About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

We thank you, Robert Blackstock, for the nice things you said about our column. They are possibly not deserved, but then you feel that way, we are pleased. Young people do not think much older people appreciate smile... a nod or a word of recognition from younger people.

Many times in walking up the set, we are spoken to by some boy or girl who should recognize us, but do not... because you have grown a pair of long legs and put on a more mature face when we last knew you. The older people change little maturity until they have fully grown old.

The likes or dislikes of these youngsters mean much... for they will be selling us goods, king the news, paying for the in the newspapers, or perhaps deciding as to whether the town should do this or that... because they will be the men and women in business... the mayor... the council or the people who decide the policies of the nation.

A representative of a railroad stepped in to chat a little while yesterday afternoon... he inclines to believe he had news for us and for Cisco... are not sure... and neither he... but we all hope...

Meanwhile, we must keep hammering away at the business of whatever we are doing... whether keeping store or growing fine wheat or vegetables... the sovery of oil almost ruined by good communities a few years ago... the business neglected their business... needed to go after more business... to retain friendship and business connections that had meant much and should have meant everything in life to those people... they forgot friends and forgot to appreciate for patronage given... They forgot to welcome them to their town...

and good farmers neglected their farms... they allowed great

Truck Growers Busy at Job of Getting Started

Interest and participation in the Truck Growers' association, and cooperative marketing under the leadership of the Rising Star group, increases with the publicity given the plan, whereby military camps at Brownwood, Abilene and Mineral Wells, say they can absorb all the vegetables and fruits that will likely be grown in adjacent sections. Tomatoes, corn, beans, peas, okra, cucumbers, squash, water melons and cantaloupes, and all fruits, should find a ready market, the leaders say, and at prices that will encourage mass production.

G. G. Goss, of Rising Star, is the head of his chartered group, while J. E. Smith heads the Gorman group, which is planning a big vegetable acreage. The organizations aid members in securing certified seed and commercial fertilizers for their light, sandy soils.

The farm-market building at Rising Star is to be the point of concentration for farmers in its section, while the peanut warehouse at Gorman will be available for farmers in that group.

Information for best varieties for planting for this climate, and other information, is furnished by these heads.

Dept'y Grand Master Visits Eastland Lodge

The Eastland Lodge No. 467, A. F. & A. M., will meet in regular stated meeting Thursday, May 3, at 8 o'clock at Masonic Temple.

Special message will be brought by R. C. Stidham, district deputy grand master. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Bob Weddington, First Power Farmer In Area, Stores Moisture For Future

Bob Weddington, one of the biggest farmers and ranchers of Eastland county, was about the first power machinery farmer in this section. He began to break his land deep down so that moisture could penetrate the stiff soil more than one foot deep, long before other farmers of this section began to realize that something must be done to conserve the moisture that usually fell and ran off, carrying along with it much of the natural richness of the top soil.

Owning about 15 sections of land, with something like 1,500 acres in cultivation, Bob, as all his friends call him, has to do quite a lot of thinking in order to manage such a large estate. And in addition to that, he is one of the largest growers of purebred stock in this part of the country. His stock, and that of Mayor G. P. Mitcham and Dr. F. E. Clark, make Eastland county famous for pure bred white face prize winning stock.

A few years ago Mr. Weddington decided that his land, which

O. C. White Given Suspended Sentence

EASTLAND, May 3. — O. C. White (col.) of Cisco, tried on a charge of murder Tuesday in Judge B. W. Patterson's 88th district court, was found guilty and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary with the sentence suspended during good behavior.

White was charged with the fatal shooting of Ethel Williams (col.) in Cisco last summer. A hearing of the case last August resulted in a mistrial.

Rumors About Munitions Plant Premature

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 3.—Brig. Gen. H. K. Rutherford, of the munitions board, said a number of Texas towns are under consideration as sites for munitions plant or plants.

But, he said, it would be decidedly premature to presume that Eastland or any other town was in a particularly favorable position to be selected.

