Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas, Thursday, December 10, 1942

NUMBER 22

C. J. Glenn, Pioneer Banker, Dies Sunday

C. J. Glenn, pioneer Wellington banker, and a resident of Collingsworth County for more than 50 years, died Sunday evening, December 6, at 5:30 o'clock. He had been in ill health for several years, and his condition had been critical in recent weeks.

In addition to having served as one of the early bankers of the county, Mr. Glenn was one of the small group of men who were responsible for much of Wellington's growth and civic development during the years after the turn of the century and before the first World War—the period regarded as having laid the foundation for the town's later day prosperity.

It was in 1902 that Mr. Glenn rented the county attorney's office in the courthouse and opened a private bank. He conducted this as a private business until 1906, when he secured a charter for his institution as a National Bank. He continued to be affiliated with the bank, and served as its president a number of years, after which he retired from active business, but continued to make his home in Wellington.

Less widely known, but deeply and sincerely appreciated by many of Mr. Glenn's friends, were the many times he helped those who needed help, both in a financial way, and by giving of sound advice to help them solve their problems.

His generous nature, and his sense of fairness and justice, ideals which he practiced in his business as well as his private life, were the things that marked his character most clearly.

Charles Joseph Glenn was a native Texan. He was born in Dallas County December 7, 1876, and at the time of his death he was 65 years, 11 months and 29 days of age. He came with his parents to Collingsworth County 52 years ago, and had made this his home since that time.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon, from the Methodist Church, of which he was a member, with Rev. Hubert Thomson in charge.

Pallbearers for the service were Howard Riggs, Roy Horn, J. B. Stevenson, Bob Leggett, Tom Campbell, Dick Wiley, J. M. Strong, and John Forbis.

Flower bearers were Margaret Shields, Mrs. Duk Abernethy, Dorothy Robertson, Mrs. Cal Sugg, Mrs. Bob Leggett and Mrs. Bill Tarter.

Hymns included "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "Abide With Me," and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Interment was in the Wellington Cemetery with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

Mr. Glenn is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jessie Glenn, two sons, Joe Glenn of Nacogdoches, and John D. Glenn of Wellington; two grandchildren, Charlie Joe Glenn of Roswell, New Mexico, and John D. Glenn, Jr., of Wellington.

Stolen Car Found Parked In City Early Sunday

A 1941 Ford Coach stolen from G. K. Patterson of Buck Creek late Saturday was found Sunday morning parked in front of the R. F. Curry home on West Avenue, Sheriff Paul Bell said this week.

So far, no clues have been found as to who might have taken the car.

It is believed that it was not parked until the latter part of the night, as officers searching for the missing vehicle had passed up and down West Avenue several times during their hunt.

Use Lock And Key To Protect Gas

To protect their meager supply of gasoline, car owners were warned this week by Sheriff Paul Bell to put their vehicles in a garage that can be locked at night, or put lock caps on the gas tank. With gas rationing only a week under way, a number of complaints of gasoline being taken from tanks have been made to Sheriff Bell.

"We can expect this to get worse as time goes on," he declared.

ALCAN HIGHWAYS STURDY BRIDGES

Missionary To China Speaks Here Sunday

Plans are complete for Miss Blanche Groves, a returned missionary from China and a former county teacher, to speak twice in Wellington within the next few days.

She will speak at the First Baptist Church here at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, November 13. The public is cordially invited to be present and to hear Miss Groves at this time. She will also speak before the WMU of the Baptist Church Friday evening. This meeting, too, is open to the public.

Mrs. Groves was for more than 20 years a Baptist missionary in China. Stationed at Suchow, she became a prisoner of war last Dec. 7. She lived as such until mid-summer, when she left China on the repatriation ship, Gripsholm.

During the time of the Japanese aggression, she has seen her home bombed, and she has also seen the suffering of the Chinese citizens under Japanese domination.

This will be the first eye-witness account that most local citizens have had of the war in the Orient. Many of the audience will include personal friends of Miss Groves. A majority of the others will already be familiar with the

Covey Breaks Collar Bone In Spur Game

Fred Covey, left halfback on the Skyrocket football team, received a broken left collar bone in the bi-district game with Spur Friday. Covey was returning a punt when he was hit hard by a Spur tackler. The accident occurred about the middle of the first quarter.

It is believed now that he will be unable to play in the regional game against Hereford this week.

Cotton Farmers Vote On 1943 Quotas Dec. 12

All farmers engaged in cotton production in Collingsworth county this year will be eligible to vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, December 12, Clyde Emmert, AAA chairman, reminded this week. Voting places were announced Tuesday.

Voting will be held in every cotton growing state, and the outcome will determine whether or not quotas will be set on next year's crop, and also whether or not cotton loans will be offered on next year's cotton crop. The loans will not be in effect if the marketing quotas are rejected.

A two thirds vote is necessary for the referendum to carry.

Governor Coke Stevenson today issued a proclamation calling upon Texas' eighteen-year-olds to register with Selective Service in accordance with the President's Proclamation for the Sixth Registration.

The Collingsworth County Local Board has appointed the following as Chief Registrars for the sixth registration: Logan Cummings, Wellington District; T. C. Crabtree, Quail District; C. H. Caperton, Dozier District; Dewey Malone, Dodson District; Cecil Brown, Samnorwood District.

It is believed that beginning on January 1, 1943, each youth will register with the Local Board on his 18th birthday at the Local Board Office in the courthouse.

The Proclamation of the President establishes the dates for the Sixth Registration as follows:

"The registration of male citizens of the United States and other male persons, who shall have attained the eighteenth anniversary of the day of their birth during the periods indicated below, shall take place in the United States and the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and in Puerto Rico, between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. on the days hereinafter designated for their registration as follows:

(a) Those who were born on or after July 1, 1924, but not after August 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the week commencing Friday, December 11, 1942, and ending Thursday, December 17, 1942;

(b) Those who were born on or after September 1, 1924, but not after October 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the week commencing Friday, December 18, 1942, and ending Thursday, December 24, 1942;

(c) Those who were born on or after November 1, 1924, but not after December 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the period commencing Saturday, December 26, 1942, and ending Thursday, December 31, 1942;

(d) During the continuance of the present war, those who were born on or after January 1, 1925, shall be registered on the day they attain the eighteenth anniversary of the day of their birth; program

Two Collingsworth County women have enlisted in the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, better known as the WAAC, and were sworn into service at a public ceremony in Amarillo Monday morning.

They are Mrs. Reda Brickey of Wellington and Miss Roberta Blevins of Quail.

This was the first exclusive platoon of WAACS sworn into service, and as it is made up of Pan-handle women, will be known as the Texas Rangerettes. The women are on furlough until January 1.

Mrs. Brickey was a teacher in the Wellington School at the time she resigned to enter the women's division of the U. S. Army. She has lived in Wellington for a number of years and has been active in civic, church, and school affairs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Clay.

Miss Blevins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blevins of Quail. She was reared in that community graduated from high school and lived there until three months ago, when she went to Amarillo as cashier at the Herring Hotel.

Beam And Wells Named By WTCC

Cameron Beam, manager of the West Texas Utilities Co. in Wellington, has been re-elected a director in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Deskins Wells, publisher of The Wellington Leader, has been named a member of the Agricultural and Livestock Parity Commission.

This is the second year that Mr. Beam has served as a director of this organization for Wellington.

The Agricultural and Livestock Parity Commission has as this year's objectives the following:

1. Cooperate with Federal and State agencies working for the welfare of agricultural and livestock industries.

2. Seek for West Texas more equitable agricultural allotment formulas.

3. Seek at least a 15 per cent increase in national cotton quota.

4. To seek tariff and market-protection for livestock and agricultural producers.

5. To support chemurgic and research movements having as their objectives greater utilization of agricultural products.

Mr. Wells is the only member of the commission from this section of the state.

Annual Kiddies Christmas Show Planned By Kiwanis

There would be something missing from Christmas for boys and girls of this county without the annual Christmas Show.

This traditional Christmas Eve event will be held again this year, under the sponsorship of the Wellington Kiwanis Club and the Ritz Theatre, it was announced this week.

