WELL GIVES BURK FIELD HOPES OF 'COMEBACK'

Denver Officials To Meet With Plains Leaders On Proposed Pampa Extension

CONFERENCE AT CHILDRESS TO DISCUSS LINE

Railroad and Chambers of Commerce to Talk on Expansion Plan

ABILENE-ANGELO LINE

T. & P. Would Extend Abilene and Southern Into San Angelo

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 11.—Jerry Debenport, secretary of the Childress Chamber of Commerce, announced this afternoon a meeting of representatives of the Childress and Pampa Chambers of Commerce would be held at Childress Monday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of conference with officials of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway company upon the matter of the road securing a permit to build a line from Childress to Pampa.

Hearing July 29

This announcement was made after receipt of information the hearing of the Fort Worth and Denver and Rock Island railways would be held at the Texas hotel, Fort Worth, July 29.

Mr. Debenport said Childress has assembled its data and is preparing for the hearing.

From Childress the Denver road officials will go to Wellington, holding a meeting there Monday afternoon when the citizens of that city will be asked to endorse the plans of the Denver road. Tuesday morning the officials will meet with the chamber of commerce at Shamrock for the purpose of securing an endorsement from that body. Another meeting will be held at Pampa that night.

The people of Childress are watching events closely, as it is realized the building of the Fort Worth and Denver road from Childress to Pampa will be of great benefit to the city and county, establishing Childress as a leading railroad center between Wichita Falls and Amarillo.

3,000 Hear Address On Laws at Big Electra Rally

Charles I. Francis Principal Speaker at Patriotic Mass Meeting Sponsored by Civic Bodies

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
Record News Staff Correspondent

ELECTRA, Texas, July 11.—Approximately 3,000 persons, including many from Iowa Park and Burkburnett, gathered at an open air arena on East Cleveland avenue here tonight in a patriotic rally conducted by the various civic bodies of Electra, with Robert Hall, secretary of the local chamber of commerce in active charge.

Charles I. Francis, attorney, and formerly president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. Carrying out the plans recently announced by President Hoover, Mr. Francis spoke on law enforcement and obedience, emphasizing the responsibility of the individual citizen for both the creation, observance, and enforcement of proper laws in the nation.

Band Concert

Before and after Mr. Francis' address, concert selections were given by the Electra band, directed by Ira C. Johns. A double quartet of mixed voices also sang several numbers during the evening.

Mr. Francis spoke as follows:

"I want to take my text for the address which Mr. Hall asked me to make this evening on the subject of law enforcement and law obedience from the farewell address which was delivered in 1796 by that man who is devotedly called the father of his country—George Washington.

"If in reading this farewell address we consider that those subjects were most important which were first discussed by him, we have to accord a second place to that injunction which he gave to his fellow citizens on surrendering the high position of chief executive of the United States for a period of eight years, when he said: 'The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government. Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of true liberty.'

Eternal Vigilance Necessary

OUSTERERS OUSTED

Church Faction Seeking Pastor's Scalp Loses Membership

DALLAS, July 11. (AP)—Nineteen members of the First Baptist church of Trinity heights, a Dallas suburb, who sought the dismissal of their pastor, the Rev. L. L. Shoptaw, were themselves ousted when the pastor was exonerated by an overwhelming vote after a hearing of the charges.

The hearing was based on a petition circulated a month ago alleging improper conduct.

"The pastor was exonerated by an overwhelming vote and was given a rising vote of confidence," a deacon of the church said today. "This faction, unwilling to let the majority of the membership rule, was held in contempt of the church, and for slandering the pastor and fellowship the church was withdrawn from them."

EXTRA SESSION NEARING CLOSE

Both Houses Speedily Pass Money Bills

AUSTIN, July 11. (AP)—The end of the third special legislative session, convened at the demand of Governor Moody to reduce appropriations which he declared were in excess of the state's expected revenue, was in sight tonight.

Working speedily, the senate late today passed its last money measure and in the house only the claims bill and a measure calling for refunds on illegally assessed seat taxes remained to be disposed of. On the ability of free conference committees to iron out differences in the educational and departmental bills hinged final adjournment of the session.

During the day conference committees agreed on the $5,000,000 rural aid bill, representing a reduction by $500,000 of that blue penciled by the governor, and the eleemosynary measure, creating a clash of $110,000 under the bill which met with executive disapproval.

An agreed judiciary bill already is on Mr. Moody's desk.

As approved today the house educational bill allows $16,111,185, $167,000 more than the measure originally prepared by the house appropriations committee. The increase resulted from adoption of amendments allowing state experiment stations increased funds to broaden their activity.

The senate educational bill totals $16,670,045, approximately $500,000 more than the house measure.

The house departmental bill approved finally today carries $11,766,244, a marked decrease over a compromise measure, totalling $12,613,225, which the governor vetoed.

Oklahoma City Girl 'Dopester' Held in Denver

DENVER, Colo., July 11. (UP)—An Oklahoma City police officer is en route to Denver to take charge of Ella Mable Lamb, 32, believed by officials here to be known better as Bonnie Flege, a drug addict. She was arrested by Denver detectives on information from Oklahoma City, charging that she has violated the federal narcotic act.

Fliers Guests Of Mussolini Himself

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI
(Copyright 1929, Universal Service, Inc.)

ROME, July 11.—Roger Q. Williams and Captain Lewis A. Yancey Pathfinder fliers who since last night have been like national heroes of Italy, tonight are the honored guests of Premier Benito Mussolini at his residence, the Villa Torlonia. There they are meeting the most distinguished and important people of Italy at a private, exclusive party arranged for them by the premier himself.

Accompanied by General Italo Balbo and General Francesco de Pinedo, Italy's own two great air heroes, the American fliers went to Mussolini's home, leaving their hotel at 9:30.

ARMOUR BUYS POULTRY PLANT AND BRANCHES

Chicago Firm to Assume Control of Company Here July 13

PRINGLE MANAGER

Noble Sells Wichita Falls Plant and Stations In 10 Towns

Sale of the Wichita Poultry and Egg company, 504 Tenth street, a $75,000 concern, to the Armour creameries, which is a division of Armour and Company, Chicago, was announced Thursday afternoon by T. B. Noble, president, and C. E. Hunter, representative of the purchasing company.

Besides the local plant, the deal involves the transfer of branch houses located in Nocona, Graham, Grandfield, Okla., Electra, Quanah, Memphis, Hedley, Clarendon, Silverton and Quitaque.

Acquisition of the business here gives the Armour creameries four locations in Texas, Mr. Hunter said. The other plants are at Fort Worth, Deleon and Lampasas.

Possession will be given Saturday night, July 13, it was said, with Victor Pringle, formerly of Springfield, Mo., assuming the management of the business acquired in the transaction. Mr. Hunter will remain here in the capacity of cashier.

The Wichita Poultry and Egg company was organized here in 1923, and has grown to be one of the largest of its kind in this section of the country. Besides extensive handling of eggs and poultry, the concern has dealt in cream, purchasing from farmers directly. During the month of June just past farmers in northwest Texas were paid more than $20,000 by branches of the house here for cream checks, it was stated. Both eggs and poultry shipped from the Wichita Poultry and Egg company have established an unusually high standard recognized throughout the eastern markets.

Inventory of the properties is now being taken, according to Mr. Noble. On the basis of this inventory, consideration in the deal is expected to be approximately $75,000, it was stated.

Chairman of Board Of Pullman Company Dies

CHICAGO, July 11. (AP)—John S. Runnells, 84, chairman of the board of the Pullman company, died today at his summer home at Chocorua, N. H., the company offices here were informed.

Mr. Runnells formerly was a leader in Iowa Republican politics and was United States district attorney for Iowa from 1881 to 1885. He became president of the Pullman company in 1911 and was made chairman of the board in 1922. He entered the services of the Pullman company in 1887, as general counsel.

Hendrick Bank Head Wounded in Raid

KENDRICK, Okla., July 11. (AP)—E. L. Blakely, assistant cashier of the Bank of Kendrick, was shot in the leg today by one of two bandits who robbed the bank of between $500 and $600. A posse followed the robbers, one of whom was believed to have been wounded in the fight.

Hoover Summons Farm Board to Meet July 15

President Hoover has summoned members of the new federal farm board to meet in Washington July 15. The board will be organized under the chairmanship of Alexander H. Legge. James C. Stone will be vice chairman. Wheat is likely to be the first commodity which the board will attempt to stabilize through employment of the $150,000,000 made available out of its $500,000,000 revolving fund.

WOMAN ADMITS $14,000 HOLDUP

25-Year Old Mother Leads Officers to Loot

TOPEKA, July 11. (AP)—Mrs. Vivian Scraper, 25, today confessed, Sheriff Wayne Horning announced, that she was the woman who held up and robbed two employes of the Security Benefit association of approximately $14,000 here June 28.

Within a few hours after confessing, the woman took officers to the apartment in which she was arrested early yesterday with Cecil Streit, about 25, an employe of the fraternal organization, and Marie Rainey, 14, and directed them to the hiding place of the money.

Hidden in an over-stuffed chair in the back of a picture frame, officers recovered approximately $13,690, believed to represent all but $40 or $50 of the loot.

Horning said charges of robbery would be filed against Mrs. Scraper. She is the mother of a 7-year-old daughter and had not been living with her husband, reported to be a Wichita, Kan., radio salesman for several months.

Streit was held late today without charge. The Rainey girl was discharged after questioning.

Employed in a clerical capacity by a Topeka publishing concern until recently, Mrs. Scraper had been living, officers said, with Streit, a brother of Louis Streit, one of the two men robbed by a masked woman after she had kidnaped A. G. Perlich, Kansas City salesman, and forced him to drive her to the scene of the holdup in front of the fraternal organization's office building.

Sheriff Horning said the woman had refused to implicate Streit or any one else. She asserted the gun she used was not loaded.

Youthful Okla. Bandits Still Elude Officers

COLLINSVILLE, Okla., July 11. (UP)—Three youths who Wednesday escaped from here with more than $1,000 from the American Exchange bank and were pursued by posses almost to Tulsa, apparently had concealed themselves in that city tonight or fled unnoticed on a highway. The trail was lost after a motor race last night in which the robbers were victors. President C. T. McCarty of the bank and a customer were intimidated by the three youths who entered the bank heavily armed.

Womans' Strike In Garment Factory Ends

NEW YORK, July 11. (INS)—The strike of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and Industrial Council of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., ended today, following an all night conference between union officials and employers. Approximately 28,000 workers are expected to return to work Tuesday. The walkout, called on July 2, brought a complete shutdown in the industry.

House Votes to End Session on July 17

AUSTIN, July 11. (AP)—In an attempt to speed free conference committees adjusting appropriations bills, the house today adopted the Montgomery-Sanders resolution calling for adjournment of the legislature at noon July 17. The vote was 17 to 37. The senate also must approve the resolution if it is to end the session.

Texas Solon Urges Farm Board To Relieve Wheat Glut at Gulf Ports

Representative Briggs Asks Hoover to Send More Ships to Carry Huge Stores of Grain From Galveston

WASHINGTON, July 11. (US)—Representative Briggs, Democrat, Texas, today urged President Hoover to allot more cargo ships to move congested grain from Texas ports and also to have the federal farm board take action in the emergency when it meets next week.

Representative Briggs declared that the 23 ships which have been made available by the shipping board are insufficient and asked that others be consigned to Texas ports, particularly Galveston, as soon as possible.

But even with ships to move the grain Representative Briggs said that there is not a fair market and most of it will have to be sold at a sacrifice. He said that the new farm board should make an investigation as one of its first duties and give every relief possible to growers.

ON AND ON, GO HARDY PILOTS

'Angeleno' Flies 230 Hours Over Culver City

CULVER CITY, Calif., July 11. (AP)—The Angeleno reeled off its 230th hour at 9:29:30 o'clock tonight. Co-Pilot R. B. Reinhart was at the controls when the endurance record breaking plane swung low over the airport. Chief Pilot L. W. Mendell dropped three white flares, signalling that all was well.

The fliers, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart in the Angeleno had checked out 224 hours in the air at 3:29 p. m. A note dropped today gave those on the ground some concern.

"Think the motor a trifle noisy," the fliers wrote. "But not bad. Had trouble with the oil pump last night." As the hours passed without further mention of the pump, it was presumed the difficulty had been remedied.

This message was the only ripple to break the monotony of the flight as the 10th day began. Its importance was minimized by motor experts who admitted it might be foreboding of trouble but felt it must be much more pronounced before becoming serious.

The 224-hour mark had put 75 hours between the fliers and the first major record of 150 hours set by the Question Mark at a nearby airport last January; it was 52 hours better than the marks of Robbins and Kelly at Fort Worth and 50 hours ahead of the last record made at Cleveland by Newcomb and Mitchell, approximately 174 hours.

Second Death In Shooting Over Divorce Petition

AUSTIN, July 11. (AP)—Hours of dogged fighting against death were lost today when Mrs. D. A. Bush died at a local hospital, the second victim of pistol shots fired yesterday at her home. Her husband, secretary of the Austin street railway, was charged in two counts with murder shortly after her death.

Mrs. Bush's sister, Mrs. Otis White, was mortally wounded in the shooting.

The murder charges replace complaints for assault with intent to murder. Bush's examining trial will be held later in the week.

Divorce proceedings by Mrs. Bush, started last week, were blamed for the slayings.

Car Strike Conferees Optimistic on Deadlock

NEW ORLEANS, July 11. (AP)—Optimistic over the outlook, government and civic negotiators moved from conference to conference today in the hope of effecting a settlement of the 10-day street car strike.

They renewed their efforts for an early compromise between the union and the company after United States Marshal Victor Loisel announced he would advise the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., to attempt to resume car service either Saturday or Sunday. Some negotiators fear further violence if the cars are started before some agreement is reached.

Southern Louisiana Forms Waterway League

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 11. (AP)—Delegates from every parish in South Louisiana met in Lake Charles today and organized the South Louisiana Waterway league for the purpose of connecting up laterals and arteries to the intracoastal canal.

NEW SHALLOW SAND HORIZON IS UNCOVERED

American Refining Properties Make Discovery in Old Northwest Pool

20 FEET OF OIL SAND

Rich Pay Strata Found at Depth of 1553 Feet in No. 5 Morgan

By JIMMIE MAXWELL
The Record News Oil Editor

The bringing in by the American Refining Properties of its No. 5 Mrs. Lillis Morgan well, in the Lucinda Meadows survey, northwest of Burkburnett in Wichita county making 150 barrels daily in a sand topped at 1553 feet, has again turned the attention of oil men and others to the opportunities for new production in that part of the county.