Several months ago a group of West Texans filed application for location of a plant in the Cisco-Eastland area.

The above Associated Press message is presumed to be an answer to a story printed in the Dallas News Wednesday, under a Washington date line, which left the impression that the Cisco-Eastland site tendered for a shell loading plant was being favorably considered by the government.

C. of C. Directors Discuss Plans as Past Year Viewed

A number of matters were discussed at the municipal chamber of commerce meeting last night, when B. A. Butler, president of the group, reviewed briefly some of the achievements of that body during the past year and urged the importance of better attendance at meetings by directors who had been chosen to function for the people and city in that capacity.

Foreseeing this tendency at the time the chamber of commerce officially became an adjunct of the city commission, the city fathers incorporated into the ordinance creating a municipal chamber of commerce the proviso that any regularly elected director of the chamber of commerce would be automatically dropped from the directorate should he, three times in succession, fail to attend regular meetings of the body. Sickness or absence from city were cited as the only excuses.

Mr. Butler called attention to aid in securing of Cisco Junior college as one of the activities of the board, also securing the new airport, and active steps in seeking a government cartridge loading plant for Cisco.

Plans were put under way for a good-will get-together dinner to be held soon.

T. G. Caudle, who had been appointed to head preparations for a livestock show in Cisco next spring, received authority from the board to impress into service any person whom he might wish to aid in plans for the show.

Mayor G. P. Mitcham made a report on his recent trip to Washington in support of Cisco's claims for a cartridge loading plant. Mr. Mitcham said he was still hopeful, but no commitments were available at this time.

H. H. Monk made a report on the airport, which included possibilities of an enlarged program in the immediate future.

P. R. Warwick, who had been employed as secretary at a salary of $135 per month, was formally inducted into office. Miss Susan Haynes had already been employed as assistant at a salary of $40 per month.

A. B. O'Flaherty, of the Cisco Daily Press, and H. A. Cone, of Cone's Dairy, were visitors.

Directors present were Dr. Charles Hale, Jack Elkins, B. A. Butler, J. D. Lauderdale, H. H. Monk, J. J. Collins, and Agricultural Teacher T. J. Caudle.

Mrs. Dee Peugh of route 4, calls attention to the misspelling of her name and that of her son, Sergeant Darries J. McGough, of Kelly Field, brought about through error in the publicity item sent to the Cisco Daily Press from the department of publicity for that station, and published May 4.

Mrs. Peugh also mentions that she has another son in the air corps. He is Rudie Mark McGough.

Farmers Turn More Attention Toward Chickens, Turkeys As Prices Look Up

"The wet spring has been somewhat unfavorable for young chickens," said a farmer Tuesday, when asked if he would have his usual number of spring fryers for the market this year. "Those who have been dependent upon home-made brooders have been compelled to watch them mightily close in order to keep the chicks warm enough during the cool nights and early mornings that had a tendency to chill them," he continued.

If chicks are cilled they usually die, while if properly fed and kept warm they will approach a 100 per cent maturity. Many farmers report 98 out of 100 chicks received grow to maturity.

Cisco and Eastland county territory have long been famous for poultry raising. A few years ago this section won a first prize on its farm display at the state fair at Dallas, and prominent in that display was a slogan of "Eastland County, the Egg Basket of Texas."

Lowering of prices for eggs has caused a big slump in production of poultry and products over the county, but now that the price of eggs has been pegged by the gov.

Fourteenth Call By Eastland Co. Board

EASTLAND, May 3.—Leon McPherson, clerk of the Eastland county local board, announced Wednesday morning a call for 6 men for May 27. This is the 14th call that has gone out from this local board. The men being called at this time will be sent to Dallas.

