SECURITY ZONE

NATO Posts New Warning To Russians

BRUSSELS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up a new zone of security interest in southeast Europe and the Mediterranean Saturday and posted a warning to the Russians.

"Clearly any Soviet intervention, directly or indirectly, affecting the situation in Europe or in the Mediterranean would create an international crisis with grave consequences," the 15 members of the alliance proclaimed in a communique.

Western statesmen led by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the same time ordered a power buildup in case they have to meet a Soviet attack on their newly conceived security zone, which includes both Communist and neutral lands.

Emergency Plans

In a parallel action, NATO strategic experts pushed ahead with emergency plans for the defense of such countries as Yugoslavia, Austria and Albania in the event a need should arise to rush to their aid.

The proclamation of shared security interests, issued at the end of a meeting of the council of the alliance, was a direct response to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia, Aug. 20-21.

The communique, with lone-wolf France among the signers, recalled how the Russians sought to justify the invasion.

"The contention of the Soviet leadership that there exists a right of intervention in the affairs of other states deemed to be within a so-called 'socialist commonwealth' runs counter to the basic principles of the United Nations Charter, is dangerous to European security and has inevitably aroused grave anxieties," the communique said. "It gives rise to fears of a further use of force in other cases."

Consequently the allies set out to counter the self-assumed right of the Russians to define a new set of rules for themselves.

Action Program

At the heart of their message to Moscow was this signal: If this doctrine of intervention in the socialist commonwealth turns out to be an action program — watch out!

The three-day conference of NATO defense, finance and foreign ministers had been arranged a month ahead of its regular schedule to examine implications of the Czechoslovak incident.

It was a conference marked by a farewell appearance of Rusk, who for the past eight years has spoken for the United States at 16 NATO gatherings. Colleagues presented him a collection of pictures taken on these occasions.

In turn he was able to invite the NATO council, on behalf of both President Johnson and President-elect Richard M. Nixon, to stage its next session in Washington, April 10 and 11. It has still to be decided whether that parley will be at summit or ministerial level.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The general election is gone — but not forgotten. Two years ago the Precinct 2 Commissioner vote was so close it occasioned a recount. This week when the official canvass came up it was discovered the absentee box had more votes in the commissioner elections than applications, this — plus closeness of the vote — set another recount in motion. George Elliott, absentee canvassing chairman, thinks one stack of ballots could have been counted twice by error. The recount should help clear what happened, also whether Mrs. Mae Hayden, incumbent, or W. S. (Bill) Crooker, challenger, holds the lead.

Although weather interrupted, the cotton harvest was moving along rather rapidly. Over 30,000 bales of the current Howard County crop has been brought to gin, and another 10,000 are expected. That would exceed by 5,000 bales what many of us thought possible. Martin County is anticipating a 60,000-bale crop, and Dawson could have one of its biggest ever. It is looking for 168,000 bales, which confirms a little recognized fact — Dawson is one of the best cotton counties in the state.

Money Woes Hamper Fight Against Hoods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials say a Justice Department campaign against organized crime, begun in 1961, is succeeding. But they assert congressional tightening of purse strings is hampering the fight against the Syndicate.

"We're stretching and straining all the while," said Assistant Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr., of the department's Criminal Division, "but the fact is we're having to rob Peter to pay Paul to keep our people in the field."

MAKING INROADS

Vinson and Henry Peterson, head of the division's organized crime section, report highly mobile task forces of federal crime fighters are making inroads into La Cosa Nostra, but that more money is needed for additional men.

The task forces, spearhead of the Justice Department's most recent efforts against organized crime, work with other federal agents in selected cities to pressure organized hoodlum elements.

In Detroit, for example, they report 65 indictments—12 of them last Thursday.

The task groups have infiltrated five areas so far, and are described by Justice Department officials as the biggest boon to organized crime-busting since Elliot Ness.

SOME GAIN

Like guerrilla warfare, it's difficult, Vinson said in an interview, to pinpoint gain against the underworld. But he thinks that since 1961, when Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy began the present campaign, "the graph has levelled off and maybe has gone down a bit."

Some officials estimate it may take 10 years of vigorous effort to bring organized crime to heel.

"What you have to do," Vinson says, "is establish priorities . . . hit them where it hurts."

This is the job of the task forces, and two more groups leave the department for secret destinations within the next month. Another two, Peterson disclosed, are "on the drawing board" for early next year.

But Vinson and Peterson complain they've been left by Congress with inadequate funds to carry on the war.

HEAT'S ON

Vinson says the department asked for 100 additional assistant U.S. attorneys and got 65. He wanted 40 more lawyers for the criminal division—a battery of five is used in each task force—and didn't get any. A demand for funds to provide 200 more narcotics agents was halved.

But the heat's on, and there are reports of discomfort and movement in the underworld.

Vinson said an indication that the task force scheme is beginning to pay off is the "obvious unwillingness of the second (Mafia) echelon to assume power."

WILL RUSSIANS TRY TO TOP APOLLO 8 ADVENTURE?

Ship Circling Earth

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Smiles From Moon Crew

Astronauts William Anders, James A. Lovell and Frank Borman, left to right, are shown as they broke into smiles over a question put to them at a news conference Saturday at the Space Center, Houston. They are the primary crew for Apollo 8 that will start a flight to orbit the moon on Dec. 21. The three hope to be in orbit around the moon on Christmas Eve.

MOSCOW (AP) — A powerful Soviet rocket hurled into orbit Saturday a 17-ton sputnik, the world's biggest unmanned scientific spaceship, an official announcement said.

The spacecraft, Proton-4, began circling the earth on a scientific mission to study high-energy cosmic rays and electrons.

The announcement did not specify what equipment was aboard or indicate whether Proton-4 had any other mission than the space studies mentioned.

SERIES

It came amid a series of recent Soviet space shots which Western scientists say could be building up to a Soviet attempt to send men around the moon before America's Apollo 8 attempt at Christmas time.

Another major Soviet spaceship, the unmanned Zond 6, went around the moon last Thursday and headed back toward earth. Soviet officials have kept silent on it since then, but Britain's Jodrell Bank observatory said the probe was expected to approach the earth around noon Sunday.

