

Soviet Boycott Threat Hangs Over U. N. Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly's annual debate on disarmament continues today under the shadow of a Soviet boycott threat and a U. S. charge that the Communists are using the critical arms issue as a propaganda springboard.

Charging that the Western proposals would hamstring the committee's efforts, Zorin snapped that "the Soviet Union will not participate in such a waste of time."

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth shot back that the United States would not be swayed by tough Soviet talk.

Wadsworth declared, "and we will not be intimidated by a Soviet threat to do so."

Wadsworth then challenged the Soviets to accept what he termed three key principles of a workable disarmament program:

Provincial Chief, Mobutu In Open Clash

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP)—The president of the Congo's capital province threatened today to secede in an open clash with army leader Col. Joseph Mobutu.

President Cleophas Kamitatu of Leopoldville Province accused Mobutu's soldiers of maintaining a regime of terror, bloodshed and rape in the capital city.

Kamitatu ordered Mobutu and his provisional national government to stop the soldiers' activity or face expulsion within 48 hours by a "civilian mobilization."

The provincial president told a news conference that in the past 10 days the struggle between Mobutu and deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba "has become a war."

Kamitatu has been a consistent supporter of Lumumba. He in effect ordered Mobutu's 3,000 Congolese army troops in the Leopoldville area to stop carrying arms.

He also announced a 30-day ban on publication of all newspapers in the province.

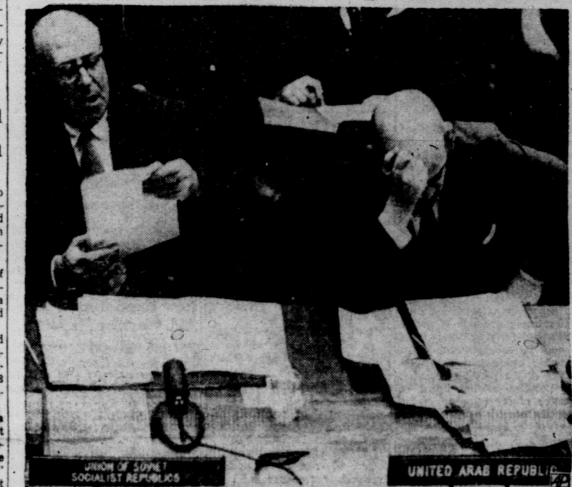

He claimed his civil police force is being reinforced by 372 U. N. policemen.

In the manner customary with Congolese leaders, Kamitatu held his news conference in his residence surrounded by a score of followers who searched the newsmen for weapons.

Kamitatu ordered the Leopoldville papers to concentrate on inciting the population to tribal hatred.

The local press has strongly supported Mobutu and his provisional national government of college-trained men.

Kamitatu said unless he received a satisfactory reply from Mobutu within 48 hours, he would convene the provincial cabinet and possibly the provincial assembly and would ask them to vote Leopoldville province out of the Congo.

ZORBIN THREATENS—Soviet delegate Valerion Zorin, left, threatens the United Nations political committee in New York, threatening to boycott the U. N. disarmament debate if the United States and its allies insist on pressing Western arms reduction plans.

Wadsworth denounced the Soviet proposal to link the arms issue with a revamping of the U. N. secretariat and Security Council as an obstacle in the path towards disarmament.

Wadsworth accused the Soviets of transforming "general and complete disarmament" into a slogan to be manipulated for propaganda warfare.

Wadsworth declared, "it is becoming an obstacle to any true progress in disarmament."

Zorin took the floor again to reply that America was calling for control over armaments rather than for disarmament with controls and that the Soviet Union would not accept such a basis for negotiations.

The political committee is considering two rival resolutions entered by the Soviet Union and three Western nations.

The Soviets are plumping for Khrushchev's demand for immediate and complete disarmament.

The United States, Britain and Italy have countered with a call for speedy resumption of disarmament negotiations.

8-Day Crude Pattern Set; Imports Rapped

By ED OVERHOLSER AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today continued the eight-day oil production pattern for November, fixing the state-wide allowable at 2,667,508 barrels a day.

The order is the seventh straight setting up a record low producing pattern for Texas oil wells. An increase of 47,740 barrels a day results because of the calendar difference between October and November.

Wells will be closed down 22 days in November, compared with 23 days in October.

Most of the major oil companies recommended the eight-day pattern, which also drew support from a spokesman representing a group of Dallas independent oil producers.

Commissioner Olin Culberson criticized the federal government's oil import program which he said is based on granting a company's import quota in proportion to the refinery runs.

Culberson said that Texas has almost singlehandedly attempted to correct the sagging demand for domestic oil, but that during the past six months, while crude oil stocks have decreased 50 million barrels, stocks of products have increased 50 million barrels.

"I am beginning to believe that we should stay in there and fight for market demand," Culberson said.

U. S. Recalls Cuba Envoy

HAVANA (AP)—The United States has recalled its ambassador to Cuba, Philip Bonsal, following announcement of an economic embargo on shipments to this country.

Bonsal, who has been subjected to numerous personal attacks by Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his followers, will leave shortly for Washington, handing over the embassy to charge d'affaires Daniel M. Braddock, his minister-counselor.

Cuba has had no ambassador in Washington since last Dec. 15, when Ernesto Dihgo returned to Havana and left the Cuban foreign service.

