4H Club Show June Jubilee Is Great Success

Twelve adult breeders and ten 4H Club members, boy breeders, brought forth a representative sample of the many fine registered goats in Kimble County. The Junction June Jubilee gives breeders of the county an opportunity to show their products. Much interest was manifested in the judging of twelve yearling B type billies and the seven C type yearling billies. Jim Thomas and Tom Strickland classified the goats while Jack Turner, a breeder of registered goats, did the judging.

Mr. Turner going about the job earnestly and conscientiously in his own quiet way did a splendid job of placing and all entrants were well pleased. The goats were shown in the four months fleeces and made an outstanding exhibit. The boys were able to make the show through the co-operation of the breeders of the county who sold to and furnished the boys with billy kids last fall and winter.

The winners in their respective classes were as follows: 1st—Gus Camp; 2nd—Charlie Fox; 3rd—Alton Bannosky; 4th—Roberts Watters; 5th—Brogan Guthrie. In the C type class Gus Camp led the field with an outstanding goat; David Watters had second on a good individual which was followed by a close third shown by Max Camp. Robert Watters took off fourth honors followed by Milton Lavelle for fifth place. Prize awards were made possible in both classes by our ever active Chamber of Commerce which is always ready to stimulate interest in the boys' and girls' 4H Club work to "Make the Best Better."

Over one hundred head of registered goat and sheep were shown by the following: Jim Thomas, N. H. Skaggs, Jack Turner, Bossman and Cowsett, Joe Gardner, O. J. Camp, Will Fairchild, Keen and Cowsett, Morris Murr, Clarence Jetton, Bishop Bros. and W. W. Holt. Bishop Bros. and Willie Bolt had good displays of sheep. Morris Murr brought in two goats that were outstanding in grease content.

Candidates' First Expense Accounts Due

Candidates must file their expense accounts not more than thirty nor less than twenty-five days before the primary election on July 26. This means that now is the time to file the expense accounts with the County Clerk. Monday, July 1, is the last day to file the first report. To be safe see the County Clerk at once and file with him the expenses incurred to date in the primary election.

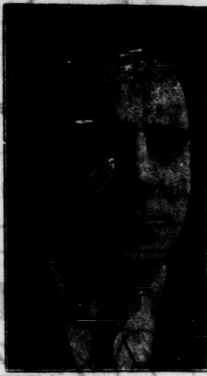

The second report must be made not more than twelve nor less than eight days before the election. This means that the second report must be filed not later than July 17. Candidates should make a note of these dates as it might prove serious to neglect to file these expense accounts.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Franks of Rocksprings attended the barbecue last week. They remained for a visit with Mrs. R. M. Stevenson and other relatives.

BONDS CARRY

In an election held yesterday in the Junction Independent School District bonds in the sum of $35,000 were voted for a high school building and improvements. For the bonds $222, against 134, giving a majority of 88 votes in favor of the bonds.

President of Rotary International, 1930

Dramatic Club Will Complete Plans Monday

Announcement was made, as a result of a meeting held Monday afternoon, that Junction will have a summer dramatic club. The organization will be under the direction of Miss Mary Ellis Blackburn, supported by Mrs. Conde Hardeman and Melton Boyd. The Chamber of Commerce, at the meeting of the Board of Directors yesterday, passed a resolution endorsing the project and encouraging its activity.

With the number of talented people in this community, such an organization will flourish. In other cities and towns the dramatic club is the circle in which the spirited and creative men and women meet. As much can be expected in Junction.

The organization will be conducted in a way similar to Little Theater groups elsewhere, having a single director and an advisory committee in charge. Plays and other entertaining features will make up the programs which are to be put on.

The dramatic club urges every person who is interested in being an active member to attend the next meeting, which will be held at 8:00 next Monday evening in the Chase building. At this meeting announcement will be made of the activities of the club, and of the first program to be presented.

Pastor and Church Appreciates Gifts and Many Courtesies

A beautiful gift to the new Methodist church was made by Mrs. T. M. Hodges who presented two pulpit chairs of rich design and finish. Unfortunately the chairs did not arrive in time to be used at the opening services, but are now in place. In the building of the new Methodist church many contributions have been made that deserve grateful acknowledgment. Many business firms have shown courtesies, among them the Farmer Furniture Co., the Junction State Bank and the Junction Eagle. Seating the large crowd Sunday was made possible by the loan of chairs from several sources. The generous giving on the part of the membership and friends of the church has made the building possible and will be always remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ramsey have as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Williams of Dallas. Mrs. Williams is a sister of Mr. Ramsey.

Several important news items came in this morning too late to get in this issue. We regret that we could not use them.