SUNSHINE IS NEEDED NOW FOR MATURING

Plenty of Straw to Give Support to Heads for Heavy Grain Seeds

"Moran country has the finest prospects for a bumper grain crop I have seen in many a year," said a farmer from that section Tuesday. "All we need now is plenty of sunshine to offset the danger from rust," he continued. "Of course," he stated, "another rain next week would not be amiss, since grain at this stage of seeding can absorb quite a lot of moisture. But with no more rain, Cisco's grain land territory, like the Moran territory, will harvest a big crop, barring any unforeseen catastrophe such as storms or hail or rain at the last moment of harvesting to spoil the crop."

Both wheat and oats are now heading with plenty of straw to bear up the full grain heads to be expected in order to make the bumper yield, being so freely prophesied. The latter part of May and the first of June will see harvest in full blast. The sound of the merry reapers will be likened unto the jingle of the cash register in the merchant's store. Binders twine will be in big demand except where combines are used, in which case harvest will be delayed until the grain is fully ripe.

There is a big acreage all over the country. A bumper crop will mean much more to the country as a whole than if there was a smaller amount of land devoted to wheat, oats and barley. With war just getting started in low gear for us, and so much tonnage inevitably headed for the bottom of the ocean, prices might change for the better about late autumn time when some think soldiers will be started to protect portions of Uncle Sam's domain of the sea. Breakfast for people, and feed for fattening beef for soldiers, will begin to draw on the nation's resources, according to ideas of some who are taking our war preparations rather seriously.

Farmers to Vote Saturday for Three Soil Supervisors

All Eastland county landowners who live and own land West of the Jake Hamon railroad (except those north and west of Cisco) are being urged to go to one of the following voting places on Saturday, May 10 and cast a ballot for three of the four men who have been nominated as supervisors of the upper Leon soil conservation districts:

like most of the black soil north and northwest of Cisco, needed to be more porous so that it could drink up what moisture fell. So Bob rigged up a big plow with a long, sharp, straight point, resembling the old fashioned coulters used by early pioneers of this country to cut the small roots of the timber that had to be shrubbed off. This coulters, when attached to his tractor, was well nigh irresistible. It tore the earth up to the depth of some 18 inches, and within a few years made it very porous. A small rain was entirely absorbed, with no runoff and little leeching of the fertility. Crops responded and then Bob knew he was on the right track. Grain and feed for his blooded stock is always ready when harvest time comes, with a big yield. He says it pays.

The shallow ploughing farmer misses out on every bet. He not only does not store moisture for the dry summer, but he loses the fertility of his top soil by letting it go with the water runoff. And Bob knows.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT 1941
NEA SERVICE INC.

YESTERDAY: When Carolyn reaches Blair, Bob has already landed safely, is searching for her. Together they store the 9-999 deep in the mountain.
Carolyn is happy in her work, but knows that Leana has not given up. She will strike again.
But Carolyn has to stay on the job. To run away would leave Bob helpless, alone.

LEANA AWAIT CHANCE

CHAPTER XX

During the six weeks that followed Carolyn's sensational arrival in Arizona, life settled into an oddly contrasting and beautiful routine. It was as if the frenzied troubles had all passed away with that midnight rainstorm, leaving the skies both figuratively and literally blue.

Carolyn had telephoned her mother, and Mrs. Tyler, happily excited in her own right now, had packed their trunks and personal effects to follow west. It was a big change in her life. It subtracted years from her countenance.

"This air" Mrs. Tyler kept saying. "It makes me want to sing."
"Mountain altitude, Mrs. Tyler," Bob Hale explained.

Carolyn smiled. "I love it.
Everything's big and free and—far away! I feel like a pioneer!"
They decided to take her mother into partial confidence, explaining that the "chemical substance" was hidden in the abandoned Copper King mine shaft only because it was valuable and "dangerous to persons who wouldn't handle it."

year-old Mexican boy took care of their personal needs.
The Tylers were in a three-room rock house across a narrow canyon in shouting distance from Bob's front porch.

All of it was exceedingly picturesque. Contour of the hills here made it so, contour and color and verdure and the blue-blue Arizona sky, a sky that ranged from dawn's yellow to turquoise to aquamarine and back to day's day's-end gold again.

