October rainfall brings green back to Motley County grassland

by Earlyne Jameson

Remember when you saved rainwater in a barrel to wash your hair and used vinegar or lemon juice as a conditioner?

Moisture in the month of October brought the color green to wheat fields and grassland and added to the deep reds, gold and orange leaves that has created a variegated patchwork quilt on the countryside.

Cotton farmers are not complaining about the needed rains, because the quality of the crop is nothing to brag about as the harvest begins.

The situation isn't any better for the area's peanut farmers, many who had just dug their crop when the rains started. Rains remain in the forecast.

Motley County National Weather Service Volunteer stations recorded the following rain totals in inches for the month of October: Kelly Meyer, Matador, 2.63; Buzz Thacker, Roaring Springs, 2.93; Jim Stockton, Whiteflat, 3.90; Betty Simpson, Northfield, 3.82; Tommie Jo Cruse, F'lomot, 2.38; and Wilson Barton, Barton Community, 1.70.

School program to honor Veterans

The Annual Motley County Veterans Day program will get underway at 10:00 a.m. today (Thursday), November 9, in the Motley County school gymnasium.

This all-community event is sponsored by the Motley County School Student Council, American Legion Auxiliary Unit 337, and American Legion Fleming Post 337.

All Motley County Veterans are encouraged to attend and should arrive no later than 9:30 a.m. American Legion and VFW members are also asked to wear their caps.

Farm Service Agency report reflects widespread results of 2000 drought (College Station) -- A Drought Report developed from a statewide survey of Farm Service Agency (FSA) County Offices reveals extensive row crop, pasture/hayland and livestock losses in each of Texas' 254 counties. Extended periods of extreme heat compounded losses in 223 counties. Crop year 2000 marks the fourth consecutive drought years for much of Texas. The report reflects areas of the state hit harder than others, but no single region was unaffected by or immune to the effects of the drought.

"Although recent rain has been received throughout the state, the damage done by the drought is irreversible. Predicted above average rainfall for fall 2000 will not alleviate the current precipitation deficit," according to State Executive Director, Wayland Shurley of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency.

Crop condition data received by FSA indicated 53% of the states wheat acres, 42% of cotton, 35% of sorghum, 4.9% of corn and 81% of peanuts failed. Statewide, corn was the only exception to the widespread losses. Texas' corn acres were either harvested or matured to the extent that the dry conditions did not adversely impact the crop. Additionally, livestock and pasture losses were recorded in 207 counties, with many counties indicating higher than normal culling and in some cases, liquidation of entire operations.

"The resulting economic hardship felt by Texas farmers and ranchers has been devastating," said Shurley. "FSA's report showed approximately 136,000 producers with 30 percent or greater losses and 15,000 producers who will have difficulty meeting their financial needs through commercial lenders. USDA and FSA are doing all we can to provide programs and lending opportunities to producers in an attempt to lift some of the financial strain inflicted by the drought," he said.

To date, 24 counties have received primary disaster declarations for the 2000 drought and an additional 39 counties have received contiguous declarations. "Although these numbers are substantial, I do not feel the

STATE BOUND — Scott Jones will compete at the State Cross Country meet to be held in Round Rock, Saturday. He placed fifth at the Regional meet held in Arlington last Saturday. His coach, Amy Bowles, is also pictured above, right. Scott is a senior and the son of Casey and Deb Jones of Roaring Springs.

The world was beautiful when I looked out early Tuesday morning. I'm still like a child when it snows. The first thing I did was run back to the bedroom and tell Jim, "There's snow!" Everytime I see the first snowfall of the season, I get just about as excited as I did when I was a little girl. The silent, white glow hiding all of the outside world gives a feeling of peace and quietness.

The beautiful snow-covered ground always reminds me of when my son was born. That year we received an early snow for this part of the country. He was born on October 20, and only a few days after bringing him home from the hospital, Motley County was blanketed with a beautiful, deep snow. I remember holding him up to the window and showing him the wonder outside. That seems like yesterday! We had a white Christmas that year. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we had one this year? Christmas is even more beautiful when there is snow.