Good Seeds Pay Kimble Farmers Big Dividends

That good seed pays is always evident, however, it is being demonstrated in Kimble County for the first time this year. Nearly ten thousand pounds of highly standardized pureline, germination tested seed valued at $487.50, distributed to 43 farmers and ranchers through the Chamber of Commerce and county agent is demonstrating to its owners that good seed pays and will avoid a heavy winter feed bill with a little effort on the part of the planter.

Alva Fisher has twenty acres planted to hegari which is just beginning to boot out and is probably the most uniform crop in the county. His cost of production thus far is two pounds of seed per acre or eight cents and approximately seven hours work per acre. Mr. Fisher has no other grain sorghum within two miles of his place and will be able to save all of his seed for planting purposes if he should desire to do so.

Wood Puckett of London has twenty acres planted to Reese Drought Resister corn of which he says the following: "I have planted corn for many years but this is the best I have ever produced." Mr. Puckett broke his land in November, planted on March 10th, has had three inches of rain, cultivated only once and has prospects for 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

The county agent is busy checking up on feed crop demonstrations and will do much valuable work to assist growers in selecting their planting seed this fall. What we have said of these demonstrators will readily apply to a larger percentage of others planting this good seed.

NEW MAIL ROUTE FROM JUNCTION TO ROCKSPRINGS

Postmaster Earl Tracy announces that the mail route to Rocksprings has been secured and that mail will be carried three days each week by Mr. J. R. Murray.

The route now runs to Telegraph and return, but the new route will extend the service to Rocksprings. It will be a great convenience to the people between Telegraph and Rocksprings as it will give the people along the route mail service three times each week, beginning July 1.

You can't measure the good of a kind word or a good deed.

Menard Chosen As Headquarters For Sheep Men

Menard was selected as the permanent headquarters and meeting place of the Texas Delaine-Merino Record Association at a meeting held in that city during the week-end. It was predicted that the group would have a membership of 300 to 400 by the first of the year. The annual meeting will be held on or about May 1, each year.

Jap Walker, representative of the National Registry Association, was present at the meeting and offered the advice and aid of the group he represents. The association will begin soon the registration of Texas Delaine sheep. The purpose of the association is to stimulate interest in Delaine sheep, which breeders said constitute half of the five and one-half million sheep in Texas. It will be the biggest record association in Texas.

The officers elected are: Arthur Real, of San Antonio, president; O. W. Streigler of Menard, vice president; Thomas Glimp, Menard, secretary-treasurer.

The executive board consists of: L. P. Clark, Copperas Cove; A. V. Livingston, Talpa; R. N. Padgett, Tarpley; R. F. Alexander, San Marcos; H. C. Johnson, Brady; Gus A. Basse, Fredericksburg; J. M. Clayton, Comanche; E. Klappenbach, Johnson City.

Membership in the association represents 35 counties.

Kimble Co. Terraces Pay Says A. Fritz

From all reports gathered from the farming section of the county water run up hill refuses to run down hill; stood belly deep to a horse on the hill side and incidentally insured Alfonso Fritz of a cotton, corn, sudan and cane crop. Mr. Fritz built four terraces on his forty acre field last winter. He has had two rains and each time observed that the water stood where it fell.

The answer is: terraces run of the level with contoured rows save the soil, water and plant food all of which are necessary to produce a crop and insure heavy yields.

Mr. Philip Joseph was called to Lockhart Monday night on account of the serious illness of his brother, Sam Joseph. A message from Mr. Joseph last night stated that his brother is in a serious condition.

Winners In Bathing Review Racing and Roping Contests

On account of not being able to get in touch with the various committees at the close of the barbecue last Wednesday, we were not able to get reports from the bathing beauty review, armadillo derby, races and roping contests. With the help of the manager of the chamber of commerce we have secured the results of the contests. It is possible that some errors may be found in the reports as it is very difficult to get all reports without some errors creeping in.

Bathing Review
Long before the appointed hour great throngs crowded around the reviewing stands to view the thirteen beauties that entered the contest. The two beautiful little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schott, 927 Jayton Avenue, San Antonio, created many favorable comments.

But as they represented Miss San Antonio and Miss Bexar County, and were not from the Hill Country, they were not considered by the judges, we are told. Mrs. Allene Hamer as Miss Junction won first place and the $20 prize. Miss Lena V. Stokes as Miss Sonora won second place and a prize of $10. Miss Bill Garrett as Miss Rocksprings won third place and prize of $5. Other entrants were Miss Dorothy Macdowell as Miss Kerrville, Miss Margaret Morley as Miss Ballinger, Miss Katharine Suttles as Miss Edwards County, Miss Mary Martin as Miss Kimble County.

