HOW WALL STREET LOOKS AS PANICS REIGN IN STOCKS

Here's how Wall Street looks in the wildest era of stock trading in the history of the New York stock exchange. Thursday, 12,894,650 shares of stock were traded over the counter in the most frenzied selling wave ever experienced. Stocks listed suffered losses of billions of dollars, shares being thrown overboard in panicky fashion by holders. The scene below shows the New York Stock Exchange building at the right, the banking house of J. P. Morgan at the left.

Following his indictment for murder Monday afternoon, by the grand jury of the October term of 99th district court, Clay Lester, charged in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife, Virgie Lester, in this city last Thursday, will be brought to trial next Monday.

Lester's case was set yesterday, after District Attorney Durwood Bradley had previously announced that he would demand a hasty trial.

The defense counsel of Schenck & Triplett, local attorneys, had no announcement to make at noon today in connection with the early setting of the case.

The case was taken up for investigation by the grand jury yesterday morning.

Charter Only Thing Needed On New Line

ABILENE, Oct. 29. (AP)—With all the money subscribed and contracts for construction signed, a charter was the only thing the Abilene and Eastern railway needed today to begin laying its roadbed between here and Cross Plains in Callahan county.

Contracts for the construction and operation of the road were signed here yesterday by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who owns half of the stock and a group of Abilene business men, who raised $400,000 to purchase the other half of the stock. Kell was elected president of the road, and will build and operate it.

WEATHER CUTS UP

Rockies Get Real Touch Of Winter; Storm Hits Lake

DENER, Colo., Oct. 29. (AP)—Winter paid a real visit to the Rocky Mountain region last night, leaving a general snow from Montana to New Mexico.

Parts of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico reported snow up to five inches.

Airmail transportation on the Transcontinental line was paralyzed when mountains between Salt Lake City and Cheyenne were blotted out by fog and snow. Air mail was sent by train through the region. Highways were reported open and passable, though some in Wyoming were drifted.

STORM KING RIDES LAKE MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—The storm king rode Lake Michigan again today, dashing 30-foot waves against a shore line still scarred by last week's gales.

Temperatures tumbled, and waves shook the shore almost before the government's storm warning was issued. Rain or snow was forecast for today and tomorow.

SOUTH PLAINS MAY GET BLIZZARD

Forecasting arrival of a blizzard in Lubbock tonight, reports reaching here early this afternoon relate accounts of snow, sleet and falling temperature in Colorado, Oklahoma and Northwest Texas.

A seven-inch snow had fallen in Denver at noon today and flakes are still falling according to a report received by the state experiment farm, three miles east of Lubbock. Accompanied by considerable moisture, the mercury had fallen from 50 to 55 degrees at Canyon from 1 to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Amarillo reported sleet and falling temperature.

A light precipitation, added to the week-end's total of .42 inches, fell here last night. The mercury stood at 55 degrees at midafternoon today.

BLOCKS OF SHARES ARE DUMPED ON MARKET AT ANY PRICE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—With bankers making every effort to assure an orderly market, stock prices continued to break sharply today under a crushing weight of liquidation pouring into the New York securities markes from all sections of the world.

Extreme declines in hundreds of issues listed on the New York stock and curb exchanges ranged from $10 to $70 a share, with most of them in new low ground for the year.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, predicted today that if the severe decline of stock prices in Wall street continued "banks all over the country" would go into bankruptcy.

Trading reached record-breaking proportions, the 3,000,000 share mark being crossed before the end of the second hour.

The board of governors of the New York stock exchange held a special meeting early this afternoon and decided to keep the exchange open for the full five hour session, closing at 3 p. m.

Another meeting of governors has been called for six p. m.

Sales of stock on the New York stock exchange up to 1 p. m. totaled 12,652,000 shares, which compares with the high record for a full session of 12,894,600 shares recorded last Thursday.

WILLIAMS GIVES OUT DATA AFTER CONFAB IN WASHINGTON

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—Texas cotton planters will benefit from the Federal Farm Board's cotton loan fund in exact ratio to the number of bales they market through recognized cooperative marketing enterprises throughout the state, according to Harry Williams, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Marketing Association.

Williams, on his return from a conference with the board in Washington, announced any farmer who consigned his cotton to a recognized co-operative could receive 12 cents per pound on it immediately and a smaller additional advance as soon as the cotton was classed.

The board announced it would loan 16 1-4 cents on seven-eighths inch middling. Amount of the second advance to the farmer would depend entirely on classification of the cotton.

Williams said the board had indi-

BUSINESS IN AREA STEADY

DECLINE IS NOTED IN FAILURES; CROP TO BE LOWER

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 29—A sharp decline in business failures and rapid liquidation of indebtedness at the Federal Reserve bank were important developments in the eleventh district during September, the monthly business review of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank, issued today, says.

Distribution of merchandise, wholesale and retail, reflected a slowing down as compared to the strong demand of July and August. The agricultural situation showed no marked change from August according to the review.

Cotton Yield Lower

"On the basis of the Oct. 1 estimate of the department of agriculture the production of cotton in the eleventh district this year will be smaller than in any year since 1923 and the prospective production of grain is the lowest since 1925.

"The physical condition of ranges and livestock showed some improvement during September, but the Oct. 1 condition was considerably below that of a year ago. Livestock prices have evidenced a further recession."

BUILDING PERMIT ISSUED

Lubbock's building valuations for October were increased this morning to $61,520, for 30 permits, with the issuance this morning of a permit for erection of a $1,500 residence for H. J. Jorden at 1707 1-2 Avenue A.

LAKE STEAMER GOES DOWN; THREE SCORE ARE RESCUED

(By Associated Press)

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 29 — Between 10 and 15 men went down with the lake steamer Wisconsin in a severe storm off the Kenosha shore today.

More than three score were saved, many of them maddened and some near death from the horror and the exposure of hours in the windwhipped sea. The three passengers aboard were rescued.

Rescue Is Difficult

For five hours the twin coast guard crews from Racine and Kenosha and the crew of the tug Chambers Brothers battled grimly with the thirty foot waves and the driving northerly gale to take off the passengers and crew.

Unable to take aboard a line from the rescuers, most of the crew set off in five lifeboats and were transferred to the coast guard ships.

The Racine and Kenosha crews and the Chambers tug were fighting their way to the ship again when it foundered. A score of men were taken from the two life rafts that floated free of the wreck.

AGED CROSBY MAN SHOT BY SON-IN-LAW

AMARILLO, DALLAS, SAN ANTONIO AND RALLS SCENE OF SHOTS

(By Associated Press)

Shots from angered guns rang out in Texas last night and today and as a result five people are dead.

CALLED BY DEATH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The national capital today mourned the death of one of its most loved legislators, Senator Theodore E. Burton, below, of Ohio.

After a life devoted largely to public service and the advancement of world peace, Senator Burton died last night at the age of 77. A short while before his death, President Hoover, himself, had called to inquire as to his condition.

HAMILTON'S JURY NEARLY FILLED TODAY

AMARILLO MAN LEANS BACK WITH EASE IN HIS TRIAL

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 29—Leaning back comfortably in his chair, R. H. Hamilton, Amarillo, today watched the selection of a jury for his trial on a murder charge in the slaying of his son-in-law Tom Walton, jr., last May 4. Eleven jurors had been accepted at noon.

Hamilton seemed considerably more at ease today than yesterday when the trial began. Yesterday he nervously ran his fingers over his face. Today he was apparently pleased with the jury his attorneys were selecting.

Theresa in Courtroom

Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, 19, widow of Walton, whom she married last February while they were attending the University of Texas, was in the courtroom most of the morning. At the forenoon recess, she entered and stood behind her father while he chatted with newspapermen.

Becomingly dressed in a knitted frock of grey, she sat outside the railing with Florence Hendricks, daughter of Hamilton's law partner. Theresa was not wearing her wedding ring, put on her finger in Austin by Tom Walton in a ceremony before a justice of the peace.

Room Not Filled

The courtroom, crowded to its capacity of 500 yesterday, was slightly more than half full today. Men, most of them apparently farmers predominated. Outside gay flags hung from telephone posts and wires, advertising the Parker Coun-

FIVE PEOPLE ARE ABOARD HUGE PLANE

WINTER CONCEALS SHIP IN MOUNTAINS TODAY; SEARCH IS ON

(By Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 29. — Winter, closing down over the mountains of the Continental Divide, today concealed beneath a blanket of lowering storm clouds and snow the fate of a Western Air Express liner lost with five persons aboard.

The giant tri-motored plane, with two passengers and a crew of three, disappeared yesterday morning somewhere along the 180-mile stretch of the Western Air Express route between Navajo, Ariz. and Albuquerque. It was believed to have been forced down by bitter weather which swept the Rocky Mountains yesterday, bringing snow and rain which caused Western Air Express to order all planes grounded. The order came too late to halt the missing plane at Kingman, Ariz., which it left yesterday at 8:24 a. m., mountain time.

Due in Albuquerque at noon, the ship was last sighted over Navajo at 10:30 a. m., at Pinto, Ariz., a few miles east of Navajo, a Santa Fe railroad inspector said he heard a plane in the clouds at 11 a. m., but could not see it.

The plane was bound from Alhambra, a suburb of Los Angeles to Kansas City.

Those aboard were:

Dr. A. W. Ward, San Francisco nationally known dental authority en route to Fort Worth, Tex., to fill a speaking engagement.

W. E. Merz, Mount Vernon, N. Y.,

DEATH TAKES DR. STRATON

NOTED FUNDAMENTALIST DIES LAST NIGHT OF HEART ATTACK

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y. Oct. 29—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, noted fundamentalist Baptist preacher, died here today. He was 54 years old.

Although seriously ill with a nervous breakdown for the last month, death came unexpectedly at 5:50 a. m. after a heart attack. His wife was at his bedside when he died.

Suffered Paralytic Stroke

He suffered a slight paralytic stroke last April and immediately after went to a sanitarium at Atlanta, Ga. He returned to his home a month ago, but soon suffered from a nervous breakdown and entered a sanitarium here.

He was pastor of Calvary Baptist church in New York, but by his aggressive campaigns against modernism, and especially evolution, he gained nation-wide prominence. During the last presidential campaign he took an active part against the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith attacking him from his pulpit and campaigning against him in the south.

Tom Shook Indicted On Tennessee Count

DECATURVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29 (AP)—Tom Shook, former Electra, Texas, chief of police, today faced a Tennessee murder indictment, as well as a murder indictment in Texas, where he now is in jail.

Shook was indicted for first degree murder here yesterday in the killing of J. D. Martin, shot to death about 30 miles from here several weeks ago. Shook is waiting trial on a murder and robbery indictments against him at Wichita Falls.

O'NEALL EXPLAINS GOOD ROADS MOVE TO LIONS CLUB; APPEAL IS PRESENTED

Charles F. O'Neall, chairman of the Lubbock County Good Roads association, and W. C. Rylander, speaking on the subject of good roads, were featured at today's Lion club meeting, held at Our Cafeteria.

A review of Lubbock county's effort to vote road bonds in the past two elections was given by O'Neall. He announced that, if the petitions asking for an election bring approval of the county commissioners the election will probably be held on December 17. The hearing is to be November 13.

