BIG BILL HAYWOOD IS REPORTED TO HAVE LEFT UNITED STATES

SAID TO HAVE SUCCEEDED IN SECURING PASSAGE TO RUSSIA.

SWEEPING SEARCH IS ORDERED BY OFFICIALS

Associates Admit a Knowledge Of Report Which Is Said To Be Reliable One.

CHICAGO, April 21.—District Attorney Charles W. Clyne today ordered a sweeping search for William ("Big Bill") Haywood, leader of the I. W. W.

Reports reached Clyne today that Haywood, under sentence of twenty years in federal prison, for violation of the espionage act, had arrived in Riga, Russia, a fugitive from justice from the United States.

Clyne refused to divulge the source of his information.

"According to my advices," Clyne said, "Haywood sailed from the United States several weeks ago on the Oscar II and has arrived in Riga."

Clyne wired every department of justice agent in the nation to start a search for Haywood.

The district attorney believes that someone may have secured a passport for Haywood or that he may have escaped from the country under a fictitious name.

Clyne called several I. W. W. leaders to his office today to find the whereabouts of Haywood, but none knew.

Word has been received from Fort Leavenworth, where Haywood was reported to have given himself up yesterday, that "Big Bill" was not there.

Attorney Not Advised.

Otto Christensen, attorney for Haywood, and the forty-five other I. W. W. who have been sentenced to serve from one to twenty years for violation of the espionage act, said today he did not know where his client was.

"The last I heard of Haywood was on March 31," said Christensen. "I had word today from New York that it was reported there Haywood had arrived in Riga.

"The news, according to my information, which is unofficial, came by wireless from Riga and reported that Haywood had landed there."

John Martin, secretary of the defense council of the I. W. W. here, said he had heard of the report that Haywood was in Russia, but knew nothing definite about it.

"The information that Haywood landed in Russia on April 15 with a party of six others comes from pretty reliable sources and I have no reason to believe that it is not true," Martin told the United Press later.

"The last letter I had from Haywood was on March 31. He said nothing about any plans to go to Russia then. I am greatly shocked. Haywood has always kept faith before."

Martin, secretary of the defense council of the I. W. W., was one of those convicted with Haywood and is under a ten-year sentence to Fort Leavenworth.

Questioned by Clyne.

Martin was one of those questioned by Clyne today.

Chicago I. W. W. members are resentful against Haywood, their leader, for his flight, they openly said.

"If Haywood fled to soviet Russia, it was without my counsel," said Christensen. "He must have received some poor advice from someone.

"The I. W. W. members, depending on Haywood as their leader, will look on Haywood's flight as an act of cowardice.

"By all means, the man should have stayed here and fought the battle through. Leaving the nation in the midst of the biggest fight is nothing more than an act of cowardice.

"You can tell the whole country this, too—that word will reach soviet Russia to have nothing to do with the man who threw over the industrial workers in America.

"Haywood, if he is in Russia, is a man without a party now. He has no credentials and workers of that land will shun him."

Clyne later told the United Press that he received his first information of "Big Bill's" flight from an organization serving radical and labor papers with news of their interest.

Haywood was out on $15,000 bail pending an appeal to the United States supreme court from the sentence to Leavenworth by Federal Judge Landis. Christensen said that he personally had put up part of the money.

Decision Is Affirmed.

The United States supreme court recently upheld the decision of Judge Landis that the I. W. W. had to serve their terms and they were all to give up by April 25.

Christensen made a final effort to get a stay of execution of sentence last week when he wired Attorny General Daugherty asking for a stay of execution of sentence in order that the man could wind up their personal business affairs before starting their long stretch in jail.

This request was refused in a wire received yesterday by the I. W. W. attorney, who then sent out word to his clients to surrender.

According to the plan, they could either surrender at Fort Leavenworth, to the marshal in Chicago, or to their local marshals.

Christensen stated he sent Haywood a wire last week in care of the Simple Liberty Union of New York to report to him, but no reply was received.

Some I. W. W. minority members in Chicago, who would not let their names be used, told the United Press that it was their "impression" that Haywood went to Russia on the invitation of leaders of the soviet government to reorganize the mines of that country.

They refused any further comment.

Reports were all over radical circles in Chicago today that Haywood had gone directly to Moscow after he landed at Riga.

Admits Giving Information.

Otto Christensen later told the United Press that he was the one who gave the information about Haywood's reported escape to District Attorney Clyne.

"I did this," said Christensen, "to keep good faith and to protect our bondsmen. I have just returned from Washington, where we asked political amnesty for our convicted leaders and were were given assurance of consideration.

"If Haywood, the leader, has broken

PLAN FOR MILITARY MOVE ON GERMANY

Marshals Foch and Weygand Are Working Out Program To Put Into Effect May 1.

By WEBB MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, April 21.—Grouped about tiers of maps in the war office, Marshals Foch and Weygand and a score of assistants planned a series of military movements against Germany. Allied troops will advance again if Germany refuses to observe the reparations provisions of the treaty by May 1.

Foch himself dotted a large scale map of the Ruhr Valley with tiny French flags.

"Here," he said to allied economic experts who met with the officers, "is where our troops will be stationed. The British will be there," and he indicated tiny Union Jacks on the map.

The plans were completed after the economic experts had reported on what mines, roads and public buildings must be used as centers for the exploitation of the rich mining region if Germany refused to meet the allied reparations demands.

Foch's maps were to be packed today for the trip to Hythe in England where an effort will be made to convince the British that harsh action is necessary.

Premier Briand asked for the Hythe conference.

The French premier's chief argument will be that refusal to take action will only result in further "quibbling" by the Germans. America's recent statements that Germany must pay for her part in the war and Italy's assurance of support will be used by Briand also.

GERMANY'S NEW PROPOSAL WILL NOT BE ACCEPTABLE

PARIS, April 21.—Germany's proposal relative to reparations had not been received by the French government late last night, but officials here declared they would be the same as those published in German newspapers. For this reason they said they believed the Berlin government's terms "would be insufficient and inacceptable." It is expected the Italian and Belgian ministers to Great Britain will attend next Sunday's conference at Hythe at which Premier Briand will communicate to Premier Lloyd-George the measures France purposes to take if Germany does not make the reparation payments demanded on May 1.

Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions, has completed a plan for the economic penalties to be placed upon Germany in default of her payment of reparations. The Echo de Paris declares that his plans include a tax of ten gold marks on each ton of coal and a smaller tax on lignite and perhaps manufactured goods. A tax of forty per cent, payable in foreign money, would be levied on all exports. Germany would be allowed to manufacture certain products and deliver certain materials to the allies, the value of these products being credited to the reparations account.

NOTE FROM GERMANY ON REPARATIONS IS RECEIVED

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A note from Germany on the reparations question was understood to have been received by the state department today.

Secretary of State Hughes refused to discuss the question, but according to authoritative quarters such a communication has been received from the German government.

COUNTER REPORT FROM THE TEXAS AND PACIFIC

FORT WORTH, April 21.—A counter report from the Texas & Pacific, following rejection of the wage cuts by the employes, will be delivered to the brotherhood committee in Dallas next Monday, according to the announcement of Secretary C. D. Huyge of the unions here today. The rejection of the men has been laid before Federal Judge Foster in New Orleans and his decision will be delivered to the men at the Monday conference.

PREMIERS PLAN A SECRET CONFERENCE

PARIS, April 21. — Premiers Briand and Lloyd George plan strictly private conferences at the meeting to be held at Hythe, England, on Sunday. No one else will be present except one secretary for each.

DALLAS PROWLER CLAIMS TWO MORE VICTIMS OF CLUB

ATTACKS MAN AND WIFE WITH SCANTLING—IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

BABY SLEEPING AT THE BEDSIDE WAS UNTOUCHED

First Reports of the Clubman's Activities Were Received About Two Weeks Ago.

By United Press.

DALLAS, April 21.—A club-wielding prowler, attacking persons as they lay asleep, and who has eluded posses and police here for more than two weeks, claimed two more victims early today.

The mysterious assailant crawled through the window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shively on Henderson avenue, and with a 2 by 4 scantling fractured Mrs. Shively's skull and beat and mutilated her husband, fracturing his jaw with the heavy timber.

A baby sleeping at the bedside was untouched. The prowler, after beating the couple and leaving them on the bloodstained bed, slipped away.

Eleven automobile loads of police and firemen available searched the neighborhood several hours without finding a trace of the assailant.

Mrs. Shively was hit first. After she screamed and tried to arise, but was beaten back upon the bed, her husband was attacked.

Faces and shoulders of the couple were badly mutilated by the heavy timber. Both were taken to the hospital, where they are reported in a serious condition.

The room where the attack took place was in a "garage cottage" which the Shiveleys had erected to live in while building them a home on the lot.

First reports of the clubman's activities were reported to the police about two weeks ago when he attacked persons in two separate houses in one night. Since then the attacks have been reported at intervals.

He made no attempt at robbery in any of the cases, police said.

TULSA, OKLA., April 21.—John D. Harley, who is 32 years old, is said to be the youngest man ever appointed to such a position in Oklahoma.

VIOLATES THE SPIRIT AND LETTER OF LAW

Rail Labor Board Holds In Case Of The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The railroad labor board in a decision today ruled that the receivers of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad in reducing wages of its employes in compliance with a decision by Federal Judge S. H. Sibley had acted in violation of the spirit and letter of the transportation act.

The board declared it was powerless to take action in the case at present and suggested that the employes, most of whom are now on strike, again hold conferences with the owners, and if an agreement is not reached, bring the case back to the labor board.

"The duty to obey a decision of this board is not any less an obligation on the receivers of a road than on the owners of a road," the decision said.

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic case brought the first clash between the labor board and a federal court, and was the first tangle which the board was called upon to unravel.

The case first came before the board last January when the road, after posting notices of wage reductions, pleaded that it was losing $100,000 monthly. The board ordered the reduction notices withdrawn and told the employers to confer with their workers in accordance with the transportation act.

GERMANY REQUESTS U. S. TO REFEREE THE REPARATION DISPUTE

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 21.—Foreign Minister Simons has sent a note to President Harding requesting the United States to mediate reparations dispute between Germany and the allies.

Germany asked the United States to fix a definite sum for reparations, and to secure allied approval of it.

If this is done, Germany agrees to abide by America's decision and pay the amount fixed.

The receipt of the communication comes as a climax to a number of reports that Germany was seeking to draw the United States into the settlement of the reparations question.

State department officials have been convinced for some time that Germany was putting forth a series of "feelers" to draw out the attitude of the United States on the reparations question and possibly gain the sympathy of this country, in the reparations dispute with the allies.

CLAIM THAT EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT TO HOLD ALLEGED BOMB THROWER

NEW YORK, April 21.—Photographs of Tito Liggio, held at Scranton, Pa., as a suspect in the Wall Street bombing, were shown today to witnesses of the explosion.

"Two persons who claim to have seen the wagon which carried the bomb into Wall Street have said they believed the pictures are of the man they saw the day of the explosion," declared Chief William J. Flynn of the department of justice bureau of investigation.

"I am not satisfied with their identifications, but I believe there is sufficient possibilities to warrant his being held."

MAINTAINS GRIM SILENCE WHEN HE IS QUESTIONED

SCRANTON, PA., April 21.—Tito Ligi, 27, arrested on suspicion of complicity in the Wall street bomb plot, maintained grim silence today as detectives plied him with questions. His lawyer, John Memolo, today started a fight to free him. Memolo insisted that Ligi be arraigned before United States Commissioner Geo. W. Ellis on the charge of evading the draft—the technical charge on which he is being held. The arraignment was to take place today.

Memolo declared the suspicion that Ligi had a hand in the Wall street bombing was ridiculous. He said his client was a hard working coal miner.

Police, however, claimed to have found much anarchistic literature in Ligi's house, and also have discovered in a nearby vacant lot window weights such as were used for slugs in the Wall street bomb.

BLAIR COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE

WASHINGTON, April 21.—David H. Blair, business man of Winston-Salem, N. C., was named commissioner of internal revenue by President Harding. The nomination will be sent to the senate today.

The selection of Blair closes a tense rivalry among several candidates for this post among whom were Edward Clifford, Illinois; Millard W. West, Kentucky. Blair is a republican, but has taken little part in politics in North Carolina, it was said. He owns extensive business in various parts of the state.

Claudius S. Huston, Chattanooga business man, and prominent Tennessee republican, was nominated today for assistant secretary of commerce. Shortly after election he was mentioned as a possible secretary of commerce.

Charles F. Marvin, of the District of Columbia, was re-appointed chief of the weather bureau.

Texas Observing San Jacinto Day

ANY PLACE IN TEXAS, April 21.—Today, April 21, was almost as great a day in Texas as St. Patrick's in Ireland.

Eight hundred Texans under Gen. Sam Houston whipped the tar out of 1,400 Mexicans under General Santa Anna.

That was eighty-five years ago. Today all Texas is celebrating San Jacinto day, so-called after the site of the battle in a bend of the San Jacinto river between Houston and Galveston. Banks and schools are closed.

In the battle of San Jacinto 630 Mexicans were killed and 730 captured.

GRAND COMMANDERY ENDS WORK THURSDAY OFFICERS ELECTED

FT. WORTH CHOSEN AS MEETING PLACE NEXT YEAR AT BUSINESS SESSION.

4 NEW CHARTERS AND 4 DISPENSATIONS GRANTED

Seymour, Childress and Bowie Authorized To Organize—Trip Taken To Oil Fields.

Election and installation of officers, selection of a time and place for the 1922 conclave, granting of four new charters and an equal number of dispensations, and completion of other business matters brought the 1921 conclave of Knights Templar to a close at 2:30 p. m. Thursday afternoon.

Remaining features of the Grand Commandery meeting included an automobile trip to the oil fields Thursday afternoon, and a reception Thursday night at the Kemp in honor of the new eminent grand commander, L. G. Hawkins of Vernon.

Fort Worth was chosen for the next conclave, which will be held April 20, 21 and 22, and officers were elected as follows:

L. G. Hawkins of Vernon, eminent grand commander.

Thomas C. Yantis of Brownwood, deputy grand commander.

H. B. Robertson of Dallas, grand generalissimo.

Charles L. Alderman of Big Spring, grand captain general.

William G. Bell of Auston, grand senior warden.

Frank H. Sparrow of Fort Worth, grand junior warden.

A. E. Clarkson of Houston, grand treasurer.

John Carson Kidd of Houston, grand recorder.

P. S. Park of Bryan, grand standard bearer.

George H. Caufield of Waco, grand sword bearer.

George Stapleton of Amarillo, grand warden.

P. Luther Sanders of Galveston, grand captain of the guard.

T. H. Sheerin of Dalas, grand prelate.

Charters were granted to four commanderies now under dispensation, as follows: Dalhart, No. 72; Port Arthur, No. 73; Bay City, No. 74; Stamford, No. 75.

Dispensations were granted to Knights Templar at Childress, Midland, Seymour and Bowie.

The new officers were installed early Thursday afternoon. Other business included the resolution on necrology, minor changes in the drill regulations, and some new plans for drill team competition designed to make this more a feature than heretofore.

There are now over 14,800 Knights Templar in the Texas Grand Commandery, as compared with 11,113 a year ago; more than 4,000 Masons were created Knights Templar during the year, the net gain being about 3,700. Texas thus retains sixth place in point of size of commanderies, being outranked by Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Massachusetts.

Hearty and unstinted praise for the Wichita Falls Templars and for the city generally was voiced by officials of the Grand Commandery, who felt that in many respects the present conclave has been the most successful yet held.

Wednesday afternoon the visiting knights were taken on automobile rides to points of interest in and near the city. At 7:30 there was a very enjoyable garden party at the J. A. Kemp home and at 9 o'clock a banquet at the Kemp was attended by past and present grand officers. Talks were made by a number of the guests; Sid Knight Heard of Waco presided.

Thursday afternoon visits to the Humble and Texhoma field were being made, and at night a reception by the Vernon commandery, honoring the new eminent grand commander, was planned as the concluding feature.

SMALL CRAFT WARNINGS ORDERED ALONG COAST

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—Small craft warnings were ordered along the Texas coast by the district forecaster of the local weather bureau today. The disturbances over Oklahoma, it was said, would move eastward, causing fresh to strong southerly today and tonight.

MINERS REFUSE TO ABANDON THE ISSUE

Stand Alone In Their Demand For Practical Nationalization Of The Industry.

By ED L. KEEN
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, April 21.—Striking British coal miners, standing alone in their demand for practical nationalization of the industry, refused today to abandon the issue.

When union executives from all parts of the kingdom met here today a majority were under instruction to continue the fight for a pooling of mining profits and a national wage board. There was just a hint that the demand for pooling might be altered in some particular, making it less badly a scheme for nationalization.

Government officers, their attention centered on German reparations, left the miners alone to debate their questions. The gathering was watched with great interest, however.

Despite lack of strike funds, men in the mining districts were firm in their refusal to work. Welsh and Scottish districts, Midlands, Kent and Fifeshire returned big majorities for a continuation of nationalization demands. Other unions in those districts voted funds to help the miners' families.

Industries continued to shut down for lack of fuel and municipal officers drew up regulations for the handling of the coal reserve, built up somewhat by shipments from America.

FARMERS FRETFUL AT TARIFF DELAYS

Threatens To Undermine The Good The Bill Was Expected To Do Them, They Say.

By CLARENCE DU BOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Farmers are growing fretful at emergency tariff bill delays, agricultural representatives here declared today.

Fear was expressed that delays have already undermined the good the bill was expected to do them.

Opponents of the measure were laughing up their sleeves at its slow sledding and saying that the exchange adjustment and anti-dumping features, which have tied it up, were tacked on purposely as brakes to halt the measure.

Protest at the slow action made to Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, caused him to declare today that the bill will be reported "Saturday or Monday." He admitted, however, that there is "so much uncertainty" over the anti-dumping and American valuations that the senate will almost certainly amend these features.

PLAN HIGHEST LIFT BARGE CANAL LOCK IN THE WORLD

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 21.—When the Illinois waterway is constructed, it will contain the highest lift barge canal lock in the world, according to William D. Sackett, superintendent of the state division of waterways.

"Engineers for the division have nearly completed the designs," Mr Sackett said. "Not even the great Panama locks have as high a lift."