In the Merchants Review, Miss Blanche Whitewood as Miss Junction State Bank won first place and a prize of $7.50, and Miss Jack Whitewood as Miss Philip Joseph won second place and a prize of $5. Other entrants were Miss Martha Bundy as Miss Kimble Courts and Miss Betty Bundy as Miss Highland Chevrolet.

Armadillo Derby
A novel entertainment feature of the Junction June Jubilee this year was an armadillo derby in which "Gallant Fox" entered by Guy Munn won first place and a prize of $10 on the first afternoon. Other entries were made the first afternoon by Benny Cobb and Wright Brothers. On the second afternoon No. 13 entered

Local Rotarians Attend Meeting 25th Anniversary

Emil A. Loeffler, president of the Junction Rotary Club, and Luther Hill, an enthusiastic member, left last Friday to attend the Silver Anniversary Convention which closes in Chicago tomorrow.

Paul Harris, whose picture appears on this page, organized the first Rotary Club in Chicago twenty-five years ago. In this short time it has spread to sixty-two countries. There are at the present time 3,337 local clubs. M. Eugene Newson of Durham, North Carolina, has been the president the past year.

The Rotary influence is being felt throughout the entire world and it is hoped that Rotary International will help to bring about international peace. The keynote of every club in the world is peace.

The development of this peace movement in Rotary in Europe, in the Near East, in the Far East, and in Latin-America was pictured by speakers from each of those regions. William de Cock Bruning, a native of the Dutch East Indies but now resident in The Hague, spoke in the name of the European Rotarians on the effect the spread of Rotary is having in the promotion of greater friendliness among the business and professional men of Europe. Peter Soudah of Jaffa, Palestine, now in the United States preparing himself for missionary work among his people, spoke of the need of Rotary spirit of tolerance and friendliness in the warring sects and peoples of Palestine. Judge John Wu, former chief justice of the provisional court at Shanghai, China, and now in the faculty of the Harvard Law School, spoke in the name of his people of the Orient who for twenty years have been the victims of civil war. The viewpoint of Latin-America, where Rotary first crossed the barrier of language, was wonderfully portrayed by Luis Machado, president of the Rotary Club of Havana, Cuba, a relative of the president of the Republic of Cuba.

MRS. SAM BOWERS IN CHARGE WHITE KITCHEN

Mrs. Sam Bowers is in charge of the White Kitchen at McWright's Tourist Camp in East Junction, and asks her friends to come and eat with her. She has been in charge of this popular place before and knows what pleases the people. She has competent help and will strive to please.

She asks that you read her advertisement on the personal page of this paper.

Being just to your fellow men is a virtue worth while.

Opening Service Methodist Church Largely Attended

A packed house was present at the opening of the new Methodist church building in Junction last Sunday morning when an excellent program was rendered including excellent music by the choir, special musical numbers, symbolic service at pillars, lay address by Hon. Coke R. Stevenson, and a great sermon on "The Church" by the Rev. S. L. Batchelor of Harlingen, Texas, who was pastor when the old church building and pastor's home were erected. Following the service at the church, a basket dinner was served at McWright's Tourist Camp that was enjoyed by everyone in attendance. At four o'clock in the afternoon an enjoyable song service was conducted by Mrs. Milton P. Hill.

The building is the first unit of the final structure, the plan calling also for an educational building of three stories. The structure is fireproof with concrete frame, floor and gallery, the walls being of tile and face brick. Twenty tons of cast stone were used in the construction. The roof is of Spanish tile over concrete slab supported by steel trusses and purlins. The windows have steel sash and pale amber hammered effect glass.

Architecturally, the building shows Mediterranean influences, the domed tower, slit windows, massed ornamentation and richly designed entrance suggesting the missions and the churches of Old Mexico.

The doors of the church open into a large vestibule or anteroom which is separated from the auditorium proper by curtains of dark blue velvet. A curtain of the same material hangs back of the communion rail, this last being of wrought iron in verde antique finish. The pulpit and chairs are in perfect harmony with the building. The pulpit was presented by the church by Mrs. Mary Blackburn, and the chairs are the gift of Mrs. T. M. Hodges.

A timbered ceiling gives distinction to the interior, the beams being supported by heavy brackets and richly decorated pilasters. The ceiling is of insulite paneling with stenciled borders. On each of the six pilasters is a symbolic painting, the designs being: The Lamb, emblematic of watchfulness; Sheaves of Wheat, of fruitfulness; Vine and Branches, of consecration; Lilies, of immortal life; The Open Bible and the Cross and Star, this last representing the advent and atonement of Christ, the Greek letters Alpha and Omega recalling the words "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and end."

Over the rostrum is a flat beam arch, in its center a cross and crown, with the words in rich lettering, "Glory to God in the Highest."

The large crowds present at all the services during the day admired the beautiful building, enjoyed the inspirational services and appreciated the hospitality of the Methodist people.