Rylander's address was a stirring appeal to members of the Lions club to get behind the project and work deligently for a favorable vote. He stated that it is economy to vote for paved roads, predicting

AMERICA'S SKYLINE SOARING TOWARD 2,000-FOOT HEIGHT; NEW YORK AND CHICAGO BUILDERS ARE IN THE CONTEST

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Science Editor
(Associated Press Feature Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP).—While New York and Chicago builders are finishing a race for the world's tallest skyscraper, science steps in with a stupendous conception that dwarfs them all. The financial giants are cracking the 1,000 foot level, beating even Eiffel tower. But science says two-fifths of a mile 2,000 feet, is already feasible.

It is conservatively remarked by scientists that this is not the safety limit, but merely the elevator top. Structural steel can go higher. How much higher is not predicted, although one engineer has suggested 7,000 feet. The highest man has indicated he might go to date is 1,600 feet—the height of a structure reported planned by a cigar magnate.

Possibility Established

The scientific report establishing the physical possibility of a 2,000 foot skyscraper is issued by the American Institute of Steel Construction, Inc., of New York. It does not attempt to foretell when or whether two-fifths of a mile will be reached.

But scientific men have a saying that may be prophetic. It is that when research discovers how to do something new, someone is sure to do it—ultimately.

Needs 20 Minutes

An elevator of present speed would require nearly 10 minutes non-stop, to reach 2,000 feet. Engineers say that lift speeds can be raised safely to reach this low cloud level in less than two minutes. That would mean elevators running 17 miles an hour.

Beyond that speed there are complications. For one thing, steel cable would be too heavy, but more surprising is the fact that higher speeds would be bad on ears—that is, on present ears. There is reason to believe that the average ear can get used to higher speeds, for the report mentions miners who travel in faster elevators without ill effects.

Rent To Halt Soaring

The institute found a limit which will keep skyscrapers around the 1,000 foot level for a while. It is the net rental profits. Two years study by big real estate operators, business men and engineers of New York is used by the report to show that the most profitable height is dependent on ground values.

A skyscraper of 1,000 feet is now height on land worth $400 a square foot. Furthermore, the rents on the $400 land already is in sight.

"Limit" May Go Up

So the "limit" that now points to 1,000 feet as the ceiling for skyscrapers may advance and push the big buildings onward toward 2,000 feet.

Six lofty towers now are to top the Woolworth building. In New York the Chrysler building, 808 feet, estimated, and the Bank of Manhattan, 850 feet, already are nearly up. The Chrysler raised its height more than once in hopes of being the tallest. But even before the topmost girder has been set it seems out of the race.

Crane Tower High

Four other skyscrapers that have not been started still figure as factors in a height contest. One is the Crane Tower in Chicago, with plans for 880 feet, topped by a flag pole or beacon just breaking through 1,000 feet. Pictures of the Crane plans have been issued, but it is not too late to raise them.

The City Bank-Farmers Trust building in New York this fall announced a height of 925 feet, and only two days later a still loftier building of 1050 feet was announced by another New York builder, A. E. Lefcourt.

Al Heads Group

Meanwhile, in the background, stands Al Smith, head of the company sponsoring the Empire State building on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

All plans are secret, the exact picture of his building has been published. Engineers in the know say he is going for 1,000 feet, flat, with masonry and steel. If that is a lie probably is beaten already.

But neither he, the Crane project, nor the 1,050 foot Lefcourt have piled building years. All can go higher simply by use of the architect's pen. And the City Bank-Farmers Trust can "trade" if it chooses.

Arthur Tarshis of the Lefcourt firm says an internationally known business organization has agreed to take thousands of feet of space in the 1,050 foot building, provided it is the world's tallest.

So the Lefcourt plans are waiting until other skyscraper ceiling plans have been filed. And there is no telling how many may still be under cover.

TERRY BOYS SEEK TRIPS

TWO 4-H CLUB MEMBERS STRIVING FOR FREE TRIP TO CHICAGO

(Special To The Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29.—Two of the 4-H club boys of Terry county are in the race to win the free trips to the International Livestock Show at Chicago that is being offered by the Santa Fe Railway company. They are J. O. Hobbs, president of the Harmony club and Dan Hulse of the Lahey club.

The Hobbs boy owns a registered Poland China gilt who farrowed ten pigs on April 10 and from this litter he sold $157.50 pigs. On September 27, the sow farrowed ten pigs, eight of which survived and these have sold for $120, making a total of $267.50. His feed cost was $52.86, leaving a net profit of $174.64. The attendance at his club metings has also been high, being 90 per cent for the year and one hundred per cent at the county rally, they also sent four member to the short course at College station.

Dan Hulse, of the Lahey club, was first prize winner of the Bell-Enderson Hardware company, contest which allowed cash prizes to the three boys or girls whose pigs made the greatest daily gains at the lowest feed cost per pound. The Hulse boy's pig, a grade Poland China, was two months old at the beginning of the contest and weighed 55 pounds, it was fed for 103 days and at the end of that period it weighed 250 pounds, a gain of 295 or an average daily gain of 2.86, with a feed cost of 6.2. Corn chops, skim milk and a commercial protein were fed. The pig was sold for $9.25 per hundred bring $32.38.

CONVENTION HALL TO HOUSE DISPLAY

HOUSTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The huge hall here where Alfred E. Smith was nominated for president will resound again to the tramp of many feet in its capacity as quarters for the third annual South Texas Exposition, Oct. 30 to Nov. 9.

Henry S. Ford, general manager, said he expected more than half a million people would visit the huge chamber. All concession space he added, had been sold and practically all the display room reserved. One of the many agricultural exhibits will be that of Texas A. and M. college.

The feature will be the presence of licensed pilots from a local aviation school. They will answer any questions asked about flying.

NORTHCUTT GROWS LACONIC IN HIS CELL AWAITING; BRAVADO IS LOST

SAN QUINTIN, Cal., Oct. 30 (AP)—Gordon Stewart Northcott has lost the bravado that marked his entrance to state's prison here.

The youth, awaiting action on his appeal from a death sentence for the slaying of three boys on the "Wineville murder farm," spends the time playing checkers. His contribution to the conversation consists of two words: "Your move."

Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott, whose dramatic plea of guilty in Riverside failed to save young Northcott, and who now is serving a life sentence within 100 yards of the cell occupied by her son, spends two hours each morning washing the windows of the women's prison, after which she sits alone and stares into space.

Once only have mother and son met since their arrival at the penitentiary. That was February 13 of this year, the day following Northcott's assignment to a cell. The mother had been there since January 1.

Although they are not allowed by Warden James B. Holohan to meet, they are permitted to communicate by letters which are censored.

The mother is silent concerning her own predicament and is making no effort to change the life sentence passed after her futile plea and assumption of guilt to shield and save the boy. Her only interest now is in the success of young Northcott's appeal. A decision is expected this winter.

BUILDING HOLDS BOARD'S THOUGHTS

AUSTIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—When University of Texas regents hold their next award of a contract for the new $900,000 chemistry building, further progress on plans for the erection of seven large self-financing dormitories for boys and renewal of discussion toward a loan for new buildings.

Negotiations have ben practically completed for the construction of the dormitories and a central dining hall, costing approximately $1,500,000. Funds will be supplied by either banking or insurance interests and repayment made through revenue derived from room rental.

Representatives of investment companies are expected to attend the meeting to make proposals regarding loans to replace some of the unsightly shacks on the campus. The loans may total $3,000,000, it is said.

Ground To Be Broken For Curtiss Field

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Ground for the new Curtiss flying field near here will be broken tomorrow. The company plans to erect a school hangar and an administration building on a 270 acre tract of land immediately south of Dalworth, Dallas county. The $75,000 hangar is expected to be ready for use in sixty days.

SAN MARCOS, Oct. 29 (AP).—Hays county's wool and mohair clip for 1929 will approach $500,000, it has been estimated. The fall clip of mohair alone was expected to approximate $75,000 in value.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery, man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

SEARCH IS MADE FOR MAN AT McCAMEY. THREE HELD

(By Associated Press)

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 29. Interest in the double murder of Carl Jones, 37, a widower, and his step-daughter Elizabeth Walworth, 23, Saturday night at Jones' farm near here, centered today in the search for Harry Jones of McCamey, Texas, brother of the slain man.

John Phelan Jones, father of Carl, Neil Jones, his brother, and Clarence Walworth, brother of the girl, were held for investigation.

Estate is Cause

Ill feeling over the settlement of the estate of the mother of Carl Jones, in which she willed him her entire property is believed to have played a part in the killings. Importance is attached to letters written to Harry Jones by Carl, threatening to have him arrested for adultery.

The men who are held by the authorities all have given alibis. John Phelan Jones and Clarence Walworth say they were at home in Augusta the night of the killings. Neil Jones told police he was on a hunting trip near Wichita Saturday night.

The shotgun shells that killed Jones and Miss Walworth were found to be an obsolete type, containing a powerful charge of explosive.

Paul Jones, 10 year old son of the slain man was the most unconcerned member of the family today. He discovered the body of his step-sister yesterday morning after sleeping through the shooting.

TEXAS SHOOTINGS

Walker farm, four and one-half miles northeast of Ralls.

"I have sworn statements from four eye witnesses to the shooting and also a statement from Hawkins himself," said Mr. Bradley, "and I am convinced that the nature of the nature of the shooting would not warrant bond for the accused.

Started Over Dog Fight

The argument, according to witnesses, is said to have started over a dog fight. Walker was returning from his garden when he saw the dogs fighting, and he is said to have asked his son-in-law to stop the fight. Hawkins refused and ordered his father-in-law away. A short argument is alleged to have followed when Walker refused to leave, after which Hawkins went into the house and returned a short while later. Only one shot was fired, from a shotgun, the charge lodging in Walker's left chest.

Walker, known to many as "Uncle Sam," was a pioneer of the South Plains, having lived in this section forty years. He formerly owned the farm on which the shooting occurred, having recently given it to his wife. His son-in-law also lived there with his wife.

Survivors are one son, W. M. Walker, of Throckmorton and four daughters, Mamie Walker, Mrs. Nora L. Goins, Mrs. Vera Wilmeth, and Mrs. Jewell Hawkins, all of Ralls.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Estacado.

FINIS BROWN KILLED BY JOHN DEES TODAY

AMARILLO, Oct. 29 (AP).—Shot three times with an automatic pistol Finis Brown, mechanic, was killed instantly in an office building here today. John Dees, wealthy pioneer real estate developer, surrendered to police and was lodged in the county jail.

Dees refused to make any statement.

Tenants in the building attracted to the corridor by the shots, said they saw Brown run towards a stairway where he collapsed. His body was picked up half way down the stairs where it had rolled.

COUPLE DEAD AS RESULT OF TROUBLE

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 29 (AP).—Erwin E. Perceful, 28, and his wife, Mattie Lee Perceful, are dead as a result of shooting at their home here today.

Mrs. Perceful was found dead in her husband's room with three bullet wounds in her body. Perceful was found sitting in a corner of the room, a bullet wound in his head and a pistol grasped in his hand. He died an hour after he was removed to a hospital.

The couple had been divorced and remarried only two weeks ago.

