Hoover's Plan For War Debt Payment Delay Wins Unanimous Acceptance

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

If any one or several of our local industries were to be closed down tomorrow with small prospect they would ever be reopened the owners of these industries and their employes would not be the only ones affected; the effect would be felt throughout the community and the loss to the business of the city would be almost irreparable.

There are home industries here that have been struggling for existence during these months of depression and if they were to be forced to close the whole community would feel their loss. And if they should be forced to suspend it is unlikely they will be reopened, not even if the community could raise a large sum as a bonus. Some of these concerns could be carried through to the period of normal business which we are told we can expect next fall by the patronage the people of Wichita Falls can give. Self interest ought to influence Wichitans to patronize home institutions in this emergency, so far as possible. If we will do this for the next 60 or 90 days our community as a whole will be in much better position to take advantage of the improved business conditions which all of us must hope are not far ahead.

Talker has heretofore commented upon the tendency to professionalize any status in which people find themselves or any practice they may have taken up. The latest is to mobilize "hitch-hikers" into a national organization. The American Automobile association has issued a warning against this movement.

"Under the plan to organize those soliciting rides along the roadside," said the statement, "members would be given large cards to be used for identification in signaling passing motorists. Assuming that the persons to whom they are issued are reputable, they are meaningless because of the ease with which they could fall into the hands of the lawless.

"While it must be conceded that hitch-hikers are in many instances law-abiding people who are in need of transportation, there are also records of numerous thefts, robberies and even murders resulting from lifts given to strangers. One of the most tragic murders in American criminology was the outgrowth of a ride given two strangers.

"Inability of the car owner to distinguish between the two classes led to the practice being banned in the eight states, namely, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Minnesota New Jersey, New York, Oregon and Wisconsin. It is only a question of time until the law will be universal in its application.

"Meantime, the safe thing for the motorist desiring to protect himself and family, is to ignore all signals from strangers along the highway."

Talker can think of nothing that would add more force to this statement.

A Cleveland, Ohio, dispatch tells the story of a man who hiked from Dowthan, Ala., to Cleveland to give himself up to clear his conscience of having stolen a bicycle in Cleveland 12 years ago. The man appeared at police headquarters and told his story. "You are forgiven—case dismissed." a police lieutenant told him and the man turned away

The Word Okeh Originated in Ohio

The Buena Vista Tavern operating in Springfield, Ohio, is one of Ohio's most famous pioneer hotels. This tavern originally stood outside the city, bearing the sign "O. K." Many years ago a political meeting was held in the tavern with a banner displayed bearing the slogan "THE PEOPLE IS OLL KORRECT," which was later abbreviated to "O. K." The Historical Society of Springfield offers this as the origin of this familiar expression meaning "ALL CORRECT." People entering Wichita Falls, either to live or pay a visit, will automatically turn to the rental classifications in the Daily Times-Record News. NATIONS AGREE ON ONE-YEAR MORATORIUM

France Removes Last Objections to Approval Of Scheme

PRESIDENT RELIEVED

Holiday Goes Into Immediate Effect to Aid Burdened World

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

WASHINGTON, July 6. (US)—President Hoover today formally announced that agreement with all the interested creditor nations had been reached on the proposal for a one-year suspension of all war obligations.

The announcement was made at the White House after the president had received word from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Paris that an accord had been reached with the French.

There remains now but the adjustment of technical details. The Hoover plan for the year moratorium has been approved by all of the nations in its major principles and in spirit.

Effective Now

The moratorium is to be effective as of July 1, the president said, and Germany will get the fullest benefit of it, as insisted by him in his frequent notes to France.

All of the money which Germany would have to deposit in the International Bank of Settlements (the allied reparations bank) will be loaned back to Germany. This, in the president's opinion, will enable that country to make material recovery from the depression and by this recovery help in the general world situation.

The president appeared relieved from an unusually severe strain when he was able to announce the conclusion of the negotiations which have been in progress since June 5. He made the details of his plan public on June 20.

France Yields

Since that time France has been the only government offering serious objection. At times the French attitude threatened to disrupt the proposal.

The French insisted first that Germany be compelled to pay a portion of the reparations and also continue to make "payments in kind."

These are commodities in steel and coal which are delivered by Germany to France in lieu of cash.

France finally capitulated on

In Race

Ben G. Oneal, Wichita Falls attorney and state senator, will be a candidate for congress from this district in the next election, he announced Monday. Mr. Oneal has been persistently mentioned as a likely candidate for the post.

ONEAL TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

State Senator to Seek Post In National House

State Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls will enter the race for congress from this district to succeed Representative Guinn Williams of Decatur, who has announced he will not be a candidate in 1932.

Announcement of his plans to enter the race was made Monday night by Senator Oneal. He has been persistently mentioned as a possible candidate for the post, and said Monday night that his announcement was made at the repeated requests of friends over the district to state his position. A formal statement of his candidacy and his platform will be made later, Senator Oneal said.

Mr. Oneal is a native West Texan and has practiced law for many years in this section. He sought and was elected to his first political office in 1930, and served his first term in the legislature during the last session. He was credited by correspondents of state newspapers and press associations as being one of the most influential members of the senate. He introduced the first legislation for the installment payment of taxes, and sponsored many special and general acts for tax relief, including the laws under which most of the taxes of Wichita county now are collected. He also vigorously opposed the 7,000-pound load limit for trucks, on the ground that it would cripple Texas industries already established, and was active in behalf of the oil industry of Northwest Texas.

The congressional district as constituted at present includes the counties of Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Denton, Montague, Jack, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wise, Wilbarger and Young.

'EWE LAMB' OIL LEASE SOLD TO COMPANY HERE

Faith Corporation Reported To Have Bought From Mrs. Hammonds

$1,000,000 INVOLVED

East Texas Holdings Of Oklahoma Woman Transferred

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6. (AP)—Reports were current here tonight that Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, the "ewe lamb" around whom the "rebellion" of the Henry S. Johnston gubernatorial administration waged a little more than two years ago, had "made a go and a million" out of her third venture into East Texas oil operations.

The reports said Mrs. Hammonds and her associates, including Fred P. Branson, former Oklahoma chief justice, had sold leases on approximately 1,400 acres in East Texas to the Faith Oil corporation, Wichita Falls, Texas, for $1,000,000, part paid in cash, the remainder to be paid in oil.

Two former operations, a wildcat test and a 4,000-acre lease operation in the John Lout survey in Gregg county north of Longview, failed to bring in expected heavy returns.

The properties included in the present transfer are understood to include 600 acres in proven territory and 800 acres scattered over the northwestern trend of the area.

Both Mrs. Hammonds and Branson were in Texas or en route to Texas late today and could not be reached for confirmation of the reports.

Mrs. Hammonds first came to public attention when, as confidential secretary to Governor Johnston, she was the storm center around which the "ewe lamb rebellion," a political war, raged in 1927. An aftermath was the impeachment proceedings of 1929 that resulted in her resignation shortly before Johnston was ousted.

REPORT OF PURCHASE UNCONFIRMED HERE

Reports of the purchase of Gregg county acreage by the Faith Oil corporation from Mrs. O. O. Hammonds and associates could not be confirmed here Monday night. W. J. Green, president of the company, was in Gilmer and could not be reached. Wichita Falls residents interested in the company declined to comment on the report.

BANDITS SHOOT SHAMROCK MAN AFTER HOLDUP

Victim Found Near Death From Wounds In Farm House

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

Injured Stock Buyer Left On Highway After Hijacking

Special to The Record News.

SHAMROCK, Texas, July 6.—H. F. Schlegel, 50, cattle and hog buyer, is in a hospital here in critical condition after being found at a farm house four and one-half miles west of town at 10 o'clock this morning where he had crawled after being robbed and shot twice over the heart by two bandits who accosted him in Shamrock about 10:30 o'clock last night.

Inquiring of Schlegel the direction out of town, the two men jumped into his car, parked near the Rock Island depot where Schlegel was shipping out cattle, drew guns on him, blindfolded him and drove away. At a point four and one-half miles west of town they took him to the side of the road and removed $41 from his pockets.

Silence Demanded

"Don't say anything about this," said one of the bandits.

"Yes, and take this," shouted the other one, firing two bullets into Schlegel's chest from close range.

Schlegel fell and the two men made off with his car, abandoning it one mile west of Shamrock.

Weak from the loss of blood, Schlegel stumbled and crawled along, fainting twice, reaching a farm house one-quarter of a mile away shortly after daybreak.

Deserted House

There was no one in the house and Schlegel climbed into bed, resting for two hours. Crawling to the front porch he attracted the attention of A. F. Parsons, passerby, at 9 o'clock, and was removed to a local hospital an hour later.

Schlegel described the bandits as about five feet 10 inches high and weighing about 165 pounds each. Both wore overalls and dark felt hats. They accosted him in the darkness and he is unable to furnish detailed description but said he could identify them.

Physicians say Schlegel will live unless complications develop.

Fall Held Able To Go To Prison

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Convinced Albert B. Fall is able to go to jail, the government tomorrow will ask that he be imprisoned at once.

Atlee Pomerene, special prosecutor in the oil lease cases, will appear before Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia supreme court to request an order for the removal of the former secretary of the interior from El Paso to a Washington prison.

A decision to do this was reached after examination of a report on Fall's physical condition submitted by army doctors at William Beaumont hospital near El Paso.

Private physicians who examined Fall had expressed the opinion he was unable to make the trip to Washington. The government then resquested the examination by army doctors and Fall spent several days in the hospital.

District Attorney Rover said today a study of their report had convinced the government Fall is in condition to stand the journey here.

The physicians' report, which makes no recommendation, will be submitted to Justice Bailey. He is empowered to suspend sentence if he disagrees with the conclusions of the government.

Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, is

WHEAT BOARD DENIES PLEA

Envoys Fail to Get Promise Against Sales

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—The farm board stood by its wheat sales policy today during a two-hour conference with Vice President Curtis and Senator Capper of Kansas but it did assure them it would not sell any of last year's surplus "at the present range of prices."

The two Kansans demanded that the board refuse to sell any of the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat carried over from last year until the price of this year's crop has reached 85 cents a bushel.

The board clung firmly to its announced policy of selling the surplus at the rate of 5,000,000 bushels a month when and if prices improve.

Leaving the conference room, Capper termed the position of the board "unsatisfactory." Curtis was displeased but said he was "hopeful."

Both apparently were willing tonight to rest their case with the board and abandoned temporarily a plan of appealing to President Hoover.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, previously had gone to the board with a demand that last year's surplus be held off the market entirely during the marketing of this year's crop. He, too, was ready tonight to leave the issue with the board.

In making their appeal today Curtis and Capper said Kansas wheat farmers were being forced to sell at well below 50 cents a bushel. They attributed a recent decline in the price of wheat to the policy of the farm board in dealing with last year's surplus.

CITY COUNCIL SELECTS NEW OFFICIAL HERE

Manager of Big Spring To Accept Similar Post In Wichita

UNANIMOUS VOTE

New Executive Given 30 Days to Report; Salary Set at $7,500 Year

V. R. Smitham, present city manager of Big Spring, was elected Wichita Falls' new city manager by a unanimous vote of the city council Monday night. Mr. Smitham is to take over the responsibilities of his new position in the next 30 days at a salary set by the council at $7,500 per year.

The new appointee has been city manager of Big Spring for the past two years. Previous to that time he was city manager of Lufkin, Texas.

70 Applicants

He was selected from more than 70 applicants for the position vacated here July 1 by George D. Fairtrace, city manager for the past three years, who accepted an appointment as city manager of Fort Worth. W. E. McBroom, city clerk, was named acting city manager and will direct the affairs of Wichita Falls in that capacity until the arrival of Mr. Smitham.

The city commissioners as individuals and as a body were enthusiastic Monday night in declaring that the city of Wichita Falls is exceptionally fortunate in securing the services of a man of Mr. Smitham's qualifications. His selection to fill the position here, it was said, was made only after careful consideration of the qualifications of all local and out-of-town applicants for the place. The choice of Mr. Smitham for the position was made, the council declared, on the belief that of the more than 70 applicants he was the best fitted for the place, by reason of his qualifications, special training and previous experience as a city manager. With several other out-of-town applicants who are city managers of cities elsewhere, he was personally interviewed by members of the council here Friday.

He is a native Texan, 39 years of age, born at Dublin, Texas.

He received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the Texas A. & M. college in 1913. Taking post graduate work at A. & M. in 1926 he specialized in city management and received a Master of Science degree in civil engineering.

He engaged in railroad construction work, railroad engineering and highway engineering in the years between his graduation from college in 1915 and his entry into city management at Lufkin in the summer of 1926.