Moreover, there will be a gift for every child attending.

This year, the event will come on Thursday morning, and boys and girls will have the opportunity to see this series of gay and amus-

Community Sing Is New Feature This Christmas

An old-fashioned Christmas Community Singing will be introduced in Wellington this year, and will be one of the main events of the holiday season.

The singing will be held in the Community Building Tuesday, December 22, under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club.

Bob Spears is chairman of the Singing.

"This is for all of us. It is to bring us together with our neighbors and to help instill in us something of the Christmas peace and spirit that can be ours in spite of what is happening in the world around us, those in charge point out.

The singing will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

While the Christmas spirit will prevail, and many of the old carols will be sung, songs of many other types will be included. The Stamps song books will be used.

Although the effect of gasoline rationing will be fully felt by this time, the Singing is expected to draw a large crowd from every part of the county. This date will be one of the busiest days for pre-Christmas shopping, and those who live in outlying communities are reminded that they can make one trip to town serve for both their shopping and to attend the Christmas Singing.

USO Scrap Pile Totals $13.14

Scrap iron that was doing nobody any good brought the U.S.O. $13.14 last week.

This came from the scrap pile, located just east of the community building, to which local residents donated their scrap metal.

The pile was sold by Bura Handley, who was in charge, and the proceeds were turned over to the U.S.O. This donation came in spite of the fact that the regular U. S. O. Drive is not expected until next spring.

Mrs. Jake Black To Hold Farm Sale

Mrs. Jake Black of the Fresno community has announced that she will sell at public auction her livestock, farm implements, and a number of other articles, on Tuesday, December 15.

The sale will be held at Mrs. Black's farm three miles south and three and one-fourth miles east of Lucky Corner at Wellington. This farm is located just east of the Fresno Methodist Church.

Jersey cows, heifers, calves, hogs, and chickens will make up the livestock sold. The implements will include a tractor, wagon, trailer, and plows of various types.

Col. Jack White of Hollis will serve as auctioneer. The sale will start at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, and coffee and lunch will be served at noon.

Mrs. Black is moving from Collingsworth County in the near future.

DALE WATKINS

of Wellington will receive his degree from the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston next week. He is now a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

School District Wins First Round In Bank Suit

The Wellington Independent School District won the first round in a suit brought by the City State Bank in District Court, Tuesday, December 10. The depository bank asked judgement of $6,474.60 on checks that the district had issued to school teachers and to teachers retirement system, which were drawn against the state and county available school fund for the scholastic year of 1941 and 42.

The school district claimed that for the scholastic year 1941 and 42 sufficient funds had been deposited to take care of all teachers salaries for that period. In the period they deposited $38,572.47 and the checks amounted to $36,581.75 in the same period.

The court held that since sufficient funds had been put in the bank for the scholastic year of 1941-42 to pay all checks drawn against such fund, the plaintiff had failed to make out a case against the school district.

Attorneys for the plaintiff gave notice of appeal before the Court of Civil Appeals.

Singers Meet Here Sunday

The Second Sunday Singing convention will be held at the Fundamental Missionary Baptist Church at the corner of 9th and Floydada streets Sunday, December 13, it was announced this week.

Because of gasoline rationing and the general wartime situation, it was agreed recently that the First Sunday singing and the Second Sunday singing should be combined and the meetings held on the latter date, Mrs. Alvin Horton, reporter, said.

The singing will begin at 3 o'clock.

A cordial invitation is extended to every singer and every person interested in good singing to attend at this time.

Civic Clubs To Honor Rocket Gridmen Dec. 17

Skyrocket Gridmen, their dates, coaches, and managers will be honored at the annual Football Banquet Thursday evening, December 17, at the First Christian Church.

* Top honors in Texas interscholastic football—the regional championship, will be at stake when the Wellington Skyrockets play the Hereford Whitefaces at Hereford Friday afternoon, December 11.

Fresh from their bi-district victory over Spur, the Rockets seem capable of handling any material that a Class A football team can put out. These Wellington boys have been marked for regional participation since early in the season, which without much effort, they downed one of the lower Pan-handle's class AA teams. Their 13 to 7 victory last Friday made things definite.

The Whitefaces came by their right to play in the regional by defeating the Phillips Blackhawks, twice regional winners, and the most highly touted outfit in Class A interscholastic competition in Texas.

Although the score was 7 to 7, the Hereford team consistently outplayed the Blackhawks throughout the tight game, and won by counting up eight first downs to their opponents two, and a score of two to one on penetrations.

The Hereford boys will have the advantage of playing on their own field.

Coach Al Duncan has revealed that in spite of the fact they are playing one of the best teams in the state, his boys are optimistic. As a whole, their physical condition is good, although Fred Covey, left half, will be out of the game because of a broken collar bone.

Few local fans will have the opportunity of witnessing the game, but nevertheless, all local fans agree that this is one of the high points in the athletic history of the school.

Coach H. V. Stanton's boys, out of competition last week, are known to be prepping for a battle with the Rockets, and they are in good condition.

The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

5:30 P. M. Is New Deadline To Mail Outgoing Letters

Letters leaving Wellington in the future must be mailed by 5:30 p. m., instead of 6:00 o'clock, it was announced from the local post office Tuesday.

This change is necessary due to the fact that mail must leave here one-half hour earlier in order to make connections at other points, it was explained.

Any mail deposited in the office after 5:30 o'clock will lay over here until that hour on the following day.

No Christmas Lights This Year

Christmas lights will not shine in Wellington this year.

It was decided by the City Council in a meeting Monday night, December 7, not to put up this year the brilliant strings of lights and the other decorations that have been put up on and around the court house.

"We feel that it would not be in keeping with the times," the members declared.

Shortage of labor, and the fact that citizens are being called upon to conserve materials and electricity were cited by Bura Handley, city engineer.

"We believe the people of the town will agree with us," it was explained.

This should not hinder those persons who wish to decorate their homes, it was pointed out, as many lovely and original decorations can be planned at little cost, and with materials that are in no wise considered essential.

Wickard Steps Up '43 Hog Goals; Price Average $13.25

Pointing to new demands for pork products arising out of recent war developments, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today revised upward previously established 1943 hog goals and at the same time announced a program designed to support hog prices until September 30, 1944.

The revised 1943 goal calls for an increase of 15 percent over this year's record pig crop. On October 16 the Secretary asked farmers to increase their 943 spring farrowings by 10 percent. If realized, the new goal will result in a 1943 pig crop, spring and fall farrowings combined, of 121 million head.

The Secretary also announced that the purchasing program of the Agricultural Marketing Administration will be operated in such a manner as to insure a price level of $13.25 average, Chicago basis, for Good and Choice grade butcher hogs weighing 240 to 270 pounds, until the fall of 1944.

In order to maintain this price level, the AMA purchase policy will be:

1. To pay ceiling prices for all pork products offered which meet specifications, except that if pork processors appear to have reduced prices for live hogs unreasonably in view of such ceiling prices, or appear to be inflating margins unduly, the AMA price will be reduced appropriately.

2. In such instances the AMA, in order to protect the Government's pledge to farmers in the interest of greater production, will buy live hogs at Chicago and arrange for their processing on a custom basis.

In making this announcement the Secretary said that while AMA was prepared to initiate a hog purchasing program he fully expected that such action would be unnecessary. He commented further:

"In view of the constantly increasing demands for pork products by Lend-Lease, the Armed Services and our own civilian workers, prices should stay above the $13.25 Chicago level during the next two years without special Government action. There is a ready market at ceiling prices for the pork and lard that American farmers can market between now and the fall of 1944. However, since we want no question of prices to exist in the minds of the hog farmers of whom we are making such tremendous demands, the Department of Agriculture is making guarantee.

"Pork and lard ceilings justify at any time during the year live hog prices at Chicago of $13.25 or higher. Efficient packers will certainly be able to pay prices considerably above $13.25.

"Commission men handling hogs for farmers as their market representatives are expected to keep these facts in mind in closing sales in the market place.

