Atlanta Police Nip Trouble As Schools Are Integrated

Panel Spikes Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats today voted to prevent House consideration of the administration's federal aid to education bill.

The move, which came quickly after the House met at noon, apparently ended chances of getting through at this session the principle the administration badly wanted to establish—federal money for the construction of public school facilities.

Two other parts of the package, aid to schools overcrowded by children of federal workers, and extension of a student loan program, are likely to be salvaged and passed later. Many members, both Republican and Democratic, favor these programs while bitterly opposing public school construction.

The vote against consideration was 242-169.

Today's defeat for the administration came swiftly after the House began business.

The tip came when the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats passed up a chance to delay the bill for another week. That indicated that they were sure of their strength and wanted to bury the bill.

The measure defeated today was only a remnant of the one the Kennedy administration originally wanted.

Under the little-used Calendar Wednesday procedure, the roll of House committees was called alphabetically shortly after the House met at noon.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the Education Committee, was allowed to call up the bill when his turn on the list came. The bill's opponents could have delayed things a week by having other bills called up by a Southern Democratic chairman who came before Powell on the list. They didn't.

City Moves To Save Interest

The city of Big Spring moved Wednesday morning to buy up $5,000 worth of General Obligation bonds which were to mature in 1972, A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said Wednesday.

"The bonds were a part of the half-million-dollars issued in 1955 covering the police building, fire stations and city hall renovation," he said. "They bear 2¾ per cent interest, and are held by the Columbian Securities Corp. of San Antonio."

Steinheimer said the city commission, in a quick called session, authorized purchase of the bonds from surplus interest and sinking fund money set aside each month for principal and interest on General Obligation bonds.

"The Columbian firm offered to sell us the $5,000 worth of bonds at $4,725. By doing this we will save payment of interest amounting to $1,535.40. The total saving on the bonds will amount to approximately $1,800," he said, "since we will have to pay four or five days' interest on them."

Columbian had purchased the bonds from some other firm on the open market, Steinheimer said, so the original purchaser is not known.

Ackerly Grain Yields Heavily

Dryland maize in the vicinity of Ackerly is making bumper crops this year, according to reports from Bill Hamrick, an independent combiner from Ackerly.

On the Buddy Nichols farm, about seven miles west of Ackerly on the old Slaughter Ranch, a patch of 320 acres of 6-10 hybrid maize should yield an average of about 4,000 pounds to the acre, Hamrick said. One acre made better than 6,000 pounds.

The same land made about 1,500 pounds last year. The average production is about 1,000 pounds to the acre, he said. Hamrick attributed the excellent production to heavy rainfall.

Harvesting began Monday and acreage which is ready should be finished today.

21 Persons Indicted In Grand Jury Report

W. C. Jackson, former used car dealer at Coahoma, now in custody in Little Rock, Ark., was indicted on three counts for forgery and one for theft over $50, by the Howard County grand jury which reported late Tuesday afternoon. Evelyn Jackson, his wife, was indicted on two charges of forgery.

Sheriff Miller Harris said that he had been advised a hearing would be held in Little Rock on Sept. 14 for extraditing Jackson to Howard County. He was arrested by officers there on a warrant issued by this county. He refused to waive extradition. Harris said he would probably go to the Arkansas capital for the hearing.

TO POST BOND

Meantime, Harris said he has been informed Mrs. Jackson planned to post bond and come back to Big Spring voluntarily. However, he said this has not been confirmed.

The Jacksons were among the 21 persons who were billed by the grand jurors in their report to Dist. Judge Ralph Caton in 118th District Court.

Others indicted included Charles Glenn Connelly, accused of incest with his daughter. Connelly has been in jail since his arrest on July 4. Bond was set at $5,000 by Judge Caton.

Jim Buck Matthews, driver of one of two vehicles implicated in a traffic accident on June 25 and which took three lives, was indicted for murder with an automobile.

AT LIBERTY

He is currently at liberty on bond. Killed in the wreck were J. L. Brantley, Stanton car dealer; and two young children—Teresa and Sidney Foster.

Two of the five Negroes charged in the theft of about $400 from the Newsom Food Store on July 11 were billed by the grand jury. They were Luther Dorsey and George Curry. No indictments were returned against Joe Taylor, Clara Lucky and Billie Jean Rose, who allegedly were with Dorsey and Curry at the time the crime was perpetrated. The two indicted are free on bond.

Alex S. Gonzales, accused of having had marijuana cigarettes on his person when he was arrested on July 3, was indicted for possession of narcotics. Bond was set in his case at $5,000.

BURGLARY CHARGE

Three persons — Floyd Wayne Black, Louis Kubat and Johnnie Brinson—were separately indicted for the attempted burglary on June 23 of the Hull & Phillips Food Store on Scurry Street.

Other indictments:

Dazel M. Cress, indicted for forgery. Bond set at $2,000.

Melvin Robertson, theft from person, bond set at $2,000. He is accused of taking a purse containing money and keys from Mrs. Lee Andrews on Aug. 5.

Max Raboff, alias Amos Tomlin, car theft. Bond set at $2,000. He is alleged to have stolen a 1961 Buick from W. C. Blankenship on Aug. 16. He was allegedly apprehended in the stolen vehicle.

BOND SET

John David Strickland, DWI second offense, bond set at $2,000.

Robert H. Self, worthless check over $50, bond set at $2,000. He is alleged to have given Bill Guinn a worthless check for $350 on Jan. 16.

Orville H. Thomas, car theft. He is alleged to have taken a 1959 Foro pickup from Jerry Walker on July 26.

W. P. Land, indecent exposure. He is alleged to have committed the offense on July 31.

Roy Harrison, car burglary. He is accused of having stolen a bottle of cologne from Joyce Welch's car on Aug. 16.

J. N. Lane, DWI second offense. Bond set at $2,000.

Catarino Silva Sr., DWI second offense.

Manuel Losoya Jr., DWI second offense, bond set at $2,000.

NO INDICTMENTS

The grand jury considered cases against a number of other defendants but did not vote indictments.

Those who were not billed by the jurors are:

Raymond Louis Specter, charged with forgery; A. L. Lancaster, charged with forgery; River C. Williams, charged with using another person's credit card; Marcia Sanders, charged with forgery; Mary Nell Machin, accused of theft over $50.

Raymon Mendoza, who was arrested and accused of slashing Raymond Olivas with a knife on Aug. 18, was not indicted by the grand jury.

Grand jurors were: Horace Garrett, J. D. Gilmore, Joe Clark, Bob Rogers, Tommy Gage, Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. Buel Fox, Jerry Currie, R. H. Boykin, foreman; Juanita Edwards, Robert Cline and J. E. Fort.

Force Frees Car In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A U.S. Army sedan that had been halted under the guns of Communist police came out of East Berlin today after three American tanks and four armored personnel carriers rushed to the city's Iron Curtain border.

An American officer signaled the U.S. armor into position only 10 yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point after word of the car's plight was brought in by a Western bus driver. Tank guns were trained on green-uniformed Communist police guarding the barricades.

Reuther Enters Wage Parleys

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, personally took over the bargaining with General Motors Corp. today and expressed hope that a settlement could be reached under the new one-week extension of the Aug.-31 deadline.

Ford Motor Co. also resumed talks with the UAW today. Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president, industrial relations, told newsmen Ford had no plans to make a new offer to the UAW.

Both the UAW and General Motors agreed Tuesday night to an extension from Thursday midnight until 10 a.m. next Wednesday of their expiring three-year contract.

The extension was requested by William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, a few hours before the UAW's International Executive Board met to set GM as the target for a Thursday midnight walkout in support of the union's contract demands.

Rotarians See TESCO Films

Rotarians saw two films, shown by its Citizenship Committee through the courtesy of Texas Electric Service Co., on "Make Mine Freedom," and "Two Berlins."

Six new members were inducted into the club, with Don Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, introducing the men and giving the indoctrination talk.

Ralph McLaughlin, president, introduced the program, and announced that next week's program would feature a talk by Athletic Director Emmett McKenzie on prospects for this year's football season at Big Spring high school.

The film, "Make Mine Freedom," was a cartoon-type feature where a so-called medicine man was attempting to sell ISM, a medicine designed to bring the United States under the promises of Socialism and Communism. In the end they ran the medicine man out of town.

The second film, "Two Berlins," was an actual movie showing conditions in East and West Berlin. The film was made by the president of the United Press International news service, and sponsored for public meetings by the president of Harding College, in Arkansas, to show why Russia wanted West Berlin under Communism.

BIBLE FUND RATE SLOWS

The rate of response dropped slightly Wednesday as the public appeal for support of the Bible Class Fund reached the one-seventh mark.

Gifts totalled $70 for the day, making $528.19 so far raised by volunteer contributions. Several Big Spring churches include the fund in their budget, but the major end must come from investments made by individuals, organizations and firms. Mail or bring gifts to the Herald and they will be deposited to the Pastors Association Bible Class account.

Held In Slaying

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Clyde Alvarez, 21, was charged today with the rape-slaying of Velma Lozano, 9, whose body was found in a pool of blood in her west side home early last Saturday.

Barriers Fall After 100 Years

ATLANTA (AP) — Nine Negro pupils strolled into classes in previously white Atlanta schools today, and watchful police nipped quickly any hint of trouble.

Thus the traditional school segregation barriers — in force in Georgia and Atlanta for 100 years — tumbled, reluctantly perhaps, but quietly. Total public school segregation now remains in only three Deep South states — Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

At the first indication of any trouble at the four high schools being desegregated under federal court orders, police dispersed small knots of spectators and whisked to police headquarters several persons who gave them arguments.

An hour before classes began, police at Murphy High School confiscated two signs urging a boycott of the schools. A man posting a boycott sign in a yard nearby was ordered to remove it or be taken into custody. The sign came down.

City officials and police had made elaborate plans to prevent disorder and the opening day started quietly. A long campaign by civic groups, city officials, educators and religious leaders for a peaceful transition, paved the way for the change.

School integration was the signal for merchants to desegregate downtown lunch counters under an agreement reached months ago.

The Atlanta school system has 69,000 white pupils and 48,000 Negroes. Segregation remained in effect at 13 white high schools, five Negro high schools, 73 white elementary schools and 41 Negro elementary schools.

A man who identified himself as Bill Cody of Arlington, Va., was taken into custody at Grady High School 10 minutes after the Negro pupils entered the building. Cody told a police officer, "I want to picket, and I am going to picket."

Within minutes after two Negro girls entered Murphy High, police moved back small groups of young white men who approached the school from both sides. Three who were reluctant to move back were taken to police headquarters when they refused to give their names.

Fire Destroys Lumber Bldg. At Stanton

STANTON — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the main warehouse of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Yard here early today.

Prompt work by the Stanton Volunteer fire department, under leadership of Ed Hall, chief, was credited with keeping the blaze from spreading to the other parts of the yard.

No estimate on damage was available but a 20 by 80 foot warehouse filled with plywood, siding, special woods and other materials was lost.

The warehouse was on the north corner of the yard which covers half a block. It is located in downtown Stanton, just south of the Martin County Court House and next door to the office of the Stanton Reporter. The fire was confined to the warehouse and caused no other damage to adjacent property.

Harry Haislip, manager, said that a fire truck from Midland and one from Webb AFB came to the aid of the Stanton department. Another fire truck from Big Spring started but was turned back by radio when it was learned that the equipment was not needed. Hall and his men had the blaze under control before the Midland and WAFB trucks arrived.

Dan Saunders, sheriff, said that Jake Bruton, who was on city police duty, discovered the fire at 3 a.m. By the time he had returned from turning in the alarm, the entire warehouse was ablaze.

Firemen had the fire under control by 5 a.m.

Annexation Issue Settled

Mitchell County School Board today officially concurred in action taken last June by the Howard County School board annexing approximately 75 acres of land to the Big Spring school district.

The land annexed comprises most of Surburban Heights addition — a development south and west of the town. The area encompasses all of the addition south to Willard Street.

The land originally was a part of the Forsan County Line Independent School district. Since that is a county line area district, the Mitchell County board had to agree to the annexation.

School officials expressed satisfaction that the matter had been settled.

Originally, 156 acres was involved in the annexation. It was discovered that approximatly 26 acres of this land was already a part of the Big Spring district. Later an additional 56 acres was stricken from the proposal which left approximatey 75 acres to be added to the district.

House Conferees Approve Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have approved a five-year $7.2-billion overseas loan program but eliminated its most controversial provision, authority to borrow from the Treasury. President Kennedy said the compromise was "wholly satisfactory."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders lined up in top-rank opposition today to Treasury borrowing to finance foreign aid development loans.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the party's 1960 presidential nominee, sent word to former Senate colleagues he favors a long-range program, financed through annual appropriations by Congress.

Opponents Of Brazilian Leftist Will Compromise

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Brazil's three military ministers today agreed to accept Joao Goulart as a figurehead president with a prime minister to be appointed by Congress until 1963, a government source said.

The decision by the three top military chiefs was reached here and a government source said it already has been transmitted to Brasilia, the inland capital.

If acceptable to Congress and government political leaders in Brasilia, it might end the serious crisis, which has been rocking the country since Janio Quadros resigned as president last Friday.

Previously the three military leaders had opposed having Goulart even as a figurehead president.

The formula proposed by the military chiefs considerably differed from the recommendations presented to the national Congress earlier today by a congressional committee.

The important difference is that Congress rather than the president would choose the prime minister.

The prime minister would have the power to run the country—the same powers previous Brazilian presidents have held.

Goulart would hold little more than a decorative job.

Under the formula proposed by the military chiefs—War Minister Marshal Odylio Denys, Navy Minister Adm. Silvio Heckel and Air Minister Brig. Grun Moss — Goulart and a prime minister would finish out Quadros' unexpired five-year term. Then in 1963, an election would be held on schedule.

