Harvesters Outplay Foes In First Half

Two Field Goals Send Pampans Off To Good Start

By HARRY HOARE
Sports Editor, The Pampa News

The Amarillo Sandies put another Harlew on the field Saturday afternoon, supported his efforts with sensational blocking in the second half, and defeated the Pampa Harvesters 14 to 6 before 10,000 fans at Harvester field. It was Amarillo's ninth victory over a Harvester team in 10 years of conference competition.

For 30 minutes of bruising play the Harvesters reigned supreme but the Harvesters faded in the third quarter. Momentarily, but long enough to let the Sandies score two touchdowns in less than five minutes.

Driving time and again down the field in the last quarter, the Sandies nearly wore out the turf inside the Harvester 20-yard stripe but every time that green and gold line stiffened and held the invaders.

It was a star-studded Pampa line that held off Amarillo charges excepting for two quick touchdown thrusts early in the third quarter. Standing out for 60 minutes in the Harvester line was little Wayne Fade who hurled his 165 pounds through the Amarillo line to throw ball carriers for disastrous losses. Not far behind Fade was big R. G. Candler, the only Harvester linemen who could cope with the Sandies in size. For three quarters Herbert Maynard dealt Amarillo ball carriers misery from his position backing up the line.

Harvester Reserves Star

The last quarter had its star when Roland Phillips went into the game and on three consecutive plays dropped the Amarillo ball carrier behind his own line. Another substitute shone when Norman Clemmons, up from the Junior high reapers, played nearly three quarters before leaving the game. Still another sub got his chance when Kenneth Mullings came in for his share of tackles. In fact, every player in the Pampa line stood out at times.

Big noise in the Pampa backfield was Pete Dunaway with Grover Heiskell and Aubrey Green chiming in at times to make things interesting for the Sandies. Dunaway was the leading ground gainer from scrimmage with Leiskell doing some sensational running on punts and kickoffs. It was Dunaway's punting and place-kicking that put the Harvesters out in front but ironically it was also his toe that got the Harvesters in trouble with two blocked punts, one finally resulting in Amarillo's first touchdown.

Harvesters Score First

Harlow was Amarillo's ball toting star although he was given a close run by big Andrews. The Sandie blocking was sensational with Payne, Plant and Gill leading the interference. Redus, end, Gill, guard, and Cazzell, tackle, were line standouts.

With the first quarter nearly half gone and Amarillo hadn't gotten past the 50-yard line, Harlow punted short to his 34-yard mark. The entire Harvester backfield took turns

These Conversations To Be Heard Monday

Here are some conversations that are going to take place in Pampa tomorrow when thoughts of citizens will be weaned away from football and directed toward sustaining the life of that "angel of mercy"—the Red Cross—in Pampa and the nation.

A hundred women and as many men will call upon you, singly and in twos and threes, maybe, and ask you to join the Red Cross, and you may answer as follows:

"Sure, I know what the Red Cross does and I want it to keep up the good work," and you'll fork over a dollar.

Then some of you may answer, "No, I've given all I'm going to give this year. There's a drive every day. I've just stuffed off a big donation for relief. That ought to be enough—what's this money going for anyway?"

And the Roll Call worker will answer, "I know just how you feel. It's give, give, give all the time. But you have not yet given anything for underprivileged Pampa children with aching, tonsil-infected throats, needy tots with aching, blurred eyes who need glasses; you have not given anything for poverty-stricken Pampans who will die if they don't get special foods—you have not given anything for disaster victims and war refugees—that's where your dollar goes."

"Yeah, but how much of it is spent in Pampa?" you may ask.

"Half of your dollar will stay here, and the overhead cost of distributing it is so small—almost gratis. Nobody makes a living from hand-

Book Week To Open Monday

The week of November 12 has been designated National Book Week and the Pampa Public library will participate in its observance, its theme being "Books Around the World."

Pampa's Mayor E. S. Carr also urges Pampans to join in observation of the week and he has issued a proclamation designating this week as Book Week in Pampa.

Book Week will celebrate its 21st birthday. First observance was in 1919 when the theme was "More Books in the Home." That theme has been carried out until this year the program will be around the world.

This year's theme is timely because never before has it been so important that the people understand world neighbors.

New books will be on display at the library for the adult and the child. Those who have books and no longer care to keep them, have the privilege at this time of donating them to the library, as many books are needed, and from time to time books are removed from the shelves due to being worn out, and others pages missing.

A large gift of books and magazines were received this past week

Death Takes Lubbock High School Coach

Chapman Lives To Hear Result Of Plainview Game

LUBBOCK, Nov. 11. (AP) — Weldon Chapman, Lubbock High school head coach since 1931, died today of bronchial pneumonia complicated by a throat ilment. He had been ill since Nov. 2.

Chapman, 38, one of the most popular coaches in Texas, had rallied Wednesday and seemed to be improving until a hemorrhage came at 5 a. m. today. Physicians then hoped only that he would live to know the final score between his team and Plainview High school Lubbock's 19-0 victory was announced a few seconds before he died.

Born at Allen, Collin county, Chapman attended high school at the Odd Fellows Home at Corsicana where he was an honor student. He was graduated from Austin college, Sherman, in 1922 and became head coach at Cisco High school that year. There he produced some of the strongest teams in the state.

Chapman succeeded Henry Frnka as Lubbock head coach in 1931 and that year his team won the first district championship for Lubbock. That team gained recognition as an "iron man" outfit of a dozen able boys who won three games in ten days after a three-way tie. Last year Chapman's team went to the state finals, losing to Corpus Christi at the Dallas Cotton bowl.

Europe Still Owes U. S. 14 Billions

(By The Associated Press)

The 21st anniversary yesterday (Saturday) of the end of the "war to end wars" found three great nations in a new conflict and several others watching them warily.

While traditionally observance of Armistice Day was curtailed therefore in many places, President Roosevelt led the United States' customary celebration by attending a wreath-laying ceremony at the unknown soldier's tomb in Arlington cemetery.

And pleading for a "new and better peace," one that would cause men to "lay down weapons of hatred."

At the same time, United States treasury officials figured that European nations still owed this country $14,497,161,340.22 from the last war.

"We work for peace, we pray for peace, and we arm for peace," President Roosevelt said in a telephone address to Virginia Military institute, observing its 100th anniversary.

Even as he spoke from the White House, the war and navy departments, not far away, were engaged in the nation's greatest peacetime arming, but Mr. Roosevelt said:

"We have never had the illusion that peace and freedom could be based on weakness."

Fellowship Urged By Methodist Bishop

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11 (AP)—International Christian Fellowship is the only hope of a war-torn world for lasting peace, Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas said in an Armistice Day address to the Central Texas Methodist Conference here today.

The five-day meeting will close tomorrow afternoon with announcement of pastoral assignments for the ensuing church year.

Bishop Holt expressed the hope that prayer never again be allowed to degenrate into a means of National propaganda and that war never again be presented under the guise of a holy crusade.

He recalled that in the first world war christians on both sides of the conflict had prayed to the same God for victory.

Clothing Matinee To Be Held Friday

For the benefit of the Salvation Army, the annual clothing matinee will be held from 1 to 6 o'clock next Friday afternoon at the LaNora theatre.

Any person, child or adult, will be admitted to the theatre at no cost other than the turning in of an article of clothing. However, the garments must be in a wearable condition. Clothing, including shoes, that does not come up to this standard will not be accepted and admission will be refused any person who attempts to submit clothing that is worthless.

Showing at the LaNora Friday, for the second day of a three-day run, is the Edward Small-United Artists historical melodrama, "The Man In the Iron Mask", based on the story by Alexander Dumas.

Plot of the picture deals with the fight for the crown of France between Louis XIV and Phillipe, for whom Louis invents an iron mask to torture him while Phillipe is imprisoned in the Bastille.

Peace Theme Of Armistice Day Speeches

Non-Involvement In European War Urged By Edison

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Europe's new conflict cast its shadow across impressive Armistice Day ceremonies at the shrine of America's unknown soldier where President Roosevelt led the nation today in tribute to the men who died in a war to end war.

On that quiet Virginia hillside in the white marble amphitheatre dotted with crosses of the nation's war dead, the Chief Executive participated in placing a wreath on the tomb of the doughboy "known but to God."

Mr. Roosevelt did not speak, but in the white marble ampitheatre nearby other national figures united in voicing the hope that America's sacrifices in the World War would help to keep the nation out of the present conflict.

Standing with the President at the foot of the spectator-crowded steps of the amphitheatre were Secretary of War Woodring, Charles Edison, action secretary of the navy; Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations.

"We want no more long rows of graves," said Edison in a brief address. "This country is practically unanimous in its fervent desire to maintain peace. x x x in the very disillusionment of the shattered dreams and ideals of those who survived the great war, there is a spiritual gain in the inspiring fact that

Bring Your Broken Toys To Firemen

It's only 43 days until Christmas and it's less than that until the Red Cross Community Christmas tree at which time children of needy families receive their Christmas presents.

Once more Pampa firemen will repair broken toys to be given at the Christmas tree and Fire Chief Ben White urges citizens of Pampa to bring their donations to the fire station so that his smoke eaters can start repairing and painting them.

"The boys enjoy working on broken toys during their idle time," Chief White said yesterday. "I hope Pampa folk will bring us plenty this year."

Only toys that can be repaired should be taken to the fire station.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 11. (AP)—Jacqueline Abbey, aged 18 months, swallowed a nickel yesterday. It struck in her esophagus. She was rushed to a hospital, where the nickel was removed today.

"Feel better, baby?" asked the attending physician.

"Where," she countered, "is my nickel?"

With a parade, memorial service, salute to the colors, veterans reunion and a dance, Pampa Saturday observed the 21st anniversary of the signing of the Armistice that brought the World War to an end.

The veterans reunion, open to veterans of all wars, regardless of affiliation with any veteran organization, was held at 7 o'clock last night at the American Legion hut, with Ed Tracey in charge of the program.

L. R. Franks was chairman of the American Legion committee sponsoring the dance held two hours later at the Southern club.

A colorful salute to the colors ceremony was held at Harvester park Saturday afternoon, preceding the Pampa-Amarillo football game. The Pampa High school pep squad joined the veterans in the ceremony.

Stores in downtown Pampa closed from 10:15 to 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The postoffice, bank, Texas State Employment service, and most of the county offices were closed all day.

Travis Lively, president of the Pampa Rotary club, delivered a brief address marking the conclusion of the Armistice day parade from the marquee of the LaNora theater. He spoke over a public address system furnished by the Clay Funeral home.

Music by the Pampa High school band, A. C. Cox, director, preceded Mr. Lively's address.

Purchases To Hit High Peak In 7 Weeks

Order For 6,000 Horses Placed By Britain, France

By HENRY PAYNTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Leading Wall Street financial sources said today British and French purchases of American products in quantity have begun, and will swell to high volume during the next seven weeks.

A number of French purchasing commissions already here have accepted and approved the first orders, which are now being placed through Maurice Garreau-Dombasle, veteran commercial counsellor of the French embassy.

Today's announced placement of an order for 4,000 cavalry and 2,000 artillery horses for France was (except for previous orders in the airplane field) merely the beginning of a vast program which may run into billions, they said.

The British War Supply commission is expected to "open up shop" here in the next week or so.

Also except for airplanes, British war orders in volume may be expected before the end of the year, or shortly after, they said.

These responsible financial sources said there now remains no doubt that British and French war orders—for munitions, supplies and provisions—are likely to be a major factor in the U. S. economy during 1940.

Estimates vary, but it seems probable that a total of not less than $2,000,000 for non-requirements would be spent by the two countries here in the next twelve months, these quarters suggest.

In addition, they said, England is studying monumental plans to invest a further amount exceeding that total in capital development

Sen. Norris Demands Labor Union Peace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Criticizing labor leaders for their failure to bring peace between the AFL and CIO, senator Norris (Ind-Neb) called today for a congressional showdown in the next session on efforts to amend the National Labor relations act.

"I have worked with and for labor for thirty years and I am disgusted with the situation now," Norris declared. "I think that if it were left to the rank and file of the two organizations they would get together.

Norris said in an interview that the division in labor ranks had worked to disadvantage of the National Labor Relations board.

"It seems to me that neither side is satisfied with what the labor board does unless it gets what it wants.

"Congress ought to go ahead and act on the proposed amendment to the law without regard to either labor faction. I will have to be convinced that any changes are needed—I think the law is working pretty well as it is—but this controversy ought to be settled one way or another and settled soon. Let them bring the amendments out on the floor and see what congress wants to do with them."

The Red Cross Roll Call

On last April 24, the National Convention of Red Cross Chapters held in Washington, D. C., adopted this resolution:

"Whereas, the American Red Cross is at this time faced with ever-increasing responsibilities, therefore be it RESOLVED, that this Convention urges all Chapters to make a special effort in their forthcoming Roll Calls so that at least 1,000,000 new members may be enlisted for participation in and support of Red Cross work."

Until September 1, Red Cross Chapters were moving ahead to enroll this million new members for 1940.

The situation has changed. War, long threatened is now an actuality in Europe. I need not dwell on the tragic potentialities of human suffering certain to result as the conflict is prolonged,—suffering of the women and children and the aged, the defenseless and helpless who, as always, must suffer when the ruthless and strong make war, and strive for power.

Up to October 18, the American Red Cross has set aside $1,000,000 to be used for alleviating human suffering in war-torn Europe. In addition to this many Red Cross Chapters in the United States have started sewing and knitting programs to produce dresses and sweaters and stockings for refugee women and children. Furthermore, the Red Cross must prepare itself to stand ready to meet responsibilities which overnight may reach unpredictable proportions.

Every one of the 5,660,000 men and women members of the American Red Cross and over 7½ million Junior Red Cross members hope and pray for peace and international understanding but, in the absence of peace, these 13 million American Red Cross men, women and children and many more millions who, up to now, are not members, have the great humanitarian feeling in their hearts to help those who unfortunately cannot help themselves.

Today, the situation is even more difficult and unpredictable. Today, the Red Cross faces its greatest challenge since the days of the World War. Today, the Red Cross must have volunteer workers to enable it, both from the standpoint of man-power and funds, to meet the expected expansion of its normal services as well as the discharge of its national and international obligations in the developing European situation—an obligation it is pledged to fullfill under Congressional Charter.

