Mitchell Co. employment increases

Mitchell County as well as the rest of the surrounding West Central Texas counties followed the national trend as unemployment showed a significant decrease in October.

The Mitchell County figure for October was 5.4 percent which was down from September's mark of 6.3 percent, according to figures released from the Texas Employment Commission regional office in Sweetwater.

The Sweetwater office did not have up-to-date figures for the month of November. The national mark dipped below the nine percent range for November. The 8.5 percentage rate was what the Reagan Administration was aiming for by 1985.

The TEC statistics indicated that Mitchell County had 4,094 persons employed in October. The civilian labor force for October was 4,326.

Stonewall County showed the lowest unemployment figure for West Central Texas with a 2.1 percent mark. Other area figures were Nolan County 6.1 percent, Scurry County 3.0 percent, Kent County 3.9 percent and Fisher County 5.1 percent.

Board to discuss book adoptions

The Colorado City Independent School District Board of Trustees will be having its regular December meeting at the Administrative Curriculum Center Board room at 6 p.m. Monday.

A dinner will be served before the meeting. The dinner will be prepared by the C.V.A.E. homemaking class from the Middle School.

Items on the agenda include resignation of school personnel, appointment of personnel, leave of absence request and the final acceptance of the Hutchinson School construction project.

Other items are approval of a scholarship fund, report for the 1982-83 year TASB Trustees recommendation, books for adoption for the 1984-85 school year and present the list of the Mitchell County Appraisal Board members.

The board will also have a superintendent evaluation for contract renewal. The board will go into executive session for the evaluation.

Kiwanis Club entertained by local Chime Choir

It took nine young girls to bring the sound of music into the hearts of the 82 members and guests at the Kiwanis Club annual family night at the Colorado City Civic Center Tuesday.

The young girls belong to the First Baptist Church Youth Choir Chimers. The group includes Cole Marie Latimer, Amber Mayfield, Bridgett Bridgford, Karen Tammen, April Walls, Brittany Bridgford, Mindy Conner, Candy Hudson and Sunnye Biggs.

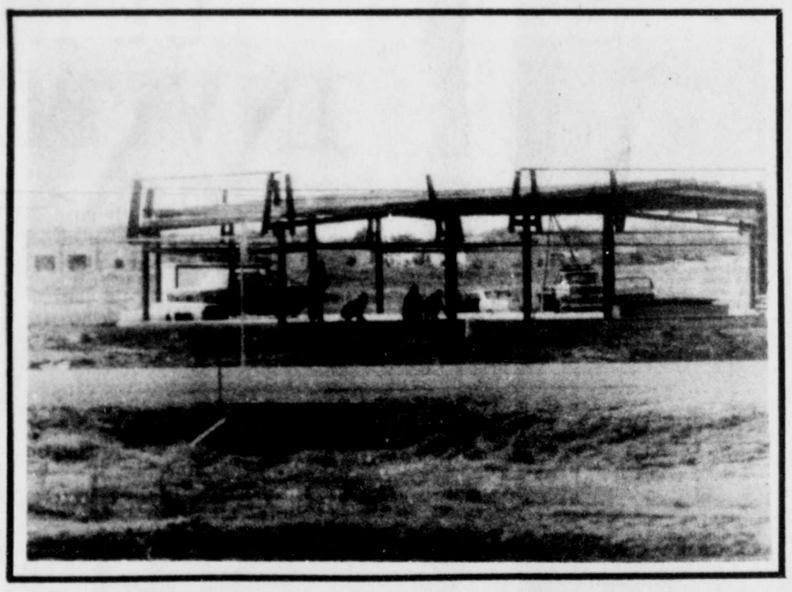

The choir chimers, who began getting ready for the Christmas season in September, played five different songs for the people gathered.

The Youth Choir Chimers are under the direction of long-time Colorado City music instructor Addie V Payne. Mrs. Payne also played the piano while First Baptist Church music director Mark Cook sang "Little Donkey" and "Birthday of a King."

Two new members were inducted into the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night. The new members are Charles Froneberger, who is the new veterinarian, and Ramesh C. "RC" Sevak, owner and operator of the Great Western Motel.

Mrs. Payne also received a corsage from the Club for being this year's sweetheart.