Twelve cabins for workmen and minor assistants were going up.
An electric power line from Boulder Dam had, as Bob and Carolyn anticipated, been tapped to supply the impromptu village. Every house, including the seven guest cottages under construction, was fitted in time with every electrical convenience, even to air-conditioning. Telephone lines were extended from Blair.

The whole new settlement, even the new rock laboratory building, was half a mile from the granite side of Tonto Peak and partly screened from Tonto by a lesser hill, which Carolyn named Tonto, Jr. Where big Tonto was 3,000, Junior was scarcely 800 feet, and she could climb it easily after dinner to watch the majesty of a sun going down.

Within three weeks after they all arrived, Dr. Merrivale and Dr.
Canby came by invitation from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. O'Mara from the University of Minnesota. Engineers Harding and Treat, and Capitalist Devereaux from great industrial corporations in Detroit.
Still others would be arriving. Bob and Leana would gather here the best technical brains in America.
Carolyn realized.

Moreover, the experimenters actually had assembled and developed one engine that functioned with a minute speck of the X-999 for power source, less than two months after the arrival of the crew in Arizona. The scientists her he recorded every move the experimenters made.

"It is unbelievable!" old Dr.
O'Mara cried.
"But it works!" shot back practical Devereaux, an automobile and airplane manufacturer. "I don't need to tell you people that this will revolutionize all the world's engineering."

That was true, too true for most of them to grasp, except in piecemeal. As for Carolyn, she lived in a constant state of suspense and restrained excitement—a condition most pleasant for any vicious person. She acquired it through her employment, which was a steady (hence delightful) intimacy with Bob Hale. Throughout her recorded every move the experimenters made.

That very intimacy with Bob,
however, was observed day by day
by Leana Sorni. And Carolyn knew it. Realization of Leana's jealousy kept alive the only flaw in an otherwise perfect existence here.

When "nothing happens" for the first month, Carolyn tried to tell herself that Leana was afraid to take any further action; common sense told her that deduction was wrong. Her vague but wholly dependable intuition (itself an other manifestation of common sense and unconscious reasoning) warned Carolyn to be alert.

There were quick little moments of affection which Leana showed for Bob. Quick little moments when Bob terribly busy now, remembered to pay personal courtesies to Leana. When Bob took Carolyn horseback riding or on a drive in 15 Blair or to Boulder City, and she saw Leana's face strain with anger as they left.
A shrewd girl could see these things, whereas a casual observer

PAY Defense Bond Pennies Tend Near 1 Mile

ARIS, May 8.—Dick Hopper told to buy some of Uncle's defense bonds, so he took money—in a truck—and started on the post office.

School Head of Moran Granted Absence Leave

Leave of absence has been granted Supt. C. J. Watson by the board of trustees of the Moran Independent School District, effective after the close of the present school year, Morris Cottle, board president, announced.

Watson asked this leave in order that he might enter the service of the country later in the summer. He had been elected in January for the 1941-42 term.

No action has been taken to ward the naming of a successor, Cottle stated, but applicants will be interviewed within the next few days.

Watson has been superintendent of the Moran schools for the past four years, having been high school principal for two years prior to that. Under his administration the size of the district has been increased by approximately one-third, the school is receiving students from six districts, and four buses are transporting students to school here.

A new gymnasium and home economics department was completed in 1939, and extensive remodeling has been done in other buildings on the campus. The size of the campus has been increased, two tennis courts have been constructed, and a bus house has been provided for storing the school's buses.

The number of accredited units offered students in the school has been increased from 19 to 23, and complete departments are operating in commercial work and home economics.

Members of the Moran board of trustees are: Morris Cottle, president; T. C. Rogers, secretary; E. A. Cuno, David Parrish, Samuel Diller, and Lee A. Weir.

Blondes Losers in TSCW Beauty Race

"Ban on Blondes" seems to be the rule at Texas State College for Women where only one blonde has won a beauty page in the college yearbook in the last three years. This year's beauties, presented Saturday night, May 3, as the high point of the annual senior formal prom, are four brunettes and two "brownettes."

