

Refugees — Who Are They? What Is Going To Happen To Them?

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (A) — Who are these emigrants, this first big wave of Vietnamese refugees arriving in the United States?

And what is going to happen to them? Many officials fear they couldn't have arrived at a worse time, in the middle of a recession.

An estimated 70 per cent of the 1,500 persons living in "tin can" quonset huts and tents at this sprawling Marine base are dependents of Americans who worked in South Vietnam as contractors, engineers, employees of the Agency for International Development (AID) and other U.S. agencies.

They include wives, children and in-laws.

The rest are mostly "people who worked for us or associated with us," an immigration official here said. "High risk" cases — prime targets for execution by the VC.

He explained he meant Embassy and consular personnel, teachers, politicians, journalists and employees of concerns with military contracts.

The "real hard core refugees," the ones from a cross-section of Vietnamese society that begged, bought or stole their way aboard American mercy flights and have few if any of the proper immigration papers, are not expected to be here for several days, he said.

Preparations have been made to house up to 20,000 persons each at Pendleton, Ft. Chaffee, Ark., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. This largest and longest emergency airlift of humans in aviation history began Tuesday.

Other than the American dependents, the Vietnamese arrivals so far are "not your average rice-paddy farmers, you know," said an AID official at Pendleton to help process the refugees.

"Oh, I guess we have a few of those, too. But mostly these people here are — were — wealthy middle-class types.

"A few could even be called rich. Well, very few of them will be rich, now. It's going to be a different world for them."

Most are merely happy to have escaped.

"I am lucky," said Rene Ngo, 29, former professor of French at the University of Saigon. "My brother-in-law is an American and was sponsor for my wife and I to come to the United States. We left everything behind."

One refugee arriving on a C-141 on Tuesday was Gen. Cao Van Vien, 53, former South Vietnamese defense minister and retired chairman of the joint general staff. He was taken to an undisclosed destination.

A free-lance photographer from Washington, D.C., brought out 12 members of his wife's family. American officials in Saigon issued exit documents to dependents in the "fireside relative" category — spouses, parents and unmarried children.

Most of the refugees are dressed in Western fashions and appeared in good health. At least half of the evacuees are older women and their children, teen-age girls and elderly people.

The refugees are being treated as "prospective immigrants." They are being "paroled" into the United States until Congress passes legislation making them citizens. Parole power was used in the 1950s to admit 40,000 Hungarian refugees and in the 1960s to admit 675,000 Cubans.

PROSTITUTION FORBIDDEN

Conquest Completed

By the Associated Press

The new government in Saigon announced today that it had completed the conquest of South Vietnam while North Vietnam demanded that U.S. warships withdraw from coastal areas and cease what it called the "forcible evacuation of the population."

Wasting no time after its takeover of Saigon Wednesday, the Provisional Revolutionary Government—PRG—issued a series of policy decrees aimed at building a new nation and stamping out 15 years of American influence. Saigon radio said "Acting like an American" — in such ways as operating night clubs or prostitution — was now forbidden.

interference in the affairs of South Vietnam. It referred to a Pentagon statement that some of the U.S. warships would remain more than three miles off the coast for perhaps a day to pick up any more South Vietnamese who sail out to them.

The Pentagon said Wednesday that the Navy rescue fleet in the South China Sea had picked up about 18,000 South Vietnamese who escaped in sampans, rafts, and other small craft.

The North Vietnamese statement said the evacuation and the presence of the ships constituted interference in the affairs of South Vietnam.

South Vietnam's new rulers renamed Saigon Ho Chi Minh City in honor of the Communist leader of the Vietnamese revolution and in a series of 20 decrees warned that "anyone acting like Americans or participating in such American-style activities as opening nightclubs, brothels and other places of entertainment will be punished."

PUNISHED

The decrees were broadcast by the government radio station in Saigon today. Another decree promised severe punishment to anyone creating a disturbance in Saigon, spying, carrying arms for the purpose of rioting, plotting to destroy the revolutionary government, spreading propaganda and rumors, creating dissunity or disobeying orders.

Thousands of soldiers and civilians marched alongside military trucks and howitzers decorated with flowers in May Day parades today through Saigon's streets.

'Desperately Needed' Refugees Aid Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $327-million aid bill that President Ford said was "desperately needed" to take care of approximately 70,000 Indochina refugees was rejected today by the House.

Ford said House approval of the bill would be the fastest way to get the money and said the authority still contained in the legislation for him to use military evacuation forces in Saigon no longer has meaning.

"The evacuation has been completed," Ford said. "The Congress may be assured that I do not intend to send the armed forces of the United States back into Vietnamese territory."

But opponents, including House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts, said Congress should act quickly on a new bill and not approve use of military troops that could set a precedent for the future.

The bill was defeated 246 to 162, drawing cheers and applause from opponents.

Rep. Donald W. Riegle, R-Mich., said Congress does not know how much money will be needed to take care of some 70,000 refugees.

"This bill doesn't address that," Riegle said. "This bill just gives the President a blank check."

But House International Relations Committee chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said the evacuation authority was moot because it applied only to evacuating Americans from Saigon and those Americans are out.

"There is nothing in this report that gives the President any authority tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, or any time in the future to send one Marine back into Vietnam," Morgan said.

"The authority in this report died the day the last American was evacuated,"

Morgan said. "The issue here is money to take care of these poor people."

Speaker Carl Albert had said earlier he expected interruptions before the vote because of opposition in the House to considering the measure, since it still contains authorization for the military evacuation of Saigon.

A stall began immediately after the House went into session. Rep. Philip L. Burton, D-Calif., forced a time-consuming roll-call vote on whether to read the previous day's journal.

Ford said in a letter to Congress that provisions for him to use military forces for an evacuation, still contained in the bill, "have been overtaken by events and have no further utility."

But Ford urged the House to complete the bill anyway because that would be "the most expeditious method of obtaining funds which are now desperately needed for the care and transportation of homeless refugees."

He said the cost of caring for and processing the evacuees and contributions to international organizations and volunteer agencies assisting in this effort will exceed $400 million.

Further, all available funds already appropriated to aid Vietnam will be programmed and "utilized to the maximum extent possible" for the refugees, Ford said. He gave no estimate how much money this would be.

But the additional authority of $327 million will be required to fully meet immediate needs," the President said.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House International Relations Committee, said the $327 million can be used to transport refugees to the United States and provide housing, clothing, food and medicine for them.

But Morgan said it cannot be used for resettlement of refugees in permanent homes.

"This is all emergency money," Morgan said. "We've got to pick all these people up. What are we going to do? Throw them back into the water? We have to take care of them."

Assistant Secretary of State Philip C. Habib testified Wednesday that the refugee program will cost about $300 million over the next six months and $500 million over the next year.

Find Body In Attic

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Tyler police say clothes found on a badly decomposed body found here Wednesday in the attic of a vacant house lead them to believe the body is that of Thomas Bennett Ashcraft, who had been missing for 10 days.

The 10-year-old boy was last seen at his elementary school April 21.

Juvenile officer Gerald Hayden said the body was found in a sitting position with his belt looped around the neck and also around a rafter of the house, which is located five blocks from the child's home.

Hayden said the body was found after people living next to the vacant house noticed an odor around the house and called the Rev. L.H. Hubbard, who went into the attic, discovered the body and notified police.

Four Claim Him As Their Husband

HOUSTON (AP) — After four women claimed him as their husband, a night watchman has been indicted on charges of bigamy.

A Harris County grand jury returned the indictment Wednesday against Danny Nolan Kizer, 27, who was being sought.

The four grand jury witnesses ranged in age from 20 to 24.

One of them described Kizer as having "beautiful blue eyes and blond hair and sometimes a mustache."

Two of the wives said they met while visiting a sick friend. The other two wives were discovered shortly afterward.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the same time it is sending tax rebate checks to American taxpayers, the Ford administration will be trying to sell new Bicentennial Savings Bonds. President Ford was said to be considering inaugurating the campaign by buying a $200 bond at a White House ceremony. But officials said it was only a coincidence that $200 happens to also be the maximum rebate under the government's $23-billion, tax-cut program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With gasoline in plentiful supply, and the nation having little difficulty paying for foreign oil, the national energy crisis has boiled down to a question of concern for national security. John A. Hill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Administration, said, "If we are overly dependent on a particular source of energy, they can manipulate our energy supply, and do so because they have a differing set of international objectives."

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — When Minnie Burk goes bowling, her score is usually less than her age. But at age 90, she says the score isn't all that important any more. "We do this just for fun," said Mrs. Burk, who took up bowling just three years ago. "If we don't get nothing, we don't get nothing. We don't cry about it." Mrs. Burk, who has four children, 16 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren, bowls regularly with a group of other senior citizens at a local lane.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Many of the 4,000 Northern California doctors hit by skyrocketing malpractice insurance rates have vowed to take down their shingles today rather than pay. More than half the doctors in the San Francisco Bay area were expected to refuse to pay what they termed "prohibitive" premiums sought by Argonaut Insurance Co., thus forcing many hospitals to curtail services sharply. Argonaut, headquartered in nearby Menlo Park, offers malpractice coverage in 30 states.

NEW YORK (AP) — Supermarket shoppers found a wide range of price decreases last month, according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey. But the family grocery bill still is 12.4 per cent higher than it was last year. A government report, meanwhile, indicates the savings may be short lived. The AP survey showed the price of the marketbasket decreased during April in every city checked, with an average drop of 2.9 per cent. But the total in every city also was above the level at the end of April 1974.

Tax Re-Evaluation Group Is Approved In Martin

STANTON — Martin County Commissioners' court Monday okayed a 12-man tax re-evaluation committee for the county.

The action is the first step in re-evaluating the county's land and personal property tax roles, which has not been done in the county for many years.

The commissioners have been under fire from oil company representatives recently to re-evaluate the local property values and make them more in line with assessments of oil companies' properties.

Three men were named to the board from each precinct, including several who helped the Grady Independent School District board complete a similar project recently.

The group includes Oliver Boyce, Owen Kelly, Tommy Newman, Rufus Tom, Marvin Standefer, Jim Franklin, Bruce Key, Jimmy Heald, Buddy Roper, E. D. Holcomb, J. B. Shockley and V. C. Beard.

'Party Purity' Measure Voted

AUSTIN (AP) — A compromise bill clearing away the legal barriers to creation of health maintenance organizations (HMOs) won easy House passage today, 128-4.

The once-controversial measure now returns to the Senate for expected approval of a minor amendment. That action would send the bill to the governor for signature.

Representatives also gave quick passage to another Senate bill, which provoked loud and long debate when it was up for preliminary approval Wednesday, setting up a new system for updating voter registration lists. The vote was 102-30.

A "party purity" amendment added on a 73-70 vote Wednesday is expected to generate much controversy when brought before the Senate for approval or rejection.

The amendment would require a voter, upon registering, to state his party affiliation or designate himself as an independent. Independents could not vote in party primaries. If the party square on the form is left blank, the county registrar of voters would be required to notify the voter he would be carried as an independent unless he declared a party affiliation at least 30 days before a primary.

Senators have at various times during the session favored and rejected party purity measures, long a goal of Liberal Democrats who contend Republicans infiltrate the Democratic primary and vote for conservatives.

After a brisk debate, senators tentatively approved, 17-12, a House-passed bill that would authorize the sale of group automobile insurance.

Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, protested that the bill would "just skim off the best rates and increase insurance premiums for those who do not belong to groups."

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, defended the measure, saying the same argument had been made for group health insurance and life insurance and "they have found that is not so."

Today's Bright Spot

Recreation facilities include five city parks, three 18 hole golf courses, free overnight camper park, softball, baseball, and tennis facilities, and a 6,500 seat outdoor amphitheater.

Quality Of Ambulance Service Due Challenge

Eddie Aciri, member of the city council, said today he plans to introduce statements at the next council meeting challenging quality of ambulance service.

He has statements from three members of the police department which claim that it required 12 to 14 minutes for the ambulance to answer a call to a fatal accident the morning of April 20.

In essence, the statements claim that the ambulance arrived without emergency lights on, was parked a substantial distance from the automobile in which the wreck victim had been trapped, and that they felt reaction at the scene was too slow.

Aciri said also that he expected a statement from Gus Ochotorena, justice of the peace.

Big Refugee Headache

Now that emotions have cooled some, the plan to evacuate thousands and thousands of Vietnamese to the United States is being looked at more carefully. And it should be, for we are creating problems for ourselves by attempting the humanitarian task.

In California, officials are worried about the impact on their state of masses of refugees. California already has the largest number of unemployed in the country, almost a million persons. Depositing hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese in California, without planning for their future as well as immediate needs, could be disastrous.

But California is only where the refugee wave will first break. The problems will eventually be national in scope.

In the Southwest, for example, there is already the problem of illegal aliens, a problem which increased unemployment, helps keep wages low for those who do find work, and strains local and state welfare resources. The addition of hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese must eventually worsen already existing problems such as these everywhere in the nation, because it will be a strain on the total economy.

Then there are health issues to be considered. Any mass of refugees from a foreign land and culture could bring with them strains of diseases unknown here, and against which residents of the United States have no naturally developed immunity or defenses.

For the long term, assimilation of the Vietnamese refugees, their training in the language and skills required to become productive citizens, and their care until such time as they can become self-sufficient, are bound to be costly. Moreover, assistance must be carefully planned both to protect the interests of the Vietnamese refugees and to protect the interests of present citizens as well. We should not divert social resources already provided to our own poor and unskilled into programs for the relief of the refugees; any money required should come from new funds, not from those already set aside for the relief of our own citizens.

The United States is a generous nation, and Americans are by nature big-hearted people, willing to help those who need it. The evacuation of Vietnamese likely to suffer for the backing they have given our past efforts in their country is fulfillment of a moral obligation which most of us recognize. But we must also recognize that fulfilling that obligation will be neither cheap nor easy; for many Vietnamese it may not even be successful.

Not The End Of Things

Too many of us zip from extreme to extreme, and things are the "best" or they are the "worst," no in-betweens.

