Public Hearings on Tax Bill Completed

CALL EXECUTIVE SESSION OF COMM. TO MEET FRIDAY Hope to Place Bill Before Senate Next Week

WASHINGTON, August 8. (P)—After listening to final blasts from organized business against the tax bill the House passed at President Roosevelt's request, the Senate Finance Committee today ended public hearings on the measure.

Chairman Harrison called an executive session for tomorrow to consider revisions. He said that he hoped the bill would be ready for Senate consideration early next week.

Elsworth C. Alvord spoke for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and said that excess profits taxes were inequitable.

F. R. Gamble, New York, executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, urged exemption to personal service corporations.

ROTARY CLUB TO SPONSOR SPEECH OF U. S. SENATOR

Edward T. Lee, president of the Rotary Club, today gave the guest speaker at the high spots of the recent trip he and Mrs. Lee took to west coast points.

Lee's talk, descriptive in nature, touched specifically upon the construction of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the Golden Gate Bridge, the Yosemite National Park, and the world's largest bridge now under construction at San Francisco.

Members of the Williams Spiritualistic Singers, to stage a concert at the Methodist Church tonight, entertained with two numbers, the latter being "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

The club voted today, as a community service, to sponsor an address at Midland by United States Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, who, between September 1 and October 15, is making a nation-wide lecture tour speaking on the subject, "Crime and Communism."

The senator gave the address before the joint session of Congress July 4, bringing forth strong editorial comment from the nation's largest newspapers. The address is said to be one of the most inspirational addresses against crime and communism of the present day, and is highly informative.

It was offered to the Rotary Club by the United States Fair Association, sponsoring the nation-wide tour. Midland's geographic location made possible the stop here. Expenses will be paid by the Rotary Club, with free admission to the public. The high school auditorium tentatively had been offered for the meeting place.

Torso Slayers Will Be Sentenced Today

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 8. (P)—Prison sentences of 180 years each today were given Mrs. Blanche Dunkel and Mrs. Evelyn Smith for murdering Ervin J. Lang. The sentences were passed by Judge Cornelius Harrington who yesterday heard the trial of the pair without jury and found them guilty.

CHICAGO, August 8. (P)—Two women in their forties—each blaming the other for arranging the gruesome "torso" slaying of Ervin J. Lang, 28, year old grocery clerk, were convicted Wednesday for his murder.

Standing before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, 43, Lang's mother-in-law who admitted she plotted his death because of jealousy, and Mrs. Evelyn Smith, 47, who confessed that she killed him and hacked off his legs, heard the verdict which may send them to the electric chair.

"Blanche Dunkel, I find you guilty of murder as charged in the indictment," Judge Harrington said. "There was a moment of silence as Mrs. Dunkel twisted her hands nervously, fighting off hysteria which caused her to faint in the courtroom yesterday."

"Evelyn Smith, I find you guilty," the judge continued. "Sentence will be passed upon both of you at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon."

Mrs. Smith, who from the witness stand told the court of Mrs. Dunkel's request that Lang be killed, of how he was strangled with a drink, drugged, and then garroted in her apartment, smiled faintly as she heard the verdict.

Judge Harrington, with a transcript of testimony and his notebook filled with references, retired to his home to study over a sentence. If the women die for Lang's murder they will be the first of their sex to go to the electric chair in Illinois.

Texas Payroll Is Steady in July

AUSTIN. (P)—Employment conditions and payrolls in Texas during July showed practically no change either from the previous month or from July last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports from 1,581 Texas establishments covering the week ended July 13 give a total of 75,760 employees, a decrease of two-tenths of one per cent from the like week of the previous month and five-tenths of one per cent from the corresponding period last year, the bureau's report said.

Aggregate payrolls of the firms were $1,762,000, an increase of two-tenths of one per cent over the previous month and 2.1 per cent greater than during the like period of last year.

Cities showing a gain over the two comparable periods were Abilene, Austin, Houston, Laredo, and Wichita Falls. Industries showing gains over both the previous month and the corresponding period last year were: Beverages, commercial printing, electric railway car shops, furniture manufacturing, machine shops, furniture manufacturing, ice factories, laundries and dry cleaning, meat packing and slaughtering, men's clothing manufacturing, petroleum refining, structural iron works and wholesale stores.

Local Rodeo Boys Go Hollywood; In World Champ Show

Ab Cooksey, writing from Glendale, California, gives Midland rodeo fans the benefit of what he has been seeing—Tex Austin's 1935 world's championship cowboy contest, staged at Gilmore Stadium under auspices of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, the Uplifters Polo Club and the Hollywood Hussars.

From the results sent in by Cooksey, Midlanders need not be surprised to see some of the ropers from here in a "flicker"—movie to you—as they are making good time against the outstanding contestants of the world. The show is dated August 3 to 11, inclusive.

A newspaper picture of Jack Sellers of Del Rio, as he jumped from his horse and ran toward his calf before it struck the ground, was flashed. The horse was the L. W. Young dunn, and he was being used by Young, Sellers and Allen Holder.

At the Sunday, August 4, matinee, Ralph Bennett was first in calf roping with time of 16 seconds, E. Pardee was second with 19 4-5 and Holder was third with 17 2-5. It takes three calves to make one show, and the second round had been started when Cooksey wrote his letter. Pardee at that time was ranking near the top.

Jake McClure tied a calf with the second loop after "Old Silver" dragged the calf 100 feet and then made time of 24 3-5. Hugh Bennett's horse fell with him. The roping is being done on grass and many of the horses fell, Cooksey wrote.

The former Midlander expressed best wishes for a good fair and rodeo at Midland this fall.

POST AND ROGERS ARRIVE IN ALASKA

JUNEAU, Alaska, August 8. (P)—Wiley Post, noted flier, and his flying companion, Will Rogers, prominent humorist and flier star, arrived here in their monoplane at 5:35 p. m. (Pacific Standard Time) yesterday.

The fliers were invited to be the guests of John W. Troy, Alaska governor, during their stay in Juneau. They did not indicate upon their arrival how long they intend to remain or what their plans were.

The Oklahoma round-the-world flier and his wise-cracking crony of the airways hopped from Renton airport south of Seattle, at 9:15 a. m. Pacific standard time, in the big long winged monoplane in which Post and his wife expect to continue to Moscow.

