INSURANCE RELIEF EXPECTED FOR AREA

Key figures at the insurance hearing included Jack McDavid (at the microphone), a spokesman for Aransas County residents, and (seated left to right) the three members of the Texas Board of Insurance, chairman Larry Teaver, Judge Ned Price and Durwood Manford, and State Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, State Rep. Leroy J. Wieting of Portland, who took an active part in the hearing, was not in camera range.

The V.F.W. Hall was packed Monday at a public hearing held to give local property owners an opportunity to voice their protests to the Texas Board of Insurance regarding excessive costs for windstorm insurance. All walks of life were represented in the audience, including owners of homes and commercial structures, as well as real estate developers and businessmen interested in the future economic growth of this area.

Over 200 Attend Public Hearing; State Ins. Board Hears Protests

A strong probability of some relief from excessive windstorm insurance rates for property owners in the Aransas County area is anticipated as a result of the public hearing conducted by the three-member Texas State Board of Insurance Monday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall. More than 200 interested property owners, representatives of local government, and civic leaders attended the hearing.

At the close of the meeting

Board Chairman Larry Teaver declared "adequate insurance at reasonable cost" is the goal of the insurance board. He promised a thorough review and reevaluation of present rules governing windstorm insurance in the coastal area. All members of the board were emphatic in stating that the Rockport public hearing was invaluable to them from the standpoint of learning at first hand the insurance problems facing coastal property owners. They agreed that the hearing probably was the best and most productive they have conducted.

A point made repeatedly by those who testified was that the 20-foot elevation and the more-than-2,500-foot distance from bay waters requirements in order to qualify for less than the three-times normal premium rates was unrealistic and discriminatory. It was brought out that virtually all property in the Rockport-Fulton business and residential areas are within the so-called "beach" area and there is only one small spot in this area with an elevation of 20 feet or more above mean sea level.

Senator A. R. Schwartz of Galveston who has been a leader in the fight to get adequate windstorm insurance at reasonable cost, was chairman of the meeting. Senator Schwartz was author and sponsor of the bill in the senate which requires all casualty insurance companies operating in the state to accept their share of risks in the coastal area. As of the first of the year, Senator Schwartz's district will include Aransas county.

Senator Schwartz reviewed the history of the coastal insurance situation which developed following hurricane Celia when most insurance companies pulled out of this area, refusing to renew old policies or to write new coverage. His bill set up an insurance pool to cover risks in this area and required all companies to participate. Present difficulties have developed over excessive premium rates and discriminatory rules governing its operation.

He said the pool was set up to provide insurance coverage for all property. However, he asserted the insurance companies are taking advantage of the plan to increase their profits by throwing all property within the "beach" area into the pool at three times normal rate. He added that this procedure completely disregards the principle of charging premium rates commensurate with the risk involved.

In later testimony by individual property owners it was brought out that a number of new houses constructed to withstand winds up to 200 to 300 miles an hour were forced to pay top rates because they were located within 2,500 feet of bay waters. Further, it was noted that communities such as Sinton and Taft, located many miles from the waterfront, suffered extensive wind damage in Hurricane Celia. Also, it was reported that Portland, located 35 to 40 feet above water suffered extensive wind damage in the Hurricane, indicating that elevation and distance from water were not pertinent in setting windstorm insurance rates.

Jack McDavid, Rockport insurance agent who was active in setting up the Monday public hearing, described the difficulties of obtaining windstorm coverage following Celia. He said little property in this area was able to qualify for coverage at reasonable premium rates because of restrictive rules as to elevation and distance from bay waters.

Bob Wallace, savings and loan representative from Corpus Christi, said money was available for building developments in this area, but the cost and difficulty of obtaining insurance protection was a serious

Spencer, Bloch Attend Hearing

Emory M. Spencer and William H. Bloch, as property owners and developers, testified at a public hearing Tuesday night in behalf of the City of Rockport that improvements to be made on Market Street will enhance the value of property on that street.

The public hearing, held at City Hall, was required in connection with the filing of assessments against owners of property in the area.

Market Street, between Church Street and Highway 35, will be widened to become a four-lane highway.

No property owners appeared at the public hearing to voice objections to the schedule of assessments.

Following the public hearing, the regular City Council meeting was opened. In the first action, the aldermen awarded to Mobil Oil Corp. a contract to supply gasoline for city vehicles. The Mobil bid was $0.1525 per gallon.

Other bidders were Gulf Oil Company, $0.1524 per gallon; and Humble Oil Company, $0.1695 per gallon.

The Council awarded the bid to Mobil, even though its bid was a minute fraction of a cent higher than Gulf, "because the Mobil distributor is a local man," as one alderman put it.

The next matter before the Council was a request from Navigation District commissioners Dick Fox and Col. W. M. Brown, Jr., for city assistance to supply financial help to pay the salaries of lifeguards for the summer recreation program.

As previously announced, the Navigation District states that it does not have sufficient funds to pay the salaries of the necessary number of lifeguards needed for safety for the summer program.

After considerable discussion, Mayor Walter Falk asked Fox to set up a joint meeting of the County Commissioners, City Councilmen and Navigation District commissioners to strive for a cooperative solution to the financial needs by the three governmental bodies.

Present at the Council meeting were Aldermen Charlie Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Joe "Pepe" Zambrano and Murray McMillan, Mayor Falk, Public Works Commissioner Tom Shults, Chief of Police Everett D. Taylor and City Tax Assessor - Collector Herman Johnson.

City Gets Federal Grant For Sewage Plant Expansion

Congressman John Young has informed the Pilot that the government has approved a grant of $129,300 for the City of Rockport which will make possible an important sewage treatment expansion project.

Total cost of the project will be $258,600 and when the work is completed, the capacity of the sewage treatment plant will be doubled. The increase in its capacity to treat sewage will be from 500,000 gallons per day to 1,000,000 gallons per day. Work is expected to begin this summer.