Thus, we recommend the newsletter of Cong. Omar Burleson (in today's issue) as worth your attention. The collapse of our efforts in Indo-China, he points out, is disappointing and even embarrassing, but it is not the end of things, nor is it even an accurate barometer of our national influence or power.

It may, as he points out, mark the beginning of a more rational approach to more realistic foreign policy that recognizes that we cannot baby-sit the world. But, we are very much in the world, and it would be tragic if a new wave of isolationism walled us off from it. Aside from military force, which we must maintain at adequate level, we have some formidable weapons such as food, fiber, freedom, etc. at our disposal in the international game. We've had a bad round, but we're still to be reckoned with.

Caution: Democrats At Work

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Back when they were discussing in the Senate the mandate of the Watergate committee, an obstreperous Republican senator made bold to suggest that the committee explore irregularities committed not only in 1972, but in other presidential election years. Indeed, that Democratic behavior be investigated also. He was shouted down, and the public on the whole was not resentful: there was quite enough to do just to investigate the Watergate scandal.

BUT EVIDENCE piles up of Democratic shenanigans, and nobody seems to care. A few weeks ago I reported on a new book by Mr. Benjamin Bradlee of the Washington Post in which he gabbles on quite outspokenly about such matters as Mayor Daley's alleged intervention for the benefit of John F. Kennedy when ball-counting time came in 1960. Yawn. A few years ago, lecturing at the University of Texas, I was introduced by a historian who took great delight in saying: "Mr. Buckley's grandfather was a law-and-order sheriff to Duval County who died in 1908. But I have done a little research, and no doubt Mr. Buckley will be startled to learn that his grandfather voted for Lyndon Johnson in 1948." That sort of thing brought laughs in those days; and, to tell the truth, still does, since the recent commotion notwithstanding, Americans expect their politics to be a little naughty, and are sometimes disappointed if it proves otherwise. But right now, as I see it, there is something not to be distinguished from theft going on right under our eyes. It is being presided over by the Senate Rules Committee. The issue is whether Louis Wyman, Republican, or John Durkin, Democrat, was elected Senator in New Hampshire last November.

THE VICTORY, you will recall, was at first claimed by one of the gentlemen. The other demanded a recount, which supported him. The first demanded a recount of the recount, which supported him. The courts of New Hampshire said they had no authority to call a fresh election, so the issue went to the Senate, which is constitutionally charged with passing of the qualifications of its members.

Sen. Howard Cannon, as chairman of the Rules Committee, found himself pleasantly situated presiding over a group of five Democrats and only three Republicans. The idea has been for the committee to go over the disputed ballots and decide whether the voter intended to vote for Wyman or Durkin.

IN AN extraordinary ruling, Sen. Cannon said that where the Rules Committee, having surveyed the ambiguous ballot, split 4-4 on the intention of a particular voter, the entire ballot would be thrown out. But that procedure is hardly consistent with the tradition of parallel procedures. If the Supreme Court ties 4-4 on an appeal, the ruling of the lower court stands. Most of the ballots that are being thrown out are Wyman ballots. Moreover, Sen. Cannon wants to examine only those ballots that had been given to Wyman, letting Durkin's stand. Voting 4-4 has the mathematical effect of subtracting one Republican vote.

Then there is the so-called "Skipjohn" problem. Suppose you circle the heading REPUBLICAN on the ballot, meaning that you want to vote the entire Republican ticket. But then, for some reason, you go down the list and start ticking off the individual names. You come to the name Louis Wyman, and, unaccountably, you leave it blank. Now, New Hampshire practice specifies that in such circumstances, where you have "skipped John," John nevertheless gets voted for — unless his name is specifically struck through by a pencil mark. For some reason, Sen. Cannon has ruled that such ballots ought to be voided altogether. And so it goes.

My Answer

Billy Graham

My spirits get very low at times and it lasts for days. I hear of such bad things and see so many helpless people in real homes. It's foolish thinking, but I can't get over worrying and being depressed. I thought you might be able to help.

J. H. The Christian is flatly told in Phil. 4:6, "Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything." Now that would be glib talk if Paul didn't elaborate. He did. And he speaks further of God's peace, of learning to be content with much or little, and of the strength and power that Christ provides.

I grant you the world around us could be very depressing if we took a reading at only the human level. And if we focused only on the negative, we'd find much to catapult us into despair. But for the same reason that Paul could sing at midnight in prison, so can you rise above circumstances. Faith in Christ is the answer.

Now I would do several things additionally. First, get a physical checkup, because ill health fosters depression. Then I would seek out a church fellowship where you can find real friendship. And then I would keep busy in useful projects. Old Jeremy Taylor said, "It is impossible for that man to despair who remembers that his Helper is omnipotent."

"And only yesterday they were saying I was getting too big for my britches!"

May Day In Stock Mart

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Today is May Day in the stock market, the day on which competitive rather than fixed commissions will be charged on purchases made through brokers. For individuals it probably will mean higher costs.

Such a turn of events isn't unanticipated by individual investors. They have become accustomed to obstacles in practicing people's capitalism, of being tolerated but seldom encouraged.

Nevertheless, renewed interest by individual investors is being noted again. Brokers report their telephones are ringing. Membership in investment clubs, down sharply since 1970, is on the rise again.

In fact, the biggest boost to the market and to the concept of participatory capitalism might well come from these unappreciated small investors through a program now being launched by investment clubs.

The National Association of Investment Clubs, which describes itself as "the largest organization of individual investors in the world," has just launched Campaign 1976, an effort to get individuals back into securities markets.

It is now signing up corporations to distribute its educational literature to shareholders, employees and customers, and asking them to enlist two other companies in the campaign.

Eight pieces of literature discuss significant economic factors — pricing, productivity, profits, capital, free trade, world trade, inflation and another still in the works. One folder will be distributed each quarter, beginning with the final one of 1975.

Thomas O'Hara, chairman of the Royal Oak, Mich. association, lists two main objectives:

1. To really interest individuals in becoming investors. He hopes that several million people will be contacted over a two-to-three-year period "in the biggest investor education program ever."

2. To educate people, to help them understand the economic world in which they live. It should lead to a better business climate, O'Hara says. "The program is basic to what is fundamental in our economic system."

One commendable aspect of the program is that an association representing the much maligned individual investor should take upon itself the job of restoring energy to the system, when it might be argued that the government, the investment community and even the corporations dependent upon it have been dragging their heels.

The campaign has a secondary purpose also — it seeks to encourage the development of more investment clubs. In October 1970 there were more than 14,000 clubs; now, while the number is rising, it is below 8,000.

Pleurisy-A Painful Ailment

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I entered the hospital for X-rays and tests for severe chest and upper back pains and was told I was suffering from a combination of pleurisy and shingles.

The pain subsequently subsided with medication. However, every now and then it has returned. I sent for your booklet on shingles, which I found very informative, but I don't remember seeing anything about pleurisy. Would you please discuss it, its treatment and prevention? — F.A.S.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have chronic discomfort and often severe pain in the upper left chest and the back. The only conclusion evidence of damaged tissue in the lining of the lung, which could be causing pleurisy. How is this caused, what are the treatments?

It seems that with all of the antibiotics available something could be done to help me. Could this condition become more serious? — B.K.

The pleura is the close-fitting membrane which encases each lung, an inner layer covering the lung and an outer layer lining the chest wall. The space between the two layers (the pleura cavity) is normally moist, thus permitting free movement of the lungs in breathing.

When these membranes become inflamed, the and there are several types and causes. Two primary causes are pneumonia and tuberculosis. Generally, doctors distinguish between "wet" and "dry" pleurisy.

In the wet type, the volume of moistening liquid in the cavity increases abnormally, placing pressure on the lung involved, interfering with normal breathing, and causing the classic pains along the nerve trunks. When pus collects in the cavity the condition is called "empyema," a more unusual and serious condition.

In dry pleurisy, the pleural membranes become irritated and can rub against each other with the rise and fall of the lungs.

Day To Remember

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

During everybody's lifetime, some dates stay glued in their mind and bring back memories every time that particular date draws near. Very often the dates remembered the longest are those associated with tragedy and sadness, although some folks remember happier dates like their wedding day (if it was a happy day).

But one date that stays glued in my mind is April 30 and it was neither a happy nor a sad occasion. It was simply a date ground into my mind when I was majoring in piano at Texas A&I many years ago.

TO GRADUATE WITH a music degree, you had to give a senior recital and the date for the event was set a year ahead so that you could work toward it. My date was April 30, 1946, and it was duly marked on the calendar in my practice room and circled in red.

The program was to include a Mozart sonata, a Bach etude, a Chopin waltz, a Rachmaninoff prelude, the first movement of a Beethoven piano concerto and a smattering of modern musical selections.

Anybody who's ever tackled such a program knows the hours of practice that you are talking about. The selections had to be learned, memorized and improved upon by April 30.

For a dedicated musician, this might not have been such a feat; but for a musician who majored in music because their mother wanted them to and who hated to practice, this was quite an undertaking.

It's a fact that there is a picture of me in the college yearbook my junior year sneaking out of the window of the practice room. A boy was shown below helping me out the window and the caption is "Back to your music, Margie."

But then as April 30 drew nearer I realized that I was going to have to practice or my music professor, my old piano teacher, and my mother were going to be furious. Dad didn't care. He was already griping that he was going to have to drive over 100 miles to attend.

SO I LEARNED those tunes. In fact, even though it was 29 years ago yesterday I can remember that I was afraid not to learn them. I graduated magna cum laude with that music degree, but in the sweat music department was in a sweat the day of my recital.

One teacher told me that morning, it might be better for me to relax that day and skip classes. I took him at his word. My later-to-be husband and I took off for King's Inn and Loyola Beach. We went with his roommate, Cecil Williams, who now resides in George West.

All of you local A&I exes (attention, Mrs. John Smith, Harlan Hubregeste and all of you A&I exes out at Howard College) know that we ate a good lunch at the King's Inn. Then we started back to town. Cecil's car quit. He tinkered and he tinkered with that motor to no avail.

I finally got out and started walking. Boyfriend came loping up beside me saying, "You can't walk back to Kingsville." And I answered, "I can walk to the highway and catch a ride. You don't understand. I have to get back."

Back at the music conservatory, a congratulatory telegram had arrived from my former roommates in Houston, where they were working for Humble. When the department tried to deliver the telegram, they couldn't find me. Panic set in.

Growled Professor Stupp, "If she has skipped out, I'll fail her. Or better still, I might kill her."

Said my good friend, the band director, Ernest Ernst, "She wouldn't do that. She'll be here. I think."

MY PARENTS and piano teacher arrived. They went by my apartment. My roommate, Pat Wiekel, now the wife of a navy commander, tried to smooth it all over. She ought to be an asset to be heavy.

"Oh, she'll be here any minute. See, her formal is all hung out (Pat had hung it out) and everything is ready. Everybody sit down and I'll fix coffee."

In the meantime, back between the beach and the highway, we walked. When we were only a quarter mile from the highway — and that's five miles across there, here came Cecil. He had gotten the car started. We chugged into town. I introduced them to my parents, who were less than thrilled and did not realize at the time that one of these derelicts was going to be their son-in-law.

I got to the recital. I got through the hour and a half of musical numbers without a hitch. I was presented a basket of flowers, three sprays of roses and a sheaf of orchids from friends and wellwishers who were thankful it was over.

My prospective bridegroom refused to go to the reception. He was a country western fan and retired to his quarters to consider what he was getting into. Mother was proud, the former piano teacher was delighted and the music professor was relieved. Dad thought it was all hilarious.

And me? Well, I still remember April 30.

EDITORIALS/OPINIONS

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I desire to express my appreciation to Dub Pearson, KBST, the City and Military Police, the Big Spring Herald, Dr. Akin Simpson and Dr. Hank Thompson and the many employees of Webb AFB in my unsuccessful attempt to find my yellow Labrador retriever, "Dutchess," who was lost near Webb AFB on 13 April 1975. Correspondingly, to the probably poisoner or abductor, your inhumane and selfish acts have promoted hardships, sorrow and misery for my family.

To the probably new owner: For the money you paid for stolen property, you received an undeserved bargain — the least you could do is return her rabies tag (Webb No. 1109) to me by mail to give my family some peace of mind.

Sincerely,
Harry A. Spannaus, Colonel,

Dear Sir:

We all enjoy and take for granted our daily newspaper. Are we using it to its fullest potential? Everyone reads the news — Pop likes the sports; Mom the women's page and shopping ads; the kids the comic strips. We have Dear Abby, Hints to Heloise, lost and found pets. Still there's a topic that should have a daily column: "Among the Missing."

Do you realize how many runaways there are every day in this country? Or older folks who haven't heard from a relative in years and want a chance to be in touch. Mrs. Smith, did you call Suzie's mom before she spent the night with your Mary? Mr. Brown, that freckle-faced kid that spent the night with your Joe — did his parents know where he was?

It might help curb the act of running away if kids knew there was a public bulletin board where their friends, parents or others could see their name. Interest in a runaway now might prevent names from getting on Wanted posters in the PO later.

I hope to hear from our Herald readers about their opinions on this subject.

Dear Editor:
As a parent, concerned citizen, and taxpayer, I feel a duty to protest, the recommendations made by the "Committee of 35" to the Board of Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at their meeting April 28.

The proposals centered mainly on a middle school concept, which from their minutes was considered carefully for several months. After approving this plan, the committee then proceeded in considerably less time to adjust the elementary school facilities to fit this program. The results appear to be a covert effort to destroy the American tradition of a neighborhood school concept under the unconfirmed guise of improved academics and prudent economics. Of course, we all want the best possible education for our children and realize the necessity for tightening our budgets. But why do the youngest ones suffer the most in our efforts to save money?

Several people who will be affected by these proposals attended this meeting of the school trustees to voice their disapproval. In a democratic way each was all set to do so, but all were followed by the verbose moderator in an attempt to refute their complaints, leading one to believe that the policies had already been adopted and needed justification.

At the same time that I make my protests, I must add with equal sincerity that Mr. Watkins and the other board members have my sympathy and prayers as they seek to find the answers which will benefit the majority of the children in our school district.