SHOOTING CLIMAXES DALLAS FIST FIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP).—A shooting alleged to have followed an argument over the letting of air out two automobile tires resulted in the death of Frank B. MacKedon, 28, conductor of a string of music stores in Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas, and the filing of a charge of murder against Vincent C. Corrier, a real estate broker and contractor, here today.

The shooting occurred in the rear of an apartment occupied by MacKedon. It was said to have been preceded by a fist fight.

Two bullets from an automatic pistol was fired into MacKedon's body, one taking effect just above the heart and the other in the neck. The argument followed the letting of air from the two front tires on MacKedon's automobile.

In a statement, Corrier denied he shot MacKedon, and declared the pistol was discharged while they were struggling for its possession.

HIDDINGS, Oct. 29 (AP).—Mrs. Anita Drews, mother of three children, was fighting for her life in an Austin hospital today and her husband, W. W. Drews, was under an assault to murder charge, after a shooting in the Drews home here Sunday night.

R-101 LACKS ONLY SWIMMING POOL TO MATCH LUXURY OF MODERN OCEAN LINER; STATEROOMS HAVE SPACE ACCOMMODATIONS FOR 100; FIRST FLIGHT SUCCESSFUL

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP).—If the dirigible R-101 had a swimming pool, it would have about everything that is found on the ocean liner.

The passenger staterooms have room for 100 persons, but with births for only 52 at present. They are arranged in corridors with upper and lower berths. Lavatories are provided nearby.

The dining salon is a cheery affair seating 50 persons, and is roomy. The atmosphere is that of a roof garden, with fine silver and linen. Through a long slanting window on one side the passengers can see the rest of the world go by.

But the largest public room is the lounge. It is 60 feet long and 32 feet wide, with a polished floor for dancing and writing tables along the walls.

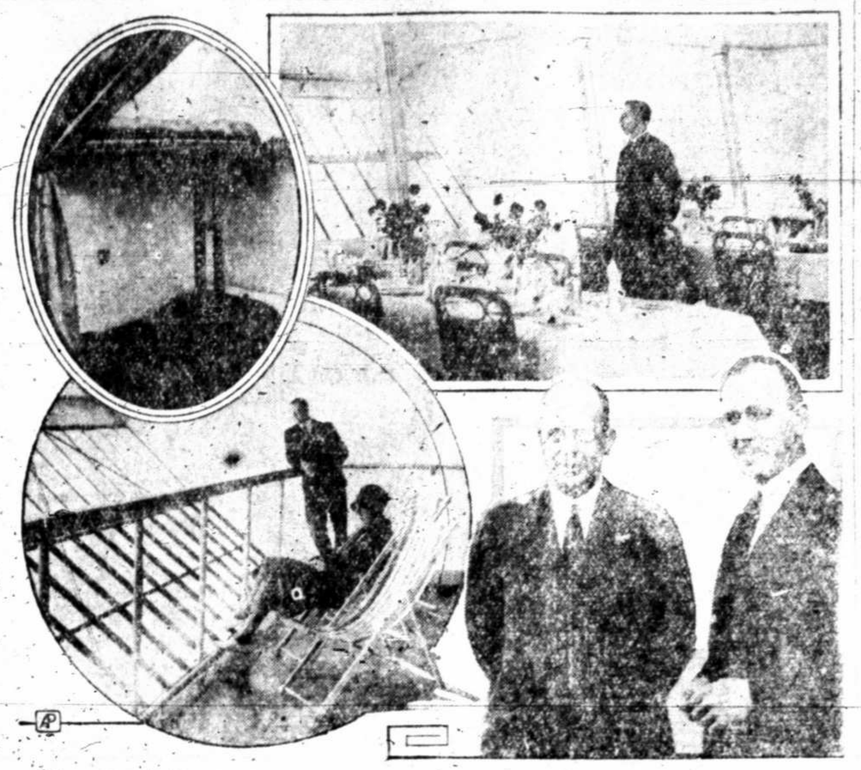

On each side is a promenade deck with a rail from which passengers can look out.

The cold which heretofore has frozen out the occupants of dirigibles is circumvented in the R-101, with the heat from the five motors pumping hot air to the passenger quarters.

And the no-smoking rule which has troubled passengers on other dirigibles is lacking here. Those who smoke, however, must go to a fireproof smoking room to do it. No one is permitted to carry matches; the smokes are ignited by electric lighters.

The upper and lower passenger decks are contained in the outer envelope of the big ship, and even the control cars projects only slightly from the keel. Only the gondolas containing the five 585 horsepower Diesel engines hang below the envelopes. Quarters for the crew are distributed in various parts of the hull.

The ship made her first flying test on October 14, carrying 14 passengers and a crew of 38 for a 300 mile journey.

BOARD'S PLAN

cated it was ready to loan to the limit of its funds and it would not call on the co-operatives for marginal.

OVERSTREET EXPLAINS AGREEMENT CLAUSES

Expressing opinion that action of the farm board in making loans to cotton co-operative associations would cause a substantial improvement in the market, R. E. Overstreet of this city, director of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, outlined today the clauses in the farm board's agreement.

Referring to a letter received from Harry Williams, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau cotton association, Mr. Overstreet said: "In Texas the farm board proposes to lend 16.25 cents at Houston on 7-8 inch staple. It will lend to us the differentials on or off, according to the grade and staple on all cotton we have in the seasonal pool. It will lend to us for advances to members who ship to the option pool, the reason for this being that the farm board nor the association would have any control over the sale or fixation of the cotton and consequently, such a loan would be a hazard as compared to one on seasonal pool cotton where the association can control sales and fixations in co-operation with the farm board.

To Advance Member

"If a member has shipped us a bale of cotton that is middling 7-8 inch staple, the board will lend us 16.25, which would be $81.25 per bale and we in turn would advance this amount to the member, less freight and estimated overhead expense. If a member shipped us a middling bale of cotton of 1 inch staple, the board would lend us 16.25 cents plus 1-2 the value in the staple. If a member shipped us a bale of good middling 1 inch staple the board would lend us 16.25 cents, plus 60 points for grade, plus 1-2 the premium for the staple. If a member shipped us a 7-8 inch staple, low middling bale, the board would lend us 16.25 cents, less the differential between middling and low middling, less freight and expenses.

"We will be in a position in about three weeks to complete a loan with the farm board on cotton already received and make a distribution to members who have shipped to the Carson pool on 16.25-cent middling bale, according to grade and staple.

"It should be borne in mind that the farm board has definitely committed itself to go along with us in this program. It has agreed to make us this loan and not call for margins in the event of a decline. Moreover, it has agreed not to call this loan in the event of a temporary decline."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Trans-American Corporation broke 32 2-8 points on the opening sale of 3,700 shares, 17,500 being offered at 9.50 a. m. After trading had been suspended 50 minutes on the local stock market to allow bookkeepers to handle the enormous volume of selling orders.

The wide open split followed announcement by A. P. Giannini that the corporation no longer would support its own stock against a world wide crash in securities prices. The price rallied 7-8 of point to 31 in the first five minutes while 5,700 shares crossed the board, climbing irregularly the stock had reached 33, a minute later.

Yet ALL-BRAN Brought Relief Almost Immediately —No Trouble Since

When constipation once gets a grip on a person, it is almost impossible to relieve it, let alone prevent it with drugs and treatments. But here's a lady who was freed from her suffering—read her letter.

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation and although I had tried about everything that was recommended to me, I had almost given up hopes of ever being relieved.

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago." Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2104 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Your system must have roughage or bulk daily, otherwise constipation is almost inevitable. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply this bulk. It is a healthful cereal to eat every day. To use in cooked dishes or serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation and to prevent it. Far better than pills and laxatives whose doses often have to be increased to be effective. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FURS ARE USED LIKE FABRIC

For formal daytime wear, the black broadtail has enviable distinction. This one is semi-fitted and has an uneven hemline. Four silver foxes trim it sumptuously. A black velvet turban is quite in keeping with the elegance of this garment. For football games or a cold day's informal wear, a beige caracul coat is an excellent choice. Here is one with princess lines and a suede belt to further emphasize the waistline. The collar fastens up snugly, slipping one end through a slit in the other side and fashioning a bow for decoration. A knitted jersey beret matches the belt in color.

By HENRI BENDEL
Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Furs this winter have three outstanding characteristics.

In the first place, the furs themselves are luxuriously beautiful and fine, with the thin, delicate furs very important. Because of this, in the second place, they are manipulated as if they were fabric. And in the third place, manipulated as fabric, the furs take the fashionable new silhouette, make much-of collars and cuffs and find the waistline, just as gowns do.

Lengthened hems and raised waistlines, therefore, are to be found on all of the newer long coats. There are many fur jackets and three-quarter wraps. There is another story. It is of the winter fur coat that tops the daytime frock that I speak.

Flat Furs Modish

The flatter the fur this year, the more stylish for coats. Nothing takes the place of fur, la Milady's wardrobe. Since furs are favored not only for their warmth but because they enhance a woman's beauty, the more beautiful the fur, the greater its aesthetic contribution.

Certain women look magnificent in brown furs, others wear gray. But the elegant coat for daytime wear is apt to be the black one. For black has that distinguished something that no other coat can quite achieve.

Soft black furs in vogue include broadtail, Persian lamb, caracul, ermine, broadtail and pony. Breitschwantz combines chic and dignity which makes it exceptionally good for the older woman.

Variety Is Wide

If one does not want a black coat, mink and sable are the expensive choices. Caracul, Persian lamb, and numbers of other furs give a woman a wide choice in moderately priced coats that are decorative while they render good service.

For sports wear, the belted coat is still excellent, giving that youthful look and giving a note of color in the fur belt.

I have in mind a sandalwood caracul coat that features both a raised waistline in its shaped silhouette and a belt to emphasize it. The standing collar has a slit through which the fur is pulled, forming a bow which adds to the youthfulness of the model.

For dressy wear, I might suggest an elegant Leipzig dyed Russian broadtail, with silver fox collar and cuffs. This coat features the uneven hemline, for the coat dips to a low point in the back. The collar and cuffs make use of four foxes, most effectively.

For both of these coats, as well as for most of the winter's wraps for daytime, the turban is a happy choice for headgear. For the sports coat, a little crocheted beret from Agnes is a good note. For the black coat, a draped velvet turban is excellent.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

My laundress called me up the other day and sobbingly told me she could not come to work for some time. If she was ill from worry and had to go away for a rest.

It was all on account of her daughter, she said. The mother had worked hard at washing and scrubbing to give her girls—who were ambitious—a good education. Their father wasn't interested. He thought they should get out and work as soon as they were old enough. She had gotten them through high school and the older one had had one year of college.

This year the younger one had decided she, too, would like to go to school, and she had her trunk all packed to go, when the boy friend persuaded her to marry him. They went off for a week-end "visit" and came back to announce that they were married.

"He's a nice boy," sobbed Rosie over the phone, "and he says he'll take care of Violet, but I can't help worrying for fear she'll have to go through what I did."

Now we parents know that you young people didn't ask to be brought into the world neither did we and that you don't owe us a thing on that score. But we also know that we've treated you pretty decently since then—most of us—and done everything we could to make life pleasant.

