

Sister of Pampan Forced to Accompany Pair on Nighmarish Foray of Death

The sister of a Pampan yesterday told Phoenix, Ariz., peace officers how she was forced by two ex-convicts to join them in a nightmarish foray of death and violence through California and Arizona.

Miss Florence Margaret Chisholm, 31, said she escaped from a car driven by Bill Ray Gilbert, 28, who, with George Schmid, 22, is being hunted for robbery and killing of three persons near Needles, Calif.

Search for the men is centering in the Phoenix area, after Miss Chisholm, escaped from them in nearby Scottsdale late Friday night.

Miss Chisholm, who had been missing since Tuesday from the riding stable which she managed, told Deputy Sheriff Al Frederick at Phoenix yesterday that the men split up before she got out of her car driven by Gilbert.

Miss Chisholm is the sister of John Chisholm, Cabot employee.

57 Ready to Assist With Drive Here

Mrs. Raymond Harrah, who is serving as dinner chairman for the Pampan Concert Association's workers' dinner, reports that 57 reservations have already been made.

The annual banquet, which will be held at 7 p. m. tomorrow in the Palm Room of the City Hall, will honor the large corps of workers who will conduct the annual membership campaign of the Community Concert Association. The drive will begin Tuesday and close Saturday. No memberships will be accepted for the 1949-50 concert series after the closing hour Sunday. The High School Boys Quartet will provide musical entertainment following the banquet.

Assisting Mrs. Harrah with the preparations of the dinner are Mrs. J. W. Gorman, Jr., Mrs. A. Schuneman and Mrs. Mel B. Davis. Mrs. Harrah's assistants will have charge of the table arrangements. Girls Scouts of Troop 8 will assist by serving the dinner.

Donovan C. Witham, representative of the Community Concert Service of Columbia Artists' Management, will be present at the dinner to help launch the week's activities. Witham will be in Pampan throughout the week to assist with the campaign and meet with the directors and officers of the Pampan association to select artists for next season.

Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, president of the local association, will preside during the banquet and will introduce Ed Weiss, Jr., who will be the principal speaker of the evening.

It is hoped that all workers will attend tomorrow's banquet since the supplies will be handed to them and explained during the banquet. Dr. Nelson said.

Gas Hearing Called Off

Jim McClintock, in charge of the Panhandle Texas Railroad Commission office here, yesterday announced he had been informed by the Austin office that the gas allocation hearing to be held at Amarillo March 4 had been called off.

The action was necessary, it was said, due to the fact that those interested in attending the hearing were not able to get hotel accommodations in Amarillo because of the stock show.

No date has been set for the hearing, it was stated, but is expected to be some time in April.

The Panhandle gas field is involved. Counties in that field are Carson, Gray, Hartley, Hutchinson, Moore and Potter.

The sweet and sour gas production areas of the field were consolidated by an order issued Sept. 24, when the common gas allocation formula was adopted. An amended order was issued Jan. 10.

The hearing was set to give interested persons an opportunity to point out any errors, inequities or hardships occasioned by the order, the commission said at Austin.

War Dead Sent Back for Burial

The body of Pvt. Alfred J. Aubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Aubert of Skellytown, is being returned to the United States for permanent burial at a temporary military cemetery overseas.

Aubert, who was born June 1, 1926, at Grimes, Okla., graduated from the White Deer High School in 1945, and worked for the Shell Oil Company until he entered the service on July 30, 1944.

A member of Co. A, 321st Engineer Battalion, 96th Infantry Division, he played with the division orchestra while taking basic training at Fort Sam Houston.

He was sent overseas in February, 1945, and was killed in action on May 31, 1945, on Okinawa, the day before his 20th birthday.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by one brother, W. L. Aubert, Jr., of Skellytown, and by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Aubert of Grimes, Okla., and S. A. Ward of Sayre, Okla.

Funeral services, to be conducted by the Doenges-Cornelius Funeral Home, will be announced when the body arrives.

It's Time for Those Tests—

Yep, it's that time again.

High School students will be facing those six-week tests about Tuesday through Thursday, Frank Wilson, principal, said yesterday. Yes, the four six-week period is about to be no more. Tuesday, tests will be given in the social studies, science and fine arts. Wednesday will be devoted to language arts and commercial arts and Thursday, mathematics and practical arts.

Then the fatal day will arrive about a week from Wednesday when the students will be given their report cards from their home rooms, Wilson added.

Number One Defendant Says 'Guilty'

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—(AP)—The Rev. Vasil Ziapkov, chief defendant in the spy trial of 15 Protestant clergymen, pleaded guilty yesterday and called himself a rotten tool of British-American capitalism.

He launched into a four-hour talk tearful and sobbing.

Two other ministers who preceded him to the witness stand in the Sofia District Court also had confessed and similarly denounced themselves as guilty of treason, espionage and illegal currency dealings.

Ziapkov said he had studied in both the United States and Britain and that this was the cause of his downfall.

"My foreign education abroad killed me out of Bulgaria and transplanted me on foreign soil," he wept. "I repent strongly."

"I repent completely that we pastors became tools of the enemy who was bribing us with money and education, that we pastors became tools of an enemy who wanted to organize disorder and disunion in Bulgaria."

"We became tools of American capitalism, to that strong and dangerous enemy who was bribing us with money and education in order to profit out of us."

Ziapkov is a 48-year-old Congregationalist who was a member of the (See NUMBER, Page 2)

Blackburn-Shaw of Amarillo Buys Out Clegg Funeral Home

The Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home, Amarillo, this week will take possession of the Clegg Funeral Home, 102 W. Browning, E. M. Blackburn, Jr., manager of the firm, said yesterday afternoon.

Blackburn said they had purchased the funeral home and all the equipment from Clegg's and final completion of the sale was in progress over the weekend.

Robert Sims, head embalmer and funeral director for the company at Amarillo, will be the Pampan manager. Sims, now a partner in the firm, has been with Blackburn-Shaw in Amarillo since 1936.

In Pampan, the firm will be known as the Blackburn-Shaw-Sims Funeral Home. The same firm also operates in Borger under the name of Blackburn-Shaw-Brown, and also in Dalhart.

Blackburn added that all new equipment is to be installed and a new Cadillac hearse-ambulance was expected to be delivered shortly. Another and smaller hearse-ambulance will be added later. Until the new hearse-ambulance arrives the new firm will use Clegg's Packard and Plymouth.

Sims is expected to arrive in Pampan sometime Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, Blackburn said, after he returns from a buying trip to Dallas.

The remainder of the staff was not announced Saturday, but will be when the change in management goes into actual effect this week.

Duplicate prizes were awarded the first six winners in both light and heavy classes. They were $25 for first, $20 for second, $15 for third, $10 for fourth, and $5 each for fifth and sixth places.

Following are the results of the sale, with seller, buyer, weight and per pound price listed in that order: Roy Flowers, Reid Chevrolet & Nolen Hardware, 720 pounds, 40 cents; Johnny Morris, Fair Store & Canadian Motor Co., 750 pounds, 39 1/2 cents; William Wilmoth, Best Way Store, 750 pounds, 38 1/2 cents; Roy Flowers, Studer's Market, 840 pounds, 34 1/2 cents; Billy Dutcher, C. Italy Told It Is Duty-Bound to Help Reds Against Aggressors

Anti-Russian Party Will Hold Parley

ROME.—(AP)—Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti asserted yesterday it would be Italy's duty to help any Russian army which might pursue "an aggressor" onto the soil of Italy.

The statement, made in a published interview with the rightist newspaper Giornale Della Sera, did not say what form Togliatti believed the aid should take.

It came at a time when the country, alerted against possible disorders in Communist-sponsored demonstrations scheduled for today, was threatened with a cabinet crisis. Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat submitted his resignation from the cabinet, and announced his anti-Communist Labor Socialist Party would consider whether to continue to support the government.

The said he was withdrawing because of a dispute in the party not because of any trouble with the Premier Alcide De Gasperi. The Premier indicated he would reject the resignation.

The Carabinieri, in sweeping raids, seized his stores of arms and munitions in the Naples area. They arrested 100 persons. The government charged that much of the contraband was owned by Communists.

Togliatti, Cominform-trained leader of Italy's 2,000,000 Communists, went farther in his statement than last Tuesday's declaration by the French Communist leader, Maurice Thorez.

Thorez said French Communists would welcome Russian troops if they ever had to pursue an enemy into France. French and Italian Communists have shared aims, particularly opposition to the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan). Together they number about 5,000,000.

The French Chamber of Deputies Thursday night formally censured the Communist leadership in France as a result of Thorez's words. The government there also started legal action against some Communists as a result.

Giornale Della Sera published Togliatti's views in question-and-answer form on the eve of scheduled nationwide demonstrations Sunday by the Communist-led war-time partisan underground fighters.

Togliatti, replying to questions, said he knew of no plans by (See RUSSIANS, Page 2)

Two Charged With Forgery

Charges of forgery and passing forged checks were filed Friday by District Attorney Tom Braly against Travis D. Jackson, 20, of 704 Brunswick and W. A. Lowrance, 21, who told officers he was from Savre, Okla.

Bond was set at $2,500 on each man by Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry Saturday morning.

They were picked up Thursday afternoon by Capt. E. G. Albers and Patrolman S. B. "Pat" Patterson.

The men were charged with forging and passing at least two checks on Carl Lutten, local trucking operator. One of the checks was for $25 and was cashed at Ideal Grocery No. 2 and the other for $15.75 cashed at a "Mac's Apt." Another check, officers said, was cashed at the Mitchell Grocery and another one at McCarty's in Borger.

Officers said yesterday morning they were still investigating the case because of other developments coming up. They declined to say what the developments were.

Neither of the men had made bond by Saturday afternoon and were still in the County Jail. Jackson celebrated his 20th birthday yesterday behind bars.

His wife was on her way from the LaNora Theater to the Rex Theater when police picked him up at 3:30 p. m. Lowrance was in the Empire Cafe when he was nabbed at 7 p. m. Thursday.

Breakfast Is First of VFW Events

The first thing on the program for the Veterans of Foreign Wars attending the Ninth District, VFW, banquet is breakfast here today, at breakfast from 8 to 9 a. m. at the Court House Cafe.

Registration for late comers will be held at the VFW-Amarillo Legion Hall from 9 to 10 a. m. By press time last night, approximately 100 veterans and their families were expected to be here today.

The district had registered for the meetings of the Loyd Order of the Cooties and Cooties and for the dance at the VFW hall last night.

The Cooties and Cooties held closed meetings at the Schneider Hotel yesterday afternoon. These groups are charitable and benevolent organizations within the VFW that carry on extensive programs of aid to disabled and indigent veterans and their families.

Two closed business meetings are scheduled for 10 a. m. today. O. C. Watson of Perryton, district commander, will preside over a meeting of the VFW in the hall, and the auxiliary will meet at the Holy Souls Parish Hall, 500 N. Ward.

The regular district business meeting will be held at the hall at 11:30.

Col. Selden Simpson of Amarillo, National Guard commander for this area, will be the principal speaker at the banquet at 1 p. m. today that will wind up the organization's two-day convention.