"This lock will be 110 feet wide and have 600 feet of usable length, with a lift of 42 feet. Its wall will be as high as the ordinary six-story building and the over-all length as long as two ordinary city blocks. The width of the lock in the clear will be twice the width of an ordinary city street.

"This lock will pass 10,000 net tons of freight in barges drawing seven feet of water. This tonnage would make a freight train over two miles long.

"In the construction of the Illinois waterway the state will build four other locks of the same horizontal dimensions and when completed Chicago will have a water connection with southern Illinois coal fields and with the Gulf unsurpassed by any barge canal."

EIGHT ARE ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH ROBBERY OF TOLEDO POSTOFFICE

DETROIT, April 21.—Four men and four women were arrested here last night by federal agents and local detectives for alleged complicity in the $1,000,000 Toledo postoffice robbery on February 17. Joseph A. Palma, district chief of the United States secret service, led the posse which surprised the eight as they drove up to a house, which is suspected as having been their headquarters.

TALK OF MEXICO TROUBLE IS COMING FROM ENEMIES DECLARES MEXICAN CONSUL

DALLAS, April 21.—All this noise of revolution in Mexico is coming from enemies of the republic—the Obregon government will stand because it represents the great mass of the people, Eduardo Ruiz, special representative of General Obregon and Mexican consul general at San Francisco, declared here today.

"The reports of revolution are coming from those who seek to throw things back into the old order of things—exploitation of the Mexican people where personal gain was realized through seizure and lawlessness," Ruiz said.

Ruiz is here seeking to establish commissions for the Mexican people to promote better understanding between Mexican workers and those employing them.

2 LOCAL DRUGGISTS SEEK LICENSES TO DISPENSE WHISKEY

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF NEW RULING UNDER SO-CALLED PRESCRIPTION LAW.

PHYSICIAN MUST SWEAR THAT PATIENT NEEDS IT

Plan Of Druggists To Join In Establishing One Dispensary Here Is Abandoned.

At least two Wichita Falls drug stores, perhaps others, will soon be dispensing whiskey on prescription, it was learned Thursday.

The decision to apply for licenses was made following the issuance of somewhat more liberal regulations than have heretofore applied, and it is expected that within 30 days, those who can get a registered physician to swear that they are actually in need of whiskey, can get it at some drug stores here.

The cost, including the physician's usual charge for a prescription, will be $7 to $8 a pint.

Druggists applying for licenses as dispensaries must make bond that they will obey the law. Their orders for whiskey go through the office of the prohibition enforcement officer, and must receive his approval before being forwarded to the bonded warehouse.

Each druggist is held strictly accountable for the disposition made of the whiskey he receives, the rules are so strict that it will probably be found advisable to keep the supply in a vault, as the druggist is held liable if it is stolen, lost through breakage of containers, or otherwise gotten rid of, other than by the prescribed means.

Local druggists at first planned to unite in applying for a license with a view to establishing one dispensary; this plan was abandoned, and the matter left to the individual discretion of the druggists. Two of these, it is understood, have decided to make application for licenses, some have definitely determined not to do so, and others are pondering the matter.

The law seeks to hedge both the physician and the druggist around with such restrictions as will limit the supply of those who, from a medical standpoint, actually need it. The physician must make affidavit that, to the best of his medical knowledge, the patient needs whiskey.

Heretofore no local druggists have been dispensing whiskey. Recently some changes in the restrictions liberalized the procedure to an extent that prompted applications for licenses to be made.

SECRETARY HUGHES MADE NO CHARACTERIZATIONS OF ANY CLASS OF IMMIGRANTS

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Protests are continuing to be made to the state department as a result of an Associated Press dispatch which incorrectly stated that Secretary Hughes had recommended to congress rigid restrictions on immigration and had characterized immigrants of certain nationalities among them Jews, Letts, Lithuanians, Russians, Armenians, Persians and others as undesirable.

In reply to all these the state department is pointing out that Secretary Hughes made no recommendations whatever and made no characterizations of any class of immigrants. His letter to Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, was purely a formal one transmitting "paraphrased abstracts of reports concerning immigration received from officials of this government, who have been abroad."

It was in the appendix of paraphases, prepared by a bureau of the state department, that certain classes of immigrants were characterized unfavorably, and that certain abstract recommendations of agents were referred to.

The statement that the recommendations were those of Secretary Hughes and that the characterizations were his own, was an error which The Associated Press regrets and in fairness to Mr. Hughes readily acknowledges, of its own accord.

GIRL ARRESTED AFTER A WEEK IN WOODS WITH A YOUNG MAN KILLED

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, April 21.—Anna Prasey, 15, alleged to have lived for a week in the open woods near here with Jack Knight, 19, who was killed by a policeman in Beaver Falls, Pa., Tuesday night, was arrested here tonight when she returned to Youngstown with Knight's body.

Bad weather drove the pair from the woods where they had been sleeping and cooking under the trees, and they went to Pittsburgh, the girl told the police.

Knight had been missing from his home here for two months and the girl left her East Youngstown home ten days ago.

WOULD GIVE TO PORTUGAL FOUR GUNS AT THE AZORES

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Gift to Portugal of the two seven-inch and two three-inch guns used during the war at the American naval base at the Azores is favored by Secretary Denby, who in a letter today to the speaker of the house recalls that, after the United States entered the war, Portugal permitted the navy to mount the guns at Ponta del Gada. Similar action was recommended by former Secretary Daniels.

Two Girls Admit Framing Robbery of Their Escorts

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—Mildred Hardinger and Margaret Hobbs today admitted they had "framed" robbery of their escorts and their own "kidnaping." The girls at first told a weird story of kidnapping, but police questioning soon brought the real story of the planning of an "adventure" and admission that the girls and their "kidnappers" had spent the night in a hay stack.

COLOMBIAN TREATY RATIFIED BY SENATE VOTE WAS 69 TO 19

FIFTEEN REPUBLICANS AND FOUR DEMOCRATS VOTE AGAINST.

TWENTY-NINE DEMOCRATS VOTE FOR RATIFICATION

Harding Administration Wins First Fight Before Senate—Lodge Changes Front.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Colombian treaty, growing out of the partitioning of Panama was ratified late Wednesday by the senate. It provides for the payment by the United States of $25,000,000 to the South American Republic, but has yet to be approved by the Colombian assembly.

Fifteen republicans and four democrats voted against ratification. They were:

Republicans: Borah, Capper, Johnson, California; Jones, Washington; Kellogg, Kenyon, LaFollette, Lenroot, McNary, Nelson, Norbeck, South Dakota; Norris, Poindexter, Townsend and Wadsworth.

Democrats: Dial, Reed, Simmons and Watson of Georgia, Senators Cummins, republican, Iowa, and Trammel, democrat, Florida, were paired against ratification.

Wins First Fight.

The Harding administration, through ratisification of the treaty, won its first fight in the senate. The president, in a message to the special sessions of the senate March 9, recommended ratification as "very helpful at the present time in promoting our friendly relationships."

This recommendation was supplemented today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, who declared ratification of the pact was "part of a great national foreign policy" contemplated by President Harding "towards our neighbors in the southern and eastern hemispheres."

Forty republicans were joined by 29 democrats in voting for ratification. One republican, Page, Vermont, and three democrats, Shields, Tennessee, Owen, Oklahoma, and Walsh Montana, were paired in its favor. Two republican senators, Elkins, West Virginia, and Newberry, Michigan, were absent and not voting. In the roll calls on Senator Borah's amendment to exculpate this nation and its agents from any wrong-doing in acquiring the canal, three democrats voted with 36 republicans, on the first call, and with 27 republicans on a second call. These democrats were: Kenrick, Wyoming; Reed, Missouri and Watson, Georgia. Nine republicans who first voted for the Borah amendment later voted in opposition. These were Dillingham, Vermont; Fernald, Maine; Keyes, New Hampshire; Ladd, North Dakota; Lodge, Massachusetts; McKinley, Illinois; Spencer, Missouri; Sterling, South Dakota, and Sutherland, West Virginia.

Lodge Changes Front.

A murmur swept the chamber when Senator Lodge changed front on the amendment. A milder demonstration had occurred when he supported it on the first call. Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, who supported most of the other amendments proposed, voted loudly in the negative on the Borah amendment.

The Poindexter amendment to cut the indemnity to Colombia from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000, was supported by 16 republicans and six democrats.

The latter were Dial, South Carolina; McKellar, Tennessee; Reed, Missouri; Simmons, North Caroline; Trammell, Florida and Watson, Georgia.

Twenty-two republicans and 17 democrats supported Senator Wadsworth's amendment to prohibit Colombian troops and warships from using the canal in a war against a nation with which the United States was at peace. Prominent among the republican supporters of this amendment was Senator Knox, Pennsylvania, and among the democrats, Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee.

Life Sentence for the Negro Sheriff Forgot to Execute

SHREVEPORT, LA., April 21.—Lonnie Eaton, the negro whom the sheriff of Ouachita parish forgot about when the day set for Eaton's hanging came around last month, is happy today, for the state pardon board, after considering his case, commuted the death sentence of the negro to life imprisonment, according to reports received here from Baton Rouge, where the board is meeting.

Eaton was convicted of murder several months ago and was brought from Ouachita parish to the Caddo parish jail for safe keeping. Governor Parker set the date for the hanging, but the sheriff forgot all about it until the legal date had passed. As he afterward wrote to Governor Parker, he was so busy with other affairs in his office that he forgot the day that he was to hang Eaton.

When the omission was discovered, attorneys for Eaton held that as he had been in jeopardy once, his execution would be illegal. Governor Parker secured opinions from members of the bar, but the attorney general held that, as Eaton had been sentenced to be hanged, the law required that the sentence be carrid out, unless executive clemency was extended. The matter was then allowed to rest until the meeting of the pardon board today.

HUNDRED MILLION TO FEDERAL LAND BANKS TO LOAN TO FARMERS

CHICAGO, April 21.—Legislation directing the secretary of the treasury to turn over $100,000,000 of the profits of the federal reserve bank to federal land banks to be loaned by the latter on stock cattle for the purpose of assisting producers, has been recommended as a part of the congressional program by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve bank, according to a statement today by Everett C. Brown, president of the National Livestock exchange.

Enactment of such legislation, in the opinion of Mr. Brown, would enable a multitude of livestock men "who might otherwise have been forced out of the business" to continue production. "Consumers also should receive a benefit from the increase in production thus made possible," the statement declared, adding:

"This plan for adequately financing livestock production follows a suggestion of M. L. McClure, former president of the National Livestock exchange, to the International Farm congress."

BYRON DREW WELL TOPS A NEW SAND

Located In Southwest Quarter Of Section 34-1s-8 in the Duncan Territory.

DUNCAN, OKLA., April 21.—The Byron Drew well in the southeast quarter of section 34-1s-8 is reported to have topped a new sand at 1,951 feet early this week. The well is now three feet in this sand which is reported to be saturated with what appears to be a very high grade oil. It cannot yet be definitely determined whether or not it is to prove a producer, though prospects are declared by the drillers to be good.

The Duncan Development company, headed by J. L. Duncan of Oklahoma City, is reported to have brought in a 50-barrel well at 620 feet in section 22-1s-5e, east side.

Jack Boone and associates are reported to have a well good for from 25 to 50 barrels in the southwest of the northeast of section 17-1s-8. This well got a ten-foot sand at 400 feet, which is unusually shallow for that section of the field.

PARRISH BELIEVES PEOPLE APPROVE AN EMERGENCY TARIFF

DEFENDS HIS VOTE IN SUPPORT OF THE YOUNG MEASURE IN CONGRESS.

CONFIDENT HE CAN CONVINCE THE VOTERS

Expects Opponents In Race For Senate To Challenge His Position.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The fight over the Young emergency tariff has provided Representative Lucian W. Parrish, congressman from the thirteenth district of Texas and candidate for the senate, to succeed Senator Culbertson, with an issue which he thinks will appeal to the voters of the Lone Star state. Representative Parrish was one of the four Texas democrats who voted for the Young bill when it passed the house and he believes his opponents in the campaign next summer will challenge him because of this vote, but is confident he can convince any Texas audience not only that his democracy is sound, but that his vote was in the interest of the majority of people in his home state.

During the last session of congress there were forty-two democratic members of the house who voted for the passage of the Fordney emergency tariff, the fore-runner of the Young bill and which, like it, undertakes to provide tariff duties on the importation of certain specified farm products and raw materials. The democratic caucus held at the beginning of this session, however, declared its opposition to the Young bill and of the forty-two who voted with the republicans at the last session only fifteen were found ready to stand by their colors when the roll was called on the passage of the Young bill. Of this "battalion of death" four represent Texas constituencies.

Explains His Vote.

In explaining this vote, Representative Parrish declared:

"I am neither a protectionist nor a free-trader, but sincerely and conscientiously believe in the democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue. I believe such a tariff is wise and not over-burdensome on the public. The only difference I can see between the position assumed by the democratic caucus and the one I hold is that I believe while we are raising this tariff for revenue only we should not confine the import duties solely to manufactured articles, but so arrange the schedules as to include farm products and raw materials as well.

"There is no gainsaying the fact that a margin of protection is provided for any article on which a tariff duty is placed, the amount of such protection being determined solely by the question of whether the rate is high or low. From the democratic standpoint the purpose of the tariff is to raise revenue and it has been our contention that under moderate duties there will be greater importations and that a corresponding increase in revenue will be derived. I hold to this view, but insist there is no reason why we should undertake to raise this revenue on the importation of manufactured articles and contend that, for instance, that the country is just as much entitled to revenue which might be derived from the importation of raw wool as from this same wool when woven into cloth.

"This is the issue I expect to make in my campaign for the senate. It is one which I believe is, or at least should be, sound democratic doctrine, and one I am convinced will appeal to the people of my state. They are producers, largely of raw material, and statistics will show that the difference in the cost to produce farm staples in this country, compared with those in other agricultural nations, are fully as great as is the difference between costs here and abroad on manufactured articles. I feel that while revenue should be our first consideration, that if the tariff does provide a differential the farmer of my state is as much entitled to it as the mill owner of New England."

Turbulent Career of Jack Cudahy Is Ended by Suicide

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—"Jack" Cudahy's turbulent career was ended today—he lay dead in his palatial Hollywood home.

John P. Cudahy blew his brains out yesterday with a shotgun.

Cudahy, the son of the late Michael Cudahy, multi-millionaire packer had spent his inherited millions and killed himself when he was refused a loan on the "spendthrift's trust fund" held for him by the Northern Trust Company of Chicago, according to letters and telegrams found.

For the last decade Cudahy has figured prominently in the spotlight of publicity. In 1899 he started the social world by marrying Edna Cowin, famous beauty.

He returned to his Kansas City home unexpectedly one night ten years ago and found Jere Lillis, wealthy banker, in company with his wife. Cudahy, with the assistance of his chauffeur, mutilated Lillis, who later refused to prosecute.

He and his beautiful wife were divorced but re-married again in 1912.

It had been reported recently that he and his wife were again at the parting of the ways.

Mrs. Cudahy, however, was in her room at the home when he killed himself and was the first to find his body.

The couple have four children.

MURGUIA DEFEATED BY FEDERAL TROOPS

Capture a Mule Loaded With Rebel Chieftain's Gold And Take Several Horses.

DEL RIO, TEXAS, April 21.—An end of the activities of General Murguia, rebel chieftain, in the Burro mountain district of Mexico, west of here, was believed assured today following news received by Mexican Consul Jose M. Montemayer that a detachment of federal troops had clashed with Murguia in the mountains and defeated them.

A scouting party from the Seventy-ninth regiment stationed at Ocampo, Coahila, attacked Murguia near that city, capturing a mule loaded with Murguia's gold, most of the rebel leader's personal effects, and several horses, according to Montemayer's information.

As Murguia had only a small band of followers, Montemayer believed the loss of his money and horses will put an end to the fuss he has been kicking up in these parts.

WAGE REDUCTIONS THREATEN SHIPPING AT AMERICAN PORTS

By HAROLD D. JACOB.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—American shipping will be completely tied up on May 1 if the owners persist in their efforts to reduce wages, Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's union, declared today.

Furuseth, a typical "old salt," said the seamen, "will not recede one inch" from their present stand, and predicted that a strike would involve every member of the union on both coasts and the great lakes. There are 110,000 members of whom about 35,000 are now idle because of shipping depression.

Winthrop Marvin, president of the American Steamship Owners' association, declared he was confident that seamen would come to terms before expiration of the present wage agreement at the end of the month.

Both sides were willing for the United States government to act as intermediary providing they are unable to settle the dispute themselves.

Furuseth is already making daily reports to Secretary Hoover. Representatives of two government departments will participate in the conferences of seamen and owners which will be resumed Monday.

PACIFIC COAST SEAMEN WAITING FOR DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—With most of their leaders in the east attending or watching conferences in progress there, Pacific coast seamen today were anxiously awaiting every word working its way west which might indicate what decision is to be reached with regard to the present effort of ship owners and the shipping board to reduce wages.

While in the absence of the leaders, no formal statement was made, the position of the coast seamen was authoritatively summed up as follows:

They will not accept a twenty per cent wage reduction and will vehemently oppose any reduction.

They might accept, rather than strike, a reduction of 10 or 15 per cent in their wages.

MEXICO RADICAL ELEMENTS PLAN MAY DAY CELEBRATION

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—Elaborate preparations for May day celebrations throughout Mexico are being made by radical elements, and in some quarters there is apprehension that the observance of the day may lead to disorders.

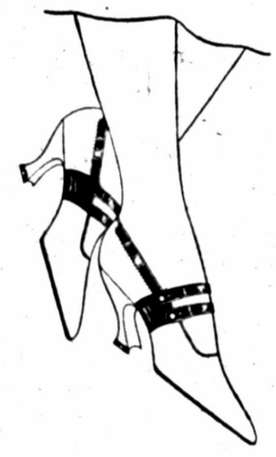

Government authorities have been amply informed as to the plans being formulated, however, and, while inclined to look on the demonstrations as mere outlets for radical enthusiasm, they are prepared to meet any emergency. President Obregon has stated he does not consider present radical activities in the light of being a menace to the peace of the country.