U.S. officials expressed belief the rocket which threw Proton-4 into orbit had about the same weight-lifting capacity as the U.S. Saturn 1B, which lofted the 33,380-pound Apollo 7 manned spacecraft into orbit in October. Saturn 1B has 1.6 million pounds of booster thrust and is capable of placing about 20 tons into earth orbit.

BIG THRUST

The most powerful American rocket, Saturn 5, can put 280,000 pounds into earth orbit or throw the complete 101,000-pound Apollo spaceship to the moon. On its two shots, Saturn 5 sent into orbit satellites weighing 280,036 pounds and 264,055 pounds, including unmanned Apollo vehicles both times. With a model of a lunar module attached, the payload of each of these two shots was about 100,400 pounds.

A Western diplomat here, a science specialist, said the Soviet rocket was apparently the same type used to launch the last Soviet manned mission, Soyuz-3, into earth orbit Oct. 26. Soyuz-3's weight has not been announced.

Yule Moon Astros Admit Risks, Dangers Along Way

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The crew of Apollo 8 said Saturday their planned flight to orbit the moon on Christmas Eve has "elements of danger all along the way, "but they don't think we're biting off more than we can chew."

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, the Apollo 8 crew, told reporters that the flight, which includes 10 orbits around the moon, is the next logical step in America's drive to land a crew on the moon next year.

"We ought to get out there as soon as possible,' said Borman. "I'm not concerned at all. I don't think we're biting off more than we can chew."

"I don't mean there aren't risks and dangers involved," he said. "There are elements of danger all along the way."

Anders said the crew will "take our increased proportionate share of the risks," but in doing so they will help cut down on the risks for future crews flying to the moon.

Lovell called the flight "the next natural step in Apollo.'

DEC. 21 LAUNCH

Apollo 8 is scheduled to be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Dec. 21. Three hours after launch, the crew will fire the third stage of the Saturn 5 booster to push themselves out of earth orbit and start a three-day coast to the moon.

On Dec. 24, the crew will fire the service propulsion rocket of the Apollo command and service module to put the spacecraft into an orbit around the moon. Later, they will circularize the orbit to 69 miles above the moon's surface.

After orbiting the moon for 20 hours, the crew will again fire the rocket engine. This burn will push them out of the moon's pull of gravity and place the spacecraft on the path home. Normal landing zone will be in the Pacific ocean, about 750 miles southwest of Hawaii.

FOR THE HOLIDAY

Borman said the crew planned some Christmas gesture from space, but that the gesture had not yet been worked out.

He said, however, that he hoped the flight "might lead to some understanding among people" of the world.

From space, he said, the problems that loom large on earth appear "insignificant."

Borman said the most critical point of the flight will be when the decision is made to inject the spacecraft into lunar orbit. Once that is done, he said, the service propulsion engine must re-ignite on command later for the crew to be able to return to earth.

The rocket engine has no back-up system, but there is redundancy built into the engine itself so that if one part fails, alternate parts can perform the burn.

Borman said he planned to take a "very conservative" look at the engine before deciding to proceed with the lunar orbit insertion burn."

Cat-Burglars Grab Jewels

TURVILLE HEATH, England (AP) — Cat-burglars broke into the stately 18th century mansion where Mrs. Aristotle Onassis is staying and grabbed jewels worth $12,000.

Police said the raiders struck Friday night while Mrs. Onassis was in the house with her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

Mrs. Onassis and her millionaire shipping tycoon husband flew into London Thursday night and are staying as weekend guests of the Radziwills at Turville Heath, about 35 miles north of London.

"This was a cool and daring raid," a detective said.

Police said the jewels belonged to Princess Radziwill.

Police said the burglars entered between 8:30 and 10:30 p.m.—a favorite time for British raiders who like to break in while their victims are watching television.

It was not known, however, if the Onassises and the Radziwills were watching TV at the time.

Mrs. Onassis, 39, who had special American Secret Service guards before her marriage to the Greek shipowner, has been given no special protection since her arrival here. But newsmen were kept away from the mansion by employes of the Radziwills, and the house is surrounded by barbed wire fencing.

Police said they were called to the house after a ladder was found propped against a second floor bedroom balcony.

Four Men Slain, Women Suspected

HOUSTON (AP)— Four Houston men were slain in separate incidents Friday night and early Saturday. Police questioned women about each incident.

Jimmy Jeanette, 32, suffered fatal gunshot wounds during an argument at his home Saturday, officers said.

Mathews Blackshear, 36, died on a sidewalk after he was stabbed Saturday.

Thomas Edward Williams, 28, was shot to death in front of a restaurant shortly after midnight Friday, police said.

James Henry Felder, 27, died of bullet wounds at his home late Friday.

Johnson Pushing Nuclear Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operating on the assumption that President Johnson will not call a special Senate session, party leaders are gearing for speedy action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty in the opening days of the new Congress.

Influential senators believe they had an understanding that President Johnson would not ask the Senate to return to work this year, if they will expedite treaty action early in January.

But the White House denied Saturday that Johnson had made up his mind about a special session call or that he had any agreement with party leaders on the matter.

NOT TRUE

White House press secretary George Christian said Saturday: "I have no idea where the story came from. It looks to me as if someone planted this. It is flatly not true.

"The President has made no agreement with anybody on this. He has not decided whether or not to call a special session."

There is some substantial opposition to some of the treaty's provisions and senators generally believe that this might spur lengthy debate if the Senate as it now is constituted were brought back into session to consider it.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he will support the efforts of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to bring the treaty up as quickly as possible after the Senate meets Jan. 3.

UPHILL FIGHT

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., top minority member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview Saturday he thinks Johnson hopes for Senate approval before the Jan 20 inauguration of President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Aiken said he thinks Johnson wants ratification of the treaty, intended to control the future spread of nuclear weapons, to stand as an achievement of his administration.

"But it will be an uphill fight to get action before the 20th," Aiken observed.

County Commissioner Recount Starts Monday

A recount of the votes cast in four boxes for the Nov. 5 election for county commissioner of Precinct 3 will begin at 3 p.m. Monday in the grand jury room in the Howard County courthouse.

A three-man committee was named Friday by the commissioners court to stage the recount. Members of the committee are R. H. Weaver, Mrs. Johnnie Morrison and Sidney Clark.

