Pledge Made At Summit

LONDON (AP)—President Carter and the leaders of six other major industrial nations made a "general commitment" today to ensure enough growth in their economies to reduce unemployment and control inflation, U.S. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said.

"It is a step forward that the countries have pledged themselves to take steps to meet the targets they have set for themselves," Blumenthal said after the opening session of a two-day summit conference on world economic problems.

He said Carter told the other leaders the United States would meet its own target for econonfic growth this year of between 5.8 and 6 per cent and probably would exceed the goal for reducing unemployment below 7 per cent.

Unemployment in the United States declined to 7 per cent in April, government statistics showed.

The other conference participants are the leaders of France, West Germany, Japan, Italy, Canada and host Britain.

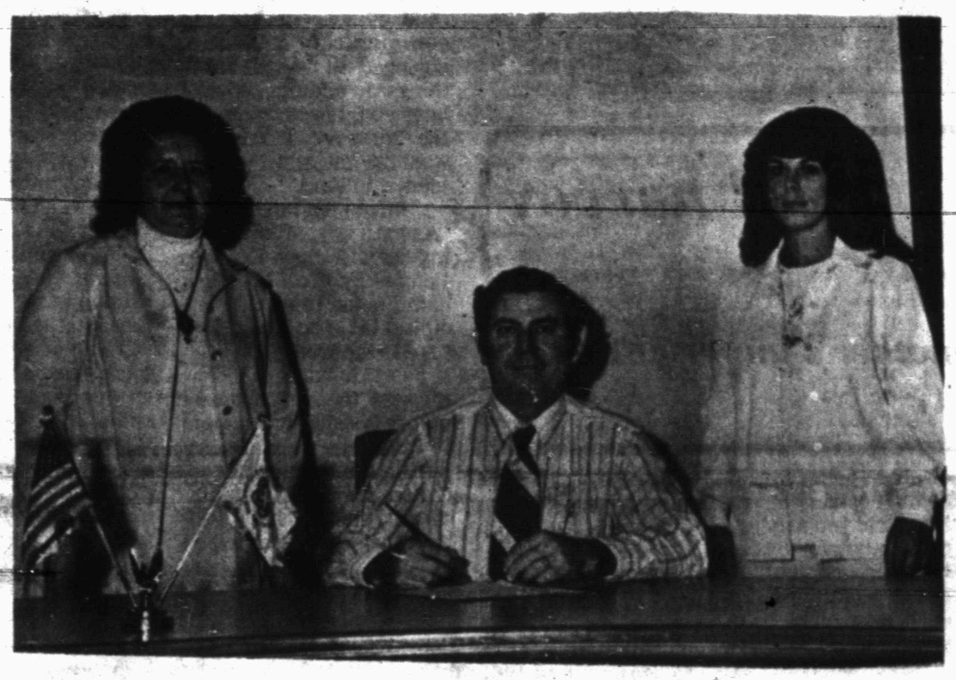

The meetings were being held today and Sunday at 10 Downing St., the official residence of Prime Minister James Callaghan.

Blumenthal said that at the four-hour opening session this morning each leader discussed his view of the world economy.

There was "a broad measure of agreement" that while the world is recovering from the recent recession, the recovery is not proceeding fast enough, Blumenthal said.

A DAY FOR MOTHER—Mrs. Nettie Starnes, 94, receives a Mother Day rose from a daughter, Bernie Keenan. Mrs. Starnes, mother of seven, resides at Leisure Lodge. Two of her children, Ruby Starnes and Culver Starnes, are deceased. In addition to Mrs. Keenan, those living are Eunice Houston and Hubert Starnes of Snyder, Jack Starnes of Odessa and Scott Starnes of Fort Worth. Mrs. Starnes was married to the late Albert Starnes in 1903.

Recent rains have put this country into the best shape for farming and ranching in along time, and it has some of the leaders in the boll weevil control program a little worried.

They have pinpointed May 16 as the ideal time for cotton planting here to enhance the boll weevil control efforts. Now, with moisture conditions ideal, they know the temptation to jump in and plant is becoming greater and greater.

Superstition says that tragedies, unusual events and even happenings of good fortune often come along in triplicate. Some people can cite chapter and verse on actual situations.

If this is true, people in and around Snyder should have no fear of getting accidentally locked into a public building in the near future. It has happened three times within three weeks.

On the evening of the Chamber of Commerce banquet, Former Gov. Preston Smith told the banquet crowd that he left the Diamond M Museum and headed for the coliseum, thinking that others who had toured the museum were on their way to the banquet. But he soon detected that they were not following him and he returned to the museum to find them accidentally locked in.

On Sunday, May 1, Tony Martin of the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission, was guest speaker at First Baptist Church here for a "World Hunger" observance. Since he needed to be on his way immediately following the service, he went to a vacant room in the church building to change clothes. When he was ready to leave, he discovered that the congregation and church staff had departed and left him locked in the building.

On Thursday, May 5, a visitor at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce was seeking a map of another city. When one could not be found among current maps in the outer office, one of the Chamber secretaries (she remains anonymous) said there might be an old map of the city in question in the storage room and that the visitor was welcome to look through a stack of old maps, which he did. Meanwhile, an ugly-looking cloud was coming up and it was nearly 5 p.m. anyway and the Chamber staff decided they might as well close for the day. Sure enough, the visitor came out of the storage room a short time later and found that he was locked in.

So, there you have it. Three lock-ins in a row, which should make our town immune to such things for a while.

Jail Bids Come In Well Under Million

Scurry County commissioners had been hoping they could get a bid for less than a million dollars for construction of a new county jail.

Their hopes were rewarded Friday afternoon when bids were opened at the courthouse and not one of the eight bids hit the million dollar mark.

In fact, the low base bid even went for slightly under $900,000. It was submitted by C.B. Thompson of Lubbock who bid $899,324.

The bids ranged up to $989,200, but there were three in addition to Thompson who had proposals under $940,000.

The commissioners court and J.D. Hinton, architect, studied the proposals Friday afternoon and conversed with representatives of the low bidder. They indicated that they planned to confer with Thompson himself and that possibly a contract would be awarded at their meeting Monday morning.

Thompson's bid calls for completion of the project in 365 calendar days, which would begin at the time the work order is issued on the project.

Commissioners also were studying some alternates, which all bidders considered in their quotations.

The second low bid was $925,000 submitted by Page and Wirtz of Lubbock, while Herman Bennett of Brownwood, who was the contractor on the courthouse remodeling project here several years ago, had a bid of $935,500, and Haney and Sivley of Abilene bid $939,875. Other bids included C.B. Oats of Abilene $945,475, Waco Construction Co. of Waco $953,600, Rose Construction Co. of Abilene $974,000 and Hawkins and Westbrook of Abilene, $989,200.

The jail plans have been in the making here for several years, but were not completed until early this year after state and federal jail standards were finally determined.

Meanwhile, the county had acquired a site for the jail at 26th Street and Avenue M, the former location of Travis Junior High School. The plans call for facilities to accommodate some 54 inmates, plus offices for county and state peace officers and required support facilities.