Today, your Red Cross needs your help. The resolution to enroll 1,000,000 new members has been recalled. Today, your Red Cross needs to enroll every American man and woman of "good-will," many millions of them in our great United States.

Today, your Red Cross needs volunteers to help give these millions of men and women of good will the opportunity to enroll in this great humanitarian organization. If you have a few hours or a few days you can give to helping in this enrollment between now and November 30, contact your local Red Cross Chapter at once and volunteer your help.

You need you. Red Cross, your Red Cross needs you. Keep it ready to serve. Volunteer your services at once And, above all—join the Red Cross when the solicitor calls on you!

DON'T TELL THIS TO THE MARINES
(Chicago Tribune)

The report of Acting Secretary Edison of the navy department to the house naval affairs committee on the stoppage of work on navy airplane engines by the C. I. O. strike in Detroit makes strange reading. The acting secretary gave the information in response to a resolution of Representative Hoffman of Michigan inquiring concerning stories that the navy's defense program had been hampered by the C. I. O. strike against the Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation.

Edison replied that the navy department had called the attention of the regional director of the C. I. O. to the seriousness of the delay in the delivery of material for which the department had contracts and the urgent need of the shipment of patterns.

Says Mr. Edison: "The inspector requested that the C. I. O. director instruct his representative in charge of the picket line at the corporation's plant No. 2 to allow a representative to pass through the picket line to pick up government owned patterns and ship them on a government bill of lading. The regional director of the C. I. O. sent three representatives of union local 208 to discuss the removal of the patterns with the inspector of naval material. The union representatives were given full access to the files of the navy contracts. At the end of the discussion the union representatives stated that as the strike situation stood their answer was emphatically 'no' and that they would not let patterns or inspected castings be removed. No further action was taken by the navy department to remove the patterns and castings."

The strike was settled Oct. 8, but during its duration of 41 days the picket line kept the navy from getting its own patterns out of the plant. The department bowed to a superior force which the government itself had nourished into strength. Mr. Lewis already had victories over the postoffice, the department of justice, and the governors of several states. He can now hang up a naval flag in his trophy room. The navy won't go through a picket line.

GERMANY AND THE BLOCKADE
(New York Times)

According to our Berlin dispatches "the entire German press continues to concentrate on an effort to persuade the German people through news dispatches and editorial comment that the Third Reich is invulnerable in the face of the British blockade." This whirlwind campaign demands of the part of the German people another of those sudden mental somersaults such as Hitler demanded when, after years of denunciation of the present leaders of Russia as "bloodstained criminals" and representatives of "the scum of humanity," he abruptly made a bargain with them.

For it can scarcely be forgotten by the German people that not very long ago Hitler was preaching Germany's dependence on foreign markets and foreign supplies of raw materials as zealously as the trained German press is now preaching just the opposite. This was during the long period when he was arguing the case for an expansion of the German lebensraum and the recovery of the colonies—as in his famous Reichstag speech of last Jan. 30. Germany, he declared then, was involved in a desperate struggle for foreign markets in order to obtain credits with which to buy enough food to keep alive: "The German nation must live, that means export or die."

In effect, the German people are now told to forget all this and put their confidence in the ability of their government to get all the supplies it needs from an industrially backward Russia. One moment it is "export or die"; the next moment exports do not really matter. These sudden renunciations of previously declared positions must begin to tax the credulity of the audience to which they are directed.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life - - -

By R. C. Holles

VOTING NEW WEALTH

At first thought, it seems astounding that so many people believe new purchasing power, or new wealth, can be added by such plans as the New Deal spending, the Ham and Eggs in California, the Townsend Plan, or the Bigelow Plan in Ohio. But, when it is considered that those people, who believe these methods can improve the lot of mankind, have never had actual experience in appraising values, it is easy to see why they are confused. They look at things from an abstract standpoint and do not seem to have the ability to reduce them to concrete, or specific instances, to test them out.

For any man to believe that Ham and Eggs, the Townsend Plan or the New Deal will automatically increase the purchasing power by taking from one and giving to another, is just as logical as to believe that if an aged father and mother came to live with their children and demanded the best of everything from them that the children would have more left to live on and could live better because of this. It is just as logical to believe that Ham and Eggs, or the Townsend Plan, will cause prosperity as it is to believe that we can lift ourselves by our own bootstraps, or that we can create perpetual motion.

The reason these people believe this is because they will not reduce the plan to small enough units so that their mind can grasp it. They will not compare keeping one-fourth of our people idle, as the Ham and Eggs would do, to a unit of a family where part of the group was idle and consuming. It is, of course, easy to see that nonproductive children or non-productive elderly people lower the standard of living of the rest of the family. They do not increase it, as the Ham and Eggs, the Townsend plan and the New Dealers contend, by permitting them to consume and give nothing in return. The way to test any economic plan is to reduce it to a small scale before putting it into operation on a big scale. This is desirable for two reasons; first, the finite mind can understand smaller things more easily than large and complicated things; and, second, it is much less expensive.

This scheme of Ham and Eggs and the New Deal of creating wealth by transferring credit, has been tried time without number and it never worked in the past and there is no reason to believe it will work now, any more than to believe that three-fourths of the people working can produce more and live better than by having four-fourths of the people working. In other words, the Ham and Eggers contend the whole is not greater than part of its parts, judging from what they advocate.

BRITAIN'S HUMANITARIAN WAR

Russia is calling the world's attention to the cruelties practiced by the British Empire in establishing contraband that really is not contraband. A Russian officer has stated, "Soviet Russia shows that British methods contradict all international agreements concerning high seas war time commerce." Russia points out that preventing foodstuffs and clothing for use by women and children and non-combatants, so that they will gradually starve to death, is in the same class with dropping bombs promiscuously on women and children.

England has put most everything on the contraband list. Of course, the sole purpose is to starve the people of Germany into coming to terms.

This might be necessary, but the British have little to say against Germany if they kill noncombatants, women and children with bombs, while England is gradually starving them to death by their artificial contraband rules. It makes little difference which way a non-combatant is killed—whether he is gradually starved to death or killed instantly with a bomb

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON
Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—Back of the Bureau of Mines' announcement that there are tremendous proven deposits of iron ore in the far western states, forces are in motion which may bring an important shift in the steel industry.

Right now negotiations are under way between eastern steel interests and Bonneville Dam authorities for a contract for electric power to operate a steel mill in the Bonneville area.

If the contract goes through—and an announcement one way or the other is expected in the very near future—it is expected that construction of the mill would be begun at once and that it would be ready to start using Bonneville current within a year.

The Department of the Interior, which has Bonneville under its wing, believes such a step would begin the development of the great "industrial empire" which department enthusiasts have been predicting for the Columbia valley ever since the Bonneville and Grand Coulee projects got under way.

It also suggests that it would start the development of that west coast steel industry which President Roosevelt recently said he was anxious to see established.

WESTERN ORE LIES UNMINED

The far west has an abundance of iron ore—one of the nation's largest deposits, for instance, according to the Bureau of Mines, is in Madera county, California—but to date its ore has not been extensively exploited.

The Bureau has been pushing research work to make such exploitation commercially possible. A special laboratory on the electrical reduction of ores has been set up at Boulder Dam.

For if the west coast has an abundance of iron, it is about to have a great deal of electric power, too.

In the south there is Boulder Dam. In central California there is the huge development of which Shasta Dam is a part. In the northwest there are Grand Coulee and Bonneville.

If it is possible to turn that ore into steel, at a cost per ton no greater than the cost of middle-western steel with shipping charges added, a thriving west coast steel industry is envisaged.

U. S. WANTS MILLS AS POWER CUSTOMERS

The Interior Department has two reasons for wanting to see this come about.

It has three power plants and wants a broader market for their power, and it is one of the heaviest purchasers of steel in the far west.

There are far western mills now turning out fabricated steel, of course, But the material they turn into girders and beams comes from the Great Lakes area.

There exists in California another potential source of iron if the Bureau of Mines experts can find a way to use it. In the San Francisco Bay area there are big accumulations of pyrite cinders. Near Martinez, for example, there are 750,000 tons of tailings from a copper-leaching plant containing 52 per cent of iron.

Because of its physical characteristics and its sulphur and copper content, this material can't be used in a regular, blast furnace, But it is a potential "ore" capable of feeding a mill 50 tons a day of reduced iron for 20 years, if some means of getting the iron out can be devised.

DUTCH TREAT

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11—Jean Arthur has licked Hollywood just as she vowed she'd lick it. Studios are bidding for a chance to star her, and Broadway wants her to come back. Critics have polished up some nice adjectives to frame their verdict that she's a swell actress, and agents and producers are sending her scripts to read.

Miss Arthur has beaten Hollywood after some 14 years of disappointments, but those same years seem to have cheated her of the capacity for enjoying her triumph. Today she's a scared, jittery introvert huddled in an ivory tower and biting her nails.

When she steps in front of a camera, everything's dandy; there is warmth and confidence. When the director says "Cut," she looks around for a place to hide. No other player, even the Greata Garbo, offers so much contrast. There is such a dearth of pleasant anecdote about Miss Arthur that it was considered big news when she cooperated in a surprise birthday celebration for Frank Capra on the set of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." She asked him to come to her dressing room to explain something in the script, and she detained him a couple of minutes while other members of the cast arranged a cake and refreshments. That's all there was to it.

She gives no interviews but is too shy to refuse them pointblank. Any such requests must be referred, through her own studio, to her husband, Frank Ross, vice-president in charge of production at the Hal Roach lot. If Miss Arthur is working at the time, she is said to be "too busy." If she isn't working, she is said to be "not available."

REFUSES TO POSE FOR STILL CAMERAS

Ross, whom she married in the east in June, 1932, when he was a realtor and builder, is believed by most of Hollywood to have coached her into her attitude of aloofness. Just as good a guess, though, is that he merely is shielding her according to her own wishes.

Miss Arthur dreads still cameras and will not pose for fashions or the publicity informals which are accepted by most actresses as routine chores. Only the other day a news photographer snapped her at a party. She called him an ugly name. He yanked the holder from his camera, pulled the slide, handed her the film and said, "Here's a picture of you saying it!"

Jimmy Stewart, twice teamed with Jean Arthur, believes she's truly a great actress.

"She's warm; she feels her part," he said. "You can see it in her eyes, the way they well up when she comes into a scene."

Howard Hawks, who directed Miss Arthur in "Only Angels Have Wings," found a little difficulty in adjusting her to a slightly vampish role. She was inclined to act with too much assurance and independence.

SHE TRIES HARD TO BE CONGENIAL

About the off-stage Arthur, Hawks said, "She's just awfully shy—can't talk to people and dreads meeting them. I know it hurts her more to turn down an interview than it would to give it. Sometimes she cries from sheer nervousness."

Nobody doubts that she'd like to be congenial. During the filming of "You Can't Take It With You," Ann Miller, (the ballet-dancing sister) tried to bring Miss Arthur from her dressing room seclusion. Friendly as a puppy, the youngster said, "Why don't you sit around the set with the rest of us? We'd love to have you." Miss Arthur looked startled, then softened and said, "All right. Thanks."

But when she tried it, the rest of the company were so puzzled by the gesture of friendliness that they were ill-at-ease and silent. Miss Arthur went back to her dressing room, but after that she often asked Miss Miller to come in and talk. The Texas cutie even taught the star some rudiments of tap dancing.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

The average individual has about 10 pints of blood in his body. The amount remains constant. The loss of a small amount of blood is quickly made up by the squeezing of blood out of the spleen, which is known to be a reservoir, and by the passing of fluid from the tissues into the blood.

The loss of three or four pints of blood at one time may be fatal. There are instances, however, in which as much as six pints of blood have been lost by gradual hemorrhage without resulting in death.

A normal human being has from 4,500,000 to 6,200,000 red blood cells in every cubic millimeter of blood. The number for women is somewhat less than for men. In normal blood there about 15 grams of hemoglobin for every 100 cubic centimeters of blood. If the amount of red coloring matter falls below 80 per cent as shown on an ordinary scale, the patient is said to be anemic. However, the patient may still feel well even when the percentage has fallen below 70.

Most of the red blood cells are formed in the bone marrow of the body. Red bone marrow is found in the bones of the arms, the legs, in the ribs and skull, the bones of the spine and in the sternum. The amount of red bone marrow may increase when a patient suffers from diseases which stimulate formation of red blood cells.

When the red blood cells break down and are no longer able to function, they are destroyed in the body by other cells. The average red corpuscle lives from 30 to 80 days. This means that the body has to form daily about one trillion red blood cells. The red blood cells that are imperfect are digested in the spleen and in the liver by the reticuloendothelial cells. The iron is removed and the broken-down material is excreted by the gallbladder and bile duct as bile. The iron itself is used in the building of fresh red coloring blood cells.

If there is an abnormal amount of destruction of the red blood cells in the liver and in the spleen, too much of the bile salt material will be formed. The liver will find it impossible to pass all of this on and this material will then circulate in the blood. If the amount rises sufficiently high, the patient becomes jaundiced.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

TEN THOUSAND football fans got their money's worth of thrills and chills out at Harvester park yesterday afternoon. . . . Instead of two teams, they got to see four teams in action. . . . You explain that one this way: They saw entirely different teams on both sides in each half. . . . Pampa was victory bound in the opening half and Amarillo was victory bound in the second.

Neither the Harvesters nor the Sandies looked the same in either of the halves. . . . The only trouble was that the Pampa team that won the first half didn't pile up a large enough score to defeat the Amarillo team that won the second half. . . . All of these deductions may befuddle you somewhat, but if you'll go back and begin at the beginning, you may get the idea.

AFTER a bang-up game in which they took a 6-0 lead at half-time, the Harvesters seemed unable to recover from a bad streak of luck when the Sandies blocked that kick down in Pampa territory early in the third quarter and then ran the ball over for a touchdown and conversion which gave the visitors a 7-6 lead. . . . All the efforts of Pete Dunaway's educated toe were kicked into a cocked hat in short order. . . . Pampa never got over it, although it staged three grand stone-wall defenses late in the game to stave off additional Amarillo scoring. . . . The Harvesters looked plenty good, even in defeat.