Goulart broke off a three-day wait in Paris earlier today and left by air for New York, apparently en Route to Brazil.

Acting President Rainieri Mazzilli issued a decree firing the army commander in southern Brazil who had pledged to support Goulart. The decree also sacked the commanders of an infantry division and a cavalry division.

The congressional committee openly took issue with the service chiefs who fear that the assuming of the presidency by Goulart would threaten the security of the big subtropical country.

Denys went into urgent talks with his top officers. Denys returned here from Brasilia Tuesday night following reports that one army commander had thrown his support behind Goulart.

Russia Stops Discharging Its Soldiers, Blames U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Again blaming the United States and its allies for the current world tension, the Soviet government says it has stopped returning servicemen to civilian life and warned that aggressors will be wiped out "once and for all" if war starts.

A statement issued Tuesday night by the Communist party Central Committee and the Soviet Cabinet said Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, the Soviet defense minister, had been ordered to hold up demobilization of military personnel whose service would normally end this year "until the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany."

The number of men involved was not announced, but Soviet Premier Khrushchev said July 8 that a military cutback of 1.2 million men which began last year was being halted because of the Western attitude on Berlin. How far the cutback had gone was never announced.

Khrushchev on Aug. 7 warned that Soviet troop strength might have to be boosted even further. He accused the West of pushing the world "to a dangerous brink" in the conflict over Berlin, which stems from Khrushchev's pledge to sign a peace treaty with East Germany's Communist regime by the end of the year. The communists contend a treaty would give East Germany control over Western access routes to West Berlin.

President Kennedy responded to the Soviet diplomatic offensive by offering to negotiate but stressing the West's intention to fight for Berlin if necessary. He called for the biggest U.S. troop buildup since the Korean war, including the right to hold military men in service.

The latest Soviet statement accused Kennedy of making threats reinforcing them with an arms buildup by the United States and its North Atlantic allies and presenting "something like an ultimatum, demanding essentially that we withdraw in general the question of the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany."

"If the imperialists," said the statement, "in connection with the signing of a peace treaty with Germany, again seek to draw us into the abyss of war, we are fully resolved to put an end once and for all to the forces engendering aggression."

Troopers In Berlin Aren't Scared But They Are Bored

BERLIN (AP) — Six hundred American GIs face the East German Communist troops along about 16 miles of the concrete curtain separating East and West Berlin.

Some are in tanks, some in jeeps. Some sit in bombed-out buildings handling short-wave radio communications.

This has been going on for two weeks.

At noon and at 6 p.m. chow is served. The men have steak, potatoes, corn, ice cream and coffee. For breakfast, they whip up eggs and bacon. They eat off the tailgates of vehicles, the hoods of jeeps, the slanting side of a Patton tank.

Every few days, the front-line outfit is relieved by another group and returns to its headquarters deeper in the American sector of Berlin. This is a front line where shooting can happen any minute, and the frequent rotation reduces the possibility of anyone getting trigger happy.

Across the barricade are the Communist People's Police and troops, seemingly armed only with pistols. But the American soldiers know that behind the buildings are cannons and machineguns. This is a standoff for the moment, but it is war of a kind and everything is on a wartime basis.

The American soldiers have been told they are there to protect the borders of West Berlin. Their sergeants and officers are carrying grenades. They look like any soldiers on the Korean front or the western front in World War II. Around them are the ruins of that war.

How do the American soldiers feel about it?

They feel like American soldiers usually do. A bit more sleep would help. Something to break the monotony of what now has become in fact sentry duty. They are not scared. They are more bored than anything else.

Some of the troops are old hands in Germany.

Sgt. John Collins, of Blue Point, Long Island, N. Y., has been in the Army nine years, four of them in Berlin. How does he see this present tension and crisis?

"It happens every year," he said as he lounged at the Friedrichstrasse border point chosen by the Communists as the only crossing for all Allied and foreign traffic into East Berlin.

Also on duty at Friedrichstrasse was Pvt. William Penton Jr. of Panama City, Fla., who has been in the Army just short of 10 months.

"I don't think any of us are nervous about this job," said Penton, "but we could use a little more sleep."

A short distance away, two military policemen were in constant radio communication with headquarters.

Said Pvt. Joe Jacobs from Norton, Kan.: "I've been here a year, I am regular Army. Sure, on this one you lose a little sleep but we don't worry about that."

Pvt. James Sims, born in Yuma Ariz., but now claiming Porterville, Cal., as home, has been on the Berlin scene 23 months.

"I am due to get out and I want to go to college," said Sims.

Just over their heads, sitting on a floor in a bombed-out house, a relic of World War II, were four GIs with communications equipment and small arms at the ready.

One of them shouted down: "What time's chow?"

That was what the American soldier thought about on the border, like most soldiers since time immemorial.

'Nothing' Art

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—"Nothing" was the title of an entry by Dale Stewart in the Du Quoin State Fair art exhibit. It was a picture frame with nothing in it.

The judges, handing down their decision, attached to the frame the comment: "We have 'nothing' for you."

The Brighton, Ill., artist, however, did win a blue ribbon with another entry.

Senate Approves Ft. Davis Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted to create a national historic site at Ft. Davis in Jeff Davis County, Tex.

The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of an amendment to limit acquisition of land at Ft. Davis to 460 acres, the amount the National Park Service said is needed for an historic site there.

The bill, by Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., would authorize an appropriation of $115,000 to buy the land.

Senate Leaders Want Civil Rights Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped today to win a two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission and then cut short any moves for passage of other civil rights measures.

Under an unanimous consent agreement reached Tuesday, the Senate is to vote in midafternoon on a motion to suspend its rules to permit the extension bill to be hooked to a $761-million appropriation measure for the State and Justice departments.

Suspension of the rule barring legislation in an appropriation bill takes a two-thirds majority of the senators present and voting.

The move, opposed by Southern foes of the commission, was jointly sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Mansfield served notice he would move to table and thus kill attempts to suspend the rules for consideration of other civil rights measures bitterly opposed by Southern senators.

SPIRITUAL ADULTERY

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 3906 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1382.

It is possible for the Christian to be guilty of spiritual adultery, for he is married to Christ. Paul said, ". . . I espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ" (II Cor. 11:2).

In another place, he said, "Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead . . ." (Rom. 7:4).

Thus one way of being guilty of spiritual adultery is by remaining under the law (the old husband) while being married to Christ.

The law to which we have become dead, includes the ten commandments. From this law, to which we are no longer married, Paul quotes a statement that is found only in the ten commandments (Rom. 7:1-7). All the moral principles are binding on us under Christ, but we are not under the ten commandments as a system, and should not try to bind it on fellow Christians. This is spiritual adultery. —Adv.

Mother's Wings

A parent humming bird hovers over her fledgling after the babe was rescued following a fall from a tree in a storm. Mrs. A. J. Murray of El Paso found the small bird nearly dead and nursed it back to health. The frantic mother, searching for the small one, was rewarded early the next morning by hearing a weak chirrup, and zipped to her young. The mother makes trips with food, and the Murrays take turns watching over their feathered "family."

Probers Call Race Figures, Study Threats To Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime investigators called race track figures from six states for questioning today, and sought to solve a plot to silence two other witnesses.

Harry Gorman of Indianapolis, who described himself as a retired Indianapolis race wire operator, swore he had been threatened with death if he gave information to the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee also heard testimony that Frank W. Lyons, a Chicago race wire employe, tried to commit suicide Saturday because of threats.

Thus far the senators have drawn a blank in trying to identify the authors of the threats. They wouldn't say whether they were asking the FBI for help. Because Lyons and Gorman were under subpoena, attempts to intimidate them could bring felony punishment for obstruction of justice.

LISTED

The subcommittee listed men from Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Louisiana as witnesses in the hearings on big-time gambling. It presently is exploring the role of secret but legal race wire services as a bulwark of illegal handbook betting on the horses.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., subcommittee chairman, said the witnesses would include Martin Hillery of Chicago; Louis Efkeman of the Louisville (Ky.) Daily Sports; Robert C. Cullen, a Cincinnati, Ohio, operator; Stanley Schoemaker and Richard Busker of Newport, Ky.; Henry Crowley of Steubenville, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Thurman of Louisville; William P. Brown of Richmond Heights, Mo.; and members of a New Orleans, La., race wire operation known as Nola News.

Downey Rice, a subcommittee consultant, testified that Nola News is a "Mafia type" operation.

3 FIGURES

Rice, a former FBI agent who was counsel to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee in 1950 and 1951, named Nola's three top figures as Joseph Marcello, Joseph Poretto and Ralph Emery. He said Emery is the son of Vincenzo Ammeratto, an Al Capone mobster who also was known as Vincent Emery.

Subcommittee officials said Marcello's brother, Carlos, has sent word he is too ill to respond to a subpoena already served on him. The government is trying to deport Carlos Marcello.

As Rice told it, the big race wire services generally use subsidiary companies which actually feed information on race winners, last-minute jockey switches and other track data to bookmauers.

He described Nola as a subsidiary to the Illinois Sports Service in Chicago, and Illinois Sports Service as the successor to the old Continental Press Service. He said Continental faded out of existence after a bitter upheaval in the Chicago underworld in which at least one man was slain.

NO ANSWER

The story of the threatened witnesses came out when Thomas Kelly, Sr., head of Illinois Sports Service, refused to answer when asked if he had harassed Lyons to the point that Lyons took an overdose of sleeping pills Saturday. Lyons is in a hospital now. Whether he will testify in the hearings later has not been decided.

Gorman, the former race wire operator, swore that anonymous telephone callers, learning he had been subpoenaed, threatened him in vile language with death if he testified.

Police Sgt. Morris English of Arlington Heights, Ill., a Chicago suburb, testified Mrs. Lyons told him her husband also had been threatened in an effort to induce him to invoke the Fifth Amendment in the hearings.

English said she named no one as having uttered the threats. He said she told him her husband wanted to testify but was afraid to, that he figured suicide "was the best way out."

Stowaway Due A Hard Lesson

NEW YORK (AP)—"Mom, I'm going out. Keep supper warm. I'll be right back."

With these words, Marion Swaab, 19, left her comfortable home here Aug. 18.

Marion did not get back in time for supper.

She is in Holland, having stowed away on the Holland-America liner Rotterdam.

"She did it again," said Marion's mother, "and this is it."

Marion, a dark-haired, pretty girl who studied in Europe and can talk fast in several languages "did it" the first time last year.

On July 14, 1960, she bought a 50-cent visitor's pass and went aboard the French liner, Liberte. She didn't get off again until the ship had reached Le Havre.

Last time, Marion sent her parents a cable from France asking them to pay her passage. Her father, importer Henry Swaab, did so.

This time Marion sent her parents a cable from the vessel reading: "I'm aboard the Rotterdam. Please deposit money with the steamship company. Please wire spending money."

"Not this time," said Mrs. Swaab today. "She needs a lesson. If we pay her way again, next time maybe she'll go to Japan."

The decision was not an easy one for the Swaabs. The family, which came here from Holland 10 years ago, is a close-knit one. Marion is the only child.

"It's harder for us than for her," said Mrs. Swaab. "But she has to learn. There's nothing the matter with her. Last time we had her examined by all sorts of doctors and psychiatrists. She's perfectly healthy.

"It's just that Marion is thoroughly irresponsible," said Mrs. Swaab. "She lives in a little dream world. Everything has come easy for her—good clothes, nice friends, a good job. People like her.

"She's pretty," the mother added.

"She has a pleasant personality, and she can talk you into anything, anything at all."

What about the Holland-America Line? What does it plan to do with the pretty young stowaway?

"I haven't the faintest idea," said a line spokesman.

Actress Buried

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Gail Russell, 36, was buried Tuesday after private funeral services attended by several film stars, other friends and her family.

DEAR ABBY

A Trip Works Two Ways

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a Navy guy. He has been stationed in California, and will be for some time. He wants me to make a trip there to visit him. I haven't seen him in over two years. He is willing to pay for my fare both ways, but my father won't permit it. Isn't it proper for a fiance to pay for his girl's transportation? I am 19 and he is 21.

"CALIFORNIA OR BUST"

DEAR CALIFORNIA: Your "Navy guy" has had enough leave in two years to have visited you. And if he can pay your way to see him, he can pay his way to see you. I'm with your father, Bust!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are at odds about my attitude toward the telephone. I say our telephone is for OUR convenience, not the convenience of others and, therefore, I will answer it WHEN and IF I feel like it. He says I should answer it every time it rings because it might be an emergency. I say if it is an emergency they will call again.

I have been up to my neck in housework when a friend has phoned to "chat." I have even gotten out of the tub, rushed to answer the phone, bumped my shin and cracked my toe, only to find that it was a wrong number. Or some dance studio is calling to inform me that I have just "won" a free lesson. I have trained my husband to call at 12:15. I will answer the phone at that time no matter what I am doing. I'd like your opinion, and the opinion of others on this subject.

MIND OF MY OWN

DEAR MIND: Although the telephone is unquestionably the number one time-saving miracle of the age, it can also be an annoying instrusion. If you are one of the few who can hear the bell toll, and care not a whit by whom it is tolled, then let it ring. It's your privilege.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a red-headed woman is much harder to get along with than a blonde. Is this true?

SHOPPING AROUND

DEAR SHOPPING: No! I know a woman who has been both, and the color of her hair didn't affect her disposition in the slightest.

Rev. Garnett Dies Tuesday

The Rev. W. S. Garnett, a former pastor of the East Fourth Baptist Church here, died Tuesday at the Scott & White Hospital in Temple, friends have learned here.

