Humble Hikes Price Of Gasoline In State

HOUSTON (AP) — Humble Oil raised the price of its gasoline a cent a gallon at all points in Texas today.

The gasoline price hike was effective at 7 a.m. today and followed by 24 hours an increase in crude oil prices averaging 35 cents a barrel.

Major oil companies were considering a matching increase in the price they pay for crude oil, and a possible increase in consumer prices for gasoline and heating oil, today in the wake of crude price hikes by two big producers.

The new retail price of gasoline at Humble's commission stations are 35.2 cents a gallon for Golden Esso, 32.2 for Esso Extra and 29.7 for Humble regular.

Independent dealers' prices were in about the same ratio.

The Houston Chronicle said Humble's gasoline price increase has apparently ended speculation throughout the nation as to whether the crude oil hike started yesterday will be passed on to consumers.

The crude price increase was first announced by Humble and followed by Continental Oil Co. in three areas in which it posts prices.

The Chronicle also said: Although other major crude buyers had not announced the price hike, it was frankly stated that they are all expected to come through within the next few days at the latest.

Also, the new price will undoubtedly become retroactive to 7 a.m. Thursday, the same time Humble and Continental posted the raise.

Nationwide, the speculation was that the crude price increase would not be added to gasoline prices because of the huge surplus stocks. They totaled over 185,500,000 barrels last week.

Humble's gasoline price hike indicated the new prices will spread over oil products generally.

A barrel of oil is 42 gallons, of which an average cut in refining produces 17 gallons of gasoline.

Under the new prices, East Texas crude would have a base price of $3.25 a barrel, with other areas in proportion by quality of the oil and location.

State Comptroller Robert Calvert said the crude price hike will mean an 16 million dollars more a year to the state in production taxes, which are based on the value of the oil. It will also increase the royalty owners' take.

Nationwide, it was figured that the increases, when passed on to the consumer, would mean an added cost of roughly $3,150,000 a day on $1,150 million a year for gasoline, fuel oil and other products.

In Austin, the Railroad Commission would not comment on the gasoline price boost.

Commissioners William Murray and Ernest Thompson would not talk yesterday about the crude oil increase.

The commissioners said they never considered price in fixing the state's oil production.

PENNY HIKE POSTED HERE

Humble raised the price of its gasoline in Big Spring a cent a gallon this morning, following announcement of the increase the company is paying for crude oil.

Gasoline prices were up to 32.5 cents a gallon for ethyl-grade fuel and to 30 cents for "regular" in the company's commission stations. Dealer-operated stations, of course, will have the option of absorbing the increased tank wagon cost or passing it on to their customers.

Other distributors here had posted no price changes this morning.

Cosden Sitting Tight On Oil Price Increase

Cosden Petroleum Corporation was sitting tight Friday and awaiting developments on the crude oil price increase announced Thursday by Humble and Continental.

Normally, Cosden follows the pattern established by Shell, together with Humble and Gulf, in this area. Shell postings usually are the pivotal factors in this immediate vicinity.

Industry leaders indicated that they believed the price hike would become general, though they could not say whether it would be to the extent of 25-35 cents a barrel as quoted by Humble in its statement Thursday.

If a 25-cents-per-barrel price increase were to become effective in the area, it would mean something like $8 million dollars more a year for oil in Howard and six contiguous counties. Such a figure would mean $1 million more a year to royalty owners.

There was some speculation in industry circles about the ultimate effect on gasoline prices. Here it was conceded that adjustments would lag behind changes in crude prices but eventually might be reflected in a one-cent-a-gallon hike at retail levels.

Hines Baker, Humble Oil and Refining Company president, said in his statement that the price increase was designed to attract a sufficient volume of crude to meet rising demands for exports to Europe in the wake of the Middle East crisis. Back of this was a record of higher domestic unit costs because of increasing wage and material costs since the last increase in crude prices in June of 1953.

Approximate production records for counties in this vicinity, based on 1955 final figures, show Borden County producing 6,700,000 barrels per annum, Dawson 3,000,000, Glasscock 3,800,000, Howard 14,500,000, Martin 600,000, Mitchell, 2,900,000, and Sterling 800,000. In most instances the 1956 production level was probably higher.

BUT NOT HEAVY

Soaking Rains Fall In Most Of State

By The Associated Press

Slow soaking rains fell over a wide section of Texas late Thursday and early Friday while a mild cool front moving into the state brought snow to the upper Panhandle.

Visibility was cut to one-half mile at Darr shortly before dawn as a heavy snow swirled down in 32 degree weather. It was the lowest temperature reported in the state. Other readings ranged up to 68 degrees in South Texas.

Skies were cloudy over the state with the exception of South Texas. Rains were general over the state but were not heavy. Rain for the 24 hours ended at 6:30 a.m. Friday included:

Texarkana 73, Waco 53, Galveston 46, Ennis 90, Houston 42, Dallas 27, Lufkin 24, El Paso 21, Mineral Wells 07, Presidio 06, Abilene 05, Ranger 04, Eastland, Cisco and Amarillo .03, and Lubbock .01.

The cool front, which was expected to reach the Fort Worth-Dallas area before midnight Friday, was due to drop temperatures only slightly.

Continued showers were predicted for most of the state Friday and in the southern part Saturday. Partly cloudy and slightly cooler weather was forecast for Saturday in the northern half.

Temperatures Thursday afternoon ranged from 46 degrees at Texarkana to 78 at Alice.

Cloudy and wet weather was the outlook for most of the nation Friday.

A fresh surge of arctic air moved southeastward through the Northern and Central Plains and was expected to extend over most of the mid-continent.

Temperatures dropped to near zero in North Dakota and were around freezing in the Central WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators leading a fight to curb filibusters today called it "panic propaganda" for opponents to argue that their move might tie the Senate in knots indefinitely.

The battle over Senate rules, tied in with the controversial issue of civil rights legislation, got under way as the new 85th Congress settled down to business after organizing yesterday under Democratic control.

By agreement, the Senate will vote on the issue at 6 p.m. Leaders want to get it out of the way before tomorrow's joint session with the House to hear President Eisenhower ask for stand-by authority to use American troops against any Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower is to speak at 12:30 p.m. All major radio and TV networks will carry the address.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) opened the debate on the rules issue by urging his colleagues to back the motion he and 30 other senators offered yesterday to take up the adoption of new rules.

He maintained that this presented the only chance for revising the present Rule 22 which requires the votes of 64 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership, to shut off a filibuster.

Southern opponents of the motion, led by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), have argued that its approval would leave the Senate without any rules and lead to a virtually endless debate that might bring all other business to a standstill.

Anderson told the Senate that this is "only panic propaganda." He said that Senate committees are provided for by law and that they could go forward with hearings on foreign policy issues and other matters while the Senate proceeded to the adoption of rules.

He observed that since 1890 the House has adopted rules for its proceedings at the start of each new Congress, remarking that this was done yesterday in 30 seconds.

The rules fight was sparked by a coalition of Northern and Western Democrats and Republicans. The only Southerner who joined as a sponsor of the move was Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the Democratic vice-presidential candidate last year.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who has moved to table and thus kill Anderson's motion, told newsmen before the debate started that he hadn't counted noses but that indications were that his tabling motion would carry.

Johnson has backing for his motion from Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader.

An attempt four years ago to change the rules went down to defeat on a similar tabling motion. The vote was 70-21.

The issue was put before the Senate at its opening session yesterday when Sen. Anderson (D-NM) and 30 other senators offered a motion to take up for immediate consideration the adoption of rules for the new Congress.

Listed as sponsors were 16 Democrats, including Anderson, and 15 Republicans.

Johnson promptly moved to table, and thus kill, Anderson's motion. An agreement was reached to bring the issue to a vote at 6 p.m. today after a debate allowing each side equal time to present its arguments.

Target of the bipartisan group led by Anderson is the Senate rule requiring the votes of 64 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership, to halt a filibuster against civil rights legislation or other measures.

Anderson's followers concede that, as a practical matter, their only hope of revising the rule is to get the Senate to agree it is free to adopt new rules by a majority vote at the start of each Congress, that the previous rules do not carry over.

Opponents argue this is contrary to all precedents, that the Senate, with only a third of its members elected every two years, is a continuing body with continuing rules.

The rules issue cropped up in the Senate after the Democrats took control in the organization of both branches of the new Congress. In the House, the Democrats re-elected Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

In the Senate, however, a tense situation developed because of uncertainty over whether Ohio's new senator, Frank J. Lausche, would vote with the Republicans or the Democrats. He did, clinching the election of Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) as president pro tempore of the Senate. The vote was 49-46.

New York's Republican senator-elect, Aftab E. Javidi, did not take his seat or vote, though he was in Washington apparently to be available in case his vote was needed.

Theft Counts Not Biggest Worry For Pretty Clerk

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Dixie Ann Craver, pretty 17-year-old blonde department store clerk already accused in an alleged $5,000 merchandise theft, was under a new charge today of buying two hats and charging them to the account of a Charlotte woman.

But her biggest concern, she said, was for her boy friend.

Miss Craver is accused as the ringleader in a shoplifting operation at the department store where she works.

Yesterday, she was accused of buying two hats, which she said she "just had to have," at another department store and forging the name of Mrs. Fred E. Wise Jr. on the charge ticket.

Miss Craver has been quoted by police as saying clothing pilfered from the store where she worked went to friends. Several other persons have been charged in the case. She kept joking for herself, she said, except sweaters, and she added "I don't wear sweaters."

Charged with forgery, embezzlement and larceny, she told a reporter in an interview that her biggest concern was her boy friend, whom she identified only as a Marine stationed at Camp Lejeune.

"I wish he was here with me," she said from her jail cell. "He told me I was stupid when I told him about all this."

Miss Craver said she is afraid now she will not see her boy friend again, since he is on stand-by orders awaiting overseas duty.

CHURCH UNITS HELP FUND

Two religious groups, the Temple Israel Sunday School and the Sand Springs Baptist Church, added $10 each to the Hungarian Relief Fund today.

These contributions, together with an additional $2 from Webb Air Force Base personnel, brought the total to $1,137.72 which has been contributed in the community to aid those who have suffered in their fight for freedom.

Refugee Relates 'Grinding Up' Of Torture Victims

SEATTLE (AP) — A Hungarian refugee was quoted today as saying Communist secret police tortured persons in an underground Budapest prison, then ground up the bodies in huge grinders.

The story was carried by the Northwest Progress, official newspaper of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle. The paper did not name the refugee but said he was "27, highly intelligent and cultured" and among those brought here by the Catholic Relief Service of the Archdiocese.

The refugee was quoted as saying "regular police and even the Russian soldiers who had been stationed in Budapest were not so bad. Many of them helped us. A policeman gave me his carbine and I saw Russians turn over five tanks to our men."

Benevides Council Ruled In Contempt

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Federal Judge James Alfred ruled today the entire Benevides City Council was in contempt of court and sentenced them to a year in jail. The sentence is to be suspended one year dependent on the council's making a realistic effort to raise tax valuations and collect taxes to meet bonded indebtedness.

Alfred said he agreed with the plaintiff that the City of Benevides had not complied with a previous court order to raise the valuations and collect taxes to meet the obligations.

Ike Urged To Give Data On Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) called on President Eisenhower today to give Congress an estimate of the "costs and of the dangers" involved in his proposal for thwarting possible Red aggression in the Middle East.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Eisenhower should provide this information when he appears before a joint session tomorrow.

The senator spoke out in an interview regarding Eisenhower's request for standby authority to use U. S. military forces in the Middle East in event of possible aggression there.

The President will go before an unusual Saturday joint session to press for approval of a resolution which would:

1. Give him advance authority to use U. S. military might if he felt such a move was necessary to block Russian intrusion into the Middle East.

2. Authorize the spending of 400 million dollars over a two-year period beginning next July for economic aid to nations in the strife-racked area.