Wow! What an Election Day! And it's still not over. As I go to press, Wednesday morning, we still do not know who our new President will be. I won't give my opinion or tell you who I favor, but I am praying for God's mighty hand to be in charge of every aspect of this final count and to guide the President Elect and remind him everyday that only God is the true leader and should always be in charge!

Well, I now know what "Perfect Day" is. The 'poem' I printed in my column last week is actually a song. Mrs. Mary McMahon called to tell me that it was her graduating class song in 1929. Mrs. Winifred Lee brought me a copy of all the words to the song with the music, and Mrs. Jolene Higginbotham called from Lubbock to tell me about the song. She commented about how beautiful the song is and that the music is lovely. I would love to hear Mrs. Higginbotham play it. I know she is very talented. She is planning to send me a copy of the music.

Thank you ladies. I appreciate response to my column. And it's nice to know what such a sweet verse really is.

A Note of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone who purchased tickets from me to help me become the 2000 Fall Harvest Queen.

"Trying Our Faith"

There will come a time in the Christian's relationship with the Lord when we have to plunge into the unknown with some measure of faith. It might be into a new field of work, or a move into a new community or a struggle with some illness. In a situation or circumstances such as mentioned we would have no idea what the outcome might be.

We put our faith to the test. Trusting God. A trust in Him to bring about the best for us in the circumstance or situation. When we have tried our faith then faith isn't just a concept any more. It has become truth in action.

Conquering faith is developed from testing our faith and seeing the faithfulness of our God. Faith never forgets the victories of yesterday that have been won through the Lord Jesus.

Remembering David from the pages of the Old Testament Scriptures, we find he fought the Bear and the Lion. This young shepherd lad defeated them in the strength of the Lord. He knew that the victories had nothing to do with his own strength, just his faith. Therefore, when he fought Goliath, he had faith, a faith that had been tested. God gave him the victory through his faith. We too, like David can remember where we have been in faith. It is necessary to get where we are going.

El Progreso club members attend Santa Rosa District meeting

by Winifred Darsey

Three members of El Progreso Club attended the Santa Rosa District Fall Board meeting, Saturday, October 21, at Quanah.

Club President, Jeanne Adams, accompanied by Mrs. Debbie Martin and Mrs. Winifred Darsey, attended.

Registration was held at the Hardeman County Museum and a brief tour of the Historic Museum was made. The old depot of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railroad was converted into the Museum by the members of the 1904 Study Club.

The District Executive meeting was held here and an informal coffee for the arriving members was very enjoyable.

The remainder of the board meeting was assembled at the First United Methodist Church.

The Country Store was set up, where members could purchase or browse through the shop at will, during break time.

The theme for the meeting was "Making Smiley Faces." This theme brings out the benevolent endeavor of Federated Clubs for aiding crippled children, especially those born with cleft lips or pallet.

A film was shown to the delegation on this very deplorable condition, and hopefully those so unfortunate will be able to receive treatment.

Mrs. Beth Duke, President of Santa Rosa District, called the meeting to order at 10:15 a.m. The usual business followed.

Roll Call of President, was given by Beverly Park. Each president gave a brief resume of the activities of her club, the total membership, programs, projects involving personal voluntarism, etc.

Luncheon was served at noon and enjoyed by all. The fellowship hall was very attractive and lively with scarecrows, goblins, pumpkins, Autumn leaves and other decor of the Halloween season.

Final reports were given at the afternoon session. An invitation to Spring Convention was presented by Patty Adams of the 1923 Study Club of Paducah.

Club collect was led by Patricia Wilkins and club adjournment by Beth Duke.

Motley County Chamber of Commerce News & Views

by Barbara Armstrong

The Motley County Chamber of Commerce board met for the November meeting, Thursday, November 2. President Jeff Thacker called the meeting to order to attend to current business. Members attending were Rodney Williams, Sondra Francis, Wilburn Martin, Diane Washington, Richard Knowles, Pennie Pipkin and office manager, Barbara Armstrong. The board discussed the good response at the Hunting and Tourism meeting that was held on the previous Monday evening. They reviewed the expenses of that meeting, as the Chamber was a co-sponsor.

