The SDN Column

Mrs. Raymond Lloyd called to remind that June 19 (yesterday) was the 32nd anniversary of what often is referred to as "the big Snyder Flood."

It was on June 19, 1939, that Deep Creek and most other streams in Scurry County went on a rampage following deluges of rainfall. Floodwaters forced 250 persons out of their homes in Snyder and some 50 to 75 were left homeless when the surging floods subsided. Twenty were rescued from marooned homes.

Deep Creek reached its crest at about 11 p.m., but not before the county had lost 10 or 15 bridges on county roads-two of them on Deep Creek and the remainder on other county roads.

Actually, the rainfall was erratic, although it was heavy over most of the county. Gauges measured from 10 inches to 16 inches in the Canyon Community southwest of Snyder, and 10 inches fell over an area north of Hermleigh, with some of the heaviest rains recorded in the Planview community east of Snyder. Knapp community had five to seven inches, Fluvanna four and a quarter inches, and Gail had around two and a half inches.

If some of the 10 to 16 inch rains had fallen to the northwest, there is no telling how high Deep Creek would have gone.

The property loss was pegged at half a million dollars in Snyder. Today, that is not a staggering sum for such a big flood, but dollars were worth considerably more then than they are today.

Surprisingly, there was only one life lost in the flood.

The floodwaters from Deep Creek, along with torrents which poured into the Colorado River, caused serious flooding at Colorado City, and the Colorado River there set a new high mark.

This flood is recalled by most long-time residents as the town's biggest. However, a more recent June event probably sent a greater volume of water down Deep Creek than that of 1939. On June 12, 1967, rains in the northwest part of Scurry County were even heavier than they were on June 19, 1939. Deep Creek handled the flow more easily in 1967, however, although water surged past the city hall to the post office to the RS&P tracks and southward, making a virtual island of the courthouse square.

The over-all effect of the 1967 flood was somewhat less than that of 1939, however, because most of the rains were to the north and west of Snyder. Regions which had the five to 10-inch rains in 1937 got only heavy showers in 1967.

Herman Trigg brought in a clipping from the current issue of Texas Parade magazine which has an item about Snyder's "Witness Tree." Jack McGuire, in his "This Is Texas" column, tells how natural objects were used as common corners to define boundaries in early surveys of land. Then, he calls special attention to the historical marker at Snyder's witness tree on Twenty-third Street, across from the Scurry County Library. — WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, June 20, the 171st day of 1971. There are 194 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began.

On this date:

In 1632, the English crown granted the colony of Maryland to Lord Baltimore.

In 1837, Princess Victoria became queen of England.

In 1863, West Virginia was admitted to the Union.

In 1867, President Andrew Johnson proclaimed the treaty for the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In 1898, the United States seized the island of Guam in the Spanish-American War.

In 1963, the United States and the Sovet Union agreed to establish the so-called hot lines communications system between Washington and Moscow.

Ten years ago: Adolf Eichmann testified in court in Jerusalem that he had been far too small a Nazi to have been responsible for killing Jews in World War II.

Five years ago: President Charles de Gaulle of France arrived in Moscow for an 11-day visit to the Soviet Union.

One year ago: Edward Heath of the Conservative party became Britain's prime minister.

Independence Day Plans Shaping Up

Plans are taking shape for the 10th annual community Independence Day Celebration in Towle Memorial Park.

The event, which annually attracts thousands of people to the park, will be held this year on Monday, July 5, since July 4 falls on Sunday.

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce, which coordinates plans for the various activites in the park for the celebration, has announced that sites for concessions booths will be assigned on June 28. Representatives or organizations which will sponsor booths for the celebration will meet with Chamber of Commerce officials at 2 p.m. on that date at the pavilion in the park.

The celebration will be climaxed by a fireworks display.

Meanwhile, "tickets" to the fireworks display were being sold at $1 each to help defray expenses of the event.

Several prizes will be awarded before the fireworks display, topped by a color television set which will be given away by the Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, several local merchants have announced that they will contribute prizes, and the prize list is expected to grow between now and July 5.

Prizes announced so far include Central Tire Service, $20 front end alignment or high speed four wheel balancing; M&M Electronics, one album; Glover's, folding umbrella; King and Brown, one ice tray; Sherwin-Williams Store, one gallon of house paint; Snyder Drugs, electric tea kettle; Dryden's Shoes, $10 gift certificate; Glen's Texaco, one wash and lube; Goodyear Service Store, matador plaque; Montgomery Ward, one coffee maker or steam iron; Burgess Pharmacy, one enamel ware Snack set; Louie's Service Station, 15 gallons of gasoline; Bennett Office Supply, one Olivette portable typewriter; Merle Norman Studio, $5 gift certificate; White's Auto Store, one rod and reel; Gray's Style Shop, red, white and blue blouse; Texas Electric Service Co., one yard light; Roe's Furniture and Appliance, one toaster-broiler.

Lawrence Jones Dies Saturday

Lawrence H. Jones, 66, died at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Jones, who lived at 2800 Thirty-second Street, was retired after working for many years for the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad.

He is survived by his wife, Clara.

Funeral arrangements were pending at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED

Stolen Baby Found Safe

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A four-day-old infant girl was back with her mother at an Omaha hospital Saturday and two women were in custody in connection with the child's disappearance from a maternity ward.

"She's going to be a spoiled child," said 26-year-old Mrs. Carol Goetz after she was told her baby, Michala, had been found safe at a Lincoln motel Friday afternoon. "We're never going to let her out of our sight."

Deputy Douglas County Atty. Frank Pane said Mrs. Perl Hale, 29, and Mrs. Donna Jean Stout, 23, both of Omaha, would be charged with child stealing, probably Monday. Officers said they denied taking the child.

The child was found unharmed and well at the Sharon Motel in Lincoln with Terena Hale, 13, who police said is a daughter of Mrs. Hale. The baby had been missing about 8 hours from Clarkson Hospital here.

Mrs. Goetz and her husband, Michael, who have no other children, were taken to Lincoln General Hospital to get their baby.

When the baby was handed to her, Mrs. Goetz said: "She's just sleeping away, as if nothing had happened."

State Is Hot, Humid

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was hot and humid nearly everywhere in Texas today with occasional showers and a few thunderstorms scattered here and there.

Much of the shower activity was over Southwest Texas, along the coast and in the Panhandle and other parts of West Texas—and the moisture too scant for appreciable cooling or relief from drought.

The same kind of weather was rather widespread late Friday, growing into severe thunderstorms at some points in South Central Texas.

Winds topping 50 miles per hour hit LaGrange and Fayetteville, in the area between Houston and San Antonio, and it blew nearly as hard during a brief downpour in Austin.

Amid the turbulence two tornadoes were spotted between San Antonio and Corpus Christi near George West, the National Weather Service reported. They apparently caused no damage.

Temperatures went as high Friday afternoon as 100 degrees at El Paso and 101 at Wichita Falls, while the top mark at Galveston was 82.

AS APPEALS COURT REVERSES RULING

Post Stops Presses

By DON MCLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court reversed early Saturday a lower-court ruling and issued a temporary order restraining the Washington Post from further articles based on top-secret government documents on the Vietnam war.

On a 2-1 split decision, a three-judge panel of the appeals court overturned an order issued hours earlier by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Gerhard Gesell which had given the Post permission to continue publication of the series.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision, following three hours of deliberation, was too late to prevent publication of the second part of the series in Saturday's early editions.

But at 1:23 a.m., Eugene C. Patterson, Post managing editor, said: "We lost it. As of now, we stop it."

He picked up a phone and ordered: "Stop the presses."

The decision sends the case back to District Court for hearing a government motion for permanent injunction. However, further appeal to U.S. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger appears likely.

A federal judge in New York issued a temporary restraining order last Tuesday barring The New York Times from publishing articles based on the same documents and is now considering a motion for a permanent injunction.

The circuit court, the highest court so far to issue an opinion on the subject, said it appears the government had presented a substantial claim that the Post had and intended to publish classified "material which if published would prejudice the defense interests of the United States ...."

Executive Editor Benjamin C. Bradlee said the Post had printed 167,000 newspapers of a normal total run of 530,000 at the time presses were stopped.

Editors removed the story on the war documents and substituted another story, Bradlee said.

The circuit court issued an order restraining the Post from publishing any more material from the documents pending hearings on the motion for an injunction.

The order was issued by Judges Roger A. Robb and Spottswood W. Robinson III. Judge J. Skelly Wright dissented, saying the action of the lower court judge should have been upheld.

Major Points Of Disclosures

..Editor's Note: Before a federal court ordered a suspension of the New York Times' Vietnam articles, the paper reports on secret government studies described the origins of the nation's involvement in that struggle. The following story summarizes the mayor points in those disclosures and draws together the narrative of escalation.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the United States sent combat troops to South Vietnam in the spring of 1965 it cast aside a policy born in the anguish of the Korean War more than a decade earlier: Never fight a land war in Asia.