"It is true that price variations in the past have helped to regulate the flow of hogs into the market. With a price support at the $13.25 level I am sure that farmers will recognize the necessity of so handling their marketings as to avoid congestion at processing points. This will be an unusually difficult problem during the next 80 days and to help meet it the Department is setting up a marketing permit system. With a guaranteed price support, farmers will gladly cooperate with any marketing program necessary to move his year's record runs through processing plants in an orderly manner."

The Secretary also reiterated his earlier request that in 1943 hogs come to market at weights averaging 10 pounds heavier than this year's marketings and also that farrowings be so spaced as to bring the 1943 crop to market in an orderly fashion.

The production goal of 121,000,000 head compares with production in selected past years as follows:

G. E. Develops Memory Machine

SCHENECTADY.—A memory device, which will retain the image of an electric flash for 1-25 of a second, long enough to open automatically the lens of a camera and make a picture of it, has been developed in General Electric's laboratory.

This electronic robot consists of a cathode raytube on which a small beam of electrons continuously paint on the thin coating of a fluorescent mineral a picture of what is happening. When there is a flash, this device picks up the picture, retains the image long enough for a thyatron tube automatically to trip the camera for a 1-50 second exposure.

"Just as the human eye retains the image of what it sees for a fraction of a second, until the nerve system relays it to the brain, so this memory oscillograph holds the image long enough to be photographed," Dr. A. W. Hull, assistant director of General Electric's research laboratory who developed the device, explained.

The device will be used in the study of unpredictable flashes or surges on electrical equipment.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each and every one who had a part in the beautiful quilt presented to us by Mrs. Henry Vaughan. As we look at the name in each block, we come to realize more and more the worth of friends. Everyone has been so thoughtful and kind to us since the disaster that came our way. We especially want to thank Mrs. Vaughan for quilting the quilt for us.

God bless each of you.

GASOLINE RATIONING AND RAIL TRAVEL

UNDER ordinary circumstances, Burlington Lines would view the curtailment of intercity motoring necessitated by gasoline rationing as an opportunity to demonstrate to many confirmed motorists the speed, comfort and convenience of railroad travel.

Unfortunately, we may be prevented from doing this in full measure because:

- 1—A large part of our power and passenger equipment is assigned to the all-important job of transporting the armed forces.
- 2—It is not possible at this time to build or buy new passenger equipment.
- 3—Largely due to the foregoing, the Office of Defense Transportation has "frozen" the number of passenger trains which may be operated.

Nevertheless, Burlington Lines will devote every effort and resource toward providing the best possible passenger service "for the duration" for all patrons—both old and new—residing along its 11,000 miles of railroad in thirteen states.

Most effective use can be made of available trains and schedules if passengers will—

- ★ Travel during mid-week, whenever possible.
- ★ Purchase tickets and make Pullman reservations reasonably in advance.
- ★ Travel with no more baggage than necessary.
- ★ Consult local agent when planning trips.

Burlington Lines are grateful for past patronage, appreciate present patronage, and strive to warrant future patronage.

On Every Front

... General Electric equipment is fighting with America's land army. From the rolling kitchen to the front line, electricity works for victory.

1. In the factory electricity stitches the seams of tank armor, and on the battlefield it controls the operation of these spearheads of modern combat.

2. In induction center and field hospital, the X ray helps safeguard the health of our fighting men, aiding in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

3. Far from the usual power sources, mobile power plants supply electricity for 800,000,000 candlepower searchlights by which a newspaper can be read 12 miles away.

4. Blitz war requires swift communications! On the soldier's back, in field and sky, radio co-ordinates the striking force of American army planes, guns, and tanks.

The 'lectric train that wasn't there

SOME things are hard to understand—even when you're grown up. But Jimmy will understand why there may not be a 'lectric train under the Christmas tree this year.

And grownups will understand why there isn't the usual supply of electric appliances which in the past have made such swell Christmas gifts.

It dates back to a Sunday morning—December 7, 1941.

Since then the wonderful electric train, with its light and whistle and all the bright shiny cars, has gone into guns, planes, tanks and ships.

And the factories that used to make electric refrigerators, stoves, sweepers, radios, irons and the like all are doing war work.

In our showrooms are a few small appliances that may be given as Christmas gifts. But, before buying, be reasonably sure they are needed.

The electric power which drives tiny trains for boys like Jimmy also is helping to drive the massive machines that make tanks, guns, bombers and ships. But we planned ahead, and made certain that West Texas had plenty of power. Today every war plant—and every home—in West Texas has ample electric light and power, whenever and wherever needed.

This great abundance of electric power, under the American system of free enterprise, means production—and production in this modern-day war means Victory. Then the real Christmas will come again . . . and Jimmy will get his 'lectric train!

78 Percent People Have Purchased Bonds Poll Shows

WASHINGTON.—A recent survey by the Gallup poll revealed that 78 percent of Americans have bought War Bonds or Stamps.

"Do you happen to have bought any war bonds or stamps?"

The result was:
Yes—78 percent
No—22 percent

Dr. George H. Gallup, head of the Institute of Public Opinion, said the findings were splendid testimony to the effectiveness of the Treasury Department's War Savings Campaign.

Seeking the answer to the failure of one out of every five adult Americans to buy War Bonds or Stamps, Dr. Gallup made a further study and found that two large segments of the population—the lower income group and farmers—are responsible for this situation.

Following is a table comparing the purchase by the various groups:

Middle Income and Well-to-do group: 90 percent have bought; 10 percent have not.

Lower income group: 68 percent have bought; 32 percent have not.

Farm: 71 percent have; 29 percent have not.

Cities (10,000 or over): 81 percent have; 19 percent have not.

A breakdown of the bond and stamp purchases by occupations reveals that the professional man, the businessman, and the white collar workers are well ahead of other occupational groups in their bond and stamp buying.

Here is the comparison by occupations:

Professional: 92 percent have bought; 8 percent have not.

Businessmen: 88 percent have bought; 12 percent have not.

White-collar Workers: 88 percent have; 12 percent have not.

Skilled and Semi-Skilled: 78 percent have; 22 percent have not.

Unskilled and Service Workers: 65 percent have; 35 percent have not.

Furthermore, some sections of the country are far better bond and stamp buyers than the others. The East Central section, comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, is highest on the list, in the relative proportion who have bought bonds or stamps, 81 percent of the voting adults having bought bonds or stamps in this area. The New England, Middle Atlantic and West Central areas are next, with 79 percent holding bonds or stamps. Next comes the mountain area and the far west, with 78 percent. The south stands lowest in the sectional groupings, with 66 percent of the voting population having bought bonds and stamps.

What Is The Biggest Thing You Can Do For Your Children This Christmas?

THIS Christmas it need not be just toys, games, dolls and miscellaneous books . . . the sort of things that don't last, when you can give your children Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia—the gift that lives forever in the good it will do your child.

When you say "COMPTON'S," it's another word for fun, the swellest kind of fun that knows no season, no age limit, no particular likes or dislikes. For all children like Compton's. And when son and daughter say: "Mother and Dad bought us Compton's for Christmas," they'll be the envy of the neighborhood.

It's the kind of set of books children love to browse through. Its fascinating narrative style will capture their interest, lead them always to go to Compton's for answers to their questions . . . because it's fun looking things up in Compton's.

Page upon page of handcraft provides things to make . . . things masculine for the boy . . . feminine things for the girl. Play activities, games, programs, stories and hobby materials galore. What one gift could you buy for your children which would provide all this wealth of FUN? Of more lasting value, is the help Compton's can give your children from early childhood through school and life. It can help your child develop qualities of leadership . . . desirable traits of mind and character. It can encourage good manners, correct attitudes, and self control.

In school, your children can accomplish great things with the aid of Compton's . . . and have fun doing it. The way schools teach today, more and more things must be looked up after school hours. You will be astonished at the number of subjects assigned for outside reading. With Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia at home, your children have available instantly the kind of information they need to excel in their studies. Without it, they cannot get the most out of the fast flying school years. With it, they get higher grades, develop personal qualities of success, forge ahead.

Looking forward to when school days are over, Compton's helps you help your children decide what to do for a living and shows them what preparation is necessary. It enables them to understand and keep up with what is going on in the world that they may better adjust themselves to the ever-changing conditions.