One item of business that needed attention, was a letter and deed from Harry Hamilton and Associates. This letter concerned the deeding of the Velma Fulfer property in southwest Matador to the Chamber. The motion was made and passed to accept the property and also to give permission to the City of Matador to clear the lots.

Motion was also made and passed to charge the public .20¢ per copy made on the copier at the Chamber and Museum office.

Next month's meeting date was set for December 7.

Meeting was adjourned.

Library Notes

by Suzanne Abbott

A big "Thank You" goes to D.A. McGuire and to Kenneth Abbott for working all afternoon Wednesday putting together computer desks. These desks are a little different and they really worked to get the computers installed in them. Ruby McGuire helped a bunch, too, and I really appreciate these three for volunteering their time, efforts and know-how to get this big job done for the Library.

Our new desks allow the monitors to be recessed. You do not have to lean your head back to see the computer screen. It makes it much easier on your neck and your eyes. Come in and see these lovely new desks.

New books in the Library include Susan Whittig Albert's newest Mistletoe Man. This is one of Albert's China Bayles mysteries, set in her herb shop in central Texas. The Library also has The Last Precinct by Patricia Cornwell. This mystery features medical examiner Kay Scarpetta.

You can also check out David Baldacci's newest, Wish You Well. Other new books include Barbara Kinsolver's Prodigal Summer and Johanna Lindsey's Home for the Holidays. We also received 12 new paperbacks last week. Some mysteries, some romances, and some westerns.

The Gates Foundation computer has been installed and it is loaded with children's software — games, learning activities, and more. Come to the library and see our new furniture, use our new computers, and check out some books.

Matadors lose to Knox City in tough overtime battle

by Rickey Lawrence

Knox City ended Motley County's playoff hopes this year by defeating them last Friday night by the score of 21-15. Although the Mats lost, they didn't go down easy. At the end of regulation play the game was tied at 15-15. The rules for overtime state that each team gets a possession and a chance to score; this is done until there is a clear winner. In overtime, the Greyhounds scored on their possession, but missed their PAT. The Matadors got down to the 12 yard line but in 4 plays could not push the ball across and the game ended with Knox City on top and the Matadors eliminated from the play-offs.

The Matadors were led on offense by Ysef Alvarado who had 36 yards on 19 carries. Ben Ridgley had 27 yards on 4 carries and Jermaine Hendrix had 29 yards on 4 carries. Jermaine also went 6 for 13 passing for 177 yards and 2 T.D.'s. Ben had 3 receptions for 115 yards and one T.D. and Casey Lawrence had one reception for 44 yards and a T.D.

On defense the Matadors were led by Casey Lawrence with 18 tackles, Shawn Marvel with 12 tackles, Chooch Meyer with 11, and Julio Davila with 9. T.J. Christopher also had a fumble recovery.

The Matadors will end the 2000 football season with their final game this week at home against Crowell. This game will be for pride on both sides as the District champions and runner-up will be decided when Knox City plays Paducah. Come out and support these guys for their final game and let them know how much you appreciate their effort this year. See you Friday night!

Neighborhood News

by Rita Groves

Today, I want to share with you this story from the Houston Chronicle, Feb. 20, 1999. I share the musings of Leon Hale in his story. He met a lady in the grocery store, and they talked "in front of the bananas." She was about his age and asked how he felt about getting old. She didn't mind despite the arthritis and wrinkles and other negatives.

"The best thing is, she said, 'people are so kind to me now, and patient, and considerate.'" When asked by her beau-tician if she'd like some color put back in her hair, her response was 'no.' If she dyed her hair, she might look young again and everybody would quit being so nice to her. Those are my sentiments exactly. I'll take all the tolerance I can get.

Leon Hale doubted that anything better than being young and healthy would be invented, but admitted that he had made a few discoveries.

One thing was that he had stopped being a "full-time worrier." ("I'm working on that.") When I quit worrying about my younger brothers and sisters, I started worrying about my sons - one went to war, one makes his living flying private planes anywhere, and the third has waged a constant battle with the immunodeficiency virus, with the Lord's help, for over ten years. They are all three safe and happy at ages 69, 60, and 58. Or they were yesterday.