Services have been set for 10 a.m. at Mound, where he and Mrs. Garnett have resided for several years.

Prior to coming here, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Stanton. A rising young minister, he was incapacitated for a year or more when his voice failed completely. It was at Stanton that he resumed his ministry, although he still spoke with difficulty and a husky voice.

After leaving here, he lived for a time near Uvalde, moving several years ago to Mound. In recent years he had taken up painting professionally, but a malignancy of the back muscles recently virtually retired him. Then he suffered a blood clot in his arm and entered the Temple clinic.

United Fund Drive Timetable Planned

Timetable for the United Fund's solicitation this fall—the community's biggest effort of the year—was established Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of volunteer leaders.

Marvin Miller, general campaign chairman, has completed appointments of various division leaders.

These, in session Tuesday, briskly set about a program that will bring in $102,484 for financing operation of 12 welfare agencies for the ensuing year. Although the sum is a record one, Miller and his assistants established goals which they are confident they can meet—and which will assure success for the campaign.

The "big gifts" division, with Doug Orme as chairman, will start its canvass on Oct. 2. A general solicitation of public employes (this group includes those at Webb AFB, the VA Hospital, State Hospital, city, county, school and other governmental workers) will be launched at the same time, under leadership of Bruce Dunn.

A week later, on Oct. 9, the "special gifts" group will be at work. Champ Rainwater is chairman for this group.

The employe division, with Dan Krausse as chairman, will start its activity on Oct. 11. Krausse has called a meeting of volunteers in his group for Sept. 7, and said he has had such enthusiastic response that he is certain his division will establish a record in giving this year.

The "metropolitan," or general, division will make a city-wide appeal beginning Oct. 16. Arnold Marshall heads up this group.

The UF campaign office is being opened right away in the Petroleum Building, in the ground floor space formerly occupied by the Elmo Wasson store. Angy Glenn is office manager for the campaign, working on a volunteer basis.

There is no outside professional help involved in the campaign this year, Miller said, and stressed that the entire effort is handled by volunteers.

Various details are being ironed out for a successful campaign, the division chairmen said, and in many instances they already have lined up workers. It appeared that the UF appeal this fall will be conducted by the largest group of volunteers ever assembled in such a drive.

Agencies which derive their operational income through the United Fund are the YMCA, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk & Ice Fund, Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Childrens) Center, Red Cross, Texas Rehabilitation Center (Gonzales Warm Springs), Summer Recreation Program, Air Force Aid Society, West Side Youth Center, and Texas United Fund (financing principally the USO Centers overseas).

DAVID READ

Read To Attend Tax Meeting

State Representative David Read will be present at a meeting of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the new retail tax Thursday at 10 a.m., according to Gilbert Gibbs and Jim Lewis, co-chairmen.

The meeting was called to acquaint merchants with the tax and to answer questions.

"Information has been pretty hazy until now," Gibbs said, "and we will try to offer the businessmen something concrete."

He said an effort had been made to get Robert S. Calvert, comptroller, for the meeting, but neither he nor anyone else from the comptroller's office was able to attend. The Chamber of Commerce is trying to get someone from the Dallas office to talk to the businessmen.

Gibbs said an information brochure on the tax has been prepared by the State comptroller's office, but no local businessmen have received copies of it yet.

The discussion will go into collection, record keeping and other phases of the sales tax. Gibbs urged all local businessmen to attend.

Apples—But Not To Eat

Cafeterias at the Big Spring schools are being readied for the rush of students which will begin Thursday at noon. Decorations have been added to beautify the dining areas and give each cafeteria a distinctive touch. Here Mrs. Roger Miller, cafeteria manager at Goliad, arranges a special display of an apple tree. The display will be changed each month.

School Cafeterias Get Extra Decorative Touch

By JOE BEYER

Lines of dining customers, which might well make a restaurant owner envious, will soon begin forming at the local school cafeterias for lunch. Most of the cafeterias are already preparing for the rush which begins Thursday

Decorative touches have been added to each cafeteria to give students a pleasant atmosphere for their mid-day meal, according to Mrs. Roger Miller, cafeteria manager of Goliad Junior High and College Height Elementary.

At the Goliad cafeteria, bud vases and flowers will adorn the tables while windows will have displays of butterfly trees or trees with miniature apples dangling from mock branches. A special arrangement will be on display at each cafeteria. It will be changed each month, Mrs. Miller said.

The trees are a specialty of the Goliad cafeteria and other schools will have different displays. A cactus garden has been established at Runnels Junior High; Marcy Elementary has a goldfish theme in the cafeteria, and other schools have planter boxes with a variety of flowers and plants.

The cafeterias will offer the usual choice of two meats with a variety of vegetables. A hamburger plate is also offered.

Something new added at Goliad cafeteria is a snack bar where hamburgers, sandwiches and other foods will be sold. Soft ice cream is also being offered for the first time.

Classes have special times to eat. Lunch is served between 11 a.m. and 12:20 p.m. The meal tickets can be purchased each day, weekly or monthly.

FOR TEACHERS

Social Security Explanations Held

School teachers this morning heard an explanation of the costs and benefits of Social Security in one of the last of the special meetings preluding the opening of school for the fall term.

The program deviated from the agenda when two residents opened the meeting with pro and con opinions of the federally supported program. Supt. Sam Anderson opened the meeting explaining that Social Security was adopted by the school trustees on request of a majority of the teachers. He pointed out that John Powers, from the Odessa office of Social Secruity, had been invited to Big Spring to explain the program, not to sell it.

He said a local resident, Dr. George Peacock, had asked for time to speak in opposition and another resident, Johnny Johnson, who also is a board member, had asked for equal time. He then introduced the two speakers.

Dr. Peacock called Social Security just another tax and that a 22-year-old teacher would pay in $8,454 before he could retire at 62.

"You don't know what you are going to get at that time," he said' "as the law has already been changed more than 200 times." "You could invest your money and get more benefits."

He called Social Security a "welfare state program" and read a satirical description of a person who accepts Federal aid programs then denounces "creeping Socialism."

Johnson said the school board, of which he is a member, gave Social Security a careful study before adopting it. He emphasized that accepting it is the decision for each individual teacher.

"It's available if you want it," he said. "You have 90 days to decide. I'm happy it is available for you."

He pointed out that everything the trustees have done was aimed at the benefit of the children. He called teachers the heart of the school system.

The trustees voted the money for Social Security during the summer months and it is included in the new budget. Teachers who desire it may have their share deducted from pay checks beginning with the new school year.

On Dec. 4, a referendum will be held at which time the teachers may elect to accept or reject Social Security individually. Coverage will be retroactive to the opening of school, for those who allow deductions now.

A teacher who elects not to join the system may not join in the future as long as he is in the local district. All new teachers in the system after Dec. 4 automatically be included in Social Security.

George Rice emphasized again that the decision is up to the individual teacher as he introduced Powers.

"I will not advocate nor be opposed to Social Security," Powers said. "I am here to explain the system."

He discussed how participants get in security, who gets benefits and when, and how much Social Security costs.

In Hospital

Willis Winters, widely known Vincent farmer, is in the Howard County Hospital Foundation. He was transferred to the local hospital from Dallas where he has been hospitalized for sometime.

TESCO Scientists To Take Part In Fusion Conference

Research in nuclear fusion supported by Texas power companies has been given a place on the program of an international conference on nuclear fusion research to be held in Salzburg, Austria beginning Sept. 4, it was reported by Beeman Fisher, president of Texas Electric Service Company.

Texas Electric is a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is composed of 11 investor-owned electric companies of Texas. The Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring research aimed at controlling the nuclear fusion (hydrogen bomb) reaction for the eventual production of electric power. It is the world's largest privately-financed research program in this field.

Five scientists at work on the Foundation's research program will join others from the United States and other countries in discussing the latest developments in man's attempts to control on earth the energy process of the sun and stars. They are Dr. W. E. Drummond, Dr. N. A. Krall, Dr. M. N. Rosenbluth, Dr. N. Rostoker and Dr. A Simon, all of General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego, Calif.

"Naturally we are gratified that scientists from our project were invited to participate in this important international event, said Fisher. "We think it is significant that a major scientific effort being carried out by private enterprise here in the United States will have a place on the program along with governmental efforts by other countries."

12th Juror Selected For Rape Trial

COLORADO CITY—The twelfth juror for the trial of four men, charged with the rape of a Sweetwater woman, was selected at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Judge Eldon Mahon recessed the 32nd District Court from 10:30 to 1 p.m.

The twelve jurors seated were: E. L. Ashford, Westbrook farmer; Raymond Fuller, Colorado City grocer; Gene Britton, Lorraine mechanic; Ed Rothwell, Colorado City co-operative worker; Brady Warren, Colorado City insurance man; George Manuel Lee, Lorraine farmer; Mrs. G. E. Kessinger, Colorado City housewife and employe of a cleaning establishment; R. L. Mosley, Colorado City, Coltex Refinery employe; Paul B. All four are being tried simultaneously.

One hundred and forty special veniremen had been called up for the trial which will get under way this afternoon.

Defense attorneys, Tom Reid, Abilene and Clay Codgins, Roby, filed a motion to quash the venire on the grounds that the trial should be held at a later term of court. The motion was denied by Judge Mahon. The, defense then filed another motion for a change of venue, which was also denied.

Prosecuting the case are District Attorney Weldon Kirk, Sweetwater, Special Prosecutor Charles R. Griggs, Sweetwater, assisted by County Attorney Frank Ginzel, Colorado City.

Judge Mahon ordered the court to convene at 1 p.m. following the recess, at which time Mrs. Brooks is expected to take the stand.

LAMESA (SC) — Betty Joyce Brinkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brinkley of Lubbock, and Walton Charles Koemel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Koemel of Lamesa, exchanged wedding vows at the First Methodist Church Sunday at 3 p.m. Dr. E. D. Landreth, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

Miniature Specialty Gardens

DENVER (AP)— A tempest in a teapot means nothing to Mrs. Helen Stanley. She's too busy growing a garden in one.

Tiny gardens that really grow have been a major interest of the Denver woman for 25 years. She makes them as remembrances for friends, as gifts for hospitals and as surefire amusement items for her grandchildren.

"Seems as though I always have a grandchild in kindergarten and they love those for their show-and-tell hour," she said.

Her arrangements have many themes. A blue glass chicken, barely three inches long, holds a cluster of hens-and-chickens plants. A pottery bowl is the setting for a Mexican village with lilliputian figures, a tiny church and 27 varieties of cactus. A doll's teacup holds a plant called baby's tears.

Mrs. Stanley works mainly with miniature cactus she gets in California, because of its ability to adjust and live almost anywhere. She also scours the Colorado mountainsides for tiny flowers and plants.

Glaze On Ham Is Easy To Prepare

This ham gets an appetizing glaze.

GLAZED HAM
½ fully-cooked ham
Whole cloves
½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
½ tsp. dry mustard
1-3 cup apricot preserves
1 can (1 lb., 13 ozs.) cling peach halves
2 tbsps. lemon juice

Score fat on ham; insert whole cloves. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven; count on 20 minutes per pound (with ham at room temperature) or longer if you like.

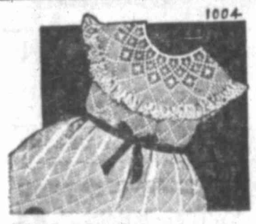

About 30 minutes before ham is ready, mix sugar, mustard and preserves with ½ cup syrup from peaches. Pour off any fat from ham pan; place ham on small sheet of heavy foil in pan, turning up edges; pour over the sugar mixture.

Place peaches on foil around ham. Baste ham a few times while continuing to roast this last 30 minutes. The basting mixture makes a good sauce for the ham; add the lemon juice to it just before serving.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Complexion Beauty Brought By Yeast

By LYDIA LANE

LONDON—I was very eager to meet Shirley Anne Field who was so successful in "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning." She was working at the Hammer Studio which is an hour's drive from London. The studio was once a country club and because of its size, only one film is made at a time there. I arrived on "The Damned" set just as the luncheon break was being called, and I walked along a garden path to a dining room where home cooked meals were being served. Shirley was there greeting me with a smile and inviting me to join her for lunch.

As we talked, she explained her background and how she was a blitz orphan and was raised in a home with other war orphans.

"That was the beginning of my career on stage. At seven I was a show-off. I used to dance and sing for the other children," she laughed.

I complimented her on the beautiful blue print dress that she was wearing.

"Its from my own wardrobe," she explained. "I'm glad I had time to change before you arrived because Americans are always so chic—even when they step from a train or plane. I don't know how they manage.

"I am terribly interested in fashion—more than the average English girl," Shirley continued. "Now, I like the quiet look. I used to be too flamboyant. My taste was for attention-demanding clothes. But one night I went to an important gala and I realized the really beautifully dressed women were not in the least conspicuous.

Shirley was wearing lightly colored make-up base.

"My skin looks best without any make-up at all," she admitted.

"You have a lovely complexion," I commented. "What is that extra something you do for it?"

"For one thing, there is no substitute for feeling well, and I do," she replied. "But I like to use a yeast pack. It keeps my skin clear. I mix one cake of yeast with just enough warm water to make a paste. I spread it over my face and neck and lie down for a 15-minute rest. Then I wash it off with warm water followed by cold water."

Houston Passes Historical Mark—Its 125th Birthday

HOUSTON (AP) — The "Bagdad on the Bayou" celebrated its 125th birthday today, but no one danced in the streets.

Most of Houston's city officials were out of town attending a municipal league meeting as Houston marked a century and a quarter of official existence.

The city was founded Aug. 30, 1836 with the bold announcement in the Columbia Telegraph and Texas Register that "the town of Houston ... is now for the first time brought to public notice."