So far there has been little outside opposition in Congress to the Eisenhower administration's Middle East proposals, pictured in some official quarters as needed to fill a power vacuum left by destruction of British and French influence in the region.

Overseas, the administration's proposal for standby troop authority met a hostile reaction from sources in Arab Syria and Egypt and Communist Yugoslavia.

Miami Seeks Answer To Bus Decision

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The city of Miami, faced with the ruling of a federal judge that its bus segregation laws and those of the entire state are unconstitutional, set the city attorney to work today studying what, if anything, will be the next move.

The city attorney, George S. S. Okell, said that if he "decided it's a waste of time" he won't file any answer.

The ruling, made orally by Judge Emmett Choate yesterday apparently caught everyone off guard. It came during what is ordinarily prehearing maneuvering in such cases.

No actual cases of integrated seating were reported last night. G. E. Graves, attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he went to court yesterday thinking "the judge was going to convene a three-judge court and have us go to trial."

It was not immediately clear whether any state laws were invalidated.

The suit was brought by Graves for four Negro women who complained that their constitutional rights were violated when they were told to move from the front to the rear of a bus last October. It named as defendants the Miami Transit Co., the city of Miami and the individual city commissioners.

Choate, who had been hearing a motion of the defendants to dismiss the case, told all the attorneys:

"If this is merely a suit to determine the validity of segregation on buses, I think that's already been decided."

He cited the recent ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court in the case of the Montgomery, Ala., buses. Then he said:

"I have no hesitation in saying that these segregation laws are unconstitutional and hence unenforceable."

He said there was no need for a three-judge panel to sit on the question.

Choate dismissed the Miami Transit Co., which operates the buses, as a defendant but refused to dismiss the city and city commissioners. He gave the city of Miami 10 days to file a motion to answer to his ruling.

They were Neal W. Seegars, 62; Homer Wayne Fields, 56; Horace William Frith, 39; Steve B. Broadway, 33; George D. Bigbee Jr., 40; and John Walter McManus, 32.

All six were released from the Kershaw County Jail here last night. Seegars and Frith, charged with conspiring against civil rights posted $30,000 bonds each. The other four, charged with assault and battery on a highly aggravated nature, posted $4,500 bonds each.

The wife of the beating victim, Guy Hutchins, said her husband knew Frith and regarded him as a friend. She said her husband did not know the other five men. State Law Enforcement Division

Shivers To Enter Old Pease Mansion

AUSTIN (AP)—When Gov. Shivers quits the governor's mansion in January and moves to a huge, red brick house in west Austin, he will be the second governor making the exact change in addresses.

Gov. Elisha Pease moved from the mansion to 6 Niles Rd. in 1857. The coincidence doesn't end there.

The governor's mansion and 6 Niles Rd. look a great deal alike. Both were built by Abner Cook, an Austin contractor. The style is Southern colonial, each with six massive Greek-Ionic pillars. The red brick of the mansion was painted white years ago.

The governor's mansion, a three-block walk southwest of the chief executive's office in the Capitol, was built in 1853 during the Pease administration. About the same time James Shaw, Irish-born state comptroller under Pease, established a 200-acre estate on Shoal Creek west of what was then Austin, and hired Cook to build Woodlawn House.

Miss Sally Emerson, an Austin High School student, wrote recently of her research about Woodlawn:

"Before the house was completed, Shaw was jilted by his fiancée. The stunned man ordered all work on the house to cease and he deserted the premises. Shaw later discovered that there was more than one potential mistress for his wonderful mansion. New wedding plans were made and work resumed on the construction of Woodlawn House."

In about 1857 a daughter born to Shaw and his wife died. Mrs. Shaw died shortly afterwards.

"Perhaps Shaw felt the house had brought him only tragedy. For when he walked out to bury his wife he locked the door and vowed never to set foot upon the grounds again."

Shaw sold the house to Pease, who renamed it Enfield for his Connecticut birthplace. A grandson, Niles Graham, sold the family home to Shivers who plans to remodel the house and put it in near its original state as practicable. Some of the house is badly in need of repair.

The latest travel figures are for 9 months, and the mileage was up 5 per cent over the same period of 1955. For the 9-month period deaths were up 7 per cent, resulting in an increase in the mileage death rate—deaths per 100 million miles of travel—from 6 to 6.1.

The safety council also reported that the mileage death rate was going up, according to its latest check. It said:

Judge Resets Parr Hearing

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—A hearing for George B. Parr and two other men charged with forging checks on the Benavides School District was reset here yesterday by Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin for 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 11.

The continuance was granted after Parr appeared in court and said that his attorney, Percy Foreman, was not present and could not be contacted.

Parr, longtime South Texas political leader, was indicted with B. F. (Tom) Donald by the Duval County Grand Jury Nov. 19, 1956, on seven counts of forging checks against school district funds. F. Saenz Jr., was indicted last month on four counts, including one of felony theft.

Parr and Donald were defendants in federal mail fraud trial at Houston last month which ended in a hung jury.

Moderate Arabs Urging Bold Plans To Rescue Middle East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

Squeezed between two dangerous extremes, moderate Arab leaders are urging bold plans to save the Middle East from disaster. Their program calls for a security belt between the Arab countries and Israel, and for a redistribution of oil wealth to provide the money that could set them on the road toward stability. The program implies that they are willing to live with the idea that Israel will continue to exist—a new-found acknowledgment. Unless the Arab world can rid itself of the idea that Israel presents both a military and economic threat to its future, these leaders say, there is no hope for progress on the road to stability.

Poland May Buy U.S. Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration was reported today to let Communist Poland buy surplus U. S. farm goods with dollars at world market prices. This would be the first step, officials said, in the Eisenhower program of helping any country that breaks away from Moscow during the initial stages of its economic estrangement from the Soviet bloc.

The Commerce Department is expected to announce shortly the lifting of Poland of export licensing restrictions which barred Poland and other Iron Curtain countries from buying surplus U. S. farm goods for dollars at world prices. The restriction, imposed as administrative policy two years ago, dealt specifically at that time with butter. The argument was that otherwise the Reds could buy U. S. butter cheaper than the American housewife could. Domestic farm prices, propped up by U. S. farm subsidies, are generally higher than world market prices.

In preliminary talks at Warsaw between U. S. and Polish officials, the Poles have sought wheat, cotton and farm and factory machines. The Poles emphasized they wanted trade — not aid which would require them to make a political commitment to the United States.

Island Land Titles Safe

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The United States said today it will not try to take title to Okinawan lands the Americans use for military bases. Substantially more money also was promised for the U. S.-leased land. Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, U. S. Far East commander and governor of the Ryukyu Islands, stated the American position after conferring with Okinawan officials here today.

This Dog Wasn't Man's Best Friend

NEW YORK (AP)—Man's best friend isn't always a dog. Ask Patrolman John H. Loughlin. Loughlin, on duty yesterday at Central Park, saw a small dog stranded on a miniature ice floe on the lake. He cautiously made his way over the thickest portion of ice to reach the dog, which wagged his tail as the policeman approached. Finally, Loughlin reached out and lifted the dog from the floe. The dog sank his teeth into Loughlin's right hand and skipped to safety. Loughlin, springing backward in pain, fell through the ice but was able to wade ashore. For his kind act, the patrolman will be on sick leave for a week, taking antirabies injections.

'Mad Bomber' Hunt Narrows

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—New York City police are operating on the assumption that the "mad bomber" lives in this suburban county and probably in this city 20 miles from downtown Manhattan.

New York deputy inspector Frederick Lussan, who heads the police search for the "mad bomber," said yesterday the assumption was based in large part on plumbers' terms for the length of pipe used in the bombs.

A rash of hoaxes continued in New York City as well as in other parts of the nation. Arrests and fines for false bomb reports also continued to mount.

In New York City almost 200 bomb scares have been received since a live bomb, linked by police to the authentic "bomber" was found Dec. 24 in the New York Public Library. Another of his unexploded bombs was found in the Paramount Theater in Times Square Dec. 23.

Schools at Fort Worth and Houston, Tex., were evacuated yesterday on a false tip that bombs were planted there.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONALD, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONALD neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONALD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONALD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Auto Thieves Keep Lamesa Police Busy

LAMESA — The first two days of 1957 saw two cars stolen in Lamesa, according to Chief of Police Sam Floyd.

Tuesday afternoon, a 1955 Plymouth owned by E. H. Mayberry was stolen from in front of the Lamesa General Hospital, where he was visiting a daughter who is in the hospital. At 8:15 a.m. Wednesday, a 1955 Studebaker sedan belonging to Tracy Campbell was stolen from in front of Campbell's Bakery. Mrs. Campbell had stopped at the bakery en route to her duties as music teacher at Lamesa Junior High School. Ten minutes later, the car was gone.

Keys were left in both cars, according to the police chief. The Mayberry car was recovered Thursday in Hobbs, N. M. The Campbell car was the second car stolen there in the past year. The auto of an employee at the bakery was stolen less than a year ago. It is also the second time a car owned by the Campbells has been stolen. It happened previously in 1954 in Merkel, according to Mr. Campbell.

The car stolen from Campbell was found just east of the caprock on U. S. 180 Thursday morning.

Goodlett Attends Meeting On Soil Erosion Program

W. S. Goodlett of the Big Spring Soil Conservation Service office is in Temple this week attending a meeting pertaining to the Great Plains Program. This program is designed to help farmers and ranchers in the plains area with drought and erosion problems.

It calls for a joint effort of the various agricultural agencies in getting the program started, though the Soil Conservation Service will have full administrative authority.

The program was brought about by the passage of Public Law No. 1021 last year calling for an appropriation of $150 million to be used the next 15 years. These funds will not become available until after July 1, 1957.

The main reason for the law, according to H. N. Smith, head of the SCS in Texas, is the serious drought and erosion conditions found in much of the Great Plains area. He said that over 400,000 acres of Texas land was damaged by October and November winds, and 68 counties are in a condition to blow badly next spring.

Felony Charges Filed Against Two

Two cases were filed in the court of Walter Grice, peace justice, Friday.

Lloyd Gerald Patton, charged with second offense DWI, was allowed bond in the sum of $1,000.

L. E. McPherson, charged with forgery of a $70 check cashed at the Piggy Wiggly store, was filed on by Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney, at noon. West said that McPherson had made a statement to him relative to the charge.

Fine Is Levied, Bonds Are Set

P. E. Rhodes, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was arraigned before R. H. Weaver, county court, Friday morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge. His fine was assessed at $75 and he was sentenced to serve three days in jail.

T. H. Larez and Salvador Garza, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded not guilty. Weaver set their bonds at $500 each.

Williamson, Alstrin, and Southwest Development has located another venture in the Big Spring (Fusselman) field of Howard County.

At the present time, the firm is trying to complete one venture there, the No. 1 Anderson, and finished the No. 1 Buchanan in the field for 231 barrels in August of last year.

The new venture will be the No. 1 Davis and is about six miles north of Big Spring. Operator will explore to 10,000 feet looking for Fusselman pay.

Midland Library Plans On Display

General, electrical and mechanical construction bids are being asked. The proposals will be opened at 10 a.m. Jan. 15 by the Midland County Commissioners Court.

Aces Club Will Have Contest As Safest Driver

A new resolve for demonstrations of safer driving — spurred on by a contest for the membership — came out of a meeting Thursday night of the Aces Auto Club, a YMCA-sponsored organization for young men interested in custom-built automobiles.

Members will be competing for the next several months for the "Safest Driver" designation, which will carry with it a trophy and a $25 cash award made available by the Groehl Oil Company and The Herald. Members will check one another, and make weekly reports.

Nearly 20 were at the Thursday night meeting, when expressions were voiced for a new determination to convince the public that club members are free of the "hot-rod" and "drag" stigma. They will exert every effort to limit drag races to the newly-arranged drag strip, and to prohibit racing on the city streets.