Selected by Charles Freeman and William O'Donnell, talent booker and district manager of Texas Consolidated Theaters, the dark-haired beauties are Misses Helen Louise McDaniel, Denison senior; Christine Maddox, Abilene sophomore; Ruth Tilley, Shamrock freshman; and Betty Bowman, Mineral Wells freshman, selected at large. Miss Harriett Jarrett, Lubbock, junior beauty; and Miss Claudine Shoemaker, Dallas, junior chosen at large, are "brownettes."

HERE FROM NIMROD

L. D. Stanford, of Nimrod, called at the Daily Press office Saturday and spent some time chatting with old friends. Mr. Stanford was born in Alabama and came to Eastland county from Arkansas 51 years ago. He will be 84 years of age next February and is enjoying good health. Mrs. Stanford is also in good health. They have eight living children, but none are at home with the parents. Mr. Stanford is a Missionary Baptist and a Republican, and proud of both connections.

Mr. "Trouble with women is that they are trying to copy men. And when they do that they make perfect fools of themselves." Mrs. "Of course."

About Our--

gullies to come into their fertile farms and run-off of water took the top soil and fertility that nature had been many centuries in building up. They did not terrace the sloping fields and pasture land... they ceased plans for improving the fertility of those soils.

They also stopped plans for improving the herds of cattle that had just begun to grow. They became city-minded. These farmers... farmers who had just received more money for leases on their lands... and still retained the land... more money than they knew was in the world.

They forgot their homes... their communities and little churches that had meant so much to them in their social life... before they began to have visions too big for their own happiness.

And soon that money was gone... It came too quickly and too easily... It went like the flowing silent river that makes little noise but steadily and surely rushes swiftly on.

And they went back to their farms... neglected... no markets... neighbors gone and social life for their communities gone.

And now after twenty years, they have begun to get their bearings once more. They have terraced their farms and pastures... spreading commercial fertilizer to replace quickly what went, also quickly. They are beginning to re-establish their herds... improve with good foundation stock... get a few goats... fence the sandy, timbered land so that goats might clear it for them... starting a herd of good wool-bearing sheep... replacing the old orchard that had been allowed to die for the need of cure... replace hen houses... in short... these farmers have begun to make their farms into homes again.

So, Mr. Businessman, let's renew our friendships and connections so that our town business... our homes... will be renewed and let our feet on the ground... and resolve, come what way... we will not be swept off our feet... as once we were... Let's get established.

Farmers Turn--

ernment at about 22 cents, farmers may expect better returns on their production, and many who had lost interest in their flocks will begin to give them more care and breed them up for higher production.

Farmers are finding that a combination of chickens and turkeys with a program of sheep, goats and hogs, where their pastures are too small for cattle, solve their troubles caused by the boll weevil and the consequent loss of a money crop.

Feed marketed through poultry and livestock, brings best returns, and the better quality foundation stock they have, the greater returns per feed dollar they have.

Where pastures are limited, many farmers are using good Java-sey cows for cream and butter production, and thus utilizing their feed.

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.

THERE'S a rule for your guidance you may not find in the copybooks — but that doesn't subtract one whit from its truth.

Because when you buy a new car this spring you want one that will see you through many a summer.

So while you're trading it's good sense to trade up — up to something solidly good through and through.

Trade up, for instance, to the FIREBALL power of Buick's more efficient valve-in-head straight-eight.

Trade up to the thrift of Compound Carburetion — exclusively Buick's, and as much as 10% to 15% more economical of gasoline than last year.

Trade up to a splendidous big Body by Fisher — to Buick's all-coil springing that is forever cushiony yet forever free from service attention — to stout, ride-steady torque-tube drive with nothing about it to go wrong.

Buick's bodies are roomier, its frames huskier — its steering gears go three to four times as long without adjustment and its main bearings have half-again the service life in them.

Things like that really count these days — yet they're yours in a Buick for a trifle more at most than you'd spend in any event.