An account of his activities and experience from his graduation to the present time, as submitted with his application, showing a diversity of occupation and steady advancement of position, is as follows:

He first started to work in July, 1915, at a salary of $1.50 a day as a laborer on railroad construction for

Washington Puts Finishing Touch On Honors Accorded World Fliers

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Official Washington today acclaimed the eight-day dash around the world of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty with a round of ovations for the hardy fliers.

They received the greetings and congratulations of President Hoover and were his guests at luncheon. A reception by the National Press club, and a testimonial banquet marked by presentation of scrolls listing them in the National Aeronautical association's hall of fame completed the day's program.

Bad weather, which failed to daunt the Winnie Mae on the world voyage, kept the sturdy ship on the ground in New York. The fliers, accompanied by their wives and backer, F. C. Hall, journeyed to Washington by train.

An official reception committee met them at the station and escorted them to the White House, where they were immediately presented to President Hoover.

"I am happy personally to congratulate you on your achievement of flying around the world in the remarkable time of less than nine days," Mr. Hoover said.

"Your accomplishment is striking testimony of the advancement which has been made during the last few years by American pilots and engineers. I congratulate you for your courage, determination, technical ability, and skill."

NATIONS AGREE ON DEBT PLAN

Hoover's Delay Proposal Wins Acceptance

these points, it was stated, and the question will now be referred to a commission of experts representing the various governments who are to work out the details.

U. S. Plan Rules

However, it was stated, it is clearly understood that the experts will follow closely the president's proposal and not depart from the broad principle involved. This is that Germany shall be completely relieved from meeting war obligations for a period of one year from July 5.

The final announcement was dramatic. After a two-hour conference with Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, the president called the newspapermen into his office.

It was his first conference with the press in two or three weeks.

Before the press conference the president talked with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Paris.

Hoover Smiles

Mellon gave the president the details of the French agreement, after he had submitted the president's final note this morning.

The Mellon report was taken down in shorthand by Clarence Hess, veteran White House stenographer, and immediately typed so that the president could have it before him.

The president was smiling as he greeted the press. He apologized to the reporters for not having seen them before frequently and said:

"I am sorry, but I have been waiting to give you the good news and we didn't have it until today."

He read a lengthy statement, beginning with:

"I am glad to announce that the American proposal for the year's postponement of all intergovernmental debts and reparations has now been accepted in principle by all of the important creditor governments."

All Approve

He added that of course there are some conditions which are subject to the approval of other nations, but these are technical details which principally concern the nations which are a party to the Young plan and will have to be worked out with France.

He made it plain, however, that in the broad principle the plan has been approved by all.

The president declared that he is confident that the American part of the obligation will be approved by congress when it meets next December.

"I have received the individual assurances of support from a very large majority of the members of both the senate and house, irrespective of political affiliations," he said.

Relief Foreseen

As he did in his original announcement of the proposal, the president again said that the burden of armaments has been largely responsible for the world wide depression and should receive thoughtful attention of all of the powers. He declared:

"Contemplation of the past few weeks should bring a realization that we must find relief from these fundamental burdens which today amount to several times the amount of intergovernmental debts.

"While the plan is particularly aimed to economic relief, yet economic relief means the swinging of men's minds from fear to confidence, the swinging of nations from the apprehension of disorder and governmental collapse to hope and confidence for the future. It means tangible aid to unemployment and agriculture."

Experts to Decide

Selection of the economic experts to decide technical points is expected to be made almost immediately. The United States will have an observer present to guard against any possible violation of the intent of the proposal. The committee will be composed of representatives of the nations which signed the Young plan.

Owen D. Young, who drew up the plan, is expected to be asked to represent this country.

The conclusion of the negotiations today relieves Secretary of the Treasury Mellon from the strain of the Paris conferences, and enables him to resume his vacation on the continent which was interrupted when President Hoover directed him to become America's chief representative in Paris.

Secretary of State Stimson, who has just arrived in Italy at the beginning of his vacation, was informed that an agreement had been reached. He arrived in Naples yesterday and will remain in Italy for a week, before going to Paris.

expected to oppose the government's request. He may submit affidavits of physicians who believe it would be perilous for Fall to attempt the trip to Washington.

Fall was convicted in 1929 of accepting a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, multimillionaire oil operator. Attempts to have the verdict reversed in higher courts failed.

Unless Justice Bailey suspends the jail sentence, Fall's only hope of escaping prison is a presidential pardon. President Hoover's denunciation in his speech at Marion, Ohio, of those who "betrayed" President Harding apparently indicated he would not extend clemency to the former cabinet officer.

Smitham Named City Manager

the M-K-T. From December, 1915, to July, 1916, he was assistant foreman of railroad construction; for one year following he was foreman of railroad construction, after which he became general foreman of construction and remained in that capacity until May 1, 1918, when he entered the navy as chief submarine chaser engineer, where he served until January, 1919. After obtaining his navy discharge he again returned to the M-K-T as a rodman of railroad engineering; in August, 1919, he advanced from this position to instrument man, and from there, in February, 1920, he became chief field engineer, where, after serving until March, 1921, he became assistant county highway engineer of Collin county, Texas. He then became county highway engineer for Rockwall county, Texas, where he served until September, 1925. At this period he returned to A. & M. college for one year, specializing in city management and obtaining his Master of Science degree in civil engineering in June, 1926. He then became city manager of Lufkin on June 15, 1926, served in that capacity until July 1, 1929, when he accepted the management of Big Spring, where he has served since.

He is married and has one child.

Returns Here Soon

According to members of the city council, while he serves as city manager of Wichita Falls he will furnish his own automobile, and gas, oil, repairs and other expenses for the machine except in instances where it is used on official city ness.

It is expected that he will be in Wichita Falls within a few days to make arrangements for his removal here. It is also probable, it was said, that he will attend a party given at the Country club here Thursday in honor of Mr. Fairtrace.

Several matters of routine business were transacted by the council before the vote electing Mr. Smitham to the managership was taken. The acting city manager was authorized to issue a permit to Albert Phelps to remove a miniature golf course from 813 Scott avenue to Brook street between Speedway and Ardath streets, providing the operators of the course keep the streets there clear of automobile traffic of patrons.

Laura Ingalls Hastens Transatlantic Plans

LOS ANGELES, July 6. (AP)—Ambitious to be the frist woman to span the Atlantic alone, Laura Ingalls, the 100-pound aviatrix of New York and St. Louis, is to leave here Wednesday for New York, the starting point of her proposed transoceanic hop.

Miss Ongalls, who has set world's records for women in looping and barrel rolling airplanes, has been at the Burbank factory of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation several weeks testing the giant monoplane she hopes will carry her to Paris.

TAX HEARINGS OPEN TUESDAY

County to Grade Road To Windthorst

Members of the commissioners court will meet here Tuesday as a county tax equalization board, and will commence the work of revaluation of real estate in the county.

Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted by the board to the hearing of real estate property protests. Thursday will be devoted to hearings of cases brought up for adjustment by banks, railroad and oil companies.

The commissioners court held session Monday, and a decision was reached to start work of grading a three-mile strip of road from Holliday street to the Archer county line on the Windthorst road this week, according to Commissioner M. A. Bundy.

The decision to grade the stretch was made after a chamber of commerce committee appeared before the court asking that the work be started at once. In addition to grading the strip of road, Mr. Bundy said, culverts will be constructed according to state plans, although a deficiency of funds would not allow the three miles to be graded on state specifications, which would require $6,000.

Archer county recently completed the grading and draining of the road from Windthorst to the county line, about 23 miles.

The new right of way for the road eliminates four turns now existing in Wichita county. The route is the shortest from Wichita Falls to Mineral Wells, and it is planned to eventually have the road designated as a state highway.

Reports were received by the commissioners court from T. W. McHam, county treasurer, showing bank balances of the four precincts; John W. Coffman, Electra justice of the peace, showing receipts for June; J. D. Shannon, Iowa Park justice of the peace, showing receipts for June; and from G. C. McGown, county farm agent, and Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county home demonstration agent, showing the activities of their departments.

Physicians Report Rhodes Improving

Ben Rhodes, city dog catcher, was reported much improved Monday night at the Wichita General hospital, where he was taken Sunday afternoon after he was stricken with a queer malady as he was driving his family home from a fishing trip.

Although delirious Sunday and subject to hallucinations that he was about to be attacked by countless numbers of dogs, Rhodes was resting well Monday night and the straight jacket in which it had been necessary to check his violence had been removed.

A number of physicians have examined Rhodes since he was stricken, but hospital authorities said that none could diagnose his illness. However, it was believed Monday night that he is on the road to recovery. His condition had been deemed grave.

Negro Youth Nabbed In Clever Forgery

A 14-year-old negro youth, charged with duplicating a Wichita Falls man's signature to a remarkable degree, was being held in the juvenile ward at the county jail Monday following his arrest by James A. McDonald, juvenile officer.

The negro youth successfully passed a $4 check at the man's bank here last week, Mr. McDonald said, although a second attempt Monday resulted in the boy being detained until officers arrived. He had in his possession several checks, all for $4, all bearing his unsuspecting benefactor's name.

With the genuine deference of a well reared negro to a white man, the boy included the prefix "Mr." to all signatures he is alleged to have forged, according to Mr. McDonald.

Six Negro Boys Held In Warehouse Theft

Six negro boys, ranging from 8 to 12 years in age, were being held in the juvenile ward at the county jail Monday after being arrested by James A. McDonald, juvenile officer, and Bob Miller, city plainclothes officer, on charges of burglarizing the Brown Cracker and Candy company, 204 Barwise, Sunday night.

A negro man believed to have induced the boys to enter the place is being sought. A quantity of candy and boxed wafers and cakes was taken.

to start his long trudge back to Douthan.

This is a good story not because it tells of an incident of rare occurrence but because it gives us the foundation for picturing the burden of soul lifted and a man with his heart and mind free returning joyously to his home. The police officer may have had no legal authority to say to the man "case dismissed" but we can believe his "you are forgiven" had divine sanction.

The growth of population in the United States is slowing down, the bureau of the census tells us. The rate of increase is now one person in every 36 seconds instead of one in each 23 seconds. The ratio is computed from the most recent available statistics of births and deaths and of immigration and emigration. Heretofore the increase in population was taken as one every 23 seconds, this being the net result of a birth every 13 seconds, a death every 23 seconds, an immigrant arrival every 1½ minutes and an emigrant departure every 5½ minutes.

The revised figures are based on the available records of births and deaths for the calendar year 1930, and on the immigration figures for the first three months of 1931. On that basis there is a birth every 14 seconds instead of every 13, a death every 22 seconds instead of every 23, an immigrant arrival every 12 minutes instead of every 1½, and an emigrant departure every seven minutes instead of every 5½.

Flier Fails to Best Transcontinental Mark

PITTSBURGH, July 6. (INS)—With an 18-month-old baby as one of his passengers, Camille Vinet, 24-years-old airplane pilot, today failed in his attempt to shatter the transcontinental speed record of Capt. Frank Hawks after speeding from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh in 13 hours and 40 minutes of actual flying time.

Vinet landed at Bettis field here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Nancy Jane McGraw, the baby, a daughter of A. C. McGraw, an official of the Lockheed Airplane company, of Burbank, Calif., traveled the entire distance in her mother's arms. Five passengers and the pilot made the trip.

Average Price of Etex Oil Below 20 Cents

KILGORE, Texas, July 6. (AP)—The average price of crude oil in the East Texas field for the week ending June 24 was 17 and eight-tenths cents, an unofficial survey here revealed today. The daily average of 342,397 barrels daily which is near the field total production was used in making the computation.

Prices paid for the oil ranged from 10 to 35 cents per barrel. Figures do not include the Van field.

The daily average amount sold for the following prices: 2,211 barrels, 10 cents; 165,714 barrels, 15 cents; 19,501 barrels, 18 cents; 6,689 barrels, 19 cents; 121,211 barrels, 20 cents; 24,420 barrels, 25 cents; 2,647 barrels, 35 cents.

STRIKERS BEAT U. S. EXECUTIVE

Telephone Head Attacked In Madrid

MADRID, July 6. (US)—Lewis J. Proctor, American managing director of the Spanish Telephone company, was severely beaten today by Spanish syndicalists and striking telephone workers.

Proctor, attempting to leave the new skyscraper telephone building to seek police protection for the structure and the workers against several hundred demonstrators, was recognized and mobbed by the angry strikers.

Victim Rescued

Police rescued the American before all his clothes were torn off. He was rushed inside the building for medical aid, and then taken to his residence by a police escort.

The strike scheduled by telephone workers for 8 a. m. tomorrow was postponed until July 15 when the majority of the Socialist workers agreed to the postponement.

