

RED CROSS DRIVE NETS $2,000 ON FIRST DAY

SEVEN YEAR OLD LUBBOCK BOY HIT BY CAR, FRACTURES SKULL

R. J. MURRAY, JR., IS STRUCK DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

ACCIDENT IS PART OF A WAVE OF AUTO CRASHES

LAD HAS A CHANCE

DOCTORS SAY INJURY IS SERIOUS, BUT MAY NOT BE FATAL

Climaxing the epidemic of automobile accidents which has swept Lubbock during the last few days, R. J. Murray Jr., seven year old son of R. J. Murray, of 2112 Main street, State Park townsite agent, was struck by an automobile as he was crossing the street in front of his home yesterday about 4 p. m. and last night lay in a hospital here with a basal fracture of the skull.

Boy May Live
Doyle Roberts, who lives north of Lubbock, was driving the Ford roadster which struck the lad. Vision was difficult owing to the blowing sand. He picked the wounded lad up and carried him to the hospital, where last night physicians said that the youngster's chances of recovery were good in spite of the seriousness of his injury.

The boy had been brought home from school in the car of Mrs. Sam Weaver, and got out in front of his own home, started running across the street to enter a car which his mother was driving. The roadster driven by Roberts then struck him. Mr. Roberts picked the boy up and took him to a hospital for treatment.

R. J. Murray, Sr., who was at home when he received news of the serious injury to his son, hurried home by bus and arrived here at 2 o'clock this morning.

REV. A. P. KOEN DIES

Mr. Koen, who was born in Tennessee, has been preaching for forty years the last three in Lubbock.

He is survived by his widow, by six sons, L. W. and J. D. of Hamilton; R. D. and W. L. of Plainview; A. J. of Dallas, and Ernest of Morton; and by two daughters, Mrs. Frankie Denmark, of Amarillo, and Miss Elizabeth Koen, of Lubbock.

Mr. Koen has been ill for many months.

His furniture and Undertaking company have charge of the funeral arrangements.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Tom Cheate Shifts Guilt of Death of Texas Dentist to Shoulders of Another Man

MARIETTA, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Tom Cheate, farm hand, was acquitted in district court here late today of the slaying of Dr. J. P. Jenkins, Gainesville, Texas, and Sam Carpenter, another farm laborer, who were arrested on testimony given by Cheate.

Cheate was found not guilty after the jury had deliberated twenty minutes.

Carpenter was arrested by order of District Judge E. A. Walden, after Cheate had testified to a conversation he said he had with Carpenter and Mrs. Jenkins, the slain dentist's wife, relative to a plan to kill Jenkins. No charge had been filed against Carpenter early tonight.

McCOMBS GIVEN TWO YEARS IN PEN

ALIBI WITNESSES FAIL TO CONVICT JURY IN TRIAL

IN 72ND COURT

In spite of testimony of two witnesses supporting an alibi claim, Don F. McCombs, former automobile salesman and cotton buyer, and a disabled veteran of the world war, was found guilty by a jury in the 72nd district court yesterday of selling five gallons of whiskey to some men on the Shallowater road on November 5, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The jury was out thirty minutes.

McCombs has several other indictments pending, charging violation of the prohibition law.

The Testimony

Brown Sides and Henry McCleskey of Shallowater testified that they and another man had met McCombs near a brick school house on the day in question and that he had loaded the five gallons of whiskey from his car into theirs.

McCombs said he was in Lubbock till noon that day and then went to Post, accompanied by D. M. Beauchamp of the Palace barber shop here. Beauchamp corroborated this testimony. Dr. W. L. W. Kitchens of Post said McCombs called on him late that afternoon in Post.

Beauchamp was again placed on the stand and this time testified that there are two other men in Lubbock that greatly resemble McCombs, and that former witnesses might have been mistaken in his identity.

ADMITS EMBEZZLEMENT

Fred Glover Surrenders and is Said To Have Confessed Theft of $100.00 in New Orleans

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Facing a charge of embezzlement in the sum of $100.00, Fred C. SOUTH TEXAS C. C. IS ORGANIZED

ANOTHER SECTION FOLLOWS EXAMPLE OF WEST TEXAS IN ADVERTISING

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16.—The South Texas Chamber of Commerce was born here Tuesday with approximately 40 organizations as members. The organization extends from Brownsville to San Antonio and Laredo to Victoria. Cities in 42 counties are members. The organization was completed with the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, and the reorganization of a board of directors consisting of the presidents of all the affiliated bodies. The board of directors will hold its first meeting Wednesday and at the same time the secretaries and managers will meet to form a South Texas organization. Ralph Bostford of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce, Porter A. Whaley, of the San Antonio chamber, C. C. Richardson, Houston; Charles Mumm, Laredo, and E. K. Fawcett, Laredo, drew up the constitution and by-laws.

No Headquarters Yet

No attempt was made to decide on a location for the headquarters of the organization, but this question is expected to come up Wednesday at the meeting of the board of directors.

One of the chief functions of the organization will be advertising of South Texas resources and possibilities. It was brought out in discussions during the day. This committee will be comprehensive and will give complete coverage over the United States as well as parts of Canada and Mexico when under way. The consensus of opinion on the floor Tuesday was, however, that this would not be gotten under way until next spring, pending the disbanding of a local committee organization and the development of confidence and ability of the organization before the organization starts out to raise the necessary funds.

Three other activities, equally as important as the proposed advertising campaign will be gotten under way along with the advertising. Agriculture and irrigation problems will occupy an important place on the list of objectives. Transportation, one of the most vital problems faced by a fast developing section will require much attention and a local committee organization and the development of confidence and ability of the organization before the organization starts out to raise the necessary funds.

COTTON MILL AND BOX CARS BURN AND FIRE THREATENS CITY

While a high chill wind swept and through the streets of Lubbock for a few hours late yesterday, and the mercury scurried down from 75 at its highest to 35 and on down toward the freezing point, other West Texas towns were reporting similar visitations of the elements. The wind fanned a disastrous blaze in Seymour, stirred burning trash into a blaze at Stamford, with a small money loss, and might have sent flames from a burning Lubbock building caving over the flat, had it not been for quick work on the part of firemen in getting the fire under control. At midnight the wind had gone down.

$75,000 Fire Loss at Seymour

Whit's Storm Blows

SEYMOUR, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—At 11:30 tonight firemen here were bringing under control a blaze which had raged for more than three hours in the Seymour cotton oil mill and cotton yard. At that time the loss which first was feared would reach half a million dollars, when the entire plant was threatened with destruction was estimated at less than $75,000.

Severe Brown, a fireman, was overcome by smoke but not seriously injured during the battle with the flames which was still in progress just before midnight. Fire fighters appeared to have the flames' spread checked, but were battling against a strong wind that was showering sparks over buildings in the business section. Here volunteers fire fighters kept diligent watch to keep other structures from igniting.

A string of six box cars of the Wichita Valley Railway set near the mill for loading were destroyed.

Leaders of the fire fighting forces, although confident that spread of the flames to other buildings had been checked, declared that the high wind blowing here constituted a grave danger.

Definite losses from the fire at 11:45 included the destruction of the seed house and machine shop, valued at $40,000, a large quantity of cotton seed and meal and more than 500 bales of lint.

Flames were still burning in the main building of the plant but the firemen reported that water hose were gaining on the fire in this section of the mill.

Sand Storm in Stamford

STAMFORD, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—A severe sand storm struck this city at 7:48 tonight, and at 11:49 was still pouring hard. No damage has been reported from wind, but fire starting from burning trash at the rear of the Central West Drug Co., caused several hundred dollars loss to that store, and threatened to spread to other buildings but work of the fire department prevented.

Wind At Hamlin

HAMLIN, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Hamlin was struck at 6:48 by a strong wind which carried much dirt but caused no damage. The sandstorm continued for about one hour.

HUNDREDS HEAR CHITWOOD TALKS

COOKING EXPERT WILL TELL TODAY HOW TO MAKE FRUIT CAKE

Stressing scientific and economic principles of cookery, Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, nationally famous food expert, gave her second lecture-demonstration of the Avalanche-Journal cooking school Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the Ellis Building, beginning promptly at 2 o'clock with several hundred women present. Many others came in after Mrs. Chitwood had progressed with her lecture, filling the room during the afternoon.

The program for the afternoon was changed from salads just before time for school to open since the colored maid employed to assist Mrs. Chitwood on Monday, failed to show up Tuesday. Two other maids were employed in time for the afternoon class but they were not secured in time for the expert to give her salad demonstration. A course in frozen desserts and biscuits, one that was particularly interesting was substituted and those who came especially to learn about salads, expressed no disappointment in the change.

Cake Today

Her program for this afternoon is to be on cakes and she has promised to give some recipes for fruit and holiday cakes that will be particularly acceptable at this time.

"Marriage is a cooperative business and a man's wife is responsible for 50 per cent of his success or failure," Mrs. Chitwood said yesterday in talking of the science of cookery. She deplored the tendency of modern girls to seek wealthy men for mates, saying that money does not make a happy home. However, money does not preclude happiness, she thinks.

It is necessary that women be fitted for their part of making a success of the home and they should be entitled to spend one-half of the money made by their husbands with their help, she stated, urging the woman to fit their homes with modern equipment conveniently arranged.

Biscuit Recipe

With the biscuit recipe which she gave Tuesday afternoon and which she said would always be a success if the ingredients she used were incorporated in them, she adjusted the women to make a laboratory of their kitchens, testing out the various brands of foods studying their contents in order that they might know what elements they were combining and the reactions of these elements when mixed. "If you take care of the fundamentals in cookery, you will get desired results," she said.

In her talks, Mrs. Chitwood shows scientific methods of measuring, explaining why different methods are used for various foods. In addition to the information given in her talks and which she has selected after talking with housewives in every section of the country, she answers questions that those in attendance may have to ask. Some idea of her contacts with women may be judged since she lectured to 142,000 Texas women alone last year.

Lectures on vegetables, salads and meats will follow during the week, the school beginning promptly at 2 o'clock each afternoon and lasting until 4 o'clock. Although attendance at every lecture is advisable, each lecture is complete within itself.