Woman Injured In Auto Wreck

Mrs. D. Frank Barton, Mobeetie, was hospitalized Saturday morning from injuries she received when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck on Alcock.

The Bartons' coupe, driven by Mr. Barton, sustained a damaged front end and door. There was no report on damage to the truck, driven by T. W. Phipps, Kansas.

Other details of the wreck were meager by Saturday night. Capt. E. G. Albers said that Patrolmen H. B. Morgan and J. R. Manning, who were investigating, were waiting the outcome of Mrs. Barton's condition before completing the report.

Physicians at Worley Hospital said Mrs. Barton didn't appear too seriously injured, but the full extent of her injuries would not be determined until X-ray plates were read.

Republicans Say Congress May Be Another 'Do Nothing'

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Needled by Republicans who say the 81st Congress may be known as a "do nothing" Congress, Democratic leaders yesterday invited a comparison with the record of the last session.

"It will show," House Democratic Leader McCormack said, "that we are moving faster than the Republican-controlled 80th Congress moved."

Concluding the second month of activity, McCormack said, the 81st Congress has enacted eight laws, or twice as many as the record shows were enacted during the corresponding period in the 80th Congress.

The really important measures—foreign aid, labor legislation, social security revisions, rent controls, housing and so on—remain to be acted upon by this Congress. Some of them, however, are about to emerge from committee and start through the House and the Senate.

The fat of President Truman's program appears to rest in a great degree than usual with the Senate. The political division there is not close—54 Democrats to 42 Republicans. But there is a sharp cleavage among the Democrats, caused by the President's insistence on his "civil rights" program involving anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-discrimination laws which the Southern Senators find distasteful.

This sore spot is being irritated further by the administration's effort to change the Senate debate rules, so that two-thirds of the senators could cut short the debate on any matter at any time. The aim is to stop the filibustering, the limitless debate used by minority groups in the Senate to prevent action on legislation they oppose.

The Southerners—more than a third of the Democratic members—are convinced the rules change is being pushed in order to rush through the "civil rights" bills. They don't like the idea of pushing too far or handled too roughly they might rebel against other important items on Mr. Truman's list of legislative requests. Republicans in general would welcome their help.

The fight over the filibuster is set to break Monday. To beat the proposed new rule, the Southern say they are ready to talk until their voices give out.

The Senate Labor Committee is their help.

Lefors Faculty To Take the Test

Lefors School faculty members will have an opportunity tomorrow night to prove teachers can do other things besides giving book learning.

When the members of the faculty put on their basketball regalia and appear in the Lefors High School Gymnasium—something is bound to happen.

At 8 p. m. tomorrow the fun will start. The Lefors All Stars have challenged the teachers to a fast moving conkey basketball game. The proceeds above expenses will go to the Lefors softball league.

Children born on or before Sept. 1, 1943 or after Sept. 1, 1931 are eligible to be enumerated. The school district will appreciate parents' cooperation with the enumerators during their canvassing of Pampan.

When these enumerators arrive at the various Pampan homes, they will ask such questions as where and when the children were born and various other pertinent questions about the youths.

Mrs. Lillian Blyth, census trustee, will have charge of the workers.

"Any parent knowingly discovering an enumerator has been at his home when he was out, should phone Mrs. Blyth at 543 and give her the information on his child," Kinard said.

The enumerators will work the homes in Pampan all during the month of March between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

CAFERETTES—Above is the dance team of TSCN, Denton, scheduled for appearance here with the Lions Club Cotton Town Jubilee, March 17-18. The Caferettes were brought back with the show this year by popular demand, a Lions spokesman said.

Caperettes to Dance Again at Minstrel

By popular demand, the Caperettes of Texas State College for Women, Denton, will appear again this year in the Lions Club annual local talent performance, this time entitled Cotton Town Jubilee. The show will be Mar. 17-18.

This will be the 18th year of performance, although not consecutively produced. The Caperettes will be about 60 members of the cast, Clarence Kennedy, business manager, said.

The show is being produced by E. O. Wedgworth. Reserve seats, it was said, will go on sale Mar. 2, at Berry's for the Senior High School Auditorium two-night showing.

End-men for the all-blackface feature are Bunny Schultz, Harry Kelley, Jimmie McCune, Phil Harvey, Dr. Calvin Jones, and Rudy Burquist.

Monday night rehearsal of the show, it was announced yesterday, has been changed from the regular meeting place, the Pampa Room, to the Junior High Auditorium. Practice will begin at 7:30.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Alan Ladd, back at work after a European jaunt and an illness, will stick to action in his movie career.

Illness, Lack Of Care Make Life Shorter

Thanks to geriatrics—that branch of medicine concerned with the body's aging process—you now have an excellent chance of enjoying a healthy and vigorous life in your 70s and 80s, say Francis and Katharine Drake, in The Reader's Digest for March. How young you will be at 70 depends largely on how well your health is preserved between 40 and 60. Though the human body can live 100 years without wearing out in any vital part, it seldom does so because the illness and deficiencies of middle age are allowed to reach the acute stage before receiving the service.

The article contends that a vigorous three-score-and-ten depends on two things: regular health check-ups and the guidance of an experienced geriatrician. The physical condition of most Americans passing 60 shows the need of regular examination. Twenty-eight percent are far overweight; the majority have one to eight diseases or deficiencies; three out of four lack minimum requirements of calcium, protein, iron or vitamins. By contrast, the records of those who have had regular health check-ups and subsequent geriatric supervision are outstanding. In a pioneer geriatric clinic in Rhode Island, less than one percent of patients have needed hospitalization in the past 10 years. In a Connecticut city, over a five-year period, deaths among medically supervised employees were 44 percent fewer than among those who

France Finds That Reds Owe Allegiance First to Russia

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The grave clash between the Paris government and the country's powerful Communist Party has brought France again up against the fact that all Communists, irrespective of birth, regard themselves as owing allegiance first to Russia.

This fresh drama can best be understood by taking the last act first, and then working back. A high government source in Paris said War Minister Ramadier was taking legal action against the Communist Party for allegedly inciting the army to revolt.

Ramadier's complaint was said to be based on statements made in posters and the Red daily, L'Humanité, during the miners' strike last autumn. The reported government action followed a speech in Parliament Tuesday by Maurice Thorez, Communist Party secretary general and one of the international communism's top leaders. Thorez repeated a statement that the French people should welcome the Red army if it ever reached France. The way the speech developed was this:

(1) Russia never would be an aggressor. (2) The French people might be led "in spite of their wish" into a war against Russia.

(3) Under such circumstances Russia, in her own defense, might have to "chase the enemy onto our soil." (4) In this case the French people probably would have no difficulty toward the Red army from the way the workers and people of Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia behaved when the Russians arrived.

The next day the French Communist Party formally declared that the French people "will never make war against the Soviet Union."

The National Assembly the following day voted condemnation of French Communist leaders for alleged treasonable statements, and expressed confidence in the government to punish them. During the debate Premier Henri Queuille threatened to take legal action against the Communist leaders for attempting to "undermine the morale of the nation and the army."

However, the assembly rejected a motion calling on the government to prosecute Thorez on specific charges of treason or incitement to treason.

Reds to Get 40 Books by Westerners

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Publishing House of Fine Literature will put out 40 books by Western authors in 1949.

These include the selected works of Mark Twain in two volumes. A collection of short stories and separate novels by Theodore Dreiser. The latest works of Sinclair Lewis. Other American writers also will be represented. The English classical writers will be represented by Dickens, Fielding, Smollett, Sterne and Goldwin.

The Indian writer Mulk Raj Anand "Coolie," is to be published in Russian this year. Chinese classical poetry will be published extensively.

According to A. Kotov, director of the State Publishing House for Fine Literature, a six-volume edition of Pushkin's complete works will be issued in 1949.

A prominent place in the publishing house's plans is occupied by Russian classical literature. About 25,000 titles are scheduled for this year.

"In spite of the huge book printing programs, which increase from year to year," says an announcement, "the market is still far from glutted. It is only a matter of hours for new books to be sold out in Soviet book stores. (Moscow alone has about 400 bookstores). Everywhere in the country the demand is greater than the supply."

The year's biggest editions are scheduled for the works of V. I. Lenin. The 40-volume edition of his collected works are to appear in 1949. The edition is a half million.

Bill Would Limit Commercial Fishers

AUSTIN — (AP) — A bill to reserve Texas shrimp for Texas fishermen was approved by the House Committee on Game and Fisheries.

The measure by Rep. Miller Walker of Beaumont would empower the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission to limit the number of licenses issued commercial fishing boats, and give priority to Texas boats.

Texas now has a law imposing a $2,500 annual license on out-of-state commercial craft. It also was designed to bar Louisiana boats from Texas Gulf Coast shrimp grounds. It is under attack in federal court and the House committee was told it may be held unconstitutional.

It was with reluctance that he made his announcement. He had spent the previous 24 hours checking with the district and city attorneys on possible legal action for stopping the operations.

Lubbock Moves On to Austin With 47-31 Win at Childress

Boydton Wins Rough Match

The hands of fate prepared a good match for wrestling fans at the Sportatorium Friday night. Balk Estes was injured and sent to the hospital as a result of being strangled in the ropes during a bout at Amarillo Thursday night, so he was replaced by Olan Boydton. This pitted Boydton against Karl Gray, a match for the supremacy of the title of "Roughest, Dirtiest Fighter in the Area."

And Boydton easily wins the title.

He took two straight falls from Gray. To do so he used a combination attack of choking, hair pulling, shugging and working on an injured, bandage wrapped knee of Gray's. It appeared that the week's rest Boydton received, because of blood poisoning in his right arm, was used to study tactics not in the book of rules.

The boys started the first fall with a big bear hug which turned into attempts to choke each other. Gray got a head hold and body slammed the two-hundred and some pound Boydton, landing the ring shake. Then Boydton managed to get a knee hold on that injured leg and a work it over. Karl finally broke the hold and tied Boydton through, in and around the ropes, much to the pleasure of the fans, who apparently were pleased to see the devil get his dues. A referee, Glen Detton, had finally gotten him untangled. Boydton once again got the knee hold, a hold which won the first fall in 23 minutes.

The second fall only went 13 minutes, but it was fast. Gray remained in the ring the entire second period, trying to get his injured knee back in shape. When the bell sounded starting the second fall, he got Boydton in a corner and worked him over. Olan retaliated with another knee hold. Detton broke the hold when he caught Boydton pulling on the bandage around Gray's knee. Then Olan grabbed a towel from his corner and attempted to choke Gray with it. The referee had to throw Boydton to make him break and then Gray took the towel and choked Boydton with it. Gray got a Boston crab hold, which Boydton broke, and then pinned Gray to win the match.

The preliminary event was a match between George Overhauls and the crafty Billy Hickson. The final verdict was a draw, each man winning one fall when the referee's strong and muscular Overhauls broke several of Hickson's ribs with sheer strength before Hickson got a strangle hold around Overhauls' face. In the process he constantly rubbed Overhauls' face until he had it bleeding. Hickson finally applied a knee lock to the initial fall in 17 minutes.

