MOB ACTION THREATENED OVER KILLING OF BOY

'Joan Of Arc Of Workers' Pleads Textile Wage Case Before Senate Body

GIRL EMPLOYE OF DIXIE MILL RECITES ILLS

Senators Seem Impressed By Young Woman's Story of Wages

WALK-OUT DESCRIBED

Girl Tells of Causes Of Recent Disorders In Tennessee

WASHINGTON, May 9. (UP)—A slight, mild-mannered 22-year-old girl pleaded with obvious effect here today the cause of the striking southern textile workers.

The Joan of Arc of the workers was Miss Margaret Bowen, who until the strike was declared, worked for $10.68 a week in one of the mills at Elizabethton, Tenn.

She told her story of the spontaneous uprising of girls employed in the mills both to the senate manufacturers committee, holding hearings on the Wheeler resolution to investigate industrial conditions in the South, and to the National Trade Union League of America, at its annual convention.

Girls Applauded

The senators appeared impressed with her simple description of conditions and delegates to the women's meeting were generous with their applause. One seasoned organizer seemed to speak the sentiments of the convention when she said:

"You are the kind of a fighter the labor movement needs. You smile while you work. Those who get mad don't do us any good."

Miss Bowen said she went to work in the Elizabethton mills last year because she was promised a weekly wage of $16 but her first pay check was for $10.08.

"I thought at first that was just for the period of training," she drawled, "but it didn't get any bigger for a long time and after asking for a raise several times they finally boosted me one cent an hour, which made my check $10.68.

Living Comes High

"I worked 56 hours a week, from 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. every day.

"It cost me $5 a week for my room, $1 for bus fare and $1 for laundry. Besides that, $1.30 was deducted from my wages every month for insurance.

"There wasn't much left for clothes but they expected us to be fresh and neat all the time. If we weren't, the foremen let us know about it.

"I lived in a room with three other girls."

Miss Bowen laughed frequently in recalling the excitement of the first walk-out last March. She said the girl employes were the first to go and once stormed the plant to

'America's Darling' With First to Greet Queen

Helen Wills Follows Old World Custom by Wearing Ostrich Plume as She Curtsies Before Royalty

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE

LONDON, May 9. (US)—A lot of innocent ostriches have lately been victims of what the criminal code calls "larceny from the person."

This evening the loot from these outraged ostriches showed through the back windows of limousines parked nose to bumper for more than a mile along the historic mall from the arches of Trafalgar Square right down to the Victoria fountain, before Buckingham palace gates. The plumes reared up from the coiffures of the women going to attend Britain's greatest show of the year—the royal court.

Dames and debutantes, dowagers, dragons and the frailest flowers of young womanhood from many lands, were all under the same stamp of formality—the three feathers of the Prince of Wales; the middle one raised a little above the others, rising from coiffures held in place by diamond tiaras, frail filets of pearls, or, as in the case of a rare few, by a natural abundance of hair.

Away ahead, near the front of this line of beauty and curiosities on parade—the twenty-fourth vehicle from the front, to be exact—Helen Wills and a fellow californian, Harriet Walker, tried to be demure despite a horde of photographers who persisted in snapshotting through the windows, and a pressing crowd commenting: "They look like they're Americans."

That was why the picture men were so interested.

The two girls had something concealed on the seat between them—sandwiches or candy maybe—and from time to time a slim hand made furtive dash from secret cache to mouth. Since a mere male observed that their gloves were removed, he guesses it was candy.

America's darling looked her sweetest in a simple cut gown of ivory satin, while her companion was garbed in what I think the ladies call "apricot,"—or maybe it was unripe apricot.

Anyway by being near the head of the line the girls afterward reaped an advantage. When at last Queen Mary, surrounded by her sons and glittering court, took her place in the throne room at 9:30, the first debutantes presented had the privilege of remaining to watch the others go through the mill.

The more than 700 feminine attendants upon Queen Mary's court sat behind their plate glass there on the mall from two to three hours, while the delighted hoi polloi filed past on both sides three deep giving them the speculative once over. The principal sufferers, however, were the mere men scattered here and there through the limousines and hired cars. They were army officers in full dress of scarlet, resting chins on sword handles,

Texas Cattle and Ranges Reported In Good Condition by U. S. Experts

Deterioration Due to Dry Winds Only Disconcerting Note in May Statistics for State

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Cattle are improving rapidly, calves are strong and healthy and ranges are in good condition for this time of the year, although some deterioration has been caused by recent dry winds, said H. H. Schutz and K. D. Blood, statisticians of the United States division of crop and livestock estimates, whose May report was released today.

Trading Slower

"Trading is slower, but shipments to northern pastures are still continuing," the report said. "Range prices of cows and steers advanced slightly during the month. Sheep and goats are fat. The calf and lamb crops are slightly better than average. Practically the entire spring mohair clip has been sold, at prices much under those of last year. Sheep shearing is well under way and approximately 5,000,000 pounds of the spring clip has been reported sold. Very little wool contracting had been done prior to May 1.

"The condition of ranges improved greatly during April, but dry hot winds the latter part of the month decreased the supply of soil moisture in parts of the north, west-center and south sections and causes grasses and weeds to burn in some localities. Rains during the month were local and some areas are becoming dry. A general rain is needed to assure good summer grazing. All classes of livestock improved and are better than average.

Prices Recover

"Range prices of Texas cattle, except calves, have again recovered after a slight decline in February and Masch. Prices received for range cows about May 1 adveraged nearly $67 per head, nearly $8 higher than one year ago, and the highest point in the present price cycle. Range prices of heifers and young steers here improved slightly since Jan. 1, while calf prices have remained about the same. Range prices of calves averaged nearly $36 or about $3 per head more than on May 1 of last year; heifers at $46 per head have shown an advance of nearly $9, while steers have also increased in price from $7 to $10 depending on age and quality."

GARNER OPENS TARIFF FIGHT

Cost of Living Would Soar Under Plan, Texan Says

WASHINGTON, May 9. (UP)—The tariff battle began in the house today with a charge by Democratic Floor Leader Garner that the proposed measure would boost the cost of living from $300,000,000 to half a billion a year and with a division manifest both among regular Republicans and farm representatives over certain schedules.

Republican leaders will gather house party forces in a conference tomorrow in an effort to prevent disaffections in their ranks disclosed by today's opening debate from spreading beyond bounds and opening the tariff further than they plan.

Garner, though explaining he was not well, went at his attack on the Republican tariff bill in his usual fiery manner. He said it did nothing substantial for agriculture, but is for eastern manufacturers and written by their representatives.

Placing a map before house members, he explained that 11 of the 15 Republican members of the committee who had drafted the bill were from the "sacred territory" east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river, while the great country west of the Mississippi had no influence. Pointing at the industrial east, and then at the west, he declared:

"They are going to say to all the country there—'You've got to take it.'"

"The bill is prohibitory," he said. "It is class and special interest protection. The American people will have to spend more for the necessities of life because of it. The Republicans don't give a darn for a farmer or consumer unless he is a rich manufacturer who contributes to campaign funds."

PLEADS GUILTY

DALLAS, Texas, May 9. (AP)—Jim Braddy, 24, today pleaded guilty to robbery with firearms and was sentenced to 99 years in prison. Braddy admitted robbing Alva F. McKnight of his automobile and $6 in cash on April 1.

MOODY YET TO DECIDE DATE OF NEW CALL

Governor May Allow Week Interview Between Two Special Meets

MANY BILLS WAIT

Executive Messages Add To Subjects for Solons To Consider

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Governor Moody said today that he did not know whether he would convene the second called session immediately on adjournment of the present 30-day period on May 21 or grant a week or 10 days interim.

With but 10 working days (including Saturdays) of this session left, it seemed likely that the legislature will have utility regulation, water priority, and probably civil service and penitentiary legislation, along with appropriations and highway department financing, before it.

Moody Sends Messages

The governor sent two messages to the body today. One opened up the way for consideration of a bill providing for revenue from license fees imposed on motor vehicles and the other proposed 11 subjects, most of them of local nature, requested by members. This brings the number of subjects submitted for the session to about 50.

"Some of your number who have been giving thought and attention to the matter of providing adequate revenues for the development of our highway system are impressed with the thought that the situation would be improved, and the problem of working out proper legislation to finance highway construction and maintenance would be more easily solved, if subjects are submitted broad enough to admit legislative consideration of the license fees imposed upon motor vehicles," the governor said.

Junket Trip Today

"In deference to their judgment in the matter, and in the hope that it will facilitate the adoption of proper laws to adequately and equitably finance highway development, I submit for your consideration the subject of laws dealing with revenues derived from license fees imposed upon motor vehicles."

Members of the senate finance and house appropriations committees leave tomorrow for a junket trip to Kingsville to visit the Texas College of Arts and Industries, formerly the South Texas State Teachers' college.

The senate today decided to defer consideration of the house penitentiary concentration bill until the measure could be printed.

The house threatened to order C. D. Neff of Dallas before it to offer proof of charges brought by him against the secretary of state and attorney general's department concerning administration of the Blue Sky law, but the resolution, along with one expressing confidence in the departments and condemning Neff, were referred to the committee on state affairs.

Sinclair Begins Term in Washington Jail

Harry F. Sinclair began serving his 90-day sentence in the Washington jail for refusing to answer questions of the senate oil committee. At left he is shown leaving his automobile to enter the jail.

OIL BARON NOW CALLED 'HARRY'

Sinclair Falsely Reported 'Buying' Prisoners

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—It's "Harry" now at the district jail.

The newness of the millionaire oil man, serving 90 days for contempt of the senate, has worn off and Mr. Sinclair has lost his formal form of address.

The millionaire prisoner has not bought his way into the affection of his fellow-prisoners, although a yarn was prevalent today that the oil man gave $5 to a young man about to leave the red stone jail.

Major William L. Peake, superintendent of the jail, the kindly host of Sinclair declined to discuss his distinguished prisoner further than to say he was conforming to prison routine without complaint.

It was settled today that Sinclair will serve his full 90 days at the district jail instead of being transferred to the workhouse at Occoquan, Va., some 20 miles from the city.

George P. Wilson, director of the board of public welfare of the District of Columbia, who is responsible for the anti-publicity ban imposed upon the district jail said he thought the oil man might as well serve out his sentence in the jail instead of going to the workhouse.

"Mr. Sinclair has violated a law of society," said Mr. Wilson. "He is in jail as a result of the punishment imposed upon him by the court. The fact that he is a millionaire does not distinguish him beyond his fellow-prisoners in any way.

"Newspaper reporters do not care to talk to ordinary thieves. Why do they want to talk to Mr. Sinclair?"

Amarillo Judge Shares 'Tank' With Convicted Killer and Bootleggers

No Effort to Free Indicted Jurist Apparent as He Starts Second Restless Night Behind Bars

AMARILLO Texas, May 9. (UP)—Still occupying a "tank" with one convicted murderer, two convicted bootleggers, and three other inmates, Judge R. H. Hamilton, indicted for murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., remained in jail tonight with apparently no effort being made to effect his release on bond.

Hamilton was arrested for the second time last night when the grand jury returned an indictment of murder for shooting the boy, who was killed when he went to advise the jurist of a secret marriage with his daughter, Theresa.

The judge refused to grant any interviews today, but other inmates stated that he slept little last night, and missed his morning bath and shave today. He sat in his cell fully dressed, with his hat pulled down over his eyes, conferring with his counsel and preparing to tell a jury, under compulsion, why he killed the youth.

Hamilton once aided the highest court of Texas in its interpretations of the law. At that time he was a member of the commission of appeals of the state supreme court.

Tom Walton Sr., father of the slain boy, made a statement today in which he declared Hamilton shot the youth because he objected to his daughter "marrying beneath her," as the boy had no wealth or high social position. Walton Sr., is still in McAlester, Okla., at the bedside of the boy's mother, who has been gravely ill from prostration since the shooting of her son.

Whether the young widow, who has been confined to a hospital in Austin recovering from an operation, will go to Amarillo to be with her father could not be learned today. Mrs. Hamilton, who has been living in Austin with the girl said today that no plans had been made.

RUFFIN SETS GOAL OF LIONS

International Club Head At San Angelo Meet

SAN ANGELO, May 9. (AP)—President Hoover regards members of the Lions clubs as "individuals who can awaken the nation to respect for law," Benjamin A. Ruffin of Richmond, Va., president of Lions International, declared today in an address to the state convention of Lions here.

"America leads the peoples of the world in material property, but it is the most lawless nation on the face of the earth," President Ruffin said. "There were 12,040 murders in this land in 1927, there were 39,00 persons robbed, and there are now living in this country 118,000 persons who have killed. Three hundred and fifty thousand persons, a young army, are organized in crime, and that festering mass is eating at the heart of America. President Hoover regards the Lions as individuals who can, by example, awaken the nation to respect for the law and contempt for law violators."

Ruffin spoke just after the annual address by Gov. John Erhard of Dallas, who recommended: That all future district conventions rotate from one section of the state to another; that Lions International be petitioned to station a service man in Texas; that there be no division of the Texas district into two as had been suggested; that the 50 cent per capita tax be reduced by half; that local clubs devote themselves to service and programs instead of extension work.

New Interpretation Of Flood Bill Asked

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—A delegation of senators from states in the Mississippi flood area today urged President Hoover to have the flood control act so interpreted that the government would pay property owners for losses caused by the construction of spillways.

The delegation also asked that $5,000,000 be diverted from the flood control appropriation for some additional work on the smaller rivers emptying into the Mississippi.

ACCUSED TRIO FLEE TO AVOID CITY'S WRATH

Officers Charged With Murder of College Boy Stay in Hiding

THOUGHT DRUNK

Examination of Car Shows No Liquor Carried By Two Youths

ABINGDON, Va., May 9. (US)—With fever heat indignation threatening mob violence at any moment, charges of murder today were placed against City Policeman James McReynolds and Deputy Sheriffs James Crowe and J. T. Worley, for the killing Tuesday night of James Kendrick, 17-year-old Emory and Henry college freshman, whom they claim to have mistaken for a bootlegger.

All three were released this morning on $5,000 bond each and were advised to leave town immediately in order to avoid difficulties with the populace. All were in seclusion tonight, supposedly at the home of relatives in Bristol, 15 miles away.

Shot in Back

The Kendrick boy, whose father and mother are dead and who was heir to one of the largest fortunes in this section, died yesterday at Abingdon General hospital without regaining consciousness. He was shot through the back of the head, the bullet being fired at such close range that it plouged through the steel back of the coupe in which he was riding, bored through his head and then shattered the windshield. He was buried this afternoon in Bristol from the home of his sister.

The feeling that stirred this quiet and prosperous little Virginia town today is, according to oldest natives the most intense since Civil war days.

The Kendrick boy, whose mother died in his early youth and whose father was killed three years ago in a Florida automobile accident, was one of the most generally liked youngsters in the community and, because of the esteem with which his father and forbears were held, the people of Abingdon had rather generally adopted him. He is said to have been worth in his own name something over $100,000, with a much larger fortune coming to him on his twenty-first birthday.

No Liquor Found

The tragedy of Tuesday night is laid by the officers to the fact that they thought young Kendrick and his two companions—Paul Phelps, driver of the car, and S. T. Dutton, the other passenger—were carrying liquor, and that they were "drunk and driving in a reckless manner."

Careful search of the car after the tragedy failed to show any liquor or trace of it. Physicians who examined both boys while they were trying to save the life of young Kendrick swear that neither of them had liquor on his breath.

Legal Profession Called Upon To Aid Hoover in Enforcement Plan

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—George W. Wickersham of New York, one of those believed to have been selected by President Hoover for his law enforcement commission, called on the legal profession today to assist the chief executive in his law enforcement program.

Addressing the American Law institute, of which he is president, Mr. Wickersham declared the president's challenge shows that the bar generally and the institute members particularly must exert their influence in bringing the minds of the people back to respect for law as law.

The former attorney general said more than any one law or policy was involved, the question being perpetuation of civil liberty "which can not long endure if the law of the land loosens its hold upon the conscience of our fellow citizens."

Chief Justice Taft, under whose presidential administration Mr. Wickersham served in the cabinet, also touched upon law enforcement in his address to the institute.

"Until we get the legislators of the nation thoroughly charged with the knowledge of their duty with respect to furnishing to lawyers and judges the means of improvement," he said, "we shall not find that improvement."

Monarchs of Gangland Live to Worry Police Although 10 'Trigger Men' Die

CHICAGO, May 9. (UP)—Behind the rising smoke of guns in the latest group slaying in Chicago's beer war, police today observed that the real powers directing the "trigger men"—"Scarface" Al Capone, George "Bugs" Moran and Johnny Torrio—still existed.

Neither Capone nor Moran, deadly enemies and leaders of opposing forces in the beer war that has taken scores of lives were caught "in the open" in the last two battles that claimed 10 "trigger men."

Torrio, likewise, who recently returned with his wealth to become allied with Moran, has kept in the background. None could be found today as after each foray, gang chieftains and their men go into hiding.