Go call on your Buick dealer now!

selection of all present members of the faculty of the Moran schools for the 1941-42 year was consummated at a regular meeting of the schools' board of trustees last Monday evening. Morris Cottle, president of the board, announced.

pt. C. J. Watson had been re-elected in January, and Miss Mat. Downing and William Gay, school and elementary school principals, respectively, were re-elected in March.

The present faculty consists of Miss Downing, Gay, Miss Cantrell, Mancill Shaw, T. Deavenport, W. E. Ham, Miss Lola Baughman, Miss Rice King, Miss Hester Smith, Miss Loma Blankinship.

ard members expressed themselves as being pleased with the of the faculty, and declared they believed the school has been making steady progress.

Rev. Willis P. Gerhart, rector of The Heavenly Rest Episcopal church in Abilene, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to Moran high school senior class on evening, May 18, at 8:15 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

es in Moran and Cisco, will give a recital in Cisco, May 23.

Pupils to be presented at both recitals are: H. W. Brooks, Barbara Jene Brooks, Grafton Bumpers, Betty Diller, Hayett Hassen, Bobby Roy Jeanis, Dorothy Irene Jeanis, Kathryn Jeanis, Bettie Carline Lummus, Chris Snell, Dorothy Jean Sandbrink, and Margaret Ann Wylie, of Moran; Charles Cunningham, Diana Fairquhar, May Groselose, Monterey Lisenbee, Katherine Reynolds, and Julia Ann Sanford, all of Cisco.

A net loss of only eight pupils was shown on the 1941-42 scholastic census for the Moran Independent School District. A. J. Wise, census taker, has revealed. Last year's figure was 251, while this year's total is 243.

This small loss will not affect the size of the school, Supt. C. J. Watson states, for one teacher may be employed for each 30 scholars, and eight is not a sufficient number to cause any change.

Members of the senior class of Moran high school and their sponsor, Miss Mattabel Downing, were guests of the W. M. S. of the Moran Baptist church at a banquet in the basement of the church last Friday evening.

Principal speaker at the banquet, which is an annual affair, was Dr. H. R. Arant, professor of chemistry in Hardin-Simmons university and Abilene city chemist. Dr. Arant's subject was "Qualities Necessary for Attaining Success."

The Hardin-Simmons quartet, consisting of Lester Morton, Connel Taylor, Dick Pengold, and Edward Williams, furnished entertainment for the occasion.

The guests were welcomed by the Rev. Finis Williams, pastor of the Moran Baptist church, and Miss Downing responded for the seniors.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken au gratin, salad, new potatoes, English peas, and ice cream and cake in purple and gold, the school colors.

Those present for the occasion were: Gladys Overby, Johnny Noland, Maraville Dean McCann, H. R. Hackley, A. J. Booth, Grafton Bumpers, Nina Bartee, Rheba Grace, Evelyn Hill, Bob Montgomery, Margie Fern Booth, Buck McCann, Ouida Wallace, Charlie June Nunn, Ralph Brooks, Margaret Ann McDonald, Mrs. John Alexander, president of the W. M. S.; Mrs. Ida Lettwich, educational director; and Rev. and Mrs. Williams.

More than 400 persons were present for the presentation of "Miss Ginger," annual Moran high school senior play, in the high school auditorium last Thursday evening.

Receipts from the play will be used by the class to buy a gift to leave for the school, and to assist them in making their annual senior trip.

Every one is glad to see the sunshine once more and hoping it will continue to shine for several days more. Several grain men state they fear the rust will hit the grain if it continues cloudy, rainy weather. About 4 inches of rain fell here last week, enough to insure a grain crop as far as moisture is concerned.

Sabotage Balks Nazi Aims in Czechoslovakia

HITLER'S armies conquered Czechoslovakia with ease two years ago, gained control of huge industrial plants, including the iron works at Moravia Ostrava pictured on the stamp above. But converting Czechoslovakia's industrial wealth into a German powerhouse has not been so simple.

