncheon will be held in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church.

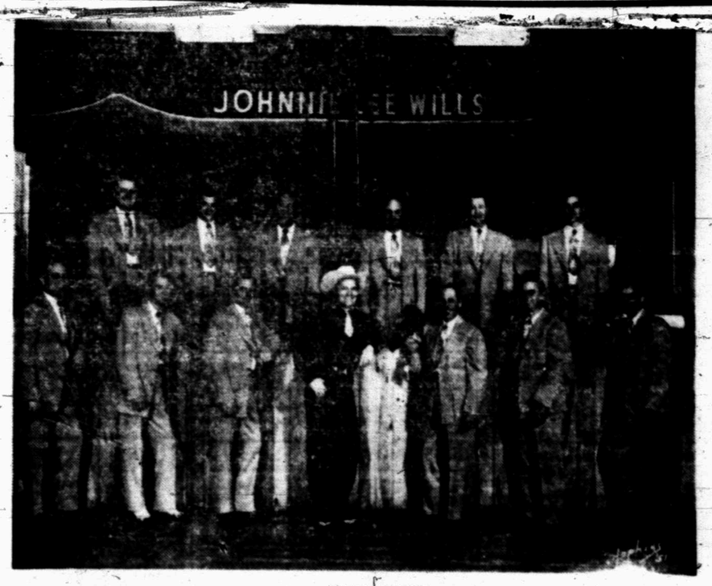

Cable Tool Wildcat In Central Pecos

Pentex Oil Corp., George L. Machris, John Kelsey and Richard Cochran, all of Midland, are to start drilling at once on a 4,800-foot cable tool wildcat in Central Pecos County.

The exploratory test is [illegible] from south and west lines of section 1, block 117, GC&SF survey and one mile west and two miles south of the town of Fort Stockton.

Maner Grahm No. 1 R. M. Thompson is to be a 2,900-foot rotary wildcat in Northeast Pecos County, eight miles northeast of Owega.

Drillsite has been made 330 feet from west and south lines of section 1, block 11, H&GN survey.

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Tuesday, April 3rd, is election day for Ward 2 for the City of Snyder. The man you elect will serve as your alderman in City government during a most important time of our City development.

You are earnestly urged to consider the program which I endorse. I wish that it were possible to explain personally this program to you; however, I must take this means of informing you. Your earnest consideration and vote for me will b apprciated in the election on Tuesday, April 3rd.

Following are some of the major policies which I endorse:

(1) Extension of city limits as an aid in equalizing taxes and providing City benefits to more people.

(2) Public audit and financial report to citizens of Snyder on City finances and a report on the expenditure of all monies and bonds voted.

(3) A City ordinance that no individual member o fthe City Council may bid on public or civic project.

(4) Improvement of dirt and caliche city roads. "If it is financially impossible to have paved streets ,they should at least have smooth streets."

(5) Greater city and county cooperation.

(6) Fair and equal treatment for all citizens.

(7) Encouraging and inducing stable industries and payrolls to locate in Snyder.

(8) Beautification of Snyder by its citizens.

Your vote in my behalf will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

JACK CONTELLA

Telegram Senders Still Tear Up 2 Blanks To Send 1 Wire

By SAUL PETT
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Western Union is 100 years old Sunday and, if it has proved anything, it is that we are still a bunch of stumbling writers who tear up at least twice as many telegrams as we send.

Every year we send 200,000,000 wires via Western Union, the largest privately owned telegraph system in the world. For every wire sent, two blanks are used, one at the sending end, one at the receiving end. That's 400 million blanks.

But every year the company prints one billion yellow telegraph blanks. What happens to the other 600,000,000 blanks?

The answer is that many are swiped as memo pads or used for carbons but most of them are torn up in the pain of composition, in false starts, in discarded phrases and thoughts too inaccurate or too expensive to send.

CANNED SENTIMENT

After all this creative torment, we most frequently end up with canned sentiment, anyway. Of all the social, holiday and congratulatory wires sent every year, about 75 per cent are drawn from the 500 texts suggested by the company.

Western Union customers have displayed more imagination and originality in the varied ways they've employed Western Union messenger boys.

Messengers have been hired to feed the pigeons twice a day in front of the New York Public Library; to toss rice at weddings; to rescue a woman from a mouse; to teach a Bermuda-bound vacationist how to ride a bike; to supply a fourth at bridge; to babysit; to climb a tree and rescue a cat; to buy a snake at the zoo.

And, of course, they used to sing telegrams. Now this is done by the company's phone switchboard operators.

Jimmy Smith carried out the longest errand in 1900. He was sent on a 12,000 mile trip from New York to South Africa to deliver a large book to President Stephanus Kruger of the Boer Republic. It contained 21,000 signatures of Philadelphia school children wishing the Boers success in their war with the British.

LONGEST TELEGRAM

The longest telegram in 100 years was filed at Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 30, 1934. A birthday greeting to President Roosevelt, it contained 41,000 signatures, stretched 1,290 feet, weighed eight pounds, contained 80,360 words and took 1,148 minutes and $1,157.18 to send.

The shortest had no text. Seems a fellow telegraphed his girl: "Will you marry me? Please rush answer immediately by Western Union."

She wired back her signature, no message. He checked. The company checked. She finally wired "Yes," explaining she was trying to tell him. "I was speechless with joy."

Western Union was formed on April 1, 1851, five years after Samuel F. B. Morse telegraphed from Washington to Baltimore, "What hath God wrought!"

Any school boy will tell you that was the first telegram, which shows you can't always rely on school boys. It was the first public telegram all right, but many others had been sent over a wire before.

Six years earlier Morse telegraphed a message from one room to another in a Morristown, N. J., factory. One of his financial backers who had begun to worry about his investment suggested the message: "A patient waiter is no loser."

IN THE BEGINNING

Well, anyway, Western Union was started as the New York and Mississippi Valley Printing Telegraph Company and took its present name in 1856.

It began with one line, from Buffalo to Louisville. In a few years it absorbed 13 other midwestern companies but that still left more than 50 other rivals.

Rates ranged from 25 cents for four words to $20. The charges piled up as the message passed through each competing company. Service was slow and unreliable.

Western Union went west with the railroads but before 1861 the wires reached only as far as St. Joseph, Mo. Here the telegrams were picked up by the Pony Express and "rushed" out to Sacramento, Cal. This took eight days.