Capone lost heavily in the latest battle, described as the "little massacre." Three bodies, those of John Scalise, Albert Anselmi and Joseph Giunta, were left on an Indiana road in reprisal for the massacre of seven members of the Moran gang on St. Valentine's day.

The two group slayings, the "big massacre" of seven men and the "little massacre" of three, was a blow to each side but the leaders—Capone and Moran—remain alive to muster more "trigger men."

GIRL PLEADS WORKER'S CASE

Young Woman Testifies To Senators

bring out the men and women who had not already joined the strike.

"I guess we shouldn't have done that," she said, "but 500 girls can fight. We haven't violated any laws yet and I hope we don't."

4,000 Join Union

The girl said she knew nothing about organized labor before the strike but that she and more than 4,000 other workers have joined the union since and intend "to stick it out until we get our rights."

Among the strikers, she said, are many girls only 10 to 15 years old. In their behalf particularly, she appealed to the convention for food and supplies to be distributed among the strikers.

Explaining the low wages, Miss Bowen said:

"The companies could pay more and would but the chamber of commerce said they could get labor in Elizabethton at from $8 to $10 a week."

She told the women's convention two girls under 15 years of age have been thrown into jail in Elizabethton for non-payment of board bills.

Several other labor organizers appeared before the senate committee at its first day of hearings and a truck load of strikers from Gastonia, N. C., was reported en route here to add their testimony.

Because of opposition among southern senators to adoption of the Wheeler resolution, the committee was apparently determined to hold full hearings on the resolution itself and so accomplish the same purpose as an investigation authorized by vote of the senate.

Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, told the committee there was no reason for sending troops to Elizabethton but that Republican leaders brought political pressure to bear on Governor Horton to supply military protection.

Miss Atilda Lindsay, who helped organize the Elizabethton workers, corroborated the statement of Miss Bowen that the chamber of commerce tried to keep wages down in Elizabethton "so the people wouldn't be spoiled."

New Document Tells for First Time How Pershing Won Right to Fight

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—August 30, 1928, Marshal Foch faced General Pershing in France and demanded:

"Do you wish to go into battle?"

"Most assuredly," the American commander replied calmly, but as an American army."

Foch objected that it would take a month to complete such an army.

"Give me a sector anywhere you decide," declared Pershing, "and I will take it over at once."

This historic scene is pictured vividly in a narrative off the government presses today, which for the first time gives an official account of how it was decided that a million Americans would enter the Argonne as an American army, not as French reinforcements.

Headed "the Genesis of the American first army," the document was prepared by the historical section of the army war college. The narrative leading up to the climatic meeting between the French and American commanders recounts in detail from heretofore unpublished records Pershing's long battle against allied demands for American troops as replacements in their own armies.

Its publication led army officers to recall an interview with Marshal Foch published in Paris after his recent death, in which the French commander was quoted as having said Premier Clemenceau had considered that Pershing's efforts to build up an autonomous army was preventing the Americans from giving the aid they could have given the allied cause as a whole. "The Tiger" was said to have accused General Pershing of being too stubborn.

Regarding the meeting between Pershing and Foch, which occurred at first army headquarters in Ligny-En-Barrios, the narrative published today says:

"It was a moment of high tension. The two commanders faced each other, both with decided convictions. The decision affected more than a million Americans."

Eleven days later, September 10, 1918, while Pershing's first army crouched for its spring at St. Mihiel the agreement that gave him a 90-mile front was ratified. Within two weeks all his forces were driving through the Argonne toward Sedan and the armistice.

LEAP KILLS WOMAN

LIVINGSTON, Texas, May 9. (AP)—After a reputed argument with her husband, Mrs. Joe Brock was injured fatally when she leaped from a truck he was driving near here last night. She died an hour later.

Verily, today, and tomorrow when the scene will be duplicated, London offers a free show the like of which is seen nowhere else in the world.

CRIMINOLOGIST SAYS EVA RABLEN SIGNED RECEIPT FOR POISON

EXPERT TELLS OF FINDINGS

Traces of Deadly Drug In Coffee Cup

SONORA, Calif., May 9. (INS)—E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, today notified Sheriff Jack Dambacher here that the name of "Mrs. Joe Williams" on a receipt for a bottle of poison had been written by Mrs. Eva Rablen, "mail order" bride, held in jail here charged with murdering her husband.

At the same time Heinrich reported that the quantity of poison found in the husband's stomach after chemical analysis was enough "to kill an army of men."

Poison traces were also discovered in the empty coffee cup in which Mrs. Rablen is alleged to have placed the drug.

Identification of the handwriting was regarded by both the sheriff and Dist. Atty. C. P. Grayson as the last clinching evidence needed in the net woven around Mrs. Rablen, former Quanah, Texas woman.

"I'M GRATEFUL TO ORGATONE," SAYS WICHITA FARMER

"I Don't Ever Remember Feeling as Well as I Do Now Since Taking This New Medicine," Says I. N. Howard

"Orgatone has done me a world of good and I'm now feeling just fine," said Mr. I. N. Howard, well known farmer who has lived in Wichita since he was a boy, and residing on rural route No. 1.

"I tried for 10 long years to find a medicine that would relieve me of my suffering, but all my efforts failed completely until I got hold of this Orgatone."

"During all these years," he continued, "my stomach was in such a bad condition that everything I ate disagreed with me. I would often be bloated up with gas that I was hardly able to get a good breath. My appetite was very poor, and what little I did eat didn't seem to give me any nourishment at all, and I just went downhill until sometimes I felt so run down and no account I did not feel like doing any work at all. In fact, my entire system was in a very bad condition. My kidneys bothered me and I didn't sleep well during the night as I was up from two to five times every night. I tried a great many different medicines and treatments, but I just seemed to get worse all the time instead of better.

"Then I began reading testimonials on my friends here in Wichita Falls, and decided to try Orgatone myself, and I just want to say from that time on I didn't have to bother about any other sort of medicine, for I commenced to improve right from the start, and now I am well and hearty as I ever was in my life. I have a dandy appetite, and eat anything I want and I never suffer the least bit afterward. Those bloating spells have disappeared, my system is building itself back to normal, I never have indigestion any more, I sleep well nights and Orgatone is the only thing that has ever helped my kidneys. I am not much for publicity but if this testimonial will help others in my condition I am more than glad to give it, for I have taken a great many different medicines in my life, but this Orgatone beats anything I have ever tried."

Orgatone may be obtained in Wichita Falls from Allison's Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue. A special representative of the Orgatone laboratories will be glad to explain the therapeutic value of Orgatone which is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs. Other agents for Orgatone are the City Drug store at Burkburnett, the Tarleton Drug Co at Electra and the Vernon Drug store at Vernon, Texas.—Adv.

Escaped Prisoner Hides in Hills as Children Die From Eating Parsnips

MONTE VISTA, Colo., May 9. (UP)—Unaware that two of his three small daughters had died from eating wild parsnips, Stephen Lucero was hiding in the mountains today while a posse searched for him.

Lucero dug his way from the jail here while a circus parade attracted attention of his jailers. He had been arrested on a charge of operating a still.

Mrs. Lucero left the three children alone at the ranch home while she sought to obtain her husband's release. The children found some wild parsnips and ate them.

When the mother returned, she found them in convulsions. She hurried them to a doctor, but Vera, aged 7, died.

Emline, 8, died.

Dirigible Mail Service Planned

WASHINGTON, May 9. (INS)—Plans for a passenger-mail dirigible service between Lower California and Honolulu were outlined to President Hoover today by Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation. The company plans to build a Zeppelin costing $1,500,000 and capable of carrying 100 passengers or 60 passengers and mail.

Senator Burton, Republican, of Ohio, said Mr. Hoover seemed sympathetic with the project. He will submit a bill in the senate authorizing the postoffice department to place contracts with the new service, he said. The proposed system will not compete with existing air routes but will merely transport the mail over the Pacific.

Litchfield said the company will start building its first dirigible as soon as congress authorizes its mail contract.

TROOPS STAY ON STRIKE DUTY

Tennessee Governor to Maintain Patrol

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 9. (UP)—Pointing to the state's "responsibility of protecting its citizens and property," Gov. Henry H. Horton today telegraphed William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, refusing to withdraw four companies of national guardsmen from the Elizabethton textile strike district.

"They are not there to adjust any differences between capital and labor," the governor's message said, "or to pass on the controversy that now exists between two factions of workers. Men and women have the constitutional right to work or strike as they may desire. It is certainly the duty of the state to protect those who desire to work on terms mutually satisfactory to themselves and their employers."

The troops are under oath as deputy sheriffs or emergency state police and not as national guard units. Horton branded false the remark that Elizabethton is under military control.

BLUE CURTAIN PLAY LAUDED

'The Brat' Scores Hit in Second Presentation

Playing before a comparatively large audience for a second presentation of the play within a period of five months, the three-act comedy "The Brat" by Maud Fulton climaxed the dramatic season for the Blue Curtain Players Thursday night at the Junior college. The play, which was regarded at the first performance as being the best ever presented by the players, was judged by critics Thursday night at being even better than the first performance.

Pansy Mills, who played the leading role of "The Brat" displayed even a more remarkable ability than ever before. Her part, a most difficult one, was presented in such a manner that those who have witnessed her dramatic performances in the past judged her as "better than ever."

Plot Hinges on Brat.

The plot for the entertainment was built around the "find" of a character for a book which McMillan, an author, discovered after many weeks of searching for a girl that was to play the part of "The Brat" in the new best seller that he was composing. The "Brat," played by Pansy Mills, was taken into the Forrester home for a period of three months, during which time she supplied atmosphere and realism for the literary pursuits of the noted author.

She remains in the home until the completion of the book, after which time she was sent away from the home, back to the streets where she was found as a starving street urchin. Stephen, a younger brother of McMillan's who is in love with "the Brat" makes an attempt to save the girl from the lot that is cast her way. Family strife follows, after which time the "brat" supposedly leaves the home forever.

Realing that she loves Stephen and not McMillan, as she presumes, she makes an attempt to go to him in Primrose, Wyo., to which place he was supposed to have departed. The two are united after many startling incidences, to the despair and complete mystification of the fashionable Forrester family.

The part of Timson, the old Irish butler was excellently portrayed by Wilbur Kent, whose Irish brogue and humor supplied the major part of the comedy for the play.

The scene for the play was in Mrs. Forrester's fashionable New York home, while the time for the plot was carried over a period of three months.

Cast of Characters

Cast of characters for "The Brat" was as follows: Mrs. Forrester, Harriet Peterson Bass; McMillan, her son, an author, Seldon Hale; Stephen, her younger son, Lloyd Wyatt; Bishop Ware, her brother, W. A. Johnson; Mrs. Ware, his wife, Katherine Ashford; Dorothy, his small daughter, Beverly Nan Witherspoon; Jane Depew, a young spinster, Constance Eirl Castile; Angelia Smythe, a debutante, Catherine Michaelias; Timson, the butler, Wilbur Kent; Margot, the housekeeper, Josephine Kelly; the Brat, Pansy Mills.

Direction of "The Brat" was again by Miss Juanita Kinsey, director of the Blue Curtain Players who are credited with the success that the dramatic organization of the Junior college has attained for the past several years.

As the first performance of the play took place during the latter part of the first semester, two leading characters for the cast consented to return for the repetition of the play. Constance Eirl Castile, leading character in the Blue Curtain performances last semester who is now attending Baylor college at Belton, returned to Wichita Falls for rehearsals last week. Mrs. Willard Bass, who before her marriage was Miss Harriet Peterson, also consented to take part in the second performance of the play.

Here's a delightful elixir with plenty of real pepsin, some Menthol and just enough of several other stomach correctives to make it capable of putting almost any weak, rundown, abused stomach in first class shape in three weeks—and it tastes like the most palatable nectar.

The men who created this supremely good formula know their business — they don't believe in nasty tasting medicine and the people are with them for Dare's Mentha Pepsin—that's the name—is having such a tremendous sale all over the country that many druggists are astounded.

And the laboratory that turns out this highly successful reliever of stomach agony must be run by fair minded men for they have passed the word to every druggist in the country that if Dare's Mentha Pepsin doesn't bring serene comfort to any worn out, run down, sickly, gassy stomach that the owner of that most important internal organ can have his or her money back.

Stubborn indigestion of years standing is hard to get rid of, but Dare's Mentha Pepsin is the discovery that will do it; one enthusiastic druggist asserts. You can get it at any real drug store in America and thousands are taking advantage of the generous guarantee every day. Any druggist always has a big supply on hand.

You can eat anything you want any time you want it when you have a bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin handy—it's real pepsin in liquid form—the right way to take pepsin.—Adv.

Need of Corrective Measures For Babies Urged at Health Conference

Eighty-two babies of the Wichita Falls community were given physical examinations during the last four days at the Baby Health conference which is being conducted at the P. B. M. store under the supervision of Dr. Wallace J. Masters as part of the national baby health week program.

According to those in charge, the "better baby" movement as represented in the course of examinations and lectures being given here this week has the endorsement of all state and national institutions devoted to the cause of good health. The conference has been given the form of a contest, with prizes to be awarded the winners in the following four classes: babies not more than six months in age; those over six months and not more than 12; those more than 12 months but not more than two years; and those more than two years, but not more than three. The babies are judged on the basis of physical perfection, normal mental development, and personality. Children entered in the contest are identified by number only with the examining doctor and nurses.

Doctor Masters, the baby specialist appointed by the Wichita County Medical society to conduct the conference and contest, is being assisted by Miss Mary Sutherland, dietitian of the American Red Cross; Miss Rose Lee Harkins, city health nurse; and nurses from the Wichita General hospital. Each baby is weighed, measured, and examined for any sub-normal or abnormal features of development, and for any resultant infulence on mental or character growth.

Lectures are given every day by Doctor Masters on the care and feeding of babies, and by Miss Sutherland on corrective dieting and environment. It was pointed out that hundreds of cases of defective development are found among school children, particularly those between 5 and 8, in the summer "roundups" conducted by the Parent-Teacher associations. Practically all of these defects could have been prevented by proper corrective measures during babyhood, it was stated. The importance of proper environment for babies is being stressed in the lectures, with the purpose of preventing overstimulation and nervousness which, it was stated, are much more prevalent than in preceding generations. The general speeding up of all phases of human activity in this country during the last 20 years was declared to be reflected noticeably in the temperament of the parent, with the result that children are being crowded abnormally in their physical and educational growth. "Many of the leading men of the present generation," Miss Sutherland said, "are able to meet the demands made upon them only because they were reared in a period which permitted unhurried development with adequate opportunity for repose."

The Baby Health conference is open to all families in the Wichita Falls territory, Doctor Masters stated, and babies not more than three may be brought at any time between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on Friday and Saturday. The conference is being conducted on the second floor of the P. B. M. store.

Paving of Highway Through Jack County Depends Upon State Bonds

The completion of another paved highway between Wichita Falls and Fort Worth by way of Winthorst and Jacksboro, which has been under consideration for at least two years, will probably depend upon the voting of state bonds to provide funds for future highway construction, according to D. M. Puckett, state highway department division engineer.

The proposed route runs from the south end of Holliday street in this city through Windthorst, thence on state highway No. 25 to Jacksboro, thence in a southeasterly direction through Wise and Tarrant counties to Fort Worth. The completion of pavement from Wichita Falls to Windthorst is already assured, it was stated, by virtue of the bond issue of 1927 in Archer county. Grading of the right-of-way and building of bridges on that section of the road is now under way, Mr. Puckett said, with the laying of pavement to begin as soon as these preparations have been completed.

From Fort Worth a survey is now being made for a highway designed to meet highway No. 25 at the line between Jack and Wise counties, southeast of Jacksboro. It is said that Tarrant county already has voted bonds for the construction of this road, and that Wise county has funds on hand for the building of its section.

The paving from Jacksboro north towards Windthorst extends only 12 miles, leaving a considerable stretch of graded road between those two points.

"Since the Jack county roadbuilding funds were exhausted with the completion of that 12-mile strip of paving," Mr. Puckett said, I do not believe the gap through that county can be paved in the near future without a state bond issue." The division engineer predicted that such action will be taken by the state within the next two years.

The route to Fort Worth through Jacksboro would total about 120 miles, it was said.

House May Authorize Emergency Quarantine Law

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture, would be authorized to declare a quarantine for the protection of agricultural and horticultural interests in the event of an emergency if a bill introduced in the house today is enacted. The measure, following closely after discovery of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida, allows a quarantine to be ordered without a hearing.

The bill was drafted by Representative Polk Hornaday, Harlingen; Ed Dunlak, Kingsville; A. P. Johnson, Carrizo Springs and W. R. Montgomery, Edinburg.

BIBLE NEEDED FOR EDUCATION

Moreland Discusses Book Of Holy Writ

"No matter how many degrees a man has, he is not educated unless he reads the Bible," Rev. Patrick Dacus Moreland said in a sermon on the Book at the Grant Street Methodist church Thursday night. "And no man is ignorant who has read the Bible."