There is nobody who can say they didn't play a swelegant brand of football. . . . Members of the Pampa team gave everything they had but it just wasn't enough to overcome the Amarillo power line. . . . The Harvesters looked so good in the first half that even the most ardent Amarillo fans had resigned themselves to defeat for 1939. . . . It just looked like the old dope bucket was being kicked haywire and that this definitely was Pampa's year. . . . You couldn't pick up any bets, even at odds, when the first half ended. . . . The Amarillo rooting sections were conspicuous by their silence. . . . But after that fatal blocked kick that soon turned into a touchdown there was plenty of new life and hope—hope that blossomed into full bloom.

Coming out of the park, somebody said the column we wrote last Thursday hadn't made the Harvesters mad enough. . . . It only lasted through the first half, this fellow said. . . . Next year, he added, we should write twice as much and keep the team mad clear up to the final whistle. . . . Nothing doing. . . . the only regret now is that I just did a half-way job this year. . . . Well, anyhow — next year is Pampa's year.

COLONEL LINDBERGH

I thought Colonel Lindbergh's first radio speech was superb. His second seemed less fortunate. The attempt to distinguish between offensive and defensive arms is very difficult. For example, bombing planes used by Britain to repel a hostile navy approaching her shores are defensive weapons. They are offensive weapons when flown across frontiers to bombard enemy towns. The differentiation is in the use rather than the weapon.

It seemed, therefore, that Col. Lindbergh at this point confused the issue now being debated in Washington and throughout the country.

His reference to Canada, in theory at least, is worthy of consideration. Part of its background was President Roosevelt's recent statement at the dedication of the Kingston, Ontario, bridge: "I give to you (Canadians) assurance that the people of the United States will not stand idly by if domination of Canadian soil is threatened by any other empire." This can only mean that Mr. Roosevelt would take America into war with Canada's enemy if that enemy brought the war to Canada. Have we automatically bound ourselves in advance to fight Germany or any other Canadian enemy, now or in any future war?

Canada is to be turned into a vast arsenal and training ground in the present European war. Does this mean that despite his assurances to the country about keeping out of that war, Mr. Roosevelt is already committed into going in if the contingency arises which he mentioned at Kingston?

It has been said that Mr. Roosevelt was simply reaffirming the Monroe Doctrine. This is not so. The Monroe Doctrine never included Canada. It applied only to countries which had won their complete independence from European powers. In the words of President Monroe, "With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere."

Mr. Roosevelt's declaration is therefore a new doctrine. At the moment we need not pass judgment on it. But the point is this: Britain bound herself to go to ... if Poland were attacked. Has Mr Roosevelt bound himself to take America to war if Canada is attacked? If we have handcuffed ourselves in advance to save Canada from the result of any European venture she may engage in, why is Colonel Lindbergh to be hooted down for suggesting that we should be consulted in advance?

But as a matter of tactics it was probably a mistake to bring in this collateral issue. Our Canadian frontier without a gun is something we are intensely and justly proud of.

While I have these reservations as to the wisdom or timeliness of some of Colonel Lindbergh's remarks it burns me up to see him denounced by the government-censored British press as a "Hitler lover," etc. Nevertheless, such is war. But how about the smearing the Colonel is getting from some of his fellow Americans? One, in particular, who seems to have a personal feud with Hitler, impugns the Colonel's honor by inferring that he has sold out for a decoration he received from the German government.

This strikes me as a new low in public debate. One would think this was the only decoration the Colonel ever received, at home or abroad. Anyone can easily turn to Who's Who in America and read that France, in the presence of America's ambassador, gave him the Legion of Honor, her highest distinction; that Britain awarded him her Royal Air Cross; that Belgium endowed him with the Order of Leopold; and at home, by the hands of his own countrymen, this young man was the recipient of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Langley Medal of the Smithsonian Institution, the Hubbard Medal of the National Geographic Society; the Cross of Honor, the Medal of Valor, and, the greatest distinction any American can ever hope for, the Congressional Medal of Honor.

But for a second-rank German decoration, it is said that he sold his soul!

What has Colonel Lindbergh done to deserve such slander? Here is a young man who by a disciplined intelligence and matchless pluck became the object of the adulation of countless millions. Crowned heads paid him honor. More columns of news print were devoted to this young American's exploit than to any event in the annals of time. A thousand years from now history will preserve his name. But did all this adulation turn his head? Did he seek the Klieg lights? Did he begin hitting the nightclubs? Did he go on the vaudeville stage? Did he strut before the cameras? No. He has not done any of these things. President Coolidge judged this young man correctly when a United States warship carried him up the Potomac to his own native land. "He has brought his unsullied fame home."

Changes To Be Made By Methodists

The thirtieth and last session of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held at Lubbock November 15-19 with Bishop Ivan Lee Holt presiding, and the Northfest Texas conference of the Methodist church will be organized.

This annual conference as now constituted, held its first session and formed its organization at Clarendon, November, 1910. This was done following the division of what had been originally the Northwest Texas conference and by this division the Central Texas conference, which has been considered the mother conference, was constituted.

With the rapid growth of West Texas and the Panhandle, the Methodist church has made great strides in this area. There are at present nine districts as follows: Abilene, Amarillo, Clarendon, Dalhart, Lubbock, Plainview, Stamford, Sweetwater and Vernon. There are 218 pastoral charges, including 417 churches and a membership of 73,581 as reported one year ago.

At the approaching conference there will probably be some changes in the boundaries of the districts and probably a reduction in the number of districts. The office of presiding elder is to be changed to district superintendent. The present conference, as constituted, will finish its work as early as possible, make up all records and adjourn. This will occupy at least two days and nights. Immediately thereafter, the new Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church will convene and organize. There will be no change in the personnel, but a few minor changes in the form of the organization. All of the work will be cared for and will go forward as usual.

It is just ten years ago since the Northwest Texas conference was entertained at Pampa. Records of the meeting reveal interesting events. This was conference over which Bishop John M. Moore presided and at which Bishop Sam R. Hay was in attendance.

The Pampa Methodist pastors, the Rev. W .M. Pearce of First church, and the Rev. W. H. Bratcher of McCullopgh-Harrah churches will close their conference year preaching at both services today. Both expect to carry good reports to the conference at Lubbock.

Lay delegate from First church is R. S. McConnell, with Leo Southern as alternate and from McCullough-Harrah, J. M. Nichols is delegate and J. A. Orton, alternate. Rev. Bratcher has been at McCullough-Harrah churches for four years and Rev. Pearce has been pastor of First church the past two years. The approaching conference holds unusual interest because of oits historic importance as it puts into operation the enactments of the Uniting Methodist conference of the Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, and Methodist Episcopal South, held in Kansas City last May.

The appointments of the new conference will be read by Bishop Holt on Sunday evening, Nov. 19.

Girl Scouts Discussed By Mrs. Morton

"A Parent's View of the Girl Scout Movement" was given by Mrs. T. F. Morton, of Pampa, as the principal address to Pampa Kiwanians at the club's regular weekly luncheon in Hotel Schneider Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Morton reviewed the work of the Girl Scouts in Pampa and commended the Kiwanis Club for its work in connection with the movement here. The Kiwanis Club has made possible the Scout House where activities of Pampa Girl Scouts are carried on almost every afternoon and evening.

Pampa now has seven scout troops with a total membership of approximately 100. Mrs. Morton pointed out that there are approximately 1,000 girls in Pampa between the ages of eight and eighteen years who are eligible to join.

"What is needed in Pampa," Mrs. Morton said, "is adult leadership for the Girl Scouts. If more adults can be interested in the movement it is a certainty that more girls can be interested in joining."

Mrs. Morton gave an interesting discourse on the many benefits derived from scouting by her own daughter. She was introduced by Mrs. Frank Culberson, scout commissioner for Pampa.

Dan McGrew, chairman of the nominating committee, reported that officers for the club would be elected from nominations to be submitted to the membership in two weeks.

Want to Feel like a Big Shot?

PROBABLY you're a big shot already to someone, so you know something of how good it feels.

What we mean is, how'd you like to feel like you used to think a big shot must feel, cruising along in his big brawny Buick, envy of every youngster in town?

Fact is, a big brawny Buick—this year's beauty of a Buick—is within your reach right now, if you just put your mind to it.

A husky headlong 107-horsepowered giant valve-in-head straight-eight can be yours to command—you can roll around town in the staunch and steady carriage that's sure big, beautiful and a bearcat in action when its boss gives the word!

Yes, you can ride in the gentle lap of Foamtex-cushioned luxury—shift gears with a flip of your finger, take bumps without notice in BuiCoil Springing's "full float" comfort, even signal your turns by a touch on a lever that shuts itself off when you're through with it.

And what do you pay for all this—budget-bursting prices?

Ix-nay! On the contrary, you can buy a Buick for less than some sixes! And you'll find when you look into what's included in these prices that they cover many an item that you will be asked to pay extra for elsewhere.

All it takes, really, is the imagination to step up to the car you've really wanted—and once you've made that step, there's no real problem, for this Buick retains its extra first cost in the extra trade-in value it has when you come to buy again.

So lift your sights. Quit grading yourself down. This year, go after the car you really want—which means talking delivered prices and trade-in terms with your nearest Buick dealer.

Amarillo Wins Thrilling Grid Duel 14-6

Harvesters' Goal Stands Draw Praise

carrying to the Amarillo 10-yard line where a fourth down saw yards to go. It was then that Dunaway stepped back to the 17-yard line and booted a field goal between the uprights.

Still controlling play in the second quarter, Dunaway quick-kicked to the Amarillo 4-yard line where Mullings downed Johnson. Johnson punted weakly to his 33-yard line. Dunaway passed 6 yards to Heiskell. Dunaway made it a first down. Dunaway passed to Heiskell on the 6-yard line. Again the Sandies held and with the end of the half near, Dunaway went back to his 14-yard line and sent an angle shot between the uprights for another three points.

Amarillo Scores Twice

Disaster hit the Harvesters early in the third quarter when Dunaway's attempted quick-kick was blocked by Gill, and Redus recovered on the Pampa 20. Harlow stepped 12 yards around end and Andrews plowed eight yards for a touchdown. Boyter, end, split the uprights with what was the winning point.

Not content with a one-point lead, Amarillo drove 65 yards for another touchdown. Harlow and Andrews conducted the drive, behind beautiful blocking, with Harlow making the last yard. Boyter again added the extra point.

Then came the thrill play of the game when Heiskell took the kickoff on his 10-yard line and raced to the Amarillo 25 before he was dragged down from behind by Cazzell. Nearly every Harvester blocked a man out of the play as Heiskell made his run. Amarillo held and the Harvester threat ended.

Drives Fall Short

Twice in the quarter Amarillo banged at the Harvester goal line but the drives were stopped. Three times in the last quarter the Sandies had touchdowns within their grasp only to have the Harvester defense rise to dizzy heights and stop everything that came their way.

It was truly a fighting Harvester team that battled against weight and experience and too many boquets cannot be handed Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean and every Harvester who trod Harvester turf.

The smallest crowd ever to see a Pampa-Amarillo football game nearly filled Harvester stadium. Nearly 1,000 Amarillo fans rode a special train to Pampa while other thousands came by car. The train was met at the station and courtesy cars and busses provided.

FIRST QUARTER

It was a battling band of Harvesters that met Amarillo's first attack after the Sandies had taken the opening kickoff. Led by Maynard, linebacker, and Montgomery, guard, the Harvesters tossed three Sandie attempts for losses and Harlow punted.

Dunaway electrified the huge crowd by galloping 20 yards after both Andrews and Hale had chance to dump for a loss.

Andrews intercepted a Pampa pass and Harlow raced 10 yards for a first down on his 40. The Harvesters recovered Andrews wumbled on the Sandies 46. Dunaway had to punt, the ball going out on the Sandies two-yard line.

Harlow kicked out to his 34. A flat zone pass, Heiskell to Dunaway made a first on the Sandies 12-yard line. Two line plays and an incomplete pass failed to make any headway. Dunaway sent a perfect place kick through the upright for three points, Heiskell holding the ball.

The Sandies took the kickoff on their 35 after a 20 yard return by Andrews and then barged down to the Harvesters 36 with Harlow and Andrews doing the heavy toting. Maynard intercepted a third down pass to give the Harvesters possession on their 29 just as the first period ended. Score Pampa 3, Amarillo 0.

SECOND QUARTER

The Sandie line rallied and Pampa punted, the Sandies taking the ball on their 46 after a 16-yard kick return by Johnson who had replaced Harlow in Amarillo's backfield. Fade spiraled the Harvester defense and Johnson punted. Gill, Sandie captain and guard, twice broke through to dump Harvester carriers for losses and Dunaway punted.

The Sandies attack bogged down and a 15-yard penalty didn't help. Johnson's punt headed only 12 yards and the Harvesters came up with the ball on their 49-yard line. Dunaway punted on the fourth down, Amarillo losing on the exchange, for the ball went over the goal-line.

After three plays lacked one yard of a first down, Johnson punted 75 yards to the Harvesters five, Heiskell returning 15. A clipping penalty backed up the Harvesters to their 10. Johnson returned a punt 16 yards to Pampa's 34. The Harvesters halted a Sandie drive when they recovered Johnson's fumble on their 44. Dunaway quick-kicked on the second down and caught Johnson, Sandie safety, off guard, the ball sailing over his head. Johnson finally captured the ball on his four-yard line where Mullings, Harvester end, downed him in his tracks.

Johnson punted out to his 33. Dunaway passed to Heiskell for six. Dunaway faked a pass and went for a first on the Sandies' 22. Heiskell passed to Dunaway who was chased out on Amarillo's six-yard line. A short pass, Heiskell to Dunaway, gained nothing. Dunaway then place-kicked from an angle to add three more points to Pampa's total. Green intercepted a Sandie pass following the kickoff. Dunaway galloped like a scared deer for 18 yards and a first on the Sandies 22. The half ended before another play could be made. Score—Pampa 6, Amarillo 0.

THIRD QUARTER

Pampa received the period's opening kickoff, made a first down, and appeared to be off on another march. Three Sandie linemen blocked a quick-kick attempt by Dunaway, Redus recovering for Amarillo on Pampa's 20-yard line. Gill, one of the players who was in on the blocking of the kick, was hurt but stayed in the game.

Harlow churned for 12 yards to a first down on the eight. Andrews smashed through his right tackle for a touchdown. When Boyter, end place-kicked point, the Amarillo delegation almost tore down the east stands.