Mrs. Post decided at the last minute the flight might be "too strenuous" and remained at Seattle. She said she would take a boat and join her chunky little husband "within a few days."

It is approximately 1,000 miles flying distance, from Seattle, to Juneau. The flight was made in threatening weather.

While the Posts planned a leisurely "pleasure jaunt" over Siberia to Russia, Rogers indicated he would remain in Alaska.

"You know," said Rogers, "I've got to get a polo team going at the colony. It's the only thing the democrats haven't done for these colonies."

117 DEGREE HEAT GRIPS OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., August 8. (P)—Blistering heat which rocketed the mercury to 117 degrees at Nowata and set other new seasonal highs at many points in the State left one Oklahoman dead and another prostrated Wednesday.

The high temperature reading at Nowata equaled the State high mark last year, also set at Nowata. The reading there was within one degree of the record high.

Carl Stewart, 19, son of Sheriff Bud Stewart of McCurtain County, was found dead at his Idaho home. The verdict was heart trouble aggravated by heat.

John Nelson, 26, filling station attendant, was in a serious condition at a hospital here after he had been overcome by heat at the filling station.

A thirty-nine-year high mark for August 7 was equaled here when the mercury rose to 104. The temperature shot up to 100 at Tulsa, six degrees above the previous high mark. No rain has fallen in the Tulsa vicinity for the last five and one-half weeks, and the Arkansas River has sunk to the one-half foot level.

County Agent W. A. Conner of Tulsa said crops this year are suffering more quickly from lack of moisture than last year because the roots are near the surface as a result of cold and moist weather earlier in the year.

Next to Nowata, the hottest spot in the State was at Bartlesville, where the temperature rose to 114. New highs for the season also were set at Ponca City, 109; Ada, 105; Muskogee, 104, and Miami, 102.

"Yell But Take It" Is French Attitude Toward New Taxes

By MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
PARIS, August 8.—France is giving the United States a lesson in what to do about taxes. "Yell, but take it," seems to be the way it works.

Special classes in weeping the biggest tears, uttering the loudest howls, and beating the breast in unison are being held throughout the land as the "Grand Penitence" commences. The effect is remarkable and floods and earthquakes, noted here recently, have been traced directly to the national cuts and slashes instituted the other day by Premier Laval.

The "Grand Penitence" is the way Premier Laval decided to give the Franc. He had to do this alone, by executive order, since the Chamber of Deputies seemed unwilling to take the job. The purpose was to balance the budget by slashing almost 700 million dollars in government expenditure. At the same time Laval put pressure on private interests, such as landlords, munitions makers, ordinary income-tax payers, farming interests, banking, and business.

Laval predicted, a few weeks ago, that he would soon be the most unpopular Frenchman living. He was right. Everybody in France, from the butcher-boy to the millionaire, is sour. Every Frenchman, however, has one consolation. His neighbor is hurt, too. Some people feel the grievance that the rich man isn't taxed as heavily, in proportion to wealth, as the poor man. But nobody is left off.

Starting in, Laval reduced direct government expenditure by cutting every possible cost ten per cent. Pensions of war veterans—all but the totally disabled—went first. Then came 10 per cent off salaries of "functionaries," government employees. Then, to make everybody happy in misery, he knocked off ten per cent of the interest paid on government bonds.

Local government expenditure, as opposed to national, took a beating in the time of 100 million dollars. The sinking fund got a minor knocking, and the state-owned French railroads must chug along with less state money to the amount of 200 millions.

Just to make all square, Laval commanded a reduction of ten per cent in rents. To make it up to the landlords, who are as sacred in France as anywhere else, he also decreed a slash in mortgage interest. Next, he cut the price of bread, which for years has been state-controlled in France. And, to make the farmers less happy, he tried to balance that loss to them by cutting the legal price of chemical fertilizer.

To keep down the howls that were breaking out in socialist directions, (See TAXES, page 9)

FIRST FORECAST OF 1935 CROP IS GIVEN OUT TODAY

Higher Than Last Yr.
By 2,100,000
Bales

WASHINGTON, August 8. (P)—In the first estimate of this year's cotton crop, the Department of Agriculture today predicted a production of 11,978,000 bales of 500 pounds each.

The estimate is 2,100,000 bales above the production of last year. Secretary Wallace simultaneously announced that adequate credit facilities would be available for orderly marketing of the crop.

The indicated production included, Texas: 3,851,000 and Louisiana, 611,000 bales.

COUPLE RESCUED AFTER ALL NIGHT STAY ON MOUNTAIN

YOSEMITE, Cal., Aug. 8. (P)—Crawling down the steep side of a granite mountain where a misstep would have meant a 2,000-foot plunge to death, park rangers Wednesday rescued Miss Elizabeth Lorimer, 23, of Chicago, Mass., and her injured companion, Robert Pate, 35, of Inglewood.

Miss Lorimer appeared little the worse for the ordeal, although she spent the whole night hanging to a rock for her life. She was clad only in a costume of biking shorts.

Pate, badly injured, had to be lowered to the valley floor on a stretcher with ropes. By mid-afternoon the rescuers had lowered him to a point 500 feet above the valley level, but progress was slow because of his condition.

It was reported he had a broken shoulder, a badly gashed head and was suffering from loss of blood.

While a crowd of vacationists, including the wife and the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lorimer, looked on, the rangers climbed to the top of Half Dome, the granite peak, and then descended to a point 2,000 feet to reach the trapped pair.

Ranger Rodney Chisholm, formerly a member of the Alaska expedition, and Ranger W. A. Lorimer, CCC glaciologist, and Robert Russell, CCC foreman, took Miss Lorimer from the ledge while the other rescuers attended to Pate.

Because of the darkness it was necessary for the rescuers to climb to the top of Half Dome, 8,852 feet above sea level, and then descend to the ledge.

FLOOD WATERS OF OHIO NEAR CREST

COSHOCOTON, Ohio, August 8. (P)—Flood waters of the Tuscarawas and Walhonding rivers, which caused damage estimated at a $1,000,000 surge together at their confluence here today and swept southward into the overflowing Muskingum toward Zanesville, where the crest was expected at noon.