Three months after the start of the Civil War, the company began to extend its line from St. Joseph to the coast, a job that was expected to take 10 years. It was done in three months and 20 days, largely because the Indians proved friendly. The eastern and western lines were joined at Salt Lake City, Oct. 24, 1861.

After the Civil War, Western Union began thinking of a telegraph system circling the world. While Cyrus W. Field was having trouble with his first trans-Atlantic cable, Western Union went to work over land.

The plan was to stretch the telegraph up to Alaska, linking up with a 7,000-mile Russian line stretching across Siberia to Europe. The project actually was half completed when Field got his third Atlantic Cable to work.

Western Union has always consoled itself with the fact that its field work contributed to the United State's purchase of Alaska.

At home, the company continued to spread. By 1866, it had acquired 340 telegraph companies. By 1893, it had taken over the Postal Telegraph system, its last big competitor.

Today Western Union has two million miles of wire, eight million telegraph poles, 10 trans-Atlantic cables, 30,000 offices, two cable ships, a yearly traffic of eight million money orders and five million cables, and 43,000 employees, including several hundred girls who sing messages or wake you up by telephone, 10,000 messengers who travel on bicycles, motorcycles, motor scooters and cars and about 20 girls who work on slip-proof roller skates.

Having conquered a continent and defied oceans and bought out its biggest competitor, Western Union's biggest complaints today are against the 25 per cent tax imposed on telegrams, the rising costs of operation, small boys and hunters.

The glass insulators on Western Union's pole lines seem to be irrestible targets. Every year small boys with stones and hunters with rifles destroy about 1,500,000 of them.

Red Berlin's Cops Cautious

BERLIN, March 31. (AP)—American sightseeing buses shot at by Communist police Wednesday went over the same route today without incident.

The Russians made sure this time there would be no repetition of Wednesday's gunfire which shocked the Allied West into angered demands for a safety guarantee.

All East police were pulled off duty at tsoubie spots, including tripower Potsdamer platz, where the midweek shooting occurred.

The trouble started before when the east police tried to stop the buses, which they have no right to do.

The Russians contend the buses pulled out and knocked over two policemen. The Americans insist the excited Volkspolizei opened fire without provocation. Fifteen shots failed to hit anyone but three pierced one of the buses.

Kefauver Regrets He Can't Come to Texas

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—Senator Estes Kefauver, unable to attend a Texas conference on prosecuters, today wired Attorney General Price Daniel congratulations on doing a good job against crime.

The head of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee expressed regret that he could not be present at the two-day meeting called by Daniel.

"You are doing a great job in Texas, and I wish you much success," Kefauver said.

Salesman of Moral Rearmament Named for Nobel Peace Prize

LOS ANGELES, March 31. (AP)—Frank Nathaniel Daniel Buchman, for most of his 72 years an international traveling salesman for the good life, is modest about his nomination for the 1951 Nobel Peace Prize.

"Yes, it's an hon— — but not to me," says mild-mannered Dr. Buchman. "It's really a tribute to the thousands of men and women who have given so much of themselves to Moral Rearmament."

Therein lies the key to an unusual man and movement. A world-wide project, Moral Rearmament sets itself up as the ideological answer to Communism: "Inspired democracy" is Dr. Buchman's phrase.

30 YEARS WORK

For 30 years he has led this spiritual movement, first as "A First Century Fellowship" then as "The Oxford Group" and finally — when the military armament race began in the late 1930s —"Moral Rearmament."

Before that he was a Lutheran clergyman and YMCA secretary in Pennsylvania, but love of travel —and international fellowship, says Dr. Buchman — already had taken him on several trips to Europe and India. He says he first met the late Mohandas Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru in 1915. He began early to meet kings, queens and political leaders of Europe.

The pudgy Doctor of Divinity, a degree conferred in later years by his alma mater, Muhlenberg College, does not look like a salesman. With his rimless spectacles and soft countenance, the balding Buchman gives a first impression of a small town minister.

BASIC DOCTRINE

But there is a twinkle and a shrewdness in his eyes that indicates his troughts extend for beyond village vistas. His speaking voice is rather piping and he has an easy tendency to drop into slang or a mild jest.

There is nothing clerical about his manner when explaining his program.

"We have never had a formal organization, there is no set creed, we accept anyone from any church or religion," he said in a recent interview. "The person-to-person approach is our answer and we have only one basic doctrine: The individual has the power to change himself.

"Change yourself first: when others see the change in you, they will want to change, too."

Income Tax

is brought forward with the explanation that "the price chart method allows each retailer to use mark-ups based upon his own previous experience, as reflected by the prices of the goods in his store on one single day in relation to the cost of those goods."

Having armed himself with this moral support, the merchant is now ready to launch into his end of the deal.

Armed with the basic guide, 30 pages worth of red tape condensed into 12 simple steps. The first paragraph of this simplified guide even reveals that if all does not become clear, the nearest OPS office will be glad to give further help or more information.

Down to step one, we find that the process begins with the actual listing of every article in stock. In step two, individual items are listed in appendix B. Step three directs that the net cost of each item listed by taken from the latest invoice for that item.

However, "if the last invoice was received after Jan. 1, and your selling price on Feb. 24, 1951, was unchanged from your initial offering price based on the next to last invoice which you had received for that article, you may list the net cost on the next to last invoice (see Sec. 16 (a)). Note beside the next to last invoice the letter E, which you will later place on your chart beside the indentification of the invoice....to indicate you used a net cost from an earlier invoice than your last invoice."

Having progressed from step three to the telephone to contact the nearest OPS office, this might be the conclusion. But there are more complications to come.

Step four advises that if two or more articles in the same category with the same cost-price relationship have been listed, all but one should be stricken out. Then come the magic words "You are now ready to prepare a pricing chart."

Step five gets down to business, with the curt order to "Rule out your paper and put headings in like this (Make one for each category.)" Step six is likewise brief, devoting most of its space to illustrations of preparing category lists. Step seven is more of the same, progressing rapidly toward double talk in the remaining steps.

Finale? Not yet. When all this is completed, there is more. Two copies must be made, one for file and one for OPS approval. Then no later than April 30, the merchant must be ready to price every article sold according to the regulation. Provided, of course, the item is covered by the regulation. Two pages of rules and exceptions cover these eventualities very adequately.

There's only one solution. Buy a $5.40 straw hat, a price-regulated sports outfit and go fishing—provided the water hasn't been frozen too.