Pampa was forced to punt after taking the kickoff, the Sandies taking possession on their 35-yard line. Whamming away at the Harvesters left side, the Sandies drove on power plays to Pampa's 16. Harlow and Andrews did all the carrying on the trip. Harlow picked up a first on Pampa's five. Andrews got two and then Harlow slithered through for a touchdown. Boyter place-kicked extra point to give the Sandies a 14 to 6 lead.

Heiskell returned the kickoff 65 yards to the Sandies 25-yard line where Cazzell finally got him. Amarillo marched to the Harvesters 48 and there they met stern resistance and punted. The quarter ended soon after Pampa punted to the Sandies 26-yard line.

FOURTH QUARTER

The Harvesters staged a vicious defense and the Sandies punted. A fourth down pass attempt failed when Hill and Redus broke through to dump Giles for a 10-yard loss. Andrews fumbled and Candler recovered for Pampa on Amarillo's 40.

After an incompleted pass, Payne intercepted and raced 60 yards to cross the Pampa goal-line standing up. The play was called back when officials ruled Payne had interfered with the receiver.

Hale intercepted a pass and when tackled lateralled to Andrews who went 35 yars to Pampa's 36. Mullings, ex, rushed Harlow on an attempted pass and tossed him for an 11-yard loss.

Payne got loose for a 35-yard run to Pampa's 12. A 15-yard penalty set back the Sandies. Harlow dashed 23 yards to Pampa's six-yard line, lacking four yards of being a first. Andrews was stopped at the line and the ball went over. Dunaway punted out to his 35. Payne went 12. Andrews ripped off eight. Harlow dug in for a first on the nine.

Three line plays were stopped cold by the spirited Harvester line. Maynard intercepted a fourth down pass and ran it out to his 14. Heiskell, fought 39 yards to the Sandies 45. Wooten and Redus upset the Pampa passers by rushing and the attempts lost ground.

Hill broke through and blocked Dunaway's punt, picked up the ball and went to the Harvesters 11 where Heiskell got him from behind. The Sandies just couldn't break down the Harvesters determined resistance, a fourth down plunge by Johnson failing to make the necessary four yards and the ball went over.

The scrapping Harvesters were not giving up and Dunaway passed to Matthews for 16 and a first on his 19 as the game ended.

Arkansas And Rice Battle To 12-12 Tie

HOUSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Rice Institute, playing without the services of its great passing man, Ernie Lain, fought back a wave of Arkansas Razorbacks today to gain a 12-12 tie.

Five times the Arkansas gang swept goalward on a batch of passes and plunges and twice they crossed the last stripe. But three times the outgained Owls gathered up their tired forces and checkreined the invaders, and that meant a tie.

On the first play from scrimmage, Lain charged toward an Arkansas runner and in the melee along the sidelines, hurt his left arm.

He was taken to the hospital for an X-ray examination.

Rice without Lain is a woe-beset club but Olie Cordell, his favorite pass receiver, and the rest of the Owls played their hearts out to hold a club which racked up 214 yards passing to the Rice 66; 185 yards rushing to Rice's 79, and 23 first downs to the Owls' 6.

Rice looked better than those statistics indicate and with Lain in the game, the outcome conceivably might have been different.

Arkansas sounded the tocsin by taking the opening kickoff straight down field for a score from its own 38-yard line.

A couple of running plays and Kay Eakin, the yoeman back for the Razorbacks, shot a 36-yard aerial to Maurice Britt, big end, on the Rice 16.

Eakin and McDaniel plowed through the Owl line to the 2, and McDaniel drove over. Simington failed to convert.

Rice charged back in the second period, thanks to a beautiful kick by Cordill, who added passing to his kicking and running chores.

Olie dropped the ball out on the Arkansas 2 with a 45-yard boot. Arkansas kicked to the 30, where Cordill took it on the fly and sped to the 20. Still a-working, the Owl star hurled to Bob Brandon, end, on the 4 and Whitlock Zander plunged for the tally. Price failed to kick goal.

H-S Beats Buffs In Abilene Mud

ABILENE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Forward passes as well as rain showered over the gridiron here today and when it was all over, Hardin Simmons was on the long end of an 18 to 13 score against West Texas Teachers College.

Foster Watkins of West Texas fired 37 aerials for 11 completions while the Cowboys' Seat Russell and Owen Goodnight made good 19 of 39 attempts for a grand total of 76 passes. All scores came thrcugh the air.

When the game was but five minutes old Watkins shot a 20-yard pass to Luther Stephenson who lumbered ten more paces for a touchdown.

H. C. Burrus, sophomore end, put the Cowboys ahead in the second period when he snared touchdown passes from Russell and Goodnight. One was for 17 yards and the other for 38.

Dewey Johnson, West Texas end, leaped high in the air and fell over the goal line after taking a 29-yard heave from Watkins in the third period to put his team out in front again 13 to 12.

But the Cowboys passed desperately in the final period. Four successive heaves by Goodnight netted 55 yards, the last toss falling into the arms of Russell in a corner of the field. He stepped across the goal line for the tally that meant victory.

Bond Helps McLean Beat Wheeler 12-6

Special To The NEWS

McLEAN, Nov. 11—Big John Bond kept the McLean Tigers in the District 3-A conference race Friday night with a 12 to 6 victory over a fighting band of Wheeler Mustangs. McLean had a wide margin in records but the score was close.

Bond scored once and passed for the other McLean touchdown. Braxton and Glenn ably backed Bond in gaining yardage.

It was Groves, Emler and Stephens that kept Wheeler in the running until the final whistle.

McLean started scoring in the second quarter when John Bond passed to Junior Windom for a 34-yard pickup. The Tigers again hit pay dirt in the fourth when Captain Bond carried across from the one-yard line after a determined 75-yard march down the field.

The Mustangs rang up a counter late in the fourth period when an aerial from Captain Gross, thrown from the 10-yard line, was taken behind the goal by Emery.

McLean made 10 first downs and 212 yards from scrimmage to nine first downs and 142 yards from scrimmage for the visitors.

Bell Praises Aggies And Norton Brags On Fighting Methodists

By FELIX McKNIGHT

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 11 (AP)—Burly, unbeaten Texas A. & M. had just strong-armed his Southern Methodists in a rain-splattered classic, 6-2.

Coach Matty Bell, once the tutor of these very Aggies, brushed dripping rain from his hat and his voice quivered just the slightest:

"Today we played one of the great teams in football. We have played great teams this year—Notre Dame and Oklahoma. But today the Texas Aggies were the best.

"Out there in the rain and mud the Aggies were a harder working team than either Notre Dame or Oklahoma. Too—they are better. They are extremely hard to block. They are more powerful.

"Why, they have two of the finest big backs in Jim Thomason and John Kimbrough I have ever seen. Those two boys wrecked us. The Aggies would undershift their line and let Thomason, a vicious tackler, do the rest. Kimbrough was just as bad."

Bell had no excuses. His boys played a tremendous football game—and he said so. The Methodists were weakened when Preston Johnston, their fine sophomore kicker who averaged 42 yards with a wet ball, was injured and carried off.

But he came back into the game several minutes later, a gash in his lip stitched and a helmet mask covering his face. He was the man who kept SMU smack in the running. And you can quote Coach Homer Norton of the Aggies on that.

Both coaches agreed it was the finest exhibition they had ever witnessed on a wet field. The Aggies' kicking, with Bill Conatser and Derace Moser performing, was just about as good.

"I never lived through four longer seconds than those just before that final gun," murmured Coach Norton. "Honestly there were two plays in that four seconds.

Passless Record Set

"Southern Methodist was playing a great game—a wonderful game—and I wasn't certain until it was all over. By far the finest team we have met all year. There's nothing weak about their line. They are murderous tacklers.

"And that kicking. It was almost unbelievable."

The bald man who was a definite target for wolves just a couple of short months ago but now riding the crest of eight straight triumphs with a larruping team, paused to grab Jim Thomason, pull off the big blocking back's cowboy hat and ruffle his hair.

"You can play on my football teams, Jim."

Strangest of all was the fact that the Aggies, in winning, threw only one pass, which is probably history in the Southwest conference.

"I am certain that is the first time that has ever happened in this conference," said Norton. "Just one pass—and we win."

What he didn't say was that the oddity was a testimonial to his ground game. But Matty Bell didn't forget it:

"They are runners. They block—and they are hard to block. They are powerful."

Two more games are on the slate—Rice and Texas. Not a scul in that Aggie dressing room mentioned the undefeated business that ranks them as a Rose Bowl contender.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

A three-way match between men keglers of Borger, Amarillo and Pampa will be rolled at Berry Alleys Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Also, a women's team from Phillips will play the Pampa Coca Cola team at the same hour.

In Class B games here Friday night, the league-leading Texas company five took three straight from the Kiwanis club while Gunn-Hinerman won two out of three from Dr. Pepper.

Cafego Injured In Teammate Collision

KNOXVILLE Tenn., Nov. 11 (AP)—George Cafego, Tennessee's great tailback, suffered a severe knee injury today in the football game against The Citadel, and was rushed to the university hospital for an X-ray examination.

In the first quarter, Cafego started on a right end run and collided with his own teammate, tackle Harry Tanner. He was carried from the field.

Twins Harmonious Even to Position

Special To The NEWS

GROOM, Nov. 11—A pantomime in which Hitler and the former kaiser, Wilhelm II, are the principal characters was presented in an Armistice day assembly program this week at high school here.

In the sketch, Hitler dreams of himself as ruler of England, and of crippling France, Finland and the United States. The former kaiser dreams of his fortunate days when he ruled the German empire.

Members of the civics 4 class presented the play, which was written by a civics student, Lula Margaret Johnson.

The cast: Hitler, Bill Collins; ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, Martin Lack; Daladier, Frances Keulhar; Roosevelt, J. L. Angle; Turkish minister, Madeline Townsend; Finnish minister, Nadine Keahey; Goehring, Bertha Carl Burgdorf; Goebbels, Robert Pool; Stalin, Billy Burgin; Mussolini, Martin Britten; Hitler's guard, Verna Belle Barnett, ex-kaiser's servant, Ruby Faye Dillard. Others taking part in the play were Maurine Pool, Lula Margaret Johnson, LaVerne Lamb, Geneva Tillman.

Underdog White Deer Bucks Defeat Panhandle 14 To 13

By HARRY E. HOARE
Sports Editor, The News

PANHANDLE, Nov. 11.—The Panhandle Panthers dream of an undefeated conference season received a startling jolt here yesterday afternoon when an underdog White Deer team rose up to beat the Panthers 14 to 13 in a game featured by sensational plays on one side of the ledger and disastrous fumbles on the other side.

It was a 133-pound halfback by the name of Bill Hawkins who put the Bucks in the giant-killer class. With the score against his team in the second quarter, he sparked a 35-yard drive for a touchdown when he made the last half yard necessary. Then he stepped back and kicked the point that tied the score.

The same Hawkins electrified the large crowd in the third quarter when he took the ball on his own 20-yard line and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Without taking a breather, Hawkins booted the winning point. On the long jaunt, Hawkins had sensational blocking from Stalls, little quarterback, and Adams, a guard, who got him past the danger point from where he ran away from Panther tacklers.

Panhandle scored late in the first quarter on one of the most sensational plays of the game. Coffee, who sparked the Panther attack, heaved a pass to Sterling, tall end. When Sterling was tackled he flipped the ball over the heads of two Buck tacklers into the arms of Clifford Cox, tackle, who sidestepped two Buck tacklers with the agility of a halfback and went 10 yards for a touchdown. Robertson kicked the point from placement.

The Panthers staged a brilliant 70-yard march for their last touchdown. Coffee passed to M. Pruitt on the White Deer 45 for a gain of 25 yards. Coffee then romped 14 yards and followed with a pass to Duby on the Bucks' 19-yard marker. Coffee romped for another 10 yards, after which Duby went around end for a touchdown, standing up. Robertson's try for the extra point was knocked wide of the uprights by Hinkley, big center, and Gores, tall tackle.

Panhandle tried desperate passes in the closing minutes of the game but the White Deer defense was air tight, only one heave from Coffee and Duby hitting its mark.

The cold wind caused numerous and costly fumbles by both teams. White Deer suffered more seriously in the first quarter with fumbles going against the Panthers in the second half.

First downs were in favor of White Deer, 12 to 11, with the Bucks piling up nine to Panhandle's three in the first half. The Panthers came back with a driving second half attack that pulled them nearly to victory. Each team registered five penetrations, including touchdowns.

While Hawkins was the big noise on the Buck team, he had some stellar help from Russell, big fullback, and Crumpacker, who made many nice gains. The line backing of Russell was outstanding. In the line it was Gores, 168-pound tackle, who stood out with Noel, end, also in the limelight.

Coffee was the backfield star for the Panthers with M. Pruitt, reserve quarterback, and Duby aiding. End Sterling was the line standout with Lewis, center, and J. E. Hayton playing an important part.

Starting lineups:

| Panhandle | Pos. | White Deer |
|---|---|---|
| Sterling | le | Potter |
| Cox | lt | Gores |
| Tow | lg | Tomlin |
| Lewis | c | Hinkley |
| Howe | rg | Guerry |

Substitutes: Panhandle, M. Pruitt, Dowlen, Robertson, Weatherly, Lee, Panhandle, Bryant, Adams.
Officials: Douglas, Rush and Brown.

Texas Tech And Gents Battle To Scoreless Tie

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 11. (AP)—Playing in a steady downpour of rain that left miniature lakes on the field, Texas Tech and Centenary battled to a scoreless tie here this afternoon, waging a punting duel in which 75 kicks were made.

Soggy condition of the playing field made footing uncertain and ball carrying a near impossible art although Centenary backs, paced by Weenie Bynum, did manage to finish with a net gain of 31 yards on scrimmage plays as compared to a net loss of eight yards for the West Texas Red Raiders.

Playing for breaks on fumbles, both teams resorted to punts shortly after the opening kick-off, with Charles Calhoun of Lubbock, Texas, matching his kicking ability against that of Bynum and Max Bowerman of Centenary.

Leon Apgar set the stage for a Centenary score in the first quarter when he covered a fumble by Calhoun on the Tech nine, but After Bynum had gained one yard through right tackle the Gents attempted a field goal with Al Birkelbach doing the kicking. The kick was low.