President Lyndon B. Johnson had decided after a month of heavy bombing of North Vietnam that air power alone never would bring Hanoi to its knees.

The consequence of his decision was foreseen with uncanny accuracy by George W. Ball, then undersecretary of State. He sent a memorandum to Johnson, shortly before the decision was made, proposing negotiations.

"The alternative—no matter what we may wish to do or be—is almost certainly a protracted war involving an open-ended commitment of U.S. forces, mounting U.S. casualties, no assurance of a satisfactory solution, and a serious danger of escalation at the end of the road," Ball wrote.

These events unfold in a top-secret study of the Vitnam war prepared by the Pentagon in 1967-68 on the orders of Robert S. McNamara, then secretary of defense.

The New York Times obtained part of the report and began a series of stories last Sunday covering the period 1964-65.

Two more installments appeared before a federal court ordered a halt on Tuesday, while the government sought an injunction against resumption.

The study shows that planning for an active role in the war began in the spring of 1964, a full year before the first heavy U.S. bombing strikes on North Vietnam and the introduction of combat forces into South Vietnam.

On Jan. 22, 1964, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as chairman, suggested in a memorandum to McNamara that the U.S. involvement in South Vietnam be stepped up.

This was in a period when the government of South Vietnam was weak, and the Viet Cong was growing in strength and dairing.

The memorandum said: "The Joint Chiefs of Staff are increasingly mindful that our fortunes in South Vietnam are an accurate barometer of our fortunes in all southeast Asia ... A loss of South Vietnam to the Communists will presage an early erosion of the remainder of our position in that subcontinent."

They suggested that the United States take over the tactical conduct of the war from the South Vietnamese, bomb North Vietnam "using U.S. resources under Vietnamese cover" and support South Vietnamese commando raids in the North.

The administration decided on covert attacks on North Vietnam, under the code name of Operation Plan 34A they began in February and consisted of South Vietnamese commando raids along the coast to destroy rail and highway bridges, the parachuting of sabotage and psychological warfare teams into the North and kidnaping of North Vietnamese to obtain information. U2 spy flights also were flown over the North.

Returning in March from Saigon, McNamara painted a gloomy picture of South Vietnam. He proposed South Vietnamese raids into Laos against North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh supply trail, plus air attacks on military and industrial targets in the north by South Vietnamese planes backed by a U.S. Air Force squadron.

Johnson approved the plan but parts of it apparently never were carried out.

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, sent Johnson a plan in May 1964 for increasing military pressure on North Vietnam culminating in full-scale bombing by U.S. planes. He suggested a congressional resolution "authorizing whatever is necessary with respect to Vietnam."

Johnson resisted advice to step up the war, however, and to seek a congressional resolution to strengthen his hand in South Vietnam.

That summer, John T. McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense, sent a memorandum to McNamara suggesting these U.S. aims in South Vietnam:

"70 pct—To avoid a humiliating U.S. defeat to our reputation as a guarantor.

"20 pct—To keep SVN and then adjacent territory from Chinese hands." SVN means South Vietnam.

"10 pct—To permit the people of SVN to enjoy a better, freer way of life."

Sadat Names 9 Governors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt appointed nine new governors Saturday replacing some of those involved in an alleged plot last month to overthrow him.

The announcement in Cairo gave no reason for dismissal of seven governors who were given "open vacation," in effect firing them.

Among the outgoing governors was Hamid Mahmoud, a longtime associate of former Vice President Ali Sabry, whose arrest apparently set off the alleged plot to oust Sadat. Mahmoud was reported under arrest.

Hagih Abaza, governor of Cairo, was arrested several days ago, according to informed sources.

Cairo's new governor, Ibrahim Boughdadi, is a former army officer who once served as an attache in the Egyptian Embassy in Washington. His last assignment was governor of Minya in Upper Egypt.

The new governor of Giza, the district where Sadat lives, is Kamel Sidiek, also a former army officer. His latest job was deputy minister for higher education.

In the Israeli occupied Gaza Strip, police reported they had found the bodies of two murdered women in Jebeliyah refugee camp.

The victims were aged 17 and 35, a spokesman said.

This brings the number of murders in the strip this year to 50, 10 of them women. Most of the killings are attributed to Arab terrorists trying to discourage Arab-Israeli cooperation in Gaza.

Danny Farmer Rites Pending

Danny W. Farmer, 18, died at 7:10 p. m. Friday in M. D. Anderson Hospital at Houston where he had been receiving treatment for some time.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Guadalupe County, he had lived in Snyder since 1957.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Farmer of Snyder; three sisters, Mrs. L. C. Thompson, Mrs. Joyce Nelson and Mrs. Ellen Williams, all of Snyder; four brothers, G. C. Farmer Jr. of Denver, Colo., Cullen Farmer, serving with the U. S. Marine Corps in Virginia, Rocky and Ronnie Farmer, both of Snyder.

He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Apollo 15 Crew Names Ship

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Commander David R. Scott calls the Apollo 15 moon flight "the most significant scientific exploration ever mounted" and he and his crewmates have named their command ship "The Endeavor" in honor of the first vessel to sail the seas for science.

Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden, all Air Force officers, selected "Falcon," the Air Force Academy mascot, as the name for the lunar module which is to land on the moon.

The names were disclosed Friday at the astronauts' final news conference before their scheduled July 26 launching from Cape Kennedy.

"Because of the emphasis on science on Apollo 15, we sought some parallel in history to help us come up with a name," Scott reported. "In 1768, Capt. James Cook set sail from England on the first purely scientific expedition at sea. Prior to that adventurers and explorers sought treasures or some definite object.

"But Cook sailed to Tahiti and explored the South Pacific for science," he added. "Now we're setting forth across the sea of space for the first purely scientific mission in this type of craft. So we have named our command module "The Endeavor" after Cook's ship."

As for Falcon, Scott explained "we're an all Air Force crew and we're proud of that."

Scott and Irwin are to land July 30 in a small basin at the base of the moon's highest mountains, the Apennine Range, whose peaks soar 15,000 feet above the landing site. The site is hemmed in on three sides by the mountains and on the fourth by Hadley Rille, a meandering canyon more than a mile across and 1,000 feet deep.

Colonel Scott said he didn't anticipate any difficulty hitting the target because of confidence gained with the landing system on earlier Apollo flights, which concentrated on hardware development as well as scientific goals.

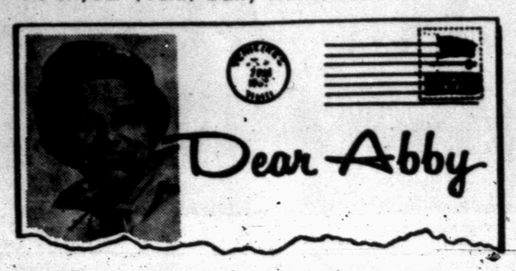
Scott and Irwin plan a total of 67 hours on the moon, twice as long as any previous crew. They are to make three outside excursions, each lasting six to seven hours.

For the first time, they'll drive a four-wheeled rover over the surface to take them to points of scientific interest.

"We plan to drive a total of about 22 miles," Irwin reported. "The farthest distance from the lunar module will be about five miles."

Irwin said three previous Apollo landing teams explored sites with only one point of geologic interest—Apollos 11 and 12 in the flat mare areas and Apollo 14 in the highlands.

"We have a 5-in-1 special," he reported. "We will be able to explore the mountain front, the rille, a new mare area, craters suspected to be volcanic in nature, and a field of impact craters created by debris from a larger crater."



She wants hubby 'trapped' in sleep

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that if a person is in a deep sleep, if you speak to him quietly, and ask questions, he will answer truthfully?

Also is it true that if a person is sound asleep he could have something "drilled" into his head so that on the following day he would carry out the suggestions that were put into his head? I am not trying to do anything illegal or dangerous, but there are a few questions I would like my husband to answer, and he could too easily lie in his waking hours, and this other method would sure set my mind at ease. NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: You are probably referring to questioning one who is in a "hypnotic state." Or trying to plant suggestions in the subliminal or unconscious mind of one who is sleeping. These techniques require great skill and I don't recommend them for your purpose—if indeed you could successfully pull them off, which is extremely doubtful.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a girl I'll call Irene. We have nothing in common except that our husbands were best buddies in the service. Irene has made it a habit to come over uninvited, around dinnertime with her two kids who are both on the bottle.

Last time she came, we had eaten early, but she stayed and stayed, saying every few minutes that she really should be getting home to fix dinner for herself and her children as her husband was eating downtown. I finally fed them about 8 p. m. just to get rid of them.

Irene smokes constantly, and always my cigarets because she doesn't want her husband to know she smokes. She doesn't discipline her children so I have to watch them every minute. She asks me for clothes that are too small for me because she knows I've gained some weight. She isn't poor, Abby. Just nervy.

Before leaving she fills her babies' bottles with my milk. And she doesn't care if she takes the last drop.