The Aces Club has a policy of "trying" its own members who may have faced a corporation conviction, and assessing penalties. Members hope soon to have special plaques for their cars, so that they may be easily identified as Aces. The organization currently uses a small card which members present when they have had opportunity to help motorists in trouble, and this card uses the club motto, "Enjoy speed with safety."

The Aces Club is to approve a new set of by-laws soon, and every member will be required to familiarize himself with these rules. Dickie Madison was named as reporter for the club.

WKRK wanted to know more about the lady patron who admonished a Big Spring postal clerk that he could shake a parcel she was shipping up and down but that on no condition was the package to be wobbled from side to side.

The radio station was interested in whether the package arrived in proper condition.

Boatler answered: "At the time, mailing clerks in the office here were far too busy to shake packages in any direction, but the clerk informed the lady he would not shake the parcel from side to side. She mailed her package and went away happy. I have not heard from her in regard to the arrival of the parcel but she promised to advise me if the package did not get of its destination in good condition."

Probation Is Revoked

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th district court, Thursday revoked the suspended sentence of Ruth Elizabeth Levensong and ordered her sent to the state prison for women for a period of two years.

The defendant had been arrested and convicted some months ago on charges of forgery. She was given two years in prison and the sentence was probation.

Re-arrested recently for an offense of the same character, she was brought before the court by Guilford Jones, district attorney, who asked that the probation be set aside.

Judge Sullivan complied with the request of the district attorney. She will be taken to the prison by the sheriff's office.

Sweeper Clears Street Of Nails

Policemen probably saved motorists here flat — fixing money Thursday.

The two-block area on Runnels between Eighth and 10th was found to be littered with nails Thursday about noon, so Patrolmen Ellis Eubanks and J. C. Godwin blocked the area until the street sweeper could come and clear the area.

Sewing Machine Taken In Burglary

A $125 sewing machine was taken from Brooks Appliance Company's storage building by burglars last week, but it was not missed until Thursday.

L. M. Brooks, manager, surmised it was taken Saturday night. The Universal Admiral machine was the only thing missing. Police officers said that a window at the rear of the school and P-T-A building was the entry point. A part of the window was removed, police officers said.

Name Denomination On Stamps; This Woman Did

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, has received an inquiry from Radio WKRC, Cincinnati, O., relative to a little item printed during the holiday season.

WKRC wanted to know more about the lady patron who admonished a Big Spring postal clerk that he could shake a parcel she was shipping up and down but that on no condition was the package to be wobbled from side to side.

The radio station was interested in whether the package arrived in proper condition.

Lamesa Takes Water Options

LAMESA — An option on 160 acres of land for extensive water tests has been authorized by the Lamesa City Council.

The 45-day option will permit the city to test the tract owned by Wisely Walls four miles north of Lamesa. It is a mile east and 1 1/2 miles north of the Woodward area where the city has several producing wells.

Under terms of the option, the city may sink test wells at $100 each and seismograph holes at $25 each.

If the city should elect to develop wells on the area, it would pay $10,000 for the right to develop a maximum of five wells. Under terms of the contract, various options would extend the agreement for a maximum of 46 years.

It was estimated that a pipeline to the area from Lamesa would cost from $116,000 to $163,000.

Tarroll Taylor, city manager, was instructed to begin explorations at once.

Zoologist Says Scorpions 'Okay'

LOS ANGELES — A UCLA zoologist has put in a good word for large desert scorpions, black widow spiders, tarantulas and other crawling creatures. They're not so bad, he says.

Dr. Raymond Cowles said the sting of the large scorpion is a little more severe than that of a bee. It's the smaller ones in southern Arizona and Mexico that cause deaths, he wants it known.

The black widow's bite, though painful, is seldom lethal, says the doctor, and he thinks the fear-some looking tarantula, although it bites, actually makes a good pet.

Elvis Presley Due An Army Physical

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley reports today for a preinduction physical examination, the Army Recruiting Service announced.

During that time, Sillin said, the singer could enlist in any branch of the service he chooses.

Krausse Named On U-T Panel

Dan M. Krausse, vice president in charge of manufacturing for Cosden Petroleum Corp. and its subsidiary, Col-Tex Refining Co., has been named to a 13-man advisory council for the Engineering Foundation of the University of Texas.

The foundation was formed to help promote the fullest development of the university's College of Engineering.

In a recent letter from the university's president, Dr. Logan Wilson, Krausse was informed that Dean W. R. Woolrich of the College of Engineering had recommended the appointment of 13 outstanding individuals to lend advice and influence in maintaining and developing a distinctive College of Engineering.

Krausse received his Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering from the University of Texas in 1947. Prior to joining Cosden, he was administrative assistant to the manager of Sinclair's research and development department at East Chicago, Ind. In 1949, he became control engineer for the Cosden refinery at Big Spring.

Last September, he became Cosden's youngest vice president.

Later he was named to serve simultaneously as vice president of the Col-Tex Refining Co., purchased by Cosden in November.

Patrol Delivers Death Message To Honeymooners

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas, married in Big Spring last Sunday, were belatedly advised Thursday afternoon of the tragic death of Thomas' father, Jimmy Doak Thomas, crushed to death Wednesday at a gravel storage bin in Fort Worth.

A two-state search for the Thomas couple had been under way since Wednesday night. They had left Big Spring for New Orleans on their honeymoon.

When the elder Thomas was killed, relatives had no direct information on the whereabouts of the young couple.

Patrol officers in Texas and Louisiana were provided with the car license number and a search was launched to find them and tell them of the tragedy.

Mrs. R. W. Jennings, 1008 Goliad, mother of Mrs. Thomas, said that patrol officers spotted the Thomas car in Fredericksburg at 4 p.m. Thursday. The newlyweds were enroute to Big Spring.

When they were told of the death of the elder Thomas, they proceeded to Fort Worth.

Dog Finds Friends Among Students

PHILADELPHIA — Students at Overbrook Senior High School have a new classmate—a lone, some dog of mixed parentage found shivering in the schoolyard.

School authorities decided he should be taken to the pound and 3,000 students held a special caucus and petitioned for a stay of sentence.

Assistant Principal Marion Masland bowed to the majority decision and the dog will attend school full time until his owner is found.

Baby Carrie Frances Fisher is only ten weeks old, but already she's stealing scenes like this from mother Debbie Reynolds and father Eddie Fisher. It happened as the Fishers and Carrie Frances posed for their first picture as a family group.

Police Expect New Uniforms

The city expects to hear word concerning new police uniforms within the next week, Police Chief C. L. Rogers said today.

The new brown and tan uniforms were purchased through Hemphill-Wells and delivery date should have been sometime the middle of December.

This week Rogers and Gilbert Gibbs, of Hemphill-Wells, sent a telegram to Vechheimer Brothers Uniform Company asking for definite word on delivery.

When the uniforms were ordered in September, the company said it would expedite shipment.

Commissioners let bids on the clothing Sept. 25.

The uniform will consist of tan trousers, a brown shirt and brown waist-length jacket. The jacket will not be worn in summer.

3 Fire Alarms, Little Damage

Very little damage resulted from three fires here Thursday and early today.

The firemen at Eleventh and Birdwell answered a call Thursday to 306 Virginia where a light developed a short circuit. They reported no damage to the house, the residence of Jim Zack.

Two calls came to the Northside fire station. One at 308 N. Gregg was caused by a gas leak. Firemen said some damage was sustained to the floor of the building, owned by M. A. Jabor.

At 305 Dundee, a vacant lot, a trash fire caused a call from firemen this morning, but no damage was sustained.

Police Sergeant To Be Appointed

C. L. Rogers, police chief, said today that appointment of a sergeant for day duty will be made early next week.

At the present time, Bill Walton is acting sergeant on the day shift. The vacancy was created when Captain M. L. Kirby resigned at the end of December. Sgt. A. N. Standard was promoted to Kirby's captain slot, and Rogers said then he would wait until after Jan. 1 to appoint a sergeant.

Leo Hull has been appointed to detective sergeant to fill the vacancy created by resignation of Jack Shaffer Dec. 24.

Advice From An Old Hand

Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), right, oldest member of the new Congress, offers a bit of advice to the youngest member of the lawmaking body, Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich) as they met on Capitol Hill. Dingell at 30 is the youngest member of the House and Senate and Green, who is 89, is the oldest man ever to sit in the U. S. Senate.

Canadian Railway Strike Cuts Deep

MONTREAL (U) — The coast-to-coast strike on the Canadian Pacific Railway cut a little deeper today into the country's prosperous economy. But no government intervention appeared likely before Parliament reconvenes Tuesday.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told newsmen he had nothing to announce after prolonged Cabinet sessions yesterday on the crippling walkout.

The strike in its first two days has idled 73,000 railroad and other workers and threatens cutbacks and hardships to many points served by CPR's 17,000 miles of track, nearly half of Canada's railway mileage.

St. Laurent indicated that the Cabinet at another meeting Monday may recommend parliamentary action to end Canada's first rail strike since 1950. Any requested legislation likely will not be known until the traditional Speech From the Throne Tuesday outlines the government's plan for the lawmakers.

Rickshaw Stolen

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — Anyone seen pushing a rickshaw around Pasadena is going to have some explaining to do. The city of rickshaws from MGM Studios to South Pasadena borrowed three carry three pretty girls in the Tournament of Roses parade alongside a Chinese dragon float. Yesterday officials could find only two of them.

Probe Of Sunken Ship Raises Questions On Liner's Safety

WASHINGTON (U) — Specialists who investigated the Andrea Doria sinking for a House committee say the Italian luxury liner met "by a very narrow margin" certain international safety standards.

In Genoa, owners of the multi-million-dollar vessel disputed this and other findings of a panel which conducted the investigation for the House Merchant Marine Committee.

The probe was the outgrowth of the loss of the Doria off the Atlantic coast July 25 after a collision with the Stockholm, a Swedish vessel. The Stockholm was badly damaged, but did not go down. Some 50 persons died.

The investigators, while avoiding placing blame for the incident, said yesterday there were "serious questions" as to whether the Doria and the Stockholm "were being operated in accordance with the precepts of good seamanship and the provisions of the international convention for safety of life at sea."

They said "it is clear from this accident that the operation of the standards of the 1948 international convention did not meet their objectives." Accordingly, the specialists recommended that the United States propose steps toward adoption of "more effective standards for construction and operation."

The report was critical of the way the Doria was fitted with watertight compartments aimed at confining flooding to damaged portions of the ship. It said the Doria barely met international standards in this respect. The investigators also said the information they had indicated that the vessel was not properly ballasted, causing her to list badly after the

Report Given On Delinquency

AUSTIN (U) — The State Youth Development Council said yesterday more than 21,000 Texas children were in "serious difficulties" during 1956, but not enough parents are alarmed.

In a report to Gov. Shivers, the Legislature-created council predicted inmates in three training schools will be doubled by 1965. It requested more money either for buildings or parole services for handling juvenile delinquents. The council is in charge of the training schools at Gainesville, Crockett and Gatesville.

"The cry that juvenile delinquency is growing by leaps and bounds is heard daily by practically every person in our country," the report said. "Statistics on the subject are available in newspapers and magazines, movies and stories. Yet, a great majority of parents remain unaffected by the signposts of current events."

"They (the parents) say that social workers and probation people are unduly excited over the approximately 1 per cent of the children of the country who can't seem to be 'normal' youngsters." The council urged community effort to fight juvenile delinquency.

Negro Executed At State Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (U) — Leslie Webb, 34-year-old Gilmer Negro convicted of murdering a white man, was executed at the Texas State Prison early today.

Webb appeared calm and made no statement as he was led into the death chamber and strapped into the electric chair. He was pronounced dead at 12:06 a.m.

4 People Die In Crash Of Plane

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U) — A novice pilot spun out of the overcast yesterday and crashed into the only unoccupied house on a quiet residential street. All four aboard the plane were killed.