$3.00 WILL BRING YOUR CHILDREN THIS $2,000,000.00 GIFT

Two hundred and eighteen outstanding educators from 66 of the nation's leading universities and colleges helped to build Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia at a cost of more than $2,000,000.00. Yet this gift with a value to your children not measurable in dollars and cents, can be placed under your Christmas tree for as little as $3 down-payment and 10 cents a day. This is your opportunity to give your children advantages you never had . . . the finest Christmas they ever had!

Consumers Asked To Store Propane And Butane Gas

Farmers, business places and household consumers who use butane and propane gas are urged by WPB officials to put their empty storage capacity to use, if they have not already done so, as they will not be able to rely on regularity of deliveries during the winter. The public is asked to cooperate with the armed forces by filling all storage capacities, to avoid unnecessary interruptions of deliveries for military and industrial purposes.

Now Let's Have CHRISTMAS

Now, more than ever Christmas takes an added significance. As the momentous events of 1942 take their place in history Christmas emerges to bring us a greater realization of how much our homes, our families and our friends can mean to us. Let there be no silencing of Christmas bells. No blackout of the Christmas spirit in America. . . for Christmas symbolizes all that America is fighting to retain. It is our moment of spiritual and moral refreshment wherein is born new faith in the world we live in . . . new courage for the task ahead. So, Let's Have Christmas. Not, Christmas-as-usual, of course . . . it can't be. There are shortages and sacrifices. Some of the frills and folderol must go. But let's have the best Christmas we can . . . in a good old-fashioned American Way.

We consider it a privilege to help you in the remembrance of this Christmas . . . and take pride in bringing you gifts of distinction, still yours to give in 1942.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The friend of many a person died last Sunday. The funeral of Charlie Glenn was attended by a large group of people. A lot more would have been there if they had known, for this was the funeral of a big hearted man. He homesteaded a plot of land in Collingsworth. He established a bank. He did a lot of other things that improved the material welfare of this community and his own family. But these accomplishments seem small when you compare them with the things that this man did for people in the ordinary walks of life.

Charlie Glenn had some faults and he had great virtues. How would you tell of the business man that he gave another chance in life? How would you tell of the many tenant farmers he helped to become independent landowners; How would you tell of the young people he enabled to get an education? Personally, I do not intend to try. My only comment is that a kind, a big and an unselfish man has gone to his last resting place.

Rotary, Kiwanis and others will unite their combined abilities to create a Christmas Spirit in war time. This is well and good. On December 17 there will be a banquet for the football boys. On December 22, there will be a Christmas community singing and on December 24, there will be a free picture show and free gifts for the kiddies under 12 years of age. More events may be announced later. When you are called upon to support any of these enterprises, do not make the mistake of thinking that they are promoted by thoughtless people. They were started by men and women of the utmost sincerity. They want to maintain, here at home, some semblance of those happy times that their sons and brothers fight for in distant lands.

Dick Wiley tells me that one merchant, who has a son in service outside the United States used the entire proceeds of his business on December 7 to buy war bonds. If your crop was good, if your business was good how many bonds have you bought? Answer that yourself.

Earl Ponder, Samnorwood superintendent, writes the following note on a regular school story: "By the way, the Office of Defense Transportation is asking us to make some changes in the bus system. If you wake up some morning and find that your child has to walk one fourth or one half of a mile further to catch the bus, remember that it will be a new requirement of the ODT that caused it, and please don't raise (He means hell) with the School Board."

That is only a part of what is happening and the people don't understand all of it. Here is a statement from Arthur Hudson. He is a dairyman. Arthur has been asked by the Department of Agriculture to produce more milk. But the plain facts happen to be that he does not have enough gasoline to make his deliveries to his customers in Wellington. If the gas is denied him, the easy thing for him to do would be to sell some of his valuable milk cows. That should not happen. But remember my piece last week. You will get enough gas to deliver your milk, Arthur, but be patient.

I have no criticism to offer of local people who are giving their time free of charge or who are working on nominal salaries. They are doing their best. There is cause for anger at the bureaucrats in high places. Be convinced—this nation will win the war in spite of them. And remember that we have a war to win. But as I said last week, when new regulations confront you, wait until you see the whole picture before you pass final judgment. Above all don't embarrass your neighbor who is trying to serve.

TIME OUT FOR CLEAN FUN

Mrs. Charles Horvath and Bill Gray, of Cleveland, find relaxation from cares by taking a day off in the woods, to hunt for pheasants or rabbits. Biggest problem hunters face is the scarcity of shells. Game is reported plentiful.

Gas rationing is a sore spot, but let us get to something pleasant. Take meat rationing for instance. Ain't it awful? I have not been eating two and a half pounds of meat a week for a number of years. Now I must eat that much to satisfy the government regarding my health or something. So I have been trying. There was some relief when they cut me off from bacon, but the relief was temporary. First my mother in law brought over a turkey— they are not rationed. Then my father in law brought some quails—naturally less than ten. Then Mrs. Arthur Cochran sent some more to my wife who is recovering from an operation. Finally Fatty Watkins sent me 4 birds, but I have a crow to pick with his quail. Considering the scarcity of meat in this county, I consider it an insult when a man brings me quail meat without dressing it in advance. Besides, I remember the time I took him some cornbread, and he bawled me out because I did not bring sweetmilk with it.

To close this week, I have been reading a most delightful letter from Miss Tanya Smith. We have been getting a lot of these and we hope we get a lot more. As we publish them, we will be thinking of the tots who sent them in, but we will also be thinking of a lot of strong young men who were writing Christmas letters to The Leader about ten years ago. You know what they are doing now. They are not writing letters to Santa Claus. But we think that they would like to know that the little tots in their home county are writing the same sort of hopeful letters that they wrote in happier days.

New Forms Required On Tire Applications Made Before December First

All persons having in applications for new tires or tubes with the local war rationing board before December 1, must make out a new application, it was announced from that office this week.

Changing of forms on which the applications are made out, effective on that date, is the reason that these must be made over, it was explained by Miss Merle Hays.

The new applications may be filled out at the local office.

Motor car operators were also reminded that some time during the months of December and January, they must have their tires inspected by one of the officially designated inspectors of the county.

Farm Machinery Rationing Change

Removal of a number of items from the list of "frozen" farm machinery has been announced by the Texas USDA War Board.

Included on the list of "thawed-out" machinery were such implements as poultry feeders, cattle stanchions and fittings, butter molds, hand water pumps, hand feed grinders and crushers, hand transplanters, and hand sprayers. All but thirteen items in Schedule II of Temporary Rationing Order B were removed from the "frozen" list.

The thirteen items still remaining on Schedule II are: one row, one horse corn planters; one row, one horse corn and cotton planters; one row, two horse corn and cotton planters; endgate broadcast seeders; horse and tractor drawn garden planters; walking, one horse steel bottom moldboard plows; walking, one horse, chilled bottom moldboard plows; walking, two horse and larger moldboard plows; stalk cutters; one horse, cultivators (all types); one row, walking, two horse cultivators; one row, riding, two horse cultivators; and two row and over, riding, cultivators.

The board declared that distributors and manufacturers may now make or accept transfers of the released items and dealers may replenish their stocks provided they are within any WPB or OPA regulations, or the manufacturing quotas of Conservation Order L-170.

Local Merchant Observes Pearl Harbor Day

All sales receipts at the Sullivan Furniture and Implement Co. Monday went for the purchase of War Bonds, in memory of the Pearl Harbor attack a year ago, Dec. 7.

So far as is known, this is the only firm in the county to devote its entire day's receipts to War Bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Pink Sullivan, the owners, have a son, Pvt. James Sullivan, now in service in Alaska.

More Money Due On Farms

Farm families will have more money to spend for living and for investment than in 1940 or 1941, but at the stores they will find higher prices on many things they want to buy. And they will find a shortage of some kinds of goods. For that reason, money management in relation to obtaining a good living for the family is now one of the most important phases of homemaking, according to Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service. Pointing out that the Extension Service seeks to advise farm families about economic trends as well as help them with more tangible farm and home problems, she says:

"It's important that families not put all of their net income increases into current family living. They will need to pay off old debts, pay increased taxes, build up the farm business, and lay aside savings for an uncertain future. Delaying purchases does two things. It eases the present situation, and it builds up a backlog of future demand that will give factories and workers jobs after the war effort is over."