Old Creek Floods Mine Shaft in Pennsylvania; Recent Rains Have Done Much Damage to Coal Workings

HAZELTON, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Six miners were trapped today in the Tomhicken mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, near this city, as a result of an old creek bed near the mine breaking away and flooding the mine. An incessant rain for the past 24 hours, has caused great damage due to floodings in all anthracite mines in this region.

FIRE AT CUSHING

Quarter Million Loss to Refining Company in Oklahoma Town Is Reported

CUSHING, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Cushing Empire Refining company north of Cushing was menaced by flames at 6:20 o'clock tonight and it is expected will be a total loss since the heat is so intense that workmen can not approach with chemicals. The value is at least $250,000.

IT WASN'T KING DAVID

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 16 (AP)—A man closely resembling "King" Benjamin Burnell, former Michigan colonel leader of the house of David wanted on indictments in connection with cult practices and questioned more than an hour here today before city and county officers decided he was not Burnell, for whom a reward is offered.

CONFESSES KILLING OF TEXAS WOMAN

WICHITA FALLS MAN, WHO MAY DIE OF WOUNDS, TELLS STORY OF SHOOTING

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Admission that he fired the shots which killed Mrs. Katy Goodman, wife of an ice wagon driver, and probably fatally wounded himself, was made tonight from his bed in a local hospital by W. M. Hoover, local painter. The statement accepting responsibility for the shooting was made to agents of the District Attorney's office who made it public tonight.

In Pool of Blood

Mrs. Goodman and Hoover were found in the Goodman apartment lying on the floor in a pool of blood, Tuesday at noon, following the firing of five shots from a revolver. Mrs. Goodman was dead, having been struck by four of the bullets and Hoover was in a critical condition from a single shot just above the heart. No empty shells were in the gun, which was found lying on the floor, but five empty revolver shells were found on the floor in an adjoining room. Hoover had shot the woman, shot himself, then removed the shells from the gun and walked to the adjoining room where he threw them on the floor. He then walked back into the room and fell unconscious on the floor beside the woman, it is stated of the shooting is true.

CANDY FACTORY BURNS

Good Work on Part of Firemen Keeps Flames from Spreading in High Wind

Good work on the part of the Lubbock department, and probably some assistance from Lady Luck, was evident last night when, with a strong wind blowing from the north, flames which leaped from a local candy company building at 1712 Avenue H, were extinguished before they spread to a mattress factory nearby abutting the building on the south, and a filling station just beyond. The fraps and galvanized iron structure which housed the candy factory, owned by E. A. Hankins, was badly damaged, as was the stock of goods.

COOLIDGE URGES CITIZENS TO CONTRIBUTE TO RELIEF WORK

"We'll be back today to finish the job," Mayor Pink L. Parrish stated last yesterday in speaking of the 1927 Red Cross drive which was launched here yesterday. At the final count last night more than $2,000 had been subscribed for the fund and the men will again take the streets today to get the other $4,000.

The business firms and citizens of Lubbock responded wonderfully to the drive yesterday according to the captains of the teams. All of the city was not covered yesterday but will be taken in today. As the men stated before starting yesterday, every man will have a chance to do his bit toward the charities of the city.

Any Amount

Amounts from fifty cents to fifty dollars were subscribed, the teams not making any assessment but merely calling for what the individual thinks he can give.

The drive is of national interest, although the money collected here will be kept in the city of Lubbock. All of the cities of the nation are now making their appeals for the Red Cross. Below is an extract from the letter received by the local chapter from President Calvin C. Coolidge, concerning the drive:

"It is a privilege and a duty shared by all our people to continue our support of this fine organization. As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross I earnestly ask all our citizens to renew their membership in this heroic of mercy."

Howard Payne President Says Baptist Schools Should Be "Seed Corn of Kingdom"

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Denominational schools should be the "seed corn" of the kingdom of Christ and not merely a means of making dollars and cents, Dr. Edgar Godbold, President of Howard Payne college, declared here Tuesday in an address before the annual convention of the Women's Missionary Union of the second day of the three day Baptist church in Texas.

The afternoon and night session of the convention were devoted to educational problems, the W. M. U. training school, and to the responsibilities of women of the church.

ADMITS KILLING TWO

Mystery Slaying in Scotland North Dakota Cleared Up By Confession of Farmer

SCOTLAND, S. D., Nov. 16 (AP)—Walter Zweifel, 34-year-old Hutchinson county farmer, confessed tonight to sheriff Koenig at Parkston, to the killing of two persons and the wounding of three others in a shotgun assault near here last night.

Jealousy over division of lands was the motive given for the crime. He is in a hospital at Parkston, where it is believed he will recover. He was captured at his home five miles south of Parkston, after authorities had sought a maniac in the assault made at the John Gross farm northwest of here last night. Zweifel is a son-in-law of Gross.

STUDENT SENTENCED

Farmer President Seizes Student Council Gets Six Months for Alleged Mashed Episode

NORMAN, Oklahoma, Nov. 16 (AP)—Leo Thompson, former president of the student council at the University of Oklahoma, was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 late today by a jury in Cleveland county court which found him guilty of violation of the state anti-masking law.

The charge against Thompson was brought by Joe Crowe, school teacher and Camargo, who was a student at the university last year. He alleged that a masked band, of which Thompson was a member, kidnapped him from a club meeting last December, and mistreated him after taking him into the country.

TECH DE MOLAYS URGED TO ATTEND LOCAL CHAPTER MEETINGS

All Tech students who are members of the order of De Molay are especially invited to attend all meetings of the Lubbock chapter and take part in the ceremonies, according to a statement made yesterday by Sterling Parrish, master counselor. It is his wish that the Tech students take as much part in the chapter here as they did at home. The students themselves should make it a part of their duty to keep up the work of the order. Parrish stated.

Meetings are held on the first and third Thursday nights of each month. A good representation is expected for the meeting tomorrow night.

LARGE ATTENDANCE EXPECTED FOR TECH NIGHT PROGRAMS

With the members of the pep squad out selling tickets, a large crowd is expected for both nights of the Tech programs which will be given at the Palace starting tonight. Seven hundred and fifty tickets will be sold by the students. The programs will be given twice during an evening performance, at seven and nine o'clock. According to Miss Anna Belle Collins, manager of the girls pep squad, the programs are very clever and unique and the patrons can be assured of a good performance.

SPANISH CLUB TO MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

Continuing their work of studying the Spanish language in the recreational form, the Spanish club of the Tech will meet in a regular meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 in room 203 of the administration building. New members will be taken into the organization and a good program is scheduled.

The club is planning for an entertainment in the next month carrying out the Spanish Christmas celebration idea. An entertainment of that nature was given last year and was enjoyed by the members.

BEAT HOWARD PAYNE PEP MEETING TONIGHT

Remembering that Howard Payne was the only team which prevented the Mustangs from being undefeated in their first season, the students will gather tonight at 7:30 in the pavilion to practice on yells preparatory to making the team to the limit at the game tomorrow. A banner reading "Sweeped and the yell leaders are urging that every student attend."

The staff of La Ventana have announced that November 26 will be the last day for pictures to be made for the 1927 yearbook. The contract of the book calls for the pictures to be in by that date and they must abide by the contract. All superclassmen are asked to have their pictures made at once.

The pictures of the girls who are nominated for the beauty section of the book must be made and in by that time also. Much interest is being manifested in the beauty section of the annual and the editors are looking forward to this being one of the features. This section will contain the pictures of eight girls of the college to be selected by Mr. Lore, artist for the Southwestern Engraving company.

The Woman's Day

Is there any normal man or woman who is not interested in the subject of marriage? Because the answer is "no" there is a new book on the market—511 pages worth of it—turning the marriage garment wrong side out, showing it by headlight, made French, with the couch unbuttoned edges. This time is Count Heyerling's "Book of Marriage." It contains the marriage ideas of 24 great modern figures—writers, economists, sociologists.

The intelligence quotient of these 24 would average about one million each. The subject of marriage changes under their hands into something for different to the old simple law of two young people in love, were married, established a home and lived happily ever after.

Marriage has always existed, they say. No pre-marriage period among any savage race has ever been discovered. There have always been three motives for marriage say they—mutual sympathy, desire for offspring, and mutual aid in the struggle for existence.

Have you ever noticed how the young of the species of the opposite sex squabble and bicker about nothing these days? It seems there's a reaction—sort of a let out of, suppressed emotion. There's a savage tribe in which custom decrees regular community staged fights between young courting males and females. At what they call a "courbet," probably a sort of swell ball, the girls band together and kill a bird, which is the token brother of the man. This awakens the men's lust for vengeance. The young belligerents are attacked with sticks and pummeled to a turn. The next day the men kill a blue wren which is supposed to be an "elder sister" of the girls. Then there's a new fight as the girls pound the hole in a jelly. Whilst wounds are healing, the pairs get acquainted and romance begins to ferment.

Then comes forth this wise crack at America's young in a chapter which discusses marriage in the new world. "The most striking characteristic among the younger generation is the utter absence of any sense of responsibility or regard for anything except what affects their personal feelings. Obligations to society or custom, even duty to children when they conflict with the individual's own wishes, scarcely exist."

The Other Charlie Chaplin—Plain American Dad!

Slapstick comedy and his yearned-for tragedy, are the things of which most folk think when Charlie Chaplin's name is mentioned. But there is still another Charlie—the plain American dad! Here he is in that role, telling Mrs. Leta Gray Chaplin and Charles Spencer Chaplin Jr., goodbye, as they sail from Los Angeles, for a visit to Honolulu. It's the first time the three have ever been photographed together.

ITALIAN NEWS IS BEHIND THE TIMES

CHAS. E. HUGHES IS GREETED IN ROME AS ILLUSTRIOUS VICE-PRESIDENT

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP)—Political editorials and editorial-news stories are the chief item of newspaper diet in Italy. American news usually comes second, or third, behind, through London or Paris, in the form of clippings from old American newspapers. No regular telegraphic correspondents are maintained in the United States, and ramifications of American politics and the details of American federal and state government apparently mostly are a mystery. When Charles E. Hughes visited Rome he was greeted by the newspapers as "the illustrious vice-president of the United States."