The second fall went to Overhauls after 14 minutes when he secured a bruising knee stomp and won over the hold that made Hickson give up, losing the match.

Next week's matches will feature, in the main event, Olan Boydton and Balk Estes, who would be out of the hospital this week. The preliminary match is between Billy Sandow and George Overhauls.

Have Little Trouble With Gaining Second Straight

Nine of 24 places in Texas' three state high school basketball tournaments were filled Saturday. Lubbock, Austin, and Bowie of El Paso moved into the Class AA state meet Friday night and Nocona and Lampasas gained the championship tournament in class A.

Regional tournaments yesterday selected the remaining six entries for Class A's big show and the eight Class B teams for this division's title tussle will be selected the same way.

Texarkana and Waco clashed at Tyler for the remaining berth in the Class AA meet.

Lubbock dusted off Childress, 47-31, to win a ticket to Austin next week.

Austin stomped Harlingen, 55-38, and Bowie downed Lamesa, 32-29, to advance.

The three state tournaments will be run off together at the University of Texas next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston schools will hold their own meet March 11-12.

The three winners Friday night won two straight in best of two out-of-three game series. Texas City and Brownwood advanced on byes.

Waco evened its series with Texarkana, 47-35.

Nocona squeezed past Birdville, 42-41, to win the region 3-A crown and Lampasas beat Giddings, 29-21, for the region 6-A title.

The Class A regional tournaments Saturday were 1-Canyon, 2-Brownwood, 4-Commerce, 5-Hillsboro, 7-Rosenberg, 8-Alice.

Class B meets 1-Lubbock, 2-Shamrock won in region 1-A.

Abilene: 3-Dallas; 4-Kilgore; 5-Huntsville; 6-San Marcos; 7-Kingsville; 8-Marfa.

Samnorwood handed Stratford its second loss in 36 games, 42-41, in overtime in the first round of the region 1-B tournament. Dawson of Welch lost its second in 29 games when it fell to Miami, 43-40.

Shallowater racked up its 39th victory in 43 games in this same region by thumping roaring Springs, 52-34.

In second round play, Samnorwood lost to Dimmitt, 35-32, but Shallowater kept going with a 57-47 decision over Ropesville.

O'Brien and Hermleigh showed strongly in region 2-B, so did Gustine and Pearl. Each won two rounds Friday.

Little Prairie Valley kept rolling toward the region 3-B title, knocking off Prairie Valley, 32-31, in one tilt.

Cayuga bounced classy East Mountain out of the region 4-B meet, 40-41. Maydelle also put in a strong claim for blue ribbon honors with a 49-40 decision over Pickett. Martins Mill is still in the running.

Big Sandy, China and Sweeny had little trouble advancing in regions-B, while Bertram, Waelder, Woodsboro and Aqua Dulce moved ahead in region 6-B.

Clint piled up the biggest score in first round 5-B games, beating Crane, 53-34.

Fort Stockton beat Colorado City, 37-30, and Coleman downed Hamilton, 37-29.

Alternately, Memphis, Sudan and Shamrock won in region 1-A.

Harvester Athletes Prepare For Track, Baseball, Golf

The spring sports program has started to take hold at the Pampa Senior High School, where the Harvester baseball and track teams are getting ready for this year's competition. The golf team has been practicing daily for the past week at the Country Club.

Prospects for baseball aren't too bright. The team took a beating through graduation last year. Lost in the entire infield, the leading pitcher and a hard hitting outfielder. Graduated from last season are Hernandez, Laf-Trop, Lane, Gambin, Nash and J. Cox. Parker, first baseman last season, is ineligible due to having been out of school. Somewhere, Coach Clinton McNeely will have to find replacements for these spots on the team.

Among the candidates who will vie for these positions are Davis, Hyatt, Thut, Wells, H. Cox, R. Cook, J. Cook, Nolan, Weathered, Howard, Coley and Musgrave. Those are just a few of the boys who will report when the first official call goes out for baseball candidates. There will be many others, including Freshmen, and no spot on the team is sewed up as yet. All positions are open to the boy who can take the spot away from all competitors.

The track picture is a bit brighter, but still not up to par with last season after the loss of Carl "Red" Mayes, speedster in the dashes. Many boys have been working out for the past two weeks in preparation for the opening meet, March 18, at the Fort Worth Stock Show and Track Meet.

Among the boys who have been working out are Wesley Klieh, Elmer Wilson, Jimmie Hayes, Jackie Williams, Harbord Cox, Eddie Marlow, Bob Hinkley, Marvin Harrel, Danny Roche, Richard King, Bud Leming, Max Robbins, Lon English, Leroy Troop, Tom Allison, Carl Kennedy, Pete Cooper, Lamar Lively and Carroll Smith. Derral Davis will report for work tomorrow after a week's respite from daily workouts in football and basketball since the opening day of school.

Coaches Tipps and Nooncaster are handling track.

The golf team, which has been practicing daily, is composed so far of Malcolm Douglass, Jimmy Howard, Ronnie Samples, Dick Oden, Mickey McCray and Rich Miller. The golfers will be under the tutelage of club professional Johnny Austin.

Now with good weather and a hot sun, these teams might be able to get into winning shape by the date of their first contest.

Vulcan's Forge Steals $100,000

ARCADIA, Calif. —(AP)—Vulcan's Forge oozed to victory Saturday in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Vulcan's Forge was the longest priced starter in the field of fifteen starters. Dinner Gong was second and Miss Grillo third.

Vulcan's Forge paid $2,400, $22,400 and $13,100. Dinner Gong, $5.50 and $4.10; Miss Grillo $6.80.

The time was 2:02 4-5 over a muddy track.

The 20-1 shot, owned by I. J. Collins of Lancaster, Ohio, fended off a determined assault by Miss Grillo and Dinner Gong in the stretch to become the second victor at high odds in a $100,000 Handicap at Santa Anita in as many weeks.

Old Rockport won the Derby at 33-1 odds last week.

It was a photo for second place, with Dinner Gong, the favorite at 3-1, nipping Miss Grillo.

HOUSTON —(AP)—Two surprise entries meet today in the 36-hole finals of the Houston Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament.

Junius Herbert, former Louisiana State University player, yesterday afternoon upset favored Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, 5 and 3, and Doug Ford, Larchmont, N. Y., eliminated Joe Ruby, San Antonio, 4 and 2.

Saturday Herbert fired a four-under par score on the 6,056-yard par 7 course.

Stranahan finished two over par.

Ford was two-up at the turn and won the match with a thirteenth for a four-hole lead. He lost the fourteenth but closed the match with a birdie on the fifteenth.

NEW YORK —(AP)—James Scholz, big West Point underclassman, bettered the world and American indoor record for the 35 pound weight at the ICAAAA track meet Saturday with a mighty throw of 60 feet 7 3-4 inches.

The accepted mark of 58 feet 7 1-2 inches made by Niles Perkins of Bowdoin, March 8, 1940.

CINCINNATI —(AP)—Ezzard Charles and Joey Maxim, two young men who aspire to exchange a few punches with Joe Louis, polished off their training chores Saturday for a Monday night bout that may send one of them against the heavyweight boxing champ.

Scheduled for 15 rounds, the bout is expected to draw a full house of 15,000 at the new Cincinnati Garden with a gross gate of around $75,000.

DAKOTA CITY, Neb. —(AP)—Jim Wilson, 16, complained to his high school basketball coach that his neck hurt and that he was short of breath.

An examination by a physician disclosed that Wilson had been playing football and basketball since last fall with a broken neck.

The injury dated back to a football game last September. Wilson resumed playing football and then participated in basketball until this week.

Jim will have his neck in a cast for two months.

DALLAS —(AP)—The Southwest's representative in the regional NCAA Basketball Tournament at Kansas City will be selected by a district committee. Normally, the Southwest Conference champion gets the invitation.

The committee may have a tough time choosing the NCAA entry if the conference ends in a tie.

There will be no playoff to settle the deadlock should this happen.

HOUSTON —(AP)—Milby High Schoolboy Basketball Championship Friday night although losing to third place Lamar, 41 to 35.

Sam Houston won 35 to 30 from second place San Jacinto to clinch the title for the second straight year for Milby.

Majors to Open Practice Tuesday

NEW YORK —(AP)—Baseball's first all-American spring training season since World War I opens Tuesday with all 16 major league teams pitching camps in the U. S. A.

For approximately six weeks or until the season opens April 18, there will be 16 pennant winners in the majors. Optimism always reigns supreme in the grapefruit league.

Going into camp with several star players still unsigned, the Cleveland Indians, defending World Champions, probably rate as favorites to repeat in the American League. Most baseball men expect the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees to provide the chief opposition with the Philadelphia A's and Detroit Tigers as outside possibilities.

In the National, there is no clear-cut favorite. Despite their decisive triumph in 1948, the Boston Braves have definite weak spots. The Brooklyn Dodgers, still experimenting with young talent, rank as strong contenders as do the St. Louis Cardinals, always dangerous, and the powerhouse New York Giants.

Pittsburgh, strengthened in the pitching department, is given a chance to take it as are both Chicago and Philadelphia, who both strengthened their clubs with a series of winter deals.

Middlecoff Leads Muddy, Rain-Soaked, Weary Field

Dick Metz In Second Rhubarb In Two Years

HARLINGEN —(AP)—George Schneider, manager of the PGA Tournament Bureau, prepared a report to the PGA's Executive Committee that may result in disciplinary action against veteran professional Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va.

The charge is that Metz gave inaccurate information to a sports writer who wrote a column in which he said Metz was raging within the ranks of golf and between golf and the tournament sponsors.

Metz checked out of his hotel Friday afternoon and apparently departed for his home. He had shot 143 for the first 36 holes of the tournament and would have had little chance at the money in the final 36 scheduled yesterday and today.

Behind him was turmoil that almost equaled that here last year when the pros wrangled over the rules and Henry Ransom, American pro, and Norman von Nida of Australia came to blows on the course.

Dick Peebles, San Antonio Express sports editor, said in his column that there was dissatisfaction among the tournament sponsors here over American golfers playing in a tournament in Mexico for the first part of this week, thus causing a golf clinic scheduled for Wednesday to be postponed to Saturday; that Houston Open sponsors had wanted the pros to play the final round last Monday instead of jamming two rounds into Sunday when an earlier round was rained out, and that there were other points of dissension.

Schneider said the PGA could, if it found Metz guilty of violating the tournament player's ethics and regulations, suspend him or dismiss him from PGA membership. "I am of the opinion that disciplinary action will be taken," he said.

Anson said the sponsors of the tournament had wanted the golfers to play in Mexico City and that they wanted the golf clinic on Saturday instead of Wednesday so there would be a better crowd.

Demaret declared that the Houston Open sponsors had wanted two rounds of the tournament played on Sunday instead of one on each Sunday and Monday, not wanting to carry the tournament over a day.

Hamilton declared there had been nothing except harmony in golf and that it was being conducted right.

Schneider intimated that he felt the blow-up here may be good for the game in the long run. "We should get this thing straightened out now," he said, "instead of letting it smolder."