John K. and Augustus C. Allen put that announcement in the paper. They were the boys who founded Houston after Mexican General Santa Anna sacked the nearby community of Harrisburg.

Since then Houston has grown from a city with one tent to the nation's seventh largest metropolis.

The city has become, as the Allen boys said it would, "beyond all doubt the great interior commerial emporium of Texas."

John and Augustus were promoters in the true Texas style. They pictured Houston as the "breeze - swept space on the Gulf" and said it was "located at a point on the river which must ever command the trade of the largest and richest portion of Texas."

The "river" was really the junction of two muddy bayous. And Houston didn't even have one building at the time.

The Allens named their town after Gen. Sam Houston, the Texas hero who earlier in 1836 led the Texas army in its defeat of Santa Anna at San Jacinto. That victory gave Texas its independence.

The Allens flooded Texas and nearby states with propaganda extolling the virtues of Houston. The many who ventured to the townsite found little — except mud, mosquitoes, humidity and a long list of reasons why there is no place like home.

"It was hard to find the city in the pine woods and when we did, it consisted of one dugout canoe, a bottle of gourd whiskey and a surveyor's chain and compass and was inhabited by four men with an ordinary camping outfit," one early visitor wrote.

But the Allens were't wrong. A year later Houston was the capital of the Republic of Texas. The capital was moved to Austin in 1839, but Houston survived.

Judge Rules Cuban Freighter Under Sovereign Immunity

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A federal judge says the hijacked Cuban freighter Bahia de Nipe is protected by the doctrine of sovereign immunity and should be returned to Cuba — but not until claimants against it have exhausted all their avenues of appeal.

The judicial branch of the federal government "should avoid any conflict with the executive in the field of international relations," Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman said Tuesday night in supporting the U.S. State Department's decision to return the 3,800-ton vessel to the Castro government.

But he stayed execution of his order to permit anticipated appeals to the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals on Sept. 5.

After that, the case could be taken to the U.S. Supreme Court by the persons and firms which have sought to have the sugar-laden ship sold to satisfy alleged indebtedness of more than $1,272,000.

The judge had said Saturday that, regardless of his decision, the ship must remain in Chesapeake Bay in possession of the Coast Guard while the issues are under appeal.

Ten days ago, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said "the prompt release of the vessel is necessary to secure the observance of the rights and obligations of the United States."

In his 25-page memorandum, Hoffman said "recognition and allowance of the claim of sovereign immunity by the State Department, when accompanied by a certification of its action presented to the court by the attorney general, is final and binding upon the court."

The Bahia de Nipe was bound for a Soviet Baltic port when her master and 10 crewmen overpowered and imprisoned 23 other crewmen and sailed her into Chesapeake Bay in search of political asylum.

A day after the ship arrived, Aug. 18, two Philadelphia longshoremen with claims against the nationalized Cuban company which manages the ship sought to have her attached and sold to satisfy their claims.

The list of claimants grew rapidly, including pleas for back wages put in by the 11 defecting crewmen. The Coast Guard, acting on orders from Washington, refused to permit a deputy U.S. marshal to serve attachment papers on the freighter.

Hoffman ordered the Coast Guard to court Aug. 19 to explain why it should prohibit the marshal from boarding the ship.

Last Saturday, Hoffman ruled orally the Coast Guard exceeded its authority when it prevented the deputy marshal from carrying out his job. On Monday, he said President Kennedy exceeded his authority in instructing the Coast Guard to repulse the attachment efforts.

In his memorandum, however, Hoffman said the doctrine of sovereign immunity—which protects a government property from seizure—prevents the claimants from any benefits of attaching the ship.

Relying on a previous case, Hoffman said in his memorandum he was forced to dismiss the claimants' arguments that sovereign immunity should not interfere with their claims.

"The President, as the elected representative of the people of the United States, is the final word on the subject in the absence of congressional legislation," Hoffman wrote. "It is not for a court to question such matters of policy."

Sales Tax Forms Going Out Today

AUSTIN (AP) — Applications for sales tax permits were scheduled to go to 160,000 holders of store tax licenses today.

The applications, sent out by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert are the first step in complying with a ruling that all persons selling, leasing or renting tangible personal property must have one of the new permits.

In another ruling, Calvert said that anyone leasing or renting a motion picture of any kind to theaters or television stations must pay the 2 per cent use tax beginning Friday.

Calvert said the tax on films must be paid by the rentor and can not be passed on to persons to whom they lease or rent motion pictures.

The comptroller also ruled that those persons engaged in general services, such as doctors, barbers or service station attendants, may not collect a 2 per cent sales tax from their customers unless separate charges are made for labor and materials.

Eaves Admits Shooting, But Claims Self-Defense

BEAUMONT (AP)—A former Arizona police officer has admitted in a signed statement that he shot and killed a Port Arthur golf pro and wounded the man's father, but claimed the shootings were in self defense.

Texas Ranger Hollis Sillavan of Columbus, Tex., and Joe Goodwin, defense attorney for James Virgil Eaves, 37, of Eloy, Ariz., told newsmen Tuesday Eaves signed the statement.

Homer Widener, golf pro at the Pleasure Island Golf Course at Port Arthur, was shot to death Aug. 22 at his home in Groves, just outside the city. The father, Ben Widener, 70, was wounded and still in critical condition at a hospital here.

Sillavan said Eaves admitted taking a large sum of money from the dead man. He said $6,700 was found on Eaves when he was arrested the morning after the shooting as he left Port Arthur by taxi.

Wayne Patterson, assistant district attorney at Port Arthur, said "robbery apparently was the motive" for the double shooting.

Goodwin stressed to reporters that the shootings were in self defense.

Eaves had earlier declared he was innocent saying shortly after his arrest, "I don't know anything about it."

Goodwin said Eaves "felt the Wideners were out to get him because he knew too much about where they had their cash stashed."

The attorney also said Eaves told him he had reported both men to the Internal Revenue Service several years ago.

On Aug. 23 Eaves signed a statement admitting the wounding of the elder Widener but claimed the elder Widener shot and killed his son.

Employment At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment surged to a record high during August and there was some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed.

But Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, releasing the August job figures Tuesday, said the unemployment rate remained at the same 6.9 per cent of the labor force.

Employment hit a total of 68,539,000, up 40,000 over July. This compared with 68,282,000 in August last year.

Unemployment was down 598,000 to 4,542,000, compared with 3,788,000 a year earlier.

Despite the dip in unemployed, Goldberg said the percentage of the labor force out of jobs remained the same because the labor force total declined as many students, unable to find summer jobs, quit trying.

Goldberg said he was encouraged by some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed —those who have been out of jobs for so many months that their unemployment compensation payments have ended.

Nixon Criticizes Berlin Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday night called President Kennedy's ordering 1,500 extra troops to Berlin "an empty gesture."

"Any thought that moving a few ground troops into Berlin is going to have any effect on Mr. Khrushchev is a bunch of nonsense," Nixon said on a CBS radio program "The World Tonight."

Nixon said he thought the Soviet premier might interpret the "beefing up" of the U.S. garrison in Berlin as an indication of "weakness rather than strength."

Nixon said, however, that "I would not criticize" Kennedy's general handling of the Berlin situation "except for the fact that I think there has been too much loose talk about it."

Doctors Check Sikh Leader

Doctors examine Master Tara Singh, 76-year-old Sikh leader, at Amritsar, India, on the ninth day of his fast unto death in support of his demands for a separate Sikh state in the Indian Punjab. Sikh negotiators have made repeated visits to New Delhi in attempts to reach agreement with Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

Scores Saved After Cable Car Accident

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—The slow, inch-by-inch rescue of more than three score sightseers trapped in aerial cable cars hundreds of feet above an Alpine glacier was completed today.

Numbed by a night of subfreezing cold on the slopes of Mont Blanc, most of the rescued scattered as soon as they were brought down at various points on the cable line. Rescue officials said they could give no precise count of how many persons were aboard the string of cars when a low-flying French air force jet sliced the tow cable Tuesday afternoon.

The cutting of the tow cable sent three cars spinning down the steep incline of one section of the support cable. At a way station at the foot of the incline the three cars jumped the cable and plunged 700 feet to the glacier below, killing a German family of four in one car and an Italian father and son in another .The third car was empty.

LEFT HANGING

More than 25 other cable cars were left hanging high above the Alps. A winch was hurried into place and Alpine rescuers inched their way out on the support cable to attach cables to pull the cars to safety. Through the night the cars were slowly pulled to the line's terminals or to points from which Alpinists could lower the occupants by ropes to the glacier.

The pilot of the plane, a Capt. Ziegler of a French experimental jet squadron, landed his damaged F84F jet at his base at Luxeuil, in central France. It was impounded by civil investigators.

The plane zipped over the valley at well above the speed of sound. No one reported actually seeing it cut the traction cable, but one sightseer, Francis Blanchard, a Frenchman with the International Labor Organization at Geneva, said he saw the plane performing acrobatics just before.

THANKFUL

Officials were thankful for one circumstance in the bizarre accident. After the three cabins derailed, the loose end of the tow cable entangled in the rollers of the way station tower. This kept several other tourist-loaded cars from being cut loose to roll backward on the downhill side of the tower.

The cable line is strung between two peaks of 15,781-foot Mont Blanc and stretches three miles between the 10,500-foot Aiguille du Midi on the French side of the chasm and the Torino, slightly lower, on the Italian side. It makes a sharp dip at the halfway mark, a rocky outcrop known as the Gros Rognon (Big Kidney).

Tourists normally do the ride in half an hour, dangling at times 1,000 feet above the glacier. At eight points along the way there are stopping points where they can get out.

On this trip some of the tourists spent 20 hours in the tiny cabins. Most were dressed in summer clothes. One passenger, an Indian woman from London, had on a thin sari and gold slippers. Someone loaned her a pair of wool socks to negotiate the glacier after she was lowered from her stranded car.

FEW AMERICANS

Most of the sightseers were French, Italian or British, but there were a few Americans.

Hugh Putnam, 20, of Milton, Mass., and his cousin, Katherine Blodgett, 19, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were stranded for 15 hours. They got down via a rope and took their ordeal cheerfully.

"I was terrified at first," said Miss Blodgett," but then I quickly relaxed. We had an American newspaper with us and spent part of the time doing the crossword puzzle. I must confess that when darkness fell the puzzle was still incomplete."

It was a beautiful moonlit night on the mountain and the trapped passengers had a spectacular view of the summit of Mont Blanc the Alp's highest mountain, and the glacier below.

The accident was witnessed by Prof. Angus Taylor of Los Angeles and his wife, who had just finished lunch and were watching people board the cars on the Italian side.

Taylor saw the plane coming in at high speed. "Then there was a big commotion and I saw those cars falling into the valley like ornaments dropping off a Christmas tree."

Taylor said he did not actually see the plane hit the cable or even hear any noise.

"That was why it was so terrifying — it was all so quiet up there on the peak," he said. "There were no screams, nothing but the fading whistle of the jet plane and the wind. It was terrifying."

Indoctrination In Dallas Set

DALLAS (AP)—A special indoctrination period has been planned for the small group of Dallas Negro children slated to enroll in previously all-white schools here next week.

The Dallas News said Tuesday night both the white teachers to whom the Negro youths will be assigned and the principals of the schools they will attend will probably participate.

Their parents are expected to accompany them. Some top officials of the school district are also likely to be on hand.

Together, the News said, they are expected to "set the mood" for events the children may encounter during their first day of school.

The schedule for the Dallas school district calls for preenrollment of elementary pupils in the first grade at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the school the children will attend.

Negro children who will attend previously al-white schools will not pre-enroll at the school they will attend.

The News said these Negro children will report at 8 a.m. Tuesday to some central point that has not been disclosed. At this time, the children will attend an indoctrination period.

School officials will identify the schools to be integrated at 7 a.m. Wednesday—only 1½ hours before they show up for classes.

Observers estimate that the number of Negroes will vary between 12 and 24.

Lyndon Returns From Weekend

JOHNSON CITY (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, fresh from a long weekend of rest at his spacious ranch 64 miles west of Austin, headed back to Washington Tuesday night.

Johnson arrived here last Thursday and observed his 53rd birthday at a small dinner party at the ranch Sunday.

6-Inch Rain At Smithville

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain poured down on sectors of Central Texas Tuesday, including an estimated six inches at Smithville in Bastrop County, but slacked to light showers early Wednesday.

The downpours at Smithville were estimated by some residents at as much as six inches, City Policeman J. L. Bement said.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Austin, 40 miles to the northwest, said 4.10 inches fell in Smithville between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Some streets were under water for a time but no homes or buildings were reported flooded. Winds knocked limbs from trees, but there apparently was no heavy property damage.

Very light showers were reported at dawn from just west of Waco to about 40 miles southwest of Mineral Wells. At the time, however, the Weather Bureau said the showers appeared to be decreasing.

Elsewhere over the state skies were clear to partly cloudy, except partly cloudy to cloudy in Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco and around El Paso. Some cloudiness was also reported along the upper Texas coast.

Temperatures ranged from 77 at Galveston to 62 at Lubbock, Dalhart, San Angelo and Junction.

Rain fell Wednesday in Abilene, Dallas, College Station, El Paso, Galveston, Houston, Lufkin, Waco and Killeen. Houston measured .94 of an inch and Killeen got .95.

High temperatures Wednesday were 97 at Laredo, Lubbock and Presidio. The low was 52 at Alpine.

More Patrols At Gatesville

AUSTIN (AP) — More patrols designed to stiffen security at the Gatesville State School for Boys are scheduled soon, the Texas Youth Council said Tuesday.