In the second quarter Curtis Jones, Centenary tackle, broke through the Tech line to cover another fumble by Calhoun on the Tech 10. Two drives advanced to the Tech three where Bynum fumbled and Bing Bingham covered for Tech on his five-yard line.

This marked the last scoring opportunity for Centenary, Calhoun keeping the Gents well away from the scoring zone with beautiful punts through the next two quarters.

Failing to get within the Gents' 30 yard line through the first three quarters, Tech rode to the 22 in the last two minutes of play on a 20-yard punt return by Milton Hill. Three running plays gained four yards, and on the fourth down Raymond Flusche went in to attempt a field goal. His kick was low, the ball bounding around on the six yard line where it was picked up by Cotton Barnes, Gent Halfback, who ran it out to the Centenary 31 as the final whistle sounded.

Mississippi State Beats LSU 15 To 12

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 11 (AP)—Mississippi State took its first football victory over Louisiana State in nine years tonight, 15 to 12, as Sophomore Wilbur Dees booted a perfect field goal in the final minutes of play.

Both teams scored in the first period. The Maroons forged ahead in the third quarter 12-6. Louisiana State tied the score at 12-12 in the last stanza and its was then that Dees, 166-pound youngster from Pascagoula, Miss., used his educated toe in cinching victory for Mississippi State.

Dees' 15-yard field goal came after his teammate, Harvey Johnson, speedy junior halfback, raced through the Tiger forward wall for long gains from midfield.

It was Johnson's sensationally elusive running that kept LSU busy all during the game and set up Mississippi State's scorings.

LSU's first score came on a short pass from Leo Bird to Ken Kavanaugh who, just before being tackled, flipped a lateral to Charlie Anastasio who ran 65 yards for a touchdown. The final score came after an 85-yard march.

Aggies Beat Off Strong SMU Threat 6-2

Ponies Almost Score As Gun Ends Battle

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 11. (AP)—Texas A. and M.'s big, mobile eleven remained in the ranks of the nation's undefeated, untied teams by defeating its strongest Southwest conference rival, Southern Methodist university, 6 to 2, in a nerve-wracking tussle before 30,000 drenched spectators at Kyle field today.

In scoring their eighth straight victory, the Aggies bounced their lighter opponents all over the sticky turf for three periods, and then got the daylights scared out of them in the closing minutes of the contest.

After the horn had sounded to end the hectic affair, a far-flung Methodist pass actually hit the fingertips of a receiver in the end zone,—and slipped off.

John Kimbrough, a 210-pound fullback with the kick of a mule in his long legs, plunged across for the Aggies' touchdown from the two-yard line late in the second quarter after an SMU fumble had been recovered on the 10.

The Mustangs, fighting back hard, counted their points midway of the final period when Noble Goss, an end, broke through to block a punt by John Conatser, Aggie halfback, in the end zone.

Conatser was extremely lucky to recover the slippery ball and escape with no worse than a safety. It was a narrow squeak for a team that proved itself far the more solid outfit all the way.

A cold rain fell throughout the contest and made the footing tricky. Even so, the Aggies running game clicked smoothly, and their interference was something extra. Jim Thomason's blocking mowed down the Mustang wings and secondary for Kimbrough and Conatser.

The first downs were 10 to 5 in favor of the conference leaders, Kimbrough's plunging being largely responsible. The big, high-stepping junior lugged the ball 17 times for a gain of 52 yards, and only once was stopped without gain. His defensive game, too, was brilliant. His time interception of a deep Mustang pass in the closing minutes enabled the 6,000 cadets banked in the stand to breathe again.

Fumbles Wins Game

The spectators were beginning to have visions of a scoreless deadlock when the Aggies got the break that led to their touchdown just before the half. Although the Aggies had jammed their way to four first downs in the opening period, the Mustangs had been stopping them short of midfield, and Conatser and Johnston were having themselves a fine punting duel.

But Johnston, attempting to skirt an end near his own goal line, lost his grip on the slick pigskin and Tommie Vaughn, Aggie end, swarmed on it. From the 10-yard line Kimbrough needed just three mighty licks to score.

The strapping Aggies, averaging around 200 pounds, ripped the Methodist's defense for a net of 127 yards—every yard of it on running plays, and twice threatened to score in the second half. Once they were held for downs on the 20-yard line, and again they muffed an attempted field goal after having ploughed to a first down on the 11-yard line.

One Pass Thrown

It was straight powerhouse football, and some of the Methodists got badly bruised up. Coach Homer Norton's candidates for national honors attempted only one pass, and it was of the "flat" variety and somewhat foolish, inasmuch as they were leading 6-0 at the time.

The Mustangs, who had lost only to Notre Dame in a spectacular 20 to 19 game, were roped and branded by a great Aggie line. They gained only 77 yards, 45 of which were accounted for in their last ditch aerial attack. Except for a few minutes at the start of the game their running offense was stopped short of the line of scrimmage. Only some mangificent kicking by Preston Johnston saved the Methodists from a worse defeat.

One of the outstanding Class A football teams in the Panhandle is the Shamrock Irishmen, pictured above. Coached by Forrest Kline and Scott McCall, two of Texas Christian university's outstanding linemen. In conference play Shamrock boasts five wins and one tie to lead District 3-A. So far this season the Irish have won three games by identical scores—13 to 0. Only losses were to Class AA Borger and Childress.

San Angelo's Hays Stars For Tulane

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Tulane's Green Wave overcame a three-year "jinx" today to subdue Alabama's Crimson Tide, 13-0, and remain among the nation's undefeated football machines. A record-breaking crowd of 52,000 watched the battle.

The triumph, putting Tulane in a tie with Tennessee and Georgia Tech for the Southeastern conference leadership was featured by a sensational 69-yard touchdown run by Harry Hays, a 166-pound halfback from San Angelo, Texas.

Tulane's play, a bit ragged, showed complete superiority.

After most of the first half saw nothing of importance happen, Hays made his spectacular dash. With the ball resting at the Wave 31, he swung to the right, then back through tackle. Picking up wonderful interference, he made Tulane's longest run from scrimmage this season. Bobby Kellogg's try for the extra point was blocked.

A "break" early in the third period set up Tulane's second touchdown. On a punt, Alabama's Jimmy Nelson ran to the Tide 30, but Alabama was penalized to its one-yard stripe for clipping.

Charley Boswell punted from the end zone and the ball went out of bounds on the Alabama 20. After two plays, Kellogg shot a 16-yard pass to Quarterback Stan Nyhan. Buddy Banker hit center for three and Kellogg breezed outside tackle for the score. Kellogg converted with a placekick.

Baylor Unleashes Air Raid To Whip Texas In Mud 20-0

WACO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Baylor's bruising line smothered Jackrabbit Jack Crain and his University of Texas teammates in the mud today while the Bruin offense piled up 20 points to nothing for the Longhorns.

Despite a drizzling rain that made a slough of the field and kept the ball slick throughout, Baylor went into the air in the first and second periods to score touchdowns on passes, and in the third the powerful and speedy Wilson dodged around right end seven yards for a touchdown.

Baylor played without showing any evidence of knowing the ball was slick and the field muddy. The heavy, veteran Bear line stopped Texas running plays before they started. Crain carried the ball nine times for an average gain of one and two-tenths yards, while Wilson and Jimmy Witt consistently eluded the Longhorn defense. The victory left Baylor very much in the running for the Southwest conference flag.

Texas threatened early in the game, taking the ball to the Baylor 12. The Baylor line held and an attempted place kick by Preston Flanagan was wide.

Wilson Runs Wild

Baylor got the ball deep into Texas territory late in the first period after the Bruins gained a net of 20 yards in a series of punt returns. Then Wilson slashed through the line for 15. On the next play, Witt dashed from the 44 to the Texas 20 after taking the ball from Wilson a neat reverse. Wilson then made it first down on the nine and two plays later, in the next period, Wilson ran wide to the right, leaped into the air, and threw the ball to End Jack Lummus for a touchdown. Lummus also jumped for it from a nest of Longhorn defenders. Center Rob Nelson, who led the Baylor line in its overwhelming charges, place kicked the point.

The second Baylor score was practically Wilson's personal property, but the slick ball helped. He started the drive from his own goal line, where he dropped a bad pass from center then picked it up and scooted to his 15. Then he kicked 53 yards and Texas fumbled, a costly fumble that was nobody's fault. Wilson then punted out of bounds on first down, putting the ball on the Texas 10. Texas kicked again and Wilson, on the first play, ran eleven yards for a first down. Graham of Baylor fumbled in a mud hole, but recovered and skidded on his face for nine. Wilson avoided a pile-up on the line and ran across the goal line untouched. Nelson's attempted placement was low.

Witt set up the second touchdown in the third period, then passed to Sherman Barnes for the score. Baylor had kicked over the goal line on first down and Witt returned a Texas punt from his own 50 to the Texas six, where Crain finally nailed him. Witt passed accurately to Barnes for the touchdown, and Nelson made the placement good.

The game was late in the second when Crain went into the game, but he was never able to find an open field. His play at safety was consistently good.

Baylor's passing really paid off. The Bruins attempted three and completed two for a total of 12 yards, but both were for touchdowns.

Gillespie Stars As Frogs Whip Tulsa U. 16-0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11 (AP)—Scholarly Kyle Gillespie, an iron nerved sophomore with a trick knee but a flaming heart, broke the drouth on victories for Texas Christian university here today, smashing and passing the Frogs to a 16-0 conquest of Tulsa university.

Gillespie, a 185-pound youngster from Paris, Texas, played more than half the game with his knee in a brace and, wincing with every step, drove through the Hurricanes in a way not equalled before this season by a T. C. U. back.

A crowd of 5,000 fans huddled in the stands while a drizzling rain drenched the field already turned into a quagmire. But the weather did not hold back the bouncing sophomore who led the way to all the Texas Christian scoring. He was given a rising ovation as he left the game in the third period because of a recurrence of the knee injury.

The Frogs scored with seconds to go in the second period when Floyd Thompson, another sophomore, kicked a field goal from the Tulsa 22-yard line. A booming punt by Gillespie had driven Tulsa deep into its territory and the Hurricanes never could get out of the hole. Shortly before Thompson had missed a field goal from the 17-yard line as the result of a momentary fumble by the ball-holder, who, incidentally, was Gillespie.

The Frogs scored twice early in the third period, marching 59 yards for the first with Gillespie pitching a 30-yard pass to Earle Clark who ran the remaining 6 yards for a touchdown, and the other time on Gillespie's sprint around right end after his 12-yard pass to Looney had put the ball on the Tulsa 3-yard line.

Bob Cook kicked one point after touchdown.

Higgins Swamps Laverne 39 to 0

Special To The NEWS

HIGGINS, Nov. 11—A crowd of interested spectators witnessed the defeat of Laverne, Okla., football team in a game with the Higgins Coyotes here Friday afternoon by a final score of 39 to 0.

Bud Forbau, Coyote captain, made a spectacular play when he made a touchdown on the kickoff. Three passes were made for the next two touchdowns.

Who was more surprised than Bud when in the last play he grabbed the ball and was in the clear when a substitute of the opponent on the sidelines stepped out and tackled him. The referee gave the Coyotes a touchdown and extra point.

The football season winds up for Higgins when they meet in a conference game here with the Stinnett Rattlers Nov. 17.

Irish Batter Wellington's Rockets 6-0

Special To The NEWS

SHAMROCK, Nov. 11—The Shamrock Irishmen on Friday night broke the domination of Wellington in District 3-A when they downed the high-flying Skyrockets 6 to 0 in a game played between the 20-yard lines excepting for the closing minutes when the Irish backed Wellington deep with a coffin-corner punt.

So tight was play within the shadow of the goal posts that even the touchdown was made from a point outside the 25-yard marker. It came late in the second quarter when Wellington tried to punt from the 25-yard line. Burton, star Shamrock tackle, broke through and blocked the punt. The ball rolled all the way behind the Wellington goal line where Holmes, center, fell on it for a touchdown.

Shamrock's Holmes was the star of the game. He had been only a steady, dependable player until he rose to the heights of his career against the Rockets. Besides being in on most of the tackles, Holmes punted sensationally when he averaged more than 40 yards on seven boots. Near the final gun he punted 45 yards out on the Wellington six-inch line. Burton, Wilson and Blount ably assisted Holmes in the Irish line while Allen and Galbraith passed the attack after Puett had been injured in the opening quarter.

Boyd Williams stood head and shoulders above the rest of the Wellington backfield, roaring up and down the field for long gains, only to be stopped when the pay line was near. He was injured but returned to the game. Stafford, end, and Brewer, center, were Skyrocket line powers.

Wellington led the Irishmen in every department except punting although losing the game. Wellington powered to 10 first downs to five for Shamrock, gained 136 yards to Shamrock's 128 on the ground and to 28 yards through the air to Shamrock's 15 paces.

Punting, however, was the turning point of the game and it was in favor of Shamrock. Holmes averaged a little over 40 yards per boot while Wellington managed an average of only 23 yards. Each team was penalized 20 yards.

Starting lineups:

| Shamrock | Position | Wellington |
|---|---|---|
| Wilson | L.E. | Stafford |
| Butron | L.T. | Belew |
| Isaacs | L.G. | Cox |
| Holmes | C | Brewer |
| Blount | R.G. | B. Williams |
| Howell | R.T. | White |
| Anderson | R.E. | Moulton |
| Allen | Q.B. | Boys Williams |
| Puitt | L.H. | Harper |

Missouri Swamps Violets 20 to 7

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—The big blond kid with the don't-care manner just stood back there loose as a rubber band. Sometimes he'd throw, sometimes he'd kick, and when finally, after 57 long minutes, he jogged to the sidelines he had piloted the Missouri Tigers to a smashing 20 to 7 victory over New York university.

The 30,000 fans hemming in the gridiron this balmy afternoon never saw better pitching in Yankee Stadium when Red Ruffing was in top form, and they never saw anything quite like the way this Paul Christman adroitly mixed that pitching with running to keep the wilting Violets back on their heels for all but five minutes of the game.

The 30,000 who had come with the names of Christman and Long Ed Boell on their lips straggled away with just one muttered word—Christman.

The big kid from the corn county just stole the show. He scored twice himself, pitched to the other touchdown, called signals, intercepted passes, punted, tackled, blocked and in general had a field day.

