Proponents Of Decontrol Say Shortage Over

Senate Committee Would Give City Councils Power

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 25 — A House-approved plan to sweep off all rent controls in Texas is ready for debate on the Senate floor.

The Senate state affairs committee approved the House bill yesterday, 15-0, but only after amending it to give city councils the power to reinstate controls if a housing shortage develops.

More than 200 landlords, tenants and spectators stayed through the two-and-half hour hearing in the Senate chamber. Several times the crowd was warned not to applaud while proponents of the bill were speaking.

Say There's No Shortage

Backers of the measure, by Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston, argued that there was no housing shortage in Texas and that competition would eventually lower rents.

Opponents of the bill contended that decontrol would hike rents unreasonably. They asked that the power to decontrol be left in the hands of city councils more closely acquainted with local housing problems.

"We are neither for or against this bill," said Brig. Gen. B. E. Gates, deputy commander of the Air Force Training Command, San Antonio. "I am just speaking for the armed forces as the biggest rental agent in this neck of the woods—11,000 units."

To Pay Through Nose

"Despite all this talk about plenty of rental housing, we still have trailer camps around every military installation," he said. "We want to get these kids out of the trailers and get them decent places to live. When you take off rent controls, rents will shoot up and these kids will have to start paying through the nose."

Moore said there were 6,000 rentable units in Houston "padlocked" because of rent control. "And I have figures to show that there are 7,500 units padlocked in Fort Worth and 4,000 in San Antonio," he said.

"Don't take away the only protection we have left," said G. B. Nichols, University of Texas student.

"If rents are decontrolled, within 60 days everything will be levelled off and competition would force lower rents," said W. T. Clarke of Waco.

Passing The Buck

"Some cities are just trying to pass the buck up to you," said Bill Wills, Fort Worth attorney. "Why don't you pass it back to them?"

Cecil Barnes of San Angelo said his area had been decontrolled for more than two years, "and as far as I know there is no organized effort to bring back control."

"We just can't pay higher rents," said A. B. Rosson of Austin, who

Youth Council Plan Favored

AUSTIN, May 25 (AP)—The Senate today gave its okay to a brand new plan aimed at preventing and curing juvenile delinquency in Texas.

The creation of a state youth development council was approved by the House several weeks ago. The bill, by Rep. Pearce Johnson and Senator R. L. Proffer, goes back to the House for approval of Senate amendments.

The bill resulted from a lengthy investigation and survey by the Texas training school code commission. It was given full support by Gov. Beauford Jester.

Children To Be Studied

Under the provisions of the measure a state diagnostic center would be set up to study each child declared delinquent by the courts before the child is sent to a training school.

A Senate amendment today reduced the membership of the council from 15 to 14 members. Proffer said the change would remove two paid employes from the council. Other members of the council are state officials whose duties touch on child life and six Texans appointed by the governor.

Another amendment today would remove the Gatesville school for boys the Gainesville school for girls, state orphans homes at Waco and Corsicana, and the Brady school for negro girls from the administration of the state board of control and place them under the proposed council.

Embassy Suicide Attempted; Red Persecution Is Charged

British Employes Disappear

(By The United Press)

LONDON, May 25 — The foreign office reported today that six persons employed by the British embassy in Moscow had disappeared and a seventh attempted suicide because of "persecution" by Soviet police.

A foreign office spokesman said Sir Maurice Peterson, British ambassador in Moscow, had protested to the Soviet foreign office against the "persecution" of locally-hired embassy personnel, but had received no satisfaction.

The spokesman also accused Russia of refusing to grant re-entry visas to British employes of the embassy. Britain will retaliate with a like attitude toward employes of the Soviet embassy here, he said.

The first two embassy employes who disappeared, the spokesman said, were a Mrs. Ackman and a Mrs. Whitehead. The British contend they are British nationals and the Soviets insist they are Russian nationals.

Later, he said, a Mr. and Mrs. Balukan, who had been employed by the British embassy for 22 and six years respectively left suddenly after receiving police threats.

Three other cases of alleged persecution were reported. In one, the spokesman said, the evidence was that the persecution had caused a Mrs. Burke, Soviet-born wife of a Briton, to attempt suicide.

In a protest to the foreign office Peterson charged that the police practice amounted to a Russian attempt to dictate the composition of the embassy staff.

The spokesman made it plain that Britain would not retaliate in kind against the

Defenders Are Blasting Area Along Retreat

Rear Guard Action Troublesome For Advancing Troops

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, May 25.—Communists marched into Shanghai today, and a roaring battle far worse than the siege developed.

Retreating Nationalists, trying to fight their way back to Woosung and escape, were blowing up everything they could. At 9 p. m. the whole horizon to the north seemed to explode.

Apparently the government soldiers, pulling back before the advancing Communists, blew up the fuel pumps, bombs and ammunition installations at Kiangwan airfield.

Escape Route Pounded

All the while cannonading shook the city as the Reds smashed with everything available at Woosung fortress. The Communists were determined to make the Nationalist escape corridor a bloody avenue if they can not close it.

The Reds, overrunning the world's most populous country, gave Communism its largest city by occupying almost all of Shanghai.

Towering Broadway Mansions, an apartment building where several Americans and British are trapped behind the Nationalist lines, was shaken up.

Bands Hunted Down

Even in the old International settlement in the downtown area small arms fire crackled as the Reds hunted down small groups of Nationalists still holed up in buildings.

Obviously the Nationalist rear guard was buying time in last stand fights. They want the bulk of their comrades to deploy on the outer edges of the city for another fight or reach ships waiting in the Yangtze to take them south.

The green-clad Reds came into the city from the west. It was peaceful there for most of the city was still asleep. What few Nationalists the Reds encountered there threw down their arms or took to their heels.

Straight for the billion dollar bund built along the Whangpoo banks they headed. There they ran into trouble. The bridges were blocked by machine guns. Snipers opened up from buildings.

Winter Wheat Belt Affected By Rail Order

Action To Prevent Congestion, Delay Of Box Cars Taken

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 25 — A partial embargo on shipments of grain in the winter wheat belt will become effective June 1, the Association of American Railroads announced today.

The embargo affects grain which shippers desire to store, but for which they have not obtained definite storage commitments. Arthur H. Gass, chairman of the car service division of the AAR, said it was issued to prevent congestion and undue delay of box cars at grain storage points, including terminal and sub-terminal markets.

Texas Ports Excepted

Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas (except the ports of Port Arthur, Galveston, and Houston), Council Bluff, Ia., and East St. Louis, Ill., are covered by the embargo, Gass said.

"Two factors made the embargo necessary," Gass said. "First, storage facilities in the winter wheat belt are more than half full with grain held over from last year in addition to a heavy carryover of grain on farms and at country elevators.

"Second, it is the beginning of the present harvest of a near bumper crop of winter wheat. The impact created by the arrival of all this grain without any form of control would result in congestion at terminals and would tie up vitally needed box cars."

Certification Required

Under provisions of the embargo, no permits are required, but the shipper of grain by rail must certify on the bill of lading or reconsignment order that arrangements for storage have been made. Grain moving to a market for sale is not affected by the embargo.

Thus, the railroads would serve as traffic cops in an effort to reduce box car congestion at the terminals, and keep the grain moving until the warehouses could not hold any more.

The proposed embargo would be stiffer than the one imposed last year. Last year it did not go into effect until July and then it applied only to wheat shipped for storage, instead of to all grains.

Drainage Of Area Is Declared Impaired

Court Action To Halt Alleged Filling Of "Park" Is Sought

Carl E. Maxey went into 99th district court this morning to seek injunctive relief against J. E. Maisen, on behalf of himself and all other owners of lands and premises in Tech Terrace addition in southwest Lubbock.

In the so-called "class suit" filed for Maxey by William H. Evans of the law firm of Klett, Bean, Evans and Justice, the plaintiff pleaded that Maisen platted the addition and had allegedly dedicated the center of it as a park and drainage area. But, it was pleaded, Maisen recently commenced "a course of conduct inconsistent with the dedication and in derogation of the rights of all parties owning properties (there) . . ."

The suit charged that Maisen "has unloaded debris, fill and clay into (the) basin to the extent that the level . . . and the capacity of the same to hold temporary waters has been greatly lessened . . . His acts . . . do and will constitute a continuous hazard to the property of the plaintiff and a nuisance to the property of the plaintiff and should be abated."

Specifically, the suit claimed that the direct and proximate result of the fill was that recent rainwaters accumulating in the basin overflowed and damaged a well in Maxey's yard, to his damage of more than $1,000.

"Further fill will endanger

THREE ITEMS MARKED FOR ACTION

Congress Dropping Hot Political Bills

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Congress seemed about ready today to shelve until 1950 most of the political hot potatoes of President Truman's program.

Marked for delay until next year are measures involving civil rights, farm subsidies, health insurance, tax increases and social security expansion.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, indicated the administration will consider it a job well done if Senate action can be finished by July 31 on three major items: House-approved reciprocal trade legislation, a substitute for the Taft-Hartley labor law and the North Atlantic treaty.

Labor Bill Prepared

But he made it clear that he won't be disappointed personally if the Democrats have something fresh to talk to the voters about next year.

"We had a program that couldn't possibly be enacted by any Congress in seven months," he said. "We have to leave a few good things until next year."

Indications that the House may move soon to try its hand again with a Taft-Hartley repealer brought a comment from Lucas that the Senate will not debate a similar bill at the same time.

Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) said the House labor committee will have another repealer ready for floor action in two or three weeks.

Health Plan Out

Rep. Powell (D-NY) said a subcommittee will send to the full committee within 10 days a bill to set up a fair employment practices commission—one of the key points in the President's civil rights program.

But Lucas said he doubts that the Senate—which always bumps into a southern filibuster on such measures—will find any time to take up civil rights bills in this session.

Nor can he find room on the schedule, he added, for legislation to carry out Mr. Truman's proposal to set up a compulsory health insurance system.

Leaders of both houses seemed in agreement that nothing will be

Union Leader Is Shot

Victor Reuther Badly Injured

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, May 25.—A stealthy gunman, firing through a window, shot and wounded Victor Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers union at his home last night.

Badly hurt, the 37-year-old unionist faces the possible loss of his right eye, pierced by a shotgun pellet.

Thus, for a second time within 13 months, police today sought a man, or men, apparently bent on murder in the UAW-CIO's Reuther family.

The union's president Walter Reuther escaped death at the hands of a mysterious assailant the night of April 20 last year.

Attack Is Unsolved

That attack remains unsolved despite one of the most painstaking investigations in Detroit's police records.

Walter called his brother's shooting "another dastardly and un-American trick."

Later Walter charged that the attacks on himself and Victor were carried out by men who were "paid" to do it in a "campaign of terrorism."

He said this was directed against "pro-American and pro-Democratic trade unionists."

In a formal statement the UAW's top man said:

"I believe the same people who paid to have me shot paid to have my brother, Victor, shot for the same reason.

Terrorism Campaign

"They are people who are opposed to decent, clean American trade unionism. They could be die-hard elements among employers, or Communists or Fascist agents.

"This is a campaign of terrorism intended to stop pro-American and pro-Democratic trade unionists in their effort to build a better America and a free world.

"These terrorist and un-American elements will not succeed. No campaign of terrorists will lessen our determination. It will make

Stokes' head injuries proved fatal. Warren was suffering from brain concussion.

TORRENTIAL RAIN, HAIL FALL

Freak Wind Hits South Texas Town

(By The Associated Press)

REFUGIO, May 25 — A freak wind struck the northwest section of this South Texas town last night, causing considerable property damage. No one was injured.

"It sure was some blow," Deputy Sheriff A. W. Walzel said today, "but I don't think it was a tornado. I figure the winds blew about 60 miles per hour. Roofs blew off four or five houses, some garages were knocked off their blocks and a lot of trees were blown down."

The wind struck about 7:30 p. m. during a torrential rain and hailstorm.

Streets Are Flooded

"It rained an inch and a half in about 10 or 15 minutes," said the deputy. "It flooded the streets. A lot of gardens in town were wiped out, but it didn't hurt the ranch country around here."

Some water and gas mains were broken by the storm and power was off temporarily.

"But everything is under control today," Walzel said.

There was no official estimate of damage. One unofficial report estimated damage at between $50,000 and $75,000.

Walzel, however, said: "The damage won't run anywhere near that."

Streets were littered with uprooted trees.

ONE HIGHWAY CLOSED BY TRINITY FLOODS

Only one highway remained closed today—U S highway 287 between Corsicana and Palestine —as a result of overflow from the Trinity river.

The river had returned to normal except downstream below Trinidad.

This morning's minimums ranged from 55 at Amarillo to 77 at Brownsville and Galveston.

Precipitation was scattered. Beaumont reported .56 inch; Wichita Falls .28; Houston .10; Lufkin .05 and Victoria .03.

Public Schools Conclude Work

Although vacation will not officially open until after report cards are issued Friday, students today are concluding their final full day of classroom work in Lubbock public schools.

In primary grades, students are attending regular classroom schedules. In intermediate grades of four, five and six, they are finishing some tests and turning in books. In Senior High school, the last examination was given this morning.

Eighteen weeks' examinations will be given Thursday in Senior High school for those required to take them.

The majority of students in the public school system will have completed their school work at close of classes today except for returning to school Friday to get their cards.

Seniors, who went to Carlsbad caverns Tuesday, will receive diplomas in the graduation service at 8 o'clock Thursday night in Chapman field gymnasium. The all-student program will have the theme, "Builderr of '49."

In a letter to Chapin, released with today's announcement, Mr. Truman said he expects to assign Chapin soon to "an important diplomatic" post.

Three other new ambassadors were nominated at the same time, as follows:

Joseph Flack, now ambassador to Bolivia, to be ambassador to Costa Rica, succeeding Davis.

DALLAS, May 25 (AP) — E. P. Griffin, Wichita Falls oil operator, was in Baylor hospital here today for surgery after being shot in the head on an oil lease near Ballinger late yesterday.

Hospital attendants said Dr. Albert D'Errico, well known brain surgeon, would operate on the oil man.

Griffin, about 35, was found wounded on the E. F. Price lease about 11 miles northeast of Ballinger. He was taken first to the Bailey clinic at Ballinger, where attendants said a bullet had entered Griffin's head near the right temple and came out the other side.

There was no indication how Griffin came to be shot.

Baylor hospital attendants said it was too early to describe Griffin's condition.

Mixup Keeps Baby From Medical Care

Houston Hospital Claims It's Not To Blame In Child Death

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, May 25 — Hospital authorities today disclaimed responsibility in the death of a negro baby, who died in its mother's arms yesterday after a mix-up kept the child from hospital care.

Sherill Ann Shepherd, 15 months, died as her mother, Mildred Shepherd, carried her to a bus for a return trip to the hospital. The mother said a nurse advised her yesterday afternoon to take the baby home, since "you can do as much for her at home as we can here."

The child's illness had been diagnosed as pneumonia and a heart ailment, which the hospital said was congenital.

Dr. Mac Woodward, chief resident physician at Jefferson Davis hospital, claimed "nobody in authority" had suggested the patient be sent home.

The mother told police, who rushed her to the hospital when the infant stopped breathing, that "a nurse came in and said the doctor had told her it was all right for the

Doctor's Wife Sought Company Of Slain Man, Witnesses Say

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 25. (U.P.)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge's blonde, six-foot-tall wife courted the attention of her alleged seducer, Byron Hattman, witnesses claimed today.

The witnesses said that Rutledge's wife, Sydney, 23, visited with Hattman frequently at his drawing board in the Emerson Electric company plant at St. Louis where they both worked.

Rutledge is standing trial on charges that he followed Hattman here and stabbed him to death in a bloody hotel room battle last Dec. 14 to avenge his wife's seduction. Rutledge contends he acted in self-defense while attempting to dissuade Hattman from annoying his wife.

There was a slight possibility that all testimony might be concluded today but most observers believed the opposing attorneys would begin their final statements tomorrow or Friday and hand the case to the jury before the weekend.

John Quody, Mrs. Rutledge's boss at Emerson, testified that beginning July 23 last year, she stopped for a 10 or 15 minute visit every day at Hattman's desk, just 20 feet from her own.

"Not on one occasion," he said, "did I see Barney (Hattman) at Sydney's desk."

But, he said, the "conversations seemed to cease" about Aug. 10, just 10 days after Hattman allegedly seduced Mrs. Rutledge forcibly as she protested and fought against his advances.

Knife Described

James T. Thorp, jr., another Emerson employe, said he noticed Mrs. Rutledge's frequent visits with Hattman even though he worked in an adjoining office.

He said he noticed the visits because co-workers called his attention "to the way Mrs. Rutledge was dressed." He never was given a chance to describe her costume.

Other Emerson employes gave testimony supporting Quody and Thorp.

They also testified that Hattman owned a knife with a blade about 2½ inches long.

The defense contends that Hattman pulled his knife on Rutledge, that it "changed hands" during the fight, and that it was the weapon that killed the handsome Emerson engineer.

The prosecution has attempted to show that Hattman was killed with a longer knife because his death wound was about five inches deep. The murder weapon itself is missing.

Footwear Business Returning To 'Normal'

American Women's $20 Shoes Bow To Lower Priced Styles

BY BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK, May 25 — The American woman's $20 shoes are wheuring out, and she's buying $10 shoes to take their place, shoe manufacturers and retailers said today.

The New England shoe manufacturers and chain store retailers are sponsoring the Second Annual Popular Price Shoe Show here this week. They cite a Department of Commerce prediction that 92 percent of all shoes sold in 1949 will have price tags under $10.

That's almost back to pre-war "normal."

War Upped Price

In the three years before Pearl Harbor, 95 percent of shoes sold were in that low price range, according to Mark A. Edison, president of the National Association of Shoe Chain Stores.

During the war, when money was freer, shoes were rationed and low-priced shoes too frequently were of poor quality, the percentage of under $10 shoes dropped to an estimated 65 to 70 percent. Last year, Edison said, it was back up to 82 percent.

The retailers and manufacturers agree the reason is partly a new thriftiness on the part of shoppers and partly a greatly increased value in lower priced shoes.

Difference In Businesses

They point out, however, that their good business may mean that other businesses are in for headaches.

Frank S. Shapiro, president of the New England Shoe and Leather association and co-chairman with Edison of the cooperative show, said he and his broker were always at odds on how good is business.

"When it is good for me, he says it is terrible, Shapiro said. "When I say it is bad, he says it is good. My records show that when the general economy ends downward, low priced shoes are in fuller production."

Ah, me! ah, youth! ah, wilderness; aw, hell don't look so forlorn son. Life isn't all fang and claw and a sharp tack in a tight shoe. You're just a freshman in a bigger university — a university in which it is terribly important to pick the right professors.

Until now there has always been somebody ready with a handkerchief to wipe your nose. The first thing you have to learn in this new university is to keep your nose out of places where people will make it bleed. There are tough kids around, who live by the creed that a gun in the hand is worth two in the head. Don't play with them. Stay with the nice boys.

Cleared Places Around

There are cleared places in this age-old jungle that is your new campus. Work with the people that want to tear down some of the choking moss and chop down some of the dead trees that hide the sky. The best fun in life is to leave something better than you found it. And if you don't help clear the campus, the moss will smother you in time, as it has so many, and you will become a dead tree in a dying part of the forest.

Okay, son, I know that sounds highfalut'n. Get the glaze out of your eyes. I know what's on your mind—you want a job. Fine. Drop that sheepskin from your warm little hand. Here's a broom. Get busy.

What's that? You don't want to push a broom? Why not? Do you want the broom to push you?

Oh, you'd hopped for something better? Well, so do we all. But you have to learn to saw wood before you can make a cabinet.