You've taken it all, to, so don't you think you owe us an even break? We usually consult you, or at least tell you, if we are planning any big move that will mean a difference in your life. Why not let us in on the wedding plans? Suppose we object to the boy friend? We might be right about him, you know, and, as you will probably be married a long time when you do marry, maybe you could afford to wait a little while so as to be sure you've picked the right one.

* * *

"MY DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a girl 17 years old and am deeply in love with a boy one year my junior. He loves me very much. Now, Virginia, I have been going with this boy for seven months and now my parents have forbidden my going with him.

"I slip out and be with him every chance I get, for I can't stand the idea of not seeing him. Do you think this is wrong? Do you think my parents should object to my seeing him if I love him?

"JUST SEVENTEEN."

Why do your parents object to him. Just Seventeen? Have his actions caused them to withdraw their good opinion? Do they think he has a bad influence over you? I don't like to advise anyone to be disloyal to a real friend, but often, I think, young people would be much better off if they would look a bit critically at the boys of whom their parents disapprove.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am 19 years old and have kept steady company with a boy 22 for over a year. We love one another and he has asked me to marry him, but my parents object. Now, Virginia, do not say take your parents' advice, as I can't do without him. Do you think that we can get married at my age? And do you have to have witnesses? I will be very glad to have your advice. E. R."

Yes, you could be married in the town you speak of, and you would probably need two witnesses, but don't do it dear. Wait a little while to see if you can't get your parents' consent to marry at home. You wouldn't want your mother to have a nervous breakdown, would you, on account of such a shock? You know it means that you will leave home never to return save as a visitor, and that means a big change in your parents' life and a loss.

Think how you would feel if your mother or father went away without letting you know they were going, and with someone whom you disliked. Wouldn't it be a shock? Well, you put them in that position when you run off and get married.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am an ardent reader of your column, and have come to you for aid. I am 13 and my boy friend is 20. We broke up a short time ago about nothing at all. I love this boy and he loves me, but he's so stubborn he won't even speak to or look at me. He has never been out with a girl besides me. Do you think he still loves me? Should I speak first or just forget him?

"TOMMY."

As you love him and think he loves you, I believe I'd make an effort to make up by speaking first, and if he won't respond, forget him.

FRIEND OF PAUPER DEAD ARRANGES MANY BURIALS; PROVIDES EXPENSE

(By Central Press)

GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 29.—Max T. Payne, Greensboro business man, does not intend that during his lifetime any person shall be buried in a potter's field at this city.

For more than 20 years Payne has been providing burial for vagabonds who come to the end of life's journey in Greensboro. Going about his purpose quietly, he has almost filled two family plots at Green Hill, the city cemetery, with the graves of those he has buried. He expects to continue this work as long as he lives.

An architect, a doctor and a newspaper man are included among those who have found resting places in the two plots. Along with these are an aviator and a man killed in a highway robbery attempt. Women and children have also been buried.

Some of then at one time occupied high station of life, but they all came to a common end—death without anyone, except Payne, to bury them. Payne gave them all a respectable burial, furnishing burial plots and buying coffins and meeting other funeral expenses whenever necessary.

Payne gives a simple explanation of the charity he has interested himself in:

"I can't stand the idea," he said, "of a burial in a potter's field, if I can help it. As long as I live I am going to try to see that anybody who dies in this city without friends gets a Christian funeral."

TEXAS SHERIFF GOES HALF WAY 'ROUND WORLD TO GET HIS MAN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 29—The two-gun Texas sheriff, like the red-coated patrolman of the Canadian Northwest Mounted and the business-like detective of famous Scotland Yard, insists upon "getting his man" no matter how long it takes.

Which is why A. B. Crouch, former grain broker of the nearby city of Temple, Texas, is now in jail in Helensville, New Zealand, awaiting return to Texas for trial for an offense committeed 13 years ago.

Thirteen years and 12,000 miles—ordinarily that would be enough time and space to put a man well beyond the reach of the law.

But Sheriff John R. Bingham of Bell county, Texas, who journeyed all the way to New Zealand to get Crouch, is nemesis presonified.

Crouch disappeared in the spring of 1916.

Member of a prominent Bell county family, a college graduate and a capable and popular business man, he had established himself as one of the leading grain brokers in Texas. One night he vanished from his home, leaving letters to friends stating that he was disappearing forever, to begin life anew in a distant land.

After his departure it was discovered that two Temple banks had been swindled out of $125,000 by forged bills of lading and other documents. These forgeries were laid at Crouch's door.

Then began the search—the 13-year search. Only recently came success.

In far-away New Zealand a real estate man known as John Grey was found to be Crouch. The fugitive broker had established himself in a pleasant town half way around the world and was confident that he had left his past far behind him.

Now, Sheriff Bingham is absent on his long trip to get Crouch and bring him back to Texas for trial.

The search took 13 years and extended half way around the earth.

But a Texas sheriff makes a specialty of getting his man.

Honey Bran Muffins

(Mixing time: 10 minutes)

Nature's oldest and purest sweet—honey—joins two other natural foods—fruit and whole wheat—in these quick muffins. And Crisco, the sweetest, freshest-flavored shortening you could possibly imagine, lends its freshness and pure flavor to the ensemble.

4 tablespoons melted Crisco
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup honey
1½ cups thick sour milk
1 cup whole wheat flour
½ cup bread flour
2 cups bran
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup raisins or chopped dates

Light and set oven at 375° F. (medium oven). Melt sufficient Crisco for recipe and to brush into muffin tins. Beat the egg, stir in the honey and sour milk. Sift the two kinds of flour with soda, salt and baking-powder, mix with the bran and stir into the first mixture. Add raisins and melted Crisco and beat well. Fill Criscoed muffin tins half-full with batter. Bake in medium oven (375° F.) from 20 to 25 minutes. This makes 24 large muffins. I have reheated these muffins when they were a week old and found that Crisco had kept them fresh and moist.

This recipe has been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

Taste Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor

TASTE a cooking fat? And why not? You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your cakes, pies, hot breads, cookies and fried foods.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

Park Plan Perpetual Care

On The Lubbock-Slaton Highway 3 Miles Southeast of the City

DRIVE OUT TO-DAY

Another milestone in the growth and development of Lubbock is about to be passed. From New York to Los Angeles and from Minneapolis to Houston every large city has its modern park plan burial park. The founders of Memorial Park think Lubbock is entitled to the best. These men of great experience in this special work have determined that this institution shall represent the outstanding project of its kind in the South. Thousands of dollars are being spent at this time in carrying out this idea. Every feature of this development is being planned by the best engineering and architectural talents in the country. Old time obsoelte cemetery methods have been cast aside and only the modern park and landscape features are a part of this installation.

An imposing entrance is being constructed which with the winding drives, green lawns, beautiful shrubs and restricted monument or memorial regulations will always permit Memorial Park to carry on as a wonderful civic park project.

Then, too, Memorial Park will be properly protected through the establishment of an ample perpetual care fund, the income from which will forever keep this project as safe as human knowledge and experience will permit.

LUBBOCK DETERMINED TO GIVE ALL AGAINST AMARILLO TEAM

MATADORS POINTING TO GAME WITH BAYLOR BEARS

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

Cyrus Leland was a hero in more ways than one when he visited home town folks here Saturday as a member of the T. C. U. football eleven. "Football's fastest human" not only scored two of his team's touchdowns against the Matadors, but was the recipient of a valuable gift presented by the Lubbock high school Athletic association. The hand bag presented the former Westerner athlete was a token of esteem for his phenomenal performance on the cinder path and gridiron since entering T. C. U. Leland has gained nationwide prominence, both for T. C. U. and for Lubbock, even though he has moved to Fort Worth.

Leland is practically assured of winning a berth on the mythical all-conference eleven this year, since there's no other one halfback in the conference that can approach Cy's speed or prove as dangerous at all times in a football game. Leland is fast enough to score on the best of Southwest teams and a glimpse of his scoring record to date will show that he's been crossing the goal lines of practically every team the Frogs have met. The fact that Leland furnished the punch for the toads to defeat the Texas Aggies is enough in itself to command the attention of all scribes and championship pickers.

Ripley might have found several subjects for his "Believe it or Not" cartoons last Saturday at Roswell had he been on hand to see the Texas Tech freshmen battle the N. M. M. I. cadets. Though losing 20 to 6, the Picadors piled up 12 first downs as compared to 6 for the Broncos. The cadets failed to make a first down through running plays but at the same time scored three touchdowns via the overhead route, and herein lies the "believe it or not." N. M. M. I. attempted 12 passes, completed 6 for a total of 195 yards. One of these passes, which netted a touchdown, sailed through the air 69 yards before it landed in the arms of a Roswell end standing against the Picadors goal posts. This pass was thrown on the fourth down and was meant to be a punt, but Tech linemen rushed the kicker, who sidestepped and flung the pigskin over the end zone, hoping for a touchback, which would have given Tech the ball on its own 20 yard line. But one of his ends had been running while the sidestepping act was in progress; this wingman saw the ball coming over his head and made a final spurt to spear the oval as he plunged headlong into the goal posts.

Dispatches from Roswell leave no doubt as to the fact that the Picadors played all assortments of rings around the Broncos, the the frosh have learned that first downs don't win football games in college. On several occasions the Tech gridders would have counted again but their plays were bawled up and the usual occurred. Teal and Crabtree, the Tech freshman ends, let the cadets know they were in the game, and how! This pair of wing men stopped everything that came their way and some that had started in other directions.

Coach Rhodes Ingerton was pleased over the showing of his Picadors despite the fact that they were defeated. "That's the fightinest bunch of boys I have ever handled, and believe me, they never did let up fighting. We have material on that squad that should prove valuable additions to the varsity next year and I believe they will."

Local football fans will have their choice of two rare grid attractions this week-end and may see either by taking one of the special trains that will leave here for Waco and Amarillo. At Waco the Matadors will make their initial call on the Baylor Bears and at Amarillo the Westerners will make their supreme bid to oust the Naughty Sandies from the topmost pinnacle of district one football competition. Both will be games worth watching and both have important bearing on the institution represented.

LOCALS WORK SECRETLY FOR COMING TILT

DEFENSE PRIMED FOR SANDIES; TRAIN TO LEAVE SATURDAY

A crew of high school football warriors set out with grim determination Monday afternoon to accomplish what the majority of experts deem the impossible—down the Amarillo Sandies.

It was an earnest squad of gridsters that donned the gold and black grid togs yesterday to start intensive training for the crucial battle Saturday at Amarillo against the 1928 champions.

Gates Closed

With a huge padlock decorating the main entrance to Merrill park and all other avenues closely guarded, the Lubbock mentors immediately started work on the perfection of a defense to cope with the vaunted aerial attack and spinners employed by the Golden Standstorm crew.

Work On Defense

Though the Amarillo stars were hard at work on their own field in Amarillo, the names of Bufkin, Hudgins, Gibson and Lockhart rang out from Merrill park here yesterday as a squad of reserves, led by Coach Del Morgan, ran Amarillo plays against the regulars. Blair and Clayton likewise came in for their share of the spotlight as the Sandy overhead game came into use. It was a fighting horde of Westerners that batted down supposed Amarillo passes and crashed through to stop "Lockhart," "Bufkin" and other Sandy leather toters.