SHS Play Wins Again

A Snyder High School production has won the Class AAA one-act play state title for the second year in a row.

Director Jerry Worsham's 1977 cast and crew presented the winning entry Friday evening in the state contest at Austin. The Snyder play, "Romeo and Juliet" had advanced through district and regional competition to reach the finals in Austin.

In addition, five cast members from Snyder were singled out for individual honors, headed by Marca Parham, who was named best actress and winner of the Samuel French Award.

Mickie Robinson and Kim Massingill were named to the all-star cast, while Paula Wolfe and Greg Pavlik received honorable mention.

It was the sixth state championship for Worsham as director of the SHS drama department.

In addition to those who received individual awards, students involved in the state championship play this year include Laurie Bethel, Sheri Bullard, David Fleming, Cindi Hailes, Ronny Hester, John Hopkins, Bryan Lewallen, Scott Marlar, Jerry Martin, Jeanne McCormick, Robby Moore, Robert Potts, Perry Robertson, Debbie Smithee, Sarah Sullivan, Jana Wesson, Tracy Witherspoon and Nell Sears.

Diamond Hill High School of Fort Worth placed second in the state contest, and Round Rock High School's play was third.

Although Snyder High had won the state contest six times in the last nine years, the 1977 cast claimed the most individual honors ever accorded a Snyder production. The judge was highly complimentary of the over-all play and the costumes. At the conclusion of the Snyder presentation, the cast received a standing ovation, which is unusual at the state contest.

SPECIAL WEEK BEGINS TODAY

Nursing Home Residents Honored

Local nursing home residents will be honored during "Nursing Home Week," which begins today and continues through Friday.

The annual observance is sponsored by the Texas Nursing Home Association and it has been designated for local observance in a proclamation signed by Mayor John Fagin. The official host for Nursing Home Week this year is the famous Kentucky Colonel, Harland Sanders of Louisville.

In joining in the program, Juanita Land, administrator of Leisure Lodge Nursing Center in Snyder, announced an "open house" today from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Theme of the week is "Be A Good Neighbor—Visit A Nursing Home."

"This is an all-out effort by our profession to urge people in every community to take time for a personal visit and a close look into the operation to today's licensed nursing homes," said Mrs. Land. "We can provide every need of our residents except one—we can't make them know that the community cares about them. This special week gives everyone a chance to show that the people in the community do care about their neighbors in nursing homes.

"America is experiencing a dramatic rise in need for more and better health care facilities, and nursing homes are meeting that need with continuing expansion of services and facilities. We want everyone to know what our nursing home is really like, and about the total care we administer to our residents. A visit during open house or any of the other activities during the coming week will be a big step in that direction.

Cotton Planting Date Stressed

May 16 has been selected as the date to begin planting cotton in Scurry County and delayed planting is very important in the management of the boll weevil, agricultural leaders reminded this weekend.

The May 16 planting date was accepted by the Scurry County Producers Association at its annual meeting held last March 28.

Research has shown that weevils begin to emerge from their over-wintered quarters during early May and continue to emerge through June with most weevils emerging in mid-June, it was noted. Emerged weevils can survive about eight days without food (cotton squares.

Cotton planted on or after May 16 should have one-third grown squares (about the size of a pencil eraser) during late June or early July. Cotton is susceptible to boll weevils only after the plant has one-third grown squares. Therefore, cotton planted on or after May 16 should have less weevil pressure than earlier planted cotton.

Following the Scurry County diapause boll weevil control program of last season, the boll weevil population should be low, the agricultural observers said. A delayed planting will enhance the effectiveness of the program and will be most important in determining the weevil population levels during this coming season.

Also, it was emphasized, one of the important points to remember in dealing with the boll weevil is not necessarily the amount of damage caused by the over-wintered boll weevil upon emergence, but the population dynamics involved before a crop is harvested.

A five-fold increase in population by September would be an average figure, it was estimated. At that time, the damage caused by this high population would be of

Tech President Speaker For WTC's Graduation

Dr. Cecil Mackey, Jr., President and Professor of Law at Texas Tech University, has been named speaker for commencement exercises to be held at Western Texas College Thursday night.

The program is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the Central Courtyard, and will be moved to the Health-Physical Education Building in the event of inclement weather.

Dr. Mackey, 48, served as president of the University of South Florida in Tampa for five years before moving to Tech in September, 1976. He had served in administrative positions with Florida State University in Tallahassee from June 1969 to January, 1971.

A native of Alabama, Dr. Mackey received the bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from the University of Alabama. He was a member of Chi Alpha Phil, national statistics scholastic honorary fraternity, and Artus, national economics scholastic honorary fraternity.

He received the doctor of philosophy from the University of Illinois in 1955 and the bachelor of laws from the University of Alabama in 1958, and was admitted to practice in the state of Alabama that year. He did graduate law study at Harvard Law School in 1958-59.

DR. CECIL MACKEY

The speaker began his teaching career as a graduate teaching assistant at the University of Alabama in September, 1951, and later was assistant professor of economics at the University of Illinois. He was on active duty with the Air Force from August, 1956 to December, 1957, serving as associate professor of economics at the U.S. Air Force Academy. He was one of four officers making up the original economics department at the academy.

Following his discharge from the Air Force, Dr. Mackey was associated with the University of Alabama until January, 1962, when he became assistant council for the Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly. He continued in government service until early in 1969 when he returned to teaching at the University of Maryland.

In 1957, he received the Arthur S. Flemming Award as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the federal service.

Dr. Mackey is currently treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and a member of various national educational associations. He also serves on various committees.

business pays way

Business, and profits and the like have taken their lumps in recent years from the liberals who feel a threat from the private enterprise system.

All that adverse publicity, we feel, is unwarranted and for that reason we're delighted to have the opportunity to applaud a group of West Texas businessmen who are doing something with their profits that even the liberals can't condemn.

For the second year, a group of West Texas businessmen have joined forces to establish four-year merit scholarships.

Scurry County is one of the counties for which merit scholarships are awarded to a person to attend Western Texas College for two years and then transfer to University of Texas-Permian Basin.

One of the guiding forces of the scholarship program is J. Conrad Dunagan, a soft drink bottler and distributor from Monahans. Dunagan has done a yoeman's job in selling the scholarship program and in getting students informed about the opportunities.

The group met in Snyder just last week to select two recipients of scholarships provided by two local business firms--West Texas State Bank and Texas Electric Service Co.

The purpose of the $300 per year, four-year scholarship is to recognize outstanding scholastic achievement and to permit students to remain in the Permian Basin during the four years of their education.

In just one year, the number of scholarships increased from 44 to 50, and there is hope that the number of scholarships will continue to increase as support grows in the business community.

We think it's great that business helps in this endeavor, but we can't help but remind our anti-business friends that such contributions are possible only if someone first makes a profit.

vote fraud threat

It should not require a sophisticated investigative agency such as the FBI to determine that President Carter's new election law proposal is a gilded invitation to fraud.