Raymond C. Roberts, a 38-year-old oil exploration engineer at Costa Mesa, Calif., had rented the plane at an airport near his home. With him were his business partner Urbin N. Hartman, 32, of Anaheim, Calif., and their wives, Mrs. Leona Roberts, 40, and Mrs. Anna Hartman, 51.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration said Roberts got his pilot's license Dec. 24 and had flown only 24 hours on his own.

It takes a giant ship to bring the old and new worlds together. It takes a giant to bring products and prospects together, too. That giant is the newspaper, reaching into every city, every day.

Because the newspaper conveys all the news from around the world—and particularly from around the corner—readers are buying more newspapers than ever—more than 56,000,000 copies daily!

Because Americans read the newspaper for news of products, too, advertisers are buying more newspapers than ever. Last year, all advertisers invested a record $3,087,800,000 in newspapers—more than was spent in radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined!

In today's market, everyone—retailer, wholesaler, distributor and manufacturer—needs a giant to bring his products and prospects together. The newspaper will do the job economically, consistently, quickly.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

First '57 Rain Falls

Big Spring had its first rain of 1957 Thursday night.

It wasn't much rain — just .01 inch — but it represented the first official moisture of the current year.

The drizzle began shortly before 9 p.m. and continued for half an hour. It left sidewalks wet and coated cars with droplets of water.

The precipitation had been cautiously predicted by the Weather Bureau in its forecast on Thursday morning.

"Occasional scattered showers" was the promise and the little drizzle of mid-evening made the prophecy come true.

High temperature on Thursday was 60 degrees. Low for the night was 41.

Heaviest rainfall on any Jan. 3 in Big Spring history was .08 inch in 1926.

Baggett was arrested by the Dawson Sheriff's Department and Mitchell by the Lamesa Police Department.

Texas Banks Show Deposits Increase

By The Associated Press

Bank deposits at the beginning of 1957 set new records in a number of Texas cities, a survey by The Associated Press revealed Friday.

All cities checked in the survey show gains over deposits of a year ago.

The reports were made Thursday after the U.S. comptroller of the currency and the Texas Banking Commission called for statements from banks as of the close of business Dec. 31, 1956.

Dallas led the state in bank deposits followed by Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Deposits at Dallas were $2,203,273,851, up 2.8 per cent over the $2,142,537,909 at the same time last year, and a record.

Houston bank deposits of $1,984,515,405 also were a record; and an increase of $86,595,810 over the year earlier totals.

In Tarrant County the 20 banks set an all-time high in deposits and loans. Deposits totaled $750,957,029, nearly $19,000,000 above the same call in 1955.

Deposits in 17 San Antonio banks totaled $559,276,140.43 Dec. 31, 1956. This was an increase of $14,876,607.66 over deposits at the close of 1955.

Deposits at the close of the year in Lubbock totaled $306,641,209.03, exceeding by $17,457,519.81 the previous peak in deposits set on Dec. 31, 1954. The previous record was $189,203,689.22.

Galveston's five banks showed deposits of $136,231,000, a gain over the year-ago figure of $129,760,000.

At Victoria a record was set by deposits of $89,977,241, topping the year-ago figure of $84,269,701, which was the previous year-end record.

Midland banks set a record with deposits of $99,178,818, an increase in a year of $8,632,551.

The seven banks in El Paso had an all-time high deposit of $248,430,470, an increase over last year of $13,063,275.

Sliced In Two, Lives 5 Hours

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—John Bobbitt, 46, was cut in two by a switch engine yesterday but amazed doctors by clinging to life more than five hours.

Through three of those hours he talked with his wife, a minister and doctors, who told him almost from the outset he would die. He did not appear in much pain. Then doctors gave him an anesthetic and he died two hours later.

"I never heard of such a thing," said Dr. J. W. Well.

No Confirmation Of Rumor That Marines Have A-Guns

WASHINGTON (AP)—A published report that U. S. Marines in the Mediterranean area have "live" atomic artillery weapons was discussed among top government officials yesterday. But there was no official confirmation or denial of its authenticity.

The report, published in Scripps-Howard newspapers, quoted Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine Corps commandant. Pate himself was among those who declined to comment.

At the White House, press secretary James C. Hagerty said in response to questions that President Eisenhower "has given no authority for use of atomic or any other weapons in the Middle East." Hagerty declined to comment further.

Newsman also asked Secretary of State Dulles about the report as Dulles emerged from a conference with Eisenhower on the Middle East situation. Indicating he and White House officials had discussed the atomic artillery report, Dulles told reporters he expected Hagerty to "comment on that right away."

The Hagerty statement came more than an hour later.

At the Pentagon, Pate confirmed to newsmen that he had talked over his reported remarks with Deputy Secretary of Defense Reuben Robertson. But the Marine commandant refused to "confirm, deny or discuss anything" about the report itself.

Pate also conferred with Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas prior to his session with Robertson, who currently is serving as acting defense secretary.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1957 SEC. B

13 Fatal Wrecks Involve Users Of Intoxicants

Intoxicants were major contributing factors in 13 out of 18 fatal motor car accidents investigated by local Texas highway patrolmen in Howard County in 1956.

At the request of Gailford Jones, district attorney, Jimmie Parks and Ben Walker, patrolmen, turned in statistics on their investigations of traffic accidents last year.

Jones said that the figures reveal there were 167 traffic accidents in the county during the year which were investigated by these two officers.

Jones said that the figures reveal there were 167 traffic accidents in the county during the year which were investigated by these two officers.

In their opinion, the officers told Jones, drinking was a contributing factor in 53 of the mishaps.

During 1956, the two patrol officers investigated 18 traffic accidents in which fatalities occurred. These 18 accidents took the lives of 24 individuals.

They stated that, to their best judgment, 13 of the 18 fatal accidents which came under the investigation, concerned persons who had been drinking.

There were 26 persons killed in traffic accidents in Howard County in 1956. All but two of these occurred in the county; two occurred in Big Spring.

Jones said that in these two accidents, no evidence was found of any part that drinking could have played in the tragedies.

The district attorney and the patrolmen merely pointed to the record to emphasize the moral it offered.

Out of 167 automobile accidents checked, 53 were shown to have been, in some part, caused by use of intoxicants.

In 13 of 18 accidents in which lives were taken, the officers found evidence which showed that some person involved in those accidents had been drinking at the time.

'FINISH FIGHT'

Polio Unit Opens $10,000 Drive

About 500 "iron lung" coin receptacles have been staked out and a series of benefit programs are being planned as the Howard-Glasscock Polio Chapter launches its 1957 March of Dimes.

Goal for this year's campaign is $10,000 — about $2,000 less than a year ago.

Campaign slogan is "Finish the Fight," in reference to gains made in the fight against polio through development of the Salk polio vaccine.

The fight isn't finished, said Rad Ware, campaign chairman. He pointed out that there are still 54,000,000 Americans under 35 years of age who have not received the polio inoculations.

Nationally, the need for mass inoculation will be stressed this year. National March of Dimes goal is $46,900,000. Half of the local contributions will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Remainder will be kept here to assist polio victims.

Ware said Mrs. Rube McNew heads a committee which was in charge of placing the coin receptacles in the 500 local business places. The miniature iron lungs will remain in the establishments throughout January.

The chairman said a number of benefit coffees, blue crutch sales and the "Mothers March on Polio" will be scheduled in January as a part of the drive.

Tragically illustrating that the fight against polio isn't finished is the fact that nine Howard County residents were stricken by the crippling disease during 1956, Ware said.

The local polio chapter spent $5,224.02 last year in assisting the victims. The money went for braces, wheel chairs, hospitalization and therapy. Hospitalization costs alone amounted to $3,107.05.

Several persons stricken in previous years also continue to receive aid from the local chapter. One sufferer has received $4,737.60 in care in the past six years, Ware reported.

Other chapter activities last year included sponsorship of the water therapy program at the Westward Ho Motel at a cost of $40 and the repair of two iron lungs, requiring another $250 outlay.

Financial assistance to polio victims is provided in all cases where families of the persons stricken

County Hired Help Salary Study Due

Despite all of the time devoted on Wednesday by the Howard County Commissioners Court to the issue of salary increases, there still remains a considerable amount of work on the commission's agenda in the same field.

It was voted last September, for example, to increase the compensation of Walter Parks, county engineer from $6,000 to $7,000. Vote of the commission at that time on this proposal was unanimous.

It was said that Parks had been promised such an increase at the time he was hired, provided his services were satisfactory at the termination of the year. No action on this issue has been taken.

At the same meeting, the old commission approved, by a three-to-two vote, a plan to increase the pay of all clerical help in the courthouse by 10 per cent.

These matters will have to be settled. They will probably be aired at the meeting next Monday when approval of a schedule of pay increases for the elective officials of the county is to come before the board.

In view of the sharp change in decision at the meeting on Wednesday over tentative decisions reached when the 1957 budget was approved last September, there was considerable speculation as to the fate of the other proposals.

The meeting last September had voted a flat 20 per cent boost for all elective officials, with the exception of the county commissioners. These latter officers were granted no pay increase by the action at that time.

Wednesday, at the first meeting of the new year, the commissioners court cut the proposed increase for the elective officials to 10 per cent and voted the commissioners an equal increase.

Last September, too, the court approved a $50 monthly increase for Mrs. Frances Glenn, county treasurer. On Wednesday the commissioners struck out this proposal and left Mrs. Glenn's paycheck as it was in 1956.

New Kiwanis Officers Take Over Duties

Big Spring Kiwanis Club's new officers have now been officially installed and have begun their work for 1957.

Installation ceremonies were a feature of a banquet at the Couden County Club Thursday night. The event was attended by more than 100 Kiwanians and their wives.

Frank Wilson, Snyder school official, who is lieutenant governor for Division 22 of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis Clubs International, was installing officer.

Horace Reagan is the new president of the local club. He succeeds Harve Clay who now becomes an ex-officio member of the board of directors of the organization.

Other officers installed were Jack Alexander, first vice president; Jasper Atkins, second vice president; Ernest Welch, secretary-treasurer; Dalton Mitchell, H. W. Smith, Robert Stripling, Roy Black, Bob Heine, Sherman Smith and Floyd Parsons, directors.

Dr. Orion Carter, district superintendent for the Methodist Church, was guest speaker. His subject was the contribution that civic clubs make to the spiritual life of their communities. Robert Stripling introduced Carter to the audience.

Mrs. Don Newsom, vocalist, provided the musical numbers for the evening. She was accompanied by Lt. Charles Webb. Webb also provided dinner music.

Reagan and Clay spoke briefly after their installation. Clay reviewed highlights of the last year in club activities.

Sam Blackburn was toastmaster for the banquet.

The third member is a minor, Reeder said, and has been taken to the boys' reformatory at Gatesville. One of the trio is the son of a man now confined to the Big Spring jail.

The grand jury panel includes Jackie James, E. S. Kingston, Marjorie Clayton, Isaac Ledbetter, J. D. Patterson, C. D. Jones, James E. Smith, Milton Davis.

F. L. Blagaves, E. V. Creighton, C. C. Brown, W. L. Brown, Bob Beal, Frank Beavers, Beno Hendricks and Ralph Miller.

Two Apply For Coahoma Justice Of Peace Office

Two applicants for the post of justice of peace at Coahoma, left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Austin Coffman, have listed their names with R. H. Weaver, county judge.

Most recent to apply for the post is H. C. Hooser, pioneer attorney. Hooser states in his application that he is a resident of the precinct in which the vacant office is located and requests the commissioners to give his application for the post consideration.

Buck Graham, a resident of the Coahoma precinct, had filed his application several days ago.

The post of justice of peace at Coahoma was left vacant Jan. 1 when Mrs. Coffman, who has been filling the post, notified the commissioners she was resigning because of ill health.