If the Westerners can stop the Sandies aerial threat, the main Amarillo attack will be halted and Lubbock will stand an even chance to repluse the title bound Sandstorm eleven—this is the opinion of Lubbock coaches and players and this will take up many hours of hard work this week.

Darkness Halts Practice

Darkness found the Westerners going strong Monday, with promise of at least three more days of intensive training. The squad will leave Friday and will be followed Saturday morning by a train load of Westerner boosters. School authorities here estimate the delegation which will make the Amarillo trip at a mark between 1,000 and 2,000. Fifteen coaches will be available for the fans.

The fight for guard, tackle and center positions is waging with added fury this week as Coach Frnka seeks to find his strongest defensive combination. Monday's starting combination of Frizzell and Brawley at tackles, Welch and James at guards and Leaverton at center was no more impressive than another made up of Frizzell and Williams at tackles, Griggs and Abbott at guards and Crawford at center. McGeehee also worked at one of the guard posts and Watson at tackle.

"Beat the Sandies"

Members of the Lubbock squad are living, breathing and sleeping this week with the Amarillo battle in mind. Individual pictures of each member of the Sandy eleven can be seen in the Westerners' dressing rooms along with weights and numbers of the entire Amarillo squad. Daily skull practice has furnished the Westerners with all available information on the Sandy squad and when Frnka and Morgan lead their warriors out on the gridiron at Butler field Saturday, there will be no strangers in camp for the local gridsters.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—On a canvas-covered battle ground at Wrigley field, Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, tonight will defend his crown against the rushes of his most persistent challenger, Ace Hudkins.

Reared in the ring school that teaches "no quarter asked and none given," these two gladiators planned to settle a fistic dispute in ten rounds or less, that will go down as one of the memorable jousts of the game.

Hudkins Claims Victory

One year ago they came together in an encounter which since has provoked much comment, both for and against the decision. The Rumson, N. J. bulldog retained his title after ten furious sessions, but Hudkins always claimed he was the victim of a poor decision.

Some 25,000 persons, accounting for a gate of between $125,000 and $140,000 will be on hand to see whether Hudkins is to don the robes of a champion or remain in the ranks of those who have tried and failed.

Different in their ring styles, each is, however, an old fashioned "battler" in the final analysis. Walker is the better boxer and harder puncher. Hudkins, a mauling, flailing bruiser, bores in steadily to wear down his opponents.

HOOKS AND SLIDES
By Henry L. Farrell

The Game's Over—Well, Who Wins?

They say the football rules jugglers are going to get together at the end of this season and simplify the touchdown business. That shouldn't be such a Gargantuan endeavor if somebody can find one of the 1910 rule books. By going back 20 years and forgiving and forgetting all that has occurred in the way of rule changes since then, some great and lasting good may be accomplished.

At least, for the customers. It's getting so that the fans at an ordinary football game actually have to ask some official after the game who won. A case in point:

Brown beat Princeton the other day, but of all the thousands who saw the game, no one would reach right down in his pocket and bet a dollar on the contest until they had read the newspapers.

False Cheers

We have the picture of Princeton leading Brown by a score of 12 to 7 with three minutes to play. It is fourth down. The quarterback—it is Brown's ball—calls for a forward pass. He shoots it through the air straight into the arms of a waiting end. The end races across the goal line and touches earth with the oval.

In the old days nearly everybody—even the lady two seats to the rear who asks why the players don't run the other way because the path is clear—would have known that was a touchdown. There would have been wild cheering over the snatching of victory after the game seemed lost. But no!

The stands sat hushed. Even after the players had raced across the line, the stands were silent. They sat like the Roman Senate might have sat waiting for Cicero to launch his exordium.

Suddenly the referee's arms shot up. It was a the signal—touchdown! And the stands—after a full minute of suspense—broke into a mad roar of victory.

You Don't Fool Us

It was like this, you see. The stands had seen two Princeton men run for touchdowns in the period preceding that last swift dash across the goal. They had cheered then, only to find out after all the shouting that these weren't touchdowns at all. There had been some technicality, friends. The stamping, cheering and whistling had been wasted. They would be fooled no more. They would wait and see.

There you are. If the crowd doesn't know enough about the game to realize that a winning score has been made, what has football become?

Chasing the Captains

The tendency of coaches to chase captains to the bench has showed a marked increase this year. It is remarkable, too, that captains have been dethroned mostly after the teams lose the games. If the coaches are the real leaders and direct the play of the team, why pick on the poor skipper? It's all very complicated.

It is proposed to make the buyer of bootleg liquor guilty along with the seller. Looks as if they're trying to make it appear that a drinker actually has a part in violating the law.

BIG TEN MAY SEE CHANGES ON SATURDAY

MICHIGAN AND BADGER MAY PROVE UPSETS IN GAMES

BY WILLIAM WEEKES,
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Two Western conference football coaches, Harry Kipke of Michigan and Glenn Thistlethwaite of Wisconsin, are working at top speed to still faint sounds of hammer on anvil.

Both the Wolverines and Badgers become the season opened, were ranked among leading threats for the Big Ten title. They now are ranked as the biggest disappointments in the conference, and their supporters are beginning to ask the reason for successive defeats.

Michigan has dropped its three conference starts, bowing to Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois, while the Badgers, with a large number of veterans in their cast, have been defeated by Northwestern, Iowa and Notre Dame.

Meet Purdue Saturday

The Badgers' next test will be Saturday when Jimmy Phelan takes his onrushing Purdue eleven to Madison to help celebrate Wisconsin's homecoming. A victory over the Boilermakers, who have established themselves, along with Minnesota, as the pick of the conference, will quiet the muttering.

Michigan, with its first open date in more than 29 years scheduled for Saturday, has two weeks during which to reorganize and get going in time for the invasion of Harvard. All of the 87,000 tickets for the game have been sold, and Kipke is driving his squad to prepare a team that will not disappoint the throng.

Practices Were Easy

Practice sessions in all camps yesterday were easy for the regulars who played in the last Saturday's game. Northwestern received the heaviest assignment, working on a long defensive drill against Illinois formations. The Illini went through a signal drill, with the same backfield that started against Michigan, but with some changes in the makeup of the line. "Frosty" Peters, regular quarterback, has not recovered from injuries suffered in the Iowa game, and is not expected to play against Northwestern.

Purdue's regulars rested, but Coach Phelan scanned his reserves for more end material, following the injury which will keep Ed Caraway from action for the rest of the season. Wisconsin walked through new plays to be used against the Boilermakers Saturday.

Get Eastern Play

At Michigan, Harvey Emery, former Princeton line star, instructed reserves in eastern line play in preparation for drills against the varsity. Indiana's varsity was let off with a lecture, as was the regular Ohio State squad. Minnesota received a light dummy scrimmage as its first work in preparation for Indiana, and Chicago, with four regulars on the injury list, merely limbered up.

Iowa, which also has an open date Saturday, did little but will get down to business for the Minnesota game a week from Saturday, in tomorrow's practice.

Man Wins But Loses In Lottery Drawing

BRESLAU, Oct. 28.—With a big lottery prize of $100,000 in his pocket, Bruno Weilmann thought he need not obther to work for the rest of his life, but Dame Fortune decided the other way.

Herr Weilmann was the owner of a flourishing little cafe until he won the big prize in the Saxon State lottery. He immediately made his nephew proprietor of his cafe, bought a villa, and prepared with the interest on the rest of his money to spend his days in dignified ease. But the next day, the bank in which he had deposited his winnings went bankrupt.

The blow shook him so seriously that he had to be taken to an insane asylum.

LONGHORNS AND PONIES TO FURNISH REAL BATTLE FOR FANS; 24,000 ARE EXPECTED; CLOSE PLAY LOOKED FOR

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Neither Texas nor Southern Methodist will lack proper incentive when they clash in their vital bout at Dallas this week. Rivalry between the Longhorns and Mustangs in recent years has become almost equal to that between the Steers and Aggies. Officials anticipate a capacity crowd of 24,000 at Ownby Stadium Saturday.

For five years the Methodists have held the upper hand. The best the Orange has managed to do during that period was a scoreless tie in 1925. The other four were Mustang victories. In 1924 it was 9 to 6; 1926, 21 to 17; 1927, 14 to 0; 1928, 6 to 2. Last year's loss to the Mustangs at Austin was the only blot on the Orange escutcheon, and it rankled.

They still are talking about that game. Texas supporters never will be convinced Captain Rufus King did not ram across the Mustang goal line for what would have been a winning touchdown. They even trotted out a motion picture of the play to support their contention that King went over. Unfortunately, however, the reel was not a talkie, and there was no way of telling whether the referee's whistle tooted before or after the Longhorn back ripped across. The official held King was halted momentarily just short of the line and the ball went over to the Ponies on the one-foot mark.

S. M. U. also came out of the thrilling tussle with a grievance. The victory cost them the services of their bell wether Redman Hume, for almost the remainder of the season. He went out with a cracked ankle after he had led the Red and Blue on their march to a touchdown. His loss was a big blow to the Ponies, who had visioned a conference title. Sammy Reed, who played the remainder of the season in Hume's position, proved a disappointment to Coach Ray Morrison. From that point on, the Mustangs couldn't win for losing, a 19-19 tie with the Aggies being their best report. The Steers recovered from that setback to batter their way to the championship.

So, everything considered, there is reason to believe the customers will get their money's worth Saturday. Many observers, after watching Shelley, Rees et al., waylay the Oklahoma Sooners a week ago, are of the opinion this year's Texas machine is even stronger than last season. The Mustangs, with the sophomore sensation, "Speedy" Mason, as their principal threat, appear fully as stout as in 1928. Mason is proving a perfect foil for the tricky style of offense taught by Ray Morrison, with two such powerful offensive teams opposed, the scoring on both sides might mount into two figures.

There were more long spectacular runs in last week's games than any other Saturday has produced this season. Cy Leland, Frog flash, pulled the prize when he took the opening kickoff at Lubbock and ran 90 yards through the entire Tech team. His feat went unrecorded in the official score, however, as an official decided the fleet Cy stepped out midway of the field. Another official disagreed with the decision, but it stuck. Mason's 90-yard return of a punt against Mississippi at Dallas was the second best. Nona Rees, Longhorn field general, caught a Rice punt and threaded his way 78 yards down the field for a touchdown. Bob Gilbert, Mustang back, sprinted 63 yards for a score.

INJURIES TO BE HEALED BY WACO GAME

DICK GREEN TO BE IN LINE-UP, SWIFT MAY PLAY ALSO

Facing a comparitively short period in which to rest up from their battle with the Horned Frogs of T. C. U., and to prepare for their second successive Southwestern conference game, the Tech football warriors went through a light session Monday and took to the field today earlier than usual to start concentrated training for their skirmish with the Baylor University Bears at Waco Saturday.

With the exception of Ransom Walker, who received a fractured arm, the Matadors emerged from the fracas with the Horned Toads without any serious injuries. The entire squad was on the field Monday afternoon, running, passing, kicking and taking the usual practice to stave off the after-game soreness.