Metz was the golfer who punched Fred Corcoran, then PGA tournament manager, a couple of years ago. Corcoran gave up his job with the tournament tour and eventually left the game entirely. He recently announced plans to return to golf as tournament manager for the Women's PGA.

HARLINGEN —(AP)—Dick Metz, storm center of golf's latest flareup, Saturday wired for an explanation of threatened disciplinary action against him.

Metz, who Dick Peebles, San Antonio Express sports editor, said gave him information on which he based a column telling of golf controversies, left here Friday.

Yesterday he sent this wire from Seguin, Tex., to George Schneider, manager of the PGA Tournament Bureau who is conducting the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open here:

"Just read morning paper. At loss to understand your release. Wire me today explanation at Arkansas City, Kans."

Snyder said he is preparing a full statement to be sent to members of the Executive Committee of the PGA. He has said "I am of the opinion that disciplinary action will be taken."

"I do not intend to send an explanation or discuss the matter with him at all," Scheiter said, adding: "I am turning everything over to the Executive Committee."

Austin Anson said in a letter Saturday to Schneider that the report concerning moving the

Eight Under Par Scored Through Mud and Water

By HAROLD RATLIFF

HARLINGEN —(AP)—Handsome Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., dentist, let the birdies sing in the rain for him Saturday as he sloshed through mud and water to a great 68 and leadership at the three-quarters mark in the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open.

Cary's eight-under-par on the 6,096 yard Harlingen Municipal Course, dotted with fairway lakes after more than two inches of rain during the day, gave him 197 for 54 holes.

The black haired young man used only 22 puts as he rolled up eight birdies and an eagle and missed bettering the competitive course record by a matter of three feet on a missed putt on hole No. 5.

It was one of the greatest rounds of the winter tour and was more remarkable because of the terrible conditions under which it was scored.

Middlecoff will go into today's final 18 holes boasting a four stroke lead over the field.

Big Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., slipped in with a 69 to take over second place with 201. Tied for third were Skip Alexander of Southern Pines, N. C.; Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y.; and Ky Lafoon of St. Andrews, Ill., each with 202.

Hamilton got only two birdies — with a five-foot putt on No. 3 and a 12-footer on No. 18 — and parred the rest of the holes. "I had trouble all the time," he said as he dug the caked mud off his shoes. "Man, did I have trouble."

Tied at 204 were Ellsworth Vines of Iowa City, Ia., and LeLand Gibson of Kansas City, while four deadlocked at 205: Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass.; Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif.; Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; and Al Smith of Winston Salem, N.C.

The best the amateurs could do was a 207 by Skee Riegel of Tulsa, which gave him a tie for 204.

Metz was "a fabrication," and there was no displeasure expressed by anyone representing the sponsors regarding players going to Mexico City.

Despite the condition of the course, 94 of the starting field hung up under par scores. The field was cut to 61 by withdrawals for today's final round.

Among the withdrawals listed was that of Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., the professional who became a storm center after a sports writer, commenting on controversies he said were raging between the golfers and tournament sponsors, named Metz as his informant. Metz left Friday and didn't show up for Saturday's round. He had 143 for 36 holes.

Metz was the golfer who punched Fred Corcoran, then PGA tournament manager, a couple of years ago. Corcoran gave up his job with the tournament tour and eventually left the game entirely. He recently announced plans to return to golf as tournament manager for the Women's PGA.

HARLINGEN —(AP)—Dick Metz, storm center of golf's latest flareup, Saturday wired for an explanation of threatened disciplinary action against him.

Metz, who Dick Peebles, San Antonio Express sports editor, said gave him information on which he based a column telling of golf controversies, left here Friday.

Yesterday he sent this wire from Seguin, Tex., to George Schneider, manager of the PGA Tournament Bureau who is conducting the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open here:

"Just read morning paper. At loss to understand your release. Wire me today explanation at Arkansas City, Kans."

Snyder said he is preparing a full statement to be sent to members of the Executive Committee of the PGA. He has said "I am of the opinion that disciplinary action will be taken."

"I do not intend to send an explanation or discuss the matter with him at all," Scheiter said, adding: "I am turning everything over to the Executive Committee."

Austin Anson said in a letter Saturday to Schneider that the report concerning moving the Metz checked out of his hotel Friday afternoon and apparently departed for his home. He had shot 143 for the first 36 holes of the tournament and would have had little chance at the money in the final 36 scheduled yesterday and today.

Behind him was turmoil that almost equaled that here last year when the pros wrangled over the rules and Henry Ransom, American pro, and Norman von Nida of Australia came to blows on the course.

Dick Peebles, San Antonio Express sports editor, said in his column that there was dissatisfaction among the tournament sponsors here over American golfers playing in a tournament in Mexico for the first part of this week, thus causing a golf clinic scheduled for Wednesday to be postponed to Saturday; that Houston Open sponsors had wanted the pros to play the final round last Monday instead of jamming two rounds into Sunday when an earlier round was rained out, and that there were other points of dissension.

Schneider said the PGA could, if it found Metz guilty of violating the tournament player's ethics and regulations, suspend him or dismiss him from PGA membership. "I am of the opinion that disciplinary action will be taken," he said.

Anson said the sponsors of the tournament had wanted the golfers to play in Mexico City and that they wanted the golf clinic on Saturday instead of Wednesday so there would be a better crowd.

Demaret declared that the Houston Open sponsors had wanted two rounds of the tournament played on Sunday instead of one on each Sunday and Monday, not wanting to carry the tournament over a day.

Hamilton declared there had been nothing except harmony in golf and that it was being conducted right.

Schneider intimated that he felt the blow-up here may be good for the game in the long run. "We should get this thing straightened out now," he said, "instead of letting it smolder."

Metz was the golfer who punched Fred Corcoran, then PGA tournament manager, a couple of years ago. Corcoran gave up his job with the tournament tour and eventually left the game entirely. He recently announced plans to return to golf as tournament manager for the Women's PGA.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Messer—New Sports Editor

QUESTION: What World Series did the New York Yankees win in four games, using only four pitchers?

NEW YORK SPORTS: Gayle Talbot, in today's column "Sports Roundup," states that "the consensus around town (New York) is that the wrestlers will have to wait another dozen years to get back in the Garden (Madison Square Garden)."

That very fact was discussed at length by the four contestants and Warmup prior to Friday night's wrestling bouts at the local Sportatorium. And here is a consensus of facts that were given at that time.

Professional wrestling has proven that it can outdraw professional boxing in most cities. In the middle of last week it outdrew a mitt-card by 5 to 1 in Boston. Professional wrestlers, on the average, will make and draw more money than a pro boxer of only average ability. Then why won't the promoters let it into the Garden?

The answer is that they can't figure which way the bout will end. The Garden is nothing but a big gambling den, with all of the professional gamblers and bookmakers earning their easy shrimp and brandy through their ability to pick winners in the sports events held there. Boxing matches offer the gambler a good opportunity to make some money. By past records, and tips, he can lay away his money the way it will do the most good. But wrestling is different.

There is little in past performance that a professional gambler can use to base his selection on. That has been proven time and again by matches held here. Several times the favored wrestler has been beaten by a lesser opponent. Too often a man can get away with illegal holds that will win him the match.

One of the wrestlers stated that he was offered a thousand dollars to give a tip on who would win a certain match in course he didn't do. As he said, Amarillo recently, which he knew who was going to win it, he would have made the bet the gambler wanted to make, rather than take the small change the better was willing to give for the information. That was the reasoning advanced by the men who make their bread and butter by wrestling of why mat ehds wouldn't be allowed in the Garden for a long time. At least not until the gamblers can be assured they won't be betting on a loser.

ANSWER: Waite Hoyt, George Piggas, Herb Pennock and Wiley Moore each pitched a complete winning game as the Yanks defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates four straight games in the 1927 World Series. The scores were 5-4, 6-2, and 4-3.

CONGRATULATIONS: To Coach Roy Morris and the Lubbock Westerner basketball team on their bi-district victory. They are a great team and should go a long way in the state tournament. Their fine shooting ability and tight zone defense should prove difficult to many metas at Austin.

DOTS AND DASHES: Vic Raschi, of the New York Yankees, who this month received a degree from William and Mary College, spent 11 years of part time study to earn a diploma. Freddie Hutchinson, wintering in California, declares his pitching arm is in perfect shape and that he will be a consistent winner for the Detroit Tigers next season.

A sage offers this suggestion. . . Now that the Chicago White Sox have revamped their ball club, which came in last in the American League pennant race last year, they should change their name to Nylons. . . They might get a few more runs. . . The complete acceptance by baseball players of the reserve clause, which binds them to one club, was demonstrated a few years ago when the new contract form was drawn up between players and magnates. . . It included the $5,000 minimum salary, restriction of the length of spring training, and other points. . . During the discussion, some one asked the player representatives if they wanted to talk about the reserve clause. . . They replied they had no quarrel with it. . . Recent expressions from players in polls indicate they feel the clause is the backbone of baseball's competitive operation and that they want it reiteration with or without Danny Gardella's approval.

The latest figures indicate that the annual United States fish catch is over four and three-quarter billion pounds, reports the National Wildlife Federation.

National Wildlife Restoration Week Announced for March 20-26 This Year

National Wildlife Restoration Week this year will be held during the week beginning March 20 marking the first days of Spring. It is the twelfth such event sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation whose headquarters are in Washington, D. C. The late Franklin Delano Roosevelt first proclaimed National Wildlife Week in 1938. In his proclamation he appealed to the nation's citizenship to recognize the importance of conservation and urged the American people to work for the protection and preservation of "denizens of field, forest and water."

National Wildlife Week is a part of the educational program of the Federation and seeks to bring home to the nation's citizenship the need for soil, water and plant conservation. Over 20 million fishermen and hunters, as well as every motorist, vacationist, and citizen who enjoys the outdoors and the splendid beauty of nature, have a vital interest in preserving food-bearing topsoil, clean, pure and unpolluted waters, lush green forests, and abundant wildlife. The loss of any of these has a direct effect on the value of the others.

High public officials have repeatedly urged the conservation of the country's natural resources which are the wealth and backbone of its economy.

National Wildlife Week was inaugurated to bring out these facts as a challenge to the nation to preserve its natural wealth which is so vital to its future security. To carry on this work, the National Wildlife Federation issues each year a sheet of Wildlife Conservation Stamps. This year the art work has been painted by Walter Weber, one of America's greatest wildlife artists. Mammals, birds, trees and wild flowers make up the 36 Wildlife Conservation Stamps in beautiful natural colors. In previous issues, the Federation has reproduced 412 different species of American wildlife, thus bringing the total to 448—a veritable pictorial encyclopedia of outdoor resources.

The Federation has affiliates in 37 states and during Wildlife Week the state and local groups hold conservation meetings where the dramatic story of soil, water and plant life in its relationship to wildlife resources is told from the platform, through the press and over the radio.

Details and information related to Wildlife Week activities may be obtained as well as posters and display materials for schools and libraries.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

If you follow the field trials, one day you're bound to see a tall, tweedy man with a ruddy face, snapping blue eyes, and a firm mouth. That will be Martin J. Hogan, dean of American dog men and one of the dominant and fascinating figures in the world of hunting dogs.