The church was again attended by a large crowd and both wings, as well as the main auditorium, were comfortably filled. The pastor announced that a special "old folks" service would be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and invited all Wichita Falls citizens to bring their parents. The church will be decorated with roses for the occasion.

Rev. Moreland discussed the Bible from all angles. He explained that many persons used it as a basis on which to attack Christianity, warping the meanings of its phrases to suit their purposes, while others used it to prove that there is no hell or to justify their statement that heaven had room for only 140,000 people.

"So the Book has been made a thing to fight over and argue over; a book of puzzles and conundrums," Rev. Moreland said. "A book that people will fight over but not read; a book that armies will go to war over and after the battle they do not know what it was all about.

"We have here in this book a library, and the first book in the library was not written first and the last was not written last. All through these wonderful pages we have these unforgettable pictures, and God, knowing that men must have something more than pictures, has given us song after song in the Psalms."

Day services will be held at 10 o'clock Friday and Saturday mornings. Evening services will also be held both days and the revival, which opened three weeks ago, will close Sunday night.

Two big things to KNOW about GENERAL MOTORS TRUCKS

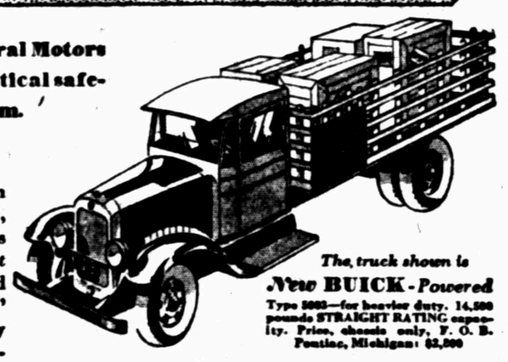

WHEN a man buys a General Motors Truck here, some very practical safeguards work for him.

1

One is STRAIGHT RATING—which tells him, exactly and in advance, what real pay-load capacity he is getting. Let him try to find that out under the old rating method which called trucks "one ton," "two ton," etc. It will pay any truck-owner to know the advantages—the actual dollars-and-cents benefits—of this clear and simple new rating basis.

2

Another buyer's safeguard is our policy of NO EXCESS ALLOWANCE ON TRADE-IN. A man gets EXTRA VALUE, BUILT-IN—instead. There is no "water" in General Motors Truck prices. No list-price "padding" that robs Peter to pay Paul. This too is worth knowing about.

The truck shown is New BUICK-Powered

Michaelson's Brother-in-Law Named In Liquor Charge After Solon's Trial

KEY WEST, Fla., May 9. (INS)—On the heels of the acquittal of M. A. Michaelson, dry Illinois congressman, on a charge of importing and transporting liquor, Walter Gramm, Chicago coal dealer and brother-in-law of Michaelson, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Rodney Gwynn here on an identical charge. He waived preliminary hearing.

Pleading "not guilty" to the charge, Gramm made $2,000 bond, returnable in Jacksonville on May 13. This does not mean, W. P. Hughes, acting district attorney, said, that the case will be called for trial on that date. Hughes said he expected to carry the case before a federal grand jury for indictment.

The $2,000 cash bond placed by Michaelson when he was arrested in Chicago a few months ago on the charge which he was acquitted early today was transferred by the congressman to his brother-in-law as bond.

Asked if he would appear as a witness for Graham, he said: "Perhaps."

A warrant for Gramm was issued soon after Michaelson's acquittal.

CLARK'S TRIAL IS RECESSED

Testimony Ends in Jurist's Impeachment Case

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9. (UP)—Testimony in the J. W. Clark impeachment trial ended abruptly at 2 p. m. today.

The senate impeachment court by a vote of 23 to 14 granted the request of the board of managers to wait until Friday to hear arguments in the case.

Defense attorneys offered to waive argument but the board of managers refused to waive and arguments were limited to two and a half hours on a side. Defense attorneys sought to have the argument begin Thursday afternoon but the court sustained the board of managers.

Neither side challenged the right of any senator to vote on the conviction of Clark due to the senator not having heard all of the evidence. Formalities were completed and the court adjourned at 2:30 p. m. until 9 a. m. Friday when arguments will start.

A test for any frying fat— FRIED CHICKEN!

And Snowdrift fries it at its savory best!

FRIED CHICKEN

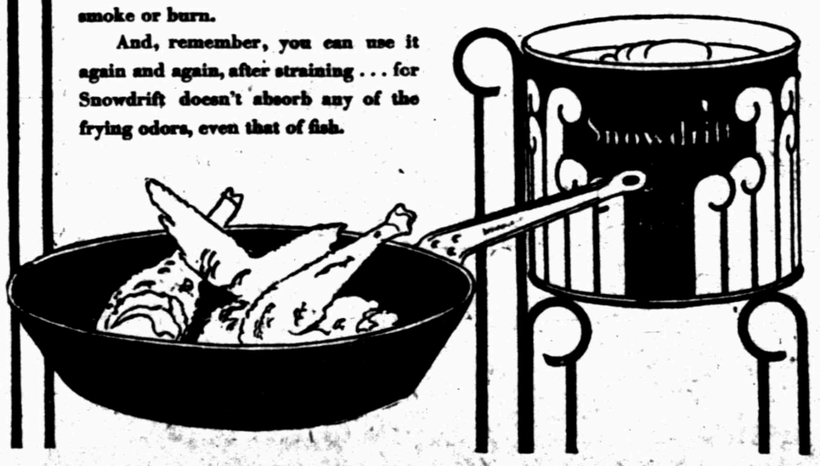

1 Chicken • 1 Cup Snowdrift

¼ Cup Flour • 1 Tablespoon Salt • 1 Cup Milk or Cream • ½ Cup Water

A very young chicken should be cut in halves or quarters. Or a full grown but young chicken may be used, if desired, and this should be prepared and disjointed as for fricassee. Roll each piece in the flour and salt which have been sifted together. Heat the Snowdrift in a heavy iron frying pan or kettle. Add enough chicken to cover the bottom of the pan. The chicken should be turned only once, the frying being accomplished in about twenty minutes. When brown, drain off all but one-fourth cup fat and add the water. Simmer very slowly until tender. A very young broiler will take half an hour, and a full sized chicken from one to two hours. Replenish the water if necessary. Serve with a gravy made with the drippings in the frying pan, two tablespoons of flour in which the chicken was rolled and the milk or cream.

That easy! All the savory juices safely sealed within and the hot fat kept out, because Snowdrift heats hot enough to fry in perfectly long before it begins to smoke or burn.

And, remember, you can use it again and again, after straining . . . for Snowdrift doesn't absorb any of the frying odors, even that of fish.

Johnson-Long Wedding Date Announced at Lovely Luncheon

An announcement luncheon of charm and originality was given Thursday at the home of Mrs. Dan Carithers, 1401 Hayes street, when Mrs. Carithers and Mrs. Walter J. Johnson entertained in honor of Miss Annie Laurie Long whose marriage to Dr. R. P. Johnson of Tchula, Miss., will take place on June 5.

Pink and pastel blue are the bride-elect's chosen colors, and flowers in these shades were used in rich abundance. The luncheon table was laid with a filet lunch cloth and pink candles tied with blue tulle and a royal centerpiece of double pink poppies and blue larkspur emphasized an exquisite color scheme. The small tables surrounding the large center table were covered with imported Japanese embroidered linen cloths and centered with crystal baskets tipped with blue tulle bows and filled with pink roses.

The place cards were the daintiest works of art. Each was hand-painted with pink roses and blue forget-me-nots and on the back of each was pasted a tiny envelope holding a small heart, also painted in dainty flowers and bearing the initials A. L. L. and R. P. J., June 5.

A delicious three-course luncheon was served. The salad course was molded in heart shape and the ice cream came in the form of pink wedding bells with cake decorated with forget-me-nots and roses. On Miss Long's cake was perched a little white dove.

Miss Modena Howell sang two beautiful numbers, appropriate to the occasion, "Love Comes Calling," by J. S. Zamecnik, and "Love (In a Parenthesis)" by Julia Stevens Bacon.

During luncheon, an amusing interlude was furnished when slips of Dorothy Dix' advice which had been clipped from papers, were read to Miss Long as original advice from her friends.

Mrs. E. F. Bohmfalk read "The Cooking Lesson" and "A Toast."

During the luncheon a large package was before the honoree's plate and when it was unwrapped it was found to be a beautiful purse just matching Miss Long's ensemble costume, the gift of the two hostesses.

Miss Annie Laurie Long's name is one well known and loved in Wichita. She is a graduate of Kidd Key college at Sherman, is a talented pianist, and has been church visitor in the First Methodist church for two years.

Dr. Johnson is the brother of Dr. W. J. Johnson, presiding elder of this district Methodist conference and is a practicing physician of Tchula, Miss. He comes of one of the old families of the Delta.

The guest list for the announcement luncheon was limited to the ladies of the church staff. Plates were laid for the honoree, Mesdames Joel MacGregor, J. W. Akin Jr., S. S. McKenney, E. F. Bohmfalk, W. W. Cook, Dan Carithers, W. J. Johnson and Eva Chilton, who is a house guest of Mrs. Carithers, and Misses Modena Howell and Marguerite Haynie.

Fort Pierre, by the way, was one of the very first settlements in that part of the country. In the library of the capital, just across the river, there's a blackened silver plate dug up and kept as a souvenir of that time when the French priests came up the Missouri and settled at Fort Pierre.

Pierre, the capital of the state, is a city of between three and five thousand inhabitants. A little town set in a nest of hills and the Missouri river circling it. Twice a year a steamboat goes up and down the river. The flat boat that carries cars and passengers to and from Pierre and Fort Pierre, had to change landing places three times one summer because of sand. Compared with that country, Wichita has no sand storms.

Brigadier General Charteris has written a story of Earl Haig. He believes Haig the outstanding general of the great war. Whether that be right or wrong, General Charteris gives in the book, a vivid picture of Haig, the boy, born of an ancient family of Scotch lairds, going through life proud, reticent, loving few and dying suddenly. A lonely figure, he seems to us.

Y. W. C. A. Board Has Interesting Meeting

A self examination regarding the board member's knowledge of the Y. W. C. A. locally, nationally and internationally, was a feature of the board meeting Wednesday evening arranged in the form of an "Ask Me Another" test.

Some items of interest were that the local association was organized in 1918 at the request of business men of the city to offer protection and assistance to girls employed in local business firms.

Six of the present board members were members of the original board. There are ten active departments in the local organization including employment, room registry, religious education, health education, hospitality, girl reserves, business girls, publicity, membership, finance.

The national Y. W. C. A. has been organized since 1866 and Grace Dodge, a wealthy young woman who was a member of the first board of directors, was responsible for its progress.

Mrs. B. L. Fain was presented with the prize, a decorated basket of sweet peas.

Miss Annette Coffield, chairman of publicity, reported information on the legislative bills affecting the lives of girls and women that are coming up soon.

Miss Catherine Walker, general secretary, and Miss Erma Schnelle, associate general secretary, were re-elected as employed officers of the association to serve for the year beginning in September.

Mrs. Glenn Laskey, president of the organization, presided at the meeting.

Annual Luncheon of 1922 Study Club Lovely Event at Forum Clubhouse

One of the loveliest events of the club season was that given Thursday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse where the 1922 Study club held its annual luncheon. A social committee composed of Mesdames George Paterson, Phil Lesh and T. A. Bradley arranged a decorative motif unusual and outstanding in its beauty. Six very tall tapers in six pastel shades were placed down the long table and wedding rings slipped on them, held ribbons in pastel shades, making miniature May poles, from these May poles the ribbons ran to the little May ladies, dressed in pastel shades who held the place cards. Between the May poles, with their gauzy bows of pastel maline, stood bowls of larkspur in every pastel shade.

A short children's program was given. Mary and Sue Williams, two of the Cato pupils, gave a lovely Japanese dance, followed by an acrobatic number. Roberta and Bonnie Jean Lincoln, accompanied at the piano by their mother, Mrs. R. A. Lincoln, played two exquisite violin duets, "Waters of Minnetonka" and "Spring Song."

Mrs. R. A. Lincoln, president acted as toastmistress. Mrs. C. R. Yauger gave a reading of her own composition, "Springtime," and as an encore, she gave "After Death" a lovely poem just printed in the Kalleidoscope, a magazine of poetry.

Mrs. E. E. Fischer gave a toast to Mrs. Lincoln, the much loved president of the club. Then each member stood and gave an individual toast. Mrs. Fischer made a gracious presentation speech in handing to Mrs. Lincoln a framed motto, "Somebody Cares" and a book of remembrance, signed by all club members. There was deep sentiment expressed in the feeling of the members for Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Lincoln's response was very appropriate.

Covers were laid for the following club members: Mesdames T. A. Bradley, E. E. Fischer, N. W. Gaut, Phil Lesh, R. A. Lincoln, George A. Patterson, S. H. Rider, J. M. Spoonts, Clyde Gibson, C. R. Yauger and Jack Dale. The guest list included Mesdames E. W. Napier, J. C. Allbright, W. R. Little, Frank Creighton, L. T. Francis, R. R. Clark, T. L. McGee, J. E. Litton, W. R. Hammond, Marshal Perry, B. L. Walker of Fort Worth and Misses Roberta and Bonnie Jean Lincoln.

NONE ADMITS INTOLERANCE

However, It's Most Common Human Fault

"Intolerance Is Probably the Most Common Fault in Human Nature, Yet, Strangely Enough, It Is One to Which No One Ever Admits Being Guilty," Muses Dorothy Dix.

Tolerance is the greatest of all the domestic virtues and the rarest. Not love, but unselfishness, not self-sacrifice, not all of the cardinal virtues will go as far toward making a happy home as tolerance, yet these who would die for us if need be will not let us live in peace with our own personal opinions, beliefs and habits.

At the bottom of practically every family row is intolerance. It is what furnishes forth the meat for the daily spat over which husbands and wives quarrel as dogs over a bone. It is intolerance that makes women nag and sets men to roaming and is the answer to the query of why children leave home.

Intolerance is probably the most common fault in human nature, yet, strangely enough, it is one to which no one ever admits being guilty. People will confess that they are murderers and thieves and thugs and bootleggers, but never to being bigoted and intolerant. On the contrary, they feel that they are being broadminded and liberal when they interfere with all of our cherished individual theories and ways and they count it unto themselves for righteousness when they try to force their own point of view upon us and attempt to make us mere rubber stamps of themselves because they are convinced that they are so much wiser and more intelligent than we are and, anyway, their way is the only right way.

Intolerance is the first aid to divorce. The first great disillusion that any young married couple gets is when they find out that marriage is a reforming process and that each has a lot of little personal idiosyncraises that the other simply cannot understand. In the days of courtship the man has been led to believe that his lady love regarded him as a combination of sheik and oracle and fairy prince and Sir Galahad. Likewise, the girl has been left under the impression that in her lover's eyes she was nothing less than an angel.

Imagine, then, the shock it is to a man to ascertain before they have gotten a week's journey away from the altar that his wife is bent and determined to pull him to pieces and to make him all over according to her own little perforated paper pattern and that she considers it her sacred duty to stop him from smoking and eating the kind of food he likes and singing while he is taking his bath and playing golf and indulging in a hundred other little innocuous tastes in which he somehow found pleasure.

And consider the body blow it is to a woman's vanity when, even before her honeymoon is over, the bride discovers that her young husband doesn't admire her and consider her perfect as she is, as she fondly supposed, and that he is setting about the life work of crushing out her identity and making her a sort of echo of himself.

Yet we all know plenty of marriages which should have been successes that have gone to wreck on just this rock of intolerance. Good, kind, devoted wives who nagged their husbands about smoking until they drove them out of their homes to places where they could smoke in peace. Wives who carried on a 40 years' war with their husbands over a religious creed or a lodge or politics or a fad or a hobby or because they like automobiles or didn't like them.

And we all know husbands who make their wives' lives a burden to them by raising ructions about the way the wives dress and by attempting to dictate the length of their wives' skirts and whether they shall use paint and powder and lipstick and have their hair bobbed. Husbands who are always interfering about the housekeeping and snooping in the ice box and the garbage can and telling their wives that they peel the potatoes too thick and throw away stale bread and forbidding them to belong to women's clubs and criticizing their family and friends, etc.

These foolish husbands and wives do not realize that by the time a man and woman are grown up enough to get married their habits and tastes are fixed and that we interfere with these at our peril. The wife will not see that it is better to have a contented husband smoking by the fireside than it is to have an angry and outraged husband slamming the front door behind him and going out to hunt the society of some woman who is more tolerant of tobacco than she is.

The man cannot see that his wife has a hundred good qualities that offset the one to which he objects and that it is better to have a wife who keeps herself happy and contented and bright and full of interest by gadding around than one who grows dull and sour by being kept at home and who comes to look on her husband as a jailer.

And isn't all of this struggle between the younger and older generation and most of these tears and wailings and beatings upon the breast and dismal forebodings about what the young are coming to largely a matter of intolerance on both sides?

