

OHS Fillies Are Number One!

Ables; Kim Kinnison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kinnison; and Sheri Hutson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wandie Hutson. Front row, Elaine Rodriguez, daughter of Mrs. Jean Rodriguez; Melanie Cowart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cowart; Marla Faver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burley Faver; and Carla Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clark.

Olton Fillies walked (rather jumped and ran) away with the top honors at the State track meet held in Austin last weekend.

Winning first as a team with a total of 62 points, they captured first places in the mile relay with a time of 3:59.8 and in the 880 yard dash came in first and second with times of 2:19.7 and 2:20.7.

Winning in the mile relay were Elaine Rodriguez, Marla Faver, Melanie Cowart and Donna Hodges. Winners of the 880 were Carla Clark, first and Kay Givens, second. Miss Givens was last year's 880 yard dash champion at State.

Second place was picked up by Donna Hodges in the triple jump, whose mark was 37-2 3/4.

The 440 yard relay team (same as the mile relay) came in for second place position in that race, 49.1 behind the winning time of 49.0, posted by Lubbock Roosevelt.

Melanie Cowart competed in the long jump at State, but failed to place.

As far as team totals, the next closest team to Olton girls was Waco Robinson with 52.

The youth arrive at Lubbock Airport about July 15 and are to be guests of the host families and about six weeks.

Teams will be led by captains Edd Miller, of the Hookers and Gilbert Roberson of the Slicers. Each player's 18-hole score will count toward his team total score.

The team with the lowest score will be declared Winner. Losers will host a steak dinner, following the tournament, in the club house lounge.

Sluder Wins

In a special election, held Saturday, Tom Sluder was declared winner and will serve as city councilman.

A tie vote in the regular election resulted in the special election between Sluder, a write-in and Larry Garvin, announced candidate. Sluder received 96 votes and Garvin had 44.

Letters From Our Readers

Strawberries and Politics

Dear Sue,

While the most part of me had rather be in my garden planting the beautiful strawberry plants a dear friend just gave to me, the other part tells me I should write this letter in hopes it may help enlist the aid of other concerned citizens as to some of the things now going in Washington. We still have a short time to write letters to our congressmen to tell them what we think (a very short time).

It occurred to me that unless the "Land Use & Resource Conservation Act" Bill #S984 and S619 is STOPPED from passage, the day may come when I can't plant strawberries in my own garden. This bill will give the federal government the power to tell us what or what not we will do on or WITH our own property, and it is with the very liberal of meaning. Is this bill paving the way for government ownership of all property as it is in Russia? I don't know, but I don't like it. If you have just five minutes to write to your senator and representative asking him to vote against this bill, it may help. In the event it passes, and it is probable, with the liberal congress we now have we it is very probable, write to President Ford (The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500) immediately and ask for his VETO.

Another bill which looks like it will pass (Ralph Nader's Raiders already smell success) is the "Agency of Consumer Advocacy" (S 200;). This agency would have the power to intervene as its OWN DISCRETION in every part of government in the name of "Consumer interest."

NOTE: Labor disputes are exempted from the ACA's attention. This agency is not needed in the first place. There are already 33 government agencies set up to protect the consumer. It is definitely anti-business, and will end up costing the American Taxpayer 60 million dollars in the first 3 years. Again if this passes the house and the senate ask for Ford's veto.

For those who can and will take the time to write a quick note to our congressmen here are their addresses.

Sensors:

Lloyd Bentsen - 240 OSOB, Washington, D.C. 20510
Representative:

Thanks, Sue! Who said, "the Pen is Mightier than the sword"? Food for thought. Speaking of food - back to the strawberries!

On Mother's Day

By Rex Boyles

Dear Editor:

I would like to enter my wife and my mother in the "Best Mother" contest. I wish I could send you a picture if it would take the place of a thousand words, for I find it hard to touch the right letters to form the right words to describe them for you. The choicest words I can find were written by God in Proverbs 31. God describes the "best" wife and mother in these words, "her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband trusts in her, and he shall have no lack of gain. She does him good and not evil all the days of her life." I consider my son's mother and my mother the "best" Mothers, for they are women of grand worth.