Like Freak Stories Preference is given to freak and feature stories. Great disasters or other events putting the United States in the position of the hearth of stupendous occurrences are good for a paragraph or two.

Italian newspapers rely for well over half of their pictures on clippings from American newspapers. In some cases the original captions are frankly changed. In others, they are dropped altogether and replaced by odd subcaptions.

A picture of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford showing them visiting a children's asylum and holding two infants in their arms was captioned: "Movie stars with their two lovely children." Showing the damage in the flourishing town of Leo King West.

Display Ads Unknown The newspapers generally are six pages in size. Foreign news finds little space in them, almost all of it being of a political nature, mostly referring to matters in which Italy is interested or concerned.

The typical make-up devotes all of the first and most of the second page to lengthy editorial articles and editorial-news stories devoted to domestic politics. Similar articles about the particular foreign political situation which happens to be important are sandwiched among these. From one-half to a full page each are devoted to local and domestic news. Advertising seldom exceeds one full page. Display advertising is wholly unknown.

On the average, the activities of the dear girls of England and France are wearing out rings so heavy that they must be removed before and after meals to rest the ears. Rings are being played for the rings because the screw-on method pulls the lobes of the ear out of shape.

Mrs. Jean Nisk, who has worn for several years, the title of "the best dressed woman in the world," does not mind the title. Queen Marie is now the best dressed woman of the world. Mrs. Nisk gladly surrenders her title. She has recently acquired a new and fifth husband, making her full name Mrs. Jean Kerwin. Sifton Niska Sabal Rey Dubanmet. She says "I abandon the title of the best dressed woman" to any woman who cares to make her own affairs the affairs of the world. But from now on, I have other objects in life. From now on you may call me "the happiest woman in the world."

Now, what we, the sisterhood, want to know is not whether her distinction of being the best dressed woman might not have had something to do with her annexing of five husbands, the last of whom makes her say that she only wants to be left alone to be happy. After all, pretty sticks are one way, man catching sticks fly-paper.

ALL THE LORD'S—Thine, O Lord, is the all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine." 1 Chron. 29:11.

MORE OF FRATERNITY IN THE HOME LIFE

When the word fraternity is sounded, most people's mind at once flash to the lodge hall, and they seem to think that fraternity is only to be talked of or thought of within the four walls of the organizations called lodges. This we believe is a mistaken idea that some folks have. We hear much about life being what we make it, we wonder if it is not largely true. This means very little to those whose every need has always been supplied, but to those who suffer from sorrow, poverty, or many of the other ills to which flesh is heir, the realization of this familiar sentence comes as a real awakening. The understanding that man is endowed with the power to rise above unpleasant surroundings and inharmionous conditions, and that he is not a victim of circumstances, enlightens the thought and brings into life experiences which make for joy and happiness. Many have risen from a sense of grief and pain through this realization. Fraternity, put into practice, is the basis of all true happiness. Fraternity is synonymous with love, and wherever love reigns supreme, discords of all the various natures will melt into oblivion. It is upon this principle of love that our home is founded, and it is our privilege, as well as our duty, to follow and exemplify the teachings of fraternity, and thus demonstrate that the practice of fraternalism is a real and living principle.

Just as charity begins in the home, so fraternity begins in the home. Loving and harmonious home life cannot long be hidden in the immediate home circles, but, like the sunbeams, it radiates into the far distance.

Yes, "life is what you make it" and it is our privilege to determine just how much of fraternity we shall put into our lives. Great men and women whose lives stand out as models, after which we may pattern, are not those who have never met a single problem, but they are those who have not only met them, but into their character has been carved the principle of fraternity. They have been real fraternalists.

So, our happiness, too, depends upon the amount of fraternity which we put into our life. The true law of cause and effect forbids our taking out any more than we have put into it, and by putting in much fraternity, our life will be molded into richness and usefulness. Fraternity means love; love means service; service means self-forgetfulness; self-forgetfulness means happiness.

PAYING FOR THE WORLD WAR

Nations beyond the sea owe us huge sums of money. These nations were our allies in a great war, and what they owe us represents expenses they incurred on account of the war either in the direct prosecution of it or in consequence of it. Certain great moral considerations attach to these debts, profoundly affecting the peace and good will of the world. These considerations bring the whole question within the purview of all good citizens. These debts have been much tangled up with the question of German reparations. And about reparations there was one mistake made to begin with. The fundamental equities of the situation were never reached and could never have been reached except by confiscating the entire property of the German war lords who put the German people into the war, having miseducated them for a whole generation to that end. If this had been done, it would have simplified the matter of reparations for the masses of the German people. It is not right where a very great wrong has been done to pile the burden upon those who are least guilty and leave the arch offenders rolling in luxury. However, that is now rather an academic consideration. We are confronted by the conditions the settlement imposed. The United States government has not been wise in handling these claims. They have been so handled that we are greatly despised in Europe, a most unfortunate fact surely. Nor is this the ordinary ill will of debtor against creditor. For England has effected as hard a settlement with France and with Italy as we did without inviting their hatred. Perhaps no authorized government agent has been guilty of it, but there has been too much said by senators and congressmen and some others looking to controlling the domestic affairs of these nations because they owed us. It was bad psychology. People have feelings. If they owe you, their feelings are the more acute. What other peoples spend in maintaining armies and what they spend for whiskey may be all a mistake, but that is their business. If it was bad psychology to be dabbling with their domestic affairs, it was worse psychology when our government agents themselves seemed to forget the history of European nations in relation to loaning money. Always there has been an eye to commercial advantage. So the Germans loaned the Turks, so the English loaned Egypt, and so the French loaned Morocco and Russia. The best authorities are telling us that the statesmanship of Europe, backed by numberless millions of their people, profoundly believe that our debt settlements with them are based upon this same principle and that the only terms we have been willing to accept are such as to enslave them for fifty or sixty years. This is the ground of Clemenceau's passionate words, "France is not for sale; we inherited her free, and we will leave her free," a voice heard around the world. We have had not only bad psychology; we seem to have been blind to certain great moral facts. It is the blindness that cannot see spiritual values, sees only the dollar. For this is not a mere commercial transaction; there are on every side of it deep spiritual values that cannot in any wise be measured by dollars and cents. The whole problem ought from the beginning to have been viewed from that angle, no less than from the angle of material values. What are our facts? It seems to be conceded that had we not entered this war England and France and Belgium, not to mention others, would have been wiped out. They had at stake all they hold dear. We saved them. No money can measure the value of that service. They undoubtedly owe us everything they can decently pay. They are in no position whatever to be making wry faces about money. That is one side of it. The other side of it is that it seems probable that it would have been next the turn of the United States to have at least entered a bitter and interminable struggle with the German conqueror, and so every dollar we put into this struggle was spent to uphold all we most hold dear. But even if we waive that, it will still remain as we look at the world and the future that it would have been an immeasurable loss to us had these nations been stripped of their power to stand with us in the promotion of all the great ideals that are common to us and themselves. No money could possibly measure such a loss for us. We were helping them to maintain for themselves and no less for ourselves things the value of which no money can measure. And since money cannot measure what we had at stake, we are in no position whatever to be making unreasonable demands. In such a situation to be grumbling and haggling over money and calling one another bad names is certainly a sorry spectacle. What ought to be done? Plainly the whole thing ought to be settled as friends settle their affairs.

Little Avalanches

Western civilization appears to be a too strenuous proposition for Jiddu Krishnamurti, Hindu Messiah who has been touring the United States. The strain of travel and public appearances has caused a breakdown of his health and physicians have ordered him into seclusion to recuperate.

Two famed ecclesiastics, Dean Inge of St. Paul's in London and the Bishop of Liverpool have both recently declared against the doctrine of eternal punishment. The Bishop says that "that crudity of the old pictures of bliss and torment shock us, and we are well rid of this teaching." A good many people live in the hope that the terrors of the hereafter have been considerably exaggerated.

Press dispatches report that "Scarface" Al Capone and other Chicago underworld leaders have signed a local Locarno pact, agreeing not to assassinate each other. Capone told reporters that rival gangsters had decided that was business enough for all, and that further killings were unnecessary. It is assumed that the gunmen will now devote all their attention to the general public.

Another bit of good news from Chicago is to the effect that "Three-Fingered Pete" Kosinski, liquor gangster, was blown to pieces by the premature detonation of explosives he was carrying. Pete had a long career of safe blowing and allied crimes, which thus came to a sudden end, happily for the rest of the community.

From the far-off Mediterranean island of Sardinia comes word of militant womanhood arrayed against male persecution. Charging discrimination because of sex on the part of professors in the Science College of Sassari, who finked all but three girls out of a class of 71, the young ladies proceeded to soundly box the ears of the said professors in the public square of the town.

School children of Uniontown, Pa., were temporarily jubilant when school teacher were forbidden to whip pupils without the written consent of the parents. The youngsters' tune changed when it developed that not only was permission for punishment freely given, but that an additional whaling usually awaited them at home.

Many of Uncle Sam's naturalized immigrants have risen to high estate, and such may be the good fortune of Atostolos Tavaliosoulos Panagiotakogoules, recently admitted to full citizenship. But the Boston Traveller expresses the hope, for his sake, that he does not rise to be secretary of the treasury and have to sign his name to Liberty Bonds and the like.

SO THINK WE

We think that a great many of the sheep skin diplomats would be worth a great deal more if the wool was on it.

We think Queen Marie has seen more money in America than she has seen in her own country.

We think they should pass a law in Chicago against gangsters carrying machine guns.

We think the low price of cotton has no effect on the minds of wild geese. They are not prejudiced against this country, for they are still coming this way.

We think so far as the weather is concerned we could hardly distinguish November from October.

We think that Will Rodgers might help the farmers out of their present predicament by using a cotton rope in putting up his stunts.

We think the G. O. P. will possibly try to put a bill through next session to prevent any man by the name of Smith running for office on the Democratic ticket.

We think the Sheriff has more whiskey making equipment than any other man in the county. But it is very still.