Green To Be Back In

Indications yesterday were that Dick Green, quarterback, would be ready for action against the Bears Saturday, as well as Calvin Swift, center. Green has been out with an injured ankle while Swift has been suffering with a badly-infected leg.

Pleased with the showing of their charges in the T. C. U. tilt, the Tech mentors will send the Matadors through the remaining days of practice with hope of catching the Bears off stride and handing the Jennings crew a setback in the first meeting between the two schools. This may or may not be possible—since Baylor lost a decision contest to the Centenary Gents last week, and may be out to get back their early-season form by smothering the Matadors.

Percy Out For Good

Walker was on the field yesterday, arm in sling and watching his mates go through their paces. It appeared practically certain that he would be out for the remainder of the season and thus for the rest of his college football career.

Marvin F. Warlick, manager of Tech athletics, said last night that one of the largest crowds that ever ridden a Matador special train would be on hand for the take-off Friday night for Waco. An unusually low rate has been placed on the round trip by railway officials, and indications are that several hundred will take advantage of this to see the Tech eleven in action against the Baylor Bears.

PAYING DITEMAN'S INSURANCE TASK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29 (AP)—Disappearance of Urban F. Diteman, jr., on his attempted trans-Atlantic flight, has presented a difficult problem to officials of the Kansas City Life Insurance company with which the flier carried $40,000 life insurance. The officials said today they had not heard from the beneficiaries of Diteman who is believed to have lost his life, and that no decision had been reached as to payment of the insurance. It was said there was no precedent to guide the company in the case.

The insurance was written before Diteman learned to fly. Company officials, in denying that Diteman purchased the policies several month before he started his ocean attempt, said that the insurance had been in force for three years or more.

HOGS PAYING PROPOSITION

TERRY COUNTY FARMER REALIZES $174.64 FROM ONE GILT

(Special to The Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29—J. O. Hobbs, president of the Harmony community Hen, Hog and Hominy club, according to County Agent Roy B. Davis, reports a profit of $174.64 from his registered Poland-China gilt.

This gilt farrowed 10 pigs on April 10. From this litter he sold $147.50 worth of pigs. On September 27 this sow again farrowed 10 pigs, eight of which are still living. The sow was first prize winner in her class as a gilt, at the 1928 Terry County Fair. Her first litter was sold to club boys of Gaines and Terry counties.

Counts Them at $10

Hobbs has all the pigs sold out of the last litter at $15, but counting them worth $10, his sow will net him $174.64 exclusive of cost of feed, pasturage and labor.

In addition to making a good record with his sow, J. O. always has above 90 per cent attendance at the 4-H club meetings and his club was 100 per cent present at the Terry County Club rally recently and sent four representatives to the Farmers Short Course at Texas A. and M. college last summer. The club also had a splendid booth at the Terry County Fair this year.

Purchased Lillard Stock

The sow is one of 71 purchased last year by Terry county 4-7 pig clubs from the Lillard Stock Farm.

Another 4-H club boy, Dan Hulee, of the Lahey Lively Leaders club, reports unusual success with his pig project. Dan was winner in the contest held by a local merchant recently, in which $35 was given to three boys or girls whose pigs made the greatest daily gains at the lowest cost per pound gain.

Dan's pig, a grade Poland-China, was two months old when he started and weighed 55 pounds. He fed it 103 days. At the end of this time it weighed 350 pounds, showing a gain of 295 pounds, or an average daily gain of 2.86 pounds. Cost per pound of gain was 6.2 cents. Corn chops, skim milk and a commercial protein supplement were fed throughout the period.

This pig sold at $9.25 per hundred bringing $32.38. It won $20 prize money, thus making Dan a profit of $33.87 in 103 days.

BANKERS BUY IN AIR LINE

THREE N. YORK BANKS INTERESTED IN NEW ZEPPELIN WORK

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Announcement that three of the most prominent financial houses of New York had bought a 75 per cent interest in the proposed dirigible line between the Pacific coast and Honolulu was made today by Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin company.

The National City Bank, Lehman brothers and Rayson M. P. Murphy, each has bought a one-fourth interest in the line, Litchfield announced, while the Goodyear Zeppelin company will retain the remaining 25 per cent of the stock.

Starts in 1932

The enterprise was recently incorporated in California as the Pacific Zeppelin Transport Company Ltd., although actual operation cannot begin until 1932. By that time the company expects to have the first of two 800 foot dirigibles completed and a working agreement effected with American air, rail and steamship services and transportation companies in the Hawaiian Islands.

The American terminal for the line will be situated in Southern California, probably at San Diego or Los Angeles. A mooring mast will be erected at Honolulu and another probably at Guam, the second chiefly for emergency purposes.

SANDINO PLANS VISIT TO GIL

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29 (AP)—After residing for several months in Yucatan, Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel leader has planned a visit to this city with the hope of being received by President Portes Gil, according to an announcement by his friends here.

Preparations are being made for Sandino's arrival late this week or early next week. No public manifestation is planned, and efforts will be made to make his visit as quiet and unostentatious as possible.

Sandino left Nicaragua some time ago and having ben granted permission to reside in Mexico, took up his quarters in Merdia after a brief visit to Vera Cruz. He avoided coming to the capital at that time.

Whether he will return to Yucatan after his visit here has not been determined. His friends say there is a possibility that he will make a tour of South America.

Thought For Today

Lust not after her beauty in thine heart; neither let her take you with her eyelids.—Proverbs 7:25.

* * *

Female beauties are as fickle in their faces as in their minds; though casualties should spare them, age brings in a necessity of decay.—Boyle.

Corruption

We Americans, as everybody knows, are a very fine and intelligent people. But somehow there seem to be times when we are guilty of some extremely foggy mental processes.

There is, for instance, the matter of the prohibition indictments recently voted in northwestern Indiana.

Nearly 300 men were indicted there after a long investigation by federal officials. Among this number, in addition to the usual collection of bootleggers, restaurant keepers, vice lieutenants and such fry, there were one mayor of a city, several other city officials and a group of policemen.

When this news appeared in the papers the ordinary, respectable American shook his head sadly and wondered what things were coming to, and why. The ordinary American thereupon convicted himself of some foggy thinking.

Corruption such as was just uncovered in Indiana is a thing that can be traced directly to the doors of several millions of men who do not, ordinarily, consider themselves poor citizens.

These guilty ones are the men who patronize bootleggers.

They, in the last analysis, are the men who are responsible for this kind of scandal. They are the men who provide the money that bribes policemen and prohibition agents, the money that trickles illegally into the pockets of mayors and councilmen, the money that pays for gang wars, corrupt politics and crooked attorneys.

The thing is so obvious that it hardly needs explanation. Yet most of us utterly fail to see it.

The country is full of upright, well-intentioned people who deplore lawlessness and corruption—but who also ring up their bootleggers every so often to buy a little liquid cheer.

Did you, oh gentle and fearless reader, ever perchance buy a pint of gin for a few after-dinner cocktails? Did you ever invest in a few bottles of beer to enliven an evening's poker party? If you did, you have no reason to complain of crooked office-holders or corrupt police officers. Your own money helped to corrupt them. You yourself were the original bribe-giver.

This, of course, is self-evident. Yet most of us don't grasp it. We throw up our hands when we read of a mess like this in Indiana—and then we do our part to multiply such messes by pouring more dollars into the rum-runs slush fund.

You can think a lot you please about the virtues or otherwise of prohibition (of course). But if you patronize the bootlegger—even if it's only occasionally—don't be surprised at the things that your money does.

Whether you like prohibition or not, it's an obvious fact prohibition's corruption is paid for by the bootlegger's patrons.

Be Careful!

Mexico is taking up American football. President Portes Gil watches two teams at the University of Mexico indulge in a scrimmage, and expresses the hope that the game will spread throughout the country.

Very likely President Gil doesn't know just what he is wishing on his people.

Football is an excellent game; but did the Mexican president ever pause to consider whether Mexico is ready to cope with such perplexing questions as "over-emphasis," alumni proselyting activities, huge stadiums, scouting agreements, eligibility rules and all the rest?

Those are matters that only an advanced and complex civilization can cope with. Indeed, they seem almost too tough to solve even then. Is the Mexican president sure he wants them to spread south of the Rio Grande?

THE PLAINSMAN Says

That girl on Broadway says that most boys nowadays are too heavy on their feet at dances, and not only theirs either.

* * *

You probably have heard of Calvin Coolidge. He is the father of John Coolidge, the young fellow who married Florence Trumbull.

The Plainsman wishes again to tell his customers that he's glad to get back in Lubbock. He thinks maybe he'll just stay here for a while now and enjoy life as it should be lived but there'll probably be something else coming up before long and he'll have to leave for some other part of the state to some other convention and hear some other dry addresses, with stale jokes retold and revamped. He'll probably have to answer another million questions about Lubbock and the South Plains and he'll probably tell another million it's the best place on earth to live so after all the Plainsman's going to conventions does Lubbock some good.

* * *

That reminds us of the incident that happened in the convention hall at El Paso. During the course of a business session in which numerous addresses were made, some fellow back in the rear of the hall kept getting up after each speaker and yelling out "Let's hear from A. B. Davis from Lubbock." This procedure contined for several speakers and finally Davis was called for a talk. After he had sat down, this fellow again again jumped up and said "Let's hear from A. B. Davis from Lubbock." Then someone nearby punched him and informed him that the speaker just finished was A. B. Davis from Lubbock. "Why, no, that's the guy who paid me $10 to call for A.B. Davis," he blurted out.

* * *

For further information on the affair, write A. B. Davis in care of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

* * *

That incident recalls another which took place in an El Paso department store. Spencer Wells, one of the Lubbock delegates, it seemed needed a pair of socks and was being shown an assortment in the store. Wells, inquiring as to the durability of the merchandise was told by the clerk: "Yes, sir, those socks will give perfect satisfaction. I've worn them myself for the last two months."

"Have you a pair like them that you haven't worn so long," inquired Spencer.

That Man on Avenue Q says the odd part about this Shearer investigation seems to be that a man named Shearer could have had an ax to grind.

* * *

Lubbock citizens, especially the younger set, will be leaving the city Friday night and early Saturday on football special trains to Waco and Amarillo. Approximately 1,500 will be out of the city this week-end, the Plainsman is informed. He sincerely wishes that these youngsters will in no act bring reproach to the city's name.

Railroad Lobby In Middle of Last Century Got Millions From Federal Treasury-Bribery Rampant Among Banks

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of stories by Rodney Dutcher telling of the activities of Washington lobbies in years past.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The railroad lobbyists were working on congress in the eighteen-forties. For several decades they fought vigorously for grants of money and land and collected both for their employers in large gobs.

Activities of the railroad lobby have in recent years been largely confined to defensive tactics against further government regulation, but the old railroad lobby which functioned in shimmer days appears to have been the instrument of an astonishing amount of bribery and corruption in congress.

The railroad lobbyists followed naturally in the wake of the early land lobbyists, canal company lobbyists and bank lobbyists. The job of each of these groups was to work on members of congress and officials who were not already controlled by the interests which the lobbyists represented—as many of them were.