Castro nominated Jose Mirro Cardona as Dihgo's replacement, but Miro Cardona fled to Argentina.

Gold Prices At New Peak

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold soared to an unprecedented high today. The London dollar price ranged between $37.50 and $38.50.

And as the price of the metal gained nearly $2.20 in frantic trading, gold shares leaped ahead in London Stock Exchange dealings.

At the office fixing this morning the gold price was set at $36.40 per ounce fine, but hectic trading soon rocketed it upward.

Car Risk Rate Hike Rejected

By GARTH JONES AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Insurance today rejected a recommended 13.3 per cent increase in private automobile insurance rates and voted to continue a study of the safe driving insurance program.

The three-member board split 2-1, as it has in several other votes recently, in rejecting the insurance rate increase asked by the Texas Insurance industry and recommended by the board's own staff of statistical experts.

Chairman Penn Jackson voted against continuing the study, with board members R. W. Strain and Ned Price voting for it.

In an earlier vote the other two members turned down Jackson's proposal that insurance rates continue at their present level until the next rate hearing in 1962.

Today's action freezes indefinitely the rates current on bodily injury and property damage liability insurance and collision insurance for private passenger automobiles.

"This board is in session every day," Jackson commented after the deciding vote. "Anytime you fellows make up your mind, let me know and we'll vote on it."

After the vote, the board turned to several proposed minor changes in the insurance law.

The board met Monday to consider the rates but postponed any decision until today.

Thermometer Plunges To 42 Degrees

Snyder area residents shivered in 42-degree weather this morning in the wake of a brisk north wind which sent temperatures shuddering to the freezing mark in the Panhandle.

The thermometer never climbed above the 56-degree mark in Snyder yesterday, and the 42-degree low was logged during pre-dawn hours.

Frost glistened in some areas of the Panhandle this morning. The mercury plunged to 32 degrees at Pampa and Perryton.

Amarillo and Childress had a chilly 33 degrees. Dalhart reported 34.

The cold weather marked at least a temporary end to the heavy, food producing rains in the state.

The Perryton area in the northeast part of the Panhandle south with frost Thursday morning. Frost also occurred around Pampa.

It was the coolest morning of autumn for the state, with most areas reporting temperatures 10 to 15 degrees below the previous morning.

In the southern portion of the state winds switched to the south, indicating a possible new buildup of moisture for Texas.

At the Monday meeting staff experts recommended an overall 13.3 per cent increase in liability rates. The increase would include a 4.5 per cent increase to cover increased losses and a 7.8 per cent raise to correct estimates made when the so-called safe driving insurance plan became effective last Jan. 1.

Australian, Briton Win Noble Award

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—An Australian, Prof. Frank MacFarlane Burnet, and a Briton, Prof. Peter Brian Medawar, were awarded the 1960 Nobel Prize for Medicine today.

The winners of the $43,827 prize ($25,987 Swedish crowns) were selected by the Royal Caroline Institute in a two-hour session.

The five annual Nobel prizes are awarded in fields of medicine, physics, chemistry, literature and peace work and stem from the fortune left by the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

Burnet and Medawar were awarded the 1960 prize for medicine jointly for the discovery of acquired immunological tolerance, said the official citation of the awarding body.

The two noted medical researchers have solved one of the major obstacles for transplantation of tissues from one body to another.

Burnet is director of the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute for Medical Research in Melbourne, Australia. Medawar is professor of zoology and comparative anatomy, University College, London.

Absentee Voting Period Begins

Scurry County voters may start voting absentee for the general election Nov. 1 with applications available at the county clerk's office by mail or in person.

Requests for applications have been received by County Clerk Dan Cotton from Snyderites away at school or in the armed services. All applications must be notarized and returned for a ballot before the deadline of Friday, Nov. 4.

Reds Boast Of Missile Subs

in connection with the report that the Pentagon decided to send submarines armed with missiles and nuclear weapons to the shores of the Soviet Union.

He said new Western proposals to the U. N. assembly show the Western powers are continuing to use disarmament tactics to cover up an arms race policy.

"They are an ill omen for the future," Khrushchev said.

His attendance was not only worthwhile but essential, he said. Declaring an extraordinary session should be held next March and April, he said that if the heads of state and government agree in principle on a solution of the question of general and complete disarmament they could indicate the direction for additional work by a narrower panel.

He spoke of this panel as the "15-nation committee." The Soviet Union wants to expand the 10-nation East-West disarmament committee to 15 by the addition of five nations.

Colonial empires have fallen apart since World War II and how "their fragments are cracking up" while the Communist countries have emerged as a powerful camp, Khrushchev said.

He declared the United States no longer looms great on the international scene and has lost its military superiority, "although their ruling circles are still under the delusion that they retain it."

He said the German problem must be solved and added that "apparently it should be solved in 1961"—without, however, saying precisely how.

Khrushchev described disarmament as the "hub of all vital problems of our time."

Celebrate United Nations Week-End With International Buffet Party For Your Friends

With all eyes turned on the United Nations these days, nothing is more appropriate than to make the U.N. the theme of a home party, especially during the week-end preceding United Nations Day (October 24th). International foods are always fun for a buffet party where people like to nibble at a bit of this and a bit of that.