We think that Vane has the law on the fellows in the Senate anyhow. He has possession of the office and that is said to be nine points of the law.

We think that President Coolidge has preached economy so long that some of his administration supporters practice economy and did not vote last week in the general election.

We think the less you push, the less your chances are to get a spill.

We think the fellow who does not keep a stiff upper lip, in the days of depression, is not the man that relieves interest in times of prosperity, but pays it.

We think that if every desire was gratified to the average person for one day only, he would possibly learn a great lesson of contentment. Who of us knows exactly what is best for us, Narcosis!

We think if the fellow who was so especially well enlightened on the New York election situation, and who was brave enough to say that we did not know what we were talking about in our editorial of last Saturday morning, will just check up the recent votes in New York, he will find that we possibly had more dope on the election results than he thought for. To say the least of it, New York is not as wet as a lot of folks would like for it to be.

We think the reward for idleness is more idleness. Less money and no appreciation by the people of the country.

When the Far North Honors a Heroine

By NEA Service
NOME, Alaska, Nov. 15.—Here in the ice-locked heart of Alaska is a little spot that the sun of human sympathy has made warm.
If you look at the map of Alaska you will see a thin, waving line, somewhere midway between Nome and Teller. The line is marked Mary's River.
But it is not merely a river. Grizzled survivors of the days of the gold rush tell you that it is a monument. The river is a memorial to mother love.
More than a quarter of a century ago an Eskimo woman lived in an igloo on the river's bank. She had a husband and two bright-eyed Eskimo children of her own. Nearby, in other igloos, lived a few families. In the little settlement were 14 children.

That spring there was an epidemic of illness—skin to our modern "flu." About the same time the long lines of mines went marching from Nome on the two-day hike to the hills beyond Teller where new riches had been discovered.
When the disease left the Eskimo woman was childless and husbandless. The 14 children of the settlement were left without parents.
The Eskimo woman adopted them all. In her mother love for the orphan she buried her own heart-break.
The seekers for gold, staying over night at the river village, were fed and housed by the foster-mother of the children. They learned her story.
In the council of the north, around the crude stove of the igloo, they sat and considered her story. Her name was hard for them to say.
"Call her Mary—it's a grand old name!" one suggested.
The council debated the question of a monument. Erection of a shaft in the mining country seemed an impossible task. Besides, miners do not build monuments. They thought of the river. That was the answer, a perpetual monument to her, in summer a chattering stream, in winter an icy highway for sleds.

TEMPTATIONS OF YOUTH
Now wandering with Caesar through the various fields of Gaul And fighting with the Romans doesn't interest him at all. For who would follow Caesar in some ancient time affair? When the Turney-Dempsey prize fight is being shouted on the air? They give the youngster home-work as one thing they gave it to me. He's supposed to find the value of 2x plus 2y. But an algebraic problem is a trifle stale and flat When Alexander's pitching and flabbing Ruth is at the bat.

I may tell him that I studied through the winter evenings long. That I proved my tough examples till I knew that none was wrong. But when I was reading Caesar by the lamplight's mellow glow The room was always quiet, for we had no radio. Now the nights are filled with music, and the air is full of song. There's a prize fight in the parlor. You can hear the crowds applauding as the battle is begun. And I wonder that a youngster ever gets his home-work done.

DRIVING SAND STORM FAILS TO KEEP MATADOR HUSKIES FROM GRID FIELD THEY SCRIMMAGE IN SPITE OF ALL

Despite a driving sand storm Tuesday afternoon the Matadors were on the field at the usual time and the workout was just as stiff as ever. The coaches are taking no chances on the game this Thursday at 3:15 p. m. for the Yellowjackets handed the Matadors their only setback during Tech's initial season on the gridiron and those same Matadors who were run over ruthlessly last fall say "they shall not pass!" "Daddy" Amis' crew are known for their hard hitting and driving power, but they will meet competition in the personnel of Head Coach Freeland's line. His backfield demonstrated a kind of offense in last week's encounter with the Wildcats which was far superior to any previous exposition on their new oval, and they too, must be stopped before all obstacles are removed.

The boys from Howard Payne have eyes on the Yellowjackets ambitions are theoretically has a successful season already, as they have defeated Trinity U. 7-6; Austin college 3-0; Abilene Christian 23-0; San Marcos 23-26; St. Edwards 7-6; and also trimmed Southwestern by an overwhelming score, but they will consider it a successful season in reality if they turn the trick on the Scarlet Thursday afternoon. On the other hand, the Matadors have been pointed to two games all the season, and Thursday, the last of these shots comes to a focus and the explosion will be terrific. A large crowd than was present at the Armistice day game of 3500 people, as this will be Lubbock's last chance to see the Tech boys in action at home until far off 1927.

Reserved tickets are on sale at the Lubbock hotel drug company.

Thomas—It's a Grand Old Name

By NEA Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—If history really does repeat itself, a few million gridiron fans in this country are scheduled to hear considerable about two brothers on the University of Southern California varsity. They are Max and Lloyd Thomas, younger brothers of John and Harry Thomas, who set the Big Ten buzzing with their plucky accomplishments at the University of Chicago a few years back.

John Thomas enrolled in Alonzo Stagg's institution in 1919 as a freshman. The following year he held down a regular berth in the backfield and his brother Harry scampered about with the Maroon yearlings. In 1921-22 both were regular backs on Stagg's eleven and John was named as fullback on Walter Camp's All-American team the latter season. John and Harry Thomas will long hold the memories of Chicago students and alumni. Even songs have been written about them. Max Thomas, now a junior at U. S.

received his freshman training under Stagg at Chicago. Then he transferred to his present alma mater but was unable to play last season because of Pacific Coast Conference rules. He is wearing the varsity uniform this year, however, as is Lloyd a sophomore.

Howard Jones, Trojan mentor, sees big things in store for these boys. He claims they are natural born players. And they probably are—at least their older brothers were.

Both boys are backfield men—and again they compare exactly to the Thomases of Maroon fame. John, the elder, was a fullback and Harry played halfback. Max, the elder, plays fullback while Lloyd fills a halfback berth on '26, and all four played football at the same high school in Jamestown, N. D.

Max is especially good at open field running. He is fast and shifty and is also a good man on the sending end of a forward pass combination. Lloyd shines on the defense. He is fast and when he tackles they stay tackled.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

Thursday the Matadors will attempt to wash the Yellow Jacket stain from their record. Last season the Matadors lost to Howard Payne by a score of 28 to 0. The Jackets are coming here with a very strong combination and a machine that is leading the Texas conference for this season.

Freeland's line is training for the hip-hop system that is used by the Howard Payne club at all times during the game. Last season this hip-hop stuff wore the "bull fighters" down. It is too much a jump and many referees over the state assess penalties for the use of the play.

Boyd, Caldwell, and Fields will be matched against the Scarlet and Black powerful backfield. This combination is a consistent ground gaining machine and has ripped and tore through strong defensive walls of the colleges of the state.

Boyd, the flash of the Yellow Jacket backfield, received an injury in Trinity game; however, he played against the Kangaroo crew on Armistice Day and it is quite probable that he will work against the Matadors Thursday.

The Westerner special train will likely run. However, at the present time no definite order has been given for the equipment. The rate for this trip is $3.50 for round trip.

A special train of 200 people should journey to Amarillo Saturday and assist the Westerners in putting over a victory on the Sables. The Sables have never been beaten by a Lubbock high school club.

Friday a new fight will be shown on the Class B conference of the South Plains. The undefeated Wildcats of Littlefield and the undefeated White-wings will clash in Littlefield on Friday afternoon. The fact that neither of the teams have been beaten promises a real fight for the stake. The winner of this game will meet the Sinton Tigers of the railway city.

The fighting Irish have been stirred up—the Matadors have gotten mean—the game Thursday with the Howard Payne crew will present a fight for the fans of the South Plains to witness. Coach "Big U" is whipping the wearers of the Scarlet and Black through steady drives in preparation for the game.

Smith and Reynolds, the flash of the high school game last Saturday, will likely bear the offensive burden of the Westerners against the Sables Saturday.

Powell played a good game at quarter last Saturday, showing good judgment on plays time and again. He runs the team very smoothly, and deserves much credit for the victory of the game Saturday.

Athletic Czars Ban Barnstorming

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Amateur union today put its foot down on further "barnstorming" trips by foreign athletic stars in the United States at least for the period between now and the 1928 Olympic games.

Action on the recommendations of its foreign relations committee the convention of the national sports governing body rejected plans which contemplated visits to this country this winter by such European stars as Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, Edwin Wide of Sweden and Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany.

Controversies which have grown out of Nurmi's 1925 visit here and the tour earlier this year of Charley Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter, figured largely in the A. A. U. decision to remove possible commercialism in connection with future visits of such stars.

The convention also barred all proposals for competition by American athletes abroad during the next year. This action cuts off contemplated visits of this country's talent to Japan, New Zealand, South Africa and the Scandinavian nations.

The reelection of Murray Hulbert of New York as president for a third term and the selection of Cincinnati for the 1927 convention were other features of the closing sessions.

Additional national championships awards were ratified as follows: Eight lifting, Philadelphia; senior volleyball, Buffalo; junior volleyball, Pittsburgh; basket ball, Kansas City, Mo.

Many telephone lines in Italy are broken.

Duffey Record Is Again Turned Down

BALTIMORE, Mr., Nov. 16 (AP)—Finnis was written today to a colorful chapter of athletic history when the amateur athletic union, after a prolonged debate at its closing convention, refused to reconsider a 21 year old decision barring recognition as an amateur record to the performance of Arthur F. Duffey, who ran 100 yards in 9 3/4 seconds in 1902.

Charges of professionalism against Duffey, now a Boston sports writer, were responsible for expunging his marks from the books in 1905, after it had stood for three years as the accepted world's record.

The contention of his supporters has been that at the time he made the mark, May 31, 1902, at New York, in the intercollegiate championships, he had not professionalized himself. It has taken 24 years to put on the books a mark better than Duffey's, the convention here having accepted Charles W. Paddock's record of 9 5/10 seconds.