The well is located in the heart of the old Northwest pool, nine years ago the most active and widely known oil producing area in the country, which at its peak of production during 1920 was producing 100,000 barrels per day, while hundreds of tests were going down with lightning rapidity.

Field Inactive

During the past few years but little drilling has been done on the various leases in the field, classified by the operators and others interested in the oil industry as a depleted area, its output at present being approximately 9,400 barrels, obtained by the vacuum and repression systems now in use in this pool.

A feature of the American company well is that it is completed in an entirely new pay depth, the well having drilled 20 feet of solid sand which was encountered at 1553 feet. The original pay was picked up in the Burk-Waggoner No. 1 discovery well on the Bob Waggoner farm at 1562-82 feet, its initial production being 3,000 barrels per day. In the same field the Golden Cycle encountered the sand at 1748 to 1765 feet, the variation of the sand in these producers being on account of the difference in surface elevation.

New Locations Made

That the field is likely to stage a comeback of some sort is evidenced in the making of several locations during the past week and the transfer of some leases with a view of putting down tests within the next few weeks.

Among the locations staked out is the Dorian and associates No. 1 G. W. Cooper (Lillis Morgan) to be drilled 700 feet northeast of the producer. The American Refining Properties No. 7 Cooper is located 300 feet south of No. 6.

Paper Company to Sell Newspaper Investments

WASHINGTON, July 11. (US)—Collapse of the giant program of newspaper financing by power trust interests was seen by officials here today in the announcement that the International Paper and Power company will dispose gradually of its $7,200,000 investments in nine papers.

The federal trade commission will scan any deals made in the carrying out of this plan, it is understood, to determine whether they involve any indirect continuance of control or interest by power corporations.

Midlothian Farmer Shot; Father of Girl Sought

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, July 11. (AP)—Sam Duke, farmer, was shot and wounded at Midlothian, near here, today. Physicians expected him to recover.

Another farmer, whose daughter Duke has been charged in an indictment with seducing, was sought in the shooting.

Medics Vote to Meet In Detroit Next Year

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11. (UP)—Detroit was selected tonight as the next convention city of the American Medical association. Memphis, Atlantic City and Philadelphia vied for the honor with the automobile city. The selection was made after three ballots had been taken.

Rule Barber and Tailor Gain Ground On Gotham in Mallet Marathon

HEMPSTEAD, Texas, July 11. (UP)—The streets of Hempstead resounded to the "thwacks" of wood upon wood late today as two tired sockers trudged into town, proceeded by wooden croquet balls.

Barber C. G. Hart and Tailor L. R. Rose, "bingling buddies" from Galveston to Gotham by the end of the year, today covered many miles of hot, dusty South Texas roads.

Cypruss, Hockley and Waller were left behind in short order, and the tired but still optimistic pair straggled on toward their distant goal.

Alongside ran their supply car, piloted by Frank Walton, their manager and official "encourager" who is always on hand to offer refreshments or a little word of advice.

It's a hard row the boys have started out to hoe. First the big wooden balls will carom into the "rough" at the side of the road, and unlimited "cussin'" will not keep the mallet heads from flying off, the balls from splitting, or the plodders' feet from blistering.

"But every day we're getting farther north," said Hart thankfully to watchers along the road today. "If we keep up this rate we will get up in the cool country just about the time winter comes on, and then I suppose we'll have to use snowshoes and put skis on the balls. It's a tough life, but we'll make it or bust."

Leahy Granted Sanity Trial on Eve Of Scheduled March to Death Chair

GEORGETOWN, Texas, July 11. (AP)—Harry J. Leahy, under a death penalty for the slaying of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, Mathis, Texas, physician, regained a new grip on life today. Judge Harry Dolan in district court here ordered a stay of execution and granted Leahy a sanity trial for July 22. The condemned man was to have died early tomorrow.

The judge's edict was based on an affidavit of Miss Amanda Davidson of Taylor, which said "that she has good reason to believe and does believe that since the conviction of Leahy that he has become insane and that he is now insane."

The judge also ordered a special venire of 100 from which a jury will be selected to hear the sanity case.

Leahy was given the death penalty here in February, 1928, after he had appealed the verdict of a jury—a 50 year penitentiary sentence—in his first trial in Georgetown. He was arrested shortly after the body of the physician was found in a shallow grave in the chaparral near his home.

6 NEW BOXES FOR ELECTION

County Sends Supplies to Precinct Judges

Supplies for the constitutional amendment election to be held on Tuesday of next week were being sent out to the polls of the county from the office of John P. Marrs, county judge, all day Thursday. The instructions and materials go to 45 voting places, six of them going into use for the first time. The half dozen new voting places were created by the commissioners court last year in an effort to split up the heaviest boxes in the county, it was explained.

The new boxes include the one at the Franklin school, created for the convenience of the voters in Country Club Estates, and the two additional polling places separated from the old Fannin school box. They are the boxes at the Hughey and at the City View school.

The state will act Tuesday on the proposed increase in the supreme court membership from three to nine members and upon the amendment raising the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000.

Wichita county officials expect a very light vote here, although the bar association is directing a campaign to interest voters in favor of the amendment altering the supreme court organization.

JUNIOR NINES TO PLAY

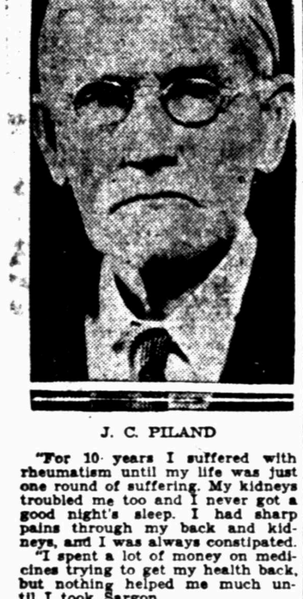

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., July 11.—The Altus Junior Red Sox baseball team will play the Elk City juniors next Saturday at Elk City. The Altus team recently defeated the Wichita Falls junior team 8 to 6.

A regular schedule of games is being played this summer by the team, members of which are junior high school students.

HE KNOWS, NOW, WHY EVERYONE IS PRAISING SARGON

"Ive heard a lot of wonderful things about this new Sargon treatment but I don't believe anybody ever got finer results from it than I did.

J. C. PILAND

"For 10 years I suffered with rheumatism until my life was just one round of suffering. My kidneys troubled me too and I never got a good night's sleep. I had sharp pains through my back and kidneys, and I was always constipated.

"I spent a lot of money on medicines trying to get my health back, but nothing helped me much until I took Sargon.

"Well, sir, I can hardly believe it myself, but this new Sargon treatment has driven every bit of rheumatism from my body. My kidney trouble is gone and I haven't a pain or ache of any kind. I enjoy sound sleep for the first time in years, and get up feeling full of life.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and regulated me perfectly. My whole system is in fine condition and I am a strong, healthy man again. Sargon certainly does all, and more, than claimed for it."

The above statement was made by J. C. Piland, well known retired merchant, box 582, route No. 4, Fort Worth. Mr. Piland is an Odd Fellow, a member of the Baptist church, and highly respected.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

"Air-Mindedness" of Wichita Ad Club Wins Praise at Waco Meet

"The other clubs in the district might well emulate the Advertising club of Wichita Falls in their 'air-mindedness' project," said P. L. Michaels of Houston, president of the Tenth district Advertising association, Thursday at Waco, where the board of directors met in connection with "Borden Day" celebrations. Mr. Michaels congratulated the Wichita Falls group on their successful flight to the convention.

"Advertising men should keep a step ahead of the rest of the world," he said, "and accordingly, they should be promoting air travel energetically today."

The representatives of the Wichita Falls club made the flight in a Curtis Challenger plane chartered from the Lone Star Aviation company, with Fred Ridenour as pilot.

Oklahoma City was admitted as a part of the Tenth district in a business session at the Hilton hotel Thursday morning. It was also decided that the organization would adopt a program proposed by the extension committee to create clubs in smaller towns in the state. The extension committee report followed a recent meeting of the group in Dallas, at which J. H. Allison of Wichita Falls, member of the committee was present.

Walter S. Abbott and Jacob B. Price, directors of the district, represented the Wichita Falls club at the Waco meeting.

"Post Oak" Jim, 80-Year-Old Indian, To Sing Tribal Songs at Lakeside

The old hokum about the Indian leading a romantic and picturesque life is thin as cracked ice, now, and everybody knows his business generally was getting a few scalps and a good living. But after he had done this all day, at night he could sing.

He could sing very well, indeed, authorities tell us.

The Indian singers are rare now, yet a few are left, and Wichita Falls will have an opportunity to hear one of the best Friday and Saturday nights at Lakeside park at the show to be staged by the Tex Rickard Memorial association of Henrietta.

The singer is "Post Oak" Jim, an 80-year-old Comanche brave who has become so well known that an attempt is now being made to have him record some of the old tribal folk songs.

"Post Oak" Jim will sing such songs as "The Scalp Song," "The Song of the Buffalo," "The Warrior's Return," and "The Song of the Black Spirit," the Indian death song. As he sings, accompanied by a few of his companions, and a tom-tom, the rest of the tribe which will be here for the show will dance.

Other features Friday night will include a boxing match. Friday afternoon the Indians will jerk a beef, Indian fashion. Several other features have been arranged for Saturday.

The show is being staged by the association to raise funds for a suitable memorial to Tex Rickard at Henrietta.

Prominent Attorney Of Dallas Claimed by Death

DALLAS, July 11. (AP)—An illness that had its beginning about a month ago while he was presiding at a homecoming banquet of his class at Southwestern university, Georgetown, proved fatal today for Julius A. Germany, prominent Dallas lawyer and well-known throughout the state. Mr. Germany, 59, died at his home here after being removed from an Austin hospital where he was taken after being stricken at Georgetown.

PROHI BUREAUS SEEKING MONEY

1930 Budget Estimates to Show Increases

WASHINGTON, July 11. (UP)—An increasingly vigorous and extensive prohibition enforcement policy by the federal government is indicated by budget estimates for the fiscal year 1930 now being prepared by the treasury department.

All three divisions of the treasury engaged in prohibition work, customs service, coast guard and prohibition bureau, received additional funds for this fiscal year in a supplemental appropriation passed at the last regular session of congress.

All Branches Want Money

While the prohibition bureau is asking for continuation of the $1,700,000 additional amount allotted to it above the normal appropriation of $13,500,000, both the customs service and coast guard are seeking larger amounts for the next fiscal year, it was learned today.

This may make the cost of federal prohibition in the fiscal year 1930, which begins next June 30 and ends June 30, 1931, in excess of $50,000,000 if the $10,000,000 annually spent by the justice department is included. Prohibition appropriations for the current fiscal year aggregate somewhat under $50,000,000 though the exact figure is unknown because some of the bureaus concerned do not segregate prohibition from other government expenditures.

Total Figures

The prohibition bureau, which is under the direction of commissioner James M. Doran, has asked for about the same amount it received this year, or $15,000,000. This year's appropriation for the coast guard was $29,676,000, and the customs service received $43,180,500. These latter figures do not represent entirely prohibition expenditures but cover the entire costs of the two services.

In the last regular session, congress approved a supplemental prohibition appropriation of $3,700,000 after attempts of wets to push through a $25,000,000 appropriation had failed. This was divided between the treasury and justice departments for employment of additional personnel and the $50,000 advertising campaign to be conducted by the prohibition bureau.

Rail Officials to Confer With Leaders

city, general manager of the Abilene and Southern; J. L. Lancaster, Dallas, president of the Texas and Pacific railroad and of the Abilene and Southern, and from the San Angelo board of city development.

Right of Way Promised

Citizens of San Angelo, the report said, have agreed to provide the right of way for the extension and terminal and depot grounds in that city.

If the extension is constructed the 60 miles of track between Abilene and Ballinger will be rebuilt, 85-pound rails will be laid and the entire road from Abilene to San Angelo gravel ballasted.

Through passenger and freight service from Abilene to San Angelo will be put on when the extension is completed, it is said.

Fast Freight Service

The A. & S. would give fast freight service over the new line, officials say. That road now has its northern terminus at Hamlin and the southern end at Ballinger.

The Texas and Pacific railroad bought the Abilene and Southern about 18 months ago from the estate of the late Morgan Jones, pioneer railroad builder of the Southwest, who built the road and operated it until his death about three years ago.

George S. Anderson, chairman of the railroad committee of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, which organization is now engaged in raising $400,000 to put into a project to build 40 miles of railroad from this city to Cross Plains, said Thursday that the announcement of the contemplated Abilene and Southern extension to San Angelo was great news for Abilene and all the other towns affected by the project.

Survey Starts Soon

The extension would give the Abilene and Southern a total length of 135 miles. Texas and Pacific engineers are scheduled to arrive here Sunday to begin making a final survey for the route of the road between Ballinger and San Angelo.

The tentative route selected for the line from Ballinger to San Angelo will not parallel the Santa Fe line now connecting those two cities, but will swing southward after leaving Ballinger across the northwestern corner of Concho county. It would be on the south side of the Concho river and go through a fertile agricultural section.

St. Louis Men Visit Spur Ranch

SPUR, Texas, July 11. (Spl.)—Officials of the Pitchfork Land and Cattle company of St. Louis were guests at the company ranch near here Sunday. Included in the party were Eugene Williams, president, and Gates Williams, vice president, who were accompanied by Sidney G. Smith, vice president of the St. Louis Cattle Loans company, and Dan Jones, president of the Universal Airways corporations of St. Louis.

The party, in coming here, travelled by air from St. Louis to Fort Worth, where they took a smaller plane to the ranch, landing at the ranch airport two hours after leaving Fort Worth.

Messrs. Williams and Smith spent Sunday at the ranch looking over cattle and other stock. They visited the J. A. Smith ranch near Clarendon on Monday and looked up old friends. They were greatly pleased with conditions on the ranch here.

Selection Should Be Made as Early as Possible

"I am so happy . . that the last pimple is gone"

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

You may be happy, too!

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.

Take S.S.S. at meal-time. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effect.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

HUTCHINSON COUNTY TO VOTE ON $150,000 ROAD BOND ISSUE

AUG. 10 SET AS ELECTION DAY

$361,453 to Be Spent on 18.2 Miles of Highway

Special to The Record News

BORGER, Texas, July 11.—Hutchinson county voters on Aug. 10, will go to the polls and vote on the issuance of $150,000 in road bonds for the construction of 18.2 miles of road in the region between Stinnett, county seat, and the Hansford county line.