God continues to write about the "best" Mother in Proverbs 31, saying, "...She works willingly with her hands." She uses her hands to minister to her own, but she also stretches those hands to the needy. The hands of God's "best" are vessels of comfort and care, tools of love and labor, and treasure chests of strength and supplies. Such are the hands of my two most beloved women, for they have mended, scrubbed, and baked not only for their family and friends but also for the unfortunate. I consider my son's mother and my mother the "best" Mothers, for they are women of good works.

God concludes the "best" Mother chapter with these crowning words, "Strength and dignity are her clothing, and she laughs at the time to come. She opens her mouth with wisdom; and the law of kindness is on her tongue. She looks well to the way of her household, and eats not the bread of idleness. Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her saying, 'Many daughters have done worthily, but you excell them all.' Grace is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that fears Jehovah, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her works praise her in the gates." Such are the women that I call "wife" and "mother." I consider them the "best" Mothers, for they are women of gracious wisdom. That's the reason I believe that they ought to be chosen as "Mothers of the Year." Thank you...Rex

Kids, does that sound like a bunch of bunk? It's not really; because, though they are precious women, they are not angels. For you see, my son's mother and my own mother have made some mistakes. I can remember mistakes of judgement and decisions on their part. I can remember some unfounded "chewing outs" and some uninformed "half-baked" advice. They are good ladies, but they are people; and being such, they have made some mistakes.

But you know that after the bad advice, unjust punishment, and unfounded criticism, there is only one thing that I remember. The one thing that stands above all the mistakes is the one thing that covers a multitude of mistakes. The one thing that I remember, the thing my mother gave me, and the thing that my son's mother is giving him in unbounded love. With every beat of her heart my mother loved me, and that's all that really matters. Thank you God for Mothers like mine and my son's mother. Rex.

Multiple Sclerosis is one of the most common - and dreaded - diseases affecting the nervous system. It afflicts an estimated half million people in this country, almost invariably between the ages of 18 and 46 years!

The disease is termed "multiple" because it usually affects many parts of the nervous system. There is as yet no proved means either to prevent or to arrest the disease.

The national Multiple Sclerosis Society, established in 1946, is the only national voluntary health agency engaged in research to find effective means to combat the disorder.

The major concerns of the scientists studying the matter are: To learn more about the disease process; to find an effective diagnostic test; to learn the nature of chemical changes occurring in the body; to determine if the disease is caused initially by a virus; to learn if the patient with MS in "allergic" to some chemical constituent in his own body; and to find rehabilitative procedures.

For the first time in the century-old history of MS - we are making progress in some of these areas. Dr. Jonas Salk says, "Every disease has its time and the time has arrived to find the answer to multiple sclerosis!"

This week when your letter arrives in the mail with its plea for a contribution...think twice before you discard it. Mail your donation in the enclosed envelope or call some member of Olton Study Club to take it.

HELP is needed, and all of us possibly know at least one person who would like to give all he (or she) has to find a cure.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

That special day is here again - the day set aside to honor mothers - to speak words of appreciation that you feel all year but just don't get around to voicing.

Mothers are a special kind of people. Someone else, not I, describes mothers as "coming in all shapes and sizes." There are young mothers, middle age mothers and elderly mothers and there are mothers wrapped in all colors of gift wrappings - white, yellow, brown, red, black and tan and polka-dotted if they're freckled like me.

They're as different as snowflakes and yet as alike in some ways as though they'd been made on a mimeograph machine.

Mothers are the gender usually described as the "weaker sex" and yet they are the strongest people on earth.

Of course, they may "go all to pieces" at the sight of spiders and bugs and snakes and lizards when such unexpected critters are found in blue jeans' pockets, dresser drawers or maybe the refrigerator!