The piece de resistance on the buffet might be Langosta Diabla from Spain; lobster simmered in olive oil, then combined with mushrooms and other savory ingredients. Hot little yeast-raised biscuits with a cheese filling, called Lla-Uchitas in Bolivia, would be perfect with the lobster. For the cold dishes, you might have Yogurt Salad, as made in the United Arab Republic. Avocado Salad from Guatemala, liver paste from Denmark and Sillsalaati (berried salad) from Finland. Veal-stuffed mushrooms as made in Croatia (Yugoslavia) would also make a hit.

The recipe for Langosta Diabla as given in the U.N. cook book calls for live lobster, split and grilled in olive oil, then the meat is moved, diced; blended with other ingredients, and stuffed again in the shells. For a buffet party it is easier to use rock lobster tails (or the meat of cooked lobsters) and serve the Langosta in a casserole.

The following has been adapted from the original recipe for buffet service:

12 rock lobster tails; 1/2 cup Spanish olive oil; 1 or 2 garlic cloves; 3 tablespoons butter; 1 pound mushrooms, diced fine; 1 small can pimientos, drained and diced; 1/2 teaspoon tarragon; 1 can pitted raisins or minced onion; 2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 cup dry sherry.

Cut away undershell of lobster tails, snip part-way through shell so tail will lie flat. Place split garlic cloves in olive oil in large skillet, heat until garlic is browned, remove garlic. Place lobster in hot oil flesh-side down, as many as will fit into skillet without crowding. Cover, cook over medium heat 5 minutes, turn, cook 5 minutes longer. Remove, cool; continue cooking remaining lobster tails. When all lobster is cooked, remove meat from shell, cut in small pieces. Pour off all but 4 tablespoons of the oil, add butter, heat until foaming. Add mushrooms and pimiento, cook over medium heat until lightly browned; add tarragon, ripe olives, onion, salt and pepper, cook 5 minutes. Add lobster meat and sherry, transfer to large shallow casserole or pyrex baking pan. This part may be completed hours ahead. Shortly before serving, cover top with fine crumbs which have been moistened with olive oil, place casserole 4 inches from broiler, heat until crumbs are golden. (To use cooked lobster meat, omit first step, saute cooked lobster with mushrooms and pimiento in olive oil and butter, proceed as above.)

Langosta Diabla
(serves 12 to 16)

Sorority Salad

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 cup pineapple juice
juice of 1 lemon
green food coloring
1 cup diced canned pineapple
1 cup diced cucumber
1/2 cup diced celery

Soften gelatin in cold water; add boiling water and stir to dissolve. Add sugar, vinegar, pineapple and lemon juices; stir to dissolve sugar. Stir in a few drops of green food coloring, pineapple, cucumber and celery. Turn into individual molds; chill. Serve unmolded on salad greens. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

New York Dressing

1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup French Dressing
1/4 cup chili sauce
1/4 cup minced ripe olives
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 pimientos (minced)
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon minced onion.

With a fork mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Makes about 2 cups. Refrigerate any dressing leftover in covered container; mix with fork before using.

This cat is made with slices of black olives on pizza and is bound to bring "ohs" and "ahs" from children and grownups alike. Prepare pizza mix according to package directions. Let rise 5 minutes. Spread dough on a greased pizza pan. Top with sauce. Arrange olive slices to form the outline of the head, ears and body of the cat, then make the fence. Don't forget the tail and whiskers!

Shish Kebab Secret Out

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

TALL ORDER! A reader writes: "I tasted shish kebab at a picnic last summer, but the cook wouldn't give out the recipe. She did say that the spice mixture for the lamb was one sometimes used by Armenian chefs. Now I want to serve this dish at a party, but I would not like to disappoint my guests with a mediocre recipe."

Our guess is that the picnic cook used the unusual combination of cumin and allspice along with the regularly added oregano. We found that out — and wrote about it a few years ago — when the owner of an Armenian food shop seasons and let us in on the secret of the elusive flavoring.

To prepare shish kebab, have boneless lamb from shoulder or leg cut in chunks about 2 inches thick. To season about 4 pounds of the meat, coarsely grate 2 medium-sized onions and mix with 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dried crushed oregano, 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin and 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice. Coat the lamb chunks with this mixture, cover tightly and refrigerate overnight.

At serving time thread a lamb chunk on a skewer, then a wedge of onion, one of tomato and a piece of green pepper; then add another chunk of meat and continue to alternate in this fashion. Broil over charcoal or under high range heat, just until browned on the outside and slightly pink inside. Salt may be sprinkled on the meat just before or after broiling.

Festive Wild Rice

1 1/2 cups wild rice
5 tablespoons butter
1-3 to 1/2 cup blanched split almonds
1/2 cup currants
1 pintino

Cook rice according to package directions, with water and salt called for; drain. Melt butter in skillet (6 to 8 inches); add almonds; stir over moderately low heat until butter is golden brown; add to hot rice with currants that have been rinsed in hot water and drained; mix well. Garnish with pintino cut into thin rings. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Ham Sand-Rolls

6 soft oval rolls
1/2 cups firmly packed finely diced cooked ham
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1-2 cup undrained sweet pickle relish

Rolls should be about 4 inches long. Cut a thin slice from top of each and scoop out bottom halves; fill with mixture of ham, mayonnaise and pickle relish; replace tops. There will be about 1-3 cup of the ham mixture for each roll. Makes 6 servings.