The proposed road is a part of state highway 117 connecting Stinnett with Spearman, the county seat of Hansford county.

Highway 117 starts at Claude, south of Panhandle and extends to Panhandle, Borger, Stinnett, Spearman and Perryton. From there it extends north to the Oklahoma state line.

Petition Signed

Taxpayers of the county have signed petitions for the calling of the election and according to H. M. Hood, county judge, the number so far signing indicates the election will carry.

Gibb Gilchrist, state engineer, estimated the cost of the 18.2 miles of road in the county to be $361,453.78, of which the county's proportion would be $120,484.59.

In addition to this the county must provide a 100-foot right of way for the road from the place where it leaves the present survey, nine miles nogth of Stinnett. Cost of this is expected to be between $30 and $50 per acre. A right of way 100 feet wide requires about 13 acres to the mile, according to Mr. Gilchrist.

Will Shorten Route

Some of the right of way already has been secured. The section that has been graded has a little less than 100 feet of right of way.

The present road from what is known as the Claybrook corner, east and north of Spearman, will not be used as a state highway. The new road will shorten the distance in Hutchinson county about five miles and the same in Hansford county.

Type of paving is yet to be determined.

Memphis to Erect New Bandstand

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 11.—In a called meeting this week the city council of Memphis voted to donate $1,000 toward the erection of a band stand and a community house combined, the structure to be erected on the lawn of the courthouse.

A short time back the commissioners court of Hall county agreed to donate the site for the building on the courthouse yard, and in addition, donated $500 toward the erection of the same.

It is stated by those promoting the building of this building, that it will possibly require about $1,000 more for the erection of the type of building that is desired to be constructed.

200,000 Bushels Dumped On Ground at White Deer

Special to The Record News

WHITE DEER, Texas, July 11.—More than 150,000 bushels of wheat has been shipped from this town up to date, according to information received from the four grain elevators here. More than 200,000 bushels of wheat has been poured on the ground due to car shortage. These heaps of grain are steadily increasing as the fair weather continues, although several showers over the county have slowed up operation. Marketing of this grain has put over $300,000 into circulation in White Deer and its trade territory.

Kingsmill, eight miles east of White Deer, has shipped a large number of cars of wheat with several thousand bushels on the ground.

Cuyler, 10 miles west of here, with two grain elevators, has shipped upward of 50 cars of grain, with several large heaps on the ground.

GRAHAM READY FOR AIR FETE

More Than 35 Planes to Fly At Airport Opening

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, July 11.—The success of the official opening of the Braniff Airlines and the dedication of the Graham municipal airport July 13 and 14 is now assured, according to A. A. Morrison, chairman of the airport committee of the Graham Chamber of Commerce. Thirty-five or more planes are assured, including the $75,000 tri-motored Fokker plane owned and operated by the Braniff Airlines, and numerous other planes exhibiting every type of plane known to the aviation world.

Mr. Morrison said that army planes from Kelly field and Brooks field (San Antonio, Texas), Fort Crockett (Galveston, Texas), and Post field (Fort Sill, Okla.) will attend the opening, while commercial planes from practically every city in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma will be present, including a squadron of ships to be furnished by the Texas Air Transport of Fort Worth.

A. P. Barrett, president of the Texas Air Transport and vice president of the Aviation corporation of America, and Paul R. Braniff, vice president and general manager of the Braniff Airlines, will take part in the official dedication program to be held Saturday. It is the opinion of the people of Graham, according to C. Burris, secretary of the Graham Chamber of Commerce, that the citizenship of Graham is offering to the people of Northwest Texas an opportunity to become acquainted with aviation, its past, present and future, that they cannot afford to ignore, in that Reg Robbins and Jim Kelley, the well known and famous pilots of the Fort Worth and the $75,000 tri-motored Fokker plane with dining car service, will be at the opening, as well as 35 or 40 other planes among which will be some of the most modern and up to date aircraft known to aviation.

Plans are under way for extensive entertainment for all flying guests.

'Thar She Blows' Is Cry at Childress, Where Winds Replenish Water Well

Explain It if You Can, but High Northwest Winds Causes Water to Rise 12 Feet; Southeast Breeze Lowers It Back

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 10.—There is an air of mystery hovering over the new city water well, 15 miles northwest of here, which has been tested for production with the end in sight of getting a cheaper supply.

The air of mystery seems to get deeper when the wind blows in a certain direction. For instance, the other day Gayle McFadden, engineer, noticed that water in the well rose 12 feet when a strong wind came up from the northwest. But as soon as it veered to the southeast the water returned to its customary level, the engineer said.

So far there has been no explanation of this phenomenon.

In the tests completed Tuesday it was found that the well produced a daily average of 300,000 gallons. Further tests are to be made shortly to make sure the supply is in sufficient quantity to supply the city.

The city's water is now being pumped from a large lake northwest of here. Should the water from the well be in lasting quantities it would flow easily by gravity to the pumping station, thus obviating the necessity of building another station, city officials point out.

The water in the well is free of minerals.

Lovely Luncheon Served After Country Club Game

A spirited game was played Thursday morning on the green of the Golf and Country club by 14 members of the Woman's Golf association.

The ball for low score went to Mrs. Helen Ann Kendall.

The luncheon was served at a large table in the cool dining room. The crystal service and the enormous basket of zinnias used as a center made the table unusually attractive.

Members and guests seated were Mesdames D. O. Johnson, B. F. Caldwell, R. L. Hargrave, Luke McCrory, J. B. Hatchitt, J. H. Fletcher, W. C. Wieher, H. B. White, W. S. Abbott, Helen Ann Kendall, W. P. Bolding and Misses Nan Gibbs, Dell Hatchitt and Frances Ann Saunders.

NEW RAIN BOOTS

I hope it rains today.
Isn't it raining yet?
It might, though, anyway
(I hope it's good and wet.)

I'll wear my boots today.
I think I saw a drop.
And when it does that way
It mightn't never stop!

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

This Is Love!

"Exactly what is it that attracts two people to each other—and why?" is a question we should ask ourselves instead of taking love for granted.

After all, there is little fundamental difference between human beings. Our faces and figures and social and family backgrounds may vary but we all have the same emotions and desires in common. Some of us are better tutored than others but people do not fall in love because they have consumed the same number and kind of textbooks. As a matter of fact, such discoveries are made after the attraction has been felt and are of minor importance, anyhow.

Education, then, is not a basic factor, although, to be sure, one does sense a kindred intelligence at first meeting. And the same is true of character; but surely we cannot know everything about a person's character at first or even second sight.

It is personality, looks or manner, which provides the stimuli?

Or does the mutual attraction simply develop from the accident that those concerned just happen to be psychologically ripe for the great emotional adventure and therefore imaginatively endow each other with those qualities which we all hope to find in those to whom we give our hearts?

Or is this business of falling in love just another one of the inscrutable processes of nature?

That there is in all of us the instinct to fall in love cannot be denied but civilized people think before they leap. Indeed, to fall in love without establishing a meeting of the minds first is to court either ultimate disaster or insufferable boredom. Real understanding alone not only keeps love alive and glowing but sustains the capacity of two married people to remain interesting to each other.

And when two married people remain interesting to each other love does not fly out of the window. The original ecstasy cannot reasonably be expected to stay at an emotional crescendo but in place of ecstasy, which is limited in all cases anyhow, there comes, instead, an even finer thing—SERENITY. And that is the finest and most civilized kind of contentment. It is the only kind that lasts.

And where there is serenity you find two people who use their minds, control their tempers, who know how to make allowances for each other in testing circumstances, and whose main purpose is a rooted determination in their hearts and minds to get on with each other happily.

Such people do live happily ever after.

Misses Mary Dean and Ruth Hall, who with their father, W. M. Hall, have been guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. W. Silk for the past 10 days, returned Wednesday to their home in Birmingham, Ala.

Girls Advised To Master Some Gainful Calling

"I Implore You Girls Who Have Just Finished School Not to Consider Your Education Completed Until You Have Mastered Some Gainful Occupation by Which You Can Support Yourselves."

Where do you go from here, girls? You have just graduated in all the elogies and isms and a peachy white frock, and now you are standing rather bewildered and dazed, not knowing what to do next. If you were boys you would be thinking seriously about your careers, and your parents would be trying to help you get into the trade or profession you meant to follow as a life work, but fathers and mothers don't bother much about shaping a girl's future course. They trust that to luck.

Everybody takes it for granted that a nice, rich, kind young man will marry the girl and that she will live happily ever afterward. So what's the use of her bothering her pretty little bobbed head about anything except dates and clothes and the newest make of sports car and the shortest length in skirts? Of course, if money is scarce in the family, she may have to work in a store or office while she is waiting for the Fairy Prince to come along and rescue her from drudgery, but both she and her parents are looking for him to arrive at any minute, so it doesn't seem worth while for her to prepare herself seriously for a job that is purely temporary and that she is likely to throw up any day.

Unfortunately, this optimistic forecast of a girl's life is not always justified by the subsequent events. Sometimes the girl marries and lives happily ever afterward. Sometimes she doesn't marry at all, or if she does marry she gets a divorce. Sometimes marriage solves all of her material difficulties. Very often it is just the beginning of them. Sometimes the Fairy Prince scorches by in his Rolls Royce and bears her off to a palace. Frequently she mistakes a rotter for him and he drags her down to the gutter, and she has to go to work and support him and half a dozen children.

Heaven alone knows how the deluded notion ever obtained that marriage ended all of a woman's troubles and that once she was in the holy estate she was safe from the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. Nothing could be farther from the truth, yet in spite of its fallacy the idea still prevails that it is not necessary to fit girls for life as it is boys, because girls will marry.

Yet the most casual observation gives the lie to this theory and shows the cruel wrong it works. For not only do many women never marry at all, but many of those that do marry come to grief. Husbands sicken and die. Husbands are unfaithful. Husbands desert their wives and children. Husbands lose their money. Husbands sometimes have no moneymaking ability whatever. Everyday we see the tragic spectacle of women who have been trained to no trade or profession struggling desperately to support themselves and perhaps an invalid husband and little children. Every day we see women enduring the insults and abuse of brutal husbands because they have not been taught any way to make a dollar and they must stick to their meal tickets or starve.

So I implore you girls who have just finished school not to consider that your education is completed until you have mastered some gainful occupation by which you can support yourselves. Don't think that because your father is rich it is not necessary for you to have a profession. Money has wings, and many a millionaire leaves his children paupers, but if you have the kind of skill of hand and brains for which the world is willing to pay, you have something that cannot be taken from you.

Don't think that because you are pretty and a riot with the boys you can marry your living instead of earning it. Perhaps Mr. Midas will pop the question to you. Just as likely Mr. Poor Man will. Besides, face the fact that you are living in a new era in which economic conditions often prevent a young couple from getting married unless the wife is also a wage-earner. The parasitic wife, who is nothing but a parlor ornament, is a luxury that few men can afford in these days of the high cost of living, and so the modern girl can fairly well count on having not only to bake the bread but make the dough as well when she gets married.

Curiously enough, being able to make your own living is not a bar to romance but an aid to it. For it will enable you to marry your man, should you fall in love with a poor one, while you are still young and your heart thrills with passion, instead of dragging out the weary years of a long engagement, waiting for him to make enough to support two, while the glamour and illusion of love's young dream pales and your romance wears to tatters and the very fire of love burns down to ashes in your hearts.

Nor is this all. The woman who is self-supporting is always a free woman. She can never be made into the slave wife if she happens to marry a tyrant, as the dependent woman is, because if her husband does not treat her properly she can always give notice and quit. Nor is there any other such good preparation for marriage as for a woman to have earned her own living.

It has taught her efficiency and promptness and self-control. It has taught her the value of money and through what agony it is earned. It has taught her sympathy with men and an understanding of the trials and anxieties that they undergo and makes her a more companionate and thrifty wife. For the qualities in a woman that enable her to hold down a good job will enable her to keep her husband.

The curse of women is that, as a sex, they have no plan of life. They have no settled purpose. As the old song puts it, "they are on their way but they don't know where they are going." They expect to marry, but they don't prepare themselves to be wives and mothers. They think vaguely that they would like to follow careers, but they don't settle down to any one. They would like to earn good salaries, but they won't take the trouble to learn how to do anything well enough to become experts.

Be not one of these foolish virgins. Decide on some definite thing that you want to do in life and fit yourself to do that well. Learn some way of supporting yourself. Learn how to do the kind of work that has a market value. Learn to be independent and stand on your own feet. It is the best insurance that you can take out against the accidents of life.

Oh, These Women!

By LEOLA ALLARD

CHICAGO, July 11. (US)—Ann Livingston, asking a quarter of a million for heart break in Chicago, adjusted her nifty hat, put some more powder on her nose, and said to a girl reporter, "Is it true that I am getting more publicity for a breach of promise suit than any woman ever got before?"

The girl reporter looked over at Mr. Hardinge, who was adjusting his blue and rose checked tie, then she spent the rest of the morning wondering if there isn't some way in this suit, in which they could all lose.

A Wisconsin man advertises that the lady who lost it, can have the lingerie found in his automobile if she will pay for ad or give satisfactory explanation to his wife.

There is a big emphasis on the "or." Showing a slight preference.

A Los Angeles judge refused alimony to a bridge-playing wife, whose husband said he and the children suffered by her addiction. Husband said he not only had to take care of their children, but the babies of her partners as well.

It wasn't related that anybody in the family went to work before the separation but now somebody will go.

Chicago women have taken to betting on the races. One of them won $1,200 at the tracks recently, and a few days ago a hand-book raid scattered a flock of women numbering more than 100. They jumped out of windows and set fire to the racing sheets, showing they were on to the game.

No wonder husbands lead a delicatessen life!

But the Chicago police wanted to be fifty-fifty, and give the women the same treatment as they give the men, so they turned them all loose.

The Egyptian consul says that American women are 40 per cent "It," which is the something that makes you want to be alone with a woman.

The only fly in the ointment is that so often its "the other woman" who has It.

They are isolating other important vitamins, mebbe somebody will isolate It, and then all the world's troubles will vanish.

The one thing about It, to date, is that it never is isolated.

Art of Pajamas Supplants That Of Making Frocks

By PRINCESS ALI FAZIL

PARIS, July 11. (UP)—There will be more pajamas on the lido at Venice this summer than gondolas in the lagoons, but they will not be kind of pajamas that anyone would care to wear to bed.