But, generally speaking, they are the capable gals who can kiss away the hurt from skinned knees, mend kites, patch-up a broken doll, soothe the anguish of a broken first love, calm the anxieties of a night before tests, brave the perils when the youngsters learn to drive and endure the aching emptiness when the young one leaves the nest.

Mothers meet all those little crises with serenity and self-assurance then when the problem is all smoothed out and there's no one watching, she spills the tears that waited for that time.

The "most beautiful baby in the whole world" is born every time a woman has a child. And love more perfect than Mother's happened only once before.

She's the greatest and the grandest! Superman in feminine form, wizard of the kitchen, Florence Nightingale when you're sick and your most loyal supporter. She's the Queen of America - your own special angel - your Mother!

And the best ones of all belong to me - one gave me birth and I "married" the other!

Winning Letter

My mother isn't exactly what I'd call a modern day woman, and I'm glad of it. She doesn't worry if her clothes aren't of the latest style or have her hair done every week or try to hide her wrinkles and age spots with make-up. Once when I asked why she didn't color her hair, she replied that she'd worked hard enough to deserve every gray hair she has.

Not counting summers spent working in the fields, Mom wouldn't work away from home until we were all in school. She never let the family's financial needs get in the way of her duties as a wife and mother. She knew we'd be better off deprived of material goods than of her attention and care.

So Mom's not liberated -- but I never heard her complain. She's been housekeeper, field hand, baby sitter, nursemaid or any other "helper" the family has needed. She's always gone about those tasks pleasantly and vigorously. She doesn't do things halfway. She always told me she knew what she was getting into when she got married, and there was no sense rebelling about it.

Mom taught us all the importance of doing a job and doing it right. My brothers, sister and I all had our turns in the field beside Mom. She didn't allow loafing and always said we could hoe faster with our mouths shut -- which proved to be true.

Although eight to ten hours of this work a day left Mom drained, she still fixed three meals a day, cleaned house and canned the abundant crop my dad always got from his garden. Of course, we had to help, but it wasn't easy getting much help from six kids who felt there was nothing more important than their own pursuits.

Mom's conscientious work habits wore off on us pretty well. Though none of us are prosperous in our vocations, we are wealthy in the knowledge that we give our best and don't have to cheat our employers or ourselves to get by.

Mom has also worked as a presser for a dry cleaner, as a fry cook, and now works for the school cafeteria. These perhaps aren't the jobs many women would care to have, but Mom never put her pride before her needs.

Mom's deep concern for others rather than for herself has always been evident. In our "harder times", Mom would often do without a badly needed dress, or refuse to eat when she knew there wasn't enough to go around. One Christmas, she wrapped rocks and broken water pistols and other of our junk items in beautiful Christmas packages (with a little money enclosed) just so we would all have a gift to open. That's the most wonderful Christmas I've had yet. It brought us very close, not for the things we'd received, but for the things our folks taught us by their sacrificing.

Mom doesn't pry into our private affairs, or bug us about what we do. She has instructed us as to what is wrong and right, and has great faith that all her children will do what is best.

It's very painful to know that she has such great faith in us when we fail her. But she never says "I told you so", or nags because we didn't do things her way. She seldom loses her temper with us or anyone, and has a tremendous capacity for understanding people.

I've never known her to be mean, or to take out her infrequent bad moods on us. She doesn't burden us with her problems or blame us if she feels tired or put upon. She wouldn't dream of embarrassing us in front of others and doesn't expect things from us that we cannot do.

I've seen a lot of mothers...the yellers, the complainers, the lazy ones and the ones who devote all their time to their own pursuits, the indifferent, the snivelers, the vain and the mean...mothers. When I see these women, I thank God I have the mother I do.

I don't know of anyone who has entered our home that has anything bad to say about my mother. I imagine they see her as an almost shy, quiet woman who minds her own business and devotes much of her time to her church work and attending mass.

I love my mother. Though we've had our differences, I've always had great respect for her and admire her more than any woman I know. If I could have my choice of any Mom in the world, I'd probably just stick with her.