A Lot of Bribery

In chronological order, the railroad lobby rose to power on the heels of the bank lobbyists, who had established a remarkable record in corrupting congress and state legislatures. The United States bank, which Andrew Jackson fought and defeated, was accustomed to discount the worthless notes of congressmen and had Daniel Webster, for instance, on its payroll at one time. How much money the bank spent on congress does not appear in the records, but a legislative committee found in 1840 that it had paid bribes amounting to $120,000 in Pennsylvania.

The railroad men put in their earliest strokes on the legislatures but they soon had congress working for them. Hundreds of millions of dollars in cash were turned over to railroad companies and between 1850 and 1872 congress gave $155,609,000 acres of land either directly to railroad corporations or to various states to be transferred to railroad corporations.

Railroad representatives lobbied here for laws which would make fraudulent processes easier and in cases where construction promises had not been kept were able to persuade congress to extend the period for construction if not to forget all about it. They had law after law passed removing the various restricting conditions, until the railroads had the hundreds of millions of acres under their absolute control.

The Illinois Central was the first railroad to get a land grant from congress. It received a gift of 2,600,000 acres of Illinois land and later collected $5 to $15 an acre from settlers on it. Thanks to national and state generosity it was later estimated that the promoters of the road obtained it at a bonus of some $2,000,000 over what they paid in.

It was during this pre-Civil War period that stigma came to be attached to the name "lobbyist." Opportunities for corruption were so great, both in Washington and the state capitals, that lobbyists representing moneyed interests could hardly fail to be successful in their work.

Steamship owners, headed by Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, also maintained a powerful lobby in this period which aided them in obtaining enormous subsidies for mail-carrying.

Lobbies for and against various bills dealing with slavery were conspicuous. The Anti-Slavery Society, active in politics, controlled some senators and representatives just as the Anti-Saloon League does today.

One writer says that "probably never has there been a more persistent and energetic lobby than existed when President Buchanan tried to force slavery on Kansas with the Lecompton bill." The Lecompton lobby was directed by Cornelius Wendell, who had the administration behind him. Wendell had been clearing up to $100,000 a year from public printing contracts and his bank account rose a million dollars in two years.

He always had his check book ready, one reads. Newspapers were bought, subsidized or founded to attack anti-Lecompton members and the friends of those members were discharged from their federal jobs in postoffices, customs houses, government bureaus and navy yards.

In this period also flourished Pendleton's gambling house on Pennsylvania avenue, which Pendleton called "The Palace of Fortune" but which was commonly known in Washington as "The Hall of the Bleeding Heart."

Presidential candidates, cabinet members, senators and representatives gathered there at night with lobbyists.

An Aid to the Lobby

Pendleton's, in its palmiest days, might have been called the vestibule of the lobby," wrote Benjamin Perley Poore in his reminiscences. "Its most distinguished professors might be found there. They lent money to their clients when the 'animal' scratched too roughly, that is to say, when the play ran against them and they became broke, as they sometimes did.

"Pendleton himself was an operator in the lobby. His professional position gave him great facilities. He assisted in the passage of many useful bills of a private nature, involving considerable sums of money. A broker in parliamentary notes is an insitable retainer of broker voters."

It was a magnificent place, decorated with works of art and the most expensive furniture and boasting gold or silver plate, marvelous cooking and rare wines.

When Pendleton died, Poore recalled, President Buchanan attended his funeral and the pallbearers included several prominent democratic congressmen.

Tomorrow: How lovely lady lobbyists influenced congress 75 years ago.

In New York

With Swan

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Almost anything can happen in the lower Bowery.

Including an announcement that the hoboes of America will get out their own "literary organ."

With my own ears, I heard the preliminary statement made by one who answered the nom-de-hobo of "Rex."

Rex, one learns, is the "Shakespeare of the tramps." When he announces a magazine, a periodical or whatever it is going to be, it becomes a "literary organ" or a "spokesman" or something like that.

Rex unfortunately didn't explain just how a wanderer could keep up with his subscription. A gentleman on the move from Salt Lake to California or from Kansas to some southwest town isn't likely to ask the sheriff to forward his mail.

Addressing a hobo magazine, so it seems to me, would be one of the most difficult jobs. Even the efficient American postoffice system could not be expected to send a postman to the "third freight car from the end." Nor would "Jungle just out of Kalamazoo" seem an address.

At least, the magazine is expected—so I gathered from Rex—to keep the "boes" out of many small town jails. One of the most prevalent charges against the army of nomads has been that of vagrancy. But a "bo" who wishes to have a visible means of support can carry a few magazines in his bundle and claim to be a magazine salesman. Furthermore, he can change the tune of his old panhandle.

Since there is a hobo college in Chicago, and another anticipated for New York, he can give the familiar line of "helping a worthy young man from college."

When the farmer suggests that he cut a little wood for his "handout," the "bo" can now sit down and talk about life and art. Or trade a half-year's subscription for some hotcakes.

* * *

"Rex," whose real name is Daniel O'Brien, is slender and wiry and white of hair. He has the further epithet of "king of the hoboes."

* * *

The "highbrow" hoboes of the Bowery belt are one of its more recent manifestations. They can discuss economics, philosophical notions and humanitarian tendencies with considerable vigor and grace.

The hall in lower Fourth street wherein they meet is, ironically enough, equipped with chairs that boast gilt legs. The gents who occupy the chairs are typical floating Boweryites, whose own tattered limbs seem strangely out of place in the presence of gilt and upholstery.

The hoboes, it seems, are divided into classifications which include seasonal and sporadic workers, intellectual vagabonds, wandering unskilled laborers, out and out dyed-in-the-wool bindle stiffs and down-and-outs. They deny any relationship with mere panhandlers, beggars and such.

* * *

Missions and social workers have attempted to uplift many of them for many years.

Mid-winter finds the lower Bowery most amendable to uplift, since one can be warm in a mission and can get a hand-out of coffee and beans.

GILBERT SWAN.

Houston Seeks City Manager Opinions

HOUSTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Newspaper editors and officials in 11 cities will be asked for their opinion of the city manager plan of government by an advisory committee of 50 aiding Mayor Walter Monteith in inquiring into details of the system with a view to its possible adoption here.

The cities are Cleveland, Fort Worth, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Grand Rapids, Rochester, Norfolk, Knoxville, Dayton and Sacramento.

The newspapermen will be asked to endorse or condemn because the committee believes their testimony is essential to obtain a well-rounded idea of how the method is working.

MRS FERGUSON

BELTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's suit against Atticus Webb of Dallas and the American Publishing company, of Austin for $100,000 was withdrawn from the Bell county district court today. The case was dismissed upon agreement of attorneys.

The suit was filed February 1, 1926, and grew out of an interview alleged to have been given by Atticus Webb on December 13, 1925 which was published in the Austin American regarding enforcement of the prohibition laws of the state.

UNDERNOURISHED BODY, BAD POSTURE BRING ILLS

Enteroptosis

Mrs. H.—By enteroptosis is meant a lowered position of the intestines and stomach (entero: intestine; ptosis: fall).

Not so much importance is attached to the condition now, as it has been found that many who give no symptoms at all have a lower position of the stomach and intestines than used to be considered normal. In other cases it is the causes that have brought on the condition that give the symptoms, rather than the condition itself. The thing that can bring on enterptosis—when it is not normal—is undernourishment, usually coupled with wrong position in standing and sitting.

For relief, a snug abdominal support, put on while lying down, a gaining diet, and exercises to tone up the abdominal wall, are indicated.

We have a pamphlet on Reducing and Gaining, and an article on the Tummy Ten, which are splendid exercises for the trunk muscles. (Follow column rules for obtaining these).

Mrs. H. and Worried: Both of you should see a competent physician. Many times it is found that a physical abnormality a person worries about is a simple thing, easily remedied. And at other times, it is found that it is not simple but the beginning of some serious disorder. However, having it treated correctly when it is first found out, is one of the surest safeguards of preventing recurrence or spreading, if it is cancer, for instance, and preventing its further extension if it is another disorder.

If you don't know the names of the physician in your locality, ring up your county medical society. Their list is composed of physicians who have graduated from accredited medical colleges which require a high standard of preliminary education. Of course, even among these you will find a wide variation in competence and common sense for you can't get away from the human element in any relationship in life. However, you'll know, at least, they should have the ability to reason.

If you are interested in some literature on cancer, write to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, 25 West Forty-third street, New York City.

"What causes the tongue to become too large or uncomfortable for the mouth? I have a tooth missing on the lower side of my mouth and the last tooth, which is practically alone, gets in the way of the tongue, or vice versa. This makes me irritable. G."

The tongue can be swollen from several causes—injury, burns, or irritations caused by decayed teeth, or extension of inflamation elsewhere in the mouth.

Judging from what you say, I don't think you have an acute inflamation, G., so it may just be possible that the one tooth which rubs up against the tongue all the time, acts as an irritant. Have you been to a dentist to see if you can't have some bridgework? Another thing to be thought of in any inflamation of the mouth, is the diet. Is it deficient in the anti-scurvy vitamin, so that some degree of scurvy is present? Is it composed too heavily of acid-ash foods? I suggest you send for our article on Balanced Diet. (See column rules).

Your itching eyes may also be an indication of deficient diet. However, if your oculist told you that you must wear glasses constantly you should abide by his decision. Undoubtedly, the strain caused by not wearing them may account for your symptoms.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give person advice. If she considers your questions of general interest, they will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each; for the pamphlets on "Reducing and Gaining," "The Kidney and Its Excretions" and the "Hygiene of Women", 10 cents in coin (for each) and fully self-addressed, stamped envelope must be enclosed. (These charges are to cover the cost of printing and handling.) Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Who's Who In Timely Views

INCREASES IN SALARIES FOR JUSTICE DEPARTMENT ASKED BY WILLIAM D MITCHELL

United States Attorney General William DeWitt Mitchell was born at Winona, Minn., Sept. 9, 1874. He attended Yale two years and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Admitted to the bar in 1896, he began his law practice at St. Paul. He was appointed solicitor general by President Coolidge in 1925, and last spring was named attorney general by President Hoover. During the World war he was at Camp Taylor, Ky. He is a Democrat.

With a view of relieving the congested condition of the federal courts, the department of justice is asking for increased appropriations for additional salaries and a larger personnel.

WILLIAM D MITCHELL

The department, in its budget estimates, is also requesting additional appropriations for the anti-trust division, an increase of $75,000 being asked. While it is impossible at the present time to show an indicated positive increase in the work of this division, general activity in trust lines has given the department reason to anticipate the need for additional money requested for the next fiscal year.

The department's action in asking for additional funds for personnel is prompted by the increase in the number of cases before the federal courts generally and more particularly by the 29 per cent of the total number of federal cases on the dockets in which no action has been taken for over a period of a year.

Prohibition violations have accounted largely for the increase in criminal cases, many new liquor violation cases having come to the attention of the department.

The aim of the department is to increase the salaries of the assistant United States attorneys from the present average of $3,100 a year, to around $3,300 or $3,400 a year. By this action it is felt that better men can be obtained for the work and those already holding office will be furnished with new incentive to prosecute more intensively the cases that come to them.

In most districts the clerks' offices are greatly overloaded with work and, for the most part, undermanned. The courts cannot function with the proper alacrity if the mechanical details of the clerk's office cannot be taken care of with due promptness. Increases in personnel in both this branch and among the deputy marshals is anticipated.