That does not mean Boell was a washout. He was the best of a NYU team which was pretty much outplayed all afternoon. Christman had able help from a stout line, from driving backs such as Bill Cunningham, Jom Starmer and Clarence Hydron, and sticky-fingered lads like the double-trouble Orfs and Blaine Currence and Ronald King.

LeFors Noses Out Canadian 7 To 6

LEFORS, Nov. 11—With their ace passer and ball toter on the bench because of scholastic difficulties, the Lefors Pirates had tough sledding to down a snapping band of Canadian Wildcats here Friday night 7 to 6.

With Twigg missing, the famous Lefors aerial display was muzzled. However, Ammons carried the brunt of a ground attack that went 65 yards for a touchdown. It was Earhart who sneaked through the Canadian line on a spinner play to make the last 20 yards. Atkinson, who called a brilliant game, passed to Watkins for the winning point.

Briggs, ace of the Canadian ball carrying department, scored but the try for extra point and a tie was blocked.

Canadian marched deep into Lefors territory on several occasions but a stout Pirate goal line defense and Canadian fumbles nullified the drives.

Coach Francis Smith of the Pirates would like to play a game on Friday which is an off day in his schedule.

Notre Dame, Dartmouth Kentucky, Catholic Upset

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—There was no armistice for football's favorites today.

Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Kentucky and Catholic all were beaten for the first time as a half dozen other prime favorites also bit the dust.

Iowa's fighting Iron Men toppled proud Notre Dame from the ranks of the country's undefeated football teams.

The durable Hawks, eight of whom played the full 60 minutes, snapped Notre Dame's six-game winning streak by a 7 to 6 score in an exciting, pulse tingling game that had 46,000 fans standing for the last four minutes of the battle.

Nile Kinnick, who completed his fifth straight game without relief, sent the Hawkeyes into a 7 to 0 yead with a four yard touchdown plunge and an all-important drop kick for the extra point with only 40 seconds remaining in the second period.

Iowa had recovered a fumble to get the scoring chance.

The Hawks fought off Notre Dame until late in the third period. The Fighting Irish climaxed the surge with Milt Pipeful's cutback through center from the four yard line for a touchdown on the second play in the fourth period.

Fails to Kick

Lou Zontini dropped back to try for that big extra point that would have meant a tie. He took careful aim but the big halfback, whose points after touchdown beat Southern Methodist and Carnegie Tech, booted the ball to the left off the goal posts.

Dartmouth, hailed as Cornell's only real rival in the Ivy league, bowed to Princeton, 9-7 while Kentucky's Wildcats dropped a 13-6 decision to Georgia Tech and Catholic, previously unbeaten and untied, was soundly whipped by St. Anselm's, 39-13.

There were other surprises but the upset parade failed to catch up with Tennessee, Tulane, North Carolina, Cornell, Oklahoma and Texas A. and M., all of whom remained unbeaten.

Texas A. and M. barely got past Southern Methodist, 6-2, in a great mud battle at College Station that just about decided the Southwest conference championship and Cornell needed two extra points to stop Colgate's Red Raiders, 14-12. Oklahoma likewise found the going tough before it could get past Kansas State, 13-10, but Tennessee and North Carolina won as they pleased. Tennessee whipped The Citadel, 34-0, and North Carolina pushed over Davidson, 32-0. Harry Hays' 69-yard run helped Tulane to a 13-0 victory over Alabama.

Missouri, which faces Oklahoma next week in the game that will virtually settle the Big Six title, provided the high-light of a slender intersectional program, trouncing New York University, 20-7, as Paul Christman scored two touchdowns, passed for the other and generally outplayed his NYU rival, Ed Boell. The East dropped another intersectional decision when Villanova bowed to Auburn, 10-9, but won three games. Fordham tripped Indiana 13-0 as Len Eshmont dashed 74 yards for one score; Duquesne nosed out North Carolina State, 7-0, to remain unbeaten and untied; and Boston College nipped Detroit, 20-13, on a fourth quarter pass by Charlie O'Rourke.

Jug to Minnesota

A crowd of 65,000 saw Minnesota upset favored Michigan, 20-7, in their annual struggle for the Little Brown Jug. Fred Montague's field goal gave Purdue a surprising 3-0 verdict over Northwestern as Illinois stopped Wisconsin, 7-0 on Jimmy Smith's 82-yard run, and Ohio State swamped Chicago as per schedule, 61-0. In the Big Six, Nebraska halted Kansas, 7-0, as Iowa State absorbed a 21-2 beating from non-conference Marquette.

Baylor retained its slender chance for a share in the Southwest title by walloping Texas' Longhorns, 20-0, while Rice and Arkansas played a 12-12 draw. Texas Christian won from Tulsa of the Missouri Valley conference, 16-0.

In the East, Penn State, Pitt and Harvard all overturned betting favorites. Pitt stopped Carnegie Tech, 6-0, on a pass from Edgar Jones to Bob Thurbon in the last two minutes; Penn State shocked the experts with a 10-0 decision over Penn, and Harvard swarmed all over Army to win, 15-0.

A late pass by Jack Naylor to Gus De Augustinis earned Columbia a 19-13 decision over Navy; Yale and Brown played to a 14-14 draw; Holy Cross won from Temple, 14-0 and Manhattan halted West Virginia, 19-7. Rutgers and Georgetown each remained unbeaten, the former winning the Middle Three title by beating Lafayette, 13-6, while Georgetown maimed Maryland, 20-0. Wesleyan defeated Williams, 13-0, and won the Little Three crown.

Georgia and Vanderbilt won Southeastern conference tilts, the former from Florida, 6-2, and Vanderbilt from Sewanee, 25-7.

Southern Favorites Win

Form prevailed in the Southern conference as Duke stopped Virginia Military 20-7; Furman beat South Carolina, 20-0; Clemson's fine team smashed through Wake Forest, 20-7, and unbeaten Richmond won from Virginia Tech, 13-0.

Also rolling along the undefeated trail, Southern California's Trojan's buried Stanford under a 33-0 count, worst licking Stanford ever got in this series. In other Pacific Coast conference games, Oregon State outlasted Oregon in a brilliant duel, 19-14, and Washington upset California's Bears, 13-6. Washington State took a decision from non-conference Idaho, 21-13.

Michigan State put up a fine battle against Santa Clara but finally surrendered to the Bronchos, 6-0.

Denver won from Colorado State, 13-6, in the leading Mountain States conference game. Brigham Young and Utah State played to a scoreless tie. Utah crushed Hawaii, 34-19.

Mayor Calls On Pampans To Join The Red Cross

Mayor E. S. Carr today called on Pampans to join the Red Cross in a proclamation. "I feel confident that we shall be proud to enroll our share of the million more members," he said.

The American Red Cross, in facing its greatest peace-time test, this year appeals to the American public for a million more members to support its constant battle against human suffering.

During the past year we have been drawn closer to the Red Cross through its far-flung disaster relief, its aid to the innocent non-combatants of war, as well as through its daily services designed to stamp out misery in the form of disease and the ever-present threat of accidental death.

Those of us who have seen the Red Cross grow in recent years can understand the need for a million more members. The natural phenomena of disaster and the dangers of a mechanized age continue to be the source of suffering and accidental death. We must recognize that the ability of this great organization to serve is directly proportionate to the membership support of the public.

This year's appeal of the Red Cross for your support will be made November 11-30. Our community has never failed to respond to the Red Cross call for assistance; and for this reason, I feel confident that we shall be proud to enroll our share of the million more members. as Mayor of Pampa, I designate this period as the time all members will have an opportunity to renew their affiliation and to afford those who have not enrolled an opportunity to help the Red Cross help others.

E. S. CARR.

ARMISTICE

let us not feel they died in vain," Mr. Lively said.

"Because those principles for which they died are eternally true and everlastingly right. We have supreme faith in their ultimate triumph and acceptance by all the world.

"Therefore, it is not to bemoan failure, nor do we find the luster of their star of glory dimmed by the lowering clouds and gloomy aspects of world conditions, but rather we are here and now determined to keep faith with those who died and lie in Flanders field by re-dedicating and re-consecrating ourselves to those noble principles and purposes to the end that liberty, freedom, democracy, justice, and equal opportunity shall forever be enthroned as the guiding motive in our lives and in the life of this, our country."

Silent Tribute

As the speaker concluded, heads were bowed in silent tribute to those who died in defense of America, and the fire siren was sounded.

Immediately afterward, four buglers, Hal Boyington, J. D. Williams, Frank Yates and Frank Shotwell, all members of the Pampa Junior High school band, blew taps from the theater marquee.

A block away three other buglers. Gene Lunsford, Henry Snell, and Charles Benefiel, also of the same band, were stationed at the east entrance of the courthouse, and facing east, symbolic of the direction in which the fields of Flanders lie.

As the sound of the four trumpets died away, the three boys stationed at the court house, playing in unison so that it seemed like one, took up the echo.

Service Location Changed

The memorial service was held at the LaNora instead of in the block on Browning between Cuyler and Frost on account of a last-minute difficulty encountered, when it was discovered it was not possible to connect the public address system at the Browning location.

Leo Southern was marshall of the parade. The Armistice day program, jointly sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, was held this year with the idea of honoring veterans of all wars and with more emphasis on public-wide participation.

Parade Route Short

Route of the parade was from the block on South Cuyler, in front of Merrick & Boyd Lumber company, north to Francis, west on Francis to Russell, south on Russell to Foster, east on Foster to Cuyler, thence to the front of the LaNora.

The parade started at 10:30 o'clock, and was concluded within the next half-hour.

Leading the parade was the motorcycle on which rode Pampa policeman W. C. Dillman and Police Chief J. I. Downs, in advance of the color guards and color bearers, carrying two American, one V. F. W., and one American Legion flag.

The other units were: E. J. Kenney, district commander of the V. F. W., Charlie Maisel, 18th district commander of the American Legion, and L. R. Franks, local V. F. W. commander, marching together; Spanish-American war veterans, Pampa High school band and pep squad, B. M. Baker band, 40 & 8 box car, Red Cross truck, World War veterans, Junior auxiliary, Sons of the American Legion, parade marshal, Horace Mann band, Boy Scout color guard, carrying four troop flags, Sam Houston band, Woodrow Wilson band, Salvation Army, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Junior High school band.

VFW Poppy Sale Nets $326.45

A total of $326.45 was obtained by the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the annual poppy sale held in Pampa Saturday.

Only a hundred poppies of the 3,000 received remained unsold as the campaign ended at noon yesterday. Selling started at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

There were 35 sellers, most of whom were girls. First prize for turning in the greatest amount of money from sales went to Sarah Florence Parker, whose receipts totaled $30.82; second, to Miss Pat Fitzmaurice, $21.70.

A pot luck prize, was won by Margery McColm.

The sale was sponsored by the Pampa post of the V. F. W. with J. G. Sturgeon as poppy day chairman, assisted by Mrs. Juette Parker, president of the V. F. W. auxiliary. Members of the auxiliary, the home makers class of Pampa High School, and senior Girl Scouts aided in the sale.

Proceeds of the poppy day campaign, after the cost of purchase from national V F W Headquarters has been defrayed, go into the funds of the local post.

of Canadian industries, primarily for munitions supply for a potentially long war, but also of a nature so that Canada after the war could become the foundation of the British empire's industrial structure.

The British and Canadians within the past forty-eight hours, it was learned, have taken steps looking to the allocation of Canada's present limited fuel and power supply, and limited transportation facilities.

The French-British supplies from the U. S., it was learned, will for the most part be shipped by rail to St. John's and Halifax, Nova Scotia, and then in merchant vessels, convoyed by warships, to England and France. Use of the Nova Scotian ports will greatly shorten the length of the convoy trip, and hence make available a proportionately greater tonnage for the shipments.

4 Sentences Assessed In 31st Court

Twin Thanksgiving dates are not the only holiday problem. Despite the fact that New Year's day is a holiday District Judge W. R. Ewing said the next term of 31st district court here would open on that date.

The law provides for the court term to open on the first Monday in January, even if the day is New Year's, the January term of district court will open on that day.

"We may not do much the first day," Judge Ewing explained, "but court will be opened just the same. The grand jury will likely be called to convene on the next day."

A seven week term of district court will open at Wheeler tomorrow. It will be the final 31st court term of 1939. Judge Ewing, District Attorney Clifford Braly, and the Wheeler county attorney, Homer L. Moss, will be officials attending the session.

In court here Friday, four sentences were assessed. C. R. (Collie) George, indicted on September 28, was sentenced to five days in jail and a $50 fine of a drunken driving charge.

Hadley Watson, indicted on July 26 on a charge of embezzlement, drew a two-year suspended sentence.

Carrol Galbreath and Frank Scott, indicted on November 6 on a charge of burglary in connection with breaking into of the house of D. Medley on December 18, 1938, were each assessed five-year suspended sentences.

Meador Trial Set for Jan. 22

Set for trial on January 22 is the case of State of Texas vs. P. M. Meador, under indictment for murder and failure to stop and render aid in connection with the highway accident that resulted in fatal injuries to W. D. Kelley, 16-year-old Pampan, on September 2 of this year.

A defense motion for a continuance was granted when the case was called for trial here Monday. Preceding the calling of the case last week, the suit had originally been set for October 16.

Absence of some of the defense witnesses was the reason given for the second re-setting. When the case was called on October 16, the trial date was advanced by Judge Ewing after defense attorneys alleged they had an affidavit made by a Flagstaff, Ariz., resident at Clovis, N. M.

This affidavit alleged, it was claimed, that the signer was driving his car behind the motocycle ridden by Kelley and Clifford Jones and that the motorcycle was turned around in the middle of the road shortly before the accident, it was claimed.

Seven Judgements

Judgements recorded in district court Friday included:

Jones-Everett Machine company vs Plains Drilling company, suit on promissory not, plaintiff recovers $333.21; United Employers Casualty company vs Dewey Manry, change of venue to 84th district court, Hutchinson county, granted,. Judge Ewing ruling the case came under the jurisdiction of that court, the accident having occurred in Hutchinson.

John E. Chapman vs Elmer Melton and Amarillo Livestock company, hearing on plea of privilege and controverting affidavit continued until next term of court without prejudice to either party.

K. S. Boehm's Russell Beall, cause dismissed on motion of plaintiff; Hubert Snider vs Eva Bell Snider, divorce granted; Clarence Gray vs Pearl Gray, judgement rendered October 25 in granting divorce set aside as to part of decree providing for payments by the plaintiff, a new arrangement having been made by the parties.