Intolerance from youth because it refuses to be bound by the law of its elders and because it will not see that there is any viewpoint but its own. Practically every girl and boy thinks that their father and mother and everybody past the age of 40 are doddering dodoes who know nothing, who have never had any experience in life and who are utterly incapable of forming any intelligent opinion about the problems of the modern world.

Hence these youngsters scorn the advice and warning of their elders, but if they were not so intolerant they could get some mighty helpful hints and save themselves from many a disaster by listening to the counsel of those who have traveled the road they are just starting out on and who know its every danger.

And it is intolerance that makes us judge the young so harshly. We think many of the things they do are wrong merely because we didn't do them when we were young.

Riding in an automobile is no more dangerous than riding in a buggy. And tomorrow riding in an airplane will be no more dangerous than riding in an automobile. Also, we forget how foolish and lacking in judgment we were when we were young and how avid for pleasure and how sure we were that we would die of disappointment if we didn't get the thing we wanted just when we wanted it.

So it all comes down to the same thing in the end. Toleration. That is the solution for the husband and wife problem and the children and parents problem.

REINDEER MEAT MAY OUST BEEF

Arctic Explorer Outlines Possibilities

LONDON, May 9. (UP)—The principal meat supply of the world may come from Alaska, Siberia and Canada within the next 50 years and possibly will be reindeer meat, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famous Arctic explorer, said in an interview with The United Press correspondent today.

Stefansson, who has lived on a meat diet for months at a time during his Arctic explorations, derided the popular belief of "frozen Arctic wastes." He termed such belief part of the "mythology of the Arctic" and said the belief originated with the Greeks and had penetrated modern text books.

Reindeer, he said, live on grass in the summer months and on bushes in the winter. Unlike cattle they do not need to be fed and tended during the winter months and so obviously are raised more economically than beef stock.

Stefansson pointed out that beef producers in the Arctic would need only to hang the slaughtered animals in the open air and the next morning would have completely frozen meat ready to be stored below the earth where permanent Arctic frost would preserve it.

The meat, he continued, could remain in the "natural refrigerator" during the entire winter and if five feet below the ground, even during the summer months despite the warmer temperatures.

The explorer said reindeer meat was introduced in the United States three years ago. He said it tasted like beef.

The principal thing necessary for a world wide supply of renideer meat will be the introduction of proper producing facilities in the northern areas, he said. When the Russians start producing in Siberia the world supply will be available, according to the explorer.

Texas Woman May Become Queen Of Smallest Kingdom

EL PASO, Texas, May 9. (UP)—Tavalora, a tiny kingdom in the Mediterranean off the coast of Italy will be transformed from a quiet fishing and farming hamlet into a second Monte Carlo, if Mrs. H. N. Frampton, El Paso club woman and her son, Lowell H. B. Farmpton, 22, Los Angeles automobile salesman, accept the queen and kingship of the isle.

Mrs. Frampton, whose great-great-grandfather settled on the island and established the kingdom of Tavalora 200 years ago, has been tendered the throne of Tavalora, "the smallest kingdom on earth," and today she said she expected to accept.

King Paul, present ruler and cousin of Mrs. Frampton, in a letter to the Italian consul at San Francisco, recently offered his kingdom to Mrs. Frampton and her son, "because the people want a new ruler."

"If my son and I accept the rulership it would be with the purpose of making a tourist resort out of the island similar to Monte Carlo," Mrs. Frampton said.

The island covers only three square miles and has 800 inhabitants. The chief occupation is sheep raising though the island once was noted for its pearl fisheries.

'SNITCH' DEFINED

Woman Goes to Jail Rather Than Tell Of Beer Business

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 9. (UP)—A 65-year-old woman chose 30 days in jail today rather than tell for whom she was making beer.

Offered freedom if she would disclose her brewing operations, Hallie Murdock spurned the offer.

"That would be a snitch and I think snitches are about the lowest people you can find," she said. "I guess snitches are responsible for me being here, but I'm not going to turn into one just to get out of here."

The woman was fined $31 for brewing and Judge Estes said she must go to jail when he found she could not pay the fine.

ECLIPSE DAY GALA OCCASION

Successful Observation Is Reported

MANILA, P. I., May 10. (Friday) (INS)—Father Selga, head of the Manila observatory, today reported a "most successful" observation of the total eclipse of the sun from his station at Iloilo on the Island of Panay. Observers of the naval expedition from the Washington, D. C., navy observatory were also pleased with results they obtained.

The eclipse day took on aspects of a holiday. While hydroplanes circled the skies taking pictures, Iloilo and other towns in the path of total eclipse closed the stores and made the occasion one of religious observance. The day coincided with Catholic asencion day.

Hamlets on the Island of Cebu reported similar scenes, as the native inhabitants became awestruck and sought shelter indoors.

Scientific tabulations of the results from the various observation parties in the central island district will be delayed several days, it was reported.

Flier Who Crashed In Fog Is Found Dead

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 9. (UP)—Lieut. Ivan D. Houston, 28, of Eugene, Oregon, Western Air Express flyer, was found crushed to death today in the wreckage of the airplane in which he was carrying the mail from Denver to Cheyenne. He crashed last night in an impenetrable fog that obliterated the landing lights at Cheyenne's airport when he was within nine miles of this city.

Kind Judge Frees Park Bench Mates Of Returning Gobs

NEW YORK, May 9. (UP)—Twenty-two sailors and twenty-two sailors' sweethearts are ready to enshrine Magistrate Earl Smith as patron saint of the United States fleet.

The fact that the fleet is on shore leave was brought rather forcibly to the attention of Magistrate Smith today when a squad of policewomen and policemen unceremoniously shoved into his courtroom the victims of an extensive raid on the Riverside Drive park benches. Twenty-two sweethearts appeared before the magistrate, but no sailors.

Magistrate Smith frowned.

"I understand," he said, "that all of you have known the sailors you were with for many years—that you were rejoicing to be together again when you were interrupted."

The jaws of 22 girls ranging from 17 to 21 years of age dropped slightly.

"That is very well and good," the magistrate went on, "but there are some bad women in New York. We must protect the fleet. You can understand that. In the future, girls, will you do me a favor?"

"We will, your honor," rang the chorus of Twenty-two.

"Then hereafter entertain the fleet in your homes. Complaints dismissed."

The 22 defendants left hurriedly. On the sidewalk outside there were 22 sailors. A moment later 44 persons were going arm in arm toward the battery, the farthest spot on Manhattan from Riverside Drive.

THREE LUBBOCK GIRLS MISSING

High School Girls Thought To Have Left Home

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 9.—While the parents are becoming more and more worried as the time goes by, officers are making an extensive search for three Lubbock girls who disappeared from their homes Saturday afternoon and have not been heard from since.

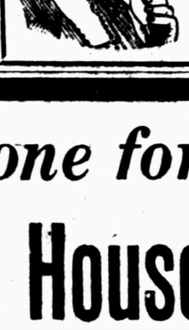

The girls are: Loretta Griner, 14, who was in the sixth grade and Juanita McCrary, 15, and Alta Mae Gilbreath, 15, who were in High school.

No reason was given for the girls leaving home, other than the restriction of parents from them having many dates with young men. One of the girls had threatened to leave home several times it was said, but her mother had never suspected that she would make her threat good.

Parents of two of the girls fear that they have become the victim of foul play, while the other family believes them to be hiding in Lubbock.

Teachers Hold Final Meet Of School Year

Roy J. Daniel, attorney of Wichita Falls and teacher of history in Reagan Junior High school, was elected president for next year of the Wichita Falls Teachers association in the final meeting of the session held at Reagan auditorium Thursday afternoon.

Other officers selected are W. E. Walker, vice president; Miss Zoe Liles, secretary, and Miss Fannie Vance, publicity chairman. A committee consisting of R. A. Jarrott, Joe McNiel, and A. K. Pressen supervised the balloting.

An extra number on the program was furnished by Ernest Reeves, tenor yodler known to radio audiences, who gave a number of songs. Reports were then made from each subdivision of the teachers association, Miss Sara Sue Denny, president of the elementary teachers; H. A. Glass, president of the junior high association, and R. O. Jonas, vice president of the high school-college association, giving brief accounts of their respective groups for the year's work.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools, spoke briefly on the main problems suggested to him by the school year about to close, thanking the teachers of the city for their cooperative spirit. Miss Elfie Savage, president for the year now closing, gave her expressions of appreciation for the assistance furnished her by numerous committees on the banquet and other activities of the year. A motion by J. E. Park was adopted asking the appointment of a committee to study the problem of salary schedules in the different units of the school system. Talks were made by all newly elected officers.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug store. Renfro Drug Co.—Adv.

VAGRANT COW STARTS FEUD

Turnip Crop Owner and Neighbor Clash

The vagrant habits of three mules and half a dozen cows, which have aroused the ire of a farming neighborhood north of Wichita Falls, resulted Thursday in the filing of a complaint against their owner in the county court at law. The formal complaint was filed in an effort to avoid an imminent danger of bloodshed, the complaining witness explained.

The straying cattle walked once too often among the fresh young turnips of a neighbor's garden, according to the story reaching the ears of L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney. An irate housewife viewing the devastation, first threw tin cans at the animals and then called upon their owner.

"I'll kill you if you don't keep that stock out of my garden," she threatened.

Whereat the owner sniffed and opined that he was fairly good at wringing necks himself. A peace-loving neighbor remembered the stock law and hurried to town to file the complaint before the feud could reach its climax.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system — and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

YOUNG ARTIST TO INSTITUTE

Rabinowitz to Attend Noted Musical School

Joseph Rabinowitz, young violinist, who will play in concert at the Junior college auditorium under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women May 16, will attend the Damrosch institute in New York city, which is the Institute of Musical Art of the Juilliard School of Music, it was learned Thursday.

This school, which was established in 1905, provides courses of study which contain the subjects necessary to a well-rounded musical education. Since no private teacher can provide this, and few students can afford to engage lessons with all the private teachers requisite to teach all the subjects required, the Institute of Musical Arts enables a serious-minded student to obtain a musical education which will fit him for the career of artist, composer or teacher. This school has the highest of standards. Only students showing sufficient aptitude and talent are admitted and as a result the average ability of the students is very high. The certificates and diplomas of the institute testify to real ability and are therefore accepted as the best recommendation by those requiring teachers or artists, according to artists here.

Candidates for admission must have at least a high school education or must attend school until graduated from a high school, if under 18 years of age. Students taking violin work must be able to play certain specified concertos and studies. Each candidate is tested in ear-training and theory and each student of the violin is required to learn to play the violin before receiving a certificate of graduation.

The proceeds of the coming concert will go towards paying for the musical education which Rabinowitz will receive in New York. He has been a pupil of Ethell Allen Nelsen, teacher of violin. Tickets are on sale at Renfro's drug store and Wolf Bros. Cigar store.

Brown County Officers Given Custody of Woman Arrested Here

Mrs. Maurine King, arrested here Wednesday when she arrived at the courthouse to help her husband, held under burglary charges, was taken to Brownwood Thursday afternoon after physicians had pronounced her in no danger from a heart attack which threatened early in the afternoon.

Both Mrs. King and her husband are wanted in Brownwood on charges of the theft of an automobile. King was arrested here Monday in connection with the burglary of the Wooten Grocery company, and his wife was taken into custody by Sheriff W. G. Bralley upon a warrant from Brownwood.

A short time after deputies from Brown county arrived here Thursday, Mrs. King suffered an attack with her heart. Physicians, summoned to the office of the sheriff, pronounced her able to make the trip. She told officers Wednesday that she had gotten up out of a sick-bed in Dallas to make the trip to Wichita Falls to assist her husband.

Attempt to Murder Charge Dismissed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 9. (UP)—Attempt to murder charges against J. A. Kendall, 62, were dismissed today. He was arrested in April, 1928 in an alleged plot to have his former wife, Mrs. W. M. Watt of Eakley, and her husband poisoned.

Disappearance of Paul Phillips, who said Kendall gave him $1,000 to commit the double murder, was given as the principal grounds for the dismissal. Kendall was arrested after a fake clipping from the Oklahoma News, telling of the death of the pair had been given him.

Negro Fined $1, But Wins Judge's Praise

Praise sugared the pill of a fine Wednesday morning when Judge Irwin J. Vogel addressed a negro who pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by chastising a married man who had been making eyes at his 15-year-old daughter.

"Your motive I commend, but your means I must deplore," the judge told the prisoner at the bar. "I congratulate you on trying to rear your daughter properly, but next time don't use a stick. You might hurt somebody."

Aggravated assault charges brought against the defendant were not pushed after he offered the plea of guilty to disturbing the peace. His fine was the minimum, $1 and costs. The negro said he had used a "club" for the punishment of the would-be "cradle snatcher." In a statement to L. V. Abernathy, assistant district attorney, he said he had continued the chastisement until a group of white men, observing the performance, had advised him that the punishment was adequate.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR TOIL OR TIME

Daily Editorial

THE EARS of Time gather few new truths. Fundamental experiences are usually hand-me-downs.

Valorization for rubber and coffee crops was anticipated by cinnamon planters in Ceylon more than a century ago.

Buckle's notebook, published in 1872, refers to Laing's observations on corn banks in Sweden, where a farmer might deposit his season's leave-over as collateral for loans and purchasers could withdraw their grain by paying notes and accrued interest.

Which suggests that experiment is possibly clothing agriculture's hopes for surplus crop relief in some of Europe's discarded and misfit theories.

The only discouraging aspect of agriculture is its past. The privations, the isolations, the roadless wastes, the insanitation and the drudgery, that make its yesterdays a hideous, economic dream, are gone.

Electric locomotives ride in the prairie schooner's trail.

The site of the old cross-roads store is occupied by a miniature metropolis with the trading resources of a small city. Where the sod house stood, there's a full-convenienced home, with running water and modern plumbing.

The incandescent light has succeeded the kerosene lamp; and central heating, replaced the wood burner. Automobiles spin where springless wagons creaked.

The farthest farmstead is on an R. F. D. route, and blooded herds have shoved scrub stock out of the pasture.

Everybody and his wife are on the telephone line and are members of the "University of Everywhere and Everything," via wireless.

A replica Metropolitan opera house gives nightly performances in the parlor, and the howling of a storm is drowned by Galli-Curci's voice, the symphony orchestra and the swirl of radio dance music.

NEW YORK, by grace of aerial mails, is less than a day removed from the Rockies. Gasoline engines and propellor blades are measuring distance with a new foot rule. Invention is fast felting the entire continent, squeezing mileage out of the map, as a blank is shrunk on a hatter's frame.

Complete electrification is on its way to the farm; the grandsons of Franklin's kite-key are preparing to churn butter and supply illumination, to run the saw buck, cook the dinner, to operate heating reflectors and warming pads, refrigerate surplus yields and dairy products until more advantageous markets, furnish fresh vegetables and fruits throughout the 12 months, pump water for irrigating ditch and force seedlings for earlier planting.

The secret of successful farming is in the brain and the calendar.

Money flows from udder, and grows in sty and stall and coop, year around.

Merchandising, factories, the trades and professions have no idle seasons. Providence never designated farmers as a particularly privileged class.

The Divine command to "labor for six days" didn't except Januaries and Decembers.

"To each hour its appointed task." And agriculture must so adjust itself that it has such a task, whether at the plow or on the milking stool, with the monkey-wrench or in the poultry pen.

There's no legislative substitute for toil or time or common sense.

Without continuous operation, thrifty management and applied intelligence, steel mills, railroads, department stores, newspapers and empires, too, would go broke.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who can have patience will in time have his heart's desire."

Impatience and restlessness wastes one's energies and incapacitates one to take advantage of their opportunities as they come.

The castle of Alhambra in Spain was originally capable of holding 40,000 men.

President Hoover complains that White House correspondents do not ask enough questions. The president must be seeking a little more publicity.

A Missouri girl has made a success of manufacturing stylish shoes in Paris. That's nothing—for years people have been making a success of manufacturing Paris shoes right here in America.

An Omen From Europe

MAY DAY, in the United States and Canada, was just another day, no different from any other except that it marked the first of a new month and consequently brought a new batch of bills to the average citizen's door.

In Europe, however, May Day was a day of omens and portents.

Every capital saw huge crowds parading with more or less disorder. The banner of Communism fluttered in the breeze; and it was not an academic, white-collar Communism, such as paraders in a few American cities displayed. It was a sinister, rough-handed, harsh-voiced thing, ready for combat and destruction, envious and bitter.

In Berlin the day led to open rioting, and a dozen or more men were left dead on the streets when the police got through with them. The "have-nots," as Carlyle called them—the men who are buried at the bottom, hopeless and destitute—raised themselves to the surface and showed that they are ready to overturn many things if given half a chance.

Nothing could better show the contrast between the old world and the new than these May Day demonstrations. Across the Atlantic there was fighting, born of desperate anger and despair; on this side there were a few parades, a few speeches—and, for the most part, business as usual.