A Devotion For Today

"O Lord, our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!" (Psalm 8:9)

PRAYER: Our God, open our eyes to see You as Creator of the infinite and the minute. Especially help us to realize that not only are You our Creator, but also our heavenly Father who loves us and cares for us. Amen.

MEN IN SERVICE

GLORIA ORTIZ

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Gloria Ortiz, daughter of Mrs. Dora M. Hernandez of 312 N. E. 10th St., Big Spring, has been selected for technical training in the U.S. Air Force aircraft equipment maintenance field at Chanute AFB, Ill.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., where she studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Airman Ortiz attended Big Spring High School.

FT. BELVOIR, VA. — Army Second Lieutenant Sam P. Jordan, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit B. Jordan, and wife, Vickie, live at 807 N. 12th St., Lamesa, completed a nine-week engineer officer basic course at the U.S. Army Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

During the course, the newly commissioned Corps of Engineers officer is trained for his first duty assignment. Emphasis is on leadership and on the knowledge of weapons, equipment, fundamentals, and techniques required to assume that responsibility.

Alfonso Flores Vera, 505 W. Seventh, sworn into the Navy's delayed enlistment (CACHIE) program March 20 in Amarillo, will not be required to report for 2 years active duty until May 20.

Alfonso has elected to receive on-the-job training in the Navy's two-year reserve enlistment program. He will report to his first operational command after completing recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill. Alfonso is the husband of Mrs. Diane Arsiaga Vera, 505 W. Seventh.

Airman Calvin L. Belvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Jefferson, Rt. 3, Colorado City, has graduated at Lowry AFB, Colo., from the U.S. Air Force supply inventory specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command. He trained in inventory supplies by use of electronic data processing machines, and is being assigned to March AFB, Calif., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

Airman Belvin is a 1974 graduate of Colorado City High School.

Marine PFC. Louis A. Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maximo H. Rodriguez of Star Route 2, Lamesa, Tex., was promoted to his present rank with the 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

JOSEPH MATHIS

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Joseph L. Mathis, son of Mrs. Melba J. Mathis of 1511 Oriole St., Big Spring, has been selected for technical training in the U.S. Air Force aircraft equipment maintenance field at Lowry AFB, Colo.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., where he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Mathis is a 1974 graduate of Big Spring High School.

SYLVESTER ROSE

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Sylvester Rose, son of Mrs. Mildred Rose of Rt. 1, Loraine, has been selected for technical training in the U.S. Air Force aircraft equipment maintenance field at Keesler AFB, Miss.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, where he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Rose is a 1974 graduate of Loraine High School.

Fair Skies Prevailing

By the Associated Press
Calm weather returned to Texas today after several days of violent storms. Most thunderstorms weakened or departed the state by late Wednesday.

Some severe weather continued through the night on the Coastal Plains of Southeast Texas, but early today the only heavy thunderstorms were in the Gulf of Mexico just off the upper Texas Coast.

The front that brought at least 16 tornadoes to the state Tuesday and Wednesday and spawned a number of thunderstorms was located this morning along a line from the northeastern tip of Texas to the Rio Grande near Falcon Lake.

Fair skies prevailed over West and North Texas. Mostly overcast skies extended along the front and over East and South Texas. Predawn temperatures included 40s in the Panhandle, 50s on the South Plains, 60s in the frontal area and East Texas and 70s along the lower Gulf Coast.

Wednesday's highs ranged from 90 degrees at Cotulla to 61 degrees at Dalhart. Longview received the most precipitation during the day—2.15 inches.

Parents Fined By Ochotorena

Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. Wednesday held truancy hearings for children of four Big Spring families.

The parents of a 14-year-old girl, who had been a truant on previous occasions, were fined $10. Ochotorena said he gave others a second chance.

Fun Center Agreement

DALLAS (AP) — City Council unanimously approved on Monday a bid of $668,000 to remodel part of the Love Field airport lobby for a recreation center.

Under an agreement with Dallas developer Wesley

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs. May 1, 1975 3-A

Goyer, the city will pay $733,000 to convert the lobby. Goyer will repay the investment with annual rental fees.

Construction on the center is set to begin soon with completion in six months. The center will include an ice skating rink, a multiscreen movie theater, a roller rink, a dance area and a restaurant.

Goyer convinced the council last year to adopt his plan as a way to make use of the portion of the lobby vacated when the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport opened.

A partition will separate the recreation center from the wing of the lobby still used for commercial air traffic.

Earvin Bagley Is Retiring

ODESSA — Earvin R. Bagley, an Amoco Production Company employee, will retire today after some 25 years with the U.S. exploration and production subsidiary of Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Bagley and his wife, Jessie, live at 605 Santa Rosa in Odessa. He joined the company in 1950 as a pumper in Midland.

The Bagleys plan to maintain their residence in Odessa following retirement. They have three sons: Charles, who lives in Colorado City; James, living in Big Spring; and Larry, who lives in Northglenn, Colo.

Soldier Of Fortune Draws 20 In Prison

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Soldier of fortune Bobby Joe Keesee has been sentenced to 20 years in prison for conspiring to kidnap murdered diplomat John Patterson.

U.S. District Court Judge Leland C. Nielsen sentenced Keesee here after federal prosecutors argued for a life term and Keesee's lawyer called for a sentence no longer than 10 years.

Keesee, 41, pleaded guilty to conspiring to kidnap Patterson, but denied having anything to do with his death.

The 31-year-old diplomat was found slain last July after he was kidnapped at Hermosillo, Mexico, where he served as vice consul at the U.S. consulate.

Keesee was accused of writing a letter to the consulate demanding $250,000 for Patterson's life. Patterson was last seen alive in a car with his apparent kidnap, whose identity is still unknown.

Keesee of Huntington Beach, Calif., won the Bronze Star in Korea as a teen-ager and once claimed to work for the Central Intelligence Agency. The CIA denied it.

He went AWOL the Army at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., in 1962, flying a rented plane to Cuba, only to be returned and sent to prison. He was also once a prisoner of the North Vietnamese, until the American POWs were released in 1973.

Find's Income Reveals Drop

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Incorporated, has announced that net income for the first quarter of 1975 dropped to $4,605,000 from $13,083,000 for the first quarter of 1974. Net income for the first three months of 1975 is equal to 43 cents per share.

Gross revenue for the three month period was $215,822,000 in 1975 and $213,050,000 in 1974. Cash income from operations amounted to $12,982,000 as compared to $19,116,000 during the first quarter of last year.

Commenting on the first quarter results, R. I. Galland, president, attributed the decline in cash income to substantial reductions in sales of petrochemicals, particularly export sales. Also affected were increased costs of crude oil and labor which were not fully reflected in the prices of refined products, and to losses on tanker operations. Net income was reduced further by increased amortization of undeveloped oil and gas leases pursuant to changes in accounting practices adopted last year.

Peeping 'Tom' Attacked Coed?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A 36-year-old Newark, Tex., man was arrested Monday after being caught peeking into a Texas Christian University women's dormitory, and police said they planned to question him about the attack of a 20-year-old coed Sunday.

The coed told police a man broke into her dormitory room about 5:15 a.m. Sunday and molested her sexually after an attempt to rape her failed.

She said her attacker, who identified himself to her as "Tom," spent about 30 minutes in her room.

Astute card-reading enabled declarer to overcome a serious communications problem on this hand, thereby enabling him to bring home a difficult five diamond contract.

Our choice of opening lead would be the king of hearts, but West elected to lead his singleton spade in the hope of obtaining a ruff. Declarer rose with dummy's ace and tried the trump finesse. The West won the king and shifted to the king of hearts.

Declarer saw that, even if he could develop the club suit for four tricks, he would still require a heart ruff to set.

bring his total to eleven. Rather than give up control of the heart suit, he elected to take his ruff in dummy immediately. The ten of diamonds was overtaken with the jack, and the ace of diamonds drew the outstanding trump.

Obviously, declarer could not afford to allow East to gain the lead, for that defender had a high spade to cash. Thus, declarer led a club from his hand. Had West produced the king, declarer would have allowed him to hold the trick. When West followed low, declarer finessed and breathed a sigh when the queen held. He paused to take stock. West had shown up with three diamonds and a singleton spade. Since he had to have seven hearts for his vulnerable preempt, that left him room for only two clubs. Thus, West's remaining club had to be the king. It was now a simple matter to lead a low club of dummy. West won his king, but the club suit was now set up. Declarer lost only a trick in each minor suit.

Note that declarer would have failed had he continued with the ace of clubs after winning the finesse. The king would drop, but East would get in with the jack to cash a high spade, and the defenders would still have to get a heart for a two-trick set.

SO MUCH ALIKE, YET SO DIFFERENT — Thanks to a little imagination and a like of effort and paint administered by city employees and public school students here in recent weeks, fire plugs have taken on very distinctive looks, each decorated differently from the others. Some of the artists used a patriotic approach. Some of the finished products took on rakish and humorous appearances. A few even looked like Snoopy the Dog. To say the least, all have been noticed by passersby, and that was the original idea — diminishing the drabness that usually surrounds such a scene and serving to help dress up the community.

Teens Can Now Apply

Teenagers from 14 through high school age, who wish to participate in the Veteran's Administration Hospital Volunteer Program, should contact the Volunteer Services office at the hospital as soon as possible, according to Mrs. Dene Sheppard, Chief of Volunteer Services.

The young volunteers should contact the office and get their interviews and scheduling arranged prior to the volunteer orientation on June 2.

Mrs. Sheppard has been speaking to the student bodies of Big Spring and area schools, informing the youths about the program.

She said that the program provides valuable experience in several office, administration and health care areas which can be helpful after graduation.

Volunteers will be used in escort services, nursing services, admissions, administration, outpatient clinic, recreation, lab, pharmacy, and in a newspaper to be formed for the summer.

She said that the volunteer should be prepared to donate four hours of service per week.

Candy striped uniforms will be furnished by the voluntary service.

Final Ruling In Death Made

Accidental death is the final ruling on the death of Alfredo Paredes, 31, following a police investigation. The ruling is to be placed on the death certificate. No justice of the peace ruling is necessary since he died in a local hospital where he was taken with gunshot injuries early on April 19.

The investigation showed that the wife was sitting outside the home with her mother in a car and was preparing to leave with her mother when they heard the shot.

Police officers said there was no note and no powder burns, which should have been present if the shot was self-inflicted. It was determined that he had been "apparently angry and hitting the gun against furniture. There was a broken gun stock in the living room," Alvin Jeffcoat, investigating detective determined.

The final decision reached was that the gun apparently went off and the bullet struck Paredes in the head.

Bailey 'Hurt' By Report

Joe D. Bailey, former executive vice president of Trans-Regional Airways and its operations chief, reiterated today that he had resigned his post and was not relieved of his duties.

In a letter to Louis Rosenbaum, El Paso, president of the parent El Paso Air Transport Inc., Bailey referred to an account in the Herald Tuesday of a Chamber of Commerce transportation committee, noting "I am now to learn, in print and before the public, that I was removed, relieved or fired."

It (the report) was perpetrated by a person holding himself out as your representative.

R.E. McClure one of two designated by Rosenbaum to assume operational direction of Trans-Regional, said in a statement to the Herald Tuesday he did not say Bailey was fired, rather that he had resigned. As a 50 percent stockholder of the company, Bailey said his reputation had been damaged by the report.

"We have six months in which to exercise the options on assigned routes," said Bailey in his letter, adding his view that higher salaries would be needed for operating personnel and in equipment. "The good people of Big Spring were promised this in good faith and they deserve no less. I personally believe that a great potential does exist in the community (Big Spring) and that acceptable growth levels for an airline can be established. Everyone in Big Spring gave Trans-Regional their support."

Bailey said he had been approached by two parties about acquiring his half of the stock and was faced with a decision by May 5.

Society Meets

The Permian Basin section of America Chemical Society will meet Tuesday 7:30 p.m. at Coor's Hospitality Room on U.S. 80 between Odessa and Midland near the airport. Prof. Kevin McIntyre will speak on "From Alchemy to Chemistry: Scientific Creativity."

Reservations from Big Spring may be made by calling James Watson 263-7661.

CONSOLIDATION

"Most of all the districts were consolidated by votes" of the citizens, Gilmore said. He remembered opposing the incorporation of Gay Hill School into the Big Spring Independent School District. This consolidation resulted from board action.

A promise had been made to Gay Hill area residents, which was said not to be legally binding. Gilmore noted the school district would have chosen the Borden County school system if they had known it would be forced to join another district.

Gilmore of Forsan did not seek re-election to the county school board, and Weldon McDams of Sand Springs won as a write-in. No candidate for commissioners precinct two filed in time to be listed on the ballot.

Al Bagwell, 407 W. 4th St., who was re-elected from commissioners precinct one, also took the oath of office from County Clerk Margaret Ray.

NEW CHAIRMAN

R.L. Heith, 1711 Yale Ave., was elected chairman of the board by acclamation. Hayes Stripling Jr., 613 Edwards Blvd., was chosen vice chairman.

In order to save Coahoma Schools taxes, the board approved purchase of six tires and a school bus.

Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.D. Jackson of Gail maintained a grade average of 94.61. She was also active in three sports, playing girls' basketball, girls' track and tennis. She was also a member of the Beta Club, the high school honor society and the Future Homemakers Association.

Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McLeroy of Gail, maintained a grade average of 93.06. He lettered in football and basketball, was a member of the Beta Club, local honor society and was active in Future Farmers of America.

Catherine plans to enroll in Lubbock Christian College. Jim will attend Texas Tech University.

Vote To Fire About 70 Duval County Employees

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — Duval County commissioners voted Wednesday to fire about 70 county employees, but even those still on the payroll can't cash the pay checks they received.

Duval County Commissioner Walter Meek said the commissioners voted to fire about 70 persons and add a few to the payroll. Earlier, County Judge Dan Tobin Jr. had announced the firing of all county employees effective April 30. But he said Wednesday that order was rescinded.

Earlier in the month, the First State Bank of San Diego announced that they would not honor the county's checks until it can be legally determined which of the county's two commissioner's courts is the valid governing body for the county.

The bank announced Wednesday that they have resigned as the county's depository for funds and will return more than $500,000 now held on deposit.