My husband insists that I be nice to her because of his friendship with her husband, but I am at the end of my rope. What should I do about Irene? HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Your problem isn't Irene. It's your husband. He has no right to insist that you be "nice" to a presumptuous, nervy woman merely because her husband is his friend. Tell hubby that you'll be nice to Irene when it's a foursome, but you plan to discourage her frequent drop-in dinnertime visits. Then do it.

DEAR ABBY: I have two questions for you: Is it proper for a girl to ask a guy what she should wear when he asks her for a date?

Also, do you think it is okay for a girl to tell her date she thinks he looks neat? Or isn't it cool for a girl to compliment a guy on the way he looks? I am 15. ELLEN

DEAR ELLEN: It's not only "proper"—it's sensible for a girl to find out how to dress for a date. Ask him what the "plans" are. A girl wouldn't dress the same for a dance as she would for a movie or a hockey game.

And yes, it's "cool" to compliment a guy on the way he looks. Guys have vanity, too.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the lady whose husband didn't think she needed a washer-dryer and suggested she do what the Indians did:

My husband used to tell me how his mother did things, so I told him I would try to live as his mother did if he would cooperate. Since his mother couldn't drive a car, his father made all the necessary trips to town, so he would have to do that. I would spend as much time cleaning the bathroom as his mother spent cleaning the outhouse, and since she didn't have a refrigerator, I'd never defrost ours. I also needed a few teen-aged girls to help me since he had three older sisters, none of whom could go to high school because they had to help at home.

Would you believe, I never heard a word about how his mother did things after that? ZEELAND, MICHIGAN

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Area Mail Processing Scheduled

The newest innovation of the United States Postal Service—area mail processing—is to be installed at the Abilene, Texas Post Office and Sectional Center Facility July 6.

Announcement of this new mail plan was made by Postmaster, Clyde E. Grant.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency and economy through full utilization of Abilene's modern and recently mechanized post office", Grant said.

The Abilene Post Office, under Grant, is a Sectional Center Facility which, under the new Area Mail Process program, will process the mail for 17 smaller associate post offices in the Abilene area.

The Abilene Post Office has an electronic cancelling machine equipped with an edger-stacking machine capable of facing and cancelling a total of 30,000 letters per hour.

The Abilene Post Office is being considered for a letter sorting machine which would be installed when determination is made that such an investment would be profitable, Grant explained.

Area Mail Processing is a plan whereby virtually all mail originating within a Sectional Center Facility area, including the associate offices of the Sectional Center, will be consolidated at the SCF for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch.

Outgoing mail originating from all selected First Class associate offices of the Abilene Sectional Center will be collected in the respective offices. From there the mail will be dispatched directly to the Sectional Center for culling, facing, cancelling, and distribution preparatory to dispatch, Grant explained. The five First Class Associate Offices in the program are Colorado City, Haskell, Snyder, Stamford, and Sweetwater. They will use their local postmark to cancel mail deposited in collection boxes marked "LOCAL".

Anson, Baird, Clyde, Coahoma, Hamlin, Knox City, Merkel, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Rule and Winters are the Second-Class Post Offices in the plan and will postmark both "Local" and "Out of town" mail.

All 17 of the post offices will retain the mail addressed for their offices. The other mail will be forwarded to Abilene.

Use of the name of these towns in the address and not the word "city" will be crucial for successful mail delivery under the new mail plan, Grant said. Any local mail from any of the 17 offices that is designated "City" and forwarded to Abilene will be returned to the sender, or to the "Dead Letter Office", if no return address is on the envelope, he added.

The Abilene Sectional Center Area postmark will read, "U. S. Postal Service TX 796", along with the date and AM-PM designation. The city postmark of Abilene and each individual associate office will not be changed. All metered mail will bear the postmark of the office of origin.

It was emphasized by Grant that no office will lose its local postmark whatsoever.

Tech Honor Students Told

LUBBOCK — Names of students whose academic achievements qualified them for the Texas Tech dean's list for the spring semester have been announced. To qualify for the dean's list at Texas Tech, a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 and be taking at least 12 semester hours of work.

Students on the spring list from Snyder include, Weldon E. Snyderite To Attend Meet

COLLEGE STATION — A Snyder High School senior will begin the eight-week engineering science program Sunday at Texas A&M University.

Norman D. Clement Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clement Sr. of 3007 Avenue V, is among 34 high ability 1971-72 seniors participating in the National Science Foundation-supported training, noted Coleman M. Loyd, NSF coordinator at A&M.

Loyd said the 26 boys and eight girls were selected from more than 350 applicants.

Dr. J. George H. Thompson, professor of mechanical engineering, is program director. He will be assisted by Dr. B. B. Agawal and M. A. Raphael.

The seniors assemble Sunday and will be housed in Fowler Hall.

Maj. Gen. (ret.) J. F. Thorlin, assistant director of the Texas Engineeriing Experiment Station, will brief the group on Texas A&M and the College of Engineering at 9 a.m. Monday.

Purpose of the summer training, begun at Texas A&M in 1957, is to encourage scientific interest of high school students with high scholastic ability, Loyd pointed out.

Nearly half of Britain's gas consumers will be using natural gas instead of coal gas within the next year, the British Gas Council forecasts.

Protest In Behalf Of POW's Is Slated Here

A meeting has been scheduled for the night of June 28 here to organize those who wish to band together to express concern over U. S. military men missing in action and held as prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

The session, which is set for 7:30 p.m. on the announced date at the Steak House, has been arranged by the Kiwanis Club of Snyder. However, members of that organization stressed that it is to be a community-wide project and that participation by all interested citizens is being sought.

"This is too big for one club to handle," said Ken Allred, President of the Kiwanis Club.

Two representatives of the Kiwanis Club, I. E. Martin and E. D. Flynn, are meeting with other service clubs to invite their members to participate. They said that the organized effort will not bear the label of any particular group

Messages addressed to other service clubs point out that the purpose of the meeting is to show the North Vietnamese, Pathet Lao and the National Liberation Front that American citizens are concerned about the missing Americans in Southeast Asia.

"Although the countries responsible for our men now being detained may not admit it publicly, they are extremely sensitive to the growing efforts aimed at gaining relief for the release of those unfortunate Americans now being held in Southeast Asia," spokesmen said.

The project here is to add to the efforts of others throughout the country to urge that the names of every American held be released; that impartial inspections of all POW camps be permitted; that the sick and wounded be released so that they will not die a lonely and unnecessary death; emphasize that American people and others in the world cannot consider the captors as responsible, civilized people as long as they torture helpless men and their families in a brutal display of disregard for human life; agree to exchange all prisoners immediately

$200,000 Monthly In Social Security

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Scurry County at a rate of $200,000 a month at the close of 1970, Erven Fisher, social security district manager in Big Spring, said today.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raises the monthly rate of payment by 10 percent for most of the 2,336 social security beneficiaries in Scurry County, Fisher added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits received a 5 percent increase.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to Jan 1. First checks in the new monthly rate reached beneficiaries on June 3, Fisher said. Separate checks representing the amount of the increase for the months of January through April will be mailed later in June.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Scurry County, 1442 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 611 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 225 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Fisher pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Texas, 336,989 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 200,000 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Most of the 32,000 beneficiaries in Texas between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting students' benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

The monthly benefits of these young people, severly handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Big Spring Chief Fired

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — Police Chief Jay Banks was fired Friday night on a 3-2 vote by Big Spring's five-man city commission.

Four policemen resigned immediately and 30 others of the 50-man police force threatened to quit over Banks' dismissal.

City Mgr. Larry Crow appointed Asst. Police Chief Stanley Bogard acting chief of police.

Banks urged the policemen to stay with their jobs, at least for a few more days, because of their "duty to the citizens."

A former Texas Ranger captain, Banks had been chief here for about 10 years. Banks' critics said at a hearing earlier in the week that the veteran law enforcement officer did not cooperate with other law enforcement agencies.

MRS. EMMETT FRANCIS KRAUS

Patterson, Kraus Exchange Vows In Double Ring Rites

Ann Estelle Patterson and Emmett Francis Kraus were married Saturday evening June 12 at the First United Methodist Church. The reverend George Conneri of Abilene officiated at the doublering ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Estell Patterson, of Snyder. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Kraus of Erie, Pennsylvania.

The bride was given in marrigage by her father. She chose a gown of imported white Swiss guipure lace appliqued in a flower and leaf pattern on candlelight pure silk organza, which veiled a silhouette of silk peau de soie. The moulded cap-sleeved bodice was fashioned with a high Victorian neckline. The slim A-line skirt, enhanced with medallion appliques of the Swiss lace and accented with showers of lace beads, swept to a wide chapel-length train on which were repeated the lace beading and medallions. A double row of lace bordered the hemline of both the gown and the train.

Her veil of candlelight silk illusion fell in soft tiers to below her shoulders from a coif appliqued with medallions of the rich Swiss Guipure lace.