The reason is obvious, of course. On this side the average man finds work ready to his hand; well-paid work, whereby he can not only get food and shelter, but a measure of luxuries as well. On the other side work is scarce and poorly paid, and it is small wonder if the mass of men feel that all of society needs to be broken up and remodeled, at no matter what cost.

We are lucky, indeed; but it won't do for us to get too cocky about it.

The thing that has happened to Europe could easily happen to us, given a little bad luck and a little bad judgment.

We might, for instance, blunder into a disastrous war one of these days, and on emerging from it find our foreign markets gone, our trade ruined, our purchasing power shot to pieces and our entire industrial machine thrown out of gear.

In that case, we too would have May Day riots, and they would be bloody ones, for the American people is prone to violent measures when it gets angry.

Europe, with its May Day troubles, stands as a warning to us. If we ignore the warning, and simply go around congratulating ourselves on our good luck, we may pay very dearly for it a few years later.

Raskob's Installment Bond Buying Plan

JOHN J. RASKOB, former chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors company and chairman of the Democratic national committee, is reported to be working on a plan to help workers invest in stocks and bonds on the installment plan.

His plan is said to be to organize a company with large resources to invest in securities which in turn will be offered to small investors who can pay a percentage of their investment in cash and the remainder in installments. The investor would be given the returns from the stock or bond but the company would hold it as security for the payment of the installments.

Many corporations have alloted stock to their employes and have permitted them to pay it out in installments, but Mr. Raskob's proposed company will be the first to go into general stock investment and sale on the installment plan on a large scale.

Mr. Raskob is a man of wealth himself. He is in touch with the reservoirs of capital. As chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors company he has had wide experience in financial matters. He has the resources and ability to carry his plans through to successful conclusion. No doubt he will find many investors, for more and more the capital of the country is going into corporation stocks and securities. A good deal of installment buying is for things that wear out or become obsolete. Here is something that will offer the worker an opportunity for the purchase through installment payments of something that will be permanent and which will pay income. The idea will be welcomed.

Wild Youth and the Parents

AFTER a Chicago schoolgirl of 14 admitted having been on wild parties where liquor was served, the perplexed city authorities hit upon the expedient of putting her mother on trial, accusing her of contributing to the girl's delinquency.

Here is something new in jurisprudence, indeed. And, while the ins and outs of this particular case may not be quite clear, it does seem as if this method of treatment has a good deal to recommend it.

Despite all our talk about "wild youth," "the temptations of this modern age," and the like, the plain fact remains that parents who are on to their job can still keep their youngsters in a normal, healthy environment at home.

When a girl of 14 goes to roadhouses and drinks liquor freely, it's a pretty safe bet that her parents aren't doing their part.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS — By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, May 9.—Jones street is one of the quietest streets in New York. It is only a block long, running between Bleecker and West Fourth streets in the Village.

Among its few residents is Sinclair Lewis, the novelist. He lives there when not traveling about. Just now he is in Montreal, where he went after a stay in Florida, where he went after a stay in England, where he went after a trip around the world.

And that, for no reason at all, reminds me that Harlan Eugene Read arrived in town the other day just when publishers were issuing his first novel, "Thurman Lucas." Just before that Mr. Read wrote, above all things, an extensive study of the inheritance tax.

And, if you care for further gossip about the literati, I might add that Ellen Glasgow was in town, the lioness (I suppose you'd call it that) at more than one Park avenue party. Clara Laughlin, who wrote "So You're Going to Paris," is going to Paris again to write more about famous Paris bars. Joan Lowell, author of the controversial "Cradle of the Deep" will appear in a play next fall on Broadway. It ought to be called "Rocked In the Cradle," for she certainly has been rocked by the critics.

A new racket, you might say, has sprung up among those of the Long Island aristocracy who are a little hard up for cash. They have a system which caters to what is called the week-end paying guest. Certain individuals of substantial means but slight social connections are "invited" to spend the week-end with the subtle inference that they will pay and pay plenty.

The idea has caught on and is flourishing. It really amounts to nothing more than a first class hotell in which to stay over the week-end, only it includes parties, riding, yachting, tennis and golf and all the pleasures enjoyed by the wealthy.

It should succeed if for no other reason than the fact that "guests" are not required to cater to the wishes of their hosts and hostesses. They are not at the mercy of well meaning, but senseless dames who insist that they do certain things at certain hours. Because they pay they do what they please.

This marks the 310th year since Shakespeare's death and, it would seem, Will still remains the peer of his profession. The modern playwrights of Broadway, with all their sensational products sometimes mislabeled "art" never faintly approch him in death, in dramatic vigor or in the portrayal of the realities.

Perhaps, in time, the talkies will add greater glory to Shakespeare, that is, as soon as the Western Electric and others perfect sound devices. Broadway legitimate producers, by the way, are taking up the talkies in a serious way and many of them are planning to give part of their time to producing talking pictures. Some of them even threaten to desert the legitimate stage.

And there is one critic of the drama, who for a long time looked with disdain upon the movies, who has announced his intention of considering 100 per cent all talking (absolutely, positively) pictures as a legitimate field for his critical observatons.

A noted New York edtor criticises the practice of newspapers giving so much attention of the ballyhoo sort to sports. He thinks that the experts take baseball, football and the like too seriously.

Well, it does amount to ballyhoo and free advertising, I suppose. The reply is that the public is interested. But if we have critics and experts for sports and the drama, why not critics for clothing stores, second hand furniture, hot dogs and pork and beans? The public is interested in such things, also.

Is the reply of the critics that these things are not "sporting" or are not dramatic? Then why not pay attention to collar button chasing? There is plenty of sport in chasing a lost collar button and when nerves become taut and unstrung, there is plenty of drama.

Aviation country clubs are the latest. They are springing up around New York, to meet public demand. There is one near Hicksville on Long Island and another in New Jersey. These clubs provide facilities for golf and polo as well as fo rairplanes.

So in the future, it may be expected that our social columns will have to include the aviation country club and the man about town, who goes in for his clubs seriously, will be out of place if he doesn't join one.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LINES ON A WET SPRING

We've had an awful lot of rain
With cloudbursts by the score;
The spring's been sunless in the main
And ev'erybody's sore.
But now there is a patch of blue
Above the earth again.
And so I think that we are due
For—frankly speaking—rain!

Day in, day out it's poured and poured
From early morning till night;
Earth by the sun has been ignored
And left a soggy sight;
But now the wind has changed a bit—
The fog is on the wane;
And so I'm very certain it
Means we will have some rain!

The garden is a mucky mess;
My lawn is all a-swish;
It's rained so much I must confess
I feel like just a fish.
But now the skies are brighter and
The wind has ceased to roar—
So I'm predicting—understand?—
That it will rain some more!

No spot I know of 's wholly dry;
The yard 's a soaking bog;
I have a sort of feeling I
Would like to be a frog:
But now the weather forecast, eh,
Predicts: "Tomorrow fair"—
And so I positively know
There's more rain in the air!

"The storm that came from Tennessee
Has gone the other way:
The northeast storm has gone to sea,"
The weather experts say:
Tomorrow will be clear and grand,
So says the weather vane—
And so I grab my rubbers and
Prepare to get some rain!

Mauritz Measure Is Sent Back to Committee

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Charges that corporations were attempting to defeat his revenue measures by delay were made today by Rep. T. N. Mauritz, Ganado, in resisting an attempt to re-refer a bill imposing an intangible assets tax on telegraph and telephone companies to the house committee on revenue and taxation.

Despite Mauritz's protests, the measure was ordered recommitted by a vote of 70-46.

Mauritz said that with only 11 working days left, it was virtually impossible to bring the bill on the floor for a vote.

Ten of the 21 members of the committee which considered the bill at an open hearing Monday night signed a resolution stating that interests affected by the intangible tax had not been given sufficient opportunity to be heard, and that committee members did not know enough of the bill to ballot on it with intelligence.

The measure was reported favorably by a 6-5 vote.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Lumbago and Constipation)

Question—Mrs. H. W. C. writes: "I am 60 years old, very stout, and look healthy, but am most miserable. I have lumbago, constipation, and suffer from a very bitter taste in my mouth which makes me sick to my stomach. Please advise me what to do."

Answer—You apparently did not take my spring cleansing diet course which I recently wrote for this column. If you will send me your name and address I will be glad to send it to you, as I have prepared this course in pamphlet form and it is now available to any subscriber of this paper who writes, sending a self-addressed stamped envelope. Just ask for the cleansing diet course.

(Creaking Knees)

Question—J. S. asks: "What would cause my knees to creak and grind as though the kneecap were terribly dry? What treatment would you suggest for this?"

Answer—The creaking and grinding of the knees simply denote the lack of synovial fluid, and this condition can usually be corrected through the use of the proper diet and exercise.

(Heart Trouble)

Question—Mary J. writes: "I have been in bed four months with heart trouble. My meals seem to make so much gas, which increases the heart palpitation. Does diet affect the heart?"

Answer—The cause of most heart trouble is an excess accumulation of gas pressing against the heart. This is caused by eating wrong combinations of foods, which combinations produce fermentation in the stomach and intestines; also, by eating such foods as dried beans, onions, garlic, cabbage, etc., which always produce a large amount of flatulence.

LIVING ROOM WINNERS NAMED

Judging in Plainview Contest Ends

Special to The Record News.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, May 9.—Judging was completed and winners announced for the Hale county contestants in the state living room contest Saturday. Interest in this contest has been greater than iny any other project ever undertaken by the Hale County Demonstration clubs. Out of 450 entries for the entire state, Hale county led with 171 with a total of $2,595 expended. The total value of the improvements has been several times this amount, but because the work was done at home and because the women used their ingenuity the acutal dollars and cents were kept low.

The winners are Mrs. D. F. Henegar of the Wilson Community class 1 (improvements costing less than $50) and Mrs. J. P. McGarr class 2 (improvements costing $100 or more). Mrs. McGarr will be given a trip to A. & M. short course by the Plainview National bank, and Mrs. D. F. Henegar will be sent by the Club council and the First National bank, Plainview.

The contest was conducted under the direction of Mrs. Julia Kelley, Hale county home demonstration agent, while the judging was done by Mrs. J. D. Steakley and Mrs. T. Hammond of Plainview. Some idea of the work may be gained by the fact that the judging has been going on since January. A tour of the winning rooms will be made Sunday.

Individual winners in the 16 community clubs will receive cash prizes, also given by Plainview National bank. They are: Mrs. T. C. Dyer, Anchor; Mrs. T. H. Terrell, Bellevue; Mrs. Duncan, East Mound; Mrs. E. E. Rundle, Liberty; Mrs. Jim Helm, Prairie Home; Mrs. Willie Sammann, Plainview; Mrs. Hankins, Seth Ward; Mrs. Matt Gregory, Petersburg; Miss Erma Clark, West Side; Mrs. Fletcher, Cousins; Mrs. Frank Bailey, Ellen; Mrs. W. NEFF'S CHARGE TO COMMITTEE

Blue Sky 'Sensation' to Be Discussed

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Whether the house will issue a subpoena for C. D. Neff of Dallas, and arraign him before the bar to produce proof of charges he has made that the Texas blue sky law has been inefficiently and "corruptly" administered, will be decided by the committee on state affairs.

A resolution by Representative George Purl of Dallas, asking that he be arraigned, and a substitute motion by Rep. A. P. C. Petsch of Fredericksburg that the house express confidence in the integrity of the secretary of state and attorney general's department and place no confidence in the charges of Neff, were referred to the committee after an hour's argument.

After adopting the "confidence" resolution the correspondence of Neff in which the charges were made, read before the house in connection with Purl's resolution, should be expunged from the record, Petsch said.

Neff said he could furnish information that would "startle and shock the citizenship."

Son Escorts Sleuth on 'Peeping Tom' Foray to Help Mother Divorce Dad

NEW YORK, May 9. (INS)—Should the Ray H. Arnold divorce suit result in any more men and women rushing around the streets clad only in night clothing, Judge Charles W. Foote will be ever so much pleased if they don't do it in Yonkers.

"I may be a crank," he said today after he had heard details on the alleged "Peeping Tom" expedition by the son and a detective to the home of Mrs. Margaret Grenshaw West.

"I may be a crank but I don't think its ethical for an 18-year-old boy to try to get evidence of infidelity by his father."

Mrs. Arnold is suing her husband for divorce. Several days ago the entire neighborhood in the exclusive section where Mrs. West maintains residence was aroused by her screams.

When police arrived they found Arnold, his son and a detective. Arnold ordered police to hold his son. Arnold had run to the place from his apartment in his night shirt

Judge Foote found young Arnold and the detective guilty of disorderly conduct. He suspended sentence.

CANZONERI AND ROUTIS MEET TONIGHT IN NON-TITLE BATTLE

TONY TO FIGHT AT 130 POUNDS

Andre Faces Foe From Whom He Won Crown

CHICAGO, May 9. (US)—Every now and then a rank outsider comes down in front in the roped arena to achieve a stunning victory over a warrior who had appeared to outclass him previously.

Gene Tunney's first triumph over Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia, which gave James Joseph the heavyweight championship, is an example of the sort of upset we refer to. Dempsey, the murderous, courageous puncher, was jabbed to defeat by the light-hitting boxer, Tunney.

Last fall Andre Routis, rated a mediocre performer at the time, stunned the world of fistiana by outgaming and outfighting Tony Canzoneri, conceded to be one of the greatest featherweights of all times. The victory, achieved by decision in a torrid 15-round combat, gave Routis the featherweight championship of the world.

Figured Andre a Setup

Canzoneri, the conqueror of Benny Bass, Bud Taylor and a host of other great warriors, figured to outclass Routis, the plodder, when they were matched for the championship. In fact Canzoneri, who had just recovered from a long siege of illness, took the match for that very reason. He figured he could shellack the Frenchman without extending himself.

Once in the ring Canzoneri discovered the error he had made in rating the Frenchman cheaply. Routis, who goes where the fighting is, piled all over Tony and never stopped punching until he had hammered the Italian to defeat.

Canzoneri and Routis will meet again tomorrow night in a 10-round non-title combat, the feature number of the Chicago stadium's show.

Weight Is Tony's Alibi

Will the bouncing, punching, boring in style affected by Routis beat Canzoneri again?

Tony and his handlers have always claimed that the business of making the featherweight limit—126 pounds— beat him in his title match with Routis. Canzoneri's brilliant record since that defeat indicates that there may be some truth to his claims.

Routis has agreed to permit Canzoneri to come in at 130 pounds, a figure that is easy for Tony to make, for their bout Friday night. If Routis beats Canzoneri again, and he certainly does not figure to turn the trick, then you can charge it to the Frenchman's style.

Lone Star Loop Future Clouded

Paris Is Hope of Keeping Class D Circuit Alive

DALLAS, May 9. (AP)—The future of the Lone Star class D baseball league depends on whether Paris will take over the Sherman franchise, T. H. Fisher of Paris, president of the circuit, said here tonight.

Sherman, one of the four club to start the season, turned its franchise back to the league today, he said.

Three games scheduled with Texarkana at Sherman Friday, Saturday and Sunday have been transferred to Texarkana.

A definite decision was expected from Paris not later than Saturday, Fisher added. It was in the loop planned for the season, but dropped out to permit a compact circuit with the understanding it would return if a vacancy developed. Whether Paris would want the Sherman franchise was not known, but President Fisher said he was hopeful.

In the event the Sherman club cannot be placed before the first of next week, it was considered fairly certain the league would disband as Paris was the only "warm" prospect for the orphaned Sherman club.

HONOR CHOICE IN PREAKNESS

15 Entrants Race Today in $50,000 Renewal

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, May 9. (UP)—Renewal of the Preakness—first of the $50,000 stakes for 3-year-olds—at Pimlico, Md., tomorrow revives memories of last year's soul-stirring race between Harry Payne Whitney's victorian and E. B. McLean' Toro.

Which won? The judges said Victorian. The bets were paid off on Victorian but to many thousands Toro was the winner.

Fifteen or more thoroughbreds are expected to face the barrier tomorrow for the mile and three-sixteenths race. Following the Preakness will come the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs a week from Saturday.

Whitney Colt Out

Preakness luck, which has favored Harry Payne Whitney with the last two winners, has given an indication of deserting him on the eve of this year's race. Bargello, the colt which ran away with the King's County handicap at Jamaica last Saturday, spread a foot in a workout this week and seems definitely out of the race.

Bargello and Becon Hill, a full brother of Bostonian, winner of the 1927 Preakness, are the choices of Jamaica horsemen for the rich stakes. Bargello seems the better of the two, but Beacon Hill is in splendid shape and is regarded as a dangerous contender.

Earl Sande, who will ride his own horse, Hermitage, will carry a load of wise-money. It will be the first time in the history of the Preakness an owner and trainer has ridden his own horse.

Soul of Honor Ready

Pimlico betters are backing the Audley farm's Soul of Honor, which beat the Rancocas stable's Leucite in the Annapolis handicap yesterday. Soul of Honor has been specially pointed for the Preakness as he was not named for the Derby.