There will be pajamas for the beach, pajamas of another type for tennis, pajamas for tea and dancing and still others for motoring. In fact a really well dressed woman at the lido, at Deauville, Labaule or Biarits this summer will need hundreds of them. She could almost get by with her trunks filled with nothing but pajamas.

But at that, pajamas are losing out as sleeping apparel. Nowadays, they are worn everywhere except in bed. The linen nightie has replaced them between the sheets, sending pajamas out into the open air.

As sport wear, they are supreme. Both robes have disappeared from the smart beaches, and couples coming from the water dry themselves in pajamas made of turkish toweling. Then they change into smarter pajamas of silk or printed cloths for strolling on the beach.

The beaches have gone pajama mad and there are dressmakers in the famous Rue de la Paix who have sacrificed everything else to developing the art of pajamas.

There are knee length pajamas, but they are really shocking. There are sleeveless pajama coats, and there are some cut low front and back like evening gowns. All the art that was once devoted to cutting frocks is now turned towards pajamas.

The quality of material has all to do with the price of pajamas. But they are never cheap.

Former Salesman To Accept 4-Year Term

F. W. Bentley, alias Curtis York, has withdrawn his motion for appeal from a four year sentence for theft by false pretext and indicated that he would accept the sentence. George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney announced Thursday afternoon.

Bentley was convicted of accepting and cashing a $50 check given in payment for an order of hydraulic jacks for which he claimed to be the agent. E. F. Fruechte, defense attorney, announced that he would appeal on the grounds that the offense of which Bentley was convicted is not properly defined in the terms of the indictment.

Judge P. A. Martin overruled a motion for a new trial on June 29 and the notice of appeal was withdrawn Thursday.

Police Return Stolen Diamond to Owner

A diamond identified as one of two stolen from the Kirby Jewelry store here several weeks ago was turned over to officials of the store Thursday by Police Chief Frank Burns. The stone had been recovered in Dallas by City Detective Pat Allen. A negro suspect was arrested in that city at the same time.

The stone was slightly damaged, one of the facets having been chipped when it was removed from the setting. The original value of the gem was $750, officials of the store said. This stone and a cluster diamond, both set in rings, were seized from the counter of the jewelry store by a negro who made good his escape. A suspect was arrested here the afternoon following the theft. The cluster ring has not been recovered.

Youths Freed On Annapolis Charge

WASHINGTON, July 11. (INS)—Henry S. Rupp, 19, Long Beach, Calif., who had Paul Davis Schooler, this city, take the test for him for entrance to the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., isn't going to jail for "conspiring to defraud the government." Neither is Schooler.

Both youths were brought from jail to the district court today and released on their personal bond until tomorrow. And tomorrow the conspiracy charge against them will be dropped.

This action came about through the efforts of Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, who interceded with the authorities in behalf of the accused.

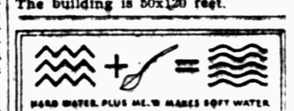

75 Attend Opening Day Of Vernon Club Meet

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, July 11.—Approximately 75 rural club women gathered here today for the opening program of the two-day annual encampment for the rural clubs of Wilbarger county. Home problems were discussed throughout the day, with Mrs. Dora R. Barnes of College Station, clothing specialist, appearing as the only out-of-county speaker. The remainder of the program took the form of round-table discussion under the supervision of Miss Emma Gunter, home demonstration agent. Club women of Haney, Wells Valley, South Vernon and Fargo were in attendance. The number was expected to swell to 100 for the closing day program tomorrow. A recreational program was held this afternoon.

COUNTY VALUES 60 MILLIONS

Officials Differ on Change In Tax Rate

Upon the basis of an estimated $60,000,000 valuation, to be presented to the commissioners court at its next meeting, Wichita county officials will begin the computation of the 1929 county tax rate early next week. The rate is expected to be set within the next fortnight. Officials differ as to the probability of a change from the 75-cent rate now in effect.

The $60,000,000 estimate, announced Thursday, is $2,000,000 above a similar preliminary figure last year, but almost the same as the definite valuation arrived at after a final check. Officials have expressed the hope that the final figures for 1929 will show a similar rise and bring the definite total above last year's figures.

Estimate of Values

The first estimates have already been sent to the comptroller at Austin, to be used in fixing the state rates, and the figures will be put before the county commissioners on Monday of next week. Members of the tax assessor's staff are busy completing the check which is to back up the early estimates.

The figures will be placed in the hands of Paul Barnett, county auditor, next Monday for apportionment before the budget can be made and the county rate fixed.

County officials Thursday afternoon expressed conflicting opinions about the probability of a change in the rate, which will be finally fixed by the county commissioners court.

"We won't do it unless we're forced to," John P. Marrs, county judge, declared, adding that he saw no necessity for a change.

Officials Differ

"No fund but the general fund needs more money and that is already drawing the maximum legal rate of 25 cents on the $100," was the way T. W. McHam, county treasurer, summed up his own views. Mr. McHam explained that new laws passed would be additional drains on the general fund. Justices of the peace will be paid by salary instead of fees, lunacy trials will cost about $6,000 a year more, and the appropriation for the proposed dairy expert must come from the general fund, he declared.

"We'll have to cut down the expenses for the general fund and let the others stand," he asserted.

On the other hand, Guy C. Raley, county tax collector, and other officials indicated that they thought an increase would be necessary. Mr. Barnett, auditor, declined to express a view before the apportionment is completed.

Wichita Syndicate Buys 2,200 Acres On Rio Grande For Development

Reservoirs Now Being Constructed for Irrigation of Tracts in Willacy County Project

R. O. Kenley, local attorney, returned to Wichita Falls from the Rio Grande Valley Thursday with the announcement of the purchase of 2,200 acres of land under the Willacy County Water Control and Improvement district No. 1. The land, purchased for himself and associates, is located just 20 miles from the Gulf coast and has been rated the finest soil in the United States for growing citrus fruits, Mr. Kenley said.

Irrigation System

Construction of one of the largest and most effective irrigation systems in the valley got underway in Willacy county on July 5 and will be put into effect within the next few months, the attorney explained. Two large storage reservoirs, covering 8,000 and 4,000 acres respectively, are under construction for holding the flood waters of the Rio Grande. A water supply adequate for a year without rain will be available in the reservoir at all times. The soil in Willacy county has been designated "Victoria loam" by an analysis of the United States government and is especially adapted, under irrigation, for the production of vegetables, oranges, lemons, and grapefruit during a 12-month growing season, according to accounts given by the new purchasers.

The irrigation plans being worked out in the county call for the only gravity system of water distribution throughout the whole valley lands, Mr. Kenley added, the county lying 40 feet lower than the Rio Grande bottom.

In the interval before the water system is complete, 900 acres of the land purchased is already under cultivation and will make a bale of cotton an acre dry farming this year, the attorney declared.

Big Project

The widespread water improvement work in Willacy county and through all the section is being done under the direction of the Trinity Farms Construction company, a corporation owned by C. H. Clark of Wichita Falls, T. H. Harbin of Waxahachie, and E. P. Harwell of Tulsa, Okla. The work in the valley is a part of a $30,000,000 program undertaken by the company, including the Trinity river improvement project at Dallas.

The owners of the Trinity Farms Construction company are also stockholders in the Delta Orchards company and are taking an active interest in the development of a 52,000-acre tract recently purchased by the Delta company for the growing of grapefruit in the valley. The orchards are to be set out through the irrigated lands before any of the property is put on the market, Mr. Kenley declared.

Actors Plan no Strike, Says Association Head

LOS ANGELES, July 11. (AP)—Frank Gillmore, president of the Actors Equity association, told the Associated Press today a rumored strike order by the organization was "nothing more than a rumor."

Francis Speaks On Enforcement

formulating in practice the high principles designed to motivate the law of the land, is just as important today as it was then. It illustrates, to my mind and to yours, that only by eternal vigilance can American people preserve for itself those principles of government which we deem vital to the purpose of all law; and that is, that each individual shall enjoy thereunder the utmost privileges to best permit life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"You know, most of us say we believe in law enforcement, but as a matter of fact, when we make that statement, we oftimes see and know ourselves that we mean we want the law enforced against the other fellow, but not against ourselves. There are groups of people who do not like our taxation laws, who are opposed to them, and for those people who do not believe in these laws, who seek to set them aside, and disregard them with impunity, our government has been designed to inflict penalties. Other people opposed to other laws take the liberty of saying, 'Since this law does not meet with my approval, I do not care whether it is enforced or obeyed.' That attitude of mind, generally diffused, will result in the destruction of all government.

"I am glad that Mr. Hall coupled with the subject of 'law enforcement' the subject of 'law obedience,' because it seems to me that what we need is a higher conception of the individual responsibility for law enforcement and obedience.

"They divide themselves, in a fashion, in two distinct ways. First, we must have that adequate machinery set up to see that adequate penalties are given to those who violate the law. To that end President Hoover has appointed a commission to study ways and means in order to make recommendations for legislation which will improve upon our federal machinery; to more adequately carry into effect that which Americans have said are the rules of the game under which we play and live. I am sure that from that investigation will come forth recommendations which when made into law will serve as the great power for the enforcement of those statutes which we consider necessary for our continued welfare.

"Similarly, the government of this state has named a commission to study and investigate possible ways and means of bettering the law enforcement machinery in Texas. But when you come down to the specific measures that are being added, we find on all sides the apathy, the indifference of the average man to the evils which all students of government know exist in state and nation.

"For instance, on next Tuesday there will be submitted to the people of Texas two proposed constitutional amendments affecting the organic law of this state. One is designed to increase the number of supreme court judges from three to nine, to convert our judicial machinery from an 1836 model to a 1929 model; designed to take care of conditions as they are in the state today, rather than those of 100 years ago. How many of us as individuals realize the responsibility that rests upon each individual citizen to find out for himself the merits or the demerits of these proposals, so that he will register next Tuesday at the ballot box an intelligent vote on these measures?

Personal Interest

"We have somehow gotten the idea in this country that we can delegate to some of the various houses of government their proper functions, and that we can then sit back and allow the government to move forward efficiently with ourselves doing absolutely nothing. The Fourth of July orator praises the constitution of the United States and its principles, and speaks of it as though something new and strange and peculiar was formulated by that group of Americans who adopted it in 1789. We forget that government is not a thing which runs in and of itself. It requires the personal and individual interest and direction of every individual citizen if it is to run as we designed it to run.

"I believe that a high responsibility rests upon those three great institutions of this republic, the home, the church and the school, to impress upon the minds of our boys and girls the responsibility which they will have to the solution of existing problems.

"Some people say there is no law enforcement now. I do not believe that. We have more than 5,000 witnesses in the state penitentiaries who could testify at this time, very personally, that we do have law enforcement. But America, since the war, seeing governments change and turn over in a year; putting all our efforts upon the building of our great business corporations and general prosperity, has not devoted itself carefully enough to seeing that those doctrines of the fathers and of the early days were made effective during these times. I for one believe that the time is near at hand when we shall have sufficient time to slow down and assume an individual responsibility for seeing that these things which should be done will be done.

"I admit that there are many things we need to make this law enforcement effective in Texas. I think our district judges should be elected at separate times, so that the attention of the people may be given to the candidates' qualifications; that the supreme court should promulgate rules of court procedure; that we should have a self-governing bar for the purpose of keeping unscrupulous persons from practicing; that the judge should be empowered to comment upon court testimony, as the nonpartisan expert; that our judicial districts should be larger; that courts should hold constantly, instead of in terms; that severance in criminal cases should be discouraged; that penalties under the Dean law should be revised; that district attorneys should be privileged to comment upon a defendant's failure to testify in a case; and that much more care should be given to the matter of bonds in criminal cases.

"But, I think that it behooves you and me to take unto ourselves that responsibility which we have as individual citizens to obey those laws which we have, and to interest ourselves in the government in such a way as to make it effective as it was designed to be. The end of all worthy struggles is to establish morality as the basis of individuality and national life."

DEATH CLAIMS J. C. ANSLEY

Wichita Man, 78, Stricken Here Thursday

J. C. Ansley, 78, father of A. C. Ansley, proprietor of Ansley's cafe at 715 Scott avenue, died at the family residence, 1659 McGregor street, at 6:15 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. Ansley had suffered from heart trouble early Thursday morning. He fainted and the efforts of a physician failed to revive him.

He is survived by his widow; three sons, R. G. Ansley of Anson, Texas, J. O. Ansley of Hobbs, N. M., and A. C. Ansley of Wichita Falls, and two daughters, Mrs. S. L. Shelton of Tahoka, Texas, and Mrs. G. C. Bunch of Rawls, Texas. Mr. Ansley and his wife had made their home with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ansley at 1659 McGregor street for the last four years.

Funeral arrangements will be under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company. Announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

Venue Change Sought In Flemister Suits

A defense motion for a change of venue, seeking to remove to Dallas the trial of three suits filed against J. A. Flemister, Piggly Wiggly official, by the trustees in bankruptcy for the company, will be argued before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court on Monday, July 22, attorneys announced Thursday.

The trustees are suing for an aggregate sum of around $200,000 in the three suits brought against the official, all of the actions growing out of the handling of funds, fixtures, and sales of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly stores.

Iowa farmers, on the average, have a fixed capital of $18,170, of which $1,499 is in machinery.

Tom Love Delays Senate Business By Political Row

AUSTIN, July 11. (INS)—Consideration of appropriation measures was delayed in the senate today when the solons devoted the entire morning to a political fight, brought about through an effort of Senator Tom Love, gubernatorial candidate, to have printed in the journal his reason for his vote on a resolution commending Congressman John C. Box for a speech condemning the leadership of John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman.

The resolution provoked bitter debate. Answering a question propounded by Senator T. J. Holbrook, Love declared that "Nothing so vitally affected the people of Texas" as the issue of Raskob's leadership of the Democratic party.

Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington referred to the matter as "putrified political propaganda," and the resolution as one designed to aid Love in his political aspirations.

Chicago Drops Bar On Bathing Suits

CHICAGO, July 11. (AP)—Chicago police will have to deal with "bare facts" when it comes to the girls' bathing suits.

The ordinance saying what was proper for milady to sport on the beaches was repealed yesterday when it was found its prescriptions dated back to the days of the world's fair of '93.

"It is obsolete," said Alderman William A. Rowan, "in as much as the present day style of dress for men and women has been so modified that its enforcement would be contrary to present social customs."