PERSHING IN CHARGE ARMY HEADQUARTERS

Named By Secretary Weeks To Prepare For War In Time Of Peace.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Secretary of War Weeks announced today that General Pershing will be assigned to command "general headquarters of the United States army."

Weeks issued the following statement:

"The secretary of war stated that he proposed to inaugurate in time of peace a skeletonized general headquarters, the purpose to be instantly prepared for active military operations in time of war. Details of the organization are to be given out later, but General Pershing is to be head of the skeletonized general headquarters.

"Before the world war, Joffre had been selected to command the armies of France and had prepared skeletonized headquarters that was invaluable for instant action when war was declared. Details of the American plan is difficult to arrange, the secretary declared, owing to the wording of the law, but the chief of staff will continue to direct the administration of the military establishment in time of peace."

Speaking of the general headquarters to be headed by Pershing, Weeks said that "it will be ready in time of peace to act in time of war."

Dream Comes True When He Unearths Pot With $14,903

SALEM, VA., April 21.—Henry Dameron, 25, descendant of pioneer Virginia settlers, who works on his uncle's mountainside farm near here from sun to sun down at $10 a month, often dreamed, he said, of finding a treasure and buying a farm of his own. April 9 while plowing near the foot of Bush's mountain, his plow unearthed a peculiar looking object. Investigation revealed it to be a small metal pot wrapped in buckskin containing gold and silver coins valued at $14,903. About $13,000 was in gold, $600 in silver and the balance in currency so badly disintegrated that the denominations could not be distinguished. The latest date on any of the coins was 1823.

Young Dameron was fearful that his fortune might be taken from him and kept his discovery a secret until today.

Two Hundred Guests Attend Reception to Knights and Ladies

Some two hundred guests participated in the hospitality extended in honor of the visiting knights and ladies of the Grand Commandery at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp Wednesday evening. The reception was held indoors, instead of out, as first planned, and a very delightful informal party enjoyed.

Knights and ladies were received by Mrs. Kemp and her assistant hostesses and introduced to the other guests, the local knights and their wives being present. During the evening a most attractive musical program was given, opening with a piano group of Chopin numbers by Mrs. D. L. Fritz. Mrs. C. Y. Tully and Mrs. W. M. Priddy sang the Barcarolle; Miss Edmiston, guest of Miss Pauline Richolt, sang "Little Pink Rose"; Miss Bertha Hastings played Saint-Saens "Faust," and Miss Berenice Jackson played "Gypsy Airs" by Sarasata.

Punch was served from a rose and fern decorated punch table during the evening, and a pretty feature of the entertainment was the presentation to Mrs. Kemp by the knights of their beautiful red rose cross, which had centered the Knights Templar banquet table earlier in the day. The guests were taken to and from the Kemp home by the auto committee, Frank Collier and N. M. Clifford in charge.

Pretty Matinee Party.

The visiting ladies—about seventy-five in number—were guests of the local ladies at the Olympic in the afternoon. The lobby of the theater was beautifully decorated with baskets of roses, and the guests were greeted at the door by a reception committee. In the committee were Mesdames R. E. Shepherd, hostess, and Mesdames Hartsook, Gardner, D. L. Fritz, C. O. Fritz, H. N. Pounds, R. C. Smith and Stehlik. Mrs. D. L. Fritz and Mrs. Pounds presented each guest with a lovely rose as matinee favor.

Following the matinee, the guests were invited to Kemp hotel, where an informal reception was held. Mrs. R. C. Smith, chairman of arrangements for the Commandery wives, led in the introduction of guests, and a very pleasant occasion was enjoyed. A refreshment plate of ice cream and cake with sweet pea nosegays, was served.

An auto ride was planned for the Thursday morning entertainment. Mesdames E. V. Friberg, R. H. Roberts, W. R. Ferguson and A. R. Cotton in charge. Thursday night a party will be given at Kemp hotel for visiting and local knights and ladies.

"My Baby Suffered Constant Pain from Intestinal Indigestion"

"But Ware's Baby Powder brought prompt and lasting relief"—writes Shreveport man.

"Eight years ago my baby boy of three months was in constant pain, crying continuously, suffering from intestinal indigestion. After spending $750, with doctors, I tried Ware's Baby Powder and in 48 hours my baby was relieved and in a few days entirely well. I have since recommended it many times, and in each case relief has been found."

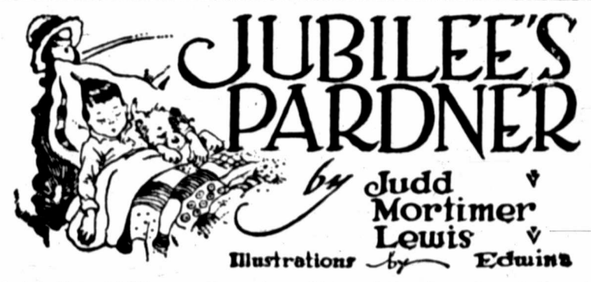

This is what Geo. W. Thomas of Shreveport says about Ware's Baby Powder—the remedy that has been relieving stomach and bowel trouble teething and summer complaint in babies for forty years. BLIND GIRLS PRESENT "POLY PRIM" APRON TO MRS. HARDING

Miss Winifred Holt, known as "The Lady of the Lighthouse," the home of the New York Association for the Blind, and two girl pupils of "The Lighthouse," visited the White House in Washington. The girls, Jennie Williams and Veronica E. Maz'ska, both blind, have been trained in sewing and weaving so that they are self-supporting. The girls presented Mrs. Harding with a "Polly Prim" apron, a book cover and purse, made of silken brocade woven in Harding "blue" and silver. Miss Holt's visit to Washington inaugurated the $2,000,000 campaign for the relief of the blinded men, women and children of America, France and Italy. President Harding endorsed the campaign. The photograph shows Mrs. Harding (left) receiving the gifts from the girl pupils.

I bet Froggie Nibs won't munkey with me any more. That was a good one. I laughed so hard thinking about the way that Froggie Nibs looked when those frogs' eggs hit him in the face that the cow made a kick at me and missed me and then set her foot down in the pail of milk and I had a hard time getting her foot out without tipping it over, but I done it, and the milk had not been strained yet so it didn't hurt it any. Peanuts and Banty and Flopper came to the manure hole while I was milking and they laughed too when we talked about it.

We all got to school before Froggie did and we made it up that we would call him "Froggie" when he came, and after a while he came and we all hollered "Hello Froggie," and he was so mad that he did not look at us but went right up the steps and into the school, and pretty soon Jonesy put her head out of the window and hollered to me to come in.

I thought Froggie had told her what I done, and I kinda snuck in and slid into my seat, but she called me to her desk and said she heard that I knew where there were some frog-spawn, and I said, "No'm but I know where there is some frog eggs." And then she asted me if I could get a glass fruit jar at home and go out after school and get her some, and I said I could go out right away, but she said I couldn't either. So I said I would after school.

She said we would set the jar in the window in the sun and watch the little tadpoles hatch out and then we would watch them get their legs and turn to frogs.

So when school let out we all went and got a fruit jar and went out and got it full, and I took it home and put it up in my room so that nothing could happen to it, and then we all went down to the pond and the railroad men had not tooken our raft apart and took the ties out so I nailed a stick on it for a mast and took off my shirt and tied it to it and the wind made it take us all the way acrost the pond, and then we poled it back and got blowed acrost again a lot of times.

Spider and Mealy came down and they wanted to ride but we would not give it to them, and then Mealy said she would let us take her shirt for a sail if we would, but we wouldn't and when we got out a little ways her and Spider raked up handfulls of black mud and plastered us all over before we could get back out in the pond where they could not reach us.

Her and Spider raked up handfuls of black mud and plastered us all over.

When I got home my mother was so mad that she said she had a good mind to make my father give me a licking. But he didn't. He sent me to bed right after supper, and someone had been up there and emptied out my frog eggs. I bet it was my ant. Darn a ant! I pulled Jubilee up by the rope in his teeth and we went to bed.

ALAMO EXERCISES ATTRACTED BIG CROWD THURSDAY MORNING

San Jacinto exercises at the Alamo school, featuring a double flag-raising, attracted quite a large crowd of patrons and visitors in addition to the school children Thursday morning.

The program went off splendidly, Rev. Mr. Tittle making a special address and Sam Bashara making a four-minute thrift talk. The songs sung by the children were especially good, several hundred enthusiastic child voices making a pretty chorus for the national songs.

YOUTH.

By MARVIN M. SHERRICK.

At Peart's farm all night the bells are ringing—
The low, sweet chimes that set the heart atune;
The fields are drowsy with the crickets' singing,
And roses dream beneath the stars of June.
At Peart's farm the meadow brook is singing;
The hills are green, the woodland shadows dance;
The Jersey herd-bells still at eve are ringing;
But one is gone—the lad who went to France.

At Peart's farm the winter wind is sifting
Its sleet and rime on meadow, wood and hill;
Above the sheltering stalls the snows are drifting;
The brook is muffled and the bells are still.
At Peart's farm the years will change the places
Where first he sipped the cup of life's romance;
Old Age will brush his hand across the faces
Of all but one—the lad who went to France.

MOTHER RESCUES HER BABY FROM BOTTOM OF 20-FOOT WELL

Mrs. Norman Gurling of Greenburgh, New York, is the heroine of the vicinity and a movement is on foot to secure a Carnegie medal for her. Mrs. Gurling's fifteen-months-old son, Norman, Jr., fell into an unused well in the rear of the Gurling home recently. The mother—who is expected to give birth to another child in a day or two—went down into the well, a distance of twenty feet, and rescued the youngster. The sides of the well are slippery and slimy and Mrs. Gurling does not realize how she climbed down and brought her son, half-drowned, to the surface unassisted. Mrs. Gurling was alone in her home when she heard little Norman cry as he tumbled down the well. Mrs. Gurling, who is twenty-eight, immediately rushed to the well and started to climb down the slippery sides. A misstep would have meant death for both herself and little Norman. Grasping the clothing of the half-drowned and unconscious child, she started her upward climb. Not until Norman was again safe in his bed did Mrs. Gurling collapse as the result of her trying and heroic deed.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

If Dame Fashion has no reason to boast of striking originality in the suit designs this season, there is abundant interest in the variety of new woolens presented for the spring tailleur.

One of the best liked of these is an imported fabric—poplahule is the name—which resembles the one-time popular wool poplin except that it is somewhat softer, and makes up agreeably for street and sport suits and lightweight capes and coats. For sport clothes especially it is welcomed because of the wide range of beautiful shades—subdued reds, and woodsy greens and browns—but for the street suit preference is given the tans and beige. There is no doubt that these are the predominating shades.

Today's cut illustrates a youthful model which favors this new material in light tan, trimmed with a darker shade of silk braid tightly pleated. A green straw hat, if you can wear it, affords a striking combination with these light suits.

PATTERN NO. 143.

A pattern for the above model (No. 143) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th street, New York City, your name and address, number of this pattern and size you require, and 30 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks.—The Editor.

Women Officials Say Thayer Must Be Spotless Town

THAYER, KAN., April 21.—Thayer must become a "spotless town."

This was the edict the new mayoress handed down.

"It is spring," the "city mothers" say.

So soap and water are the order of the day.

A good scrubbing is the first need of this village in the opinion of Mayoress Forest and her women colleagues of the council.

"The first thing we are going to do is use soap and water on our town," said Mrs. Forest. "The park is a sight, there is dust all over the city council rooms and the city hall hasn't had a real bath since goodness knows when. Then we will order the grass trimmed in the cemetery and flowers planted. We will then go to work on the other things."

"Dad" Bogle may continue to hold his job as city marshal. Mrs. Forest says she doesn't know of a woman "husky" enough to swing the city's club.

With the job of city clerk, city attorney, city marshal and assistant marshal yet to handed out, Mrs. Forest reports "the men are extra to us right now. There are more men applicants than jobs."

EVERYTHING READY FOR FRIDAY'S VISIT TO NEW NEIGHBOR

FULL TRAINLOAD EXPECTED TO LEAVE AT 8 A. M. FOR TRIP TO GRAHAM.

MAYORS OF TWO CITIES TO SPEAK AT BANQUET

R. E. Shepherd, Captain Of Train, Names Corps of Lieutenants To Help Him Keep Peace.

Wichita Falls was all set Thursday for the trip to Graham Friday, and indications were that there would be few vacant seats on the long train Friday morning.

Reports from Graham indicated that community was thoroughly prepared to give the Wichitans a royal reception, and word from Archer City, Olney and Newcastle was to the effect that each of those places would be numerously represented on the trip.

The program at Graham will include a parade, an open air banquet, a baseball game and other features. Mayor Graham of Graham and Mayor Cline of Wichita Falls will be the only speakers at the banquet.

Captain R. E. Shepherd of the train has appointed a number of lieutenants to assist him in preserving order. Sidney Gaines, R. F. Bailey, A. A. Spencer, C. F. Carter and J. W. Thomas will enjoy shavetail rank for the journey.

AUTOIST FORBIDDEN BY JUDGE TO DRIVE AGAIN FOR A MONTH

The maximum fine of $100 for reckless driving and a court order restraining her from driving an automobile in the city for thirty days was imposed on Miss Jack Wells, driver of the automobile which caused serious damage in a traffic smash up at Ninth and Scott last Monday afternoon, in the city police court Thursday morning.

The fine was promptly paid and the defendant dismissed. Judge Ogle, in pronouncing sentence, gave explicit instructions that Miss Wells was not to pilot an automobile in Wichita Falls for a period of one month, and he also made it plain that a violation of this order would result in a severe penalty being imposed.

Four cars, including her own, were damaged in a series of collisions brought about, it is alleged, by excessive speeding on the part of Miss Wells.

POPULATION 41,482 IS INDICATED HERE BY SCHOOL CENSUS

SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE SHOWN IN NUMBER OF CHILDREN OF SCHOLASTIC AGE.

SAME RATIO AS IN 1920 POINTS TO GOOD INCREASE

Total Of 5995 In School Census As Compared With 5778 At This Time Last Year.

Wichita Falls' population is now 41,482, a gain of about 1,400 since the 1920 census, if estimates based on the school census may be taken as a means of comparison.

The 1921 school census, completed Wednesday, shows 5,992 children of school age in the city. A year ago the number was 5,778, while the census gave Wichita Falls 40,071 inhabitants. Using the same ratio for this year, a population of 41,482 is shown.

The gain in scholastics is 144, and the figures may be considered as an effective denial of reports that Wichita Falls had stopped gaining in population since the completion of the federal census. Figures published last month in The Times, using water consumption and such data, also indicated a substantial gain since the first of 1920.

PROHIBITION CASES NOT TO BE HANDLED BY U. S. MARSHAL

Matters pertaining to violations of the prohibition law will not be handled in the future by the United States deputy marshall, Jim Allen.

In the past the marshal has performed the duties of the prohibition officer and upon advice from the United States district attorney and the United States marshall, Mr. Allen will not make any out of town runs and none within the city except he is furnished with sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

Mr. Allen has been called out recently on too many haphazard runs that led to nothing and since it does not come within his jurisdiction he will in the future disregard such calls.

Violations of the prohibition law are to be handled by the prohibition officers. The government has never placed any in this county.

See America First Along Route of the Old Spanish Trail

GALVESTON, TEXAS, April 21.—This year's travelers of the "see America first" type are urged by the Southern Interstate Hotelmen's association to follow in the footsteps of the Padres and Conquistadores along the Old Spanish trail, which begins at the southernmost point of Florida and ends where the waters of the Pacific caress the shores of California.

Decision to conduct a vigorous advertising and educational campaign on behalf of the scenic beauties of the south was unanimously agreed upon by the interstate organization at its two-day convention here recently. Approximately $100,000 will be expended to this end.

The Old Spanish trail, which passes through eight states of the lower tier of the union, is composed of thirteen road divisions. Starting in Florida—no one city has the honor of being the starting point, for St. Augustine, Pensacola, Tampa and other cities have equal claims for consideration—the trail winds its way through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and thence into California, in all of which states the imprint of the Padres and Conquistadores is to be seen. St. Augustine, the oldest city in the United States; Tampa, the ancient gateway of De Soto, De Narvaez and the early explorers, and Pensacola, where De Luna, in 1559, landed with a great expedition of soldiers and priests, are among the chief points of interest in the initial stages of the tour. Florida remained a Spanish colony until 1819.

Alabama, which was first Spanish and then a part of the old Louisiana and of the French, also is rich in legend and historical associations. Mauvila, now Mobile, was the seat of the ancient Indian kingdom where De Soto's expedition met disaster in what was probably the first decisive battle in the south's history.

Mississippi, the second link in the trail, was, as a part of French Louisiana, the scene of the first colonizing efforts of the French. Later both Spanish and English controlled the territory. From Mississippi the Old Spanish trail winds into Louisiana, perhaps of all the states through which the historic highway passes, the richest in ancient Spanish legendry.

Tales descended to the present day have it that the Spaniards long considered the Gulf of Mexico as a Spanish lake. Argosies of gold sailed for years from the shores of Mexico to enrich the coffers of the rulers of all Spain, and Jean Laffite's buccaneers, waging war against Spain under letters of marque from Venezuela, succeeded in making life aboard the gold-carrying ships anything but peaceful and uneventful.

Seeking new sources of riches, De Soto discovered and crossed the Mississippi river and while dying begged his followers to subject it to the flag of Spain. His followers, however, seeking safety, struggled down the Mississippi to its mouth, leaving to La Salle, 140 years later, the distinction of claiming for France the vast territory which Spain might have had if De Soto had lived. Seventeen years later a French fleet entered the gulf and colonized Louisiana.

San Jacinto Battlefield.

From the Louisiana line the trail passes such famous spots as the San Jacinto battlefield, where Texas won her independence from Santa Anna. Galveston, although not on the trail, is made accessible through a tributary highway. Refugio, Corpus Christi, San Patricio and many other Texas towns—their names testifying to the imprint of the Padres and Conquistadores—are within easy steps of the trail. The site of La Salle's treacherous death is on the main line of the trail, near the present city of Orange, Texas, and here a camping site has been provided for travelers.

San Antonio, around which much of the history of Texas is written, is an ancient mission, military and social center of the Spaniards. With the settlement of the city a new trail was developed from Mexico City, which passed through San Antonio to Nacogdoches and thence into French territory. This trail is known as the El Camino Real—the king's highway—and is believed one of the most ancient American highways, for it appears to be but a continuation of the road system built by the Aztecs.