The bride wore a blue garter, a sixpence in one shoe, and in the other shoe a lucky penny borrowed from her father. For the traditional something old, she carried an heirloom imported lace handkerchief that belonged to her paternal great-grandmother.

She carried a continental mixed bouquet of pink-cast cymbidiums with podacarpus foliage, white stephanotis, garnet red and pink frill sweetheart roses, baby's breath, and white streamers.

Mrs. Dalton Walton of Snyder attended the bride as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Patterson, and Miss Allana Patterson, (sisters of the bride), Miss Kathleen Mott of Snyder and Mrs. William E. Peteet of Denton, Texas. All of her honor attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of pink and persimmon flower-imprinted cotton voile, fashioned in a moulded empire bodice, a decollete neckline, and long wrist-length Bishop sleeves. The bridesmaids wore chokers of the same fabric, accented with satin ribbon. Their hair was ornamented with a cluster of sweetheart roses. They carried a classic bouquet of pink daisies, white stephanotis, baby's breath, podecarpus trim and pink satin streamers.

The flower girl, Alice Ann LaGrone, cousin of the bride, wore a floor-length dress fashioned of the same fabric and style as that of the bridesmaids' gown. She carried a white satin and lace basket which contained a nosegay of pink daisies, white stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Patterson wore a floor-length dress of pink silk saki, fashioned in a slim sheath and an A-line overskirt. The brief sleeves and empire bodice were accented with pearl and crystal medallions. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother wore a sleeveless floor-length nile-green chiffon gown, its bodice beaded in crystal and silver. A corsage of green cymbidium orchids complenemted a harmony of colors.

Gerald A. Kraus of Carbondale, Illinois, was his brother's best man. Serving as groomsmen were Captain Robert E. Royer Jr., of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Robert L. Radkey of Champaign, Illinois, Robert Rae Patterson of Houston, Texas, brother of the bride, and Dalton Walton of Snyder. Robert F. Kraus, also the groom's brother, and Gregory A. Carter of Snyder were ushers.

The vows were exchanged before an altar centered with a branched tree candelabrum, holding cathedral tapers. Cascading streamers and garlands of smilax complimented the tapers, and a matching pair of tall spiralling candelabra were used on either side of the central tree. On the prayer bench an open bible was flaked by single candles in brass holders. Candles and jade foliage bordered the chancel to complete the sparkling, ethereal, multi-candlelighted setting. Robert Kraus lighted the tapers on the Altar Bench to commence the marriage ceremony.

Prelude organ music from Mozart, Schumann and Massanet was presented by Mrs. Virgil Mott of Snyder.

In harmony with the bride's devotion to music, she chose a meaningful recital of the music of Mozart, Shumann, Brahms, Handel, Buxtehude and Fiocco, preformed by her former oboe teacher, Noah Knepper of Ft. Worth, Miss Kathleen Mott, lyric-soprano, and Mrs. Virgil Mott, organist and pianist.

The wedding processional followed the recital, and prior to the vows, Miss Allana Patterson read "On Marriage" from "The Prophet" by Khalil Gibran.

The vows were recited to each other by the bride and groom, and the Recessional was preceded by the thrilling Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," sung by Miss Kathleen Mott.

A reception at the Snyder Country Club followed the ceremony. The bride's table was over-laid with a cloth of white silk peau de soie, accented with a floor-length gathered skirt of white silk organza. Centering the table was a tall seven-branched candelabrum. Each of the white tapers was surrounded with sweetheart roses, baby's breath and stephanotis. Entwined smilax completed the composition. Table appointments were of silver.

The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bouquet which repeated the design of the bride's bouquet.

The bridegroom's table was draped with a gold satin cloth over a floor length gathered skirt. A brass candelabrum with gold votive candles centered the table, and a copper samovar completed the appointments.

Gracing the punch table was a champagne moire cloth with a heavy brass candlestick entwined with garlands of smilax. Punch was served from a crystal champagne punch bowl.

For the entertainment of the guests, piano music was played by Mrs. Bob Womack throughout the reception.

Members of the house party included Mrs. John Holmes of Dallas, Mrs. James Parker of Garland, Mrs. Bob LaGrone of El Paso, Mrs. Robert Patterson of Houston, Mrs. Tyrus Allen of Longview, Mrs. Fred D. Stribling of San Francisco, Mrs. Jimmy Maddox of Colorado City, Mrs. Joe Price Maddox of Colorado City, and the Mmes Bob Johnson, Bill Price, Bob Neal, William Atwood, Willie Bigham and Harold Lacik of Snyder.

The bride's cousin, Miss Paula Higgins of Sherman, Texas, presided at the registry table.

Wearing identical white embroidered batiste dresses, Marjorie Maddox of Blackwell and Jamelyn Parker of Garland, young cousins of the bride, passed baskets containing rose petals to the guests.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Snyder High School. She received a bachelor of music degree from North Texas State University, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She was president of Sigma Alpha Iota professional music fraternity, was elected to Alpha Chi senior scholastic society and the Pi Kappa Lambda honorary music faternity. She was also honored by Pi Kappa Lambda as the outstanding senior woman in the school of Music and was selected to appear in the "Who's-who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." She received a Master of Music Degree from the University of Illinois in Urbana, and for the past year has been a member of the music faculty at Wisconsin State University.

The groom is a graduate with honors from Gannon College, with a degree in mechanical engineering. He received a Master's degree from the University of Illinois in Aeronautic and Astronautic Engineering and is scheduled to receive a doctorate in the same field in January. He is presently an instructor of airplane design in the Graduate Engineering school at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

Guests attended the wedding from Longview, Sherman, Houston, Temple, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Colorado City, Denton, Blackwell, Post, Lubbock and Abilene, Texas, and from San Francisco, California, Erie, Pennsylvania, Albuquerque, New Mexico and Champaign and Carbondale Illinois.

Parties included a rehearsal dinner for fifty guests, hosted by the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Kraus, at the Snyder Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Walton were hosts for a poolside party honoring the bride and groom, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Walton. Mrs. Tyrus Allen of Longview, Mrs. Truman Barbee of Houston, and Mrs. Elliott L. Higgins of Sherman, aunts of the bride, were hostesses for a luncheon at the Martha Ann Women's Club, honoring the bride and her attendants.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a champagne colored knit pant-suit, accented with black patent accessories. The couple will make their home at 406 West Clark Street, in Champaign Illinois.

MRS. ARTHUR JAMES ECKFORD

Braziel, Eckford Exchange Wedding Vows June 12

Mamie Braziel and Arthur James Eckford were united in marriage June 12 at 8 p.m. at the Friendly Will Baptist Church. Rev. C. Crayton, pastor of the church, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Braziel, 1102 Thirty-second St. and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lee Eckford of Lockhart.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor length gown of satin overlaid with chantilly lace. Daisies of lace formed the stand up collar and accentuated the dress and chapel length train. The long sleeves came to a point at the wrist. A pill box hat with pearls and a bow held the elbow length veil. The bride carried a cascade of snow flake mums atop a white Bible.

Luther Mae Braziel, maid of honor, was attired in a sky blue lace dress accentuated with a blue veil. She carried a bouquet of rainbow carnations.

Billie Jean James, flower girl, wore a white satin dress with a blue veil trimmed with white flowers.

Curtis Gindratt of Abilene served as best man. Groomsmen were Oscar Lee Eckford Jr., of Abilene, Attloy Eckford of Lockhart and Larry Wayne Braziel of Snyder. Robert Braziel and V.T. Robinson of Snyder ushered guests.

Mrs. Anniece Johnson was organist and Charles Collins, soloist.

The altar was decorated with a candelabra holding 14 white burning tapers and enterlaced with greenery and white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table, covered with a white cloth and centered with the bridal bouquet, held the three tiered wedding cake of white, chocolate and pineapple layers.

Mary Braziel registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Fort Worth, the bride chose a pink dress, which she had fashioned.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended Draughon's Business College at Abilene.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lockhart High School.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Abilene, Lockhart and Big Spring.

Adventures Of Yesterday's Man About Town

FEET FIRST. By Ben Finney. Crown. $5.95.

In the old days they were called "men about town." Later they were "playboys," and more recently members of "the jet set" or "the beautiful people." Finney's memoir, name-dropping all over the place, indicates that he has been a member of such a tribe for most of his life.

Still in his teens, Finney was a member of a Marine combat unit in World War I (in World War II he was a major who rustled luxuries for his outfit in the Pacific and in the Korean operation he was a colonel making a survey for the Pentagon). After World War I he became a dropout from college, inherited a plantation in North Carolina and then started wandering through the world.

In the 1920's his adventures included a few supporting roles in the silent films and a lot of involvement with celebrities of the movie and Broadway type; he also credits himself with sparking the idea of changing the Riviera into a summer resort, with the help of such friends as Alexander Woollcott, Scott Fitzgerald, etc.

In the 1930's he rousted about with Ernest Hemingway, lived it up in a tour of the Orient and went on safari in Africa. He tells fancy yarns about the era of Prohibition, gangsters and molls.