Leon Hale worried about being a writer, when he didn't know how the paper was published. So do I, but people say they like what I write, so my ego won't let me quit doing the only thing I ever did that pleased anyone.

Leon spoke of his computer - "a marvel of a machine that performs wonders, and one day I love it and the next I hate it!" It's the same with me. My perfectly beautiful Apple IIe rests in the garage wrapped in black plastic. When its printer refused to perform and I asked about a new one, the salesman haughtily informed this 'dumb bunny' they no longer even order Apple IIe products. I had printed all the information of interest already, anyhow.

So, I called my family computer experts when Macintosh 6116 Performa insisted Hard Disk was dead. I nearly cried. It was so much smarter than I am, and all I wanted it to do was write, print and save. Since to fix Mac would cost almost as much as a later model - a trick of the trade, no doubt. United Parcel Service will put an iMac on my porch next week. I hope I can find someone to make it work for me. I long for some machine with a delete key. My New Year's resolution will be to stop being a "full-time worrier."

Today, Pat Groves is making a CD from his recording of music made by Gerald Pipkin and Mike Groves with a piano and saxophone when Gerald and Penny visited with Kathy, Pat and Mike recently in their home in Los Altos Hills, CA. Thank you, Gerald and Penny!

INA MAE BENNETT

Graveside rites were held this week for Ina Mae Bennett of Spur. Some of us can remember Ina Mae Franklin who graduated from Roaring Springs High School in 1927.

We found Ina Mae's story in Dickens County - It's Land and People. Her parents were Marvin and Grace Franklin. Their two older children were Rena and Allen. Allen died when he was six months old. Marvin and Grace left Oklahoma and went to Tucumcari, New Mexico, but returned to Oklahoma when Ina Mae was three months old. Rena started to school in Oklahoma, but the rest of her schooling was at Roaring Springs. She met Demp Clifton at Roaring Springs, and they were married the first year after the Franklin family moved to Duncan Flat in Dickens County.

Marvin and Grace Franklin raised nine children: Rena, Ina Mae, Herman, Margaret, Lily, Victor, Ernest, Elsie, and Gene. Gerald "Buster" was born in 1928. Some of the children went to Prairie Chapel School until Afton, Croton, Duncan Flat, Midway and Prairie Chapel consolidated and became Patton Springs School, located just north of Afton.

The Franklins moved back to Roaring Springs in 1936 where the youngest three children went to school.

Ina Mae finished school at Roaring Springs and married A.C. "Gus" Martin. He died in 1960. She married Paul Bennett in 1963. A son, T.A. Martin, died in 1978. Two daughters, Frances and LaNell, survive. Ina Mae was born in 1908 when Marvin and Grace lived in Tucumcari, N.M. The brothers who survive are Victor, Ernest and Gerald. The sisters are Margaret Adams, Elsie McMillan, and Gene Fudge.

The story of the Franklins is typical of the lives of early settlers in this area. The mother and father earned a living by hard work and concentrated on keeping their children in school. We grew up in probably the choice century of the 19 we know much about.

Oliver Zarate of Houston and Amy Groves of Santa Barbara, CA were overnight guests of Algie and Rita Groves, last week.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

One must applaud the efforts of Odessa Mullins when we walk in for lunch and find tables decorated for Thanksgiving and the roast turkey, real cornbread dressing and giblet gravy already made, and coffee ready.

Mary Lumsden was busy with her blood pressure measuring machine. Others came bringing luscious dishes of salads, vegetables, huge pans of hot rolls, and desserts galore!

Baptist Minister Royce Jennings and wife, June, were honored guests. Brother Jennings asked the blessing for the meal after those with November birthdays were recognized and given places at the head of the line of the buffet. Brother Jennings, Vera Mitchell and Dumont Bridge have birthdays in November.

Other guests were Carl and Shirley Barton's daughter, Marguitta Montgomery and her son-in-law, Coby Sharp, who teaches at Lubbock's Hutson Jr. High School; also Margaret Bridge, and Bobbie Brown of Matador. Others present were Grace Zabielski, Pearl Patten, Dorothy Lee, Zella Palmer, and Algie and Rita Groves.