With more men and money available after Sept. 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, a more intense security program will be implemented "as soon as possible," said Dr. James A. Turman, council executive director.

Mounted and motorized patrols around the school are planned, Turman said.

Mountain View School, a new maximum security unit, is due completion around April, he said, and it will house 480 boys. The council has been under fire following the slaying of a guard at the Central Texas school which has an average population of 1,350.

Interim Studies Important To Legislature

What happens between legislative sessions is becoming increasingly controlling on the course of public affairs in Texas. State government has become such big business, and the problems with which it deals so complex, that it is difficult to impossible for the Legislature to act intelligently on major issues without benefit of a reliable advance research and anaylsis studies made under expert guidance.

For that purpose, the Texas Legislative Council was established in 1949. The council is comprised of five senators and ten representatives, who supervise a permanent professional staff and also form special study committees.

Considerable discretionary power has accrued to the council because legislative resolutions for between-sessions studies come in the form of requests and it lacks the staff and funds to undertake them all, at least by a definite deadline. When it meets this fall to determine which requested studies to pursue seriously, the council will be making judgments of decisive importance to the next regular session of the state Legislature.

The Legislature also depends heavily on studies and investigations by special interim committees. There apparently will be more of these now that legislators are on annual salary, but their work also is hampered by lack of adequate funds and staff. The Legislature also looks for help to research work done by the semi-public Texas Municipal League, the privately financed Texas Research League, administrative agencies, lobbying organizations and other sources.

A review of this situation suggests that it would be wise for the state Legislature to increase the Texas Legislative Council's budget substantially and expand its staff. The number, range and importance of the interim studies now authorized indicate the necessity. The Legislature should be in the position of ordering, rather than requesting, the expert and unbiased between-sessions research which a majority of its members vote is needed.

Sen. Russell May Get His Coalition

Either by persuasion or filibuster, Southern senators have succeeded in staving off any significant change in Senate rules to cut off debate. Historically the weapon of unlimited debate has been used to prevent civil rights measures from reaching a vote.

With the same resourcefulness that has served them so well in the past, Southerners under the leadership of the courtly senator from Georgia, Richard B. Russell, have now moved to turn back another assault on the filibuster rule. The move was evoked by a promise from the Senate Democratic leadership that the question of a rules change to limit debate would be presented for consideration during the present session.

Instead of raising the issue of civil rights bills that the senator feels would punish the South, Russell has come up with a subtle new approach. He argues now that backers of debate limitation are seeking to change the economy of the nation.

"The rule has lost its significance so far as Negro rights are concerned," Russell said. "Its chief backers are those seeking to change the economy of the country, rather than Negro rights."

This is a shrewd bid for reactivation of an old alliance between Southerners, conservative Northern Democrats and Republicans. Since Russell can be sure of only about 19 Southern senators he needs to find 17 more senators to vote with him to prevent a change in the present rules which require a two-thirds vote to cut off debate.

Very few arguments are better calculated to appeal to mistrustful Republicans than the one suggested by Russell. Some observers are confident that Russell will be able to reestablish, if only on this issue, the old North-South coalition. He will also have time as his ally. The leadership is certain to dispose of most important legislation before it turns to the question of a rules change, while pressures will mount to adjourn before the Labor Day weekend.

Berlin Greets The Americans

HOMEBOUND WITH JOHNSON — "Everything except the physical contacts," said somebody in the press bus on the Autobahn while we were comparing the emotional outburst of Berlin with that of European cities, like Paris and Brussels, liberated in World War II.

HE MEANT that women were not throwing their arms around the GI's and us, smearing us with kisses and feeding us on wine. No, the welcome was not sexy or abandoned, but it was full of irrepressible feelings. We had driven out with the Vice President that bright Sunday morning, through streets only a little less crowded than on Saturday, and had come to a large sign that told us the Russian sector began 200 yards ahead. The steep banks of the Autobahn and the overhead passes were packed with cheering throngs. The motorcade began a U-turn to get into position to receive the incoming American battle group that was reenforcing Berlin — and here Lyndon Johnson with Gen. Lucius Clay and Ambassador Charles (Chip) Bohlen, leaped from their car.

WHAT ECSTASY! What wild pursuit I was running backwards like a boxer in training so as to face the visiting party. Flowers were thrust upon Johnson. "These were picked in East Germany," yelled the donor. A well-dressed lady seized the Vice President's arm. He turned and bent to hear her—but her face gave way to weeping, and she could only stare wordlessly, while he patted her hand. A girl of about 20 got to him and spoke. He shouted at me to come close, and she told me she was in East Germany three days ago. But the sight of a wielded pencil and raised cameras made her dive back into the crowd to escape identification.

WE GOT SET at an impromptu reviewing stand, with the flags set up. The troops began coming through. Their vehicles were festooned with flowers. The tired men looked bashful and self-conscious but deeply moved as they went through the avenue of adoration.

It was sustained emotion. Mounting emotion. Emotion that kept climbing. It reached plateau after plateau but never an end-all peak. At McNair Barracks, the Vice President (who can bellow like a longhorn) made a sotto voce speech to no more than 20 soldiers and officers in the mess hall. He told them their profession was peace, and to keep the peace. He turned to the American flag and called her Old Glory, by name, and said that it went abroad to bring liberty and to keep liberty. He said that those of us who had freedom should not keep it to ourselves, but should wish to share it with others. He took his wrist watch from his pocket and, putting it on, said that on the back was inscribed the Golden Rule. His mother had taught it to him, he said, and it was the American policy: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." The hall was so hushed you could hear a man breathe.

IT WAS SAID to be Johnson's second best speech of the day. Somebody who heard both say that he topped it with another before a small group who gathered outside Ambassador Dowling's house where we were attending a conference. Anyhow, LBJ was at his Sunday best all day long.

Here in the official plane, headed home, some of us crowded into the Vice President's cabin with Gen. Clay and Ambassador Bohlen and tried to assess the tumultuous two-day experience. What had the Johnson visit accomplished, if anything?

NOBODY EXPECTS the Russians to give up East Germany or to reopen the gates to refugees into West Berlin. But Clay and Bohlen had driven into East Berlin for an unheralded visit while Johnson was taking the afternoon plaudits. What they found there was an armed camp. Clay, who came to Berlin in 1945, said he had never seen so many soldiers doing nothing but patrol. They were all in East German military uniform reenforced by militia and police, and riding in Russian tanks and armed vehicles. The General and the Ambassador saw almost no civilians on the street, and none which looked them in the eye.

JOHNSON'S VISIT has brought out this contrast of West vs. East. West Berlin was in the streets with cheers and flowers. East Berlin was in the cellars, behind barbed wire, amid the rumble of tanks and the tread of military boots. Nobody could doubt the integrity of the American troops and their will to kill Communists. But Gen. Clay sensed a real instability in the East German forces. Would they fight? Would they fire on their countrymen? How soft is the crust between the Soviets and the West?

All these questions were raised by the tour of the dramatic Vice President, brilliantly supported by Gen. Clay and sagely coached by Ambassador Bohlen. Had the trip not been made, or not been successful, there is thought at the highest levels of American and West German government that something similar to what happened in East Berlin might have happened in West Berlin. Bluntly, one reason for the Vice President's trip was to obliterate the possibility of refugees from West Berlin breaking into West Germany —and beyond.

AS A PERSONAL estimate, I think a major accomplishment may have been to show President Kennedy that our major weapon is one he has not fully unsheathed — it is anti-Communism.

There is something, too, to be learned from the amazing reception by the West Berliners of Gen. Clay, who first appeared as their conqueror at the end of World War II.

Here's The Turtle Race Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—If speed were a meal-ticket, the diplomats would starve to death. For three years both sides have been in a slow dance on Berlin, pausing to parley. Now the music begins again.

This time the tune is a little different, more somber, because Premier Khrushchev sounds more determined. But once again the foreign ministers are beginning to shuffle toward another parley.

Whether this means another full-blown and long-drawn-out foreign ministers meeting or just a short one to be followed by another summit conference won't be known for a while.

But, as Khrushchev has kept on piling up the Berlin crisis, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has kept saying there'd be negotiations to settle the whole thing peacefully. Khrushchev has kept the door open for negotiations.

BUT SLOW AS it all is French President de Gaulle wanted it still slower. He was against hurrying into a conference with the Soviets. So a kind of compromise was worked out.

In September the West's Big Four ministers—American, British, French, West German—are expected to meet in this country to decide how to handle Khrushchev. Then they'll contact his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko.

The purpose: to see whether he thinks East-West talks would be worthwhile. It would be much simpler to send him a cable, asking that question, but apparently cables move too fast.

But one thing's for sure: if the foreign ministers—the Western ones by themselves or the Western ones with Gromyko—duplicate their performance of the past two years the answer will be a big, fat zero and maybe real trouble.

KHRUSHCHEV started the trouble in November 1958, when he called for the West to get out of Berlin. Between then and May 1959 both sides had time to figure out a settlement—if they wanted one. Apparently they didn't.

The American, British and French foreign ministers met with Gromyko from May to August 1959, but they not only couldn't agree, they wound up in confessed confusion.

French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville said of Gromyko's tactics: "We are in complete confusion. We have reached a point at which neither side knows what the other is talking about."

The Westerners proposed, among other things, that Khrushchev agree to unification of East and West Germany. It didn't need a magician to know that's the last thing to which Khrushchev would let Gromyko agree.

SO GROMYKO said the Western proposals were a "hopeless tangle of unrelated issues." The West also wanted a five-year extension of the present Berlin situation. Russia offered only 18 months, with no promise of what happened afterwards.

The Best Of Worlds

NEW YORK (AP)—Some people want to go to heaven when they leave this present vale of tears and terror.

I did, too, until I started noticing how the people live who are pictured in television commercials. Now, if I must depart this earthly scene, I want to be reborn one of them.

They dwell, it seems to me, in the best of all possible worlds—better even than heaven because it is more exciting.

There are two fantasy worlds on television.

One is the world shown on TV programs. It is a world of conflict and violence inhabited by gangsters, Western bad men, juvenile delinquents, psychotics and neurotics. It is a ferocious world in which fists thud endlessly, flashing knives are buried in human flesh, and guns bark, roar or spit flaming death.

Life in this world is just one long heyday for the undertaker and the bandage salesman.

The second TV fantasy world is shown in the commercials.

This is the dream world into which any sensible person would love to retire right now and live happily forever.

What are its attractions? Well, there are so many it is hard to know just where to begin.

The world of the TV commercial is a world of solvable problems. Most everybody has a trouble, but it is a small trouble easily and quickly remedied.

It is a world without cruelty or mayhem, inhabited by kindly people who help one another to live better by just a bit of friendly advice.

The repairman doesn't charge the harassed housewife $86.12 to fix her washing machine.

"What kind of soapsuds have you been using?" he asks with tolerant superiority. "Just switch to GRIME, and everything will be all right."

The housewife does—right there and then. Miracle of miracles, it works. If the repairman even bothers to give her a bill, he does it off camera.

In the world of the TV commercial no one worries about the hydrogen bomb, the Berlin crisis, or what to do about Cuba. No one is afflicted with cancer, heart disease, or a runaway ex-husband who refuses to meet his alimony payments.

Lonely girls or middle-aged women find new romance simply by switching to a new deodorant or gray-hair dye. Lonely men anoint their unruly locks with a special cream, and immediately are turned into irresistible Casanovas.

That's the wonderful thing about this best of all possible worlds—nothing is really complicated.

We'd have better relations abroad if we exported not our explosive TV programs but our cheery TV commercials.

They'd show the rest of mankind a world we could all aspire to live in together—a world where all problems have easy answers, and everything always turns out for the best.

Wouldn't you like to buy a one-way ticket to there right now yourself?

Old Wives' Tales Are Hard To Stop

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

A bit ago I just read a book called "Battle—the Story of the Bulge."

Now I don't set myself up as a literary critic, and certainly not as a military expert. I'm just a doctor, doing the best I can. But I did find the book fascinating, and I note that the critics did, too, so I suppose my opinion was justified. The book made me live through that important battle. I shuddered but I felt that I saw it happen.

One medical item caught my eye. About the battle with the cold—about tight boots causing trench foot, loose boots stuffed with paper doing a better job; about newspapers wrapped around chests under wool shirts to cut the wind and keep body warmth inside. It's a story all of us should read. Well, not a story, because it's history, and real. It happened, in all its brave misery.

And these three sentences: "The facts of cold, long known to men of Minnesota and Maine, were passed on to men from Alabama and Texas. Frozen toes, ears, noses were rubbed gently to start circulation. The old wives' remedy of rubbing snow on these frozen parts often brought on gangrene."

This bit of wisdom meant the difference between life and death to our troops. Many died! However, enough lived to save us all.

This made me speculate on why and how "old wives' tales" are born, and why they are so hard to bury once they are known to be false. The process, I believe, is this:

1 — Some problem (in this case freezing) is obvious.

2 — No answer is apparent. Yet people naturally feel that there MUST be an answer.

3 — So somebody, with all sincerity, invents one, and with sincerity convinces others that the answer is right.

4 — It isn't the true answer—but it sounds plausible, and more than that, nobody can prove it is wrong.

5 — So, under such circumstances, the idea is repeated, again and again, and is believed since no one can disprove it.

6 — And that is how we come to accept things that we "just know are true," when they sometimes aren't.

That's why it's so hard to upset some of the scores of old wives' tales, even after science has proved them wrong. After years of the habit of believing something, it's hard to give up something we "know" is true.

That's why people like me to try to keep pecking away at these notions—the groundless notions about aluminum cooking pans being "bad," and some of the extravagant ideas of vitamins "keeping the hair from turning gray," and belief in "acid foods" being bad for you," and all the rest of 'em.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: Will my voice improve or will I lose it if I have a polyp removal from my vocal cord?—J. B."