Although details of the proposal have not been spelled out, the president has recommended that voters be permitted to register on the day of election at the polling places.

Anyone who has ever been closely associated with the process of holding an election can immediately see plenty of pitfalls. In fact, election judges undoubtedly were amazed when they heard this proposal. It becomes immediately clear that many voters would not even consider registering until they got to the polls. This would mean that the election crews would spend as much time registering voters as they would actually conducting the election.

Moreover, it would mean that a voter bent on fraud could report to a polling place, register, cast his ballot and then move on to another polling place, register, cast his ballot and then move on to another polling place and start all over again. With today's transportation facilities it is not beyond the realm of probability that some could even cast ballots in more than one county on the same day.

But, disregarding these faults, we have little sympathy with those who do not have enough interest in the right to vote to make the small effort required to register in advance. Those who wait to see if an issue develops that involves them personally before they decide to go to the polls leave us cold.

mother's important

So you are going to have a baby. A pair never beat a full house, they say.

Mrs. Anna Ranieri was only 43. She had left behind a note which said it all: "I can't stand this war on my nerves any longer. My brother was killed in Germany and my son in Wonsan, Korea. It is too much to bear now."

They dragged her lifeless body from the cold waters of Lake Michigan.

You do not have to approve to understand.

The Page One miracle of our day is not that some die by way of the window. The great wonder is that we are not all standing in line for the high ones.

Into such a world you are about to bring a baby.

You are not human if you have not wondered through each long night if it is right.

Mothers have worried about that since a long time before you switched to low heels.

You'll have to endure the mornings and the waiting and the dieting and the waiting and the wondering and the waiting--alone.

But in worrying, you have lots of company.

When Nancy of Kentucky entered the valley of the shadow, what was there for her baby? The British were shooting at us in a prelude to war, a former candidate for President and member of the Senate was being tried for treason. Her husband was an illiterate, wandering laborer. But in the agony of poverty, war and public scandal, Nancy Lincoln's baby was born.

Suppose you had been Mary, a slave girl. To you, in 1864 in Diamond Grove, Mo., it would have seemed the whole mad world was aflame. Civil war matched the cruel weapons of Grant and Lee. Sherman was shooting and looting his way to the sea.

Had Mary known that six weeks later she and her boy child would be kidnaped by nightriders and that she would never be heard from again, it would not have changed things. She would have had her baby. For there were reasons, important reasons George Washington Carver had to be.

We were at war with Mexico when tiny Tom Edison arrived in Ohio. The day he invented the electric light, out in Indian Territory to two worried half-breed Cherokee Indians a boy was born. He was named Will Rogers.

In Minnesota Edith was frightened, too. In 1898 the United States was barely struggling to its financial feet when the battleship Maine blew up and the Spanish-American War exploded with it. At the height of the storm Edith's child was born--Charles Mayo of Rochester.

It was an uncertain adventure for Harry and Catherine Crosby of Tacoma, Wash. Then, too, there was a war to be won. But more, there was a song to be sung. And Bing was born.

That is what I am trying to say. That there is an important job to do, for a teacher, preacher, mechanic, for a barber, carpenter, doctor, or somebody to grub out the sewers. It is important.

Even if there are wars. For it is the soul of man that has to be tried. An eternity is being populated. Each must test his wings alone--until he flies. Then they will take his small world from us and give us the skies. But we have to be here, first.

That is why what you are about to do is so important.

For each woman there is this personal Garden of Gethsemane. She goes there for strength.

I have not tried to tell you it is easy, only that it is terribly important.

None, holding your hand, can erase the terror, born of the lateness of the hour and the stories of old women. Always old ones. Often childless. Impatient, tired, you will, of course, be worried. Since long before Mary, mothers have been anxious for their offspring.

But have borne them in stables and hidden them in bulrushes.

Have borne them unattened in the bouncing bed of a Conestoga wagon racing to outdistance savages, in unheated frontier cabins or--just as alone--midst the antiseptic whiteness of great hospitals.

Because it is important that they do.

It has ever been so!

A while of moonlight and roses, a lifetime of dishwater and diapers, toys that will not run, noses that will not stop.

And women, back into the garden, and again, barefoot over broken glass, humming a lullaby.

my turn...

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with being punctual is that, nine times out of ten, there's nobody around to appreciate it."

A fellow down in Ector County has written to President Carter to offer three suggestions on what he could do to conserve energy.

They are: 1. Do away with all the state limousines, also stop using the Presidential plane and other planes that are provided for the officials of State. 2. Do away with Daylight Savings Time. 3. do away with all forced cross-town busing of school children.

We suppose there are many other suggestions, but just last week our favorite critic, Skipper Joyce, suggested to us that elimination of cross-town busing of school pupils would be a step in the right direction.

Another hometown philosopher added: "Better yet, why not call our representatives home from Washington, close their offices and save the lighting and heating and cooling costs, plus all the savings from no new laws passed.

"With all that hot air in their home districts, heating costs would probably go down all over the country."

The television interview with Richard Nixon, in our opinion, brought no new surprises nor new information. The entire Watergate matter was a national tragedy of which the entire political system should learn a stern lesson.

We were a strong Nixon defender until about Tuesday prior to his Thursday resignation. But Nixon did let the country down, as admitted, and all the rehashing won't solve current problems. Our only suspicion and criticism of the Wednesday night interview is the $600,000 that Nixon is receiving for supposedly "telling the truth." We think its bad precedent.

With a first grader, we are currently made aware of how times change. It happened again this week when we took some feature material home to review.

One of the features, directed to young readers, told about American heroes and the role they play in our society. Included in the list were Presidents, Congressmen, sports stars, actors and actresses. The material asked the question: "Do you know any of these hereos?"

We asked our first grade son if he knew any of the folks pictured on the page. "Sure, he replied, "There's Farrah Fawcett and The Fonz."

A sure sign of the times.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

I am very proud of our city and what has been done to improve it in looks and cleanliness. We are very fortunate to be called Sparkle City U.S.A.

But there is one thing that should put us all to shame, and that is our flags that are flying out at the coliseum. They are torn and ragged and dirty. Where has the honor and respect we have always shown in our country's flag gone? Shame on us.

Also, the other day I passed one of our schools while the children were taking down the flag, and you should have seen the way it was being treated--dragging in the dirt.

Maybe you could call attention to our city about our flags and the way they must look to other people who come our way.

Introduction and Review

Human beings are communication devices. As such we are faced with the same problems that other communication systems have. In previous articles we have discussed three of the aspects of communication: when we function as transmitters, when we function as receivers, and as we are aware of the possible static and interference between the transmitter and receiver. We have noticed that both the transmitter and receiver need to be working, and need to be properly tuned so that the equipment itself does not distort the message. We have also looked at our need to be aware of the possible interruptions and interferences which we call static. Today we will consider the problem of determining how the message is received. Radio people call this "feedback."