Your small fry will probably think it's great fun to eat beef stew if it is served with small shell-shaped macaroni.

Limit Is Near For Pressure On Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States apparently faces serious difficulties in imposing any major new economic or political pressures on the pro-Communist Castro government of Cuba.

State Department officials said today that this country has gone about as far as it can go for the time being in applying what amounts to sanctions against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The latest move came Wednesday when the Commerce Department ordered a curb on all U. S. exports to Cuba except medical supplies and some foodstuffs. The partial embargo applies mainly to machinery and industrial equipment and supplies. The Maritime Commission at the same time banned the transfer of American-owned ships to Cuba.

Earlier this year the United States had cut off aid to Cuba and had virtually closed the U. S. market to Cuban sugar purchases. Wednesday's trade ban was clamped on after Vice President Richard M. Nixon, speaking in his presidential campaign at Miami, Fla., Tuesday, advocated a policy of quarantining Castro's Cuba and said that "a number of steps can be taken to do this and are planned."

Diplomats dealing with the problem reported that consideration has been given to a wide range of measures. The next most likely step—though it is not yet worked out in detail—could be the freezing of Cuban assets in the United States.

Sviatoslav Appears In Carnegie Hall

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Sviatoslav Richter, the one Russian pianist the music world of the West has longed most to hear, made his first New York appearance in Carnegie Hall Wednesday night.

He gave an answer, demanding program of five Beethoven sonatas, the first chosen from the early Haydn-like Opus 2 but moving up for the emotional and technical climax to the "Appassionata."

There was a rare excited buzz in the capacity audience before he walked on stage—a tall, bearded man with red hair thinking on the spot but bushy in the past.

Right off, in the first notes of the allegro in the Sonata No. 5, in C major, he sounded tops, and the audience was sure no man could play better. But in the second half of the evening, he did.

He is a consecrated, a dedicated musician. He has some mannerisms in his walk, reminding you of his American colleague Serkin, and in his work at the keyboard. But his playing itself is completely free of them, with no eccentricities at all. As an artist, he is a conservative and a perfectionist.

There was an obvious communion between him and his composer, and to an extent it even excluded his audience. Indeed in beginning the andante of the No. 23 in F minor, the "Appassionata," he gave you the feeling that there were, in his mind, only two people in the vast hall: Richter and Beethoven.

But he got noisy reminders to the contrary after each number, when the public made itself heard with clapping, whistles and cheers, and when this reviewer left the eminent visitor was sitting down to encores.

Nixon Proposes Economic Council

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today proposed establishing a National Economic Council—part of a 12-point program he set forth to accelerate economic progress in the United States.

The council he suggested would correspond to the National Security Council which advises the chief executive on the problems of security.

Nixon said in a speech prepared for the National Association of Business Economists that the new group would coordinate "the various government efforts bearing on the promotion of healthy economic growth."

But he declared it would infringe in no way on the independence of the Federal Reserve Board. This, Nixon said, "is something the opposition seems bent on doing and which is already causing concern in responsible circles both in our country and abroad."

Much of what the Republican presidential candidate said in his speech—which he described as the most important of his campaign on business and economic matters—expanded on proposals which he previously had made in criticism of Democratic programs.

For the first time he emphasized the possibility of "an early warning economic intelligence system." He said it could operate through flexible credit and fiscal possibilities, that could include tax adjustments to protect the economy against threats to stable growth.

In this connection he suggested amending federal law to include "reasonable price stability" as a major objective of government policy.

The national economy also could be stabilized, he said, "if our unemployment insurance system were substantially strengthened."

Discussing fiscal policy, Nixon said Democrats, who insist on easy credit on what he called artificially low interest rates under any circumstances, are practically inviting foreign investors to withdraw billions now placed in this country on deposit or in short-term paper.

This could result, he contended, in "a totally stupid and unnecessary gold crisis" which could have disastrous consequences for the entire free world.

To solve problems created by automation in industry, Nixon rejected over-all consultation among union, industry and government leaders. Instead he recommended working sessions for each major industry to analyze its own problems.

Daniel Says GOP Ignores U. S. Needs

SAN MARCOS (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel says the Republican administration has paid more attention to the welfare of other nations than to the American economy.

The Texas governor Wednesday night addressed an area Democratic rally here.

"It was this Republican administration which took six years to do anything about excessive foreign oil imports and which even now permits those imports to supplant our domestic oil production and contribute toward restriction of oil production in this state to eight days per month," he said.

Daniel also said he sees no inconsistency in supporting a candidate while disagreeing with the platform on which he is running.

"None of us is inconsistent in voting for nominees although we disagree with and will oppose in the Congress some of the planks in the platform," Daniel said. "There is seldom any candidate or any political party with which you can agree 100 per cent."

Daniel pointed out that he has publicly disagreed with some of the national Democratic platform. "The Republican platform is just as bad on some of these points of disagreement, and yet there are Texans supporting the Republican nominees without embracing all of the Republican platform," he said.

The governor said it is certain that a Democratic majority will be elected to Congress this year.

"The Democratic leaders in the Congress have always shared the views of the people of our state more than a Republican congress," he said. "We will strengthen the hands of our Texas and southern leaders by supporting and electing our Democratic nominees."