PIG WOMAN WILL GO ON THE STAND

PROSECUTION PROMISES TO PRODUCE STAR HALL-MILLS WITNESS

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 16. (AP)—Promises of prosecution in the Hall-Mills case to offer Mrs. Jana Gibson as a witness Thursday morning at 10 o'clock today caused an adjournment of the trial until that hour.

Mrs. Gibson, a woman farmer who raised pigs near the spot where the bodies of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills were found, more than four years ago, is expected to testify she was in the immediate vicinity of the place where the minister and chor singer were slain an unrecognized one of the defendants.

Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, is asking for an adjournment until Thursday, told the court today that he had the assurance of doctors that Mrs. Gibson, ill for ten days in a Jersey City hospital, would be able to testify and undergo a reasonable cross examination Sunday. Simpson indicated that with Mrs. Gibson's testimony, his case will be virtually closed.

Over objection of the defense, the state today working for Mrs. Hall made efforts to suppress testimony. A diary previously identified as having been written by the slain minister and found in the home of the chor singer after her death, was read to the jury as was a copy of a prayer, the Rev. Mr. Hall wrote for Mrs. Mills when she went to a hospital for an operation in 1922.

Other documentary evidence admitted, was a statement by Henry Silveiros, made to Jersey City police officers investigating the double killing.

Expectation that Mrs. Gibson, regarded as the state's star witness, would be able to appear Thursday, means the case may go to the jury by Thanksgiving day. The prosecutor has said that direct examination of the witness will require only about 30 minutes. Extended cross examinations have been indicated by the defense counsel.

The defense has about 40 witnesses and members of the defense legal staff suggested that less than one-third of them be called to present their case.

The state's attack on methods of detectives working for Mrs. Hall was made just before the luncheon recess today, when two witnesses were called to testify as to the activities of Felix Di Martini, a private detective employed by the woman defendant. Peter Summer, a detective, said he was instructed by Di Martini to visit cigar stores and other places where persons talk a New Brunswick to see what he could hear, with particular emphasis on those giving information "offensive" to Mrs. Hall. Just before 10 o'clock, Mrs. DeMarost, was recalled to the stand to relate to conversation with Di Martini himself. Mrs. DeMarost had appeared in the case before to say she saw Henry Silveiros in New Brunswick the day after the double slaying.

YOUNGMAN TALKS TO BUSINESS MEN

NEW YORK EDITOR SEES PROSPERITY DUE SOUTH PLAINS

Speaking to a group of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at the Lubbock Hotel yesterday, Elmer H. Youngman, thirty years editor of the New York Banker, who is making a survey of the financial condition of the nation and especially of the South, stated that the South Plains territory showed more signs of prosperity than any other section of the nation. He lauded the condition of this section and paid a high tribute to the citizens, saying, "If I were asked upon my return to New York what one thing, in my opinion, is responsible for the wonderful progress of Texas, I would unhesitatingly answer 'The People'."

Youngman is covering a greater part of the south in the survey for the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to visit here. His publication, which is one of the foremost financial journals of America, will have a complete survey of his trip in the near future. Opinions and statistics were gathered yesterday by Youngman at the meeting from the various men. Informal talks were made by O. L. Stanton, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Don L. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural experimental station, Harry Blocker, local cotton buyer, and Arthur F. Duncan, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Such officials conferred with Youngman further in regards to the possibilities of the textile development in this section.

Harvard Resumes Play With Pennsy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 16. (AP)—Harvard college will resume football relations with the University of Pennsylvania next fall as a result of a break in athletic relations with Princeton. A two year lull and home series with the Quaker city team on the dates vacated by Princeton's withdrawal from the "Big Three" was announced tonight by the athletic authorities here.

Inset is "Jiggs" Lostelner, Ohio bank robber and murderer, who led the futile break.

Tadpoles Defeat Randolph College

CISCO, TEXAS, Nov. 14. (AP)—Texas Christian University's freshman football team defeated Randolph college 17 to 15 in a see-saw affair here this afternoon. The pollywogs, scored a field goal in the first minute of play after a Randolph fumble, but the Badgers retaliated with two touchdowns but failed to kick goal.

HIGHWAY BOARD REFUSES LOW BID

ADVISE OF DAN MOODY QUOTED BY EUGENE SMITH ON DEAL

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 16. (AP)—On advice of Attorney General Moody's department, the state highway commission Tuesday, eliminated from consideration the low bidder on a Washington county construction project that will cost approximately $42,800, chairman Eugene Smith told The Associated Press.

The Harrison engineering and construction corporation of Buffalo, New York, was low by several thousand dollars for the concrete paving of 15 miles of highway 25 in Washington county, but was eliminated because it did not have a permit to do business in Texas when it filed its bid.

PLANS READY FOR OPTOMETRISTS

DR. SWART SENDS OUT 128 SPECIAL INVITATIONS TO MEETING

With entertainment plans complete, Lubbock optometrists are waiting for the visitors to arrive for the first post graduate clinic of optometrists to be held on the Plains in a two-day meeting of more than 200 of the Texas optometric society which will start here Friday. Dr. Mallard F. Stewart, assistant chairman of the zone, has sent out special invitations to the 128 men in this district and every man is expected to attend.

A very busy session is being planned for the meeting here and many topics of the profession will be discussed in the meetings. Promoting a campaign of publicity for their work will be one of the main topics of the discussions along with professional studies. Industrial and school survey will occupy a part of their work also. Among the speakers here will be Dr. J. E. Christian, of Temple, and Dr. Harold M. Block, of Baylor university. Lectures and demonstrations will be conducted by the men, the clinic being held in the Lubbock hotel.

A part of the work of the men while here will be a discussion of the possible compulsory vision tests for motor drivers of Texas along with the passing of laws for motor licenses.

Approve World's Flyweight Bout

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission, today approved a world's flyweight championship match between Elmy Clarke of England and Fidel LaBarca of California, the defending title holder.

Endorsement of Clarke as an outstanding contender by Peg Heston, President of the National Sporting Club of London, brought about a change in attitude by the board, which last week declined to sanction the match at Tex Rickard's request, the Madison Square Garden promoter for November 21 for the contest.

Wild Turkeys Put in Palo Duro Canyon

CANYON, Tex., Nov. 16. (AP)—Wild turkeys have been placed in the Palo Duro Canyon game preserve near here.

Dr. Earl C. Axtell, deputy game warden for this district, put twenty-four bronze turkeys in the preserve, releasing them at widely separated points.

Deer, pheasants and quail are to be placed in the preserve with a few weeks.

Dr. Axtell was instrumental in getting the owners of Palo Duro canyon land to allow it to be set aside as a game preserve. It contains 120,000 acres. Dr. Axtell then resigned as deputy state game warden to take up his duties as federal game warden.

BANK RUN BY STUDENTS HAS RECORD DAY DEPOSIT

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 16. (AP)—Students in the Lynn English high school run their own savings bank and combine, in practical advantage, study and thrift. The bank is said to hold the records for deposits in such an institution in a single day—$2,150—received one Monday morning. The school has 1,400 students.

The Lynn system of a student-operated school bank has been tested by twelve years successful service. It has been copied in fourteen states and two foreign countries.

Regular banking rooms are maintained. Students, themselves, fill the various positions, receive the deposits and keep the accounts. The school savings plan has spread in one form or another in all the public schools of the city above the third grade. In that time the students have saved more than $200,000.

When "Uncle Joe" Cannon Was Czar

Never did newspaper cartoonists have another target like the one the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon supplied them when he was in his prime. Cannon, at the height of his power, was the most cartooned man in the country. Here are a few of the sketches of him that various newspaper caricaturists did in the days when he was speaker of the house of representatives and ruled with "a gavel of iron."

JAP READERS ALL FOR SPICY STUFF

PEPPERY SCANDAL FORM LARGE ELEMENT OF NEWS IN NIPPON

TOKYO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Peppery scandal, with all the details set forth, is a choice bit of newspaper fare in Japan.

Label laws are unenforced and while there are regulations to protect the editorially injured citizen, these are rarely invoked owing to fear of retaliation. The love affair of a prominent member of the Diet and a pretty geisha girl are considered public property and salacious phillanderings frequently receive front page headlines.

Few Making Money

With few exceptions most of the newspapers in Japan are barely making a living. It has been estimated that the publisher of a new newspaper in this country, of any real pretensions, must be prepared to lose about $1,000,000 before he can expect to show a profit. The result is that most of the journals are fly-by-night affairs, watched closely by the police and operating on a day-to-day basis. There is a strict censorship of newspapers in Japan. News articles, editorials or other writings considered inimical to the government, the public and society in general are banned. When any event occurs that the authorities think is bad for publication, a blanket order of prohibition is sent to every newspaper. Almost all the papers still use dummy editors or publishers whose job it is to be fined or imprisoned should the newspaper overstep the bounds.

Type Setting By Hand

Until recently very little foreign news, except of China, was published by the vernacular press, the reason being that the readers did not care for it. An effort is being made to educate the readers in the value of foreign dispatches, but publishers declare it is a difficult task.

All type-setting must be done by hand, about 5,000 different characters being necessary for the printing of a single edition. Consequently, the papers of Japan are much less bulky than those of America.

Use Promotion Schemes

Advertising space is smaller in proportion. No newspaper in Japan depends altogether on circulation or advertising for its revenues. They operate promotion schemes, advertising and sales agencies, selling a variety of things from automobiles to typewriters, and promoting anything from prizefight to a new play. Many are subsidized by politicians and business interests. The price of the best dailies is about 1-2 cents.

Photographs and retrogressive sections, motion picture news and radio columns are popular. There are newspapers specializing on news matter and advertising of interest to women, and one features daily "children's columns."

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The raw sugar market was quiet and unchanged again today with spot Cuban quoted at 4.58, duty paid, and no sales reported.

The raw sugar futures market was steadier on covering by December shorts and buying of later positions by houses with trade and Cuban connections, influenced by the firmer London market. Final prices were at about the best and 1 to 2 points not higher. Approximate sales were 33,000 tons, December closed 2.78; January 2.82; March 2.82; May 2.90; July 2.92; September 2.64.