Austria got 2,000 tons of fats on loan from hungry Britain, at the United States' request, when Austria was short because of the American dock strike.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back. Adv.

Organizations Give Opposing Arguments On HST's Plan For National Health Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The American Dental association opposed compulsory health insurance today on the ground that it would 'tend to shift emphasis away from preventive procedure to a mass repair program."

Such a shift, said a spokesman for the dentists, would "fail to bring about any improvement in the nation's dental health."

Also today, another group with the initials ADA—the Americans for Democratic Action—came out strongly for President Truman's plan for national health insurance based on payroll taxes.

Arguments For Record

Dr. Carl O. Flagstad of Minneapolis presented the dentists' anti-compulsory health insurance arguments. He drew them up for submission first to a House subcommittee and then to a Senate labor subcommittee, both of which are considering health bills.

The views of the Americans for Democratic Action were set forth in a paper prepared for the Senate subcommittee by Seymour E. Harris, Harvard economics professor. This association describes itself as a non-Communist organization of liberals.

The Senate subcommittee also was scheduled to hear today the arguments of the American Medical association against the administration's insurance program.

Actually, so far as immediate results are concerned, the day's arguments were merely for the record. Truman administration leaders have given up hope of enacting his health insurance program this year.

HST Plan Preferred

That program would be financed by a three per cent payroll tax, split between worker and employer, on income up to $4,800. There also would be a federal contribution of general tax receipts. Sponsors of the administration bill estimate it would cover about 120,000,000 Americans at an annual cost of around $6,000,000,000 in paying their doctor bills.

Americans for Democratic Action, said Harris, think the Truman program is "much to be preferred" to alternate programs backed by Senators Taft R(-Ohio) and Hill (D-Ala).

The Taft and Hill plans, in separate bills, both provide for federal grants to states to expand medical and hospital facilities and personnel, and to pay for the care of those who can't afford to pay for it themselves.

Taft's measure would authorize grants exceeding $1,250,000,000 over a five year period. Hill's bill does not specify any particular sum.

Control With Public

Both measures—Hill's to a greater extent than Taft's—call for utilizing the services of existing voluntary health insurance programs.

In endorsing the administration bill, Harris said it is better than the Taft and Hill measures because:

"It offers close to complete coverage, deals adequately with the crucial problem of expansion of facilities and personnel, and proposes much needed organizational improvement. The control rests, moreover, with the public, and not with those who sell the services." Harris added:

"The crucial issue is whether we are to have systems under which the 80 per cent with incomes of less than $5,000 are to be protected against the accidents of sickness by a contributory insurance plan, or whether—as under the Taft and Hill bills—the money is to be spent on a charitable basis for the benefit to those who claim need."

Speaking for the dental association, Flagstad urged Congress to "discard compulsory health insurance schemes in favor of the association's program calling for expanded research in an effort to discover new means of preventing and controlling dental diseases which afflict approximately 95 per cent of the population."

He urged, too, support of programs "designed to intensify dental health education for both children and adults and the establishment of community programs to make dental care available to all children."

Flagstad added that the plan advanced by the Truman administration "is not insurance but actually is only a method for collecting additional taxes."

Helicopters are now being used by archeologists in their hunt for ancient relics.

ROCKABYE REMOTE CONTROL—Dr. Sydney Norton Baruch, inventor of a depth bomb used successfully against submarines in both World Wars, displays his newest creation in his New York laboratory. His "night nurse" mechanical crib, powered by a one-tenth of a horsepower motor, sways the cradle like a mother rocking her child in her arms while playing a lullaby recording of the mother's own voice. An Air Force consultant engineer, Baruch says his gadget will sell for about $85 when it goes into production.

Hair Dressers Claimed Last To Feel Pinch Of Depression

Prices Of Numerous Items May Be Falling, But Not Cost Of Keeping Women Beautified

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25—Dad, if you think the price of keeping mama pretty is going to follow the downward price trend — you're wrong!

We go right to the top to answer that one.

To Mrs. Maye Whitely, Dallas, Tex., president of the National Hair Dressers and Cosmetologists association. She was in Washington to attend the hair fashion council clinic of the association.

"Doggone," Maye said, smoothing out her grass-green dress. "We can't cut our prices. Eggs go down a couple of cents a dozen and maybe you pay a little less for a steak, but the excise tax on beauty remains the same—and so does the price we pay to keep the feminine population beautiful."

Shorter Locks Predicted

Before the lovely lady from Texas had a chance to blow her brunette roof on the question of taxes, I interrupted her with one about this short hair-do the gals are wearing.

Just you wait, she said.

The styles for the fall will be even shorter. And there will be very little excuse for a bride, or even a woman with more experience, to come to the breakfast table looking like something pulled out of a rat's nest.

"We're working on this short hair business," she said, brushing back a shock of short hair.

Operators Not Worried

The hair cut and hair curl people, she said, have done a lot of research and found that tall girls look better in short hair. Ditto short girls.

"So, you see," she said, "the hair of milady is going to be as short as we can make it and still make the girls look pretty."

Maye, who doesn't have anything to worry about in the beauty department herself, turned the interview back to the business of how much a permanent or hair-cut costs, and so what! The 27,000 beauty shop members of her association, she said, don't worry about it a bit. During the last depression, she said, the beauty shops were the last to suffer and "we are not about to suffer now. A woman will wear a bunch of torn lace on her slip or maybe even a run-down heel—but never a pale face or uncurled top-knot."

Trimness Up To Woman

Also, she said, the first thing a woman looking for a job thinks of is her fingernails. Or her hair or lips.

At this point in the interview, L. A. Freiberg, New York, the executive secretary of the hair dressers association, who had been eavesdropping, butted in.

He said he had heard somebody say how awful a woman can look in the morning.

"That," said he, "is up to the woman. "If she has one of these short hair cuts and has it cut to fit her face and figure—all she has to do to pretty up is to run a brush through her hair."

A wife can do it while she's scrambling the eggs, he said.

Freiberg said that a woman's hair is her personality—taking the play away from the lovely and full-shocked Mrs. Whitley.

Mr. F. said he couldn't speak for the opposite sex.

He doesn't have a hair on his head.

Alaska U. Graduates To Hear Ex-Tech Prof

Dr. E. F. George, former head of the physics department at Texas Technological college, was commencement speaker at recent graduation exercises at the University of Alaska, Lubbock friends learned Tuesday.

Dr. George is now head of the physics department at the University of Alaska. His address was entitled "Sixty Years of Scientific Advancement in the United States."

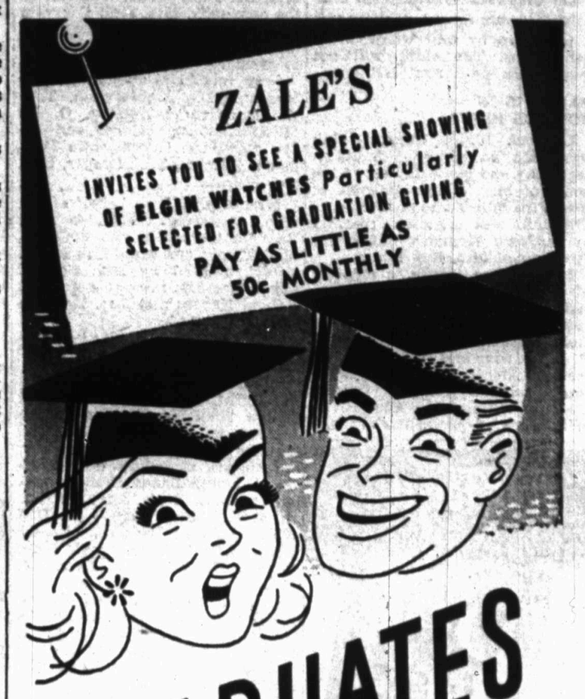

His speech was reprinted in The Fairbanks Daily News, which advertises itself as "America's Farthest north daily newspaper." Dr. and Mrs. Alan L. Strout of 2512 Twenty-first received a copy of the paper by airmail.

Mary Haworth's Mail...

Family Quarrel Is Started When Mother Wants To Give Heirloom Diamond To Son

DEAR Mary Haworth: About three years ago my mother passed away, and her personal property included several diamonds of considerable value which were divided amongst three heirs —my brother, my sister and myself.

Now my son Bud is 23 and talking of getting married. As neither he nor the girl has much money, I should like to give Bud one of his grandmother's diamonds to be mounted in an engagement ring.

However, I am married a second time, my husband has two teen-age daughters by his first wife, and he objects to my giving Bud a diamond, for he says there will be friction with the girls if I do. He says if I give Bud a diamond, the girls should have a diamond, too. But I feel that inasmuch as the diamonds were given to me by my mother, I can do with them as I see fit.

My husband has given me a diamond ring and diamond-set watch, which I have said I will leave to his daughters, since they came from him, but that my mother's jewelry is indisputably mine to do with as I please. What do you think? Is my attitude fair? Please answer soon.

Signed, G. L.

SQUABBLE DOESN'T SQUARE WITH SENSE

DEAR G. L.: This kind of family squabble is difficult to arbitrate, for the reason that the covetous person who starts the argument—in this case, your husband—is activated by anything but an interest in "justice."

I am sure your husband feels as you do: that your heirloom jewelry from your mother is an outright gift to you, and that neither he nor his daughters have any "strings" on it, ethically or legally. But it just happens that he is a covetous man where dollar-value is concerned; and in addition, he is obscurely jealous of your abiding devotion to Bud.

In short, he knows he hasn't a leg to stand on in fighting your "happy thought" of giving Bud a diamond for his wife-to-be; so he uses emotional ammunition in the form of an implied threat to "back" trouble between you and the girls if you go through with this gift to Bud.

MAN'S ATTITUDE UNDULY GRABBY

HIS ATTITUDE is no credit to himself, and I hope it doesn't reflect his daughters' disposition. If they are wholesome teenagers, they won't care a hoot who gets the diamonds, for their interests will be healthily centered on living things, and the only diamond they'll crave will be one bestowed by "the man of their dreams."

In my opinion it is a shame that your husband's gifts to you have entered the squabble, per pledge on your part to leave them to his daughters as salve to his frustrated itch for trusteeship of all your jewelry. This is bartering in the spirit of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, it seems to me; but as compared to his attitude, yours is punctiliously fair. And if you choose to give Bud your whole share of his grandmother's diamonds, that's your privilege.

Youth's Dream

Austrian Thinks Of America As Place Of Opportunity

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Another in a series of articles on experiences in Europe, written by the women's editor of The Avalanche-Journal publications, appears today.)

• • •

By MARGARET TURNER

A SLENDER youth of 19, a native of Wels, Austria, works hard and long hours as a machinist and dreams each night of the day that may see him en route to America.

He is Eric Greifeneder, who did us a good turn when we were leaving Austria, who revealed what certain Austrian youths are doing and thinking today.

• • •

After our train was well underway from Linz, Austria, in the early morning hours, the conductor came through our car and said something in German, repeating one sentence over and over. We could only shrug and shake our heads. Eric leaned forward, asked our pardon and explained that the car was to be left at Salzburg and we were to move to a section about ten cars down. That was bad news. Not knowing how long the train would remain in Salzburg, and knowing how impossible it would be to transfer our luggage without help, we were baffled. The youth came to the rescue. He suggested that he remain on the train to Salzburg, transfer the luggage and then return to his home in Wels by a later train.

We readily agreed and insisted that he accept American bills for his trouble; over his protest, and that is how we came to know Eric. His English was excellent and he used a few slang terms which he had picked up from American soldiers.

• • •

ERIC GREIFENEDER, like his parents, is a native of Wels. Although he is employed there in a tool factory, he spends most of his week ends away, because he says "I hate those peeples."

The question of how people in Wels were managing to exist came up and it was then that the youth, a fair-skinned, blue-eyed, light-haired six-footer, burst out "I hate those peeples." For a moment we thought he might be referring to the Americans stationed there but he hastened to explain he meant his own towns people. "They smile in your face, but they stab you in the back," he said. "The leaders who only a few years ago were saying 'Heil Hitler' right now are saying 'Hello America' but they are cheats and they lie," he exclaimed.

We rode in silence for a while and then someone asked "Why don't you leave Eric, if you are unhappy in Wels?"

His blue eyes shone and then his face clouded. "I have tried to leave; I have tried to go to America. I failed but I am not discouraged and someday I'll go and will work night and day."

• • •

LAST September young Greifeneder and his buddy hitchhiked to Italy, sneaked through the checkpoint in the Brenner pass at night and caught rides in the daytime. They had one objective: to find a ship captain and offer him their prized possession (a gold watch owned by Eric) in exchange for a chance to work their passage to America. They found the captain but their dreams died, of course, when he explained it was impossible. The Austrian youth was silent for a while and then he said his mother cried for three days when he returned home.

• • •

Now Eric continues his job and on week ends teaches American soldiers how to ski and hunt and fish, depending on the season of the year. One of his best pals is a boy named Tommy Dalton from a Texas town, who is stationed in Linz, and we wish Tommy could have seen the look on Eric's face when he showed us two pair of sox the soldier had given him the previous day.

• • •

We were riding through the Alps and the fruit trees were lighting the valleys and yards. It was a beautiful sight and we said, "We have few places in America this beautiful; you live in a colorful country."

"Yes," he hastily answered. "This is beautiful, but I cannot eat from the mountains. I will come to America; somehow, someday and I'll work day and night to show my appreciation."

Hubbers Shake Off Jitters To Lick Loop Leaders, 10-6

Same Clubs To Tangle Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

The Albuquerque Dukes and Abilene Blue Sox retained their grip on first and second place respectively in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league today, but slipped down a game in relation to the pack.

The two leaders slipped a game in their relative standings with four teams—Borger, Amarillo, Lamesa and Lubbock.

Albuquerque lost last night to Lubbock 10-6, and Abilene dropped a 4-3 battle to Borger. Lamesa romped on Clovis' Pioneers 21-5 and Amarillo's Gold Sox shut out Pampa 7-0.

Dukes Still Leading

The games left the Dukes leading Abilene by one and half games, with Borger just three games out of first. Amarillo and Lamesa were tied for fourth.

At Pampa, Righthander Jim Reynolds hurled a three-hit shutout for the Gold Sox. He never was in trouble. The only excitement outside the pitching was when Umpire Crain cleared the entire Amarillo bench in the eighth inning for remarks concerning his eyesight.

The Lamesa Loboes unleashed their strongest offensive of the season to blast three Clovis pitchers for 19 hits. Righthander Eulis Rosson scattered 10 Clovis hits and fanned 12 batters for an easy victory. The Loboes scored five runs in the third and 10 in the sixth.

Borger Breaks Streak

Borger broke a five-game losing streak in defeating Abilene. The Gassers scored three runs in the fifth inning on three hits, a walk and an error. Clayton Fries' double in the eighth scored Jimmy Littlejohn for the edge.

Heavy hitting turned the trick for Lubbock against Albuquerque. Lubbock took the lead in the second with five runs, three of them on a home run by Joe Wisniewski, who also had a single and double in five tries. Albuquerque's Les Mulcahy hit two home runs.

The same teams play again tonight and Thursday.

LUCK? WELL, WE'LL JUST WAIT AND SEE

It might be termed luck by some fans, but it appears more likely that the Hubbers finally have found themselves and have shaken off the last case of jitters under which they were laboring.

The licking handed Albuquerque last night was achieved not so much by a lot of hits, but by timely hits. Charles Willis stepped in to fill the void caused by Buddy McCallum's charley horse and played third base like a veteran.

Willis had a big hand in the victory. He had a perfect night at the plate with two singles and two doubles. He drove in five runs and he played a flawless game at third, where he accepted six chances. Moreover, he started the only double play the Hubbers turned in.

While all this was going on, Ray Reichelt was pitching a steady, competent game on the mound. He allowed the Dukes 13 safeties, but only two of them were for extra bases, and he walked only one man. Reichelt most of the time was inducing the Dukes to hit the ball and most of the time they did—but not enough to cause any ruckus.

It was Reichelt's second victory for the Hubbers and placed him even with Chris Haskins in that department.

Tonight Albuquerque probably will send Don Ferrarese against the Hubbers and Manager Jackie Sullivan will counter with either John Myers (1-3) or Don Hensiek (2-2).

Robinson On Hitting Spree

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, in the midst of the greatest batting spree of his career, is taking the west by storm.

In eight games, the negro flash has rapped out 15 hits in 34 times at bat for a .441 batting average.

Robinson whacked a pair of home runs and a single last night to lead the Dodgers to a 6-1 triumph over the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Giants Lose Chance

The victory, coupled with St. Louis' 3-1 win over the league leading Braves, enabled the third place Dodgers to cut Boston's margin to two games. The Giants lost a golden opportunity to take over the lead when they were beaten by the Cubs in Chicago, 8-2.

The fourth place Cincinnati Reds went 11 innings to nip the Philadelphia Phils, 4-3.

The Boston Red Sox won a tense 10-inning 8-7 thriller from the Detroit Tigers.

The New York Yankees had an easy time of it subduing the hapless St. Louis Browns, 13-3.

The scheduled night games between Chicago and Washington, and Cleveland and Philadelphia were postponed by rain.

Finals Slated In Golf Play

Finals are being held today at Lubbock Country club in the Ladies Handicap golf tournament on both the 18 and nine-hole courses.

Advancing to the finals today in the longer course were Mrs. John Markham and Mrs. O. D. McCoy.

Scheduled to play in the first flight of the nine-hole route are Mrs. Horace Humphries and Mrs. Toby Foster, and Mrs. W. T. Bradbury and Mrs. Culver Hill will play in the second flight of the nine-hole competition. In the second bracket of the shorter course Tuesday, Mrs. E. S. St. Clair defeated Mrs. Bill Honey, 1-up in 10 holes for the consolation championship.

Scheduled in 18-hole consolation today are Mrs. Tom Duggan vs. Mrs. C. O. Campbell, and in the nine-hole consolation will be Catherine Weaver vs. Mrs. E. S. Hall.

In the 18-hole flight yesterday Mrs. McCoy defeated Mrs. George Soash, 1-up, and Mrs. Markham defeated Mrs. T. E. Patterson, 1-up. In consolation play Mrs. Tom Duggan defeated Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg, 1-up, and won a default from Mrs. Fenner Tubbs; and Mrs. Tom Sampson won from Mrs. C. O. Campbell, 1-up.

In the nine-hole flight Mrs. Humphries dropped Mrs. E. M. Hennersdorf, 3-1; Mrs. Foster defeated Mrs. Wayne Prather, 2-up; Mrs. Bradbury won a default game from Mrs. Tom Murphy; and Mrs. Hill won by default from Mrs. Mac Jones.

Consolation matches in the nine-hole flights were played, and Mrs. Hall won from Mrs. Oscar Clayton, 2-up, and Catherine Weaver won by default from Mrs. Dick Jennings.

FIRST BAPTIST WINS

First Baptist walloped the Post Office, 26-5, yesterday in the Commercial Softball league, and Bill Russell was the winner of the five-inning tilt, called because of the high score.

In the other contest at Wagner park, Avalanche-Journal downed Calvary Baptist, 3-1.

Thirty-three national soccer teams will compete for the World Soccer Cup in Brazil next year.

Fort Worth Cats Are Using Their Claws

Loop-Leading Dallas Eagles Dizzy In A Downward Spiral

(By The United Press)

The loop-leading Dallas Eagles, definitely in a downward spiral, had no trouble feeling their opponents' breath on their necks today as the Texas league campaign continued to change from a "one-hoss" race into a wide open affair.

Victorious in only five of 14 games of their current home stand, the Eagles lost again last night to fourth-place Fort Worth, 10 to 4. The defeat dropped them to within two-and-a-half games of San Antonio.