The Syndicalists, however, hoping to defeat the postponement, began a strike at noon, and it was during their walk-out that Proctor was set upon and beaten.

Traffic Disrupted

At Barcelona, telephone traffic was disrupted by the workers' strike there, which was to have been postponed on advice from the Madrid Workers syndicate. Word of the postponement here arrived too late at Barcelona.

If the telephone strike becomes general, the company's position may cause international complications. The Spanish telephone company is a subsidiary of the International Telephone and Telegraph company of America.

Italian Press Attacks New Papal Encyclical

ROME, July 6. (US)—The Italian press, which had been held in check during the exchange of notes between the Vatican and Italian government, today cut loose with a blast against Pope Pius XI's encyclical of Saturday.

This manifestation was hailed as the quirinal's first retaliatory move against the attack on Fascism contained in the pontiff's pronouncement.

Although the government has maintained an official silence since the encyclical was smuggled from Rome and published abroad through Paris, preparation of a note of reply is proceeding rapidly.

Rites Set For Press Veteran

WASHINGTON, July 6. (INS)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Mrs. Isabel Worrell McElroy, 76, and first woman to be admitted to the capital press gallery. She died yesterday after a prolonged illness.

Mrs. McElroy was born in Putnam county, Ill., and was taken by her parents to Kansas during the pioneer days. At 16 she was teaching school in Pawnee county. In 1882 she was appointed Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Star and later was sent to Mexico by that paper; Mrs. McElroy being the first woman reporter in that republic.

When she returned to Washington she joined the staff of the Evening Star but continued her correspondence to the Kansas City paper. Her husband, Col. John McElroy, a prominent newspaper man, died last year. Her first husband was Henry Martyn Ball.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Worrell Buckles, this city, with whom Mrs. McElroy lived, and a brother, George H. Worrell, of California.

BURGLARS LOOT LAKESIDE SAFE

$1,500 Secured in Raid On Resort Here

Cash amounting to about $1,500 was taken by burglars who knocked the knob of the safe at Lakeside park after the place closed after midnight Monday morning.

Sheriff Perry Browning and his deputies were working on the case Monday but had made no arrests.

Money in the safe represented receipts of the park during the last three days. Investigation by officers following the discovery of the burglary indicated that the office door had been opened with a pass key. The safe had been opened with the use of a sledge hammer on the knob.

About $60 in checks also was taken. Receipts for the three days were exceptionally high due to holiday crowds, it was said.

Eleanor Fleming Honoree At Manuscript Club Luncheon

One of the last of a series of pretty honors that have been given to Miss Eleanor Fleming, one of the most loved summer bride-elects, was the shower following the meeting of the Manuscript club members at the lovely home of Mrs. Sam Kruger on Buchanan street Monday morning.

Mrs. Wayland Sanford was the only member of the club appearing on the program and the story she read, "The Wedding," was a page full of everyday tragedy, photographed in vivid words from life. Mrs. Sanford is a writer of known ability and her work appears in the best magazines.

Luncheon was served on prettily appointed small tables on the rear lawn where a group of trees made a shady spot. Here the lovely boxes were laid at the honoree's feet and exhibited to her friends. She was a radiant recipient of good wishes as well as gifts.

Covers were laid for the honoree and her guest, Miss Roberta Clay, Mrs. C. R. Yauger and her guest, Mrs. Jessie Payne of Childress, Mesdames Claude Williamson, Dick Davis, Wayland Sanford, James P. Bowen, Bently Nelson, C. E. Deaton, W. M. Cason and the hostess, Mrs. Kruger with her charming daughter, Miss Bertha Mae Kruger.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

I have just read an interesting column interview with a woman home from Germany on a visit, a woman who is the wife of a newspaper man and who before the birth of her son was a journalist herself. She said the German woman was the most contented in the world and was a clever thinker and an ingenious housekeeper.

In Germany, she said, women have no study clubs, though they have guilds for housekeeping. Books are read aloud and discussed at home and good music is a matter of fact in that country.

When women choose careers, they take as a favorite, medicine. Then come school teachers and lawyers and social workers and many women in business for themselves.

And dress, is a subject to itself. The young girls are smart in attire but older women do not rebel against age and dress in the elderly garments conceded to be their fitting clothing.

That was almost enough—interested as I was. Never again will that day come in America; it is too much of a triumph for a woman to see others surprised over her grown children when in her heart she remembers the grandchildren. It is not keeping up with the times in style that drag on the nerves, and though we concede the delight of a country where good books are discussed at home and good music is an every-day thing, we wonder mildly if the middle-aged men with stolid elderly wives, ever cast their eyes sidewise.

There are careers and careers. If a woman chooses one other than marriage, the world of women root for her (even if an old-fashioned body does whisper something about home and babies once in a while.) But when a woman does not choose anything but housekeeping, she still has a career. One has to tell the cook what to cook, if she doesn't cook it herself, or if the cook doesn't tell her, which is sometimes the case.

And talking of careers, I listened in this morning while a group of women talked of what they would rather do—in the housekeeping line. It is noteworthy that all but one chose to cook rather than to wash dishes. Two gave recipes for dishwashing in the summer time; to prepare a hot suds and mop around with a dish mop, then turn dishes into a draining pan and pour scalding water over them and leave them to themselves.

Perfectly beautiful for those who can rest when things are not put in their places. But haven't you seen many women who straighten a shade that isn't quite even with others and even line up the pictures on the walls in other folks' homes? At any rate times have made housekeeping a woman's problem, whether it is justice or injustice.

In Germany, this lady says, every one takes two hours off for lunch. Grand! We wish people in America had time for that. In addition, the Germans take time for a pleasant period of refreshment in the afternoon when coffee and other liquids are absorbed. They seem to have more time in the contented and happy business world of Germany than in America.

Summer Is Time For Sowing For Spring Flowers

By BERTHA M'KEE DOBIE

Not many years ago people would say easily and comfortably, "You can't have anything in summer except zinnias and cosmos; it is of no use to try." And they didn't. Zinnias and cosmos, with the ubiquitous canna and sundry flowering shrubs were, indeed, the only summer flowers in all but a few Texas gardens. That time has passed, for Texans, whether dwelling in city or hamlet or country, have become so garden-minded that every dooryard is abloom. Zinnias and cosmos no longer tell the story, though zinnias, being of easiest culture, are rightly the mainstay of the summer garden. People who leave home during the hot months do well to plant their gardens for spring time abundance, but those who remain should plant for summer as well as for spring. Though the finest flowers come in spring and on the edge of summer, the time of fullest bloom is the midyear.

We can now study other people's gardens for the profit of our own next summer, study both kinds of flowers and arrangements, with a view not so much to imitation as to adaptation.

Late Blooms

The following small flowers, annuals and herbaceous perennials, have all been observed in Texas gardens during the last two weeks. Most of them will bloom all summer. None of them are left-overs from spring, a few last stragglers drooping in the heat. There are marigolds, lemon and yellow and gold and brown and dusky red, both the French and the superb African varieties, big, bold, fluted flowers of summer; shasta daisies, cool against a green background; datura, opening when the sun goes down—too rank for any place except in a distant corner or beside the back doorsteps; four o'clocks, which, by the way, provide excellent shade for bloomed-out perennials; ageratum, fine in blue masses from mid-June to frost; red salvia, beautiful both in mass and in small clumps against gray foliage, such as cenizo, dusty miller, and artemisia Silver King; its near relative blue sage in several species, which should be planted where it gray foliage will not lose value; dahlias, and we smile to remember that only a few years ago dahlias were one of the flowers we "could not have in Texas"; late-planted gladiolas, not so large with advancing summer as the earlier ones; portulaca; periwinkle, which, though it may not be very beautiful, has, like many a plain woman, certain serviceable qualities to commend it, such as a clean look and a thrifty habit; perennial phlox; canterbury bells, which, if the first flowers are picked when withered, put on a second and a third set; balsam, or ladyslipper, the quaint formality of which beet consorts with patterned garden paths; day lilies in glorious new varieties; cannas for those whose grounds can give them space; geraniums, among the finest of all bedding plants; petunias, which grow from beauty unto beauty as the summer progresses; coreopsis, one of the most useful flowers for yards that are confined to colorings of yellow, gold, and orange; butterfly weed, a brilliant native; achillea; white and yellow feverfew; scabiesa, a cutting flower as good for the home garden as for florist's boxes; and physostegia.

A few of the kinds named above require some special comment. Now being grown is a variety of the Shasta daisy called Alaska that bids fair to put the common variety entirely into the discard. The flowers are enormous, measuring quite give inches across. Mere size is not everything, and it may well be questioned whether petunia blooms so large that the stalks cannot hold them up and almost devoid of fragrance are really preferable to the small, prolific, sweet flowers that make front yards so gay and, escaping fences, grow like wild things. But there is no doubt that the Shasta daisy Alaska surpasses the old form in substance and in petalar grace as much as in size.

Achillea is a humble citizen of the garden that has a very definite value. The species millefolium, the name being derived from the thousands segmentations of the leaves, blooms abundantly in woods and along roadsides during the spring, and is sometimes used for decoration in mixed bouquets. But the garden species are prettier than that. The variant roseum has much looser, daintier heads of rosy flowers fading to flesh pink; it blooms from June to October if dead flowers are removed and is really a graceful addition to the mixed border. The Achillea eupatorium, also named filipendulina and called fernleaved yarrow, grows about three feet high and produces large corymbs of tiny yellow flowers—arresting spots of color in this border. The best of the achilleas A—ptarmica in the varieties Perry's White, the Pearl and Boule de Neige. All the achilleas have the well-known yarrow smell.

Season for Shrubs

Physestegia is a welcome addition to many summer gardens. It grows from two to seven feet in the different species and is topped by spikes of white, pink or lavender flowers. The species virginiana is pink and the variant alba is, of course, white. A new dwarf variety Virginica Vivid, has large deep pink flowers, and is adapted to bedding, since it grows but 20 inches high. P—digitalis is a tall, hearty grower that can be used only for background or filler in neglected corners. The blooms are lavender and possess in common with others of their genus the amusing inhibition of being unable to turn back to

First Baptist W. M. S. Has Inspirational Meeting

A midsummer meeting of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society Monday brought about many interesting plans for summer work and elated the members when their goal for the Loyalty fund was reached and passed. The executive committee met in the morning at 9:30 and during the business meeting, plans were formulated for a regular visiting day for the church during the summer months.

With $1,000 set as the goal for the Loyalty fund, the total was reported as $1,025 and the beauty of the gift was that almost all of it was given by self sacrifice on the part of the women of the church.

In the missionary program that began at 10 o'clock, the season of traveler vacation was stressed. A singsong led by C. P. Mosley opened the meeting and Mrs. Homer McGregor gave an inspirational devotional, using "I Am the Way" as her text. She talked on the tour of life and the necessity of the right sort of guide, picturing dangerous mountain paths made beautiful and dark streams brightened with Christ the guide.

Mrs. O. B. Allbritton, in an inspiring talk, directed the subject to the topic for the day, "Touring the Mission Field Bordering the Gulf of Mexico." She spoke of the tour through the mission fields of Cuba, the mission work among foreign workers at Tampa and New Orleans and in Old Mexico. She spoke of the ship of fellowship and the stewardship which welcomed the party at each port; the mission headquarters were described and recreational, educational and spiritual advantages offered our foreign neighbors were pointed out.

Mrs. O. L. Powers dismissed the group with prayer. Among those present were Mesdames Art Davis, Daisy Dean, Ralph Hines, J. F. Detlefs, Homer McGregor, W. W. McCarty, O. L. Powers, G. W. Burns, E. L. SHIPPERS FIGHT FREIGHT HIKE

Commission Merchants Protest Increases

WASHINGTON, July 6. (INS)—Asserting the proposal of the railroads to increase freight rates 15 per cent would add $40,000,000 additional a year in transportation charges on shipments of fresh fruits and vegetables, a group of organizations in those industries today prepared to wage a vigorous fight against any increase in rates.

These groups consist of the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States, International Apple Shippers' association and the Western Fruit Jobbers' association of America. They operate under what is known as the joint council. Fayette B. Dow will handle the freight case for the council.

The council asserted that in view of the drastic price reductions on fresh fruits and vegetables which have occurred so far this year, and the probable continued low level for the near future, it was believed this additional sum will have the effect of curtailing shipments by rail rather than producing additional revenue for the railroads, which is the only justification for granting such increases.

"If it seems reasonably certain that any increase permitted will have the tendency to reduce the railroads' tonnage, thus depriving them of not only the increase but of some of the revenue already earned or anticipated, this will automatically defeat the purpose of the proposed increase in addition to the hardships which this move would inflict upon the industry."

Reports from California indicate shippers and growers of fruits and vegetables in that state are also prepared to oppose any increase in rates.