The book is full of tall tales, anecdotes and fast talk. For today's reader it is a salad course in what it was like to play fun and games a few yesterdays ago. Quite amusing.

Artist Gets Inquiries On Works

AUSTIN (AP) — Joe Grandee, Texas' first state artist, is a painter who often gets inquiries about the early Americana he incorporates in his paintings.

He was recently contacted by a group from the New York area that plans to reprint six volumes of early out-of-print collector's edition books on the life of Gen. George A. Custer. They knew that Grandee had for many years studied the life and accomplishments of Custer and was planning a series of paintings depicting certain instances from his life including the famous last stand.

They suggested using the paintings in the reprint of the books and selling a portfolio of art prints along with the books.

The painting of "Ira Hayes-his dream-his reality" was selected by the U.S. Marine Corps as a model for the Franklin mint Indian coce-talker's commemorative medallion. At Chicago, the Indians were awarded these medallions for outstanding service. The only two white men to receive the medallion awards were the founder of the code-talkers and Joe Grandee.

The Lynda Johnson-Chuck Robb wedding portrait also was done by Grandee. The painting, as requested, has an 1880 period setting. It was presented to the Johnson family at a ceremony in the White House. Grandee's paintings have been reproduced in books on buffalo soldiers (Negro soldiers), Indians, barbed wire and recently in National Geographic's "Those Inventive Americans." His paintings have been shown in private shows, museums and galleries across the nation and in Japan and Australia, where the U.S. State Department sent them on tour for over a year.

His work will be on display in the "Joe Grandee Gallery and Museum of the Old West" at Arlington, Tex., the Grandee's home base.

Grandee was selected as the state artist by a special committee of Sens. Don Kennard of Fort Worth and J. P. Word of Meridian, Reps. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Phil Cates of Lefors and Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr.

Grant To Finance Conference

AUSTIN (AP)—A $1.25 million grant from the Moody Foundation of Galveston will be used primarily to finance two Moody public affairs conferences jointly sponsored by the Lyndon B. Johnson Library and the LBJ School of Public Affairs, officials said.

"These conferences will focus on public affairs problems of critical concern to the nation and will be conducted by men and women who have had intimate practical experience in dealing with such problems," the announcement said. "These distinguished speakers will also meet with LBJ school student seminars."

The Moody Foundation funds also will be used to support three lectures by distinguished speakers "directed to broad audiences drawn from the campus, local and state citizens, and visitors from other sections of the country."

These funds also will be used to support six Moody fellowships annually for the LBJ school.

The $1.25 million is to be paid by the Moody Foundation in five annual installments of $250,000

Deans Are Honored On Their 50th Anniversary

A reception today in the Fellowship hall of the Northside Baptist Church at 2 till 5 p.m. will honor Rev. and Mrs. J.M. Dean on their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Their children and their families will be hosts. They are Mrs. Floyd Glasscock, Snyder, Texas, Rev. Jack Dean, Bowie, Maryland, Mrs. J.B. Sewell, Brownfield, Texas, Ben W. Dean, Dallas, Texas, Mrs. Jess Grigg, Floydada, Texas. There are 10 grand children and 6 great grand children.

The couple was married May 19, 1921, at Mangum, Oklahoma. Rev. Dean served as pastor of churches in Oklahoma, until 1960, then they moved to Texas. In Texas he was pastor at Anton and Snyder, Texas.

They make their home at 1502 Ave. T. Snyder, Texas. All their friends are invited to the reception.

Man Remembers 1920 Tornado Well

AUSTIN (AP) — Ernest Baker is 79—old enough to remember the day, May 20, 1920, when a tornado hovered over the Capitol and then split in half to damage surrounding areas.

"I was on the third floor of the then Land Office Building at Brazos and 11th," said Baker. "Since my desk faced the north, I just picked up my Kodak and took the picture."

One splinter of the tornado completely demolished Woodward Manufacturing Co. on South Congress Avenue.

"I sent the picture to the New York Times and they published it on their front page," said Baker proudly.

AUGUST WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Minyard, Rt. 2, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carol Elaine, to Darrell R. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hill, 507 East Truett, Winters. The couple plan to wed August 7 at First Baptist Church.

Woman Regains Her Eyesight

WATERTOWN, Nass. (AP) — "No one quite knows how it happened," says Barbara Bubar, mother of two, telling how she regained her sight after growing progressively blind since childhood.

"My husband and I went to a movie," the 35-year-old woman said. "Suddenly I started to see lights. I walked outside and I read a sign in a window across the street: I gulped a few times —at supper I couldn't even see the table or my family around it, a few hours later I'm reading signs and number plates."

Mrs. Bubar underwent a cornea transplant Feb. 7, but scar tissue formed behind the transplant, blocking all vision. A second transplant was tentatively scheduled for the fall.

Roast Chicken with Phyll's Stuffing
Green Peas with Mushrooms
Salad Flaky Rolls
Angelfood Cake with Vanilla Ice Cream and Strawberries

PHYLL'S STUFFING

Less liquid than usual is used to produce a rich crumbly dressing.

½ cup (¼-pound stick) butter
½ cup finely diced onion
½ cup minced celery, including leaves 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
3 cups herb-seasoned crumbled bread stuffing, from an 8-ounce bag
¼ cup water
Salt and pepper to taste

In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat melt the butter; add onion, celery and poultry seasoning; cook for a few minutes. Mix in stuffing, water and salt and pepper. Use to stuff body and neck cavities of a roasing chicken (about 5½ pounds). Close cavities with small skewers and string. Tie legs together and wings back. Roast stuffed chicken by your favorite method.

Strange Tale Of A Psychopath

CRAWLSPACE. By Herbert Lieberman. David McKay Co. $6.95.

In this spooky novel the central figure is a primitive, animal-like young man whose psychopathic attachment to a middle-aged couple ends in disaster.

Young Richard literally moves in on Albert Graves, who lives in an old house in the country—in early retirement, because of heart trouble—and his wife Alice. They are a childless couple who at first gave Richard shelter and security because of the parental instinct, and then try to tame his unruly spirit.

As the story unfolds, narrated by Albert, it becomes apparent that the wild-haired, secretive, fear-filled Richard is desperate for attention and affection. At first Alice Graves thinks of him as the son she never had, and Albert Graves feels it is his duty to protect him.

But Richard is so violent and so alienated that he creates a terror in the minds of his substitute parents, and at the end they cannot cope with his aberrations.

There are many implausible aspects in the plot, not only in the relationships among the three principals, but also in the reactions of others. The situation is unreal and unconvincing. Anyone with an ounce of sense would have popped Richard into a mental hospital long before he made life miserable for his benefactors.

TURNED OFF STUDENTS ARE SILENT

American High Schools Need To Be Awakened

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

The sound of high school is quiet.

In some schools there is violence. In many, classes hum with the excitement of learning. But the commonest and most striking thing is the hush, the nonsound of students turned off.

High school has always bored some of the pupils all of the time and most of the pupils some of the time.

But the question before this graduating class of '71 is one directed more to the schools themselves. It asks not so much how good the American high school is but how good it could be and should be.

The answer from a growing number of critics is—much better.

If supporters can note that 80 per cent of high school age youths graduate, critics can answer, and do, that too many are unprepared for a changing society in which they will have to live, too many dulled by needless information they will never need, bored by rote, by enforced remembrance of things past unrelated to their own lifetimes of assassination, riot, protest and war.

High schools are pouring graduates into college when indications are fewer future jobs will require a college diploma. What's relevant in a suburb may not be in a slum. Amo-amas-amat and soon forgot. But what about Watts or Vietnam or the Catonsville Nine?

There stands the high school, a dominant structure in town, but where does it stand? Too often in limbo, say the critics, not abused but not used, either. Grade it C-plus, B-minus.

A teacher with a gray crewcut reads aloud from the newspaper and asks his fourth-period American history class a few questions:

"There is one woman in the U.S. Senate. Who is that?"

Silence.

"Margaret Chase Smith," he says, and goes on.

"What is unusual about Pakistan?"

Silence.

This scene is in Houston, Tex., but variations are being played simultaneously all over the country—in Great Barrington, Mass., where it is fifth period; in Berkeley, Calif., where it is second period.

It's quiet at Schreiber High in Port Washington, N.Y., where kids cluster up on the hill behind school to turn on with drugs, or sit vacant-eyed in the cafeteria during "independent study" time; where student government has vanished like the French and Science Clubs, and a lettuce boycott draws a hard core of three or four protesters.

And quiet at Miami, Fla., Central, where rooms are locked to "keep latecomers from disrupting the rest of the class." And in the halls of New York City's DeWitt Clinton High, where each pupil carries a program card like a passport and is checked by student monitors—the kids don't mind so much; it helps keep the crime rate down.

It's quiet in sixth-period English for seniors, Central High, Salina, Kan. Teacher Gary Sherrer has scrapped the textbook and picked some stories in paperback to try to spark their imaginations.