The politically volatile South Texas county has had two commissioner's courts since District Court Judge O.O. Carrillo temporarily removed Duval County Judge Archer Farr. The order was based on Parr's federal perjury conviction.

Judge Carrillo appointed Tobin to replace Parr, and Tobin in return appointed Manuel Amaya Jr. to fill the vacancy created by Tobin's elevation to county judge.

Ingram Given 3-Year Term

Robert William Ingram, 33, 601 N. San Antonio St., pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon to theft and was sentenced to three years in prison.

Ingram signed a statement saying he took stereo equipment from the Record Shop, 211 Main St. The stolen item was recovered minutes after the April 19 incident.

Possibly Last Marine To Die In Vietnam Was From El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — "He was a good man, very, very dedicated to the Marine Corps and to his country."

He was Lt. Michael John Shea, possibly the last American to die in Vietnam, as he was described by his widow, Jenny, Wednesday shortly after she was told the young officer had died in a helicopter crash in the South China sea.

"I had been getting letters lately saying he was discouraged by what was going on over there," Mrs. Shea continued. "He couldn't believe that this country had let those people down like we had. He was very concerned about the children."

It was the sight of terrified Vietnamese children running through the streets, crying for their mothers, that so distressed Shea, a native of El Paso, that he wrote to his wife saying he was "glad he didn't have to live forever."

Tuesday, Shea and three other Marines were flying a rescue mission in a Marine CH46 helicopter when the chopper went down in the South China sea. Missing and presumed dead with Shea was Capt. William C. Nystul. Two Marine enlisted men on board the helicopter were rescued.

Shea's parents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shea, live in

El Paso.

His widow, the former Jenny McCabe, said Shea, "knew he was doing right by being in the Corps, and he would do whatever they told him."

"He didn't say anything about more fighting in the letters, but I know he felt that the war should have been fought to be won, not with all this messing around. He said he felt so bad for those children. He loves children."

The 25-year-old pilot was a mother's dream. He was voted El Paso's Parkland High School's Most Popular and Most Outstanding Boy in 1968, and was the captain of the varsity football team for the last two of the four years he played. He played on the basketball and baseball teams for four years and was on the track team for two.

"He was a fine young man, really an all-around person," said his high school counselor, Harry Payne. "He was vice president of his junior and senior classes."

In 1973, Shea graduated with honor from the University of Texas-El Paso with a bachelor of science in mathematics. There, he played back quarterback for the Miners.

"He was terrific, clean-cut, a very good student," remembers Betty Putnam. She and her husband, Judd, lived below the Sheas in student housing at UTEP. "We were all good friends. I gave Jenny a shower for her first baby."

DEATHS

Mrs. Shuler

Mrs. Harvey Shuler, 78, of Snyder died about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday in a local hospital. She had been living in a local nursing home in recent months.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Baptist Church in Snyder with the Rev. Kem Adress, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Snyder Cemetery.

Mrs. Shuler was a native of Collin County, and had been a resident of Big Spring since September, 1973.

She was married to Harvey Shuler on July 16, 1912, in Snyder.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Jack Wright of Snyder; a sister, Mrs. W. A. Prescott of Big Spring; and a grandson.

D. M. Haynes

Douglas M. Haynes, 71, a native of Big Spring, died Wednesday in California after a lengthy illness.

Services and burial will be Saturday in Boway, California.

Haynes was born March 11, 1904 in Big Spring and moved with his family to Fluvanna where he was raised and married Cleo Owens in 1924.

He worked for the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. in Monahans and Big Spring until he moved to California in 1943.

He is survived by his wife, Cleo, of Boway, California; two sons, Edward Haynes, Indio, Calif., and Finley Haynes, Riverside, Calif.; four brothers, H.H. (Haley) Haynes and J. W. Haynes, both of Big Spring, L. A. (Arley) Haynes, Roscoe, and C. G. (Clifford) Haynes, Irving; four sisters, Mrs. H. A. (Alice) Cain and Mrs. M. F. Hodnett, both of Big Spring, Mrs. D. W. (Angie) May, Victoria, and Mrs. R. D. (Pauline) Vaughn, Robert Lee; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Ingram Given 3-Year Term

Robert William Ingram, 33, 601 N. San Antonio St., pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon to theft and was sentenced to three years in prison.

Ingram signed a statement saying he took stereo equipment from the Record Shop, 211 Main St. The stolen item was recovered minutes after the April 19 incident.

Possibly Last Marine To Die In Vietnam Was From El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — "He was a good man, very, very dedicated to the Marine Corps and to his country."

He was Lt. Michael John Shea, possibly the last American to die in Vietnam, as he was described by his widow, Jenny, Wednesday shortly after she was told the young officer had died in a helicopter crash in the South China sea.

"I had been getting letters lately saying he was discouraged by what was going on over there," Mrs. Shea continued. "He couldn't believe that this country had let those people down like we had. He was very concerned about the children."

It was the sight of terrified Vietnamese children running through the streets, crying for their mothers, that so distressed Shea, a native of El Paso, that he wrote to his wife saying he was "glad he didn't have to live forever."

Tuesday, Shea and three other Marines were flying a rescue mission in a Marine CH46 helicopter when the chopper went down in the South China sea. Missing and presumed dead with Shea was Capt. William C. Nystul. Two Marine enlisted men on board the helicopter were rescued.

Shea's parents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shea, live in

El Paso.

His widow, the former Jenny McCabe, said Shea, "knew he was doing right by being in the Corps, and he would do whatever they told him."

"He didn't say anything about more fighting in the letters, but I know he felt that the war should have been fought to be won, not with all this messing around. He said he felt so bad for those children. He loves children."

City's Request For HUD Funds

The final application for Community Development HUD funds for the cities of Big Spring, Grand Falls and Fort Stockton will face a government application review committee this afternoon in Midland at the regional planning office.

Other grants to be reviewed for presentation to the board include Texas Tech's request for $57,750 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for continued operation of its head start regional training office.

Programs within the Permian Basin are at Big Spring, Midland, Lamesa and Saragosa.

"No final approval is given at this meeting, but recommendations are made to the board of directors."

the public records charged with theft by check is not Mrs. Lamar (Joyce) Green of Oil Mill Road. The woman charged lives in the north-west section of Big Spring.

Of course this changed attitude has come about by the occurrence of recent world events — the current debate in Indochina, the weakened status of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization, the disarray of N. A. T. O., Portugal's drift to the socialist left and Italy tottering towards economic collapse and political chaos. Greece and Turkey, both a corner anchor of N. A. T. O., and friends in the alliance are pulling away from American influence because we have not chosen a side in their hassle between themselves.

Soviet influence is up and our prestige is down in India, the Middle East, and even in Canada and Central and South America.

We can simply say "So what," and the point won't be argued here but the fact is, total isolationism in a world made small by transportation, communications and many other developments, can not be safe for our country, let alone afford the standard of living to which we are accustomed. With all our abundance the fact remains that we are deficient in more than half the raw materials necessary to produce goods to satisfy our needs, including military requirements.

This certainly does not mean that we should baby-sit the whole world. We should have learned our lesson that we just can not, and never should have tried to, be the big guardian of every nation which encouraged and received us with open arms because of our willingness to help them.

After all this we may just have learned that neither our affluence nor our military arsenal can guarantee our success around this world. It is time to reappraise our foreign policies and reassess our position with other nations.

But let no one write us off, especially ourselves. We still have the thing that all people crave and admire above all else — personal freedom. We still have the highest standard of living and the greatest liberties of any people who ever lived. Whatever may be these foreign diplomats' thoughts, we are the envy of this world because freedom is what all mankind cherishes most. We seldom hear of anyone wanting to escape from here to Communist countries.

FESTIVAL CHAIRMEN — Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thurman are chairman of the Big Spring Squares May Festival Friday and Saturday. Over 500 square dancers are expected at the high school cafeteria Friday and Saturday night. Dick Parish of Hobbs and Curtis Thompson of Houston will serve as callers with Dave and Nita Smith of Lubbock in charge of the round dance.

People Who Need Legal Help Should Not Delay

People who delay seeking the advice of a lawyer until they are in serious legal or financial trouble discover their problems — and the price they must pay to solve them — have multiplied, according to a free Legal Guide prepared for people in the 50-plus age group by Action for Independent Maturity (AIM).

The Guide, designed to provide middle-agers with a basic knowledge of their legal rights and responsibilities, emphasizes that sound legal guidance in handling property, financial resources and family affairs can determine independence, security and peace of mind in later years.

While most people avoid talking to a lawyer because of fear of high fees or a hesitancy to discuss personal affairs, the Guide points out that the client-lawyer relationship is recognized by law as confidential and privileged.

The drawing up of a will or the updating of an existing one — should be at the top of the list of matters to discuss with an attorney, the booklet recommends.

"The safest will," the Guide says, "is one designed especially for you by your lawyer, based on your wishes and the pertinent facts regarding your property and your family situation."

The Guide also discusses legal aspects involved in the signing of a contract, a late or second marriage, setting up a small business, or buying or selling a home.

The Legal Guide is one of a series of booklets published by AIM to help pre-retirees plan for successful living in their mature years. A division of the eight-million-member American Association of Retired Persons, AIM also provides budget-stretching insurance, travel and pharmacy services and publishes the bi-monthly Dynamic Maturity magazine.

For a free copy of "AIM's Legal Guide," write to: Legal Guide, AIM, P. O. Box 2400, Long Beach, California, 90801.

YATES IN PECOS COUNTY IS SECOND Texas Has 35 Of Largest Oil Fields In Country

DALLAS — Texas has 35 of the nation's 100 largest oil fields, based on the amount of proved reserves, according to Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

The importance of Texas to the nation's oil supplies was revealed in a study provided the Federal Energy Administration by the American Petroleum Institute. The FEA had requested a list for a survey of U.S. oil and gas reserves.

The study shows that two of Texas' oldest oil fields — Yates in Pecos County and the East Texas field — are the second and third largest in the nation. The Yates field, discovered in 1926, has 1.3 billion barrels of proved reserves. The East Texas field, discovered in 1930, has 1.2 billion barrels of proved reserves.

Largest of the nation's oil fields is Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's North Slope, which will begin to produce its 9.6 billion barrels of reserves upon completion of the Trans-Alaska Pipeline.

Seven of the nation's 10 largest fields are in Texas. In addition to Yates and East

Texas they are (proved reserves and national ranking noted):

—Wasson, Gaines County, 636 million barrels (sixth largest).

—Kelly Snyder, Scurry County, 477 million barrels (seventh largest).

—Slaughter, Cochran County, 349 million barrels (eighth largest).

County, 349 million barrels (eighth largest).

—Tom O'Connor, Refugio County, 314 million barrels (ninth largest).

—Hawkins, Wood County, 304 million barrels (tenth largest).

The study shows that the 35 large Texas oil fields have a total of 7.5 million barrels of proved reserves, accounting for 68.5 per cent of the state's 11 billion barrels of reserves. Total reserves in Texas account for nearly a third of the nation's domestic reserves.

The 100 largest U.S. oil fields are located in 13 states.

Rodeo Will Open Today

COLORADO CITY — The Western Riding Club will promote a junior rodeo Thursday and Friday as a part of Mitchell County's bicentennial celebration. It will be held in the arena west of the city.

Accredited by the West Texas Junior Rodeo Association, the rodeo will be the principal event in three days of activities which will include a bicentennial day in Colorado City senior and junior high schools, an old fiddlers contest and a rodeo dance.

The rodeo is open to boys and girls under 20 and will include nine events in different age brackets. Interested persons may contact Nubbin Rowe, Mrs. Don Powell or Mrs. Charles Northcutt, all of Colorado City. Entry blanks are available at the Bowers Z-Bar B Western Wear Store on IS 20.

A dad's roping is set at 10 a.m. Saturday and the old fiddlers contest at 5 p.m. at the Mitchell County Agricultural Barn. Tom Goss will emcee and Mrs. Maggie Hamrick is chairman.

The dance with Lance Walkers Western group will begin at 10 p.m.

Hance Speaker For Program

LAMESA — A patriotic rally on the Dawson County courthouse lawn Friday kicks off Lamesa's Bicentennial activities.

A speech by State Sen. Kent Hance and patriotic music led by the Lamesa High School choir will highlight the event, which begins at 10 a.m.

Dignitaries will be driven to the event in an antique car caravan. Webb AFB of Big Spring will provide a color guard and the Lamesa High School and Middle School bands will strike up the national anthem.

Following a speech by Hance, a national Bicentennial flag will be presented by American Revolution Bicentennial Commissioner Anne Simmons of Lubbock.

4-H Clubs Are After Members

4-H Clubs in Howard County are making an all-out effort to expand their membership. The local drive is part of a statewide 4-H effort to offer participation in 4-H to anyone from 9-19 years of age, regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Howard County has about 400 boys and girls in the 4-H program but want to expand that figure before school is out this Spring. The Howard County 4-Hers work on the idea that if a boy or girl is interested in something there is a project to fit the individual interest.

Any boy or girl interested should contact someone they know in 4-H, or one of the Howard County extension agents, (Bruce Griffith, Ronnie Wood or Sherry Mullin). The county extension office is located in the basement of the courthouse. They may write Box 790, Big Spring 79720 or call the office 267-6671, said Wood.

RUNS SATURDAY Lester Ready For 4A State

Linda Lester will be representing Big Spring High Saturday at the 4A Girls Track & Field Meet in Austin. The sophomore runner is scheduled to compete for 880 dash honors at 3 p.m. No trials will be held with 10 girls entered.

BHS All-Sports Banquet Tonight

Spring sports teams from Big Spring High will be honored tonight at 7 at the school's cafeteria. Members from basketball, baseball, boys and girls track, golf, volleyball, and boys and girls tennis will be recognized.

Awards will go to outstanding athletes in each sport, all-around trophy, and the Obie Bristow Award. An outstanding Steer athlete will receive the Fellowship of Christian Athletes award from Al Valdes.

Each member of the Big Spring team will be introduced by his respective coach.

Winston Wrinkle will serve as master of ceremonies. The banquet is open to the public. Tickets are $2.50 per person.