Order for the recount came after W. B. (Bill) Crooker, Republican candidate who lost his race in the unofficial count by 81 votes to incumbent Democrat Mrs. Joe (Mae) Hayden, filed for a recount Thursday with County Judge Lee Porter, presiding officer of the commissioners court, which acted as election canvassing board.

PRIVACY

The commissioners met Friday afternoon, and acting on suggestions from the two candidates, approved the committee for the recount. Crooker offered Clark, and Mrs. Hayden suggested Mrs. Morrison. The two recounters then chose Weaver to act as chairman.

Crooker was not present at the Friday meeting, but was represented by his attorney, Richard Milstead. Milstead and Mrs. Hayden both agreed to waive the site of the recount from the counter clerk's office, as specified by law, to the grand jury room where there could be more privacy.

Election laws say that both candidates, or their representatives, are entitled to be present at the recount. Also, the county clerk or a clerk's deputy may be present.

Weaver said the counter will begin tabulating the votes in the four boxes one box at a time at 3 p.m. Monday and will work until 10 p.m., and if the recount is not complete the same schedule will be followed on Tuesday.

Crooker's call for a recount came after commissioners discovered Monday that 102 more votes in the absentee box had been counted in the Precinct 3 race than there were applications for ballots.

MORE VOTES

George Elliott, election judge for the special canvassing board which counted the absentee ballots, told the commissioners that one stack of ballots may have been counted more than once.

Also discovered were 178 more votes cast in the Precinct 1 commissioners race than applications for ballots. However, no recount for the Precinct 1 race has been filed.

There were 383 applications for ballots in the Precinct 3 election, but 485 votes were counted. In the Precinct 1 election there were 145 absentee applications and 323 votes were counted.

Foreign Policy Aide Pick Hints Hard Line By Nixon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has chosen as his first foreign-policy representative in Washington a diplomat with a reputation for hawkish, hard-line views on dealing with Russia and Communist China.

His action reinforces the impression created by some of Nixon's own statements that the new president will be more hawk than dove in formulating policies on East-West conflicts and negotiations.

SEVERE CRITIC

Former Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy who became Nixon's emissary to the State Department last week, is know as a severe critic of the U.S. response to the Soviet Blockade of Berlin in 1948, the compromise Korean peace settlement 15 years ago, and the "visions" he has attributed to U.S. leaders of coming to terms with the Soviet Union on its own policy of peaceful co-existence.

Nixon announced Thursday Murphy's appointment as his personal representative to consult with Johnson administration leaders on foreign-policy developments.

TROUBLESHOOTER

He is also to keep Nixon himself advised of such developments during the two months until Nixon is inaugurated. After that he is expected to stay on temporarily as an adviser.

Associates of the president-elect said Murphy was chosen because of his exceptional qualifications for the transition task. When he retired from the foreign service in 1959 he was undersecretary of state. He had been a troubleshooter for three presidents—Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower — in the later years of a career that spread over four decades.

CONSULTED

In recent times he has been quietly consulted by the Johnson administration, and he probably knows as much about State Department operations as any man Nixon could have found.

It seems highly unlikely however, that in choosing Murphy for such professional competence, Nixon and his advisers would have been unaware of Murphy's policy views or found them unacceptable.

In general they can be reduced to two propositions:

—In a struggle involving the use of force don't be bluffed out of victory by the Communists.

—Negotiate with the Communists only from a position of strength.

How Murphy may apply his views to Vietnam war issues in any advice he gives Nixon is not known. Presumably he would be influenced by whether he thinks victory is possible. He is to be fully briefed on the situation in Vietnam and on the Paris negotiations.

Demonstrators Roam In Northern Ireland

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Thousands of civil rights demonstrators won their fight to march inside Londonderry's historic walls Saturday after a tense confrontation with hundreds of policemen and a rock-throwing clash with Protestant opponents.

With a roar of "We Shall Overcome," the mainly Catholic marchers stormed across the city's main bridge toward the 17th century walls, symbol of Protestant domination of Northern Ireland's six counties.

PEPPER RAIN

The police, keeping cool despite a rain of rocks and bags of pepper, pulled a few troublemakers out of the crowds, then estimated at more than 10,000. A police spokesman said four demonstrators and a policeman were injured as marchers and Protestants threw rocks at each other.

But the police made no move to intervene when at least 3,000 marchers, defying a government ban on demonstrations inside the walls, filtered through side streets and took over the city center.

There they massed in the Diamond, Londonderry's main square. They cheered a stream of speakers who accused the city government of discriminating against Roman Catholics, who make up two-thirds of the city's 57,000 population.

The demonstration was part of a series called by a citizens action committee to publicize their charge that the Catholic majority lose out on jobs, housing and even votes in local elections.

80 INJURED

Since the first demonstration Oct. 5, which led to three-day riots in which more than 80 persons were injured, both the city council and Northern Ireland's government have promised to speed reform.

Londonderry's municipal houses are no longer the personal gift of city councillors. Instead they are allocated on a point system intended to reflect the housing needs of potential tenants. Londonderry's housing has long been a main point of contention, because overccowding is bad in the Roman Catholic quarter.

Prime Minister Terence O'Neill has promised as part of a review of local government procedure to look again at the voting system, which in Londonderry disfranchises at least 8,000 people while giving up to 20 votes to some individuals.

This situation arises because votes at local elections go only to those who pay local taxes—householders, tenants, and business owerns. A man with several small shops gets a vote for each.

Czech Pupils Begin Sit-In

PRAGUE (AP) — Students took over universities Saturday in sit-in strikes to back demands that Czechoslovakia's Communist leadership guarantee freedom of information, assembly and foreign travel in this Soviet-occupied country.

ACT WISELY

Cestmir Cisar, head of the Czech National Council and former education minister, broadcast an "urgent appeal" on Prague television for students to: "Act wisely, do not permit yourselves to be pushed into a rash course and avoid unnecessary conflict."

The plea was made after strikes got under way in suburban Prague and in Olomouc, central Moravia. Prague student government leaders announced a three-day sit-in beginning Sunday at Charles University and other schools in the capital.

Czechoslovak informants said the Prague garrison of the army was on emergency alert. Military and city police with submachine guns patrolled the capital's snowy streets.

The Communist party Central Committee met for a third day of debate on the Soviet-led invasion and the party's future course under occupation.