Cotton, Glass, Metals Hit By New Rulings

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—The government imposed additional controls on three segments of industry today.

In orders issued by the national production authority (NPA), it:

1. Reserved 80 per cent of cotton duck production for defense-rated orders, effective April 1. Duck is used by the military for tents, tarpaulins stretchers, cots and many other items.

2. Banned new designes in glass containers. NPA said this is a move to "avoid wasting" production capacity that will be needed to meet increased demands resulting from limitations on the use of tin cans.

3. Reduced the percentage of Molybdenum that may be used in certain stainless steels and eliminated this alloy entirely from other stainless steels. Molybdenum is in heavy demand to harden steel for high speed tools. It is being used widely as a substitute for tungsten. Major U. S. sources of Tungsten in Korea and Red China have been cut off by the Korean conflict.

Church Membership Is Increasing At Faster Rate Than Population

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Church membership is increasing at a faster rate than the population, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States, reported today.

The council, composed of 29 U.S. protestant and eastern orthodox churches, said American Church membership increased by 51.5 per cent from 1926 to 1949 while the population increased by an estimated 30 per cent growth.

It said the number of Roman Catholics increased by 9,005,305, or 48.4 per cent, and Jews by 918,758, or 22.5 per cent.

The report said total membership of religious bodies rose from 53,230,413 in 1926 to 80,682,575 in 1949.

Dr. Benson Y. Landis, associate director of the council's research and survey department, said, however, that while American church membership was at an all-time high, "there are also more people not on church rolls than ever before."

Two Producers From Spraberry In Midland

Two more Spraberry oilers have been added to the Tex-Harvey field; one in the Midland County side and one in Glasscock County.

El Tee Oil Co. No. 1-16 Floyd Estate, 661.6 feet from north and 664.2 feet from west lines of section 16, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey and in Midland County, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 160.69 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil and no water.

The oil is coming from open hole section at 7,113-7,200 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 523-1. Tubing pressure was 100 pounds. The 24-hour potential was gauged through an 8-16-inch choke.

The Glasscock producer, Hubbard S. Russell and others No. 4-A Wrage Hendrickson, was finaled for a potential of 301.41 barrels of 39.4-gravity oil per day flowing.

Open hole from 6,918 to 6,975 was Hydrafraced with 1,500 gallons.

Gas-oil ratio was 725-1. Pressure on tubing was 180 pounds. The potential test was made through a 24-64-inch tubing choke.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 20, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Terra cotta walls of a neutral shade provide the background for turquoise and brown upholstered furniture in the den of the new Wilson Connell house, upper left. Mr. Connell will use the den for an office as well as a study.

An entire wall of field stone with a small fireplace in the living room repeats the stone trim used on the exterior of the Connell home. Betty and Connie Connell are shown near the fireplace in the picture at the upper right. Floor-to-ceiling glass panels occupy the entire south wall of the living room, with other walls done in a warm, light brown, with nutmeg brown draperies. The upholstery is a darker brown and shades of tangerine. The carpet is cocoa brown.

A divan and chairs are grouped around a low coffee table at the opposite end of the living room (shown at right). The draperies in the background cover the glass wall. The plants in the foreground grow in a floor box to the left of the main entrance.

A color scheme of blue and white was used in the master bedroom on the second floor (shown at left). The light-colored wood of the furniture provides a soft contrast to the light blue walls and matching rug. The small, high windows over the mirror are covered with latticed panels, as are the windows on the lower floor.

(Photographs by Joe Dave Scott)

The enclosed patio which occupies the southeast corner of the house was designed especially for use by Betty and Connie in entertaining. They are shown above by the built in record player and radio. The floor is of stone, with walls of wood and stone. A snack bar provides a handy place for fixing refreshments, and furniture of light-colored wood is sturdy enough to withstand rugged use. The patio overlooks the site of tennis courts to be completed for summer use. (Joe Dave Scott photograph).

Dramatic Modern Effects in New Connell Home

A house designed for family living was the aim of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Connell when they built a new home on West Thirty-second Street, and every room in the house reflects that aim.

From the glass - enclosed patio through the living room and bedrooms upstairs it is gracious and restful, large enough for entertaining guests and compact enough for convenience.

MODERN TASTE

Mrs. D. C. VanSiclen was the architect for the house, and is as enthusiastic over the final result as is Mrs. Connell. Interior decoration was done by Sail Arthur of Neiman-Marcus in Dallas. He aptly described the overall effect as one for "town living in a leisure manner, incorporating the simple lines of modern furniture and textured materials with the contemporary style of modern architecture."

The exterior of the house is of siding, painted dull green, with a trim of field stone on the lower walls. A high fence of the same stone provides a small, sheltered yard for flowers and cuts off from street view a large window in the living room.

The front entrance opens directly into the rectangular living room, with a shelf of stone replacing an entrance hall. The staircase is immediately at the right of the door and ascends past the large window. It is covered with carpet in the same color as that used in the living room and den.

The west end of the living room, which is to the right of the entrance, is of the same stone as the fence outside and has a built-in fireplace with a stone hearth. The entire south wall of the room is floor-to-ceiling glass windows, with double doors opposite the entrance. Unlined draw curtains of nutmeg brown cover this glass wall.

COLORFUL DECOR

The other walls in the living room are finished in a cafe au lait brown to blend with the cocoa brown carpet. The upholstery is in shades of tangerine and brown, with brass shining on the lamps and light colored wood lamp tables. Two arm chairs, a hassock and a triangle table face the fireplace, while a divan, two chairs and a very low, irregularly shaped coffee table have been placed at the opposite end of the room.

A conversation - making plant box forms an extension of the wall at the left of the entrance. Rubber plants, Chinese evergreens, ivy and schefflera grow there in profusion, adding their color to the well modulated color of the room.

Mr. Connell's den, which he will also use for an office, adjoins the living room on the west. The walls have been given a terra cotta finish, with beige draperies and turquoise and brown furniture.

COPPER TONES

The dining room, which opens off the east end of the living room, has walls of warm cafe au lait, with draperies in nutmeg and copper tones.

The copper is used again in upholstery fabrics. The room is lighted by fixtures concealed over the windows. Rather than having one large table in the room, Mrs. Connell selected three smaller tables which may be used separately to give more seating space than a single table, or may be put together. The floors in the dining room are of cork, a deeper brown than the walls. A folding paneled screen may be used to separate the living room from the dining room.