Feedback

Feedback is an important element in communication. I need to know if the message I am sending is being received at all, and I need to know if the message you are receiving is the message I intended to send. When you try to communicate with me, you need to know the same things. In addition, when I hear you, I need to know if the message I received was the message you intended to send.

Misunderstanding

A small boy, after spending the afternoon in Little League Football practice, came home to eat. At the dinner table he was asked to pass the bread. He threw a pass. A hard roll flew through the air, bounced off of his sister, and landed in his mother's plate. All during the ensuing altercation he stoutly maintained that he had done exactly what he was asked to do. Apparently the message received was a little bit different from the message which was sent. Some darkly suspicious people might persuade themselves that the boys' misunderstanding was intentional. I count myself among those people. This type of misunderstanding, even when not deliberate, is quite frequent, and can cause a lot of trouble. Perhaps only a part of the message comes through. Perhaps some of it is garbled, so that the message heard is quite different from the message received. Often a great deal of trouble can be avoided by simply asking, "Did you mean...?" or, "I thought I heard you say..."

Do You Read Me?

A few years ago, when the Apollo flights to the moon were happening, the conversations between Mission Control and the Astronauts were broadcast live for all to hear. Every message started out with the name of who the message was intended for, the identification of who was talking, and the question: "Do you read me?" This question was always settled before the message began. This procedure captured the imagination of some of the small boys in our neighborhood. For some weeks they were continually asking each other and their parents and teachers, "Do you read me?"

The Astronauts were not playing, nor were they following a stale and meaningless ritual. They were intensely aware that there was no use to talk if no one could hear. They knew, with awesome certainty, that it was supremely important that every message be heard, understood, and that both parties were in agreement as to what the message was. Their very lives were dependent on it. This constant checking on the quality of the reception enabled them to be sure that what they were saying was getting through and being understood correctly, and prevented either party from assuming that something important was received and understood when it had not been.

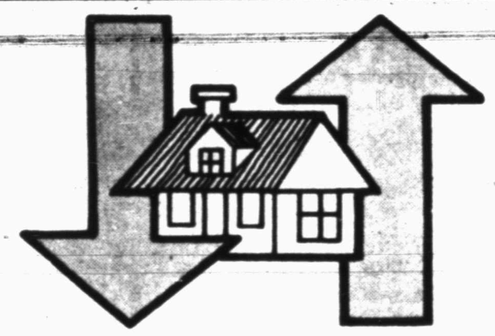

Marriage Survival

For the astronauts, correctly understood communication was a life or death matter. In the family it is not totally that way. it is entirely possible that both parties can goof up the communication and still live. However, though the people may live, the relationship cannot long survive broken communications. For the relationship to survive each other. Enough painful things happen anyway, so we do not need the additional burden of misunderstandings.

The easiest solution is to be sure that the communication lines are kept open is to sprinkle in a lot of "Do you read me?'s" and "Did you mean's?" This way you give yourself and your partner ample opportunity to clear up a misunderstanding before it becomes bad. A constant check on how the communication is going will do more for family relationships than any other one thing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The immediate is not nearly as important as the future today. Significance of present developments lies in their long-range effects.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The quirks of an old friend may surface today, but you should take his conduct with a grain of salt. It's only a temporary condition.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One you're fond of may do something that you think is a little flakey today. Weigh her past performance. Forgive it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Matters that are serious to you today may not have the same gravity to others. Bear this in mind if you want to keep relationships harmonious.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If there's something that you feel should be done today, don't let anything deter you. Heeding the siren call of pleasure could dash your hopes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be aware of the interests of your companions today. If they don't want to talk business, you'll draw their negative reaction.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You may have an opportunity today to do a favor. You'll do it reluctantly because you know there's nothing in it for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't behave in a knavish manner if you're with important people today. It's imperative to impress them as a staunch, dependable person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you want your family to hew the line on the budget, they shouldn't be expected to scrimp while you squander.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When discussing serious matters today, say no more than is necessary. You'll only defeat your purpose.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Even though you can capably manage your resources today, you're too sympathetic. Others could talk you out of what you know is right.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be willing to help your pals today, but somehow you'll make them feel obligated by letting them know you had to make certain small sacrifices.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have any wild schemes today, don't employ expensive equipment or materials. It could prove to be a costly experiment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Weigh carefully any new methods to change your business practices today. Unforeseen flaws could have long-range detrimental effects.

COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

BEEF REFERENDUM: Owners of beef and dairy animals will have the opporutnity to vote on a national check-off program soon. The Secretary of Agriculture has authorized this referendum for producers of beef and dairy animals for research and promotion activities if it is approved by the producers.

This referendum will be conducted differently than others in the past. For a producer to vote in this election, he must first register at the local ASCS Office in the County in which his livestock is located. He may do this in person or by mail. This sign-up or registration period will be June 6-17.

At the end of the two week sign up period there will be a two week waiting period.

The voting period will be from July 5-15. For the referendum to pass, 50 per cent of those registering must vote and two-thirds of those voting must vote yes for the order to become law.

Any man, woman or child who has owned cattle during the past 12 months is eligible to vote. If ownership is joint property, only one vote per entity is allowed. This makes any 4-H or FFA member who has owned beef cattle during the past year elegible.

This order, if passed, will authorize the secretary of agriculture to set up national check off program similar to programs for wheat, potatoes, cotton and eggs. The funds collected from this check-off will be used for a nationally coordinated research and information program to improve, maintain and develop markets for cattle, beef and beef products.

The program will be run by a 68-member board. This board will be producers nominated by producer organizations. Each state will have at least one representative on the board. Others will have more depending on the cattle population in each state. Texas apparently will have 7 representatives on the board.

The amount of check-off per animal will amount to 3-10 of one percent. That is, if an animal sells for $100, thirty cents (.30) will be the amount contributed by the seller to the program.

There are several things involved in the program that are different from other commodity check-off programs.

To further discuss and explain the program a meeting on the proposed beef referendum has been scheduled for Tuesday night, May 10, in Room A of the Scurry County and Dub Waldrip of Lubbock will discuss certain issues regarding the referendum.

Cattlemen To Meet Tuesday

All area cattle producers are invited to attend a special meeting on the proposed Beef Market Development Program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Room A, Scurry County Coliseum.

Beef Development Taskforce county chairman John Jarrell of Snyder and Wm. S. (Dub) Waldrip of Lubbock will speak at the meeting.

"This is a program by cattle producers and for cattle producers," Jarrell said. "It's important that it be understood and supported."

The Beef Market Development Program hopes to raise $30 to $40 million through voluntary contribution each year to invest in consumer education, research, and foreign market development.

Cattle producers will register in June and vote in July on the proposed program in a national referendum.

"There are four major aspects of the Beef Market Development Program," Jarrell said. "These are consumer education, research, marketing and distribution, and foreign markets. They'll each be covered in the meeting."

SAYS EHRLICHMAN

Nixon's Version Rationalization

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Ehrlichman says former President Richard M. Nixon's version of the Watergate cover-up in his interview with David Frost was a "rationalization that will be tested and found false."