Both Candidates Renounce Religion As Campaign Issue

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1960 presidential candidates, speaking Wednesday night at the annual Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner, agreed that religious bigotry is less of a factor in this year's election than it was in 1928 when it weighed heavily against Smith.

Both Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, renounced the religious issue.

Francis Cardinal Spellman officiated at the dinner which honored the only Roman Catholic other than Kennedy to run for president. The $100-a-plate dinner, attended by 2,000 persons, raised funds for charities for people of all races and faiths.

Kennedy, first to speak, said: "I believe 1928 and 1960 may be very different. I do not believe the American voter of 1960 is the same as the American voter of 1928."

Smith, the Democratic nominee, was defeated by Republic Herbert Hoover in 1928.

Kennedy said he is confident that the judgment of the voters on Nov. 8 will "not be based on any extraneous issues" but on what is best for the country.

"When that happens," he added, "the bitter memories of 1928 will begin to fade."

Nixon, a Quaker, said in his speech that "religion should not be an issue and will not be an issue if we try to keep real issues before the American people."

Nixon added that he believes the times call for a leader who has faith in God and faith in the rights of man.

Both candidates drew loud applause for their remarks on the religious issue.

In addition to their serious comments on the religious issue, Kennedy and Nixon did some joking in their talks at the nonpolitical dinner. And they drew a lot of laughs.

Kennedy said he was glad that Cardinal Spellman had brought together amicably two political leaders "who are increasingly apprehensive about the November election, and who have long eyed each other suspiciously, but publicly and privately—Vice President Nixon and Governor Rockefeller."

ADA Endorsement Of Product Is Upheld

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The American Dental Association's House of Delegates has upheld an ADA Council's endorsement of Crest toothpaste.

A Connecticut resolution to rescind the approval was voted down Wednesday. Opponents of the endorsement claimed involvement of ADA with a commercial product weakened public confidence in the association.

This was a reference to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a guest at the dinner, who once considered challenging Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon said he had been subjected to one of "the worst smears" in American political history. He said he had read in the newspapers that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro said the two men running for the U.S. presidency are a couple of beardless youths. "Now, I resent that," Nixon grinned. "I resent it because, as Sen. Kennedy well knows, after my first television debate, my makeup man said I had the worst beard since Salome."

Nixon said he had a habit of not shaving on the day he was to pitch.

Jury Deliberating Finch Case Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jury is at last deliberating in the Finch-Tregoff murder retrial—the longest criminal hearing in Los Angeles County history.

For 16½ weeks one man and eleven women jurors have heard evidence and argument supporting and denying the state's claim that Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, killed his wife.

The handsome, balding surgeon, 42, was red-faced in apparent anger as a prosecutor told the jury Wednesday: "We have demonstrated the guilt of these two defendants."

Then Finch appeared composed as the jury filed out after the judge's instructions. He yawned. He clasped the hand of red-haired Miss Tregoff, 23, his onetime receptionist, and spoke reassuringly to her.

She smiled, but her lip trembled. Her brown eyes moistened as a matron led her back to jail.

After an overnight stay at a hotel, the jury continues deliberating on an issue on which a previous jury deadlocked last March.

The charge that Finch and Miss Tregoff went to his estranged wife's home in suburban West Covina the night of July 18, 1959, and that he deliberately shot socialite Barbara Jean Finch, 36, to death. The state says the defendants wanted to avoid sharing his wealth with his wife in a divorce settlement.

The physician and his codefendant say they went to the house to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch, that she produced a gun and it discharged accidentally as Finch grabbed it and tried to throw it away. Mrs. Finch died of a bullet in the back.

The retrial was staged under circumstances that contrasted sharply with those of the earlier trial.

It was held in a drab, tiny courtroom; the first was in the county's largest, bright and new. Prosecutors jabbed pitilessly in

TOO WET TO PLOW

Switch In Sites Is Accomplished

Due to an extremely muddy spectator area which has prevailed the past few days on the junior high field, a switch to Tiger Field has been made for the three junior high games which will be played this evening and tonight.

Initiating the trio of home encounters will be Travis 7th, with Lamesa furnishing the cannon fodder beginning at 5 o'clock. Travis will be trying to preserve an undefeated record as they go into the game, having won two and been held to a tie in their last outing against Sweetwater.

are the 7th graders, having won all four of their games played. Capping off the night's activity will be Lamar 8th, which has a 2 o'clock date here with Big Spring Rummels. That game will fall into the category of a re-match, as the Texans gunned the Rummels eleven times in the second outing of the year for the Lamarites, who now stand 3-2 in the won-lost column.

One team from each junior high will take part in a bit of road action tonight also. Lamar 8th will be attempting to add to its perfect streak of four victories without loss in Big Spring when they take on Rummels in a game with a kickoff time of 6 o'clock. In addition, they will be trying for their second straight over that team, having waltzed past them previously by 44-18.

In San Angelo for a job against Edison are the Travis 8th Blue Devils. That one will get under way at 4 this afternoon. Travis is presently sitting astraddle the won-lost fence, their record for the year reading two wins, as many losses, and a single tie.