Removal shouldn't appreciably impair your speech. There might be a bit of hoarseness, which should subside gradually.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me something about sacroiliac. What causes it. If there's a cure. My doctor gave me pain pills and told me to use heat, and put it under no strain.—M. E. M."

Sacroiliac pain is the result of pinching or otherwise inflaming the sacroiliac nerve. This is an important nerve which projects from the lower part of the spine and serves an area including the backs of the thighs and lower leg.

The first and best treatment is to give the irritated nerve a fair chance to calm down and recover. Heat helps. Protecting the nerve from further irritation is basic. Relief of pain, for the time being, either by pills or injections, naturally aids.

The trouble often originates at or near the lower part of the spine even though the pain may seem to be centered farther along on the nerve, in the thighs. Correction of spine defects may help.

Around The Rim

Look, Listen And Learn

You can always learn something if you just keep your eyes and ears open.

For instance, I am advised that quiet meditation has been used to stem motor mishaps. Compulsory courses in Zen meditation have helped curb reckless impulses of Japanese bus drivers. Some safety experts think something similar might help in America. For those who won't stop and meditate upon the sanctity of the other man's soul, the advice is to make sure the car is good running condition, to maintain mental discipline when long stretches of driving confuse the mind. Stop at least every two hours to stretch and take a coffee break. Remain serene amidst slowed-up traffic. Obey the traffic laws.

WHEN YOU WANT to cool yourself, is it better to drink hot or cold beverages? The Lipton tea makers straddle the fence nicely on this, averring it all depends on how you want to do it. Cool beverages probably cool quicker, but heat loss from consuming a hot cup of tea is 50 times greater than the heat intake. Hence, if you have time to sweat it out, so to speak, that hot cup may be the better in the long run.

Surveys tell us that there is only about three per cent of the newspaper readers who follow the crossword puzzle. But this is a militant and devoted three per cent, as any editor who has attempted to drop the puzzles can attest. According to the new edition of Encyclopaedia Britannica, crossword puzzles date back to the 19th century when the forerunner appeared as a word square—a device where the words read the same horizontally as vertically. From the time the present crossword appeared on Dec. 21, 1913 in Fun, a Sunday supplement of the New York World, they have been a fixed part of the American scene.

I NOTE that there is a new earth-moving contraption on the market now by the name of cowdozer. Whereas the time-honored bulldozer pushed the load ahead, the cowdozer pulls it in. It has a utility all of its own and has nothing to do with perpetuating the mechanical breed.

Workers in Studebaker-Packard have found a way to brighten their surroundings. Everytime there is a slack period they pick up the paint brush and put a coat on machines, benches, floors, etc. The company furnishes the paint out of stocks left from previous model years. Officials say the factory is shining as never before. Also, another twist has been employed. The supervisors now wear short-sleeved jackets trimmed in blue. Any worker wishing to speak to a supervisor now has only to look for the jacket.

THERE IS A NINE-BILLION dollar fund of research and patent information at your service, according to the Department of Commerce. All you have to do to obtain free information on domestic marketing or products and services, on foreign outlets for American companies, community development, government patents and technical research is to write the department in Washington, D. C. or the branch office at 500 S. Ervay in Dallas 1.

Space Trip: Don't Take The Kids

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Astronauts and cosmonauts may not want any advice from the likes of me. But I have a profound bit of counsel for them that may, in the long run, save them their sanity. Never, never go on a trip to the moon or anyplace else in space with a rocket full of kids. That was my mistake.

No matter how much the astronauts or cosmonauts know about their job, the kids will know more and will have no hesitation in saying so.

NOW A TRIP to outer space, at least in this community, is made in a long, shiny rocket that looks like stainless steel and seats 30 daring passengers. It didn't embarrass me to be the only adult in a crowd that was composed otherwise of sevens-to-elevens; it just made me mad. Grownups ought to show a little spunk, too.

No sooner were the doors of the rocket secured than a warning sign appeared: "Fasten Seat Belts; Put Out Cigarettes." And no sooner did the sign appear than a small comedian in the back of the ship yelled, "Charlie, drop that chocolate cigar!"

"THEY DO IT different at Cape Canaveral," yelled the fat little boy opposite me as we blasted off.

"Where's the cherry-picker?" screamed a small fiend up front.

"My space suit ain't working," yelled the fat boy, determined not to be topped.

And all the time, through the simulated window in the front of the rocket, we were blasting through the heavens, past stars, comets, constellations. And I was straining to hear the smooth commentary that came over the intercom, explaining the sights like an American Express guided tour.

BUT I COULDN'T hear a word above the fat boy yelling, "Hold me, Gertie, I'm weightless;" the child in the rear crying, "I'm yawing; watch me! I'm yawing!" and a moppet in back who seemed to be giving the rebel yell and announcing, "I'm the booster rocket; I'm the booster rocket!"

"Keep still!" I hissed at the fat boy. After all, I had come on this trip as an educational venture. I wanted to hear the sound track. But I was the only one who did.

"I'M IN ORBIT!" the fat boy bawled.

"Naw, you aren't," shouted a little girl. "You're in New Joisey!"

In the window up front, another rocket passed us. Then a satellite. Next, a space ship.

"It's the Russians," cried my fat friend.

"Rat-a-tat-tat, rat-a-tat-tat" sounded machine guns as every kid drew a bead on the space ship.

AT THAT MOMENT there swam into horrid view a dreadful monster from outer space. He looked like a cross between Gargantua and King Kong. And he drew back a huge iron club with which to break up our space ship.

"Yah! Yah! Yah!" sneered the fat boy, at the top of his lungs, "he looks like my father's mother!" The space ship broke up, all right. The small fry would have rolled in the aisles, except for their safety belts.

THERE IS LITTLE else to say except that when we landed the fat boy wanted to know where the helicopters were and a sassy girl-child yelled "fake" because she wasn't being picked up out of the water a la Gus Grissom.

When I climbed out of the rocket, I felt like the cub reporter at the fire who phoned his editor, "All is confusion; can learn nothing."

If confusion is to be avoided in the cosmos, leave the kids at home, is my advice.

Our Intelligence Work Must Grow

EN ROUTE FROM EUROPE — They know a lot more in Western Europe about intelligence work than we do in America. This is because they have been at it longer.

Hence, it was rather disquieting to have some of the European officials who are most experienced in intelligence activities say privately that they are worried about the future of the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, which up to now has been a bulwark of strength in its cooperation with European governments. Oddly enough, they wonder how so much got into print about the CIA and why American officials haven't learned that judgment of intelligence work cannot be fairly based on one episode like the Cuban affair. They suspect that inexperience and possibly a desire by other agencies in Washington to shift the blame led to the controversy over the future functioning of the CIA.

PERHAPS ONE of the most skillful of the European intelligence executives told this writer the other day that every intelligence organization can be improved, but that, in trying to make this type of set up conform to other units in government, there is danger of actually impairing the CIA'S usefulness. He asked this correspondent, for instance, what was going to be done with all the information locked up in the mind of Allen Dulles when he "retires" at the end of this year. Rightly or wrongly, intelligence experts do not favor putting everything down on paper for the record. It involves too many risks. Hence, they say a top intelligence man should be utilized as long as he is able to function, even when "retired."

ABOUT 30 years ago, when this writer first began to talk to intelligence officials in Europe, he found them predicting that the United States might in the course of 25 years or so achieve an effective intelligence operation. It takes a long time to plant the roots of intelligence work so that the sources cannot be detected by the enemy.

Today some of the higher level men in foreign governments express admiration for the progress that has been made by the United States in the last 20 years. In fact, they speak in terms of warm admiration for the achievements of Allen Dulles. This does not mean that they criticize the reported plans for reorganization which have been mentioned in the American press lately. Some of these specialists in Europe say reforms are long overdue in all intelligence activity—especially in relation to the public's understanding of the work.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, it is pointed out, 95 per cent of all the information gathered is what is known as "overt." This is a vast job of anaylsis of information that is derived from a close reading of newspapers, magazines, radio speeches and interviews, as well as trade journals of a business or scientific nature. As one expert put it: "You would be surprised at the enormous amount of information which is available to the Russians by studying our publicly reported material."

In the realm of the so-called "overt" operations, very little is disclosed by intelligence officials to anybody except certain of their own government officials. They don't like to talk about methods or techniques—which is natural. But in a recent issue of "Life" magazine a onetime high-ranking Polish espionage agent—now a defector to the West—reveals how easy it was for him and his fellow agents to pick up information from talkative scientists, workmen at factories, and even gossipy military officers inside the United States.

THERE IS NEED, of course, for specialists—those who understand the requirements, for instance, of the military services. These investigators, who deal with the gathering of vital information for the armed services, can be under separate agencies co-ordinated in a Department of Defense. There is no argument on that point.

But when it comes to ways of frustrating the espionage carried on by the Communists through their own embassies and legations throughout the world and the activities of the Communist party units stationed everywhere — all financed by Moscow—this is a tremendous problem. It means a vast personnel of counterspionage, and the results are often disappointing as well as expensive.

MOST OF THE intelligence folks with whom this writer talked in Europe are curious about what happened in Cuba as far as the CIA was concerned, though they have formed their own conclusions about that affair. But, above all, this correspondent is impressed with the observation made to him repeatedly that it would be a mistake for the American government to go off half-cocked and reorganize drastically its intelligence setup.

Newsom's Lone Unbeaten Team In City Tourney

Phillips 66 and Webb AFB, each beaten one time in early round action, tangle at 6:30 p.m. Thursday for the right to play Newsom's Grocery in the finals of the YMCA Industrial Softball league tournament.

Phillips fell from the ranks of the undefeated by yielding to Newsom's last night, 3-0.

Golden Nugget was to have played Neel's Transfer in last night's opening game but Neel's could not field enough players, so the Nuggets accepted a forfeit.

The development proved only a delaying action for Golden Nugget, however, because Webb later came back to belt out a 5-0 decision over the GN contingent.

No games will be played tonight. If a third contest is needed Thursday to determine the championship Thursday night, it will start at 9:15 p.m.

H. Purkins pitched Newsom's to victory last night, stopping the Phillips team with four hits. The loser was Spec Franklin, Tommy Willis collected two of Phillips' four hits.

Bernard McMahan and Marion Tredaway scored the runs for the Newsom's. In all, the Grocers drove out seven hits off Franklin, including two by Bobby Suggs.

Webb made the most of nine hits off Jim Ward and benefitted from Jack Long's stylish five-hit pitching. Gene Gross banged two of Golden Nugget's blows.

Rosy Rosenberger smashed a home run for the Webb team.

LOOKiNG 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Emmett McKenzie, the Big Spring football coach thinks Dexter Pate has the potential to become an all-district player.

Dexter is the boy who was converted from a quarterback into a center following McKenzie's arrival last year. He had his problems learning the position but showed to good advantage in spring training and now has become a bulwark of the Steer line.

Pate is a 170-pound senior who can probably go to a college of his choosing as a diver on a swimming team, if he so elects.

* * * *

Another local gridder who is coming fast is the 180-pound Butch Vaughn, who quit the game last fall and then decided to come out again. He'll probably play left tackle on offense and, no doubt, will fit somewhere up front in the defensive pattern.

* * * *

Assistant mentor Delnor Poss hasn't played football since he was a freshman in high school and has been out of college for several years but he still cavorts about the field like a 16-year-old.

The Steer basketball coach, now helping with the football team, was playing the 'man under' in a drill the other evening and reacting amazingly well. His reflexes are something to behold.

* * * *

Fredericksburg's football team, which has ex-Big Springer Tommy McAdams as one of its coaches, will use the same type offense made famous in this area by Denver City's great club last fall.

Denver City, incidentally, will have only six seniors on a squad of 25 this year. Only one of the Mustangs' starting back graduates next May.

* * * *

Midland Lee High School's football mentor, Duane Grissett, says his line shapes up fairly well but his backfield will be small and slow.

Lee is being pick to finish in the District 2-AAAA cellar by most observers but some people over there reason Lee can beat out Big Spring in its freshman year in the conference.

* * * *

Harold (Hayseed) Stephens, the Abilene product and HSU ex, will play football in a conference (the young but ambitious United Football League) that limits total salaries on any one club to $15,000 a year.

Stephens will be wearing the uniform of the Louisville Raiders and he passed up a chance to play with Green Bay to go to Louisville. Each squad in the UFL can carry 30 players, which means the average pay will be $500 per player for the season.

Stephens makes ends meet by working for an insurance company in Louisville.

Louisville raised $30,000 to underwrite the club's expenses and has already sold about 1,000 season tickets, at $12 each.

Hayseed will be remembered here as the boy who led Abilene High to three straight state championships and 49 consecutive victories.

The Louisville people think a lot of him and he likely will make his permanent home there.

* * * *

There'll be all kinds of football in the area this weekend. Coahoma will be at home to Hermleigh Friday night. Merkel visits Stanton. Sands High will be opening its 1961 campaign, too—but at Ropesville.

If you go for the eight-man variety, Forsan will host powerful Wellman.

It wouldn't surprise me if Mickey Mantle finishes no better than fourth in the American League home run derby.

Mr. Freckels Is Horse To Watch

RUIDOSO, N. M.—Radio Station KARA, one of the top western stations of New Mexico, will be honored on Friday's card at Ruidoso Downs as racing moves into Labor Day weekend.

The KARA race, at four panels, has been set for three-year-olds and upward which have not won at the meeting. Heading the field will be Cunningham and Shahan's Mr. Freckels. With the newcomer, Jerry Vinson, named to the riding assignment, this five-year-old gelded son of Fire Dog-Westy Chiniguy should set the early pace.