The class shuffles uncomfortably. Responses start to form but never make it. At the back of the room a boy rests his head on his desk, cradling it with one arm. In the year 2000 he will be 46 years old. Will he have his head on his desk then, too?

While not yet of a size to constitute a trend, several school systems across the country are making radical departures from the norm to see to it that he won't, then or now. With a liberality that would have left McGuffey wordless, they are doing without formal class hours, desks, regulated hours and even the schoolhouse itself.

Philadelphia's Parkway Program, for instance, uses just that—a freeway—instead of a building. Students, chosen by lottery because of the plan's popularity, do their study time on the scene in offices, museums, factories, hospitals and the like along the highway observing how things work in contemporary life.

Whether such programs promise to be the schools of tomorrow remains to be seen. But they show the extent to which some revisionists are willing to go. And they symptomize discontent with a status quo charged with too little reaction to change.

Too often, the charge goes, what was good enough for Dad is good enough for Junior. But Dad didn't smoke pot or face integration battles in the locker room or have to cross a picket line—whether of students or teachers—to go to class.

Yet a survey by an Associated Press team of reporters shows that change is slowly overtaking the secondary school system. And of all the things about high school that have changed the goals and expectations have changed the most.

In 1900, high school was where 10 per cent of American children qualified for the white-collar elite. Now about 80 per cent finish high school—3.1 million from 27,000 schools this June—bound for everything from professorships to warships.

For decades, tailoring the goals of school to fit society's evolution was largely the concern of educators. Then in 1957, when this year's seniors were 3 years old, the Russians put Sputnik up and the whole American public started worrying that the public schools were to blame for our not being first.

Two years later, Dr. James B. Conant, president-emeritus of Harvard, reported that in a two-year study he visited 55 high schools and found only eight of them satisfactory.

Conant urged more challenging programs for the gifted, more numerous elective courses and consolidation of school districts. But he said, "no radical change in the basic pattern of American education is necessary."

The order of those days was excellence, and math and science were its vehicles. Teaching machines, new math, audio-visual aids came into demand.

As the 1960s progressed, the social ferment in the nation was reflected in the schools: underground newspapers, racial integration, long-haired football teams, court suits over student rights, street academies, pregnant girls in class, a teen drug culture, teachers' strikes, student strikes.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIGHTNING BUGS

QUESTION: What luminates a lightning bug?

ANSWER: The lightning bug is a member of the beetle family and comes under the general classification of firefly. Its ability to throw light comes from a complicated use of chemicals in the body of the insect.

Five chemicals are bound up in the firefly's abdomen by a chemical controller. When nerve impulses release another chemical, inorganic pyrophosphate, the bond breaks, and the reaction produces light. Shortly after, the light wanes, because another chemical destroys the pyrophosphate. The greenish white lights usually appear on the sides of the insect.

The lightning bug or firefly is well known in the United States. It is more abundant in the South and West than along the Eastern Seaboard.

Most of the fireflies we encounter have wings. However the glowworm of England is wingless and belongs to the same family of insects. Also, the railway beetle of Paraguay, a wingless beetle, belongs to the same classification. This type sends out a red and green light resembling railway signals. Small boys enjoy collecting the lightning bugs in a jar to see them light up at night. In tropical countries, they are collected in a bottle and used as a lantern at night.

Pirates, Giants Survive Homers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can slam them against the ropes and rock them on their heels—but don't count out the Pittsburgh Pirates or San Francisco Giants while there's a bat left in their hands.

The Pirates took Montreal's best shots, including a grand-slam home run by John Bateman, but still got in the last licks for an 11-inning 9-8 victory Friday night that protected their 3½-game lead in the National League East.

The Giants, floored by Bob Barton's grand slam in the top of the ninth inning, flailed back at San Diego with a five-run flurry in the bottom half to complete a 7-3, 10-9 doubleheader sweep and go 5½ games up in the West.

Dave Cash and Richie Hebner supplied the Pirates' counter-punch with successive ninth-inning homers to cap a tying four-run rally before Gene Clines lashed a pinch-triple in the 11th and Cash delivered the knockout blow with a single.

Dick Dietz' pinch-double with two out and the bases jammed in the ninth at San Francisco sent home two runs and the winner scored when center fielder Clarence Gaston let the hit skip past him for an error.

The New York Mets, second in the East, blanked Philadelphia 2-0 on Gary Gentry's two-hitter; Los Angeles' West Division runners-up trimmed Houston 5-4; Cincinnati downed Atlanta 6-1 and the Chicago Cubs bombed St. Louis 15-5 in other NL action.

In the American League, Baltimore beat the New York Yankees 6-4; Oakland whipped Milwaukee 6-2; Kansas City took California 6-1; Washington topped Boston 8-5; Cleveland drubbed Detroit 7-0 and Minnesota edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

Bateman's bases-loaded homer-first ever at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium—and a two-run wallop by Bob Bailey gave the Expos an 8-4 cushion going into the last of the ninth.

But Manny Sanguillen's double and a one-out single by Bill Mazeroski got one run across for the Pirates before Cash drilled his second homer of the season and Hebner followed with his seventh, sending the game into extra innings.

Clines tripled to open the Pirates' 11th against reliever Claude Raymond and held third as Mazeroski flied to short right field. Cash, low-bridged by a 1-2 fastball, picked himself off the Astroturf and smacked the next pitch into right for the winning hit.

Lost in the late-inning heroics was Pittsburgh slugger Willie Stargell's 22nd homer—a two-run shot in the first.

Bobby Bonds stroked four of his seven hits, including his 16th homer, as the Giants breezed past San Diego in their twilight opener behind the six-hit pitching of Juan Marichal.

San Francisco struggled from behind in the second game to take a 5-4 lead into the ninth. But Nate Colbert hit a tying leadoff homer and the Padres filled the bases on Ollie Brown's single, a walk and Gary Jestadt's safe bunt. Barton then unloaded them with his grand slam for a 9-5 San Diego lead.

Chris Speier launched the Giants' counter-attack with a double. Singles by Tito Fuentes, Bonds, Ken Henderson and Fran Healy sent in two runs, leaving the bases full with two out and setting the stage for Dietz.

Ken Singleton's two-run homer in the second inning decided the New York duel between Gentry and the Phils' Ken Reynolds, who left for a hitter in the seventh after yielding just two hits.

The Dodgers nailed their sixth victory in seven games on Wes Parker's two-run single in the seventh, which snapped a 3-3 tie.

Lee May drove in three runs with his 15th and 16th homers and Johnny Bench collected four hits, leading the Reds past Atlanta. Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Jim Hickman crashed two-run homers and knocked in three runs apiece in all as the Cubs stormed to a 13-0 lead after five innings and handed St. Louis its 10th setback in 11 games.

Indians Scalp White Sox 21-5

The Indians beat the White Sox 21-5 in a Farm League clash in Towle Park Friday night.

The Tribe leaped into a 9-3 lead in the 1st inning and coasted to victory. Holdren tripled while Hill, Ward and Essery singled for the Indians.

The White Sox' Stroder hit two doubles and David Fulford stroked a single.

Lopez was the winning pitcher. Jack Fulford was the loser.

Nip Flyweight Wins Bout

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Masao Ohba, the world flyweight champion from Japan, won by a technical knockout in the ninth round of a nontitle fight with Constancio Garcia, Mexico's flyweight champ, Friday night.

The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, was stopped 59 seconds into the ninth after Garcia was knocked to the canvas three times. Each weighed 115.

Ohba kept up a steady attack to the face and Garcia bled badly from the mouth and left eye early in the scrap.

The Tokyo speedster slipped at least twice and went down once in the second round, when he jumped to his feet quickly and appeared to grin sheepishly.

Ohba was nearly knocked to his knees in the sixth round and turned away in apparent belief a knockdown had been called. Fans roared disapproval as the referee did not call it a knockdown.

Houston pitchers led the National League in wild pitches in 1970. They made 91.

The 1973 U.S. Women's amateur golf championship will be played at Montclair, N.J.

Braves, Tribe Win LL Tilts

The Braves nudged the Giants 5-4 and the Indians scalped the White Sox 8-4 in two exciting Little League games held Friday night in Towle Park.

Brave pitcher Mike McClure limited the Giants to four hits, giving up a double to Scott Crenwelge and singles to Bryan Smith, Billy Rollins and Zane Sterling.

The Braves collected seven hits. Tim Falls and Kerry Young each rapped two singles while McClure, Jeff Rollins and Kirk Johnson each smashed one single.

The Tribe took a 4 run lead in the 1st inning and never trailed after that. Indian pitchers Darrell Lester and David Fleming fired a 3-hitter, giving up a home run to Danny Chaidez and singles to Alvin Ollison and Robert Riggins.

Riggins, the loser, gave up just four hits to the Tribe—singles to Doug Vaughn, Anthony Lewis and two singles to Dray Sikes.