The kind of garb to be worn, the city council decided, should be determined "by the conventional ideas of men and women wearers who are guided by the common usage of today."

QUITS PLOWING TO SLAY WIFE

Texan Turns Gun on Self After Murder

MONT BELVIEW, Texas, July 11. (AP)—H. M. Smith, 40, fired three shots into the body of his wife, fatally wounding her, and then fired a fourth into his own breast today at their farm home two miles northeast of here today.

A verdict of murder and suicide was returned.

Smith had been plowing, and Mrs. Smith was at home washing. The farmer went to the house, and an argument started last night was resumed.

The man grabbed a pistol and fired three times as his wife ran toward the barn. Both bodies were found in the barn, Smith grasping his wife's hair with one hand and holding the pistol with the other.

Buddy, 11-year-old son, said he yelled to his father and tried to interfere. Another son, Virgil, had been sent to the field and told to finish the plowing.

The Smith family was well known in this section.

Oil Worker Hurt In Fall From Derrick

Guy Denny, oil field worker, suffered cuts and bruises on the face and head when he fell from a derrick on the Fain-McGaha lease near Holliday about noon Thursday. The injured man was brought to the Hargrave-Walker hospital in a Hines company ambulance. He was reported resting well Thursday night.

Wichitan Rearrested After Suspended Term

Charlie Vines, under a five-year suspended sentence for conspiracy to violate the state dry laws, was re-arrested Thursday evening on forgery charges filed by Sam Spence, district attorney. Vines is accused of having forged the name of C. I. Woodall to an $8 check. The previous conviction and suspended sentence was obtained here a few months ago, Mr. Spence said.

New Yorker Considered For Federal Farm Board

WASHINGTON, July 11. (UP)—Charles A. Wilson, former commissioner of agriculture of New York state, is being considered by President Hoover for membership on the federal farm board, it was learned at the White House today.

THE MISSING CYLINDER

Daily Editorial

THE CODLING worm can't completely spoil the apple, and the heaviest rust infestation always leaves a few perfect grains of wheat.

There's a random streak of generosity in the meanest man and an occasional mean impulse in the best.

Devil and saint incessantly strive for human control and each manages to get a hearing once in a while. None of us are born entirely devoid of kindness, sympathy and morality.

We're apt to find all things in all soils and souls—provided we seek hard enough for them. Gold lies deep in one character and freely crops out of another.

If we were equally as earnest in the recovery and reclamation of a backslider as we are in the disclosure and condemnation of his eccentricities, park benches should soon cease to be outcast bedrooms—half as many jails might suffice for justice, and the Daughters of the Scarlet Diana would suddenly fade from the streets.

We smugly bestow alms and delude ourselves with the satisfaction of charity. We are super-lavish with endowments and handouts, but miserly stinters with the much more needed coin of encouragement.

We have penetrated the inner secrets of the atom; we have read the mystery of the stars and established schedules for storm and gale; sound, light and energy have become schoolboy play-toys; our laboratories give Mother Nature cards and spades in her own games; five millions of our people wear the cap of learning, the gown of wisdom and asses' ears.

Despite contemporaneous erudition, the average Adamson is as pitifully, terribly, heartlessly ignorant as his forefolk.

We still deal with effects instead of causes, pander to superficialities, coddle trivialities and disregard the seat of all might—pride and spirit.

MANKIND will not be really kind to man until we erect hospitals for twisted consciences and shattered courage, as well as ailing organs and broken limbs.

We have invented uses for the last hair and drop of blood—for every bone, sinew and organ of swine and cattle; we boast of stockyard economies, but throw complete fellow-creatures into the garbage pail of ostracism for one repellent blemish or a single legal dereliction.

We conserve forests and waterfalls, chips of wood and drips of acid, but callously destroy the utility of thousands, without bothering to estimate the potential forces which a broader and saner system of economics could harness and apply to productive tasks.

We saw the blasted limb from a blighted oak to prolong its growth, but we compel the bearer of a blasted name to wear the smirch to perdition.

Philanthropy is attacking infection and epidemic at the root, thriftily furnishing the pounds of prevention to prevent squanderous tons of cure.

But institutional activities seldom concern themselves with the personal equation in the individual case.

The greater fortunes aren't substitutes for greater understanding. And that's the one cylinder in social mechanics which oftenest misses.

The universe is sated with material wealth and starving for simple kindness. You carry within your handshake the rarest and most useful gold—bestow it on the next pauper you meet. Lend him confidence, and he'll ultimately invest it in self-support and accomplishment.

Hornsby and the Record

A DOUBLE-BARREL bill providing for a 4c gallonage tax and a 50 per cent slash in motor vehicle license fee was sent to the governor. It was a senate bill accepted by the house. It was enacted by the senate at an early hour Sunday morning. Senators who held that the bill was unconstitutional succeeded in breaking a quorum for several hours. As a last resort they fled from the capitol building. Three or four were located and brought in by the sergeant at arms or his assistants.

Senator John W. Hornsby was an absentee. He had notified the president of the senate and friends of the double-barrel bill that he could be reached at his home whenever it was necessary for decisive action. He was phoned at the hour of midnight and he responded. Senator Hornsby doubted the constitutionality of the bill. He was opposed to linking the license reduction tax bill and the gasoline tax proposal together.

Regardless of this, after a quorum had been established he voted with the majority and made it possible for the enactment of the very important measure. It is said this Travis county senator has never missed a roll call at the regular or the special sessions. There is a 4c gasoline tax. There is a 50 per cent reduction in the license motor tax.

There will be a special session next winter, a very important special session. A report will be submitted by the prison location commission and those who profess to know say that an income tax measure and a bill for the supervision of public utilities will be submitted by the governor to the lawmakers.

Mellon Is On the Warpath

SECRETARY ANDREW W. MELLON is on the war path. He said that the published report that the treasury was considering erecting a seven-foot barb wire fence along the Canadian border to stop rum running was an outrageous falsehood as well as a senseless invention.

Assistant Secretary Seymour Lowman was responsible for the story. That is, he told a newspaper man that dry members of congress had "brought up the subject months ago." Uncle Andy is the head of the treasury department. He does the official speaking for his department. If necessary, he mows down his assistants and their interviews, which is as it should be. A cabinet officer should be the voice for his department. Now why should a little understrapper do the talking for the big voice or the head of any department of government.

Constitution Is Given Recognition

AN IMMORTAL document is the constitution of the United States. A second immortal document is the constitution of Texas. Governor Moody signed the bill making effective in 1930 the law requiring the constitution to be taught in the schools of the commonwealth. 'Tis well. It should have happened years and years ago.

Every boy and every girl should be compelled to make a study of the constitution, including the bill of rights.

This is a constitutional government. There are millions of men and women voters in America who appear to be in ignorance of the important fact.

They flout the constitution, they kick it aside when it suits their purpose, they ignore many important provisions and there are teachers in the schools of the country who need the instruction given the pupils.

How to Get Farm Relief

CHAIRMAN ALEXANDER LEGGE of Chicago is the chief executive of the International Harvester company. Touring the wheat fields of Kansas, he said to a newspaper correspondent: "The farmer will have to work out his own salvation. The federal farm board can only hope to help him find a way. I should say that it is the hope of the farm board that it may find a way to help the farmer to help himself."

It is self-evident that the chief executive of the International Harvester company, who is likewise the president of the farm relief board, is not a politician and it isn't customary for him to hand out what is known to the newspaper profession as "bunk." He is a practical business man; he wasn't trained in the political world and when he speaks he says a mouthful." Just now he is looking for a plan to help the farmer to help himself.

Camping in National Forests

NATIONAL FORESTS in five western states are closed to campers except at points where approved camp grounds are established. This order was issued by the United States district forester in an effort to cope with the growing hazard of forest fires incident to dry weather. There are many hog tourists abroad in the land. They flout the rules of the forest reserves organization. They kindle fires where they see fit. They leave camp without extinguishing the live embers. They cover the ground with inflammable trash. They are a nuisance as well as a menace.

Quotations Worth Noting

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The GREEN SHADOW - By Herman Landon

(Copyright by Public Ledger)

Police Captain Summers is meditating on the escapades of the Picaroon, whom he is convinced is really his friend, Martin Dale. Mr. Alexander Ferryman calls to relate a tale of strange happenings at 262 Bank street and requests police investigation. Axelson, a watchman employed by Ferryman, has heard footsteps and seen an eerie green light. A picture, showing the captain a picture when the telephone rings. A voice tells of finding a woman's body at the above address—the dead woman is Ferryman's wife. Summers finds only one clue, a bit of green lens.

Meantime, the Picaroon has written a note to Adele Castle requesting a meeting in Central Park. Adele has had a terrifying experience. Taken by a mysterious Miss Conway to a strange light through which she could glimpse only the faint outline of a man, calling himself Dr. Moffett, she is told that her father has been connected with a crooked financial deal. Dr. Moffett demands $100,000 for his silence and certain papers.

Adele and Dale meet. He tells her he was present during her strange interview with Dr. Moffett and promises to help her. Dale also meets Adele's friend, Paul Ainsworth. They become suspicious of one another. Dale "on his own" enters the house where the murder occurred and is trapped within by Summers, Ferryman and Axelson, who discover Dale taking a rope of pearls from behind a sliding panel. Dale darkens the room, throws Axelson through a window, and in the resultant confusion escapes.

Summers at luncheon next day receives a note and package from the Picaroon. In the package he finds the missing pearls.

Meantime, Dr. Moffett is getting anxious and telephones, giving Miss Castle just 24 hours in which to make payment to save her father from disgrace and prosecution.

Dale draws cash from his bank and makes an appointment with Adele. He then visits the Ferryman home, agreeing to capture the murderer within a week.

Adele Castle is instructed by Dale how to handle Dr. Moffett when he telephones. Wambley, a servant, is revealed as a spy.

All is set for the Mummers Frolic, where Adele is to make a $50,000 payment to Dr. Moffett's agent. Dale is also present, disguised as the Picaroon.

Miss Castle reviews certain papers presented to her by Dr. Moffett's agent on a balcony just off the ballroom. A streak of fire shot into the sky brings the exchange of papers for $50,000 to a climax. Temporarily, at least, the deal is off.

"That's that," he murmured. "I'll accept your apologies, Summers. Yours too, Gossler."

"Wait till they're offered," muttered Summers gumpily. "I'm not satisfied yet. Something very funny about all this."

"You mean I am not yet at liberty to go?"

"Just what I mean," the captain snarled.

"Oh, well, in that case—"

Dale sprang up, pushing back his chair so abruptly that the officer standing just behind it received a sharp thump in the sensitive region of the knee joints. He winced with pain, and in a moment he reeled back from a blow on the jaw. Summers reached for the pistol that had been lying so conveniently in front of him, and his face grew blank as he saw it was no longer there.

Things were happening with panic-breeding rapidity. The table toppled over from a vigorous shove, falling on top of Gossler. Summers, shouting at the top of his voice, found himself thrown into a chair with a force that knocked the breath out of his body. A shot rang out, and the officer stationed at the door sprang away from a shower of plaster.

Another shot, followed by a crash of glass, and one of the arc lights went out. Two more shots, and the room was dark.

As if the sudden pandemonium had spent its force, a little pause came. From an open window came a current of air. It dissipated the reek of burnt powder and cleared Summers' dazed head. He struck a match, passed to the open window, and looked out into the calm, clear, tranquil night.

The House in the Woods

Adele, dressed in a simple suit of blue serge and a small black hat trimmed with yellow, looked at her wrist watch. It showed a quarter to 11. She looked thoughtfully at the dial. Her face was a little pale, but determined. She rang, and her maid appeared at the door.

"Where is Wambley?" she asked in an absent-minded fashion.

"I don't know, miss. I haven't seen him all evening."

"Of course." An amused little smile tinged Adele's lips. "I sent him out on an errand. Please telephone the garage, Marie, and tell them I wish the car immediately."

"But the car is at the door, Miss. I happened to look out just before you rang, and I saw it."

Adele's brows went up a little. In a moment she understood. Dale, with his usual thoughtfulness, must have left instructions at the garage when he brought the car back after his spin. She felt a little awkward before the maid's discreet look of bewilderment.

"Thank you, Marie. That's all."

The maid withdrew. Adele drew on her gloves and went out to the waiting car. She felt a little quaver as she sat down at the wheel. Of a sudden her adventure loomed dark and awe-inspiring. She threw in the clutch, heard the soft humming of the engine, and her spirits seemed to bound with the exhilarant rhythm of the machinery. What was it Dale had said—that he would never be far away, that he would be closer to her than she imagined?

A tingle of excitement swept her nervousness away. She thought of her father, and the thought was an added stimualtion. Poor, darling dad! It gave her a feeling of satisfaction to think that, if there were dangers ahead, she was braving them for him. She had been foolish and frivolous long enough. Now she wanted to be true blue.

From upper Fifth avenue she drove to Thirty-fourth street, then swung west and turned into Broadway. An exciting sense of expectancy took hold of her as she joined the mad, churning, jostling procession that crawled along in the glare of the white lights. Crowds were pouring out of the theaters, jamming the sidewalks and flowing over into the street, a long undulating stream of faces. Electric signs wiggled crazily, motor horns blared, traffic whistles shrilled, the whole thoroughfare was a rigadoon of brilliance and din.

And it thrilled Adele to think that in this clamoring, glamorous hurly-burly there was probably a pair of eyes looking clandestinely at her.

She could scarcely move now. The car crawled only a few paces at a time, then stopped. At one of these stops she glanced quickly back. She had an impression that the door in the back had opened, then quickly closed again. She looked into the tonneau, but no one was there. The jam cleared, and she crept forward, but she could porceed only a few yards before a red globe flashed a stop signal. She was wedged in a tightly massed legion of motorcars. Waiting, she glanced out over the welter of traffic. Forty-eighth street. It could not be long now.

A green signal flashed, and the legion charged forward. Something flickered through the air and caught against the inside of the windshield. Her heart gave a little bound. She proceeded to the next stop, then unfolded the missive.

"Grant's Tomb," was all it said.

With a puzzled air she tore the note to bits while she waited for the signal to proceed. It seemed a strange redesvous that Dr. Moffet had designated. Again she was slowly squeezing her way through the crawling mass. Soon she turned west into Riverside drive. The congestion ceased; she could go a little faster now. Presently the gray ghostly masses of a monument loomed against a horizon studded with lights.