Westward from El Paso the trail passes through New Mexico, in which some of the oldest and most picturesque of the Spanish missions are located. Santa Fe, New Mexico, is the second oldest city of the United States. Into the Santa Cruz valley of Arizona, from Tuscon to Nogales, the trail passes many of the historic missions of the southwest. San Xavier, built in 1692, and Tumacacori, even older, are considered two of the most remarkable churches erected in a wilderness. It was in Arizona that Coronado, in 1540, conducted a search of the Seven Cities of Cibolo, visioned as cities of gold.

Entering California, the Old Spanish trail winds through missions erected by the Franciscans, each a day's journey apart. That of San Diego, where the present city now stands, and of San Capistrano, at Los Angeles, are two of the more notable California missions.

The flow of lava from the volcanic eruption in San Salvador in 1917 was great enough to have filled two Panama Canals.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL IS PLANNED HERE NEXT SESSION

NIGHT CLASSES AND FACTORY INSTRUCTION FEATURES OF PROPOSED MOVE.

INSTRUCTORS ALREADY BEING TRAINED HERE

School Board Will Probably Make Provision For Work On Much Broader Scale.

A communication from Scott J. McGinnis, representative of the state board of vocational training, was received Thursday by Superintendent Lee Clark in which the matter of establishing permanent vocational training schools was taken up. Mr. McGinnis was in the city several months ago and organized several teacher training classes in the industrial organizations of the city so that instructors would be available for the larger classes which it is now proposed to start.

These classes are conducted something on the order of night schools and give workmen training along any special vocational lines which may be selected. Study and recitation periods are held, in some cases, in the factory where the men are employed, several types of classes being arranged for to meet the varying needs of the industry. The classes conducted by Mr. McGinnis were held at the Wichita Motor plant and the student membership recruited from employes of the factory.

One-half of the expenses of such classes are borne by the local school board, one-fourth by the state school board, and one-fourth by the federal government, with the general supervision being in the hands of the vocational training department, which in turn relegates the active direction to the local school authorities. Present plans arranged for by Mr. McGinnis call for an appropriation of $2,000 with which to carry on the work in Wichita Falls next year. This means that the local board would be required to furnish $1,000, leaving the remaining thousand to be appropriated equally by the state and federal governments.

The school budget for next year has not been made by the board of education, but the opinion has been expressed that no trouble would be experienced in getting the needed funds.

ROTARIANS ELECT 6 NEW DIRECTORS

Frank Jones of Houston and Dr. A. H. Douglas Are Principal Speakers At Luncheon.

Talks by Frank Jones of Houston and Dr. A. H. Douglass of Wichita Falls featured the Thursday luncheon of the Rotary club. The members elected six new directors to serve for a two-year period, as follows: Julian Montgomery, E. S. Goodner, John W. Naylor, C. C. Kirby, C. C. Randle and P. A. Rogers; these, with the six holdover directors, Horace Robbins, John W. Thomas, N. F. Grafton, C. H. Reid, Leon French and Fred Couper, will constitute the board for the next 12 months.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected sometime next week by the directors, and the officers will be installed Friday evening, April 29, at a meeting to which the Rotarians will bring their womenfolks.

Frank Jones, of Houston, who is attending the Templar conclave, addressed the club briefly but happily. He praised Wichita Falls and her hospitality, and expressed great confidence in her future greatness, but saved most of his kind words for Mayor Cline, whom he has known for many years.

"He's the best mayor any city ever had," said Mr. Jones. He also complimented Mr. Cline's work in the oil association and in Masonic and Shrine activities.

The mayor was called upon to reply, and in admitting the entire truthfulness of what had been said, declared he had promised to do as much for his old friend Jones sometime at Houston.

Judge Martin urged all Rotarians to make the Graham trip, promising to use his apparently wide influence in that community to keep them out of trouble.

Dr. A. H. Douglass of the city health department, the speaker of the day, took "Sanitation" as his subject.

"This nation cannot be stronger than the average health of the individuals in it," he said. Dr. Douglas drew the analogy between personal cleanliness and hygiene and these attributes as applied to municipalities. There is need of educational work, he said, to convince the average citizen that the general health of the community is a matter that is his personal concern. The speaker made a plea that Rotarians give individual attention to matters of public health.

Upon motion of A. E. Myles, the club recommended to its directors that financial assistance be given for the entertainment of the Federated Clubs here next week. In a special meeting after adjournment, the directors made the appropriation.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS ARE FILED AGAINST MAURICE ROSEBAUM

Two personal damage suits were filed against Maurice Rosenbaum in the 89th district court Thursday morning, in which the plaintiffs ask for a total judgment of $6,500.

M. D. Miles asks for $4,000 for injuries and damages suffered through the negligence of the defendant and his employes and agents in that the mast pole of a drilling rig was not secured by guy wires and that the plaintiff was injured when the pole fell on him.

G. I. Jeffreys, as father of W. J. Jeffreys, asks for $2,500 for injuries suffered by the latter, alleging that his son was injured by machinery while in the employ of the defendant. The plaintiff further alleges that the defendant employed more than three men and that he failed to take out workmen's insurance.

LEONARD STROUD IS TO BE AMONG ENTRIES IN ROUNDUP EVENTS

Leonard Stroud of Rocky Ford, Colo., who two years ago won the title of world's champion all around cowboy will arrive in Wichita Falls Sunday and will enter the calf roping, bronk riding, bareback riding, fancy roping and wild steer riding events of the Round-Up which will be staged at the ball park April 28, 29 and 30.

Two years ago Stroud held three world's titles at the same time being the champion bronk rider, champion trick rider, and all around champion. During the early part of the season of 1919 he won the capital prize in bronk riding at seven straight contests and in the seventh contests defeated nearly every bronk rider of note in the United States.

Stroud for several years has been one of the stars of the Fort Worth Rodeo and his work in the arena here at the first annual round-up is still fresh in the minds of those who saw him perform and with the public of this section of the country he is a great favorite.

One reason why Stroud is always a favorite is that he is game and is always willing to take a chance and on every ride he makes he either wild cats his mount or is disqualified in the effort as he is not one of those who play safe on a bucker but seems determined to outdo the other riders or get bucked off in the attempt.

Stroud is also the originator of going under the horse while going at full speed. This is one of the greatest feats known to trick and fancy riders and is the feat that won Stroud much notriety at the New York stampede in 1916.

ONE GOOD, THREE AVERAGE, AND ONE MEDIOCRE ACT MAKE UP VAUDEVILLE BILL

A bill featured by one very good act, three others of an average amount of merit and one with no special claim for fame, make up the vaudeville program being offered at the Wichita theater this week. There is enough variety in the various presentations to preclude monotony, and a liberal sprinkling of comedy and music make the bill as a whole enjoyable.

The advertised headliner proved to be just that, for Billy Arlington, the "highbrow hobo," elicited more laughs than all the rest of the actors put together. There is nothing especially cultural or uplifting about Arlington, and there is not intended to be. He makes no pretenses of playing to the elite of the city, but rather to the masses, and his slapstick comedy goes over with a whoop. He is supported by two other men and a woman, and incidentally the quartet makes music, both vocal and instrumental, that would do credit to a professional concert troup.

Running second to Arlington in the comedy line is Emily Darrell, and her dog, in a monologue, "Late For Rehearsal." Miss Darrell's chief vehicle is a running fire of conversation with Professor Edler and the rest of his orchestra, all of whom come in for more or less attention at the hands of the star. The act made a big hit with the opening night crowd and merited all the applause given it.

Murphy and White have a song and piano act which would go over well if prohibition had never been thrust upon us, but the incessant harping on the lost glories of liquor smothers the success of this presentation to a considerable extent.

The opening number of the program is offered by Reo and Helmar, two athletes, who perform some spectacular physical stunts. The act is not long, but is exceedingly colorful and drew rounds of applause from a crowd which ordinarily accords little support to performances of this kind.

Edith Casper closes the entertainment with the only dancing number of the show, and does a very good job. She and her "boys" are capable performers in the dancing line and their musical numbers are also quite attractive.

FORMER DRILLER OF EAST WICHITA WELL IS JAILED THURSDAY

C. A. Williams, driller of the East Wichita well, who was reported by the company as having disappeared, is in the county jail under a charge of swindling filed against him by Fred Ebenhack.

Sheriff Fred Smith arrested Williams at Duncan, Oklahoma, Wednesday afternoon and returned to this city with the prisoner Wednesday night. It was stated that Williams was engaged as a driller in the Duncan fields, and the sheriff left Wednesday morning to locate him.

The complaint was filed in the justice of peace court on April 19, alleging that the defendant committed the offense of swindling over $50 on or about January 31, 1921.

The complainant alleges that Williams sold him some acreage adjacent to the East Wichita well, representing to him that oil had been found.

CONTRACT FOR SALE OF LEASE INVOLVED IN CASE

Contract for the sale of a lease is involved in the law suit of Republic Oil and Refining Co. vs. J. L. Art, J. A. Jones, Jr., A. E. Eoger and the American National bank which began in the 89th district court Thursday morning before a jury.

The plaintiff alleges that the abstract of title that was delivered for the lease was faulty and that the $5,000 which the plaintiffs placed in the bank in escrow pending the examination of the abstract was taken down by the defendant. They ask judgment for $5,000 and cancellation of the contract which called for a total stipulation of $50,000. The lease included ten acres located in blocks 96, 97 and 98, Red River Valley lands.

The defendant, on a cross action, asks for judgment of $45,000, the remainder of the amount called for in the contract.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY UNDER A BOND OF $2,000

Jess Rolingen, negro, was bound over to await the action of a grand jury by Justice of the Peace J. F. Maxwell Thursday morning under bond of $2,000. Rolingan is charged with the murder of John Henry, another negro. The defendant appeared at the county jail some ten days ago and reported that he had killed a negro in his wife's room on Tenth street.

MANY APPLICATIONS FOR TEACHER PLACES, 20 NEW ONES NEEDED

Applications for positions in the Wichita Falls public schools are already coming into the office of Superintendent Lee Clark, nearly 200 having been received since the first of the year. The large number of applicants is especially gratifying to the school officials in that nearly all those desiring positions here had had wide experience and are well fitted to care for the duties of teaching.

Approximately twenty new teachers will be needed in the schools next year, according to Mr. Clark, aside from those who are now employed and will not return. The addition of eight new rooms to the San Jacinto school, eight at the Austin, one or two at the high school and a few others which may be added to the various buildings, bringing the total easily to twenty.

The large majority of applicants are from Texas cities where the teachers are now employed, although quite a few have been received from other states, notably Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. A few local teachers are also being sought by other places, one high school instructor receiving an offer from the San Antonio public schools Thursday.

RE-CREATIONS for TODAY

No. 80730—Price, $1.35
I Never Knew—Medley Fox Trot (Introducing "Marimba")
Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra
For Dancing

Two song melodies are combined in this fox trot—"I Never Knew," by Tom Pitts, Ray Eagan and Roy K. Marsh, and "Marimba," by Johnny Black, who, as everyone will remember, conceived the melody of "Dardanella." (RE-CREATION No. 50637.) Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra put an extra amount of "pep" in the playing of this fox trot. Note the interesting work of the saxophone in particular.

Sweet Lavender—Fox Trot, David
Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra
For Dancing

This song fox trot is happily named, for, like the lavender flower, it has a haunting sweetness that lingers in the memory. Lee David, its composer, was sure he had a big hit in this melody when it came to him, and his publishers, B. D. Nice & Co., were equally enthusiastic over it.

No. 50735—Price, $1.35
Na-Jo—Fox Trot, Wiedoeft-Holliday
Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra
For Dancing

Rudy Wiedoeft and Walter Holliday are the composers of "Na-Jo," and we have the privilege of listening to Mr. Wiedoeft play an interesting saxophone part in its performance. Therefore, we get an authoritative interpretation. Needless to add, Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra collaborates with Wiedoeft in the rendition of this composition in the most finished style.

Mazie—Fox Trot, Gold-Dawson-Caine
Orlando's Orchestra
For Dancing

Perhaps the first thing that strikes the ear on hearing this RE-CREATION is the splendid orchestral recording made of the fox trot. Everyone of the instruments is clearly defined, and it is a distinct pleasure to recognize them in the various parts they play in making this a dance of exceptional quality.

No. 50739—Price, $1.35
O-Hi-O—Medley One-Step (Introducing "Thy Troubadour")
Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra

"O-Hi-O" is very much on the map these days, with the President from that state in the White House. But the writers of this song fox trot, Jack Yellen and Abe Olman, found something else besides the President in this "O-Hi-O." The music is of the speedy sort, and Max Fells' Della Robbia Orchestra delivers it with swift incisiveness which is as a one-step should be.

Sally—Medley Fox Trot (Introducing "Look For the Silver Lining," "Whip-poor-Will," and "Wild Rose"), Kern
Harry Raderman's Jazz Orchestra
For Dancing

Three leading numbers from the musical comedy hit, "Sally," are given in this medley fox trot. They are "Look For the Silver Lining," sung as a duet in the show; "Whip-poor-Will," another successful duet, and "Wild Rose," one of the most effective solos. Harry Raderman's Jazz Orchestra, of course, makes the medley fox trot an event.

No. 50740—Price, $1.35
Do You Ever Think of Me—Fox Trot, Burtnett
Harry Raderman's Jazz Orchestra
For Dancing

Right or wrong, the publishers of "Do You Ever Think of Me" pin their faith on it as a successor to "Whispering." Being also the publishers of "Whispering," they know what this expectation implies. Already, from the West, reports have come that the number is growing in popularity every moment.

Arabia—One-Step, G. H. Green
Greek Bros. Novelty Band
For Dancing

It goes without saying that to hear a composer play, or conduct, his own composition is a double treat. Here we have it. George Hamilton Green, the brilliant xylophone virtuoso, is the writer of this one-step, and, as a matter of course, he interprets it with authority.

No. 50741—Price, $1.35
My Mammy, Donaldson
Premier Quartet
Male Voices

This lyric and melody typify the longing of a darky roamer, who has tried out the world and found it wanting, and whose sole thought is to get back to his mammy. The music introduces a reminiscent strain of "Old Black Joe" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny." Every Edison owner will be sure to enjoy the splendid singing of the Premier Quartet in this number.

Look For the Silver Lining—Sally, Kern
Betsy Lane Shepherd and Lewis James
Soprano and Tenor

Broadway has hailed the musical comedy of "Sally" as one of the outstanding hits of the season. Both libretto and music are far above the average. "Look For the Silver Lining," containing the optimistic philosophy of life, is the song hit of the show.

No. 50742—Price, $1.35
Answer—Fox Trot, Vause
Lenzberg's Riverside Orchestra
For Dancing

This song fox trot has an irresistible sweep for its leading characteristic. Norman J. Vause wrote the music of this compelling composition. Lenzberg's Riverside Orchestra has never rendered any dance better than this fox trot arrangement of "Answer."

Sweet Love—Fox Trot, Smalle
Lenzberg's Riverside Orchestra
For Dancing

Fox trots come from the East and the West, and which are the best must be determined by the general public. "Sweet Love" hails from Kansas City, Mo., where it made a decided hit within a short time. Listening to it, we feel sure that the East will respond to its charms, and that the cabarets along Broadway will be echoing and re-echoing its strains.

ENGLAND'S WITHDRAWAL WOULD NOT BENEFIT GERMANY.

The belief is expressed in London that the British government will not join France in a more extensive occupation of German territory. England is said to be benevolently inclined toward Germany and from a business standpoint fails to see anything more than a psychological advantage to be gained from the enforcement of such penalties upon Germany.

It is doubtful, however, whether the British withdrawal would be of any benefit to Germany. There are two things that victory in the world war should bring to France. One is the biggest amount in reparations that Germany can pay, and the other assurance against attack in the future. If England deserts France, as America appears already to have done, she will have to depend upon her military strength alone to enforce reparations and to so reduce Germany that the latter may never be strong enough again to be a menace to France. The French now have the greatest army in the world. There is little question but that France can now do almost as she will in a military way with Germany. If England fails to support her in efforts to collect reparations France must go it alone and in going may be rough on Germany.

Germany ought to see the consequences of having the French act alone and ought to enter into such an agreement as will prevent this.

GRAHAM AND WICHITA FALLS SPEAK SAME LANGUAGE.

Friday the first passenger train over the Wichita Falls and Southern from Wichita Falls to Graham will carry a big delegation of Wichita Falls citizens to Graham to extend friendly greetings to the Young county metropolis. As Judge Kay would say, the people of Graham and of Wichita Falls speak the same language. For a number of years Young county folk have been coming to Wichita Falls to engage in professions and in business and to make their homes and many of our best citizens are former Young county residents. This has continued for a number of years, but during the past two years Wichita Falls folks have been going to Graham to engage in business so that there are very intimate relations between the people of the two communities. The building of a railroad to connect Wichita Falls has long been a dream and hope of the people of both places. Now the enterprise of a Wichita Falls citizen has accomplished what has long been hoped for and the first train will run over the new line Friday. Wichita Falls people know that a most cordial and friendly reception will be given them at Graham. The people of the two communities will meet at Graham Friday to proclaim a friendship that has long existed and to extend mutual congratulations over the new railway connection.

Editorial Echoes

Cotton and Its Marketing.
(Austin Statesman.)

Gradual marketing of the cotton crop is a good suggestion. The Waco Times-Herald speaks of marketing "over a period of twelve months," but there is no magic in any fixed term, the important point being to offer the cotton as it can be absorbed at a normal price. Under some circumstances, a portion of a crop may need to be held for two years, while under others, all may be sold in six months; in order to fully protect himself, the farmer should be prepared to hold for the longer term. But it is practically impossible to hold cotton for two years on borrowed money. If the farmer could store it without going into debt and incurring interest and service charges his problem would be solved. When, however, he is compelled to operate on borrowed capital while his cotton is in storage; to pay interest on the borrowed money and storage charges on the warehoused cotton, he can profit but little. The premium he pays for holding may very well offset the price-increase secured thereby, and the whole process amounts to nothing more than a roundabout disposal of his crop at prices he might have secured directly.