Demands have been made for 41 new assistant United States attorneys, but the department has felt constrained to cut this number to 30 in its petition to the bureau of the budget.

Total appropriations for the current year aggregate $8,472,000. The increased expense anticipated is between $600,000 and $670,000 in excess of the present figure.

Now Millions More Stop 'Dosing' Colds

BETTER EXTERNAL TREATMENT WINS NEW USERS ALL OVER THE WORLD

Every year since the introduction of Vicks VapoRub, more and more people have given up the old-fashioned way of "dosing" colds and have turned to the modern method of treating them externally. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Best for Children's Colds

From the very first Vicks has been appreciated, especially by mothers of young children, because it checks colds without risk of upsetting delicate stomachs as "dosing" is so apt to do.

Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster, "drawing out" tightness and soreness; at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

Demand Increases Each Year

As more and more people appreciate this better method of treating colds, the demand for Vicks increases year after year. Only a short time ago the famous slogan "Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly," was raised to "21 Million" to keep step with this demand. These figures, too, have been outgrown as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

New brick veneer on 100 ft. corner lot. Nearly 1-2 acre land. 5 rooms, bath and breakfast nook. 12 built-in features. Same finish inside as $20,000 homes. Also double garage, let us show you the home everyone is raving about. It's a little dream palace. Think of it, all for $4,500. If this home was down close in you could not buy it for less than $8,000. But why not buy it now, located in Maddox addition, one of Lubbock's largest and choicest suburbs, where homes are sensibly restricted to brick, stucco, and stone construction. Where homes in the near future will be worth more money than close in homes. Our homes are built to out-last the loan. It's a steal at the price. We can save you money.

WHEAT CRASHES 7 CENTS A BUSHEL

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Wheat prices crashed down nearly 7 cents a bushel early today, broken by violent renewal of panicky conditions on stock exchanges. Extremely urgent general selling in the wheat pit met with an almost complete temporary dearth of buyers, but after initial collapse, the market became of a two-sided character, and rallied more than 5 cents, with prices afterward fluctuating unusually fast.

Opening at 2 5-8 to 6 7-8 off, wheat later showed relative steadiness at about 3 cents under yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were also weaker, with corn starting 5-8 to 1 3-8 cent lower, but afterward recovering.

The Suez canal, famous water link between Europe and India, carried its greatest amount of traffic during 1928.

STOCKS BREAK AGAIN TODAY

MARGINAL ACCOUNTS ARE THROWN OUT IN TRADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Stock prices broke sharply again at the opening of today's market as weakened marginal accounts were thrown overboard. Several blocks of 10,000 to 50,000 shares of stocks changed hands, with initial declines ranging from fractions to 10 1-4 points. Chrysler opened with a block of 50,000 shares at 33, off 1; Standard Oil of New Jersey with a block of 50,000 shares at 57, off 7 3-4; consolidated Gas with a block of 45,000 shares at 95 1-4, off 2, and Radio with a block of 30,000 shares at 39, off 10 1-4.

The opening found an enormous accumulation of distress selling to be absorbed, which was not disposed of in yesterday's wild collapse. More than 3,259,800 shares changed hands in the first half hour, a record. After early breaks of 6 to 14 1-2 points, however, supporting orders checked the break for the moment at least.

Many Shares Nervous

U. S. Steel, after opening at 185 3-4, off 1-4, rallied to 192, and slipped back to 185 1-2. Westinghouse Electric dropped 14 1-2 points to 130 1-2 and rallied to 137. Union Carbide dropped 13 3-4, to 70 1-4 and rallied to 78. American Telephone dropped 7 points to 225, and soon sold at 225 1-2. Montgomery Ward dropped 7 1-2 points to 52, and rallied 1-2 a point. American Can opened at 130, off 6, and held at that figure during the first 40 minutes. Standard of New Jersey opened at 57, off 7 3-4, then rallied to 61.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with cables firm at 4.47 29-32.

"Only Thing That Ever Helped Me"

Amarillo Man Had Suffered For Six Years And Spent Hundreds Of Dollars—Orgatone Brings Relief

"I found Orgatone after I had suffered for six years and it was the first thing that gave me relief from my troubles," said M. I. Huddleston, who lives at 1309 E. Sixth St., and is an employee of the Amarillo Gas Company and is well known in Amarillo.

"Yes," continued Mr. Huddleston, "I suffered for six years with a combination of stomach trouble, constipation, indigestion and general rundown condition and you can just imagine how all those troubles simply made life miserable for me. I felt weak and worn out all the time and the bloating and gas spells bothered me so bad I could hardly ever get a good night's sleep. It just seemed as if I couldn't digest anything even the lightest kinds of food would sour on my stomach and form gas until I would bloat up and my heart would flutter and make me short of breath. I lost my appetite and hardly ever even felt like going to the table and naturally going without food as much as I did I failed to get enough nourishment to keep up my strength. I had constipation mighty bad too, and it just simply worried me awfully all the time. I tried every kind of treatment and medicine that I ever heard of and spent hundreds of dollars right here in Amarillo for same and nothing seemed to be of any use or do the least bit of good.

"After reading a good deal about Orgatone in the papers and hearing what people were saying everywhere about the good it had done for them, I finally decided to give Orgatone a trial and it certainly was the luckiest thing I ever did for myself. I have never taken or even heard of any medicine that would give you results so quickly. I have used three bottles in all and I now feel better in every way. I rest well at night and I don't suffer at all from nervousness. I digest my food ever so much better everything seems to agree with me and those spells of having gas on my stomach are a thing of the past. Constipation don't bother me any now and I feel ever so much stronger and better. Orgatone certainly is the best medicine that I knew anything about and I am always glad to say anything I can in its favor and I take great pleasure in giving you this statement so that others may learn of the benefits I have derived from it."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Lubbock at Bowens Drug Store. Adv.

COTTON OPENS WITH LOSSES

MARKET IS UNSETTLED TODAY DUE TO STOCK MARKET PANICS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Although Liverpool appeared about as due, the cotton market here opened unsettled. First trades showed losses of 9 to 18 points, and prices continued to ease, owing to the demoralization in the stock market. December traded down to 17.84, January to 17.92 and March to 18.21, or 15 to 20 points down from yesterday's close. The market then reacted, gaining 9 to 13 points from the lows, on covering, but the feeling still remained nervous.

The cotton market continued unsettled. One dip attracted trade buying and prices rallied to 17.97 for December, 18.08 for January and 18.37 for March, or 15 to 17 points above the lows.

Toward noon the market eased off gradually, losing 8 to 11 points of the previous rally.

DECLINE IS FROM 10 TO 21 POINTS IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 10 to 21 points under heavy liquidation which appeared to come from Wall street sources. Offerings were absorbed at 17.82 for December and 18.35 for March with the market later becoming less active. At the end of the first half hour prices were fairly steady and within 6 or 10 points of yesterday's close.

Prompt absorption of initial offerings gave the market rather a beter tone, but recoveries of 10 or 12 points were checked by renewed liquidation and prices sagged. At mid-day December was selling around 17.89 and March 19.29, or about 17 to 19 points net lower.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The executive committee of the Pan American Federation of Labor, headed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today announced the indefinite postponedment of the sixth Pan American Labor congress scheduled for January 6 in Havana, Cuba, on grounds that "the very existence of the organized labor movement" is threatened by conditions in the southern states.

Run-Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mr. Joseph A. Culver, of 812 S. Main St., Muskogee, Okla., says: "I was a nervous wreck and forced myself to work and eat. I felt like quitting work before the day was up. On taking Tanlac, my appetite picked up so I could eat anything, soon slept well and gained 10 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. MRS. WOODROW WILSON TOURS CHINA

Late President's Wife Gets Taste Of Roughing It In Travel Through Orient; Visits Old Wall

(By Associated Press)

PEIPING, China, Oct. 29 (AP). Mrs. Woodrow Wilson during her tour of the Orient had a taste of roughing it and rather enjoyed the experience, visiting the forbidden city of old imperial days and making a trip to the great wall.

This last was a three hour ride in a baggage car on a local train which stopped at every whistling post. No special preparations had been made for Mrs. Wilson's party. The train consisted of a locomotive, five freight cars, baggage car and a third class passenger coach, crowded with Chinese coolies.

When the train conductor learned the identity of his distinguished American passenger, he escorted Mrs. Wilson to the baggage car, insisting that she view the country from the open door. He provided chairs and a constant supply of hot tea, rice cakes and ripe persimmons.

Mrs. Wilson, like most sightseers, rode a donkey over the hills to view the great wall, spending several hours along the top of the 2,000 year old structure. She returned to Peiping in the evening in the same baggage coach.

Man Has Three Wives; Faces Bigamy Charge

LAREDO, Oct. 29 (AP)—It takes a brave man to have three living wives and be divorced from none of them. But such is the case here in Laredo, and the man is 60 years old. Santiago Perez was arraigned in justice court on a charge of bigamy, and bound to the grand jury.

During the examining hearing it developed that Perez had three living wives—one in Mexico and two in Laredo. He married wife No. 1 in Lampasas, Mexico; he married the other two in Laredo. All are said to be living and in good health, and when Perez faces trial for bigamy, Nos. 2 and 3 will appear as witnesses.

HEART MISSING

Scottish Chief's Wish May Not Be Fulfilled

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP).—The heart of Robert the Bruce, great Scottish chieftain, is missing.

Eight years ago the casket believed to contain Bruce's heart was taken from excavations at Melrose Abbey and given over for safe keeping to the public works department at Edinburgh.

It was intended eventually to comply with the chieftain's dying request that it be conveyed to the Holy Land. But in some way it has been mislaid, or purloined, and it appears that Bruce dead may be no more successful than Bruce living in the holy pilgrimage.

Robert the Bruce died just 600 years ago at Cardross after winning Scottish independence from England in the battle of Bannockburn on June 24, 1314, and confirming his own right to the title of Scottish king.

He was unable personally to fulfill a vow to visit the holy sepulchre and requested his faithful follower, Sir James Douglas, to carry his heart there.

Sir James perished on the way in battle against the Moors in Spain. Sir William Keith recovered the heart of Bruce and placed it at Melrose.

Pupils cannot be barred from public schools in Illinois because of mental deficiency, the attorney general has ruled.

SURPRISED AT WAY IT HELPED

Cardui Taken By a Missouri Lady Who Had Been Weak, Nervous.

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"My health has been much better since I began taking Cardui," declares Miss Kate Grisham, 544 Maple Street, this city. Miss Grisham tells below how she had suffered:

"I was weak and nervous, felt tired and achey all the time. My back and limbs ached so badly I could hardly stay on my feet long enough to cook a meal.

"I spent most of my time resting and trying to get enough energy to do my work.

"I worried along, trying first one thing and then another. I seemed to get no better.

"One day I read about Cardui and thought I would try it. I got a bottle and was surprised the way it helped me. I got another bottle. My strength began to come back and I gained in weight. I am less nervous. I can do my work, and no longer feel those tired, achey pains."

Cardui is a reconstructive tonic, extracted from herbs of long-known medicinal value.