In addition to a federal grant of $129,300, which is half of the total cost, a sewer revenue bond issue for $120,000 already has been successfully passed, thereby assuring the necessary financing of the project.

City officials and local business leaders are highly pleased that this needed project is now assured. They point out that additional city sewer service for new residents probably will serve as a stimulus to new housing construction.

handicap so far as economic development was concerned.

County Judge John Wendell reported that county buildings, including the courthouse and jail cannot be insured because of excessive premiums. He presented a resolution from the County Commissioners Court asking relief from high windstorm rates, and cited his personal difficulties in getting insurance protection at reasonable rates.

Rockport's Mayor Walter S. Falk presented a resolution by city council on the problem. He also pointed out the inconsistency of the windstorm insurance for a 20-foot elevation to obtain a lower rate in place of the fact that the U. S. Corps of Engineers sets eight feet as the high water mark for this area.

Thomas M. Rogers, President of the Aransas County Independent School Board, reported that all public school buildings in the county are without windstorm insurance because of excessive premium costs. Premiums have tripled from $2.26 per thousand to $9.99 per thousand in three years, he said. He read a resolution from the school board deploring the high rates and asking relief.

Following Roger's talk, Senator Schwartz suggested possibility of a state law setting up state sponsored insurance coverage for all school property and prohibiting insurance companies from writing insurance on these buildings.

Delmar Hiller, former mayor, pointed out that virtually all populated areas of Aransas County lie within the 2,500-foot "beach" or top rate area now defined by pool regulations. Hiller presented petitions asking relief signed by 656 property owners. He also summarized reports from owners citing their insurance problems. Fourteen per cent of residents in the "beach" no longer have windstorm protection, and 52 per cent of those who do have coverage have been forced to get it through the top-rate pool. He added that 47 per cent of all buildings in the county have been thrown into the pool.

As the situation now stands, we are at the mercy of the insurance companies and the State Board of Insurance is not protecting the interests of the public, according to Hiller. He read from a motel owner's letter which described the situation as a "broad daylight holdup without a gun."

John Mitchell, vice president, Rockport Yacht and Supply Co., which is Rockport's largest industry, employing 130 workmen, said excessive insurance rates are endangering the competitive position of his firm and the jobs of its employees. He said insurance on the company's main building had increased from $637 a year to $2,312 a year.

James H. Sorenson, Jr., First National Bank president reported windstorm insurance on his home had increased from $99 a year to $705 even though the building had suffered no damage in Hurricane Celia. Senator Schwartz said Sorenson deserved major credit for crystallizing public concern about the insurance problem in this area and making arrangements for the public hearing.

M. W. Cochran, civil engineer said he was unable to see any logical connection between elevation and distance from water with reference to wind damage. He said this conclusion resulted from his personal appraisal of more than 600 storm damaged structures for the Small Business Administration following Hurricane Celia.

William Bloch, who was active in collecting factual material for the hearing from property owners, summarized by reviewing some of the testimony, adding his own personal experiences in trying to get coverage on a new home built to withstand 300-mile winds. He said present rules exempting buildings 20 feet above bay water were unrealistic and discriminatory citing the fact that in Hurricane Celia his original home was completely destroyed although it was situated on one of the highest pieces of ground in Aransas County. "Elevation has nothing to do with the extent of risk," he declared. "We know this from personal experience. I think we know a whole lot more about it than executives of insurance companies located far away in the north or east," he added. "We don't want charity, but we do want equity," he said.

Leroy Wieting of Portland, who represents this district in the House, described his part in passage of the insurance law explaining that it was what he termed a "vehicle bill" designed to take care of an emergency situation prior to last year's hurricane season. He predicted that it would be amended in the next session of the legislature to provide windstorm coverage for the coastal area at reasonable cost.

Senator Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi declared he was not about to vote for confirmation of any member of the Board of Insurance until relief is given coastal area property owners. Members of the board are appointed by the governor and must be confirmed by the senate. Two of the members have not yet been approved.

Other members of the legislature present, several of whom spoke, were DeWitt Hale, Joe Salem and Carlos Truan, all of Corpus Christi, and Tom Uher of Bay City.

At the conclusion of the meeting, each of the insurance board members spoke. Teaver, as noted previously, pledged study and action on problems described at the hearing. He pointed out that under present law, the board does not have the power to order the association of insurance company representatives which operates the pool to make specific rule changes. However, he predicted the legislature will make quite a few changes at the next session. He said he thinks present rates are excessive, adding that the board now has a $175,000 appropriation to assemble insurance statistics on which to set up equitable rates. At present the board must depend on statistics provided by insurance companies.

Teaver also said the board favors some sort of catastrophe reserve to take care of emergencies instead of depending on sudden and excessive rate boosts.

Ned Price said "We are in Rockport because you have a problem and because our board want the facts. The pool was a necessary expediency but it has been abused."

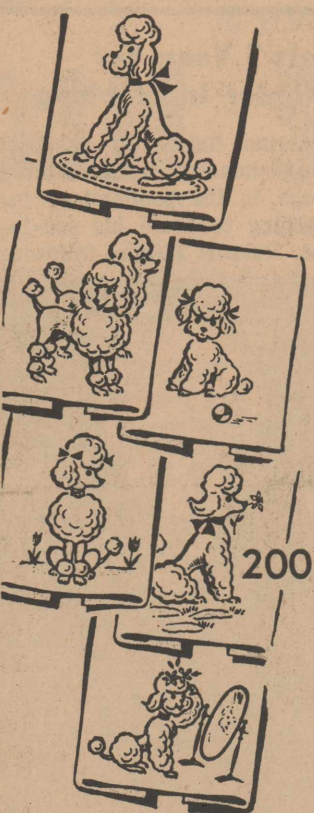

Durwood Danford, third board member, explained that the board had only the authority delegated to them by the legislature.