SUICIDAL

After government warnings that demonstrations would be met with force, the students abandoned as suicidal their plans for a Sunday march to commemorate the 29th anniversary of the day Hitler closed Czechoslovak universities because of anti-Nazi demonstrations.

About 3,500 students in the Agricultural University at suburban Suchdol occupied their modernistic school buildings late Friday and planned meetings to support the pre-invasion reform policies and to protest action to reverse the reforms.

Czechoslovak radio and television issued brief reports on the speeches that showed a battle was going on in the Central Committee.

About 50 members had spoken, leaving nearly 100 speeches to go, with no indication when meetings would end.

An accident was reported at 10:21 a.m. Saturday at East Second and Runnels with the collision of vehicles driven by Frank James Matthews, 505 NW 11th, and Larry William Bailey, 703 Lorilla.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A U.S. Navy captain swore in his son into naval service Friday even though they were more than 1,000 miles apart.

The new recruit is John C. Porter, 21, who is a student at the University of Denver. He held his right hand aloft while the left clutched a telephone receiver to his ear.

At the other end of the line was his father, Capt. R. A. Porter, with the Defense Logistics Service Center at Battle Creek, Mich., who read the oath to young Porter.

Rebel 'Bunnies' Ruled Out Of Line

NEW YORK (AP) — The "bunnies" of the New York Playboy Club were out of line when they rebelled two years ago against a union they had designated as their bargaining agent, the National Labor Relations Board has ruled.

In an order made public Saturday, the board upheld a decision of last March 7 in which Thomas F. Maher, as trial examiner, recommended dismissal of complaints against the club management and the Hotel and Restaurant Workers and Bartenders International Union, AFL-CIO.

Board members agreed that the pretty waitresses in scanty bunny costumes had become disenchanted with the union after signing designation cards at the pleading of fellow workers.

But the board went along with Maher in his vnew that the "disenchantment, or indeed outright objection, to the relationship" was "a typical fact of labor relations life."

Maher said of 10 "bunnies" he questioned: "Nothing in their individuul or collective testimony has persuaded me that they were duped into signing union authorization cards."

Abbott Bids Low On Pump Station

W. B. Abbott, Lubbock, submitted a low bid of $181,633 for construction of a pump station for the City of San Angelo at the new Robert Lee lake to be impounded by the Colorado Municipal Water District. Terry Construction, water district, was second low Greenville, S.C., who is constructing the spillway for the bidder with a $203,832 proposal.

City officials indicated work would start almost immediately so as to be in the dry before the CRMWD begins closure of the dam. The city and the district are negotiating a water contract, which has been accepted in principle. Yet to come are pumps and a pipeline to San Angelo, estimated to cost $3,000,000.

Kiwanians To Host Students

Big Spring Kiwanians will be host on Thursday evening to the representatives of a number of Texas colleges and universities here to interview junior and senior high school students on college preferences. This is not a ladies night affair.

Jim Thompson, program chairman for the Kiwanis club, has announced that the club will meet at the high school cafeteria at 6 p.m. Thursday. Representatives of the colleges will dine with the Kiwanians. The program will be brief, since the guests will spend their evening talking with boys and girls of the high school.

Classrooms are being assigned to each college spokesman. Youngsters who are soon to graduate will go to the room where the school they are interested in has a spokesman.

A "round table" session at the Hotel Settles coffee shop at noon will be staged for the benefit of those Kiwanians who cannot attend the 6 p.m. session.

Films showing the Texas plan for improvement of the state's educational program were screened for the club at its regular meeting on Thursday.

Troops Shatter Enemy Attack

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops, using mobility and firepower, shattered a North Vietnamese attack Saturday near the Cambodian frontier.

Brought from the northern front only recently to help face the menace of 15,000 or 20,000 enemy troops massed in the area, the cavalrymen had little trouble breaking up the attack.

The cavalrymen were in a night bivouac 75 miles northwest of Saigon when North Vietnamese in undetermined force struck with rocket-propelled grenades and automatic weapons.

PURSUIT

The battle raged for an hour and a half, then the enemy began withdrawing under the blows of the division's helicopter gunships. The cavalrymen pursued for nine hours before final contact was lost.

In the battle at the bivouac, 24 enemy were killed, but U.S. headquarters said more were killed in the pursuit through the jungles, with some North Vietnamese shot from perches in rubber trees. American casualties were reported as several wounded with no fatalities.

Nine miles away from this battle, cavalry helicopters caught an enemy patrol in the open and killed 10, the U.S. Command said. There were no American casualties.

The U.S. Command said there had been three more violations Saturday of an agreement with North Vietnam to keep the demilitarized zone free of military activity in exchange for the U.S. boming halt of the North, announced Oct. 31.

EXPLOSIONS

American artillery and warplanes attacked the zone between the Vietnams after sighting enemy troops and convoys. The Command said nine North Vietnamese were killed, 23 bunkers were destroyed, and there were 32 secondary explosions, indicating hits on munitions dumps.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese sources close to the government maintained cautious optimism that a way out would be found for the diplomatic tangle holding up enlarged peace talks in Paris.

U.S. officials, however, would say only that discussions were continuing and various solutions were being studied. No top level U.S.-South Vietnamese meetings were held.

ONE IDEA

President Nguyen Van Thieu has refused to sit at the peace talks if the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is a separate delegation. He wants South Vietnam to lead the allied side with the front subordinate to North Vietnam on the Communist side.

Informants said one formula under study would leave South Vietnam nominally head of the allied team facing the North Vietnamese and the NLF. South Vietnamese sources said this might make it possible for Thieu to send a delegation to Paris.

Another solution suggested was setting up a rotating chairmanship for the Saigon-Washington team, with Saigon refusing to recognize the Front but agreeing to its presence on the Communist side.

Much of India's land, he said, is subject to this type of damage.

Nixon Working On Money Woes

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, relaxing alone on a porch overlooking placid Biscayne Bay, began work Saturday on his inaugural address and on budget problems.

He also named two of his top speech writers as White House special assistants.

With his family in Pennsylvania for the wedding of Barbara Eisenhower, Nixon spent the day at the waterfront home rented from Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla. Aides were stationed in a nearby hotel.

At a mid-morning briefing for newsmen at a Miami hotel, press aide Ron Ziegler said Nixon "is currently working by himself on the porch of the Smathers home on Key Biscayne."