The high waters of Ohio have taken two lives so far. Third Mission Zanesville officials ordered residents of two sections of the city to vacate their homes today.

Scores of dead cattle, sheep, and pigs littered the streams and virtually all railroad service throughout the area was suspended.

Farm crops that were standing had been destroyed and shocks of grain and sections of buildings had been swept down the swollen streams.

FIRECRACKER YEAR

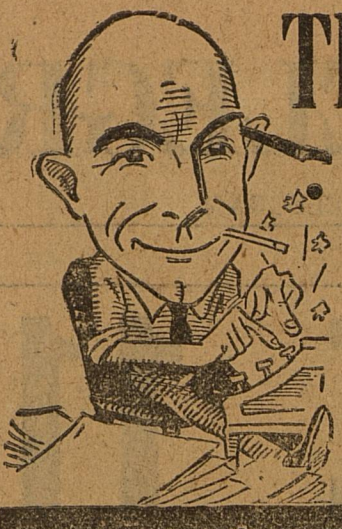

Big league baseball remembers the different years for their most notable events—1934 for the collapse of the Giants, 1932 for Babe Ruth's calling his shots in the world series, 1919 for the Black Sox scandal, and so on. It will probably recall 1935 as the year of the firecrackers.

Shortly before the Fourth of July, Cleveland's Earl Averill was put on the hospital list for nearly a month because a firecracker exploded in his hand. And now it is reported that the same team's pitcher, Clint Brown, may be lost to baseball permanently because of a firecracker.

Some halfwit tossed a firecracker onto the playing field, and its explosion blew sand and grit into Brown's eyes. The sight of one eye is practically gone, and the sight of the other is impaired.

Maybe these accidents will help us all to understand the folly of permitting the indiscriminate use of these dangerous little explosives.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Reporter-Telegram:

In Midland County there are 717 families living in homes which they own or are trying to pay out. These are Federal Census figures.

Reports of the State Auditor show that Texas property owners paid $120,000,000 in local and state taxes last year. This tax bill stands to be increased by $40,000,000 a year and upon the home owners of this county will fall their full share of the added tax burden necessary to meet the maximum cost of the Old Age Pension Amendment.

Advocates of the Townsend Pension plan are holding meetings all over the State to carry Texas for the old age pension amendment on August 24th. That is their first step. They will then put pressure on Washington for $200 a month for every person, black or white, within the pension age limit.

The Townsendites claim a membership of 250,000 in Texas. Their solicitors, who filch money from old people by promising them $200 a month for a cash consideration, have recently been put in jail (and properly so) in Texas as well as in other States.

There are 212 persons in this county who are 65 years old and over who would be eligible for the pension. Few, if any, of them want to become wards of the State but many of them have been converted to the Townsend dream of luxury in old age.

The financial condition of Texas is such that the State cannot even afford to pay the pension due our Old Confederate Soldiers. Why more pensions until that obligation has been met?

Mark this! Where you find a loud-talking old age pension proponent, there you will find a designing politician who wants the ballots of the old people who can vote without paying a poll tax. You will also find some worthless, racial who wants to get rid of his mother-in-law and have society at large support the mother who gave him birth.

Severe of those who rant over the radio and rave from the rostrums in behalf of the aged. They are trying to trade pensions for votes in 1936.

Vote against Amendment No. 1 on Saturday, August 24th.

KING, CHAIRMAN
NEW ORGANIZATION

HOUSTON, Aug. 7.—Hon. John Henry Kirby of Houston, veteran Texas Democrat, is chairman of a new organization, the "Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution" which has just been launched with a membership extending over the sixteen Southern States.

The object of the organization is to resist "tricks upon the Constitution," and the effort will be to enlist every loyal States Rights Democrat, in order that they may fight as a unit to sustain the dual form of government established by the fathers. The declaration of principles announced are as follows:

We stand for such wise arrangements in the Constitution by which the powers of Government are divided into three branches, each independent of the other; the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial.

We are holding the Congress to its Constitutional responsibilities of making the laws of the Government.

We are opposed to usurpation of power by public officials not specifically granted them under the Constitution.

We are for the levy and collection of such taxes only as are necessary to the purposes of Government.

We stand for a Government of Laws under a written Constitution as against a Government of Boards, Commissions and Administrations, under which it is difficult to safeguard the public welfare.

We oppose the use of public funds for the establishment of industrial enterprises to compete with private business.

We stand for the Representative form of Government established in the Constitution.

We oppose the exercise of any power by either of the three coordinate branches of Government not expressly granted in the Constitution itself or reasonably to be inferred herefrom.

We are opposed to the substitution of any form of Government for the form provided for in the Constitution unless such change is made through amendments to the Constitution in the manner provided for in that instrument.

Mr. Kirby, chairman of the committee, has been active in the Democratic Party in Texas for more than fifty years. He is known as a "Rock Ribbed States Rights" man and is never without a copy of the Federal Constitution in his pocket. That instrument and the Bill of Rights constitute his political religion. Discussing the new organization this veteran of many party battles said:

"I have no political ambition of my own to be gratified. I am not seeking any office for myself or for any of my friends. But the so-called Democratic administration at Washington has raised the issue of national interest to the people of America—than anything that has happened since the firing on Fort Sumter. Constitutional government is being challenged; the sovereignty of the States is being destroyed, and I can do no less than to take my stand where the Democratic Party stood up to March 4, 1933."

"We have contacted thousands of Southern States Rights Democrats. They are ready to 'share the wealth' of their intellect and efforts, and to give of their financial substance to help maintain the sort of government under which our people have found freedom, opportunity and substantial levels of comfort."

Questioned as to why the "Southern Committee" would support for the presidency, Mr. Kirby said:

"We are not organizing our forces to battle for any particular candidate. Our first concern is for the continuance of government in America that conforms to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and is limited to the grants of power made to Congress and the executive. Where the Constitution ends tyranny begins."

Concluding he said: "Personal government has not only been hateful to us but it has failed to materially better our economic situation. A people who have long enjoyed freedom in the management of their personal affairs balk at even benevolent dictatorship. I don't believe that an awakened country will find itself ready to discard the Constitution, surrender the sovereignty of the States and strike down the Supreme Court. But that is what we are called on to fight against."

All States Rights Democrats everywhere are invited to communicate with Mr. Kirby and join in the movement.