"Even the legislature is limited in its authority over private business by constitutional restrictions and restrictions against confiscatory action," he said. "The way the law is written, all our board can do is approve or reject rules and provisions set up by the association which governs the pool. Much of this can be corrected by the legislature." He said the board would attempt to work out changes as to elevation and distance from water regulations.

Throughout the hearing applause for the speakers was enthusiastic and prolonged. Almost all of the audience remained until the end of the three-hour session.

In addition to those already mentioned, petitions or resolutions were presented to the insurance board by Aransas County Navigation District, Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

The traditional Buccaneer Days celebration, a colorful event, has become a Texas institution. It begins with the landing of pirates, in the Jean Lafitte manner, who capture and take over the city for a week of frivolity. The celebration's theme is rooted in the salty legends of the sea, particularly as they pertain to the swashbuckling Buccaneers who infested the Gulf Coast a century ago. Jean Lafitte is the celebration's "patron saint" and, before he made his peace with the federal government, he is thought to have used the numerous inlets and lagoons along this section of the Coast as a hideaway after his depredations on vessels plying the Gulf.

THE WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

THE LAST PICTURE SHOW

A small Texas town, Anarene, is the setting for the film "The Last Picture Show" and the time is the early 1950's when Truman was President and television was closing the smaller movie houses. There are no flash-back sequences to this period—the entire film depicts this era and (supposedly) situations as they were after World War II and during the Korean conflict.

Timothy Bottoms plays the lead role as Sonny Crawford, a popular high school senior and football co-captain. His best friend is Jeff Bridges played by Duane Jackson.

The story concerns the maturing of the young football hero and those who helped speed-up the process. The coach's wife, played by Cloris Leachman, gives Sonny some ideas of what love is all about and the prettiest and richest girl in town, who appears to be all bad, does her bit.

The entire cast is dedicated to portraying there's some value to life (a theme of movies of that era) in this film rated "R"—persons under 17 requiring parent or guardian.

TV's Effect

An interesting finding of an advisory committee of the U. S. Surgeon General's, which made an exhaustive investigation of violence on U.S. commercial television, is that youngsters who watch much television initially gain a larger vocabulary but that if they continue to watch into high school age it is definitely harmful to them.

Television violence does influence viewers toward actual violence, the committee found. The committee suggests parents watch television with their children or select what programs their children see, if this isn't possible.

Fix-It Tip

Cool air holds less moisture than warm air. Properly installed air-conditioning systems remove moisture from the air by taking up warm air, cooling it and circulating the cool air back into the room. In nonair-conditioned homes, and in those having no air conditioning in the basement, mechanical dehumidifiers are useful. A humidistat can be attached to the unit to control the humidity in a room. When using air conditioners or dehumidifiers, keep windows and doors closed.

Canine Hearing

Tests show that dogs can tell apart sounds which are so close in pitch that the average human being is not able to tell the difference. Experiments conducted on dogs show they can distinguish between musical notes one-quarter-note apart.

..beneficiaries notify social security when you move...

If you plan to move soon, you have a lot of company. At any given time, one American in six is planning to move from one residence to another, according to census estimates. That's about 36 million people on the move.

If you plan to move and you're one of the almost 27 million people who get social security checks every month, you should notify the Social Security Administration promptly, according to H. M. Cleveland, social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

"Prompt notice of a move will assure delivery of your social security check to your new address without delay or interruption," Cleveland said. Notice of a move may be made by calling or writing any social security office. "Furnish the social security claim number that appears on your check--as well as your complete old address and complete new address, with ZIP codes," Cleveland advised. "Also notify your post office of your address change."

New York has 1,751 post offices.

Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Wright and son Dustin have been visiting in the home of Capt. and Mrs. F. C. Armintrout. Mrs. Wright is the former Betty Armintrout. The Wrights have just completed a tour at the U. S. Naval Base Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. They are enroute to their next duty station, the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

During their stay they enjoyed fishing aboard Capt. Buck's boat, the Balboa, and 56 speckled trout were landed.

The Kinsey Report

From Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Larson of Minneapolis, Minn., comes the following letter:

"After another enjoyable winter vacation in Rockport we are home now and already are starting to think about the fun we had fishing, driving around, having dinner in nice restaurants and enjoying the hospitality always offered by the people who live in your area.

"We subscribe to the Rockport Pilot, and reading it every week helps us keep in touch with what's going on. We enjoy your column and look forward to when you quote sayings from famous people. When are you going to publish another column of that type?"

Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Larson, for your nice letter. We'll be expecting to see you again next winter. Meanwhile, here's another column of "thoughts for the day."

Questions and Answers

Q. My 12-year-old son and I both received monthly social security survivors payments after my husband's death. When I remarried a year ago, my benefits stopped. Since I was divorced last month, can I again receive monthly benefits on my first husband's earnings record?

A. Yes. Call or visit any social security office to file a new application for benefits. You will need a certified copy of your divorce decree.

Q. I am attending high school and receiving monthly social security benefits as the son of a disabled worker. Is it true that social security will pay part of my college tuition?

A. No. But social security will continue to send you the same monthly cash benefit you are now receiving as long as you are a full-time student, under 22, and not married. You can use this money to help pay your college expenses.

Q. I have a 20-year-old daughter who is studying to be a beautician. If I retire, can she get monthly benefits from social security on my earnings record?

A. If you receive monthly social security benefits, your daughter can also receive benefits until she reaches age 22 if she is a full-time student at a State-approved school and remains single.

Q. In addition to paying me cash wages, the farmer I work for furnishes me with room and board. Can the value of this room and board be counted as wages for social security purposes?

A. No. If you work on a farm, only wages paid in cash count for social security purposes.

Q. I am confined to a hospital. Since I can't come to the social security office to apply for monthly disability benefits, what other arrangements can I make?