MOVED UP—Inserted into the starting Hardin-Simmons right end slot as vaccinated by injured Bill Voss is junior Tommy Echols of Ira. Voss, from Hermligh, will see no more action this season after being cut down in Saturday's game against Memphis State and receiving a torn kidney as a result. Bruins Brace For Cadets; Laud Raiders

WACO—Baylor's Bears, glad to be out of their Texas Tech game with a hole in side, face another tough-running team this weekend when they meet the powerful, rapidly improving Texas Aggie team in Baylor's annual Homecoming game in Baylor Stadium.

Baylor players readily labeled the Texas Tech-Raiders "the best team we've played this season," after their narrow 14-7 escape if the mud and rain in Tech's beautiful expanded stadium adding "they really came after us."

Coach John Bridger echoed his players' estimate of the fired-up Red Raiders and praised Tech Coach De Weaver for a "great job of coaching and getting his team ready for a poised, smart, all-out effort. We're just glad to get out of there with any kind of victory against a fine team like that."

Bridgers and the Bears also were loud in their praise of Tech's All-America center-linebacker, E. J. Holub, who racked up 15 tackles all over the field, called him the finest lineman they had faced.

"There were two All-America players on that field Saturday night," Coach Bridger added. "If Ronnie Bull isn't an All-America, then I simply have never seen one. I just wish I had a nickel for every game-saving tackle he made against Texas Tech, and those two runs—one with the pass for 50 yards for our first score, and then the one for seven yards down to the Tech one set up our winning touchdown—were as fine efforts as I'll ever want to see."

The Red Raiders ran on the Bears as no other team has been able to do this season, gaining 143 rushing yards, most of them on a single-wing type power sweep at the tackles.

"The Aggies run the same kind of power stuff and do it well," Bridgers warned his Bears this week. "They rolled up 179 rushing yards against a big, tough TCU team. The Aggies are coming fast and we'd sure better be ready."

San Francisco held first place for 19 days in the National League baseball race. On 11 other days during 1960 they were tied for the lead.

DAVID WIMAN Defensive Demon; Full Of Heart

Lineman Laurels Earned By Wiman

Two words with a total of seven syllables sum up the Snyder Tigers' Lineman of the Week today—"intestinal fortitude." Veteran senior guard David Wiman, who much like Mickey Mantle could be termed a "waking bandage," earned the distinction as top lineman as an aftermath of his aggressive play during Friday's losing effort to Levelland.

Wiman, a six-footer who tips the scales at 161, was described by head coach John Conley as "the outstanding defensive player on the field" during the aforementioned game, a contest which Conley had previously tabbed as the most noteworthy defensive effort as displayed by the Tigers all year.

The strapping senior, he has been leashed, played most of the game with only "one eye," as one of the contact lenses on which he is dependent became jarred loose and was lost during the first quarter of the game. "I was completely blind on one side," he related, but he overcame the handicap by coming through to play what was probably the most outstanding game of his grid career.

Most fans will recall that Wiman was plagued by less trouble earlier in the season, the opener here against Burger to be exact. A frisky wind was responsible for carrying them away after he had taken them out temporarily early in that game, and it took a vacuum cleaner and even a portion of the medical "minds" of Snyder to retrieve the glassy little objects.

Wiman was used primarily on defense during the Levelland affair, but turned in a good job as offensive guard, also Conley reports that he "covered his responsibility well and was instrumental in stopping the wide plays" from his defensive outside linebacker slot.

A letterman he was named to the 3-AAA all-district team following last season. A spinal condition almost prevented him from even taking part in the sport at the start of this season, but he succeeded in acquiring a "green light" from his physician and has turned in a consistently stellar game throughout the campaign.

RING STRATEGISTS—Mulling over the list of prospects which they can be expected to meet tonight in Lamesa are Snyder Boxing Team members Martin Benitez (left) and Joe Costello. Helping them to map strategy is Coach Lacy Boles, center. Approximately a dozen Snyder boxers are slated to make the trip, with the series of bouts being a three-way affair involving teams from Snyder, host Lamesa, and Levelland. The initial bout will scound at 7:30 tonight, with one of the featured battles already in sight being one matching Snyder's Hollis Cox and Lamesa's Gary Rains. A return bout, it is expected to be one of the top fights of the night. (Photo by Jackson)

Gals' Golf Reaches Semi-Final Stages

AUSTIN (AP)—Semi-finals were reached today in the Women's State Senior Golf Tournament.

Mrs. C. D. Lee of El Paso, Mrs. W. K. Powell of San Angelo, Mrs. G. G. Gannon of Houston and Miss Lennie Hunt of Houston reached the final round yesterday.

Mrs. Lee had the best score of the day, shooting an 82 in beating Mrs. C. E. Kimball of Dallas 3 and 1.

You're Invited To Help 'Beat The Mustangs'

Snyder High principal T. D. Wiman has issued a special invitation to all the townspeople to attend and support the functions as planned by the school here on the eve of the annual Snyder-Sweetwater grid battle which will be aired tomorrow night in Sweetwater beginning at 7:30.

Highlighting tonight's round of activities is a bonfire rally in Towle Park which will get underway at 7 o'clock. The conflagration will transpire north of the National Guard Armory.

Then tomorrow morning at 10:15 the always-rousing "Beat Sweetwater" pep rally is set in the high school gym, to which the public is also cordially invited.

Game tickets will remain on sale here at the School Administration Building until noon tomorrow, after which they will have to be purchased at the gate in Sweetwater prior to the game.