Southern manufacturers and shippers have already vigorously objected to the proposed increase.

Muskogee Citizens Protest Tax Levies

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6. (UP)—Four Muskogee taxpayers, protesting against alleged excessive and illegal taxes, today appealed the decision of the state court of tax review to the state supreme court.

The taxpayers' petition asserted the levy would be unnecessary if earnings of the city owned water system were turned over to the park, library and cemetery fund as the city ordinance provides.

It's All Hooey!

It's just a lot of "hooey" any way you figure, but some one proposed a "hog rodeo" at the Los Angeles county fair in September. And so here you see Ernestine Briscoll trying out one of the prospective "broncos."

Corn Refinery Gets Fine for Part In Whisky Conspiracy

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 6. (UP)—The Corn Products Refining company was fined $5,000 today on charges of entering into a conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, giving the federal government a partial victory in its effort to penalize corporations providing supplies for manufacture of illegal alcoholic beverages.

Jack Diamond's Buddy Shot to Death in Office

NEW YORK, July 6. (INS)—Charles Entratta, "side-kick" of Jack "Legs" Diamond, gangster, was shot dead today in his office in Brooklyn by three assassins.

Entratta was acquitted in 1929 on a charge of murder in connection with a double-killing in the Hotsy Totsy night club.

The trio of gunmen entered Entratta's office and shot him dead with six bullets fired point blank.

MINERS GROUP FIGHTS PARLEY

PITTSBURGH, July 6. (INS)—Denouncing the government sponsored operators-miners conference scheduled for July 9 in Washington as an attempt to 'trustify' the bituminous coal industry, the National Miners union today served notice of a spectacular attempt to establish a picket line in the shadow of the White House when the conference gets under way.

The central rank and file committee of the N. M. U., left wing offshoot of the United Mine Workers of America, in bitter condemnation of the U. M. W. A., issued a formal statement repudiating the right of the U. M. W. A. to represent striking miners at the conference. The statement read, in part:

"We will not stand for any attempt of the United Mine Workers to claim to represent the miners in this conference. We will picket the conference with every miner and miner's wife and child who can get to Washington. We will take advantage of this opportunity to collect relief for our strikers on the streets and in the homes of Washington."

The statement attacked the proposed conference as a "strike-breaking" effort intended to transform the soft coal field into a "Fascist camp in which the miners take more wage cuts."

P. T. Fagan, district president of the U. M. W. A., voiced wholehearted endorsement of the conference in a statement to International News Service. He said:

"The average operator has come to a realization of the strong influence toward rehabilitation of the industry exerted by the United Mine Workers of America. The conference should be conducive of much good to operators and miners."

Peruvian Government Claims Rebel Victory

LIMA, Peru, July 6. (AP)—The Peruvian government today claimed a victory over revolutionary forces in Southern Peru and pressed its troops forward to end the rebellion.

The insurgent forces were routed in a battle near Cuzco with a few casualties, a government bulletin said, and retreated with Loyalist troops in hot pursuit. The government's main body, entrenched in Cuzco, was described as awaiting reinforcements from Arequipa to deliver a decisive blow.

Seasick Newsboy Denies He Stole Crewless Yacht

SALEM, Mass., July 6. (UP)—Eugene Emerson, 25, who described himself as a Minneapolis newsboy, hobbled into district court on crutches today and told how he was "lured" aboard a stolen yacht and then left to drift helplessly for hours at sea.

Emerson, who has only one leg, was charged with the larceny of the 35-foot yacht, Joiona, owned by Dr. P. P. Johnson, of Beverly, but he insisted he had boarded the boat at the invitation of a stranger who said his name was "Johnson." This man offered to pilot him to Newport, R. I., "to see the races," the defendant said.

Judge George B. Sears, after listening to the youth's story, ordered him held in $1,000 bail for disposition of the case next Monday.

A confirmed landlubber, Emerson appeared to be still suffering today from the effects of his first ocean voyage, during which, too seasick to eat, he tossed in a bunk while the skipperless yacht, with sails set, cut crazy circles in the turbulent waters some 70 miles south-southeast of Highland light.

New Light Treatment to Restore Fading Beauty of Miss Liberty

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Miss Liberty of New York harbor is to take the lamp treatment for her beauty after dark.

That future shadow has crept up almost all over Bartholdi's famous goddess in the most unflattering places. At night she appears to have a double chin, sunken cheeks and rings around the eyes from staying up until dawn lighting the way for sailors.

So the United States army, whose ward she is, announced today the statue is to be illuminated by a new wrinkle-reducing battery of floodlights.

Furthermore there are to be incandescent jewels in her crown. In its 21 windows are to be installed additional lights, made to sparkle by a blinker system.

The old lighting system is responsible for uncomplimentary remarks made about the statue of Liberty's appearance by passengers on Staten Island ferries and night sailing ships.

Now all undesirable shadows all over the statue will be washed out by the incandescent bath. Didn't the late President Cleveland, when he unveiled the statue in 1886, say: "We shall not forget that Liberty has here made her home, nor shall her chosen altar be neglected?"

The treatment, including all-around renovation, will cost more than $30,000, said Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, commanding the second corps area, her guardian. A new elevator will be installed for the 350,000 tourists who visit the statue each year.

Murray Orders $6,000,000 Spent On 'Farm-to-Market' Road System

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6. (AP)—Governor Murray today issued an executive order directing expenditure of more than six million dollars on a farm-to-market road system in Oklahoma. Work would start not later than Jan. 1, 1932.

Governor Murray, outlining the future, policy of the state highway commission, ordered that all money except that used by the state to match federal aid allotments and for maintenance and supervision be used in the huge farm road program.

Work will be started on the vast project before the first of next year if federal and state contracts, now under construction, can be completed before then, Murray said.

Rustlers Make Away With Steers Meant For Barbecue

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6. (UP)—A troupe of Indians performed well in the bronco busting and steer riding acts at Canyon rodeo north of here Independence day.

Rodeo Manager H. L. Wallace had promised them a big dinner of barbecued steers and had brought four head of cattle for the repast. But when he opened the barn to slaughter the steers, the cattle were gone, he told county officers who started search today for cattle rustlers.

Chaser Gets Chased In Detroit Mix-Up

DETROIT, July 6. (UP)—Detective Thomas Leavy today muttered about the heat, nursed a wounded arm and moralized on haste.

Leavy saw Postal Clerk John Payne running for a street car, thought the running suspicious, yanked his gun and cried "halt."

Payne saw Leavy running, thought him a bandit and yelled "help."

Patrolman William Meeker saw them both and shot Leavy in the arm.

The three then got together and explained themselves amicably. Payne got his street car; Meeker went back to his beat and Leavy went to the hospital.

LABOR STUDIES JOB PROBLEM

Thomas Urges U. S. Bond Issue to Give Work

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6 (UP)—Senator Elmer Thomas today advocated a $5,000,000 federal government bond issue for internal improvements to relieve the unemployment situation.

His proposal was made at a session of 200 Oklahoma labor leaders meeting to draft a program for unemployment relief.

"There are more than 25,000,000 persons in America who have no source of income and we've got to do something quick," Thomas said.

Thomas said the group represented 5,000,000 men in the United States now out of work.

"I favor Hoover's debt plan for the foreign countries but first attention must be paid to relieving the horrible situation existing in our own country. With wheat 30 cents a bushel, and oil 25 cents a barrel, no wonder millions are suffering. With this bond issue voted, money would be loosened so everyone would be benefited," he said.

The senator proposed a state organization to cooperate with groups from other states in demanding national relief.

Flaming Kilgore Oil Well Defies Battlers

KILGORE, Texas, July 6. (AP)—The flaming Bell and Graddy oil well continued to burn at Kilgore today as crews of fire fighters struggled to place it under control.

Excavation of the tunnel which was being dug to the well shaft in an effort to divert the flow of oil, was reported to have reached the 85-foot mark, half way. The tunnel was planned to strike the well 25 feet below the surface, Sandy Fagan, Oklahoma miner, said.

DEATH ALTERS PROHI LINEUP

Modification Leader May Succeed Graham

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Fate has taken a hand in the perennial congressional battle over prohibition and today there is strong prospect of the house judiciary committee launching into an exhaustive investigation of light wines and beer when congress reconvenes.

Death of Representative George S. Graham, Republican of Philadelphia, chairman of the judiciary committee, brings about the possibility of a marked change in the prohibition fight.

If the Republicans organize the house, Representative Leonidas C. Dyer, Republican of Missouri is expected to succeed Graham as chairman. He is the ranking Republican. He is in line and would be chosen unless the drys made a successful fight on him.

And Dyer—one of the most enthusiastic advocates of modification of the Volstead act to permit light wines and beer—would be in position to push his fight with new vigor.

During the last two years Dyer made strong efforts to obtain a hearing by the judiciary committee on the question of light wines and beer.

The proposed hearing was forestalled when Chairman Graham, also a wet, announced hearings on repeal of the 18th amendment. When Dyer again was ready to propose a congressional hearing, he decided to lay the question before the Wickersham commission. Recently he made a personal plea to President Hoover.

The death of Representative Graham is the sixth in the new house elected last November. The complexion of the house now is: Republicans 215; Democrats 214; Farmer-Laborite one; with five vacancies, three Republicans and two Democrats.

Control of the house apparently will remain in question until the vote is taken for speaker next December.

LONDON, July 6. (UP)—Thirty-seven were killed in the Sino-Korean clashes at Heijo, Korea, over the week-end, according to an exchange telegraph report from Tokyo.

Roosters Win Legal Tiff in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, July 6. (AP)—The roosters of San Antonio are likely to continue their crowing, according to Officer Otto Leichman of the police department.

In fact, the roosters now have something to crow about.

A sleepless woman called headquarters and asked that a policeman be sent to halt the loud crowing of the chanticleers in the neighborhood.

Leichman went to the scene and came back vanquished. He said that the rooster chorus came from all points of the compass. The fowls, he decided, were using poor taste, but were within their legal rights.

TWO HELD IN DALLAS DEATH

Pair Suspected in Slaying Of Guard

DALLAS, July 6. (AP)—Two men, suspected of complicity in the slaying of Robert L. Roark, federal reserve bank guard, near his Dallas home Saturday night, were questioned by police today.

Police also seized an automobile and some articles of clothing, smeared with blood, which they believe will lead to clearing up the shooting.

Roark, who was unarmed, was apparently attacked by one or more robbers while on his way home from a show. It was believed that he resisted efforts to rob him and was shot down ruthlessly.

Pockets of his clothing were turned out and his money was gone when his body was found. His deputy sheriff's badge was still pinned to his coat.

Police believe Roark was slain by the same persons who last week took the lives of Abe Schreiber and his fiance, Miss Pauline Corman, while they were parked on a road in the suburbs.

Identity of Slain Man Sought at Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 6. (AP)—Police today sought to identify the body of a young man found by a farmer yesterday in a deep ravine six miles east of Marietta, Okla., with two bullet wounds in the chest.

Automobile tracks leading to the edge of the ravine led officers to believe that the man had been slain elsewhere and his body dumped there. Condition of the corpse indicated that death occurred about a week ago.

New Intimidation Charge Devolops In Prohi Inquiry

AMARILLO, Texas, July 6. (AP)—Federal agents stationed in Amarillo today were called to Lefors on an emergency investigation involving further intimidation of government witnesses who recently appeared before the United States grand jury which indicted 48 for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

According to information from a government agent at Lefors, a repetition of the recent attack alleged to have been made upon a federal witness had occurred.

Cleo Bolin and Calvin White, both of Lefors, are free on bond in the United States court here. Charged with an attack on a former attorney of Lefors, Murray Robinson, a federal witness. The alleged attack occurred on June 22, and the two men were arrested two days later.

Eradicating Crime

ATTORNEY GENERAL MITCHELL'S explanation that the federal government hopes, by its own example in the Capone case, to encourage local authorities to go after big city gangsters, is extremely sensible.

"Many communities," remarks the attorney general, "have got into the habit of thinking that these gangs are a necessary evil. Police are in on every bit of what is going on, and they are much better equipped to act than we are. If public sentiment only insisted on it they would act. But you know why they don't as well as I do. Where there's a will there's a way."

This is the sort of thing that needs to be said over and over again.

Whenever commercialized crime becomes rampant in any city, with gang murders, street shootings and the other familiar accompaniments, it is a perfectly safe bet that the police force as a whole is not nearly as helpless as it may appear to be.

As Mr. Mitchell says, where there's a will there's a way.. Good detectives can always get the goods on gangsters if they really try to. The federal men who got the goods on Al Capone in such a thorough manner have proved that beyond dispute. The job isn't impossible. Determination and intelligence will accomplish it, every time.