Trophies to be awarded and sponsors: baseball, Gamco Industries, Inc.; basketball, Park & Co.; golf, First National Bank; girls tennis, Security State Bank; boys tennis, State National Bank; girls track, Walker Auto Parts; boys track, R&R Theatres; and volleyball, Texas Electric.

Midland got all three of its runs in the fifth inning when Mike Sember singled and Aaron Randel homered.

Then a force out later in the inning tallied another run. Donnie Moore got his first victory of the season for Midland, which now is tied for first with Shreveport in the West.

Tonight's schedule has San Antonio at Midland, Alexandria at Arkansas, Lafayette at Jackson and El Paso at Shreveport for a doubleheader.

Lee Lacy ripped three singles and drove in a pair of runs, leading a 10-hit Los Angeles Dodgers attack, as the Dodgers defeated Atlanta for their seventh straight victory. Doug Rau went the distance for the Dodgers, scattering seven hits for his third victory in four decisions. One of the hits was a two-run homer by Larvell Blanks, his first of the season and only the second in three years in the big leagues.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2. Two-out doubles by John Grubb and Dave Winfield in the fifth inning produced three runs and sparked San Diego to a come-from-behind victory over Houston. Winner Sonny Siebert walked, Enzo Hernandez singled and Bobby Tolan drove in Siebert to tie the game at 1-1. Then Grubb doubled to left for two more runs and Winfield made it 4-1 with another double to chase starter Larry Dierker.

Trainer Credited With Colt Success

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Trainer Leroy Jolley is on the spot with favored Foolish Pleasure in Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

And so far Jolley has put the colt in the right spot at the right time, mapping a campaign that has resulted in 10 victories in 11 starts.

"I don't think he (Foolish Pleasure) has hooked anything tough yet," said Larry Spraker, trainer of Promised City, while admitting that Foolish Pleasure's record is indeed impressive.

"I think Mr. Jolley get all the credit and Mr. Jolley don't know me," said Spraker. "He's a horse trainer. He's placed him (Foolish Pleasure) well."

He also thought Promised City, owned by Bob Clayton, will beat Foolish Pleasure and everybody else Saturday in the 101st Derby.

A field of 13 to 15 3-year-olds is expected for the 1 1/4-mile, $125,000-added classic at Churchill Downs. Official entries were to be made today.

But one trainer did not wait for the official entry box to open. W.E. "Smiley" Adams entered Master Derby — the Louisiana Derby and Blue Grass Stakes winner — Wednesday.

Other probabilities for the Derby included Santa Anita Derby winner Avatar, California Derby winner Diabolo and Florida Derby champion Prince Thru Art.

Post time Saturday is 5:32 p.m. EDT with television coverage by ABC from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Jolley galloped Foolish Pleasure Wednesday and gave an insight into the soul search a trainer of a top thoroughbred has to go through.

"Up until post time I almost scratched him out of the Wood," said Jolley, because of the tough No. 15 post position drawn by the John L. Greer-owned colt and because of the problems of getting good position in the extremely short run to the first turn in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

"Then I would have entered him in the Blue Grass but I would have scratched him out of that," said Jolley.

Cubs Shatter Mets' Winning Streak, 7-4

By the Associated Press

After Jose Cardenal broke his favorite bat, he said he "felt like crying."

Think of how the New York Mets felt when Cardenal helped break their winning streak.

Cardenal and his Chicago teammates had plenty of bats left after he broke his in the second inning Wednesday, but the Mets had very few — and the result was a 7-4 victory for the Cubs.

"When you've got a seven-game winning streak going and Jon Matlack pitching for you, that's quite a quinnella," said Chicago Manager Jim Marshall. "That's why it was such a big win for us, breaking their winning streak and not falling into a losing streak ourselves."

Cardenal triggered a five-run first inning with the first of his three singles. Then after making out in the second, and losing his bat in the process, Cardenal got a new one and knocked out Matlack with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

Bill Madlock blasted a two-run homer off the Mets' fine southpaw in the big first inning.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds beat the San Francisco Giants 4-1; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the Montreal Expos 2-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0; the San Diego Padres trimmed the Houston Astros 4-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2.

Chicago starter Ray Burris, 3-0, was the benefactor of the Cub assault on Matlack, 2-2, but had to leave the game after five innings when he was hit on his pitching hand by a batted ball. Madlock's first homer of the season followed Cardenal's single. A pair of walks and Manny Trillo's double chased two more runs across and then Burris singled in the final run of the first inning.

Reds 4, Giants 1. Ken Griffey belted a two-run triple and Tony Perez added a two-run homer, powering Cincinnati over San Francisco. John Bench's leadoff walk and Cesar Geronimo's one-out single preceded Griffey's triple, giving the Reds a 2-0 lead in the second off loser Jim Barr, 1-2.

Joe Morgan's one-out single and his second stolen base of the game came before Perez' fourth homer of the season, a two-out drive to left off Barr in the fifth. Winner Jack Billingham, 2-1, lost his shutout in the bottom of the fifth on Gary Matthews' RBI single.

Phillies 2, Expos 1. Steve Carlton pitched a sixhitter for his first victory of the season while Dave Cash scored one run and drove in the other to lead Philadelphia over Montreal. Carlton, 1-3, struck out seven, walked three and lost his shutout when Barry Foote led off the eighth inning with his first home run of the season.

Pirates 5, Cardinals 0. Home runs by Willie Stargell and Richie Zisk backed five-hit pitching by Jerry Reuss and led Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Losing pitcher Bob Gibson fell to a 0-5 record.

Padres 4, Astros 2. Two-out doubles by John Grubb and Dave Winfield in the fifth inning produced three runs and sparked San Diego to a come-from-behind victory over Houston. Winner Sonny Siebert walked, Enzo Hernandez singled and Bobby Tolan drove in Siebert to tie the game at 1-1. Then Grubb doubled to left for two more runs and Winfield made it 4-1 with another double to chase starter Larry Dierker.

To me, nothing tastes better than fine tobacco. But I don't smoke.

Takes a little getting used to. But with Good Luck, it's easier because the pouch holds the tobacco all in one place. It sits comfortably and no one knows it's there, but you.

Also, each pouch comes properly pre-measured, so you always get the right amount.

Sealed in foil. To keep the tobacco fresh and moist, each Good Luck pouch is sealed in foil. That also keeps it from spilling into your pocket.

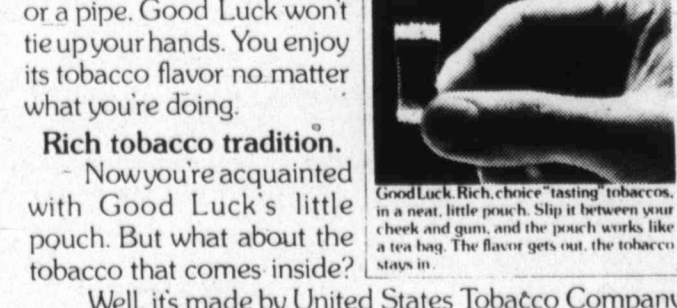

And because you don't smoke Good Luck, it's perfectly welcome in places where smoking isn't. Such as a courtroom, on a bus, or near inflammables.

And unlike a cigarette or a pipe, Good Luck won't tie up your hands. You enjoy its tobacco flavor no matter what you're doing.

Rich tobacco tradition. Now you're acquainted with Good Luck's little pouch. But what about the tobacco that comes inside?

Well, it's made by United States Tobacco Company, whose other tobaccos, without a pouch, are now enjoyed by over 6 million Americans. And Good Luck is part of the same tradition. Only the pouch makes it easier to use.

For people like you. But no matter how you use tobacco (or even if you don't), we think Good Luck will add to your pleasure. Try it. We put Good Luck in a pouch, for people like you.

Good Luck, Rich, choice "tasting" tobacco, in a neat, little pouch. Slip it between your cheek and gum, and the pouch works like a tea bag. The flavor gets out, the tobacco stays in.

SENATOR ADVOCATES STATE COMMISSION

Texas Cities At Mercy Of Phone Companies?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Texas Supreme Court ruling prohibiting two Houston-area cities from regulating a metropolitan-type telephone service leaves possibly hundreds of Texas cities "at the mercy of the phone companies," says Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, the sponsor of a bill to set up a state utility commission.

Clower issued a statement Wednesday after the Supreme Court affirmed two separate lower court rulings forbidding Alvin and Nassau Bay from regulating "extended metropolitan area service."

The service enables residents of the cities to call neighboring communities without being charged long-distance rates. The Supreme Court said it could find no reversible error in lower court decisions that ruled the service amounted to long-distance phone calls and was not within the cities' regulatory power.

Clower said the ruling "abolishes municipal regulation of telephone rates in nearly every city in Texas with extended metropolitan service and that includes Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Austin, virtually all of their suburbs, and dozens of other Texas cities."

It might even affect hundreds of cities, he said, and added that his staff was trying to compile a total. "The Texas Municipal League and those city councils that have opposed state regulation now have what they should have seen coming," said Clower. "They have nothing. They're out in the cold, at the mercy of the phone companies."

"I would hope that everyone will now at last recognize the plight of the utility customer in Texas and throw their wholehearted support behind our efforts to establish effective and fair state regulation of our utilities."

A bill establishing a state commission to regulate phone rates and some electrical rates is pending in the Senate, but Clower and others say if it is not strengthened they will try to block its passage.

Banquet Is On Tuesday

Final plans are under way for the Zales-Herald Youth Achievement Banquet to be held at the Big Spring Country Club at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Five finalists from each of four county high schools will be honor guests. These 20 students and their parents, along with four mayors and school superintendents, will be honored at the event.

Four students, one each from Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands High Schools will be presented top honors at the banquet.

The speaker this year will be Dr. Grover Murray, president of Texas Tech. The event is sponsored annually by Zales Jewelers and the Big Spring Herald.

Jobless Pay Agreement Completed

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe said Wednesday that an agreement has been completed with the Department of Labor allowing unemployed Texans to receive an extension of up to 13 weeks on unemployment benefits.

The extension was made possible by the Tax Reduction Act passed by Congress and signed by President Ford on March 29.

Beef Imports Are Discussed Here

Mrs. Harry Middleton and Mrs. W.L. Wilson Jr. were speakers this week at the Evening Lions Club meeting, representing the Texas Cowbelles and the beef industry.

The two ranchers' wives pointed out that USDA estimates that total meat imports this year will be 115 billion pounds, 85 million pounds more than last year.

They added that imported beef is not subject to the same strict inspection standards that American beef must meet. All American beef must be inspected by either a federal or state inspector.

The animals are checked for health before slaughter, again when the carcass is hung and again when the meat is being cut and packaged.

They discussed current regulations on feeding, talked about imitation meats on the market and gave reasons why they think people should eat more beef.

The two Cowbelles pointed out that there are several reasons why you should. One is the nutritional value of beef. Beef protein contains eight amino acids essential to build, maintain and repair body tissues. Some of these are not found in other foods. Besides protein, beef contains iron, copper, phosphorous and provides necessary vitamins.

Speakers also told the club that everything about a cow is used in some manner, "except the moo." Uses include medicines such as insulin from the pancreas gland, part of the animal is used to manufacture tires, hides for leather goods, bones can be converted to charcoal, china, glue, lubricants and high protein livestock feeds.

The women also discussed a beef referendum which various cattlemen's organizations are pushing through in Congress. "This will not cost the consumer one cent," the Cowbelles stated.

"It is a plan where three tenths of one per cent of the sale price of cattle will be withheld and this money pooled and used for beef promotion, beef education and research.

Imperial Economy Recipe

Surfer's Pineapple Pudding

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 1/2 cups milk | 1/2 cup pineapple juice |
| 1 (3 1/4 oz.) package vanilla pudding mix (not instant) | 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch |
| 1 1/2 tablespoons Imperial Granulated Sugar | 1/2 teaspoon almond extract |
| Dash salt | 1 (8 1/2 oz.) can crushed pineapple, well drained |

In heavy saucepan over moderately high heat, bring milk to boil. While milk is heating, combine pudding mix, Imperial Granulated Sugar and salt. Also combine pineapple juice, cornstarch and almond extract. When milk is boiling, remove from heat and quickly stir in pudding mixture. While stirring, bring back to boil and add pineapple juice mixture. Remove from heat and stir in crushed pineapple. Serves 4.

NOTE: With addition of pie crust and meringue, this becomes pineapple pie.

An Oriental Touch
In Rice, Dressing

As different and tasty as the Chinese are dainty are these two delightful recipes for making Oriental Rice Ring, and a deviled pineapple-ham dressing.

The recipes are easily prepared and are not heavy-type food.

ORIENTAL RICE RING
2 pkgs. (15 oz. ea.) frozen chicken chow mein in cooking pouch
3 pkgs. (10 oz. ea.) frozen fried rice

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
1 tsp. all-purpose soy sauce
1/4 cup chopped scallions, wilted in butter, if desired
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
Parsley or scallion curl garnish, if desired

Heat pouched chicken chow mein according to directions; keep warm in the hot water while making rice ring. Cook fried rice and spinach according to package directions; be sure spinach is drained and squeezed very dry after cooking. Mix hot rice, hot spinach, soy sauce, scallions (raw, they add a crisp goodness, but you may prefer to wilt them in some hot butter first), pimientos and almonds; toss together to mix well.

Pack hot rice mixture into a lightly oiled 5-cup ring mold, pressing mixture down into mold as firmly as possible. Turn rice ring out on platter by putting serving platter on top of filled mold, inverting the two, tapping the top of the mold to loosen the rice, and removing the mold. Pour heated chicken chow mein in the center of the rice ring, and garnish with parsley or scallion curls, if desired. Makes about 6 servings.

DEVILED PINEAPPLE-HAM DRESSING

1/2 cup canned deviled ham
1 pkg. (3 oz.) softened cream cheese
1 1/2 cups crushed pineapple, drained
2 pkgs. (6 oz. ea.) frozen chicken egg rolls

Blend deviled ham with cream cheese; stir in pineapple. Chill. Serve with crisp, hot chicken egg rolls prepared according to package directions.

Makes about 1 1/2 cups dressing; 24 bite-sized egg rolls.