The principal benefits to be gained by the establishment of public warehouses and the making of provisions for loans on warehouse receipts are a reduction of interest charges, and prevention of the "dumping" of cotton on a market controlled by buyers. The greater number of cotton growers have no facilities of their own for storing cotton, and our financial system hardly takes agriculture into account. But these benefits are likely to prove temporary, and to be more than offset in the indefinite delaying of proper solutions of agricultural problems.

We must face the fact that conditions have changed since cotton was king. The king owed his sway to the plantation system which was swept away in the war between the states. Under that system, cotton was raised on great farms that were "economic units," producing practically all that their tillers needed. The plantation was a self-contained community and cotton was raised as "money" and exportable crop, its price representing a clear profit.

The war had the result foretold by Beecher in his speech at Liverpool. With the plantations broken up, the South became a consuming section. No longer could its farmers echo John Randolph's defiance of the northern traders. "I do not buy of them," he had said, but now the southern farmers had to buy of them and of others. They no longer produced everything they required. And, as cotton had always been the "money crop," they neglected other crops for it in their pressing need of money. The rise of the manufacturing section, at the same time with decline of the agricultural section, deprived the farmer of financial aid. Such aid as is extended today is for the reflex influence of agriculture on manufacturers, whereas once, as Jefferson said, commerce was agriculture's handmaid.

Diversification is the real hope of the southern farmer today. He needs also some financial method by which he can be supplied with equipment and machinery, and assisted in moving his crops. When cotton is again truly a "money crop," cotton will be king again.

Where the Burden Rests.
(Waco Times-Herald.)

A government gets generous.

It provides for this or that or the other misfortune, or undertakes vast enterprises.

It hasn't a dollar of its own.

It collects from the people.

The people must toil to provide this money which their government is so lavishly spending.

That makes it all the more difficult for those who toil.

This creates new difficulties.

The government undertakes to meet these difficulties by levying fresh taxation.

And in so doing there is a repitition of the old story of the man in the quicksand; the more he struggles, the deeper he sinks.

All taxation falls at last on the man who toils.

"Jones, he pays the freight."

WHY?—

Is the "shimmy" so called?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Just as the "bunny-hug" and the "turkey-trot" had their origin in the dance halls of the Barbary coast and other sections which would hardly be regarded as respectable, the "shimmy" was born in the negro dives of the south, its undulating wiggle being peculiarly suited to the syncopated music so dear to the hearts of the race which launched both "jazz" and "rag-time."

The name of this dance, while bearing little apparent relation to the true pronunciation of the word, is derived from the French "chemise," as applied to a rather intimate article of feminine underwear. The negro tongue, being unable to muster the true Gallic sound, translated the word into its own dialect as "shimmy," and the expression "Shake yo' shimmy, hon', shake yo' shimmy!" has been common throughout the south for many years. The recent popularity of jazz music, coupled with the muffled and almost barbaric tones of the "blues" has given added impetus to the negro dances. Little by little these movements have made their way—first into the dance halls of the whites, then to the stage, and finally, in a somewhat deleted form, to the ballroom. But, in the final analysis, "shaking the shimmy" means that the dancer is emulating a negro wench, clad above the waist in a single piece of underwear and moving ecstatically to the strains of a melody which vividly recalls the tom-toms and war-drums of her native African jungle.

The Things That Matter.

When a fellow's gettin' old
An' his tale is mostly told,
When he knows life has in store
At the best a few years more,
An' it's settled in his mind
That he isn't goin' to find
Any mine of gold, or claim
Special notices from fame,
Then he gets in closer touch
With the things that matter much.

Youth looks ever far away
To some better, other day
That is always goin' to be,
When he'll gain the victory;
Then he's always got his eyes
On some glittering future prize
Which he fancies he may win
'Spite of all his blunderin',
Tellin' all along the way
He'll do something big some day.

But the champions are few
An' the great deeds hard to do,
An' the dreamers by an' by
See things with a clearer eye
An' discover not to all
Can the pomp and glory fall;
Most of us must settle down
Findin' peace without renown,
Glad that we can come an' go
Loved by those God lets us know.

When a fellow's gettin' old
An' his tale is mostly told,
An' the fame he's dreamed about
From his life has faded out,
Then he finds that friends are more
Than the gold he'd hungered for,
An' he'd rather spend his hours
With his children an' his flowers
An' his neighbors, for in such
Is the peace which matters much.

Good Luck and Bad Luck.

It is good luck to never have bad luck, wile on the other hand it is bad luck to never have good luck. Most peeple have part good luck and part bad luck, on account of things don't allways happin like you wunt them to instead of like you wish they wouldent.

Some of the luckiest peeple are the ones that are allways finding something. Some fellows could wawk along all their life looking down without finding enything, wile others jest haff to wawk about a block thinking of something elts and they find something. It is allways lucky to find money, espeshilly a lot.

If you nock the salt seller over and some of the salt goes on the table it is supposed to be bad luck unless you quick pick the sale seller up and throw some of the salt over your left shoulder, and even then if the top comes off and the salt goes all over the floor youre lible to get a licking, being some of the werst luck there is.

It is bad luck to wawk under a ladder, espeshilly if its a painters ladder and a lot of paint is dripping down.

It is good luck to pick up a pin unless some fello gives you a kick or a automobeel bumps you wile you are stooping over unpertected.

It is 7 yeers bad luck to brake a mirrer, so all you haff to do to spoil your hole life is brake one ever 7 yeers.

DANIELS TELLS OF WILSON AS GREAT STRATEGIST IN SEA WAR

President Wilson as a Strategist—He wanted America to be in a position on land and water to whip Germany, even if the allies had to quit—From the first a strong advocate of unified command—He insisted that American forces must be organized as American army units—Urged audacity, as naval policy for the allied and associated powers—"Crush the hornets' nests, or prevent the escape of the hornets"—President favored convoy system and mine barage—Woodrow Wilson as a boy had his heart set on a naval career.

ARTICLE 8.

President Wilson never left my office, and I never left a white house conference, during the war years, without the reflection shaping itself in my mind that the world had lost a great military leader when it gained a great educator and executive.

It was President Wilson, who, before we entered the war, saw that the only hope of the allies lay in achieving unity of command.

It was President Wilson who advocated this policy when we gained the right to a voice in the military councils of those who were fighting the central empires.

It was President Wilson who resisted the strong urging of some of his American advisers, and of the British and French military authorities, to permit our American soldiers to be used merely as replacement troops for the allied armies.

It was President Wilson who insisted that the American forces must be organized as American army units, under American command, and who sustained Gen. Pershing in carrying this policy into effect at the earliest possible moment.

It was President Wilson who contended that America must be in position on land and water to carry the war through to victory, even if the allies were forced to abandon it.

Stay Through Till Victory.

This extreme possibility he envisaged and when we entered the war he had resolved in his soul that whatever might befall Great Britain, France, Italy or Japan, the United States would stick until autocracy was beaten. It was this resolute purpose which made his leadership so inspiring to those of us who served with him through days which were always anxious and not infrequently discouraging.

In matters affecting the navy he was as wise and as forceful as in military matters.

He saw at once the vital importance of making egress for the U-boat difficult if not impossible. If it was not practicable to go into the rat holes and kill all the rats, the same end might be attained by stopping the holes up, or failing even that, by setting traps so thickly around the holes that rats attempting to get by would run serious peril of being caught.

Wilson's Genius in War.

Newton Baker could tell many an incident to illustrate the almost inspired genius of Woodrow Wilson in dealing with army problems. I have no doubt he will some day. Naturally I am more familiar with his gift of strategy as displayed in the solving of naval problems. Before I relate some incidents from my own experience which throw light upon this phase of the former president's many sided character, I want to outline more fully the general situation and circumstances which form the basis for the assertions I have made concerning his military leadership in the opening paragraphs of this article.

Almost immediately following our declaration of war we began hearing from Great Britain and France suggestions as to the wise course for us to pursue in such armed help as we might be able to give.

Obviously we had no ready-made, trained and disciplined army to send overseas—at least not of such strength as to be a considerable factor in the situation. It was not unnatural, nor wholly unreasonable that the allies should suggest the best plan for us to follow would be to place such forces as we could raise under allied command, where in association with the trained and veteran troops of France and Great Britain, they would find support and learn more readily the lessons that the fighting man must know.

President Vetoes Plan.

Admiral Sims, together with some other Americans, were inclined to agree with the allies that this plan was the one we should adopt.

But not so the president. He dismissed the proposal as soon as he heard of it. Gen. Pershing was equally emphatic in repudiating it. If Gen. Pershing had recommended it, I believe President Wilson would have been tempted most strongly to recall him. The president believed America could raise and drain an expeditionary force big enough and quickly enough to take its equal place in the field with the veteran armies and do its full share to bring victory. He had faith in American capacity, and he knew that Americans would never fight so well under alien leadership as they would under the command of their own officers.

But this determination on the presidents' part to keep the American forces independent neither prevented the use of American troops in the brigades of British and French armies during the days while our strength was assembling, nor the strong urging of America to give the independent armies of the allied and associated powers the unified command which was essential to their effective co-operation and co-ordination.

Put Foch at Head.

As soon as our strength in France had reached proportions which the president felt gave us just right to speak, he joined with Lloyd George in putting through the plan to make Gen. Foch the head of the allied and associated armies.

The president followed the development of the military and naval strategy of the contending nations with keenest and most critical interest before we entered the war.

I recall his saying to me on one occasion:

"Daniels, why don't the British convoy their merchant ships and thus protect them from the submarines?"

He came back to this question frequently. He could not see the wisdom of the British plan of dispersion, although there were some able American naval officers who approved it. To him it seemed a false strategy.

This opinion became a conviction with him as the sinking continued and the situation grew daily more serious.

Strongly Favors Convoy.

"This theory of reducing the danger by sailing ships separately, has been demonstrated to be wrong," he would say, "Why now, with their distressing experience, do they hesitate to adopt the convoy system?

Finally the convoy system was adopted. It took the American expeditionary force to France without the loss of a man on an American transport through enemy action. It justified in the eyes of the naval authorities of three great nations the wisdom of the scholarly idealist, whose genius for practical suggestion never ceased to be a cause for wonder and admiration on the part of those who were closely associated with him.

His brilliant mind gave further evidence of its gift for strategy in his contention from the day we entered the war that the only way to beat the U-boat warfare on Germany was to bar the U-boats from access to waters traversed by allied shipping.

Willing to Take Risk.

He was willing to run tremendous risks and to suffer heavy losses if there were a possibility of destroying the U-boats nests.

Speaking to the officers and crew of the Pennsylvania, he said:

"We are hunting hornets all over the farm and letting the nest alone. None of us know how to go to the nest and crush it, and yet I despair of hunting for hornets all over the sea when I know where the nest is, and I know that the nest is breeding hornets as fast as I can find them. I am willing for my part, and I know you are willing, for I know the stuff you are made of—I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have to crush the nest, because if we crush it the war is won."

The British admiralty, however, was inclined to be exceedingly cautious, and the president's proposals failed to evoke the response he had reason to hope for.

"Every time we have suggested anything to the British admiralty," he said, talking on the deck of the Pennsylvania in the summer of 1917, "the reply has come back that virtually amounts to this: That it had never been done in that way. I felt like saying, 'Well, nothing was ever done so systematically as nothing is being done now.' Therefore I should like to see something unusual happen, something that never has been done before. There is no other way to win."

Calls For Suggestions.

It was on this occasion that he invited the youngest as well as the oldest officers in the navy to suggest to him possible ways of doing the big and bold and unprecedented thing that might bring victory.

"I am not saying," he declared, "that I do not expect the admirals to tell us what to do, but I am saying that I want the youngest and most modest youngster in the service to tell us what we ought to do, if he knows what it is."

"Please leave out of your vocabulary the word 'prudent,'" he said to the naval officers. "Do not stop to think about what is prudent for a moment. Do the thing that is audacious to the utmost point of risk and daring, because that is exactly what the other side does not understand."

The president had sized up correctly the enemy mind—rigid, conventional, regimented. In order to surprise and bewilder him it was necessary only to do the thing that was daringly irregular, contrary to established rules.

Mayo Sent to Europe.

Soon after the president made his hornet nest speech, Admiral Mayo, commander-in-chief of all the vessels afloat on both sides of the Atlantic, was dispatched to Europe with instructions to convince the British admiralty of the overshadowing necessity of constructing the North sea barrage.

Failing the possibility of persuading the British admiralty to join in a combined attack upon the hornets' nests, the president proposed the stretching of a screen that would catch the hornets before they scattered along the British and French coasts and the lanes of ocean traffic.

I have told the story of this remarkable achievement in another of the articles in this series. The president warmly approved the navy's plans for the northern mine barrage, which did so much to shatter the morale of the German navy, whose mutiny marked the beginning of the enemy's collapse.

During the war years the president often came unannounced to the navy department, to consult, suggest and, I think, frequently with the desire to encourage and stimulate. This latter service was invaluable to us. When he could not come because of pressure of affairs, he would send us a typewritten query, or memorandum, bearing the initials "W. W." Those "W. W." notes never had a spare word, and they showed the same clearness and vision which John Hay tells us Lincoln had when he would go over to see Stanton in the dark days of the civil war.

Keen Naval Instinct.

President Wilson's interest was neither perfunctory nor official. He had the keenest naval instinct. He was born with it. When Thomas Woodrow Wilson was a boy—before he dropped the "Thomas"—he chose for himself a naval career.

His boyhood was spent on the banks of a river and he loved boating next to books, or at times even more than books. He had a penchant for sailing; he loved sea tales, and his ambition was to follow Jones and Farragut and Dewey.

Thomas Woodrow's father, a scholarly Presbyterian preacher of the old school, vetoed the naval career. When the chance came to go to Annapolis, he said in substance: "No; you are not meant for the sea, my son; letters, books, statesmanship for you."

It is not recorded that Thomas Woodrow replied: "Aye, aye, sir," with nautical brevity and cheerfulness, but certain it is that he accepted his father's decree. The navy lost an officer who would have destroyed many precedents and won many victories, when his father snatched him from the topsail and sent him down below to the study of languages and political economy.

NEURASTHENIA—NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues,—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to over-work, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certainly will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should live on the simple foods, eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep nine hours at night if he can, an hour in the afternoon and feed his starving nerves and weak, thin blood, with a good nerve and blood food, like Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force; it also contains genuine organic iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples.

Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredient demanded by your nerves and blood to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor of weak, wornout, down hearted, and nervous folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if it does not produce perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—(Adv.)

GRAHAM BENDING EFFORTS TO MAKE A REAL CITY OF ITSELF; MANY IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED

Something about Graham, which will be formally welcomed as Wichita Falls' new neighbor, has been furnished by the chamber of commerce of Graham, and should be of interest in connection with Friday's excursion. An interesting historical sketch of Newcastle has also been furnished.

Graham.

Graham has an excellent public school with an affiliation of 21½ points; 1,100 children now attend; Superintendent, B. F. Cogdell. A teachers' dormitory built by the citizens for the boarding at cost, is provided the teachers. A new ward school is to be built by fall.

The Methodists let contract April 14 for an edifice to cost $75,000, exclusive of furnishings; Rev. T. E. Bowman, pastor. The Christian denomination have a beautiful church; Rev. J. E. Evans, pastor. The Baptists and Presbyterians also have handsome edifices.

To keep pace with Young county's growth, the county commissioners have ordered a bond election for May 21 for the issuance of $30,00 jail bonds; the present jail, erected in the 70's, is fast becoming unfit. It is likely the city of Graham will also supplement the jail money so the jail can be used jointly.

The citizens of Graham voted a sewerage and waterworks bond issue March 21 of $220,000, and as soon as the bonds are issued and sold sewerage will be extended to all the new additions. Sewerage at present embraces the business and a portion of the residential district. A modern sewerage disposal plant is now in operation.

City officers: Mayor, E. S. Graham; commissioners, A. A. Morrison, Dr. W. A. Morris, L. A. Kayser and J. C. Vaughn; city secretary, T. E. Wallace. Chamber of Commerce: President, S. Boyd Street; secretary, Milton H. McConnell vice-president, A. W. Kay; treasurer, A. A. Morrison.

Sports: Graham is in the Texas-Oklahoma baseball league, which includes Ardmore, Paris, Bonham, Denison, Cleburne and Graham. J. G. Gallaher is president of the Graham club and Carl Van Zandt manager.

Graham has at least 6,500 permanent people at present and 1,000 transient. Free mail delivery was established in March.

Graham chamber of commerce now after industries, especially at this time a brick plant. Superb quality shale deposit one-half mile west of city for the making of pressed brick, hollow tile and sewer pipe. Coal deposits four miles west of Graham, also.

County officers: County judge, Wm. Reeves; sheriff, John W. Saye; county clerk, Will Kennedy; district clerk, Willie Riggs; county treasurer, Mrs. George Baines.

Newcastle.

Twelve years ago Newcastle was only a pasture. The country had rich soil, prosperous farms, and coal had been discovered in commercial quantities but without an outlet mining was useless. The keen business eyes of Kemp, Kell and Perkins were attracted by the fertile fields, extensive natural resources, excellent drainage and everlasting water supply, and these men saw at a glance that a city could be built here.

The first step was the construction of a railroad from Wichita Falls southward, opening up fifty-six miles of rich territory, to Newcastle on the Clear Fork of the Brazos in the exact geographical center of Young county.

Located on high hills overlooking the valley of the Brazos River, Newcastle is one of the most delightful natural townsites in North Central Texas. It has all the elements of permanence, desirability for residence, and the backing of a wealth of resources that is equalled in but few sections of the state. The gentle slopes on all sides of the city furnish ideal natural drainage for storm waters, and the soil, gravelly sandy loam in which frequent ledges of sandstone crop out does not permit the stagnation of water in city or vicinity.

Newcastle boasts one of the finest water supply systems in Texas, that prime requisite of a beautiful city. Lake Newcastle is a beautiful sheet of clear water, about sixty acres in area, depths to thirty-five feet in many places. The source cannot be contaminated and the supply is aboundant in all seasons for a population of ten thousand people.