The Youth Choir Chimers along with the Adult Choir Chimers will be performing at the First Presbyterian Church on December 18 as part of a Christmas music program, Mrs. Payne said. The program will be for the entire community she said.

CONSTRUCTION is already underway on the new proposed Mac-Michaels Restaurant off of Interstate 20 by Colorado High School. The construction crew pictured is putting on the finishing touches on the steel beams.

Christmas concert set by C-City school choirs

The Colorado City Middle School and High School choir will be presenting its annual "Christmas Concert" at the high school auditorium from 7:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. December 13, said choir director Steve Nelms.

The theme for this year's concert will be "An Old Fashioned Christmas." Both choirs have been preparing for the concert for about one month, Nelms said. There is no admission charge for the concert.

The concert will total 140 students, Nelms said. Nelms, who is in his first year at Colorado City, will be accompanied by pianist Cecile Hubbard.

Some of the songs the choir will perform are "Joy to the World," "Silent Night," "The First Noel," and the high school choir will perform "The 12 Days after Christmas."

Nelms encourages the entire community to get into the Christmas spirit by attending the Christmas Concert.

LISD Board to appoint official to study Title IX

The Loraine Independent School District Board of Trustees will have a regular meeting at the Loraine School board room at 6 p.m. Monday.

During the meeting the board will designate a school official to coordinate the district's compliance and investigate alleging noncompliance with the provisions of Title IX. The board will also review and approve the 1982-83 audit, review insurance coverage on school property and go into executive session to take action on the superintendent's contract.

"The Fourposter" termed a can't miss

By LUIS RIOS

The times, fashions and people change with every passing day but human nature with its trials and tribulations remain the same as masterfully portrayed by Carl Beery Moore and Sharon Nelms in the Colorado City Playhouse production of "The Fourposter."

The production and its portrayal by Moore as Michael and Mrs. Nelms as Agnes was nothing short of sensational. The play did have its opening night mistakes but overall the two-person cast quickly warmed up to the audience after the first scene of Act I.

The play covered a 35-year span of a married couple from their wedding night through the day that they leave the house for an apartment. Their two children are both married by this time.

The Moore-Nelms tandem gave a delightful portrayal of the mentality of the people of that era which spanned from 1890 until 1925. Both brought to life the comic and also serious side of that particular generation.

One of the more funnier scenes of the play came when Michael finds a bottle of bourbon in his son's dresser drawer. He displays his anger rather well. But he soon cools down and decides to take a "swig" of bourbon, only to find out that it really isn't bourbon after all.

The biting and sarcastic remarks by both Moore and Nelms kept the audience atop the action all through the three-act production.

However, the action and dialogue in the opening scene was somewhat sluggish. But that quickly changed. And although the setting of "The Fourposter" is at the turn of the century, the basic truths and myths wonderfully depicted by the duo ironically still stand true today.

Mrs. Nelms, making her local debut, plays the different character parts of an aging Agnes to the hilt. From the opening scene of the couples' wedding night (and all the uncertainity which goes with it) through Scene I of Act III, when she threatens to leave him forever, Mrs. Nelms is superb.

The audience is led to believe that Agnes is ready to leave Michael following their daughter's (Lizzie) wedding. Agnes perceives that her usefulness is over. She also falls prey to the love poems of a young writer, who dedicates the collection of poems to her.

Carl Moore, one more time captured the audience with his style of acting that has delighted them for years. Moore played the character of Michael with wild abandon, in the dialogue, emotions and actions.

However, it was the combination of both acting talents of Moore and Mrs. Nelms that lit up the Playhouse for yet another spectacular production.

Moore and Nelms draw out the pain, horror, brutality, tenderness and courage of the people of that era. By doing so, they depict the true side of human nature, in the characters of Michael and Agnes.

"The Fourposter" is definitely can't miss....

Band students chosen for month

The Colorado High School band, which is in a transition from marching season to concert season and were to attend the All-Region Band tryouts at Haskell yesterday, announce Beth Smith and John Mayo as band members of the month.

Beth Smith, clarinet, on being chosen as member of month: "I think it's an honor. I think we will be really good in the concert season. We've started out well and Mr. Shipp's (band director) is putting stress on fundamentals."