Though not beautiful, rich, popular or "cool", she has everything going for her I'd like my children to see in me. I know I'll never have her tremendous patience, generosity, continuous energy or unselfishness. But I have her.

With her as a model, I hope to make the kind of life for my own kids as she has made for us. Not a life free of worry or care, but full of love, of hard work, and appreciation for all God has given us.

She knows how to find happiness in sorrow and take the hurt out of life's pains. She does this not by thinking of herself or seeking to be loved, but by loving others and being lovable.

My Mom's name is Margaret Gallagher. Even if she is not named "Mother of the Year", she will always be the best kind of mother in my mind. Not only is she my mother of the year, she's the mother of a lifetime!

MRS. LEROYCE KERSH

Cook Of The Week

"They're not my own," says Mrs. Leroyce Kersh of the recipes she shares as Cook of the Week. The borrowed recipes are family approved, however, and Sandy says the cookies are such favorites that her youngest son prefers them rather than cake at birthday time.

Sandy is completing her fifth year of work with the school cafeteria; three years as a full time employee after working earlier as a substitute. She says that enchilada pie recipe is similar to a popular dish at school made with hamburger meat rather than chicken.

Red-haired Sandy got her nickname for her little-known name, Sandra, and not from her shade of hair as many have supposed. She has lived in Olton since coming here with her family when she was a sophomore in high school. Leroyce has lived at Olton all his life.

The Kershes have two sons and a daughter. Mike is a senior at OHS; Billy, an eighth grader and Leigh Ann, a fifth grader. The family attends First Baptist Church.

Sandy served as a Den Mother when her sons were in Scouting and has been a loyal supporter while they have participated in summer baseball. Always ready to help in the concession stands, she has accepted the "in charge" job this year for junior Babe Ruth.

Sewing is about the only hobby she finds time for since beginning work at the lunchroom.

Book Review, Analysis By Mrs. D. M. Granbery

"Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body," was the thought introducing the program to members of Olton Study Club as they met Monday evening in Woman's Club House.

Mrs. Paul Burrus was hostess for the event. A short business meeting was directed by Mrs. C.S. Silcott prior to the book review presented by Mrs. D.M. Granbery.

Beginning with the brief book "Gee Whiz, I'm Old," by Agnes D. Plyant, Mrs. Granbery drew upon the philosophy expressed by the author and contrasted it with a later book "Three Score and Ten - Wow."

Plans were made by the group to attend a performance at Hayloft Theatre, Lubbock, for the final meeting of the year. Plans for the theatre party are being arranged by Mmes. Barton Prestridge and J.C. Brown.

Mrs. Ruth Guatier, Lubbock, was special guest. Members present were Mmes. Roye Aikman, H.B. Carson, Bailey Hair, Glenn Singleterry, Jack Straw, Bill Yates, Curtis Scruggs, Jim Hyatt, Prestridge, Brown, Granbery, Silcott, Miss Helen Locke and the hostess.

Three Oltonites Named To Lamb 'Heart' Board

Three Oltonites have been named board members of the Lamb County Division of the American Heart Association. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brown and Mrs. Margaret Burrus were elected at the division's annual dinner meeting last week in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas building in Littlefield.

Janice Sebring of Littlefield was named president of the County unit with Billy Moore of Earth as vice president. Dorothy Powell of Littlefield is secretary and Lois Humphreys of Littlefield, secretary-treasurer.

Other board members elected were Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Watson of Springlake; Mr. and Mrs. John Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Denton, Nilah Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, all of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey of Spade and Mr. and Mrs. Pete O'Hair of Earth.

Board members whose terms are still in effect are Tom Tollett, Nina Talburt, Billy Moore, Jo Stockdale, Carol Faver, Janice Sebring, Lois and Mae Humphries, Kay Kendall, Joyce Oliver, Jeni D. Brunson, Dorothy Powell and Evone Oliver.