She slackened her speed. Dimly she saw a gray figure a short distance ahead. A hand reached out and made a signal. She stopped, and the gray-clad figure slipped into the seat beside her.

"Oh, it's you!" spoke a voice in well-feigned surprise, and Adele instantly thought of a masked face and a figure in tinsel armor.

"Isn't this lucky? I've been standing here holding out my hand till the muscles ached, hoping some kindly soul would take pity on me and give me a lift."

"Which way?" Adele asked, looking into a fair face framed by blond curls. It was rather an attractive face, except that the mouth was a little too tight and belied the guileless blue eyes.

"It's a lovely evening for a drive," Joan suggested. "Suppose we cross over to the Grand Concourse."

Adele nodded and set the car in motion again. There was a keen, exhilarating breeze, and it seemed to blow all misgivings out of her head. For a while her companion chatted brightly, then lapsed into silence. Now and then she glanced back. When the Grand Concourse was reached she suggested New Rochelle.

Soon they were leaving the city behind them. They drove through slumberous and aristocratically quiet suburbs. No sooner was one town reached than Joan suggested another. Briskly the car hummed its way through the dusky stillness of Mamaroneck, Rye and Port Chester. As she guided the wheel with an expert touch, Adele's face grew a little taut with perplexity and a thin wedge of anxiety. There seemed to be no end to the itinerary which her companion was so casually pointing out. And what was awaiting her at the end of the journey? Would Dale be there, or had something happened to detain or mislead him?

She dismissed her anxieties with a toss of the head and inhaled deeply of the keen, invigorating night air. The landscape grew more sparsely settled. They traversed stretches of open land. They had just left Greenwich behind them when Joan urged her to slow down at a cross road.

Adele glanced at the mile indicator. They had come only thirty miles, although it seemed much longer. Ahead of them stretched a long, winding ribbon of State road. Crossing this was a narrower dirt road extending in either direction into thick woods.

Again Joan leaned out and looked back, and then she pointed to the woodland on the right-hand side of the main road. With a faint stab of trepidation Adele swung the car toward the heart of the black jungle. It bounced and slithered as it left the macadamized highway, then righted itself. The headlight flung a sharp glare into the woods, as if to explore secrets that might lie hidden ahead.

"Almost there now," said Joan.

"Where?" Adele asked.

Her companion laughed a little. "I think the place was once called Cedar Lawn. It's a stupid name, for there are no cedars—only oaks and pines. But then names don't mean anything most of the time."

"Does Dr. Moffett own it?"

"Yes, but that's another name that doesn't mean much. It's an old estate that's gone to rack and ruin. Dr. Moffett picked it up for a song a few years ago. It was a whim. He didn't expect ever to use it, but now—"

She paused and glanced back again. "I think we are safe now. I didn't know," and she turned her head and gave her companion a shrewd, smiling glance, "but what somebody might try to follow us."

"Who?"

"Oh, you can never tell. Mr. Dale, for instance."

The steering wheel slipped for an instant in Adele's hand.

"Careful," Joan cautioned. "This road is full of bumps."

Adele remembered something, Dale, too, had cautioned her against bumps. Vaguely she had sensed a hidden meaning in his words, but she felt sure there was no such veiled significance in what Joan had just said.

"But I don't think Mr. Dale will be able to find us now," her companion added lightly. "He is clever, but there are those who are cleverer."

The remark sounded a little ominous to Adele, but it left only a fleeting impression. "A really clever man," she rejoined oracularly, "sometimes permits an opponent to think that he is the cleverer of the two."

"And you think that is what Mr. Dale is doing. Well—maybe. We'll see."

The road narrowed. There were frequent turns and rocky places. The woods, an impenetrable mass of darkness save where the headlights cut their blazing path, grew thicker and more tangled.

Suddenly Joan laughed—a clear, full-toned laugh of sheer amusement. "Funny about Wambley!"

Adele felt a tinge of surprise. Her companion seemed to have the most amazing sources of information.

"What's funny?" she countered.

Joan laughed again. "The way you and Mr. Dale trussed the poor man up and put him in a room in the attic. Oh, dear! But you can't see the joke, of course. Maybe you will some day."

It sounded very mysterious to Adele. Pretending unconcern, she drove doggedly on. The task of guiding the car over the ruts and the long, snarled roots that stretched across the road required nearly all her attention. The headlight glare fell on a tottering sign.

"Only a mile and a half now," Joan announced.

A little tremor, partly trepidation and partly sheer excitement, ran down Adele's back. The road was becoming impassable. On the sides rose huge, scowling boulders. The woods looked a little threatening in their shroud of blackness. She set her jaw firmly against the little horde of fears snapping at her nerves.

"That's the spirit," Joan remarked. "There's nothing to be afraid of."

Adele tossed her head in exasperation. Her companion seemed to have an uncanny knack of reading her thoughts.

"You will like Dr. Moffett," Joan assured her. "He has a pleasant, kindly voice, and—but I forgot. You have already met him."

A small shiver ran through Adele. What a weird meeting it had been! A voice speaking out of a green illumination!

"Yes, but I didn't see his face."

The other girl regarded her riedly. "No, and I hope for your sake that you never shall."

Adele stared at her for a moment, and the wheels slithered into a deep rut. "What do you mean?"

Joan laughed nervously. "Dr. Moffett doesn't like to be seen by people. That is, he doesn't like to be seen in his role of Dr. Moffett. In his other role, he doesn't mind. Lots of people have seen him in that other role."

"Have I?" Adele after a moment's deep thought.

"Yes, but you didn't imagine he was Dr. Moffett. If you should ever see and recognize him, then—then look out!"

Her voice was edged with a note of dread that gave Adele a faint chill. In her mind she ran over her list of acquaintances. One of them, if her companion were telling the truth, must be Dr. Moffett, but which one? She could think of no one who seemed to fit the role.

"But there isn't much danger of that," Joan went on reassuringly. "Dr. Moffett is too careful."

They fell silent. Adele's thoughts ran in a twisted course, but time after time she came back to Joan's warning as to what would happen to any one who should see and recognize Dr. Moffett. It was only a vague hint she had thrown out, but the very vagueness of it caused Adele's imagination to picture it as something horrible.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, July 11.—Women, apparently, have reached equality with men even in Wall street, which, up to now, has been one of the last strongholds of the male sex. Anyone who doubts the assertain is hereby reminded that the ladies of the financial district now have their own speakeasy where, as in the famous women's bar at the Ritz in Paris, men are not welcome. The place is open between 8 and 10 a. m.—shocking evidence that the fair ones need a morning-after pickup. It reopens for the lunch hour, closes for a short recess, and then begins the real business of the day at 3 p. m., when the stock exchange closes.

The Ladies in Finance

The rise of woman in finance is illustrated by the employment records of one bank, which had two women on its payroll just before the war, and now has 1,000. These comprise nearly half the bank's personnel—and, then men grumble, most of them are working for less than a man would take for the same job. There is a women's bond club in Wall street, and there are forty members and a waiting list. The reason, they tell me, for all these feminine financiers is the increase in the number of women who have money of their own to invest. These customers of the bond houses trust women executives more than they do men.

Sob Story

I won't tell his name, but I'll bring his story up to the present. He was one of the good fellows along Tin Pan alley. He sold enough songs to get by, and once he landed with a hit that brought him thousands of dollars. The success warped his judgment, and he threw both himself and the money away—not on the glittering night clubs of the fiction writers, but in one small, quiet speakeasy, where a fellow could meet his friends and get as drunk as he wished. He is down and out now. Fortunately, it is summer, and he can sleep on park benches—even people with good homes prefer to sleep in parks and on beaches on stifling nights. But he is making his comeback in his own way. Daily he visits Tin Pan alley, hoping to team up with some lyric writer and put over one more song. Nightly he visits the speakeasy—and never takes a drink.

Travelogue

Yankee stadium—eighty thousand maniacs can be jammed within its walls, with only a handful of redcoated men as keepers. All the redcoats can do to keep their temporary charges in order is to prevent them from sitting in the aisles, and to try to catch the foul balls first, thus saving the American league important money. The grand stand, going far down the left and right field foul lines, rises in three tiers of steel and concrete. Left, right and center field bleachers complete the enclosure, but the center field bleachers are rarely occupied. Except on very infrequent occasions, a green screen is hung above the middle garden seat. The outer wall of this section is lower than the rest of the stadium, and exposes the elevator tracks where the subway trains come up for air. One of the few kindnesses the subway offers its patrons is to slow its trains at this spot, giving the sardines a fleeting view of the game. A Friday-Saturday-Sunday series, with the proper amount of double headers, will bring $200,000—and Col. Jacob Ruppert likes baseball better than the brewing business.

A Private Fight

The labyrinthine Times Square subway station, where the routes of two independent lines converge to the uter confusion of strangers, was the scene the other day of one of the neatest fights of the year. Two women went at it tooth and nail on a platform, and the crowd was right at hand. It didn't have to run a block to get in on the fun. In an instant there was a cheering ring around the fighters. The battle, however, could not last long. Not that the subway line cared if two women chose to have it out, but it disrupted traffic. So a platform guard shoved his way through to ringside and arrested the embattled dames. He took them over to West Side court, and charged them with disorderly conduct. The women told the magistrate that the guard had interfered with a private fight. "We're sisters, your honor, and it was just a family quarrel." "Discharged," said his honor.

Child Actors

The Heckscher Foundation for children is one of the delights of upper Fifth avenue, with its clean, new and attractive accomodations for tenement children, abandoned and lost children, and children who like to have some place besides the streets to play in. One of the features is the children's own theater, where they produce and act in their own entertainments. Once a week, except in summer, youngsters from 5 years up give a show. Their most recent success has been "Pinafore." Child actors of undeniable talent have been developed there, but the foundation believes that acting should be done for the fun of it, and not for any glory connected therewith. So the cast remains anonymous to the audience. Buttercup is billed as Miss G., Dick Deadeye is Master X, and so on.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright, 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, July 14:

Sunday

Breakfast—French omelet, melba toast, ripe figs and cream.

Lunch—Generous dish of ice cream with fresh acid fruit, such as peaches or apricots.

Dinner—Baked chicken with melba toast dressing, cooked asparagus, salad of molded vegetables (celery, cucumbers, tomatoes), dish of berries.

Monday

Breakfast—Cantaloupe as desired.

Lunch—Corn on the cob, string beans, raw celery.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, baked eggplant, cooked tomatoes, salad of chopped raw cabbage and watercress, jello or jell-well with cream.

Tuesday

Breakfast—Coddled eggs, melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch—All desired of one kind of raw acid fruit.

Dinner—Broiled mutton chops, mashed carrots, turnips and asparagus, small dish of junket.

Wednesday

Breakfast—Waffles, two or three slices of crisp, broiled bacon, stewed raisins.

Lunch—Cantaloupe or berries as desired.

Dinner — Plain yellow cheese served in slices as the protein part of the meal, cooked asparagus, salad of stuffed tomatoes, prune whip.

Thursday

Breakfast—Baked eggs, toasted triscuit, stewed pears.

Lunch—Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates.

Dinner — Roast pork, cooked greens, buttered small beets, McCoy salad, baked apple.

Friday

Breakfast—Wholewheat muffins, peanut butter, dish of cooked berries.

Lunch—Apples as desired, with small handful of pecans.

Dinner—Jellied tomato consomme, broiled halibit, eggplant, spinach, salad of sliced tomatoes on lettuce; no dessert.

Saturday

Breakfast—Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple.

Lunch—Cooked string beans, salad of grated raw carrots.

Dinner—Roast beef, artichoke, steamed small carrots with parsley, celery and nut salad (nuts to be toasted), Jello or Jell-well with cream.

Fresh vegetables should be thoroughly cleaned with a vegetable brush under running water in order to remove all trace of grit or poison spray. The water that clings after the final washing usually affords sufficient moisture to start the cooking process, especially where the heavy aluminum pans are used. With a little care, almost any vegetable may be entirely cooked in practically its own juice, whether on top of the stove or by baking. Many vegetables which are commonly cooked by boiling or steaming may be given a desirable and different flavor by baking, such as ground beets, turnips, carrots, etc. The flavor may be varied by slightly browning on top.

In either boiling or baking vegetables, avoid over-cooking and be sparing of the water added. A little careful practice, with the proper cooking utensils, will more than repay you in the better flavor and actual benefit derived from fresh or canned vegetables.

It is believed by some that the vitamins in vegetables are lessened through the process of canning, but with our modern methods of canning, the loss of vitamins is so slight as to be of no consequence. My advice is to stock your pantry with a variety of canned vegetables, to be used when the fresh ones are not obtainable, and thus guarantee yourself a plentiful supply of the essential minerals every day in the year.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Agar-Agar

Question—W. S. asks: "Is agar-agar good for constipation, and how is it taken?"

Answer—Constipation is caused by eating too many concentrated foods and not enough of the green ones, lack of exercise, prolapsus of organs, kinks in the colon, etc. The effect of agar-agar is to provide more bulk and in this way it is often found helpful by those who do not know how to remove the real causes. It can be taken in many different ways. One of the best ways is to mix some in a cooked cereal for breakfast, using about a level tablespoonful to each person.

Buttermilk

Question—E. H. C. asks: "What are the advantages of drinking buttermilk? Is it fattening?"

Answer—Buttermilk provides an excellent protein and if relished is easily digested. It contains a good proportion of nourishment but can hardly be called fattening unless it is used in large quantities and in addition to other foods. On an exclusive buttermilk diet of three quarts a day, it is possible for one who is overweight to gradually lose from a half to one pound of fatty tissue, meanwhile keeping the necessary muscular and bony structure of the body well nourished.

Sour Stomach

Question—T. H. writes: "I am troubled with sour stomach. It usually stays sour from one meal to the next. Please tell me, if I take the fruit juice fast will I have strength enough to keep driving a small truck?

Answer—You should be able to take a fruit fast or at least a week or two while doing your regular work. At the end of this time your stomach acidity will be greatly reduced. Then live on the diet I recommend in each Friday's article.

Kansas Wheat Crop Far Below Year's Forecast

TOPEKA, Kan., July 11. (UP)—Crop reports issued by the Kansas board of agriculture tonight showed a decrease of 28,000,000 bushels from the previously forecast wheat crop for the year. The July report estimated the wheat crop at 188,396,000 bushels and corn at 119,228,000 bushels. Last year's wheat crop was 178,000,000 bushels and the last five years' average was 116,000,000 bushels.