John Mayo , coronet: "I'm surprised. There's so many other people that deserve it because we work as a team. Mr. Shipp's done a whole lot. Our goal is to make state honor band, and with his leadership, I think that we'll get there."

Both students wish to thank the community for supporting the band.

Safe holidays take added attention

Keeping safety in mind when going to and giving parties, decorating, traveling, and buying gifts can help everyone avoid accidents which can mar a happy holiday season, according to George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President of Texas Safety Association.

The following tips can help Texans keep their holidays safe:

–If you're using a real tree, choose a fresh one with flexible boughs and needles that are difficult to pull off. To keep the tree fresh, make a diagonal cut in the trunk, about two inches from the bottom, and place the tree in a water-filled container. Remember, a dry tree is a fire hazard.

–Place the tree away from a fireplace, radiator, space heater, or any source of electricity.

–Trim the tree with UL-listed lights. Check the insulation on older strings of lights. Wrap bare spots with electric tape, or better, replace those strings. For outdoor lights, use exterior lights connected to weatherproof outlets.

–Turn off the tree and outside lights before you leave the house or go to bed.

–Examine every toy you consider purchasing. Look for potential dangers to children. If a toy can be swallowed or has a sharp edge, choose another. It's strongly suggested that you observe the age recommendations which are indicated on toys.

–Keep children away from some holiday decorations such as berries of holly, mistletoe, and the leaves of poinsetta, all of which can be poisonous if swallowed.

–If you're planning a party at which you serve alcohol, plan also for plenty of non-alcoholic beverages and food. Close the bar early, mix drinks moderately, and don't allow guests to drive home if they've had too much to drink. Do not count on coffee to sober guests. Coffee does not counteract the alcohol in the blood stream.

THE UNUSUALLY mild and warm December weather drove local children into the playgrounds. Pictured here are three unidentified children at Kelley Elementary.

COLORADO CITY fireman Kennth Golden was selected as the "Fireman of the Year" and is presented a plaque by Fire Chief Brian Bassham during the Fireman's banquet Monday night.

Mitchell named "Employee"

Walter Mitchell, the city street foreman for Colorado City, was again chosen as the "City Employee of the Year," according to City Manager Rick Crowley.

Mitchell also won the award in 1982. The "City Employee of the Year" is chosen by all the city's employees. The city's employees vote prior to the Thanksgiving holidays.

Graham shares Christmas recipes

Susie Graham doesn't cook as much as she used to since her husband died 10 years ago.

She started cooking when she was a teenager, baking cakes and pies. She just basically learned to cook by herself.

"It was back in the depression and you had to make things from scratch. You didn't have any of these quick and easy dishes."

Mrs. Graham is a retired LVN and does a lot of volunteer work at the Wallace Center.

When she married in 1934, she said she didn't really know how to cook main dishes and her husband made fun of her biscuits.

"He would get one of the biscuits and drop it on the plate and it made a clinking sound. After awhile though, he said I made the best biscuits he ever ate."

Today she is sharing three Christmas recipes with RECORD readers.

White announces new job program

Governor Mark White announced a new job training program that will reimburse Texas businesses up to $10,000 for the cost of hiring and training long-term unemployed Korean and Vietnam era veterans.

Congress appropriated $150 million to fund this program nationwide under the recently adopted federal Emergency Veteran's Job Training Act of 1983. Veterans, who have been out of work at least 15 weeks, can participate in this program. Private employers could receive a maximum $10,000 for the cost training one veteran.

Money available for the veterans jobs program will be distributed on a first come, first served basis with no limitation on the portion available to Texas. The amount spent to assist Texas veterans will depend entirely on the number of veterans and employers participating in the program.

Texas has the third largest population of veterans–1.7 million–of the 50 states. Out of this number, 237,000 are Korean era veterans and 490,000 are Vietnam veterans.

Governor White urged the 34 local Private Industry Councils, responsible for planning and oversight of job training programs throughout the state, to actively market this program to the business community.

The Houston Veteran's Administration Regional Office will distribute funds for this program nationwide.

JERRY PUTMAN examines the growth of alkali sacaton following summer deferment. This is an excellent grass that is native to the Clay flat range site.