Another contender should be the Meadeland Farm's Gallant Bid, under the training of conditioner Richard Hazelton. She has good early foot and will find this distance to her liking. The unknown factor in the race could be Mercer and Stevens Black Signal. Making his first start at the local meeting after a long lay off (he suffered an early injury), he will run fresh in this one and could be a strong contender.

Viking Victory from the Sonoita Stallion Manor: Charlie H, from the stable of Ace Henson; Sing N Cat (Nix and Pierce) Miz Liz (C. R. Denny, Prescott, Ariz.), Siban, owned and trained by Clyde Russell of Tucson, Ariz., Hana Chief (Roy Gaines, Sinton, Tex.) and Denise Ann, property of Carlsbad, N. M.,'s H. A. Lindley, round out the field.

With all eyes centered on the results of last Saturday's trials for the All-American Quarter Horse Futurity, the total purse has been announced at slightly more than $200,000, with the winner's share to exceed $100,000. Should the race be won by Bunny's Bar Maid, she would then become the top money winning quarter horse of all time since her total winnings now exceed $30,000. The race has been set as the feature on Monday's Labor Day card.

Total Of 112 Are Already Entered In Invitational

A total of 112 players had paid their $15 entry fees for the 30th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament Tuesday night and all indications point to a field approaching 250, pro Jerry Green said this morning.

The tournament, which will also be known as the Obie Bristow Golf Jubilee, starts Friday at the Country Club and continues through next Monday—Labor Day.

Low qualifier thus far in the medal-play meet is Dr. John Sloan, who came in with a one-over 72. Among others who are down in the low 70's include Dave Hudson, Lubbock, who came in with a 74; and Larry Holmes, Midland, who also had a 74.

Green predicted this morning that it would take a 75 or better to rate the title flight.

For the first time in history, the championship will be determined by medal play. The low 32 players will play 18 holes on Saturday and Sunday and the low 16 will engage in 36 holes the final day.

Gil Barnett, formerly of Big Spring and now of San Antonio, will serve as starter for the meet.

The course has been made tougher in recent days. A water hazard has been added on the seventh fairway while sand traps have been built on Nos. 4 and 16. Nos. 4 and 16 are three-par holes and the traps were located in the left front corners.

Bill Craig, champion of the meet two years ago and runnerup last year, fired a 69 in a practice round last week to give every indication he will be ready.

There is an outside chance that both Frank and Son Powell will shove someone off the local Cosden Cup team. They've been given until Thursday to qualify.

There is also the chance that Capt. Obie Bristow will yield his spot on the local octet to someone else. He was undecided this morning about playing.

The matches take place Friday. Official qualifying date is also Friday.

Johnson Retains His Crown

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Harold Johnson, still the world lightheavyweight boxing champion after 15 bruising rounds against Eddie Cotton, started a two-month vacation today by visiting the naval base where he fought his first pro fight in 1943 while a United States sailor.

Johnson, the Philadelphia boxing master, retained his NBA title Tuesday night by a split decision over Cotton, a Seattle tool and die maker whose long reach troubled the champion throughout the bout.

It was Johnson's second successful defense of the crown he won earlier this year by knocking out Jess Bowdry. It was his fourth fight in seven months and it brought him the greatest purse, a check for $20,000, in his 18 years of boxing.

That combination decided Johnson, who weighed 173 to the challenger's 170, to take a vacation. He started his ring career at nearby Bremerton, Wash., early in World War II.

Johnson's right brought an egg-sized lump over Cotton's left eye in the eighth round and a cut in the lid of his right eye during the ninth. By the time the thirteenth came round, Cotton's left eye was closed but his sticking left jab kept him out of real danger.

There were no knockdowns in the bout that received neither radio nor television treatment and drew 4,004 spectators to Seattle's Pacific Coast League baseball park. Receipts were estimated at $32,000.

"He's one of the smartest boxers I've ever met," said Johnson of Cotton, who was rated No. 4 among the contenders after whipping Johnny Halafihi and Mike Holt in New Zealand after 13 years of obscurity in the Seattle area.

Cincy Hurlers Shine As Reds Retain Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was no pennant fever among the Cincinnati Reds or their fans in early season, but things weren't so black that Manager Fred Hutchinson was without hope.

"We could do all right," said Hutch, "if we could get some pitching. We need it, because we don't score many runs."

That will give you some idea of just how much of a surprise team the Reds are in that National League race. Not only are they second in run totals—610 to San Francisco's 627—but the pitching staff leads the league in shutouts.

With southpaw Jim O'Toole and reliever Jim Maloney combining for Cincinnati's 10th whitewash job of the season, the Reds knocked off Pittsburgh 3-0 Tuesday night and retained a 3½-game lead over second-place Los Angeles. The Dodgers stayed close with a 2-1 victory at Chicago as Sandy Koufax limited the Cubs to a pair of singles.

Milwaukee replaced San Francisco in third place, seven games behind, by beating the Giants 7-6 in 13 innings on Ed Mathews' home run. St. Louis made it eight in a row with a 5-4 victory at Philadelphia in the opener of a twi-night pair, but the Phils took the nightcap 4-3.

In the American League, New York was shut out on four singles by Camilo Pascual and lost 3-0 at Minnesota, but the Yankees retained a 1½-game edge when the Chicago White Sox beat second-place Detroit 4-3. Los Angeles swept a twi-night doubleheader from Baltimore by 6-5 scores, with the second game going 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

The Reds won their third in a row with a sixth-inning run at Pittsburgh on singles by Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch and Gordy Coleman off right-hander Bob Friend (12-17).

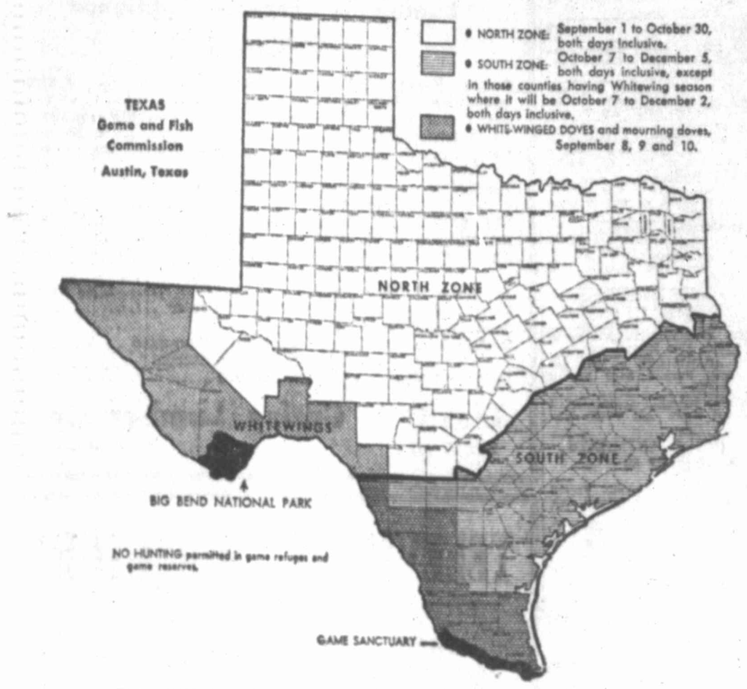

Maloney nailed it for O'Toole (14-9), who gave up all of the Bucs' six hits, by striking out pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Koufax (15-9), who leads NL pitchers in low-hit games with a pair of two-hitters and a couple of three-hit performances, held the Cubs hitless for 6 2-3 innings for the second time this season. Sandy struck out 12, for a season total of 212, tops in the majors.

The Dodgers scored the winning run in the top of the seventh on a walk, sacrifice and Frank Howard's single off Don Cardwell (11-12).

Mathews' 26th home run came with one out in the bottom of the 13th for the Braves—their only hit against loser Dick LeMay (2-5) in his five innings of relief. Don Nottebart (5-6) won it, blanking the Giants on one hit after Willie McCovey's two-run homer off Milwaukee starter Lew Burdette had tied it with one out in the ninth.

An error and Bill White's triple won the opener for St. Louis and Curt Simmons in the ninth as the Cards tied their longest winning streak of the year. Chris Short (5-10) then shut them out on two hits in 7 2-3 innings of relief in the nightcap.

McKenzie 'Pleased' With Steer Defense

Emmett McKenzie, head football coach at Big Spring High School, expressed himself as being "very pleased" with the aggressiveness the Big Spring Steers showed in their three-way scrimmage with Seminole and Lamesa here Tuesday night.

The Steers, who had been working out only four days, weren't ready for the odd defense Lamesa used against them but, when the opposition had the ball, the Steers yielded yardage grudgingly.

McKenzie was particularly lavish in his praise of the boys who played 'up front' for the Steers—among them Dexter Pate, Jack Irons, Butch Vaughn, Mike Hughes and Bobby Pryor.

The Steer regulars yeilded not more than five first downs to the two visiting clubs and punched eight or nine themselves.

Most of the Steers' spectacular gains came on passes from Jerry Tucker to Willie Mendoza, who was slanting in and turning to catch the ball with no one in hailing distance.

Mendoza, whose ability to get open will open up the opposition's defenses this fall, was equally outstanding on defense. From all indications, he is set to blaze a trail for Latin-American players here.

On one occasion, Mendoza dropped back to intercept a Seminole pass and legged it 55 yards down field to the opposition's five before a Seminole back dropped him.

James Gilbert was perhaps Big Spring's best running back although Tucker broke loose a couple of times on impressive runs.

Against Seminole, Lamesa — with Sherrill Kidd manupulating the ball well—had clearly the upper hand.

Coach McKenzie gave all the boys who suited out a chance to play and most showed an eagerness to mix it up.

Al Langford, the Lamesa mentor, said his team was handicapped by a lack of experience but the Golden Tornadoes, who came to town dressed in bright red, showed a quickness and a hustle that will stand them in good stead during the approaching season.

Kidd, in particular, showed a natural talent for running the outside belly option. Up front, John Porter proved very hard to move out in the Lamesa line.

The Steers will scrimmage Colorado City in the new stadium here about 4:30 p.m. Thursday. Sam Christy, the Colorado City mentor, and McKenzie firmed up the arrangement only yesterday.

On Saturday, the Longhorns journey to Levelland for another three-way arrangement with Levelland and Amarillo High School.

Vaughn, a big tackle, suffered a shoulder bruise in last night's scrimmage which attracted a crowd of several hundred. Butch probably will be ready to go against Colorado City, however.

Gilbert Takes One

James Gilbert (24), a back upon whom much depends this fall, snags a Big Spring pass thrown by Jerry Tucker in the above picture, snapped during a scrimmage between Seminole and the Steers here Tuesday night. Gilbert also ripped off some nice gains on the ground. Lamesa was also involved in the scrimmage.

Ralston Back In Doghouse

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Dennis Ralston, one of the main hopes to bring the elusive Davis Cup back to the United States, was back in the United States Lawn Tennis Association's doghouse today.

And there appeared to be a division of opinion on just how long he'll stay in the kennel.

The 19-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., ace, Tuesday was suspended by the USLTA for "bad conduct." The immediate result was that he became ineligible for the national championships starting here on Friday.

George Barnes, president of the USLTA, issued a formal statement pinpointing Ralston's antics in the American Zone final against Mexico in Cleveland two weeks ago as the primary cause of the suspension. Ralston already had been placed on a year's probation for acting up in Australia last year.

Significantly, however, Barnes did not place any time limit on the suspension. This led some observers to believe that when Ralston is hauled in for a full hearing on Sept. 8, his banishment from the nationals may be considered sufficient punishment.

"After all," said one top official, "getting to the challenge round means about $25,000 to the USLTA. If Ralston is needed to help us get there, I can't see them making the suspension stick."

Barns' statement did not mention the specific violations charged to Ralston, the nation's No. 3 ranked player.

Housewives Loop Will Organize

The home of Mrs. Harvey Hooser, 1110 Pennsylvania, will be the scene Friday of a 10 a.m. meeting of the Housewives Bowling league, which shortly will begin play at the Bowlarama.

Those who cannot attend but who would like to compete in the circuit can register by calling Mrs. James Dunn, AM 4-6680.

Tel Aviv Games Opening Today

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Track and field records were expected to fall in wholesale lots late today when the premier competition of the sixth Maccabiah games for Jewish athletes of 26 nations begins.

The tennis players got a jump on the rest of the more than 1,000 athletes by starting their crowded tournament schedule a day before Tuesday's stirring opening ceremony.

Ten track and field events, including four for the girls, were scheduled to get going at 10:30 a.m. EST.

The Americans have only two girls in track and field but they intend to try for a flock of medals. Carole Kaufman, a co-ed from Queens College of New York, has entered eight of the nine individual events, passing up only the 800-meter run.

Judy Shapiro, a shapely Californian from Tujunga, has entered the 200, 800, and javelin throw.

In the men's field, Gary Gubner, New York U's 19-year-old strong man, opened his bid for a discus, shot put, weight-lifting triple.

In the 100 and 200 meter sprints, the United States was expected to score heavily with Jonas Angeles, of Richmond, Va., Steve Robbins of the U. of Arizona and Los Angeles, and Stan Freed of Temple.

The first U.S. victory went to Aermanne Ayares, a tennis player from Baltimore. She defeated Tove Epstein, the Israel champion, 6-3, 6-1.

Richards New Houston Boss

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Richards, heading for a five-year term as general manager of the National League's new Houston club, said today he will go along with the Baltimore Orioles if and when they ask him to finish out the current season.

Richards, who took over the helm of the Orioles in 1954 after leaving the Chicago White Sox, announced his resignation as Orioles' field manager just before the club's doubleheader here with the Angels.