Early Fall To See
Gigantic Task In
State Completed

AUSTIN, August 6.—Early fall will see completed a gigantic task, purpose of which has been the counting of every child in Texas who is disabled, or whose father is a war veteran, or whose parents are on relief rolls.

This child welfare survey started by the Texas Relief Commission about a year ago, was abandoned in the fall by that organization and was resumed by the Bureau of Research in the Social Sciences of the University of Texas. Collection of material was completed during the winter and spring, and a special investigator, Miss Grace E. Benjamin from the American Public Health Association, was employed this summer to make a number of special surveys and to write the report of the project, with particular attention to an analysis of some of the facts shown by the statistics accumulated.

This study has involved the checking of 140,000 homes in 170 counties of Texas, and represents actual case histories of more than five hundred thousand children. In two counties of the state, an actual canvass of every home in the county was made, while in others visits were paid to homes of families on relief, to veterans' homes and to homes where it was known there were disabled children. All counties containing cities of more than 100,000 population, most of the counties with cities of more than 50,000, and representative counties of less dense population, were studied. Statistics have been tabulated for the state as a whole as well as by counties.

Results of this study have already become of use, according to Dr. W. E. Gettys, University professor of sociology and chairman of the research bureau in charge of the study. For one thing, cards containing case histories of disabled children in all of the counties contained in the survey have already been turned over to J. J. Brown, director of vocational rehabilitation in the State Department of Education. Legislative appropriation has made available for this division considerable funds for the 1935-36 fiscal year, and immediate steps can be taken after September 1 to provide vocational training for these disabled children.

Valuable data concerning juvenile delinquency, housing facilities, truancy laws, and other problems affecting and involving the welfare of the children of the State are made available for the first time by this survey, Dr. Gettys said. Miss Benjamin pointed out that this study is the most comprehensive and the most significant child census ever taken by any State, and the published report is expected to be immeasurably valuable as a handbook for use in remodeling the State's laws concerning child delinquency. For example, it is almost unbelievable that the laws of Texas do not provide for a juvenile court," she said. "Instead, child offenders are brought up, and tried before a judge just as is a mature criminal. Indeed, children are being tried and convicted in Texas before they reach the age of what is known as 'criminal responsibility.' Exercising all the license given him by law, the judge can only sentence the child offender to a definite term in the reformatory. At the end of that term he is released to return to his old environment, the home and the crowd that fostered his first misdeed, without any effort being made to train him while he was imprisoned and without any attempt to prepare a better environment for him. No regard is taken of the fact that he may have been 'reformed' before his term is over, and on the other hand he can not be detained after his term is completed even though he may be quite incorrigible."

Lack of adequate truant laws has resulted in truant children's being treated as delinquents, she added. Another shortcoming in the State's treatment of children is the utter lack of any fund for the care of delinquent, negro girls.

Miss Benjamin will complete her analysis of the statistics collected in this survey during the remainder of the summer, and it is expected that the report will be available for distribution by October 1.

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

Diplomacy, says Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, U. S. Minister to Denmark, is a man-sized job that a woman is suited for.

Mrs. Owen seems to be handling the affairs of America in Denmark with dispatch and efficiency. Still Denmark is traditionally a friend of our country. We wonder just how a woman diplomat, no matter how efficient she might be, would stand the strain of the diplomatic post in a country where guns might be trained on the legation buildings any minute.

No that we don't believe women can do most anything they want to and make a success of it in these days. We do. But it is only clear-sighted to recognize the fact that certain kinds of work come more easily to women, just as other kinds come more easily to men. And somehow, government positions that carry enormous responsibility have never seemed to us highly suited to a woman's capacity. One reason why we think so is because adverse criticism hurts the average woman more than the average man.

There are only three women diplomats in the world today: Mrs. Owen, who is America's only envoy to a foreign land; Madame Palea Aguirre, Mexican minister to Colombia; and Madame Alexandra Kollentay, Soviet minister to Stockholm, Sweden.

We believe, surveying the countries named, that Mrs. Owen has the easiest job of the three.

Of course they would never acknowledge that the presence or absence of girls made any difference in their young lives. But just notice a boardinghouse crowd of young men when all the girls are away on a picnic. See if they don't look positively downcast.

Showing Boy How Others See Him Is Beneficial

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When Mark went to the farm on the first of July, he was paid and the Latin had been hard for him, but the rest of his studies were easy. He did his Latin with his left hand almost; high school chemistry was mere "pudding" and physics and history a walk-away.

He was to be a doctor, and it was thought best for him to have Latin. He despised that and let it slide whenever he could. He'd ponied for exams and just pulled through, but it had taken the fire company plus the police force to get him at it those hot nights in June.

This was why he was sent to Uncle Ed's farm for the summer. Both parents were worried. He hadn't eaten well and lost pounds and his eyes looked sunken. Yes, the farm was just the thing, so here he was.

When he helped with the hay it made him very tired at first. His uncle insisted on him resting, but he wouldn't. So thrilled was he that he worked until he dropped exhausted into bed each night.

Johnny-on-the-Spot
Each morning he was up early and out. He couldn't get enough of the wide fields and free clear sky. The smell of growing things was in his very soul. His eyes brightened and his skin tanned by the sun. The old feeling came back, and he ate enough for three people. Finally, the hay was in. And the sun shone and the wind blew and the rain fell and before he knew it the wheat was ripe.

Mark was strong now, but he didn't get up quite so early. When he went out he noticed the dew on the clover any more. The sky was just sky and the field of wheat looked almost too big. But he worked with a will, stacked up the sheaves into shocks the way he was shown and no one could call him lazy. He stayed on because it was winter and he had to remain for the summer. Then the oats grew golden and rustled as they bent in the breeze. Time now to garner the crop.

Slacking of Interest
Mark had to be called twice each morning. He drove the cutter himself now, but a look at the windrows would have told a child that it was careless work. Instead of straight lines there were waves and here and there a fringe of grain still stood untouched.

"Mark," said Uncle Ed one evening, "I am glad you are better, but you don't look up so quick. But you don't eat as you should, and you have a sort of worried look, like it was when you came here."

"Why nothing, Uncle Ed. I'm having a swell time," he said.