FLOYD LEE RITCHEY examines part of his 1983 cotton crop. This field was previously mulched with cotton burrs.

Conservation Board announces award winners

D. M. Smith, vice chairman of the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors, has announced that Floyd Lee Ritchey was selected to receive the Outstanding Conservation Farmer Award for 1983. Jerry Putman was selected by the district to receive the Conservation Rancher Award and the Colorado City RECORD was chosen to receive the News Media Award.

In making the announcement, Smith stated that Ritchey was selected not only because of the conservation work completed on the land he owns, but on the other farms he leases. Ritchey initiated and carried out conservation practices on the four farms he leases.

Ritchey operates about 700 acres of farmland and 80 acres of rangeland. Contour farming and conservation cropping systems were carried out on 700 acres. These grassed waterways and a diversion terrace were completed. All of the land he owns and operats has been terraced. Ritchey was the first district cooperator to use Mondell Pine trees as a windbreak.

Jerry Putman was selected as the Conservation Rancher for 1983 because of the range improvements he has carried out.

Brush control and range seeding have been completed on 447 acres. Deferred grazing was carried out on 1,110 acres. Thirteen thousand, one hundred ninety-five feet of cross fences were completed and wildlife upland habitat management was carried out on 1,785 acres. Putman has obtained excellent results from range seeding and from grazing management practices.

Colorado City RECORD was chosen for the News Media Award. This award is given for news coverage on soil and water conservation activities. Smith stated that Earl Plagens and the Colorado City RECORD has been very helpful in promoting soil and water activities of the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District.

All three recipients will be entered in Region II of the Texas Conservation Awards Program. The Mitchell SWCD had three Region II winners in 1982. Susan Scott won first place in the Conservation Teacher Award, Jim Baum (KVMC) was runner-up in the News Media Award, and David McCormick won third place in the Conservation Essay Contest.

Missed shots costly

Westbrook girls victim of turnovers

By TONY FRANCO

Turnovers and missed shots cost the Westbrook varsity girls a 35-34 loss to Trent last Tuesday night.

The Wildcats played good team ball throughout the game on defense, and led by Elena Lopez's scoring and Angela Lentz's rebounding, actually led through the first three quarters of play before Trent pulled ahead in the closing minutes.

Leading 26-23 after the third quarter, Westbrook accounted for only two fourth period goals while they turned the ball over to give Trent numerous scoring opportunities.

In the first quarter, Lopez and Lentz teamed up for all of the Wildcats points for a 10-9 lead.

Lopez worked from the outside with hot shooting while Lentz collected both defensive and offensive rebounds for her four points, but a thieving defense and blocked shots by Elizabeth Barnett were mostly responsible for holding Trent down.

Early in the second period, scores by Lopez, Lentz and Stephanie Pierce, opened up a 17-10 lead before Trent's shooters wormed to close the halftime score at 17-16 in Westbrook's favor.

At the start of the second half, the Wildcats defense came out with more pressure, but mental errors and poor shooting enabled Trent to stick with the Wildcats.

Trent seemed poised to take the lead in the closing minutes of the third quarter before rebounding by Lentz and Kellye Smith and buckets by Lopez and Pierce enabled Westbrook to finish the third quarter strongly for a 26-23 lead.

From there, Trent capitalized on breaks while Westbrook couldn't get anything going. Their shooting led them past the Wildcats and they held on for the final margin.

Scoring for the Wildcats were Lopez with 13 points, Lentz 11, Pierce six, Burnett three and Gracie Fuentes one.

Wolves beat Yellow Hammers

By TONY FRANCO

The Colorado City Wolves returned the Rotan Yellow Hammers visit last Tuesday night and came back with a 54-46 victory.

Defense continues to be the Wolves most consistent plus this season according to coach Mike Hart.

Colorado City led the Yellow Hammers throughout the game. In the first period, Yardy Powell and Don Randle led the Wolves to a 13-8 lead with five and four points respectively.

The scoring spread out more in the second period as Y. Powell, who also had seven rebounds, Doug Chitsey, Dennis Rivera, Larry Hamilton, Jardy Powell, Armando Rivera and Randle all scored two points.

Randle, who was the second leading scorer for the Wolves with 12 points, accounted for six of Colorado City's 10 third period points and also finished with eight rebounds before fouling out.