A wide area having Newcastle as its center is underlaid with coal of good quality which has been mined on a large scale for ten years. The Belknap Coal Company operating the mines had the territory adjacent to Newcastle thoroughly tested by diamond drills and opened up a number of pits, marketing a large amount commercially to the gins and other power plants within a radius of 100 miles. The Wichita Falls & Southern railroad has also used the product in its locomotives ever since the mines were opened and have been large consumers. The operations have regularly employed three to five hundred men when running full force, mining approximately ten to fifteen cars of 50-ton capacity daily.

We also have oil. The Newcastle oil pool stands alone today as the deepest producing field in the United States and producer of the highest gravity oil ever found at any approximate depth. The Arnold well, 4,655 feet in depth, is still producing about one hundred barrels a day after a lapse of two years. Other wells in the country have been drilled as deep or deeper, but they were dry holes.

Newcastle has built and is continuing to build along permanent substantial lines. The streets are 100 feet wide and laid off in proper form. The business buildings and a number of residences are of brick. Many business houses are constructed of home-made brick and their sound walls after years of exposure show that they are made of the right sort of clay. A large deposit is located about one mile north of the city limits on the main line of the railroad.

Two modern hotels, one brick of 43 rooms with connecting baths, afford excellent hotel accommodations. Three large modern garages take care of the heavy road traffic in and through Newcastle. A steam laundry, large electric light and power plant, ice plant and electric shoe shops, and an excellent city water system take care of the comforts of this up-to-date progressive town.

A handsome seventy thousand dollar school building, second to none in this section of the country, is located on the ground in the city and furnishes all necessary facilities for educating the youth of the present population, and additional schools will be the first concern of the city administration to meet and anticipate the increase of children of school age in Greater Newcastle. The churches are well supported and the attendance large.

There never was a section of country that could raise any better wheat than is raised here. The banks are prosperous, the First National Bank having just completed a thirty thousand dollar building. These banks have large resources and heavy deposits which finance the great crops of cotton, grain and other produce from a wide area in Young and adjoining counties. They are abundantly able to take on the additional business that will follow the further oil and coal development of the Newcastle district.

The city boasts of a chamber of commerce consisting of live, wide-awake business men ready to take hold of any new enterprise that may present themselves—and go after those that don't show up!

The extension of the railroad south and west from Newcastle will form the most important link in the system that is to connect Graham, and the South Bend and Breckenridge oil fields with the refineries and distribution facilities at Wichita Falls, traversing, as the line will, the Newcastle pool enroute. This will mean much to the city of Newcastle, now the southern terminus of the line. It was the enterprise and pluck of the builders of this railroad that gave Newcastle a direct outlet for the coal of its mines and the product of Young county's thousands of acres to Wichita Falls and the connecting roads centering there. And now the extension of this railroad southwest from Newcastle will open up a much broader commercial market for the mine output than ever before.

BEGIN WORK ON COLORADO RIVER IRRIGATION PROJECT

BALLINGER, TEXAS, April 21.—Work has been commenced by a crew of federal and state engineers on the proposed irrigation project in the Colorado river valley which will mean, upon completion, the development of a vast area of rich land for agricultural purposes.

Through the activity of the West Texas chamber of commerce, at the request of the local Y. M. B. L., the state board of water engineers was not abolished as has been proposed and as a result of this work on the part of these organizations, surveys are now being made.

According to Mayor Guin, president of the Colorado Valley Irrigation association, two crews of surveyors are now on the job. One crew of the state engineers is working near Sweetwater taking sea levels, and the other, a crew of federal engineers, is working near Bronte on the dam and reservoir levels.

This preliminary survey is being made by the state and federal government and if the report of the engineers show that the project is feasible an irrigation district will be created and bonds issued to cover the cost of the work.

FIDDLER WELL SHOWING GOOD FOR A GAS SAND

DUNCAN, OKLA., April 21.—The Fiddler well of Danciger Brothers has apparently discovered an oil and gas sand at 2800 feet and redeemed the reputation of section 36-1n-9. The well was baling Tuesday. Good showings have been reported, with at least a gas well apparently assured.

Baling has been resumed on the Parsons & Gant 2800-foot test in 29-1n-8. It is reported that the baler is half filled with oil every time it comes up. Considerable excitement attends the testing of this sand, and large crowds are watching its progress.

The Magnolia Petroleum company has closed a contract to drill a 2600-foot test on the southwest of the southwest of 12-2s-8, Branch farm. The test is a mile north of the Magnolia well just completed in section 13.

The Drew & Wallace well in the northeast of section 34-1s-8 tapped the sand at 1953 feet and is in the sand 18 inches. It is reported to be showing for a 500 barrel well.

Adventure of the Dying Detective

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story so far:

Mrs. Hudson, the landlady of Sherlock Holmes, went one day for help to Dr. Watson, saying Sherlock Holmes was dying. For three days he had been sinking. He would have no doctor, but finally agreed to see Watson. When Watson reached him he was in a very bad way, but would not let Watson touch him. He said he was suffering from a strange ecolie disease from Sumatra, about which London doctors knew nothing. Holmes condemned Watson's limited knowledge.

Dr. Watson was hurt. Seeing this, Holmes assured him that he only meant that Watson knew nothing of the obscure Eastern disease from which he suffered which he had caught while working among some coolies at the docks. When Watson insisted he would call a doctor, Holmes sprang to the door and locked it. He staggered back to bed, saying that at the end of two hours, at six o'clock he would let Watson go for help. Watson, while walking about, picked uy a small black and white ivory box. Holmes gave a dreadful cry to Watson to put it down. He seemed feverish and delirious. At six he asked him to go fetch Mr. Culverson Smith, who knew about the treatment of the disease, but to return ahead of him.

Watson left with instructions to tell Mr. Smith just what he saw—Sherlock Holmes a dying man. Holmes wandered as he talked, but finally Watson left him. Below, he met Mr. Morton of Scotland yard, who inquired for Holmes. He then went to Mr. Smith's. The servant announced, but Smith wouldn't let him in. Watson, however, pushed back the servant and entered the room and found himself confronting a man with an enromous skull, a yellow, course-grained face, and a frail, twisted body.

PART FOUR.

"What's this?" he cried in a high, screaming voice. "What is the meaning of this intrusion? Didn't I send you word that I would see you tomorrow morning?"

"I am sorry," said I, "but the matter cannot be delayed. Mr. Sherlock Holmes—"

The mention of my friend's name had an extraordinary effect upon the little man. The look of anger passed in an instant from his face. His features became tense and alert.

"Have you come from Holmes?" he asked.

"I have just left him."

"What about Holmes? How is he?"

"He is desperately ill. That is why I have come."

The man motioned me to a chair and turned to resume his own. As he did so I caught a glimpse of his face in the mirror over the mantelpiece. I could have sworn that it was set in a malicious and abominable smile. Yet I persuaded myself that it must have been some nervous contraction which I had surprised, for he turned to me an instant later with genuine concern upon his features.

"I am sorry to hear this," said he. "I only know Mr. Holmes through some business dealings which we have had, but I have every respect for his talents and his character. He is an amateur of crime, as I am of disease. For him the villain, for me the microbe. There are my prisons," he continued, pointing to a row of bottles and jars which stood upon a side table. "Among those gelatin cultures some of the very worst offenders in the world are now doing time."

"It was on account of your special knowledge that Mr. Holmes desired to see you. He has a high opinion of you and thought that you were the only man in London who could help him."

The little man started, and the jaunty smoking-cap slid to the floor.

"Why?" he asked. "Why should Mr. Holmes think that I could help him in his trouble?"

"Because of your knowledge of Eastern diseases."

"But why should he think that this disease which he has contracted is Eastern?"

"Because, in some professional inquiry, he has been working among Chinese sailors down in the docks."

Mr. Culverton Smith smiled pleasantly and picked up his smoking-cap.

"Oh, that's it, is it?" said he. "I trust the matter is not so grave as you suppose. How long has he been ill?"

"About three days."

"Is he delirious?"

"Occasionally."

"Tut, tut! This sounds serious. It would be inhuman not to answer his call. I very much resent any interruption to my work, Dr. Watson, but this case is certainly exceptional. I will come with you at once."

I remembered Holmes' injunction.

"I have another appointment," said I.

"Very good! I will go alone. I have a note of Mr. Holmes' address. You can rely upon my being there within half an hour at most."

It was with a sinking heart that I reentered Holmes' bedroom. For all that I knew, the worst might have happened in my absence. To my enormous relief he had improved greatly in the interval. His appearance was as ghastly as ever, but all trace of delirium had left him, and he spoke in a feeble voice, it is true, but with even more than his usual crispness and lucidity.

"Well, did you see him, Watson?"

"Yes, he is coming."

"Admirable, Watson. Admirable! You are the best of messengers."

"He wished to return with me."

"That would never do, Watson. That would be obviously impossible. Did he ask what ailed me?"

"I told him about the Chinese in the East End."

"Exactly! Well, Watson, you have done all that a good friend could. You can now disappear from the scene."

"I must wait and hear his opinion, Holmes."

"Of course you must. But I have reasons to suppose that this opinion would be very much more frank and valuable if he imagines that we are alone. There is just room behind the head of my bed, Watson."

"My dear Holmes!"

"I fear there is no alternative, Watson. The room does not lend itself to concealment, which is as well, as it is the less likely to arouse suspicion. But just there, Watson, I fancy that it could be done." Suddenly he sat up with a rigid intentness upon his haggard face. "There are the wheels, Watson. Quick, man, if you love me! And don't budge whatever happens—whatever happens, do you hear? Don't speak! Don't move! Just listen with all your ears." Then in an instant his sudden access of strength departed and his masterful, purposeful talk droned away into the low, vague murmurings of a semidelirious man.

From the hiding place into which I had been so swiftly hustled I heard the footfalls upon the stair, with the opening and the closing of the bedroom door. Then, to my surprise, there came a long silence, broken only by the heavy breathing and gaspings of the sick man. I could imagine that our visitor was standing by the bedside and looking down at the suffer. At last that strange hush was broken.

"Holmes!" he cried. "Holmes!" In the insistent tone of one who awakens a sleeper. "Can't you hear me, Holmes!" There was a rustling as if he had shaken the sick man roughly by the shoulder.

"Is that you, Mr. Smith?" Holmes whispered. "I hardly dared hope that you would come."

The other laughed.

"I should imagine not," he said. "And yet, you see, I am here. Coals of fire, Holmes—coals of fire!"

OIL IS BAILED FROM THE WILBARGER TRIANGLE WELL

VERNON, TEXAS, April 21.—The Triangle well south of Vernon is as yet an unknown quantity. Drillers finished bailing the hole late yesterday after drilling four or five feet into the sand. A goodly quantity of oil was brought up with the water bailed from the hole, and there was a slight gas showing. The bailer will be run down again Thursday morning to determine whether or not any oil has settled in the hole over night.

Officials of the company are still optimistic in spite of the none too favorable showing thus far. There is a strong possibility, they say, that it will be necessary to drill still deeper into the sand in order to stimulate a flow of the liquid. The entire proceedings are being handled with the utmost care in order to insure against ruining the hole.

Much interest is being manifested on the part of county residents and the road to the well was lined with cars Wednesday. Much stock in the Triangle is held locally.

VERNON MASONS PLAN TO ERECT A NEW TEMPLE

VERNON, TEXAS, April 21.—Masons in Vernon have under consideration the construction of an elegant temple here to be erected on the site of the present structure owned by the blue lodge, chapter, and commandery. Plans have taken no definite form and as yet the matter is merely under discussion among various members, but sentiment thus far has been strongly in favor of a new Masonic home.

In the three Masonic orders there are between 700 and 800 members, and the proposition as outlined deals with the selling of stock to each man. Those belonging to the Eastern Star would also serve to swell this number and aid in the enterprise. There is the possibility, also, that the funds may be borrowed from other lodges if advantageous terms may be obtained. The matter of a new Masonic temple has been discussed since before the war, but the almost prohibitive cost of materials checked all movements to place plans into effect. There is small possibility that any action along this line will take place before the first of next year.

RESUME WORK ON THE PENN-BURK NEAR VERNON

VERNON, TEXAS, April 21.—Work on the Penn-Burk well west of Vernon was resumed yesterday. The hole is now 1,600 feet deep and drilling has been suspended for several months. Progress has been waiting on the arrival of a cable from Amarillo. A standard rig is being used on the Penn-Burk well. A majority of the stock in this enterprise is owned by eastern interests.

Spudder Sluggers Keep Up Terrific Clouting And Win From Gassers

By PAUL W. LARKIN

Skipper Walter Salm yesterday picked a hurler who was able to keep his opponents from scoring a flock of runs in more than one chapter and the Spudders evened up their series with the Gassers by the overwhelming count of 13 to 5. Clarence Darrough went the entire route for the first time this season and after a poor start finished the matinee in his 1920 form. It looked for a short while as if the "Midget" was doomed for another drubbing such as he had received a few days ago. The visitors hopped on him in the opening frame for four counters, but he tightened up in the next inning and had things his own way for the rest of the performance.

Nothing daunted by the four-run lead spotted the enemy, the Salmites went after Bird, Billy Smith's first selection for mound duty, and kept up the terrific clouting which has been the feature of their work all season. Bird was lambasted right and left and was finally yanked from the scene of battle in the fifth inning. After him came Bennett, who also had to bear some of the brunt of the walloping activity. The Spudders made sixteen hits off the two Gasser slabsters, and the blows were the kind that bounced off their bats with a whang.

Tex McDonald and "Froggy" Rothfuss led with the bludgeon, each manufacturing three safeties, but there was not one Spudder who failed to hit safely at least once. Rothfuss also turned in the fielding features of the day, and strangely enough Vann gave him both opportunities. "Froggy" ran back to the barrier once and picked one of Vann's clouts off it, and chased another one of his drives into center and speared it.

Visitors Open Strong.

The Gassers started as though they had malign intentions against Darrough, but became quiescent after the initial canto. Storey stopped one of "Midget's" hooks with his ribs and ambled to first. He rambled to second on Massey's perfect suicide. Ewoldt slapped one to center for one bag, but made it two when Miller made a vain attempt to get Storey coming home. Darrough stepped into the relay and the agate caromed off his mitt and Ewoldt kept on to third, scoring a moment later when Clarence uncorked a wild pitch. Jackson whiffed the ozone for the second out. Eibel pasted a one-bagger to right and went to third when Holohan doubled to center. Jake Miller made a valiant effort to get it, but couldn't quite reach it. The runners remained at their stations only long enough for Hartford to officiate at the bat. This youngster wasted few moments on ceremony and whacked one to left that scored the runners. He died stealing a moment later.

The Spudders made two in their portion of the first, but this was but an earnest of their full intentions. Rothfuss made Bird pitch and finally drew a pass. After Tanner had popped to Holohan, McDonald, Clark and Miller pounded out hard singles and the two runs were in.

However, Mr. Salm and his merry men were only temporarily halted. Nothing happened worthy of note on either side in the second, and Jackson's triple for the visitors in the third was wasted as two were away at the time and Eibel followed with a weak tap to Works. The locals drew up on even terms with their rivals in the third, a hit batsman, sacrifice, double and triple figuring in the deal. McDonald was hit and went to second on Clark's sacrifice. McElwee sent one past Holohan that had the Gasser keystone guardian uncertain until it had passed him as to whether he had been shot or not. He could hear the "ping" of it, and that was about all. The ball glanced off his glove into center field and was good for two bases. Works belted one on the nose and socked over Storey's head in deep center for three bags, the first triple made by a Spudder this year. The boys then halted for another brief spell.

Deluge in Fifth.

It was in the fifth that the deluge came. It all happened after two were out, Miller drawing a pass, advancing on McElwee's suicide and staying there while Works fanned. Then the festivities were considered open. A couple of passes together with some terrible lambasting administered to Bird did the damage.

Bischoff waited for four wide ones to pass. Bird gave him his ticket to first purposely in order to work on Darrough. He soon regretted his stunt, however, when "Midget" dropped a Texas leaguer in center that enabled Miller to sign the home register with the run that broke the tie. Rothfuss continued to look 'em over and he, too, ambled on four wide ones. Buddy Tanner had the game in his hands and was in his usual form when he toed the dish. He singled wickedly over second and chased two more runners to the bench. Billy Smith came to the conclusion at this moment that enough was enough and Bird was excused for the afternoon. He wiped a moist brow and sighed a sigh of relief when Billy said the word. Bennett took up the ungrateful task. Tex McDonald greeted him warmly with a slashing single to center that cleared the bags, but ended the frame when he was caught stealing.

It didn't matter a great deal what happened thereafter, but as a matter of mere record most of the things that actually did happen were on the credit side of Wichita Falls' ledger. They brought their total up to 11 in the sixth on Clark's single, Miller's sacrifice, McElwee's Texas leaguer to center and Bischoff's double which bounced off the left field barrier.

Another in the Seventh.

One more marker oozed across in the seventh. Rothfuss poked his third single of the day to center and Tanner drew a comp. McDonald forced "Froggy" at third and then he and Tanner pulled a successful double steal. Vann heaved the pill to left field trying to get Buddy and he scampered home with the twelfth.

Storey's double to left followed immediately after by Massey's crash to center gave the visitors their fifth and last run in the eighth, while the Spudders put the finishing touches to the Gasser debacle in the same period. They weren't content with humiliating the visitors, but had to rub it in by adding one more to their already large total.

Two men were away when Bischoff rolled one down the third base line. He had the ball beaten by a mile, but Ewoldt made Eibel chase his peg to the club house while "Smiler" scooted to third, tallying a few seconds later when Hartford kicked Darrough's bounder.

The visitors got a couple of men on in the ninth on a wide throw by Tanner and a single by Vann, but nothing came of it excepting a few quavers in the bosom of the futilely exhorting Robbie.