The kitchen, which adjoins the dining room, carries out the color scheme of brown tones. The lower walls are solid, while a figure paper was used higher. The pattern resembles a calico print, and provides a fitting background for the brass chandelier.

EYE TO CONVENIENCE

Mrs. Connell said the kitchen was designed for pure practical purposes. Cabinets with sliding doors line the walls, with working space near the refrigerator and range. A bar with stools and knee space provides a comfortable place for jobs which can be done sitting down, and also a place for a kitchen snack for one or two persons.

Both the kitchen and dining room are on the street side of the house, and have high, small windows covered with latticed panels inside.

A glass - enclosed patio also opens from the entrances to the dining room and kitchen. It was designed especially for the Connell's daughters, Connie and Betty, and provides a complete recreation center.

The floor is of large field stone. A picnic-style table and benches have stone foundations with highly polished birch tops.

The same light colored wood was used for a snack bar top and in a table and chairs for table games. A record player and radio are built into one corner, with benches built along both sides of the corner. The benches are also of light colored wood, and are to have tangerine-colored cushions.

The patio overlooks the space reserved for tennis courts, which have yet to be completed. A small entrance behind the snack bar opens into the garage, which can be used if the patio is crowded. "We thought it would all be just about 'kid-sized'," Mrs. Connell said.

BEDROOMS UPSTAIRS

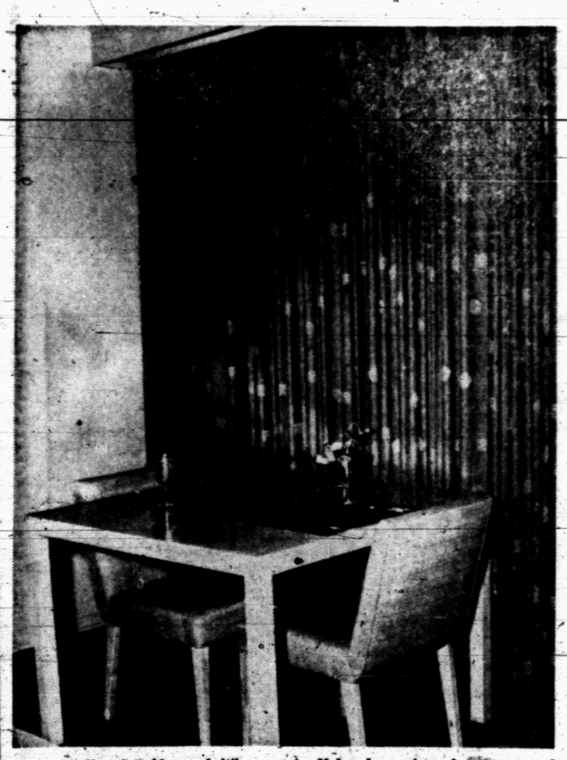

The two bedrooms occupy the entire second floor. The master bedroom is at the west end, and features a color scheme of blue and white with a blue cotton rug, white faille bedspreads, draperies of blue shantung and blue and white chintz upholstery.

The ceiling in the bedrooms follow the rafter line. Exposed beams were used for concealed lighting fixtures.

Betty and Connie's bedroom has mauve walls, with rose carpet and rose faille bedspreads. Drawer space was built into the wall, with concealing double doors which have shelves and mirrors on the inside. Twin lamps on the wall over a study table provide concentrated light for close-up work.

A huge window at the east end of the room gives it an airy effect. Draw curtains of the same material as the bed spreads cover it for privacy.

The bath upstairs is done in sunny yellow tile, set off by dark blue linens. A smaller bath downstairs is also finished in yellow tile, with turquoise linens and nutmeg brown draperies.

Walls of "cafe au lait" are set off by draperies of nutmeg and copper in the dining room. The copper-colored upholstery of the chairs echoes the copper figures in the drapes, and the cork floor is of a darker shade of brown. Three tables have been used rather than a single large table to provide more seating space. The window concealed by the drapes overlooks the glass-enclosed patio on the southeast corner of the house.—(Joe Dave Scott photograph).

Year-Round Fur Wearing Now Advised

You can wear furs all the year round, maintains Esther Dorothy. This dynamic fur designer who uses furs around her own house for everything from blankets to bath mats, is the originator of such innovations as the fur bathing suit and fur slacks.

This year she shows "air-conditioned" furs put together with strips of lace, for formal wear on summer evenings, and a white broadtail coat which, it's terribly hot, she concedes you may leave off the broadtail and wear only the lace.

She believes also in the slim silhouette for mink, and shows coats strictly straight and narrow, with tight push-up sleeves and tiny jeweled buttons from neck to hem. Skins in this style coat are worked horizontally for a new look.

She introduces also a new mink mutation, "Palomino", shown in a graceful, turtle-back cape.

This designer also likes clipped fox for customers who can't afford mink, and introduces a new flat fur—gray Abyssinian monkey.

Most sensational items in her collection, however, are the fur-and-lace coats, which are done in broadtail, Persian lamb and chinchilla.

Record Inventory Of Gasoline On Hand For Big Usage Season

HOUSTON, March 31. (AP) — A record inventory is on hand for the start of the oil industry's 1951 gasoline season.

Gasoline stocks last Saturday totaled 141,239,000 barrels, jumping to a new all-time high for a fifth consecutive week.

April 1 is considered the starting point of each year's heavy gasoline consuming season. Good weather and summer vacations combine to place more motorists on the highways from April through September.

Increased military requirements jumped into the picture at midseason last year. Since then, refinery operations have been stepped up considerably as the industry prepared to have sufficient supplies on hand to meet defense demands without shortages developing within civilian consumption.

Last year's gasoline season began with an inventory of 35,586,000 barrels, a record that remained in the books until five weeks ago.

The 1949 peak of 127,443,000 barrels was reached in late March. During 1948, the year that holds the all-time crude oil production record, the April 1 gasoline storage peak was 111,949,000 barrels.

Industry spokesmen are confident 1951 summer motorists will have no trouble obtaining gasoline supplies.

STEEL SHORTAGE

A government official this week said oil operators are willing to drill as many as 52,000 wells a year as soon as supplies become available.

Richard G. Lawton, director of the Production Division of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, said such a figure would be about one fifth higher than the PAD's minimum annual goal of 43,400 completions.