Spurs, Giants Break Even

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching was so sharp in Friday night's Dixie Association doubleheader between Amarillo and Dallas-Fort Worth that the winning runs in both games were scored on sacrifice flies.

Amarillo's Giants took the opener 3-1 on three RBI-outs, two by Ed Avila and one by Gary Mathews, and temporarily broke the two clubs' tie for the Dixie West lead.

Jack Dempsey Is A Legend

NEW YORK (AP) — There's another birthday coming up this week for Jack Dempsey, the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world who has become a legend in his time.

The old Manassa Mauler, who rose from poverty to riches during the golden era of sports in the 1920s, will be 76 years old Thursday.

If he follows his usual daily routine he will be at his restaurant on Broadway at 49th street shaking hands and autographing menus for his legion of admirers.

Jack Amiel, Dempsey's partner, said there probably will be a private party to celebrate the occasion, but nothing like a year ago when persons from all walks of life dropped into congratulate The Champ on the 75th anniversary of his birth June 24th, 1895 as William Harrison Dempsey at Manassa, Colo.

At an age when most folks enjoy a rocking chair, the 6-foot-1 Dempsey is in good health. He is only about 30 pounds over the 187 pounds he weighed when he demolished big Jess Willard on a blazing hot afternoon July 4, 1919 in Toledo, Ohio, to win the heavyweight title.

Known as a "killer" in the ring, Dempsey brought the million-dollar gate to boxing during his seven-year reign as The Champ. He lost his title on a decision to Gene Tunney in the rain at Philadelphia in 1926.

He explained his defeat simply. "I just forgot to duck."

Perhaps his most famous fight was his return title scrap with Tunney in September, 1927, in Chicago which produced the controversial "long count."

Dempsey smashed Tunney to the canvas in the seventh round, but the official knockdown count was delayed several seconds until he went to a neutral corner. Tunney got up at the official count of nine, although actually he had been down for 14 seconds.

Tunney again won the decision, thwarting Dempsey's hopes of regaining the title.

Dempsey didn't dispute the decision and in later years came to regard the controversy over the long count as "the best thing that happened to me."

"If I had won," he said. "I'd have continued to fight and some fellow eventually would have knocked me out. As it is, a lot of people still think I'm the champ As long as I can keep them thinking that way, I say the long count was the greatest break I ever got."

Best College Golfers Ready

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A field of 217 of the nation's best collegiate golfers will tee off this week in the 74th annual NCAA Golf Championships, to be played at the Tucson National Country Club.

Sixty-seven different schools will be represented, and eight of the top 10 individuals from last year's championship tournament will be back for another try at the individual crown.

The first round of the tournament is Wednesday, with practice rounds Monday and Tuesday.

Thirty-seven colleges will send their entire five-man teams to the week-long tournament, in hopes of taking home the Maxwell Cup, the symbol of college golf supremacy.

Teams expected to be in contention for the Maxwell Cup include Wake Forest, the University of Houston, Purdue University, the University of Texas, and Brigham Young University.

Wake Forest boasts the individual golfer with the most impressive record. He's Lanny Wadkins, who finished second in last year's competition. Wadkins was the 1970 U.S. Amateur champion, a member of the World Cup team, and a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team. This year, he won two intercollegiate tournaments.

Another top Wake Forest golfer scheduled to play in the tournament is Jim Simons, runnerup in the 1971 British Amateur Championship three weeks ago. Simons was also a member of the American Walker Cup team, and was third in the U.S. Amateur Championship.

Leading Houston, the defending NCAA Champion and perennial college golf power, is Corker DeLoach, who tied for seventh in last year's championship.

Tom Kite Jr., of Texas, will attempt to improve on his fourth place finish in last year's tournament, while trying to lead the Longhorns to the team crown. Kite is a former member of the World Cup and U.S. Walker Cup teams, as well as the runnerup in the 1970 U.S. Amateur Championship.

Aggies Will Be Stronger In 1971

By LEW HARRIS
The Daily Eagle
Written for Associated Press

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Not long ago, Texas A&M coach Gene Stallings fitted himself into a comfortable chair in his office and reviewed the Aggies' spring training session.

The primary objective, he said, was to develop a Grade A offensive line. Then, almost in the same breath, Stallings added: "And to learn how not to lose."

Such a statement seems almost out of place in the office, which is draped with symbols of success. Color photographs of A&M All-Americans developed during the Stallings' era bedeck one wall.

Adjacent to them is an even lenthier row of pictures of Aggies who have played under Stallings and then gravitated into professional football.

The focal point of the office, however, is an enlarged team portrait of Texas A&M's 1967 Southwest Conference and Cotton Bowl champions. That and a large sign bearing the Stallings' creed: "Make something happen."

Nevertheless, the Aggies spent the spring hopefully learning how not to lose. By this, says Stallings, he means avoiding the costly fumbles, penalties and interceptions on which a close game can often hinge.

A&M's predominantly sophomore team of 1970 endured its share of close ones. Although beaten soundly by such heavyweights as Ohio State, Texas and Arkansas, four of the Aggies' other six losses were by a total of just 13 points.

The Aggies have purposely avoided much of the pre-season hoopla and will seek to prove themselves on the field. However, the makings of a solid club are present. "I think we can have a good team," says Stallings.

One reason for such thinking is that the talented but inexperienced A&M sophomores of a year ago are now battle-tested juniors. And there are a number of them. Ten offensive and 10 defensive starters return, dotting a roster laden with 46 lettermen.

Add junior college transfer Skip Kuehn, a center with promise, and such outstanding newcomers as tackle Bud Trammell (6-4, 250) and Mark Green, and there are reasons why things are looking up in the Brazos bottomland.

Green will figure strongly in A&M's plans this year. "He's 6-3 and 218-pounds and he comes to play," Stallings says of the rangy Odessa sophomore.

Green worked at quarterback during spring drills in the absence of starter Lex James, out with hepatitis. A healthy James on the scene could well mean that Green might line up at the free safety slot left vacant by graduated All-American Dave Elmendorf, or in the offensive backfield.

Stallings obviously believes James will be back. "Lex says he'll be ready and that's good enough for me," he says of the Houston junior whose season passing total (1,662-yards) was second in the conference and only 100-yards less than that posted by SMU's Chuck Hixson.

Fullback, where Brad Dusek, Doug Neill and Marc Black will all vie for playing time, is an example of the depth A&M has at some positions. Neill was the leading ball-carrier last fall and Dusek and Black ranked third and fourth in that department.

Steve Burks returns at tailback, where he received strong competition from Soph Bobby Merren in the spring.

Tight end Homer May (6-2, 220) can be a "super player," according to one Aggie coach. He hauled in five touchdowns and averaged more than 18-yards a reception last year.

Assistant coach "Pug" Gabrel was imported from Oklahoma State to rebuild the offensive line and at the end of spring training he had a sizeable starting bunch, the least of which weighed 220 pounds.

Leonard Forey will be a ringleader of that line, teaming at guard with Todd Christopher who was switched from defense. Hopefully Kuehn will relieve the problem at center.

Dodgers, Buffs Win Jr. Tilts

The Dodgers whipped the Braves 11-3 and the Buffs nipped the Bullets 5-4 in two thrilling Junior Teenage League games held in Towle Park Friday night.

The Braves got only two hits, including singles by Randy Gressett and by Greg Godair.

Dodger batters rapped eight safeties. John Sterling stroked three singles while Larry Beard, Ernie Simons, George Watts, T. Rylander and Barry Blalock each hit one.

The Buffs scored three times in the 1st and twice in the 3rd inning while the Bullets tallied all four of their runs in the 3rd.

Buff hitters Hollis and Leadman cracked singles.

A&I Rookies Reporting

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The first of the pro rookies from Texas A&I University has reported to the training camp of the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

Linebacker Robert Young precedes four other A&I rookies who will report to National Football League camps next month.

Resume Helps To Land Job

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Job-market expert Richard Lathrop has identified 7 major elements you must master to find the right employment. The first step is to decide who you are, what you want, and what you can do. The next steps are . . .

(2) LEARN RESUME ART. If you're looking for a job requiring brainwork or leading to advancement, you must have a creditable resume and know how to use it. Your resume is one of the most important documents you will develop in your lifetime, and you better believe it!

Don't assume you can write an effective one without expert guidance. The fact that so many people do it wrong helps explain why, according to one recent study, 99 out of 100 resumes sent to major employers produce no hiring action, and why fully 76 percent contain crucial errors. (24 percent of resumes reviewed were in the dog category; 52 percent were average; 21 percent very good; and only 3 percent were outstanding.)

Typically, resumes fail because their authors assume that an experience outline, even a great one, will suffice. It won't. Put your hands on the best and most up-to-date book on the subject you can find and pay close attention. Familiarize yourself with differing resume approaches for various levels of work. Study examples of outstanding resumes.

You may wish to have a professional resume writing service polish your work, but do the work-up yourself first. After all, you know yourself a lot better than the pro writers do – and the exercise will help organize your thinking so that you turn in a better performance at job interviews.