The business meeting was deferred until the next regular meeting on Pearl Harbor Day, December 7, 2000.

Word has been received that former Matador resident, J.W. Pritchett is quite ill. Friends may send cards to: J.W. Pritchett

FRYING THE PERFECT TURKEY: JUST IN TIME FOR THANKSGIVING

Tired of the same old turkey every Thanksgiving? With this year's holiday right around the corner, deep-frying your turkey is one alternative. A high quality, eight to eleven pound turkey is ideal for deep-frying. Remember to remove the giblets, and wrap wire around the legs for easy removal when done. Put cooking oil in a pot that the turkey can easily fit into, and place over a propane burner. Any seasonings desired may be added to the bird, as well as marinades that can be injected into the muscle. The oil should be heated between 375-390 degrees Fahrenheit before adding the bird. Once the bird is immersed, the temperature should drop to 350 degrees. Fry the turkey for three-and-a-half minutes per pound, remove the bird, drain the juices, and serve.

NEW USDA FEEDER CATTLE GRADES

A year after proposing and receiving comment on revisions to feeder grades, the USDA officially changed the grades on October 1. MEDIUM frame steers now are predicted to finish weighing 1100 lb. to 1250 lb., with SMALL below that range and LARGE above. Heifers are predicted to weigh 100 lb. less than steers of the frame size. Thickness scores, estimating muscling, are now No. 1 (for moderate or higher thickness), No. 2 (slightly thick), No. 3 (narrow), and No. 4 (narrower than narrow). USDA grades are used mainly for official market reports. But in commercial trading, order-buyer grades are more common, and they are not standardized. These numerical designations are not the same as the USDA thickness scores. Order-buyer numbers are overall preference scores which include a number of factors affecting price, not just muscling.

MANAGEMENT FACTORS AFFECTING CALF PRICE

A study of cattle sold through eastern Oklahoma auctions documents things you can do to increase calf price. For one, castrate; steers brought $3.56/cwt. more than bulls. For another, dehorn or use polled breeding stock; calves without horns brought $2.48/cwt. more. Fleshy calves were discounted $2.43/cwt. and fat calves lost $8.69/cwt., while thin calves sold for $3.27/cwt. less and very thin lost a whopping $13.24/cwt. Full calves brought $3.69/cwt. less than those of average fill, and shrunk calves received $1.85/cwt. less. Visibly healthy calves brought $7.83/cwt. more than those that appeared to be stale. Compared to singles, premiums for multiple-head lots were: 2-5 head, $3.59; 6-10 head, $5.01; over 10 head, $5.92. So, to get the best price, market calves that are castrated, dehorned (by whatever method), in average flesh and fill, visibly fresh, and in multiple-head lots if possible.

ULTRASOUND ESTIMATES OF CARCASS MERIT

Several breed associations now use ultrasound estimates of live animals, in addition to actual carcass measurements, to calculate EPD for carcass factors. These estimates, if made by qualified technicians, have been shown to be highly related to actual measurements. Ultrasound offers several advantages. It is less costly. It is not necessary to slaughter animals to obtain data. Data from bulls and heifers developed for breeding stock can be included, so the number of records is increased, resulting in greater accuracy in estimating EPD. Just remember, to benefit economically from real genetic improvement in carcass merit you must either document it for potential buyers or partners or retain ownership through the feedyard and sell on the rail.

USDA Conservation Reserve Program payments total $159 million to Texas landowners (College Station) -- State Executive Director, A. Wayland Shurley of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency, announces $159 million to be paid on 23,149 Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) contracts in Texas.

"The Conservation Reserve Program is the U.S. Department of Agriculture's largest conservation program and is a voluntary program that offers landowners annual rental payments and cost-share assistance as incentives to convert cropland to approved permanent cover for a contract period of 10-15 years," said Shurley.

To date, USDA has administered 23 CRP sign-up periods spanning 15 years since the program's inception in the Food Security Act of 1985. Recent state data for Texas indicates program enrollment of approximately 4 million CRP acres statewide. Rental payments for program year 2000 averaged $35.00 per acre and $7000 per farm for Texas landowners and operators.