The 43,400 goal, Lawton said, will require that steel tubular goods production average 157,500 tons a month. He estimated 1951's first quarter average production at 130,000 tons a month, compared to 150,000 a year earlier.

Heavy demands for steel for other uses, he said, makes it doubtful that more than 140,000 tons can be produced in April.

Lawton said applications sent to PAD for priority assistance on third-quarter drilling programs indicate operators are well prepared to drill at a rate substantially higher than the 43,400 goal requires.

GAS PRICES

Independent operators in Texas have conflicting opinions on whether the state's oil and gas regulatory body should be authorized to establish minimum prices on natural gas.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association approved a minimum price resolution only after an hour of debate. The voice vote was close. Two weeks ago TIPRO's executive committee unanimously approved the resolutions.

Convention opposition centered on a contention the organization was formed to fight government controls. Other independents maintained a state minimum price statute would be a "road block" to extension of jurisdiction of the federal power commission.

Several bills which would authorize the Texas Railroad Commission to establish minimum gas prices are pending before the state's legislature.

Don't Overeat But Don't Go Hungry Either

Are you one of those overweight gals who are trying to fight the "battle of the bulges" on a starvation diet? If you are, you probably have found the going a little rough. It just doesn't make sense to go on a starvation diet, take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a rigid diet over a protracted period.

Other than the hunger and health angle, a starvation diet is apt to make one look haggard and "flabby". "What can I do then ?" you ask. "How can I take off ugly fat otherwise ?" Nearly four million bottles of a preparation called Barcentrate have been sold in Texas in the past eight years.

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not follow a starvation diet, nor buy vitamins to fortify you against weakness from lack of food. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcentrate does this: First, cuts down your appetite. Barcentrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is eliminated—almost like melting fat. At the same time, you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Barcentrate is a home recipe. Just get four ounces of Barcentrate from your druggist. Pour into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then just take two tablespoonsful twice a day. The makers agree to refund your money if the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles.

Marlene's Slacks Started California Fashion Boom

LOS ANGELES, March 31. (AP)—Shortly before World War II, New York City's late mayor, Fiorello LaGuardia glowered owlishly over his glasses in the general direction of Los Angeles and barked:

"Gentlemen, I'd advise you to skip a few games of pinochle and watch the situation."

The gentlemen were the operators of Manhattan's multi-billion-dollar garment industry. The "situation" was Los Angeles' startling rise to second place among the nation's clothiers—surpassing even Chicago.

Today the gentlemen of New York might well take a second look. For this year, led by more than 1,000 manufacturers in Los Angeles, California will produce almost $500 million worth of garments, from swim suits as small as the law allows to costly gowns by Adrian.

101 YEARS OLD

By the calendar, the California clothing industry is 101 years old, dating from the day Levi Straus sold his first pair of copper-riveted breeches to the Mother Lode gold miners. But economically it's only 20. So you can discount the first eight decades, when California sedulously aped New York styles, methods and manners.

Around the year 1934 a movie star named Marlene Dietrich eased her famous legs into a peculiar garment called "slacks." And something happened.

Maybe it was Marlene's daring, or maybe the fashion designers suddenly discovered how bright California colors are. Whatever it was, business got good fast.

Within 10 years production zoomed 500 per cent.

Last year Los Angeles sold $20 million worth of brassieres and foundation garments alone—equal to 1933's total for all items.

Eastern buyers' eyes have turned westward. In January a record 4,269 flocked here for the California appeared creators' spring fashion week. They placed $25 million in spot orders.

GOOD YEAR AHEAD

These and other orders will keep 88,000 workers going full blast this spring: 43,000 in Los Angeles and 10,000 in San Francisco.

Twenty West Coast firms have backlogs running into millions.

Catalina, Cole, Mabs, Gantned and Oregon's Jantzen Mills fabricate 80 per cent of America's bathing suits. Normandin leads the nation in denim garments; Jean Durai makes $1 million worth of kiddies' luxury duds. Scully Bros. recognizes no equal when it comes to making featherweight suede raiment.

And there's DeDe Johnson, who parlayed "pedal-pushers" into a $1 million gross business. And Louis Tabak, who says: "When Marlene went into pants, so did I." He's a sportswear leader.

All this may sound easy, but it wasn't. Manufacturers say it was an uphill fight. An uphill fight against "unfair" freight rates, distance from textile mills, Manhattan competition. A fight against what Californians call a "conspiracy of silence" by eastern fashion magazines, and reluctance of big eastern stores to push California labels. As Bill Kent, executive director of the apparel creators, puts it: "We had to make a better garment, and we did."

Now the "made in California" label is catching on. But—some New York firms use such labels as "styled in California" or "conceived in California"—a practice which makes Californians boil.

LABOR SERENITY

Laborwise, conditions appear serene today. The majority of California clothing workers are represented by the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union (AFL) of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers (CIO), which compares favorably with those in New York. Top grade cutters earn $300 a week during peak seasons, and average $100 weekly the year 'round. Unskilled workers make $2,500 a year. The industry strives to make working conditions attractive, for it must double its working force to reach its goal of a billion dollars worth of goods a year.

The California industry takes just pride in its many innovations: "uplift" brassieres, "cold fire" (flourescent) yarn, Fred Cole's shirred bathing suit fabrics that fit skin-tight everywhere, Jackman's cashmere clothes for well-heeled men.

But even the most fetching garment requires selling—inspired selling.

Take Catalina's build-up for its 1951 pride and joy: An $18.95 bathing suit called "rhumba ruffles."

It was 12 months a-borning. First, two agents toured the Caribbean in search of fabrics and ideas. Last spring they bought materials and by Labor Day they finished 300 sample suits—at a cost of $200,000.

Then came radio gingles, billboard and newspaper ads, a tie-in with the Miss America contest and a public competition. Such lugging costs money, but Catalina expects to get its money back and more.

With all its blooming productivity, there's one thing that bothers the California garment industry:

For some reason—nobody seems to know why—only about 15 per cent of the clothing bought in California bears the home state's proud label.

Most Phases Of Business In Southwest Up

DALLAS, March 31. (AP) — A spurt in retail sales, credited to Easter buying was the bright spot in the southwest business picture in the last 30 days, the Dallas Federal Reserve Board reported today.

In its monthly business review it also found crop planting progressing but the outlook for production only fair, a slight increase in non-farm employment, February construction awards reaching a new high and a decline in retail inventory purchases.