"Look here, Johnny, I think I'm going to talk to you. I think I know your trouble. You are what I call an interested worker. When you have to work at something that doesn't interest you, or that you're tired of, you go to pieces. It even makes you sick."

Take Good with Bad
"You'll work like a horse at something until the novelty wears off, then you'll pick up and work at things you like, but if you don't just love a thing, it gets you. You find a better worker. You're a pick-and-choose worker. That won't get you anywhere if you want to be a doctor. You've got to learn to take the good with the bad and pitch right in."

No one had held up Mark to himself before. He knew his uncle was right. He went back to school determined to dig under that Latin and not be so miserable about it. Next year he would show them. For it was that way, and stop being a baby.

Creams Aid Beauty On Vacation Trips

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The new beauty preparations, displayed on cosmetic counters everywhere attractively enough to make you forget the heat, include fascinating items that can be used with as little effort as you like to exert these blistering days and several that would be amusing to take along and try during your leisure time on vacation.

A new cream, for instance, made primarily to heal bad cases of sunburn, and which turns out to be just the thing to use on annoying little pimples and blemishes, takes effect quite quickly. If you have been silly enough to sit in the sun long enough to become blistered, simply apply the cream and leave it on seven or eight hours.

A cleansing and tissue cream set—not new, but certainly improved—is ideal for hot weather home facials. The cleansing cream is an oily rather than a greasy preparation, removes every trace of dirt from the skin and is easy to wipe off. The tissue cream is slightly heavier in consistency, of course, but it's still light enough to be pleasant to use in summertime. You can leave a bit of it on all night without feeling uncomfortably warm.

There's a new lotion that should be a personal boon to any woman with a nose or forehead that persists in becoming shiny a few minutes after she has powdered. After powdering lightly, you pat a bit of the colorless liquid on nose and across forehead. Before it is quite dry, apply another coat of powder.

LAND ACQUIRED FOR TREE BELT

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.)—Tree planting in the middle west in the federal shelterbelt project will be confined exclusively to lands withdrawn from production under AAA crop reduction programs, national headquarters of the project has announced.

Shelterbelt officials believe that all land needed for next year's strip planting can be obtained by cooperative agreements with farmers holding adjustment contracts. Announcement of the new procedure revealed it is proposed largely to confine land acquisition for the shelterbelt to this method.

Under the arrangement, and agreement with land owners, trees may be planted on either contracted acreage or on other lands selected in lieu of such acreage, if because of soil types, location or other reasons, the selected lands are better suited.

At the same time, the forest service will enter into a separate lease or purchase option agreement with the land owner, providing for immediate occupancy by the service which will insure crop control of the land after expiration of the crop reduction contract.

During the life of the AAA contract no rental will be paid the farmer by the forest service for use of the lands. The theory is that land owners will be compensated by AAA bounties.

NEW STYLE HUE FOR 1936 URGED

LUBBOCK, Texas, (U.P.)—After 2,000 years in the background, one of the world's most common colors, cotton boll green, may take its place among fashionable shades.

An organized group of West Texas women, Texas Cotton Mills, Inc., hopes to popularize cotton boll green as the part of the state's Centennial celebration of 1936. Eastern textile manufacturers already have received the idea favorably. Sponsors hope to include also leather, cut glass, woodwork, and silver manufacturers in their plan.

Cotton boll green is a color, usually mottled, ranging between emerald and apple green. Its closest rival is leaf green. Those who would make cotton boll green the foremost color of 1936 also envision use of the plant in other ways—designs from the boll, burr, flower and stalk.

To support their campaign, the women have arranged an early showing of fashions, with designs and colors chosen from the traditional southern crop.

"Cotton offers the greatest variety of artistic designs of any plant," Mrs. Edgar T. Neal of Lubbock, leader in the organization, said. She originated the scheme while showing an eastern visitor through a cotton patch in 1932. Artists and designers at Texas Technological College are aiding the movement.

A panorama of cotton, a plant whose history dates to 800 B. C., will be presented to Centennial visitors at the Dallas Exposition next year.

El Paso Rodeo Is For "Sure Enough" Cowhands Only

EL PASO.—The Southwestern Championship Rodeo, or "Ranch Hands Rodeo," will hold its third annual celebration in El Paso, September 1, 2 and 3, immediately following the Herald-Post Kid's Rodeo (for boys and girls under 15 years old).

The Ranch Hands Rodeo is produced by H. W. "Dusty" Waller, president of the Southwestern Championship Rodeo Association, and the producer and director of the Sietabusters, that show that made El Paso famous at America's Exposition in San Diego on "Why-Not-El-Paso" Day, June 4. Waller gives special notice to all contestants that this rodeo is for ranch hands and amateurs only. No one who has ever contested in any professional show will be permitted to enter any event.

"Our intentions are to keep always, as we have in the past, this show open only to the boys who work on the ranches, and the regular cowhands," stated "Dusty" Waller. "Even at this early date we have had letters from cowhands throughout the West asking for entrance blanks."

Johnny Mullens, the world's famous rodeo arena director, and former champion cowboy, will have charge of the arena. Mullens will provide two carloads of his bucking horses for this Southwestern Championship Rodeo, as he has done for the last two years. His string includes such horses as: Wasp's Nest, White Rock, Black Widow, Yellow Jacket, Copper State, Rein Deer, Ox Yoke, Papago, I Wonder, Sorry, Hard Luck, Whynot and Stratosphere.

"The Old West Lives Again" in El Paso during this Ranch Hands Rodeo. The main features are—call roping contest, steer riding, bronc riding, steer bulldozing, bareback bronc riding, wild cow milking and wild horse race, with several other events.

Luck Abounds, All Bad

MOBILE, Ala. (U.P.)—Ollie Broadus had a horse and wagon. Both were hit by a car, and the horse was killed. He bought another horse. A motorist hit his wagon, scared the horse and it ran away. He bought a car. It collided with another, and Broadus paid damages.

Heat Beats Worshippers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Because parishioners objected to mixing their religion with a heat, Memphis pastors have moved the time of services to an earlier hour, shortened their sermons, and lightened their subject matter. One church put in an air-cooling system.