Nixon's former domestic affairs adviser also said in a magazine article he wrote following the Nixon-Frost interview Wednesday night that Nixon was "overcome with self-pity" when he fired him and that Nixon "offered me a huge sum of money. I declined it."

"I asked him why I was being fired," Ehrlichman said. "He didn't reply.

"I then said I had only one last request: that some day he explain it to my children. He didn't reply."

In the Frost interview, Nixon said when he told Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman, then White House chief of staff, that they were being fired, "I seriously considered whether I shouldn't resign."

Ehrlichman, however, said that when Nixon told him he was fired "at no time did he so much as hint that he thought of resigning. On the contrary, he talked about how we would all return to Camp David in the coming years once the crisis was past."

Ehrlichman, now serving a 2½-to-8-year sentence at Camp Safford Federal Prison in Arizona on charges of obstruction of justice, conspiracy and lying in the Watergate cover-up, made his comments in an article he wrote in his jail cell for New York magazine and its West Coast sister publication New West magazine. The article will appear in both magazines Monday.

Ehrlichman said that while he listened to the Nixon-Frost interview, it was "clear to me that there is, at San Clemente, a version of the years 1971 to 1975 that is not merely revisionist. It's a history manque."

There was a stylish and classy and effective way to tell the truth about all this," Ehrlichman said. "But that chance was lost in March and April of 1973. There might have been a way for him to tell th truth in May of 1977, too. Instead, I heard a smarmy, maudlin rationalization that will be tested and found false. But it does have the virtue of symmetry."

Ehrlichman said he first discovered "I was put over the side by Richard Nixon when I listened to the tapes in 1974. All words, no pictures: Let's be sure no one tells Ehrlichman everything is being taped. Conversations with Charles Colson about clemency for E. Howard Hunt that Nixon lied about."

great economic concern. If average weevil emergence were 10 weevils per acre (a very low emergence) it would be possible to have 6,000 to 8,000 weevils per acre by the fourth generation, which would be early September. If average emergence were 100 weevils there and little were or no control by environmental conditions, the number of weevils by September could be astronomical.

Thus, May 16 appears to be the date to plant cotton here that best utilizes the resources available for cotton production in Scurry County this year, according to the latest information.

Dream Time Essential To Rest

WASHINGTON (AP)- Sleep isn't essential to rest, says National Geographic, but dreaming is. Tired muscles can be refreshed by rest in which sleep is not essential, and scientists now think it is dreaming that provides the mind with some time off.

Since the brain apparently functions like a super-computer, says Geographic, and a computer must spend some time "off line" so that corrections, updating and new programs can be fed in, hence the brain also needs a time when it sorts out and absorbs new data.

Dream researchers say that everybody dreams, and that people who say they don't are deep sleepers who simply do not remember their dreams when they wake.

Dreaming may be the chief reason for sleep. Dr. Ernest Hartman, dream expert from Boston State Hospital, feels that the amount of sleep people need is determined by how much dreaming they require.

Practical persons like Thomas Edison or Winston Churchill needed little sleep, but deep thinkers like Albert Einstein slept as much as 12 hours a night. For such people, he points out, dreams may be a way of working out troublesome problems.

Lifting Ban Unity Move

LONDON (AP) — In a move toward unity at the economic summit, the Carter administration is lifting the ban on sales of highly enriched uranium to three of the participants and to an international organization involving a fourth.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said the administration had planned to announce the decision today at the opening of the summit, bringing together leaders of the nonCommunist world's seven leading industrial countries.

But the nations scheduled to receive the uranium were told of the decision in advance, and they made it public Friday night.

The uranium will go to conference participants West Germany, Canada and Japan, as well as Belgium, the Netherlands and a multinational nuclear energy operation involving West Germany and France, also at the summit.

Powell said the uranium would not be enriched enough to be used in nuclear weapons. But nations with the necessary technology, such as France and West Germany, could reprocess it into weapons-grade quality.

However, he said Carter had been assured the uranium would be used for peaceful purposes.

The decision is in line with Carter's request last month that Congress endorse a policy improving U.S. reliability as a nuclear fuel supplier. An administration spokesman said the policy was aimed at increasing U.S. influence over purchasers and discouraging the spread of reprocessing technology. A byproduct of nuclear reprocessing is plutonium, an ingredient in nuclear weapons.

In his April 27 message, Carter also asked for authority to impose drastic penalities on countries that violate nuclear weapons proliferation agreements.

Wall, Murray Exchange Vows In Jasper Church

Mindy Wall became the bride of Jackie Murray March 19, 7 p.m. in the Hillcrest Baptist Church at Jasper.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Murray, of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Ted R. Wall of Jasper.

Rev. Buddy Reed officiated the ceremony. The bride's father presented her in marriage before heart shaped candelabra flanked with potted daisies, ferns and mums, also a basket of bridestree and wisteria.

They were attired in long dresses made by Linda Latham of Levelland, aunt of the groom. Each dress was of a different pastel color of the bride's spring rainbow wedding. They were made of crepe knit decorated with lace accented with silk ribbon insertions. Each carried a white long stemmed carnation with lace and ribbons matching the colors of their dresses.

The bride's gown was of sheer nylon organza. The empire bodice was trimmed with lace and tucks. The long sleeves were covered with Juliet style over sleeves. Her Juliet head piece held the chapel train of nylon and matching lace. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers and lace.

Billy Murray of San Angelo, brother of the groom, was best man. Serving as groomsmen were David Thompson, Michael Glasscock, and Tommy Hendrix of Laurel, Miss. Seating guests were Kent Horsley and Sandy Land.

Candle lighter for the ceremony was Jerry Rinehart.

MR. AND MRS. JACKIE MURRAY

Wedding music was provided by vocalist Vickie Wilco, singing "Evergreen" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Cindy Wilcox.

The bride presented each mother with a yellow long stemmed rose.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Those in the houseparty were Phyliss Glasscock, registering guests; Revel Rawls of Jasper, serving punch and Cindy Childress of Houston, serving wedding cake. Vickie Murray, of Lubbock, sister of the groom, attended the groom's table.

After a wedding trip to Mississippi, the couple reside at 2709½Ave. O. The groom is employed by Holcomb Oil Well Service and the bride is a student at WTC.

MRS. JOHN PAUL PITTS

Couple Wed In Candlelight Rites

Wedding vows were solemnized by Evelyn Dee Osborne and John Paul Pitts, both of Midland, in the First Church of the Nazarene, April 30 at 1 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osborne of 3001 Austin, and Mr. C.O. Pitts and Mrs. Grace Conway of Pecos.

Rev. Harold Quarels, First Nazarene Church, Midland, officiated the single ring ceremony with the bride's father giving her in marriage at an altar arched with candelabrum entwined with greenery banked by baskets of yellow and white gladioli and yellow roses.

John Pitts, Jr. of Midland, the groom's son served as best man.

Dianne Osborne, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a gown of pastel yellow polyester voile with embroidered white organdy lace accented with yellow and apricot roses fashioned like that of the bride.