HIS WRITERS

"I think that you could characterize what he is doing as spending some time alone, concentrating on certain areas in the inaugural and budget," Ziegler told reporters.

The two assistants Ziegler said Nixon planned to name are Raymond K. Price Jr., 38, and Patrick J. Buchanan Jr., 30. The assistants are expected to play a major role in shaping Nixon's address for the Jan. 20 inauguration and other messages to Congress outlining legislative proposals.

Price, former chief editorial writer for the New York Herald-Tribune, and Buchanan, a former editorial writer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, have been on Nixon's staff since last year.

BALANCE BID

In outlining their White House roles Ziegler said the two will be "generalists in the truest sense" active in "development of programs and policy statements."

Asked if he was named to give a liberal viewpoint and Buchanan a conservative one, Price said, "Together we provide a pretty good balance." Buchanan said the two have been able "to give Mr. Nixon the benefit of two viewpoints."

Ziegler said Nixon had no meetings planned and nothing special on his schedule, adding in response to a question that the president-elect planned to stay here at least through Tuesday, returning Wednesday to New York.

Canoeists Will Take Rio Trip

A seven-day Sierra Club canoe trip to explore the canyon country of the Rio Grande east of Big Bend National Park has been announced by Bob Burleson Temple, tour leader.

"We'll put 14 canoes in the river Nov. 23 at Stillwell Crossing and paddle 100 miles downstream to a point near Dryden," Burleson said.

Twenty-two persons from Arizona, California, Louisiana, and Texas will make the trip, limited by the Sierra Club to 25 "properly equipped and capable paddlers in good physical condition." Barney Toland, Big Spring VW dealer, is furnishing station wagons to transport canoeists up river to the put-in point.

Book Fairs Are Due This Week

Two book fairs — one at Big Spring High School and one at Immaculate Heart of Mary school — are coming up this week.

The high school fair will spotlight three authors, Fred Gipson, Carlysle Raht and Mrs. Vera Mullins, and will see three panel truck loads of books from which students will be urged to select. It starts Tuesday.

Theme of the Fair is "Hooked on Books.' It is sponsored by the Library Club, and Mrs. Lee Ola Cook is faculty adviser. Last day of the fair is Thursday.

The Immaculate Heart of Mary fair, starting Thursday, will feature a wide selection of books from which patrons will be urged to make Christmas selections or books to give to the library. Net proceeds will go to the library fund. The fair will go through Sunday.

Gipson, author of numerous books including "Old Yeller," "Savage Sam," "Hound Dog Man," will arrive here Monday afternoon for a brief time with the high school library student staff and members of the Library Club. Tuesday he will spend all day in the library, chatting with interested students and autographing books. He will be feted at a dinner Monday evening and a luncheon Tuesday.

Raht, author of "Old Buck and I" and other tales of the early West, particularly in a Big Bend setting, will come here from Odessa. Mrs. Mullins, who is the mother of Curtis Mullins, YMCA secretary, will come here from Wichita Falls. She is author of "Kala and the Sea Weed," also numerous children's adventure stories. Currently she is working on a sequel to "Kala".

Three Perish In Fiery Crash

ROCKWALL, Tex. (AP) — A car left FM 205, overturned and burst into flames, leaving three dead early Saturday.

The victims were Danny Singleton, 18, and Winfred Townsend, 25, both of Merit, and Clarence "Butch" Wiginton of Dallas. Merit is a small Hunt County community.

Critically injured was Jack Hoffman, 20, of Greenville.

Lint Classers Kept Busy

The seasons classing total passed the halfway mark last week, according to B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge of the U.S.D.A. cotton classing office at Abilene. The classing office reports 64,000 samples were processed last week compared to 6,500 samples for the same week last year. This brings the seasons total to 222,000 samples classed compared to 49,500 for a seasons total a year ago.

The office is still classing on receipts ginned before last weeks snow, but in another few days, the staff is expected to be caught up.

Grades were up considerably, with 56 per cent in the white category compared to 48 per cent for the previous week. The remainder or 44 per cent were in the light spotted category. Staple lengths of 30 and 31 were tied with 37 per cent. Micronaire was down with 81 per cent in the premium or 3.5-4.9 range compared to 84 per cent for the previous week. Strength readings were also down with 63 per cent reading 80,000 PSI (pounds per square inch) and above. This is 13 per cent lower than last weeks total of 76 per cent. Prices ranged for 18.60 cents for middling 30 to 18.44 cents for middling light spotted 30.

Famous Bridge Replica Folds

CASTEL GANDOLOF, Italy (AP) — High winds today collapsed a 50-foot section of a reproduction of the famous Remagen Bridge at a movie set near Pope Paul VI's summer residence. Two Italian workmen were injured.

The structure was being strengthened for filming Monday in the closing phase of the picture "The Bridge at Remagen," directed by John Guillermin.

The movie company had to abadon another replica of the bridge in Czechoslovakia when Warsaw Pact armies invaded the country last August.

Good Neighbor Project Slated For Monday

KNOTT — If the weather is good, a small army of cotton strippers, cotton trailers and farmers from the Knott and Lenorah community will converge Monday morning on the W. B. Walker farm, about 10 miles west of here, where about 100 bales of ripe cotton awaits harvesting.

Before they leave the fiels, those 100 bales will be ginned and neatly lined up on the gin yard.

It all arose when the communities of Knott and Lenorah decided to give Mrs. Walker a neighborly assist in the matter of harvesting her cotton.

W. B. Walker, a long time resident of the community, died about a month ago.

The three gins of the community joined and agreed that they would gin the Walker cotton as rapidly as it is delivered to their plants — running the Walker trailers in ahead of any that is already on the lots.

In this way the farmers can return the emptied trailers to their own farms and go ahead with their own crop work.

Traffic Toll Up

AUSTIN (AP) — State police reported Saturday the Texas traffic death count this year is 2,764, up 10 from 1967. The deaths occurred in 2,271 fatal accidents, compared with 2,323 a year ago.

Seminar For Educators Concerns Drugs, Sniffers

Local school administrators, in cooperation with the Big Spring police department, will sponsor at Big Spring High School Thursday evening a seminar on narcotics, dangerous drugs, marijuana and solvents.