SPUDDERS' STREAK BROKEN IN THIRD STRAIGHT HURLING DUEL

KITTENS EVEN SERIES BY 4-3

Bennett, Hermann and Bonowitz Clout Homers

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

The Spudders yesterday engaged in their third pitchers' battle in three days and second in succession with Fort Worth and having won the first two tight affairs by one run lost the second and final of the series to the Cats. The margin was the same, Pancho Snyder's men winning an excellent pastime by the count of 4 to 3.

Orin O'Neal, known as Skinny, chucked a smart game of ball despite the 12 hits made off him. Skinny was a pretty tough guy in the pinches and his support was so starry that he stayed on the hill until the eighth round when Milt Steengrafe was used as replacement, after a run had scored that frame, and there were two runners on the lines and two out.

Steenie checked the hostiles, but it was futile as Dick McCabe, a righthander recently acquired by the Cats from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league, also prevented further scoring.

Homers Score Five Runs

Home runs played vital rolls in the contest. Fred Bennett whaled a circuit smash in the first inning with a comrade on base and Joe Bonowitz also clouted for the circuit in the third to drive a teammate home. The Panthers tallied another run in the third and held the lead until Duke Hermann pounded a home run in the sixth.

Dick Sullivan continued to hit and the sensational kid duplicated his performance of the previous day by throwing out a runner at the plate trying to score from second on a hit. Sully shared Spudder batting honors of the day with Benton and Bennett, the trio getting six of the Spudders' 10 blows.

Urban was leader in the attack with three hits and Bonowitz, Grimes, Cox and McCabe bashed two apiece.

The game was replete with sharp fielding, with Turgeon, Benton, all Spudder outfielders, the hostile keystone pair and Moore and Cox turning in particularly glittering pieces of defensive work. Cox emulated Sullivan when he threw out a Spudder trying to score from second on a hit.

Sully's Throw Saves Run

A great play by Sullivan averted a Panther run in the first inning. Urban and Bonowitz singled after one was out. Grimes hit sharply to right but Sullivan made a rifle-like throw to the plate and Lapan tagged the sliding Urban.

The Cats were retired in order in the second. Lapan whaled a two-base blow to left but was left on base.

Fort Worth took the lead in the third with three tallies. McCabe led off with a hit to center. Moore forced McCabe on a grounder to Benton but Rabbit threw wild to first and Eddie scampered to second. Urban singled to left, Moore speeding home. Bonowitz hit over the center field fence, scoring Urban ahead. Grimes doubled to center but was stranded on the lines.

Turgeon and Sullivan singled, Dick's second hit, but they got no farther.

Spuds Make Double Play

Snyder's hit hopped over Benton in the fourth but Turgeon made a fast grab of Pierce's harsh grounder to start a double play completed by Benton and Stapleton.

Stapleton walked but Lapan hit into a double play, Pierce to Harrington to Grimes.

Urban hit to left in the fifth after one was out. Bennett backed up for Bonowitz's lift and took Grimes' hoist.

Benton led off with his second hit, but to no avail.

Cox hit through Turgeon in the sixth with one gone but O'Neal struck out Snyder and tossed out Pierce.

Hermann crashed his home run over the left field palisade in the sixth to knot the count at 3-all.

McCabe started the seventh with a single, his second hit, but O'Neal turned back the top of the Panther batting order.

Larry Cox emulated Sullivan's feat of throwing out a runner at the plate and preventing a tally in the Spudder second. Benton walked and went to second on Fitzgerald's infield hit. Bennett singled to short right and Cox threw out Benton at home.

Cats Win in Eighth

Fort Worth won in the eighth. Grimes, first up, strolled. Harrington sacrificed, Hermann to Stapleton. Cox singled to right, scoring Grimes, and went to second on the throw-in. Snyder was called out on strikes, much to his disgust against Harry Kane, after almost ruining the ball game with a smash over the left field wall that was foul by inches. Pierce was passed and Steengrafe replaced O'Neal. McCabe forced Pierce, Benton to Turgeon.

The Spudders failed to get on base.

Fitzgerald raced far into right for Moore's lift and Bennett sped near the stands for Urban's foul and then went back for Bonowitz's drive in a display of brilliant fielding in the ninth.

Larry Bettencourt made his Spudder debut by batting for Steengrafe and was thrown out by Urban. Benton fouled to Urban. Pierce threw out Turgeon.

Spuds at Fort Worth Today

The Spudders and Panthers play at Fort Worth and Hal Wiltse probably will be Galloway's mound selection. Our men come home tomorrow for a three-day stand with Dallas, the last trek here this season of the Steers. Then the Spudders hit the road for a 13-day jaunt.

STEERS WHALE SPORTS, 11 TO 2

Bischoff Clouts Home Run With 2 Men on Base

SHREVEPORT, July 11. (AP)—The Steers made a race track out of the bases for the first two innings today. They bunched hits behind errors to score nine runs off Estrada and finally carry off the opening game of the series, 11 to 2.

Bischoff hit a homer in the first inning with two men on base. Score:

MOE ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINAL

Lehman, Sweet, Carter Alson Win in Golf

KANSAS CITY, July 11. (AP)—The courageous uphill battle of Don Moe of Portland, Ore., to gain the semi-final round and the rise from obscurity of Gilbert Carter of Nevada, Mo., to fight his way into the semi-finals were outstanding events today at the thirtieth annual Western Amateur golf tournament.

Four down at the end of the morning 18 holes to Carey L. Ballew Jr. of Kansas City, Moe was as steady in the afternoon as he was erratic in the morning and won four holes in a row to end the match on the thirty-third green, 4 and 3.

Carter won 2 and 1 from Lawrence Moller of Quincy, Ill., Moller was semi-finalist last year in the Western amateur.

John Lehman, Gary, Ind., was forced to go to the thirty-sixth green to win 1 up from A. L. (Gus) Novotony, Chicago.

Art Sweet, Chicago golf writer, gained the next to the last round by and 8 to 7 victory over H. J. Kaiser of Racine, Wis.

Tomorrow's 36-hole semi-final rounds bring together Moe and Lehman and Sweet and Carter.

WASHINGTON EVENS SERIES

CLEVELAND, July 11. (AP)—Leading his team at bat and holding the Indians to 8 scattered hits, Fred Marberry pitched Washington to a 9 to 3 victory over Cleveland here today. Marberry made three of the team's 16 hits off Jimmy Zinn. The game evened the series at one each. Score:

REDS COP 4 STRAIGHT

BOSTON, July 11. (AP)—Fred Lucas held the Braves to four hits today and Cincinnati made it two in a row by beating the Tribe, 6 to 0. All Boston blows off Lucas were infield hits.

Lucas was the outstanding performer of the day. He fanned five, walked none and his single in the fourth scored two. Score:

The SPORTLIGHT

Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Dempsey

Jim Corbett won the heavyweight championship when he was 26 years old and nine years later, at the age of 35, he outpointed Jim Jeffries, the defending champion, for more than 20 rounds. If the 15-round fights had been the limit at that time Corbett would have won his title back. Bob Fitzsimmons was 37 years old when he won the championship from Corbett, but at this advanced age of ringwarfare he could only hold the crown for a short while against the younger Jeffries. Yet around 40 Fitz, in his comeback, came near splitting Jeffries into a number of sections before he cracked both hands.

Dempsey reached the age of 34 late in June. He is younger than Corbett was in his almost successful comeback and two years younger than Fitz was at the top.

It is not so much a matter of years working against Dempsey today as it is long ring service—between 15 and 18 years—and with it a loss of his quick reflexes and his early speed.

The factor that still makes him an attraction is the memory of his heavy, punishing hitting, especially with the left hand. Gene Tunney, at his best, was a hard man to hit solidly and a hard man to knock off his feet. Yet Dempsey hit him and kept him down for 14 seconds. Dempsey at 34 lacks the speed and boxing skill of Corbett at 35 and the all-around punching power and ring ability of Fitzsimmons at 37. It is taken for granted that he would be an outside choice against a fighter of the Schmeling type, yet he would always have this outside chance through the punch he can still carry into action. His hands are not brittle and he can still take it in copious quantities.

The two things that still keep him a drawing card are his aggressiveness and his punch. These qualities still count with the multitude above greater speed and greater boxing skill.

Dempsey might be conceded only a bare chance and yet peak the place through the outside possibility of one big smash.

He would have only a slight chance unless a boxer and hitter of the Schmeling type made one or two mistakes. Tunney will tell you that mistakes against Dempsey are costly and dangerous.

In which connection it should be said for Schmeling that he doesn't seem to be the type of boxer who is going to make many mistakes. Not if complete concentration on the job will take him along.

Getting Into the Cup

Whatever else may be written or spoken regarding wood and iron play, no one can dispute the fact that no golfer has yet lived with the same knack that Bobby Jones has of getting the ball into the cup. And that is where the score is made. It isn't made at the end of a long drive or at the end of a fine iron. It doesn't count until the ball rattles into the tin.

Jones' ability to score in this fashion comes from several causes:

1—Ability to play almost impossible recovery shots.

2—Short pitches and chip shots up to the flag.

3—Control over every type of putt from the long approach putt to the shorter ones of two, three and four feet.

There was a round in one championship where he made nine mistakes with wood and iron on the outward journey and yet he was out in 34. Almost any other golfer playing this same round would have been thankful for a 40 or a 41.

When he tied Johnny Farrell at Olympia fields his drive on the last hole was in a thicket and his second stopped in a clay-bottom ditch. Yet he got his par.

Jones has a great variety of shots that will put the ball on the green from heavy trouble and once he reaches the green he wastes no strokes in reaching the cup.

He has an abnormal pair of hands and wrists that are not only powerful but carry a wonderful delicacy of touch. He has unusual team play when it comes to eye and hands. He proved this the first time he ever shot clay pigeons, breaking 24 out of 25.

Jones can afford to make four or five more mistakes around the course than almost any other golfer and yet score as well on a round. The golfer who is only a fair putter can afford to make almost no mistakes up to the pin. Which means extra pressure on the nervous system at every hole.

Golfers who can chip well and putt well can afford mistakes that others can't afford.

Hagen is more like Jones in this respect than any other golfer. The difference is that Hagen in United States open championships hasn't been quite as good up to the edge of the scoring zone. And, while a great putter, he isn't as consistently brilliant on the greens as Jones is. This may be due to the fact that Hagen is no longer in the "twenties" and a heavy exhibition and tournament schedule has taken away some of his old keenness and his old touch when it is needed most.

It is easier to play a lot of golf between 25 and 30 than it is between 35 and 40. And it is easy enough to play too much golf between 28 and 30. Winning the open last summer added three strokes per round to Johnny Farrell's game through the rest of the year, where he discovered that 36 holes a day can soon remove the keenness and the timing needed for better scores.

Chocolate Decisive Victor Over Filipino

BROOKLYN, July 10. (UP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban negro, fought his way to the top of the featherweight contenders tonight by administering a severe defeat to Ignacio Fernandez, tough Filipino, in a 10-round bout. Chocolate weighed 126. Fernandez 125½.

A crowd of more than 10,000 paid almost $35,000 to see Chocolate fight the greatest battle of his career and leave the ring the leading challenger for Andre Routis' 126-pound crown.

Boxing Bouts Tonight to Feature Rickard Memorial Program Here

Boxers well known in this section will appear tonight in a ring show as a feature of the program at Lakeside park for the Tex Rickard memorial fund.

Howard Scott, the popular Electra featherweight, will meet Battling Sturdivant, the rugged local boy, in the headline event. Spike Stewart, Wichita Falls, will face Chief Black Horse and a third bout will bring together Henry Adams and Bailey Craig. There will be a curtain raiser between two fast paperweights.

The boxers are donating their services to further the cause of the memorial, to be built at Henrietta to honor the greatest sports promoter of all time, who went from the Texas hamlet to achieve his place as an international celebrity.

With no admission charge for the bouts and the principals receiving nothing for their services, the state attorney general has ruled that the card is not illegal, according to officials of the memorial association.

The boxing card will start at 9 o'clock.

Easterners Win National Clay Court Doubles

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11. (AP)—Taking advantage of every error made by their opponents, Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., and J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., defeated Ben Gorehakoff, and Arthur Kussman, both of Los Angeles, for the national clay court tennis doubles championship here.

Five sets were necessary before the Eastern duo downed Gorehakoff and Kussman, who two weeks ago won the national intercollegiate doubles title.

What Happens when you step on the gas?

To most people, all gasolines look very much alike. It is only when you call on your motor for its best performance that you discover the difference between them. The congested traffic of to-day—with its dozens of cars in long, swift-moving lines, quick starts, and sudden dashes for position—forces you to do this more and more frequently. The ability to get ahead of other cars depends almost entirely upon the way the gasoline you use gives up its power.

Take for instance the cars in this picture. See what happens when the traffic light flashes "Go." Instantly eyes shift to the opening ahead—clutches engage—throttles open—and every driver "gets set" for a swift get-away! But—what a difference in performance is revealed! Those who have Humble Flashlike Gasoline in their fuel tanks are away in a flash! No need to bother with starting in "low"—powerful Humble Flashlike Gasoline shoots you ahead in "second"—a quick shift to "high" gives you added speed—then—you slip into the coveted position—out ahead—with the open road before you!

There's no sputtering or choking of the motor with this superior fuel. It's so wonderfully made that it adapts itself instantly to your motor's needs. With proper carburetor adjustment, you enjoy its full power—a smooth, resistless thrust which leaves other cars behind—sputtering and fuming to a jerky start—like race horses left at the post.

Study the specifications of Humble Flashlike Gasoline given below. You will readily see why this superior-made gasoline gives such out-of-the-ordinary results. Humble Flashlike Gasoline may be bought at stations wherever you see the Humble Signs.

HOME GROWN MELONS LISTED

Cantaloupe Crop Far Short Of 1928 Yield

Heavy shipments of green produce of many kinds from the fertile valleys of Colorado are now supplementing supplies from local truck farms to stock markets, according to dealers here.

With the advent of constant high temperature a month ago, production from the gardens in this community has been materially reduced, it was said. Other sections of Texas, further south, also are being drawn upon for fruits, cantaloupes and watermelons.

Cantaloupes from local farms are just now appearing on the market here, it was reported Friday. The prediction was made that the total harvest will be no more than 505 per cent of that grown in 1928, because of the marked reduction in acreage devoted to this crop. Wichita county's production of cantaloupes last year was said to have been so large as to entail difficulty in finding a market for it. Continued hot weather without rains, it was said, will further curtail the local cantaloupe harvest.