The Warm stable's The Nut and W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland are two other horses which are getting a lot of play because of their showing at Maryland tracks. Uncle Billy Garth's Baron King, winner of three races in eight days at short distances, is another well-played candidate.

The Jacques stable's Essare, winner of the Wood stakes at Jamaica, is primed for the big event. Essare has plenty of early speed and has impressed clockers in his Maryland workouts.

IT IS INDICATED in the first three weeks or play that the race for the Texas league championship this campaign is to be a jolly old battle. Changes in personnels of all clubs made a near-accurate forecast on the campaign impossible before the barrier dropped opening day, and after more than a fortnight and a half of play the situation is even more complicated.

Failure of the favored Wichita Falls and Dallas clubs to get off to a running start, the startling rise of the Waco Cubs and uncertain play of other teams have conspired to make the 1929 hunt one of the most uncertain the Texas loop has had for years—at least so far as it has gone.

THE RACE has been tightened up in the past week, with the leading Cubs meeting several reversals and the last-place San Antonio and Beaumont teams winning several games. Beaumont has begun to play the sort of excellent ball expected of the Exporters and it is unlikely that Claude Robertson's club is going to cause a lot of trouble. Change of managers apparently has been for the good of the Indians, as Pat Newman's San Antonio nine has come to life after sustaining a flock of defeats the first two weeks.

Dallas has shown improvement in recent days and the Steers with a heavy-hitting veteran club still must be reckoned in the contention. Houston is another club that is in the race for the pennant, indeed, the Buffs are among the leading contenders. Fort Worth still needs more strength. Shreveport has been badly hit by injuries and with some of the other clubs acquiring winning form the Sports seem in for rough going.

Wichita Falls has been a disappointment. Indifferent pitching and loose defensive play have been faults of the Spudders. It is thanks only to their attack that the Spudders have been enabled to hover around the .500 mark. When the Spudder cripples, Stapleton and Turgeon, get back in the lineup and when and if the pitchers achieve steadiness and a winning gait, the Spudders will be the pennant contending team that on paper they should be.

◆ ◆ ◆

THOSE SURPRISING Boston Braves still refuse to crack, and although the Chicago Cubs have pulled abreast the Hub nine, Emil Fuch's misfits occupy a high place. While the Braves do not have the power to stay around the top, and even in the first division, they are a much better ball club than conceded on pre-season prognostications.

The Cubs have justified predictions of the experts but the Giants and Pirates have been woeful flops. St. Louis has played excellent ball. Cincinnati has failed to display any class, offensive and defensive weakness of the Reds sending them to the cellar.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE YANKEES have confounded the experts by their rise in the last week or so. It was the practical unanimous belief of the critics in pre-season forecasts that the champions possessed glaring defects, among them being that Babe Ruth was due to start slipping. But if the Yankees are slipping, the other clubs of the American league aren't aware of it.

Philadelphia still looms as the most dangerous threat to the Yankees' hopes of making it four straight. The Browns seem to lack the punch to make them flag contenders, though the St. Louis club will be up near the top in October.

Stanley Harris has imbued the Detroit Tigers with a winning spirit and the Jungaleers have started a fast pace. Washington continues to hold a submerged place in the standing and the Senators, the most disappointing club in the major leagues, are struggling along without the services of their manager, Walter Johnson, who is ill, and apparently without hope and the punch to better themselves.

Poland's judicial system has been unified. It formerly was badly split up, following methods of various countries.

DE PAOLO HEEDS LURE OF SPEED

Pete to Drive in 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis

By BERT DEMBY

CHICAGO, May 9. (UP)—A queer enigma, this speedway racing game—Pete DePaolo is coming back.

When Pete, the colorful Italian-American, said last year "I'm through," his words occasioned a different reaction than did the same statement from many drivers before him.

Most times the words brought from other drivers, still in the game, a smile, a pat on the back and "you'll feel differently before the next race."

But with Pete it was different. "If anybody else had said that I'd laugh and cheer them up," one driver commented. "But I'd rather not say anything now. Pete's one guy that might forget roaring motors and the thrill of passing some other guy."

Quit After Bad Crash

DePaolo's announcement followed a bad crash a few days before the annual speedy race at Indianapolis last year. The Italian roared into a turn at 110 miles an hour in a practice spin, grazed the retaining wall enough to overturn his car and then rolled over at least five times.

Taken to a hospital, he called it "just another crash." But a few days later he decided to quit.

"I've got some money," he said, "and I guess its time I better be thinking of the family. They been telling me about that last crash. Seems it was pretty bad. I didn't think so at the time. I saw I was going to hit the wall and "got under." (Drivers running into crash endeavor to get under the cowl to keep their heads from being crushed as the machine rolls over).

Just how close Pete came to not "getting under" was seen from the fact that his hair dragged the track each time the machine went over.

Hears Call of Speed

Three months ago there were rumors that DePaolo felt the call of speed. Cliff Woodbury, another great driver, told the writer, "I'm going to ask him if he won't team up with me and Billy Arnold."

The Italian has done that, and is now on his way to get his car into condition for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis.

The roar of motors, the smell of burning gasoline, the thrill of a three-car abreast race down the stretch, the shouts of thousands in the grandstands—that was too much even for Pete who probably will drive the car in which Fred Comer was killed in the East last year.

Queer, this racing game.

Kitchen utensil manufacturers of Germany have standardized the various forms of kitchen ware.

INDIANS SCORE 4 IN THIRD TO TAKE SECOND STRAIGHT, 4-2

PAYNE BESTED IN HILL DUEL

Spudders Outhit Tribe But Glaser Is Effective

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANTONIO, May 9.—A big inning, the third, in which they scored all their runs, enabled the Indians to capture today's game from the Wichita Falls Spudders, 4 to 2. It was the second win of the series and the third in a row for San Antonio.

Payne and Glaser engaged in a pitchers' battle and except for the third, the veteran Spudder right-hander was almost invincible. Save for the fatal round he kept the nine Tribe hits well scattered.

The Spudders clouted ten blows but were unable to hit with runners on the base lines. Nine Spudders were left on bases.

Both clubs fielded brilliantly and errorlessly and the game was played in the fast time of an hour and a half.

Fitz, Red Lead Attack

Fitzgerald and Bennett led the Spudder attack with two hits each, one of Howard's blows going for two bases. Flippen hammered two hits for the Indians.

Every Spudder except Swenson and Payne got a hit and all the Tribesmen save Riley had a safe knock.

Wichita Falls scored in the first inning when Fitzgerald doubled to right and tallied on Bennett's single to left.

How Indians Won

Here is how the Indians counted four in the third, with what proved to be enough to win:

Glaser led off with a double to left and advanced to third on Tate's infield out. Ballew singled to center, scoring Glaser. Benton took Riley's pop. Wetzel singled to left, Ballew stopping at third. Nason tripled to left, scoring Ballew and Wetzel. Flippen singled past third, sending home Nason.

The Spudders tallied their second run in the eighth. Benton started it with a single to center but was forced by Gordon, Flippen to Ballew. Fitzgerald fouled to Meyers. Bennett singled past second, sending Gordon to second, and Milt scored on Snyder's hit to left.

After tomorrow's game here the Spudders return home Saturday to open an extensive stay.

Have a tug-of-war on a HANES SAMSONBAK UNION SUIT

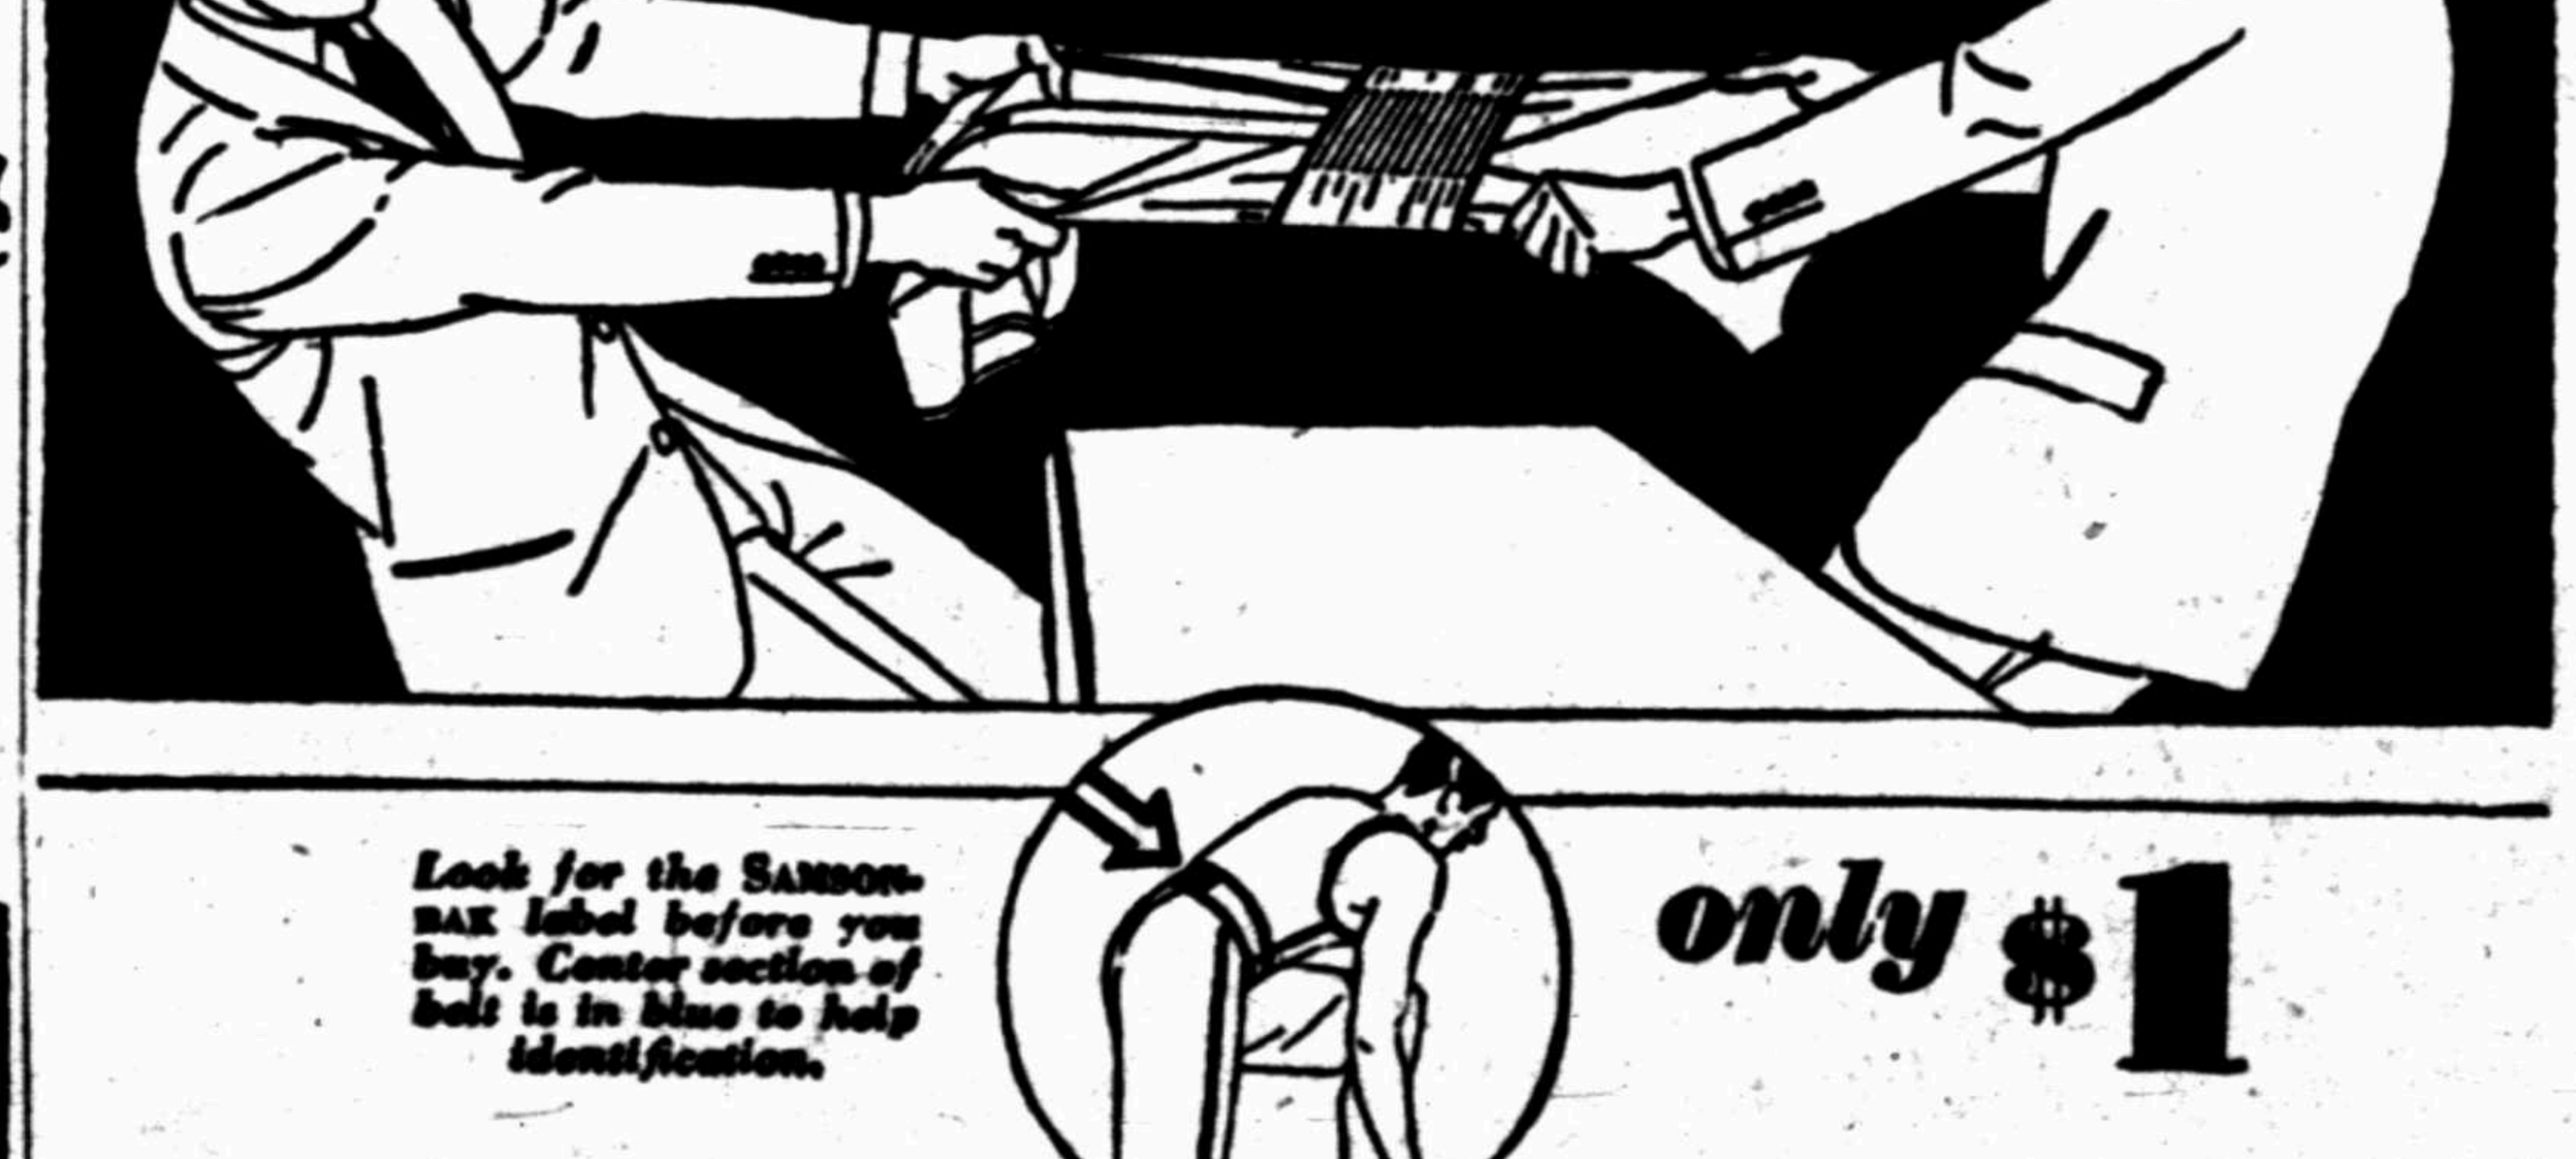

No holds barred!

THINK you could rip that belt? Go on and try. Your dealer will gladly play anchor man on one end of the SAMSONBAK Union Suit while you tug at the other. We want you to go at it hammer and tongs—to pull, yank and twist it without mercy. Then you'll realize that here is the greatest improvement ever offered to men who do things — and who do them energetically. You'll want it, of course!