The refined sugar market was unchanged at 6.65 to 6.90 for fine granulated, with no improvement noted in demand.

TECH IS AMONG FIVE COLLEGES OF TEXAS INCLUDED IN SURVEY WHICH SHOWS MUSIC GROWING IN POPULARITY

Musical training in colleges is 100 percent more popular today than it was ten years ago.

Approximately one half of all college students, teachers, class presidents, and outstanding students play some sort of musical instrument.

Band and orchestra work is now included in the curriculum of two-fifths of the American colleges and universities.

These are some of the high lights of a survey on college music just completed by the Core Music Center, Elkhart, Indiana. The Texas Technological college, at Lubbock, the Texas Presbyterian college, at Milford; Southwestern university, at Georgetown; the Southern Methodist university, at Dallas, and the Howard Payne college, at Brownwood, are the five Texas institutions of higher learning who contributed to the survey. Those to 200 colleges furnished the information upon which the results of this survey are based.

Indispensable

Music has become an indispensable part of college life in the opinion of presidents and heads of music departments in the institutions who answered the survey. It is not only of inestimable value to the college itself, but is also of great material and spiritual benefit to the student who takes an active part in it.

Great stress is laid by college heads on the benefits of musical training in character building, the survey reveals. Fully one-fifth of the college executives who contributed to the survey considered this the greatest argument for music in their college or university. Others mentioned the social and cultural advantages accruing to the music student, music as an aid toward developing clear thinking, music on the campus as an outlet for surplus energy and as a help in getting weary youths through school. All but three of the colleges find their musically-trained students more efficient in their studies than those in not so trained.

"Horns" Through College

"Horning" one's way through college" compares very favorably with other methods of self-support through the college years, according to the college executives. Despite the comparatively limited opportunities offered in the average college town, fully one-fourth of all the students playing in the college bands and orchestras are paying for their education with their instruments. Students' earnings range all the way from board and room, two dollars an hour tuition fee, and up to two hundred dollars a year. Twelve percent of the college executives in the survey are of the opinion that playing one's way through school pays better than other means, another twelve percent thought it offered an easier way to make one's way through, while a goodly number of others said that it interfered least with the student's school work, adding that this work also brings them in contact with worth while people who can help them get started.

Among those playing their way through college, the violin comes first in the preference of instruments. The saxophone is second choice of college players, but seventh with girl musicians. Piano is the second favorite instrument with the girls, and third with the boys. Cornet comes fourth in the preference of both the young men and women. Organ is next favorite with the boys, and flute with the girls. Other instruments in the order of favor with the young men are the trumpet, the trombone, the horn, drum, banjo and mandolin. With the girls, it is the drum, clarinet, trombone, harp, banjo trumpet organ and mandolin.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Coffee futures opened today at an advance of 2 to 40 points, active months showing net gains of about 2 to 12 points in earlier trading on covering promoted by reports of higher Rio exchange rates. Realizing at the advance became more active on private reports of an easier tone in Brazil and March reacted from 15.45 to 15.21 cents at the lowest. The general market closed 2 to 14 points net lower. Estimated sales 29,000 bags. Closing quotations.

Spot coffee, steady. Rio 7s 16 1/2 to 16 3/4. Santos 7s 21 to 21 1/4. Cost and freight offers included part Bourbon 7s and 7 1/2 at 19.25 to 20.25. December 15.72; January 15.60; March 14.65; July 14.25; September, 13.70.

POLICE PUFF

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—Night police in Philadelphia no longer have to sneak into a dark doorway to steal a smoke. A new ruling of the chief allows the men on duty from midnight to 7 a. m. to smoke whatever they prefer.

Mrs. Chitwood says:

"I have been using Gebhardt's products in my cooking school for three years.

While I have for years known their reputation for quality, yet, I did not fully appreciate how wonderfully good these products were until I began to use them in my daily work.

I use Gebhardt's Eagle Chili Powder in many ways not employed by the average housewife, many of whom only think of this splendid condiment for making of Chili con Carne.

It is splendid for the making of many salads and for salad decoration it cannot be excelled. I use it in soups, on vegetables...in fact there is never a meal, including breakfast, where there is not some place that this delightfully flavored, beautiful colored condiment cannot be used".

LEAVES FORTUNE FOR HOUSTON PARKS

TRACTION MAGNATE'S WILL HAD $300,000 BEQUEST FOR "BREATHING SPOTS"

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 16 (AP)—Idea which takes shape in the minds of men after they have attained considerable wealth are often revealed in their wills.

H. F. Macgregor, who he died in Houston in 1923, apparently considered that parks were the most important forms of public service to which his estate could be devoted and he left in excess of $300,000 of his $500,000 estate for those purposes.

Mr. Macgregor was manager of the street railway company here for many years. He also became a real estate operator and in 1915 he became widely known as a republican national committeeman from Texas.

Among his benefactions to Houston was Macgregor Park of 110 acres, costing $24,000 with an endowment of $50,000 for maintenance; a serpentine parkway, costing $100,000, connecting Macgregor Park with Herman Park, a city owned institution of several hundred acres; a small park opposite a school building valued at $10,000 in which a fountain costing $35,000 will be erected; and a park and library in Derry, New Hampshire. Mr. Macgregor's boyhood home, to which was given $50,000, Derry has 5,000 inhabitants.

Approximately $110,000 additional has been paid out of his estate in legacies. Within two years the estate will have been liquidated, according to John Vandemark, of the Federal Land bank at Houston. Mr. Vandemark is one of the executors.

SOUTH PLAINS FARMERS ARE "SLEDDING" COTTON

South Plains farmers apparently have adopted the slogan of "a bale an hour" in connection with harvesting the bumper cotton crop that is in evidence, and are turning their efforts to gathering the staple by the slide route, abandoning the old and staid rule of picking or even the more speedy process of snapping.

Such a procedure admittedly lowers the grade of the staple, and is much more trouble on the ginner, but is used by the farmers as an economical means of harvesting the crop. They claim that they can net pay from $1 to $1.50 for picking or snapping, and sell the staple at from seven to nine cents. They, therefore, have resorted to the slide method, which includes hitching a team of mules to a specially constructed drag that strips the cotton fringes and leaves from the stalk. "Necessity is the mother of invention," and in this instance farmers claim that such is necessary.

HEREFORD CHURCH GOES INTO REALTY BUSINESS

HEREFORD, Nov. 15.—The First Christian church of Hereford has gone into the real estate business "just for a day," and will sell at auction sixteen residence lots in Hereford next Saturday at three o'clock.

Col. Ray Barber and Col. Sherm Williams have volunteered to auction off these lots. The property has been held by the local church for a number of years as an investment, but the church now plans to put it on the market, as the demand for building property in Hereford is growing rapidly.

A sixth man says 'However, Miss Harriet Hamm, who has been eating it all her life, makes this C.B. and C. idea look like the bunk.'

CAMP-FIRE GIRLS OF LUBBOCK TO HAVE NEW CLUB HOUSE BY CHRISTMAS, J. W. GAMMEL PREDICTS AT COUNCIL MEETING

A club house for the Camp Fire girls of the city, probably will be secured by Christmas, J. W. Gammel, vice president of the Camp Fire girls' council and chairman of the homes committee, announced Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the council with Mrs. Percy Spencer, 1625 13th street, with Mrs. W. B. Price, president, in charge. No drive for a permanent home for the girls will be made this fall, the committee decided. Mr. Gammel said, and the house that will be secured will be temporary, he said. Plans for a committee to meet jointly with a group from the Crossroads council and make plans for a possible joint encampment of the Camp Fire girls from the two cities next summer were made, following a report by Mrs. J. C. Greenberry, chairman of the camp committee. All legalities concerning the transfer of a plot of land to the Camp Fire association by Mrs. M. C. Overton, J. T. Hutchinson and J. T. Krueger have been completed, it was reported. Wherever the Lubbock girls go for their summer encampment next year.

HE SPECIALIZES ON GRAIN SORGHUM

DEAF SMITH FARMER MAKES TWICE AS MUCH AS MOST OF THEM

(Special to The Avalanche) HEREFORD, Nov. 16.—County Agent H. O. Dumble and Uncle Jess Robinson, owner of a pure seed farm near Hereford are making a tour of the South Plains sections studying the seed business. They will visit the state experiment stations at Lubbock and Spur while away.

Mr. Robinson started the pure seed farm one year ago and made a wonderful record with his kafir, maize, chites, etc. during his first year. He won blue ribbons with his kafir, white maize and chites at the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, and has sent an exhibit to the Philadelphia Exposition to compete with grain sorghums from all sections.

Uncle Jess produced more than twice the grain sorghum per acre on his farm as did the average farmer in Deaf Smith county, and he will receive four or five times as much per pound for his seed as maize, kafir, etc. are selling for on the local market. This man buys all his seed stuff, in order to keep it pure, and uses a right "rogging" system for his entire field. Mr. Dumble and Mr. Robinson will be out of town for several days, studying seed selection, soil conditions, methods of cultivation, etc.

DALLAS GAS COMPANY WANTS TO RAISE RATES

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Hearing on the application of the Dallas Gas company for permission to increase rates started here today before the state railroad commission with consideration of legal questions. In addition to the application pending before the commission, the company has filed in the United States district court a petition asking that the city be enjoined from enforcing the present franchise rates.

PLANS FIVE YEAR FARM PROGRAM

COURSE WILL MEAN MUCH TO AGRICULTURE IN DEAF SMITH

(Special to The Avalanche)

HEREFORD, TEX., Nov. 16.—A five-year agricultural program is being outlined for Deaf Smith county, which will mean much to the development of this section, if it is properly carried out, according to County Agent R. A. Dunkle. This announcement was made at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday, and Mr. Dunkle promised to give more of the details of the program at an early date. It will be a long practical line and will be similar to the one that Mr. George, the industrial expert is mapping out for Potter county and Amarillo.

Ralph Wolfe, Deaf Smith county club boy, who won the free trip to the International Livestock Show at Chicago offered by the Santa Fe railroad, was presented with a handsome "Walrus skin" suit case by W. D. Kelleher, in behalf of the local business men, at the luncheon Monday of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Kelleher and other speakers said that the trip to the International Livestock by this young club member, who has had only two years experience in the work, was one of the biggest advertisements that Deaf Smith county has ever received.