DADDY WEFERS TEACHING SONNY WEFERS HOW TO START SPRINT

It is not very often that an athlete who had reached the height of his form a quarter of a century before is represented in his field by a son equally as good. But that is just the case with Bernie Wefers Sr. and son, Bernie Jr. Twenty-five years ago Bernie Sr. was the world's greatest sprinter. He held records galore, including the world's mark for 220 yards, which stood the onslaughts of the world's greatest throughout the years until a few days ago Charley Paddock, the coast star, was credited with smashing it. Today Bernie Jr. is ranked with the best sprinters of the country. Under his father's experienced eye he is fast acquiring the speed and fine points of the game that made his dad famous. At present young Bernie holds many titles, but the question uppermost in the minds of American enthusiasts is "Can Bernie Jr. regain the laurels which his dad held so many years." Before the summer passes this question should be answered. For undoubtedly Young Wefers will meet Paddock in a race at the 220 yard distance.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—George Sisler, American league batting champion:

"Dempsey will win. Carpentier is a clever boxer, but he lacks the physique. Dempsey is rugged and a powerful hitter. He's fast and his blows carry more weight. COLD WEATHER HURTS BIG LEAGUE HURLERS

Majority Of Slab Artists Waiting For Hot Days To Round Into Form.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Due to the wide assortment in the weather man's reports, the major leagues have had a tough time getting away and some of the clubs with old blood are back almost where they were before they went south.

In the first week of the 1921 season the Pirates, the Robins, the Reds, the Braves and the Senators were the only ones to get in seven games. The White Sox and the Tigers were able to labor only six.

Brooklyn is perched next to the last hole in the National league because the chilly weather has put all the pitchers on the ineffective list.

Miller Huggins has his Yankees on top of the American league pile, but he's there chiefly because Carl Mays is in form. Shawkey and Hoyt, two of his reliables are waiting for the hot weather.

Several days of hot sun would also help the veterans pitchers of the Giants. McGraw is holding the front line, but he will have to get better pitching to keep back the Pirates who have a trio of hurlers working in midseason form.

Along with his fragile infield, Tris Speaker is also having pitching troubles. Coveleskie and Bagby are not in form and Mails, expected to be a big winner, is having trouble getting started.

Connie Mack is also having pitching troubles. George McBride, however, probably will wish the affliction to become permanent on Mack because the Senators copped the series from the Athletics and are holding forth in second place.

Texas Co., 11; Texhomas, 3.

The Texas Company handed the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company a decisive lacing yesterday afternoon to the tune of 11 to 3. Sandusky worked in the box for the winners and kept his half dozen hits well scattered, refusing to allow his opponents to cross the plate until his club had a comfortable lead. Incidentally, he forced an even dozen hitters to fan the breezes. Basham, Davis and Sandifer carried off the clouting honors. Basham connected for a single, double and triple, Davis four singles and Sandifer a triple and two singles. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Texas Co. .....151 002 020—	11	16	3
Tezhomas .....000 002 010—	3	6	1

Batteries—Sandusky and Davis; Beasley, Dixon and Wright.

City National, 11; Telephone, 5.

The City Nationals won an easy victory from the Telephone Company yesterday, 11 to 5. A high wind bothered the outfielders and many hits that would have ordinarily been outs went for extra base clouts. Wilson's hitting for the winners was the feature. The Telephone crew looked better than it did in the opening game and is rapidly rounding into shape. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
City National .....220 421 x—	11	13	7
Telephone .....012 002 0—	5	9	9

Batteries—Hamilton and Womack; Riggs and Lindsey.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W. Larkin

For the benefit of the misinformed public, we wish to call attention to the fact that Spudders, as a club, are walloping the old apple at a .335 clip, instead of .202 as was stated in another paper today. It's pretty hard to see how a team that has pounded out no less than nine hits in any one game could be hovering around the .200 mark.

We also noted today that "Tanner and Clark must be running a race to see who can make the most errors." We think it would be far more fitting to state that these two boys are running a race to see who can cut off the most base hits. You won't find two harder working players on any club in the country than Buddy and Danny, and if they kick 'em once in a while, why call attention to that fact,

"Smiler" Bischoff looked good behind the plate yesterday. He's been kept on the bench since the opening of the season in order to study the opposing batsmen. The players in this loop are new to him, but it won't take him long to learn their weaknesses. He made his presence felt with the club, too.

How those Spudders can whale that pill! With Works coming through daily with his poke the Salmites haven't a man on the roster who isn't apt to step to the pan and break up a ball game any old time. Even Clarence Darrough came through with a timely poke yesterday. Maybe Bird will know better than to pass Bischoff to get at him next time. A hurler who can't win with that sort of batting behind him is in a terrible fix.

The tensest moment in yesterday's game was when Buddy came to the plate with the bags crowded to suffocation. He worked Bird into a tight and when the count got to be 3 and 2 the band struck up "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here. Two men were away at the time and a blow was all that was needed to put the contest on ice. The runners started with the pitch and Buddy socked it over second for the much desired blow. Incidentally, it was this blow that sent Bird to cover.

The visiting band put a lot of "pep" in the fans and the selections played were most appropriate. They cut loose with everything from a funeral dirge to "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." They played 'em at the right time, too.

The Spudder skipper received a letter from Johnny Mokan in which the latter stated that this newcomer, Hollingsworth, is all to the merry. Johnny stated that the young hurler was going better than ever and that several clubs were after him. Hope he can show as much in his line as Rothfuss has shown in his. "Froggy" looks better every day, and he never did look anything but good.

Tex McDonald has recovered his batting eye and should start making life miserable for the opposing twirlers from now on. When he does start cracking 'em, look out. He is just as apt to cripple a few infielders as not. He sure smites 'em when he's right.

If the clubs that won yesterday can repeat for a couple of days, the race will tighten up considerably. Both the leaders were stopped.

Ty Cobb said before the season started that his club would chase Mailes to the showers whenever he opposed them. He made his threat good by driving him off the mound yesterday. Wonder if the Duster's "rabbit ears" were the cause of his downfall?

Both New York clubs are running true to predictions to date and have dropped only one game each. It will be quite a shock to the fans throughout the country if at least half of the world series games are not staged in Gotham this fall.

GALVESTON PARK NO PLACE FOR THE ABUSIVE ROOTERS

GALVESTON, TEXAS, April 21.—Abusive rooters will be ejected from Gulfview park here, according to an announcement by N. E. Leopold, president of the Galveston club of the Texas league. The new owners of the Sandcrabs declared that he intended to protect both his players and visiting athletes from personal abuses by fans.

Fair cheering and boosting of either team, Mr. Leopold said, will not be hampered.

The "no gambling" rule also will be strictly enforced in the island city, according to Mr. Leopold, who added that he believed the season of 1921 would be a crucial one in baseball and that it behooved all persons interested in the game to throw their influence for the traditional cleanliness of the sport.

MAJOR LEAGUE BITS

Yesterday's hero: Babe Ruth. The Bambino smacked a home run in the seventh inning—his second of the season. The Yanks beat the Red Sox, 8 to 4. Meusel also clouted a homer.

George Smith, Philly pitcher, hit Miller in the ribs with the bases full, forcing in the tying score. Brooklyn won in the ninth, 4 to 2, on Koney's single.

Rixey, Red pitcher, won his own game from the Cardinals, 5 to 2, with a single in the ninth.

Duster Mails was dusted by Detroit, and Cleveland lost, 9 to 6.

The Pirates scored four runs in the sixth, giving them a 6 to 5 win over the Cubs.

Three runs in the ninth gave the Giants a 9 to 5 victory over the Braves after Nehf had been knocked out of the box.

The Athletics started with a four run lead, but the Senators pooled three Mack pitchers in the late innings and won, 6 to 4, making a clean sweep of the series.

HUNTER AND BOWER TO MEET IN FINALS

Second Flight Winner In Golf Tourney Will Be Decided This Week.

Scott Bower earned the right to meet T. Hunter in the finals for the Art cup, second flight, Wednesday afternoon when he defeated C. O. Davis one up in 19 holes. The finals will probably be played late this week.

Wednesday was an off day, not exactly, for Tom Cochran, who has resumed playing after being laid up with a bad foot. He made the 18 holes in 72, scoring 14 fours, 3 fives and 2 threes. He and Golding will shortly play their long-delayed first flight match to determine which goes into the semi-finals. Tom has to give his opponent 12 strokes on the 18 holes.

Annual State Meet In Austin to Have 864 Contestants

AUSTIN, April 21.—District elimination contests in progress in Texas will result in 864 recognized contestants coming to Austin for the annual state meet of the University Interscholastic league to be held on May 5, 6 and 7, according to Dr. E. D. Shurter, director of the league.

There also will come to the state meet 128 debaters and 250 contestants in the high school and rural school divisions in declamation. In addition to the student delegates will be about 250 teachers representing as many schools, who are included in the list of official delegates.

The state meet is the culmination of a series of local, county and district contests which have been participated in by 4,216 schools. For the purpose of the contests, the league has 175 counties regularly organized with six officers in each county and the counties are grouped into 22 districts.

It has been necessary this year to limit the number of contestants who may enter the track meet. The track and field contestants are determined by the results of district eliminations, as in the literary events. Previously all schools desiring to do so could send a track team consisting of not more than eight men, but this year only those qualified as a result of the district meets will participate in the state meet.

BIG TIME IN SAPULPA WHEN TEAM OPENS SEASON

SAPULPA, OKLA., April 21.—With Manager Jerry Jones and his Sapulpa Southwestern league Rajahs in Bartlesville, where they open the new league's season this afternoon, plans were well under way here for a big celebration when the team returns to open on the home lot next Wednesday. All available space at the new league park has been sold and officials are considering the erection of additions to stands. Mayor J. Wade Boone has indicated that he will issue a proclamation declaring a half-holiday on the opening day here. All banks have announced that they will close for that afternoon and stores are expected to follow suit.

The Rajahs go from Bartlesville to Muskogee to face Manager Bobby Wallace's Mets for the last half of the six-day jaunt abroad. They open here with the Bartlesville Braves again their opponents.

CONSTABLES STAND GUARD TO STOP BETTING IN DALLAS

DALLAS, April 21.—With constables standing guard, gambling at Texas league baseball games here was under a strict ban today.

Two deputies patrolled the grounds to prohibit betting yesterday after authorities were informed that betting on games was taking place in wagers of $100 or more.

"Ninety per cent of such bets are crooked. I understand higher ups get a rake-off," said Constable Harry Guggenheim. The constable declared he is investigating a report that there are places in Dallas where bets on the outcome of ball games as high as $1,000 are quickly covered.

He set another mark when he won the 20-mile race in 14:01 3-4, breaking the previous record for this distance by 4:07 2-5.

Ira Vail, in a Duesenberg special, won the 50-mile race in 35:40 1-5, finishing 2 1-4 miles ahead of Treed, his closest trailer.

WILL NOT RECEIVE PART OF THE FIELD MILLIONS

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 21.—"Tony" Marsh, the son of Peggy Marsh and Henry Field, will not receive a portion of the Field millions, by a decision of the Illinois supreme court today. The case was appealed from the superior court of Cook county.

The case hinged upon interpretation of the terms "issue" and "lawful issue" in the will of Marshall Field, founder of the Field estate. The will drawn in 1904 prescribes that his estate shall be divided between his grandsons, Marshall Field III and Henry Field, and granddaughter, Gwendolyn Field, or other "issues," as the term occurs in the tenth paragraph of the will or "lawful issue," as the term occurs in the ninth paragraph.

"The use of the word 'lawful' does not restrict or extend the construction of the term 'issue' in the absence of the specific and plain language of the will showing that the testator intended to make such a difference in construction," the opinion of the court reads.

The court also held that if it was the express intention of the testator to provide for "illegitimate unborn," the will would be illegal and void.

PLANNING FOR RELIEF OF ALABAMA MINERS

Estimate That Forty Thousand People Are In Destitute Circumstances.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., April 21.—Relief organizations throughout the south were rushing plans today to aid the thousands of men, women and children who are destitute in the Alabama coal fields, following an unsuccessful strike. Estimates of the destitute range as high as $40,000.

Governor Kilby, to whom the Salvation Army and other charitable institutions appealed, was expected to announce plans for systematic relief work.

Brigadier Simonson, commander of the "Dixie division" of the Salvation Army, estimated that 18,000 persons are facing starvation and that several thousand of these are already "absolutely destitute." Union leaders declare that at least 40,000 persons are affected, but the operators maintain this figure is too large.

According to the operators, lack of demand for coal makes it impossible for them to provide work for the miners, who struck several months ago but called off their strike February 22, through an arbitration agreement with settlement of the issues in the hands of the governor. The latter decided against the miners on every point.

Live in Tent Colonies.

Defeated in the strike, their union food and clothing rations discontinued, and reemployment denied them, most of the mipers and their families are living in tent colonies, having been turned out of company owned houses. Until April 9 they were furnished regular benefits by the United Mine Workers of America. Then the union ceased this provision on the ground that the strike had been officially ended several weeks previously.

"I am informed that thousands of miners and their families have become absolutely destitute since their benefits were cut off," Simonson said.

"We are already supporting some families, although no work on a large scale has yet been done. We have asked the governor to suggest how we can best assist and are ready to cooperate in any way he desires to the full extent of our ability."

In his letter to the governor, Simonson said:

"In the coal districts, there is already the appearance of destitution. Poverty stalks, and no one can foretell at this time just what effort will be required to avert serious suffering. These coal miners who are facing starvation could easily become dangerous to the peace and welfare of the community.

"Dr. Walter S. Brown, head of the city's department of relief, has issued a call for funds with which to meet appeals for aid.

"We are being deluged with appeals from miners who have come to Birmingham."

ALLEGED UNFAIRNESS OF GOVERNOR IS BLAMED

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—Alleged "unfairness" of Governor Kilby and the citizens of Alabama was blamed for the destitute condition of thousands of unsuccessful strikers and their families in the Alabama coal fields by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, in an interview here today.

Lewis denied reports that the United Mine Workers of America had abandoned 40,000 miners, wives and children to starvation and destitution.

Approximately $50,000 a week, Lewis declared, had been sent to the suffering miners since the unsuccessful culmination of the strike on February 22, 1921. The national miners' organization has sent $1,600,000 for the relief of the miners since the beginning of the strike on September 7, he said.

"Our organization will immediately be forced to materially decrease the Alabama relief appropriation," Lewis declared. "The problem of starvation will have to be faced by Governor Kilby and fair-minded citizens of Alabama who denied every request of the striking miners and miserably failed to give them other employment."

"The decision of Governor Kilby was the most unfair verdict ever rendered a labor dispute. It was so evidently biased that the arbiter put no semblence of fairness in the dispute. I doubt if the most partisan coal operator in the state could persuade his conscience to make such a decision."

Lewis declared that the United Mine Workers of America has been feeding more than 45,000 persons in Alabama since last September. Of this number, he said, 12,000 are striking miners, 9,000 women and the rest dependent children.

"Alabama coal operators could reemploy thousands upon thousands of the starving miners," Lewis continued. "Operators are hiding behind the pretense of industrial depression and slack demand of coal. The coal operators do not see fit to hire their former employes and are taking this method of persecuting them.

"It is known to us that the operators prefer to exploit the cheap, ignorant negro laborer from the agricultural sections of the south. The mines have been filled with cotton field negroes under white overseers. Negroes are being utilized to the exclusion of the suffering mine workers, now facing starvation. Such actions always cause trouble, when men, women and children are facing starvation."

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE ALSACE-LORRAINE IS DEAD

STRASSBOURG, April 20. — Baron Zorn von Bulach, former secretary of state for Alsace-Lorraine, died today of apoplexy.

Baron Zorn von Bulach held the post of secretary of state in 1913 at the time of the famous Zabern affair, which began with Lieutenant Baron von Forstner's ridicule of the Alsatins, and was followed by an outbreak several weeks later when the lieutenant cut down a lame shoemaker with his sabre.

In 1918, a Paris newspaper said Baron von Bulach had been invited to leave Strausberk and that he would retire to his estate in Baden. He had resigned his post as secretary in 1919.

BIG BILL HAYWOOD LEAVES THE U. S.

faith, it will hurt the chances of amnesty of every political prisoner in the United States."

VESSEL DID NOT CARRY THE NAME OF "BILL" HAYWOOD

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Oscar II, upon which "Big Bill" Haywood fled from this country, did not carry the name of the I. W. W. leader on its passenger list, it was learned from officials of the Scandinavian-American line here today.

For that reason, it was believed, Haywood sailed under an assumed name—and possibly in disguise.

"Haywood's name was not on the first or second-class passenger list of the Oscar II, which left New York on March 31, and arrived in Stockholm on April 12.5 6it was stated at the company's offices.

"It would be difficult to check up on the steerage list, but anyone as well known as Haywood could not have sailed on the steamer in any way unless he was disguised. From what I have heard of Haywood, he thinks too much of the comforts of life to travel anyway except first class."

Haywood was seen here as late as the last week in March. Then he disappeared and was reported to have gone to Erie, Pa.

Friends of Haywood here said they understood that he has arrived in Moscow as one of seven American delegates to the Moscow Trades Union Internationale, which opens there on July 1.

In the original resolution, the situation with Germany was dealt with at length, while that with Austria was covered in a brief paragraph.

Senator Knox was delegated to revise and expand the section dealing with Austria.

RATHER ROUGH WAY TO TREAT A LADY

When this lady goes travelling no one presents bouquets, assists her up the gangplank, nor offers to cary her baggage. But she had the distinction of having the use of a special elevator. The first elephants ever shipped from the United States are now enrute to Europe aboard the steamship New Rochelle, which sailed from New York for Hamburg. The vessel carried fourteen tons of elephant in "four packages." They are consigned to the famous Hagenbecks in Hamburg where they will be used for breeding purposes. For the first time in circus history there are very few breeding elephants abroad, the stock in Europe having been depleted during the war. The photo shows "Queenie" being hoisted aboard the New Rochelle by means of a specially constructed cradle.

PRESIDENT WANTS ACTION TO FOLLOW RESOLUTIONS

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Harding is "not very happy in just getting resolutions; when he wants is action," Grigadier General Sawyer, the executive's personal physician, declared today before a senate committee considering Senator Kenyon's bill to establish a bureau of public welfare.

"In conversation with the president this morning," said the general, "he said that the essential thing was to draft this legislation and get it up. It is not our concern to contemplate anything but this department and bring about legislation which would make it existent."

The general urged several amendments. All bureaus created to assist disabled war veterans should go to the welfare department, he said, as well as the pension and war risk bureaus.

"We shall be affected by the question of caring for the soldiers during the next two generations," he said.

GULF REFINING CO. LOSES HEAVILY IN A FIRE AT BONHAM

DALLAS, April 21.—Rain was reported general over most parts of Texas by the weather bureau today.