The announcement came as no surprise. It was rumored for several weeks he was considering an attractive offer from Houston, which begins play in an expanded National League next season. A month ago, The Associated Press disclosed that Richards would leave Baltimore to go to Houston.

Richards, announcing he was resigning, said the contract with Houston had not been finalized but that Houston officials had agreed to his general demands.

"I have asked that three additional conditions be included in the contract and as yet the Houston people haven't agreed to them," he said.

A spokesman for the new Texas team, however, seemed fairly certain Richards and the club could get together. "We should have an announcement within 48 hours if Richards is relieved from his contract at Baltimore," the spokesman said.

Contacted in New York, Joseph Iglehart, Orioles' board chairman, said he intended to ask Richards to remain with the Orioles until the season is completed.

"I'm sure he will," Iglehart said. Informed of this, Richards said he would stay with Baltimore if requested to do so.

In Baltimore, Oriole president and general manager, Lee MacPhail, said he had talked with Richards about his resignation earlier Tuesday and had asked him to wait until October before severing his ties with the Birds.

"We would like him to stay, and he has indicated he would do so if we request it," MacPhail said. "So it appears likely that he will stay."

Austin Keeps Hold On 4th

By The Associated Press

The Texas League race enters its final three days with only one place to be decided and right now it's in the shaky grasp of Austin.

The Senators edged San Antonio 3-2 Tuesday night to maintain a one-game lead over Victoria in the fight for fourth place. Victoria held the pace with a 9-7 triumph over Ardmore.

In the event the clubs should tie for the spot they'll meet Saturday to decide it.

Meanwhile Tulsa and San Antonio, second and third in the race, have already arranged to start their playoff Saturday night in a double-header at San Antonio.

First place Amarillo will have to wait for its opponent to be determined but it's definite that this series will open at Amarillo, Saturday if there is no fourth place playoff.

Hank Hemmerly and Roger Clapp held San Antonio to six hits as Austin edged through.

Victoria jammed across all its runs in the first three innings, getting six in the second, to beat Ardmore.

Amarillo scored an unearned run in the seventh to push by Tulsa 5-4. Hal Stowe notched his fourteenth pitching victory with an eight-hitter.

Teen-Ager Brings In A Huge Tuna

FREEPORT (AP) — John Mike McCullough, 18, Houston, brought in a tuna Tuesday that some people think may be the largest yellowfin ever caught by a sport fisherman off the Texas coast.

The tuna weighed 125 pounds. He caught it about 200 miles off Freeport.

Ancel Brundrett, who has lived in Port Aransas for 57 years and has been in the taxidermy business there since 1928, said it is the largest tuna of any kind he knows that was caught in the Gulf.

Yankee Pair Is Stymied

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a pretty tough season for the Minnesota Twins, but for Camilo Pascual, their right-handed ace, things have been good and tough, you might say.

The curve-balling Cuban has a 12-13 record with the eighth-place Twins, and he's been good in every one of those dozen victories although most of them have been tough to nail. In six of the 12, Pascual has pitched shutouts. Three of the other six have been by one run, another by two runs.

Pascual hung up that 12th victory and sixth shutout by knocking off the New York Yankees 3-0 Tuesday night, checking the slugging American League leaders on four hits, all singles.

It was only the third victory over New York in 16 games for the Twins—and all three have been shutouts, two by Pascual. He tied Baltimore's Steve Barber for the major league shutout lead with this one and replaced Yankee Whitey Ford as the AL strikeout leader by fanning nine, three times putting a called third strike past Mickey Mantle.

Despite the defeat, the Yanks retained a 1½-game edge over Detroit as the Chicago White Sox ended the second place Tigers' winning streak at five, 4-3. The Los Angeles Angels swept a pair of 6-5 decisions from Baltimore, taking the second in 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

Pascual, who became a first-time poppa earlier in the day, put away his fifth career shutout over the Yankees with a flourish. He struck out Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek in the ninth, but Roger Maris was safe on a two-base error. Pascual then fanned Mantle for the final out. That extended his shutout streak through 20 innings and gave him 179 strikeouts.

Mantle was 1-for-4 and his 46-home run total leaves him just one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. Maris, 0-for-3, is eight games ahead of Ruth with his 51.

Ralph Terry (11-2) was the loser, after winning six in a row. An unearned run in the third, on Lenny Green's single, and error and Billy Martin's sacrifice fly, ended Terry's shutout string at 24 1-3 innings. Earl Battey's two-run double wrapped it up in the sixth before a crowd of 40,118 that put the Twins over the million mark in their inaugural season.

The Tigers, who had won 10 of 11, blew a 2-0 lead and then booted away the game behind Frank Lary (19-7) when the White Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh on a single by winning right-hander Ray Herbert (9-12) and two errors. The telling error was by Chico Fernandez, who had batted in two Detroit runs. Rocky Colavito of the Tigers went without an RBI for the first time in 10 games, falling one shy of the AL record.

Jim Gentile belted his 41st and 42nd home runs for the Orioles in the opener, but the Angels took it on a squeeze bunt by winner Ryne Duren (6-11) in the sixth inning. Home runs by Joe Koppe and Steve Bilko then brought the Angels from behind in the 11th inning of the second game and gave the victory to Eli Grba (8-11) in relief. Barber (15-10) and Billy Hoeft (4-4) were the losing pitchers.

The Indians came from behind at Washington with six runs in the seventh, five unearned. Bob Allen (3-0) was the winner and Mike Garcia (0-1) the loser, both in relief.

The Red Sox also won with a six-run rally, over-hauling the A's and beating Ed Rakow (2-6) on Frank Malzone's two-out, two-run single in the ninth. Chet Nichols (3-2) was the winner in relief.

Trotters Run At Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Thirteen horses, the cream of the nation's 3-year-old trotters, were reported in prime condition for today's 36th performance of the Hambletonian.

A record crowd of 30,000 was expected for American harness racing's foremost classic, with $131,573 in prize money.

The opening heat starts at 2 p.m. EST.

The crown, and first prize of $77,364, will go to the first trotter to win two mile heats on the one-mile oval at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds. Most drivers were prepared for more than two heats because of the speed already shown this year by the majority of the entrants.

The field of 13 starters announced Sunday is the smallest Hambletonian field since 1955.

Most of the trainer-drivers consider Caleb, Matastar and Duke Rodney the horses to beat.

Local Men Enter Fort Worth Meet

Two Big Spring men who have enjoyed signal success on drag racing strips around the area this summer have entered their cars in the American Hot Rod Association championships at Fort Worth this week.

They are Glenn Cavitt and J. M. (Huck) Huckaby, both employed by Shasta Motor Company.

The big meet, due to attract cars from all over the nation, starts Thursday and continues through Monday.

Cavitt's car has won trophies in the super-stock class at Hobbs and San Angelo this year. Huckaby's entry has gained awards at San Angelo and Abilene.

Kelley To Enter Arlington Meet

Elton Kelley leaves today for Arlington, where he will take part in the Labor Day Spectacular Bowling team.

Kelley, and other tournament entries, will be required to qualify by bowling 24 games Friday and Saturday.

The top 16 players will become eligible for the finals on Sunday and Monday.

The action takes place at the Great Southwestern Lanes. Kelley said he would probably headquarter in Dallas and commute to Arlington.

Scratch Circuit To Discuss Plans

Plans for the operation of the Men's Trio (scratch) Bowling league will be finalized at an open meeting starting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Bowlarama.

The circuit was active during the summer. Fall and winter play starts next month.

Santo, Zimmer Chill Corsairs

PITTSBURGH (AP — Ron Santo and Don Zimmer each drove in two runs Monday as the pesky Chicago Cubs edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 in the rubber game of a five-game series.

Zimmer blasted a two-run homer in the first and Santo doubled across one-run in the Cubs' two-run seventh and the winning run with a single in the eighth.

Bob Anderson was the victor in relief, shaking off a rocky ninth inning.

Earl Francis, the Pirates' starter, had a two-hitter working for him until the seventh when the Cubs scored two runs, knotting the game 4-4.

Until then, Zimmer's homer in the first and a single by Richie Ashburn in the sixth were the only hits off the lanky right-hander.

Then Francis wilted. George Altman doubled, Billy Williams tripled, and Santo doubled. And that was all for Francis.

Elroy Face took over and struck out two, nipping the Cubs' rally. However, in the eighth Williams banged his second triple and raced across on Santo's single.

Dick Stuart slammed a home run in the second, tying him with Roberto Clemente for the club lead at 22.

Hobbs Captures Soph Pennant

HOBBS, N. M. (AP) — The Sophomore League race is over for the season with Hobbs holding the pennant.

Hobbs beat Albuquerque 7 - 1 Tuesday night to make it three in a row and capture the playoff.

Albuquerque protested the 7 - 4 Monday victory by Hobbs on grounds that pitcher Jim Little carried a resin bag in his hip pocket. But League President C. F. Montgomery disallowed it.

Veterans Draft Proposed For Hospital Cleaning

HOUSTON (AP) — The state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has proposed a draft of veterans to help clean up Houston's Veterans Administration Hospital.

But the hospital manager said no.

Peter Stack, the commander, offered Tuesday to mobilize 2,000 VFW members to clean up the hospital "at no cost to the government or the Veterans Administration." He—and other VFW officials—have been critical of the hospital's cleanliness.

"I wouldn't be willing for him to do that," Dr. Lee D. Cady, the manager, said. "We don't need that sort of thing."

Stack said he inspected the hospital and found it "not just dirty, it's filthy."

"We think the remarks about some conditions in this hospital are considered and we will certainly correct any shortcomings," Cady said.

At least one of the seven lively arts is growing in Big Spring, thanks mainly to the talent of two young ladies.

Anyway, it was about as lively as it can get on Jo Anne Forrest's show last week. The young ladies were Alice Coker and Candy Hensley, former students of Alice Marie Boudreaux who now resides in California.

Alice and Candy, when Mrs. Boudreaux left, took over her dance classes, and since have herded the little ones with a deft touch only the young seem to have.

Last week, on Jo Anne's show, Alice and Candy dressed up in fluffy costumes and went through a can-can routine that awakened many a resting TV viewer.

The brief interlude reminded your critic of his early newspapering days in Odessa, just after KMID-TV had gone on the air. It was the area's first telethon for the March of Dimes, and things began to lag a bit toward midnight. Viewers and performers were tired and sleepy.

Then, a dance school in Odessa brought out a dozen pretty teenagers, dressed in brief leotards and dancing slippers. The girls went through a few minutes of high kicks, the audience woke up, and March of Dimes pledges began pouring in. The girls reappeared at intervals during the early morning, and the next day there was hardly a viewer who did not fail to greet the sun.

There was absolutely nothing objectionable about it. It is simply that young women, in the midst of their bloom, can titilate the spirits of exhausted old grey heads like nothing else. No chorus line, with all its subtle (or otherwise) sexiness, is able to achieve the same effect.

Maybe the upcoming generation will have more like Misses Coker and Hensley to help liven things up around town.

Six Flags Over Texas, our state's answer to Disneyland, reports attendance of more than 232,000 since the vast playground opened a month ago. An estimated 11 per cent came from other states.

Oddly, every state was represented except South Dakota.

The sassy "Irma La Douce" opens at the Las Vegas Riviera Hotel Sept. 11, starring Juliet Prowse. Hotel publicists, seizing on Broadway reviews, warn the prudish about the sexy nature of the musical, but the fact that it's in one of the Las Vegas spas should be enough warning.

Casa Manana in Ft. Worth is getting ready for "Saludos de Mexico" as its present "Showboat" continues its successful run.

The Latin show will feature the 60-member Folklorico troupe from the Palace of Fine Arts in Mexico City, with scenic designs by famed Antonio Lopez Mancera. Casa Manana's stage will be enlarged for the show.

Some of the added attraction will be free gifts for the audience from Guadalajara, the serving of Mexican punch between acts, and a display of some of Mexico's finest art.

"Saludos de Mexico" is under the official aegis of the Mexican government.

Fourth attraction of the Big Spring Film Club Inc. will be "Please! Mr. Balzac," featuring Brigitte Bardot in her first starring role.

Miss Bardot, getting mixed up in a rare books theft (that's where Balzac comes in), enters a striptease contest to win the money to pay back Balzac.

The movie will be screened at 8 p.m. Jan. 18 in Howard County Junior College Auditorium. Admission will be by season ticket only.

Short subjects for the evening will include two sex themes. The first is "Reflections of Black," Stan Brakhage film which won a prize from the Creative Film Foundation. It evolves four possible sexual dramas as might be visualized by a blind man, and is accompanied by what critics have called "a startling sound track."

The other short is "The Mechanics of Love," a symbolic interpretation of love making, in which commonplace objects are used to tell the story.

Season tickets are five dollars for a series of eight films, and may be obtained by mail from The Big Spring Film Club Inc., 2500 Morrison, Big Spring, Texas.

2 People Killed

VOLOS, Greece (AP) — Two persons were killed and 27 injured Tuesday night when a Pullman coach went out of control and dropped 100 feet into a ravine near Volos, eastern Greece. All the passengers were Greek.

Riders Scheduled For Trial Today

HOUSTON (AP) — Eleven Negro and white "freedom riders" from California were scheduled for trial today on unlawful assembly charges.

The 11 — plus seven Houston Negroes—were to be tried at the same time in Judge George Miller's county court.

All 18 were arrested Aug. 11 at the Union Train Station coffee shop on the complaint of James D. Burleson, the manager.

Frank Briscoe, Houston's district attorney, ruled last week the cases should be prosecuted because he does not think the "freedom riders" were involved in interstate travel when they were arrested.