Concord grapes in considerable quantities are also coming in now from vineyards in this county. Sales of glassware for canning purposes at local stores indicates that large amounts of home-grown fruit are being preserved in homes for winter use.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP)—Cotton was lowered today under further liquidation combined with local and southern selling which appeared to be influenced by reports of continued favorable weather in the South, relatively easy Liverpool cables and a bearish view of the textile statistics. October contracts sold off from 18.46 to 18.23, and closed at 18.26, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 15 to 35 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 6 points in response to the Liverpool showing.

A private authority published a report estimating domestic consumption for June at 557,000 bales compared with 668,229 for May and 510,399 for June last year. These figures while bullish compared with last year, were regarded as showing a sharp falling off from the previous month and may have had some influence on the market.

Private cables reported liquidation in the Liverpool market on the better weather news from the South.

Exports today 2,728, making 8,072,264 so far this season. Port receipts 1,120. U. S. port stocks 687,871.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 11. (AP)—Cotton again sought lower levels today under selling inspired by lower Liverpool cables, favorable weather and a reported easier spot basis. Some covering and trade buying developed on the scale down but was absorbed at moderate rallies. October after opening at 18.27 eased off to 18.08 and closed at 18.13 for a net loss of 20 points. The general market closed steady at net declines of 15 to 24 points.

Liverpool cables were 5 to 11 points lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 8 points in sympathy.

In late trading there was some covering which carried prices up to 3 to 5 points from the lows but closing prices showed net losses of practically $1 a bale.

Utilities Shares Gain Ground As Industrial Stocks Suffer Losses

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 11. (US)—Utilities moved into new high ground while recently favored industrials slipped off in another irregular market, today, in which turnover held to the 4,000,000 share level. Nervousness as to the reserve statements to be issued after close caused some liquidation but offerings were well taken.

Brooklyn Union Gas jumped 9 points more, Consolidated Gas gained 2, Columbia Gas & Electric 4⅝ and National Power & Light climbed 3¼. Alleghany Corporation advanced 2⅜ while Rails generally were stronger with Chesapeake & Ohio gaining 5¼ and New Haven 1½. Allis Chalmers dropped 6, Auburn 5, and Johns Manville 3⅜ in comparatively light offerings. Steel lost a point while other standard industrials closed fractionally lower on the average. Oils and Coppers were quiet. Call money was held at 9 per cent throughout.

New buying and short covering both were responsible for the advance of the Utilities. Those who sold short on the mistaken brokerage advice of a month ago were forced to cover while further reports of mergers, etc., influenced larger demand. The latest development in the plans of the most powerful utility interests, it is intimated has to do with the National Power & Light organization. Buying has been for the account of those who are most familiar with the affairs of the company and important development is expected before long.

The new high Electric investors reflects belief that special action for stockholders will be taken before long. Offer of Commonwealth Southern for United Light & Power is expected to be announced officially soon. There was some talk that leading stockholders of United Light had turned down the proposed two shares of Commonwealth and one warrant. It is expected the deal will go through ultimately and it may be that two warrants will be given with two shares of Commonwealth Southern for each United Light "A" share.

Those who recently were interested in such stocks as Montgomery Ward, Continental Can and Lambert now are putting out a special analysis on Alleghany Corporation. Their activity would augment the quiet but steady absorption that has been going on for another group for the last several weeks. Plans of bankers in control of Alleghany for absorption of stocks of several leading roads comprise the main stimulus to buying.

Report of Canada Dry and Coca Cola merger has not had as much influence as expected in bringing a following to the group work in the former shares. Similar report was circulated coincident with the previous operation and subsequently proved to be without foundation. Coty, it is learned, has arranged for acquisition of foreign companies.

There has been quiet but important operation in General Asphalt recently. In some quarters it is inferred that new interests are taking an important position in the company. Earnings are running at the rate of between $10 and $14 a share for the year, it is claimed, and the coming months are expected to show even better results than the record showing of May and June. Group activity in Waldorf, it is stated, is influenced by expectation that report the second quarter will show the best income ever enjoyed in that period. There was rumor that the company plans acquisition to its chain of restaurants that should add to income.

Special analysis is being prepared on American Can by a leading stock exchange firm that will outline the reasons for its investment position. Motion picture capital has been quietly absorbed for it has changed from a financing company to an investment trust that is holding Utilities and other stocks that show handsome profits.

Better tone displayed by the market toward the close was not so much of a surprise after the loan report was issued. A drop of $15,000,000 in borrowings was entirely unexpected. Most people, both bankers and brokers, thought loans would be shown at the highest level in history. With the decline reported, the borrowings now are down $38,000,000 from the peak recorded in March. While government security holdings of both the local bank and of the system showed a decline of about $4,000,000 the drop was more than offset by the increase in bills discounted and bills purchased in the open market. As a result, the ratio of reserves and general position of both the local bank and the system as a whole shows some improvement which should be celebrated in this morning's stock market.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 11. (AP)—Cattle salesmen were able to check the downward trend to values in the stock and low cutters in today's trade, the decreased receipts giving selling interests advantage in the trade. Slaughter cows and low cutters held steady but slaughter steers dull, weak to lower. Trade in other classes nearly steady.

Slaughter steers, grassers, scheduled to sell around $9.00@10.25. Better fed steers and yearlings lacking. Desirable fat yearlings ranged up to $13.00. Grassy sorts around $11.50.

Good fat cows $7.75@8.75 and plain butcher cows around $6.75 and $7.25.

Only a few loads of stock cattle included in receipts and a fairly good demand was indicated for good stock yearlings and heavy stock calves. Few good to choice heavy stock calves $12.75.

Tumbling values were reported in slaughter calves and vealers, most sales showing declines of 25 to 50 cents.

Hogs mostly 25 cents higher. Smooth butchers in carlots topped at $11.60 and best truck hogs sold at $11.10. Packing sows steady to 25 cents higher. Mostly at $9.25 and $9.75. Feeder pigs $9.00@9.50.

CHICAGO, July 11. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 23,000; 15 to 20c higher; top $12.25, packing sows $9.90@10.85; pigs $10.75@12.00.

Cattle—Receipts 6,000; calves 2,000; steady to weak; slaughter steers, good and choice 950 to 1,500 pounds $13.50@16.00; cows, good and choice $9.25@12.50; vealers (milk-fed) good and choice $14.50@17.00.

Sheep—Receipts 13,000; 15 to 25c lower; lambs $14.25@15.15; ewes $5.50@6.75.

FOR WORTH, July 11. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 1,200; 25c higher; top $11.60; 185-230-pound rail hogs $11.30@11.60; 175-240 pound truck hogs $10.75@11.00; packing sows $9.30@9.75; feeder pigs $9.00@9.50.

Cattle and calves—Receipts 4,800; slaughter steers weak to lower; offerings mostly grassers to sell $9.00@10.25; yearlings good to choice $12.50@13.00; cows $7.75@8.75; butcher grades $6.75@7.25; bulls $6.50@8.25; heavy stock calves up to $12.75; slaughter calves heavies $11.00@11.50; vealers light up to $13.00.

Sheep—Receipts 1,800; steady to weak; lambs $13.00; aged wethers $7.25.

KANSAS CITY, July 11. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 7,000; 15 to 25c higher; top $11.80 on 200-pound weights; packing sows $9.50@10.50.

Cattle—Receipts 2,500; calves 500; steady; slaughter steers, good and choice 950 to 1,500 pounds $13.25@16.00; fed yearlings, good and choice 750 to 950 pounds $13.25@13.85; cows, good and choice $8.75@11.75; vealers (milk-fed) medium to choice $9@14.50; stocker and feeder steers, good and choice (all weights) $11.25@13.75.

Sheep—Receipts 3,000; lambs steady to weak; sheep steady; lambs $14@15.00; ewes $5.25@7.00.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 11. (AP)—(United States Department of Agriculture)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was active on hogs at 15@25c higher prices. The day's extreme top of $12.25 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 78,400.

The sheep supply approximated 36,800 an increase of 2,400 over a year ago. Fat lamb trade was again very slow, western holding about steady, but natives weak to unevenly lower. Few selected native lambs in Chicago made $15.00.

Considerable unevenness prevailed on killing classes of cattle. Fed steers of medium and heavy weight ruled fully steady, but a weak undertone prevailed on light weight steers and yearlings. Chicago reported an extremely dull close on light yearlings and all grades of fat she stock. Off-quality southwestern grass steers continued to meet a slow demand. No strictly choice fed steers were offered in Chicago. Good Texas cake feds at Kansas City cashed at $14.15@14.25. Aggreg

Games were played and refreshments were served to Dixie May Stephens, Beatrice Rush, Norma McMullen, "Baby Sis" Miller, Mary Ann Keller, Betty Joe Miller, Georgia Lee Scoggins, Frances Alene Slaton, Juanita Chrystoph, Dixie Goodman, Margaret and Martha Louise Arms. The boys were Jesse Myrick, "Black Eyes" Miller, W. D. Horn, David Houston, Billie Jack Goodman, Joe Burke Ligon, Tommy Scoggins, Reginald Simmons. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Dorothy Vandeventer, Lila May Arms and June Houston.

Bridge Party

Honoring Mrs. W. E. Kutschbach of Taylor, formerly Miss Carlotta Miller of Electra, Mrs. Jack Prince entertained at bridge at her home Tuesday afternoon.

Twelve tables were arranged for the games and an orchid and yellow color scheme was noted in the decorations, table covers and the two-course luncheon. Spring flowers were beautifully arranged in vases and baskets. In the games Mrs. George Goddard of Wichita Falls won high score and Mrs. C. R. Pope, second high. The honoree was also presented with a lovely gift. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Charles Miller, R. Y. Smith, Bolivar Marchant, G. R. Davidson, Bob Cook, M. R. Stipe, Jim Totten, E. R. ROTARY CLUB HEARS BRITAIN

Constitutional Amendments Urged in Talk

Addition of six judges to the present group of three comprising the supreme court of Texas, and increase of the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 annually, were urged by A. H. Britain, local attorney, before the Rotary club in its weekly meeting Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Britain, who formerly was president of the state bar association, asked support for the constitutional amendments to be voted upon July 16, and which provide the proposed changes.

The burden of work regularly before the supreme court of the state the speaker said is beyond the physical and mental capacity of a court of three judges. Two appeals commissions, of three men each, which now assist in review of cases, would be eliminated by passage of the amendment providing nine judges, thus occasioning no increase in the number of state employes.

D. L. Hill, secretary-treasurer of the Northern Texas Utilities company, gave a classification talk on the gas industry.

WATER BOARD MEETING

The board of directors for Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 1 will hold a meeting Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock for the consideration of routine matters concerning the district, it was announced Thursday by G. A. Remington, general manager. The members of the board are J. A. Kemp, J. S. Bridwell, N. H. Martin, J. M. Daber and J. M. McFall.

THAT ALARM

Firemen were called to the 700 block on Holliday street about 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when an electric wire fell on a building and the insulation of the wire became ignited. No damage was reported.

Bellevue, Texas, Farmer Gained 15 Lbs. on Orgatone

Suffered for a Year and Had Liver Trouble So Bad Could Hardly Stoop Over

"When I tell you I have been relieved of over a year of awful suffering and have actually gained 15 pounds in weight besides, you can readily understand why I'm so strong for Orgatone," was the remarkable statement made by W. T. Nichols, one of the best known farmers in Clay county and residing on rural route A, Bellevue, Texas, recently.

"I had a number of troubles," he continued, "and it's the first time in several months I have been rid of stomach trouble. Before I began taking this Orgatone I had such severe pains in the small of my back that I could hardly stoop over and sometimes when I did I could hardly straighten up. The pain was something awful and I was so nervous and miserable I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep. I had no appetite and nearly everything I would eat disagreed with me. My food would sour and the gas would press on my heart so I could scarcely breathe. Besides my terrible suffering I had an awful tired feeling and would wake up in the mornings feeling so no account I could hardly get out of bed.

"I spent hundreds of dollars and tried every kind of treatment and medicine I hard of, but got no relief until I began taking Orgatone; but five bottles of the medicine has made me feel like a brand new man through and through. I have never in all my life had such a ravenous appetite, and you may know everything agrees with me or I could never have gained so much in weight. I sleep all night long, without waking, and my nerves are as steady as a clock. All the pains have left my back and I'm never bothered any more, with gas on my stomach, shortness of breath or other signs of indigestion. You may count me among the many Orgatone boosters and you are welcome to this statement, which I hope will be the cause of others finding relief."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Shipments of Grain From North Texas Area Near Peak, Says Rail Head

While there has been no cessation of heavy wheat movement on the Fort Worth & Denver, at the same time the officials believe that the peak has been reached and that beginning in the next few days, there will be a gradual decline in the amount of wheat being shipped from the elevators to market, it was said here Thursday. Most of the grain being received by the Denver comes from the Amarillo division, above Childress, and from the new South Plains railroad, which opens up a vast wheat territory.

The Katy officers are at a loss to determine what conditions will be in the next few days. The decline in shipments in the last 72 hours is due to the fact that heavy rains have fallen in the wheat section along the right of way of the E. M. & E. from which line the main line of the Katy receives much of the grain. These rains have forced the combines out of the fields temporarily, but when they get back to work again, the wheat will start moving on the rails.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

STIMSON SLAPS LID ON PRESS

'Speculative Publicity' Irks State Department

WASHINGTON, July 11. (INS)—The state department has adopted a new policy of taking an extra thought before discussing with the press the preliminary steps the government is taking with England toward formulating a naval disarmament program.

The "extra thought" today was "no comment" on the hurried visit Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, made London yesterday to confer with Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to England.

While it was stated Secretary of State Stimson is being kept informed it was reiterated that Gibson has been instructed to give Dawes the background of the disarmament moves Europe has made in the past.

Stimson hopes to prevent the "speculative publicity" that followed premier J. Ramsay MacDonald's announcement he would like to come here and personally talk naval disarmament with President Hoover, until the present negotiations develop into a concrete program.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug store. Renfro Drug Co.—Adv.

Bentley Awarded Police Promotion

Promotion of Homer Bentley, veteran Wichita Falls motorcycle officer, to a position on the traffic department of the police force was announced Thursday by Police Chief Frank Burns.

The transferring of Jess Leverett to the position of Wichita county highway officer to patrol the Lakeside road and the promotion of Mr. Bentley leave two places vacant on the motorcycle squad. Two new motorcycle officers will be appointed within the next few days, Chief Burns said.