He's likely to pop up at trials anywhere, according to outdoor writer Gordon MacQuarrie. One week he may be handling his own spaniels in the East, and the next judging a retriever trial in Nebraska, Minnesota or Washington state.

Known affectionately and reverently as the "Old Man," Hogan has brought to the United States a vast know-how of the hunting breeds and a warm Irish heart that sends him all over the country helping inexperienced sportsmen organizing trials, or just giving advice, he makes friends. Hogan was a gamekeeper and professional trainer in England and Ireland, and came to the United States via Alberta, where he operated a wheat farm for a short while after World War I. He specializes in the training and handling of retrievers and spaniels, and from the Hogan kennels at Barrington, Illinois, have come scores of typey working Labradors and springer spaniels to bolster and improve the strains of those breeds in this country.

Space hardly permits naming the great Labradors which he has trained—Nigger and Tyke and Kitty of Barrington, Glen-a-Rocket, Freehaven Jay were a few. A Hogan-trained springer, Daisiegan P.O.M. me de Terre, gave the Middle West its first concept of the class a springer can attain.

The Old Man respects good working dogs. He will, if need be, sacrifice beauty in a hunting dog for utility, but he holds fast to the belief that the two can be blended. He doesn't give a whoop who wins at field trials. "They are merely schools for men and dogs."

NEW YORK (NEA)—B. A. S. ball, because of the Danny Gardella case, has developed a sudden and overpowering interest in the law. This spring, you may hear these expressions:

"Hear ye, hear ye, this game is now in session."

"The assault and battery for today's game."

"Jackie Robinson attempted to steal second, but was apprehended."

"The next witness for the offense is Stan Musial."

"The game isn't finished until the case is dismissed."

Joe Louis, through his firm, World Champions, Inc., tried to get a wholesale beer distributor's license.

New York State turned him down flat, with what might be termed a right to the head on it.

Few Contracts Return to Oilers

News from the business office of the Pampa Oilers baseball team indicates that several of the ball players have signed and re-affirmed their contracts for the coming season. Among those just received are the signed documents of Lockwood and Hall.

Several of the players have also showed dissatisfaction with the contract terms offered, returning their unsigned contracts with demands for more pay. This is to be expected by the boys who are moving up from class D ball to class C, as they expect that the raise in classifications should mean a major raise in salary.

The holdouts will come to terms by the time the spring training season gets started.

You're in Clover when Dynaflo takes over

It's something, really, you almost have to sample firsthand, for yourself.

For the plain fact is, there's only one Dynaflo—only one car in all America with a drive so completely and utterly smooth, so entirely unbroken in stride from standstill to cruising speed.

You just set a lever—and step on the accelerator.

In one swift and single surge, you move off smoothly on signal, slide in one unbroken flow of growing power into the settled easy stride of full-pace highway travel.

Where others break stride to shift, you swing smoothly by them.

Where some "automatic" transmissions call for a lift of the foot to let gears change, you flow steadily, smoothly forward in one unbroken sweep.

Stop signs? You simply brake to a stop—then go again with a treadle pressure when the green shows.

Hills? You take them in stride, with no thought of shifting on your part, no jar or jerk as automatic mechanisms shift gears for you.

In traffic you have no thought but watching for openings, taking prompt advantage of every one with a surge of power from your treadle's foot pressure.

Happy as a bee in clover, you just sit there, steer, and go fast or slow at the touch of a toe!

Small wonder this is called the greatest thing in cars since the self-starter. Small wonder that Buick, wanting to offer it at the earliest moment to still more people, has made it available as optional equipment on all SUPERS.

A lot of your neighbors are going to be quick to go for that idea of the SUPER plus Dynaflo. Better see your Buick dealer pronto—and get your order in, whether or not you have a car to trade.

BUICK alone has all these features

- Silk-smooth DYNAFLO DRIVE • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area
- SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRI-FLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-8 POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS • Cruise-Line VENTILATORS • Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods • BODY BY FISHER

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By Ken Bennett

This column was the subject of some conversation during the past week, due to the question in last week's column regarding the construction of an Army temporary bridge across the Canadian River in order to facilitate the building of the Pampa-Perryton road. One interested person expressed the belief that it might even be possible to persuade the proper Army authorities to conduct a maneuver in that area and construct a bridge which would in turn be purchased from the War Assets Administration. Another idea suggested was that the metal strips that were so successfully used by Army engineers in constructing landing strips on almost any terrain could be used to aid in crossing the river.

This is not a Pampa project. The entire area is affected. The need for the bridge was well known and much action has been taken since it was ever thought that a new oil field would develop in that region. Perryton merchants and business men have not slackened in their desire to see the road finished. The other towns and counties in the area, on both sides of the river, realize that the new road and bridge will open many fields of commerce and travel in addition to the oil field. In these modern days when it seems possible to obtain grants for so many things that are less important, why can't it seem logical to the proper authorities that the construction of the Pampa-Perryton highway will mean a saving of thousands of dollars to those of us who reside in this region and know the need that exists for the completion of the highway? Naturally we urge the construction of a temporary bridge only as a means of speeding up the completion of the road with the idea in mind of the construction of a permanent bridge being started immediately.

Representatives of the three counties, Gray, Roberts and Ochiltree, made a trip to Austin this past week for further discussion about the road's completion. At this point, this column certainly wishes to commend those who have worked so diligently for the highway. All three of these counties have been represented by men who have no selfish axe to grind of any kind. They wish to see the road completed because they realize how important it is to the proper growth of this section of the Panhandle. They have given of their time and their money, and some fruit of their labor is beginning to be seen. Let's all join with them in whatever

More Wells Planned in Tyler Field

TYLER —(AP)— Joe Zeppa, president of the company which bought in the discovery well for the newly confirmed South Tyler Paluxy field, said more wells are planned.

Zeppa, president of Delta Drilling Company, Tyler, made his announcement after a successful drill stem test Thursday on the second well to be drilled in the new oil area, discovered last October.

The drillers are undecided on acreage north or south of the discovery for additional wells, Zeppa said.

The drill stem test of the Paluxy formation between 7,619 and 7,969 feet recovered more than 4,000 feet of oil with a strong gas head. The head blew off as high as the derrick.

Gravity is in the middle twenties, approximately the same as that produced from the Max Rice No. 1, the discovery well.

The confirmation well is the Humble Oil and Refining Company No. 1 E. M. Sherlock et al. It is approximately two miles south of Tyler and 1,400 feet east and north of the discovery.

Humble has much acreage in the area with Phillips Petroleum Company also holding extensive mineral interests.

There has been speculation on possibilities of Humble drilling the Sherlock well down to test the Rodessa formation, below the Paluxy. The speculation followed drilling of a well two miles to the south which Phillips completed from the Rodessa after it had flowed from the James line for four years.

The well, the Mrs. Jackie McMin No. 1, was the discovery well for the South Tyler field, wholly owned and operated by Phillips.

Measles, Mumps Up Over 7-Year Average

AUSTIN —(AP)— The State Health Department report for last week shows a continued spread of measles and mumps in Texas.

For the week ending Feb. 19, there were 2,684 cases of measles, compared to the seven-year average of 731 for the week. There were 338 cases of mumps, compared to the average of 269.

Haskell County reported 133 cases of measles, Caldwell 124 and Nueces 112. Jefferson County reported 98 cases of mumps.

Deep Tests and Wildcats: In Lipscomb County the Gulf-Porter well is down to 11,172 feet. The L. A. H. Farmer, Collingsworth County, is now drilling at 2,455 feet. The new deep test in Collingsworth County, being drilled by Honolulu Oil, is rigging up. The Gulf-Collard in Hansford County, drilling below 3,600 feet. Another new wildcat in Oldham County, Hooper & Duke Oil Co., has spudded in. Their contract calls for 6,500 feet. The Sinclair-Lipps, Roberts County, contrary to some rumors and to a report in this column last Sunday, has not set casing as per our last report. Their depth 9,180 feet. The Phillips-Kathryn, Sherman County, hit granite at 7,739 feet. They are plugging back for tests. The Humble Nanny, Swisher County, drilling at 7,630 feet. The Texas Company's Belle-Wisom, Hutchinson County, resulted in a 22 barrel a day well. Top of the pay was at 3,202 feet. Total depth 3,216 feet.

Commission Receives Eight New Notices of Intent to Drill

Eight notices of intent to drill were filed at the local Oil and Gas Office of the State Railroad Commission during the past week according to a report issued by officials yesterday.

Of interest in the new locations is a new deep test in Deaf Smith County on the W. F. Ponder No. 1, the discovery well.

New locations were pretty well divided over the Panhandle area, Carson and Gray Counties each reported two new locations, Deaf Smith, Hutchinson, Moore, and Sherman Counties each reported one.

Skelton Reviews Texas Oil News

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(AP)— Crude oil production rallied last week to hit a new high, but it will happen when March cutbacks begin.

Further reductions in state allowances become effective in several areas next Tuesday, the first day of a month which many oilmen believe may hold answers to industry supply-price jitters.

When the cutback axe began to swing last December there were expressions of reluctant acceptance for fear of skidding prices in March or April if production continued to climb.

There have been signs of improvement but imports of foreign crude continue to cause worry.

Walter S. Hallanan, chairman of the National Petroleum Council, this week said that oil imports reached their peak in the first five weeks of the year, while the industry's domestic drilling program dropped 11.5 percent from the same period last year.

He described the drilling decrease as alarming and warned that increased imports are threatening the nation's welfare.

Hallanan was optimistic, however, over possibilities of "sound" practical steps as now being taken to bring imports into their proper balance.

Earlier this month, Eugene Holman, president of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), said it would be March before his company's reductions in imports would be felt on the domestic market.

Attorney General Price Daniel of Texas entered the oil picture this week as he filed antitrust suits against ten oil companies.

He alleges the companies combined their capital to increase, fix and maintain uniform prices on gasoline delivered to Texas filling stations since July, 1946.

Eight of the companies also are alleged to have combined their efforts to keep the price of crude oil down for the purpose of "maintaining the abnormally large profits existing as a result of the wide spread between the crude oil prices and the selling prices of refined gasoline."

Companies involved are Arkansas Fuel, Cities Service Oil, Continental Oil, Gulf Oil, Humble Oil & Refining, Magnolia Petroleum, Standard Oil Company of Texas, The Texas Company, Sinclair Refining and Phillips Petroleum.

Philips and Sinclair, participants in an unsuccessful 35-cent per barrel crude price increase last fall, were not alleged to have sought to prevent crude price hikes.

Gasoline: With 44 state legislatures in session this year, state officials are spending much time considering hikes in gasoline taxes.

Sun Oil Company estimates that if all the bills now being discussed are adopted gasoline taxes across the nation will be increased $250 million annually.

Oilmen are developing opposition to a Texas proposal for repeal of a state four-cent per gallon service station tax on gasoline in favor of a one-cent levy on each gallon of combustible fuel produced in the state.

Andrew M. Howaley, general counsel for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, says the proposal is not practical.