In the case of Atlas Supply company, Hinderliter Tool company vs W. B. Saulsbury, recorded earlier in the week, it was decreed that the supply company recover $1,415.31 and have foreclosure of deed of trust and mortgage lien as it existed on September 8, 1932 on 1,200 feet of 8 1-4 inch pipe now located in a well on the NE 1-4 section 37, block 25, H & G N survey, Gray county; and all 8 1-4 inch pipe in a well on the N ½ of section 184, block B-2, H & G N survey, Gray county.

Pope Asks Capital, Labor Settle Feud

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 11 (AP)—Pope Pius XII appealed today for United States officials, capital and labor to cooperate in solving labor problems and severely criticized "levity in entering into marriage," birth control and "immodest" dress.

The Pontiff in a special encyclical expressed regret that "the christian religion is ignored" in many schools and placed his approval on unions of laboring men, farmers and employers for protection of their rights but called upon them for "respect of the common weal."

A large part of the more than 5,000 word epistle addressed to American bishops on the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in the United States was a plea for harmonious relations between capital and labor.

"May it be brought about that each and every able-bodied man may receive equal opportunity for work in order to earn daily bread for himself and his own," the Pope said.

"We deeply lament the lot of those—their number in the United States is large indeed—who thought robust, capable and willing cannot have work for which they anxiously are searching."

In discussing unions of employers and employes, he declared:

"It is not possible without injustice to deny or limit either to producers or to laboring and farming classes the free facility of uniting in associations x x x."

Additional Singers Needed For Messiah

"It is urgent for all who intend to sing in this year's production of the "Messiah" to be present at the rehearsal on Monday night at the Methodist church," Lester Aldrich, director, said Satudray.

"We had a fine rehearsal last Monday night, but there are many more singers who ought to take part in this great annual event, and all former members of the chorus, as well as those who would like to take part for the first time, are urged to be present tomorrow night. The rehearsal will begin at 7:45 p. m.," he continued.

This year's production of the "Messiah" will be the fourth consecutive rendition of this great oratorio in Pampa, under the direction of Lester Aldrich. As in the past, the local chorus will be augmented by singers from the Amarillo Civic chorus and from the Hereford Civic chorus. Mrs. May Foreman Carr will be the accompanist, assisted by an orchestra.

The production will be given during the week preceeding Christmas, the exact time and place to be announced later.

Court Remands Case Of Powell-Danciger

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11 (AP)—The holder of an oil lease is under an implied contract to make reasonable effort to develop the property, the second court of appeals stated in an opinion which reversed a Gray county case and remanded it for a new trial.

The opinion held that the trial court erred in granting an instructed verdict for the driller. A jury should have been permitted to determine if reasonable effort was made, the opinion stated.

Cabe Stresses Need For Boy Scout Leaders

What is Leadership? That question is answered by Ernest Cabe, who is chairman of district training committee of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council which will begin an adult leadership training course in the red school building Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The course will be open to anyone interested in boys. Men who would like to become connected with the Boy Scout movement in some capacity, fathers who would like to know more about boys, anyone in any way interested in the youth of the country will be welcomed at the training school.

Those attending will not be high-pressured into working with the Scouts unless it is their desire.

According to Mr. Cabe, Leadership is:

"Leadership by individuals is more important in the world today than ever before. Dictators look conspicuously in public interest. Great masses of people in some foreign nations look to their dominating leaders as symbols of their national life and as powerful masters of their destinies.

"There are those who call these men leaders, but in our American Democracy we are unwilling to consider domination as leadership. There is a vast difference between true leadership and domination. We recognize that no group of people can exist by themselves and achieve the greatest results. They must have someone to guide their plans and put their aims and ideals into effect. In a college class, in a football team, in a fraternity, in a business corporation, in the Scout movement the quality of leadership is tremendously important and above all, we wish to select those who lead us.

"It is interesting to observe a group of men entering upon a course of study, either in a college freshman class or in a Scout leadership training course, a group of individuals whose potentiality as leaders cannot be with any accuracy known in advance; and then, as the days and weeks pass, see the best leaders emerge. In some cases the ablest leaders will not emerge until the class is nearly through its course.

"What makes leaders? Vision, initiative, determination, and above all courage. A requisite is the power to communicate to others a vision of the goal to be achieved and then to sway their minds and actions toward it. Character is needed to make the followers have confidence in their leader; and courage is essential to supply the driving force to overcome obstacles and stir hearts to determined action."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP) —President Roosevelt asked the American people tonight to give generous, warm-hearted support to the Red Cross and make it "one of our strongest shields against the forces of destruction —whether activated by nature or man."

The chief executive spoke from the White House on a nation-wide radio program which launched the annual Roll Call of the 58 year old relief organization. Celebrities of the theater and other entertainment fields joined in the appeal.

Mr. Roosevelt said the Red Cross this year was being called upon to meet an unusual number of appeals for aid from every quarter, the conflict in Europe bringing "added responsibilities" to the domestic organization, a member of the International Red Cross.

"We of this fortunate country," he said, "are already doing much, in the name of humanity, on behalf of the unfortunate victims of this unhappy conflict."

we may keep faith with the dead by directing every effort to non-involvement in the present struggle."

Emphatic endorsement of that sentiment was added by Raymond J. Kelly, national commander of the American Legion, who said there was only one answer to the question of possible United States entry into the war abroad.

"The conclusive answer must be," he said, "that the armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, did end—in irrevocable fashion—for these United States any further participation in European conflict. To us it was a true armistice. To us it did mean the ending of a war to end war."

Hodges To Be Tried Again In January

Although the mandate from the state court of criminal appeals at Austin has not yet been received in Pampa, it is expected that the second trial of the State of Texas vs. Jim Hodges will be heard in the next term of 31st district court here, which opens on January 1, District Judge W. R. Ewing said Saturday. The state court recently reversed and remanded the case.

Hodges had been released on bond, pending an appeal to the state court. He was sentenced to seven years imprisonment on January 11 of this year in a verdict returned in district court here, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Motion for a new trial, filed two days later, was overruled by District Judge W. R. Ewing. On March 25, the defendant filed two bills of exceptions. Later, he was released on bond, pending an appeal.

Hodges had been charged on October 3, 1938 in alleged connection with his possession of two typewriters, an adding and calculating machine, said to have been delivered to him in Borger by O. D. James and Ellis Bonham, on February 7, 1938. The property was alleged to have been taken from the office of the Southern Petroleum Exploration company.

James and Bonham, who entered pleas of guilty on charges of burglary, were brought here from Huntsville last January to testify in the trial. At that time, the two men were each serving two year sentences, which were assessed them here on November 2, 1938.

John F. Sturgeon and District Attorney Clifford Braly represented the state in the Hodges cases with E. T. (Dusty) Miller of Amarillo and Willis & Via of Pampa as attorneys for the defendant.

Garner Out To Win Race; Won't Trade, Manager Declares

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Vice President Garner's campaign manager declared today that the Texan "is in the presidential race to win."

"We have no interest in political trading," said E. B. Germany who is directing activities aimed at winning the Democratic nomination for Garner.

In a statement, Germany expressed the belief that President Roosevelt would not seek a third term. Backers of Garner have declared, however, that the Texan's name would be presented to the Democratic convention regardless of who else was seeking the presidential nomination.

Garner released the Texas delegation at the 1932 convention, clearing the way for Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. One Garner strategist emphasized today that "he will not step aside this time."

Harry Kelley Guest Speaker At Woodrow Wilson Study Group

Discussion Group of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association held a meeting Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium with Mrs. Tom Duvall, chairman, presiding. Harry Kelly, teacher of diversified occupation in the high school, was the main speaker.

Mr. Kelly, whose topic was "Guidance, as a Relative to Diversified Occupation," divided this topic into four subheads, Telling, Showing, Doing and Checking. He defined guidance as any method used to determine what a student should take in school and with the need of expert councilors to guide the children in each ward school in the selection of their future occupations.

"Some students do not care to go to college for one reason or another, and wish to enter into some occupation that does not require college training. These students should seek diversified occupations classes. Any student sixteen years of age or older, even though a post-graduate, may enter this program, provided they have at least junior standing in high school, and are willing to stay in the program for at least two years," Mr Kelley stated.

"Much time is spent in the selection of both jobs and students trying to determine whether the student is fitted for this particular situation.

In some of our very modern schools there are expert councilors employed to aid the student in selecting a lifetime occupation, whether it be college education or studying through actual working experiences," he concluded.

Following Mr. Kelly's speech, an open discussion was held.

'American Way' Symbolized By Red, White, And Blue Gowns At Star-Spangled Horse Show

By MARIAN YOUNG

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—With their owners on active duty in war-torn Europe, many of the brilliant uniforms of the foreign army teams were missing at the National Horse Show when the new season's great social event opened in Madison Square Garden.

But Fashion came to the rescue, and seemed to stress the attraction of "the American way" by turning out the feminine contingent of the spectators in gowns that emphasized America's red, white and blue.

Patriotic Patch-Work

A view of the boxes, filled to overflowing with debs, post-debs, subdebs, their top-hatted beaux and wealthy parents, gave the effect of a patch-work Old Glory—with the pieces cut and hemmed but not assembled. One got a distinct impression that it would be no trouble at all to shuffle the red and white gowns to form the stripes for a giant flag, or to put the blue wraps and gowns in the upper corner to complete the illusion.

Red roses and white orchids and gardenias far outnumbered purple orchids—long associated with the opening of the Horse Show. White fox and snowy ermine in the boxes and almost-as-snowy rabbit in the tiers behind and above took first place over silver fox and other dark furs. The white or red wrap left the black one behind in the first quarter. Blue and silver snoods and sequin boleros were out in front in the stretch.

Despite the absence of the Canadian, French and other foreign army teams of nations now at war, first night at the Horse Show was a gay, glamorous, exciting spectacle, as always.

American flags and flags of our Mexican and South American neighbors furnished the decorations. Soldiers and officers of the United States cavalry and artillery corps rode to the strains of martial music. And then—there was the gala audience in red, white and blue!

Mrs. Dave Wagstaff, daughter of Mrs. Henry Morgan Tilford, wore a light steel blue gown. Mrs. Haskell Busk had on a handsome white fox coat over a bright blue dress. Mrs. Leray Berdeaux was swathed from head to foot in a gorgeous, fitted wrap of pale blue brocade.

Mrs. William G. Cavanaugh, the former Janet Olcott, created a sensation in a white fox cape with attached parka hood and matching mittens over a shirred dress of pale blue. Mary Steele, ace contender for the No. 1 1939-40 Glamor Girl title, wore white orchids on her short, boxy coat of silver fox. Miss Jane Rovensky's red velvet, barrel muff matched her gown. Her wrap was a white fox cape.

There were muffs galore—in all shapes and sizes and in luxurious fabrics as well as furs. Long, opera-length gloves were greater favorites than short ones.

Bouffant skirts were few and far between. The average smart spectator wore one splashy piece of jewelry rather than a collection of bracelets, necklace, earrings, clips and rings.

Such cooperation between teachers and parents may shape a child's entire future and outlook upon life, he pointed out. # Fathers' Night At Holy Souls P-TA Observed This Week

Holy Souls Parent-Teacher association met Thursday afternoon in the parish school hall for a fathers' night observance.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the Rev. Joseph Wonderly and a sing song led by D. J. Briggon. In the regular business session, the fathers filled the offices of the association with D. C. Kennedy acting as president, D. J. Gribbon as secretary-treasurer; and the husbands of various chairmen giving the committee reports.

Mrs. M. F. Roche led a panel discussion on "Parent Education" with Messrs. Henry Walker, L. Rice, R. Kiser, and Taylor assisting in stressing the realization of mothers for the need of parent education on present day problems.

The Rev. T. J. Drury, introduced his subject, "United Effort of Home and School to Best Promote Spiritual Welfare for the Child," by saying he would divide the subject into parts, the home, the school, and the child, bringing them together for the spiritual development through cooperation of both. Houses, he said, are not always homes and a mother has a very important part in making a house a home.

Continuing, he likened the home to a little church and the family therein to the family of Christ, calling to mind the repetition in the Bible so much of the word, father, as the head of the house and leader. So the father has a definite place in a home, having the special responsibility and care of the souls in the home, and a mother's obligation is to bring out this duty in the father for the care of these souls, he continued.

"As the church guards the truths of faith so does the mother who is the custodian of these truths and the dispenser of them through the virtue of faith on her part, and the virtue of love on the father's part.

"We are all children of God and must raise our children as such. This is sometimes difficult to do under some circumstances in this day and time of economic change, recalling the home and family circle in the past who practiced family prayers at the close of each day.

"The trend of today is to shift all this responsibility on the school. The school is only a helper to keep the home as an organism together, and cannot take the place of the home environment. If we learn nothing else in life it should be that all responsibility does not rest on the school but is primarily the obligation of the home. So for real cooperation the home and school, the augumentations of both must fit together as true as cog wheels together. The father has more grave obligations to be out in front to bring about this cooperation.

"The church school as we know it is the establishment of the church herself for in her wisdom she has seen throughout the ages the grave need of this auxiliary to aid the parent in proper religious and secular training of children. Knowing that such schools are necessary to safeguard the faith and morals of her children she conducts thousands of them the world over," he concluded.

A social hour was conducted following the program and refreshments were served.

Drama, Spy, And Mystery Plays Open Week

Today's Pictures Feature Davis, Marshall, Karloff

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Social drama, a spy yarn, and a mystery melodrama topline the week's film bookings in Pampa.

Leading off in order we pick up the social drama to find Bette Davis portraying one of the leading roles in the story of a woman who, in choosing her path in life, pays bitterly for a gesture of love made to a man who cares nothing for her—a martyrdom made necessary to a great degree by the standard of the times in which she lived—the days of the War Between the States.

Entitled "The Old Maid," the Warner Brothers film is from the Pulitzer prize play by Zoe Akins and the noval by Edith Wharton.

A wealth of careful detail in settings and costumes was observed in producing the film. Music by Max Steiner is outstanding. Superb acting. Miriam Hopkins is co-featured with Academy Award winner Davis, with George Brent, Donald Crisp, and Jane Bryan as the principals.

Designated as a picture of exceptional merit by the West and East Coast Preview committees.