Administrators, councilors and school nurses from Forsan, Coahoma, Stanton and Ackerly, as well as Big Spring, have been invited to attend the seminar, said Noel Reed, director of personnel services for the Big Spring Independent School District. Reed is coordinating the program.

The program has been designed to update information and further inform school personnel on the subject, Reed said. Since educators spend more time with today's children than any other group of adults, it is especially important that they be able to recognize the symptoms of drug abuse in children, he said.

"One of our most difficult problems is to help students realize the effects of drugs last much longer than the immediate sensation they cause," Reed said.

While there was some evidences of possible marijuana use by high school students earlier in the year, Reed indicated that he did not believe the problem was present in the school system now.

The program Thursday night will include a film, "Report on Glue Sniffing," produced by the Hobby Industry Association of America, plus talks by Jimmy Anderson, local pharmacist; Dr. Frankie Williams, state hospital doctor; and Pete Stone, police department sergeant.

Anderson will cover the subject of dangerous drugs for the educators, and Stone will speak on the effects of marijuana. Dr. Williams will describe mental and physical treatment of drug abuse, solvent inhalation and drug addiction, Reed said.

While the program will be directed toward school personnel, there will be some seats available for the public, according to Reed. The meeting will be in Room 142 at the high school starting at 7:30 p.m.

Violence Has Claimed 34 So Far In 1968

By SAM BLACKBURN

With a little more than six weeks to go in 1968 Howard County has already been charged with 12 traffic deaths on its roads and streets.

The six weeks remaining, in the opinion of the highway patrol and the Department of Public Safety, are among the most hazardous of the year.

Two major holidays are in those six weeks — Thanksgiving and Christmas — both of which will increase the number of vehicles on the roads and aggravate the possibility of fatal mishaps.

Each weekend will see major sporting events which will send thousands on trips. In addition to these factors, the winter season is at hand and the road hazards increase in times of bad weather.

In the same 46 weeks of 1968 which have elapsed, the records show that 16 men and women have died from gunshot wounds.

Poison, oil field accidents, and a gas explosion have accounted for six other deaths.

Thus causes other than those classified as "natural" have been responsible for the demise of 34 Howard County residents in the first 300 days of 1968.

The darkest day on the calendar seems to have been Sept. 25. On that date, three persons died in car accidents and a 60-year-old man perished of gunshot wounds.

No month has been free of violent deaths, a check of the death certificates filed with Pauline Petty, county clerk, discloses. Some, however, have contributed a bloodier score than their fellows.

September has the debatable distinction of having more accidental and violent deaths to its credit than any other month in the year — six. June and August each have five deaths.

Where heavy death tolls have been charged largely to one car accidents in recent years — 1968 seems to be a year when multiple vehicle collisions have been the big killer.

Only one traffic mishap so far has taken more than one life. Two perished on Sept. 25 in a truck-car crash on the Wildhorse Creek bridge, northeast of town on the Snyder highway.

Most of the gun deaths seem to have been instances where the victim fired the fatal shot himself. Some have been officially ruled as accidental. Others were termed suicide and the preponderance of reports where "self-inflicted gunshot wound" was the coroner's finding is disturbing.

Four of the 12 traffic victims were women. Two of the gunshot victims were female.

Only one of the violent death victims on this year's roster is a child. He was Gary Van Moore, 15-year-old Coahoma school boy, the first of the traffic victims to perish in 1968. He was killed as a crossing crash near his school March 11.

Average age of the car victims is 43 with a majority of those killed over 40 years old.

Eleven of the persons who died of gunshot wounds were 50 years of age or older. The oldest was 74; the youngest 20.

Average age of the gun victims was just a shade under 48 years.

Deaths due to traffic accidents:

March 11 — Gary Van Moore, 15, train crossing in Coahoma.

March 16 — Ervin Dee (Rip) Smith, 57, one car accident, 2.8 miles south on US 87.

April 5 — Wendell Lloyd, 21, car-truck crash in northwest part of county. Victim died in Dallas June 12.

June 9 — Andrew J. Cain, 68, car accident at 411 E. 9th.

July 6 — Opal Geneva Metcalf, 51, car accident .7 mile east on IS 20.

July 30 — Jessie F. Brooks, 51, truck accident at Sand Springs.

Aug. 1 — Mrs. Mamie Katherine Barnett, 48, three car accident at Third and Benton.

Aug. 11 — Beurl Wayne Bragg, 43, two car collision on West US 80.

Sept. 25 — Bobby Dale Travis, 30, and Mrs. Onnie Odell Odom, 43, car-truck collision at Wild Horse Creek bridge on SH 350.

Sept. 25 — Camille Inkman, 74, two car collision at Fourth and Lancaster.

Oct. 31 — James Thomas Fritts, 39, car collision at Dixon and Alamesa.

Deaths due to gunshot:

Jan. 6 — Octariano Tellez Ramirez, 32, and Rojrio Martinez Rodriquez, 30. (Both men killed in a shooting in a lounge on the Northside.)

Feb. 2 — Clifton Lee Newton, 30.

Oct. 19 — Robert Lee Turner, 22.

Deaths due to other unusual or violent causes:

Dear Abby

Stands By His Word

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently joined the Masonic lodge. Naturally I was very proud of him, but now it has presented a problem to us.

He tells me that this is a "secret organization" and he has given his word that he will tell no one about the secrets of the lodge.

Abby, in all the 18 years we have been married we have not kept any secrets from each other. I have cried, begged, threatened, and tried everything I could think of to make him tell me these "secrets" of his lodge, but he refuses.

How can an organization which is supposed to be dedicated to such high ideals create a barrier between a man and his wife? I'd appreciate your views. WIFE OF A MASON

DEAR WIFE: Consider yourself fortunate to be married to a man whose word means something. And quit pestering him to reveal the lodge secrets or you'll lose your Mason by degrees.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100s on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me wrong. I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong? CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: I have often read letters in your column about women who were worried about their husband's being unfaithful. Well, I am one woman who is not worried. In fact, I am all for it.

You see, my husband's capacity for love making is far greater than mine, and rather than force himself on me night after night, he attempted to divert his energies to various other hobbies. The hobbies didn't help, so he eventually took up drinking, and was well on his way to becoming an alcoholic before I realized his problem.

We discussed it, and I told him I would rather have him out playing the field than killing himself with the bottle. He agreed and complied with my request, and it has made a new man out of him.