Menard will be here at three o'clock Friday afternoon to meet the Junction boys on the firemen's field near the school building. Junction defeated Harper Sunday. Come out and see them trim Menard Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

FIREMEN'S BANQUET

The City Council will serve a banquet to the Junction Fire Department at the Baptist Church Friday evening. The good work, the faithfulness and enthusiasm of the boys are appreciated and the council is showing its appreciation by giving the banquet.

ADVERTISE WEST TEXAS TO WORLD IS PLAN OF THE WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

One-third upon delivery, one-third in 30 days, one-third in 60 days.

It sounds like an invoice, and is precisely that. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is in the business, just now, of selling 1,500,000 stamps and 300,000 booklet covers: the first real united effort the organization has ever made to advertise the West Texas territory on a national basis: The stamps are air-mail size, in four colors, glued and gummed in sheets of 15, ten sheets to the book. The West Texas chamber sells each book for one dollar and throws in 30 covers for good measure. The local chamber of commerce, after making the purchase in bulk, in turn re-sells the stamps at a suggested price of a penny apiece, to local business houses; and, from its 50 percent profit on the transaction, gets enough funds in hand to issue a piece of town advertising.

Stamps

The West Texas poster stamps are highly lithographed, and each bears West Texas' new official slogan: "West Texas' Raw Materials Capital of the World." In addition, the territory's resources are quickly set forth: one-half of the nation's cattle, two-sevenths of the nation's cotton, three-fifths of its oil, three-fifths of its wool and mohair, one-half of its cattle, maximum sunshine with moderate temperature, the poultryman's Paradise, etc.

The idea behind the stamp deal is to sell West Texas to the world; to put over in the minds of the people everywhere, first, the identity of West Texas; and second, its major possibilities. The trifling cost makes it possible for the great body of the citizenship to take part in actively advertising the territory, on a tremendous ever-repeating scale, by placing stamps on outgoing mail, letterheads, envelopes, packages. As Manager Bandoen puts it, "The first purpose is to obtain the co-operation of business and professional men throughout West Texas in doing a real advertising job for West Texas; the second, to tie more closely the members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and to build up a plan to advertise

Polly and Joyce Chenault of Mountain Home were guests of their sister, Mrs. Grady Kinrick, for several days.

When in need of a new tire or a set of tires, remember we have yours—The GOODYEAR. Loeffler Motor Co.

West Texas nationally."

Covers

The cover is standardized, highly lithographed in multi-colors, and produced in quantities so as to be available at a minimum cost. It adopts the idea of the rising sun—a trade mark for all present and future West Texas advertising; and, although advertising West Texas itself, allows each town to amply and prominently identify itself. Matter descriptive of the town goes inside the cover. It offers normally the most expensive piece of advertising literature—the colored cover—at a price far beneath that which any town can procure for itself on the individual basis. "These covers appeal to us greatly," said T. N. Carswell, secretary of the Abilene Chamber, in giving his $500 order to Bandoen and Peters, "for it happens that we are getting ready to put out a piece of literature on Abilene—and our message will be contained inside this beautiful standardized cover."

Profit to WTCC

The West Texas chamber has already made its first order of 1,500,000 stamps and 300,000 covers from Wimberly Hubbard Co. of Fort Worth. The price was $6,300, or at the rate of 6.3 cents for a sheet of 15 stamps plus three covers. The small profit accruing to the WTCC on sales will be used in issuing a piece of descriptive literature for itself. It is a deal which everybody wins and nobody loses.

The resolution adopted by the convention at Abilene read: "Resolved, that the convention adopt the publicity plan of stamps and booklet covers; that this committee be empowered to assess each member town with its fair prorate of stamps and covers, which assessment will be subject to the final approval by each member town."

Peters is taking the proposition to 140 member towns, and quotas have been fixed on the following basis: 500 to 1,500 population, $50; 1,500 to 3,000 population, $75; 3,000 to 5,000 population, $100; 5,000 to 7,500 population, $150; 7,500 to 10,000 population, $200; 10,000 to 20,000 population, $300; 20,000 to 50,000 population, $500; and over 100,000 population, $1,000.

Mrs. W. A. Quisenberry and daughter, Miss Bassie, of Menard attended the barbecue here last week.

POSTED—Tourists camps, please warn guests that every one caught trespassing at the 4-mile dam will be prosecuted. Mrs. J. J. Smith.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 19 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America. "Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts. I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce. I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity. I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts. May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone." A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Heyman Drug Store or any drugstore in America.

FOUND

Three young men from college walking down the street saw a very old gentleman coming toward them; wishing to display a bit of college humor, the first one said, "Good morning, Father Abraham." The second said, "Good morning, Father Isaac." and the third said "Good morning, Father Jacob." The old man gazed at the three for a moment, then replied: "Young men, you are mistaken; I am Saul, son of Kish, in search of my father's asses, and behold! I have found three of them."