"It is obvious that with the addition of one more cent per gallon on gasoline and other fuels Texas refiners would lose their markets in other states," Howaley said.

Texas has no monopoly on either refining or oil production, he said in explaining why the proposed increase could not be passed on to the consumers.

"Other states contain 7.15 percent of refining capacity and produce 55 percent of the domestic crude oil," he said.

Here and there: New well drilling notices in California the first six weeks of the year totaled 365, compared with 328 the same period last year. The Bureau of Mines reports that propane gas, up 34.5 percent, showed the greatest increase in production among liquefied petroleum gas output in 1948 as compared with 1947.

Antonio J. Bermudez, president of the Mexican government-owned oil monopoly, has accepted an invitation of the House Committee on Foreign Commerce to come to Washington to discuss Mexico's oil development.

Sylvester Oil Co., New York City marketing affiliate of Esso Standard Oil Company, has initiated a fourth round retail price reduction for home heating oil. By a 9 to 6 vote, a Texas state Senate committee has recommended approval of a bill which would authorize voluntary unitization agreements for cooperative development and operation of oil and gas fields.

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP)— America might just as well start considering now whether it should secede from Florida.

If it doesn't it may end up with another Los Angeles in its borders.

For that is what some natives here fear — and use the word advisedly — that South Florida's Gold Coast is turning into. Yes, a second Los Angeles.

The whole area is still riding high in the saddle of the post-war boom. You have to know the mayor to get a hotel room. The beaches are so packed with bare-backed ladies seeking a tan that the sand is becoming pale and anemic. It isn't getting enough sunshine itself.

The very thing that is going now the whole 70-mile stretch from Palm Beach to Miami will be one continuous city, complained one resident. "In ten years the Gold Coast will be another Los Angeles."

Alarming as that possibility is to them, it is of even more potential concern to the rest of the United States. Is any country large enough for two Los Angeles's — both squeezing Texas like it was an over-ripe grapefruit?

There are two seasons in Florida each year marked by high winds and some excitement. One is the hurricane season, which hits its peak in September and October. The other is the annual anti-gambler crusade season, which usually is launched just as the well-pocketed tourists start to follow the robins north.

When the anti-gambler crusade season, which usually is launched just as the well-pocketed tourists start to follow the robins north, hits its peak in September and October, the other is the annual anti-gambler crusade season, which usually is launched just as the well-pocketed tourists start to follow the robins north.

Fuller Warren, launched a statewide anti-bookie campaign this year, one man called up a bookie and said:

"Aren't you worried?" "Now," said the bookie, and he quipped:

"They're three days late in starting this year."

There are indications, however, that the current crusade may hurt more than usual. Gov. Warren ordered the arrest of every bookie in Florida, charging that the state lost $8 in racing taxes on every $100 bet with bookies. He also ordered a crackdown on the numbers racket, and slot machines have been banned.

Weatherman Gets Silver Medal

FORT WORTH —(AP)— A federal weather observer is wearing a silver medal because he did something about the weather.

Mark Twain is often quoted to the effect: everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it.

Carl E. Hodson, of Houston, was given the Weather Bureau's highest award for dissemination of hurricane warnings along the Gulf during the 1947 hurricane season.

In ceremonies here he received a meritorious service certificate and the silver medal.

Hodson is credited with going beyond the call of duty in heading a hurricane warning through newspapers and radio stations.

Cat Bites Off More Than He Can Chew

BRISBANE —(AP)— In Ipswich, near Brisbane, a cat bit a snake. Then the snake bit the cat. An outsider stepped in and killed the snake.

The cat's owner, Kevin Bailey, aged 6, patted his cat in sympathy. The cat bit Kevin on the wrist, and Kevin was taken to hospital.

Then the cat died as a result of the snake bite.

Plan Lake Erie-Ohio River Belt

Plans are under way for the construction of an elevated, two-way belt conveyor from Lorain, O., on Lake Erie, to a point on the Ohio River near East Liverpool, O., a distance of 130 miles. This is a typical transfer point, where northbound coal and southbound iron ore go from one of 172 separate "flights," or stages, to another.

Belgium Claims First Newspaper

BRUSSELS — (AP) — Belgium has traced what may have been the first newspaper in the world. The honor goes to the "Wettelijke Tijdinghe" (Legitimate Tidings), which first appeared in Antwerp in 1605. A printer named Abraham Verhoeven was responsible.

Under various names and managements the "Wettelijke Tijdinghe" was published for 222 years till 1827. First the paper appeared twice monthly and then in 1817 as a weekly. The top half of its pages were printed in French while the bottom half appeared in Flemish. Then as now Belgium supported two languages. For illustration Verhoeven used wood-cuts, mostly of famous persons of the day. Some of the many battles fought about this time were also shown in wood-cuts, and famous buildings too were engraved.

The earliest copy of the paper in existence is owned by A. M. Ista, an Antwerp collector. This copy is dated 1621; and contains maps, plans and music manuscripts. The main article concerned the siege of the town of Echuse in Flanders which was going on at the time. Accompanying the reportage is a wood-cut in great detail showing troop emplacements.

When 40,487 fans jammed the University of Washington stadium for the Minnesota game this season, all attendance marks for the arena were smashed.

Top Leasing Is Recorded

SNYDER — (AP) — Tops in Scurry County oil leasing is recorded in the county courthouse here. Hisawatha Oil Company, Midland, bid $75,000 cash bonus plus one-fourth royalty plus $100,000 in oil payments for 200-acre lease, 10 miles southwest of here, of L. M. Wilson.

The deal was consummated through Wilson's guardian, Austin Addison of Plains, Tex. Lion Oil Company bid $150,000 in cash of $120,000 in cash plus $100,000 out of 1-16 overriding royalty.

French Trains Have Rubber Tired Wheels

PARIS — (AP) — France has 140 rubber-tired railway cars, that have gone 12 million miles since they were introduced in 1932. The cars weigh 16 tons, compared with steel-wheeled cars of 33 tons.

When a tire goes flat, a light warns the driver and he stops at the next division point for a change. No danger is involved, because adjoining tires carry the weight. The trains run in almost complete silence and with increased smoothness at 80 miles an hour. A tire lasts for 22,000 miles. They cost more to operate because Diesel engines are too heavy for the tires and are replaced by gasoline engines, which are more expensive to operate.

Ceylon Attracts Tourist Trade

COLOMBO, Ceylon — (AP) — Ceylon, youngest of Britain's dominions, is out to sell itself as "the playground of Southeast Asia." The idea is to boost annual tourist revenues in three years from the present six million rupees to 100 million rupees (nearly $20 million).

The program calls for a large advertising campaign, provision of more accommodations for tourists, a clean-up of hawkers and dishonest dealers in gems and, in general, efforts to find tourists, wherever they may be.

The program calls for a large advertising campaign, provision of more accommodations for tourists, a clean-up of hawkers and dishonest dealers in gems and, in general, efforts to find tourists, wherever they may be.

For instance, an attempt is being made to interest Americans working in Saudi Arabia's oilfields in spending their holidays in Ceylon. Cedric Senaratna, secretary of the government Tourist Bureau, says he hopes to have 400 of the arrive every two months to cool off at Nuwara Eliya, 6,200 foot-high resort 112 miles east of Colombo. Senaratna also is working for stopovers by passenger vessels which now pass up Ceylon.

Antique Boom Seen in Restrictions Lift

LONDON — (AP) — The relaxation of a nine-year restriction on imports will enable dealers to re-establish London as the "antique and art shop window of the world."

Lifting of the restriction on the import of antiques from 14 European countries was the outcome of a year's negotiations between the British Antique Dealers' Association and the Board of Trade.

Before the war collectors and dealers from all over the world came to London for their antiques. But with the war, antiques became a one-way traffic, with valuable articles going out of the country but nothing coming.

For 20 rupees a day. There are 115 resthouses now, sptted at island.

DID YOU ever stop to think how bad the situation would be if everybody agreed with you? ... That's the truth.

"RUGGED," IT SAYS—is your man rugged? Does he outfit himself in suits, shirts, socks and shoes which are vivid in color and bold in design? Does he favor cigars for his strolls, his business conferences, his after-dinner enjoyment? ... If so, he's right in style, according to the New York Men's Fashion Guild. If not, you'd better subtly suggest that he heed the latest news bulletin from the male fashion front which states that it's the thing this Spring to be ruggedly masculine. And this includes not only wearing apparel, but the entire picture which a man presents, including his cigar. ... Not since the mauve decade has there been such widespread interest on the part of men about their fashion appearance. Just as the dandies of the Gay Nineties chose cigars as a complement to their costumes, so do the dashing men-about-town of 1949. It all fits in with the new picture of the so-called "lusty type" of male ... Rugged masculinity, the fashion experts are saying, doesn't mean discomfort. The revolt against stiff, heavy and uncomfortable apparel has been going on for years and has borne fruit. The Fashion Guild says that the new materials in men's clothing are softer in cloth and construction. This goes for shoes too. They are going to be lighter weight, particularly as the balmy Spring comes to the fiery furnace of Summer. ... And so on and so goes this "sensational" report to us out here in the Southwest. They must have an interest in the cigar business, or they may just get a royalty on the renting of wooden Indians ... for here is the way this report concludes: "Above all, your fashionable, lusty male who may appear in a pastel hued shirt, will probably have his cigar. And if he's on the youthful side, he may prefer the panatela which the manufacturers have designed especially for those who like their cigar styles as streamlined as their wardrobes. ... That's all today on cigars, especially since I'm somewhat prejudiced against them. The smoke's all right to smell, but it lingers all day and night and finally comes to rest on curtains and dollies.

OUT OF THE MAILBOX—"Dear Peg," it says. "Trusting you have heard by way of the grapevine the WMU of First Baptist Church is entertaining the entire Senior Class of Pampa High School with a banquet on the evening of March 3. Plan to attend open house for friends, parents, and all those interested, as in the past we feel it would be worth your time to visit the banquet hall. Theme this year is Chinese food." Signed: A member of WMU. ... Another: "The R. E. Montgomerys, who have built a new home north of town, were surprised Saturday night (a week ago—Peg) when neighbors and friends descended on them 40 strong for an old-fashioned house warming." ... Thanks for the items, folks. All contributions, of course, are acceptable, if not always printable. Just send them to The News office with my name (Peg, of course) on the outside.

PEAKING OF PRINTABLE, the Andis home out in the north end of town is not for sale, as it said here last week. And it is the Bob Andis home, not the Guy Andis home. Sorry ... I shot a spy over this little matter.

PANORAMICALLY—Charles Pitts, of Stanolind, one of Pampa's eligible bachelors. The Queen of Clubs honored Miss Margaret Rainouard (for Schneider dining room fame) at the Country Club with a kitchen shower Wednesday ... Miss Margaret will make her home at 315 N. Somerville when she returns from a visit in New York ... We hear that the Gene Fathersons walked off with their share of prizes at a George Washington party given by the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night. ... Mrs. Johnny Mark, with her three red-headed children, is one of the town's prettiest mothers. ... The dance Wednesday night was a success, howling success, somebody said, but the wipers were conspicuously absent. The event was held at the CC ... VaRue Benson, efficient secretary of William T. Frasier Company, was seen watching for the mail ... Buzz Hoover seen buzzing along in a nice black green Cadillac ... Louise Dunn, Dollie Studer and Georgia ... who had a splendid time at a birthday party at a birthday party in her home ... Jerry Tarvie has left for Mayo's ... Frank Haley, brother of Betty Haley, "the Panhandle Man" of a few months back, was in town visiting during the past week.