Others Closing In

Only a game behind San Antonio was Shreveport, and half a game further back was Fort Worth.

Fort Worth defeated Dallas with the greatest of ease by hammering out 16 hits of a trio of pitchers. Joe Landrum went the route for the Cats and finished strong after a weak early-game performance.

Batting honors went to First Baseman Preston Ward who drove in three runs for the Cats with a home run, double and single.

The San Antonio Missions, meanwhile, took over undisputed second place by defeating Houston, 4 to 3. But the Padres were forced to stage a three-run rally in the ninth to ease by the cellar-dwellers.

Rightfielder Joe Frazier, a newcomer to San Antonio, provided the big punch in the winning outburst as he rifled a homer with one teammate on base.

Shreveport dropped another decision to improving Beaumont and skidded into third place. Ray Pringle scattered nine hits as he posted a 9-to-5 victory, his fifth of the season.

It remained for Oklahoma City's Dick Rozek to turn in the best pitching performance of the night—a three-hitter against Tulsa. The Tribe went ahead to win 4 to 0 and snap a brief losing streak.

Clarence Russell pounded a two-run homer for Oklahoma City in the seventh frame, the inning that Tulsa's Bud Byerly went to the showers.

Fort Worth will be out to make it three-in-row at Dallas tonight. Shreveport remains at Beaumont; Tulsa at Oklahoma City, and San Antonio at Houston.

Detton Meets Dusette Here

Dean Detton, former world heavyweight wrestling champion, will wrestle George Dusette in the second main event tonight at Sled Allen's arena as the climax to the wrestling program which gets underway at 8:30 p. m.

Dusette brushed Rod Fenton aside in two straight falls to win the shot at Detton who had challenged the winner of the match last week. In disposing of Fenton Dusette showed great strength and skill in coming out of tough spots when Fenton put on the pressure.

Smart Fighter

Detton is a smart, aggressive wrestler who boasts considerable strength in his own right as well as having the prestige of former champion. This match should provide the fans with excitement from start to finish.

In the first main battle George Curtis and Billy Goelz will come back for a rematch. The two boys put on a great exhibition of wrestling last week, with Goelz winning the only fall before time ran out in the match. This week they will have two out of three falls or an hour time limit. Curtis claims he would have won the second fall if time had not run out and that he had Goelz ready for the pin.

Both men asked for a rematch, and the promoter accepted. This match should be clean but rough.

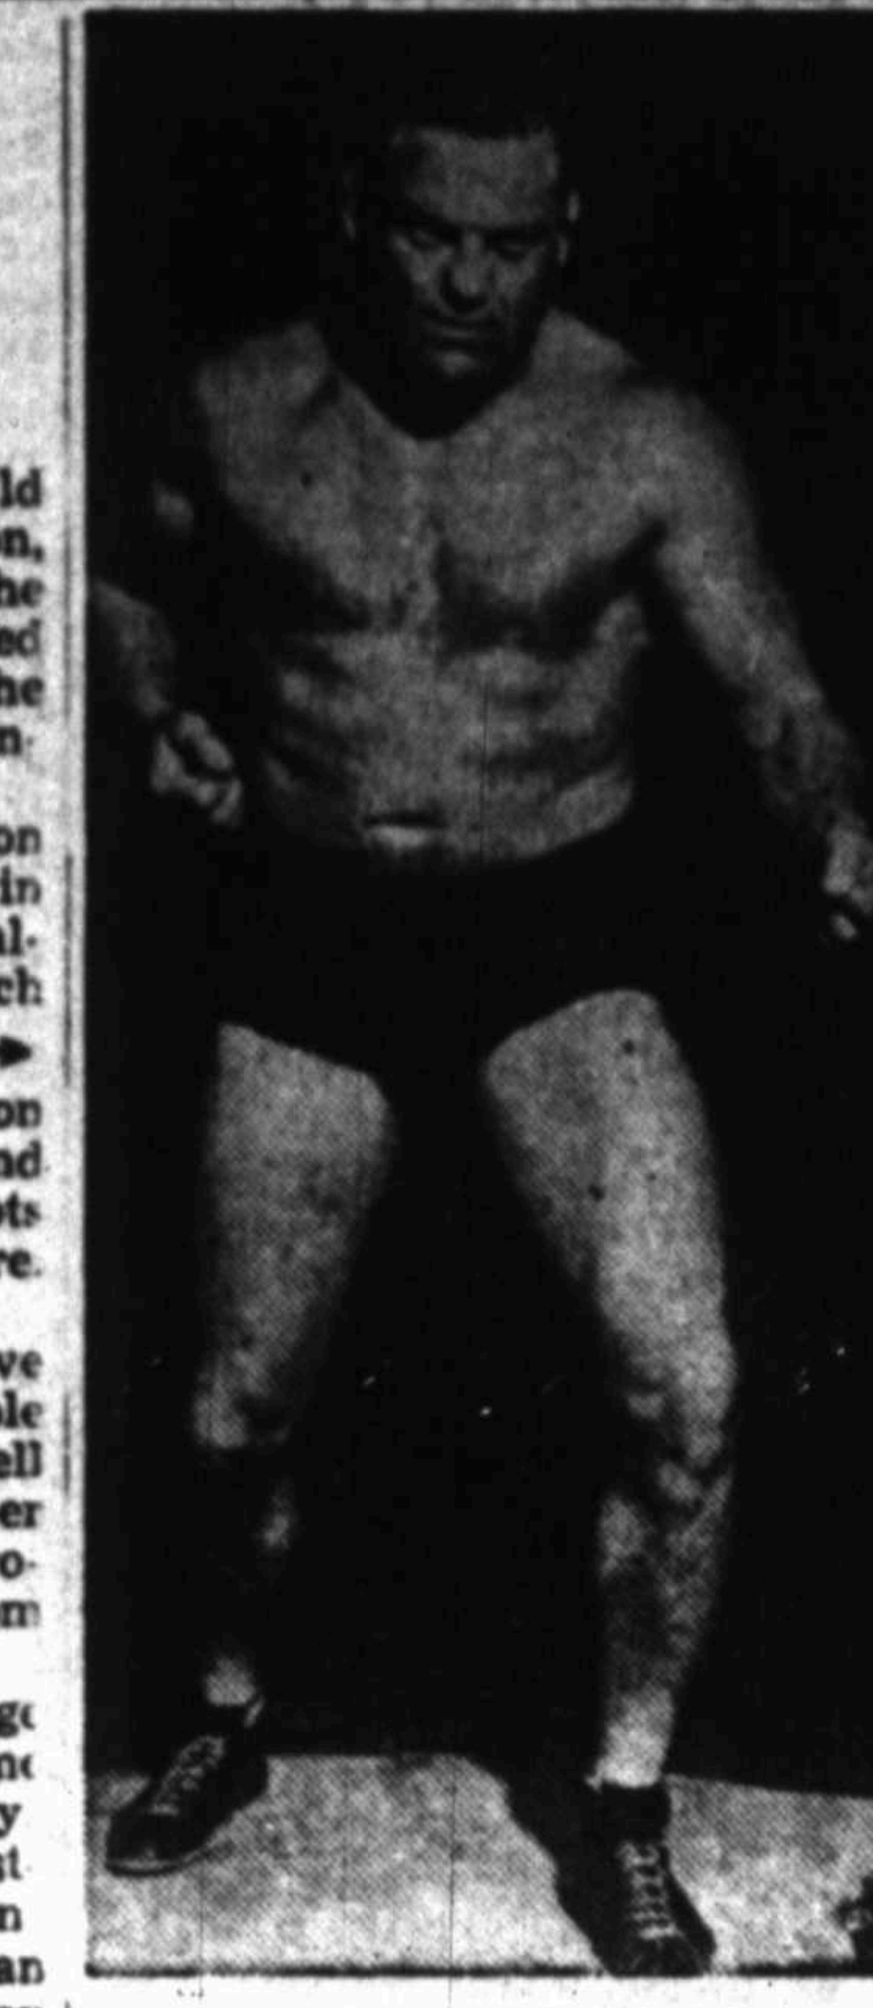

Pappenheim, Bruckman Meet

Longview Is Within A Game Of Marshall

(By The Associated Press)

Longview's Texans trimmed Gladewater, 2-0, last night to move within a game of leading Marshall in the East Texas league.

The Browns lost to Paris, 16-6.

Johnnie Fine of Longview gave up only three hits in besting veteran Pete Appleton in a pitching duel. Appleton, who allowed six, lost the game in the first inning with three walks and a hit batsman.

Paris hammered 14 hits in routing Marshall.

Tyler climbed into sixth place in the standings by trouncing Henderson, 9-4.

Kilgore smacked Bryan, 14-8, with an eight-run splurge in the fourth.

"THE STORE OF BETTER VALUES . . . COMPARE"

Between The Lines... by Joe Kelly

In this day and age of athletic emphasis, it is somewhat amazing to find a lone voice crying in the wilderness, the wilderness being, of all places, the University of Texas. But to show that not all students at GPU swallow the magic of winning teams gained primarily through the position of being the biggest and supposedly best of the state universities, a recent editorial by Bill Bruce in The Daily Texan comes as a refreshing breeze on a sunbaked day. Bruce is of the liberal school, a man with a mind of his own and he expresses it for the astonishment of all readers.

• • •

Writer Bruce says: "There's too much that needs to be called to the attention of the student body about the state of affairs on their campus to permit nostalgic last columns. Indeed, as we sign 'thirty' a primary question of University affairs is hanging in the air—that question is how far the school is willing to go on making athletics big business. Like the rest of the student body, we have always enjoyed a winninug Orange and White football team. We just like to make sure it is a University team and not a flock of ringers who were enticed down to the Forty Acres to get a cut of the $63,000 which is paid to athletics in the 'student work program.'

• • •

Athletics pays. Through good management, interested alums, and a generous portion of the blanket tax, athletics has given the University much in the way of building one of the finest athletic plants in the Southwest. In the blueprint of the future, the Athletic Council proposes to build a gradiose coliseum capable of seating the entire student body. School spirit gets a terrific boost with winning teams. Yet we wonder why smaller schools with few facilities maintain high spirit despite a win-loss record that would shatter the spirit of the Orange and White.

• • •

But school spirit and winning teams do not insure a university of the first class. In fact, as the University of Chicago has proved, a winning team is not at all requisite. However, good professors are requisite. And the University has been losing its noted teachers by the score. Some are fired. Some get tired of outside pressures. Some want more academic freedom. Some want a school that is worried about first-class academic facilities even though they do not pay for themselves."

• • •

Bruce then goes on to consider the bare margin by which a free school press was okayed for 1950, the tremendous growth in beauty contests and its enlarging importance for a girl who wants to "get a crack at the big-time University Sweetheart race" and the upsurge of the "joiners," who add an impressive list of clubs behind their names, but offer nothing to the university. He sums it all up with "athletes, beauties and joiners are fine. But they are not the proper backdrop for a college student body. If students want a first-class university where they can get an education, then they must start with themselves and develop the proper atmosphere."

• • •

That's quite a mouthful for a Texas graduate to utter, even though he is graduating and leaving it all behind. But we're encouraged. If there is one student and/or alumnus with intelligence enough to see the obvious in a cold critical light, there is hope that there are others. There's no question in anyone's mind that Texas can demand — and get — the best in almost everything primarily of its size, prestige, political power and riches. West Texas State college, for example, could not very well compete for an athlete the Longhorn's picture of Texas' position.

• • •

THE ROUNDUP: Look who hurled Temple into fifth place ahead of Greenville Monday night, Bob "Red" Ramsey, former Hubber hurler. George Schepps should demand an investigation! . . . When Royce Mills got that clutch home run Monday night, it not only was his first homer of the year, but also just half of the number he hit all last year . . . Joe Fortin, with Richmond of the Piedmont league, recently slammed a pair of homers in one game to put the Colts way out in front . . . Gordon Goldsberry, former Albuquerque Duke, is doing a bit of all right with the Chicago White Sox.

• • •

The Lions golf tournament yesterday was an even bigger success than Chick Trout had dreamed. . . . Herby Pitts, the Osage Indian southpaw, left yesterday evening to join Corpus Christi . . . Even if the Hubbers should lose their next two games at home (Heaven forbid!), they'd still have a .500 average for the year at home . . . Nelson Davis has hit safely in 10 consecutive games. Bo Dempsey, who has appeared in nine games with the Hubbers, has hit safely in each game. Sullivan has eight consecutive games to his credit now. And Jim Prince has hit safely in six consecutive games. . . . Recommended reading: Jack Dempsey by Nat Fleischer, a Bantam book.

Cerdan Plans Recall Stories

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 25. The news that Marcel Cerdan will train on the "Evans campus" in the Catskills impelled drumbeater Francis Albertanti to remember when Jimmy Braddock trained at the same spot for his fight with Max Baer. . . . "Some radio fellers were coming up to do a show on Braddock and I wrote the script—that rags to riches story," Francis recalled. . . . "When I finished, that was one thing I didn't want to hear. But they had the radio on in the hotel that night and I couldn't help listening. And, you know, for the first time in my life I was crying . . . I never did see that fight. I was there, but I couldn't look. . . . I guess I liked the guy too much. . . . I used to say prayers for Corn Griffin because he gave Braddock his comeback start—like Bill Daly carries Buonvino's picture around in his pocket because of what he did for Lee Savold."

First Act

Johnny Attell, the Ridgewood Grove promoter, broke in: "It was only a couple of months before that the commission turned him down as an opponent for Walter Neusel . . . He had a busted hand and had gone back to the docks . . . Joe Gould was booking Melio Bettina for Jimmy Grippo then and he used to come around and ask me to put Bettina in a preliminary for $50 to get milk for Braddock's kids. I guess Joe was living off him too . . . I had Neusel signed for a fight and he didn't want anybody but Braddock . . . So finally the commission turned Braddock down and I gave Paul Damski (Neusel's manager) a list of names and he picked out Natie Brown . . . Natie wasn't fighting, either. He was wrestling then, but we got him in shape to fight and he got a draw . . . On the strength of that Brown got two fights with Joe Louis" . . . Attell sighed deeply. "A lot of things started there," he concluded. "And they talk about nothing but old guys being around. There were some real old guys in them days."

John Clark of the Thoroughbred Record relays this explanation of why the last race at any horse park always draws a big mutuel play: "The winners bet all they've won; the losers bet all they're carrying."

Sports Before Your Eyes

After 20 years in the major leagues, Luke Appling of the White Sox finally missed his first train the other day. His taxi in Boston got into a traffic snarl and Luke was two minutes later for the rattler . . . Mushky Jackson, whose Keansburg, N. J., wrestling promotion is running into painful competition, takes his grunters to Greenwood Lake Friday as a prelim to the "Golden Superman's" appearance in the Joisey jernt Saturday . . . Bob Perina, former Princeton footballer who has played for the New York Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Rockets in three years as a pro, now is taking a bicycle trip through Europe to strengthen his legs. It isn't surprising that he's in a spin.

Westerner Nine To Be Hard At Work

The Westerner baseball squad will be hard at work today following a one day rest brought about by absence of several players on a senior class trip to Carlsbad, several sore arms, and a wet practice field caused by sprinkling. All eyes will be focused on the bi-district games with Wichita Falls Friday and Saturday.

Time of all contests in the two out of three series will be 2:30 p. m. The first game will be at Spudder park, and Saturday the game, or games, will be played in Lubbock at Rosenthal field. Should one team win the first two contests, then the second tilt of the doubleheader will not be played. But if the teams split the first two games, then the third will immediately follow the Saturday contest. Admission to the games here will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults.

Both the Westerners and the Coyotes have impressive records this season. The Westerners won 17 and lost three—the losses being once to Amarillo and twice to Altus, Oklahoma. Wichita Falls won 18 games and dropped only two.

The aces of the Coyotes mound staff are Scott and Fleming, both righthanders. In his best performance this year Fleming struck out 17 men in one game.

In nine District 1-AA tilts this season, eight wins and one loss, Bennie Day and Jimmy Richards have won three games each for the Westerners, and Jimmy Hamilton suffered one loss with two victories. His loss was the 7-3 licking given by the Sandies in the first game of the playoff. In that game, incidentally, Hamilton led the hitting with four singles in five times at bat, and 18 Westerner base runners were left stranded.

Firm Of Louis And Jacobs Closing Out

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 25.—The richest partnership in prizefight history—that between Joe Louis, the Alabama negro, and Mike Jacobs, the Broadway ticket man—will become just a fabulous memory after June 1.

That is the day when old Mike's retirement from the 20th Century Sporting club, the near-monopoly he founded 15 years ago, becomes official. Actually, Jacobs has had no active hand in the club's promotions since he suffered a stroke two and a half years ago.

Question Is Debated

Already the men who watched the great Louis-Jacobs combine take over the fistic world on the strength of Joe's fists and Mike's brains are beginning to debate the question of "who made whom?"

Perhaps a majority hold that it was Louis, a mighty champion, who carried Jacobs into national headlines, established him as the undisputed czar of the boxing industry and made of him the most respected—if not loved—figure in the game.

"Where would Jacobs of been," they inquire, "without Louis? He would still of been peddling show tickets."

The Jacobs faction, on the other hand, contends that Louis got at least an even break when, fresh out of the Golden Gloves, he signed a personal contract to fight only for Mike.

No Answer To It

"Of course, Joe would have been a great fighter under any circumstances," concedes one of Jacobs' closest associates. "But who can say for certain that he would have had a chance to win the title, much less defend it successfully 25 times, if Mike had not been guiding him?"

There was no answering this question. Until Louis knocked out Jim Braddock in June '37, there had been no negro heavyweight champion since Jack Johnson. Harry Wills, now a prosperous Harlem landlord, never got a shot at the big title.

"Another thing," continued the Jacobs adherent, "Mike never let Joe make any mistakes. He kept him on the right track. Probably the best example was when Joe got knocked out by Max Schmeling in '36.

Ran As A Pair

"It could have ruined Joe. He thought the world had come to an end. His confidence was shot. Mike was the only one who kept his head.

"As quickly as he could he threw Joe into a fight with Jack Sharkey, a former champion. He figured Joe was like a flier who had been in a crack-up and needed to go right up again. So Joe knocked out Sharkey, got his confidence back, and went on from there.

"All the point I want to make," he concluded, "is that Louis owes a lot to Jacobs, too. They ran as a pair."

Texans Named On All-College Team

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., May 25. (AP)—Two players from Texas, one from Baylor and one from Texas Christian made the Texas A. and M. all-college opponent baseball team by unanimous choice of the Aggies.

The A&M team, which finished second in the Southwest conference race, named its selections yesterday.

Pitcher Murray Wall and first-baseman Tom Hamilton of Texas, third baseman Jim Nolan of TCU and outfielder Chuck Devereaux of Baylor were the unanimous selections.

The remainder of the squad included catchers John Ligon of Southern Methodist and Dan Watson of Texas, pitchers Jim Barnett of TCU and Bob Henry of Southwest (Okla.) Tech, second baseman Joe Shamblin of Texas, shortstop Bob Weygant of Ohio State and out-fielders Joe Szekely of Baylor and Al Kneupper of Texas.

The Aggies named Wall the "toughest pitcher" they faced. They picked Hamilton and Henry as the "best major league prospects" they encountered. Henry is a young southpaw pitcher from Amarillo.

Temple Eagles Jump Into First Division

(By The Associated Press)

The Temple Eagles were on new ground in the B'g State league today. They finally were in the first division.

Temple beat Greenville, 6-5, last night to hurdle over Waco into the fourth spot. Waco, meanwhile, was taking a 17-1 drubbing from Austin, which drove within a half-game of first place Texarkana.