A. Call or write any social security office. It is quite likely that the necessary forms can be completed over the phone and mailed to you for your signature. Or, a representative from the office will visit you at the hospital and assist you in filling out the necessary forms.

Q. I recently took a part-time job for the holidays after 12 years of homemaking. I know my social security number, but I have misplaced my card. My employer insists on seeing my card. What must I do to get another one?

A. Ask for a duplicate card at any social security office.

Have a question about social security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? See your telephone directory for the phone number and address of the nearest social security office.

On Pot

Though youngsters have a point when they claim pot (marijuana) is their hang-up while alcohol is the older generation's hang-up, there is a difference which history proves and which the nation's leaders must consider when asked to ease laws against the use and possession of marijuana.

History shows conclusively that nations whose populations habitually use pot lack industry and drive, exhibit a national laziness and indolence contrary to the traditional ethic of work, industry and drive of the world's leading nations.

Ambition, drive and the desire to work and achieve is the foundation stone of American society and every other leading industrial society in the world. Pleasure-dream drugs which make one lazy, satisfied not to work, not to achieve, etc., are thus a direct threat to the nation's future, and to every individual who uses them habitually.

THE WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

THE GODFATHERS

Acclaimed as one of the best gangster movies ever made, "The Godfather" is a melodrama about the hidden world of Italian-American gangsters.

It's not a pretty story but an immensely moving story of a crime dynasty and the family life of the Corleone family. They're doomed to a lifetime sentence of fear, hiding and looking at the world through dimly lighted windows, while at the same time showing strong love and devotion within the family unit.

Marlon Brando, as the Corleone patriarch sets the pace of the film although his role is not a large one. His make-up is excellent. Some claim it's Brando's best part in some time. The real scene stealer, however, is young Don Vito Corleone played by Al Pacino.

Pacino, a worthy actor in only his second film, plays the college-educated son who takes over the Corleone business. Excellent characterizations are given by the entire cast (many of Italian background).

In plain language it's a bloody picture—murders and violence—and is rated "R" with persons under 17 not admitted without parent or guardian.

The Super Mex

One of golfdom's current darlings is Lee Trevino, who trades successfully on the image of the little man against the WASP establishment. He is, of course, no longer a little man but very big, earning money in six figures.

Trevino has a chip on his shoulder; although thus far favored handsomely by this country and U.S. golf, he still plays to minorities and dissidents as the handicapped fellow from the wrong side of the tracks fighting the terrible American Wasps and upper classes in general.

He recently again blasted officials at the Masters golf tournament, and again threatened to leave. He was upset because he hadn't bought his caddy tickets of admission for the three pre-tourney days, protesting that no one told him they were necessary. His error was in a slurring remark to a tournament official that the Masters was primarily aimed at money. "If it's not money, then why don't you let everyone in for nothing," he quipped.

Trevino is playing for money. If the tournaments didn't sell tickets, few could pay him the fat prizes he receives, regularly. Of all people who might blast golf for selling tickets, pro golfers seem the most ill-suited to levy such a criticism.

As the Super Mex, Trevino's self-righteous attacks on others, and ill manners, are a bad advertisement.

Try It, You'll Like It!

AUSTIN - If you have never tried any fish recipe other than fried fish you're in for a treat. Fried fish is delicious and a real American tradition—but don't stop there. Fish is suitable for baking, broiling, poaching and even barbecuing.

The cardinal rule to remember when cooking fish is NEVER OVERCOOK IT. Think in terms of minutes, not hours, when cooking.

Fish is already tender, so cook just long enough to heat it through. The flesh will turn from a translucent or watery look to an opaque milky white.

Cooking fish develops the flavor. Overcooking destroys much of the flavor because it becomes dried out and tough.

Try the following recipe, then write for more free recipes from the test kitchens of the Parks and Wildlife Department. Send your name and address to: Seafood Recipes, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas, 78701.

Special Adaptive Equipment

Almost seven and a half million dollars has been spent thus far in Fiscal Year 1972 for automobiles and special adaptive equipment to allow severely injured veterans to drive them, but the Veterans Administration considers the bill small in comparison to its original estimates.

Because a 1971 law permits VA for the first time to pay for the needed adaptive equipment in replacement cars, as well as the original car the agency helps buy, VA expected World War II and Korean Conflict veterans who obtained a car with VA allowances prior to 1971 are keeping them until the time they would normally buy replacements. The benefit does not cover purchases made prior to the new law, however. Up to $2,800 is allowed toward the purchase price of an automobile, excluding adaptive equipment, for those veterans suffering from the service-connected loss, or permanent loss of use, of one or both hands or feet, or permanent impairment of vision of both eyes to a prescribed degree.

Cost of installation and repairing of necessary adaptive equipment is paid by VA also whether the equipment for the car is bought with a VA grant or a replacement car the veteran purchases for himself.

Adaptive equipment may include such things as power brakes, automatic shift, hand dimmer switch and hand controls.

Veterans who served after January 31, 1955, and have been discharged or retired, must show that the qualifying disability was the direct result of the performance of active duty.

World War II and Korean Conflict veterans, as well as persons currently on active duty, are eligible if their loss was service-connected.

To be eligible veterans must be discharged under other than dishonorable conditions.

More details are available at any VA office or from veterans service organization representatives.

Garden of Eden

Most scholars agree that the garden of Eden was somewhere in the vicinity of the Tigris-Euphrates valley. Some locate it about 100 miles north of Baghdad; others believe it was located on the site of the sacred city of Eridu in Babylonia near the Persian Gulf.

"Let's Stop Pollution to Keep Our Air and Streams Clean"

"We must talk about industrial development and environmental protection at the same time. We'll need to establish a balance between our economic needs for industrial expansion and effective controls to protect the environment. Why is weather called a westerly affair in the United States?