The office was one in which the county commissioners did not take action in their pay-raising activities of Wednesday. The post has been paying $600 a year. If the same rule had been applied which was employed in the case of the Justices of peace in Big Spring the salary would have been increased to $650.

Oklahoma City Run-Aways Held

Two 15-year-old boys, residents of Oklahoma City, were picked up by city police late at night on the morning of Jan. 3.

Under questioning they admitted they were run-aways.

One had a pistol in his possession which he claimed belonged to his father. Police checked with Oklahoma City and said the two youths were well known to juvenile officers in that city. They are being detained for return to their home town.

Editorial

Big Executives Maintain The Touch

A remarkable improvement in business manners in the United States is noted in an article in the current issue of Fortune magazine. They now appear to be much superior to the manners encountered in ordinary social intercourse. Business men, the magazine declares, "seem to have developed the capacity to disagree as pleasantly as they agree . . . and are quick to rationalize their behavior in terms of self-interest and ultimate profits."

The higher the company official, the more meticulous the manners. Nearly forty per cent of some 150 company presidents interviewed claimed they answer their own telephones.

"I find that 85 per cent of the calls coming in are the ones I want to take," said one president. "Why screen out the 5 per cent of nuisance calls at the risk of irritating the other 95 per cent?"

Almost to a man the interviewees agree that "the supreme telephone insult is to place a call through your secretary and make the party at the other end of the line hold the connection until you're ready to come on."

This type of annoyance is getting scarcer all the time, perhaps as more bigshot executives discover it is resented. A good rule to follow when one of these hold-the-phone deals comes up is to count ten and then hang up. It is quite possible your time is as valuable to you as that of the caller is to him.

The survey indicates 85 per cent of top executives operate on a call-me-Harry or first-name basis — at least among themselves. But junior executives are advised to wait for the big fellow to make the first move toward a first-name basis. That advice goes for newcomers and juniors who should wait for the veterans or the seniors to make the first ice-breaking move.

Common courtesy is, as it always has been, a prime business and public-relations asset.

You may have trouble attracting the attention of an ordinary hired hand in any given place of business, but the bossman or his assistants move forward promptly to see about your needs. That is why they are (1) bossmen or (2) assistants or executives. Paying attention to even the casual customer is how they got that way.

Finally, Fortune reports: "In one veteran's opinion, 'The major development in business manners in the past quarter-century has been the growth of the idea that a man who is trying to sell you something should be treated courteously. There's no better carrier of information than a wide-awake salesman who eats and breathes the industry he serves.'"

Disappointing To The Public

The people who like to see the principle of public service held a little higher than personal gain must be disappointed at the action of the Howard County Commissioners in voting themselves another raise in pay, this one for 10 per cent and the second increase in less than a year.

The Herald has not found fault with an increase for the officials who serve full time in their offices as professional workers, but has pointed out the distinction it believes should exist for those citizens who offer their services in the administrative posts that certainly do not require full time. Apparently every member of the Commissioners Court has other activities that represent some income, so the job of being a member of the Court is not to be taken as man's sole means of livelihood. If it comes down to the business of electing a man to office because he needs a job, then we are straying pretty far from accepted principles of maintaining efficiency and economy in our government.

It is pretty well rumored around the courthouse that at least one member of the Court has been adamant about getting his salary raised, and that if he couldn't be accommodated on that score, other members of the Court couldn't expect cooperation out of him on important matters of progress for the County. If this is true, it is not a pretty example to have before us.

Basically, troubles in the administration in county affairs go back to the out-moded system that is imposed by state legislation. Eventually, Texas must face up to the need of modernizing its county governmental processes and procedures.

But until that happens, the best the taxpayer can ever hope for is that it can put men into office who carry a degree of devotion to the public interest. This seems difficult to do in some years, but it is not impossible.

David Lawrence

U.S. Ready To Fight When Necessary

WASHINGTON—An erroneous impression that the United States would not fight under any circumstances has been derived in recent months from the frequent use by public officials of the phrase "renunciation of the use of force." It has resulted in some criticism that Soviet Russia and her allies may have been led to assume that this country had adopted a peace-at-any-price attitude.

There never was, however, any idea of renouncing the use of force for defensive purposes—as a means of resisting the attacks of the aggressor. So widespread has the misconception of American policy become in certain quarters that Vice President Nixon earlier this month found it necessary to insert in a public speech a qualifying word when he declared that all nations must renounce the use of "aggressive force."

This was a timely clarification, and by coincidence the latest declaration of Pope Pius XII confirms this very point and adds weight to the request just being made by President Eisenhower to Congress to give the executive authority to use the armed forces in certain contingencies in the Middle East.

It is a coincidence, too, that in the December 24 issue of "Christianity and Crisis," Reinhold Niebuhr, chairman of its editorial board and one of the prominent Protestant churchmen of the country, who has been identified with many "liberal" causes, took occasion to criticize the note of pacifism which has been creeping into international affairs.

The Pope's speech on December 23, which was perhaps the most important utterance on this subject from any church source in the year 1956, deals first with the situation that can arise in any nation "wherein, every effort to avoid war being expended in vain, war—for effective self-defense and with the hope of a favorable outcome against unjust attack—could not be considered unlawful." He then added:

"If, therefore, a body representative of the people and a government—both having been chosen by free elections—in a moment of extreme danger decide, by legitimate instruments of internal and external policy, on defensive precautions, and carry out the plans which they consider necessary, they do not act immorally."

The Pope touched directly on the importance of strengthening the United Nations as an instrument for keeping the peace of the world. He declared:

"This organization ought, also, to have the right and the power of forestalling all military intervention of one state in another, whatever the pretext under which it is effected, and also the right and power of assuming, by means of a sufficient police force, the safeguarding of order in the state which is threatened."

What President Eisenhower is doing to offset these wrong impressions was really forecast by Vice President Nixon in his speech in New York City on December 6 last, which takes on added significance now. Mr. Nixon said in part:

"We are militarily strong only because we know this is necessary to keep the peace today. While we oppose the use of force to settle disputes, we recognize the need of strong forces of self-defense so long as the Communist world is committed to its policy of world domination by force and violence."

"Now that our allies have subordinated what they consider to be their national interests to the verdict of the United Nations, we have a solemn obligation to give leadership and support to a United Nations program which will assure the solution by peaceful means of the problems which brought about the armed conflict in that area."

"If aggressive force is to be outlawed as an instrument of national policy, other ways must be found to protect the legitimate interests of nations when they are threatened by means short of force."

"In addition to the immediate problem of expediting the reopening of the Suez Canal on a basis under which this international life line will not be subject to arbitrary closing in the future, the moral, diplomatic, economic and military strength of the United States and the United Nations must be mobilized toward the realization of these long-range objectives. The life line will not be subject to closure in the Near East."

This is indeed the policy underlying the President's request to Congress to give him authority to use, if necessary, the armed services of this country in the Middle East, in cooperation with the United Nations, in order to prevent the outbreak of a general war.

Ike Troops Plea Nothing New

WASHINGTON —The idea of using American armed forces in some way to stop the spread of communism is not new with President Eisenhower. He discussed it at least two years ago.

He will go before Congress tomorrow to ask standby authority — approval beforehand — to use American forces in the Middle East when he thinks it necessary. Although he has now had at least two years to think over this problem there were indications late this week that he and his advisers were still not certain on how to say what he wanted to ask.

No matter what he says, it is likely that Congress, after committee hearings, will have a hand in the phrasing of any resolution it passes to give Eisenhower standby authority.

It is even possible, but not likely, that Congress won't give Eisenhower the authority at all.

The State Department by the way it "leaked" news of Eisenhower's proposed request to Congress has put Congress on a delicate spot.

If it repudiates Eisenhower's idea, it would be doing so at a time when the danger of Russian penetration in the Middle East, if only by infiltration and subversion and not by armed attack, is serious.

A repudiation by Congress now would appear as notice to the world — and to Russia and the Middle East — that American opinion was so divided on what to do to block communism that it didn't know how to act.

Still, in 1953, on the urging of some of his fellow Republicans, Eisenhower proposed that the Republican party sponsor a resolution condemning Russia for violating former treaties. Republicans didn't like his wording of the resolution. They wanted it more strongly worded. The Democrats didn't. The result: Eisenhower's proposal dropped in the waste basket.

Two years ago Eisenhower informed the Defense Department this country should "provide for meeting lesser hostile acts in situations not broadened by the intervention of a major aggressor's forces."

A major aggressor, of course, would have been Russia or Red China.

But it isn't clear just what the administration has in mind to ask Congress.

Last week, when the State Department was "leaking" the idea to newsmen, the reporters were told the President would ask standby authority to stop Soviet aggression.

But after Eisenhower's Tuesday conference with congressional leaders, the White House issued a statement saying he wanted Congress to join him in serving notice this country would resist "Communist aggression" in the Middle East.

Soviet aggression and Communist aggression are not necessarily the same things. If Syria turns Communist and is armed by Russia and then attacks Iraq, is that Soviet aggression?

If this country, no matter what the aggression is called, then goes to the aid of Iraq, right in Russia's back yard, will the Soviets consider this American aggression and attack United States forces?

Radioactivity Helps Crops

ROME — Your potatoes are sprouting too much down in the cellar this winter? Dose them with a little radioactivity.

Want to grow roses on a spruce tree? Try radioactive isotope P32.

The peaceful outcrop of the atom can stiffen the stalks of barley and make for quicker and easier harvesting. It can keep green bananas in storage longer before they ripen, tell the scientist why some sheep need more food than others—and aid the farmer in hundreds of different ways.

Throughout the world the search goes on unceasingly for ways and means of using the atom for bringing cheaper, better foods to the market—and getting them there fresher and free of germs.

The Food & Agricultural Organization of the United Nations has set up a new committee to correlate and exchange information on ways the atom can help in European agriculture. It is known as the "European contact group on uses of isotopes and radiation in agricultural research." Recently, it completed its first meeting at Wageningen, in the Netherlands.

Delegates from 16 European nations attended, along with observers from the United States and Soviet Russia, and eight international organizations.

Their findings and recommendations are being studied and catalogued at FAO headquarters here.

So much research is going on that the group asked member nations to list only the outstanding experiments in reporting for the master index to avoid clogging up the files.

The group broke up the experiments under way into four main groups — crop production, soil preservation and enrichment, food preservation, and animal science.

So far as crop production, soil fertility and livestock production are concerned, the amount of isotopes and equipment needed are relatively inexpensive, and training in their use can be acquired in a relatively short time, the group reported.

The main benefit of radiation in these fields lies in its ability to penetrate biological tissues and induce changes in them. Experiments are concentrated on the use of isotopes to kill off insect pests infecting growing crops, livestock, or stored foods and to aid in sterilizing or pasteurizing foodstuffs, like meat, by killing bacteria.

Around The Rim

Modern Weapons To Be Outmoded

It's become popular nowadays to predict things to come in the world of the near (and distant) future. People finally are coming to see that even the most fantastic predictions often fall far short of the mark. Most of us, if we could see a few decades into the future, would probably be stunned by what we should see, even though we should have boned up on the most fantastic science fiction.

So now let's look a little into the future, say about 20 or 30 years, and see how far my aim was off.

There will be less killing in the world of the future, on the part of crooks and policemen alike. This will be possible through use of "stun guns." These are weapons that will knock out or stun the victim without killing him. These will be used by policemen to capture crooks without having to kill them. This would be useful from the standpoint of gaining information from suspects. (And cops by that time probably also will have the means of making the guilty confess, and of weeding out the innocent.)

Underworld characters, such as bank robbers, will take to the use of stun guns. It will give crooks the double advantage of immobilizing victims who might otherwise call the cops, and of avoiding murder raps in event of capture.

The stun gun already is possible, in light of ultrasonic research. High frequency vibrations, packed closely together in compact waves, will stop — or kill — according to the strength of the vibrations. The problem of creating a stun gun is one of design and of the power plant. The power plant might be atomic, eventually. The stun guns will have scaled gauges, marked "light stun," "heavy stun," and "kill."