The mount for a 5-inch anti-aircraft gun weighs about 24 tons and contains 2,700 different parts.

15 Births, 3 Deaths Recorded During November

Fifteen births were recorded in the office of Judge W. G. Hite, Justice of the Peace, during November, he reported this week. Only three deaths were recorded during the same period.

Births included Bonnie Jean Helbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. V. Helbert, November 2; Ralph Edward Bohannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richard Bohannon, November 7; Glenda Louise Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Cummings, November 8.

Army Navy Air Force Marines Coast Guard

Bobby Maddox, who has been attending a Petty Officer's School of the U. S. Navy, finished his work Saturday and received his rating of third class petty officer. He took his training at San Francisco, but he doesn't know where he'll be stationed. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maddox.

Their other son, Lt. Billy Wayne Maddox, who has been an instructor at Luke Field, Arizona, has been transferred to the Roswell, New Mexico, Field.

Sgt. Cleo R. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sullivan, came to Wellington Nov. 24 to visit his parents and other relatives and friends during a furlough from service with the Marines. Sgt. Sullivan volunteered to that branch of the armed forces over two years ago. He works as a carpenter and maintenance man at his barracks where he is stationed in San Diego. En route to his headquarters on Nov. 30 he visited his sister, Mrs. Kent Stone, who lives at San Bernardino, Calif.

Word comes that Pfc. Charles King, a former Collingsworth boy, is now "somewhere overseas" doing his part for Uncle Sam as a medical aide. He has been in training in a California army camp where he prepared himself for his present mission. Pfc. King had the good fortune to be given this special assignment with several of the men with whom he has been in training during the past several months. An outstanding request in his letter was "Please send my paper to my new address, and have it chuck full of good old home town news, for it is going to get mighty lonesome over there."

Pvt. Earl Colwell of Sheppard Field, son of Ira Colwell of Memphis, Quail Route, has graduated from an intensive course in aviation mechanics and is now prepared to blast the Axis. He is now eligible to become crew chief on a bomber and to win a rating as corporal or sergeant.

Before entering the school, Pvt. Colwell was trained at one of the basic training centers of the Air Forces Technical Training Command.

SAILORS ARE HUMAN

(By Albert Denney)
A sailor is a nobody, we hear people say;
He's an outcast in the world and always in the way.
We admit there are bad ones—from the Navy to the Marines,
But you'll find the majority the most worthy you have seen.
Most people condemn us when we take a drink or two,
But do we condemn you when you take a few?
The Navy picks its men from millions far and wide,
So place him to your equal, buddy, side by side.
Now, don't scorn a sailor, if he takes you by the hand;
For the uniform he's wearing means protection for the land.
When the sailor goes to battle you cheer him on his way;
You say he is a hero—when in his grave he'll lay.
But the hardest battle of a sailor is in the time of peace
When people mock and scorn him and treat him like a beast.
With these few words I close—we hope we don't offend;
When you meet a sailor, treat him like a friend.
(Editor's Note: Albert Denney is in training at one of Uncle Sam's Naval Air Schools.)

The story of a family that formerly lived in Wellington, that has gone all-out for War in the true sense of the word, was told in a letter received recently by Mrs. T. E. Benze.

The family is that of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McCauley.

Harris McCauley is now Major McCauley of the Army Air Forces and is stationed at El Paso. It was he who flew the "Pride O' Wellington" low over the city a short time ago. It gave him a queer feeling, he told his mother, to fly so low over the old football field in which he had spent so many hours.

Lt. Worth McCauley, also of the Air Corps, is stationed at Denver. A lawyer before he entered service, he is now in the legal division, dealing mainly with courtmartial cases.

Jack McCauley is at Kelly Field. Dan McCauley, also at San Antonio, is expecting to be sent to Egypt soon.

The youngest son, Jerry, graduates from high school at mid-term and plans to enter the Air Corps.

Miss Georgene McCauley, only daughter, has enlisted in the WAAC and is now in an officer training school in Florida. She was a teacher in Lubbock High School at the time she enlisted.

Mr. McCauley is engaged in government work in Ogden, Utah. Mrs. McCauley is staying at their home in Lubbock.

Ed White, former Skrocket star, has transferred from the Marine Reserve to the Naval Air Corps.

Count on Larry Sanders to find a football team wherever he might be. Now in the Army Air Corps, he is captain of the football team at Dow Field, Maine. Major Wood Coleman, who has just completed a training course at the Adjutant General's School at Fort Washington, Maryland, was home last week on furlough. He's back on duty at his old location, Camp Beauregard, La.

"I learned lots of things at the Adjutant General's School! The men stationed there deal mostly with records, payrolls, and their work is administrative. On the other hand, we men from the field taught them some things, too," he said.

"For instance, up there in the office, they like to have five copies of all reports. We fellows out on the field don't have time to make five copies of anything. We don't even have the forms to fill out. Our reports have gone in on everything from toilet paper up. And the fellow out there that has a typewriter is a mighty popular officer."

Those men up at the school came to appreciate our point of view, and we theirs."

Admiral Darlan has come in for a lot of cussing from both the Americans and the British. He has been branded as a skunk and traitor to France. No doubt both terms were appropriate. Darlan joined Laval in turning France over to the Germans.

But Darlan was caught in Africa, and as a prisoner of the American troops, he saw the light of day, and decided that it would be a wise thing to join up with the Yanks. He issued orders that the French of Africa, both navy and army surrender without a struggle. Maybe they would have done so in spite of any word from Darlan. But the fact remains that as an opportunist, Darlan grabbed opportunity by the forelock, jumped into a Jeep, waving the Stars and Stripes and yelling his head off for the cause of Democracy and freedom from the Nazi.

The Americans have welcomed Darlan into the fighting camp, but in England, the British and Free French are having a tough job swallowing the words of Darlan. They are like the average churchman who sees the most notorious drunk of the community suddenly converted, and are prone to wonder how long he will stick.

No matter what the motive of Darlan may be, no one can deny that he has served the cause of the United Nations mighty fine—so far. No one questions that our soldiers have their eyes on the old boy and will see to it that Darlan does not stray away from the range of American guns, or be given a chance to double cross us.

The Free French—those who have fought Hitler from the start—have a right to be suspicious and peevish that Darlan has been given first place in North Africa. Whether Darlan will be given a place of prominence in peace negotiations after Hitler has been ousted, remains to be seen.

For the present, let's whoop it up for Darlan—but keep our eyes fixed upon his every movement.—The Canyon News.

• Common Sense And Gas Rationing

Common sense is very much needed just now in connection with the matter of national gasoline rationing. It is needed among the people and it is needed among Washington officials. That the people in this section of the country would submit to gasoline rationing grudgingly and only at the behest of the President himself was a foregone conclusion. But gasoline rationing is now a fact, and there can be no point in continuing to rail against it. What should be insisted upon now is that its application shall be equitable and in accordance with common sense. Washington officials, notably Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers, gave assurance weeks ago that gasoline rationing would be adjusted to local conditions and local needs, and those assurances must be made good. They should be made good, not in a spirit of concession to any particular section of the country, whether the Southwest or elsewhere, but in order to make the system work successfully and to prevent serious interference with the war effort. If Washington officials fail to do this and a breakdown results, their failure will amount to a serious dereliction of duty.—Peter Molyneux in Southwestern Banking and Industry.

• Cause For Pride

The U. S. News observes: "The number of planes leaving each day for Alaska, for England, for South America, for Africa, for India, for China and for Australia is a military secret. But it is no secret that the schedule calls for hundreds of flights every day, and that the number is growing swiftly. It is no secret that the fleet of hundreds of cargo planes in service this year is expected to grow into thousands by the end of another year."—Sam A. Roberts in the Haskell Free Press.