Country Correspondence

LONDON LOCALS

Misses Faye and Mona McKinney were in from the farm the 17th.

W. C. Swinney of the Graphic force and others attended the Jubilee the 17th.

On the 18th everybody went to Junction to attend the Jubilee. They began passing early in the morning, even before the writer left dream-land, and the tide continued until 7 p. m. and later. About 5 o'clock p. m. Brady broke into the main current and was swept on to Junction about 25 cars strong. Everyone says they enjoyed being there. All report a large and extraordinary quiet and orderly crowd and abundance of dust.

S. O. Durst called to shake hands with us last week. He also called on us Sunday to see if we had staked any under-sized. Always glad to meet Sod whether at the office or on the river bank.

Mrs. Wood Puckett is again at home doing well. Wood is happy and says everything is fine and the goose hangs high.

Mr. John Walton and wife and Miss Agnes were visiting Mr. Walton's parents and other relatives here last week.

Wes Smith and son, C. C., bought and drove to their pasture last week 1400 muttons.

Mrs. D. G. Adams of Johnson City was meeting relatives and friends here Friday and Saturday.

News from Rawleigh and Howard Kothmann and C. R. Robinson who are now in Hot Springs, Arkansas, is that they are all doing well and having a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ivy of Johnson City were here last week. They report range good in their section and livestock doing well.

Mr. Homann, our county agent, and wife were on our streets Saturday and were showing samples of corn grown on the Ellis farm by Mr. L. W. Puckett. This corn is of the drought-resisting variety and was planted on the advice of Mr. Homann who says the field will average 35 bushels per acre. We believe Mr. Homann has done a good work in Kimble County and his work has just begun. There are yet those who never got farther in school than the writer who know more and better than our county agent, but we believe the majority of our people will receive real benefits from his work. At any rate we are satisfied with the beginning he has made and shall expect better co-operation, therefore greater results as we move on down the line.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gibbs of Sutton County were here Saturday until Monday. Leonard states range is good and livestock fine in their section. Elder R. C. Ledbetter, Christian evangelist, called to see us Monday morning. Bro. Ledbetter is well known here, having conducted several meetings at this place in the past. He informs us he will begin a meeting at Tea Cup Thursday night, the 26th. He is a good preacher. Let's go hear him. We can't hear too much of the word of God, come from whatever pulpit it may, regardless of who delivers it. Denominational prejudice has less foundation than anything I know. I can see a reason and can offer excuse often for a prejudice existing between two individuals, but I cannot even imagine an excuse for religious prejudice. Just think of people who say they are Christians, who say they recognize the Bible as the rule and guide for their faith and trying to tear down the influence of each other. Say, Bud, there is something wrong there.

200 ATTEND SUCCESSFUL COOKING SCHOOL HERE

More than 200 enthusiastic housewives attended the three-day cooking school held June 3, 4 and 5 in Junction under the direction of Mrs. Stella Floyd, home economics director of the West Texas Utilities Company.

The school held in the Wilson building at Junction was crowded to capacity the first day and additional seats had to be obtained for the remaining two days. Mrs. Floyd with her extensive knowledge of cooking secrets, gave many useful and practical recipes to the large gathering of progressive housewives. The recipes were aimed at the desire of all housewives to combine the tasty with the wholesome foods. In addition to the helpful recipes given, Mrs. Floyd lectured on the superiority of the new method of electrical cooking over the older methods, using a Hot-point Electric Range in her demonstration.

"SWEET" TAKEN FROM HOME, SWEET HOME

The "Sweet" has been taken from "Home Sweet Home." It doesn't mean a thing any more, due to childless marriages and other things.

After studying the facts in 64 undefended divorce cases tried before him in one day, Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis reached this conclusion.

"A home used to be the location of our birth, the place where we entertained our friend and where we held our family function," said Justice Lewis.

"Today, we are born in hospitals, we entertain in our clubs, we eat in restaurants, we entertain our visiting friends in cabarets, and we are buried from funeral parlors."

The cure for it all would be more children and fewer divorces, according to the learned judge.

WE ALL MAKE MISTAKES

A grouch charged his caddy with the crime of secretly pocketing a golf ball and began berating the boy. Soon the ball was found by someone and then the old crab began his profuse apologies to the kid.

"Never mind, Mr. Tom," replied the kid. "You thought I was a thief, and I took you for a gentleman, and we both made a mistake."

Fruit enough to make vinegar for a year's supply is wasted on many farms. Surplus or inferior fruit will make good vinegar. Apples, grapes, peaches, oranges, persimmons, and some berries are satisfactory, say scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Any fruit containing enough sugar will serve the purpose.