Texarkana was beaten, 7-6, by Wichita Falls in a 12-inning thriller.

Temple came from behind in the ninth to lick Greenville. Vince Battle singled to drive in two runs and that was the ball game.

Jim Godfrey kept his record intact as he pitched Austin to its one-sided victory over Waco.

Nino Briscuso not only did some nice relief pitching, but he singled in the winning run in the last of the twelfth inning in Wichita Falls' victory over the league leaders.

Gainesville beat Sherman-Denison, 6-2, in the other game of the night.

Jaycee Boxing Card Is Filled

LEVELLAND, May 25. (Special)—The five fights for the Jaycee boxing card here May 31 at the rodeo arena have been signed, and tickets are on sale in Lubbock, Levelland, Ropesville and Sundown.

The main attraction will be the 10-round lightweight match between Bill Henderson, Levelland and Lubbock, and Chino Alonzo, Douglas, Ariz. In the six-round semi-final event Heavyweight Gene James, Lubbock, tangles with Dickie Brown, Amarillo. Three four-rounders are also on the card.

Henderson and Alonzo fought on the same program in Lubbock recently, and Alonzo went the route to decision Sammie Galvan, El Paso, in a featherweight match. Galvan met Henderson on three separate occasions, and dropped the three fights by TKO's. Henderson's only two losses in the ring have been to Jean Mougin, former French lightweight champion. In 60 professional fights from New York to California Alonzo has won 55 and never been knocked out.

Lew Jenkins, former World Lightweight champion, is said to have challenged the winner of the Alonzo-Henderson fight.

James has won both his professional fights, and he should be pushed to defeat Brown. The two fighters met while amateurs, and James stopped the Amarilloan, but Brown's manager thinks his fighter will take the forthcoming bout.

In the opening four-round preliminary bout Bobby Garcia, Juarez, will meet Jesus Aquilar, Chihuahua, in a featherweight bout. Following that fight Galvan and Trini Perez will meet, and in the third preliminary match Allen Williams, Lubbock, and Willie Brown, El Paso, will tangle. These boys are described as having powerful punches.

Tickets for the fights may be bought in Lubbock until Saturday at a booth in the Hilton hotel. Ringside seats sell for $4.80, reserved seats for $3.60, and general admission at $1.50. In addition to Lubbock ducats are on sale at Ropesville, Sundown and Levelland.

New Record In Colonial Club Golf Tournament Is Unlikely

FORT WORTH, May 25 (UP) — Weather-ravaged Colonial Country club will be ready for the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation opening a week from tomorrow, but the chances are slim that last year's record-breaking 272 by Clayton Heafner will be equalled or broken.

The burly Charlotte, N. C., pro's eight-under-par tour over the par 35-35—70 course was made under ideal weather conditions on a perfectly groomed course.

Colonial today is anything but well groomed.

Only last week it was awash with four to 10 feet of water covering every fairway and all but one green.

The subsiding flood from the Trinity river which winds along the northern edge of the course left a heavy layer of silt, plus the sand from the traps on the inundated greens.

Pro Alwyn McCombs, attempting to eradicate the flood damages, has been plagued by fresh thundershowers at night since the flood and one night of high winds that toppled a tree onto a six-inch water main, smashing it.

The greens, naturally, bore the brunt of the damages and only several days of hot sun and strong winds can put them back into anything resembling the fine carpeting that existed prior to the flood.

McCombs and the tournament committee were even considering completely replanting one green—No. 1—which received the heaviest load of silt.

The fairways have been too soft to permit use of mowers, but otherwise generally are in fair condition.

Twin Bill Is Held In Boys Club Play

The White Sox defeated the Dodgers, 20 to 16, in the first game of a twin bill at Lubbock Boys Club diamond Tuesday afternoon, and in the second game the Pee Wee White Sox beat the Dodgers, 15 to 9.

In the Pygmy game only three hits were racked up, with George Smith of the White Sox slamming out all three. He hit a homer, a double and a single in three times at bat. Buddy Robinson led the Dodgers with a double and a single in three times up.

Joel Austin had two singles in two times up for the Pee Wee White Sox and teammates Ray Dale Turman racked up a double and single in two and J. L. Amburn a double and single in two trips to the plate.

For the Dodgers, Nelson Starr was the big gun, with a homer and a single that drove in six runs.

Wednesday the Red Sox will tangle with the Indians in both the Pygmy and Pee Wee leagues.

U. S. Correspondents In China See Reds March Into Shanghai

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, May 25. — My wife, Margaret, and I spent Tuesday night atop the Broadway mansions, 17-story skyscraper north of Soochow creek, as Red troops began moving into Shanghai.

She remained there when I made my way to the Associated Press office across the creek in the old settlement. Throughout this morning, she telephoned developments seen from her vantage point.

While looking down on the creek's bridges from a balcony, she heard three rifle bullets whing past. She said the barricades still were being held by Nationalists on the garden bridge and that armored vehicles stood on Szechuan bridge, two blocks up the creek.

Reds Capture Rifles

Communists could be seen on the bund "at Edward VII avenue."

Looking down from the office window, I can see them too.

The last time Margaret telephoned, she ended her message by saying: "Everything is fine here, except I forgot my compact and powder puff, but I suppose we must expect these hardships in war."

Meanwhile, correspondent Amos Landman doffed his khaki shirt so that he would not be taken for a battle participant. He crept to the Cathay hotel and watched fighting from the roof.

Landman reported that shots rang out from rooftops, where evidently a few Nationalists were holding out.

Later, at noon Shanghai time, Hampson continued his description.)

Just below me, on Edward VII avenue, a group of Communist soldiers came down the street carrying stacks of rifles they took from soldiers who barricaded themselves in the China Press-China Tribune building but later surrendered.

Soldiers Impressive

The Reds examined the rifles with great interest.

These are the most professional-looking Chinese soldiers I ever saw.

Everybody connected with the Associated Press is covering the changeover from some vantage point. My house boy, Koo, just telephoned from his spot near the top of Hamilton house, which is across Fuchow road from the city hall.

Koo said: "Master, just now I see through window mayor's office. Many Communists go in, open desk, take many papers. Just now many Communists reading papers."

For a while, the Great Northern cable building, where the Associated Press office is located, was blocked off by Red troops.

Editor Inconvenienced

Correspondent Landman solved the problem by climbing over a high fence, scurrying behind a service station into an alley and reached Szechuan road. There, he got into the government radio office where he stayed while developments were 'phoned to him.

An associated local news editor, Eddie Crighton, who lives in the western part of the city, started for work at 6 a. m. He finally reached the office at 11 a. m. Eddie explained:

"Everyplace I went, they told me it was not safe to cross the street. So I walked around the block the other way. I walked around about 100 blocks getting here."

Eddie said the Communist troops were polite but firm, wherever he met them.

The Communists deployed into tions on the bund. They were forced from their advance positions by rifle, grenades and machinegun fire from the Garden bridge park.

When it became apparent the Communists could not take the exposed targets without considerable loss of life, they set up a harassing fire. Bullets crackled up and down the famous bund, in front of the Glen Line building housing the American consulate, in front of the British consulate and across from the Russian consulate.

Damage Light In Fire Here

If the gas had been turned off everything would have been all right, city firemen said.

They explained that one family was moving out of a residence at 405 Eighteenth about 8:30 o'clock this morning, another moving in.

One kitchen range was disconnected so that another could be slipped in to replace it.

The gas caught fire in the line next a baseboard in the kitchen, burned the wall and scorched the ceiling.

Chief On The Ball

Firemen said Chief W. E. Twitty's propensity for making gadgets "paid off again Tuesday night."

Assistant Chief Glenn Smith and Rufus Brewer got a call to go to 2403 Seventh and cut a ring off a finger of Calvin Bessent, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Bessent.

The youth had begun to feel acute discomfort. He had placed the ring on his finger about 3:30 p. m. The finger had swollen so much by 10:30 p. m. that all efforts to remove the ring by use of vaseline and soap failed.

Gadget Described

But the fire chief several weeks ago had "foreseen such an emergency" and had "dreamed up" an ingenious light tool that quickly would saw rings off fingers with a few turns of a handle. Composed principally of a ginsaw file that turns against the ring to be removed, the gadget will not injure the finger. A protecting shield slips under the ring and protects the finger.

Mrs. Bessent said she called a hospital and the hospital said it had no tools for that type of "operation."

"The fire department got two men out here as fast as if I'd had a fire," Mrs. Bessent said. "We were getting frantic by that time. The boy's finger's in pretty bad shape—all black and blue—this morning, but it'll be all right now."

Awards Presented To Most Valuable Westerner Players

Merle Burchett and Jack Hensley, linemen on the 1948 Lubbock Westerner football squad, today were presented trophies honoring them as the team's "most valuable players" during the last season.

The awards were given by Al Williams, Avalanche-Journal sports writer, on behalf of the newspaper at today's weekly Exchange club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

Burchett and Hensley were selected for the honor in a poll of all Westerner squad members. Originally, only the trophy was to be awarded, but when the two finished in a deadlock in the voting two trophies were given.

Burchett started the season as a blocking back, but later was moved to a guard position. Hensley played at both guard and tackle through the season.

At today's luncheon there also was a lengthy discussion of plans to complete the list of sponsors for this year's Soap Box Derby. An all-out drive to finish the task is scheduled for Friday.

One new member, Dr. John R. Chalk, was introduced.

Charles Cathey presided, with invocation by John Scoggin.

Reuther Shot

us work and fight all the harder."

Like his brother, Victor holds high office in the UAW. He is the 1,000,000-member union's educational director.

Assaults Were Similar

The assault on Victor was strangely similar to that on Walter.

In each, the gunman crept to a window and fired a shotgun blast through a glass, then fled, witnesses said, in a car.

In bushes near the Victor Reuther home, police found a 12-gauge double-barrel shotgun. Both barrels had been fired.

Victor Reuther's shooting followed by 72 hours the mysterious shotgun slaying in neighboring Windsor, Ont., of a rank and file member of the UAW in Canada.

That victim, William D. Allen, 37, also was shot through a window of his home. Allen was an inspector at the Ford Motor Co. of Canada.

Police, however, said they could establish no connection between Allen's slaying and the attempt on Walter Reuther's life, nor any connection with the Ford strike.

Precautions Taken

At the same time authorities took precautions to protect a third Reuther brother, Roy, a UAW international representative.

Both Walter and Victor have been avowed foes of Communism. Several years ago the brothers made a tour of Soviet Russia.

The gunman's blast struck Reuther almost full in the face. One pellet hit him in the neck.

He and his wife, Sophie, were sitting in the living room. They had just changed light bulbs in the living room lamps. She sat across the room from him.

"All of a sudden I heard a shot," Mrs. Reuther said. "I saw Victor falling to the floor. His head and face were bleeding badly."

Mrs. Reuther, uninjured, called police.

Dr. C. R. Lam described Reuther's condition as "serious."

Schools' Closing Expected To Cause Rush On Circus

Members of the Lubbock Lions club, weary after playing host to the two-day district 2-T-I convention here the past week-end, turned their attention today to the showing of the Morris Miniature Circus, being exhibited at 1207 Main, which the Lions club is sponsoring.

With the close of schools today, a rush is expected from children wishing to see the circus during the remainder of the week.

The club's proceeds from the circus' showing here this week will go toward the Girl Scouts camp fund.

The working scale circus model, which required 15 years to build, composed of thousands of items of circus gear that make up the inventory of a circus, was built as a hobby in a basement workshop by W. J. Morris, an Amarillo insurance man and Panhandle wheat farmer.

It is a complete big-time, three-ring circus with operating railroad train. Moving street parade and other animated features modeled after the old-time circus.

Its seven tents, the big top, menagerie tent, dining tent, stable tent, dressing and side show tent have a section removed from them to permit a complete inside view.

The circus, which is entertaining and educational for young and old alike, was shown at the Tri-State fair in Amarillo, the Minnesota State Fair, the Oklahoma State Fair and the Louisiana State Fair last year.

plaintiff's house and furniture and the probable damage is incapable of accurate estimate and is a hazard of a continuous nature unless abated . . ."

The petition levels a charge that Maisen's purpose in filling the lake is to appropriate the property to his private use for the erection of dwelling houses.

Upon maps of the addition recorded by Maisen when, in early 1946, the plat subdividing the addition owned by him was shown, there was an area lying in the center of the addition marked as a park area, the petition said.

The addition is bounded on the east by an extension of Jackson avenue, on the south by Twenty-fifth, on the west by Van Buren Ave., on the north by an extension of Twenty-third.

Relief asked:

1. A permanent injunction against the defendant and "any persons holding under him" as owners of the legal title to the area marked "park" upon the map of Tech Terrace for the use of the area for any purpose than a park area, including restraining and enjoining the defendant . . . from the filling of the same and the erection of houses thereon or the sale of the property for the purpose of erecting houses thereon or the erecting of any improvements inconsistent with the use of the property as a public park."

2. Mandatory injunction requiring and enjoining Maisen to require him to remove from said drainage and park area all the dirt fill heretofore placed there on, with appropriate writs, orders and process, allowing a reasonable time for removal thereof under injunction of the court:"

3. Fugitive Bond Of $1,000 Set

Bond of $1,000 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for Ed Forbes, 40, Lubbock man who was arrested by police and transferred to county officials after a fugitive complaint had been sued out by LeRoy Boling, jr., city detective.

Boling's affidavit said Forbes had been charged in April with unlawfully removing mortgaged property from New Mexico.

The juvenile delinquency problem in Lubbock, which has plagued police and other law enforcement agencies here for several months, was re-emphasized Tuesday with the arrest for the second time of a 12-year-old boy who admitted to two additional burglaries here.

City Detectives L. W. Forrester and Lee Rice, jr., who had kept an eye on the youth since his admittance a few weeks ago of 10 burglaries about town, picked him up yesterday on suspicion. He admitted the two additional burglaries a short while later.

Two Residences Entered

They were:

The R. F. Spikes residence at 1614 Broadway, from which a piggy bank containing about $20 was taken.

The residence of Mrs. James E. Hartley of 1518 Ave. O, in which $21 was removed from a purse.

The boy also said he had taken a camera from a beauty shop in 1600-block Broadway. The proprietor of the place late Tuesday said no such camera had been missed there, but the youth insisted and said he could show "right where I took it from."

Detectives had recovered a sack of pennies from a hiding place on Nineteenth street, loot which the boy admitted taking in one of his burglaries.

The sheriff's department announced the arrest of Loraine Stueart, 22, on a theft warrant. Bond of $1,000 was set by C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace, in binding her over to grand jury action.

UNION CONSIDERS RAIL TERMS

Russians Concede In German Strike

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 25 — The Russian-controlled German railway system today proposed a settlement of the bloody, five-day Berlin railway trike with an offer to pay the strikers in west marks.

This would meet the main demand of the striking west Berlin railway workers.

The offer was contained in an interview with Reichsbahn President Willy Kreikemayer by the Soviet-controlled Berlin radio.

The union called an immediate conference to consider the terms.

Reds Demand Engines

Kreikemeyer made it plain that the plan called for charging west marks, worth four times as much as Russian-zone east marks, for train fares in the western sectors.

The railway head said the strikers would be taken back, except for those the company considers guilty of damaging property.

The 12,000 western sector employes left their jobs Saturday, causing a complete halt in rail transportation within the city.

The Russians threw a new discordant note in the rail situation by demanding custody of locomotives in American sector railyards. Forty Soviet soldiers entered the Anhalter station shortly after noon and insisted on permission to take Communist workmen with them so they could remove locomotives which had been tied up by the strike.

Western Police Firm

Western German police stood firm in their new job of guarding the rail property, which technically is under Soviet control.

Four Soviet officers also came to the Priesterweg freight yards and insisted on removing three locomotives. An American military government official sent there to remove a stranded Russian troop unit, told them they could have only one locomotive.

The Russian unit of about 37 soldiers had been marooned by the strike for five days. They had come to the Priesterweg yards with Soviet coal and food trains, but the trains were stopped when the strike began.

Brig. Gen. Frank Howley, the American commandant for Berlin, had sent an officer to tell the Russians to get out. Strikers told police they would permit the Russians to get out. Strikers told police they would permit the Russians to leave by truck or take out two freight cars, but the Russians had insisted on hauling full trains out.

Today, however, the "lost battalion" retired in good order. They went out in trucks from Potsdam, Soviet headquarters.

Today's Indifference To Customers Is An Invitation To Bankruptcy, Rotarians Told

"The cardinal sin for any business man is to ignore his customer," Burritt S. Mills, industrial and sales engineer, told the Lubbock Rotary Club today.

"The party is over; we are in a buyer's market now," Mills said. "More than 68 per cent of lost business can be traced to indifference toward customers. It is time we begin to show courtesy and respect to prospective buyers."

Mills, who has devoted 35 years to his profession, has made case studies of many kinds of businesses all over the United States and in many foreign countries. He pointed out some of the little things in business that make the difference between success and failure.

Courtesy Pays

"I have seen two inexperienced young men without more than a few dollars capital build a fine and profitable enterprise in two years," Mills said. "These young men accomplished this feat by courtesy and interest in their customers and their needs.

"That same business was sold to a man who had had many years in the same line. In less than 19 months the business was bankrupt.

"We have a tendency to get into a rut because of the war years," he continued. "We have had a situation where if a customer didn't buy what we had to sell we could find a dozen other buyers. He had to buy from us or do without.

Different Now

"That is all changed now. Production has caught up on most products today. If we don't treat the customer right he can go across the street where he is treated properly.

"Yes, we have gotten into a rut. Actually, there isn't any difference between a rut and a grave except the dimensions," Mills concluded.

Ely E. Fonville was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker. Irving Jones presided over the meeting and introduced the one visiting Rotarian, Mansell Hall, Littlefield.

Baby Recovering After "Mercy Run" Made By Highway Patrol And Ambulance Driver

Thanks to the combined efforts of the Lubbock office of the Texas Highway patrol and a Seagraves funeral home ambulance driver, a year-old Seagraves boy who Tuesday night ate several pellets of arsenic remained alive today.

Charles Elmer Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Allen of near Seagraves, today was reported as "doing as well as can be expected" in Seagraves clinic-hospital.

Attendants said it would be another day or two before the boy is completely free of danger from poisoning.

The local highway patrol office, after receiving an emergency call for arsenic antidote from the hospital where the Allen infant was taken after he had eaten several arsenic pellets designed for use in treating chickens, dispatched Sgt. E. L. Stroud on a "mercy run."

Stroud carried the requested antidote within two miles of Brownfield, where he was met by a Webb Funeral home ambulance, of Seagraves, driven by Eugene Herron. The ambulance driver carried the antidote the remaining distance to the Seagraves hospital, where it promptly was administered to the ailing infant.

Oregon Senator Presses For Defense Department Changes

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Senator Morse (R-Ore) pressed today for an armed forces unification that would give the secretary of defense authority to "knock some heads together down at the Pentagon."

Unless Secretary Johnson can deal this way with top leaders of the Army, Navy and Air Force and cut out "tinsel and title," Morse said, there never will be either "true unification" or the multi-million-dollar savings that real unification would bring.

The Oregon senator offered five amendments to a bill written by the Senate armed service committee to revise the 1947 unification act.

Free Hand Sought

Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois told a reporter administration forces would defeat Morse's amendments.

"The committee brought out a pretty good bill," Lucas said. "It has the backing and support of all three armed services and is about as far as we can go now."

Morse said he will press for a record vote on the most controversial of his proposals—one which would give the secretary of defense a free hand to transfer Marines to the Army, or Navy fliers to the Air Force.

Such a reshuffling of functions —greatly feared by the Navy and Marines—is specifically banned in the committee bill.