Weather in this country generally moves from west to east. That is, the movement of fronts and the prevailing direction of the gas layer (which is our weather) is from west to east.

This movement averages five or six hundred miles on a normal day. Winds do not steadily come from the west because weather moves in a circular motion, even as it drifts eastward. Therefore, winds might come from any direction, while the weather is still moving east.

If you know whether a low pressure area is passing (counterclockwise winds) or a high pressure system (clockwise) you can determine your position in the circular movement by watching the direction of the wind and its changes.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

VIEWERS must solve an I'm-my-own-grandpa, family tree type maze in order to understand the latest news about television news. Here we allude to an illusion recently uncovered, if the researcher drew a correct conclusion.

A STUDY by Mr. Dennis Lowry of the University of Iowa reveals the astonishing assessment that there is more good news than bad news in network news. This is good news since networks have been sorely scorned for accentuating the negative and eliminating the positive in network reporting. They are accused of managing the news.

HOWEVER, on the surface there does appear to be more bad news than good news in network news. This is bad news since viewers believe there's more bad news than good news, even though there is more good news, and this illusion is what is real.

THERE SEEM to be two basic reasons behind the illusion that leads to a viewer's conclusion of there being too many bad-news items on TV. First, bad-news items are usually important and thus rate early placement in newscasts. Secondly, bad-news events many times lend themselves to photography and thus receive visual as well as audio emphasis. This tends to leave a lasting impression on the viewer.

IT WOULD appear then, if one can trust what he sees and reads after all this; that to please the nation, the news of network newscasters does not need more positive accentuation, but the illusion to which we allude must be eluded. And I'm my own grandpa!

N. HIGHWAY 35 — ROCKPORT

It's time to Stand up and be counted for Texas.

For a hundred years and more, Texans have been ready to stand up for their rights and freedoms.

In 1836, a band of one hundred and seventy-nine men were ready to stand and die for their right to live freely. There, in the Alamo, these men asserted their right in spite of overwhelming opposition.

Last year, in the Texas House of Representatives and Senate, one hundred and eighty-one men almost turned their backs on freedom and dignity. There, in Austin, these elected officials watched unconcerned as greedy interests tore our state asunder.

All but a few of our Representatives and Senators turned their back on freedom and decency. Only a handful had the courage to stand up and be counted.

Throughout the years since the Alamo, Texans have been ready to fight for their freedoms. Texas, as no other state, has been admired for its leadership in individual freedoms.

Where are our leaders today? They are gone from Austin. Representatives and Senators alike have too often shown they have more interest in personal gain than in us, the Texans.

Were you satisfied with the conduct of our Senators and Representatives last year?

Were you content that only a handful had the courage to stand up for you?

Let's look at the record of our representative last year. Let's see how Leroy Wieting voted.

1. Our representative voted for the Sharpstown banking bills.

2. He voted against an investigation of Gus Mutscher and the others involved in the bribery conspiracy.

3. Our representative voted against a strong full disclosure ethics bill.

Are you satisfied with this record? This is how the 'current' representative voted on the major issues that faced the House last year. If you are satisfied, then leave things as they are in Austin.

But if you really want to change Austin, and if you want courage and honesty in your representative, vote for Richard Mason.

Richard Mason. A man with ability and courage. A man who will fight for what he believes. He will be your representative.

Dear Voter:

Aransas County, as other counties in our big state, has its share of crime. Not a single day passes without some type of crime being committed here. As in dealing with other problems, certain tools are used to prevent crime. These tools are your local law enforcement agencies. The better the tool the easier the problem can be solved. The better the lawman the fewer the crimes. Law officers, in order to perform effectively, must be of good moral character, have a fair sense of justice, and be amply trained in the performance of their duties. Fair and impartial law enforcement practices must be maintained regardless of race, financial, or political standings. To do less would make a farce of our system of justice.

Across our nation crime is ever on the increase. Our penal institutions are filled and overflowing with offenders of the law. This shows that our lawmen are concentrating on arrests and confinement, what is lacking though, is crime prevention. An officer that patrols his area well never knows how many would be thieves he has discouraged just by his presence at the right time. We only hear of the ones that get caught. Without a united effort toward crime prevention our jails and penal institutions will continue to overflow.

Law enforcement personnel are the servants of the people. They are paid by the people that they serve. Too often these men of the law take the attitude that all citizens are potential violators of the law and treat them as such. When this occurs the people quite naturally resent it. This action caused communication between the law and the citizen to cease and results in poor public relations. To bring this communication back into perspective a united effort must be made by the public and local law enforcement agencies to obtain lasting results.

Our drug problem is typical of the rest of the nation. It is usually the young who are most affected. Our youth of today are our leaders of tomorrow. It is essential, for our nation's future, that our young people remain strong, both mentally and physically. One way to cope with this problem is with sound drug education. Here the local law enforcement agencies can play a leading role. They have access to vast quantities of material to promote a well balanced program in drug education. This would be one way to prevent the misuse of drugs instead of taking corrective action after the offense has been committed.

The foregoing problems as well as many others can be solved. It will take a lot of determination on the part of the local law enforcement agencies to achieve good results. It is with this view that I, Charles E. Cosby, am seeking the office of Sheriff of Aransas County. Your vote, for me, will secure the lasting results we need.

Certification of Attendance Cards Reminder

Mr. A. A. Hunter, the new Director of the Houston Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced today that students attending college under the G. I. Bill on a semester hour basis will receive their March checks between April 7 and 25.

A Certification of Attendance Card will be enclosed with each check. Mr. Hunter stated that unless these cards are promptly signed and returned, the students will not receive their April or May checks and will encounter a delay in payment until after the cards are sent in.

Mr. Hunter emphasized that wives, widows and children of deceased or totally disabled veterans, who are being paid under the Dependents Educational Assistance Act for college attendance, should sign and return their cards to insure receiving the April and May checks.