N. Y. Woman Lost 14 Pounds of Fat

One 85 Cent Bottle of Kruschen Salts Did It

"I am starting on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and am real pleased with results. I take it for reducing and so far have lost 14 pounds and I think it is doing wonders for me. I do not feel so tired evenings when I get home from work."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at the Heyman Drug Store, or any drugstore in America—take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on starches and walk a little each day.

Before the bottle is empty surplus fat is leaving you—indolence changes to activity—you'll feel younger—eyes will brighten—step grows spry. Millions know this—you ought to know it. Kruschen Salts is the ideal treatment for constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness and acidity.

CAMP ALLISON TO HAVE BARBECUE 10

The tenth of July has been set for the Camp Allison free barbecue at the old barbecue grounds on the Llano river near the postoffice. Committees in charge of the affair are planning to feed five thousand people, and at least that many people are expected to attend.

SALT FOR CATTLE

Though cattle on the range should always be supplied with some salt, The amount needed depends partly on the feed available. Cattle need from 2 to 2½ pounds a month on average range when the feed is succulent or when browse plants form the bulk of the forage. For the remainder of the season 1 to 1½ pounds a month is enough. A fair allowance for a year-long range is about 20 pounds a head. There is less salt in plants when fresh and green than when dry, and less in browse forage than in grass and weeds.

Good thinking comes from constant practice and healthy habits.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

EIGHTH INSTALLMENT

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

A beautiful young woman rode herself to the address in the city, she cannot remember her name or where she came from. She has nothing in her purse to tell herself who she is. A young man who has seen her in the hotel where she is stopping notices her and takes her to the hotel in a cab. There they find that she resembles, in French, an "Miss Nobody of Nowhere." The clerk has been talking to "Miss Nobody." The young man tells her she is in New York. She is bewildered at her fate. She remembers his friend, Dr. Garrick, a nerve specialist, to call at the hotel. He is very unimpressed, but says he will send a nurse to stay with the mysterious "Miss Nobody" that night.

"Miss Nobody" listens while Hamilton tells her what the doctor has said, then steps into another room. When she returns, the girl has vanished from the hotel!

Eve's departure was simple. She went out of a back door into the service hall of the hotel, where she encountered a young French barber, who had seen her in Paris. "Then you know my name?" she demanded eagerly. But the porter had forgotten that. He would write at once to a friend in Paris and find the name of the American young lady they had both admired. He tells her of an apartment in the fashionable district, he thinks, would take her in. Meanwhile, while Hamilton is anxiously hunting up the nerve specialist, Eve goes into a taxi and drives away.

She arranges for a friend's friend, the janitor of a dingy little apartment house on the East Side of New York, to furnish a small furnished apartment. He tells her not to be frightened if she hears the young woman who occupies the next apartment come in very late in the morning. Eve wonders what sort of a place she has got into.

The girl in the next apartment is Ivy Devonport, a professional cabaret dancer with a weak heart. Eve helps her one night when she is ill. Ivy suggests that Eve, who is short of funds, should take her place in the cabaret. Eve thinks it over, dislikes the idea, but realizes that she has to do something to earn a living until she finds out who she really is. She has twisted the name of "Berson," which is the only surname she knows for herself into "Berson."

Eve finds "Jake's" a strange sort of place and the girls who dance there stranger, though kind to the stranger who is taking Ivy's place.

New Go On With the Story

"After they come we gotta be out there, setting around in our corner. The bunch there now is reg'lars that come early to get good tables. They know each other. It's when the singles begin to wash in, or two or three men come together, that we get busy."

"How do we get busy?"

"My Gawd!" Miss Morris exchanged a deeply eloquent glance with Maizie, who was smiling a sharp-toothed ophidian smile. The instructress continued her explanation in depressed tones. "We're dancers, and we're Jake's hostesses, too, see?"

"Our job," Stella added, "is to keep the men from dyin' of homesickness after they git here."

Queenie ignored Stella.

"When a man's settin' alone at a table, or two or three men are together, lookin' like it's Decoration Day an' they're sayin' it with flowers, I drift up an' give 'em the glad eye. Notin' fresh, you understand. Just a kind look to let them know there's a live wire near. If they speak, I draw on my hot-ait tank and find out who they are; and later I introduce them to some of the girls, if they see any they wanta meet. If they don't ree-spond I breeze past like I hadn't seen 'em, and try some others. None of the other girls goes near till I find out who the men are and interduce them. If you seen your own brother at a table you couldn't go to him till I said you could. That's all there is to it, but it's gotta be done with class."

To the novice there seemed a great deal to it.

"If they respond, I suppose we dance with them," she asked, anxious to get a more definite line on her individual duties than Ivy had given her.