Committee Chairman Tydings (D-Md), floor leader for the bill, said he favors some of the Morse proposals, but added that there is no chance to get them through Congress as they stand.

Case Argued

Morse told the Senate yesterday:

"I want to emancipate the secretary of defense from the politics of the Pentagon."

He said that allowing the Army, Navy and Air Force to follow their separate paths is no way to accomplish that.

For instance, Morse said, it might be wise to transfer all the Army's ships and vessels to the Navy. Congress has been told that Army transportation actually operates more vessels than the Navy.

Or, he said, it might prove wise to transfer "500 naval aviators for training on B-36 bombers."

These are the powerful long-range Air Force planes which the Air Force considers almost invincible against fighters — but which the Navy feels could be attacked successfully by some of its own jets. The House armed services committee has asked for an actual test with cameras.

Monument To Forrestal

Under another Morse amendment, the secretaries of Army, Navy and Air Force would be called "undersecretaries of defense."

The committee bill would reduce the status of their agencies from executive to military departments while giving only the national defense establishment full cabinet rank. But the three service heads would keep their present titles.

He declared that his proposals would serve as a "great monument" to the "hopes and the aspirations of a great fallen leader" —former Secretary of Defense Forrestal, who jumped to his death from nearby Bethesda naval hospital this week.

Supporting Morse, Senator Malone (R-Nev) said the compromise bill passed by Congress "killed Jim Forrestal" by giving him "an impossible job."

Senator Lodge (R-Mass) also backed some of Morse's proposals, terming the ban against shifting men and officers from one service to another a "joker" and a "military atrocity."

Other changes proposed by the Oregon senator would strengthen the position of the proposed chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; give the joint chiefs a larger staff of helpers; and increase the authority of the munitions board to plan for possible war.

WELL-RAKED FOR CLEAN SWEEP—The Air Forces newest jet fighter, the F-90, takes its initial camera bow in Burbank, Calif. The plane, with its rakish, swept-back lines, is ready for intensive flight tests to determine performance records. Combining speed, range and maneuverability, the F-90 was designed to operate behind enemy lines.

World War III Would Develop Robot Slaves, Scientist Says

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERKELEY, Calif., May 25.—Another war would result in the development of "mechanical slaves" which would make many types of human labor worthless, says Dr. Norbert Wiener, originator of a new idea in science.

Already science and engineering are nearer to the production of automatons than they were to the development of radar prior to the outbreak of World War II, Dr. Wiener told a news conference.

Take Over Most Jobs

Under this new concept of industrial production robots would do much of the work now done by men on assembly lines. These mechanical slaves would take over part or all of the jobs of billing clerks and similar occupations.

Normally, such an advance could not be expected for at least 25 more years, but researchers under war-time pressure could bring it about in a couple of years, Dr. Wiener asserted.

With machines doing most of the work, society then would be faced with the problem of what to do with displaced workers. Dr. Wiener said there would have to be either (A) a revaluation of man's services, or (B) the "killing of a lot of people." That last alternative wouldn't be practical, he added.

Sponsor Of News Science

Dr. Wiener, a professor of mathematics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the sponsor of a new field of study called cybernetics. It is roughly defined as an attempt to find the factors which are common to both the human nervous system and to machines.

Once scientists get the hang of these common elements, they may be able to endow a machine with something resembling the nerves which control human muscles. The machine then would be able to do some of the things which now can be done only by human hands governed by brain and nerves.

So-called mechanical brains now duplicate some of the feats of human brains but no machine yet has been made that will match the delicate control of nerves over muscles.

The world produces about 800,000,000 pounds of tea a year, of which Great Britain consumes about half.

Democrats' Promises During Campaign Are Getting Smaller

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25—That's a much meeker sound President Truman's Democrats are making in Congress now.

They came in with a roar in control of the 81st Congress, after blasting the Republicans' 80th Congress as a "do-nothing" bunch.

And when they came in they had the President's program, which was the Domecrats' campaign promises, spread out like a big feast.

Almost five months have passed since they opened up shop. And what has this 81st Congress done about the program?

About all it's done is to pass the new rent control law. Republicans and Democrats teamed up to put that over.

Main Goals Listed

And the time is getting painfully short to do any more.

Yesterday Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, leader of the Senate Democrats, came out of a White House conference with Mr. Truman and said:

He expects this Congress to finish up for 1949 by July 31, or just a little more than two months from now.

What's going to be done by then? Senator Lucas listed these three things as the main goals:

1. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley act. The House took one crack at this, argued a week, got boxed up, and is talking of trying again.

If the Senate tries to tackle it, you cna look for weeks of debate, weeks that will take up much or most of the remaining time.

2. Senate approval of the North Atlantic pact. This probably will be done, and it's of the utmost importance in our foreign dealings that it be done.

Health Plan Out

But—this, too, may take a lot of time in debate because not all the senators think it's a good thing. So that will chew up a lot of days or weeks in the remaining two months.

3. Continuing the reciprocal trade program. This program, which affects our foreign trade, has been in effect for years. The House has okayed it, but not the Senate.

When the Senate gets around to it, more debate, more time used up.

But what of the health insurance program which Mr. Truman talked so much about? No chance for it this year, Lucas said.

With the time schedule Lucas has set, you can kiss goodbye to any chance for aciton on the civil rights program.

Housing? That Senate has passed a public housing bill. The House hasn't grappled with it yet. And it may not pass there.

GOP Ganging Up

Republicans in the House are ganging up on the housing bill and if enough Democrats join them, goodbye housing bill.

And Congress hasn't yet voted the money for carrying on the Marshall plan. Nobody knows what's going to happen to that.

House members, including some Democrats, are fighting on cutting it to ribbons. And the Senate hasn't voted money for it, either. It's due for a big argument and maybe a big cut in the Senate.

And then there was a new farm program the Trumanites laid before Congress. Senator Lucas' schedule doesn't make any room for that.

As for Mr. Truman's idea of raising taxes, that seems dead and done for.

Altogether, the things the Democrats are now saying they'll do this year are getting smaller and smaller.

Of course, 1949 is only the first session of the 81st Congress. The second session starts next January. Maybe something will happen in 1950. Maybe. The congressional elections are in 1950.

Red Cross Disaster Plans Are Discussed

Each member of the disaster preparedness committee of Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross explained his plans which would be put into effect in event of an emergency in Lubbock county at a meeting of the committee Tuesday in the Colonial room at Hilton hotel.

Complete plans will be typed and compiled into brochures for each member of the committee and assistants and for members of the chapter board of directors.

Jackson Presides At Meet

R. E. (Dick) Jackson, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting, the first held since he accepted the chairmanship several weeks ago.

Those attending were E. F. St. Clair, jr., chapter chairman; N. K. Snodgrass, major in the National Guard, rescue activities; W. A. (Mose) Hood, first aid; A. B. Slagle, public information; T. Bruce Craig, Gordon Thompson, communications; James B. Williams, of U.S. Naval Reserve Training center on Texas Tech campus, communications, shelter and rescue; Ray Farmer and Mrs. L. E. Davis, transportation; Ross McWhorter, shelter; Newton Walton, clothing; Dr. R. C. Douglas, medical plan; Mesdames I. B. Wright and R. P. Rampy, nursing activities; Clem Boverie, foods; Mrs. Hurley Carpenter, registration; Miss Lula Mae Cravens, volunteers for all activities; W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, outlying areas north of Lubbock; Mrs. W. B. Agee, former national disaster worker, and Mrs. J. H. Stiles, executive secretary of the chapter and in charge of registration. Members of the committee unable to attend were Joe Stanley and Max Tidmore of the survey committee and Bailey Guess of Idalou.

THE QUESTION

What facility or project in your former home town might serve a worthwhile purpose in Lubbock?

THE ANSWERS

BRYAN L. EBERHART, 2422 Twenty - third, salesman for the Spool Cotton Co.: "I'll tell you what I think the solution is to the parking problem: A plan like they have in Spokane, Wash, to make the cars move after an hour. People can't deposit another nickel and stay. The police go along and mark the cars and time them".

MRS. B. B. LASSITER, 1921 Twenty-second, housewife: "I'll tell you what I liked in El Paso which I have already missed here. It is the adult education program, I think they have it here in the summer. It is a year - around program in El Paso. I was studying textile painting. I now have material to make slip covers. If I were in El Paso they would come out and help me with ever bit of it. The public schools conduct it. You can go there and study different courses and also they will come to your home to help with slip covers. It is free for the most part."

TOM APPLING, 2309 Twenty-fifth, manager of Hunt-Stewart Paint and Supply Co.: "What I like about this town is that it has so many parks and things for kids that we didn't have in Wichita Falls and that has taken my eye more than anything. It opens my eyes when I see so much for the young kids to do. The hospitality you have here far exceeds anything Wichita Falls ever had. I'm as pleased as I can be I ever moved here. I would like to see Lubbock get an auditorium so they could get some of these big boys like Bob Hope and Bing Crosby and some of the others. That is something they have in Wichita Falls, but they are planning that in Lubbock."

MRS. J. C. PENNINGTON, 2409 Twenty-eighth, housewife: "It seems to me Lubbock and Abilene are comparable in facilities. I don't believe they have a club house here for women's federated clubs, but understand they are raising funds. It gives women a central meeting place and a place to entertain. Lubbock is a good city. I feel at home here already and we've just been here three weeks."

MRS. BESSIE GEORGE, 1919 Tenth: "We had the most wonderful payroll in the world in Oakland (Calif.) A glass factory, hose factory, innerspring factory, one of the largest cheese factories in the world, all kind of canning factories—I guess just hundreds of factories in all—were there. I think that Lubbock needs a cotton factory. I think we need a payroll like that from a factory more than anything. The only income we have here is from our 100-mile square territory of farmers. I think we need something in Lubbock that will give jobs to the poorer class of people."

SWAIN RODGERS, 3106 Twenty-seventh, manager of Art Craft Engraving Co.: "A project was planned by a young men's club called the Young Timers in Atchison, Kansas. It will go into effect this fall and is expected to cut down Hallowe-en destruction and also add color and interest to the Hallowe'en season. The new plan was made to eliminate worry on the part of merchants about their windows being cluttered with soap and other substances and at the same time give youth something constructive to do and a chance to win prizes. Merchants will allow their windows to be used for water color drawings by individuals ranging from grade school students to adults. Sections will be designated according to age of contestants, so that a college student's drawing will not be next to one by a grade school student. Drawings then will be exhibited to the public Hallowe'en night and will be judged by class and prizes will be given for the best in each block. This adds interest for community and also for youths participating. This plan has been tried in several cities and has proven to be very effective. Interest has grown from year to year."

Contracts totaling $212,695 for construction of a new 18-classroom school on East Broadway were let last night at the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district at the school business office.

Military Pay Bill Stranded After Uprising By Veterans

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — A bill aimed mainly at raising the pay of high-ranking military men was stranded on a committee shelf today—tossed there in a surprise uprising of former GI's in the House.

The House suddenly decided late yesterday to return to committee an administration-backed bill to revise present military pay scales. That killed it, at least for the present.

Moral Is Explained

"The moral," said one freshman Democrat afterwards, "is: 'Be kind to an enlisted man; someday he may be elected to Congress'."

The measure would have granted pay boosts ranging from three per cent for the next to lowest enlisted rank up to almost 50 per cent for generals and admirals. The measure's backers explained that high-ranking officers hadn't received a general raise in years.

Rep. Sutton (D-Tenn)—a former Navy enlisted man and officer—led the attack on the measure. "I'm for a pay raise," he told the House, "but I'm for an equitable pay raise. Too long has the brass had all the breaks."

Won The War

The team spearheaded by Sutton lost all its battles but won the war. After failing repeatedly to whittle down the benefits for top officers, it finally succeeded in getting the House to send the bill back to the armed services committee for "study." The vote was 227 to 163.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) who led the floor fight for the measure, said after the smoke had cleared that the bill, which had been in the works for more than 18 months, was "dead for several years to come."

He said a number of factors caused its defeat.

"First there was the economy crowd. Then there were the young veterans who wanted to get some things off their chests. And finally the liberal element always has opposed anything for the military."

As yesterday's debate opened, Kilday read the House a letter from President Truman endorsing the plan, which would have revised military pay generally for the first time since 1908.

The bill would have added more

India Move Starts Recognition Worry

U. S. Wants Nations To Talk On Policy Toward Red China

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—A responsible American diplomatic informant said today the United States has asked more than a dozen leading nations to meet on shaping a unified policy toward the Chinese Communists.

The informant said the State department had sent notes to these nations, both in the Atlantic and Pacific regions, proposing talks to weld a common diplomatic front toward the emerging Red Chinese regime.

The move, the informant said, was touched off in part by recent reports that India was planning to recognize the Chinese Reds as soon as they formed a government for all China.

One of the most important suggestions made in the note, the informant said, was that none of the countries concerned should recognize a new regime in China without consulting the other nations.

Interests Involved

He said another suggestion was that the powers should seek to bind China to maintain an open door policy for the west. Many of the big Western powers, notably the U. S., Britain and France, have big commercial and economic interests in China.

The United States, Britain and France were understood to have concluded an informal agreement late last year not to recognize the Chinese Reds without consulting one another first.

The informant said the American notes were sent about two weeks ago. The recipients included Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, India, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon and the Union of South Africa.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other top American leaders have made several important policy decisions in relation to China and the Far East generally within the past month, the informant said.

He said these decisions included:

1. The U. S. should end its "wait

Guam Soldier Given Death

GUAM, May 25 (AP)—A sentence of death was pronounced today on Pvt. Calvin Dennis, negro airman of Frederick, Md., in the rape murder of Miss Ruth Farnsworth.

A 20th Air Force court martial found Dennis guilty and assessed his punishment the same as that of his half brother, Pvt. Herman Dennis, of Calvert and Seguin, Texas, who was sentenced to die last week.

Denied Participation

Calvin Dennis denied participation in the crime But he admitted being present when Miss Fornsworth was slugged and carried into the jungle Dec. 11. After the girl was raped she was left to die.

A third negro, Sgt. Robert Burns, 32, of Spokane, Wash., will go to trial Friday in the case.

Miss Farnsworth, of San Francisco, worked part time in a jade shop from which she was kidnaped the fatal night.

Lubbock Firm Has Low Bid On Road Job

Low bid on 13.2 miles of road construction in Castro county was made by Kerr and Middleton of Lubbock, who bid $81,611 The Associated Press reported from Austin Tuesday.

The bid, one of a group totaling $3,673,490 on road and highway construction projects in the state, was on flexible base and asphalt surface of farm roads 1,056 and 1,057, from 2.9 miles west of Easter school to 2.6 miles of State highway 51, and from State Highway 86 at Nazareth to a point two miles north.

HE CAN SMILE NOW, WITH TEAR IN HIS EYE—His face lined with remembrance of days spent behind Jap prison camps' barbed wire, General Jonathan M. Marriage Of Year Will Be Held Friday

Rita To Be Told In Wedding Ceremony That Aly Is Boss

CANNES, France, May 25. (AP) —When Rita Hayworth marries Prince Aly Khan she won't be asked if she agrees to obey him. She'll be told flatly he's the boss.

The French civil wedding ceremony, which the couple will have, says "the husband is the head of the family."

The marriage of the American movie actress and the heir to the spiritual leadership of the Ismaili religious sect is set for Friday.

It will be in the newly-whitewashed marriage room of the tiny city hall in Vallauris—a tiny hillside village about two miles from the Mediterranean.

Wanted To Avoid Crowds

The couple, to avoid crowds, had wanted the ceremony in the prince's sumptuous chateau De L'Horizon. The French government, however, refused to grant the necessary special permission. Under French law all marriages must be in the city hall except in cases of grave emergency.

Confusion about where the marriage would take place was not settled until last night.

The ceremony will be read by Communist Mayor Paul Derigon. He says he is happy to be honored by officiating at the ceremony.

But there will be no bowing and scraping just because a movie queen and a spiritual prince are being married. The mayor will refer to them simply as "monsieur" and "madame."

A spokesman for the couple said they have not yet decided on who the matron-of-honor, best man and official witnesses will be.

Religious Rites Certain

Everyone at the chateau De L'Horizon has been silent about any Ismaili religious ceremony.

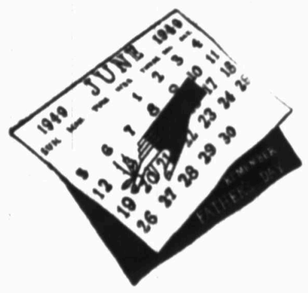

Aly Khan said in a curbside interview in Cannes, "certainly there will be a religious ceremony," but he did not say the religious ceremony would be the same day as the civil ceremony. Nor would he say where the religious ceremony would be held.

At the residence of the Aga Khan, holder of the spiritual leadership to which Aly will succeed, it was said two imams (priests) were coming down from Paris to perform this ceremony. No one would say when they would arrive or what the ceremony would be.

Lee Ellroy, Rita's business manager who flew from Hollywood to handle press relations, was asked

Grateful Government Honors Forrestal At Last Ceremony

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A grave was opened today in a quiet corner or Arlington national cemetery to receive James Forrestal for the "never-waking sleep" he chose.

Four stout oaks stand peaceful vigil at the corners of the plot selected as the burial place for the former Secretary of Defense. Forrestal, his mind wracked by strain of overwork, killed himself in the pre-dawn hours of Sunday morning.

He left a clue to his final thoughts, in a book opened to a tragic Greek poem. Some of it read:

"Better to die and sleep the never-waking sleep, than linger on and dare to live, when the soul's life is gone."

A government grateful for his nine years of important service, but remorseful for what its demands had done to a servant, honored Forrestal with the resting place among the nation's military dead.

Truman Attends

Bidden to his funeral were high figures of government, admirals and sailors, generals and soldiers, elder statesmen, his associates of the business world.

President Truman and former President Hoover headed the list. On it, too, were members of the cabinet and preceding cabinets with which Forrestal had served.

The amphitheater, with its columns and benches of gleaming white marble, was chosen for the ceremony preceding burial. A gun caisson, with its six mourning-draped horses, waited at the cemetery gate to bear the coffin up the winding drives to the amphitheater. A battery was placed to measure out the caisson's slow passage, with a salute of 19 guns.

Brought together for the military escort were four companies of midshipmen from the Naval academy, the Navy band, a composite battalion of Army and Marine troops and an Air Force company.

Unified Forces Escort

Eight enlisted men, chosen from the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force, were chosen as the body bearers. Forrestal was Secretary of the Navy, then the first Chief of the Unified National Military establishment. And so his final escort was from the unified services.

The Right Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, came as the officiating clergyman. Forrestal's name was on the rolls of the Church of The Heavenly Rest at New York City.

At the request of his family, the Marine band arranged to include two of Forrestal's favorite selections — Handel's "Largo" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hymn to The Sun."

Mrs. Forrestal and the two sons, Michael and Peter, preferred to pay their farewell at the private graveside ceremonies. No arrangements were made for their appearance at the amphitheater tribute.

Grave Near Pentagon

The place of the grave was on the downward slope of a small knoll in a grove. A scant half-mile distant, but hidden by the trees, was the Pentagon where Forrestal worked, before he resigned two months ago.

There the "impossible job" of trying to make service unification operate under an inadequate law "killed Jim Forrestal," said Senator Malone (R-Nev) in a Senate speech yesterday. Another member, Senator Morse (R-Ore) proposed that the unification law be perfected as a "great monument" to the memory of Forrestal.

Forrestal, 57-year-old, took his life by leaping from the 16th floor of the Naval hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., where he had been a patient for seven weeks.

The windows of his own room were heavily screened (he used one in a nearby room for his suicide) and a continuous watch had been provided.