Tex. Liquor Dealers Pay Federal Taxes

AUSTIN, August 7.—Liquor dealers in Texas in 1934 paid the Federal government $2,024,981.46, or more money than was collected legally by the Federal government in each of 22 states in the union where the sale of liquor had been legalized, it was announced here by R. Emmett Morse, chairman of the Texas Repeal Forces, upon receipt of figures from Washington.

"While the federal government was collecting this vast sum," Mr. Morse pointed out, "in dry Texas, the state government of Texas collected nothing. If Texas had collected its just tax on the $75,000,000 worth of liquor which the senatorial investigation committee found to have been sold in dry Texas in 1934, the state would not now be facing a $12,000,000 deficit for 1936, which deficit was anticipated in a report made recently by the automatic tax board composed of Governor Alfred, Comptroller George H. Shepard and State Treasurer Chas. Lockhart.

"This deficit might be even greater than that anticipated if special sessions are necessary before the end of the next fiscal year, and unless a source of important revenue is found.

"It is no wild guess to say that Texas would collect between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000 in revenues from the taxation of liquor which is being sold openly in Texas today. Revenues produced in a number of states, which have legalized liquor are quoted as follows:

Michigan with a million fewer people than Texas, realized $7,132,388.11; Ohio, 800,000 more people than Texas, netted, $6,242,686.79; Pennsylvania, with 4,000,000 more people than Texas, $14,793,951.76; Virginia, with less than half Texas population $2,581,453.27; California, about the same as Texas, $1,486,230.16; Massachusetts, New Jersey, Missouri and Wisconsin, all smaller than Texas, $3,052,796.10 and $4,459,782.85 and $2,374,525.93 and $4,463,393.98.

"I have given much study to the revenue possibilities offered by legalization and taxation of the uncontrolled liquor traffic now bleeding the state. Texas will rob itself of millions, a balanced budget and an opportunity for greatly needed reform unless it votes repeal on August 24."

U. S. Forests Lure Tourists

OGDEN, Utah (U.P.)—Heavy travel into the national forests is predicted by forest officials of Region 4, including Utah, Western Wyoming, Eastern Nevada and Southern Idaho. Last year, there were more than 2,225,000 visitors in the 23 national forests in this district, which does not include the national parks.

Charcoal Burner Is Bid Long Farewell

EAGLE PASS, (U.P.)—The charcoal burner in the average Piedras Negras home seems destined to vanish into the limbo of relics this fall when a newly-organized utilities company begins to furnish cheap natural gas to business and residential houses of the neighboring Mexican city. In past winters it was a common sight to see the family groups of this city of 27,000 inhabitants gathered around smoking charcoal braziers getting almost as much smoke as heat from its embers. This will be done away with through the action of the Compañia Nacional de Gas S. A. in obtaining a concession from the Mexican government to pipe gas from Eagle Pass into Piedras Negras, wells on the Chittim mesa, 19 miles northeast of here. The wells serve Eagle Pass, Del Rio, Uvalde, and Winter Garden towns.

Worms Provide Livelihood

SAN FRANCISCO, (U.P.)—Claimant of a unique profession in San Francisco is H. G. Dunn. He raises worms for a living in his special air-cooled basement for sale to sport and bait shops. Dunn's worms come to the surface of their moss and loam beds when the sides of the boxes are rapped.

Gov. Funds Received After School Is Built

CHILDRESS, (U.P.)—Childress faces a situation probably unequalled in the United States—that of having access to $15,494 for construction of a school building that has been built and paid for.

More than a year ago, when plans were first made for erection of a new East Ward school building here, application was made for a PWA loan. Delay caused the plan to obtain funds from that source to be abandoned and the money was provided by the state department of education.

The building was completed last November.

Last week, Secretary Ickes approved a loan of $3,500 and a grant of $6,954 for construction of the building.

Apparently lost in a maze of Washington red tape, the application had not been cancelled and was finally approved.

Kills to Break 'Witch's Spell'

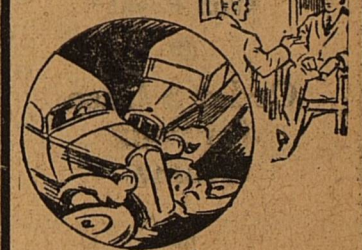

"She was a witch, so I killed her." Thus Mrs. Matilda Waldman, 40, shown in a Cleveland, O., police station, calmly explained the slaying of Mrs. Ida Cooper, who, Mrs. Waldman declared, had driven her and her husband, also arrested, beyond endurance by "making fireballs dance in their bedroom."

Kittens Born in Tree
CHILLICOTHE, Mo. (U.P.)—If Joan Graham's four spotted kittens are air-minded, it won't be anything unusual. They were born in a tree. Joan still is trying to name them appropriately.

Royal Mounted May Lose Colorful Name

MONTREAL, (UP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Canada's colorful police force, may drop the word "mounted" from their title and become known as the "Royal Canadian Police."

Addressing the International Association for identification at a convention here, Sir James MacBrien, commissioner of the R.C.M.P., said the force has been so greatly modernized that the word "mounted" means little today.

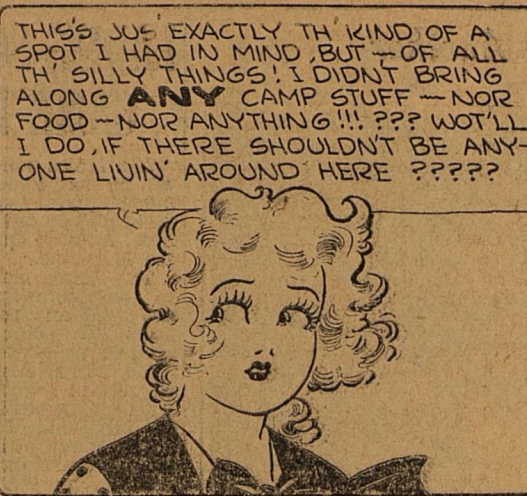

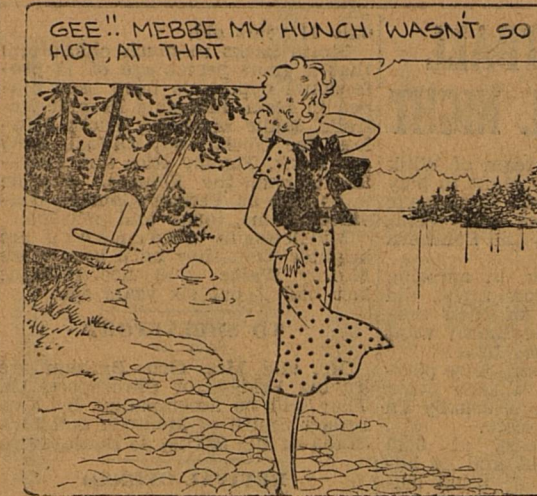

"When I joined it as a recruit, it was known as the North-West Mounted Police," Sir James said. "Later the name of the force was changed to the Royal North-West Mounted Police. And now it is said to realize that some day our name may be changed again to drop the word 'Mounted'."