"Ain't she the clever kid?" Maizie murmured. "Got it the very foist time."

"Dance with 'em if they want you to," the instructress coldly explained. "If they want you to set down an' give 'em the story of your life, let 'em have it. Only make it snappy. No sob stuff. Maizie tells 'em she's a Russian princess, an' it goes over great. If they wanta talk while you listen, leave 'em do it."

"They'll tell you how lonesome they are," Stella contributed. "Lonesome?" she sneered. "They don't open my faucets with that dope. The men that comes here is as lonesome as angworms in a box of bait!"

Stella, Eve learned, was a pessimist and a black one. She was also a man hater and freely confessed that she had use for women. Her speech, and Queenie's, were usually better than those of the other girls; but on occasion they could, and often did, draw on the argot of the gutter. All this Eve grasped later. At present the legend of the moment went on.

"There's two things you don't stand for," Queenie was saying in a crisp tone. "You don't take insults and you don't drink from pocket-flasks. Jake's rule, see? Men that come here has got to treat us like ladies."

To Eve the whole experience was part of the dream she was in, but the nightmare in the dream was lessening. She was intensely interested, and she realized that she was also a trifle more sophisticated than the girls around thought her. She had never danced in a cabaret; she was sure of that. She knew nothing of their intimate inner workings, or of the duties of employees. But she must have known such places as at least an occasional visitor, for the superficial aspects of this one held no surprises for her.

"What you're really here for, Berson, is to admire the men," Stella drawled. "Make 'em see what great big wonderful guys you think they are, and you'll be a wow."

"Now, Berson, if you think you've had enough gasoline to roll out on the floor with, we'll start; and I'll put you wise to the reg'lars an' the loose-ankle boys."

"Which are the loose-ankle boys?"

"The reg'lars are the guys that come every night an' scatter their coin. The loose-ankle boys are the instructors—the lads Jake hires to dance with the dames that blow in for a good time. That's all they gotta do; but Gawd knows it's enough. Any woman that's got a real face c'n make some man bring her to a cabaret an' dance with her. The ones that come alone an' has to rely on the boys are the ones Gawd forgot."

"Don't pay any attention to the loose-ankle lads. They'll come buzzing around, for they need a change bad, an' they'll want to give you the once-over because you're green. But Jake ain't payin' us nickles to dance with them."

All the girls were intrigued by the new-comer's presence and they showed it in various ways—some by talking, the rest by close attention to what was said.

Eve followed her with a sinking heart. What had she let herself in for? But the two young men they approached were wholesome-looking American lads who had just given an order to a waiter, and who for the present were most interested in having it filled than in the scene around them. Queenie cast a radiant smile at them, and one of the young men returned it with a cheerful but impersonal grin. She slowed her steps a little distance from the table, checking Eve's swifter movement by a warning pressure of the arm.

"Look at them settin' there waiting for bread and milk, with good music goin' to waste," she tentatively observed, in a tone designed to reach the ears of the new-comers. The latter looked up, this time with attention. The girls were under inspection now, to be taken or rejected. To Eve the moment was horrible.

"Give us time, girlie, give us time," urged the young man with a grin. "We're hungry, and we've got a pair of rabbits coming. But if we're able to move after the stuff you folks serve here, I'll take you out in the center of the floor later on and make a May-pole of you."

His friend had been watching Eve.

"That goes for me too," he quietly told her.

"It's a date," Queenie agreed, and tactfully started to move on. But the quiet young man spoke again:

"Won't the ladies join us and have some of the rabbit?"

The young man of the grin frowned.

As he spoke, the quiet young man drew out for Eve the chair next to him. Miss Morris secured the remaining empty chair for herself and sat down with a sigh of achievement.

"You ain't got the nice manners of your boy friend, Willie," she told the grinning youth, "but if you stick around with him I praps you'll improve. Got a cigarette?"

The grinning youth had, and offered his case. Miss Morris helped herself and passed it to Eve, who hesitated an instant and then took a cigarette and lighted it at the match the quiet young man held for her.

"My name is Hunt," he told her as he did so.

"Hers is Miss Berson. She's new to this work. I'm Queenie Morris." Miss Morris made the announcement with an air that impelled the grinning youth to get up and bow deeply, and Queenie accepted the burlesque homage with a care-free grin equal to his own. She had lit the cigarette without his assistance, and, having established it firmly between her carmined lips, was doing the honors with easy affability.

"What you're really here for, Berson, is to admire the men," Stella drawled. "Make 'em see what great big wonderful guys you think they are, and you'll be a wow."

"Now, Berson, if you think you've had enough gasoline to roll out on the floor with, we'll start; and I'll put you wise to the reg'lars an' the loose-ankle boys."