Combine Fish, Vegetables

With springtime here, a good cook's fancy turns to serving a molded salmon and cucumber salad. The salad makes a delightful main dish luncheon fare for guests or fine supper fare for the family on a Sunday night.

SALMON CUCUMBER MOUSSE

16-oz. can salmon
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
8-oz. container commercial sour cream
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 tbsps. finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 tsp. prepared white horseradish
1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup pared, seeded and grated (medium-fine) cucumber (1 1/2 medium cucumbers)

Cucumber slices and parsley sprigs

Drain salmon, reserving liquid. Remove any skin and large bones from salmon; flake. Add enough cold water to the salmon liquid to make 1/2 cup; sprinkle gelatin over mixture and allow to stand for about 5 minutes to soften; dissolve over boiling water. Beat sour cream until almost double in volume — it will thin out during early part of beating but with continued beating it will thicken again and increase in volume although it will not be as thick as whipped sweet cream. Add dissolved gelatin to mayonnaise, mixing well; fold in salmon, seasonings, cucumber and whipped sour cream. Turn into a 5-to-6-cup mold or into individual molds or custard cups. Chill to set — flavor seems to improve if mousse is made a day or so before serving. At serving time unmold and garnish with cucumber slices and parsley. Serve with salad greens tossed with a sharp oil-and-vinegar dressing and crusty rolls. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fruit Salad From Freezer

A luscious fruit salad comes from the freezer, gets a pretty garnish of cherries and mint, and it's ready to be served. Poppy seed rolls and butter and steaming coffee complete the light, lovely lunch, the dieters' delight. The hostess prepares the salad the night before her bridge party to make her tasks simple.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

1 13-ounce can pineapple tidbits or chunks
1 1-pound can sliced peaches
1 1-pound can pitted light sweet cherries
1/2 cup maraschino cherries, quartered
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1 cup broken pecans
4 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar

1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1 pint whipped cream.
Drain fruits thoroughly; combine with marshmallows and pecans. In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks slightly; add 1/4 cup sugar and vinegar. Place over hot, not boiling water; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and barely coats a spoon. Cool to room temperature; pour over drained fruit mixture; mix gently. Fold confectioners' sugar into whipped cream. Fold whipped cream into fruit mixture. Pour into 9x9x3-inch square pan, cover and freeze. Before serving, transfer from freezer to refrigerator for 30 minutes to thaw slightly. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Hamburger Kings Take This Tip

Backyard cooks take notice: Hamburger and steak taste great grilled over charcoal — but why not try something a little different this weekend?

Skewered beef cubes, marinated in a sweet-sour mixture of wine and soy sauce, make a great change of pace. Or make up a batch of piquant Chinese Barbecue Sauce and use it to baste frankfurters, bratwurst, spareribs — and even hamburgers.

WINE-SOY MARINADE

1/2 cup beef consommé
1/2 cup dry red wine
1-3rd cup soy sauce
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup chopped green onions

1 clove garlic, crushed
3 tbsps. lime juice
2 tbsps. brown sugar

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan; bring to a boil over medium heat. Simmer for five minutes. Cool and pour over beef cubes; let stand for 2-3 hours at room temperature or overnight in the refrigerator. Skewer cubes and grill. Yield 1 1/4 cups.

CHINESE BARBECUE SAUCE

1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup catsup
3 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tbsps. brown sugar
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tsp. onion powder
1/2 tsp. salt

Combine ingredients in a small saucepan. Cover; simmer for 10 minutes. Baste frankfurters, hamburgers, bratwurst, or spareribs frequently while grilling. Yield 1 1/2 cups.

Good Combo

Slices of bologna and swiss cheese are good company in these rollups. Heat 8 bologna slices in a little fat; drain. Unroll an eight-ounce package of refrigerated crescent biscuits and spread with butter. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and separate into triangles. Cut swiss cheese slices into triangles to fit atop the biscuits. Place a bologna slice at wide end of biscuit-cheese triangles and roll up. Bake at 275 degrees for 12 minutes or until rolls are brown.

Sweet And Sour Pork Is Favorite

Copley News Service

Oriental style is a good way to serve smaller portions of meat attractively for a low-saturated-fat meal plan. Try both of these easy to cook, but fancy recipes.

CHICKEN CHOP SUEY

2 whole spring chicken breasts
3 tbsps. polyunsaturated oil
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
1 medium onion, sliced
2 cups sliced celery
1 can (1 lb.) bean sprouts (drained)

1/2 lb. Chinese snowpeas
2 tbsps. soy sauce
1 tbsps. cornstarch
1 jar (4 oz.) pimientos, drained and cut in 1/4-inch strips
1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate

Discard the skin, remove meat from bones and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Sauté in oil with garlic and onion for 5 minutes. Add snowpeas and cook 5 more minutes. Add celery and bean sprouts. Stir and cook for a few minutes. Stir in cornstarch blended with 2 tablespoons cold water, soy sauce and monosodium glutamate. Cook, stirring until thickened. Add pimiento. Serves 4.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK

8 oz. 1-inch cubes lean leg pork

Pinch salt, pepper
1/2 tsp. polyunsaturated oil
1/2 tsp. sherry
1 tbsps. cornstarch

Polyunsaturated oil for deep frying

Sweet and Sour Sauce:

1 tbsps. sugar

Tiny pinch salt, pepper

1 1/2-2 tbsps. malt vinegar

1/2 tsp. tomato catsup

2-3rd cup water

3/4 tsp. cornstarch

1 lb. pineapple cubes

1 red chili

Green peppers (to taste)

Batter:

3 oz. cornstarch

1 egg white

2-3rd cup water

1/2 tsp. oil

Vegetable Garnish:

1 tbsps. each pickled cabbage, carrot and cucumber

Salt

Vinegar

To make the batter: Sift the cornstarch into a basin. Make a well in the center, drop in the egg white, then gradually add and beat in the water. Finally, stir in the oil. Set aside for 20 minutes.

To make the sweet and sour sauce: Bring the first four ingredients and the water to a boil. Stir in the cornstarch blended with a little water, and cook for 1 1/2 minutes. Lightly fry pineapple, chopped chili and green peppers for one minute. Stir briskly while frying. Add to sweet and sour sauce. Keep hot.

To prepare the pork: Trim off all fat. Place the pork in a basin. Add the seasonings, oil and sherry and work them into the meat. Coat the diced pork with the flour. Turn the cubes into a sieve and toss about to shake off excess flour. Drop the meat into the batter. As the pork has to be cooked thoroughly, have the oil preheated to 350 degrees. Drop the pork into it, raise the heat and cook the pork for 8 to 9 minutes until it is a warm golden tone. Drain and dry on absorbent paper. Turn the pork into a heated serving dish and spoon the sweet and sour sauce over them. Garnish with pickled vegetables. Serves 4.

Lichee Fowl
Makes Good Supper Dish

Lichee Chicken makes a light Oriental meal served with rice, pasta or crunchy chowmein noodles. This recipe may be doubled.

LICHEE CHICKEN

1 lb. boned raw chicken

1/4 cup sesame seed or salad oil

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. ground white pepper

1/2 cup dry white wine

1/2 cup chicken broth (or bouillon cube dissolved in boiling water)

1 can (1 lb., 4 oz.) lichees, drained

2-3rd cup finely sliced sweet green pepper

Skin and cut bite-sized sufficient raw chicken to make 2 cups. Heat heavy skillet or wok until hot. Add oil, chicken, salt and pepper. Stir-fry rapidly 2-3 minutes over high heat until chicken starts to brown. Add wine and broth. Cook 1 minute. Add lichees and green pepper. Mix well and cook until heated through. Transfer to pre-heated electric serving dish. Cover. Makes four servings.

Older Citizens Will Be Cited

The Howard County Council on Aging is seeking nominations for older citizens in this area who have been outstanding in the community.

Because May has been designated Older Texan Month by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the council would like to honor three senior citizens at a reception to be held May 30. The three are to be a Mexican-American, Anglo and Black.

Local citizens are being urged by the council to nominate older persons who have contributed to the betterment of Big Spring or Howard County. The nomination should be accompanied by a letter explaining the nominee's qualifications for the honor.

The final choice of the three to be honored will be made by board members of the council.

The responses are needed by May 21, and this is the last day that nominations will be accepted. The letters are to be mailed to the council president Miss Bessie Love, 412 Westover, Big Spring, Texas, 79701.

Military Moving Makes Life Hard For Daughter

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. My father is in the Army, and we always move just when I meet new kids and start doing well in school. I've never lived in one place longer than 18 months, except when we were in Europe.

My parents don't seem to realize that this moving around so much every year is what's tearing my life up. My grades are going downhill, and my chances of being anything in school are ruined.

Kids tell me I should try out for cheerleading, but I can't because I know we'll be moving. I can't even have a boyfriend because just when someone gets interested in me, I have to move.

Abby, I am not the complaining type, but here I am, nearly 16, and I don't have any roots, and I am sick of it. Please tell me if there's a solution to my problem. Outside of running away, that is.

ARMY BRAT: Forget "running away." That's a stupid trip. I know how frustrating it must be for you, honey, but look at it this way: You are making friends all over the world and seeing places that few kids get to see.

Concentrate on the advantages of moving, not the disadvantages. You'll soon be old enough to live alone, but for now, you belong with your family.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter received a phone call from a nurse at the Department of Public Health, who asked her to come in for some "tests." When my daughter asked, "Why?" she was told that a boy (I'll call him "Bill") who is being tested for V.D. said that he had been in contact with her.

Abby, my daughter is so upset, she doesn't know what to do. She swore on a Bible that she is a virgin and that she's never had sex with this boy or any other boy. She said she dated him twice and didn't even kiss him good-night once. I know my daughter, Abby, and she is not lying.

Does she have to take those tests? It doesn't seem fair to me.

HER MOTHER: I think your daughter should take the tests. They won't hurt her. Perhaps the boy misunderstood the question and named all the girls with whom he had had contact — sexual and otherwise.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to ask why a Catholic would wear a star of David — a symbol of the Jewish faith.

I am a Catholic who, during the war years, was closely associated with three of the finest men I have ever known. I shall never forget their integrity, patriotism and high moral standards. And today, when I am asked why I, a Catholic, wear a star of David, I waste not one second to explain that Mike Korman of Houston, Texas, Sid Kaufman of Steubenville, Ohio, and Jerry Golgbert of Ft. Lee, New Jersey, are worthy of being remembered for the years we spent in constant companionship as comrades in arms.

A LOVELIER YOU Spring Reducing

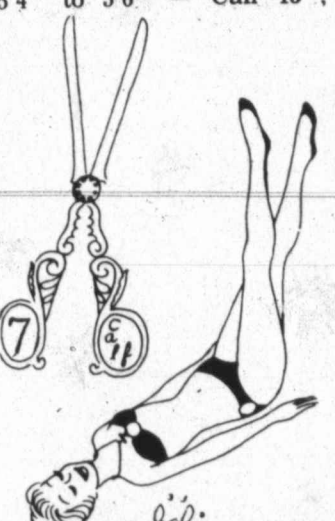

By Mary Sue Miller
Is a tidier legline on your self-improvement program? Well, then, perform the following routines daily and you'll soon see a trimmer curve take shape.

1. Lie on back and raise legs straight up. Cross right leg over left, so that calf brushes shinbone; similarly cross left leg over right. Alternating, repeat 20 times. Keep movements short and brisk.

2. On 'back, stretch out straight. Raise right leg perpendicular to floor; bend knee and try to touch heel to back of thigh; with forceful (leg-shaking) kick, return to starting position. Repeat 10 times and work with left leg.

3. Stand with feet together and weight on heels; pull leg muscles upward, starting at ankles and letting action flow through calf, knee and thigh. Relax and repeat 5 times.

To take the guesswork out of results, here are the ideal calf measurements for individual heights: Height 5' to 5'3" — Calf 12½"; Height 5'4" to 5'6" — Calf 13";

Height - over 5'7" — Calf 13½" to 14". Measurement is taken at fullest curve. You may subtract a half-inch from figure given for you, if your bones are very small.

LEGLINE TRIMMERS
If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, LEGLINE TRIMMERS, which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

PTA Gives Life Membership

The final meeting of the school year for the Elbow Elementary Parent-Teacher Association was held Monday evening, highlighted by the presentation to Mrs. Sharon Cregar of a life membership in the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers. The award was made by Bill Mims.

Mrs. Cregar, music teacher at the school, has been an active member of PTA for over 10 years, serving as an officer and on committees. She has worked with young people in many capacities; in Brownies and Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, Little League and Miss Softball, with youth choirs and soloists in band U.

L. and as a Sunday school teacher.

In other business, the PTA agreed to purchase a new curtain for the stage, with the Forsan school board sharing the expense. A committee was named to choose the curtain. It was announced that a duplicating machine purchased by the PTA had arrived and was being used. An auditing committee was named.

Officers for the 1975-76 school year were installed by Mrs. Hillard Ditmore. They are Mrs. Garner Thixton, president; Mrs. Vaughn Martin, vice president; Mrs. Linda Harp, secretary; and Mims, treasurer.

Miss Orrian Billings' fifth grade class presented two short plays. Participating students were Henry Alvarez, Rick Bailey, Preston Daniels, Debbie Gaskins, Rhonda Gaskins, Kimberly Kendrick, Michael McDavid, Randall Mc-Donald, Richard Merritt, Malynda Myrick, Tina Nix, Wendy Rains, Mary Sanders, Danny Spencer, Doug Walker and Wayne Welander. Refreshments were served to the approximately 100 persons attending.

ESA Area Meet Scheduled Here

Announcement was made of the upcoming district meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha at the Monday meeting of Alpha Chi Chapter in the home of Mrs. Faye Price.

The district event will be held here June 8, and plans were made for entertaining the delegates.

Mrs. Tincy Perry and Mrs. Bonnie McDaniel, president and vice president, respectively, of the local chapter, attended a district meeting in Andrews recently when these officers were elected: president, Mrs. Billie Felts, Midland; vice president, Mrs. Carol Dyson, Odessa; recording secretary, Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, Odessa; treasurer, Mrs. Pat Lewis, Ft. Stockton; parliamentarian, Mrs. Joan Sealy, Midland; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mildred Blount, Midland.