Guest speaker was Dr. Felix Gruber, associate professor of preventive medicine and community health at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

Dr. Gruber spoke on the relation between hard water and heart disease. "Living in West Texas is just great as far as heart disease is concerned," Dr. Gruber said. "People who live in areas where they drink soft water and those who drink water from water softeners show a higher incidence of heart attacks."

According to Dr. Gruber's statistics, those who live in hard water areas and drink hard water have a third fewer heart disease problems. In North Carolina soft water areas, heart disease is sometimes twice as high in soft water areas as in hard water regions.

The minerals in hard water, especially calcium and magnesium, are evidently beneficial to the heart. Corrosiveness in soft water appears to be toxic.

For those who have water softeners or live in soft water areas, it is advised they let their water run freely for a time each morning instead of drinking water that has been standing in pipes all night.

In a progress report, chairmen showed over 1,000 school students have been educated on resuscitation, 115 have had cardiopulmonary resuscitation training and four have qualified as instructors.

Cong. Mahon Working To Restore Gas Priority

Congressman George Mahon put it well when he said curtailment of natural gas for irrigation on the High Plains "would have devastating impact on our highly irrigated agricultural area."

The Lubbock lawmaker, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is working with Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Plains Gas Users Association and others toward restoring natural gas for irrigation purposes to a No. 2 priority.

December 19 of last year the Federal Power Commission issued its "Opinion 697-A" which lowered irrigation natural gas to a No. 3 industrial priority behind domestic and commercial uses. In a letter to 19th Congressional District constituents, Mahon referred to the FPC action as "intolerable" and said "I have been in contact with FPC officials on numerous occasions urging them to provide information on appropriate procedures for people in our area to seek some type of relief..."

The FPC has denied formal motions for a reconsideration of the ruling but did agree to hold a hearing before an administrative examiner to investigate certain questions arising out of the decision. It has also granted requests for field hearings in Lubbock, Albuquerque and Phoenix.

Field hearings tentatively are scheduled to begin in Lubbock the week of May 12 and will be conducted for two days in each location.

Specifically, the two areas to be treated in hearings are (1) whether natural gas used for irrigation purposes is a processed gas and should be appropriately placed in commercial priority No. 2 and (2) to consider petitions for extraordinary relief which would exempt from curtailment farmers drastically affected by the ruling. A large amount of testimony is expected to be presented for the hearing record in Lubbock as evidence of the "devastating impact" referred to by Mahon.

A resolution opposing the FPC opinion, passed by the PCG Board of Directors at its last meeting April 9, was sent to each member of the FPC and to members of the Texas delegation in Congress.

It urged a reversal of the FPC decision, calling attention to the 50,000 gas-powered irrigation wells in the Panhandle-South Plains area; the fact that many of the underground pipelines serving these wells were paid for by farmers; that no other fuel or fuel distribution system is available to power irrigation engines, and that it would not be economically feasible to use an alternate fuel even if available.

"The irrigation belt in the Panhandle-South Plains of Texas produces an astronomical amount of food and fiber which could not and would not be produced but for irrigation and the use of natural gas as a fuel to power irrigation engines," the resolution stated, and concluded that "it is imperative that irrigation gas be restored to a No. 2 priority so that farmers in the area may continue to irrigate their lands."

TEXAS TALK

By Billy Davis

After the Rough Riding was over, Teddy Roosevelt spent a lot of time making what he hoped would be remembered as profound statements. One of those is proving itself more every year . . . "We cannot afford to lose that preeminent typical American, the farmer who owns his own land." Many theories abound. Robert Aubrey lists it as a manifestation of what he calls the "Territorial Imperative." Others observe simply that a man will work harder for himself than for someone else. Undoubtedly true, but another, immeasurable factor is involved . . . pride. American farmers are proud to be able to each produce enough for themselves and 50 others. And they're smart. Smart enough to use the right portions of ecology, mechanization, chemical know-how and management to make the same land produce more every year. In 65 years production per acre has increased more than 620 percent. The Rough Rider was right, we can't afford to lose the family farmer.