Mississippi 'Grudgingest' Of Them All

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Mississippi Rebels, opponents know, are a tough defended team up today as records of the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed that Ole Miss finally has distinguished Syracuse as the country's leader in rushing defense.

The Rebels' consistency is unmatched in recent major college football records, with Mississippi among the top 10 in one of the four principal defense categories every week since the start of the 1956 season.

Syracuse, leader in rushing defense for more than a year, now holds only one first—a bare decision in total defense over Wyoming.

In five games, Mississippi has yielded 307 yards on 176 rushes, an average of 61.4 a game. Wyoming is second, giving up 63.2 yards average in five games, and Syracuse is fifth, with 74.8 yards in four games.

Syracuse leads in total defense, yielding 535 yards for an average of 133.8. Wyoming has allowed 671 yards in five games, an average of 134.2. Mississippi is fifth, giving up an average of 159.4.

Louis, Schmeling In Warm Reunion

The hands joined behind Schmeling's back, and Louis, the former heavyweight champion who once fought Schmeling with hate in his heart, said, "Great to see you, Max. You haven't put on any weight."

Schmeling, too, embraced Louis and said, "Nice to see you, too, Joe. You are looking great."

The applause of the crowd in a hotel ballroom drowned out these comments spoken by Louis in a soft whisper and by Schmeling, whose English is laced with the thick accent of his native Germany.

This is how they met Wednesday night, only a few miles from Yankee Stadium where Louis was kayoed by a scowling Schmeling on June 23, 1936, then came back mercilessly to knock out Schmeling—the hero of Hitler's prewar Germany—in 2 minutes, 4 seconds of the first round on June 22, 1938.

That was another night, though. That time it took a bitter, clutch lunge by Louis to bring Schmeling across the sea for a rematch. This time Schmeling, who holds the Hamburg franchise of an American soft drink company, came on his own.

He came to be with Louis along with Jimmy Braddock, the man Louis dethroned as heavyweight champ in 1937, along with Ezzard Charles, the ex-heavyweight champ who whipped an aging Louis who had once been his hero, along with Sugar Ray Robinson, the ex-welter and middleweight champ who knew Joe as a boy in Detroit; along with Louis' family, friends and other boxing associates.

The occasion was the annual dinner of the People-to-People Sports Committee Inc., a group dedicated to fostering international good will through athletics. As part of the festivities, Louis and other athletes were honored for their service to sports.

The Louis-Schmeling meeting occurred on the TV show which will be seen nationally next Sunday, (NBC, 9:30 p.m., EST).

Shoe Administered To Diamond Duo

DALLAS (AP)—Manager Jim Fanning and coach Connie Ryan were fired by Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association of Wednesday.

They were given their unconditional releases "to clear the decks in the event Dallas-Fort Worth is awarded an American League franchise," said Allen Russell, general manager.

Dallas-Fort Worth expects to be voted into the American League for the 1962 season.

A BIRD IN THE HAND

Harvard Club Doing Great Job On U. S. Goodwill Front

BY INEZ ROBB

Never again shall I care my once-favorite college song: "Don't Send My Boy to Harvard, the Dying Mother Cried." That's a solemn promise.

For the Harvard alumni of New York are leading the collegiate procession in an attempt to supply friendship and a home-away-from-home for 18 young officials of a dozen newly emerging African nations who are here in connection with a United Nations training program.

At a recent dinner and reception at the Harvard Club, an imposing pile of stone just off Fifth Avenue in West 44th St., the alumni gave membership privileges in their citadel to the African officials in the U.N. program.

Since French is the secondary language of most of their guests, the Harvardians rounded up their French-fluent alumni for the occasion. One of these, Lewis M. Isaac Jr., a New York lawyer, was so astounded at the youth of the African guests that he had to keep reminding himself that Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson were also young men when the United States emerged from colonialism.

The Harvardites themselves felt that their program was a success from the start when a youthful official of Togo, when called upon to speak, said that in Africa there are continuous reports that the Negro is universally mistreated in the United States.

"I have seen no such mistreatment," he said, "and now you have proved the rumors false. There are bad men in my country and there are bad men in your country, but the good are in the great majority."

The Harvard Club is large and impressive, and its operation and support were the source of much questioning. Who built the club, the guests wanted to know. They were surprised that Harvard alumni had raised the money for its construction.

"Didn't you get any money at all from the government?" was a frequent question.

The Harvard Club, which hopes to enlist the Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and other college alumni clubs in a similar program for African students, was interested in the project by one of its members.

Modest Girls Draw A Line

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP)—Five hundred girls who lifted their skirts without a blush have drawn the line at unbending modesty.

The girls, whose average age is 18, work at a hosiery and lingerie factory.

They complained that their modesty was offended by new security checks to see that none of the firm's underwear was being smuggled out for the benefit of competitors. Some of the girls threatened to strike.

"We are used to lifting our skirts to show that no expensive frillies have been removed from the work benches," said one teenage blonde.

"But we draw the line at anyone looking in our bras. That was going too far."

Managing Director Kenneth Allen apologized to the girls and the strike threat evaporated.

Rawson L. Wood, Harvard '30, is chairman of the Africa Service Institute, founded by a group of public-spirited New Yorkers who are alarmed by the lack of contact, cultural and human between African students in New York and New Yorkers themselves. Wood says there are approximately 1,000 such students in the city.