The whole trouble, in late years, has been the fact that the will has been lacking. Detroit, Chicago, New York and similar cities have been ridden by insolent gangsters because political pull and outright corruption have kept the police from doing the jobs for which the public hired them.

Before the gangs can be driven to cover there must be a wide public realization of that fact. If the federal government's action against Capone makes Americans understand this, and leads them to demand real service from their city governments, organized crime will lose nearly all of its present power.

Laws and Hitch-Hikers

THE state of Connecticut has put into effect a law providing penalties for people who stand by the roadside and beg passing motorists for rides; and the action brings up the whole question of the hitch-hiker and what to do about him.

Beyond question, the hitch-hiker is a grade-A nuisance. He toils not, neither does he spin; but he rides from one end of the nation to the other on somebody else's gasoline and tires and oil, and now and then he turns out to be an actual highway robber to boot—as many a motorist has learned to his cost. Obviously anything that will abate this nuisance is to be welcomed.

And yet—it seems too bad to legislate against hitch-hiking. After all, there is something rather democratic about the practice. The fact that it can flourish to such an extent indicates that Americans are still fairly open-hearted and companionable. Do we need laws against it?

Organizing the Coal Industry

SENATOR JAMES J. DAVIS of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, believes that the soft coal industry cannot regain its health until consolidation on a large scale has transformed the present host of small, weak companies into a few large and strong ones.

Probably there will be a few to disagree with him. The soft coal industry has been in a demoralized state for years. Stockholders lack dividends, miners go underpaid and suffer long lapses in employment, and the comparatively low price at which coal, in consequence, retails does not do the general public enough good to compensate for these distressing phenomena.

As the senator points out, the steel industry was in the same fix until a series of consolidations stabilized it and made it enormously prosperous. Something of the kind seems to be in order for the soft coal industry as well. It will be interesting to see the plan which Senator Davis is now devising to meet the difficulty.

EXPLANATION OF SATURDAY'S CARTOON

THE "STARS AND STRIPES" ARE "MULLETS AND BARRULETS."—In heraldry a star has wavy rays, which are six or more in number. The figure with five points formed by straight lines (on the United States ensign) is the mullet (wheel in spurs.) The width and length of the "stripes" qualifies them heraldically as "barrulets" (little bars.)

THE STORY THUS FAR

Sally Blair, in love with Peter Douglas, has consented to marry her millionaire employer, Harvey Davidson. Peter is engaged to Davidson's daughter, Linda. Peter had asked Sally to go out with him once more before his marriage, but Sally sends him a note saying that she can't. This marriage of Peter and Linda has been engineered by Peter's mother who wanted her son to marry money.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

Peter hadn't answered her note. Hadn't even called to say he was sorry she couldn't go out with him. Sally was disappointed, and a little hurt. True, she hadn't expected an answer, but now that she hadn't one and it was Saturday night, she was blue, and lonely. Harvey Davidson couldn't be with her. There was a banquet which he had to attend as one of the speakers. Because he wasn't coming, there were three dozen red roses in a vase on the table, six new books on the davenport, a jeweled vanity case on the dresser, and three pairs of theater tickets in her purse.

Sally opened the books, one after another, but couldn't get interested in any of them. The warm room was heavy with the fragrance of the roses. Now and then she looked at them, then looked away. Lovely roses, their petals like crushed dark velvet, their stems so long, their leaves so green, so hardy.

Mr. Davidson was so thoughtful . . . Harvey, she meant. When would she get used to thinking of him as Harvey?

Perhaps she should have gone to a show tonight—but she didn't like going to the theater. Still, she didn't feel like staying home, either. Strange how restless she was. Only 8 o'clock, and she had the whole evening ahead of her. She had thought it was later.

Sighing, she went into her bedroom, and looked again at the vanity case, so small, and yet so beautiful. Antique gold, studded with tiny pearls. She was putting it away in the top dresser drawer when the door bell rang. With another sigh she went to answer it, hoping it wasn't the landlady who had the habit lately of running in and talking. She didn't feel like talking tonight.

Peter Arrives

But it was Peter Douglas, who was her visitor.

"Ready?" he asked quickly, as he stepped in the living room.

"You didn't get my note?" Sally was panicky as he took the scarf from his neck, and opened his overcoat. She knew she had addressed the note correctly. She had looked at it again before she put it in the mail box . . .

"Of course, I did, but I came anyway. You promised me, you know. Get your coat and hat. Better bundle up, too, it's mighty chilly."

"I can't go, Peter."

"You're going." Something in his voice warned her that she had better go, so she walked slowly into the bedroom and came out with her coat and hat. What was the matter with Peter? He was so abrupt. So dictatorial. Ordering her around. She was afraid of him again, as she had been that day at the penthouse apartment.

"I can't go—" she said, throwing the coat on the davenport. Peter promptly picked it up and put it on her shoulders. She saw him glance at the flowers, and at the books on the couch. "A new beau?" he asked shortly. Sally didn't answer.

"Come on, Sally. I want to get out in the air. It's so hot in here—and I want to talk to you. We'll take a short ride, and then I'll bring you back early." There he was like the old Peter again, smiling down at her.

The girl longed to go. She was weakening and knew it. Only a short ride and he'd bring her back early.

"Just half an hour," she murmured as she pulled her small tight hat over her hair, and drew her arms in her coat.

"Just half an hour."

No harm in that, she told herself as she picked up the vanity case and stuffed it in her pocket. She wouldn't need a purse. The case would do.

A jet black coupe was waiting on the street, shining and new.

"Your car?" Sally asked as she got into the seat beside Peter.

"No, mother's. Linda—gave it to her. I use it occasionally." He jammed the gears until they roared and the car flew down the slippery street.

The cold night air did feel good after the stuffy apartment. Sally ran down the window on her side. She liked the wind on her cheeks, the draught in her face.

At the end of half an hour, they were still headed away from Manhattan going into the country.

They hadn't spoken since the car started.

"Hadn't we better go back?" Sally asked softly. She didn't really want to start back, she wanted to go on riding with Peter, knowing he was beside her, seeing the profile of his face as it was bent over the wheel.

Peter Is Wise

"Let's run away, Sally—you and I," he suggested, abruptly when the car was going up a steep grade, and another half hour had gone by.

"Don't be foolish, Peter—"

"Oh, I'm sick of all this—this wedding that's such a farce to me. I tried to get out of it but couldn't. I was in too deep."

"Don't talk like that Peter." There was the same fear in her that she had experienced in the apartment when Peter had ordered her to get her coat. A desperate tone in Peter's voice.

"Do you still love me, Sally?"

"No," she lied bravely.

"You do—I saw it in your eyes tonight when you saw me at the door." Then he wasn't so blind after all— "and when I kissed you the other day at the apartment, I knew it then, too. You were afraid. Why don't we run away, Sally? Nothing to stop us. I'm not in love with Linda. Never have been. Never even thought I'd propose to her, but I did—after you turned me down again when we were on the yacht. After your note, I marched right up to her—I was so furious at you—and asked her to marry me. Afterward I was sorry, ashamed. But there was nothing I could do. I tried to put off the wedding, gave a million excuses and all that, but I couldn't do it. I thought I could see you tonight and say nothing about all this—

"Pretend I didn't care for you anymore, but I can't. I do love you, Sally—I always have, and I always will."

"Please Peter, let's go back," Sally pleaded, as if she hadn't heard what he had been saying, as if his words meant nothing to her, when they meant everything . . .

"I don't want to go back— I want be mad with you forever. Let me be mad for a little while, Sally, and be mad with me. It's the only chance we'll have." The car swerved dangerously around a curve, but Peter righted it skillfully. The road was slippery in places, and icy.

Mad with him? How glorious! For tonight. Tomorrow they'd have to forget, and be sane again. Because she couldn't hold herself, Sally slipped over nearer him in the seat, and his arm fell from the wheel, and encircled her waist.

"You see now, don't you, Sally, that I don't love Linda? That I never did. I've missed you so much these last months—thought about you night and day. If we only run away, Sally! If we only could. If there weren't any more tomorrows."

"We can't of course—"

"No, but I wish we could. I wonder why I waited so long to see you. If I had come to you before—before all these preparations had been made, there would have still been time. Oh, Sally, I'm so sick of it all, so sick of being with mother, and Linda. I want to get away, be free for awhile. Kiss me!" Their lips met for one short moment.

"Watch the road, Peter!" Sally cried, as another turn loomed up, and the lights shot out over a precipice.

"I am, don't worry. Who were those flowers from tonight on your table?"

Was he jealous? Should she tell

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Did you ever write a letter to Frederic J. Haskin? You can ask him any question of fact and get the answer in a personal letter. Here is a great educational idea introduced into the lives of the most intelligent people in the world—American newspaper readers. It is a part of that best purpose of a newspaper—service. There is no charge except two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Address Frederic J. Haskin, director, the Record News Information bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Please explain how the rocket car driven by Friz Opel in Germany functions.—A. J. W.

A.—The rear projects large tubes from which exploding gases emerge. The principle depends upon Newton's third law, which states that to every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. As each rocket explodes, it propels the car forward, the faster the escape of the gas from the rocket the more reaction or kick it gets.

Q.—What is the legend of the moss rose?—E. V. S.

A.—According to German tradition, the legend of the moss rose is as follows: "Once upon a time an angel, having a mission of love to suffering humanity, came down on earth. He was much grieved at all the sin and misery he saw, and at all the evil things he heard. Being tired, he sought a place to rest, but as it fared with his master, so it fared with him, there was no room for him, and no one would give him shelter. At last he lay down under the shade of a rose and slept until the rising sun awoke him. Before winging his flight heavenward he addressed the rose and said that as it had given him shelter which man denied, it should receive an enduring token of his love, and so, leaf by leaf, and twig by twig, the soft moss grew around the stem and there it is today, a cradle in which the new born rose may lie, a proof of God's power and love."

Q.—With what church is Roger Babson, the conomist and statistician, affiliated? What is his political party?—W. E. S.

A.—Mr. Roger Babson has advised us that he is an independent in politics, and a member of the Protestant Congregational church.

Q.—When was an American flag, having 26 stars in the field, made? —A. T. H.

A.—It must have been made at some time between 1837, the date of admission into the union of Michigan, the twenty-sixth state, and 1845, when Florida, the twenty-seventh state was admitted.

Q.—What did the land cost upon which the Empire State building stands in New York City?—A. C. A.

A.—The price of the land was $16,000,000.

Q.—How did the dollar become the unit of American coinage?—C. H.

A.—The dollar was introduced into America by the West India trade before the revolution. The coinage act of the 2nd of April, 1792, legalized it and established it as a unit of American currency. The inconvenience of the English system of money led congress in 1781 to instruct Robert Morris to devise a system of national coinage. His suggestions were not adopted, but those proposed by Jefferson were approved. He proposed the dollar as a unit to be equivalent to one hundred cents.

Q.—How often have the Philippine islands sent a commission to congress asking for independence? —G. G.

A.—The Philippine legislature annually passes by unanimous consent a resolution in favor of complete independence and for the sixth time an independence commission was sent to Washington in 1930.

Q.—How is gelatin made?—A. K.

A.—It is formed by the action of boiling water on connective tissue, cartilage, ligaments, tendons, skin, hoofs, and bones. By one commercial process the selected tissues are washed and soaked in warm diluted soda lye for about 10 days, and then heated in an air-tight compartment. They are next washed in revolving drums, bleached by fumes of burning sulphur, and re-washed to remove the sulphur, after which the gelatine is dissolved out with boiling water. Color is removed by means of bleaching charcoal and the clear hot solution is poured out in thin layers which, after setting, are cut into small sheets and dried on nets.

Q.—What kind of prints were the Currier and Ives?—W. B.

A.—They were chromo-lithography.

Q.—What is a palimino horse?—M. E.

A.—The word is used to describe a special shade of buckskin horse. It is a Spanish term meaning cream color.

Q.—When was the air forest patrol established in the United States?—J. A.

A.—It was established in 1920.

Q.—With what play did Maude Adams play "Op o' Me Thumb"?—D. E. S.

A.—With "The Little Minister" in 1905.

Use Plenty of Cucumbers

Most people are well acquainted with cucumbers, yet they usually consider them a relish rather than a food. In this country, cucumbers are often spoiled by being made into pickles. It would be much better if we adopted the European custom of using the cucumbers as a cooking vegetable.

The cucumber was one of the first vegetables to be cultivated by man, for it has been grown back in history for at least 4,000 years. It certainly has been tested and tried by time. The culture of cucumbers is so perfect that it is possible to enjoy this refreshing vegetable nearly all year long. It is especially enjoyable during the summer months, when the crisp refreshing flesh is cooling and tempting.