Comparing the game to the Wolves first encounter with Rotan, Hart said "It was the same as the first except for the last period."

In the final period, Rotan resorted to fouling the Wolves in order to gain possession of the ball.

The strategy worked as Colorado City missed the front end on eight of the 14 one and one situations.

From the floor, the Wolves did shoot better according to Hart and even opened up a 20 point lead early in the fourth period.

Rotan threatened to close the lead late in the last quarter but scoring by J. Powell and Chitsey held them off.

Powell scored nine points during the period enroute to his team high 13 and Chitsey added seven to go with his team high 11 rebounds.

Other scoring totals for the Wolves were Chitsey nine points, Y. Powell seven, D. Rivera six, A. Rivera three and R. Rivera and Hamilton with two each.

Wildcats lose thriller in four overtimes, 55-53

By TONY FRANCO

Donald Burnett and Dewayne Hayes put on one gusty show of determination.

The two Wildcats provided almost all of Westbrook's efforts in a four overtime 55-53 loss to Trent last Tuesday night.

At the end of regulation play, the score stood at 38-38 as Trent and Westbrook shot spurts of offense at each other to provide for a very exciting game.

In the first overtime, hayes who played very strong underneath on both offense and defense, scored on a short jumper to counter a Trent shot. The Wildcats were unable to score again in the three extra minutes, but timely defensive rebounding by both Hayes and Kelvin Poe kept the Wildcats in the game at 40-40 going into the second overtime.

For the second overtime, Hayes again scored and with a couple of free throws by Clay Browne the Wildcats hung on to stay in the game at 44-44.

Both teams had a shot to win the game in the third overtime. After a Burnett score and a Trent score, Hayes made two consecutive trips to the free throw line and both times missed the trailing end of one and ones. This second free throw tied the game up at 48-48.

With six seconds left, Trent made an errant pass on the throw in and Westbrook missed on a desperation pass as time ran out.

In the fourth and final overtime, both teams went inside successfully for easy scores.

Burnett made two good moves under the basket and added a free throw for the Wildcats' scores. Trent answered with power plays of their own, but two Westbrook turnovers in the last seconds made the difference as Trent added a free throw to secure the victory.

In the first half of the game, the two teams played very even as Westbrook relentlessly protected the goal though missed several scoring opportunities.

For the half, Burnett scored with good inside moves as he and Hayes both rebounded to keep within one point at 18-17 at the end of the half.

To start the second half, Wildcat turnovers enabled Trent to pull ahead early, but Westbrook finished strong as Barnett and Hayes accounted for seven points in the closing minutes of the third quarter for a 26-24 lead.

The fourth quarter was all Burnett and Hayes, who finished with 30 and 13 points respectively.

The two accounted for all of Westbrooks' 12 points in the final period, and their defensive play forced Trent go outside, which they did very efficiently.

Also scoring for the Wildcats were Clay Browne with six points and Don Ginkinger and Kelvin Poe with two each.

Wolf varsity girls put bite on Yellow Hammers, 59-35

By TONY FRANCO

The Colorado City girls varsity basketball team upped their season record to 5-2 with a 59-35 victory at Rotan last Tuesday night.

The 59 points are the most the Wolves have scored in a single game this year and they did so by shooting 52 percent from the floor.

After a slow start that included a 7-7 first quarter ending, the Wolf hoopsters opened up the scoring gates as eight players got in the scoring picture.

Senior Laura Baum was high points for Colorado City with 16 points as she scored eight in each half. In addition, Baum also dished out four assists.

Lynn Scott, also a senior, added eight points during the first half herself. Also contributing to the Wolves 22-14 halftime lead were Julie Waid with two points and Denise Jackson with one.

Sherry Fite who led the Wolves in rebounding with six also added a point in the first half.

In the third quarter, Jackson, who also collected five rebounds of her own, along with Baum and Scott accounted for 16 of Colorado City's 18 third quarter points as the Wolves stretched their lead to 40-27.

Coach George Martin saw the big lead as an opportunity to let all of his players play and get confidence.

The Pack responded with a 19 point fourth quarter as Sheri Morris led the way with five points.