This belt won't rip. You can't tear it away from the rest of the suit. Another important point—it goes three-quarters of the way around your body—everywhere there's any chance of stretching, pulling or binding. DIEGEL'S 140 LEADS HAGEN BY TWO STROKES IN BRITISH GOLF

ABE MITCHELL NEXT WITH 144

7 Americans Among Qualifiers for Final Round

By HENRY CAVENDISH

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 9. (US)—Two Americans plunged headlong into the waving heather of bleak old Scotland today, brushed aside the Britons who obstructed the fairways, and emerged from the throng of world-renowned golfers to lead the field and place one-two in the British open championship.

They were Leo Diegel, the eratic, and Walter Hagen, the easy-going, holder of the American professional title, and Hagen, defending his crown on the soil of Britain, shot respectively 140 and 142 for two days' work.

What Diegel and The Haig needed was a mark at which to shoot. Percy Alliss, the young British pro with a German background, set it yesterday with a 69. Today, Leo equalled that 69, while the peerless Walter bettered all existing Muirfield records, shoved old man par into the deepest trap on the course and turned in a card of 67.

Haig Sets Course Record

Hagen led the parade for a while with his 75 67—142. But Diegel, who finished soon after Walter, had a 71 yesterday, and his 69 this afternoon gave him an aggregate of 140. Walter, the American Ryder cup captain, has been thrice victorious in the famous British championship, having captured the title in 1922, 1924 and 1928. His 67 was a new record for Muirfield from the championship tees.

The cards of the two leaders, chalked against the par figures for the course, follow:

Par, out	444	345	344—35
Diegel, out	444	344	335—34
Hagen, out	443	343	354—33
Par, in	444	345	344—35—70
Diegel, in	443	345	354—35—69—140
Hagen, in	444	334	354—34—67—142

Hagen, two strokes behind the redoubtable Leo, is still two strokes ahead of Abe Mitchell, one of the British favorites, who stands alone at 144. Percy Alliss today languished five full strokes behind Diegel, with a total of 145.

4 Americans Shoot 147

Four Americans, Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Bobby Cruickshank and Johnny Golden, are knotted at 147. Wild Bill Mehlhorn, Tommy Armour and Aubrey Boomer each turned in a 148. Mike Bingham, Archie Compston, and Mark Seymour are bracketed at 149, while Cyril Tolley, Jose Jurado and Fred Taggart supplied cards of 150.

MacDonald Smith, Long Jim Barnes, Tom Williamson and Tom Fernie, a Britisher, are at 151, and the 152 tally is full to the brim—it includes Al Espinosa, Herbert G. Jolly, Horton Smith, Reginald Whitecombe, Ted Ray, Ed Dudley, Phil Perkins, Henry Cotton, Joe Turnesa and Al Watrous.

Charles Whitecombe follows with 153; George Duncan with 154, Johnny Thomson with 156 and George von Elm, the Detroit amateur, just under the wire with a 157.

In all, 64 players qualified for the 36 holes of medal play tomorrow, when the championship will be decided, over the long morning and afternoon route. The highest score to make the grade for the finals was 157. Harry Vardon, with 160, and J. H. Taylor, old man of the ancient golfing thralldom, are definitely out. Six Americans are among the first eight qualifiers, and there are nine in the first 22.

Joe McCarthy Likes His Cubs

Bruin Boss Sees No Reason His Team Won't Stay Up

By WILLIAM J. DUNN

NEW YORK, May 9. (UP)—Joe McCarthy is claiming nothing for his Chicago Cubs this year, but sees no reason why his men, now on top of the heap in the National league, should not be occupying the same place when the season closes.

"I claim no pennants," McCarthy told the United Press. "My only claim is to a darn good ball club and to high hopes for the future.

"I've found that pennants are won, and lost, on the ball field. No one ever hands you one in this business and it does no good to claim one. I can see no reason why we shouldn't be up there when the season ends, however."

McCarthy went on to elaborate his views:

"It's true that our catching department is weak—right now. But we'll have Gonzales back in harness for the Giant series, I think, and I expect Hartnett to be ready for work in another two weeks. Gab is just suffering from a touch of neuritis.

Grace Capable Catches

"Meanwhile Grace is giving us some nice catching, and while he isn't a Hartnett or Gonzales yet, I expect him to come along fast."

"As for my pitchers—well, look at Rolt, Malone, Bush, Blake, Nehf and Carlson and tell me if you see anything wrong with that staff. I wouldn't trade them for any pitching staff in either league.

"There is no doubt that I've strengthened the Cubs through the addition of Hornsby's batting power. I think you'll find the boys hitting around .300, as a team, which is a fair percentage.

Hornsby Is Praised

"As for this talk about Hornsby being a potential trouble-maker—there's nothing to it. Hornsby is a smart baseball player and a clean liver. He is in bed by midnight every night; he's the first on the field and the last to leave; he thinks nothing but baseball; he doesn't smoke or drink. What more can a manager expect of a man?"

McCarthy rates St. Louis as the strongest team the Cubs have played this year. They meet New York later this week, and Boston next.

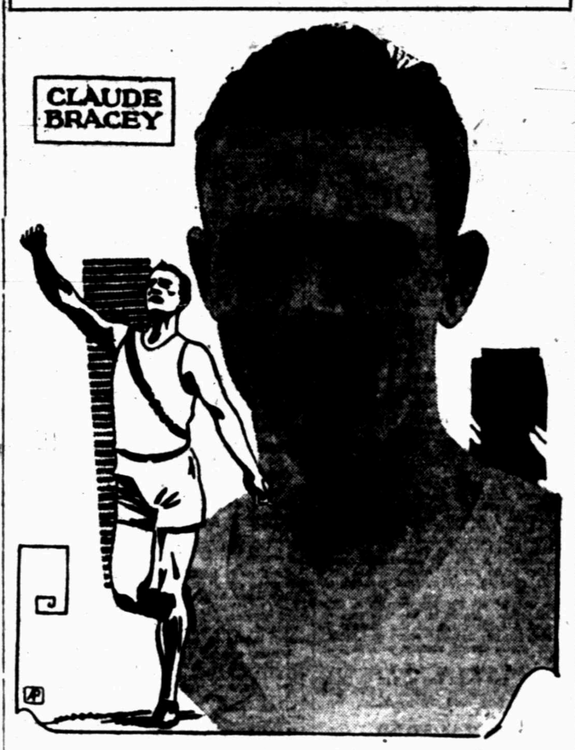

He considers the Cardinals as strong as in 1928 and, while he did not say it in as many words, he indicated his belief that they will be the team he will have to beat.

St. Edwards Shuts Out Texas Tech by 5 to 0

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Captain Sam Dyer of the St. Edwards baseball club closed his college athletic career today by holding the Texas Tech Matadors to one hit. The score was 5 to 0.

Hobson for the visitors, working his first college game, did not allow an earned run.

The Greatest Artists

"Is it possible," asks a reader, "to name the greatest artist or at least a few of the greatest artists in baseball? By artist I mean style, form, smoothness, ease, grace, or those lyrical physical qualities that make for beauty of execution. Perhaps I haven't made my point clear, but if I have I would appreciate a discussion along this line."

This might be entered under the head of personal opinion, for what is style and grace and artistry to one pair of eyes might not carry the same appeal to another.

Here is a complete team that might be registered under this heading:

Catcher—Johnny King—Cubs.

Pitcher—Walter Johnson—Senators.

First Base—Hal Chase—Yankees.

Second Base—Napoleon Lajoie—Cleveland.

Third Base—Jimmy Collins—Boston Americans.

Shortstop—Herman Long—Boston Nationals.

Left Field—Jimmy Sheckard—Brooklyn, Chicago.

Center Field—Tris Speaker—Boston, Cleveland.

Right Field—Frank Schulte—Cubs.

From this list, when it comes to a matter of sheer artistry and what is referred to as "lyrical physical qualities," it is a dead heat between Hal Chase and Nap Lajoie, with Jimmy Collins not so far away. But that would be a ball club to look at if it never won a game, and it would be plenty. If every move wasn't a poem it would be close enough to carry the label without much critical argument. Chase had more dash and style combined than any of the others—Lajoie more of the ease and grace that combine to make every play look too easy to be delivered. Lajoie had the faculty of making almost impossible plays look as simple as easy pickups. Others may have different selections to offer, but this at least will slip by.

Concerning Chase

"I note your reference to Hal Chase, the unhappy genius of first base," writes C. T. L. "Won't you tell more of Chase's great qualifications? I recall his vividness, his vigor, his sprinting up the line after bunts, his daring base running and other qualities, but I have never seen a complete writeup of Chase as the wonder boy."

This would call for more space than happens to be open. One of the greatest qualities of Chase was that he could think in a flash and act as he thought. His mental agility was phenomenal and his reflexes were immediate. Chase could come in on a bunt like a streak, get a play at second or third out of the corner of his eye as he picked up the ball, and have it there before the dazed infielder ever knew what happened. His hands worked at lightning speed in handling a ball, where he could cover a sudden bad hop as if he had expected the change of direction.

About Lajoie

Lajoie had many of the same qualities on the ball field that Chase carried. In spring practice, the first day out, I have seen pitchers throw the ball into the dirt around his feet or back of his neck as Lajoie, with a great eye and a marvelous knack of timing, rapped the ball back as if it had been thrown across the plate. On at least two occasions I saw him throw his bat at the ball, on a hit and run signal, where the ball was wide of the plate, and single over first. Every move he made seemed to be instinctive and effortless, unhampered by any mental or physical interruptions. And the average citizen in any game is nearly always hampered by some form of mental or physical interruption that breaks up smoothness, checks effectiveness and wrecks all style.

A Fugilistic Tangle

"As I understand it," writes L. P., "Sharkey is to meet the winner of the Paulino-Schmeling fight and the man who wins the final meeting will be awarded the Muldoon-Tunney trophy. But suppose after Schmeling and Paulino have it out that Jack Dempsey decides to get back? Or suppose that Dempsey decides to challenge the winner of the September fight"?

The tangle is bad enough in the pugilistic swirl at present, without having to look for new complications. It will be time enough to figure the above proposition out when Dempsey announces his return to action. If he does it is hardly reasonable that any name will be engraved on the trophy until Dempsey has been accounted for. Just how much Dempsey may have left is another guess. But if he wants to have one more shot he will still be the main card in the game.

Today's Golf Tip

Walter Hagen's advice on putting is about as good as any you will get. It is about to this effect: "Take a comfortable, easy stance. Don't tighten grip, wrists or body. Then stroke the ball without jabbing or stabbing it." A position that feels comfortable one day may not suit another day's mental and physical attitude.

TILDEN-HUNTER INVADE EUROPE

Veterans See Return of U. S. Net Supremacy

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—Far from conceding world tennis supremacy to the French for another year, Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter sailed at midnight to tackle the tricolor stars in the big European tournaments, and they expect the United States to be in there battling for everything, including the Davis cup.

Praising America's younger players, Hunter predicted that the newly named team of John Hennessey, John van Ryan and Wilmer Allison with George Lott as emergency man will sweep through the home zone and on to Europe without losing a single Davis cup match.

Tilden went his partner one better by declaring that the Americans will down the Italians in the interzone final, "winning by four matches to one, at least," and then will meet the French in the challenge round "with an outside chance for us to lift the cup."

Whether Tilden and Hunter will be used in the all-important foreign phases of the Davis cup campaign is still a question, but Bill said they are available if desired by the Davis cup committee.

DENVER, May 9. (US)—Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech star athlete and holder of the Olympic and national championship in the broad jump, will compete in the national A. A. U. games here this summer, it was learned today.

BAYLOR BEATS FROGS

FORT WORTH, May 9. (AP)—Lack of pitching strength, coupled with frequent errors in the pinches cost T. C. U. the opening tilt of a two-game series against Baylor university here today, 10 to 5.

Southwest Conference Records Threatened in Meet This Week

Two Mile Run, Pole Vault and Javelin Hurl Marks of Three Years Standing Are Endangered

DALLAS, May 9. (AP)—Those individuals convinced that the speed and stamina of young America is on the upgrade, constantly improving, can find support for their contention in the present list of record holders in the Southwest conference.

When athletes from seven schools meet here Friday and Saturday for their annual assault on track and field marks they will be faced by only three records that have stood for as long as three years. Of the 15 events in which records are listed, new marks have been set in 10 in the last two conference meets. Seven were chalked up last year.

The three who have seen their best efforts stand up in conference competition the longest are Sandi Esquivel, Texas university, and Oz Deitrich and Ward of Texas A. & M. These three each set a pattern in 1925 that has stood the gaff.

Of the three, Esquivel's record of 9:32:4 for the two-mile run appears the least likely to fall by the wayside in the meet this week-end. It is seldom that an athlete comes along with the marvelous stamina of the former Texas star.

Ward's record is in the pole vault, 12 feet, 11 ¼ inches. With the increasing heights to which the bamboo experts have been soaring in recent years, it is noteworthy that the conference has not produced a man to better Ward's peak.

Deitrich hurled the javelin 193 feet, 5 inches in 1925, and no one has bettered that distance since. Floyd, the Aggies' premier spear tosser, has exceeded the mark several times this year and is expected to crack it Saturday.

Golfer Robert T. Jones Makes Debut as Attorney

MACON, Ga., May 9. (UP)—Robert T. Jones, better known as Bobby—today had made his debut as a federal court attorney after having been admitted to practice in the United States court Tuesday.

He appeared before Judge Bascom S. Deaver, representing an Atlanta firm in a $4,000 litigation. The case was taken under advisement.

A monument will be established at Boonsboro, Ky., marking the spot where Daniel Boone established the first outpost of civilization on the frontier.

Charley Paddock Quits Cinder Path for Business

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 9. (US)—Charley Paddock, who holds many world's track records, has run his last race. Internationally famous since 1919 because of his sensational performances on the cinder paths, Paddock made that definite announcement here today. At the same time he stated that he had accepted a position as vice president of the Langwith Publishing company of Minneapolis.

Paddock will leave Minneapolis Saturday for a visit in Los Angeles.

GRAY COUNTY HAS BIG WELL

Operators Oil Co. Producer Makes 3,000 Barrels

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 9.—The area east of the Bowers pool and west of the LeFors pool of Gray county, the Panhandle field of Northwestern Texas, opened last April by the Marland Production company at No. 1 Finley-Brown, has another big producer.

The Operators Oil company No. 1 Cook, in the southwest corner of section 32, block B-2, of H. & G. N. survey, had the sandy lime pay at 2780 feet and drilling to 3790 feet is reported flowing 3,000 to 3,500 barrels a day with 69,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The well blew wild before additional storage pits and tankage could be put up and the Texas Pipe Line company could lay a line to the well. A wire from Ray M. Dunnett, president of the company, said that two gas traps were insufficient and a third was being installed. He said that 100 barrels of oil an hour was being given the pipe line and additional oil was being lost on the ground.

When the Operators well came in the Marland well to the south, and in the northeast corner of section 32, and which did 1,700 barrels initial, almost went dead. It was being agitated and was coming back.

The Texas company has a south offset now approaching the pay, and the Phillips Petroleum company at No. 1 Palmer, in the southeast corner of section 31, was drilling in after unloading the hole at 2780 feet.

Four other wells are starting in the area. The Texas company is in the southwest corner of section 29; the Marland company in the southeast corner of section 32; Champlin Refining company in the northeast corner of section 33, and Danciger Oil and Refining company in the northwest corner of section 28.

Full credit for the new pool is given by all operators to Joseph Mancini, district geologist of Marland company, who over objections of higher officials caused the Finley-Brown well to be drilled.

Refineries Ship More Gasoline

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 9.—Gasoline shipments from the 93 most active Mid-Continent refiners, making reports to the Oilgram and National Petroleum News, reached a new high mark the past week of 46,638,000 gallons. This was the largest volume of gasoline shipped since September, 1928.

As a result gasoline stocks were lowered 17,000,000 gallons, and a check of the area reveals the refiners in excellent condition and with an improving market ahead. The refineries ran 351,326 barrels of oil a day to stills, an increase of 1,300 barrels a day over the previous week.

The spot market was reported steady and strong. Rumors of an export inquiry are heard, but nothing definite can be learned of it.

Maud, Mission, Carr City Active Seminole Pools

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 9.—Maud, Mission and Carr City pools continue to be most active in the greater Seminole field. There are 13 tests in Maud pool that are drilling below the standardized depth, 22 in the Mission and 12 in Carr City. Seventeen tests are drilling above the standardized depth in the Maud pool, 24 in the Mission pool and 17 in the Carr City pool. There are two locations in Maud pool, two locations in Mission pool, three locations and three rigs in the Carr City pool.

The field produced 385,396 barrels of oil from 1,901 wells Wednesday, showing a gain of 3,837 barrels over Tuesday's output of 381,559 barrels. Only one new well was completed in this area.

Collingsworth Men To Attend Cotton Meeting

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, May 9.—Members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association are to hold their annual meeting in Dallas on Monday, May 13, according to information from J. M. Kayser, field representative of the organization in Collingsworth county who says that several farmers of Collingsworth county who are members of the association will be in attendance at the Dallas meeting.