• A Shock For The Kids

The school kids of Texas certainly got a shock Tuesday morning if they read the papers—the night before if they were listening to the radio when Homer P. Rainey, head of the University of Texas, urged that steps be taken immediately to do away with summer school vacations, and put the schools on a 12-month basis—the present high school program is adapted to the average or mediocre students and that those with ability are not required to exercise their full capacities—we told you several months ago that some were graduating from high school who couldn't multiply three times seven without a bit of prompting. Maybe we do need the 12-months term.—Littlefield County Wide News.

• A Present Not To Forget

After you have bought your Christmas presents (and we suggest you do so pretty quick if you have not) the next thing to do, in our opinion, is to check up on the "balance left" and see how many War Stamps and Bonds you can buy. On December 7 there should be a great effort put forth to remember Pearl Harbor with a bond carrying that date. It has been suggested by many that in days to come bonds bought and dated December 7 will sell at a premium. Be that as it may, we can make the Japs want to forget that date.—The Plainview Tribune.

I Give You Texas

—By BOYCE HOUSE

As "Gone with the Wind" is making the third showing around over the land, this review, written by a "country editor," Jack Tarver of Lyons, Ga., becomes timely again:

There was a land of cotton fields and cavaliers called the Old South. A land of Lords and their Ladies, of Masters and of Slave. Look not for them hereabouts for they are no longer to be found. Male and Female, Black and White, Youth and Age, they are all down to the picture show seeing "Gone With the Wind."

Katherine Scarlett O'Hara was our Shero. A winsome wench with a figure like a marble statue and a head as hard.

Gerald O'Hara was her pa. By nature he was most animal-like. Proud as a peacock; he roared like a lion and rode like a dog and pony show. After Sherman came, he was crazy like a bedbug.

Anyhow, Scarlett was in love with Ashley Wilkes, who was in love with his cousin, Melanie, who was in love with Ashley, and so they were married. (Ashley and Melanie in case you're getting confused.)

This irritated Scarlett no end and so, in quick succession she married, for spite and cash, respectively, a couple of fellers whose names we didn't get. But then, neither did Scarlett for long.

The other major characters were Rhett Butler, Belle Watling, and a colored lady exactly like the one on the flapjack box.

Rhett, who was somehow strangely reminiscent of Clark Gable, was a cross between Jesse James and Little Boy Blue.

Uncle Lum considered playing Rhett, but turned it down when he found there wasn't anything but mint in the mint juleps.

If Rhett had joined the Lost Cause in the second reel instead of after the intermission, the Confederacy would have won the war.

And Belle. You'd have loved Belle. Everybody did.

During the siege of Atlanta only three things were running. Belle's Place, Prissy's nose and the laundry that kept Rhett Butler's white suits snow white.

Melanie's baby arrived about the same time Sherman did. Both were equally welcome to Scarlett.

It was, so far as our painstaking research revealed, the first baby ever born in technicolor.

Anyhow, the South lost the war again in the picture (What could you expect with a lot of Yankee producers?) and Scarlett married Rhett to get even with him.

Their married life was just like sitting in hell's fire and listening to the heavenly choir.

Finally, after Melanie died, Scarlett realized that she didn't love Ashley but Rhett. Scarlett was as changeable as a baby's underwear.

However, Rhett had enough of her foolishness and, when she told him, he said, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a d—."

Neither, by this time did the audience. They were glad to see the end.

On The Home Front

Here's a special message to the farmers, stock raisers and dairymen of the Southwest from the Office of Defense Transportation:

No farmer is to be put out of business as a result of the ODT's Certificate of War Necessity plan.

As long as the tires, spare parts and gasoline are available, the ODT will help every farmer get enough tires, spare parts and gasoline to carry on his necessary truck operations.

Any farmer who is dissatisfied with the amount of mileage and gasoline allowed in his Certificate of War Necessity for his truck or trucks should take the matter up immediately with his county agent, his county war board or his county farm transportation committee.

If the agency contacted is convinced that any farmer should have been granted more mileage and gasoline, it will recommend that a revised Certificate be issued.

This recommendation will be made to the ODT district manager serving the county in which the farmer lives.

Farmers who have received Certificates allowing them sufficient mileage and gasoline for a limited period are urged to delay filing appeals with their county farm transportation committees until those whose Certificates contain obvious errors have been taken care of.

If a Certificate does not contain an obvious error, the farmer's OPA war price and rationing board will grant him a gasoline ration in an amount provided by the Certificate. In accepting such a ration, the farmer does not forfeit his right to appeal for an additional gasoline allowance later. Appeals may be filed at any time.

If a farmer has received a Certificate which does not allow enough gasoline to operate the mileage allowed in the Certificate or which contains other errors obvious on the face of the Certificate, the farmer should do two things.

First, he should go to his OPA war price and rationing board, present his Certificate and ask for a temporary transport ration. This ration will be granted by the OPA board, giving the farmer enough gasoline to operate until January 1.

Then the farmer should take his Certificate to his county agent, county war board or county farm transportation committee and point out that an error apparently has been made. The agency then will take up the case with the proper ODT district office.

In this drive to save rubber, Southwest OPA officials have moved quickly in every instance to take care of emergency situations and to keep the wheels of transportation rolling. Truck operators, passenger car fleet operators, and non-highway users of gasoline have been authorized to purchase gasoline on OPA's emergency form, R-555, or to use any slip of paper as long as the operator signs his name, and address, his vehicle registration number, and the amount of gasoline obtained. This action was taken to care for only the operators who have not yet secured their ration books from hard-working local boards, and will be in effect only until they have secured their books. It never has been the purpose of OPA or any other agency to keep essential mileage users off the road. The Government is only trying to look ahead—to be sure that these same operators are still on the road a year from now, or two or three years from now. If unnecessary travel continues and trucks and cars continue to drop off the road at the clip which they have been dropping off, the Government will have failed in its duty to the people of this country of keeping vital transportation rolling. Foresightedness now may save us much grief in the future.

The Government's idle tire purchase plan may prove to be the most important factor of the entire mileage rationing picture. On November 30, it was estimated that 6,250,000 passenger-type tires had been turned in and officials said that slightly more than half of these are usable by repairs or recapping. The usable and repairable tires will be placed back into trade channels as soon as possible and will be rationed to consumers on the basis of essential mileage. The other tires, graded as scrap,

Rockets Win Bi-District At Spur By 13 To 7 Score

Coach Al Duncan's Skroockets, who started the season as a modest little outfit of hardworking boys, earned the right to play for the regional title last Friday by defeating Spur for the bi-district championship, 13 to 7.

The hard-fighting Rockets had to come from behind to take the decisive tilt. Spur scored first in the second quarter when Ball went over center for the first touchdown after a sustained drive from the Wellington 31. The Bulldogs outplayed the Rockets in the first quarter and the early part of the second.

Wellington's first score came in the last minutes of the first half. After both teams had held and an exchange of punts, Wellington took the ball on their own 45. In rapid succession, Melton passed to Brewer for 15 yards. After a second pass had gone wide of the mark, Melton threw 30 yards to Dale Scott who fought his way from the Bulldog 18 yard stripe across the goal line. Melton's kick for the extra point went wide of the mark leaving Spur leading by 1 point.

In the second half the Rockets came back to prove themselves the more durable team. Right after the opening of the second half, Spur received the kick. After making two first downs, the Bulldogs attempted a pass which was blocked and recovered by Brewer on the Spur 30 yard line. With the ball in their possession, the Rockets started a drive down the field. It went like this: Melton for 5, Russell for 4, Melton for 5, Kendrick for 6, Kendrick for 3, Melton for 3, and Melton for 3 for the touchdown. The try for point after touchdown was good and there the scoring ended 13 to 7, leaving two determined teams to battle it out in the fourth quarter with the sterling Rocket line giving a good account of itself.

However, the victory was a costly one to Wellington as far as putting up their full strength against the Hereford Whitefaces is concerned. Covey, who has been a regular back all season, went out in the first half with a broken collar bone and will not be able to play next Friday. His place was ably filled by I. D. Russell, who finished out the game at half-back.