Founder's Day will be observed during the week of May 1-7. On Sunday, May 4, the group will meet at 9:30 a.m. at Coker's Restaurant for breakfast then attend a church of the president's choice.

The next meeting will be May 12 in the Perry home.

Customizing Makes Space

Customizing a closet may be the answer to the common complaint of "too much stuff and no place to put it." First step is to determine what goes into the closet, then match the space efficiently.

Measuring items and then building compartments and shelves of western lumber so there is a place for everything with minimum waste space will take care of an amazing amount of excess items.

Moving rods to varying heights so that hanging clothes come flush to a shelf or cabinet top does away with wasted air space.

Lees HD Club Has Speaker

Advice on sewing was given to the Lees Homes Demonstration Club Friday at the Community Center with Mrs. J. J. Overton as hostess.

Miss Kathryn Luckenbach, extension agent, showed slides on recycling garments and also showed how to put zippers in garments without seams down the front. She also demonstrated how to make bound button holes and how to make long bias strips out of a small piece of fabric. Each member told of clothing she had recycled.

The next meeting will be May 13 in the home of Mrs. Gary Seidenberger.

What's On Your Face, Chopped Up Chicken?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A protein additive in shampoos is "usually derived from the cartilage and joints of cows and pigs," some face masks and wrinkle creams contain a serum extracted from the "chopped up bodies of unborn chicks," and to thicken cosmetics products, spermaceti, a waxy substance, is obtained from the head of the sperm whale.

Awareness of such things became so intriguing to Deborah Chase, 29, as she researched beauty material for an article that she parlayed the idea into a book, one with a scientific approach.

"In reading various medical publications, I changed my own thinking about beauty. I learned that dry skin doesn't cause wrinkles, that oily skin doesn't need moisturizers, that the hair needs water, not oil as we are constantly being told by experts," she said in an interview.

A one-time high school science talent winner who worked as a research assistant in the lab of the anatomy department of New York University when she attended a premed program there, she has written "The Medically Based, No-Nonsense Beauty Book."

In preparing the book she used information from some 70 authors, who had written for medical journals and other publications, and she studied cosmetics chemistry textbooks which explain how various chemicals work in cosmetics — for example, "cream rinse has a chemical which relaxes hair," she says. She studied products on the market to determine those that contained essential ingredients. "If those ingredients are missing from a product you are wasting time and money," in her opinion.

A sunscreen is necessary to protect the skin from painful burning, and many experts believe the sun is also responsible for deep wrinkling of the skin. But few sunscreens provide total protection. A total sunscreen, she learned, is the thick white paste of zinc oxide used by lifeguards. A second type which can resist some or most ultraviolet rays includes sesame oil which can resist 30 per cent of the ultraviolet rays and other oils — coconut, peanut, olive and cottonseed which resist about 20 per cent of the rays. When certain chemicals are added, paraaminobenzoic acid or, secondly, salicylate compounds, you get a more complete sunscreen and either of those should be sought in commercial products, she advises.

If these ingredients are not listed, the sunscreen is probably nothing more than a mixture of oils, waxes and emulsifiers, she contends, "and gives relatively scant protection from the sun."

Water is probably "the most essential ingredient for the skin and hair," she insists. Sun and many other things deplete the skin of moisture and dyes and bleaches dry the hair.

"Remove a hair and stretch it," she suggested, illustrating the point by drawing one of her own dark hairs, which stretched about an inch. "When water is lacking, the hair loses this flexibility."

Ideas in the book begin with basic ones about the skin and how it grows and the soaps, cleansers, astringents and other products that are used on it, what they contain, and what they do or do not do. It goes on to hair and includes a program of care for straightened hair, a chapter on plastic surgery with illustrations, a table of protein values, and so on. Many do-it-yourself formulas are provided for skin and hair care, including easy-to-make astringents, cleansers and masks.

A beneficial clay mask for oily skin is made with 2 tablespoons of alcohol and one tablespoon of fuller's earth mixed to a paste. She also lists commercial products that contain the ingredients that her research has shown are necessary to a particular product.

Her husband, Dr. Neil Schacter, 31, now chief of inhalation therapy at Yale—New Haven Hospital, helped her on the basic physics and chemistry and brought home medical papers she needed for her research, particularly those to do with allergy and endocrine glands.

Much time and money can be wasted in trying to find products that do not cause an allergic reaction. Switching from one product to another is no guarantee that you are avoiding an offending substance, she maintains. An eyebrow pencil produced by one factory and marketed by at least five companies, selling from 29 cents to $1.50, was seized by the FDA because it contained coal tar. A contaminated brown eye shadow was packaged by three companies, and "many commonly used cosmetics ... are made by one source for many brand names ... you can buy the identical cosmetic at prices ranging from 39 cents to $7.50."

Cosmetics can be tested for allergy by putting a little of the suspected substance on the skin and covering it with adhesive tape for 48 hours to see whether it causes redness, she suggests. Doctors put it on the back, usually.

Cigarettes and alcohol can be a detriment to pretty skin, she advises. Smoking can line the face and alcohol can rob the skin of water and dilate the blood vessels, causing small red lines. Drugs also interfere with the body's ability to obtain oxygen, she points out.

Miss Chase admits some habits are hard to give up—for example, she bites her nails, "but it doesn't bother me, so I don't do anything about it," she says.

"The Medically Based No-Nonsense Beauty Book" is published by Knopf.

Secretaries Set Date For Installation

The local chapter of National Secretaries Association elected new officers Tuesday during a dinner in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. Juanita Seitzler presided.

The new slate, to be installed May 27, includes Mrs. Ozella Long, president; Mrs. Jean Jennings, vice president; Mrs. Jane Overman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Adelle Smith, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jan Stewart, treasurer.

Mrs. Long will be the delegate to the Texas-Louisiana Division meeting May 16-18 in San Antonio, and the alternate will be Mrs. Tommie Bryans.

The next meeting, May 27, will be a salad supper at the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

House Panel Okays Tough Utilities Regulation Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House State Affairs Committee voted 11-4 early today for a tough utilities regulation bill that would allow a three-member commission to base rates on the original cost of utility equipment.

The bill is expected to be debated on the House floor Monday and, if it wins quick approval, could be brought up in the Senate Wednesday.

Among the important features of the bill is one that would limit rates in rural areas to 115 per cent of those charged by the same company in urban areas of the same county, unless the commission approved a higher rate.

Telephone customers in rural areas have complained to several committees this session about paying many times more for their service than people in the cities.

CITIZENS' APPEAL

The bill also provides for citizens' appeal, first to the commission and then to district court in Austin, on a petition of 5 per cent of those who voted in the last municipal election.

By majority vote, municipalities could exempt themselves from regulation for a period of five years.

No officer or employee or holder of $10,000 or more in stock in a utility could be appointed to the commission until that connection had been severed for two years. Neither could a commissioner or a commission employee accept employment with a utility regulated by the commission for a period of two years after leaving the commission.

Rep. John Wilson, D-La-Grange, guided the bill through more than four hours of committee debate, which ended at 1:25 a.m.

"This is a realistic and honest public utilities regulation bill," Wilson said. "I think everybody on the committee can be proud of it whether he votes for it or not."

The measure is a composite of many years of legislative effort in this field, he said.

The heart of any utility regulation bill is the rate base, Wilson said. And while he favors pegging it to 100 per cent of the original cost of equipment, he would not oppose a compromise amendment that says the commission must make it at least 60 per cent original cost and must not make it more than 40 per cent of the cost of replacing it under current prices.

TERMS STAGGERED

This would allow the commission to put it at 100 per cent of original cost if it wanted to, he said.

Utility companies have said the cost should be the current price of equipment. Opponents argue this allows the utilities to base their return on their investment on expenses they haven't incurred.

The three commissioners would be appointed by the governor to staggered, six-year terms, with the consent of the Senate.

Together with public school financing and property tax reform, the utilities regulation effort has been considered the top legislative business for this session.

Texas is the only state that has no statewide utilities regulation.

Wilson told the committee the Texas Supreme Court earlier in the day had ruled against regulation of rates for extended metropolitan area telephone service. State law permits only municipal regulation of local calls. And federal law regulates interstate calls. There is no regulation of long distance calls made within Texas.

The bill originally called for exemption of municipally owned utilities, but Rep. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, won voice vote approval of an amendment to bring them under the state commission.

EZZELL QUIZZED

Rep. Michael Ezzell, D-Snyder, attempted to change the assessment on gross revenues from one-sixth of one per cent to one-fortieth of one per cent to raise money for the commission's operating expenses. He said one-fortieth would raise $10 million a year.

Rep. Gene Green, D-Houston, asked Ezzell where he got that estimate.

"Just a guess," Ezzell said. "Did you get it from a state agency or who?" Green persisted. "An individual," Ezzell said.

Martin Seeks 'Older Texan'

STANTON — A search is on in Martin County for the county's outstanding older Texan, who will be honored at a reception and antique show planned for Thursday, May 29 at Cap Rock Electric Coop in Stanton.

Activities are being sponsored by the Martin County Aging committee and the bicentennial planning committee, and will get underway at 3 p.m.

Individuals and organizations have been asked to nominate someone who they believe is eligible for the honor. The recipient must be at least 60 and have lived in the county at least 10 years.

16 Still In Bad Shape After Butane Explosion

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP) — Sixteen survivors of a butane explosion here Tuesday that took six lives were still in critical condition in San Antonio hospitals today.

Six hospitals, including one here and five in San Antonio, held 30 injured or burned persons today. All 16 of those in critical condition were being treated in San Antonio and two others there were listed as being in satisfactory condition.

Eleven persons hospitalized in Eagle Pass were in fair condition and two in poor condition.

The six dead in the explosion were identified as Robert Finley, 25, and Linda Finley, 30, both of Crystal City; Leopoldo Carrillo, 36; Lucille Longoria, 20; Juan Paul Garza, 27, all of Eagle Pass; and Jesus Verduco of Piedras Negras, Mexico, the driver of the truck.

One of those listed in critical condition at San Antonio was Robert Finley, 4, son of the dead Finley couple.

Ten persons were treated and released Wednesday at Eagle Pass after suffering injuries in the explosion.

Branahan Motor Company reported two tires and an ignition system taken off a vehicle parked on its lot. Value: $225.

Retarded May Be Helped

The availability of a simple, inexpensive test for hypothyroidism may drastically reduce the number of infants who become mentally retarded as a result of this thyroid malfunction.

Surendra K. Varma, M.D., assistant professor of pediatrics at Texas Tech University School of Medicine, said that a new procedure costing only about 30 cents, may successfully screen babies for thyroid hormone deficiency. These are needed for brain development, and under previous tests most babies with this trouble were not detected until three months old. By then, brain damage had occurred.

The new test is similar to that for phenylketonuria, (PKU), another congenital defect in metabolism which also may cause brain damage, in that capillary blood is put on a small sheet of filter paper and analyzed, this time for hormone content. The deficiency normally occurs in one of some 7,000 births, but Dr. Farma pointed out this might prevent brain damage in two to four babies a year in the South Plains area.

"Screening would be much cheaper than state institutionalization," he said, "plus less burden to the family of the child — emotionally, socially and financially."

Ethics Opinion

AUSTIN (AP) — The Committee on Professional Ethics of the State Bar of Texas said today that city mayors and councilmen who are lawyers are strictly limited in their legal practice, along with their partners.

The opinion, similar to the advisory opinions made by the attorney general, was in response to a request by Austin City Atty. Don Butler. Councilmen Jeff Friedman, who is mayor-elect, and Bob Binder are lawyers on the current city council. After May 15, Friedman will be the only lawyer on the council. Friedman and Binder voluntarily stopped practicing in municipal court when they took office.

Butler asked if it would be proper for a lawyer who is mayor or city councilman to practice in municipal court, to file appeals in municipal court, to represent a defendant in a criminal case initiated by city police, to represent a client in a civil case adverse to the city, and to represent a defendant in a criminal case where a police officer would be a witness.

The State Bar committee said it would be unethical for such lawyer to act in all the instances and "we answer that where the official should not perform such acts, then his partner or associate should not."

LOYALTY QUESTIONED

Daniel Boone Loved Wild Life Of Frontier

EDITOR'S NOTE — Daniel Boone was one of America's Founding Fathers. Two hundred years ago he built the Wilderness Road and opened the American interior for settlement.

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
During the American Revolution, Daniel Boone was captured by Indians and took to camp life so enthusiastically that fellow prisoners began to question his loyalty. There was nothing wrong with Daniel Boone's patriotism — he was just having a good time. Boone dearly loved the wild life of the American frontier.

The wilderness was cruel to Boone at times. Indians tortured one of his sons to death. They cut off his brother's head while Daniel was running for his own life a few yards away. Another son died of an Indian bullet in the last battle of the Revolution. But it was good to him, too. It provided a living. A good hunter could bring in several hundred deerskins in a season, with the market price sometimes as high as $5 dollars a skin.

And a man could breathe in the wilderness. Life close to nature was the next thing to heaven for Daniel Boone. Two hundred years ago, as the American Revolution began, Boone was building Boonesborough, Ky., after cutting the Wilderness Road which opened the great American interior to settlement.

Boone was the complete Founding Father. He explored the land, blazed the trail, led in settlers, was elected to the provisional legislature that initially governed the new territory, and introduced one of the first laws enacted in Kentucky, a bill to protect the wildlife.

Then he did something which made him different from most explorers, the thing which made English America different. He went back and got his family. The frontier would be home.

Despite his reputation, Boone didn't enjoy fighting Indians. He liked them. But when it came to fighting, he could outshoot, outrun or outsmart just about anyone on the frontier.

Boone was a great soldier in one of the little known but dirtiest theaters of the Revolution, the western front where British officers and renegades led Indians against settlers.

While hunting food for a salting party, Boone was captured in 1778 by Shawnees heading for Boonesborough. Knowing the outpost was unprepared and could not survive the attack, Boone talked the Indians into settling for the salt party instead and then talked his companions into surrendering to save the settlement.