The Reserve Bank credited a 16 per cent gain in retail buying in early March as compared with a year ago to an earlier Easter and the resulting purchases. Sales in February were down 13 per cent from January but nine per cent above a year ago.

Department store stocks continued heavy—26 per cent higher than a year ago—but merchants' inventory buying slackened.

The review said that the increase in non-farm employment was paced by important gains in manufacturing and construction employment.

Crude oil production rose during February for the third consecutive month, reflecting the unusually strong demands resulting from the high economic activity in the nation and the extraordinary cold winter.

Construction contract awards reached a new peak of $150,000,000 in the district, with both commercial and residential building showing gains.

On farming, the review reported that corn planting had begun as far north as the Red River and plans for planting large acreages of cotton are under way, despite a shortage of rain and irrigation water in South Texas. (The report was written before last week's rains).

Wheat prospects, the review continued, are only fair, with insufficient moisture, cutworms and greenbugs threatening the crop.

In the shallow Sharon Ridge field, Forrest C. Lattner will drill the No. 4-A, No. 8-A and No. 9-A Stinson. No. 4-A is 330 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 101, block 97, H&TC survey. No. 8-A is 330 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of southwest quarter of section 101, same block and survey. No. 9-A is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 101, same block and survey. These locations are about two and one-half miles south of Ira.

In the Cogdell field of Kent County, Humble Oil & Refining Co. will drill the No. 16 Leroy Spires, Jr. It is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 718, block 97, H&TC survey and 17 miles north of Snyder.

Yesterday eve, Mr. Frank Ellis and Miss Maud Gage had been out driving. Upon their return home, Mr. Ellis helped Miss Maud out of the buggy, when the team became frightened. Frank tried to secure the lines but one wheel struck him, knocking him down. Jumping up, he discovered a rope close by, which he seized, twirling the lasso around in a cowboy style, roped one of the horses which drug him about 50 yards where the buggy came in contact with a barn which completely demolished the buggy.

Notice To Fire Insurance Policy Holders

EFFECTIVE APRIL 1st, 1951 . . . The State Board of nIsurance Commissioners has ruled that the $50.00 (Farm) $100.00 (CITY) deductible clause applicable to wind ,tornado and hail shall be made optional at the election of the policy holder.

EXAMPLE

$1,000.00 insurance policy on a building or structure written for one year.
Initial waiving charge $15.00
Additional waiving charge ..... $ 1.50
Total waiving charge—1 year $16.50
If the policy is a three year policy the additional premium would be $41.25; and if it is a five year policy the additional premium would be $66.00.

The deductible applicable to farm and ranch buildings is $50.00. This is also optional at an increase amounting to approximately one half of the charge as shown in the above example.
The purpose of this notice is to inform the insurance buying public of this charge.

The above waiver increases the rate by appproximately 50 per cent. In view of the excessive rate charged to have this deductible clause removed from the policies, we cannot recommend it to the present or future fire insurance policy holders.

ALL FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES ON BUILDING STRUCTURES COVERING WINDSTORM, TORNADO AND HAIL WILL BE RENEWED WITH THE DEDUCTIBLE CLAUSE UNLESS YOU NOTIFY YOUR INSURANCE AGENT TO THE CONTRARY.

FOR A MORE DETAILED EXPLANATION OF THIS CHANGE PLEASE SEE YOUR LOCAL INSURANCE AGENT.

Wind Insurance Changes Are Explained By Snyder Agents

Insurance agents in Snyder are making preparations now regarding two new rulings on windstorm, hurricane and hail insurance which will go into effect Sunday.

The first ruling provides full coverage on urban and rural buildings (without the former madatory $100 deductible clause on city property and the $50 deductible clause for farm property) provided the property owner wants to pay the extra charge.

The second ruling slashes rates on new policies with deductible clauses about 16 per cent.

BOARD'S RULING

The rulings are going into effect upon recent decisions of the state board of insurance commissioners.

Demand for full coverage on the storm insurance became more insistant after last summer's hailstorms took an unusually heavy toll of roofs.

The board in 1946 made a $100 deductible clause mandatory on all storm polices on city property and a $50 deductible clause mandatory on all farm building policies. Now it is optional.

At the opening of the current legislature, a number of bills were prepared to eliminate the deductible clauses.

The insurance commission, however, held a number of hearings, then issued a ruling making such deductions optional, eliminating need for legislation.

SOME EXAMPLES

Snyder insurance agents have prepared the following set of examples to show the comparative costs of insurance with and without deductible clauses:

A $4,000 policy on a city dwelling will cost $12 a year with the $100 deductible. Full coverage on the same property will cost $33 a year—an increase of $21.

A $7,000 policy on a city dwelling will cost $21 yearly with the deductible clause or $46.50 with full coverage—a difference of $25.50.

A $10,000 policy on an urban dwelling will cost $30 with the $100 deductible clause but twice as much for full coverage.

A $15,000 policy on a brick building will cost $27 with the $100 deductible clause of $55.50 with full coverage—a difference of $28.50.

FARM DWELLINGS

The full coverage insurance is made available, also, for farm dwellings, on which the mandatory deductible clause has been $50. A $5,000 policy on a farm dwelling would cost $26.50 with the deductible clause or $40.50 for full coverage—a difference of $14.

A full coverage policy would be written in this manner, a Snyder insurance man explained:

First, the policy will be written with a deductible clause, $100 in towns, $50 on farms.

Then, the property owner can, if he wishes, waive the deductible. If he does, in order to get full coverage, he will pay an extra rate of 15 cents per $100 of insurance per year. In addition, he will pay a flat fee of $15 per year "per risk."

That "per risk" means that if he has policies with 2 companies, the $15 fee will be split proportionally. He won't have to pay it to both.

The deductible clause can be removed from a policy now in force—after April 1 — if the policy holder desires. He will have to pay the prorata part of the increase for the balance of the policy's life.

British Columbia is 200,000 square miles larger than the state of Texas.

The average non-farm household declined from 3.2 persons in 1940 to 3 persons in 1950.

Good Life Salesman Fighting For New Moral Rearmament

By BILL BECKER
(Associated Press Staff)

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—Frank Nathaniel Daniel Buchman, for most of his 72 years an international traveling salesman for the good life, is modest about his nomination for the 1951 Nobel Peace Prize.