And speaking of hand weapons, other lethal kinds will be of two general types, both atomic. There is the heat ray of a kind predicted by H. G. Wells in his "War of the Worlds," except these will be designed for human hands, not Martian. The other is the neutron ray, for use where there is danger of spreading fire, or where the intent is to shatter, instead of burning, the target.

Missile weapons will be a thing of the past, even for huge weapons. Ground and anti-aircraft artillery will be both neutron and heat ray weapons. Planes, tanks (if they still need those) and space ships will be armed with these two types of weapons. There are other possible variations for special uses, such as the ionic ray or the electron ray, but these are too easily fended off by magnetic fields.

Another advance will be in a new kind of brain machine which will make the death penalty for crime outmoded. Death sentences will gradually be replaced by the more advanced type of punishment as soon as people realize the waste of human potential, and that vengeance be- longeth to the Lord. This machine was predicted in "The Demolished Man." It will be used on those who formerly would have been executed.

Instead, these people are "demolished." That is, all neural synaptic connections in the brain are demolished, or erased, leaving the victim once more with the mind of a baby — utterly empty and unformed. The idea here is that, next time, the tree will grow as the twig is bent, and the sentencing court will see to it that the twig is bent correctly.

Such a process as demolishing the mind would mean the end of one's entire personality, along with all memory, habits and thoughts. It would be worse than death to the criminal-minded. Criminals every one are supreme egoists.

How To Meet Those Christmas Bills

"Now hear this!" said the Head of Clan Robb, as he sat at the desk, glaring at the January 1 sheaf of bills. "Now hear this! Next year we are going to inaugurate a new system around this house."

"We are going to pay cash for all Christmas purchases. Then, please, God, you can keep track of what you spend and I won't have to go out and rob a bank to pay the Christmas bills and the January installment of the income tax!"

"Well, my goodness!" I said, defensively. "I've saved so much money recently it ought to be easy to pay all the bills and the tax, too."

"I know there's a catch in this some- place," said the master of the house, "but just how have you been saving so much money recently?"

"Why, I saved scads of money by not insisting on going out on the town on New Year's Eve."

"But we never go out on the town on New Year's Eve."

"Yes, but I could have insisted that we make whoopee this year. And if I had insisted, why, then I would have had to buy a new evening dress. Not that I would have wanted a new evening dress. But I don't ever want you to have to hang your head because I don't look as good as the other girls."

"So if I had bought a new evening dress, it would have cost at least $395, only because I know you want to be proud of me. So you see, I saved $395 right there. And it would have cost at least another $25 to buy a pair of slippers and have them dyed to match the dress, because never in my life have I ever bought a new evening dress that I didn't have to have a new pair of slippers to go with it."

with it."

"You said a mouthful, Queen," said Mr. R.

"And if we had gone out on the town, you would have wanted me to have at least a white mink shawl."

"What in Sam Hill is a shawl?"

"Why, it's a little shoulder cape, and in white mink it would cost about $1,800 at least. So you see, right off the bat I have saved $2,200, and that's only the beginning. Because, of course, you would have insisted that we have New Year's Eve dinner at '21'. And with a bottle of champagne — well, what else do people drink on New Year's Eve — and with tips and everything, it would have cost anyway $75."

"And, after that, you would naturally have insisted that we go to the Plaza for the midnight show, and the reservations were $60 a couple. So I guess with maybe only one bottle of champagne and incidentals, you could have gotten away with spending no more than $100 there."

"And then I know you would have wanted me to have a night cap at either El Morocco or the Stork Club and bingo! there would have gone another $50 on New Year's Eve. So when you add up the taxi fare and the orchid corsage, which I haven't even mentioned yet, I have saved us almost $2,500 just by staying home on New Year's Eve!"

"Well, I'll be darned!" said the head of the clan, as he turned back to the bills. "You've saved enough to pay all the bills and have a little money left over!"

"Then, please, daddy," I asked, "can I have a check for what's left over to buy a coat at the January sale?"

The Gallup Poll

Only South Opposes Filibuster Curb

PRINCETON, N. J. — If the current bi-partisan effort in the Senate to change the present rule permitting "filibustering" succeeds, it will have had considerable support from the public for nearly eight years.

The latest Institute survey records a vote of 74-25 — among voters who are familiar with the term "filibuster" — in favor of amending present Senate rules in order that a simple majority could cut off debate on any subject. The rules now in effect call for a two-thirds majority.

The one section of the country which does not support the plan is the South. This was also the case nearly eight years ago when, in March, 1949 — after President Truman first proposed the plan — the Institute found the vote in favor of amending the rule somewhat higher than today — with the South again the exception.

Sen. Irving M. Ives, R., N. Y., and Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D., Ill., told a news conference recently that they and a dozen other supporters of a modified filibuster rule will do battle in the Senate "until we settle it," either by forcing a change or by going down to defeat.

Both said that failure would rule out any "meaningful" civil rights legislation. Institute interviewers from Maine to California and from Florida to Washington asked a representative cross-section of persons across the country the following question in determining public opinion on filibustering:

"It has been suggested that the Senate change its rules so that a simple majority can call for an end to discussion instead of a two-thirds majority as is now the case. Do you approve or disapprove of this?"

Here is today's vote among adults who know what a filibuster is and that of a comparable group in a survey early in 1949:

Today 1949	Per cent
Approve	54
Disapprove	45
No opinion	16

Today's vote by regions of the country shows the greatest support for the plan coming from the Midwest. In the South, sentiment among those who are familiar with a filibuster runs against the proposal.

Here is the vote by regions:

Ap- prove	Dis- approve	No Opin.
East	46	34	20
Midwest	55	28	17
South	40	46	14
Far West	51	39	10

With the battle in the Senate over the changed cloture rule likely to be mainly between Northern and Southern Democrats, it is interesting to note that among the rank-and-file of both the Republican and Democratic party there is a substantially greater number who approve than disapprove of the plan as the following figures show:

Ap- prove	Dis- approve	No Opin.
Republicans	50	31	19
Democrats	50	36	14
Independents	47	38	15

In 1947, after Southern senators had used the filibuster in the fight to seat Sen. Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi at the opening of the Eightieth Congress, a group of senators introduced bills to curb the practice.

Public reaction at the time was tested by the Institute, which found that 78 per cent of those familiar with the issue thought Congress ought to do something about filibusters, with the weight of sentiment in favor of ending debate by majority vote.

Memories Of Norway

"A typical Norwegian snow scene" is the way T-Sgt. and Mrs. John Mruz describe the picture which was one of their wedding gifts. It was painted for them by a friend, B. Odegaard of Oslo, Norway. Note the sweater worn by Mrs. Mruz—it, too, is typical Norwegian work. White, it has a yoke of red, green and black, knit in an intricate design. She has been astonished, since her arrival in the United States in November, at the lack of embroidery, knitting and other handwork here. The couple makes a home at 611 Douglas.

Texans, Norwegians Have One Idea In Common -- Coffee Hospitality!

By ANNE LEFEVER

A couple with the makings of good Texans is T-Sgt. and Mrs. John Mruz, who are living at 611 Douglas.

Recently arrived from Norway, they believe in the hospitality of a cup of coffee as strongly as do the natives of this state.

"In Norway," they explained, "if you do not get a cup of coffee, where you visit, it means that your host has bad manners."

Sgt. Mruz, of Norwegian descent, was born in New York, but his pretty blonde wife was born in Oslo, Norway, where the two met in 1953.

One of their most prized wedding gifts — (the couple has been married about 13 months), is a scene painted in Oslo. In fact, included in the gift were three paintings, all done by their friend, B. Odegaard, who put his signature on each "to make it valuable in later years," he told them.

There's a touch of homesickness in the face and voice of Mrs. Mruz as she discusses the paintings, one, a typical Norwegian scene of a small brook and white birches; the other, a farm scene. According to Mrs. Mruz, the Norwegian farmers follow a system of grazing their cattle, which sounds ideal. In summer, they use the land high up in the mountains; as the weather grows colder, the herds are brought down to a lower altitude, and in the winter, the valley lands are used for pasturing.

"They chase," she said, and stopped, turning to her husband for the correct word to express the running up and moving of the cattle. "Herd" was not satisfactory to her; after all, who would ever use the past tense of "hear" to apply to moving the cows to another place? Ah, this English language!

The young Norwegian woman does remarkably well in the use of the language. She's also learning to "cook American," under the tutelage of her husband, who took a course of cooking in high school.

One of the main differences she notices in the food is that American cookery is too hot, as she puts it, "too spacey" (spicy).

Another outstanding thing about America? "It's the constant running, running, running all the time!" Mrs. Mruz exclaimed. "At home, we have a saying, "If we don't come today, we come tomorrow," and nobody worries if things are not done right now."

The people of Norway like American movies very much, and they are very fond of American entertainers. One especially, Louis Armstrong, is very popular with all, both old and young.

In the movie houses, no one is admitted during a performance. You have a reserved seat, and you wait until a certain time to occupy it. There is no crawling around in the dark to get to a center seat, thereby disturbing other viewers.

Used car lots fascinate the newcomers, as her husband said, since she had never seen one before. New cars are scarce and hard to get; a person has to have a special license to purchase one, and must really have a need for a car. It's unheard of for practically everyone to own a car, the couple explained.

"Over here, there is no knitting or embroidery being done! I have been here since Nov. 13, and I have not seen any embroidery or knitting or any sewing; but you have such pretty things in the stores, there is no need to make them," Mrs. Mruz said.

Then she described the work of the Norwegian women, who knit their sweaters and other garments, make their table linens and sew their clothing. She was wearing a lovely sweater that would make anyone envious.

The Mruzs have escaped, so far, a sandstorm. She was rather wistful in speaking of Christmas with no snow. It just didn't seem like Christmas!

The Norwegians celebrate Christmas very much as we do in this country, with the main observance being on Christmas Eve. At that time, there is a big feast of pork and sauerkraut, (no, there's no turkey) and presents for all.

Children do not hang their stockings for Santa Claus, as he comes to their homes, talks to them and leaves his gifts in person. And the nice thing about it, he doesn't have to have to change his costume in making the trip from here to Norway — he wears the same red and white suit — probably with red flannels underneath to add warmth!

Cotton Is Favored For Decorating By Majority Of Women

Cotton's all-around washability and easy care have installed it as the overwhelming favorite among American housewives for home decorating.

A majority of homemakers polled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture have voted cotton their favorite fiber for curtains, draperies, slipcovers, scatter rugs, and bedspreads.

Eighty-one per cent of women who use slipcovers prefer cotton slipcovers, the government survey disclosed. Fifty-nine per cent prefer cotton for bedspreads, 37 per cent for curtains, 39 per cent for draperies, 81 per cent for scatter rugs, and 53 per cent for summer blankets.

In each case, cotton's percentage was the highest of all fibers named.

The survey, released by the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Agricultural Economics, showed that a majority of women who choose cotton do so because of cotton's laundering and cleaning properties.

Here's Unexpected Hobby For Official

In addition to being a world-famous traveler, explorer, author and lecturer, Associate Justice William O. Douglas is a collector of wildflowers. He has recently presented his collection of wildflowers from Iran to the National Herbarium.

The versatile justice collected the more than 300 specimens during Persian safaris in 1949 and 1950. Many of them were completely unknown, and it has taken a department of agriculture botanist six years to classify them.

Justice Douglas became interested in wildflowers in his youth while roaming the wild mountainous regions of the Pacific northwest.

He keeps a collection of these specimens pressed beneath the glass top of his desk in the Supreme Court building.

Personnel who have completed USAF Extension Courses in "Preparation for Reserve Commission," or "Officer Candidate Correspondence Course," need not attend the Academy, but may if they wish.

Airmen first class must have at least eight months in grade to be eligible for the Academy.