Vigil Relaxed

But as his condition appeared to grow better and because psychiatrists believed the "calculated risk" of more freedom was good therapy, the vigilance was relaxed. Forrestal chose that time to walk from his own room and jump from the window. A Navy board of inquiry began an investigation Monday.

Yesterday Mrs. Forrestal sought to remove any blame from the hospital staff and authorities. She wrote Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan that:

"Jim Forrestal would be hurt indeed if he felt there was any criticism of the Naval medical center for its care of him, particularly as there is no foundation for criticism.

"It would have been impossible for him to have recovered with the knowledge that he was under constant watch, and I am sure that the risk in gradually dispensing with the watch was essential."

Mrs. Glenn Woody Is New Red Cross Chief

Mrs. I. B. Wright, who has been chairman of nursing activities of the Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross the last three years, has resigned and Mrs. Glenn Woody, of 2613 Twenty-sixth has accepted the chairmanship.

Both women are registered nurses. Neither has been active professionally except as volunteer nurses the last few years.

Mrs. Woody's duties will be securing registered nurses and assigning work to registered nurses in the blood bank, disaster and home nursing activities and in any local emergency calling for extra workers and to help fill National Polio Foundation requests.

ON THE JOB—Mixing some more paint for his job on the summer White House in Independence, Mo., John Moler, 67-year-old non-union painter, is undisturbed by a letter sent President Truman by the AFL Painters Council in Kansas City, Mo. The painters want Moler taken off the job and a union man hired.

"Cycle Man" Says Aly Is No Real Prince, Predicts Chaos For Film Star's Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, May 25 (INS) — David Sturgess, the "cycle man" who forecast President Truman's election and last month's earthquake in the Pacific northwest, predicted today that Rita Hayworth is "marrying into chaos."

Sturgess said that Aly Khan, whom Miss Hayworth will wed on Friday, is "not a prince." He added:

"Some years ago I called on Mrs. Joan Barbara Aly Khan, at Deauville, France, and she told me that Aly Khan was born in Turin, Italy.

"Aly Khan is part semite, through his father who is a "direct descendent of the Prophet M a h omet," and part Italian through his mother. He is not a prince."

Sturgess declared that Aly Khan "was presented by his father, Aga Khan, at the court of St. James as a prince. The following day in a court circular published in the London Times, the fact was contradicted."

The "cycle man" said the Aga Khan, according to his cyclescope, "stands a good chance of losing his Indian source of wealth in 1950."

"And Rita's cyclescope," said Sturgess, "reveals that she is marrying into chaos."

Beery Paternity Suit Dismissed By Court

LOS ANGELES, May 25 (AP)—A paternity suit against Wallace Beery has been dismissed on the grounds that it couldn't survive the actor, who died April 15.

So ruled Superior Judge William B. McKesson yesterday. The action had been brought by Mrs. Gloria Schumm, 32-year-old screen bit player, who claimed Beery fathered her son, Johan, aged 15 months.

Her attorney, Walter N. Anderson, failed in an attempt to make executors of Beery's estimated $2,000,000 estate defendants in his stead.

Judge McKesson held that since the litigation died with Beery, it would not be proper to substitute the executors, Phil Berg, Beery's agent, and Noah Beery, jr., the actor's nephew.

In his will, Beery stated that the estate should not be used for support of the child.

The executors recently rejected a $104,135 claim against the estate filed by Mrs. Schumm. Her attorney says she expects to file a new claim shortly.

Rites Conducted For Cooper Newsman

COOPER, Texas, May 25. (AP)—Funeral services for W. D. Hart, 73, editor and publisher of The Cooper Review since 1904, were held Tuesday. He died early Sunday.

He was a native of Wyandotte County, Kans., who came to Texas as a young man. For three decades he was an elder in the Presbyterian church here. He was a Mason, a Shriner, a charter member of the Lion's club, and a director of the First National Bank. He owned and managed the Hart Posting service, an outdoor advertising concern.

Survivors also include his wife; a stepdaughter, Miss Patsy Southard, and two sons, Lyndol E. Hart and Wren H. Hart, all of Cooper. A third son, Lt. Wilbur D. Hart, was killed in World War II.

HUGE HOBBY

It is estimated that there are 100,000 model railroad hobbyists in the United States. These model railroaders collectively own and operate enough trackage to reach from New York City to San Antonio, Tex.

In Cardiff, Wales, there still stands a castle believed to be identified with the legends of King Arthur. Construction of the castle began in 1090.

El Paso Man To Be Charged In Death Of Prison Guard's Wife

RICHMOND, Tex., May 25. (AP)—Sheriff Ruce Lincecum said he would file a murder charge today against Joe Juarez, 22, El Paso convict, in the killing of a prison guard's wife.

Officers said Juarez confessed last night the assault slaying of Mrs. R. P. Stovall, 57, wife of a Harlem prison farm dog sergeant.

They said his oral confession was picked up on a wire recorder.

The recorder was used by officers questioning a number of convicts about the death of Mrs. Stovall. She was found beaten and stabbed to death Monday in her house near the South Texas prison farm headquarters.

The recorded confession said Juarez did not intend to kill Mrs. Stovall but did intend to assault her.

Juarez said he entered the house on the pretext of asking Mrs. Stovall if she needed some potatoes.

When she resisted his advances, Juarez said, he grabbed her and tore her clothing, then slashed her throat four or five times and stabbed her twice in the heart with a large pairing knife.

Juarez said he had no help.

But Capt. Loyd Frazier, head of the Herris county sheriff's identification bureau, kept on checking fingerprints on the theory there might have been an accomplice.

Military Pay

than $400,000,000 to the annual sum the country is spending now on military pay.

Its passage was considered fairly certain. A bill having unanimous committee support, such as the pay bill did, seldom is sent back to that committee by the House. Also, no organized opposition was evident during three days of debate.

But on the final day the attack started—slowly. Sutton teamed up with Rep. Bolling (D-Mo)—a veteran of four years' service in the Pacific—in an unsuccessful effort to trim sharply the increases proposed for the ranks of major and lieutenant commander on up.

Sutton lost later on an attempt to cut out money allowances which three and four-star officers receive on top of their pay.

Also defeated were attempts by other young veterans in the House, including Reps. Furcolo (D-Mass) and Ford (R-Mich), to reduce extra-hazard bonuses for officers or equalize the hazard pays of officers and enlisted men.

The measure would have hiked all military pay an average of 14 per cent. It also would have cut flight and submarine bonuses for high ranking officers, while raising them a little for junior officers. And it would have revised the disability retirement system.

Teachers Are Approved

Following letting of contracts for the school, the school board continued with more routine business.

The board approved the election of the following teachers for the 1949-50 school year:

Mrs. Lillie Mae Harvel, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Elverna Whitaker Carroll Thompson Junior High; Mrs. Bonnie Gary McCrory, Overton school; Mrs. Anna V. Moren, Hunt school; Mrs. Marcillee Goldwater, Northeast school; Mrs. Mary F. McGaughy, McWhorter school; Wanda Taylor, Northwest school; Mrs. Katharine R. Stewart, Northwest.

Hutchinson Junior High; Mrs. Beth Burran, O. L. Slaton Junior High; Nema F. Ross, Northeast; Mrs. Grace R. Spangler, East Broadway; and Mrs. Lutie H. Warren, Hunt school. Luel M. Handley was re-elected to teach shop at the senior high school.

Resignations Are Accepted

Two teachers, Walter P. Oswalt of Northeast school and Mrs. Edna Oswalt of Northwest school did not accept election for the 1949-50 term.

The board of trustees accepted the resignation of the following teachers: Mrs. Ruby Williams, McWhorter; Mrs. Margaret K. Hoskins, Guadalupe school; Del V. Poulton, P. F. Brown school; Mrs. Averlyne Ries, East Broadway; Mrs. Jane Ann Jackson, J. T. Hutchinson school; Mrs. Jeanette Jenkins Hunt school; and Mrs. Ouida Brooks, East Broadway school.

All members of the board of trustees were present at last night's meeting, as were A. C. Jackson, business manager, and Superintendent of Schools R. W. Matthews.

Presbyterians Will Consider Unity With Northern Branches

MONTREAT, N. C., May 25 (AP)—Presbyterians with a prayer and a purpose were headed for this mountain resort today to talk race, religion, reorganization and unity.

For delegates to the 89th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S., which opens tomorrow, unity with the northern denomination still is the big issue despite a five year moratorium on such talk.

But while unity was uppermost in their minds, the delegates, or commissioners as they are called, were called upon to face for the first time the role of a true christian toward negroes.

Warning Is Cited

In an 8,500 word report the committee on christian relations warned:

"Only a church that heeds the summons of principles above all else, and that dares in deeds and spirit to defend the rights of men without fear or favor, will gain the abiding respect of the world."

The report, signed by Dr. Stuart Oglesby of Atlanta as chairman, pointed out: "In the face of warnings that controversial issues must be avoided lest the fellowship of the church be broken, christians in growing numbers are refusing to buy the church's physical unity at the price of its ethical loyalty to Jesus Christ."

This report, however, was not prepared for submission to the assembly for action but only for "consideration and study."

With this report, however, the assembly was slated to receive two overtures, or resolutions from the churches at Knoxville, Tenn., and Meridian, Miss., asking withdrawal from the Federal Council of Churches.

Racial Issue Injected

Both resolutions asked withdrawal on the grounds that the council has advocated the abolition of racial segregation.

The presbytery of Knoxville's overture also contended that the council was a political pressure group.

The unity issue was set forth again in a report prepared by the committee on cooperation and union, which submitted a majority and minority view.

The majority report urged joint meetings of the two Presbyterian groups on all levels and an arrangement whereby the two churches could exchange ministers.

This, said the majority report, would prepare the way for better understanding and cooperation between the two groups.

The minority report characterized the recommendations as "pro-union" propaganda and insisted that the five year moratorium on unity, approved last year, be carried out.

Another issue before the assembly will be plan to consolidate and streamline all functions of the church. The net result would be to reduce the size of the church's bureaucracy and set up a single office in Atlanta, thus abolishing the Dallas headquarters.

China Policy

and see" policy toward events in China.

2. The U. S. and all like-minded nations should begin resolving their differences and start working out a positive program for preventing the rush of communism through the Far East.

It is impossible at present to say whether non-Communist countries will lay down any conditions for recognizing a new Chinese regime.

But, according to information from sources in touch with high British and French officials, London and Paris are thinking of asking for specific guarantees from the Chinese Reds before they establish relations with them.

France may ask for a prior definition of the border between China and Indo-China.

Britain would like a pledge that the Chinese will respect their sovereignty in Hong Kong and will renew their leases on several settlements on the Chinese mainland facing Hong Kong. These leases expire soon.

The Western powers expect the Chinese Communists to proclaim their new regime at the latest after the fall of Canton.

Loyalty Oath Insufficient To Deprive Reds Of Atomic Funds

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Three Republican senators said today that more than just a loyalty oath is needed to keep Communists from getting Atomic Energy commission funds for student research work.

Senators Wherry of Nebraska, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Saltonstall of Massachusetts took this stand in separate interviews as atomic energy commissioners were called back to Capitol Hill for more questioning.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Senate-House committee on atomic energy, said the group would meet in closed session with the commissioners in the forenoon.

Oath Insufficient

Tentative plans, he said, also called for a closed meeting in the afternoon with Rear Admiral John E. Gingrich, who resigned May 1 as security director of the Atomic Energy commission.

Wherry, Hickenlooper and Saltonstall said the commission has not gone far enough to weed out subversives by agreeing to require a loyalty oath from those receiving pay for study in non-secret fields.

Referring specifically to Hans Freistadt, University of North Carolina student who got a fellowship, Wherry said that if he won't quit the Communist party "then his fellowship should be withdrawn."

"There must be an FBI investigation of these people," Wherry declared. "Any Communist who was keeping his connections under ground wouldn't hesitate to sign a loyalty oath. That won't keep Communists out."

Won't Quit Party

Freistadt has said he is willing to sign the loyalty oath but won't quit the Communist party.

It was disclosure of Freistadt's Communist party membership which started the lawmakers on their scrutiny of the commission fellowship program.

The University of North Carolina said yesterday that Freistadt has been dismissed as a part-time physics instructor, effective June 1.

Hickenlooper, a member of the Senate-House atomic committee, said he wants "enough of an examination of fellowship applicants to show what the facts are about any connection they they may have with subversive organizations."

Security Given Priority

Saltonstall, a member of the Senate appropriations subcommittee which handles AEC funds, said he doesn't think Freistadt can sign the loyalty oath and remain a Communist.

"Security comes before freedom of education in this field," Saltonstall commented.

At a hearing before the appropriations subcommittee yesterday, Wherry questioned Isidore Edelman, who holds a $3,750 AEC fellowship for non-secret medical research at Harvard university, about loyalty investigations of students who get aid.

Wherry wanted to know whether Edelman would object, or whether he thought other students receiving AEC fellowships would object, to a FBI loyalty investigation. Edelman said he would not and shouldn't think others would.

He also said, in answer to another of Wherry's questions, that he did not think a Communist should accept a stipend from the government.

Edelman, who was questioned a day earlier by the joint congressional atomic committee, reiterated his denial that he is a Communist.

Tech's Participation In Fair Is Discussed

Ray Wilson, general manager of the agriculture division of the State Fair of Texas, met with officials at Texas Technological college Tuesday to determine what part the college would play in the 1948 Fair which will be held Oct. 8 through 23.

Frank Junell, administrative assistant to Tech's president, said it was decided the college would sponsor a booth for the event. Among the exhibits included will be an automatic machine showing color slides of life at the college.

He also said the all-college movie, "Futures Unlimited," would be shown at regular intervals during the entire fair. Plans are also being made for a Texas Tech day during the fair. The college will be honored in some manner at that time.

Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the agriculture division at Tech, will act as general manager of the livestock show at this year's fair. He has served in that capacity for several of the past state fairs.

Australia will buy from America 80 tons of poisons to combat its rabbit plague.

DOWN IN THE DUMPS—A couple of scavengers try on brand-new gas masks for size in a Chicago dump. A war surplus dealer is having two million of them burned because he can find no market for them. The masks cost the government $3.25 each during the war. The dealer paid five cents per mask last year and now has them piled three stories high in his warehouse.

Commencement Rites Are Held At Lockney

LOCKNEY, May 25. (Special)—Commencement exercises for the 1949 graduating class of Lockney High school will be held Thursday evening with John Lee Smith, former lieutenant governor of Texas, as principal speaker.

Miss Eldon Jameson will give the valedictory address, and Miss Iva Mae Wright will make the salutatory address.

Members of the graduating class will leave Friday morning on a five-day trip to northern New Mexico and Colorado. They will be accompanied by Harley Wright, Curtis Kelley and Annie M. Grimm, sponsors.

Exercises for graduates of C. N. Townsend elementary school of Lockney will be held Wednesday night. France Dee Copeland is class valedictorian, and Orlando Gilbert is salutatorian.

Big Four Have Slipped Back Into Old Habit Of Opposition

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

That crash you heard yesterday afternoon was the monkey-wrench landing in the proceedings of the newly assembled Big Four foreign ministers' council in Paris.

The Big Four have slipped speedily back into their old position of opposition—Russia versus America, Britain and France. The difficulty, as anticipated, is the matter of settling Germany's future.

When the council assembled Monday, after a lapse of a year and a half since the Russians walked out of the last session, there was the outward atmosphere of a love feast. The opening meeting was a hail-fellow-well-met affair among Foreign Ministers Bevin of Britain, Schuman of France, Vishinsky of Russia and Acheson of America. The frequently fiery Vishinsky promptly agreed to an agenda proposed by the three western powers, saying affably:

"If I am not absolutely convinced by your argument, nevertheless I will consent to your proposal. . . We are going to agree on all questions here."

Pact Violation Charged

The western powers had entered the meeting determined to carry through the establishment of a federal republic in their zones of Germany, and hoping to persuade Russia to bring the eastern zone into this government. That is, they were aiming for a united Germany which still would remain under allied supervision until complete moral and economic rehabilitation had been achieved.

When Vishinsky was called on yesterday to state Russia's position he accused the western powers of departing from the principles laid down in the allied pact made at Potsdam just after the end of the European fighting. He called for restoration of four-power control throughout Germany, as laid down in Potsdam, and for establishment of a German state council with economic and administrative functions.

This would mean a return to the original controls on Germany and would do away with the newly created German republic.

Another Issue Hit

It would be a complete reversal of much that the western allies have been working for.

Then Vishinsky hit on another highly controversial issue—the disposition of the great industrial Ruhr, which is the heart of German economy. The Ruhr valley lies in western Germany and America, Britain and France already have worked out a plan for Russia.

Vishinsky proposed that the Ruhr be placed under control of the Big Four, and countries bordering Germany. These countries would include not only the western nations of Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg but Poland and Czechoslovakia on the east.

Acheson Answers

The western foreign ministers followed Vishinsky in rapid succession and with few but pointed words. Acheson was first and pinned America's reaction to a striking figure of speech in which he compared Vishinsky's plan with the idea of a patient, who had the use of three paralyzed limbs restored, being persuaded to return to the paralyzed condition.

Acheson made it clear the west wasn't going to undo what had been done in western Germany. Schuman followed in similar strain, and argued against returning to the starting point (Potsdam) and repeating old mistakes. Bevin backed up Acheson and Schuman.

What all this really means is that we have entered a new phase of the battle for control of Germany, politico-economic keystone of Europe. Observers think they see in the back of Russia's mind the idea that under the old four power control, a Soviet dominated eastern Germany might in due course dominate the whole country and thus achieve German communization.

If that view is correct, then the fight among the powers must go on. The west never will give in to any arrangement which will throw Germany under control of the Kremlin.

Shotgun Totin' Youth Killed In Dallas Cafe

DALLAS, May 25 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth was shot to death in the rear of a cafe last night, and a 50-year-old man surrendered to Sheriff Bill Decker.

The dead youth was Charles R. Smith. Jess F. French, who surrendered to the sheriff, said he fired one shot after Smith fired at him with a shotgun.

Decker said the boy's gun had been fired. The youth's father, Robert Smith, said his son had left home earlier in the evening carrying a single-barrel shotgun.

Decker said French could give no reason why the boy would fire at him.

Soldiers Out Of Jail, In Trouble With Army

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 25 (AP)—Recruits Clarence Hill, Pampa, and George R. Jones, Owensboro, Ky., are out of a Czech prison, but in trouble with the U. S. Army.

They were pardoned by the Czech president from long prison terms as "spies" last Sunday. However, the Army announced yesterday they face charges of being absent without leave, breach of arrest and possibly illegal border crossing.

The men were absent without leave 18 days in November, returned to their company Nov. 30 and then disappeared again Dec. 1, the Army said. They were arrested by Czech police Dec. 9.

Homework With Elizabeth Appeals To Bob

MGM Teacher Instructs Stars Who Make More Than She

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 25 — How would you like to conduct a school where the students earn more than you do?

That's the unusual occupation of Mary MacDonald, who has been head of the MGM studio school since 1932. Among her student body of eight are such names as Margaret O'Brien, Dean Stockwell, Claude Jarman, jr., and the girl we'd most like to stay after school with—Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss MacDonald's is no little red schoolhouse, red being an unpopular shade in Hollywood these days. It's cream-colored of sturdy stucco, located but a yo-yo's throw from the stages where the students toil in their non-studying hours.

Attend In Morning

The film star-students are required to attend school from nine to 12 in the morning. High school pupils, like Miss Taylor, have to do homework as well. (Hmm, wonder if she needs any help with her English lit.)

Miss MacDonald, who formerly taught in Philippine and Los Angeles schools, looks young for having instructed child actors for 17 years. She has seen such students as Lana Turner, Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, Freddie Bartholomew, Jackie Cooper and Jane Powell come and go. I asked her which were the brightest.