We haven't a lot of money so we would have to receive enough to care for the child or children but we are not interested in making money at this business. What does it cost to care for a child? Can you give us some idea?

The amount paid to foster parents varies in different states and communities but, if the child is properly cared for, clothed, fed, and cared for medically you may be sure that it will take every cent you get. So, for this reason people who take on this task, should do so be-

All ministers in the area are encouraged to contact the Catholic men's organization, St. Vincent dePaul, anytime for immediate assistance in clothing needs of needy from this collection.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Inspection at the Border

Acting on an anonymous tip, customs agents at the Mexican border halted a yellow station wagon for inspection. Sure enough, they found contraband watches hidden in the glove compartment.

In due course, the driver of the car was brought to trial on a charge of smuggling. But in court, he stood on his constitutional rights.

"They had no grounds for searching my car except for one anonymous telephone call," he pointed out. "This is a clear case of 'unreasonable search and seizure', which is forbidden by the Fourth Amendment. Therefore, they cannot use the evidence against me."

But the court disagreed and found him guilty as charged. The court said searches at the border, unlike searches inside the country, need not be based on "probable cause"—mere suspicion is enough.

Why should the law allow more leeway in searches at the border than inside the country? Because of the historical right of each nation to put whatever limits it pleases on entry into its territory.

Nevertheless, the search itself must still be carried out in a reasonable manner. While mere suspicion will justify the search of a car, it will not necessarily justify an intimate search of the person. Thus:

A woman crossing the border on foot was stopped because a customs inspector "had a hunch" that she was carrying narcotics. Ordered to strip in the presence of a matron, she was indeed found to have a quantity of heroin in her clothing.

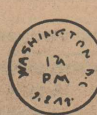

Nevertheless, this evidence was held not admissible in court. The judge said such an intensive search could not be conducted for such a flimsy reason.

But in another case, the compulsory stripping of a woman was upheld. This time, suspicion was based on specific information furnished by a reliable informer. With that much to go on, ruled the court, customs officials were entitled to take a very good look.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am to be married this coming month and I am having a church wedding. My father will give me away but I have a problem. Ten years ago my parents were divorced and since that time my father has remarried. I like his wife but I certainly don't want her to be sitting in the same seat with my mother. What kind of arrangements should be made about the seating arrangements?

Daughter--Conn.

Answer:

Your mother and grandmother should sit in the regular seat reserved for parents and your father should return to the seat farther back with his wife after walking you to the altar.

There are many things to be taken into consideration in a situation such as this—one of these is that of who is paying the costs of the wedding. Another is the relationship between the families.

Louisa.

Dear Louisa,

Four of us are in a car pool that takes us to our jobs. The trouble with this is that one of our members is never on time and we have a terrible time trying not to be late. We have scolded her but it doesn't do any good—she just says she is sorry. What would you suggest?

D.B.--N.Y.

Answer:

Two suggestions—tell her that you will wait for her ten minutes and then leave if she is not in the car. I doubt if you would have to leave her more than once.

Second suggestion—ask her to find another car pool.

Louisa.

WHY SMOKE?

In a society where so many adults smoke and cigarettes are advertised and sold nearly everywhere, it is not surprising that virtually all children think about smoking and a good many experiment with it at one time or another.

But the taste and effect of smoking are not pleasant at first. The smoker must learn to like cigarettes. He does this primarily for social reasons: to appear more adult, to be like his friends, or to give himself poise.

The regular smoker continues to use cigarettes to satisfy his own needs and personality.

Some smoke cigarettes for stimulation, to find something to do with their hands, or to feel better. Some, who have used cigarettes for a long time, may continue for no other reason than force of habit. And some develop a psychological dependence on cigarettes. This is called habituation, in contrast to addiction, which is a physiological dependence.

These and a number of other interesting facts about the problem of cigarette smoking are brought out in a new leaflet, "Cigarette Smoking -- Some Questions and Answers," just issued by the National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information in cooperation with the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health.

The benefits of quitting smoking, for example, are brought out, as summed up by a Conference on Smoking and Youth:

"1. Short-term benefits -- Far better wind for swimming, cycling, tennis, ball games. Food will taste better. Food, flowers, and perfume will smell better. No more ugly stains on teeth and fingers. More money for other things.

2. Long-term benefits -- People can lead more energetic, busy lives during their 20's, 30's, and 40's. The chances of becoming a victim of respiratory diseases, heart disease, or lung cancer are greatly reduced. There will be fewer absences from school and work due to illness associated with smoking."

The new publication is one of a series of pamphlets and other materials on habituating substances (alcohol, narcotics, sedatives, stimulants, volatile compounds, etc.). The materials are aimed to cover the wide range of related and differing, but habit-forming, substances involved in many of today's mental health problems.

A free single copy of the leaflet, Publication No. (HSM) 71-9064, may be obtained by writing: National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information, P. O. Box 1701, Washington, D. C. 20013.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

We all know that when our feet are miserable we are miserable all over. They telegraph a message to our faces and no matter how careful our make-up job has been, we cannot look our best.

There is little excuse for foot discomfort nowadays. In the past it was considered nothing short of a disgrace to wear a large shoe size. However, today it's a different story.

Women allow the shoe salesman to measure their feet and accept his judgment.

Your foot should be at home in the shoe he brings you. Shoe designers do wonders to make even the largest foot look attractive.

Stockings are our next consideration. If they press against the toes they can be uncomfortable and harmful. Be sure you choose them large enough.

There are wonderful new support stockings on the market that look attractive but give needed support to women who must spend long hours on their feet.

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS REQUIRE ADEQUATE PROOF

Many taxpayers lost all or part of their deductions for charitable contributions last year because they failed to keep the necessary records.

Substantiation of charitable contributions is one of the most frequent problems encountered in the audit of tax returns, George Zerda, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue in Corpus Christi, Texas, said today.