Besides the sterling defensive play of the line and the running of Melton, Kendrick and Russell, the blocking of Thompson, Sachse and Benson was outstanding. But the few fans who journeyed to the game felt that the play of Brewer and Scott provided the breaks of the game. And on the defensive Williams, Roy, Smith and Hester rounded out a performance that makes it impossible to pick individual stars. They came off the bottom of every pile-up that stopped the Bulldogs.

Wellington made 95 yards rushing while Spur picked up 134. Wellington completed 3 out of 4 passes for 55 yards and Spur completed only two passes out of 8 for a total of 13 yards. Wellington blocked one Spur pass, and Spur intercepted none of the Rocket throws. The first downs were about even.

The line up follows:

Wellington	Pos.	Spur
Scott	RE	Carlisle
Sachse	RT	Simmons
Benson	RG	Smith
Roy	C	Vernon
Sisk	LG	Ericson
Williams	LT	Stanley
Brewer	LE	Boothe

Farmers May Receive Temporary Transport Rations

Temporary transport rations are in store for owners of farm vehicles whose certificates of war necessity do not provide sufficient gasoline for 30 days essential operation.

Under an adjustment phase of the transportation program, the Texas USDA War Board announced this week that farm vehicle operators should make requests for additional gasoline to local War Price and Rationing Boards where obvious errors have been made in certificates. The procedure for handling emergency cases was agreed upon by the Department of Agriculture and the Office of Price Administration.

The War Board explained that when allowances are corrected by the local War Price and Rationing Boards, operators will receive motor fuel rations for operation to December 31 and the amount of gasoline used will be deducted later from the total gallons of motor fuel allowed on a corrected certificate of war necessity. County Farm Transportation Committees are scheduled to handle appeal cases from farmers for corrected certificates, the War Board said in explaining that regular ODT appeal forms would be sent to committees as soon as possible.

Temporary rations will take care of emergency cases and give committees sufficient time to consider appeals and make proper recommendations to ODT under regular appeal procedure, the Board pointed out.

Emergency Car Gas Available

To prevent public hardship in emergencies such as sickness or other emergency errands, Texas OPA Director Mark McGee di-

This beautiful snow makes us think Christmas arrived early this year. Here's hoping every one a Happy Christmas, especially the boys who are away from home fighting our battles for us.

May they have the best of everything.

To our friends and customers I would like to say "Thank You" for your business and good will this year.

We are short of many items and the "going" will get tougher next year. But we people are going to win this war if we have to do without anything to sell or buy.

When I think what our boys have given and the sacrifices they are making, I think how little we are giving.

Tonight as I think of the boys in the Service who have worked for us, I wonder if there was anything I should have done for them that I failed to do.

I will always remember . . .

Glynn Moore's pleasant smile and his friendliness and kindness to everyone he came in contact with. . .

William Barjenbruch's impatience when I had no job for him to do; he was one that liked to work. . .

Meryl Wallace always had a snap about him and a good memory of where he had placed everything. . .

Jack Brisbin was one fellow that if you had told him to do a job, it made no difference if he did not know a thing about it, would smile and say "O. K." He usually got the job done. . .

One thing about James was he was always on my side no matter what came up. And many a time I have missed his moral support this last year.

Be On The Alert FOR A GIFT OF YEAR ROUND PLEASURE FOR The Home We Are Fighting For

Because we did our buying early we have as large a selection of furniture as we have ever had. You will not have to take "second choice" at Sullivan's — You'll find exactly what you want.

Erlene Dowell Selected For College Who's Who

Miss Erlene Dowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Dowell formerly of Quail, is among those students who will be listed in the 1942-43 issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The book will be released in January or February.

This publication is published through the cooperation of over 600 American universities and colleges. It is the only means of national recognition for graduates which is devoid of politics, fees, and dues. Several students from accredited colleges are selected each year, by an unprejudiced committee, for their biographies to appear in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. These books are placed in the hands of hundreds of companies and others who annually recruit outstanding students for employment.

The purpose of Who's Who is to serve as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers; as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done; as a recommendation to the business world; and as a standard of measurement for students.

Miss Dowell is a member of Forum at Tech, Candler Editor for Phi Upsilon Omicron, a member of Alpha Chi, Las Leales, Student Council, Junior Council, and was a member of Freshman Honor Society.

Miss Dowell graduated from Quail High School in 1939.

Lewis Brothers Collecting Agency

Lewis Brothers Grocery has been named as the authorized representative for the collection and shipment of collapsible tubes in behalf of the government's war effort.

For some months local merchants selling tooth paste, shaving cream or similar preparations have been required to collect an empty collapsible tube from the customer before the sale could be made.

Previously, no provision for disposal of the tubes by the merchants had been made. Retailers are required to dispose of these used collapsible tubes only to the Tin Salvage Institute, the sole agency for the salvaging of used tubes.

Merchants in this county, therefore, are urged to bring all used tubes to the Lewis Brothers Grocery, where they will be weighed, and a receipt will be given each merchant for his collection.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter was written by Jess Handley, now with the electrical department of the SeaBees, United States Navy, at Kodiak, Alaska, to his mother, Mrs. D. H. Handley, of Wellington).

Kodiak, 11-14-42

Dear Ma:

There has been little change, not even the underwear, since I wrote last. Your Christmas package came today. Thanks a lot. The soap will come in handy if I ever decide to take a bath. I have already heard there is a bath house somewhere here. I may look into it some time. The sewing kit is something I can use. Now I can join the Wednesday afternoon sewing circle. I plan to get a pattern and make me a red night shirt with built in oil stove and air conditioner. I started once to grow me a beard but I decided to abandon the project on account the whiskers seemed to collect dust, lint, and other loose junk that agitate a slight case of blind staggers. So the blades will be needed.

It is good to hear that Pop is up and around again. I guess the occasion of five generations will be cause for some publicity. Do you suppose the name and title of great grandma is going to help your feeble back. It begins to look like our generation is going to have to hire or elect a recorder so we may know who is officially our kinsfolk. Then if one of our cousins or in-laws strayed away we could write the family record for his brand, color, age, ear marks, motor and chassis number, and too, if a stranger drove up and requested horse feed and the pleasure of gorging himself on yellow roosters and home cooked victuals on the ground that he is a cousin-in-law to our Aunt Fannie Hurst (or is it Aunt Becky?) you could check with the family recorder and make sure the man was telling the truth or just pulling a Gus Adam.

From what I hear the request for the rule and manual is causing every one some concern. Don't get excited if you don't locate it. It really is not important, however, I wanted to keep in mind the line of work I was doing before I was offered the present position with the government. The items I want are in the little brown brief case I think. I usually carried it under the seat of my Ford so if you don't find it in that let it go. I'll write Ina.

Hollis and Bura write that the problem of getting pickers for the cotton is serious. Has Dad had any trouble getting help? What happened to the grapes? Did any of the juice spoil and turn to wine this year? It looks like a hard year for eggknogs and toddlers with us. I understand that a pint costs twelve-fifty. I had the bartender sell me three yards of his breath for a quarter. The demonstration caused a slight infection in my good eye, besides the effect soon wore off.

What are the plans for Christmas? It looks like all the in-laws will be working. However it would be nice if you all could gather around and eat something and talk about those that are not present.

Creds, Virginia,
Nov. 26, 1942

Dear Deck:

I have been receiving The Leader regularly and sure thank you for sending it for there is nothing more interesting than the home town paper. I have been transferred to an auxiliary air field and would like very much to get you to send The Leader to my address. I like my work very much here and have made 3rd Class Petty Officer's rating in aviation.

As ever,
Albert Denny.

Adventures of THE TOTTIES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE AND PASTE IN YOUR SCRAPBOOK)

The dogfish wagged its tail a bit And Scouty shouted, "Look at it. Right now it's making friends with me. See? It's as playful as can be."

"Oh, please be quiet," Dotty said. "Your barking goes right through my head." In just a little while she cried, "See how it snuggles to my side."

Soon Goldy said, "I'm going to let the catfish go, it's quite a pet." She stroked it for a spell and then exclaimed, "Well, you are free again."

"I'll now release the dogfish too,"

NEXT WEEK: The diver gets a big surprise.