Wise Men Seek Jesus

THEY SAW HIS STAR AND BOUGHT TO WORSHIP HIM

Scripture—Matthew 1-2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THIS, the first lesson of 1957, we return to the birth of Jesus, which was studied on Dec. 23, but this time we are told of the Wise Men, not the shepherds, and their quest for the birth of the Messiah.

St. Matthew begins his gospel by reciting the genealogy of Jesus, to show that He was a lineal descendant of David, and the kings reigning after him, and had a right to David's throne.

We are told of Joseph's dream in which the angel of the Lord came to him, telling him that his affianced wife would give birth to a son by the Holy Ghost, and He should be called Jesus, for He would save His people from their sins.

There were many heroes in Jewish history who had saved their people in wars with the Lord's help, but Jesus was the first dedicated to save the people from their sins.

When Jesus was born in the town of Bethlehem, three Wise Men, the Magi, as they are called, appeared in Jerusalem, claiming that they were seeking the King of the Jews, whom they wished to worship. They had seen His Star in the East, they said, and it had guided them on their journey.

King Herod heard of the Wise Men's questions and their story of the Star that was their guide, and he was very uneasy. Herod was jealous and cruel where his interests were threatened, so he called together his chief priests and scribes and asked them where the Messiah they were expecting would be born?

In Bethlehem, they told him, where it was written by the Prophet Micah: "But thou, Bethlehem, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall He come forth unto me that is to be Ruler in Israel."—Micah 5:2.

Then the king called the Wise Men to him and asked them at what time this Star of which they had spoken appeared? Having received this information he sent his Wise Men to Bethlehem, telling them to search diligently until they found the Babe, then to come back to Jerusalem and report to him, so that he too, might worship.

came to return, "for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him."

So Joseph took Mary and Jesus to Egypt, and they stayed there until Herod was dead.

Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the Wise Men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently enquired of the Wise Men.

You can imagine the terrible grief of the parents of these innocent little victims of the king's wrath. Herod only lived about a year after this, and when he had passed, the angel appeared to Joseph in Egypt, telling him to bring his wife and Son home.

When Joseph found that Herod's son ruled in his father's place, however, he was afraid to go having been warned by God in a dream, so he turned into Galilee, and came to a city called Nazareth; "that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets. He shall be called a Nazarene."

REV. J. C. DOBSON

MRS. J. C. DOBSON

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Dobson, of Bethany, Oklahoma, have now re-entered the field of active evangelism in the Church of the Nazarene, where they had served for a period of time previously.

Mr. Dobson attended Centenary College, Shreveport, Louisiana, and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He held pastorates at Sulphur Springs, Beaumont, and San Benito, Texas. For two years he was professor of art at Bethany-Peniel College, Bethany, Oklahoma.

An outstanding artist, Mr. Dobson uses chalk artistry in an unusual way in his meetings. An interesting and unique speaker, his sermons are scripturally sound and fundamental.

His wife, who travels with him, has charge of the congregational singing and specializes in vocal solos.

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

HER WINDOW

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the PTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, in hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis . . . the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Barring injury, the National Football League's 1957 "rookie of the year" will quite probably be Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns. Brown is the All-America back who played so well for Syracuse in the last Cotton Bowl game. He stands a good chance of being named to the all-time Cotton Bowl team.

Jimmy, a 212-pound Negro, is the kind of boy the pros go for. He's cool, rugged and durable. He has probably the finest pair of hands I've ever seen on a football player.

He reminds me of Jackie Robinson, the major league infielder who recently was traded by the Brooklyn Dodgers to the New York Giants in that he seems to slump when he walks, is slightly knock-kneed and pigeon-toed. Actually, he's completely relaxed at all times.

Robinson, incidentally, was a fine football player while in college at UCLA but Brown is a better one. He runs with brutal power. He doesn't try to elude you. He simply runs up one side of you and down the other.

The young man is not only powerful, he's reasonably fast, as well. He'll probably go better among the pros, in time, than Ollie Matson and Matson, another Negro, is one of the two or three finest running backs in pro football.

It was a treat to watch him. I don't think any of the bowls anywhere had anything to compare with him.

The Cotton Bowl all-star backfield, incidentally, consists of Sammy Baugh, TCU (1937); Bobby Layne, Texas (1946); Dickie Moegele, Rice Institute (1954); and John Kimbrough, Texas A&M (1941).

Baugh played on the Frog team that defeated Buzz Bulvid, Art Guepe and the Marquette Warriors, 16-6.

He threw a 55-yard touchdown pass to L. D. Meyer that day, the only time he figured in the scoring.

Layne, now a star with the Detroit Lions of the NFL, contributed perhaps the finest performance in the history of the Cotton Bowl the afternoon he led Texas to a 40-27 victory over Missouri back in 1946.

He sought out Max Baumgardner with a 48-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter, scored on a one-yard line buck in the same period, duplicated that feat in the second, found Baumgardner with a 15-yard scoring heave in the third, took a 50-yard pass from Ralph Ellsworth in the fourth and counted again shortly before the game ended on a two-yard plunge.

In addition, he kicked four points after touchdowns.

Rice shaded Alabama, 28-6, in 1954, the year Moegele took over for Kossie Johnson and did so well he found it relatively easy to rate the All-America team the following fall.

That was the game, too, in which Tommy Lewis jumped up off the "Bama bench and tackled Moegele on the Crimson Tide's 40-yard line. (Dickie was awarded a 95-yard TD run on the play).

In addition to that score, Moegele ran 79 yards for a touchdown in the second period and 34 yards for another in the third. The Rice star, by the way, replaced Randolph Field's great Glenn Doggs on the all-time Cotton Bowl team.

Kimbrough had a big hand in Texas A&M's dramatic 13-12 victory over a rugged Fordham team in the Dallas classic in 1941. He shared starring honors that day with Joe Routh of the Aggies and the Fordham trio of James Blumenstock, Joe Ungerer and Lou DeFilippo.

Kimbrough plunged over the one in the third quarter for the Aggies' second and game-winning score.

Kimbrough earned places on all-time teams in both the Cotton and Sugar Bowls. He played in the New Orleans game in 1940. Kl Aldrich, TCU; and Baugh are others who gained similar honors in both the New Year's Day bowls.

It could take some tall playing to root any of the boys off the club but Brown was unstoppable against TCU last Tuesday. He deserves a place on the team.

After all, he scored 21 points and rolled up 132 yards rushing against a team which had been practicing several weeks to slow him. He'll be heard from again. You can bet on that.

Senior Bowl Teams Rated Even For Game Saturday

By HOYT HARWELL
MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Opposing Senior Bowl coaches today named potent offensive lineups for tomorrow's game. They also announced rugged defensive units designed to stop the high-powered scoring machines.

Experts rated the North and South squads about even.

Coach Joe Kuharich's Yankees, with Purdue's Len Dawson doing the tossing, are expected to go to the air more than the Rebels.

Kuharich, Washington Redskins coach, will use bruising fullback John Bayuk of Colorado to keep the South's defense honest.

Flanking Bayuk will be halfbacks Terry Barr of Michigan and Jim Podoley of Central Michigan.

With breakaway runners Del Shofner of Baylor and George Volkert of Georgia Tech at halfback, the South will probably do more running, although quarter-

Kuharich has Brad Bomba of Indiana and Bob Kneale of Purdue at ends; Bob Pollack of Pittsburgh and Bill Underdunk of Pittsburgh and Bill Underdunk of Virginia at tackles; Don Gilkey of the University of California and Ed Voytek of Purdue at guards; and Joe Amstutz of Indiana at center.

The South will run behind Jack Johnson of Miami (Fla.) and Buddy Cruze of Tennessee, ends; Earl Leggett of Louisiana State and Sam Deluca of South Carolina, tackles; Dalton Trux of Tulane and John Barrow of Florida, guards; and Joe Williams of TCU, center.

Angelo Quint Comes Thru

Jayhawk Gym became Nightmare Alley for the favorites in the first round of the fifth annual Howard College basketball tournament here Thursday as three of the four seeded teams crashed to defeat.

Defending champion Odessa, HCJC and Lon Morris took their lumps in the most exciting first round of play in the history of the meet. Only Phil George's San Angelo Rams performed as expected and, as a result, became a red-hot favorite to capture its first meet crown in history.

Odessa was the first to fall, yielding to Decatur's revved-up Indians, 69-66. After San Angelo had spanked a game but outclassed Wharton team, 58-76; the Amarillo Badgers proceeded to deck the HCJC Hawks, 73-65.

Then came the biggest shocker of them all, Schreiner's amazing uphill 75-73 success over Lon Morris.

This is the way they'll line up today and tonight:

HCJC vs Wharton, 1 p.m., consolation round; Odessa vs Lon Morris, consolation round; Decatur vs Schreiner, 7 p.m.; championship round; San Angelo vs Amarillo, 9 p.m., championship.

Championship finals are scheduled for 9 p.m. Saturday. Win, lose or draw today, the HCJC team will play again Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Should the Hawks beat Wharton today, they'll scrap for fifth place at that hour. Should they lose today, they'll meet the loser in the Odessa-Lon Morris imbroglio for seventh place at 7 p.m.

Games are also on tap for 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. tomorrow.

Schreiner, a team which never before had won a game in the HCJC Gym, appeared on its way to another defeat in its joust with Lon Morris.

The smooth, confident Bearcats built up a 20-point advantage early in the second half but the Mountaineers started firing the ball at the basket from all points inside the center line and came up with an amazing percentage.

They caught the Jacksonville team in the last couple of minutes and Gerald Robinson led it away with a set shot from out front with 15 seconds left.

The Cats probably would have won had not Bobby Harraird been injured in the final ten minutes of play. The aggressive little guard steadies the Cats as no other player seems to do. He appeared to suffer a charley horse in one leg when carried into the wall by a Mountaineer.

Bill Klingaman and Cecil Rucker were terrific for Schreiner, scoring 23 and 22 points respectively. Amarillo kept right on top the Hawks to win going away. HCJC had a five point lead four minutes before the end of the first half but the Badgers rallied and were in command, 40-33, at the intermission.

The Hawks spurred a couple of times in the final half but Amarillo led the Amarilloans with 22 points. Charles Clark paced HCJC with 30, high for any player in the first round.

In afternoon play, San Angelo looked very good in topping Wharton. The Rams controlled the backboards throughout.

Frank Trevino paced the Rams with 25 points. Jay Hawley followed with 16 while Phil Addison had 14.

Decatur used free throws to topple the Wranglers and insure the meet a new champion. The Odessans outshot the Indians a year ago in winning the LA Open for the fourth time.

Mangrum's four official trips around the place last year were done in 272 strokes, 12 under par. Tommy Bolt made one round trip in a sensational 63 and finished in third place, and just yesterday in 64.

Brewer, 24, the ex-Kentucky amateur champ now playing for the Cincinnati Country Club, missed only one green, scored seven birdies and never had a putt of more than 10 feet.

Game Try For HCJC

Johnny Watson of HCJC hooks for a basket in last night's furious action in the first round of the Howard College basketball tournament but his efforts went for naught. Amarillo beat the Hawks in a form upset, 73-65. Jim Proctor (40) and Robert Dickson (32) of Amarillo are hovering near to grab the ball when it comes down.

Gregory Only Unanimous Choice On All-State 11

DALLAS (AP) — Glynn Gregory, Abilene's all-around athlete, was the only unanimous choice of the Class AAAA all-state football team elected by the Texas Sports Writers Assn.

The 186-pound halfback who rolled up 1,147 yards rushing and scored 19 points in leading Abilene to its third straight state championship got the full 80 points of the selection committee in being named to the team a second time.

Abilene placed three other players as the Eagles and semi-finalist Baytown dominated the selections. Baytown placed three. Bill Laughlin, Baytown center, was a repeater.

Another repeat performance was by Harry Moreland, Fort Worth Arlington Heights' back. He gained 3,400 yards rushing and scored 306 points in his two seasons of all-state glory.