The cucumber may be recommended as one of the most wholesome salad vegetables. I do not doubt that the most popular salad in the world is made of cucumber, lettuce and tomatoes. This vegetable offers us an alkaline food with many important food minerals, such as iron, magnesium and potash. It also contains good amounts of phosphorous, sodium and silicon. Judged from the view of its mineral elements, you cannot eat it too often.

In buying cucumbers choose those which are a bright, fresh green with a crisp, firm flesh. The small or medium sized ones have the best flavor. The older ones have an inferior flesh with too many large seeds. The American cucumbers are from three to four inches in length while the European type may be as long as three feet.

To prepare a cucumber, wash it well, then pare off all the green skin at the stem end. The cucumber is now ready to be sliced and added to a salad or ready to be cooked.

In cooking cucumbers, just enough plain water should be used to cover them so that not too much of the flavor is cooked out in the water. They may then be mashed and butter and cream added if desired. Any juice which remains may be used in soups or stews, but should not be thrown away.

I know many of you have never heard of cooked cucumbers, but I assure you that most of you will enjoy this vegetable and find it tasty and delicious.

Many people are afraid to eat cucumbers because they believe it causes indigestion. I realize that the cucumber has a bad reputation among salad vegetables, but this is chiefly because of its customary bad combinations. It is usually served with vinegar and has onions added, and the trouble invariably caused by the vinegar and onions is blamed on the cucumber. In adding the cucumber to salads avoid vinegar and onions and you will also avoid digestive disturbances.

Those who are troubled with belching find that when cucumbers are used with a meal and gas is belched the cucumber taste is quite pronounced. This is not because the cucumber has caused the gas, but simply because it has a distinct flavor which can be more readily detected during the act of belching than the dozen other foods in the stomach and which are likely causing the gas to form.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fracture of Hip

Question—H. M. writes: "After having had my hip fractured, and then eight weeks in a plaster cast, I am worried about my knees. The joints are very stiff and painful. Would oil massage be helpful?"

Answer—The recovery after fracture of the hip is necessarily very slow, and the knee joints and legs would be somewhat affected because of the pressure. Massage or osteopathic treatments are usually helpful in bringing about a more rapid recovery. It does not matter very much what is rubbed in, as it is the massage which does the work, the oil being simply a lubricant to enable an operator to work better.

Lemon Juice

Question—L. G. asks: "Is there any harm in taking the juice of a lemon in the morning for its refreshing effect, and then again before going to bed?"

Answer—There would not be any harm in taking the juice of the lemon in the morning or before going to bed, providing it is not too close to mealtime.

Seaweed

Question—Mrs. H. writes: "I should be glad of your opinion in regard to the free use of seaweed as an adjunct to health."

Answer—The various seaweeds seem to be beneficial simply on account of the large amount of iodine which they contain. They may be purchased in ground dehydrated form under commercial trade names. The fresh kelp one finds scattered along the seashore is also edible. There are a number of foods which contain iodine, and are listed in my special articel on food minerals which I will be glad to send you if you will forward a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

STEERS WIN 'PITCHERS' DUEL' 11-3 TO CLOSE SERIES HERE

HERD SCORES FIVE IN FIRST

Buck and Bud Smack Home Runs

By FRED THOMPSON

It started out like it would be a slugfest, but it wound up a contest to see which pitcher could walk or hit the most batsmen.

Richard Florrid won the walking contest, Lou Garland the hitting-the-batsman contest, and Dallas won the game, 11 to 3.

Lester White started for the Spudders, lasting two-thirds of an inning. Four thunderous hits, including a home run by Jones with one one, drove five runs across the plate and White to the bath house.

In the Spudder half of the inning, Buck Stanton smacked his second homer of the year at Athletic park with Garms aboard, and a little later Hungling hit another. Two more hits by Fuss and Scharein drove Lefty Fuhr out of the box.

Then the comedy started, climaxing in the fourth when with two out and one on, Florrid hit Holman and walked Cotter to load the bases. A double cleared them. After that Florrid pitched pretty good ball, and was given good support, two double plays helping him considerably.

In all Florrid succeeded in walking five men and hitting Ernie Holman twice. Garland hit Euller, Stanton and Garms and walked two. Both made a wild pitch apiece to make it more interesting.

Florrid went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Steengrafe hurled the ninth, yielding one run.

Though Garland was wild, he could hit the batters better than the batters could hit him. The Spudders got only five hits after the first inning. The Steers didn't get but six after the first, but they usually came with the bases cluttered with men who had walked or who had been hit.

The Spudders move to Dallas today for a two-game series.

One Way to Win

James' Texas leaguer over second fell for a hit to open the contest. White had a scatter arm and on a wild pitch James went to second. Benes fanned. Loepp walked. Langford doubled to right, James and Loepp scoring. Holman was safe on Euller's boot. Cotter doubled to center, scoring Langford. Scharein's relay of Gullic's throw-in was wild, hitting the grandstand, but Euller recovered in time to toss Holman out at the plate. Jones lifted a home run over the right field fence, scoring Cotter and himself. This ended White's stay on the mound. Florrid relieved him. Deberry grounded out, short to first.

The Spuds came back in the last of the frame and bounced Fuhr with a three-run counter attack. Garms walked. Allday fanned. Stanton hit a home run over the right field fence, scoring Garms and himself. Gullic popped to second. Hungling hit a home run over the left field fence. Fuss and Scharein singled and Garland relieved Fuhr. Euller forced Scharein at second, third to second.

With two out in the second, Benes singled, but Loepp grounded out, Scharein to Stanton. In the last half, Florrid fanned. Garms singled to right but Allday popped to second and Stanton lined out to left.

More Tallies

In the third, Langford walked and was sacrificed along by Holman, Stanton to Allday, who covered first. Cotter walked. Jones singled to right, scoring Langford and advancing Cotter to third, and took second on the throw-in. Deberry was safe on Euller's boot, Cotter scoring and Jones taking third. Garland sacrificed, Hungling unassisted, Deberry taking second. James grounded out, Florrid to Stanton, to finally retire the side.

In the home half, Gullic popped to second. Hungling fanned. Fuss grounded out, second to first.

In the fourth, Benes grounded out, Euller to Stanton. Loepp walked. Langford forced Loepp, Allday to Scharein. Holman was hit by a pitched ball, Langford taking second. Cotter walked, loading the bases. Jones doubled to center, clearing the sacks. Deberry flied out to Gullic. In the last half, Scharein fanned. Euller was hit by a pitched ball. Florrid fanned. Garms singled off Garland's glove, Euller taking second. Allday flied to left.

In the fifth, Garland lined out to right. James grounded out, second to first. Benes lined out to Stanton. In the home half, Stanton was hit by a pitched ball. Gullic fouled out to the catcher. Hungling popped to third. Fuss flied to left.

Another Hit Batsman

In the sixth, Loepp flied to left. Langford beat out a hit to first. Holman was hit by a pitched ball, Langford taking second. Cotter hit into a double play, Allday to Scharein to Stanton. In the home half, Scharein grounded out, third to first. Euller walked, and went to second on a wild pitch. Florrid fanned. Garms lined out to first.

Benes walked to open the seventh but was forced at second, pitcher to short, when Deberry bunted. Garland hit into a double play, Allday to Scharein to Stanton. In the last half, Allday grounded out, third to first. Stanton singled to left. Gullic hit into a double play, third to second to first.

In the eighth, with two out, Loepp got first on Hungling's interference, and took second on a wild pitch, but Langford popped to Scharein. In the last half, Hungling fouled out to third. Fuss singled to left. Scharein walked, Fuss taking second. Euller grounded out, third to first, both runners advancing. Bradbury batted for Florrid and popped to second.

Holman Doubles

Steengrafe took the mound for the Spudders in the ninth. Holman doubled to left. Cotter grounded out, Stanton to Steengrafe, who covered first, Holman taking third. Jones lined out to Scharein. Deberry singled to left, Holman scoring. Garland fanned.

In the last of the frame, Garms was hit by a pitched ball. Allday fanned. Stanton singled past second. Gullic hit into a double play, third to second to first.

Presbyterians Defeat Malone Nine, 7 to 1

Behind the sensational pitching of Carroll "Big Boy" Ridling, Presbyterian mound star, the Presbyterians pulled just a little farther out in the front of the Commercial league race by defeating the second place Malones Beauty Shop, 7 to 1, on Debus field. Ridling gave up only four hits and blanked the first half champs for the first six innings. Rabbit Gordon collected half the Malones' four hits. Red Thurman led the attack for the Presbyterians with two hits, and also turned in the feature bit of fielding for the day by snaring a long drive off the bat of Jones in the seventh inning. Score:

Burke Beats Von Elm In Second Play-Off To Win National Open

ONE STROKE IS HIS MARGIN

By LESTER RICE
Universal Service

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 6.—So tired he could hardly drag one leg after another, so haggard his cheeks seemed to meet every time he pulled on a cheroot, Billy Burke today at Inverness won the national open championship. After he had played 144 holes and had fired 589 shots since the inception of the tournament on Thursday, Burke was just one stroke better than George Von Elm, first of the business golfers.

Tied at the end of the 72-hole championship with scores of 292 each, Burke and Von Elm played 36 holes yesterday without a decision and today continued their match for mastery through 36 more holes. At the end of 139 holes and with only five more left to play there was still no shadow of difference between them.

It was Von Elm, the tiger of Utah, who weakened toward the end. The putting blade that had stood him in such wonderful stead throughout the championship became a faithless implement.

Gallery Swarms Course

With the Inverness course swarming with an undisciplined gallery, the sun pouring its unclouded rays upon terrain moist from nocturnal showers, the battle waxed hotter throughout the day.

In the forenoon, with both players obviously nervous because they sensed another tense struggle, Von Elm scored a 76 to take a one-stroke lead over Burke's 77. By afternoon the nervousness had worn away and was succeeded by a grim, dogged determination.

In this latter round Burke, with a fine display of gameness in the face of growing fatigue, tallied a mighty par 71 that lapped the tight-lipped tiger low by one stroke.

Burke might have won by two strokes. He was that much ahead as he and Von Elm laid their approaches on the last green.

The crowds formed a heavy circle of humanity around them. Motion picture men, anxious to report the closing scenes of the drama for the news reels, set their machines whirring.

Asks for Silence

Von Elm, with still a slim chance of winning, asked for silence while he took that chance. Herbert H. Ramsay, president of the United States Golf association and referee of the match, demanded the cameras cease cranking and Von Elm, without a whisper disturbing him, putted 30 feet up a sloping green and almost holed the putt. It was the last gesture of a man who had fought gallantly throughout his greatest tournament. A tournament that melted his weight from 145 to 136 pounds.

Burke, with two strokes to the good, turned to the disappointed camera men and said: "Boys, I can lose a shot and still win. Start your machines grinding again."

And with three machines buzzing in his ears, Burke putted his ball up the same slope that Von Elm had travelled but eight feet wide of the hole, and then with still two putts to win, tapped his next one safety up to the lip of the opening and then knocked it in.

Succeeds Jones

And so we have William Burkowski, a Lithuanian, born in the village of Naugatuck, Conn., 29 years ago, the successor to the eminent Robert Tyre Jones Jr. who deserted the throne-room to go questing for lucre. Burke is slightly stooped, sandy haired with brown eyes of a wistful expression.

The wonder is that this likeable chap who has for years been a pal of Henry Topping, the Greenwich millionaire, was able to go through with it today. He was fighting a man with the wiry strength of a coiled spring, the same man who in a similar battle five years before had beaten Jones at Baltusrol. He was fighting a man who was fresher than he was.

Since the day he was called on to qualify for the Ryder cup matches at Scioto just two weeks ago yesterday, Burke performed golfing prodigies. He led the 72-hole qualifying test and then went on to play 36 holes in the foursomes and subsequently defeat the giant Archie Compston in the singles.

Burke played through the nerve-wracking open to finish in a tie with Von Elm and then played through 72 more holes before he found his glory. All and all, he had crowded 16 high powered rounds of competitive golf into 15 days.

Burke Takes Lead

Burke had played the first stretch of nine holes this afternoon in 34 to Von Elm's 36 to be one stroke ahead.

But Von Elm was not out yet. Not by any means. He holed a 12-footer at the 10th to level the match again and even after Burke had curled a putt of 15 feet into the cup at the 15th for another birdie to win a stroke, the tiger was able to haul Burke back at the 13th when the latter visited a trap.

It was here that Von Elm's putter first indicated distress. George had banged a fine iron seven feet past the cup and he had a golden opportunity not only to tie but take the lead when Burke failed to avoid the penalty of the hazard. His ball however, slipped past the cup and the chance was gone.