Another problem in the contribution area that appeared on last year's returns was the claim of the full amount paid for a ticket to a charity ball, theatre benefit, or banquet as a charitable contribution.

Only that part of the ticket price in excess of the value received by the buyer may be considered a charitable contribution. When $10 is paid for a ticket to a charity banquet and the meal would normally cost $4, then only $6 may be considered a charitable gift. To help taxpayers avoid this mistake on 1971 returns, IRS asks all charitable organizations selling tickets to fund-raising affairs to clearly indicate on the ticket the amount that is deductible. Identifying the deductible portion of the ticket price should help solve this problem.

'Mighty Manfred' Earns Admiring Glances

"Mighty Manfred" may only be a shadow of his former self, but he's a real conversation piece and a valuable model for learning, claims Anne Buita (right) who put him together.

Miss Buita, 18, of Arrow-smith, Ill., reconstructed the 311-bone skeleton in about 300 hours as part of her 4-H veterinary science project. Displayed at school and other community events, Manfred's last trip was to National 4-H Congress in Chicago where he was admired by other national 4-H winners and Dr. David A. Phillipson of The Upjohn Company, program sponsor.

The national winners who received $700 scholarships at the national 4-H event included, (from the left) Karl Lewis, 17, Port Neches, Tex.; David Armstrong, 18, Surgoinville, Tenn.; William Bradley Jr., 16, Lawrence, Kans.; Robin Pratt, 17, Cotati, Calif., and Lucille Reed, 19, Enola, Pa.

Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, the 4-H veterinary science program has made rapid growth ... more than doubling enrollment in the last five years.

In 1972, The Upjohn Company again is providing a full program of incentives and recognition in 4-H veterinary science. Topping the list are six $700 scholarships and 18 expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. State winners receive $50 U.S. Savings Bonds and four young people in each county are eligible for medals of honor.

Information about the 4-H veterinary science program and opportunities for recognition are available from local 4-H leaders or the county extension office.

This science oriented program is finding equal interest among young urban and suburban pet owners and farm boys and girls. And 4-H leaders are using specially prepared publications, educational aids and enlisting the help of veterinarians in adding new dimensions to the study of animal health.

HISTORICAL DATA IS RESUMED

Here are additional listings of the minutes of meetings held by the Civic Improvement League, organized by a group of ladies here in 1909:

As the City Hall was occupied by the City Council on the night of May 5th the Civic Improvement League held its weekly meeting at the home of the secretary. The minutes were read and approved. The committee on printing having resigned, Miss Friend and Mr. Clevenger were appointed to see about having envelopes stamped either with map of the town or other suitable design for advertising.

Dr. Bailey reported having a preliminary talk with Mr. Lightburne about a location for the Press Association, in which Mr. Lightburne asked to see the letters received by the League from Mr. Holland. His interest was at least encouraging. A recent letter from Mr. Holland states that the Press Association meets at Stamford June 8th to 11th. Our new mayor, Mr. Johnson had been quite sure a suitable site could be secured.

Mrs. Hoopes announced that two petitions had been sent to the City Council. One asking for better sanitary conditions, and the other for a pagoda--or rather material to build a pagoda in the beach park.

Dr. Bailey said Mr. Rooke had not as yet given him figures on cost of pagoda but the members were under the impression it would be at least $50.00.

The League was reminded that some reply should be made to D. M. Picton for his generous offer of shell for the street on bay front.

Mr. Hoopes reported that Mrs. Picton was so pleased at the improvements made on the Beach Park that she wanted the League to turn its attention to the park near her home.

It was suggested that the committee appoint to appear before the school board, go properly fortified with the endorsement and opinions of some of the mothers whose children attended the public school.

It was stated that the Board of Trade, lately reorganized, were alive to the value of civic improvement, and Col. Traylor had suggested buying the historic spot including the ancient tree made famous by the visit of Zachary Taylor in 1845.

The president cheered the hearts of the members by repeating some well earned compliments given by the members of the Christian Church who lately came over from Corpus Christi on an excursion to our city.

The clean comfortable pavilion, the courteous treatment by the new manager and the generous provisions made for their entertainment by Dr. Bailey were all heartily appreciated. Other excursions in the near future were predicted and it was for the Civic League to take advantage of these opportunities to advertise the attractions our town has to offer.

The serious deliberations of the evening closed with an animated and elevating discussion on the latest approved method of entertaining dogs! Gertrude B. Grewe Rec. Sec'y.

The Civic Improvement League met at the pavilion May 19th at the request of the manager, Mr. Lighttower.

The minutes were read and approved.

The president reported that the City Council had acted on the petition for a pagoda and had voted $50.00 in script toward a suitable structure.

Dr. Bailey reported that the members of the Board of Trade were all favorably inclined toward establishing the Press Association on the peninsula. A recent letter from Mr. Holland said there was no need for the committee to visit Rockport again.

Mr. Hoopes who had met with the Board of Directors, gave various descriptions and figures on sites. Mr. Holland and his associates had expressed approval of the location near the Oak Shore Club, and the Directors were taking it under consideration. There were 27 acres which could be bought for $7500. Of this several acres could be donated to the Press Association and the remainder cut up on lots and sold to cover the original cost.

The advertising committee not being present, Dr. Bailey reported that Mr. Branch had sent away Mr. Clevenger's map to have a die cast and would soon be ready to stamp envelopes.