Ushers for the ceremony were Danny Osborne, Frank Osborne III, both brothers of the bride, and Amii Oberio of Pakistan.

Patricia Osborne, sister of the bride, sang "Always" "More" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Harold Quarels at the organ. Miss Osborne was attired in a gown of pastel yellow qiana fashioned after the bride's.

The bride designed her gown of candlelight qiana nylon, styled with an empire bodice and accented by a capelet of polyester chiffon. She wore a picture hat to match her dress and carried a cascade of yellow roses, stephanotis and glamelias accented with springerie.

Following tradition, the bride wore a diamond pendant belonging to her paternal grandmother for something old, she also carried a white linen and lace handerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother. She carried a white Bible borrowed from her sister; wore a blue garter worn by her mother; and her gown was something new. Pennies were worn in the bride's shoe, minted in the years of the couple's birth.

A reception followed the ceremony, held in the Ramada Room of the Ramada Inn. The houseparty consisted of Kay Obera of Arlington, Nancy Weir of Austin, Ann Deeds of San Antonio, and Grace Upham of West Columbia. Danny Osborne and Heather Deeds passed out yellow rice bags from decorated white baskets.

The bride is employed with Adobe Oil and Gas Corp. and the groom is managing editor for Drill Bit Magazine, Midland. He is a graduate of Pasadena College, Pasadena, Calif. and the bride is a graduate of Angelo State University. After the wedding trip to South Texas and Mexico, the couple will reside at 3211 Delano.

Out of town guests were from San Antonio, Snyder, Pecos, Brady, San Angelo, West Columbia, Dallas and Arlington.

Practically every pair in the Olympiad bid the heart slam. Not that they indulged in such simple bidding as we show in the box. Still, they all got to the 20 per cent slam. All but two players made it by the simple expedient of taking the heart finesse, then laying down the ace of hearts and dropping the king and jack together.

Both players who failed to make the slam were tripped up by the nine of hearts. One man led the 10 of hearts from dummy and East covered with the king. West disdained a false card and dropped the nine. Now the unfortunate declarer decided that East had been dealt king-jack-six. He returned to dummy, led a heart, finessed the eight and lost to West's jack.

The other declarer went down because Benito Garrozzo of Italy opened that nine of hearts. Again East's king fell to South's ace. Again declarer went to dummy to finesse against that jack and again the jack showed up in the West hand to defeat the slam.

An Illinois reader wants to know the difference between a safety play and a perfect safety play.

A safety play is designed to give declarer the best chance to win a desired number of tricks. A perfect safety play is one that is sure to succeed against any and all card combinations.

HEALTH TIP
from DEAN

What about menopause? One woman says, "I've been healthier and in much better spirits since the 'change of life'. I've been relieved of a lot of aches and pains." Another said, "I feel like a teen-ager again. I can remember my mother saying that after her menopause she really got her vigor. I can say the same—I'm never tired now." Ladies—the menopause period should be viewed more hopefully with these encouraging views.

Cooper, Williamson Wed

MR. AND MRS. DAVID TERRELL WILLIAMSON
(Photo by Craft)

Brenda Joyce Cooper and David Terrell Williamson exchanged vows April 23 at 7 p.m. in the Christian Student Center at Western Texas College.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Glover of Snyder and Mr. Donald Cooper of Baker, Ore. Williamson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K.T. Williamson of Sweetwater.

Rev. Ben. W. Warton officiated the double ring ceremony. The bride's brother, Jerry Donald Cooper of Ft. Meade, Md., attired in his Navy dress uniform escorted the bride to the altar.

The bride wore a gown which featured a princess silhouette front and full gathered panels in back, softly cascading into a chapel train. White organza over bridal satin featured a scooped neckline edged with tiny white embroidered pearl leaves. The smooth, long princess lines of the front featured an overlay of narrow scalloped lace. Matching lace held the top of the full deep ruffled flounce that encircled the skirt, wide matching lace edged the flounce. Full Bishop sleeves of organza were held tight at her wrists by a wide cuff of satin overlayed with organza and lace. A tie belt formed a bow at the back waist. A lace capulet held her double bouffant veil of illusion drifting beyond her chapel train.

In keeping with tradition the bride wore for something old a single drop necklace which she borrowed from her mother. Something new was her gown, and she wore a blue garter.

A cascade of white carnations with yellow rose buds, baby's breath and English ivy was carried by the bride.

Karen Potter was maid of honor wearing a yellow crepe gown and carried a nosegay of yellow carnations. Cathy Williamson of Sweetwater, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid. She was attired in a yellow printed crepe fashioned like the maid of honor.

Serving as flower girl was Jennifer Cooper, niece of the bride, wearing a white dotted swiss, princess style trimmed with yellow and white lace and she carried a white basket containing yellow rose petals.

Terry Hendley of Rotan was best man, Dan Dennis of Sweetwater, was groomsman. Seating guests were Ricky Hopper, cousin of the groom and Jean Green of Sweetwater.

The church was decorated with a 15 branch arched candelabrum with a 7 branch candelabrum on each side entwined with greenery. A unity candle was held by a tall brass candelabra atop a small marble top table.

A song was especially written and sung for the bride and groom by Jerry Rainwater. Mrs. M.W. Pilcher played the traditional wedding music.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Appointments of silver and crystal were used to serve the three tiered cake with yellow roses topped with white doves and wedding bells. The groom's cake was German chocolate. Attending were Mary Purswell and Jane Lawler with Sherrie Hendley presiding at the registery.

Mother of the bride wore a long dress of shades of beige and yellow print. The V necked gown of soft crepe featured an empire waist with 2 cord tie belts of matching chiffon, handkerchief sleeves of elbow length complimented by beige accessories. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

The groom's mother wore a white and blue gown with blue floral lace trimming the ruffled tiered skirt and fitted bodice featuring a square neckline. Complimenting her ensemble were blue accessories and corsage of blue carnations.

The bride chose for the short wedding trip to Abilene a blue printed halter dress with a cape forming the back and sleeves. Her corsage was yellow rose buds.

The groom is employed with American Magnesium and the couple will reside in Snyder. The bride is employed at Cogdell Hospital.

Out of town guest were from Maryland, Oklahoma, Odessa, Sweetwater, Rotan, Hermleigh and Roscoe.

Rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. K.T. Williamson at WTC-CSC Friday, April 22.

'Mom' Includes Your In-Law

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y.News Synd. Inc

DEAR READERS: Over the years I have had a recurring problem in my mail.

It may strike you as being rather petty, but it is of sufficient importance to have cropped up regularly. And oddly enough it's a universal problem, found in letters from Ireland, Italy, South America and the Middle East!

Because it concerns "Mother," I've selected this letter to publish on the weekend of Mother's Day:

DEAR ABBY: I am a newly married person and I don't know what to call my mother-in-law.

I can't address her as "Mrs. Smith" as I did before I was married. And addressing her as "Molly" would seem presumptious and lacking in respect.