Other scoring totals for the Wolves were Scott with 14 points, Jackson nine, Waid six, Morris five, Jody Mann four and Sonja Mercer two.

In the junior varsity game, Rotan defeated Colorado City for the second time this year by a score of 31-21.

Cheryl Bentley and Priscilla Dawkins tied for high point with six, with Melanie Rees scoring five, Sandra Williams two and Yolanda Lee and Shana Biggs one each.

9th boys beat Badgers

By TONY FRANCO

The Colorado City ninth grade boys travelled to Merkel last Monday and beat the Badgers for the second time this year.

It was much closer this time with the score being 42-40 compared to the first game score of 60-23.

David Birmingham led the Wolves with 19 points.

Others scoring for the Wolves, who now stand at 2-0 were Clifford Miles with eight points, Scott Dennis seven, Reggie Gardner five, Larry Mayes two and Terry Jackson one.

Westbrook VFD thanks citizens for all support

The Westbrook Volunteer Fire Department wants to truly thank everybody that has donated to the department. The fine volunteer firemen from Colorado City and Loraine have helped us to get organized and encouraged us to have a good and safe department.

Fire equipment that is really needed to have a safe and good department is so expensive we do need all the help we can get. One big problem we have had for years is communication. We are always working on a better way for citizens in Westbrook and the surrounding area to get a hold of us when you do have an emergency. You can call 644-3671 during the day and 644-3341 or 644-2591 during the night. Colorado City's fire departments number is 728-3131.

NAOMI MIZE AND JOHN GILSTRAP took first and second place respectively, in the "Voice of Democracy–What the Constitution Means to Me," sponsored by the VFW Post 9178 and Ladies' Auxiliary. VFW representative Frank Ingram presented Ms. Mize with a check for $100 and Gilstrap with a check for $75.

White expresesses ideas on educational problems

By GOVERNOR MARK WHITE

When children fail to master reading, writing and math skills before high school graduation, many public school critics are quick to point an accusing finger at elementary education.

But the problem is more complex and touches on parents' support of education in the home, a child's willingness to learn, strengths and weaknesses in the school curriculum, and overall funding for education.

When a child fails to learn, it also raises serious questions about how Texas colleges and universities teach tomorrow's teachers. Polls have shown that the public is willing to accept some form of tax increase to support improvements in education and higher teacher salaries, but expects improved classroom instruction for its money.

Texas' education experts admit that teacher training programs, now offered at 64 Texas colleges and universities, are not as effective as they could be.

Academic standards and quality of teacher education programs must be upgraded even if this results initially in a reduction in the number of student teachers. for education majors should be strengthened in English, math, science, and foreign languages.

I support new state competency test requirements for college students entering and exiting teacher education programs. Teacher candidates should demonstrate a basic knowledge of every subject in the general education program as well as an indepth familiarity with the subjects they plan to teach.

Teaching techniques should not be emphasized at the expense of a thorough working knowlege of subject matter. It is just as important to know what to teach as how to teach.

But before graduation from college, prospective teachers should gain more practical classroom teaching experience. Too often student teachers complain that they do not have enough classroom contacts with children, particularly in the higher grades.

Additional classroom instruction experience would give student teachers more practice in maintaining discipline in the classroom. College education courses should teach different techniques in handling student benaviorial problems, enabling student teachers to adopt an approach that will fit their individual needs.

Before Texas can attract and retain the brightest, most highly motivated people in the teaching profession, salaries mut increase substantilly. A new single set of standards for the teaching profession should be adopted, implemented, and reviewed on a regular basis by the State Board of Education. Teachers who fail to meet those standards should have the opportunity to take refresher courses to improve their skills.

Teaching is an honored profession and, as a society, we must demonstrate respect and support for our educators.

Marian's Memos

By Marian Morris

When you think of Christmas traditions, you rarely think of rice do you? If you lived in Denmark or Sweden, rice would play a big role in your Christmas celebration.

Christmas is one of the most festive and interesting of all Swedish holidays. One of the traditions of a Swedish Christmas is the special Christmas "smorgasbord," which always ends with rice porridge for dessert. Rice porridge is said to be the favorite food of "Tomten," or Father Christmas. "Tomten" is, according to legend, a gnome or brownie who the farmer considers responsible for the success of his crops. If the "Tomten" was well-treated– given a small bed in the barn to sleep in and rice porridge to eat–he would insure the farmer good crops. If he were neglected, the crops would fail.