Two inches or more fell here this morning and a sudden rise in the Trinity river was expected.

Some damage from the storm was reported. At Bonham, Texas, lightning struck a light wire at 8:30 o'clock, jumping to the office of the Gulf Refining company where 27,000 gallons of gasoline was stored. The fire destroyed about half of the gasoline and a small adjoining dwelling before it was checked by the fire department, aided by the heavy rain.

High wind near Brueeville, 18 miles south of Waco, blew down a derrick of the Verdi Oil company and unroofed several small houses. One bunk house was blown on top of an automobile where several members of a drilling crew had taken refuge. The car was almost demolished, but the occupants escaped unhurt.

Says George Harvey Is a Self-Appointed Political Accident

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, charged today in the senate that the appointment of George Harvey by President Harding as ambassador to Great Britain was "a reward for his efforts" to discredit the Wilson administration.

The Mississippi senator said Mr. Harvey's pursuit of Wilson through his journals and otherwise are only comparable to Milton's "hell hounds that were stationed at the gates of the infernal regions." He added that the ambassador had "no equal as a creator of prejudice and a stirrer of strife," and that he was "a vindictive, self-anointed, intolerant political accident."

Senator Harrison said he feared Col. Harvey's arrival in London would cause Great Britain and other nations to believe that "he will use whatever influence he may possess and the power of his position in attempts to destroy the league of nations."

Block Public Hearing.

Declaring that his attempt to obtain the consideration of Colonel Harvey's nomination in open session of the senate had been blocked, Senator Harrison said the nomination was "of such peculiar making and such potential import that the country has a right to know the underlying facts that prompted the nomination and the influence that brought about its confirmation."

"Few men in the history of Journalism," he said, "have possessed to a more remarkable degree, qualities of genius for violent expression, caustic criticism and the power through fair or foul means to employ cogent phrases intended to appeal to prejudice and to arouse hatred and resentment. He is a remarkable man in that during his whole life he never remained true to any purpose, loyal to any friend, or steadfast to any conviction. He is wedded to no principle and bound by no conscience. He is a writer of the most cunning and dangerous species and a past master in fomenting troubles and aggravating delicate situations. He has been constant in only one thing, his life's ambition to get political preferment.

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Business in the cotton market continued quet, but the tone was steady at the start today and, after opening unchanged to three points higher, active months sold some four to seven points above yesterday's closing. This was in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and scattered covering, while local brokers reported some fresh commission house buying of new crop months on the unfavorable weekly weather report of yesterday. There was some southern selling and spot houses sold May, but May contracts were purchased against sales of July at a difference of 60 to 64 points. May fluctuated between 11.92c and 11.96c and July 12.55c to 12.60c during the early session.

The eastern belt forecast for showers was considered unfavorable as warm dry weather is believed to be needed, and probably contributed to the steady undertone of the market. Otherwise, there was no special news or trading feature and business was very quiet later with July ruling around 12.50 at mid-day or about four points net lower and ten points off from the best under realizing.

The market was easier during the early afternoon under Wall street and local selling with July easing off to 12.43, or about nine points net lower.

The market closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—After advances of three to five points around the opening today, the cotton market softened and fell to levels four to seven points under the close of yesterday. May traded up to 11.65c and fell back to 11.55c. Unfavorable weather conditions gave the market what little steadiness it had. The recession appeared to be due to unfavorable cables and to disappointment over the lack of any progress toward settlement of the coal strike in England.

Reports of very heavy rains in the western belt gave the market a better tone and stimulated a small demand. At 11 o'clock prices were 1 to 2 points under the finals of yesterday with May at 11.61.

Reports that the striking coal miners in England had declared they would stick to their strike until they were starved out were accepted as highly unfavorable and a new selling movement started. At 1:30 o'clock prices were 12 to 22 points under the last quotations of yesterday with May down to 11.40c.

The market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 11 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Breaks and bulges followed each other rapidly in the wheat market today. Sellers based their operations on skepticism as to any real damage to domestic crops, and on bearish views of the industrial situation. Bulls contended that prices were already too low as to be attractive to importing countries and to investors. Opening prices were unchanged to 1c higher, with May $1.25 to $1.26 and July $1.05¼ to $1.05¾, and with ensuing changes covering a range of about 2¢c.

Toward the last, the market advanced owing more or less to signs of export business. The close was firm, 1c to 2c net higher with May $1.27¼ to $1.27¾ and July $1.06¼ to $1.06¾.

Corn, after opening ¼c to 1c lower, including July at 61¾c to 61¼c, receded a little more and then showed something of a rally.

The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼c lower with July 61¼c.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c lower, July 38½c to 39¼c and then underwent a moderate general sag before beginning to react.

Provisions went lower with hogs.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, April 21.—A ten-point advance in Delaware, Lackawanna & Western shares, based on the announcement that the interstate commerce commission has authorized a $45,000,000 stock dividend, was the outstanding feature at the opening of today's stock market. Manhattan Elevated recovered part of yesterday's severe loss on denial of reports that its lease with Interborough is to be abrogated. In the industrial division, however, declines were the rule, especially among steels and equipments. Crucible, Lackawanna and Republic Steels, Royal Dutch and American Sugar soon reacted 1 to 2 points. Standard Oil of New Jersey forfeited five points of its recent substantial rise.

Aside from Studebaker, which was strong, the usual leaders, were neglected during the dull mid-session. Oils remained in the foreground, high-grade shares reacting under lead of General Asphalt while some of junior issues enhanced their early gains.

ROGER BACON LIVED 700 YEARS AHEAD OF HIS TIME SCIENTISTS NOW DECLARE

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Roger Bacon, Franciscan monk, lived nearly 700 years ahead of his time, according to Philadelphia scientists today. They were convinced that Prof. William B. Newbold of the University of Pennsylvania was correct in crediting the monk was correct in discoveries supposed to have been made in the last hundred years.

Newbold submitted evidence to show that Bacon used a miscroscope, a telescope and scientific drawing instruments. The authenticity of Bacon's manuscripts he had translated were proven, Newbold said, by a signature deciphered on the last page.

Bacon's manuscripts bury under six ciphers, Newbold said, a mass of discoveries and theories which eventually prove Bacon the father of all modern science. Bacon carefully concealed his work by the use of ciphers, Newbold said, because as a monk he could not write without permission from his superiors in the church.

Bacon was credited with discovering the primary germ of life at least three centuries before it was known to the world.

Newbold also credited Bacon with many astronomical discoveries coinciding with those of later years when the telescope was developed.

Only a few passages of the manuscripts have been deciphered thus far.

NONE OF THE CONVICTED I. W. W. REACH PRISON

LEAVENWORTH, KAN., April 21.—None of the I. W. W. members who have been ordered to return to the federal penitentiary to complete sentences for violation of the espionage law have shown up yet, according to the warden's office, despite reports to Kansas City, Mo., justice officials that the men had already been "dressed in."

Officials said they did not know when the convicted I. W. W. members would appear as they were scattered all over the country. Fifty-one I. W. W. members were denied appeal by the United States supreme court recently and ordered back to prison.

Something to Think About

Wasting Other Peoples Time

—By F. A. WALKER—

THERE is one thing that you cannot buy from the greatest merchant in the world. A minute of time. One second is as unpurchasable as the whole of eternity.

Yet thousands of men and women go through life wasteful not only of their own precious moments, but wholly regardless of the value of other people's time.

To a busy man the loss of fifteen minutes may upset the plan for a whole day's work. Delay in the keeping of an appointment may disarrange hours of scheduled efforts.

You would never think of putting your hand into the pocket of a man and taking out even the smallest coin, but you may make totally valueless for him a period of time worth more than all the money he had in all his pockets.

The great trouble with too many is that they put no value at all on time. They watch the hands of the clock go round with as little regard for the fleeing hour as for a passing wind.

For a spent dollar another may be earned to take its place. For the lost friend another may be gained. But for the hour that is gone, for the minute that is wasted, there is no supplying a substitute, no replacement. It is gone forever.

It was TIME, not guns nor generals, that won and lost at Waterloo. And Napoleon was not alone among the great generals who were defeated by the clock.

("Give us time," said a great scientist, "and we can solve every problem the world offers us."

We can heap up wealth. We cannot store away one moment.

We can gain power and assemble armies. We cannot go one second back or forward from the present.

Yesterday is as if it never existed. Tomorrow is as useless today as if it were a century away.

Frederick the Great had a maxim which he borrowed from the wisdom of Seneca: "Time is the only treasure of which it is proper to be avaricious."

Every man and woman should be stingy of every moment. And they should recognize the value of every other person's time.

Life is composed of only two things: Time and effort. One is useless without the other. Both should be as nearl 100 per cent productive as we are able to make them.

Try as best we may, the end of life will find us with many things undone.

No man ever wholly completed the task allotted to him. There is a reasonable excuse if into our use of time no waste creeps.

For the man who wastes his own time or steals another's, there is neither excuse nor valid reason. He has wantonly destroyed what neither man nor the Creator Himself can restore or replace.

Put a value on every minute. Be as anxious and as certain to get that value as you are to gain the worth of youd dimes and your dollars.

Remember that once a minute has passed by it is gone FOREVER.

TAKE YOUR LUNCH

A middle-aged financier worth millions has recently joined the army of lunch carriers, for his doctor has put him on a rather strict diet and he finds it more convenient to have his meals prepared in his own kitchen than with uncertain attention to directions in his downtown club. So now in this man's office it is quite a usual sight to see the financier's chauffeur follow his employer into his office every morning carrying a little lunch box containing the noonday repast.

ADMINISTRATION IS PLANNING STEPS FOR RELIEF OF FARMER

By RAYMOND CLAPER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Steps to relieve economic difficulties are being given serious consideration by the new administration, President Harding said today, speaking to a large delegation of farmers assembled on the lawn behind the White House.

The proposal made by the farmers for a general conference on the financial, industrial and economic situation with special reference to railroads, will be given most earnest consideration, Harding said.

Senator Capper, Kansas, on behalf of the farmers, said that all factors, including producers, carriers and consumers, should join in a readjustment which would restore the country and the railroads to their normal relationship. The farmer is already on a prewar price level, Capper said.

TAKING TESTIMONY IN THE FRED ABSOLON CASE

RICHMOND, TEXAS, April 21.—Taking of testimony in the Fred Absolon case began today before District Judge Munson. The first witness for the state was F. M. Robinson of Missouri City. Deputy Sheriff Sammon, who arrested Absolon in Houston, was the next witness.

Kirby was shot and killed during the robbery of the Blue Ridge bank in February.

FRANK COLLIER.

Mr. Collier has asked The Times to express his hearty appreciation of the manner in which Wichitans responded during the Knights Templar conclave, to the call for automobiles. The size and nature of the meeting was such that hundreds of machines were needed and they were so plentiful, thanks to the spirit displayed by automobile owners, that visiting sir knights got mighty litle chance to do any walking.

Special to the Times:

INCREASED OUTPUT OF COSTELLO WELL FEATURE FOR WEEK

IS LOCATED JUST OVER THE YOUNG COUNTY LINE IN PALO PINTO.

MAKING 50 BARRELS AND WILL BE SHOT

Extends South Bend Field And Increases Importance of the Strawn Sand.

GRAHAM, TEXAS, April 21.—The notable features this week bearing on oil development work in Young county may be said to be an increased production in the Costello well, just over the line in Palo Pinto county; a strong gas showing encountered Tuesday in the Askew well, Bunger district, at a depth of 1,650 feet, and the starting of work by the Texas company in stringing an 8-inch main from the Lyden pool to the South Bend pool. The Costello well, which for some time has been producing about 10 barrels daily on the pump at a depth of 2,680 feet has increased its production to 50 barrels daily after being drilled 23 feet deeper into the sand. Some trouble was experienced with water but the crew succeeded in shutting it off. The well will be shot Thursday. Considerable interest is attached to this well because it increases the importance of the Strawn sand in a wide strip of territory extending from the South Bend field to the Palo Pinto county line. The oil and gas sand developed in the Holt well in northern Palo Pinto and the Lisle well in southeastern Young were also secured from the same sand is additional proof that there are excellent prospects for oil in this strip of territory. The Costello well is located about five miles southeast of the Lisle well and about six miles northeast of the Hughes well in Stephens county. Work on the well was started about two years ago. F. R. Spinney of Fort Worth is in charge of the well, the controlling interest of which is now owned by the National Oil & Refining company.

Considerable satisfaction has been expressed by operators at the news that the Texas company will start work immediately on a new 8-inch pipe line, extending from the Lydon pool to the South Bend field. The line was to have been built sooner by the company but work was deferred by a cut in the price of crude early in the spring.

Much interest has also been manifested in the information that the Askew well struck a showing of gas yesterday at a depth of 1,650 feet.

Reports from other wells in the Bunger district show that the Union State well is working on a bad hole, at 1,300 feet. Practically all the tubing has been removed from the Lisle well, which will be completed.

The Barnes Production company's Parsons No. 1 is down 450 feet and setting 15½-inch casing.

To Drill on Holt Survey.

A contract has been made by R. M. Rodding of Ada, Oklahoma, for a well on the Holt survey, one-half mile southwest of Bunger. Tools are now on their way from Breckenridge and the well is expected to spud in within the next 45 days, making the fourth well in the Bunger territory. Both big and little operators are keeping a sharp watch on the developments in the Bunger district, as it is confidently believed that an entirely new field will be opened up within the next month. The Barnes Production well, it is stated this morning, is expected to be completed about 35 days from now.

One favorable condition that assures swift development work at Bunger is the fact that a big batch of leases expires within the next year and by the fact that individuals hold a large amount of leases. Among the big companies, however, who have holdings in the district are the Sun, Prairie, Empire, Cosden, Mid-Kansas, Union, Texas and Gulf companies.

Pipe line runs for the South Bend field during the month of March totaled 232,640 barrels. This production is divided up among the following companies: Panhandle, Oil & Refining company, 86,022; Oklahoma Petroleum & Gasoline company, 35,935; Roxana Petroleum Corporation, 21,791; Mid-Texas Petroleum company, 20,150; Godley Oil company, 19,662; Shamrock company 19,281; Seaboard Petroleum company, 12,840; Heidrick-Spoonts 5,874; Grand Duke Oil company, 5,425; Hall & Rutherford, 3,000; Sun company, 1,550; Texas company, 248 and Colcord, 225. These production figures, however, fall far short of the actual production of the field now, as several good wells have been brought in this month and others have increased their flow. The estimated production of the field is now 20,000 barrels daily, making Young county rank third in the North Texas field. There were 39,125 barrels stored during the month of March and 6,695 barrels consumed for fuel purposes.

Wells Near Completion.

The Hamon estate well on the Stovall, offsetting Hall & Rutherford, is expected in some time today. The well struck a strong gas showing yesterday, and prospects are bright for a good well, it is said. The Hamon estate has made three other locations on the Stovall land and the wells will be drilled shortly.

The Knonwa Oil & Gas company's well, located about 475 feet of the Panhandle McCluskey No. 4 will be brought in tomorrow, it is thought, although some trouble is being experienced in shutting off the water.

The Shamrock has made a location just east of their large storage tank, on the Stovall land in block 51.

The Kent Oil company will drill on the northwest corner of M. G. Cheney 23 6-10 acres. The company will spud in within the next three or four days.

That prospects were never brighter in Young county is indicated by a number of deals which it is understood are now being closed which have not as yet been made public. The next 60 days is expected to see drilling operations going ahead on a bigger scale than ever before and new fields are expected to be opened up in the county.

In addition to the South Bend field there are a number of structures in other parts of the county that remain untested. And while several deep tests have been drilled with small success into the Bend series (from 3,300 feet on down) or deeper pays in the counties to the south of Young, yet it is practically certain that some prolific pools will be opened up in these deep lime and sand pays. These beds are found to be petroliferous as far north as northwest Jack county.

However, it is generally conceded that Young county's future as an oil producing section depends largely upon production from the shallower sands as now being developed in the South Bend pool, and from prospects of oil sands of the Cisco series (at depths of from 200 to 1,000 feet) in the northern part of the county. These beds produce the oil at Burkburnett and Electra, as well as other scattered pools lying to the south of these two places, and north of Graham.

WE MEANT WELL, BUT—

The well-meant effort in The Times of Wednesday afternoon, to furnish a list of the proper officials to call when you have business with the city or county, was transformed into a first-class mess through the dropping out of one line of type. The result is about as ridiculous as anybody could wish for, as it invites the public to call the health department about mortgages, the district clerk about parking autos, with other mistakes equally incongruous.

A corrected list will be published shortly.

TEXAS OBSERVING 85TH ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE THAT WON INDEPENDENCE

Texans today are observing the 85th anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto, which is to Texas what Yorktown was to the American colonies, what Appomatox was to the Union, what the Argonne was to the allies.

Although not a sizable battle, as battles are considered these days, it was far-reaching in its consequences. During the late war, an affair of equal size would have been mentioned in the reports by saying that "on the Bayou front a minor engagements resulted in the taking up of improved positions," but the battle of San Jacinto itself cannot be so lightly dismissed.

With a force of 780, General Sam Houston of the Texas troops, attacked the Mexican contingent of about 1,800, near the San Jacinto river just southeast of Houston. The Texans had been retreating down the Colorado for some days, and their apparent lack of desire for a scrap made the Mexicans careless, so that they were totally unready for the attack that started at 3 p. m., April 21, 1836. The result was a very thorough victory for the Texans, and Santa Ana, Mexican commander and emperor, was among the 800 prisoners captured.

The victory broke down the Mexican opposition to the independence of Texas, and the republic that had been formed on March 2, 1836, became a reality. Mexico, however, did not recognize Texas' independence until after statehood, when the war of 1845 served as a persuader.

THREE CHICAGO SLAYERS HAVE ESCAPED GALLOWS

CHICAGO, April 21.—Harry H. Ward, Grover Cleveland Redding and Oscar McGavick, condemned slayers, will not go to the gallows tomorrow.

Upon the recommendation of the board of pardons, Governor Small granted the trio reprieves until June 23 to allow attorneys to appeal to the state supreme court.

Ward was convicted of murdering Thomas Graney. Redding and McGavick, negroes, are accused of leading a "back to Abyssinia" parade last summer which resulted in a riot and death of two men.