She has asked me to call her "Mother," but my own mother is still living, and I would have great difficulty calling anyone except my own mother "Mother."

Can you help me?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: I think I can provide a solution to your problem, and to all others who share it, by publishing a letter from a reader who wrote to me some time ago:

DEAR ABBY: I would like to help all young marrieds who find it difficult to address their mothers-in-law as "Mother."

When I made my first visit to the doctor's office after the birth of my first child, the nurse motioned to me and said, "Mother, you are next."

I knew she wasn't addressing me as HER mother.

Suddenly I realized that she addressed all of us with children as "Mother."

Immediately my vision was broadened, and I came to understand that "Mother" applied to all women with children. That was the moment I was lifted out of the narrow rut of thinking that the title belonged only to my own mother.

I soon put this knowledge to practice. When I wanted to attract the attention of friends, neighbors or even strangers, I would say, "Mother, watch your little one!"

You'd be surprised how quickly they reacted, having been reminded that they were mothers. The title is rightly theirs, and it never interfered with the special meaning it held for my own dear mother.

If we would all use the term freely, the next generation would learn from our example and thus alleviate a sticky problem.

BIRMINGHAM

DEAR ABBY: What is the significance of wearing a single carnation on Mother's Day?

MIMI

DEAR MIMI: A red carnation is worn to signify that one's mother is living. And a white carnation signifies that one's mother is deceased.

There should also be an identifying flower worn by those who mothers chose motherhood by raising a foster child, adopting a child or raising a stepchild.

And a special place in heaven awaits those mothers who chose an "imperfect" child, knowing that physically or mentally handicapped children require not only special needs, but also a superabundance of love, understanding and patience.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

North Sea Oil May Free Britain From Restraints

HOUSTON (AP)- Dr. J. Dickson Mabon says North Sea oil offers Great Britain the means of freeing itself from its historical restraints.

Mabon, the British minister of state for energy, visualizes the United Kingdom attaining oil self-sufficiency within four years.

"We have arrived as an oil producer," Mabon said while in Houston for the ninth Offshore Technology Conference.

Mabon told oilmen and newsmen the buildup in the North Sea oil production already has caused considerable improvement in Britain's balance of payments problem.

"We can't lose," he said. Britain, he said, has long been regarded even by friends as the sick man of Europe.

"For many years we have faced economic difficulties stemming from our role as an international reserve banker, from the effects of divesting ourselves of a huge empire, from the aftermath of the last war, and from the large scale imports of raw materials on which, as a small island, we must rely," he said.

"North Sea oil offers the means of freeing ourselves from these historical restraints. This year our trading balance should break even and in 1978 we should be well into the black."

Mabon placed current production from seven fields in the British sector at 750,000 barrels a day, well over one-third of domestic demand. He added that production has increased by more than 50 per cent in the past four months.

"Two more oil fields should come onstream later this year together with the Frigg Gas Field," he said.

"By the end of 1977, barring acciddents, we should be producing at a rate equivalent to at least half of the United Kingdom demand the rapid buildup will continue next year."

This means, he added, production of 2,000,000 barrels a day or self-sufficiency is well within Britain's reach in the calendar year 1980.

Mabon said the United Kingdom recognizes very clearly its offshore oil will not last forever.

"It must be seen as fitting into an energy supply pattern changing over the decades and we have a plan now for the day when North Sea oil runs out," he said.

Mabon said Britain, therefore, is not putting all its hopes for the future on oil developments.

"The present estimated level of reserves should see us well into the 1990s and, perhaps, into the next century," he said.

"It is at that point that we will need to have so developed our coal nuclear industries that we can bridge what would otherwise be a quickly widening energy gap."

By then, Mabon said, the United Kingdom hopes to have secured a modest but significant contribution from renewable energy sources like the waves and the sun.

"All of this, of course, applies in lesser or greater degrees to every other Western industrial nation, to a larger degree in most cases since the United Kingdom is about the only such nation which will actually attain energy self-sufficiency in the 1980s," he said.

Mabon said Britain already has a very ambitious plan for expansion of its coal industry.

New Shale Processes Tested

CLEVELAND (AP)- McDowell-Wellman Engineering Co., of Cleveland has unveiled a process which it says offers a better method of extracting oil from shale rock than other processes now being tested.

The firm said Friday the process has been tested for two years in a pilot plant here.

Roger L. Hulette, president of McDowell-Wellman, said the process now is ready for the next step-"putting up a prototype plant at a shale mine."

Geologists have reported that there are vast deposits of oil-bearing shale in Western states.

Hulette said his firm's process will be economically feasible sooner than other shale oil recovery systems being tested because it permits recovery of two other minerals as well as the oil. One of these minerals is nahcolite-bicarbonzte of soda-and the other is dawsonite, Hulette said. Dawsonite was described as a mineral which has value in the extraction of alumina.

Seattle Trades D'Errico For Future Deal

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Sounders of the North American Soccer League traded defender-midfielder Dave D'Errico to the Minnesota Kicks Friday for future considerations.

D'Errico, an American adn the Sounders' No. 1 draft choice in 1974, had been unhappy with his contract in Seattle. He had not signed this year, although be still was under Seattle's control because of the option clause.

D'Errico went to Minnesota last week on a "look and see" basis. He suffered a broken leg in February and has yet to play in a game this year.

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW...

Brought to you by Danny Lunsford

Did you know that a man can be the winning pitcher in a baseball game even though he never threw a pitch to a batter!...How is this possible?...This actually happened once in a minor league game...A relief hurler came into the game with two out in the top of the 9th...Before throwing a pitch to the plate, he picked the runner off first base retiring the side...Then, his team scored the winning run in the last of the 9th, and so he was the winning pitcher.

One of the oddest things that ever happened in a major golf tournament happened to pro golfer Tony Jacklin...He was playing in a tournament some years ago and hit a 300-yard long shot that landed right in a spectator's pocket—without any injury to the spectator!

Did you ever wonder what was the smallest crowd ever to see a major league baseball game?... The record low was set back in 1881 in a National League game at Chicago...Official paid attendance at the game—12.

I bet you didn't know...That our pre-summer sale was a great success and that our sale will continue through Wednesday.

AUDIO-VISUAL AID—Dr. Joe Reaves, who will be teaching sociology and psychology in summer classes at the WTC extension center in Sweetwater, is shown with an opaque projector. This is one of the visual aids Reaves uses to supplement lectures in the classroom.

WTC Courses At Sweetwater Set

Snyderites may be interested in spending one evening a week taking college courses at the Sweetwater extension center of Western Texas College this summer.

Dr. Joe Reaves invites prospective students to consider the two courses he will be teaching, General Psychology 231 and Introduction to Sociology 231. Students may take one or both of these classes, both scheduled to meet on Wednesday nights, and may earn six hours of credit by meeting class only one night per week.