His other women aren't taking anything away from me. In fact, they are doing me a favor. I am grateful for other women. CONTENT

DEAR CONTENT: If you are so sure of yourself in this strange love, why are you blabbing about it? I don't advise your system.

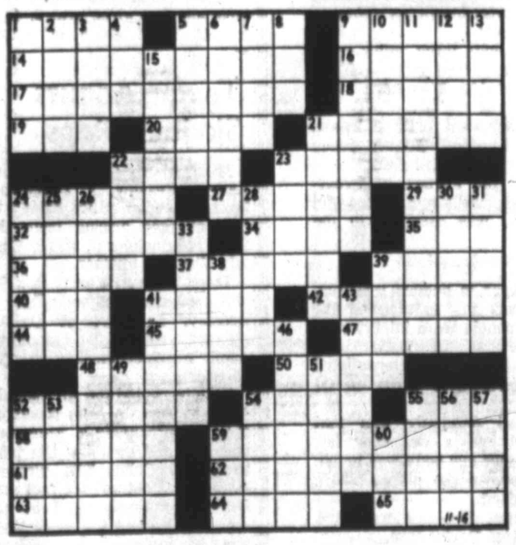
Puzzle of Friday, November 15, Solved



Month's Rains Total 1.02 Inch

Three relatively small rains so far in November have added 1.02 inch moisture to the year's total gauged at the U.S. Experiment Station.

Friday's .60 inch was the heaviest of the three.

Total rainfall for the year through Nov. 16 now stands at 19.34 inches which is 1.10 inch above the 67-year average.

November needs .85 inch additional moisture between this date and the end of the month if it is to achieve the 1.87 inch average scored over the past 67 years.

Smith reported contributions totaling $1,207,237 and Eggers said he received $291,352.

Exhume Body Of Young Girl

CLARKSTON, Ga. (AP) — Florida authorities exhumed the body of a 12-year-old Georgia girl Saturday, so they could compare a lock of her hair with hair found in the car of an ex-policeman charged with her murder, a cemetery spokesman said.

The young girl, Merilyn Clark, was killed and her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Clark, gravely wounded at Hollywood, Fla., Aug. 12 in what came to be known as the "catch-me killer" case.

Ex-patrolmen Robert John Erler, 24, has been charged with second-degree murder in the girl's death.

A prosecutor said a girl's hairband with hair clinging to it was found in a car that Erler drove to Phoenix, Ariz.

Shortly before the victims, mother and daughter, were found in Hollywood, Fla., in August, a man called the sheriff's office, saying he had killed three persons and begged to be caught.

Former fellow officers said the voice sounded like Erler's. No third victim was ever found.

Erler went on duty soon after the mysterious call and reported discovering Merilyn's body.

Prosecutor Daniel Futch and Hollywood Detective Sgt. John Cox went to Clarkston, Ga., to ask Mrs. Clark's permission to exhume her daughter's body, buried at nearby Chamblee, Ga.

DeKalb County Coroner E.C. Harvey Jr. said Saturday the Florida officials had gotten Mrs. Clark's permission, and the necessary permit from the State Health Department. A cemetery spokesman confirmed that the girl's body was exhumed during the day Saturday.

Erler is being held under $100,000 bond.

Nita, who will be accompanied by her mother, will be judged on general appearance, looks, personality and horsemanship.

Police Chief Headly Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Walter Headley, architect of a crime crackdown that sent police dogs and shotgun-toting patrolmen into Miami's slums in force, died Saturday, but his tough police techniques will live on.

Headley, Miami police chief for 20 years, died of cardiac arrest at a local hospital Saturday morning. He was 63.

The chief embroiled himself in national controversy when he ordered intensified enforcement of the law after a rash of Christmas robberies and murders in the city's Negro district last year.

The 6-foot-3, 250-pound veteran of 31 years on the Miami police force announced last December he was abandoning community relations efforts and said his officers were under orders to use shotguns and dogs in a war on hoodlums.

Headley later reported robberies in Miami's Negro district had dropped from 188 last December to 71 in January, 88 in February and 130 in March.

Miami Mayor Stephen P. Clark said Saturday Headley's policy "will always be in existence in this city."

Oh, Robin Hood Where Are You?

NOTTINGHAM, Britain (AP) — The undersheriff of Nottingham is seeking American help to restore Sherwood Forest, home of his predecessor's ancient enemy, Robin Hood.

For $25 you can sponsor a new young oak tree, and for $7.50 more you can have your name on it.

The campaign was launched today by Col. Harry Wharton, a lawyer whose official title is undersheriff of Nottingham.

"The scheme isn't entirely altruistic," the sheriff said. "To some extent it's a money-making idea. But basically we want to restore Sherwood Forest to its former glories."

Much of the forest was cut down for fuel during World War I and wide areas of the land have not been cultivated since.

Wharton and two other local officials formed a company, Sherwood Forestry Ltd., and bought seven acres for replanting near the spot where the legendary outlaw lived with his merry men.

Telephone Teen Victim Of Rifle

TELEPHONE, Tex. (AP) — Gary Phillips, 14, of Telephone was killed Saturday when a rifle was accidentally discharged while he was hunting deer.

The accident occurred two miles south of this Fannin County town.

Two classmate companions of young Phillips said a limb struck the firing mechanism of the gun when the trio turned to see a deer that had been spotted.

Justice of the Peace Clark Denton ruled the shooting accidental.

Train Slices Truck, Kills

JUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Herman Brockreed, 57, of Ringling, Okla., escaped death Saturday when a freight trained sliced his truck in half in this small North Texas town.

Brockreed was taken to a Fort Worth hospital where his condition was listed as fair.

Officers said Brockreed was alone in the truck, portions of which were scattered for 200 feet down the right-of-way.

Saigon Could Cope If GIs Withdrawn?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. specialist on the Vietnam pacification program declares that if there is an actual withdrawal of North Vietnam forces from the South, the Saigon government could cope with the remaining Viet Cong.

Ambassador Robert Komer estimated in an interview Saturday that there are approximately 100,000 Viet Cong now in combat. Of these 60,000 are fighting as guerrillas and an additional 30,000 to 40,000 more are serving as replacements in depleted North Vietnam regular units.