The Czechs refuse to co-operate with the New Order. There has been actual destruction of machinery in many factories, production has slowed down. And the conquered people have developed new technique in annoying Nazi overlords.

When German commanders set aside one day when all street car fares were to be turned over to the Nazi winter relief fund, the Czechs walked. Street cars remained empty. Waiters and store clerks are unable to "understand" German requests.

The Czechs have found silence and song are powerful weapons. If ordered out to watch a German parade, they stand silent until it is over. There are no cheers nor jeers. Many patriotic Czech hymns have been revived, and are sung despite Nazi bans.

The Czechs have been beaten but their spirit is unbroken.

About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

We thank you, Robert Black, for the nice things you said in our column. They are not deserved, but they do feel that way, we are pleased. Young people do not think much older people appreciate mile. . . a nod or a word of recognition from younger people.

Many times in walking up the street, we are spoken to by some boy or girl that we should recognize, but do not. . . because you have grown a pair of long legs. . . put on a more mature face when we last knew you. . . the older people change little in maturity until they have fully grown old.

The likes or dislikes of these masters mean much. . . for they are selling us goods, in the newspapers, or perhaps deciding as to whether the town do this or that. . . because they will be the men and women business. . . the mayor. . . the council or the people who decide the policies of the nation.

A representative of a railroad stepped in to chat a little while yesterday afternoon. . . he inclines to believe he had news for us and for Cisco. . . are not sure. . . and neither he. . . but we all hope.

Meanwhile, we must keep hammering away at the business of life, we are doing. . . whether keeping store or growing fine tile, wheat or vegetables. . . the recovery of oil almost ruined good communities a few years ago. . . the business men neglected their business. . . neglected to go after more business. . . to retain friendship and business connections that had meant much and should have meant everything in life to those people. . . forgot friends and forgot to give appreciation for patronage received. . . They forgot to welcome them to their town.

Let good farmers neglected farms. . . they allowed great returns to Page THREE.

State Inspectors List on Grade-A

State inspectors recently in Cisco are insisting that local dealers comply strictly with sanitary milk regulations in advertising Grade A pasteurized milk sold in their stores.

The matter has been referred to W. P. Lee, city health officer, who is endeavoring to iron out difficulties without working undue hardship on dairymen. Grocers who are making efforts to comply with the strict letter of law, and at the same time, are able of producing or selling city sanitary milk that will guard the health of the user.

Truck Growers Busy at Job of Getting Started

Interest and participation in the Truck Growers' association, and cooperative marketing under the leadership of the Rising Star group, increases with the publicity given the plan, whereby military camps at Brownwood, Abilene and Mineral Wells say they can absorb all the vegetables and fruits that will likely be grown in adjacent sections. Tomatoes, corn, beans, peas, okra, cucumbers, squash, water melons and cantaloupes, and all fruits, should find a ready market, the leaders say, and at prices that will encourage mass production.

G. G. Goss, of Rising Star, is the head of his chartered group, while J. E. Smith heads the Gorman group, which is planning a big vegetable acreage. The organizations aid members in securing certified seed and commercial fertilizers for their light, sandy soils.

The farm-market building at Rising Star is to be the point of concentration for farmers in its section, while the peanut warehouse at Gorman will be available for farmers in that group.

Information for best varieties for planting for this climate, and other information, is furnished by these heads.

Dept'y Grand Master Visits Eastland Lodge

The Eastland Lodge No. 467, A. F. & A. M., will meet in regular stated meeting Thursday, May 8, at 8 o'clock at Masonic Temple.

Special message will be brought by R. C. Stidham, district deputy grand master. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Bob Weddington, First Power Farmer In Area, Stores Moisture For Future

Bob Weddington, one of the biggest farmers and ranchers of Eastland county, was about the first power machinery farmer in this section. He began to break his land deep down so that moisture could penetrate the stiff soil more than one foot deep, long before other farmers of this section began to realize that something must be done to conserve the moisture that usually fell and ran off, carrying along with it much of the natural richness of the top soil.