At the LaNora today, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A timely story that for the first time glorifies a heretofore neglected subject—the U. S. foreign service—opens the week at the Rex. Joel McCrea, Jeffrey Lynn, Brenda Marshall, and George Bancroft top the cast of the rapid-moving film "Espionage Agent," Warner Brothers version of the spy menace in the United States and the necessity of this nation's adopting counter measures.

Boris Karloff comes to the Crown screen today to take the chief role in a thriller that is as exciting as its title, "The Old Dark House."

The Universal production is adapted from a J. B. Priestly story.

LaNORA

Edward Small-United Artists' historical melodrama "The Man In the Iron Mask," is a lavishly produced, tale of adventure and romance, based on Dumas' fantastic, semi-historical story of the birth of twin heirs to the French throne, and the ensuing complications unfolded in the story that combines the tyranny of Louis XIV, the return of Phillipe, his brother, and the fight for the crown of France. The iron mask was the invention of Louis XIV for the torture of Phillipe in the Bastile. Musical accompaniment effective in establishing the mood. Louis Hayward and Joan Bennett are starred. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

REX

Two college pals, employed in the same firm, become involved in a murder and the honest, ethical one is held on suspicion, is the plot of 20th Century-Fox's light social comedy "It Could Happen to You," featuring Stuart Erwin and Gloria Stuart, Wednesday and Thursday.

STATE

Sparkling dialogue, breezy direction and an excellent cast make the social comedy "Maisie" (MGM) different and delightful entertainment. Setting is western, the dialogue comedy, the plot a triangle, a murder trial, and a charming romance. Ann Sothern scores as the resourceful Maisie, short on grammar but long on honesty. Stranded in a cow town, a vaudeville trouper proves her ingenuity and integrity. Robert Young, Ian Hunter, Ruth Hessey, and Cliff Edwards are others topping the cast. Today and tomorrow.

Thrilling highlights from the Coast Guard's Arctic, flood relief, sea rescue and other duties are shown in Columbia's "Coast Guard," glorifying a branch of the U. S. service that has had vessels participating in every American war since the Revolution. Randolph Scott, Frances Dee, Ralph Bellamy and Walter Connolly head the cast. Tuesday.

Fred MacMurray and Irene Dunne have the featured roles in Paramount's social drama "Invitation to Happiness," the story of a marriage of a prizefighter and a cultured, wealthy woman. Fascinatingly interesting because of its changing moods, bantering and subtly sophisticated one moment and tenderly moving the next. Wednesday and Thursday.

Bob Baker is featured in a typical rapid-fire Western "Guilty Trails" (Universal), a Trem Carr production, showing Friday and Saturday.

CROWN

Fascinatingly weird is Universal's "The Old Dark House," based on the J. B. Priestly story, showing today, tomorrow and Tuesday. This picture tells of storm driven travelers who seek night lodgings in a bleak, forbidding old house in the Welsh mountains, only to discover its inhabitants are dangerously insane and under the spell of a malignant giant servant. Boris Karloff, Melvyn Douglas, Charles Laughton, Gloria Stuart, and Lilian Bond are featured.

FROM PULITZER PRIZE PLAY

MIDNIGHT MADNESS

Many great motion picture stars are seen in Universal's "Old Dark House." Outstanding are Melvyn Douglas, Raymond Massey, Charles Laughton and Karloff, not to mention Gloria Stuart, Lilian Bond and Ernest Thesiger. Thesiger has won distinction in his marvelous screen characterization of unusual and eccentric persons. At the Crown today, tomorrow and Tuesday.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authcritative answers below:

1. Is it important to be as courteous when you are in a crowd as when you are with people you know?
2. Is it good manners to honk your horn when a car ahead of you stalls and holds up traffic?
3. When a clerk mistakenly offers to wait on you—though there is a customer who has been waiting longer—should you mention the fact?
4. If you bump into another person in a crowd should you say, "I'm sorry"?
5. Is it good manners when walking on a crowded sidewalk not to look where you are going?

What would you do if—

You are walking down the street with a number of friends. Would you—

(a) Walk abreast, monopolizing the sidewalk?

(b) Not walk more than three abreast—two if there are many people on the sidewalk?

Answers

1. Yes.
2. No.
3. Yes.
4. Yes.
5. No. If you want to look at anything, stop and look at it. Don't walk with your head turned.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

One day a week is set aside in Costa Rica as a "beggars' day."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

The beauty-minded football fan knows that an afternoon in the bleachers—fun though it may be—can play havoc with her complexion.

Therefore, because she is determined to look as attractively smoothskinned at the tea dance afterward as during the game itself, and to have no complexion worries during the week following, she puts on a special makeup beforehand.

First, she cleases her face and throat with cream. Then she applies a thin layer of her favorite night cream and leaves it on for ten minutes. She removes it with cleansing tissues, blotting and wiping gently but making no attempt to remove each and every trace of the oily film. When she finishes, her face is soft to the touch but not at all greasy.

Little Rouge, Much Powder

Over the remaining inconspicuous film of cream she spreads a light foundation preparation either a cream type or a creamy lotion. Cream rouge goes on next, then powder. The rouge is blended meticulously; the powder pressed on firmly. She uses the former sparingly; the latter lavishly. The powder is allowed to set for a few moments, then the excess is whisked off with a powder brush or a bit of fluffy cotton.

Finishing ouches are applications of lipstick and brushing of eyebrows and lashes. She always dries her lips before putting on lip rouge and lets the color set a minute or two before blotting it a bit.

Needless to say, this kind of carefully applied makeup stays on for hours. And the cream base underneath it keeps the skin from chapping or getting even slightly rough no matter how cold the day or windy the bleachers.

MENUS MODERN

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

A bit of spice often takes the mind off less pleasant things. That's why these dishes belong in the menus of today.

Apple Muffins
(Makes about 12)

Two cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, apple slices, 2 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 cup chopped apple, ½ cup milk, 2 eggs, cinnamon.

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and half the sugar together. Cut in the butter, then add chopped apples. Beat eggs well, add milk, and gradually add flour mixture. Drop into greased muffin pans. Place a slice of apple on each muffin and sprinkle with the remaining sugar. Add a dusting of cinnamon to each and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) from 20 to 25 minutes.

Here's a recipe for breakfast when it's cold outside.

Philadelphia Scramble

Lean fresh pork on bone, 1 quart pork broth, 1 cup corn meal, powdered sage, salt and pepper to taste.

Buy enough pork on bone so that the meat when cooked will weigh a pound without the bone. Boil pork until tender and easily removed from the bone. Remove fat from meat and grind meat fine. Remove bone from broth and when cool, skim off fat. For each quart of broth allow 1 cup cornmeal. Cook cornmeal to mush in broth and add ground meat, powdered sage and seasoning. Mold in bread pan, slice and fry.

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Joan's plan to burn the hideout works. She breaks a jar of coal-oil, gets it afire. In the confusion she reaches Sam's gun, covers Big Ed. Dan, freed, takes care of Sam as he hurries into the house. Dan herds the two kidnapers into the car, orders Joan to drive to town.

CHAPTER XXVIII

FROM every direction, people streamed toward the great Tech stadium. It was like a pilgrimage, with the huge concrete horseshoe as their mecca.

Tommy Peters, leaning upon his megaphone, stared up at the stands. "They'll hit 75,000 sure today," he remarked to an assistant.

Suddenly his eyes froze on a spot six or seven rows above him. There sat Rocco Petronel Tommy dropped his megaphone. "Take over till I get back!" he yelled, and dashed for the Tech dressing rooms.

There was still 20 minutes before the kickoff. It was a bare chance, but Rocco Petrone might be able to lead them to Joan and Dan. Tommy swore excitedly as he raced to tell Bill Slocum.

He raced across the running track. Just as he approached the gate on the other side of the field he almost stumbled from shock.

Dan Webber and Joan Johnson, escorted by three policemen, were being rushed into the stadium.

Tommy shrieked and dashed towarc them.

"No time for talk now," Dan howled happily. "Gotta get dressed."

He hurried toward the tunnel leading to the dressing rooms, suddenly stopped and ran back to Joan. He grasped her shoulders, his eyes sparkling.

"This'll have to do until later." He kissed her hastily and dashed off again.

Tommy howled and threw his arms around Joan. He shrieked in her ear but she hardly noticed. Her eyes swam with happiness as she watched Dan disappear into the tunnel.

"Hey, snap out of it . . . wake up!" Tommy pleaded. "What . . . ? Where . . . ? C'mon, tell me something or I'll pass out!"

She told him as much as she could in a rush of words. It didn't occur to her that she ought to be resting now. This was no time for convalescence. She'd call her father just as soon as she could get to a phone.

Tommy stopped short. "Tell me . . . was there a guy named Rocco . . . ?"

"Rocco?" she echoed. "Yes, but how did you . . . ?"

"Wait here," he ordered. "Don't cross the field yet!"

NEVER had there been such a scene in the Tech dressing room. Tears actually flooded Bill Slocum's eyes as he smothered Dan in his arms. Joe Donchek danced around in his stocking feet and howled in native Slav. They all acted like a bunch of Comanches, hurling helmets into the air in their delirium.

It took Dan just one minute to convince Slocum he was strong enough to play. Slocum slapped him on the back and shoved him toward his locker.

Keith came over and embraced him. "Gee, it's swell to have you back, Danny boy."

"Thanks, pal. We're gonna take these guys, aren't we? Any new stuff?"

"Very little," Keith informed him. "We'll steer you on one new formation . . . and you know all the old stuff."

Dan felt like telling him that wasn't all he knew, but let Keith find out for himself, he figured.

* * *

THE public address system had broken the news about Dan and Joan, and when the Tech squad raced onto the field, a bedlam of sound arose.

"Get yourself warmed up good," Johnny White advised. "You're probably a little soft and this is gonna be murder."

He wasn't far from right. Barney Hughes won the toss and chose to kick off. The referee blew the whistle, the Tech line moved forward, and Tony Mangano sent the ball end over end down to the five.

There was a roar as Hal Forrest took it, moved in behind his interference and started up field under a full head of steam. There was a flash of maroon as Joe Donchek, chortling like a kid with a new toy, smashed in from the side and brought him down on the 14.

Joe got up chattering furiously. "Okay, Danny boy . . . welcome home . . . that one was for you . . . let's get 'em . . . let's get 'em, Danny boy!"

The rest of them took up the cue as they lined up. Dan almost had to fight to keep the tears back. He knew how they felt.

Pitt went into a single wing to the right. The Tech line shifted out with them. Dan nosed up just behind his tackle when the ball was snapped, and was right in his diagnosis. They thundered toward an opening but Dan knifed through and dropped the runner on the line of scrimmage.

Marty Gallagher helped Dan to his feet. "I hoped you'd make the first one . . . I hoped you would!"

The first few exchanges of downs indicated what was to come. Theirs was to be a defensive battle. They had to stop Forrest and McCarroll and wait for a break of their own.

"No use springing much till we get a real opportunity," Tommy panted in their first timeout . . . "Just hold 'em . . . make 'em punt on third down if we can . . . we can't take this pounding long."

But the mighty Pitt forward wall slowly pushed them back. Dan and Tony Mangano played up close, plugging gaps desperately.

The Panthers bruited their way down to the Tech 30. First and 10. The Pitt quarter took the ball from center . . . spun. Hank Butler, Tech tackle, smashed in and was mousetrapped beautifully. Hal Forrest took the ball from the spinning quarterback and sailed through the hole for five yards.

Forrest pounded for two more before Dan and Marty Gallagher ganged him.

Pitt gave it to McCarroll on a deep reverse and the crowd stood up with a roar. The Panther blockers were carrying out their assignments with mechanical perfection. Barney Hughes was ridden out by a wave of interferers and McCarroll cut inside with plenty to spare.

Out of the corner of his eye Dan saw Marty Gallagher go down in a heap and he knew he was the last one on that side of the line who had a chance to stop the flying Pitt ball carrier.

He pounded across the field and trapped McCarroll on the five-yard line in the coffin corner.

He lunged forward to make the tackle and was hit at the same time by the Pitt end completing his downfield blocking chore.

Desperately Dan flung his outstretched hand toward McCarroll's leg . . . barely succeeded in tripping him as he went down.

Dan hit the turf hard. A sharp, piercing pain shot through his hand at the impact. Without looking at it, Dan knew he had rebroken the bone.

Shamrock Rotary Program Honors Ex-Service Men

Special To The NEWS

SHAMROCK, Nov. 11—The Shamrock Rotary club dedicated its regular weekly program Friday to the ex-service men living in Shamrock.

Music for the day consisted of the songs sung by the boys when in service and several numbers were led by Glen A. Truax, Clayton Heare, local attorney, and an ex-service man gave a short but interesting talk on the present position of the United States with respect to the European situation.

Mr. Heare, captioning his talk as "The Hell of It," stressed the fact that after the last World War, the boys came home with stories of good times while on leave and with interesting experiences in France and these stories have led the younger generation to believe that war is a glorious adventure similar to a grand football game. Mr. Heare stated that not one of the returning veterans had told the sordid details of marching through mud and cold, of hunger, of dead bodies, of a country torn by war until not a place 40 feet square remained that did not have a shell hole in it. He expressed his opinion that it is now time to tell of the hardships, the toil and misery of war. This timely talk was much enjoyed by the group.

World War veterans, who were guests of the club, were Bob Roach, C. L. Reavis, Dr. P. Gardner, L. E. Davis, E. K. Caperton, Matt Clay, W. Y. Burden, Lewis M. Goodrich, E. K. Bechtol, M. A. Leith, Dee Galbreath, C. A. Means, M. S. Kavanaugh, Frank Sanders, E. H. Kromer, C. T. Palmer, Flake George, Ward McPherson, W. M. Nunn, E. D. Baggs, J. C. Wooly, R. L. Adams, and Dr. J. W. Shaddix. Ben Wofford, a Spanish-American war veteran, was also a guest.

Total depth is still 242 feet above sea level, contract depth.

Another well in the north part of the field that is being closely watched is the Huber Corporation No. 1 Johnson, section 134, block 5-T, T&NO survey, Hutchinson county, is reported to have 2,000 feet of il in the hole, which is 115 feet above sea level.

The well was drilled primarily as a gasser. The lease was recently purchased by Huber from the Humble Oil and Refining company. It is three miles north of the Humble Pedigo lease which up to this time was the most northernmost production in the county.