As he spoke, the quiet young man drew out for Eve the chair next to him. Miss Morris secured the remaining empty lend 'class' to his place; and Jake is strong for 'class.' They'll probably stay here an hour, then leave and visit half a dozen other places before they get home at daylight. In the meantime, we'll have another bunch or two like them."

Eve knew all this, and didn't know why she knew it, any more than she knew why she appreciated the unusually good music of Jake's jazz band.

"Speaking of being here," Hunt went on. "Why are you here, really? It's easy enough to see that you don't belong."

The poor candidates for state offices are flooding the country press with their poverty appeals to espouse their candidacy. They are able to pay some job shop to print thousands of pieces of campaign literature, pay the mail company to make mats, pay companies to make cuts for them, pay stenographers and clerks to mail them out, pay Uncle Sam to transport all this paid matter to the country press with the request that it be run free in the only medium where it will do them any good. And many of the "boys" are filling their papers with it.

THREE-DAY PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN BY ANGORA GOAT MEN AT ROCKSPRINGS JULY 15-17

An elaborate three-day program has been planned for the Texas Angora Goat Raisers' Association for July 15-16-17 at Rocksprings. Goat raisers from every part of the state and elsewhere will mix and swap tales of varied experiences during the past months and years. Double Income Says Extension Service A. & M.

In the recent issue of the Texas Extension Farm News, the following study of ranch conditions on the Edwards Plateau as made by the Texas Experiment Station in co-operation with the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture was published, and we are herewith producing it for the consideration of our ranchmen who did not see it in the Extension Farm News:

That some ranchmen on the Edwards Plateau grazing area of Texas have an opportunity to more than double their net income per section by a full utilization of the carrying capacity of their ranches, through the use of cattle, sheep and goats properly combined, is shown in a study of physical and economic factors affecting the organization and management of ranches in the Edwards Plateau grazing area comprising approximately 25,000,000 acres of land. This study was made by the Texas Experiment Station in co-operation with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture and consisted of a detailed study of 31 ranches over a continuous period of four years. A bulletin which discusses the practical effects of the findings has been published by the Texas Station and will be ready for distribution in a few weeks, according to A. D. Jackson, Experiment Station Editor.

Physical factors, such as soil, climate and vegetation, set fairly definite limits within which changes in proportions of cattle, sheep and goats can be made without injury to the range. Within these limits prices likely to prevail for different classes of animals should determine the proportions of each class from year to year.

A ranch of 16 sections stocking 50 animal units per section, 33 to cattle, and 17 to goats, and evaluated on the basis of prices and costs believed likely to prevail during the next four to six years, indicated a net income of $405 per section, as compared with a revised stocking of 15 units of cattle, 27 units of sheep, and 8 units of goats which would show a net earning of $765 per section. A further adjustment of the stocking of this ranch by increasing the total units to 15 units of cattle, 35 units of sheep, and 8 units of goats, would show an income of $950 per section. The latter stocking plan carrying a total of 58 animal units is a stocking of two units less than the average found on the ranches studied on which all three types of livestock were grazed, and emphasizes the profitability of a proper proportioning of the three types of livestock, and of approaching more nearly the full carrying capacity of the range.

Ford Competitors Show Decrease; Ford Makes Gain

Pep, power, speed are drawing people to new Fords just as the economy of operation and first costs are. Twenty thousand more Fords have been sold this year than last year at the same time. In the month of April Ford's nearest competitor dropped off 13,000 as compared to the Model A increase of 2,000.

With the whole automobile industry off 35 per cent this Ford increase is extra compelling. And then when the cars which gave so much competition to Ford last year drop off in sales 13,000 in one month alone it shows that the true value of the Ford is fast becoming known in all parts.

Emil Loeffler, Junction Ford dealer, says that almost 200,000 of the 435,000 cars made by all manufacturers in May were Fords. Henry Ford will soon sell half of all the cars made—anyone should be able to see the value hidden behind the low price.

Cheap Cotton--High Feed. Plant More Feed

Thousands of happy people attended the picnic and barbecue in Junction last week. From practically all sections the visitors reported good rains and good prospects for crops. Prospects for a fair price for cotton is not very promising and many of our farmer and ranchman visitors said that they were planting late feed crops. We have urged our Kimble County farmers and ranchmen to plant more feed. A planting season is in the ground and the dry spring leads us to believe that there will be enough summer rains to grow good feed.

Diversification is the salvation of any country. Diversified crops with intensified cultivation will make any community prosperous. An article in this issue of the Eagle gives the results of a four-year study of land to get the best financial results. If this is followed, and one or two good milk cows, a few hogs and 100 or more hens are kept on the farm or ranch, prosperity will dwell in the land.

The officers of this bank will be glad to talk over your problems with you and render all the financial assistance possible consistent with good business