"Out of our force of 2,000 men we have only 300 mounted now. We have many more dogs than we have horses, and most of our men now travel in automobiles, airplanes or boats."

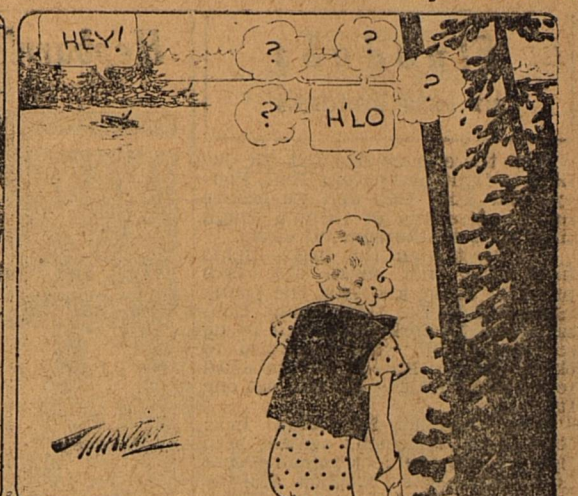

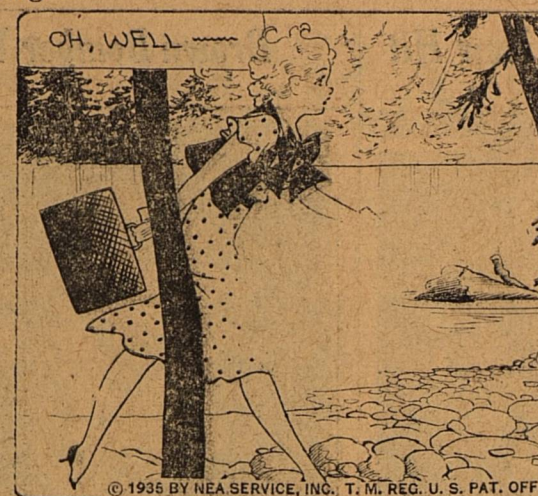

In future, he added, recruits to the force will not be trained in horsemanship except those that are definitely destined for the mounted detail. Instead, they will spend more time in learning the scientific aspects of police work.

In 1901, an Austrian, Jacob Kaiser, suggested the idea of harnessing vultures to a balloon and driving them with reins.

Dan Moody to Assist Ginners in Action

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Aug. 7.—Former Gov. Dan Moody has been secured to represent Texas farmers in their action to assist Texas ginners obtain release from an injunction granted at Sherman July 19 restraining the Internal Revenue Department from collecting the cotton tax under the Bankhead act, H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president of the Texas Agricultural Association, announced Tuesday afternoon.

Moody will appear on behalf of the farmers and ginners at a hearing in Houston Federal Court at 9 a. m. Thursday. A large number of affidavits from ginners in which they state they were not parties to the injunction suit and wish to operate according to the provisions of the Bankhead act have been received at headquarters here of the farmers' protective committee, appointed at the farmers' meeting in Bryan Aug. 3. The committee consists of Lucas, V. C. Marshall of Heidelberg and J. R. McCreary of Calver.

Affidavits mailed after Tuesday should be directed to Lucas, at the Rice Hotel, Houston, he said.

Actress to Play Home Town

Flubdubs

BY JESS RODGERS

Well there is no one left for Joe Louis to fight now except Toar, Pop-eye and Alley Oop and we believe he can give any of them a tough time of it in the squared circle.

The next man the negro fights had better not make any rash promises about knocking the young negro out in the fifth round. Carniero and Levinsky promised to do so and look what happened to them. Carniero lasted until the sixth round but Levinsky did not last one full.

Louis undoubtedly could have soon scored knockouts against both fighters but the fact remains that both fights were stopped and he was given technical K. O.'s. Which should be a little consolation to Max Baer if the two ever meet for Maxie has always been able to take it better than dish it out.

Experts on tax figures have figured that Max Schmelling would have approximately $20,000 left after paying taxes in both the United States and Germany if he fought Louis for $100,000. Schmelling wants to face Louis about as bad as Hitler wants to kiss the pope.

Hepburn's New Hit

An amazingly impressive gamut of emotions is depicted by Katharine Hepburn in her new starring vehicle "The Little Minister," in which she plays the magnificently appealing role of Babbie, heroine of the Sir James M. Barrie's novel and play. Featured roles are carried by John Deak as the young clergyman and Allan Hale as Rob Dow, "hulking man of sin."

"The Little Minister" will be seen at the Yucca Friday and Saturday.

JOE LOUIS STOPS KINGFISH LEVINSKY IN FIRST ROUND FOR A TECHNICAL K. O.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 8. (AP)—Joe Louis, Detroit negro heavyweight sensation, Wednesday night advanced nearer to his goal, the world's championship, with a first-round knockout victory over Kingfish Levinsky of Chicago, in their scheduled ten-round encounter in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox.

Levinsky shuffled to mid ring at the sound of the first bell to meet his opponent and Louis drove a light left to his face and followed with another. The Kingfish eyed the negro but Joe drove four more punches to the head and Levinsky sank to the floor, plainly hurt. He got up immediately, however, and backed away to throw a right to the jaw but Louis countered with a hard right and left to the head, then drove a right to the body and switched again to the head with both hands as Levinsky backed away. "The Kingfish was wild with a right to the jaw and caught two rights that floored him for a count of four. He was knocked down again with another right and got up at the five count. Louis ripped two lefts to the body and Levinsky sat down on the bottom rope. He appealed to the referee that he had enough. Louis then dug two vicious left hooks into his body and Referee McGarrity led the beaten Levinsky to his corner, badly battered.