At the very next hole Von Elm went one stroke down, this time to stay.

At the 16th, where in the last round of the championship he had fritted away a chance of winning outright by muffing a short putt, Von Elm blew one even shorter. He took a five and went two strokes rearward. Fours at the 17th brought the closing act of the pulsating drama to the last green where the action, already described, took place.

Californians Win Clay Court Doubles

ST. LOUIS, July 6. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, two tall and youthful Californians, won the national clay court doubles tennis championship today, defeating Berkeley Bell, New York, formerly of Texas, and Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas, 6-3, 7-9, 10-8, 9-7.

Exporters Win Second Straight Over San Antonio Tribe, 7 to 3

BEAUMONT, July 6. (AP)—George Malicky, San Antonio castoff, turned on his ex-buddies for the sixth time this season to whip the Redskins, 7 to 3, here this afternoon, the second straight Beaumont victory over Claude Robertson's men. Malicky limited the Indians to six blows, but two were home runs by Hamilton and Edwards. Score:

Schmeling Sails For Fatherland

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, climbed aboard a boat for Germany and two challengers for his title signed articles today for a 15-round match at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, July 22.

The signers were Jack Sharkey, who lost his chance to be champion by fouling Schmeling a year ago, and Mickey Walker, resigned middleweight titleholder. Jimmy Johnston will promote the bout for the milk fund.

Sharkey will start training tomorrow in New York and will move to a camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., within a few days. Schmeling, conquerer of Young Stribling in Cleveland July 3, was booked to depart on the Europa at midnight but he is expected back in August to defend his title again either against Primo Carnera or the winner of the Sharkey-Walker tilt.

Yankee Left Fielder Weds Alabama Girl

NEW YORK, July 6.—Rain washed out the Yankees' game today at the stadium, so William B. Chapman, star left fielder, hurried down to the Little Church Around the Corner and was married to Miss Elizabeth Payne from his home state of Alabama.

And tomorrow the new Mrs. Chapman very probably will occupy a box at the stadium to watch her husband-of-a-day play in the Yanks' double-header against the Boston Red Sox.

Chapman has been with the Yankees for two years and this year is leading both leagues in base-stealing. His home is in Emeley, Ala., and his bride is from Birmingham. She is the daughter of James B. Payne, a railroad man.

DATES FIXED FOR PLAY-OFF

Buffs-Shippers Meet First On July 25

Taking a "wire vote" after Houston and Beaumont officials failed to agree on suitable dates, President J. Alvin Gardner Monday announced definite dates for the settling of the first half Texas league pennant race between the Buffaloes and Exporters.

The first games will be July 25, 26 and 27. The fourth will be Aug. 12 and if a fifth game is necessary it will be Aug. 13. The first half tie will be decided by regularly scheduled games of the second half and these games will count in the second half championship standing as well.

The games of July 25 and 26 will be played in Beaumont as scheduled and that of July 27, scheduled in Beaumont, will be transferred to Houston. The teams then do not meet again until Aug. 12, when they are scheduled in Beaumont. The first game of this series will be transferred to Houston, and if a fifth game is necessary, its site will be decided by the toss of a coin.

Games transferred from Beaumont will be made up by switching an equal number of games from Houston to Beaumont later in the schedule, Gardner announced.

Dallas Club Wins Skeet Championship

DALLAS, July 6. (AP)—The Dallas Skeet and Gun club five-man team today bettered its own Southwestern record which it established yesterday to take the Southwestern Skeet association's team championship. The Dallas gunners led Houston by six birds; at the finish their score was 476.

The Southwestern individual championship went to Peg Melton of Houston who broke 97 targets out of a possible 100.

H. C. Sparkman of Dallas won the high gun title for the three-day shoot. Sparkman registered 242 shots out of a possible 250. Melton of Houston trailed Sparkman by two shots.

Sens And A's Battle to Scoreless Tie; Game Halted in Eighth by Rain

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Washington and Philadelphia battled to a scoreless tie in the second game of their series today, rain ending the contest before the eighth inning had been completed.

Cronin of the Senators was dancing on second base when Umpire McGowan waved the rain drenched players in from the field over the protest of 15,000 howling fans. One was out at the time.

A 30-minute wait brought no check in the downpour and the teams decided to play off the tie Wednesday, an open date.

The tie left Washington four and a half games behind the league leading athletics. Score:

Hit-and-Run Horse

PITTSBURGH.—There are quite a few hit-and-run automobile drivers in this city, but the first case of a hit-and-run horseman was reported by Dr. H. B. Krumpe. Krumpe was driving his new car up the street when he approached four housemen. One of the horses leaped the hood of the car, badly damaging it. Before Krumpe could get out of his car the horse and driver beat a hasty retreat.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Cotton was generally lower today. After selling off to 10.25 early, October rallied to 10.36 on some covering and trade buying but broke again, selling down to 10.18 late in the afternoon. There were partial rallies in the last few minutes, however, with October closing at 10.29 and with the general market closing very steady at net declines of 20@23 points.

The opening was barely steady, 17@21 points lower under liquidation or reselling by buyers of last Friday who were disappointed by the news from the Paris debt holiday conferences.

The market was very quiet during the greater part of the day as if traders were awaiting further developments from Paris. Two more private crop reports were issued, one of them pointing to a reduction of 10.4 in acreage and a condition of 74.2 with a crop outlook of about 12,950,000 bales with average conditions henceforth. The other placed the reduction in acreage at 13.4 and the condition at 68.5 exports today 325, making 6,694,238 so far this season. Port receipts 674. U. S. port stocks 2,972,619.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 6. (AP)—Cotton was extremely quiet today and the course of prices was downward. Poor cables, the failure to reach an agreement with France on the moratorium and good rains in the eastern belt caused the decline. Trading was restricted by the approach of the acreage estimate Wednesday. After showing declines at one time of a dollar and a half a bale, the market rallied and closed at neclines of 21-23 points or a little over a dollar a bale.

Private estimates of acreage decrease were 13.4 per cent and 10.4 per cent.

Liverpool came in 10 to 11 points worse than due and private cables said there was local and foreign liquidation on favorable weather and disappointing French news. Manchester cabled there were moderate cloth sales. First trades here showed losses of 17 to 20 points.

In the late trading, prices weakened again in sympathy with a late break in stocks and on favorable crop advices and made new lows with October at 10.21 and December at 10.45, down 27 to 29 points from the previous close. Prices rallied four to six points at the end on covering. October closed at 10.27 and December at 10.49 both months down 23 points net for the day.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Cotton goods opened quiet and easy today in the gray goods division, influenced in price by the decline in raw cotton. Finished goods were in light demand. Slow deliveries of men's wear are reported from several mills due to the pressure for goods after long deferred ordering. Silk manufacturers are little disposed to pay advances on silk for future delivery until fabric prices rise. Burlaps were firm in anticipation of the preliminary jute forecast due this week. Rayon buying is seasonally quiet but mills continue active.

Uncertain Market Closes With Prices Lower Despite Rally

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 6. (US)—Uncertainty dominated the stock market today as a result of the failure of the Franco-American debt negotiations to reach a definite conclusion over the week-end. The market opened with stocks in fairly liberal supply and at discounts of from a point to several points among most active issues. But the initial sales represented in a great many instances the lowest price quotations for the entire day, a modest rally ensuing after the opening.

With cable advices from Paris and Washington reports blowing hot and cold, the market was little disposed to wax enthusiastic over the outcome of the negotiations, although as yet the financial community refuses to believe that they would be permitted to expire without some arrangement in line with the original suggestion.

However, prices were unable to overcome entirely the early decline and the closing found net losses registered in all groups. Decline in July wheat to a new low for the season was another influence in the general desire to avoid the stock market, an attitude easily recognizable from the day's volume of just a million shares.

Even the pools were little anxious to do more than churn their favorites, virtually all of which receded from last week's closing. American & Foreign Power lost nearly a point on additional profit-taking induced by persistent report that the pool in this issue has been withdrawing. Last week the stock failed to make any headway whatever, despite a volume of over 380,000 shares.

It was quite natural, in view of the general market irregularity, that the Alaska Juneau pool should come to life and this issue was marked up almost two points net. Juneau performs best when the general list is declining. Its sponsors, numbering some of the most active bears, seemingly are refreshed by weakness in other stocks.

National Biscuit continued in supply, establishing a new low for the year. Selling of the stock has been very persistent and it was reported yesterday that a good deal of the short-selling has been coming from the big speculator supposedly among the bull leaders and who has been very vociferously proclaiming his bullishness. Incidentally, it was also reported that this individual now anticipates a sizeable reaction in the market which, if true, confirms statement made here that he was a large seller of stocks last week. It is his opinion, however, that despite a reaction the market is headed higher.

Throughout the market there was evidence of sizeable profit-taking, a good deal of which undoubtedly is brought about by the delay in the debt negotiations. Steel common closed down more than a point, Case Threshing 1⅝, and other active stocks sold down proportionately. Chrysler maintained leadership from the standpoint of activity, although it too had to absorb heavy profit-taking.

Woolworth was affected by the general irregularity, losing a point despite its June sales report showing an increase of 6 per cent above the same month a year ago. Increase almost sufficient to overcome the decline shown in the preceding five months. This stock has an aggressive pool which takes advantage of every period of strength in the general list. Gillette was lower on announcement that its manufacturing facilities may be suspended temporarily to effect physical consolidation with the Auto-Strop machinery.

There can be no dispute with the assertion that the debt delay is creating renewed nervousness. An agreement in sympathy with the original moratorium idea, despite concessions, would be welcomed as a distinct improvement in world economic affairs. But so long as the outcome of the present discussions remains in doubt the markets will evidence nervousness. Then, too, such delay has the effect of centering greater attention upon domestic commercial conditions.

A development which was almost overlooked in the general disappointment over the debt talk was the continued evidence of strength in the commodity markets. For the third successive week, wholesale commodity quotations, on the average, advanced.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 6. (AP)—There was slow demand on the cash grain market today. Exporters were bidding 53@54½c basis delivered Texas gulf ports freight paid. Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Sorghums—$1.05@1.10; No. 2 kaffir $1.02@1.08.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 6. (AP)—Lowest prices since 1896 today accompanied arrivals of newly harvested domestic winter wheat amounting to almost 10,000,000 bushels. Dearth of export demand for wheat from North America had a further bearish influence, and tso too did fresh refusal by the farm board to change its sales policy in regard to government fianced wheat. Moratorium uncertainties and stock market weakness were additional bearish factors.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼@1c lower, corn ⅜@¾c off to ⅝c up, oats ⅜@⅝c down, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents advance.

Acting as a cushion for the fall of wheat prices was announcement that despite big arrivals from the harvest fields the United States wheat visible supply had increased but 1,203,000 bushels in the last week. Furthermore, the pressure of hedging sales was less pronounced than had been looked for, indications being that domestic millers were absorbing large quantities of the new grain, and had disposed of corersponding liberal amounts of flour. Counting as an additional handicap to bulls was favorable weather for spring wheat both sides of the Canadian boundary.

Corn and ots were bearishly affected by fine weather. July corn was an exception offerings being scarce.

Provisions although weak at times on account of lack of demand, rallied sharply when buying appeared.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 54⅝@51⅞c, 56¼c; Sept. 55⅛@55⅝c, 56⅝@56⅞c; Dec. 59⅞@60c, 61⅛@61¼c. Corn—July 58¼c, 60⅝c; Sept. 54½@54⅝c; Dec. 48⅛c, 49⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 6. (US)—Volume of hedging pressure was not large in view of the accumulation of marketings over the extended week-end, but it came in persistently. Inasmuch as it found the market in a weak position because of bearish speculative sentiment, its effect was pronounced.

Weekly wheat statistics were slightly bullish. The world shipments of 14,210,000 bushels were less than takings, as on passage stocks declined 3,736,000 bushels. The total floating supply is now only 12,000,000 bushels over a year ago.

The Illinois Central crop report notes that while corn is generally in good condition, the heat has resulted in shortage of moisture in sections of Illinois and Nebraska.

Already a great deal of interest is exhibited in the Canadian crop report, due July 9. The domestic figures due the following day cause little interest. It is expected the winter crop figure will be close to the private average of 689,000,000 bushels.

him? Better not. "You aren't interested," she parried.

"I am, and I'd like to know."

"A man, then."

"What man? Does he love you?"

"Yes—"

"Do you love him?" Peter demanded savagely.

"You've not right, Peter—"

"I know, Sally, but I'm not myself tonight. I feel crazy mad. Forgive me."

"Be Careful, Peter!"

Another silence, only broken by the swish of the tires on the pavement and the roar of the engine as it climbed. Few cars on the road, now and then a machine coming down slowly, brakes grinding, lights piercing deep into the canyon below. There was no moon, and the night sky was dark velvet studded with pin point jewels.