IT COMES to me pretty straight-like that the Lions Club is out to do the Kiwanis Club with a show ... well, we're for it ... the good local shows, the better. The big event is to be put on arch 17-18, and will be called Cotton Town Jubilee.

DOLDRUMS—If you've got 'em, just remember that this is the time of the year that serves as a dividing line between what winter has had to offer—and it was plenty—and that time of year when another Nature will prove once again that life and flower seeds have not died during it all ... As I said when I first met you in the first paragraph a few moments ago, you better cheer up and quit complaining, for what would the world be like if everybody agreed with you on how bad things are?

Cheerfully,
PEG O' PAMPA.

Tracy Cary Has Lessons From E. von Dohynani

Tracy Cary, senior at Texas Christian University and son of Judge and Mrs. C. E. Cary, was one of the students who last week had the opportunity of studying under the world famous Hungarian composer and pianist, Ernest von Dohynani.

Cary was former organist of the First Christian Church in Pampa.

Following a concert at Pasehall Auditorium at Fort Worth, the famous pianist conducted a week's master class for a select group of professional teachers and students recommended by the University faculty.

Dohynani was an intimate of Johannes Brahms and is one of the three surviving members of the old romantic school of composers, the other two being Jean Sibelius and Richard Strauss. These two, however, no longer perform in public. Also, the late Rachmaninoff belonged to the old romantic school of composers.

Dohynani was born at Pressburg, Hungary, in 1877. At the age of 17 years, he entered the Royal Hungarian Academy of Music. His urge to compose resulted in the award of the king's prize for his "Symphony in E" in 1897. He was appointed director of piano at the Royal Academy of Music in 1908.

Musical composition has been his life's work. He has composed a position he occupied for many years.

He came to the Western hemisphere in 1948 and since has been a director of the department of piano at the University of Argentina.

Pampa Girl Scouts Will Celebrate 37th Birthday With 'Scout Friendship Fair'

This year all Girl Scouts of Pampa are going to celebrate the 37th birthday of Scouting with a big party, which they decided to call the "Scout Friendship Fair," Mrs. K. E. Thornton, executive, said yesterday.

The fair will be held in the Junior High Gym at 7 p.m. March 12, the anniversary of the day Juliette Low organized the first troop in America.

The event will resemble an old-fashioned fair as closely as possible, with booths displaying crafts and hand-work the girls have been busy perfecting in the past months. Troops planning a display booth also plan to demonstrate how these crafts are done. Several troops have worked up clever and unusual skits which they plan to entertain, Mrs. Thornton said.

An area for folk dancing will be arranged so that those troops practicing folk and square dances will have adequate space to perform.

Latin American Literature Topic At 20th Century Club Meeting

Mrs. H. R. Thompson was program leader on "Literature of Latin American Countries," at the Twentieth Century Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Paul Kasishke Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Thompson told the stages in the evolution of a truly American literature. When the conquerors first came to the colonies, epic poems about the heroic deeds of soldiers and noblemen were popular in Spain and the taste spread to the colonies, she said.

During the colonial period which ended in 1810, the poets sang of freedom and the heroic deeds of Simon Bolivar and San Martin, as the colonies rose against the political and economic restrictions imposed on them by Spain, Mrs. Thompson said.

The Romantic period, which ended in 1880, marked the beginning of a revolt against the dominance of European influence in literature and the beginning of the first trend of independence in American writing, she said.

Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald spoke on contemporary poetry in Spanish America. She said it is essentially a lyric and its "multicolored profusion" has led to the comment that there is no Latin American who has not written at least one good lyric. She told also of the folk poetry, "the anonymous voice of the people" where one hears from the lips of the page a spontaneous love song.

Mrs. Lloyd Stallings gave a thumbnail sketch of the book "Step Down, Elder Brother," by Josephina Nigeli. The action takes place in Monterey. "The novel is mature and intelligent, thoughtful and carefully written," Mrs. Stallings said.

Mrs. J. W. Gorman, president, conducted the business meeting. Following the meeting, refreshment plates with a George Washington motif were served.

Tracy Cary Has Lessons From E. von Dohynani

Tracy Cary, senior at Texas Christian University and son of Judge and Mrs. C. E. Cary, was one of the students who last week had the opportunity of studying under the world famous Hungarian composer and pianist, Ernest von Dohynani.

Cary was former organist of the First Christian Church in Pampa.

Following a concert at Pasehall Auditorium at Fort Worth, the famous pianist conducted a week's master class for a select group of professional teachers and students recommended by the University faculty.

Dohynani was an intimate of Johannes Brahms and is one of the three surviving members of the old romantic school of composers, the other two being Jean Sibelius and Richard Strauss. These two, however, no longer perform in public. Also, the late Rachmaninoff belonged to the old romantic school of composers.

Dohynani was born at Pressburg, Hungary, in 1877. At the age of 17 years, he entered the Royal Hungarian Academy of Music. His urge to compose resulted in the award of the king's prize for his "Symphony in E" in 1897. He was appointed director of piano at the Royal Academy of Music in 1908.

Musical composition has been his life's work. He has composed a position he occupied for many years.

He came to the Western hemisphere in 1948 and since has been a director of the department of piano at the University of Argentina.

Varied Program Is Given at Varietas Club

"Bless the Folks That Dwell Within" was the theme of the program when Varietas Study Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Horace McBee, 408 N. Somerville.

Mrs. J. E. Kirchman had charge of the program on youth service and spoke on "The Duties of Parents." Mrs. Kirchman listed the essentials in making the child a responsible citizen. Headlines on the list were security, which includes devotion and sharing of family activity and responsibility. Self-esteem is necessary to him well-being, and self reliance was listed as important in developing the child's own interests and abilities. Mrs. Kirchman stressed the need of spiritual values and said it was up to the parents to set the example.

Mrs. H. P. Dosier spoke on "The Needs of Youth," which included the need for a better understanding of the young people can have a common meeting place with people in charge who have the interest of the young at heart.

A round-table discussion followed, with Mrs. Dosier presiding. The club decided to contribute $10 to the youth center. Mrs. Dosier took part in the discussion, with all members taking part. Roll call was answered by "How Much Do Parents Owe Their Children?"

During the business session, Mrs. Ralph Thomas was elected club delegates to the District Convention at Lubbock in April. Mrs. Lee Harrah, educational chairman, gave a full report of the Gilmer-Alkin proposals. The club decided to contribute $10 to the children's books for the Carver School Library. Mrs. Dow King brought highlights from the "Federated Club Woman" to the members.

Mrs. C. W. Andrews and Mrs. W. H. Moseley closed the program with musical numbers. Refreshments were served to those mentioned and Mesdames C. W. Andrews, J. H. Daggett, H. T. Hampton, J. C. Vollmert, J. C. Vollmert, Felix Stalls, J. C. Vollmert, Frank Wilson and one guest, Mrs. H. F. Barnhart.

Local Observance Planned For National 4-H Week

"Better Living for a Better World" is the main theme of National 4-H Club Week, being observed over the country March 5-13. Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, county home demonstration agent, said yesterday.

During the week, special emphasis will be placed on the strengthening and expansion of 4-H Club work on the local basis. Plans to date for 4-H Club week include a special radio program at 11:45 a.m., March 12, which the 4-H girls are to take charge of. A highlight of the week will be the presentation of the Gold Star Pin to Eva Mae Rutledge, 1948 4-H Gold Star Girl.

Plans also include to begin publishing a series of pictures of the 4-H Club sponsors with a write-up of each 4-H Club. Other activities are still in the planning process.

Mildred Baggerman, who has been in 4-H Club work since 1935, has made an enviable record in the club program since that time and exemplifies the self-expressive scope of the work.

In 1946 Mildred was chosen "Gold Star Girl," the county's outstanding 4-H Club Girl for the year. In June, 1948, she entered her three-piece woolen gabardine suit in the County Clothing Revue built around the theme "Points for a Pin-Up Girl," and was selected county winner. During the First Annual "Top o' Texas Revue, Mildred won five first place ribbons for her shoe bag, 4-H record book, luncheon set and candy and cookies.

Also during 1948, Mildred was selected to take the "Top o' Texas Revue, Mildred won five first place ribbons for her shoe bag, 4-H record book, luncheon set and candy and cookies.

After the 1948, Mildred was selected to take the "Top o' Texas Revue, Mildred won five first place ribbons for her shoe bag, 4-H record book, luncheon set and candy and cookies.

standing boys and girls are selected each year by the extension service on the basis of past accomplishments and are awarded the recognition of membership in Producers Grain and Talent Club.

The tour took the group of winners to Dalhart where they inspected the locker plant, fuel station and elevator, to Amarillo where they saw the Producers Grain Corporation Elevator and Feed Mill and to Canyon where they inspected the campus. The rest of the tour took them to a potato packing shed in Hereford, the Wheat Growers Elevator in Dimmitt, the Plains Cooperative Creamery at Plainview, and the Coop Cotton Gin and Harvest Queen Flour Mills, Plainview. After the group visited Wayland College, they drove to Amherst where they saw the South Plains Coop Hospital and other facilities. Afterwards they drove to Lubbock where they inspected Texas Tech.

In her record book of 4-H work up to 1948, Mildred told of having canned 1,813 quarts of fruit, vegetables and meats, preparing 750 lunches and having baked quantities of cakes and cookies, biscuits and loaves of bread. She had completed 31 garments and in handicraft had made 16 articles including dolls, scarves and crocheted dollies.

She had attended three 4-H encampments at Lake McCellan and had won several award ribbons at fairs.

In 1948, she was bedroom demonstrator for the Grandview 4-H Club. She started with a bare room except for bedsprings and mattress and remodeled an old bed, bought an unfinished dressing table, chest of drawers and bedside stands and painted them white. She made blue chintz bedspread and drapes and white marquette curtains for the windows and dressing table. With all the other things she bought such as mirrors, bed lamp, shades and curtain rods she completely redecorated for slightly more than $80.

Scout Executive Addresses Group

The Junior High Department of the First Methodist Church held a formal dinner recently in the Fellowship Hall of the church. W. B. Weathered, toastmaster, introduced the evening's speaker, Paul Beisenherz.

Decorations throughout the room followed the George Washington theme. Table decorations included logs and hatchets, cherry trees and place cards made in the shape of log cabins. Silhouettes of George and Martha Washington were placed down the center of the tables.

The room was decorated with red, white and blue streamers and in the center of the room was a big "cherry tree" decorated with candy cherries.

The High School Junior Girls' Sextette sang two selections. Guests at the banquet were the Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Sunday School Superintendent Arthur Teed and Mrs. Teed and the Sunday School teachers and their husbands and wives.

About 100 people attended the banquet.