The institute tries to supply hospitality to such students through American homes and clubs. The organization finds that African students need more than scholarship and transportation funds provided by public groups. Most of them need help in finding decent housing, summer employment, advice on budgets and small loans for emergencies. Such help often spells the difference between a satisfying visit to the United States and failure.

When funds are available, the institute hopes to provide a center where Africans can come for companionship and guidance. The institute, by the way, is supported by private and voluntary funds.

United Nations officials approached the institute with the problem of improvement cultural and social relations for the young African officials in its six-month training program. Harvard Alumnus Wood put the matter up to his club. Now Harvard is pressing other Ivy League organizations to join it in extending a welcoming hand to young African officials. For Harvard alumni present at the initial dinner still have a flag in their rear, put there by an earnest young African who said, "America is no longer the New World. Africa now holds that title."

All Old Pros Are Having A Bad Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Yankees sacked Casey Stengel it just went to show this has been a bad year all around for the old pros.

Take politics. None of the men around Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy is a political sentimentalist. But almost all are feeling the pinch.

The oldtimers in both parties have been shoved into the back ground.

Two of the biggest old pros still loose in the land, former President Truman and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, tried to sidetrack Kennedy's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He ran right over them.

Nixon didn't have to demolish any Republican giants to get what he wanted. He spent seven years as vice president sewing up the Republican presidential nomination long before he ever got to the convention.

Neither Nixon nor Kennedy, of course, is a political chicken. Even though they're both in their 40s, each has been in Congress 14 years and each knows his way around in campaigns. They've been in some rough ones before this.

The closest thing to an old-time pro in either camp is Leonard Hall, Nixon's campaign manager, a former Republican national chairman who was in Congress for years and has been mixed up in politics since back in the 1920s when he was sheriff of Nassau County, N.Y.

But Hall is staying pretty much out of sight, doing a lot of his work by telephone.

Further up front is 35-year-old Robert Finch, a lawyer who's been in California politics for years, ran twice unsuccessfully for Congress, and has the title of campaign director for Nixon.

Kennedy didn't go hunting among the professionals, old or young, for his campaign manager. He picked his younger brother-in-law, who had been attorney for the Senate's rackets committee.

When he was with the committee the younger Kennedy brought in an old family friend, Phillip Kennedy O'Donnell, 36, a former Harvard football player and war veteran, as his top assistant.

The Kennedys took O'Donnell along for the campaign. He is the senator's chief trouble-shooter now.

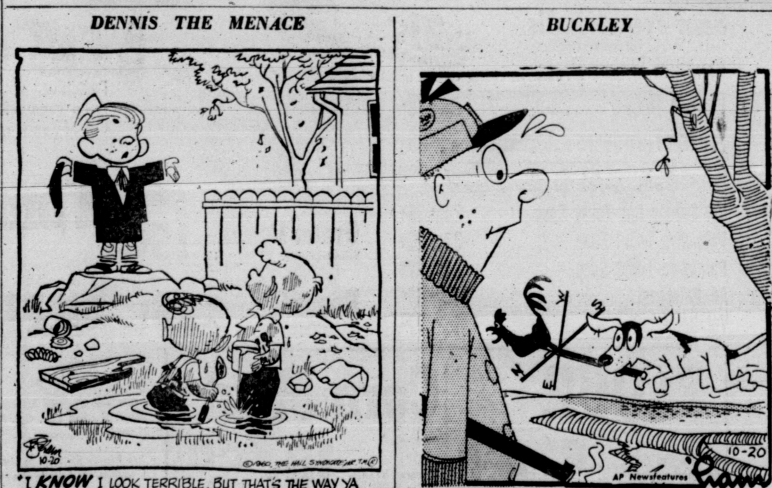

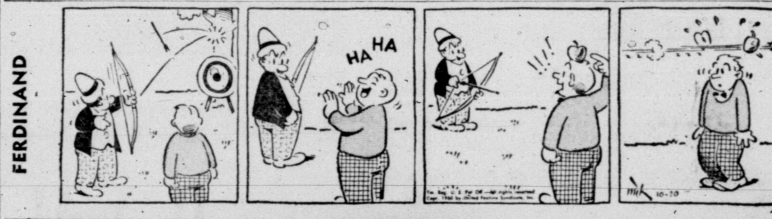

As his chief assistant Kennedy has 32-year-old Theodore C. Sorenson, who will probably be White House chief of staff if Kennedy wins.

Another old Kennedy family friend—Lawrence F. O'Brien, 43-year-old lawyer and public relations man—is in charge of organizing the Democrats around the country. He did pretty well for Kennedy in his primary fights this year.

Protests Customs Service At Airport

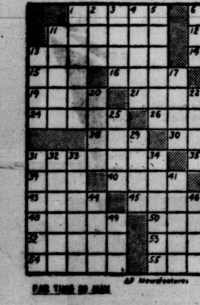

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Robert Donald of San Antonio protested Wednesday that it took him as long to get through airport customs and immigration as it did to fly from that Texas city to the Mexican capital.

His protest was carried on a page one of the newspaper Ultimas Noticias, which went on to say that service at the airport was badly handled, lacking in courtesy, and slow.