Nationally, the CRP program boasts 32.5 million acres enrolled. FY2000 payments will total more than $1.4 billion making the national average payment per farm $4,833, with an average payment per acre of $45.17. Approximately 293,857 farms are enrolled in more than 462,855 CRP contracts across the nation.

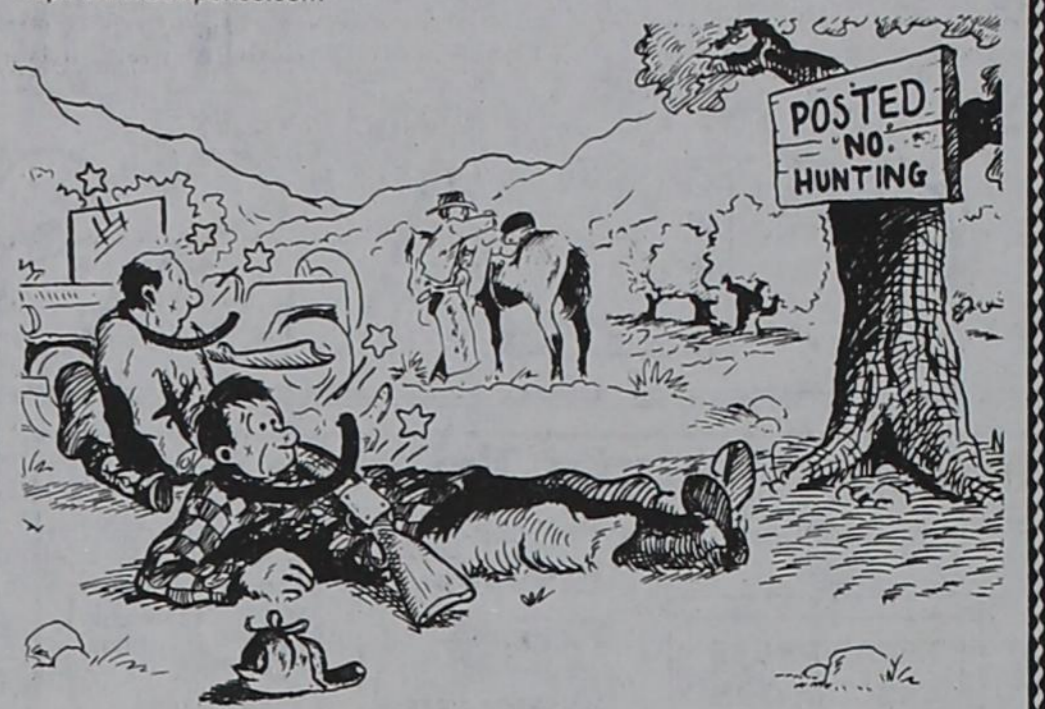

"The substantial CRP acreage enrollment in Texas is a direct reflection of Texas agriculture producers' natural resource stewardship," said Shurley. "They (farmers) voluntarily agree to take environmentally sensitive land out of production when they enroll in CRP."

Land enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program must be highly erodible, contribute to a serious water quality problem or provide substantial environmental benefits if devoted to specific conservation uses. Additional CRP information can be obtained on the World Wide Web at www.fsa.usda.gov/conservation.

list is complete or adequately mirrors the needs of counties that have not yet received disaster declarations," said Shurley. Damage Assessment Reports have been requested from 44 additional counties and are pending review for eligibility for Secretarial Disaster Designations. Disaster declarations provide farmers and ranchers with low interest emergency loan assistance. This year, the declarations will be a key factor for providing assistance to livestock producers who suffered grazing losses.

FSA's survey also indicated 39 counties where agricultural businesses are feeling the effects of the lack of production and depressed commodity prices, a statistic that is vital considering Agriculture is the second largest industry in Texas. Losses suffered by the state's farmers and ranchers have a severe impact on Texas' entire economy.

Fortunately, President Carter recently signed the farm spending bill for 2001 which provides for approximately $3.5 billion in disaster aid for agriculture losses nationwide. Texas farmers and ranchers will benefit from provisions that specifically allocate monies for crop loss payments, dairy market loss payments and livestock assistance. For more information on the farm spending bill, visit the USDA World Wide Web site at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.