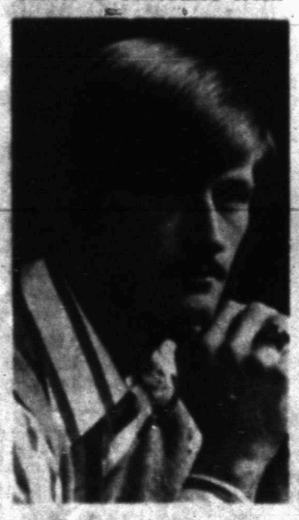

Psychology will meet from 6-8 p.m., and will be followed immediately by sociology from 8-10 p.m. The balance of course work will be done by students at home using cassette tapes, printed handouts and textbooks.

Both psychology and sociology are required for many majors, including education, law enforcement and nursing.

The evening format should be ideal for students home for the summer from other colleges as well as for working people who cannot attend day classes, Reaves commented. "We strive to make the courses both interesting and informative," Reaves added.

Registration at the Sweetwater extension center is scheduled from 6:30-8:30 p.m. on May 25 in the Sweetwater High School cafeteria. Snyder students may register in the office of the registrar at WTC. Classes at Sweetwater will begin on May 26 and end on July 20.

Other courses to be offered at the Sweetwater center are Anthropology 232, English 231, World Geography 221, U.S. History 131, and U.S. History 132.

Water Deliveries Increase In April

A resurgence of oil company and industrial demands pushed water deliveries ahead for the Colorado River Municipal Water District in April and for the year.

Deliveries in April amounted to 1,582,469,000 gallons, an increase of about 110 million gallons or 7.46 per cent up. Municipal deliveries in April, reflecting a cool and late-month wet season, totalled 1,001,000,000 gallons, down some 12 million gallons from April a year ago, or off 1.17 per cent. Through the first four months municipal deliveries stood at 13,449,744,000 gallons, down 2.20 per cent.

Offsetting the smaller municipal total was the gain in oil and industrial use, which amounted to 580,699,000 gallons in April, up 132 million gallons or 26.52 per cent. Through the first four months, these deliveries stood at 2,207,551,000 gallons, up 107 million gallons, or 5.11 per cent.

In the first four months of 1977, the district delivered 5,657,296,000 gallons, or 30 million than for the same period in 1976, a gain of .53 of one per cent.

The big gainers in oil and industrial consumers were TESCO for its Ward County plant, which was up 63 million gallons, and the SACROC unit which increased 54 million gallons. Exxon, Sharon Ridge and Chevron-Arco were up about six million each.

Among the cities, Odessa used 393,922,000 gallons in April, down 7.97 per cent; Big Spring 228,859,000, up 3.30 per cent; Snyder 66,534,000 gallons, down .52 of a per cent; Stanton 5,698,000 gallons, down 37.17 per cent; Midland 306,757,000 gallons, up 6.22 per cent. Neither San Angelo nor Robert Lee required any deliveries in April.

Why potassium?

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Of late I have been hearing about potassium. Different people are getting tests for potassium in their systems so it comes from more than one doctor's orders. My dictionary lists 10 different kinds of potassium but not one pertaining to the body. One person is extremely tired and potassium is a help. Another has had headaches and takes potassium by eating bananas. What do we need potassium for? Where do we find it in our foods? How much do we need? Is too much dangerous? Is this a new theory?

DEAR READER — There is only one kind of potassium. It is one of the basic chemical elements, as are sodium, oxygen, hydrogen, iron and others. You have probably looked at a list of potassium salts. When an element such as sodium combines with another element such as chlorine it forms a salt — in this case sodium chloride, ordinary table salt. Potassium belongs to the same family of elements as sodium and it unites with chlorine to form potassium chloride — also a salt. It may also combine with other elements to form other potassium salts.

Whereas sodium chloride is abundant outside the cells, in your blood in body fluids, potassium salts are abundant inside the cells. The potassium phosphate salts are a vital part of the basic metabolic machinery inside your cells. Your cells cannot function properly without adequate amounts of potassium salts. Decreased amounts of potassium can lead to weakness. It is important inside the cells making up the muscle fibers of the heart. A low level may lead to irregularities of the heart.

Too much potassium affects the cells that control the heartbeat. This may cause the heart to slow and even stop. Surgeons use potassium to stop the heart when doing open heart surgery.

Your kidneys normally eliminate any excess potassium your body does not need. That is why you can eat foods rich in potassium and never worry about it. If the kidneys are diseased and unable to eliminate potassium it can build up in the body and become dangerous.

No, potassium is not a new theory. We have known about it for a long time, and its essential role in normal body function. But we have learned a lot more about it in recent years.

Your best food sources for potassium are fruits and fruit juices. That is why the one person you mentioned was advised to eat bananas. Orange juice is an excellent source but all the fruits and fruit juices are good for potassium. A diet rich in fruits and fruit juices will provide an abundance of potassium without danger to the individual.

We see a lot more cases now of people having a low potassium level because of new medicines. Most of the medicine used to eliminate body water — the so-called water pills — will cause the kidneys to flush out sodium and also potassium. These medicines are commonly used for people who have high blood pressure, heart disease or fluid retention for any reason. As a result the more "water pills" prescribed the greater is the need to emphasize the importance of a diet that provides an adequate amount of potassium.

Joe Was a Good Fellow

Joe provided well for his family. He was a good father and husband. He paid his debts and gave to charity. He was fair in his business dealings. He was a good citizen. He left his family with a comfortable income and a good [illegible]

There were many flo[illegible] lots of friends. The preacher made a [illegible]k about Joe's good qualities, but he didn't [illegible] much to say about Joe's hereafter. You see, Joe was not a Christian. Religion was "for little children, or perhaps women," but not for him. So Joe ign[illegible] his life; he didn't [illegible]y his will, he didn't talk to [illegible] he made no effort to become a Christian, or to worship and serve as a Christian should. If there was a hereafter, he trusted his own goodness to carry him through.

He had no promise that it would. He just figured it out that way.

But Joe was guilty of sin, even as you and I. There were some things that he did when he was younger that he didn't like to think about, and he had tried to avoid those mistakes since then. But those sins were committed and they injured others and himself, and the sins and the injuries still stand on Joe's record.

He was much like Cornelius [illegible] who in some respects was better than Joe (Acts 10:1, 2). But the goodness of Cornelius was not enough to save him. He, too, had to hear words whereby he and his house could be saved (Acts 11:14). Neither Joe nor Cornelius could be saved without Christ, for Jesus himself said, "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).

Joe could have put his faith in Christ for the remission of sins (Acts 2:38). He could have been baptized by the Son of God who gave his life for that very purpose, to forgive sins and blot out sins of those who obey him, the sins that he had committed. But he didn't. He just [illegible]ed on his own,* and now he has gone [illegible] Maker, the one he ignored all [illegible] provided for him most everything [illegible] thing.

Now it is all over for Joe. But all the [illegible] were other Joes and Harrys and Bates and Sues and Marthas and Janes just like him who some day will attend their own funerals. Will they be ready? It all depends on what they do about it now. "And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16).

"O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jeremiah 10:23).

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Proverbs 14:12).