(3) PROFESSIONAL JOB SERVICES. Learn where to get professional help without getting stung. High fees are no indicator of value, but conscientious services do exist which offer help at fees which only seem high until you stop to weigh the long-term benefits offered.

For instance, as little as $100 wisely spent in your job search can be the factor which produces employment at $100 more per month; an investment return of major proportion.

There are various professional services, each of which offers a different kind of help. Among them: employment agencies, resume writers, professional placement services, job-search agencies, executive recruiters and testing and counseling services. Ask your librarian to help you locate guides on how to tell them apart.

(A brief pamphlet on this subject, "Executive Search – Who Does What?" is published by the Council of Better Business Bureaus. For a free single copy, send a long, white stamped (8 cents) self-addressed envelope to the Council at 1101 17th St. NW, Washington, D.C.)

(4) JOB OPENINGS. You should learn what kinds of jobs are available, and a good place to start is newspaper help wanted columns and business pages, and business publications. Read trade journals covering fields of interest; you can locate these through reference books: "Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory" or "The Standard Periodicals Directory." Check "The College Placement Annual" and "Who's Hiring Who" for specific job openings.

Also, in your preliminary preparation for your job-finding job, look for job-opening research services which permit you to query employers in advance at small cost to determine if they're planning to hire people with your qualifications. Some will contact as many as 10,000 employers for you.

High school graduates and other beginners can get valuable job-finding tips in Joyce Lain Kennedy's "Secrets of Finding Your First Job." For a copy of this 20-page pamphlet, send 40 cents and a stamped (8 cents), self-addressed long white envelope to Mrs. Kennedy in care of this newspaper.

Snyder Soldier Completes Course

FT. POLK, La. — Army Private DeWayne Clayton 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Clayton, 3008 Avenue K, Snyder, recently completed nine weeks of advanced individual infantry training at Ft. Polk, La.

During the course, he received Guerrilla training and lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on enemy villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading. Land mine warfare, communications, and firing the M-16 rifle, M-60 machine gun and the 3.5 inch rocket launcher.

Sign Is Amusing

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — A sign at Meramec Caverns on US 66 here causes tourists to chuckle. It reads: "Jesse James Slept and Crept Here." The outlaw used the cave as a hideout.

LIGHT BULB SALE — Parents of boys in Cub Scout Pack 61, sponsored by North and Northeast Elementary P-TA, will be selling packages of eight light bulbs for $2 each. The purpose is to raise funds for the boys' pack fund. If you are not contacted and would like to buy some bulbs, dial 573-7676 or 573-6105 and they will be delivered to you. Here, Gary Waller, Tim Sumruld and Gervis Smith hold bulbs like those that will be sold.

Letters To Editor

To the Daily News:

Some years ago I took a little black album about five inches by seven inches and three to four inches thick to a showing of antiques at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. What became of it, I don't know. I have not seen it since.

Could anyone have found it and didn't know what to do with it? If so, would you be kind enough to return it to me, Mrs. J. E. Sorrells, Star Route Box 32, Ira, Tex. I would gladly pay a reward for it.

My father's mother brought it from Germany in 1830 when she was 12 years old.

Mrs. J. E. Sorrells

Snyderite To Attend Meet

AUSTIN — Jimmy P. Lynch, teacher at Lamar Junior High School, will attend the 109th annual convention of the National Education Association as an official delegate June 26-July 2 in Detroit, Mich.

Lynch was in Austin Monday and Tuesday for an orientation meeting of the Texas delegation to the NEA convention.

Archie Roberts of Beeville, state president of the Texas State Teachers Association, presided at the meeting of Texas delegates. Other TSTA state officers on the program to provide information for the delegates were L. P. Sturgeon of Austin, executive secretary; Patsy Duncan of Amarillo, president elect; and Jewell Harris of Abilene, immediate past president.

Group discussions were led by the NEA directors from Texas and other TSTA leaders and staff members on such topics as the NEA constitutional convention, proposed new by-laws and resolutions, the convention program and related activities.

Snyderite On Tech Honor List

Donald R. Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Copeland of Snyder, has been named to the dean's honor list at Texas Tech for the spring semester.

Copeland, a 1967 graduate of Snyder High School, is a senior majoring in business.

July 4th Art Show Planned

Plans for the annual July 4th Art Show have been announced by Mrs. Melvin Lee, chairman.

The art show is held in the county barn in Towle Memorial Park each year in connection with the community Independence Day celebration.

This year, paintings should be taken to the county barn between the hours of 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Saturday, July 3. They should be picked up between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. Monday, July 5.

Divisions include professional-teachers, and-or those who have won recognition in any outstanding state exhibition; non-professional - amateur —those who have not won recognition in outstanding state shows; and students, including high school age.

Classes will include landscape, still-life, portraits and contemporary. Both copy and original work will be accepted in their respective classes.

An artist may enter four paintings in each class. There is an entry fee of $1 per painting in the adult divisions, 50 cents in the junior division and 25 cents per painting for exhibit only. Artists may price work for sale, with 10 per cent of the sale price going to the July 4th Art Show.

Two trophies will be contributed by Bullard's Athletic Center and Bennett's Office Supply to the "public choice" in the senior and junior divisions. Also, there will be three traveling trophies. These will be awarded too the over-all best in the senior professional, senior amateur and the junior divisions. Winners will keep these trophies one year and return them for the July 4th show next year. However, if an artist wins a traveling trophy twice in a row, he may keep it permanently. The traveling trophies are contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Bentley Baize, H. A. Johnson and the Sherwin-Williams Paint Store.

All paintings should be matted or framed and wired for hanging, and none should be over two years old and should not have won awards in any previous show. Each entry must have a card attached to the back with the name of the artist, address, division and price, if for sale. Insurance on paintings should be carried by the artists if desired. No insurance is carried by the show, although all possible care will be used in handling the entries.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Lee by calling 573-2754, or Joy McGlaun at 573-2414.

GE TRAINLOAD SALE

NOW AT Roe's

For the 14th year in a row—here comes the General Electric appliance train! It's loaded with GE refrigerators, freezers, color TV's, washers, dryers, air conditioners and other major items for your kitchen and/or home entertainment. At big savings for you! Here's why:
GE is the only major manufacturer which makes all its appliances at one location—Louisville, Kentucky. Each year at the start of the summer season the Southwest Distributor assembles at the factory a large selection of special production models, plus some closeouts and discontinued models. These are ordered by dealers in the Southwest at savings from regular prices. Because direct-to-dealer rail cars are used, additional savings in freight, warehousing, handling and paperwork are made.
During the trainload sale event, all these savings are passed on to you—as much as $80.00 on some items!
Naturally, there is a limited supply of some models. So don't delay—if you plan to buy a major appliance, color TV or stereo soon, shop these bargains today!

COMPLETE COURSE — Lt. Jimmie F. Rhoads, safety education service, Department of Public Safety at Midland (standing) gives some driving tips to Police Sergeant Ruben Gonzales. Local police officers completed a course in safe driving and defensive driving the past week. Helping with the instruction was Jack White, DPS, Big Spring (not pictured). Subjects covered included preventable or non preventable accidents, driver assumptions, traffic law, city driving, driving in adverse weather, so-called emergencies, and how to see. The course ended with an examination and critique Friday.

Speaker's Rule Changes Proposed

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville—considered a potential candidate for house speaker—has proposed rules changes that would sharply curtail a speaker's power.

Nugent said the House Rules Committee, which he heads, would study ways to improve "our legislative process" between now and the start of the 1973 legislature.

Rules changes must be approved by a House majority.

He sent a letter to each House member, asking for comments on 14 proposed rules changes.

One of the proposals would divide each House committee into standing subcommittees to hold public hearings on bills and report their findings to the full committee. Hearings now are held before the full committees, with bills usually referred to subcommittees for detailed study.

Nugent suggested a limited seniority system. While he didn't go into detail, this normally means members could not be removed from a committee without their consent.

He proposed requiring the speaker to choose committee chairmen from among standing subcommittee chairmen when vacancies occur.

The speaker now appoints all committee members and chairmen at the start of each legislative session, giving him one of his most important powers.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Nugent reportedly were at odds as the regular session ended. Nugent has been rumored as a possible candidate for speaker, but has not commented on the subject.

Mutscher plans to appoint his own committee to recommend new procedures for the House. Two other speaker candidates also plan to propose what they call reforms: Reps. Rayford Price of Palestine and Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty.

Ability Counts

LONDON (AP) — Life at the top in Britain is no longer ruled by the old school tie—that is who you know rather than what you know.

A survey by the Industrial Management Journal disclosed nearly half of the bosses of the 30 leading industrial companies went to free government-sponsored schools.

Michael Berry, training director for the Confederation of British Industry, said: "There is too much money at stake today for the old school tie system. From now on it won't matter where you come from. Progress will depend only on ability."