"I can't go on with it, Sally."

"You must. It's too late to turn back now."

"Who was the man who sent you the flowers?"

"He's the man I'm going to—marry."

"So you're going to be married? You, too. Are you telling me the truth?"

"Is it a man I know?"

"Yes—" She didn't want to tell him. He mustn't know . . .

"Who is he?"

"I can't tell you, Peter. Please don't ask me."

His foot pressed the gas pedal, and the car shot ahead very fast.

"Peter! Be careful!"

"I don't care, Sally—I don't care what happens . . ."

She caught the wheel but it was too late, a curve ahead, and the car missed and flew into space. A moment in which her mind was chaos, but only a moment, then she bent over and turned off the engine. Where were they going?

A crash . . .

Nitro Blasts Fail To Halt Oil Fire

Special to The Record News

HENDERSON, Texas, July 6.—After two unsuccessful attempts this morning at shooting the Tulsa Oil Co. No. 1 Quinn, a mile and a half southeast of Overton, the fire is still raging. The supply of nitroglycerine has been exhausted and the third shot will not be made until the arrival of an airplane which is bringing a fresh supply from Tulsa.

At 4 o'clock this morning 40 quarts of nitroclycerine were used in a blast which rocked the countryside without blowing out the fire, and again at noon 68 quarts were shot without success.

Six Henderson officers have been on duty at the well for the past 24 hours together with two state rangers. No automobile or pedestrians are allowed within two miles of the burning well, warnings are being sent out by a special telephone system connecting various points on nearby highways.

About 1,556,000 persons are employed directly or indirectly by the United States government.

Attorney Contends East Texas Proration Order Illegally Issued

AUSTIN, July 6.—An attorney of East Texas oil producers asserted here the railroad commission's new oil proration order is void, on Commissioner Pat M. Neff's statement that it was signed by two members without a session of the board to vote on its adoption.

The lawyer said all penalty suits filed by the railroad commission under orders similarly entered "might as well be thrown in the lake."

Suits against the order may take the form of direct attacks charging its legal non-existence, rather than seeking to set aside its operation, the lawyer intimated.

Commissioner Neff said in a prepared statement that the order, in final form, was sent him for signature, without there having been held a conference of the commission to consider it. The order bears signatures of two other commissioners. Former Governor Neff declined to sign it, assigning as one of his reasons that he was not consulted in its preparation.

The attorney of East Texas operators declared the absence of a record showing a session of the railroad commission to adopt an order, and recording the vote taken upon it before the order was signed, will prove fatal to its validity in any court attack upon it.

PIONEER DIES AT STAMFORD

Rites Said Monday for John T. Hudson

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, July 6.—John L. Hudson, 51, who was stricken while on a business trip in Abilene on Tuesday night, died there at the West Texas Baptist hospital Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services were held here at the Central Presbyterian church of which Mr. Hudson is a member on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. After the service here the funeral party formed an escort to Buffalo Gap where the body was entertained for Belton. Burial will be made in Belton on Tuesday.

Mr. Hudson was well known throughout the western part of Texas, having been a salesman for several large companies during the past 20 years. He was married 22 years ago to Miss Nora Tuttle of Denver, Colo., and they have been residents of Stamford for the past 15 years, taking an influential part in the city's affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle, parents of Mrs. Hudson, are here from their home in Denver.

Dr. J. S. Hodges of Denison and Rev. Fred S. Rogers, both former pastors of the Central Presbyterian church here, officiated in the funeral service. Pallbearers were C. M. Francis, Harry Yates, Arnold Douthit, C. F. Upshaw, Dick Rowland and Dr. E. P. Bunkley.

Surviving Mr. Hudson are his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Taylor Hudson of Belton, two sisters, Mrs. R. R. Penn of Dallas and Mrs. Wilson Davidson of Carmel, Calif.; and one brother, Dr. Lee Hudson of Dallas.

SOONER DEATH TRIAL OPENS

Bellboy Charged With Killing Woman

HOUSTON, July 6. (UP)—Trial of Donald E. Covin, 23-year-old Beaumont bellboy on charge of murder in the slaying of Mrs. Marie W. Hart, 29, began today in criminal district court here.

"I would rather see her dead than living with another man," officers said Covin told them when he was arrested shortly after Mrs. Hart was shot June 1 on the mezzanine floor of the Rice hotel. "I had been going with her eight months and she took everything out of my life, so I shot her."

Officers learned that Covin and Mrs. Hart, pretty brunet, had been sweethearts in Beaumont. Shortly before the shooting Mrs. Hart returned to her husband and two children here.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS HORST

Divorces Blamed on Breaking Up of Home Life

Discussing the defects in our present social system, Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, told members of the Kiwanis club Monday that "the gradual disintegration of our homes is responsible in a large part for the immense number of our divorces."

"Any constructive criticism should be conceived as being an act of loyalty and patriotism just as much as some deed for our country is," the speaker said. "Our schools and Sunday schools are lagging behind due to a laxity in control and our social betterment will not come until we realize just how greatly these problems need attention."

The luncheon was held at the Wichita club at 12:10 o'clock and was presided over by Kenneth Bebb, in the absence of the president.

Ford Increasing Field for Trucks

One of the most important recent developments in the commercial car and truck business is the increase in the number of Ford body types, which now include several score units, according to C. T. Boone of Northwest Motors Inc., local Ford dealer.

"The extent to which this fight truck and commercial car have extended their usefulness is forcefully demonstrated by the Ford commercial exhibits in a number of the larger cities," Mr. Boone said. "Ranging from the dainty model A town car delivery designed for exclusive shops to big trucks with extra long wheelbase, these exhibits are displaying Fords for practically every purpose except the very heaviest hauling.

"Representative of the model AA trucks designed for specialized needs are several types of panel bodies, two police patrols, an ambulance, a service car for garages, funeral coach, funeral service car, ice body, light and heavy hydraulic dump bodies, garbage truck, high lift coal body, combination dump body for coal and coke, stake racks, open express and heavy duty express. Also available are furniture vans, busses for school and public transportation, milk delivery trucks, street sweepers and many other units.

"The model A light delivery car likewise is available in a number of attractive body types. There are the pick-up with open or closed cab, the de luxe delivery, town car delivery, panel delivery, drop floor panel and the special delivery finished in natural wood.

The model AA chassis is available in either of two gear ratios, with 131¼ or 157-inch wheelbase, and with optional dual rear wheels. Bodies may be had in any of a number of color combinations with open or closed cabs, and, in several instances, with either de luxe or standard finish."

Magician Held After Jack County Chickens Disappear

A Mississippi magician was in the city jail here Monday, awaiting the arrival of Jack county authorities who accuse him of employing his power to make disappear two automobile casings and several chickens at Antelope, Jack county, Sunday night. A woman also is held in connection with the case.

She told police that while she and her husband were in Florida her spouse became tired of her and on meeting the magician told him to take her back to Mississippi. She said the husband told the magician to treat the woman "nice" and to take good care of her.

The two are said to have used a pet chicken they carry to decoy the Jack county fowls from safety.

Both were arrested here late Monday morning by Detective Fred Fountain after Jack county officers had communicated with police here.

Jail Term Assessed On Pistol Charge

Wheeler Morgan was assessed a 30-day jail term by a jury in Judge Irvin J. Vogel's county court at law Monday on a charge of carrying a pistol. His brother, A. M. Morgan, arrested at the same time, was fined $50 and costs each on two cases of traffic violation.

The two allegedly were sitting in a parked automobile without lights on the night of June 22. One was said to have carried a pistol, the other being charged with parking on the highway and failure to have a tail light burning on the automobile.

A negro preacher here was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of simple assault. He was alleged to have used a knife in chasing a negro from his church here recently.

SHRUBS FAVOR HOT WEATHER

Mrs. Dobie Tells How To Root Cuttings

their former angle on the stem once a finger has turned them around. Since physestegia spreads very rapidly by means of underground stems, its encroachments must be sharply checked.

Portulaca is a flower, which, like stock, has suddenly, after being little grown for many years, returned to make gardens beautiful. It is also called sunplant from its habit of closing in the late afternoon. Portulaca is best planted in mixture so closely that it forms a mat of bloom. Low growing, it is particularly effective as an edge to shrubbery.

Summer is the best of seasons for shrubs. The hydrangeas that have been so fine this year from Angleton to Pearsall will soon have finished their blooming, but it is not too early to begin making plans for another year. Hydrangea is one of the easiest of all shrubs to grow from cuttings. Put some twigs in wet sand and watch with what astonishing quickness the buds swell. Cape jasmine is another June bloomer that grows easily from cuttings, and there is no better time to root them than the present. They should be stuck in bottles of water until roots form.

The number of shrubs that bloom in the hot weather is large. Vitex spikes are a good blue; buddleia brings those delicate visitors the butterflies to gardens; oleander, whether white, rose or soft pink, is the freshest of blossoms; pomegranate and crape myrtle, though not for the same garden, are equally gay; cenizo flowers after rains in rose, orchid, violet and the rarer white; poinciana flaunts its exotic blooms in many a garden; desert willow cares naught for drouth; abelia, when sufficiently watered, is a veil of white; retama is a shower of gold; lantana blooms steadily on, and althea can be counted upon to furnish its daily blossoms.

Vines Popular

Vines are especially fitted for midsummer, since they give shade and beauty without stint and at little price. Queen's crown, silver lace vine, moonflower, blue morningglory, cypress, cardinal climber, bigonia, and clematis give the greatest freedom of bloom throughout summer. No, summer is not a season of scanty bloom.

Time to Plant

It is already time to prepare for the next year. Seed of four sorts should be planted in the summer; seed having so tough an outer coat that when hardened by time it becomes nearly impervious to water; seed of most spring-blooming perennials; seed of plants that require a long time before coming to flower; and seed of winter-bloomers. Three of our best natives are included in the first group—bluebonnet, blue gentian, and mountain laurel. Blue gentian seed should be planted as soon as they are ripe in pots that are kept sitting in water. Bluebonnet seed need not be soaked if they are planted in July, but if they are left until fall they should be soaked a day in water. It is better to soak mountain laurel seed for two days even when they are planted early. Summer blooming perennials, if planted in the fall, have time to grow into blooming plants before their season comes; but a year is saved by planting spring blooming perennials, such as columbine, rock cress and alyssum during the summer. Stock in the fine giant imperial and beauty of nice varieties requires a long growth before blooming. There is still time to plant seed to bloom next February and March. Wallflowers should be planted at once for bloom next winter; in a mild season they bloom throughout the cold months. Pansies are another winter bloomer that must be started in summer. August is the best time, but it is so difficult to secure germination of pansy seed during so hot a month that few amateurs attempt to raise early pansies from seed.

Seed sown in the summer sprout promptly. They must, however, be allowed to dry out during the period of germination. If sown over a small area for subsequent transplanting, they can be wet twice a day. Partial shade is a very good attribute of the summer seed bed.

Husband Jailed On Wife's Plea to Court

A Wichita Falls man was lodged in the county jail here Monday on failure to make $500 peace bond set in a hearing held before R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace, after his wife complained that the man had threatened to kill her.

The husband's attorney filed a writ of habeas corpus to secure his release. The petition will be heard Thursday by Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law, according to Otis E. Nelson, assistant county attorney.

Why
Slow Melting Ice
Is the Most Beautiful Ice in the World

Several years ago our shareholders opened a research division for the improvement of the manufacture of ice, and so remarkable has been our success, we are anxious for the public to know of same.

We are now able to freeze ice and remove it from the molds at a low temperature which, formerly, would have cracked it into a thousand pieces. We have also, by a process of aeration, removed from our ice all white cores as well as taste and odor.

With ice frozen at such a low temperature, as clear as a crystal and hard as a piece of glass, it should now be the most economical part of your budget.

Hundreds of chemical refrigerator owners find our "SLOW MELTING ICE" indispensible in their homes.

Don't fail to give it a fair trial before the hot weather is over.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*
Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants
"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this contains your voice box—your vocal chords.

From the report of a famous scientist who studied the effects of LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—

"During the course of some recent investigations...we became interested to ascertain whether Ultra Violet Rays produced any change in the quality of the cigarettes. It may interest you to know that I was able to detect a very definite difference in the irritant qualities of the treated and untreated cigarettes. Several tests were made, not only on myself, but others as well, and we experienced little difficulty in selecting the treated or irradiated cigarettes as distinctly less irritating to the mucous membrane of the nose and pharynx than the control or untreated cigarettes."

Sunshine mellows—heat purifies—that's why LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. Remember—LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that brings you the added benefits of "TOASTING". And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple". Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.