Ralph Wolfe responded and thanked the local business men, and especially W. D. Kelleher for their interest in club work. G. A. F. Parker commended the work of young Wolfe, county agent R. O. Dunkle and W. D. Kelleher. Ralph Wolfe won a free trip to the Dallas Fair, offered by W. D. Kelleher for the best club call in Deaf Smith county.

E. W. Harrison and E. B. Black talked on the proposed $1,000,000 road bond issue for Deaf Smith county, and urged local people to keep talking the better roads idea. "Many are against the bond issue right now because they do not understand it," Mr. Black said, "but we must explain this issue to all the voters of Deaf Smith county and it will go over big." Mr. Harrison reported on the enthusiastic Highway meeting at Dawn last Tuesday night, and said that many of the people in that community were highly in favor of the million dollar bond issue.

George V. Stambaugh of the Free Mail Delivery committee reported that most of the money had been raised for the marking and numbering the streets and houses in Hereford. He promised a full report for next Monday.

W. E. Dameron announced the Free Christian church of Hereford would sell sixteen residences here in Hereford at auction next Saturday at 2 o'clock, and invited local business men to be on the grounds just east of the old high school building for the sale.

FILM ARCHITECTS HAVE WIDE RANGE

EVERYTHING FROM MOUNTAINS TO CRADLES MUST BE DESIGNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Architects in the motion picture studio are called the designers of mountains and ships, streets and throne rooms, and a diversity of objects entirely apart from the structures of commercial draftsmen.

The designer of "sets" frequently is called upon to rival the handiwork of nature and man. The ingenuity of the architect and his fellow studio craftsman frequently is such that the numerous replicas of natural objects are not distinguishable from the real thing, even when both are shown in the same film.

Mountain Ranges Reproduced

An example of an architectural creation in motion picture studios is the mountain range, arched bridge, ravine and river constructed on the lot back of the Paramount Eastern studio. The mountains were reproduced from photographs of a range in South America. On the side of a mountain was even an engineer's shack, and later a church and gardens. The drawings were made by Lawrence Hill, studio art director, and the mountains were painted by William Mueller, scenic department chief. Close views of Thomas Meighan, Renee Adoree and Aileen Pringle were made at Aumont-Cham, N. Y., and the backgrounds were matched exactly.

Another mountain range was erected on the studio floor when inclement weather interfered with outdoor filming scheduled at Bear Mountain and at Pinehurst, N. C. This resulted in an exact reproduction of a mountain range with a range of hills built to perspective for background. The setting was "dressed" with real moss, stones and trees, and the ruins of a log bridge made of real logs. This setting was made sufficiently substantial to support the weight of Gloria Swanson, her leading man, Lawrence Gray, and the two horses which they rode in a pursuit and jump across a chasm sixty feet deep.

Design Steam Tug and Ships. Studio architects also are amateur shipwrights. The deck, bridge, cabins and stowhold of a "sailing" yacht were erected on one of the stages. All sets were built on cradles and operated by levers that the director was able to simulate the roll and pitch of a vessel at sea during a hurricane. The stowhold was a replica of that on a 120 foot yacht, complete with boiler, coal hoist, steam grates and other paraphernalia.

Villages domestic and foreign, terraces and gardens have been landscaped by the studio artisans. Because the New Orleans Mardi Gras would not be held for several months, Herbert Brown reproduced an entire street of the southern city in the studio. The cobble-stone street was flanked by quaint Spanish-style houses with iron grill balconies, and the stone-flagged walks fronted cafes, shops and boarding houses.

Nearly 3,000 American motorcycles were sold in Australia in the last eight months.

LUBBOCK MERCHANTS NOT INTERESTED IN VAUGHN'S OFFER TO DELIVER MAIL AT THEIR DOORS FREE OF CHARGE

Lubbock business firms have not shown interest in the offer made by postmaster John L. Vaughn, for city delivery as only a few have asked for the delivery. The delivery is absolutely free to the customer and is made daily by the carriers with the mail being put in the box of the firm on Sundays and holidays.

"The firms are not awake to the convenience of the local postal service offered them," Vaughn stated yesterday. It is his hope that the business men will ask for the mail so that another carrier may be placed on the route, giving more service to Lubbock.

The local service is as complete as any town in Lubbock's state, in the state, having more city delivery, boxes and special service than any of them. With the arrival of four new collection boxes for the business district, collections will be taken until nine o'clock, relay mail service and

ROTARY LADIES NIGHT TO DISPLACE REGULAR MEETING

Ladies night will hold sway Thursday night in Rotary circles of this city when members of the organization with their wives and invited guests will be entertained in the ball room of the Lubbock Hotel. The meeting will displace the regular weekly luncheon session today.

A good program has been arranged. President Hubert L. Allen said last night in urging a full attendance and the program will be preceded by a banquet at 7:30. All who expect to attend are asked to advise W. W. Tynally or Guy McAfee not later than 4 o'clock today.

HEALTH EDUCATORS TO MEET FT. WORTH

CONVENTION PLANNED FOR COWTOWN NOVEMBER 23 AND 24

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 16.—The Texas Federation for Health Education will meet here at the state house, November 23 and 24. C. W. Goddard, president, announced here today.

This organization is composed of representative delegates from more than forty universities and colleges, and other large organizations interested in health education.

Its purposes are to promote a more uniform and better co-ordinated system of health education, beginning with the universities and extending to the rural schools, and to correlate into this system the support of all organizations interested in health education.

The last session was held in Houston in May in connection with the State Medical Association. An excellent program has been planned for the Austin meeting. Dr. Goddard said. Members of the executive committee of the federation are: Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, president of the University of Texas; Dr. H. C. Sappington, state health officer; S. M. N. Marra, superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Goddard of Austin, and H. B. House, W. A. Baker, G. F. Winfield, Mrs. John D. Finney, J. M. Frazier, Miss Cornelia McKinney, Mrs. I. E. Ledbetter.

BABY DISLIKES TO HAVE LUNGS LISTENED TO

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 16.—Among other things which a baby dislikes most is to have a stethoscope placed against his chest. This curious quirk in baby minds came to the front at the regular examination of infants held here by the social service bureau of the Child Welfare League, under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Tomlinson, president of the league, and Miss Sabina Fritsch, supervising nurse of the bureau. Baby eye, nose, ear and throat specialists and two dentists made the examinations.

Scores of babies were brought to the municipal auditorium to be registered, weighed, measured and examined. Some of the maladjusted formalities others enjoyed it but the most of them, those in charge said, registered objection to the stethoscope test. Flat feet and knock knees were found in nine cases out of ten and malnutrition was a common ailment.

SHERRY WAITS 80 YEARS FOR SALE

"GROW OLD ALONG WITH ME", FAMOUS WINE MIGHT ADVISE

XERES Spain, Nov. 16 (AP)—Xeres is equally famous as being the birthplace of General Primo de Rivera and sherry wine. The Spanish Dictator at the age of sixty may be said to have his career behind him while sherry wine must be eighty years old before starting out in the world.

The amber wine of Andalusia which the connoisseurs of A. D. 1700 will relish has just now been placed in the "wood."

American Oak Used
America, prohibition notwithstanding, plays an important part in the fermentation of sherry. A part pipe is generally made of oak from the Baltic States but a sherry butt must be of American oak.

The grapes are pressed down to a limited yield and dried in the sun from one to two days to increase the sugar contents after picking. Men in specially constructed wooden shoes tread out the first juice. The residue is then packed into a pyramid of gypsum added with a wooden spade—no metal must touch the grapes at any time. The pyramid is then secured with burlap-wool matting and the must pressed out.

Blended By Years
The sherry is then transferred to its casks to be graduated later into its blending cellars. The butts are arranged in tiers, the bottom tier containing the mother wine, sufficiently matured for shipping. Above this tier are casks of younger wine, with the year's vintage at the top. When the wine is drawn from the bottom tier for export or internal shipping an equal amount is placed into the cask from the tier above and the second tier replenished from the younger wine generally three or four years old.

A really great sherry is usually eighty years old, mellow and a golden brown.

In the "bodegas" of Xeres there may be found sherry dating back two hundred years. It is a black thick syrup, fragrant but unfit for drinking.

"OUT OF MOUTHS OF BABIES" IS TRUE

EDITOR SAYS CHILDREN NOW PERMITTED TO EXPRESS OPINIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Children today are being allowed to exercise their opinions much more than they were a decade ago.

This is the conclusion of Miss Helen Ferris, editor of the American Girl, based upon a survey made by girls about among hundreds of members between 10 and 15 years of age, who read the magazine.

Choosing Their Clothes
"That parents are consulting their children," says Miss Ferris, "is revealed in the fact that of the 1503 girls replying, seventy per cent. for instance indicated that they were allowed to help in the selection of their own hats. Sixty-two per cent. had voice in the purchase of shoes, and thirty-three per cent. helped to select their own books."

Even more significant, believes Ferris, were the 706 girls who make their own selections independently.

In the matter of hats, for example, 22 per cent. make their own selections. Twenty-five per cent. choose their own shoes and 24 per cent. select all the furnishings and decorative schemes for their own rooms.

Books Greatest Freedom
In the matter of books and writing materials, more girls were allowed the privilege of independent selection than in any other line.

It is important, in line with the trend of modern educational methods, the girl be allowed at this age to exercise her own powers of decision," says Miss Ferris. "For it is only then that she will gain self-confidence. At this age the girl wishes tremendously to go on to the world of adult activities and interests, and knows she must go on. Yet, she is overcome with timidity and a feeling of her own inadequacy. More than anything else she needs self-confidence, the knowledge that she can select and plan and carry out her share of the world's enterprises."

Lubbock Man Comes of Famous Family

Arthur B. Mason, father of Mrs. R. D. Mosley, 1304 14th street, who came to this country from northeastern United States, has interesting genealogical records of his family showing him to be descendant of the famous Penny family represented in English heraldry and said by Long's "Royal Descents" to "quarter the arms of the Black Prince (Edward Prince of Wales) rightfully, and that the royal family could do this not being descended in the elder line." His mother's maiden name was Penny.