Kayser advises that a good representation from Collingsworth county is assured, and that all railroads over the entire state are offering reduced rates to those who wish to attend.

Shell Withdraws Oil From Storage in Texas

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 9.—The Shell Petroleum corporation is reported to be withdrawing from storage tanks in West Texas around 9,000,000 barrels of oil a month.

IN WINKLER COUNTY

M. J. Bashara and others No. 1 Fee, in section 17, block B-3, in Winkler county, West Texas, encountered from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 2481 feet which blew the tools out of the hole and then caught on fire, burning down the rig.

HANDOUTS

Chief Muses Over Ease Afforded Hijackers In Plying Trade

FORT WORTH, May 9. (INS)—"It's got so about all you have to do is go up to a fellow and ask him for his money to get it," said Detective Chief Tom Jackson, in discussing the recent increasing number of downtown hold-ups. "A case we have had here and others we have heard about would indicate it isn't even necessary to go after it. Just write the victim a note and tell him to bring it out to you."

The chief termed these robberies "handout holdups." "The use of a little will power and head work would send the majority of the hi-jackers scurrying to safety," he declared, pointing out that a holdup man would scarcely dare to shoot in downtown districts where a gun was not brought into play against him.

MEETING ASKS DEMAND BE SET

Oklahoma Producers Seek Limit of 725,000 Bbls.

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 9.—A mass meeting of Oklahoma oil producers here Thursday afternoon voted a proposal to ask the corporation commission to adopt a state wide proration program and keep the state's output at 650,000 barrels a day. Instead it adopted a resolution asking the commission to fix the daily market demand of Oklahoma's oil at 725,000 barrels a day and to continue the hearing on the petition of Umpire Ray M. Collins for a state wide proration program from May 15 to July 1.

Action of the oil producers followed a lengthy statement by W. S. Firtzpatrick, chairman of the board of Prairie Oil and Gas company that it was opposed to any further restrictions on Oklahoma's production. He said that Prairie had taken oil out of storage during the last three months and was still doing so, and that current demand was between 700,000 and 725,000 barrels a day.

W. C. Franklin, chairman of regional interior committee of the American Petroleum Institute, made a plea for some semblance of restrictions to keep Texas and California in line. T. B. Slick, who recently sold out for around $30,000,000, urged that all restrictions be lifted and prove that Oklahoma was unable to maintain its output at 650,000 a day. Although the past week it did reach 672,000 a day.

Umpire Collins is to take the producers recommendations to Oklahoma City next Monday.

Wichita Wildcat Opens New Area

Swabbing with an estimated production of 75 barrels from the sand topped at 1793 feet, G. H. (Red) Howell and associates No. 1 J. B. Foster, located 3532 feet north and 150 feet east of the southwest corner of H. & T. C. R. R. survey, abstract 129, is the factor in the uncovering of another distinct productive area in north Wichita county.

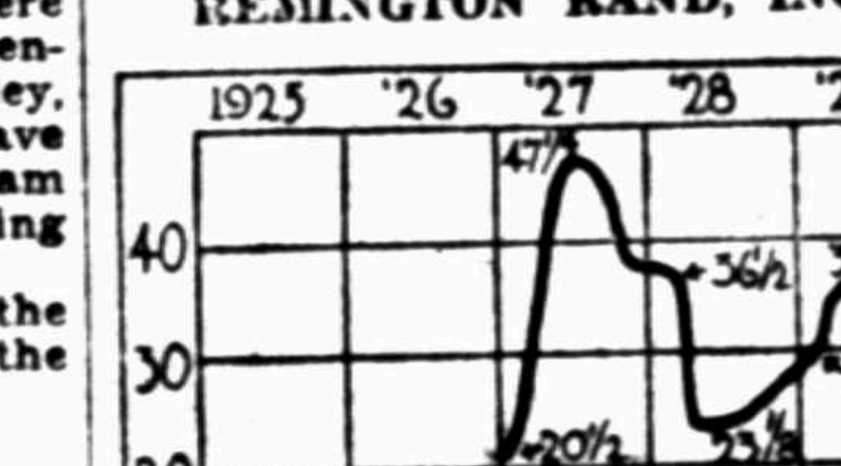

The well which is an absolute wildcat is located two and one-half miles northeast of the Sunshine Hill pool with its shallow producers, and approximately two miles west of the old Ramming pool production, one of the oldest producing pools in Wichita county. The completion of this well is expected to be the factor in starting at an early date other activities on the adjacent tracts, this is evidenced by the number of leases that has changed hands since the bringing in of the well. The sand was encountered at 1793 feet and six feet of the rich pay was penetrated.

Santa Anna Test Makes Big Gasser

Special to The Record News.

ABILENE, Texas, May 9.—Union Oil company, Humphrey Brothers and Shoup have 11,000,000 cubic feet of gas with 500 pounds rock pressure in their No. 1 Moseley, wildcat test a mile and a half southeast of Santa Anna in Coleman county. The gas is coming from the Cross Plains sand topped last week at 1175 feet. The hole is at a total depth of 1184 feet. Last week the well showed 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas from the top five feet of sand. It was drilled four feet deeper and the heavy increase came which makes this well one of the largest, if not the largest gasser ever completed in Coleman county.

The new producer is two miles from the nearest oil or gas production, and is located 1950 feet west and 150 feet south of the northeast corner of the 160-acre Sanger tract in section 61, H. & T. B. survey.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—Conflicting features in the news were reflected by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today. Early declines were followed by rallies, but the market eased again in late trading with July selling off from 18.67 to 18.46 under liquidation and western selling promoted by prospects for clearing weather in the western belt and weakness in the grain market. This decline brought in renewed covering, however, and July closed at 18.54, or 8 points up from the lowest, with the general market closing steady, net 7 points lower to 3 points higher.

The opening was largely steady at a decline of 3 to 10 points on reports of beneficial rains in the southwest, active months sold about 6 to 10 points below yesterday's close under this initial pressure, but the decline brought in covering and some buying on reports of rains in eastern and central sections of the belt. May rallied from 19.20 to 19.42 and December from 18.70 to 18.86, making net advances of about 5 to 12 points and recoveries of some 14 to 18 points from the low levels of the morning. Demand then tapered off, however, and the market weakened later under a renewal of liquidation which appeared to be combined with some southern and western selling.

The latter was supposed to be influenced to some extent by weakness in the grain market. There was also some liquidation or reselling in early buyers who were evidently disappointed by the bullish features in the daily weather details. May declined to 19.25 and December to 18.70, making net losses of about 8 to 12 points on the general list, but a better demand appeared at these prices and closing quotations showed rallies of 14 to 18 points from the lowest.

Private cables reported scattering liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling and covering in Liverpool and said there was more cloth inquiry from Egypt, India and the near East. Sales of fertilier tags in the 13 southern states for April showed an increase of 44 per cent over last year and for the five months December-April a decrease of 3.6 per cent. Exports today, 10,182, making 7,437,304 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,091. U. S. port stocks, 1,302,394.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 9. (AP)—Early declines were followed by moderate rallies in the cotton market today due to failure of reported rains in drought sections of the belt to be confirmed. Prices worked lower again, however, on favorable noon weather reports and unfavorable reparations news. July contracts after advancing from 18.42 to 18.63 eased off again and closed at 18.51, or 6 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 5 to 6 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady at the start here but reports of rains in the drought sections of West Texas overshadowed the trend of the English market and first trades here showed declines of 12 to 15 points. At these levels July and October sold at 18.42, and December 18.52.

As the West Texas rains lacked official confirmation, early sellers covered and there was more or less trade buying on official reports of rather too much rain elsewhere in the belt. On the subsequent advance July sold up to 18.63, October 18.59 and December 18.70, or 17 to 21 points above the lows and 3 to 6 points above yesterday's close.

Towards mid-session the market weakened again on unfavorable reparations advices and official noon reports of dry weather in the belt which traders viewed as favorable to the crop. As a result of the late flood of offerings final prices were 9 to 12 points under the best with October closing at 18.50 and December 18.61, or 5 to 6 points net down.

Stocks Sell Lower Despite Cut In Call Rate From 1 to 10 Per Cent

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 9. (US)—Stocks sold off although the call money rate eased from 14 to 10 per cent today. It was another quiet market in which professional operations dominated. The usual Thursday nervousness aroused by the federal reserve meeting was responsible for most of the selling but good support was evidenced throughout and losses generally were confined to a point or so.

A few specialties moved forward with Shattuck gaining 2¾, By-Products Coke 2¾ and Combustion gaining 2 points. General Motors Steel and other standard industrials dipped to the extent of a point while Radio lost 2, Montgomery Ward 3, and Packard 1¼. Oil shares were more active and fairly firm throughout while the railroad group remained irregular. Turnover held close to the 3,500,000 share level.

E. H. H. Simmons, president of the stock exchange, made about the best review of the current money situation in an address in Chicago tonight. He did not criticize the reserve but confined his remarks to facts and figures and the result was the best defense of the stock exchange, its functions and its credit thus far issued. The most interesting point he stressed was that the "loans for others" should not be considered as credit made by the banks as capital savings of individuals and corporations. It is the "loans made for the account of others" that have bolstered the stock market when credit has been tightened by reason of the reserve manipulation of the money market. In some instances the money loaned has been secured by the corporations by sale of additional stock but in most cases it represents excess earnings. That there should be such a surplus of corporate funds available for the call market, Mr. Simmons points out, is a reflection of the great prosperity through the country which is reflected in the increased valuation placed on many stocks.

United Corporation made its appearance on the big board as forecast here and immediately became one of the most active leaders. Further expansion of its interest in utility and power companies is to be expected soon. Those interested in United continued their activity in Electric investors so that new high price was recorded. By-Products Coke continued to reflect the favorable picture outlined by the president early in the week. Pittsburgh Coal was another to benefit from favorable individual developments as reports indicate material improvement in earnings. Some quiet absorption in the tobaccos resulted from belief that retail price trend will turn and advance over the next several weeks.

American Radiator continues to enjoy good investment demand. Few realize the full extent of the activities of the corporation today. Through it's subsidiaries it supplies the equipment with which to keep warm in winter and cool in summer. Refrigeration system of its subsidiary is most widely used in leading theaters. Murray Corporation insiders continue to voice expectations of steady gain in income over the next few months. Buying in Great Western Sugar is based on belief that the new tariff on sugar will become law. Warner Brothers officials have confirmed estimate that earnings would run to over $4 a share this quarter. There is expectation that announcement of change in important holdings of Willys stock will be made in the near future.

Increase of $19,000,000 in loans should have no influence so long as the rediscount rate was left unchanged. The federal reserve statements were further evidence that a good deal of Mr. Simmons' criticism of the reserve was warranted for it showed the system in much stronger position than it was a year ago. On the other hand, there was no evidence that the reserve has any thought of abandoning its restrictive activities for it showed further sales of both government securities and bills during the week. The effect of the reserve's activities was evidenced by reduction in brokers' loans of local banks of $115,00,000 during the week. Out of town banks, however, increased their loans $58,000,000 and the remainder of the reduction here was more than offset in the gain in loans for the account of others.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 9. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Opening hog trade around the 11-market circuit was fairly active at steady to 15c higher prices, but packers were again bearish and at most centers paid no more than steady figures. The day's extreme top of $11.70 was realized at Chicago. Total offerings were around 72,100, an increase of 10,000 over a week ago but 37,500 short of the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs generally steady except for some strength at Chicago and a slight decline on clipped lambs at Omaha. CHICAGO REVIEW

CHICAGO, May 9. (US)—A sharp break in wheat prices of 4@5c from the early highs today sent the price of May wheat tumbling to $1.02¾ the lowest level established by the opinion in the delivery month since 1914. The previous low since 1914 when it sold at 92c was $1.02⅞ in May 1924.

Continued liquidation with no buying power to offset it cause the slump. Other grains also suffered from the general selling, and while prices rallied slightly before the close, final quotations showed net losses of 3⅛@3⅜c in wheat; 2⅛@3⅜c in corn; ⅛@1c in oats; and 3½@3¾ in rye.

Wheat opened firm and higher, reflecting strength of Liverpool, which closed 1@1½d higher, due to firmer offerings by plate shippers. High prices here attracted a continuation of the liquidation which has lowered prices severely the past week. Prices dropped quickly with no demand for the offerings in the pit.

News was not at all favorable for the holder, with exception of a few scattered complaints of crop conditions which received little attention. Passage by the senate of the farm bill carrying the debenture provision was looked upon as very bearish inasmuch as it suggests further delay because of the president's opposition to such a subsidy.

Corn prices followed the trend in wheat today, being higher early and sharply lower late. The weakness in wheat and scattered local and commission house selling found but light buying power. The relatively small spread between wheat and corn prices continues to exert a bearish influence in corn when wheat prices drop, and with the general weakness of the wheat market restricts buying.

Run-Off Primary Bill Explained

OKLAHOM ACITY, May 9. (UP)—The run-off primary bill to be presented to the special session by Senator Paul Stewart of Haworth, Democratic floor leader, would have the election board decide the primary contest, said the author today.

"The stumbling block for the run-off primary in Oklahoma was the election contest provision of the present laws," said Stewart. In his opinion the bill now being prepared by Fred Hansen, assistant attorney general, would cure the defects of the present law.

The bill provides that as soon as the returns are tabulated, the county election board shall post the official returns in prominent places in the court house. A certified copy will be given the county clerk for his canvass and another set sent to the state election board.

Verified petitions must then be filed at or before 6 p. m. of the fifth day after the official returns have been posted in county races. This time would be 10 days in state races.

The election board will conduct a hearing after the petitions have been filed. The law also required service on all candidates in the contested races.

Findings of the election board and issuance of the certificate to the winner would be final, according to the proposed measure.

CITY MARKET PLAN DROPPED

Truck Growers Forced To Delay Program

Plans have been abandoned by truck growers in the vicinity of Wichita Falls for establishing a public retail market this spring, according to leaders in the movement, because of the absence of any protection against non-member itinerant peddlers in the neighborhood of the market.

Following a series of meetings held here early in the spring, the truck growers organized and elected Ernest Moore as president. Detailed plans for a produce market were made, and the vacant lot at Tenth and Ohio was tentatively secured. Representatives of the growers' association were advised by city officials, it was stated, that no restrictions could be impose upon non-member truck peddlers who might choose to park outside the enclosed market and sell their wares.

The local truck growers took the position that a market could not be maintained successfully under those conditions, and for the present year have given up their plans for a public market.

Large amounts of locally grown produce are now being harvested. A large portion of the crop is sold regularly to local wholesale houses, it was stated, some sales are being made from the trucks, which park near Tenth and Ohio in the morning, and the remainder is sold to independent stores. Spinach, radishes and onions in large quantities; lettuce, turnips, and beans have been among the leading items marketed from truck farms in this community.

GRAND JURY MEETS TODAY

Wright Faces Charge As Habitual Criminal

Members of the 30th district grand jury for April, to be re-impaneled here on a special order of recall Friday morning, will consider evidence prepared against C. A. Wright, already under two burglary charges, whose indictment as an habitual criminal is being sought by Sam Spence, district attorney. Records showing two former convictions will be presented to the jurors, Mr. Spence said. Conviction on an habitual criminal charge may result in a life imprisonment sentence, the district attorney explained.

Wright was arrested in Oklahoma two weeks ago in connection with a series of burglaries in private residences here. T. O. Cagle, named in one former indictment with Wright, is held under five other separate charges. Mae Hart, arrested at the same time, is charged in two indictments with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Several other complaints which have been filed with the district attorney since the adjournment of the grand jury on April 25 will be placed before the body Friday, George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, announced Thursday afternoon. The work of the body is expected to be completed early Friday.

British lifeboat crews saved 572 lives in 1928.

School and College News

The largest silver trophy ever to be in the possession of the Wichita Falls High school is now in the custody of the school as a result of Louis Bond winning the state declamation contest at Austin last week-end. The cup was presented to the school Thursday morning during the general assembly period by Bond and is to remain with the school for the next period of one year, providing that the trophy is not again won next year, or the following year. In the event that the loving cup is won three successive years by the local high school, it will become a permanent possession of the school, according to Dean S. H. Rider.

The newly organized Junior College Boys' Quartet made its initial appearance before the college-high school general assembly Thursday morning and was heralded by the student body as one of the outstanding musical organizations of the institution. The quartet was assisted by Miss Ruby Murrel, accompanist. Bob Murrel and Orville Medford, tenors and Louis Bond and Raymond McPhail, bassos, comprised the quartet.

Two scenes from "The Brat," the three-act comedy which was presented by the Blue Curtain Players Thursday night at the Junior college auditorium were presented before the student bodies Thursday morning as an introduction to the cast for the performance.

LAST TIMES TODAY

"I am so happy . . that the last pimple is gone"

You may be happy, too!
The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.
EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.
Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.
A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.
Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.
Take S.S.S. at meal-time. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effect.
All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. The Great Blood Tonic
S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.