Cried Dotty, "That's the thing to do. A lesson they have learned today. Instead of fighting, they will play."

Just then they heard a funny sound And all the Totties looked around. "Why that's a diver," Scouty cried. "Perhaps we'd better run and hide."

"He may be friendly as can be. Or else he may be real mean. Gee!"

Said Scouty, "we had better scoot. He wears a funny looking suit."

They wear a funny looking suit.

Meet 'em and Know 'em

Divisions in the army are denoted by bright colored insignia and much of the history of the army is coupled with the adventures of soldiers connected with certain divisions. For instance, the Sixth Division, organized in November, 1917, is reported to have marched more than any other American Division in France. It was, therefore, sometimes called the "Sixth Division." Prior to arrival in France, July, 1918, the Sixth trained at Camp McClellan, Alabama. It occupied a sector in the Vosges under French command, September 3 to October 11, and was in reserve in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. The insignia is a six pointed star of red cloth.

Mrs. J. P. Cummings, Fred Cummings, Ellison Cummings, Willa Jean Cummings and Mrs. J. L. Cummings returned early last week from Fort Riley, Kansas, where they visited with Wayne Cummings, who is stationed with the U. S. Army at that place.

Norwood Schools To Reopen On December 14

The Samnorwood Schools will resume work December 14, after having been dismissed since October 2 for cotton pulling, Earl R. Ponder, superintendent, announced Tuesday.

"In some respects, it will be like a new beginning. Some hasty reviews will be necessary. Then more rapid work will be required to complete the courses. The faculty believes it can be done if the parents and pupils will cooperate with them, as the faculty has co-operated with the patrons by dismissing school as long as we have. Because of this, we urge parents to see that their children attend school every day that it is possible so they will have a fair chance to make their work," Mr. Ponder said.

Several faculty changes have been announced. Mrs. Loula Daniel, who has been with the Rankin School, and who is working toward her Master's Degree in music, will replace Miss Frieda Hise as head of the Music Department. She attended Sul Ross College at Alpine, and has had three years of teaching experience.

Mrs. Maude Brown, who has been teaching at China Grove, will have charge of the fifth and sixth grades. She has attended West Texas State College for two years, and has had five years experience in teaching.

"There is still one vacancy in the grade school, but we feel it will be filled by December 14. Thus we will have a faculty that is well prepared for their work both from the standpoint of experience and from that of college training. Hence we look forward to a successful school term," Mr. Ponder said.

It is believed that the school lunch room will also be in operation by that time.

The school has also been approved for a milk program which will enable school children who need milk to drink in order to develop healthy bodies to have it. Patrons of the school who have surplus milk can sell it to the school for this project provided they can meet the rigid requirements. Persons interested in doing this should contact Mr. Ponder.

School will begin at 10 a. m. instead of nine, as was the case when school was dismissed.

Members of the faculty include: Mr. Ponder, superintendent and history instructor; Paul Morris, high school principal and social science; Earl Breeding, vocational agriculture; Miss Lillie Mae Armstrong, homemaking; Mrs. Erlene Bednorz, English; Miss Mary Gregory, mathematics; Mrs. Ozette Rainey, commercial work; Miss Maudie Coffee, eighth grade; Miss Willie Willard, seventh grade; Mrs. Maude Brown, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Lottie Clay, fourth grade; Miss Effie Rankin, third grade; Miss Lorene Downs, second grade; Mrs. Maude Ponder, primary; Mrs. Loula Daniel, music.

"NO GREATER SIN" AT RITZ

Mushrooming all over America today, particularly in defense areas, are sordid, furtive roadhouses, illegally operated like this one, shown being raided in an opening scene from "No Greater Sin."

Health News

by the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital

Every adult—and even children of school age—should know how to treat minor injuries. "That is just a common sense precaution."

Here are a few simplified suggestions:

Bleeding Wound: Contrary to common belief, the tourniquet should be used only when bleeding cannot be otherwise checked. In most cases, it is sufficient to apply a pad of sterile gauze directly to the wound, with such pressure as may be required. It may be necessary to apply hand pressure to the bandage, directly over the wound, to control the bleeding.

Infection: It is most important that everyone should be able to detect the first sign of infection. If a wound becomes painful and begins to throb; or if red streaks are seen running away from the wound, then lose no time in summoning a competent physician!

Cuts and Scratches: Do not make the common mistake of dousing the wound with iodine. A two per cent tincture of iodine is a good antiseptic, but one light application to the wound and about an inch of surrounding skin is sufficient. Too much iodine will only burn the tissues and delay healing. Do not bandage until the iodine is dry; be careful to avoid disturbing blood clots as this would lead to renewed bleeding. Never use adhesive tape directly over an application of iodine. Avoid the use of iodine near the eyes or body cavities. Ask your doctor about some of the newer, safer antiseptics.

Bruises: Apply cloths wrung out in cold water.

Sprains: Place in most comfortable position, raise above body. Apply cold cloths. You may bandage to prevent motion, but loosen the bandage if swelling develops. Massage lightly.

Burns: There are a number of relatively new unguents which are most soothing and beneficial. Ask your doctor about them. If other aids are lacking, make a paste of baking soda and water, to use as a soothing spread. For extensive burns, soak gauze or clean cloth in a lukewarm solution of baking soda and water. Don't use iodine or cotton. And avoid grease or oil on a serious burn, where skin is blistered or charred. Don't pull clothing away from a burn; cut it and leave the remnant for the doctor to handle.

Poisoning: Most products containing poison have the antidote printed on the label. If available, give the specified antidote. Otherwise, white of eggs, milk or strong tea may be given. Get the poison out of the stomach. Make the patient vomit by tickling the back of the throat with a forefinger, or by does not harm the heart, but it can make one mighty uncomfortable. If gas seems to distend stomach, causing that embarrassing "gurgling" and crowding, try ADLA Tablets. They contain Bismuth and Carbonates for QUICK relief. Drug-gists have ADLA Tablets.

Current Picture Shows Dangerous Defense Condition

Truth is not only stranger than fiction but often better motion pictures. This is true of "No Greater Sin" coming to the Ritz Theatre on Wednesday, Dec. 16. It is the story of a doctor who fights a city to conquer the vice conditions contributing to the spread of venereal disease infection which face hundreds of communities today.

That this problem is currently recognized by local and national authorities is evidenced by two vitally important national projects,—the U. S. O. and the W. P. A. The U. S. O., the preventive measure, functions to provide service men with healthful entertainment and diversion. The W. P. A., the curative measure, provides $5,000,000 for clinical facilities to combat venereal disease conditions around army camps and industrial centers.

The incidence of venereal disease infection among draftees is 75% less frequent today than in the last World War. This can be largely attributed to the education of the public promulgated by the U. S. Public Health Service, and the American Social Hygiene Association, a National voluntary organization. But in times of war and national crisis history reveals that venereal disease infections have risen alarmingly. Proof of this has already begun to appear in the medical records of scores of army camps.

There is no greater sin than secrecy and willful blindness to a condition of such national importance. More than the disease itself are these the cause of endless pain and needless suffering to many innocent victims. "No Greater Sin" has been hailed as one of the most dramatically revealing and intelligently handled motion pictures ever to reach the public. It is a film that will open the eyes and the hearts of all who see it because it is a story that doesn't "only happen in the movies."

County Urged To Exceed New War Bond Quota

Collingsworth County met its November War Bond Quota, and purchases during the first week and a half of December indicate that the December quota will be met, and likely exceeded, R. D. Wiley, county war bond chairman, said Tuesday.

This month's quota is $32,000. "If we roll up our sleeves and get to work, we can buy that many bonds," he declared.

Although no special drive was conducted here on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, December 7, purchases were noticeably heavier than usual, the chairman reported.

With the approach of Christmas, Mr. Wiley reminded that no gift should be more appropriate or more appreciated this year than a War Bond. "There couldn't be a more patriotic present," he said.

Noma Lee Hively of the Shinnery community returned Wednesday from Vernon, where she has been visiting her sister, Miss Audie Hively, who is employed by an engineering company.