Larry Killgo Has Birthday Party

Mrs. J. K. Killgo honored her son, Larry James, with a party Tuesday, his third birthday. Mrs. Killgo was assisted by Larry's grandmother, Mrs. J. Y. Kidwell, and his aunt, Mrs. J. W. Kidwell.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served to: Jimmie and Winnie, Ronald and F. Francis Killian, Johnnie and Jean Wilkins, Pat Adams, Ooris Lynn Evers, Glenda Lewis, Jackie and Billy Kidwell, Sammy Konecky, Mackie Randolph and Jan Killgo.

Hopkins HD Has Rug Discussion

Hopkins Home Demonstration Club had a rug demonstration when it met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. K. E. Thornton.

Mrs. W. E. Melton and Mrs. B. V. Brummett gave the demonstration.

Mrs. Paul Rice, president, had charge of the business meeting at which the club voted to have a party every three months for club members and their families.

Mrs. B. V. Brummett led the patriotic song and games and Mrs. R. Orr read a letter from a French lady, Mrs. A. W. Griggs reported on the council meeting.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A survey recently made by a woman's magazine shows that of the boys and girls questioned throughout the country 61 percent think their fathers have more fun than their mothers.

The only thing surprising about that figure is that it isn't higher. For housewives, on the whole don't do much to promote the idea that they get much fun out of life.

What most kids hear from Mama is how hard she works, how tired down she is, how little the family co-operates with her in keeping the house clean, how she can't stop for a little fun with the children because she has so much to do.

When Mama does have a little leisure what she wants to do most is to get away from home and the kids. So the small fry seldom see Mama having fun. TOO BAD

It's really too bad that this is so. For children love to see their mother having fun. When she is happy some of her happiness spills over onto them.

So, perhaps, mothers should try to complete a little with Dad merly the Park Central Hotel. During the past 14 years that I have lived in the hotel, it has become known as the tournament bridge center of New York City. There are not many life masters in the country today who have not won some of their master points at The Park Sheraton. Charles Goren and I were discussing some of the tournaments held at the hotel, and he mentioned a United States Bridge Association tournament held here about 1935 in which the three leading pairs were within one and one-tenth points of each other. Not one of the three leading pairs missed the play in today's hand.

The opening lead of the queen of hearts was won in dummy with the ace. Look the hand over now and you will see that there is a losing heart and a losing spade. Should declarer run all of the clubs and hope to get a squeeze on the opponents?

The leaders in that tournament all decided it would be better to try to set the diamond suit, so their next play was the king of diamonds. South did not trump. He simply discarded the four of hearts.

West won the trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the jack of hearts, which declarer won with the king. Now a small club was played to dummy's jack, and on the queen of diamonds South discarded the seven of hearts.

A small diamond was led and ruffed by declarer and another club played to dummy's queen. A

USAF Tests 'Flying Triangle'

The Air Force's new research plane, Model 7002, prepares for a test flight at Muroc Air Force Base, Calif. The plane is equipped with a "Delta Wing," which is swept back at a 60-degree angle, compared to the 35-degree maximum on any other plane. The triangular wing has "elevons" in its trailing edges, eliminating the tail by combining the functions of aileron and elevator action. (U. S. Air Force photo from NEA-Acme.)

Movie Stars Tell of Best Performances

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — It's awards time again, so let's take nominations for the best movie performance of all time.

Professional and amateur soothsayers are now trying to predict the academy awards which will be named a month from now. Let's go beyond that and consider the best acting jobs in movie history. Our experts are people who should know — the movie stars themselves.

To prevent any ax-grinding, I stipulated that selections had to be dated before 1948. Here are the answers:

Dorothy Lamour: "I'm no dramatic critic, so I have to choose the role that made the strongest impression on me. It was Joan Crawford in 'Letty Lynton.' I was just Joe Public then (in fact, a Chicago elevator operator), but I knew Crawford was going to get an award some day."

Charles Bickford: "For integrity of performance you can't beat John Gilbert in 'The Big Parade.'"

Ann Sothern: "Garbo in 'Camille' was a faultless interpretation of the role."

Paul Henreid: "Rainu in 'The Baker's Wife.' A flawless performance."

Jeanette MacDonald: "Helen Hayes in 'The Sin of Madelon Claudet.' She had to grow from a young girl to a derelict old woman and she was forceful and convincing in every facet."

Joan Leslie: "Lulise Rainer in 'The Good Earth,' because her face reflected Chinese civilization itself."

Clark Gable: "Vivien Leigh in 'Gone With the Wind.' It was a pleasure to see her on the screen, as well as work with her."

Kirk Douglas: "Van Heflin in 'Johnny Eager.' He had a role with many pitfalls and he came through it on a straight course."

Maureen O'Hara: "Charles Laughton as Captain Bligh in 'Mutiny on the Bounty.' It's rare when an actor completely loses his identity in a role, as Laughton did."

Dennis O'Keefe: "Charles Chaplin in 'The Kid' and 'City Lights.' His scenes with the men from the orphan asylum and with the blind girl are tops in my memory."

Dividend of 25 Cents Declared

American oilmen discovered oil in 1942 on the island of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf.

Two Additional Divorces Granted

Two additional divorces were granted Friday in 21st District Court by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich on cruelty charges.

Awarded decrees by the Court were:

Jayne Hill from Chilton Hill. They were married in July, 1948, and separated in January, 1949.

Nora H. Matthews from R. E. Matthews. They were married in May, 1947, and separated in September, 1948.

Earlier, Friday, Judge Goodrich granted three other divorces, all on charges of cruelty, for a total of five divorces granted.

One adoption was granted Friday afternoon.

At present, the most important oil region in the Middle East lies in a great geologic trough extending down through Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and the sheikdoms of Kuwait, Bahrain and Qatar.

BUYING A BUSINESS

"Shoot first and ask questions later," was a rule of conduct of the old Southwest bad-men. Fortunately they are gone, but some people apply the same rule in buying a business. The buyer, without consulting his lawyer, buys a business and later discovers to his sorrow that chattel mortgages are on file against the furniture and equipment and the merchandise not paid for.

Your Lawyer is equipped by training and experience to protect you in such transactions. Before signing a contract or agreeing to buy a business, consult your lawyer. Have him prepare the contract of sale, make the necessary investigations and prepare the necessary papers of conveyance. A small expenditure for this professional service will protect you against serious loss.

Unusual Handpainted Map of U.S. On Display at Public Library

By ART FERRER
News Staff Writer

A hand-painted map of the United States, so intricately done that it looks from a distance like a fine engraving, is now on display in the Public Library in the basement of the City Hall.

The painting was made by George Vinoukoff, an American-born youth of Russian parentage, while still a 15-year-old high school junior in Maryland.

The map measures about 26 by 36 inches and depicts all the major historical events connected with the territorial expansion and settlement of the United States from the original 13 colonies to the admission of all the states and possessions into the Union.

A border of the 48 state seals surrounds the map, each about the size of a silver dollar. And in the small spaces between the map and the border are painted the island possessions and territories of the United States including Alaska, and the dates they were acquired.

Two boxes in the lower left of the painting explain the combinations used to divide various sections of American expansion and give the dates founding of the major American cities.

Iowa Takes Top In Farm Income

WASHINGTON (AP)—Iowa captured top national honors in 1948 cash farm income, but showed a smaller margin over its traditional rival, California, than in 1947.

The Agriculture Department reported that Iowa's 1948 cash farm receipts came to $2,354,733,000 while California ran up $2,207,639,000.

Texas was third with $1,953,014,000, just missing the $2 billion mark for the second straight year. Illinois earned the fourth spot with receipts of $1,835,897,000. Both these states occupied the same respective positions in 1947.

Browner's Luck

Dr. Walter Heil, director of the M. H. de Young museum, San Francisco, was browsing through a New York art dealer's shop and spotted this marble statue of a reclining boy. It had been in the shop, unidentified, for 25 years. Dr. Heil bought it at a low price. Tests proved it to be the work of Andrea del Verrocchio, famous 15th century Florentine sculptor, teacher of Leonardo da Vinci. Fewer than 20 pieces of his work have been located to date.

South America Worried Over African Colonial Development

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Intensive development of African possessions projected by Britain and other European countries has sent Brazilian industrial and agricultural leaders into an emergency huddle in the market place of Sao Paulo.

This meeting is to devise means to counter what they regard as a tremendous threat to Brazil's foreign markets. The crisis was outlined for the conference by Mario Penteado, an economic expert who is a member of the Economy Institute which is sponsoring the conference.

Penteado draws a grim picture for Brazil. He insists that every crop vital to the country will be grown in Africa. He says that the European colonial nations threaten Brazil's world markets in coffee, cotton, textiles, vegetable oils, fruits and cocoa. Brazil not only will lose those European countries as customers, he declares, but she will have to battle them for survival in the European markets as well.

The economist emphasizes his point by citing previous instances in which the country lost through foreign development. He says the Amazon rubber region was "ruined" when Brazilian rubber was taken to the East Indies. And as the result of Brazilian cocoa being grown on the African Gold Coast, the latter area now yields 90 percent of the world crop.

Penteado says Britain plans to develop 17 of 35 colonial areas to grow food and cattle. The government will work hand in hand with private enterprise. English banks are making long term loans for the African development.

Penteado points out that United States capital is being wooed with offers of free flow of profits. That is a true bill, as this column pointed out some time ago.

Whether Britain will profit by private American investments in her colonial development remains to be seen. It's clear that she hopes to attract capital from the United States in carrying out a program which in effect is a rehabilitation of the British Empire.

The Sao Paulo conference continues through this week. Great things may hinge on its decisions.

Electra to Vote On Water Bond Issue

ELECTRA — (AP) — A $550,000 water bond election will be held here Saturday.

Recruits Get Better Deals Than Generals

By HOWARD DOBSON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Army treats its recruits better than it does its generals.

That, at least, is the conclusion of Lawrence H. Whiting, member of a civilian commission appointed to study military pay and pensions.

He told a House Armed Services Subcommittee that the recruit is paid more than he could get in civilian life, but the general gets much less.

Whiting, a Chicago business man, testified in support of a bill to raise pay an average of 14 percent for the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, Public Health Service and Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The proposed increases range from 3.03 percent for the lowest enlisted grades to 48.55 percent for brigadier generals and officers and equivalent rank in the other services. Only the recruit, or Navy "Boot," the lowest enlisted rank, would get no increase.

Tyler to Have First School Camp

DALLAS — (AP) — Tyler, Tex., will be the first city in the United States to use an outdoor camp for regular studies by high school students, a camping authority said here.

Dr. Lloyd B. Sharp of Sussex, N. J., said other U. S. cities have approved camps as a part of grade and high school courses but Tyler will be the first to open a camp.

Tyler's public school camp is being built on Lake Tyler. Dr. Sharp was consulted when it was planned.

He is here to address an American Camping Association regional meeting.

Dr. Sharp is a special lecturer in education at New York University and director of Life Camp Leadership Training Camp at Sussex.

"In an hour in the outdoors," he said, "you can, under wise leadership, learn more about geography, history, science and art than you can in a school year."