The brave pioneers so impressed their captors that the Indians adopted them. Boone became the son of Chief Blackfish.

Boone feigned cooperation and at the same time told the Indians such tall tales of the invincibility of Boonesborough that they would not attack for all the prodding of their English mentors.

When the Indians finally returned to the warpath, Boone escaped and raced 160 miles in four days through the wilds to warn Boonesborough.

Forewarned, the settlement was able to survive the longest siege of the frontier war. Boone's own family had returned already to North Carolina, but he stayed to help with the fighting.

Boone had done such a good job of beguiling the Indians that some of the white captives believed his act. He was court-martialed but cleared by the grateful settlers he had saved.

As a militia officer, Boone remained active throughout the war. He was captured at Charlottesville, Va., while a delegate to the state legislature, but was released on parole.

In August 1782, 10 months after Yorktown, Boone joined a force chasing British-led raiders near present-day Lexington, Ky. Despite his warning that the Indian trail was a little too obvious, the frontiersmen rushed into an ambush and 70 of them were killed, including Boone's son Israel.

He lived to be almost 86, but he never grew too old for the forest. When he was 82, he wandered into Ft. Osage one day and an officer recorded:

"We have been honored by a visit from Col. Boone... The colonel cannot live without being in the woods. He goes a hunting twice a year to the remotest wilderness he can reach; and hires a man to go with him, whom he binds in written articles to take care of him, and bring him home, dead or alive."

Ackerly Plans Cleanup Day

ACKERLY — Sands Future Homemakers of America are sponsoring a clean-up day Saturday in Ackerly.

"To accomplish our goal of making Ackerly beautiful," said club officers, "we need the help of every resident to beautify his or her property. Are there things that need painting or fixing? Do weeds need to be cut? Ackerly needs a little shaping up, and residents are the only ones who can do it."

To make the job easier, FHA members will be ready with pickups to haul off trash and other unwanted items.

All it takes is a call to 353-4788 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday.

This is one way the FHA chapter hopes to get a head start on Bicentennial observance.

AP MEN REMAIN IN SAIGON — George Esper, left, and Peter Arnett were two of The Associated Press correspondents who remained in Saigon today.

Indochina Coverage

By the Associated Press

Two Pulitzer Prize-winning correspondents of The Associated Press are covering opposing sides in the conflict in South Vietnam. Other AP newsmen and photographers are spread out in Southeast Asia and across the Pacific keeping watch on related developments.

AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett, winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1966 for Vietnam war reporting, is in Saigon.

Daniel De Luce, winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1944 for coverage of Marshal Tito's guerrilla warfare against the Nazi occupiers in Yugoslavia, is in territory under the control of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government. De Luce, on a special assignment, is accompanied by his wife Alma, who made an 18-day tour with him of North Vietnam in February, 1970.

The AP asked the North Vietnamese several weeks ago to permit the De Luces to visit Hanoi and the Viet Cong-controlled territory in the South and permission was granted. They arrived in Hanoi last Saturday from Vientiane, Laos.

Remaining in Saigon in addition to Arnett, a New Zealander, are Chief Correspondent George Esper and Matt Franjola, AP correspondent in Cambodia until the American evacuation from Phnom Penh April 12. Esper and Franjola are Americans. All volunteered to stay.

Other AP news personnel are aboard the U.S. Navy command and communications ship Blue Ridge in the South China Sea; at Subic Bay and the U.S. Clark Air Base in the Philippines; in Thailand and Laos, and on Guam and Wake Island in the Pacific.

AP bureaus in Tokyo and Hong Kong are monitoring radio broadcasts from Hanoi, Peking and areas in South Vietnam controlled by the Viet Cong. A similar listening post is set up in Bangkok, Thailand, under the direction of Correspondent Richard M. Blystone, for news of what is happening in Cambodia, cut off from the Western world since it fell to the pro-Communist Khmer Rouge on April 17.

The three AP correspondents in Saigon said in a response to a message from New York headquarters that they were confident of their own personal safety in their office building which they described as a thick-walled structure.

Then, referring to their colleague in Viet Cong territory, they messaged New York:

"We are waiting to surrender the city to Dan De Luce."

Two Training Events Slated

Two special training events for Scouts have been announced by the Buffalo Trail Council.

The troop leader development camp will be at the Scout Ranch June 1-8 for boys 13-17 years of age who are senior patrol leaders, or assistants or members of a leadership corps. They should have attained first class. Fee is $55, which will include food, equipment and training materials. The reservation fee is $5 and the number of places is limited.

Similarly there will be a wilderness camp for "Mountain Men," who will learn skills in survival, orientation, camping, cooking, emergency preparedness, fish and wildlife, nature, personal fitness, pioneer and reptile study. Reservations are $5 and total fee is $44. Dates for this, open to Scouts first class and above, are July 6-12.

Dates Are Set

Dates for the annual Explorer Olympics for the Buffalo Trail Council have been fixed for May 16-17 at Webb AFB.

Explorers (older boys and girls) and their leaders will be guests at Webb and will conclude the Olympics with a banquet in the NCO Club Saturday evening (May 17).

This year's Olympics will be in preparation for next year's Bicentennial Olympics, from which winners will go to the National Olympics at Ft. Collins, Colo. Events will include track and field, archery, golf, tennis, basketball, table tennis, volleyball, general knowledge tests, etc.

Two Who Allegedly Beat, Robbed Aged Man Nabbed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two transients who allegedly beat and robbed an elderly man and left him tied up in the New Mexico desert were arrested today by police.

Officers said the victim, Thomas Elder Cross, 61, of Clarksville, Tex., was discovered by U.S. Border Patrolmen three days after he was beaten. He was reported in a Lordsburg, N.M., hospital, suffering from dehydration and wounds received in the beating.

The two men, Kenneth Roscoe Hendricks, 40, of Vincennes, Ind., and William T. Dollins, 34, of Poplar Bluff, Mont., were arrested by police after they were stopped for a routine traffic check. Police discovered the automobile they were in was owned by Cross.

Officers said the two men are being held on a warrant from Grants County, N.M., charging them with armed robbery with a deadly weapon.

Police said Cross had set out from Abilene, Tex., with the two men, who allegedly beat and robbed him, tied him up and took his shoes on Friday. Cross was found Monday in the desert about 40 miles southwest of Silver City, N.M.

Authorities said Cross had been beaten with an iron pipe and fists and had been kicked.

Y Staff Is Organized

Pamphlets describing the Citywide Summer Recreation program will be distributed soon through the various schools in Big Spring, opening the way for children to sign up.

The program, which is a joint effort backed principally by the City of Big Spring, together with the Big Spring schools, will be operated from June 2-July 31. The only charge will be $1 (for those able to pay).

A trained staff is being assembled under the direction of Curtis Mullins of the YMCA, which handles the administrative end as its contribution to the program that is open to any child of elementary age through high school.

"We are anxious for every boy and girl in Big Spring to be a part of this program," said Joe Pickle, chairman. "It is for everyone, thanks to these supporting agencies who make it possible to have supervised, constructive summer activity."

The sign-up will be at the Central YMCA (although this is not a Y program). As usual, the first week, June 2-6 will be devoted to Learn to Swim at the Comanche Trail Park. The outdoor portion begins June 9, operating from the Old Settlers pavilion in the park. Activities include special events, quiet games, softball, dodgeball, fitness contests, track and field events, nature studies, arts and crafts, story telling, etc. Each day's activities are climaxed by an hour's swim in the park pool.

Bank Robbery Guilty Pleas

TULSA (AP)—Two men and a woman charged in federal court with the $40,000 holdup of the First National Bank of Turley on Feb. 18 pleaded guilty at their arraignments today.

Floyd August Davis, 33, Oklahoma City, and his brother, Sammie Leon Davis, 29, of San Diego, Calif., pleaded guilty to three counts each of conspiracy and armed bank robbery.

The woman in the case, Ella Oleta Holmes, 41, of Huntsville, Tex., pleaded guilty to a conspiracy count.

Rodeo Payoff May Be High

A total payoff of more than $25,000 is expected for the first annual Hustlin' Hereford Hall of Fame

Rodeo in Hereford May 16-18.

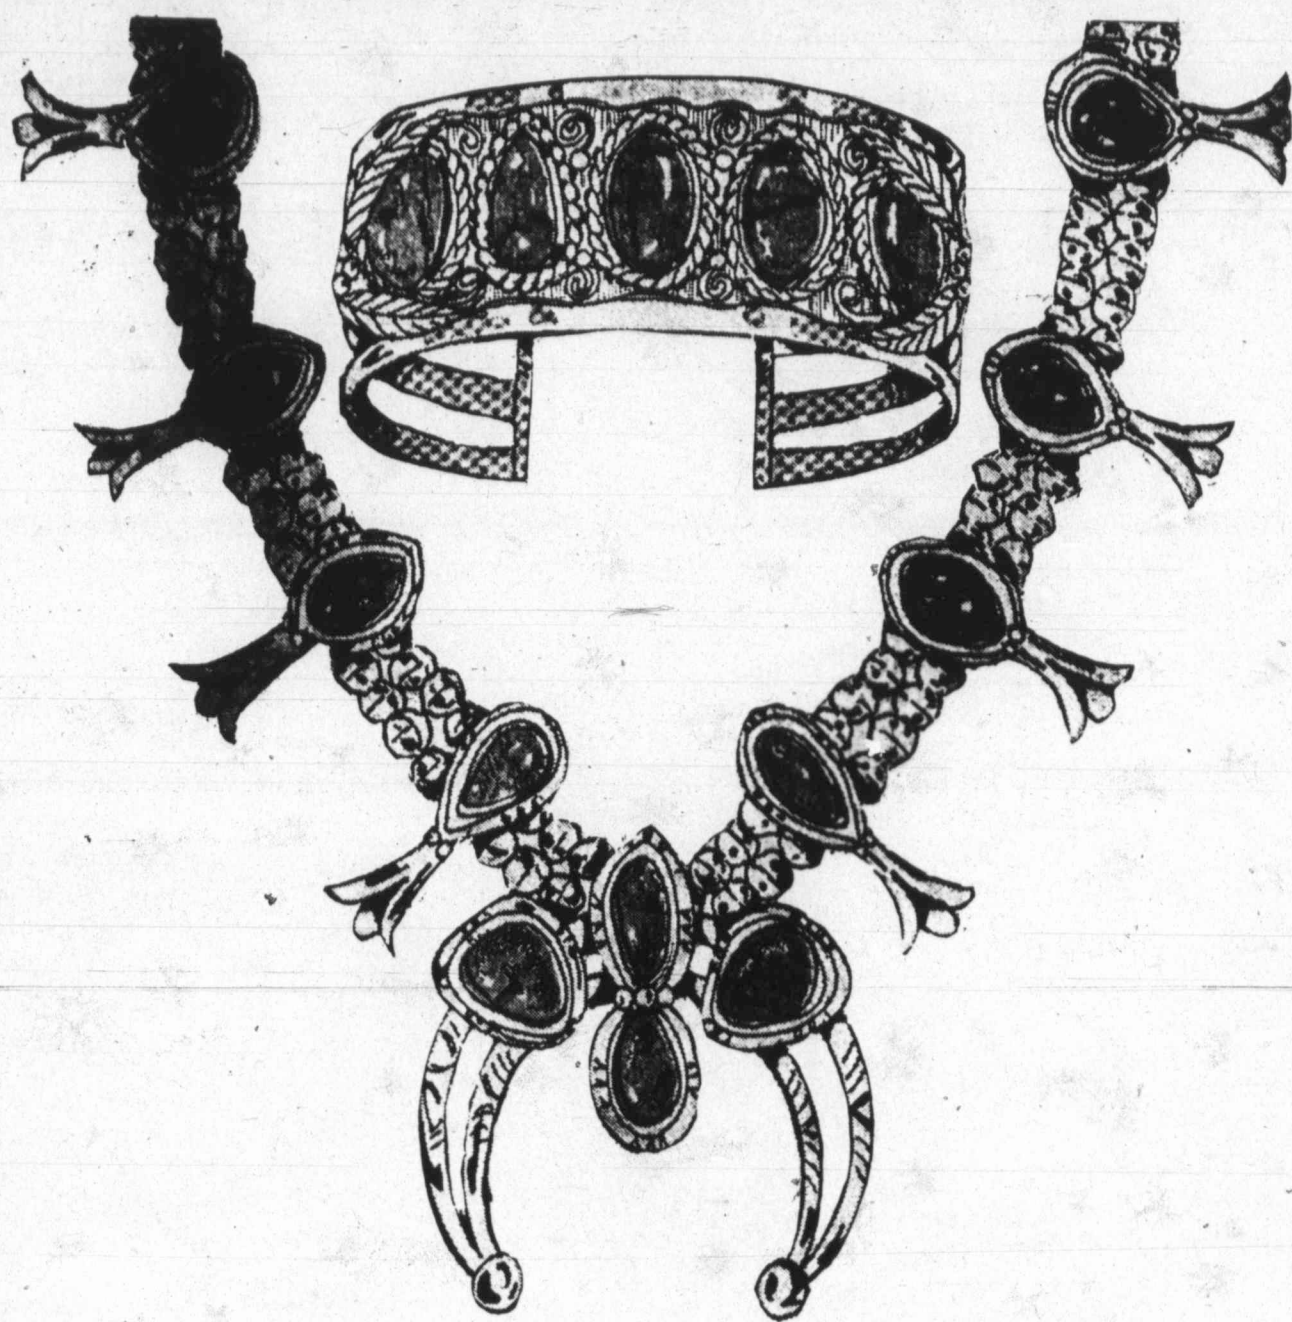

The rodeo, which is a sanctioned Girls' Rodeo Association event, has added money of $7,000. More than 300 girls are expected to compete in an average of three events each.

GRA President Margaret Clemmons said interest in the Hereford rodeo, which will initiate the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame, was very high.

"We have more girls in our membership from Texas and Oklahoma than any other two states," she said. "This is a 'hotbed' for girls' rodeo and I know we'll have a big turnout."

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is the rodeo sponsor. To enter, telephone the chamber, (806) 364-3333. Entry fee is $25 per event. Entries close at 2 p.m. May 14.