Owning about 15 sections of land, with something like 1,500 acres in cultivation, Bob, as all his friends call him, has to do quite a lot of thinking in order to manage such a large estate. And in addition to that, he is one of the largest growers of purebred stock in this part of the country. His stock, and that of Mayor G. P. Mitcham and Dr. F. E. Clark, make Eastland county famous for pure bred white face prize winning stock.

A few years ago Mr. Weddington decided that his land, which

O. C. White Given Suspended Sentence

EASTLAND, May 8. — O. C. White (col.) of Cisco, tried on a charge of murder Tuesday in Judge B. W. Patterson's 88th district court, was found guilty by the jury as charged and punishment assessed at five years in the penitentiary with the sentence suspended during good behavior.

White was charged with the fatal shooting of Ethel Williams (col.) in Cisco last summer. A hearing of the case last August resulted in a mistrial.

Rumors About Munitions Plant Premature

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 8.—Brig. Gen. H. K. Rutherford, of the munitions board, said a number of Texas towns are under consideration as sites for munitions plant or plants.

But, he said, it would be decidedly premature to presume that Eastland or any other town was in a particularly favorable position to be selected.

Several months ago a group of West Texans filed application for location of a plant in the Cisco-Eastland area.

The above Associated Press message is presumed to be an answer to a story printed in the Dallas News Wednesday, under a Washington date line, which left the impression that the Cisco-Eastland site tendered for a shell loading plant was being favorably considered by the government.

Junior College Public Support Bill Considered

Action on the Junior college public support bill is moving fast. The bill passed the senate Tuesday, being sponsored actively by Sen. John Lee Smith of this district. It was referred to the house Wednesday, which in turn gave it to the educational committee for consideration. At 10 a. m. today the educational committee reported it out favorably, and final action will be taken by the house of representatives some time next week.

R. N. Cluck, president of the Cisco Junior college, stated this morning that all 20 of the members of the educational committee had been contacted by wires from local service clubs and prominent business men of Cisco. He urges that Ciscoans should wire or write friends in other counties asking that they write or wire their representatives to give favorable consideration to the Junior college public support bill.

Passage of this bill will mean much to Cisco and Ranger, and to the other 19 colleges in the state which are seeking state support for the only other public institutions that are not now receiving funds from the state.

Mrs. O. T. Arnold and daughters of Big Spring visited her mother, Mrs. T. A. Smith and other relatives in Cisco last week-end.

SUNSHINE IS NEEDED NOW FOR MATURING

Plenty of Straw to Give Support to Heads for Heavy Grain Seeds

"Moran country has the finest prospects for a bumper grain crop I have seen in many a year," said a farmer from that section Tuesday. "All we need now is plenty of sunshine to offset the danger from rust," he continued. "Of course," he stated, "another rain next week would not be amiss, since grain at this stage of seeding can absorb quite a lot of moisture. But with no more rain, Cisco's grain land territory, like the Moran territory, will harvest a big crop, barring any unforeseen catastrophe such as storms or hail or rain at the last moment of harvesting to spoil the crop."

Both wheat and oats are now heading with plenty of straw to bear up the full grain heads to be expected in order to make the bumper yield, being so freely prophesied. The latter part of May and the first of June will see harvest in full blast. The sound of the merry reapers will be likened unto the jingle of the cash register in the merchant's store. Bidders twine will be in big demand except where combines are used, in which case harvest will be delayed until the grain is fully ripe.

There is a big acreage all over the country. A bumper crop will mean much more to the country as a whole than if there was a smaller amount of land devoted to wheat, oats and barley. With war just getting started in new gear for us, and so much tonnage inevitably headed for the bottom of the ocean, prices might change for the better about late autumn time when some think soldiers will be started to protect portions of Uncle Sam's domains of the sea. Breadstuffs for people, and feed for fattening beef for soldiers, will begin to draw on the nation's resources, according to ideas of some who are taking our war preparations rather seriously.