The Class AAAA all-state team: Sonny Davis, Corpus Christi Ray; and Bill Elkins, Dallas Highland Park, ends; Timman O'Brien, Baytown, and Rufus King, Abilene, tackles; Stuart Peake, Abilene, and Prentice Davis, Baytown, guards; Glynn Gregory, Abilene, Harry Moreland, Fort Worth, Bert Coan, Pasadena, and Jimmy Carter, Abilene, backs.

Peake, the Abilene guard, lacked just two points of being unanimous. Moreland had 75 points, five away.

Coan, the only junior on the team, got 73 points. His record showed why he was so prominent. Averaging 8.7 yards a carry, he romped to 16 touchdowns in leading the team to a 6-2-2 record. Carpenter got off two long runs to bring Abilene a 14-0 victory over Corpus Christi Ray in the final game. He averaged 10.2 per carry and scored 25 touchdowns.

Davis, the Corpus Christi Ray wingman, was a great pass receiver. He caught 26 throws for 531 yards during the season.

Gregory and Peake were the only players named on all ballots.

The second team: Ends—Johnny Glusing, Corpus Christi Miller, and Armour McManus, Baytown; tackles—Jerry Mays, Dallas Sunset, and Sherman Adcock, Beaumont; guards—Roy Rambo, Fort Worth Paschal, and Charles Weiss, Austin; center—Max Christian, Corpus Christi Ray; backs—Harold Morgan, Wichita Falls; Lanny Caddell, North Dallas; Bill Kennedy, Highland Park; and Jim Harrison, Houston Austin.

Ends — Don Maxwell, Beaumont; Gerald Crutinger, Wichita Falls; Gregory Rebeck, Galveston; Jan Loudermilk, Big Spring; Gil Justice, Fort Worth Paschal; George Gray, Amarillo; Gil Federico, Ysleta; Ed Torres, El Paso High.

Honorable mention: Tackles—Jim Allison, Houston Lamar; Bill Young, Baytown; Larence Young, Amarillo Palo Duro; Walter Burger, Fort Worth Carter; Vernon Lang, Wichita Falls; Joe Porras, El Paso High; Marshall York, Amarillo; Joe Oliver, Waco.

Centers—Jimmy Rose, Abilene; Richard Gonzales, San Antonio Tech; Roy Northrup, Amarillo; Billy Zaleski, Temple.

Backs—David Allred, Wichita Falls; D. G. Kobs, Galveston; David Hamilton, Houston Lamar; Randy Sims, Houston Austin; Earl Burleson, Grand Prairie; Don Jester, Austin; Bobby Nunis, Austin; Larry Terrell, Fort Worth Carter; James Hickman, Alice; Glen Adams, Ysleta; Phil Lane, San Angelo; Arthur McCallum, Corpus Christi Ray; George McKinney, Texarkana.

In the best ball competition, pro Bob Rosburg and former movie star Buddy Rogers and pro Eric Manti and Cleveland's baseball pitching hero, Bob Lemon, tied with scores of 60. The pros collected $300 apiece for the afternoon.

Two of England's best Ryder Cup players, Harry Wetman and Eric Brown, are starting a swing along the circuit. Brown shot an individual 68 and Wetman a 70 in yesterday's pro competition.

AT ODESSA

Bovines, Alpine In Meet Opener

ODESSA (SC) — Austin of El Paso remained a heavy favorite to sweep to the championship in the eight-team Odessa Invitational basketball tournament, which gets under way at 3 p.m. today with a game between the Big Spring Steers and the upset-minded Alpine Bucks.

Austin meets Midland in its first start, at 7:30 p.m. In other preliminary contests, Abilene goes against Lamesa at 4:30 p.m. while host Odessa tangles with Ysleta at 9 o'clock tonight.

If Big Spring wins, it takes on the survivor in the Midland-Austin engagement at 1 p.m. Saturday. The other semi-final engagement starts at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Big Spring is assured of playing three games, as are all other tournament entries.

Big Spring's first round opponent, Alpine, has won seven of nine starts. The Bucks have lost only to Pecos twice, 50-28 and 76-55.

They have beaten Marathon, Maria, Wink, Presidio twice, El Paso Bowie and El Paso High.

El Paso Austin carries the best record into the tournament, having dropped only one decision in 14 starts. The Panthers' only defeat came at the hands of Albuquerque Highlands and that by a score of 59-55.

Austin has beaten Lamesa three times — by scores of 49-39, 55-37 and 62-47.

The Steers carry a 10-2 won-lost record into action. They have yielded only to El Paso Jefferson, the El Paso favorite, and Lamesa.

Next to Austin, Odessa has the best record among the tournament teams, having won 14 of 14 assignments. The host Bronchos have lost only to Seminole and Midland.

Ysleta has won six and lost eight. Lamesa three and 13. Abilene nine and three and Midland four and seven.

Odessa, in 14 games, has averaged 69.7 points a start while the Big Springers have been averaging 67.7 points.

Alpine boasts the finest defense of the tournament entries, having yielded an average of only 41 points a game. Big Spring has given up an average of 50 points an assignment.

Observers will be able to get a line on the District 2-AAAA race, since all member teams are entered.

Starters for Big Spring will probably be Jan Loudermilk at the pivot, Donald Lovelady and Jimmy Evans in the forecourt and Capt. Mike Musgrove and Jesse McCreath in the backcourt.

Other first round games pit Andrews against Lamesa at 8:30 p.m., Hobbs against the Andrews G quintet at 6:16 p.m., and Midland against Brownfield at 5 p.m.

If Big Spring wins, it opposes the survivor in the Andrews B-Lamesa engagement at 11 a.m. Saturday. If it loses, it plays again at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Lower bracket championship semi-finals are scheduled for 1:45 p.m. Saturday while the lower bracket losers vie at 10:00 a.m. Championship finals are scheduled for 8:15 p.m., consolation finals at 7:00 p.m.

Big Spring will carry a 10-2 won-lost record to Andrews.

Ship Fights Way Out Of Polar Trap

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The crew of an Operation Deep Freeze supply ship made emergency repairs today in the shelter of an antarctic cape after fighting their 7,400-ton vessel free from the grip of a crushing ice pack.

The captain of the U. S. Navy freighter Arneb messaged that his craft had reached the safety of Cape Hallett. Work was started to patch a gaping hole above the waterline and cracks in the hull inflicted by the blows of monster wind-driven ice floes.

Capt. Neils C. Johnson of Alexandria, Va., reported by radio that ice pressure had damaged both sides of the hull along the full length of the ship but that flooding was under control. One of the Arneb's two propellers also was damaged.

Johnson said there were no injuries to crew members and no loss of cargo. The Arneb carries about 200 men.

Cargo was being unloaded from two of the more seriously damaged holds to speed repairs.

The 450-foot Arneb, an attack cargo vessel specially fitted for antarctic duty, was pinned against the coast of Antarctica's Ross-Ice Shelf New Year's Day. Sudden winds of near-hurricane force turned a huge ice jam into a grinding mass of destruction, sending it bearing down on the Arneb from across miles of open sea. A helicopter pilot reported the icepack extended 50 miles out to sea and as far up and down the coast as he could see.

The Northwind, one of the U.S. Coast Guard's most powerful icebreakers, smashed through the heavy ice to aid the stricken freighter. Pumps of both vessels were used to keep the Arneb from flooding while crewmen worked to shift cargo and shore up the damaged sides of the hull with timbers.

Committee Hits 'Slipshod' Use Of Iranian Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jack Brooks (D-Tex.) said today it looks as if the United States "used dollars instead of diplomacy" in trying to bolster the strategic Middle East country of Iran.

Brooks is a member of the House International Operations subcommittee which yesterday used such terms as "loose," "slipshod" and "shocking" to describe America's quarter-billion-dollar aid program to Iran in 1951-56.

The subcommittee pictured U. S. aid as pouring "uncontrolled" money into Iran when Iran got into economic troubles after Premier Mossadegh's 1951 seizure of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

It said American gift dollars have continued to go to the Middle East country at a high rate even though her oil earnings started up again in 1954. Iran, with a 1,000-mile border with Russia and an estimated 13 per cent of the world's oil reserves, is presumably one of the countries thought of in President Eisenhower's plan to thwart any Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower reportedly wants authority for a special 400-million-dollar, two-year aid program for the area, along with standby authority to use troops, if necessary. He is to address a joint session of Congress on the situation tomorrow.

The House subcommittee listed its conclusions from a lengthy investigation of Iranian aid in a report which Chairman Hardy (D-Va.) said was approved in a closed session yesterday. The subcommittee recommended that Congress take a broad look at the foreign aid program to find out "the extent to which it has departed from its economic role and has become a vehicle for dealing with diplomatic problems simply by writing out annual checks drawn on the U. S. taxpayer."

The congressmen also said foreign aid officials should "reverse the present pattern of deciding on dollar commitments first and actual programs and projects later."

Uncle Ray:

Hyenas Sometimes Attack Human Beings

By RAMON COFFMAN

Striped hyenas are smaller than other kinds. A full-grown striped hyena may have a length of only three and a half feet, without counting the tail. The weight usually is from 70 to 80 pounds.

A spotted hyena is likely to have twice that weight or even more. A big one was found to weigh 175 pounds!

Q. Are hyenas cowardly beasts? A. Some observers think that it is hardly fair to call them "cowardly," but these beasts do hunt at night and they seldom if ever, seek a fight with animals of equal strength. When they follow a herd of zebras, they keep out of the way of the full-grown animals. If it seems safe to do so, they attack young zebras, also those which are sick.

Hyenas seem rather bold at night, since they attack human beings at times. The fact is, however, that the attacks are made on people who are asleep. Some African natives have died as a result of such attacks, and others have been bitten badly about the face.

An Englishman, Sir Frances Baker, tells of a narrow escape which he had while in Africa. Here, in shortened form, is his account:

"One night a hyena came to the tent. It was bright moonlight, and the air was calm. I awakened and took my rifle from under a mat. Aiming at the animal, I brought it down as it was taking steps toward me. The body carried scars of fights with other hyenas."

Those words remind me that a hyena commonly hunts alone. When it comes on the body of an antelope or zebra, however, it is likely to be joined by other hyenas, perhaps a dozen of them! Sometimes they bite one another during the meal.

Robber Wins A Hand On A Bluff

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Police today sought a man who dealt himself in on a pot at the Flint Pinocchio Club and won it on a bluff.

He walked into the club and announced he intended to rob the place.

John Morgan, a club employee, told the man he couldn't get away with it because he didn't have a gun.

Calling his empty hand failed to rattle the stranger. He walked to the cash register, scooped up $60 and left.

Morgan told police he and several customers were too stunned to interfere.

Search Pushed For Missing Girls

CHICAGO (AP)—Police intensified their search today for two missing teenage sisters who failed to return home last Friday night after leaving to attend a movie.

More than 150 policemen were directly involved in the hunt for the girls, Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister Patricia, 14.

Capt. John McCarthy said police have investigated scores of reports that the girls had been seen in various places in the city and suburbs. However, he said, police concentrated their work on the city's South Side in the belief that the girls are staying close to home.

Russia Scores U.S. Intentions

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charged today the United States has "openly announced its intention to undermine United Nations efforts to restore peace and security in the Middle East."

An article written by the newspaper's New York correspondent and broadcast by Moscow radio said President Eisenhower's proposed new Middle East policy would "rekindle the flames of war."

"Who doesn't realize now," Izvestia asked, "that it is not the Soviet Union but the United States which desires more and more concessions, military bases and all manner of political, economic and military privileges in the Middle East?"

It added that U. N. representatives of Egypt, Syria, India, Jordan and other Arab and Asian countries "regard the Communist menace contentions of American propaganda as ridiculous."

"They regard the Eisenhower doctrine as gross interference in the internal affairs of the Arab nations."