Lured by the promise of one of the ring's most stirring dramas of flying fists and bodies, upwards of 40,000 fans crowded the park. The judges were Edward Klein, a restaurant owner, and Edward Hintz, a real estate broker, and the referee was Norman McGarrity.

PLAYERS CALL FOR NEW DEAL IN U. S. TENNIS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (U.P.)—America's disastrous attempt to win the Davis Cup from England has brought a storm of protest from tennis players and followers throughout the country.

The main criticism of Capt. Joseph Wear's handling of the United States team is not because Wilmer Allison, veteran Texan, was selected to play both the singles and doubles in the challenge round, but because America continues to ignore promising young players and refuses to build for the future.

It was pointed out that even had the United States wrested the trophy from England, this country would have had trouble defending it successfully next year because of the neglect in developing youngsters for Davis Cup duty.

Two-Year Plan Urged

The general opinion in tennis circles is that America should select a group of youngsters and start building a team around them now for 1936. Sacrifice a victory in the inter-zone final if necessary to give the players experience and confidence for the matches two years hence.

Henry Gulley, who recently returned from Europe after two years of play on foreign courts, believes America could take a squad of five or six youngsters to Europe next year and campaign there strenuously.

"I'd take over Don Budge, Frankie Parker, Gene Mako, Sidney Wood, and Bryan Grant and let them play in the French and Wimbledon championships and pick the team on their showing abroad," said Gulley. "The talk of too much tennis is all bunk."

Rival for Anna Suggested

Wimmer Hines, South Carolina boy who campaigned in Europe this year, believes that America should concentrate on getting a player to beat Bunny Austin.

"We always underestimate Austin forgetting that he is at his best in the Davis Cup matches," said Hines.

Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, No. 8 in the United States rankings, believes that the Davis Cup committee pays too much attention to the previous year's records in selecting a team.

"I think we ought to take a big squad over," said Sutter, "and let the showings abroad determine the team. Why worry about last year's records? They don't mean much. Pick the players when they are hot. If Ellsworth Vines had been named for the team the first year he won the national title, America would have probably won the cup from France, instead of England."

Hidden Favored as Coach

Several prominent tennis players believe that "Big Bill" Tilden or Mercer Beasley, the tennis coach, should be picked to assist the captain in training and selecting the team.

Whatever may be done it is certain that American sixth failure to bring back the Davis Cup has caused considerable unrest in tennis circles. Now that Allison and Van Ryn have failed in the doubles, and Allison in the singles, it seems that they should be relieved of Davis Cup service and the younger players given a chance.

Taxes--

Laval slapped a great big tax of 25 per cent on all profits on munitions bought by the state from France's magnificent armament ring.

He soaked all incomes over $5,000 with a 50 per cent increase in tax, and he eased upon the slashes on the little-salaried state employees by letting them off with 5 or even 3 per cent cuts as opposed to the average 10.

Proof of Scheme in October

Americans will have to wait until next October to know how successful the system of boosting taxes and cutting wages, as instituted by Laval, really is. For that is the date the Chamber of Deputies comes back to work. Then Laval's decrees must be ratified.

Meanwhile there's no doubt about Laval's unpopularity. The low-paid gendarme in a little French village is grumbling that at his wages, even 3 per cent puts him and his children under the famine line. The farmer in the big wheat fields around Le Mans takes his hand off the motor tractor long enough to say that the millers and the wheat combine are passing along the bread-crust to him. The socialist inflationists accuse Laval of being hand-in-glove with the munitioners and bankers to oppress the poor.

But most of France takes the agony, after a few preliminary howls and tears, the way a dentist's patient takes the pain of a newly wrenched tooth. The swelling may go down some day, he thinks. Maybe the wound will heal. And if it does, he rather ruefully supposes he'll be all the better off.

Indian Stone Ax Found

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (U.P.)—A perfectly chiseled stone ax of the type used by Indians as weapons and for scraping hides was found by Jim Horiskey on a fishing trip recently. The relic was believed to have been used before the first white man crossed the continent.

Whisky Revives Weary Bird

MOBILE, Ala. (U.P.)—A sparrow fell to the earth in front of Al Berlin's store, overcome by the heat. Berlin mixed a few drops of whisky with a few drops of water, poured them down the open beak. The bird popped off his head and flew away thoroughly refreshed.

'Chute Jump 24,272 Feet

SMOLENSK, U.S.S.R. (U.P.)—Vladimir Babitsky, 31, made his recent 185th parachute jump a notable one. He leaped at night from a height of 24,272 feet without any oxygen equipment.

Along the 2400-mile coast of England and Wales, 30 different types of buoys are used. The heaviest of these weighs 20,000 pounds and the lightest 500 pounds.

IF YOU'RE OF TACOMA, DON'T MENTION IT TO BALTIMORE DUNDEES

The Baltimore Dundees have never been in the hilly little city of Tacoma, Wash., and if they never see it or hear of it again it will be too soon.

In the old San Francisco ball park on Dec. 4, 1926, when Joe Dundee was one of the fair-haired boys of Madison Square Garden, he was sufficed by K. O. Eddie Roberts before he could put up his hands. Roberts registered from Tacoma. Eddie went east for a return engagement with Dundee and otherwise stirred up some excitement, but quickly passed from the picture. He was a handsome Good Time Charley who couldn't be annoyed with training.

In Seattle the other night, the cagey Vince Dundee was knocked down 11 times and stopped in the third round by Freddie Steele, 22-year-old Tacoma middleweight. It was the first time that Vince was unable to go the distance in nine years of warfare.

Steele put Dundee in a hospital with a broken jaw, evidently suffered in the first frame, and a slight concussion.

I told you about Steele some days ago. I've been watching Freddie for three years or more, and Elliott Metcalfe, veteran sports editor of the Tacoma Times, has kept me closely in touch with his progress. Metcalfe, who knows a fighter when he sees one, declares that this newest threat is the finest he has ever set eyes on.

MIDDLEWEIGHT PROSPECTS BRIGHTEST IN SIX YEARS

Steele is a striking six-footer who scaled 155 1/2 pounds, for Dundee. The young man first appeared as a 95-pound amateur when he was