"Yes, it's an honor — but not to me," says mild-mannered Dr. Buchman. "It's really a tribute to the thousands of men and women who have given so much of themselves to Moral Rearmament."

Therein lies the key to an unusual man and movement. A world-wide project, Moral Rearmament sets itself up as the ideological answer to communism "Inspired democracy" is Dr. Buchman's phrase.

For 30 years he has led this spiritual movement, first as "A First Century Fellowship", then as "The Oxford Group" and finally—when the military armament race began in the late 1930s— "Moral Rearmament."

ONCE WITH YMCA

Before that he was a Lutheran clergyman and YMCA secretary in Pennsylvania, but love of travel—and international fellowship, says Dr. Buchman — already had taken him on several trips to Europe and India. He says he first met the late Mohandas Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru in 1915. He began early to meet kings, queens and political leaders of Europe.

The pudgy doctor of divinity (a degree conferred in later years by his alma mater, Muhlenberg College) does not look like a salesman. With his rimless spectacles and soft countenance, the balding Buchman gives a first impression of a small town minister.

But there is a twinkle and a shrewdness in his eyes that indicate his thoughts extend far beyond village vistas. His speaking voice is rather piping and he has an easy tendency to drop into slang or a mild jest.

There is nothing clerical about his manner, when explaining his 'program.

"We have never had a formal organization, there is no set creed, we accept anyone from any church or religion," he said in a recent interview. "The person-to-person approach is our answer and we have only one basic doctrine: The individual has the power to change himself.

"Change yourself first; when others see the change in you, they'll want to change, too."

MANY FOLLOWERS

The movement claims "perhaps several million" followers in some 102 nations and territories and has about 1,000 full time workers — unpaid — throughout the world. The financial aspects of the movement also are very informal.

"Oh, heavens, no," laughs Dr. Buchman. "We have no salaries. Dr. (Morris) Martin and I receive nothing, but I make it a point to double his salary every week. Yes, you might say God does provide."

Dr. Martin, a former Oxford University dean, has been Dr. Buchman's secretary since 1936. A lean, ascetic-looking man, he is adept at picking up the conversational ball whenever Dr. Buchman drops it.

Dr. Buchman spends a good deal of time visiting leaders of state, industry and labor. He rarely stays in one place longer than three or four months.

MRA maintains offices in New York and here and a big estate in Westchester County, New York. Dr. Buchman has a home here and in Allentown, Pa. Annual conferences of MRA followers and would-be converts are held at Mackinac Island, Michigan, and Caux, Switzerland.

MEETINGS POPULAR

These gatherings, numbering thousands, grew out of the early week-end "house parties" at which Oxford Group members would discuss their problems informally. These meetings became very popular in England and Scandinavia in the troubled days between the two world wars. With international problems growing, the Buchmanites have increased their meetings to keep pace.

Smaller meetings of MRA people generally include "a quiet time," when each individual can pray in his own fashion. It was in such a quiet time, Dr. Buchman says, that he received the inspiration for his program. He favors 5 a.m. for his own "quiet times."

Each person must work out his own pattern of life with God as his guide, Dr. Buchman contends. With individuals happy, communities will become content, nations understanding and the world peaceful, his theory continues.

"Democracy must be changed from every man doing what he pleases," the MRA leader declares, "to a condition of united men working together for the common good."

Such a program precludes a time table, but Dr. Buchman says brightly "We're making tremendous progress, oh my, yes."

Small Pump Discovery In Runnels County

A discovery from the lower Strawn in Central Runnels County has been completed by Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The concern's No. 1 Roy Tyree was completed for a daily pumping potential of 19.32 barrels of 50.3-gravity oil, plus 59 per cent water.

The new oiler is nine miles southwest of Winters and 3,500 feet from east and 2,300 feet from north lines of B. G. Hall survey 437.

Production was from perforations at 4,206-4,210 feet. Plugged back total depth of the new field opener is 4,217 feet. The Ellenburger was found to be barren in drilling to 5,281 feet, which bottomed the hole in a Cambrian formation.

To Deepen Abandoned Martin County Wildcat

Ashland Oil & Refining Co. is to re-enter and deepen its No. 1 Tant Lindsay, Southwest Martin County wildcat from its present bottom of 7,885 feet to a possible total depth of 8,600 feet.

The deepening, which is to take the project into the lower Spraberry is to start at once. A reverse-circulation unit will be used to do the digging.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 17, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey. That makes it 12 miles northwest of Stanton and the same distance northeast of Midland.

LIBERTY MAGAZINE acclaims 'JOAN OF ARC', "Ranks at the top as entertainment ... movie-making at its best."

Two Shallow Wildcats Staked in Pecos County

Two shallow wildcats have been staked for immediate drilling in Pecos County.

Brown & Thorp Drilling Co. of McCamey and associates No. 1 Gulf-State is a 2,500-foot venture in North Pecos County.

Drillsite is 330 feet from east and 1,670.5 feet from north lines of section 12, block 9, H&GN survey and six miles west of Imperial.

Rotary tools will be used in drilling to 2,500 feet to test the Permian lime.

In East Pecos County, Harold H. Hamilton of San Angelo and others has spotted No. 1 J. H. Tippett.

Projected depth is 2,000 feet. Cable tools will be used in drilling.

Location is eight miles northwest of Iraan and 660 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 45, block 194, GC&SF survey.

Ector Wildcat Staked

Eight miles northeast of Penwell and between the Yarbrough and Allen and the TL fields of Ector County, G. H. Vaughn et al Dallas will drill a wildcat to explore the Ellenburger.

Application was filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to take the venture, which will be No. 1 Earl Vest, to a possible bottom of 10,000 feet.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block B-8, psl survey.

A Russian Attack On Iran Is The Same As War Declaration

By CLARKE BEACH
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Suppose Russians attack Iran, what will be the outcome?

I asked that question of a well informed diplomatic official.

"World war" was his reply.

Although the United States and its allies have not said what they would do if Iran were attacked, he said the sequence of events would compel them to fight.

For one thing, he said, any aggression anywhere by the Red army itself would bring war.

The internal coups and satellite actions which the Soviets have used up to now have not presented a clear challenge to the Western Powers. But a direct Soviet attack would confront them with the choice of appeasement or resistance, and they do not believe appeasement would help any nation but Russia.