Mr. Mason, who was born in Montville, Maine, February 28, 1844, is also a descendant of Robert Mason, who was one of Winthrop's company that settled in Roxbury, Mass., in 1630. "Robert Mason and his sons were subscribers to the original building of Harvard college. One of his sons married Margery Partidge in 1622. This son and three of his sons were killed by Indians under King Philip. The surviving son, Ebenezer, was the original of the large part of the Mason family of America, and one of the descendants is Dr. Lowell Mason, of Boston," according to a clipping possessed by Mr. Mason.

HAWAIIANS VOTE IN OWN LANGUAGE

ENGLISH NAMES OF CANDIDATES TRANSLATED ON THEIR BALLOTS

HONOLULU, Nov. 16 (AP)—While English—of a kind at least—has replaced Hawaiian as the official language in the territory of Hawaii, election time in the islands always sees a bringing out and dusting off of Hawaiian names.

The reason is that the law provides for the printing of the Hawaiian names of individuals on the ballots, along with their "haole" (caucasian) names. Voters of Hawaiian blood still control the local elections and they take an intense interest in politics.

Twelve Letter Alphabet
The Hawaiian names range from transliterations of haole names to description of person and profession. When Hawaiian was the language most spoken, the Hawaiian names were necessary for the Hawaiian language contains but twelve letters: the vowels a, e, i, o, u, and the consonants h, k, l, m, n, p, and w. Every vowel is pronounced, and the accent usually is placed on the next to the last syllable.

Thus, in the recent election here, Charles Rose appeared on the ballot with "Kalo Lohai" (Ka-lay Lohay) immediately beneath his "haole" name James Dicknell also appeared as Kimo (the equivalent of "Jim") Pikanole, and Charles Arnold as Kale Apala.

Names Follow Professions
Other Hawaiian names on the ballot were descriptive. Dr. Dai Yen Chang appeared as Kauka Huki Niho, literally "doctor pull tooth." He is a dentist. Lincoln McCandless was Linokoa Ell-wak, or "Lincoln the well driller." Yew Chue was Keiki Palkil, the young man who takes pictures.

Robert Shingle's last name was translated, appearing "Pi'ihale", or thatchgrass, on the ballot. David Lloyd Conkling had the Hawaiian name "Hole Pouppou", which translated means "the short fat white man." Conkling is not very tall, hence the name.

Candidates with real Hawaiian middle names, given them by their own parents, feature them in big letters in their political advertising.

AUTOISTS URGED TO EXTRAORDINARY CARE DURING THE FALL AND WINTER TO LESSEN EPIDEMIC OF ACCIDENTS

Fall and winter being the most fertile seasons in the reduction of traffic mishaps, individual motorists are called upon now to exert every precaution against accidents which usually are of more serious proportions than at any other time of the year.

This is the warning sounded by W. W. Royalty, president of the South Plains Auto club, in urging each car owner to see that no safety feature of his automobile is allowed to function inefficiently during the months just ahead.

"Safety in every one of its aspects, is an individual problem," says Mr. Royalty. "For instance, let us take the case of headlights. With days becoming shorter, lights are being brought increasingly into service. Glaring lights, the cause of an astonishing percentage of the serious traffic accidents, abound in every city in the country. They are illegal in many places, but enforcement of such regulation is almost impossible. It is flimsy up to each individual car owner to see that his own headlights are in proper adjustment. If he will consider the part he can play in reducing accidents by this simple step, it is almost certain that he will not lag in taking it.

"Brakes, obviously are another tremendous factor in accidents. It is against the law to drive a car with inefficient or inadequate brakes. But it is impossible for anyone but the driver to tell how well his brakes are working, unless a serious mishap calls the police's attention to their inadequacy.

"The American Automobile association, with which this club is affiliated, in its campaign for greater safety, points out that unregulated brakes which may be serviceable on dry pavements are in some ways worse than inadequate brakes at this particular time of the year. Unequalized brakes, as everyone knows, cause skidding and during fall and winter seasons they are the primary cause of hundreds of serious accidents.

"If every car owner will see to it that these two features of his car are in perfect condition, the seasonal accident toll will be greatly reduced.

Gathering 4 Bales of Cotton a Day

E. P. Paschal, living ten miles northwest from Lubbock was in Lubbock Tuesday marketing three bales of cotton for which he received eight dollars and sixty-four cents per hundred, a good price for snapped cotton. Mr. Paschal stated he would get about seventy bales in all and that he had gathered thirty-five. He said nearly every farmer in his section had from one to fifteen bales piled up in their fields waiting to haul them to the gin. Mr. Paschal said he was gathering four bales per day, using four cotton pickers and one sled.

MRS. WOLFFARTH ILL
Mrs. S. E. Wolffarth, mother of George C. and Maxine, of this city, is seriously ill at her home in Jackshoro, according to reports reaching members of the family here Tuesday, and the two sons plan to go to her bedside probably today.

Mrs. Wolffarth is 88, and is well known to many here, having at various times visited her children here. Doctors entertain little hopes for her recovery, the reports said.

In perfect condition, the seasonal accident toll will be greatly reduced.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended November 12 were 117,714 barrels compared with 122,514 for the previous week.

At the Prague Fall Sample Fair seventy-three different products from America were shown.

DAILY MARKET

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The cotton market was quiet again today with futures correspondingly narrow. January contracts sold up from 12.58 to 12.64 and closed at 12.61, or net unchanged, the general market closing irregular, net 2 points lower to 3 points higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 1 point, active months showing net losses of about 2 to 3 points in early trading under overnight selling orders from the south. There also appeared to be a little selling for local or Wall Street account and further liquidation by December longs in preparation and for possible notices next week. Spot house brokers, however, continued buyers of December, partly against sales of later deliveries and the market steadied up after early offerings had been absorbed.

December led the rally, selling up to 12.65, or 9 points net higher, and about even with the price of January. This advance in the near month was accompanied by reports of continued steady spot basis in the south, particularly on the better grades and rumors that in some instances, southern mills were raising their buying limits on call cotton. Such reports naturally emphasized the steadiness of the near position here and probably promoted some covering of later months which sold 5 to 6 points net higher, March advancing to 12.56. The market eased off a few points in late trading, when there was slight southern selling, as well as realizing or liquidation. Last prices showed reactions of 3 to 10 points from the best.

Private cables said steadiness in Liverpool was attributed to fair trade calling with local and continental buying in the absence of selling pressure, and also moderate business in cotton cloths for India.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 16 (AP)—The cotton market was comparatively dull today and price factions were extremely narrow. There was an absence of new developments calculated to influence prices and the market simply drifted. The only feature was the covering of December shorts owing to the approach of the first December notice day. After easing off 3 points the market gradually rallied on some price fixing by speculators and December short covering, gaining nine to ten points from the early lows. During most of the afternoon the market drifted aimlessly, easing off a few points from the high. The market gradually declined in the late trading as delayed at a net loss for the day of 19 points. The feature for the day was the large exports totalling 146,150 bales of which Galveston contributed $1,566 bales.

Despite a better Liverpool cable than due, the local market opened one point up to two down, and continued to ease off until December price fixing by speculators and December short covering, gaining nine to ten points from the early lows. During most of the afternoon the market drifted aimlessly, easing off a few points from the high. The market gradually declined in the late trading as delayed at a net loss for the day of 19 points. The feature for the day was the large exports totalling 146,150 bales of which Galveston contributed $1,566 bales.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton goods held steady today but buying was rather quiet. Raw silk was unchanged abroad and is quoted on a basis of 54.12 1-2 a pound for double

COTTON SEED OIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The market for cotton seed oil was firmer today, largely from a stronger technical position after the recent decline. Offers were small and values worked up on covering and buying by houses with cotton exchange connections. Final prices were 15 to 20 points net higher. Total sales were 11,300 barrels. Prime crude 6.50; Prime summer yellow spot November and December 8.00; January 8.02; March 8.19; May 8.31.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cattle 15,000; steers slow, weak to 25 cents lower; top yearlings 12.25; bulk 11.50 at 12.00; best steers 10.65; she stock weak to lower; bulls 15 to 25 cents off; vealers steady.

Hogs 25,000; active, 10 to 15 lower; butchers 11.40 at 11.70; medium 11.35 at 11.60; sows 25 lower at 11.90 at 10.85; pigs 11.50 at 11.85; estimated holdover 6.00.

Sheep 5,000; fat lambs slow, weak to 25 lower; bulk 12.50 at 12.75; top 13.10; sheep strong; fat ewes 5.00 at 4.50; top 6.00; feeding lambs strong; bulk 11.75 at 12.00.

FT. WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16 (AP)—The cattle trade today was generally steady. A few sales were made at lower prices in several divisions. The greatest decline was in the calf house where a loss of 25 cents was recorded at the close of the market.

The greatest drop in several weeks was noted in the hog trade here, the decline being from 25 cents to 35 cents.

Wet weather, falling off in receipts and untimely Canadian crop estimates had been increased. Chicago quotations on wheat were unsteady at 1-4 cent of 13-8 cents net decline, with corn showing 1-8 cents to 1-2 cent advances, and provisions ranging from 10 cents off to a rise of 2 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Wheat today finished at the lowest closing price level reached here in weeks. One of the reasons given was a sharp downturn in the Winnipeg wheat market, together with reports that the Canadian growers' pool was selling and that unofficial Canadian crop estimates had been increased. Chicago quotations on wheat were unsteady at 1-4 cent of 13-8 cents net decline, with corn showing 1-8 cents to 1-2 cent advances, and provisions ranging from 10 cents off to a rise of 2 cents.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—An extra dividend of 3 percent was declared on the common stock of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific in addition to the regular semi-annual of 4 percent, both payable December 31 to holders of record December 1. The regular quarterly of 1-3 percent on the preferred also was authorized. Directors and officers were re-elected.

Although more goods were exported from this country in the past year, the monetary value has, because of falling prices, been less.