"Now," she replied with schoolteacher caution, "you wouldn't want me to say that. Think how the ones I didn't name would feel." She also declined to name the dumbest.

Does she think actors are smarter than ordinary students?

"Not necessarily. They are about the same as other children, except in one regard. They have much more presence, and meet people much more easily."

No Spankings

Does she have any unusual disciplinary problems?

"No, the students are generally cooperative. Sometimes there are those who get some bad advice, from people who might say, 'Why do you mind her?—You're making more money than she is.' But most of our problems can be worked out. I have never had to use force yet."

Young Jarman, who was perusing his algebra nearby, suggested a sure way of disciplining the studio students—"put 'em on suspension."

Miss MacDonald tries to keep the school like a normal one. Generally a graduation class consists of one, but there is a class will and prophecy and a special party. Graduates then receive their diplomas at the closest city high school, University High.

Some of her students are equipped to go on to college and do so. But some, like Rooney, quit high school at 18, when they no longer have to attend.

Rooney Quit School

"Mickey was doing very well in his last year and could have graduated in a year," she recalled. "I urged him to continue, because I believe it would make a lot of difference in his later life. But I was just one small voice against many others."

Miss MacDonald believes strongly in the importance of education to acting. "The more understanding and knowledge, the greater the actor," she stressed.

The school's only Hollywood touch is in recreation. Facilities are limited and the only sport is ping-pong.

Imagine—ping-pong with Elizabeth Taylor!

Editor Denies Reds Want U. S. Depression To Start Uprising

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Communist editor John Gates testified yesterday that it is "utterly ridiculous" to claim his party awaits an economic depression as a signal for violent revolution.

Disputing prosecution testimony, the 35-year-old editor of his party's paper, The Daily Worker, said American Communists "never taught the idea that a depression was the occasion for revolution."

On the contrary, he said, the party has favored programs to prevent depressions.

Furthermore, he said, the only kind of revolution the party seeks is a peaceful revolution from capitalism to socialism.

Cites Party Documents

Gates, a war veteran and the first defendant to testify, is on trial in federal court with 10 other top U. S Reds on charges of conspiring to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

To back up his assertion that the Communists sought to combat depressions and win peaceful social reforms, Gates cited several documents circulated by the party.

He identified an article written under his supervision which he described as a Communist "program to protect America from depression."

Published in the Daily Worker Aug. 31, 1947, it called for government action to develop a housing program, restoration of price controls and increased taxes on "idle capital."

The witness said the Communist party taught that depressions were caused by low wages and high prices, which resulted in workers being unable to buy goods.

Since 1945 he said, the party has pressed for a program to break this cycle

He pointed to passages from resolutions adopted at the party's 1945 convention as evidence that the party's post-war program against depression was merely one of combatting monopoly capitalism.

He also cited a report made by Eugene Dennis, one of Gates' co-defendants, at a meeting of the party national committee in December, 1946.

The report called for raising the living standards of negroes, share-croppers and small businessmen, hiking the minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, a guaranteed annual wage in industry, a 30-hour work week, and the operation of the meat and milk industries, among others, as public utilities.

Dennis Testimony

Gates denied testimony of government witnesses that the party concentrated its membership recruiting drives on basic industries in order to be in a position to set up a working class dictatorship.

The party's purpose in centering its efforts on such workers, he said, was to "win support of the majority of the working class" to defend the working class' "standard of living being attacked by the monopolists."

Gates testified that the Communist party, at no time, had ever advocated or taught a need of violent revolution in America. He said he never had said or written anything in favor of such action.

Something About Car Was Stripped

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 25 (AP) — Maybe this woman motorists stripped her gear . . . At any rate, officers throughout the beach section had their eyes peeled this afternoon, but good. They were hunting a nude who took to her car to escape the heat (89) but stepped outside on occasion to take the breeze.

A housewife in Torrance first reported her. She was walking around the car on a residential street, police were told. They arrived but she had vanished. Later, she was sighted at an intersection in Redondo beach, some five miles, but again escaped.

William J. Powell Wins Damage Case

A 99th district petit jury of which Bob Crump of Shallowater was foreman said by its verdict returned at 4.40 p.m. Tuesday that L. M. Blair knew when he purchased the partnership interest of William J. Powell Dec. 19, 1947, that Powell had withdrawn $5,000 of partnership funds about Nov. 29, 1947.

Based upon that answer of the sole special issue submitted to the jury by Judge G. V. Pardue, Powell, the defendant in a damages action brought by Blair to recover $2,500, will move for judgment, it was expected. He was represented by the law firm of Nelson and McCleskey.

At the time the sale was closed the men were partners in a Clovis, N.M., automobile agency.

BATAVIA, Java, May 25 (AP)—General Simon B. Spoor, 47, commander of Dutch forces in Indonesia, died today.

Army headquarters said the general suffered a heart attack Monday from which he never rallied.

Gen. Spoor, who served on Gen. MacArthur's staff during the war, has been a lieutenant general and Commander - In - Chief of the Netherlands Army here since September, 1946. He was given a full general's rank by Queen Juliana Monday.

Shelton Gang Target Again

FAIRFIELD, Ill., May 25. (AP)—Ambush guns have taken a third, this time probably unsuccessful, crack at the Shelton gang of prohibition days.

The latest victim is big Earl Shelton, who succeeded to the chieftainship when his two older brothers were cut down from ambushes. Big Earl was taken to an Evansville, Ind., hospital last night with a bullet in his back.

He was shot shortly before midnight while in a night club. Dr. Donald B. Frankel said he felt certain Shelton would live. Hospital authorities in Evansville said his condition was "satisfactory."

Police In Dark

Police offered no theory to account for the shooting. Big Earl had retired from most activities several years ago, and owns a 900-acre farm near this southern Illinois community. He has two surviving brothers, Roy and Dalton.

The two older brothers, Carl and Bernie, both were shot from ambush. Carl, considered to have been the brains of the gang, notorious in the twenties, was killed on a road near his farm in October, 1947. Bernie, the strong man of the outfit, died as he was leaving a roadhouse near Peoria on July 26, 1948. Their killers have not been captured.

Policeman Elmo Mucrage said a ladder was found leaning against the one-story building next to the club in which big Earl was shot. Mucrage said the assailant apparently climbed to the roof and fired into the second story of the club, owned by Shelton.

In Evansville, big Earl refused to answer queries on the identity of his assailant. All he would say was "my shoulder hurts."

"As straight as the crow flies" is a well known saying, but crows don't fly that way. Their flight pattern is usually zigzag.

Elephant Boy Denies Paternity Accusation

LOS ANGELES, May 25. (AP)—Sabu, elephant boy of the films, denies flatly an English ballet dancer's accusation that he is the father of her child.

Miss Brenda Marian Julier, 23, of London, filed a paternity suit here Monday against Sabu, demanding at least $500 monthly child support plus $1,000 for care of her daughter, Michaela, since her birth, Sept. 12, 1948.

Sabu, 25, an East Indian, branded the charges as "fantastic," and said he would fight the suit. "She tried to get money from me for the same reason several months ago," Sabu said yesterday. "I told her then I was willing to submit to tests to prove I was not the father."

Her attorney, Frank Catlin, claimed they were once engaged. Catlin said the couple met in London when they appeared in the film, "Black Narcissus."

Last Oct. 20 Sabu married Marilyn Cooper, 20.

Missouri Co-Ed Charged With Arson In Rooming House Fire

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 25 (AP)—A 23-year-old University of Missouri co-ed was charged with arson yesterday in connection with a $30,000 fire which damaged a women's rooming house May 14.

The coed, Mrs. Margaret "Gypsy" Waters Horn, pleaded innocent at her arraignment.

Prosecutor Howard B. Lang, jr., who filed the charge after a five-day investigation, said a bottle of gasoline was found in the basement of the cooperative rooming house under circumstances suggesting arson.

Took Out Insurance

He said Mrs. Horn recently had taken out $2,800 insurance on her possessions in the house.

Mrs. Horn said she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Waters, writers, who she believes are traveling in Mexico.

She is the widow of Oliver Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert A. Horn of Labadie, Mo. She met and married her husband, she said, while he was in a conscientious objectors' camp in Sevierville, Tenn.

A hearing was scheduled today.

Taking Seeing-Eye Dog Away From Blind Beggar Grim Task For Humane Society

ATLANTA, May 25 (AP)—An officer of the Humane society performed "one of the worst" jobs he'd ever had to do, then added grimly, "I certainly hope it's the last."

That was what Marshall E. Lind, Humane society manager, said yesterday after he had taken a seeing-eye dog away from a 34-year-old blind beggar.

Lind said "Big Boy" wasn't getting enough to eat.

"I feed my dog—I love him," said W. C. Knight, sightless since childhood. "I feed him every day."

He just hadn't had time to fatten "Big Boy," Knight told police.

"But I will," he added. "I'll feed him sirloin steak."

He said a friend gave him the trained year-old German shepherd six weeks ago, and that he made his living with the dog.

A tin cup was still strapped to "Big Boy's" harness when police led him away.

A court hearing was scheduled today for Knight. The Humane society officer said "Big Boy" would be in court for the judge to see.

"This is the first seeing-eye dog I've ever had to take because of mistreatment," Lind said.

BY DREW PEARSON: STATE DEPARTMENT CHIDES UN DELEGATE FOR STAND ON ISRAEL

Senator Thye Stymies Republican Economy Drive

WASHINGTON — President Trueman and Vice President Barkley enjoyed some good-natured banter when Secretary of State Acheson left for the Paris conference. Both went to the airport to see Acheson off, Truman arriving first in dark semi-diplomatic clothes, Barkley a few moments later wearing white flannels.

PEARSON

"Hey, V. P.," said Truman, Hailing the vice president, "What did you do, forget to put on your pants this morning?"

Barkley merely grinned.

When the secretary of state waved from the step of the Paris-bound plane, the President said good-bye, but Barkley shouted, "bon voyage!"

"What was that?" asked the President, with a kidding look at Barkley.

"I said 'bon voyage!'" Barkley replied.

Hailing French Ambassador Henri Bonnet who was nearby, the President made the vice president repeat his French farewell so the French ambassador could check his pronunciation.

"V. P., I think you're just trying to show off," concluded Truman, Acheson flew away.

State Department Spanking

Warren Austin, popular U. S. delegate to the United Nations, is now in the State department doghouse — for disobeying orders.

Secretary Acheson is furious at him for deliberately ignoring instructions on what to do when the question of admitting Israel came up before the United Nations assembly. The Israelis were in flagrant violation of mediation orders from the U. N., so Acheson felt it was only proper for them to cool their heels at Lake Success.

Just before the vote, therefore, he sent Austin a four-page telegram carefully instructing him to vote for the admission of Israel but not to make any speeches supporting its admission.

Austin, however, paid no attention to these instructions. Instead, he made a strong speech championing the Israeli cause and, in addition, buttonholed dozens of foreign delegates, urging them to vote for Israel. His one-man campaign was such a success that the new Jewish state was admitted as the 59th member of the United Nations. Acheson is now trying to figure out what to do with the ex-Senator from Vermont for disobeying orders.

THE G. O. P. economy drive tripped over Minnesota's Sen. Ed Thye the other day — and lost some of its momentum.

At a closed meeting of Republican senators, Thye had a few things to say about the 5 per cent across-the-board appropriation cuts. It didn't make sense, he argued, for senators to plead for more money from the appropriations committee — sometimes privately — then turn round and vote a 5 per cent cut — publicly.

"Few of you," Thye waggled a finger at his colleagues, "haven't appeared before the appropriations committee and requested special appropriations. You were very grateful when your request was granted and wired your home folks to tell them about it."

Then these same senators came up on the floor and voted an overall 5 per cent cut, chided the ex-governor of Minnesota. Whacking off a straight 5 per cent is a most careless way of trimming the budget, he added.

"Some of you are members of the appropriations committee and sat through hearings and never objected to specific items," rationalized Thye, who used to be a chicken farmer. "There were many items with excess political moisture that could have been squeezed out. But instead of considering these individually, the sensible way, you voted on the Senate floor to cut everything 5 per cent."

Note: Missouri's Sen. Forrest Donnell added his amen to Thye's arguments, pointed out that soon everyone would simply ask for 5 per cent more if the Senate continued its arbitrary 5 per cent cuts.

Dulles Turns Franco Tide

Secretary of State Acheson was hauled over the coals by the Senate appropriations committee just before he left for Paris by senators who wanted to know why the American delegation to the United Nations refused to vote for Franco Spain.

Acheson told the appropriations committee, whose job incidentally is not primarily concerned with foreign policy, that the U. S. delegation had acted on instructions from the State department. Senator Wherry pointedly tried to get Acheson to admit that there was a division in the American delegation to the U. N. on the issue. Acheson didn't deny anything — nor did he admit anything.

"It was my responsibility and it was my decision," Acheson said.

Actually, Wherry was right. There was a major split inside the American delegation at the United Nations, and the voting was three to two against Franco. Favoring the Spanish dictator was chief U. N. Delegate Warren Austin and Ray Atherton. On the other side were Mrs. Roosevelt and Ben Cohen. The deciding vote was cast by a surprising figure, John Foster Dulles — who voted against Franco.

• • •

GOOD Paris omen — Secretary of State Acheson, arriving in Paris, was encouraged to find that the Russians were sending the largest delegation in recent history to the Paris conference — 74 experts. This is considered a good Omen. The presence of a large delegation means the Russians are prepared to give and take on any issue that might be raised, without too much reference back to Moscow.

Atomic energy row — a backstage row over atomic energy information has broken out inside the Senate appropriations committee. Three Republicans — Senators Wherry of Nebraska, Bridges of New Hampshire and Ferguson of Michigan — asked the committee staff to dig up some technical data. But the subcommittee chairman, Democratic Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, countermanded the order. He told committee clerks that anything the Republicans wanted to know must be cleared with him. When this got back to the GOP, Bridges called on Senator McKellar of Tennessee, chairman of the appropriations committee, and demanded a showdown. Further fireworks are scheduled for this week.

WORRY by the fire department concerning the "stacking up" of traffic in front of the Central Fire station, as the result of the installation of a light at Tenth street and Avenue J, highlights only one of numerous "bottleneck" problems in the city.

Areas around numerous churches on Sunday morning often are so cluttered with cars double and triple parked that fire equipment couldn't get through if it had to do so. At various times during the day, similar "bottlenecks" on College immediately South of Nineteenth and on Sixteenth, immediately East of Avenue Q are danger points.

Lubbock sorely needs a city-wide traffic survey, then steps to cure our traffic ills.

To say that "the City commission ought to get this business straightened out" is easy.

But to expect the commission to do it is something else.

The job of being on the Lubbock City commission now is a heavy one. It makes terrific demands on the time of each individual official.

Mayor Rodgers and his colleagues are carrying about all the weight they can carry and a traffic survey is something they simply don't have time to do personally, even if they wished to do so.

So instead of saying that "the City commission ought to do it," let's say "the City commission ought to have it done."

That's a lot more logical.

GOVERNMENT by commissions is not good government, except in those instances where commissions actually are needed for a specific task. Then they can, and often do, perform difficult, essential tasks exceedingly well.

Off and on for the past five years, the City commission has considered the appointment of a Traffic commission—composed of interested, intelligent and energetic citizens serving without pay—but as yet has not acted.

We believe that if the City commission will take only enough time to personally inspect our numerous traffic bottlenecks, they will appoint a Traffic commission and turn it loose on the job.

Certainly it can't hurt anything—and, likely, it will make things better.

STRANGER things have happened in politics than the alleged "trade" between Gov. Beauford Jester, Lt. Gov. Allen Shivers and the Truman administration as publicly suspected in the Texas Legislature Monday by Rep. Preston E. Smith of Lubbock.

Despite the denials which followed Mr. Smith's speech, the Texas tidelands are a rich prize which the Truman administration has boasted it will steal from this state for the federal government. And despite the denials, the fact remains that Lieutenant Governor Shivers wants very much to be governor and about the only chance he has to reach that position is by some sort of deal whereby Jester steps out and Shivers is upped under the terms of the Constitution.

★ ★ ★

While Representative Smith's speech on the House floor brought the alleged three-way trade into the public spotlight for the first time, the allegations of the Lubbock solon were not news to many hundreds of Texans who like to keep up with political goings-on.

The story that Shivers would sell Texas down the river on the tidelands in exchange for a Truman ambassadorial appointment to Jester has been bandied about for some time.

It has been heard for a week or more from Texarkana to El Paso and from Lubbock to Corpus Christi.

WHETHER Mr. Smith has "the deadwood" on Jester, Shivers and the Truman administration, or whether his speech merely spotlighted a generally circulated rumor, the fact remains that a recent statement by Jester to a friend adds some credence to the charge.

Jester, a confused, frustrated man not strong enough to meet the onslaughts of politics which constantly batter the governorship in this state, expressed himself as being sick and tired of his job. He added that he would be very glad when his term was up, so he could get back into private life.

If Mr. Jester is as tired as he claims, and as thoroughly defeated in his task as he appears to be, he doubtless would welcome an appointment as ambassador to Mexico.

Certainly, he would be better fitted for whatever work there is to being ambassador than he is for the governorship. He likes to make meaningless, pompous speeches. He loves good food and the other conviviality which goes with topside embassy work. He dearly loves to parade as a big shot; to be flattered and fawned over, however insincerely.

However, in contemplating the alleged "deal" to trade a Texas birthright for a mess of political pottage, we find a couple of angles that don't add up so well.

In the first place, one Texan recently was tendered an ambassadorial post and currently is considering it. He is Wright Morrow, of Houston, Democratic National committeeman.

Should Morrow accept the portfolio in Belgium, it would be quite unusual for another major ambassadorial appointment to go so soon to another man from the same state. However, the tidelands are valuable. Perhaps they are valuable enough to cause precedent to be shattered.

In the second place, there is the grave question of whether or not the Republic of Mexico would accept an ambassador from Texas, whomever he might be. Our proud neighbors constantly smart under allegations of discrimination toward their nationals in this state. Some of the most sensational of those allegations have been made during the Jester administration.

Thus, even if Mr. Truman might seek to send Jester to Mexico City, Mexico City, in diplomatic fashion, might say, "No thanks."

BUT regardless of whether or not the score seems to add up, let us remember that political arithmetic frequently is cockeyed. Two-plus-two equals four in business, but might equal five in backroom shenanigans.

Furthermore, it is possible that the trade was cooked up on the Texas end of the line without anyone's thinking about the improbability of two major ambassadorships going to Texans in a short length of time; or the improbability of Mexico's accepting a Texan as the American envoy to its government.

In bringing the rumor out into the open where all Texans could hear about it, Representative Smith didn't hurt anything. And he might have helped his state a great deal.

As he said, if there were such a deal cooking, proof of its existence properly would shake the political foundation of both the state and the nation.

Man of the Week: Milton Berle got into the Big League along with Truman, Vishinsky, Stalin, Tito and other famed people via the front covers of Newsweek and Time. . . . . The former mag confined its comments to a straight reporting job; its best observation: "One significant measure of success is the relative bitterness of what your competitors say about you."

Some envious comics were discussing the articles: "It's getting pretty bad. You can't look at television without seeing his face!"

"You can't even pass a newstand without seeing it!"

THE Press Box: Walter Lippmann offered the most accurate size-up of the Franco Gov't: "A dreary and bigoted military dictatorship" . . . The Sun's political colyumists proved they enjoy Freedom of the Press. One warned his readers to distrust the official optomism arising out of the forthcoming Big 4 Conference in Paris. In the colyum below brother Lawrence criticized the Dept. of State for its "continuing distrust" at the breaking up signs of the Cold War . . . Sec'y Acheson refuses to be stampeded by the Franco hustlers here. He noted that the U. S. opposes aid to Spain because of the "absence of fundamental freedoms under Franco's regime, patterned on Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy." Which is what Sec'y Winchell's been saying for a long time.