In Denmark also, rice plays a leading role in the Christmas celebration. A traditional Danish Christmas Eve supper is started by serving "risengrod," or rice porridge with a cinnamon topping and a big butter "eye" in the center. Buried inside the porridge is a single whole almond which everyone tries to find. A prize is awarded the winner, and if a single girl is the lucky person, tradition says that she will be married very soon.

Rice provides starch, bulk protein, vitamins and minerals in our diets. You'll find several kinds of rice at your supermarket. The most common is milled, or white, rice. It is a rice with the hull and at least the outer bran layers and a part of the germ removed. Milled rice is white or creamy. Instant rice is precooked and dehydrated milled rice. Enriched rice is a milled rice that has been enriched with thiamine, niacin, and iron. Milled rice that has been partially cooked by a special process that causes some of the nutrients from the bran layers to move into the inner kernel is labeled as parboiled rice. It has a longer shelf-life than other milled rices.

Brown rice has only the outer hull removed. It has a nutty flavor and a chewy texture.

Wild rice is not a true rice, but a grain from a tall, annual grass. It is dark brown, has a nutty flavor, and costs more than true rice.

In addition to the various varieties, there are three kernel sizes. They are long, short and medium grain kernels. Short grain kernels are about twice as long as they are wide. The kernels cling together and are moist and tender. Short grain rice is excellent for puddings, stuffings, rice rings and oriental cooking. Medium grain kernels are about two-one-half times longer than they are wide. They also cook moist and tender and are good with meat and seafood. Long grain kernels do not stick together. They cook firm and dry. These kernels are about three times longer than they are wide. Long grain rice is excellent for use as a side dish or in soups and casseroles.

Although grade is not usually shown on retail packages, most rice in the U.S. is graded by trained, USDA licensed or employed graders. Lower quality rice rarely reaches retail outlets. Rice is graded on color and defects. Defects in rice are listed as seeds from other plants and damaged kernels.

Driving tips listed during driving week

During National Drunk and Drugged Driving Week, December 11-17, and indeed throughout the holiday season, Texans are urged to be aware of the dangers of impaired driving and take precautions against the tragedies resulting from such driving behavior, according to George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President of Texas Safety Association.

December was the worst month in Texas for DWI fatal accidents during the years 1979-1982 combined, according to Texas Department of Public Safety records. There were 335 fatal DWI-related accidents, resulting in 397 fatalities recorded by DPS. January 1 showed the most DWI-involved fatal accidents, 24, for the years 1979-1982 combined.

During this potentially deadly period, party-goers and party-givers are urged to follow these safety tips:

–Have plenty of food and non-alcoholic beverages available at parties where alcohol is also being served.

–When you mix drinks, use a jigger to measure the amount of alcohol. It's easy to underestimate the amount of alcohol you pour in a drink, especially if you've had a drink or two.

–Set up the beverage service so that guests can easily help themselves to refills of non-alcoholic drinks and to food items.

–Do not depend on coffee to sober up someone who has been drinking. Coffee does not counteract the alcohol in the blood stream.

–Consider suggesting a carpool as part of the invitational process. One person in the group can serve as the designated driver. It's that person's responsibility to stay sober and drive the others home safely.

–If someone has had too much to drink, convince the person to stay overnight, ride home with someone else, or go home in a taxi. It's much more responsible to accept this minor inconvenience than to risk a person's life.

–Be sure to plan these safeguards into office parties as well as home settings.

Drivers are also reminded to follow these precautions during holiday travel:

–Watch for drivers who have had too much to drink. Tipoffs of alcohol or drug-impaired drives include inconsistent driving speeds, frequent lane changing, disregarding traffic signs, and driving outside lane markers.

–Watch for pedestrians who may have had too much to drink.

–Wear your safety belt, ask your passengers to buckle up, and fasten children in child safety seats or safety belts, depending on their size and age.

–Plan ahead for long visits to relatives' and friends' homes. Winterize your car by checking the brakes, fluids, tires, exhaust system, wipers and headlights.