THREAT TO EUROPE

Secondly, this official pointed out, a Russian lunge into Southwest Asia would threaten the whole weak southern flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

That southern flank seems to be giving U. S. military leaders more concern just now than any other area on the rim of the Western Powers. It consists of the Mediterranean and the lands eastward to India—Southwest Asia, sometimes called the Near and Middle East.

A foremost military leader told me:

"The people of this country aren't worrying enough about the Eastern Mediterranean area. They seem to think that because we fought two wars on the plains of Northern Europe, that all our wars will be fought there. Next time they might find that the war will be won or lost somewhere near Suez."

OIL AT STAKE

In global strategy, this man said, the Mediterranean area and Southwest Asia are second in importance only to Western Europe.

If Russia controlled that area she would have the great oil reserves of the Middle East and could close Suez, the Western Powers' gateway to Asia.

It would have a bridgehead for an invasion of Northern Africa.

If the Western Powers were driven from Africa's northern rim, they would have to fall back across 1,500 miles of Sahara Desert to establish their next life of defense, possibly, extending across the Dark Continent.

Dual Completion From Ector County Pay Zones

The Texas Co. has dually completed its No. 47-NTC-7 W. E. Connell from the Connell sand and Ellenburger pays in the Jordan field of Southwest Ector County.

The well flowed 24 hours through a 14-64-inch choke to make an initial production of 72 barrels of 44.5-gravity oil from the Connell sand.

No water was present. Gas-oil ratio was 659-1.

Production is coming from perforations at 8,640-8,670 feet after being acidized with 500 gallons.

From the Ellenburger, the well was potentialed for 567 barrels of 45-gravity oil, Gas-oil ratio was 800-1. No water was present.

This was based on a natural 24-hour flow through a 14-64-inch choke.

Top of pay is 8,735 feet and total depth is 8,935 feet. Plugged back depth is 8,933 feet and seven-inch oil string is cemented at 8,900 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block B-16, psl survey.

Smear Campaign Of Labor Is Odious From Many Standpoints

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — They are still badgering Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, because — as his critics put it—he comes from "big business." The labor unions' smear squad is at it constantly. Mr. Wilson pressed to the point of indignation the other day, said he was proud come from "big business" and challenged his critics to make the most of it.

Well might he and every other citizen be proud of the achievements of America's large-scale industrial machine, for it is the one thing that makes possible the greatest munitions plant and most effective military equipment in the world—planes, tanks, rockets, guns, ships and missiles. It is our principal deterrent against Russian attack.

* * *

Over in Moscow, in their day-by-day propaganda, the Soviets, too, are trying to discredit American "big business," though they prefer to call it "capitalism." They always avoid the phrases "free enterprise" or "individual initiative" because nobody in Russia today could start at $3 a week, as Mr. Wilson did, and work up to the top place in a big manufacturing enterprise and eventually have a part in its ownership.

Some of those who were baiting Mr. Wilson in his press conference this week cast an innuendo in his direction by referring to the fact that, while he has resigned from the General Electric Co., he has not sold his small holdings of stock in that company. The veiled charge was that to own stock in any American enterprise disqualifies a man from sitting in a position of responsibility in the American government.

It so happens that many people in government have invested their life savings in the stock of gilt-edged American companies. Every now and then this fact comes out, as when members of the Supreme Court of the United States disqualify themselves from sitting in the case of some company in which they happen to have investments. Mr. Wilson would be the first to disqualify himself from sitting in judgment in any case directly affecting the company on whose payroll he used to be — but is no longer.

* * *

But that isn't the real basis for accusations hurled at him from labor quarters. The charge is that anyone who comes from "big business" is ineligible to serve as the executive in the Office of Defense Mobilization. The idea sought to be conveyed is that "big business" is bad and anyone who has ever worked there in lacks integrity and cannot be honest or impartial in making policies for his own government.

This isn't a new development. Anyone who examines the weekly newspapers issued by the labor unions in America, which are paid for by the dues of labor union members, will find constantly therein these same phrases of hatred and class warfare and a steady undermining of the workingman's faith in all employers. The railroad brotherhoods, for example —themselves always regarded by this correspondent as among the finest trade unions in American history — for some unaccountable reason support and publish newspapers filled with epithets against anyone who happens to disagree with their viewpoint. The epithets usually are personal and convey innuendos of lack of integrity. They build up in the workingman's mind a concept of hatred which must inevitably breed bad feeling and more and more dissension in this republic.

* * *

Tactics of smearing which go on among the labor-union leaders with respect to the employers generally, and Mr. Wilson in particular, is not unlike the technique of Vishinsky and Gromyko. It's a tirade of abuse and propaganda which, for some strange reason, has never awakened the so-called "liberals" in our midst to any indignation. On the contrary, wherever there's a labor controversy of importance, the unions run to their special committee in Congress to use it as a sounding board for the most extreme charges and propaganda.

Unquestionably there are employers who are as reactionary and unreasonable as are some of their opponents at the bargaining table. Two wrongs do not make a right. But certainly the cause of better understanding, the cause of conciliation and the cause of co-operation and true partnership of labor and management in the public interest will never be advanced — indeed, it will be retarded — if the union leaders of this country keep on with the disgraceful campaign they are waging against Charles E. Wilson.

* * *

One always begins to wonder, when an "ad hominem" type of campaign is launched, whether this means that on reason and logic alone in a fair court of public opinion the authors of the tirades against an individual really confess the weakness of their case and the lack of persuasiveness of their arguments.

Location is 361 feet from north and west lines of the lease in section 7, C. A. O'Keefe subdivision, survey No. 31.

In the Diamond M-Clear Fork field, Lion Oil Co. No. 5 Clarence pumped 24 hours for a potential of 42.24 barrels of 31.4 gravity oil with 14 per cent water. The well had been treated with 20,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 123-1.

Location is 2,336 feet from south and [illegible] from east lines of the lease in section 183, block 97, H&TC survey.

Lion No. 9 Jack pumped 24 hours for a potential of 87.11 barrels of 31.6 gravity oil and no water. The hole had been treated with 10,500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 164-1. Production is coming from perforations at 3,164-176, 3,188-194, 3,200-207 and 3,214-222 feet.

Location is 330 feet from south and 2,318 feet from west lines of the lease in section 196, block 97, H&TC survey.

Men spend more money annually in Texas barber shops than women do in the State's beauty parlors, according to the Census Bureau. Annual receipts of Texas barber shops total $20,642,000 compared with annual beauty parlor receipts of $19,335,000.