For the Record: We recently reported that Kirk ("Champion") Douglas and Lauren Bacall used to mark time at the same Broadway drug-store fountain waiting for The Breaks . . . Bacall landed In Hollywood first . . . We said that after she Caught On—she kept telling producers about Mr. Douglas. And he got a contract as a result of her plugging . . . One of the colyums said it was baloney, never happened, etc. . . . Comes a letter from Kirk Douglas: "It is true. Lauren Bacall did give me a big buildup to Hal Wallis. In fact, he told me: 'You have a great press agent in California, Lauren Bacall.' As a result I was signed for 'The Strange Love of Martha Ivers.'

"She's this kind of girl, too. When I was wearing an overcoat sizes too big for me (one cold Winter here) she talked an uncle out of one of his and gave it to me. Incidentally, Lauren and I will probably work together in 'Young Man with a Horn.' Cincerely yours, Kirk Douglas."

THE Intelligentsia: Carl Sandburg, John Gunther, Ben Hecht, Meyer Levin and others are writing a chapter for "I Worked for Smith." It is about Henry Justin-Smith, late managing ed of a Chi. gazette . . . Madeline Capp and Greer Johnson have suspended for the Summer. He will work on a play about the South . . . "Nicky Finns" is a planned book by the owner of El Borracho. He will charge that Lucius Beebe not only doesn't know how to dress but doesn't know how to eat . . . Dr. Horace Greely of 140 Clinton Street, B'klyn, is the famed journalist's grandson, we hear . . . Talk About Show Offs: The Times litree critic described a book as "the triad of diptychs. Memo to Men Who Are Pretty, from "Curtain You're On!" E. Angelo's book for actors: "The actor must have more on the inside than outside."

Key Man

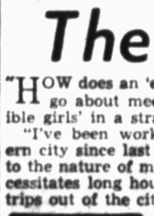

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"HOW does an 'eligible bachelor' go about meeting some 'eligible girls' in a strange city?

"I've been working in an eastern city since last September. Due to the nature of my job, which necessitates long hours and frequent trips out of the city, I haven't had a chance to meet anyone. And quite frankly, I'm looking for a wife. I'm 32 years old, have a fair educational background and earn better than $7,000 a year."

MILLETT

That letter came in recently—and all I can say to the writer is: Just let it circulate among the married men you know that you're interested in meeting some girls and you'll have so many invitations you'll need an extra secretary to handle your social life.

Don't you know that every young married woman wishes she knew an eligible bachelor?

With just one eligible bachelor at her beck and call a hostess can relax.

She can count on him to help her out when he old school chum arrives for a week's visit; when she invites her husband's secretary to dinner, or when she wants to have a college-girl cousin for the week-end.

• • •

"EXTRA" MEN ARE SCARCE

EVERY married woman knows unmarried girls she wants to entertain, or feels she should entertain. But the problem is always where to find an extra man.

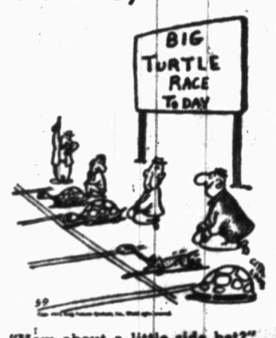

And most young married women have at least one good friend for whom they'd like to find a husband—someone they know is a perfectly wonderful girl who would make some man a good wife—if the right man could just be found.

So no young man needs to be lonely in a strange city or wonder how to go about meeting girls.

The situation of the lone male is in no way like that of the lone young woman. For an "extra woman" is a problem to the hostess. But the "extra man" is the answer to a hostess' prayers.

Just casually drop the remark to a few of the married men you know that you'd like to meet some nice girls. And wait for the invitations to start rolling in.

Laff-A-Day

"How about a little side bet?"

Today's Thought

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Chipping College Grad Faces Peculiar Problem In Future

NEW YORK, May 25.—This is a young man who is just chipping his way out of the collegiate egg, and is contemplating his first gainful employment. He made the serious mistake of asking a little advice, and you know me. Ask the time and you get the lecture.

RUARK

I would say, young man, that you have embarked on a grave proposition. Things were vastly more simple, once. You got the job sweeping floors in the bank, eventually rose to a position of trust, married the boss' daughter, assumed the presidency of the bank, wound up in Congress, and one day a clamorous horde acclaimed you President of these United States. It has become more complicated, now.

You have a peculiar problem. In the van of an increasing trend toward socialism, you have a choice of taking it easy, of riding the free horse, and doing about as well as the next fellow. Or you can be a fretful, ornery cuss, chafing constantly at delay, and you may be able to bull your way into eminence. I would remark that there are worse goals than eventual presidency of this country.

• • •

Uncertainty Prevails

Things are pretty itchy, now—pretty complex, pretty uncertain. There is very little security as your old men knew security. The boss, that symbol of hardfaced finance, is apt to be more worried about the future than the little dumpling who takes dictation from his knee. Money has cut itself in half, in less than 10 years. The worth of frugality now is challenged, since the dollar you save is worth only half as much as the dollar we made 10 years ago—and may quarter and requarter itself, according to the caprice of finance.

The atom hangs over your head, like a brooding cloud. Only half emerged from war, we already contemplate a fresh one. This one, I think, will be for the marbles, and is a cinch to upset the winner as much as the loser.

It isn't a very plasant picture.

You may abandon, forthwith, the idea of ever getting grossly rich, of having a shooting estate like Bernard Baruch's, of sporting a yacht, of maintaining a fleet of blond chorus girls. There will be few honest rich men, in future. We have a maximum employment, a maximum tax, a maximum responsibility to the beggard world. One fits neatly into the other, and will not soon change.

• • •

YOU may abandon the idea of permanent security. So what do you do? You can adopt futility as a crutch, son, and cry into your beer about lost, forever lost. You can snivel or you can make a noise like a man wh ohas faith in his own staying power. If it will not impress you as too corny, grandpa might say that this never was a leadpipe-cinch country. Injuns shot the pioneers and the cowboys shot the sheepmen and the north and south fit and bled against each other. The tough ones survived.

The idea, as I see it, is that right away you start looking at the boss man's job, and at all the jobs which stand between you and the boss man's job. You wonder what you have to do to be a boss man, someday, and then you start doing it. But take it easy.

• • •

Errands To Be Run

There are no actual shortcuts. You can't start out as director of the board. There are a few errands to be run, first. Run 'em, boy, and run 'em eagerly. Run 'em better than the last guy.

Don't get yourself all warped in relation to your employers. They have a responsibility to the hired help, but it sure as hell isn't all one-sided. It is a mutual responsibility. The management has rights, too, because if there is no management there is no labor. All bosses are not villains. All wage-slaves are not heroes. There are bums on both sides.

The country has changed, young man, but it is still a pretty nice place, and open to opportunity. You saw, just recently, how a little ex-clerk punched harder than the smug opposition, and beat 'em to their knees. Harry Truman is not a bad object lesson, young man. Be President. And if you can't be President, at least you will sleep soundly of nights if you know you gave it the old college try.

Today's Journal Editorial

THE BUSINESS CENSUS

Lubbock is not the only community where enumerators are having difficulty in obtaining the information for the national business census now in progress. Reports indicate the situation here is typical.

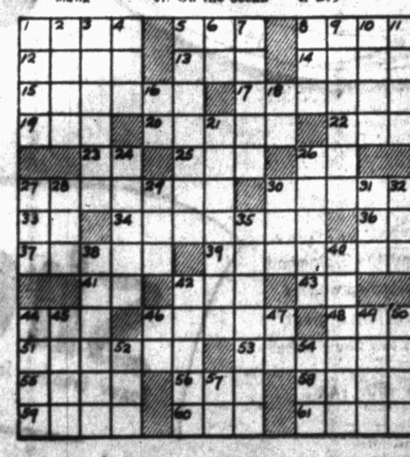

Among several obvious reasons for the difficulties are these two: First, the supplying of the desired information, which is exceedingly detailed, involves both expense and time; and, second, the widespread conviction among business men that the government is demanding information which isn't needed for a census of this kind. The suspicion is general, despite assurances to the contrary, that bureaucratic Washington has ulterior motives in including some of the questions in the long list the enumerators are required to ask.

Whether this census can be completed successfully remains to be seen. It will not succeed without more cooperation with the enumerators who merely are trying to do their assigned job. We believe the cooperation can be given safely. If it isn't, the chances are that those responsible for the census questionnaire will have to back up and propose new questions which can be answered with less difficulty and which arouse fewer suspicions as to motives.

Coal Operators Talk To Lewis

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 25. (AP)—Southern coal operators, rid of the critics in their own ranks, today opened contract talks with John L. Lewis determined to stave off new welfare and pay demands.

The Southern Coal Producers association, which had asked for negotiations with the United Mine Workers in advance of the contract expiration June 30, went ahead without two of its major supporting groups.

They were the Virginia and Winding Gulf associations, made up of companies producing 18,000,000 tons of bituminous coal annually.

Steel Firm Silent

The two inside associations declared that separate negotiations with Lewis would prove fruitless, and that the southern operators should join with others in the industry to make the same kind of nationwide agreement as was instituted in 1945.

But the Southern association, under leadership of Joseph E. Moody, pressed for an area-wide agreement regardless of what the remainder of the industry did. For years the south enjoyed a wage differential in its contracts with Lewis. It produces one-third of the national output.

The United Mine Workers' chief has nudged the U. S. Steel corporation about beginning contract talks, but to date there has been no reply from the steel company and northern and western coal operators also are stonily silent.

More Funds Sought

Convention resolutions of the miners called for doubling of the present 20-cent royalty on each ton of coal for the union welfare and pension fund. In addition to the $100 monthly pension for 60-year-old miners, Lewis hopes eventually to assume the medical and hospital bills of all coal diggers and their families. The resolutions also proposed a 35-hour work week in place of the present 40 hours, without loss of pay. That would mean a boost in basic wage rates.

The operators, noting that about 70 million tons of soft coal will be in storage by the time the contract expires, reason that they can hold out for a long time if Lewis wants a showdown.

Lewis made a dramatic entrance to Bluefield last night under the cover of fog—both atmospheric and in the information about his whereabouts.

He pulled up alone in his big black car in front of a hotel not usually patronized by coal operators, registered and went to bed with hardly a reporter aware of his presence in town.

Magnolia Wildcat To Continue Tests In Fusselman Formation

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 18-B Cowden, southwest Andrews wildcat discovery for production from the Devonian and from the Fusselman section of the Silurian, is to test further in the top of the Fusselman.

This venture, located two miles east and slightly south of the Dollarhide multi-pay field, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-35, psl survey, flowed 31 barrels of oil during four hours from perforated section in the lower Fusselman at 11,056-82 feet.

In a previous 15-hour period of flowing through a three-inch choke, the new field opener flowed 99 barrels of new oil from the 11,056-82 foot interval.

More Tests Planned

Gas-oil ratio was 568-1 and gravity was 41.9 degrees. That test was made after the perforated zone had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

It is understood that operator is now preparing to test a perforated section in the top of the Fusselman between 11,000 feet at 11,026 feet. That zone indicated possibility of production when it was drilled through.

The Devonian above the Fusselman had better indications of commercial production when drilled through than were developed in the Fusselman. It is expected that operator will test that zone through casing perforations as soon as the full petroleum yielding ability of the Fusselman has been determined.

Prospects Renewed

Prospects of oil pay in the northwest Gaines county Devonian have been renewed at Pacific Western Oil corporation No. 1 Oil Development company fee, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields.

After indicating good porosity and staining in cores of the Devonian, the venture set 5½-inch casing at 11,490 feet and drillstem tested the open hole to 11,571 feet. With tool open one hour, recovery was 7,920 feet of sulphur water.

Operator then tested water shutoff and found a considerable section of pipe had not been cemented. Source of the water was located above the prospective pay zone.

On last report, the project was preparing to cement pipe and shut off water. Plug is to be drilled for another test of the formation. There is a good possibility of the section making oil when it is cleaned up, according to operator representatives.

Test To Be Run

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, approximately six miles north and a little west of Gail, and in northwest Borden county, was bottomed at 6,188 feet in lime, and was preparing to run a drillstem test.

This wildcat located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 31, TP survey, T-6-N, logged scattered oil shows in drilling through the zone between 6,080-6,168 feet

The horizon which is to be tested is the Spraberry section of the lower Permian, which some geologists say is similar to the Clear Fork of the Permian in the Fullerton field of northwest Andrews county.

No Oil, Gash Show

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Sterling Williams, northwest Borden county deep wildcat, 11 miles northwest of Gail, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, EL&RR survey, T-6-N, was drilling past 9,795 feet in Pennsylvanian lime.

The venture drillstem tested at 9,720-52 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes. Recovery was the 1,060-foot water blanket and 60 feet of drilling mud, with no shows o foil, gas or formation water.

Canyon-Pennsylvanian production has come in for the third exploration in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of southwest Scurry county.

Gas, Oil Reported

It is Humbel Oil & Refining company No. 1-P Walker Huddleston, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 161, block 97, H&TC survey, 13 miles southwest of Snyder.

The prospector drillstem tested for one hour and 39 minutes in the Canyon at 6,700 6,725 feet, showing gas in three minutes and oil in seven minutes. After flowing to pits 26 minutes the flow was turned to test tank through a one-inch choke and one-half-inch bottom hole choke.

Flowing one hour in tanks, it was gauged for 65 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio 845-1. No water was reported.

On last report operator was running a string of 5½-inch casing. The well is slated to take production tests and complete.

PROVES TO BE BIG CAT

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Mrs. J. Miller, a visitor from Britain, was touring Southern Rhodesia by car when she stopped beside a plantation for a picnic lunch. A "Great Dane" approached and sat down nearby watching her eat. She threw it a few scraps, then took a photograph of it and continued her journey. On showing the picture to some friends later, she discovered the "Great Dane" was a large lioness.

Stranahans Plugging In British Amateur

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, May 25 (U.P.)—The Stranahan father and son act carried into the third round of the British amateur golf tournament today.

The pair from Toledo was part of a six-man American contingent remaining in the competition over the windy Portmarnock course. Son Frankie, the defending champion, met Ed Lowry of San Francisco in his match today, while father Robert played David Govan of Scotland.

Frankie had a rough time of it yesterday before he finally won his second round match from Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley of England, 4 and 2. His pop had an even tougher time, going 20 holes before beating Lt. Willis Johnson of the Kelly air base in Texas, 1 up.

Lowery beat R. W. Barnett of Ireland, 3 and 2.

Meanwhile, Wee Willie Turnesa of Elsford, N. Y., a former champion, continued his surge through the preliminary rounds with a 4 and 3 triumph over Dr. David Choyce. Today Turnesa met Vic Herlihy, an Irishman without much of a golfing reputation.

The other Yanks surviving yesterday's second round play were Ellis Knowles of Rye, N. Y., and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.

Big Fella South Sea Minister Hits U. S. With Bible In One Hand, Spear In Other

NEW YORK, May 25. (INS)—A barefoot, skirted native of the South Pacific, in the other and said Manhattan's skyline 'lookum big fella place."

Awed, he added:

"Now me get up no good. Because he high up too much. He also one fella mountain."

That in pastor Robert Salau's pidgin English meant that New York's buildings were too high.

Pastor Salau, 42, son of a reformed headhunter and cannibal, arrived from Southhampton on the liner Mauretania.

Main Job Is Preaching

The pastor, an ordained minister of the Seventh Day Adventists, whose home is on Vella island in the Solomons, said he hoped to renew acquaintance with former American servicemen. But his principal task will be to preach—because "me belong to Big Fella along top."

He was accompanied by the Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Stewart, missionaries in the South Pacific for more than 20 years.

The south sea islander said he was most impressed by the statue of liberty. Describing his impression, he said:

"Time me fella come up along passage, me looka one fella Mary stand up. He hold him one big fella light in long hand belong to him."

Tenants In Home Of Woman Who Threw Out Mexican Coins Find Jewels, Oil Stocks

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP) — Mrs. Lucille Schader last week threw away a jar containing $500 in Mexican gold coins from her father's house in Duquoin, Ill.

Today she was dazed by news that tenants to whom she had rented the house had found an estimated $40,000 worth of jewels, oil and rail stocks, and government bonds while redecorating.

Mrs. Schader said a Duquoin attorney, Clarence Kimmel, had given her the news She gave this account:

Her father, Michael Bradley, 53, a coal miner, died March 28. She went to Duquoin subsequently to tidy up his house preparatory to renting it.

Jar Full Of "Buttons"

She found a jar containing "buttons" and threw it out without examination

Neighbors noticed the bottle. The bank identified the "buttons" as Mexican coins, and they were placed in escrow

The house was rented to Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Schable of Duquoin. They started to redecorate the dining room and found a box in a hole beneath the wallpaper. The box contained jewels belonging to Mrs. Schader's grandparents along with the bonds and stocks. They were turned over to Kimmel.

So now Mrs. Schader, who lives in Chicago, is going again to Duquoin.

DDT Still Man's Best Weapon Against Warm Weather Insects

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, May 25 — Man's annual big battle against the fly, the mosquito and other warm weather insects has begun—and DDT still is the best weapon.

Despite rumors that DDT may be a cause of illness in the human being, the powerful insecticide has been given a "clean bill" by governmental agencies.

DDT is credited with saving the lives of thousands of American soldiers who had to fight in the swamps infested with malaria-carrying mosquitoes. And it still is doing heroic work in civilian life.

Reports Are Issued

Because of reports that DDT may be causing human illness, a joint report has been issued by representatives of the Department of Agriculture, the Army, the Navy, Federal Security agency and the Pan-American Sanitary bureau.

It said, in part:

"It is well recognized that DDT, like other insecticides, is a poison. This fact has been given full consideration in making recommendations for its use. There is no evidence that the use of DDT in accordance with the recommendations of various federal agencies has ever caused human sickness due to the DDT itself.

"This is despite the fact that thousands of tons have been used annually for the past four or five years in the home and for crop and animal protection.

Doesn't Cause Diseases

However, minor toxic symptoms may be produced by kerosene and various solvents used in DDT and practically all other insecticidal mixtures."

The joint statement flatly denied that the so-called "Virus X disease" of man and "X disease" of cattle disease may be caused by DDT.

There has been evidence, the statement said, that small quantities of DDT has been detected sometimes in milk following ordinary use of the insecticide for fly control in dairy barns.

As a result, "proper precautions" to protect the milk supply must be taken, it was pointed out.

"Modifications of the recommendation made by the Department of Agriculture on the use of DDT on dairy cattle were made merely as a precautionary measure," the report said.

Above all, the report said, "there is no justification for alarm as to the safety of the milk supply from the standpoint of DDT contamination."

BUTTONED UP—Danny Kaye sports the pearl-button suit and cap that was given him by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Matthews, England's "Pearly King and Queen," in London. The Hollywood comic became an honorary member of East London's "royal" costermongers.

Nurse Shoots Son, Turns Gun On Self

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 25 (AP)—A young registered nurse critically wounded her infant son yesterday, then fired three bullets into her abdomen, acting Sheriff Walter L. Murrell of Rapides parish reported.

Murrell said family trouble caused Mrs. R. K. Parker, jr., 25, to shoot her two-year-old son Robert and herself with a .22-caliber pistol. Both are expected to recover.

The woman's husband, a postman who was held for questioning, was reported to have left for work a few minutes before the shooting, Murrell said.