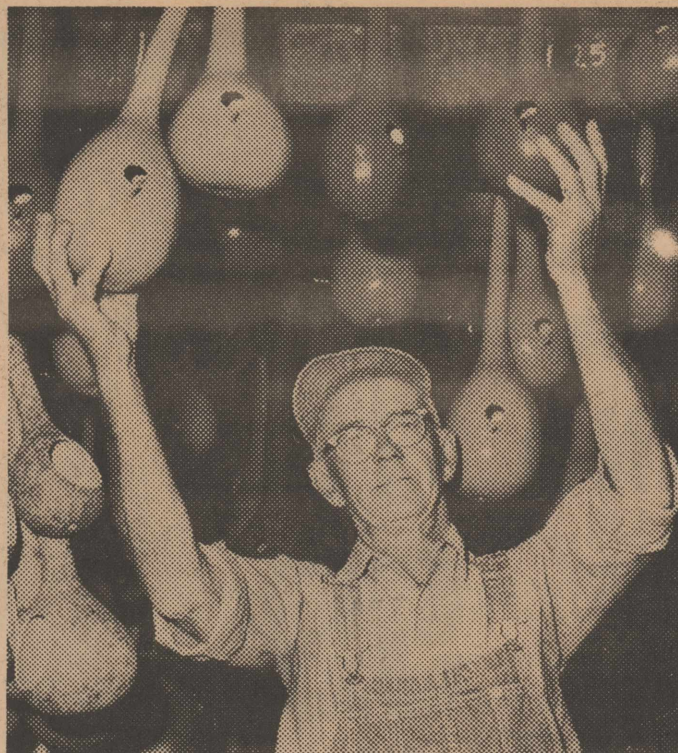

Mr. Hoopes said Mr. Percival had a map suitable for back of stationery.

Mrs. Hoopes reported sending check of $30 to Mr. Henlon for rent of the pavilion for month of May. A check of $12.65 had been given Mr. Tellis which cancelled our indebtedness for electric lights, etc. up to date had also been paid on piano.

Dr. Bailey and Mr. Hoopes were appointed as committee to act in the distribution of the Picton park.

Mr. Hoopes said our mayor, Mr. Johnson, had offered to bring the Del Mar subject before the City Council.

Dr. Bailey said the mass meeting called for discussing a new hotel was well attended. While the enthusiasm was not so great, some convincing talks were made. Many offered to take stock and about $10,000 was subscribed. Committees were appointed to solicit in town and out. Several sites were considered but the majority were in favor of a tourist hotel over the bay. D. R. Scrivner offered 150 feet of Bay front opposite the Morris

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Would the voters of Precinct 1 and (1-A) like to have a man as their next County Commissioner who is experienced in County government, road construction, drainage — a man with many years of experience in business to back up his judgment.

A man who will conscientiously devote the time necessary to get the job done.

A man who knows how to manage and operate heavy equipment.

A man experienced in supervising other workers.

A man that can foresee the problems of a fast growing county, and has the proven ability to help solve those problems.

If elected, I shall devote my time to serving you as your County Commissioner.

I sincerely believe I can do the best job of any candidate as your County Commissioner.

I earnestly solicit your vote May 6.

Sincerely yours,

House, taking the valuation in stock in the hotel.

Mr. Lighttower made several excellent propositions to the League for mutual benefit. One was to have a baby show and solicit prizes from the merchants. The admission to be 10 cents. Of this the League would get 60%. Church bazaars, Japanese and Chinese Fairs, etc. were mentioned. He had 500 tickets printed to be sold for 10 cents each which the League could dispose of at 5%. A threatening storm prevented any discussion of the different subjects and the meeting adjourned.

PAGE SEVENTEEN

The minutes were read and approved.

A lengthy letter from I. B. Henlon was read, in which were many and various questions regarding the pavilion floor. Mrs. Hoopes volunteered to answer.

Mr. Hoopes reported that there was a desirable piece of property above Fulton that might be acceptable to the Press Association. He had gone to look at in company with Mr. Lightburne who was also favorably impressed. There are 12 acres at $100, per acre and a water frontage of 1750 feet. Three encouraging letters had been received by Dr. Bailey from members of the Press Association.

Mr. Lighttower's propositions were discussed and it was decided to bring the subject of a "baby show" before some of the Rockport mothers and see what they might think about it.

The secretary made a report on her trip to Tarpon, and among other things repeated a conversation with D. W. Picton on improvement of parks. She invited the League to take charge of the park in his neighborhood and offered to pipe water to the place and furnish shell for walks. That Mr. Johnson would doubtless furnish material for fencing and other men living near would also help. It was decided to take up the work after getting the boundaries surveyed by Mr. Percival. Mr. Hoopes offered to furnish cedar posts as markers for the new park. Mr. Mason was appointed to see property owners near the park opposite J. W. Traylor's residence with the view of further improvement.

The meeting closed at the usual hour. Gertrude B. Grewe Rec. Sec'y.

Nixon's Moscow trip is announced for May 22.

ELECT RAULIE L. IRWIN

the one Experienced Candidate in County Government, as your County Commissioner, Precinct 1 and (1-A) in the May 6 Primary.

He was elected County Commissioner, out of a group of six candidates, in Precinct 4, of nearby San Patricio County, upon his return from the Navy in World War II. The precinct was badly in debt, had very little equipment and several hundred miles of dirt road to maintain.

He served as a full time commissioner and with his support the County Court House was enlarged and remodeled. A County Health unit was established, a County Welfare department and a County library were set up. A migratory labor camp was built as was a county show barn for the youth exhibits in San Patricio County.

He worked closely with the State Highway Department, purchasing right-of-way, planning new roads and obtained many miles of Farm to Market roads for his precinct, two connecting with Aransas County.

He supervised one project of road construction costing more than $600,000, the funds coming from a bond issue. He initiated a program enabling the cities in his precinct to get streets paved at a $1 per front foot cost. Practically all the paved streets prior to 1958, other than state highways, in the Cities of Ingleside, Aransas Pass, Gregory, Portland and some in Taft were built as the result of this program.

Raulie Irwin has supervised the construction of more than 200 miles of all-weather roads and the appraisal and purchase of approximately 800 parcels of right-of-way for county and state roads.

A growing county such as ours needs an experienced man in the Commissioners Court.

We feel we need Raulie Irwin.