SPECIAL FORCES

"It is going to be difficult to sort them out in any withdrawal of foreign forces," he said. "But if U.S. and North Vietnam forces were actually withdrawn, I am personally confident the government of South Vietnam could cope with the rest."

For the past 18 months Komer has served under Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr. as the chief U.S. adviser on the Vietnam pacification program. He has been named ambassador to Turkey and leaves Nov. 27 for his new post.

He said South Vietnam now has one million men under arms. Its army is more than 820,000 while police, revolutionary development teams, special forces and others number another 200,000.

PREDICTION

The South Vietnam forces have been growing, and improving in training and equipment, Komer said. The Viet Cong has been declining radically in numbers over the past few months.

He said that in October there were 2,300 enemy defections, the highest since May of 1967.

Komer predicted there would be a surge upward in the pacification rate over the next few months. He said there was a 3 per cent rate of improvement in October compared to 1 per cent improvement in September and less than 1 per cent in the April to September figures.

FOUR RECAPTURED

Two Murderers Still At Large

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — Four convicted murderers and five other maximum-security prisoners propped dummies in their beds and fled the Utah prison during the night. Six were captured Saturday, including two awaiting execution.

Authorities in all Western states were alerted to be on the watch for the three still at large, including two killers deemed extremely dangerous.

FOUND HIDING

Three of those recaptured were caught 200 miles away in the small, southern Idaho town of Burley. They included Myron Lance, 29, and Walter Kelbach, 28, sentenced to die for two of five slayings in a Christmas week murder-robbery spree in Salt Lake City in 1966. Captured with them was Delbert Garrett, 32, a convicted burglar.

A few hours later, three others were found hiding in a culvert by Green Beret Army reservists on maneuvers only about five miles southwest of the prison.

They were John Ranson Ridge, 27, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Richard D. Gill, 21, and his brother James, 23, of St. Joseph, Mo. All three were serving five years to life for robbery.

COP KILLER

Still at large were Michael Patrick Jones, 22, Berkeley, Calif., serving life for slaying an Ogden, Utah, policeman in 1964; William Walters, 35, Fresno, Calif., a lifer convicted of killing a fellow prisoner in 1955, and Frank Lopez, serving five years to life for robbery and assault.

It was the largest mass escape in the prison's history and it came from a new maximum security building completed only last June at a cost of $600,000.

Warden John Turner said the nine were not missed until 11:40 a.m.—only about an hour before Lance, Kelbach and Garrett were picked up without incident in Idaho.

Turner said it had not been determined when the nine escaped, but they were last seen moving about in their cells at 6 p.m. Friday.

ALARM

The alarm was sounded after they failed to turn out for lunch Saturday and dummies were found in their beds. Guards conducting bed checks every two hours through the night and morning had noticed nothing amiss. The warden said it is not unusual for maximum security prisoners to skip breakfast and sleep late.

Turner said the men escaped through a ventilator into a tunnel leading into a mechanical room, then broke through a door to the outside of the maximum security unit. He said the men fled the prison grounds over a fence.

Each of the nine convicts was being held in a separate cell in the maximum security wing of the prison. They rendezvoused in a four-foot high tunnel after slipping through the ventilation outlets in their cells.

APME Picks New Officers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Charles S. Rowe of the Fredericksburg, Va., Free Lance-Star was chosen president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association Friday as the organization's annual convention came to an end.

Rowe, the current vice president, will succeed outgoing David N. Schutz of the Redwood City, Calif., Tribune in 1969.

Other officers chosen were Gilbert P. Smith, Utica, N.Y., Observer-Dispatch, vice president; Don Carter, Hackensack, N.J., Record, secretary, and Henry MacLeod, Seattle, Wash., Times, treasurer.

Wendell C. Phillippi of the Indianapolis, Ind., News, and John C. Quinn, Gannett newspapers, Rochester, N.Y., were named general chairmen and general vice chairmen, respectively, of the APME continuing studies committees.

More than 500 newspaper executives from the United States and several foreign countries attended the annual APME banquet Friday night to officially close the four-day convention.

Ben H. Bagdikian of the Rand Corp., Santa Monica, Calif., said the press is one of the many national institutions being tested by the current social upheaval.

"Much of the complaint from new activists in society comes from the feeling of all men engaged in a struggle—they don't want a reporter, they want a propagandist," he said.

This is understandable, Bagdikian said, but the press must continue objective description of events regardless of whom it displeases.

Won't Extradite 'Bama Fugitive

COLONIA, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes has refused to extradite Clarence Clark, 58, who escaped 25 years ago from a prison in Alabama.

The governor said Friday that Clark had become a model citizen since the escape from Kilby Prison in Montgomery, where he was serving a 20-year sentence in the killing of another prisoner.

"Thank God," Clark said when he heard the governor's decision. "I was waiting for this day for a long time. But when it came it was a shock. I still can't believe it."

Clark, who said the slaying was self-defense, turned himself in two months ago, saying he wanted to clear his conscience. He is married, the father of four children, and is employed at a plastics firm.

Gigs Segregation Of Blood Banks

DETROIT (AP) — The American Public Health Association has attacked what it terms the "scientifically foolish" segregation of blood banks in Louisiana and Arkansas and will seek to change that policy in the two states.

The APHA executive board said it will send a letter of protest to state governors and health departments and will ask the federal government to apply "such pressure as is legally possible."

The two states do not permit the transfusion of blood between persons of different races, although there is no scientific basis for not doing so, said Dr. Myron Wegman, board chairman.

Gold Star Boy, Girl Selection Slated Tuesday

LAMESA — Dawson County's 1968 Gold Star boy and girl will be announced as the climax to the annual Achievement Day dinner of the Dawson County 4-H clubs Tuesday night. Also, a Dawson County citizen, who has been a good friend of 4-H club members during the present year, will be singled out for special recognition.

The names of the boy and girl and the adult worker are closely guarded secrets and will not be known to the public until Tuesday evening.

Lloyd Cline, Lamesa mayor, will appear on the program to present a number of 4-H club members with awards for outstanding accomplishments in club work in 1968.

Johnny Montgomery, head of the adult leader association, will make the presentation of the award to the "grown up" selected for that honor.

The dinner will be served in the Forrest Park Community Center at 7 p.m. with Dawson County Home Demonstration clubs catering the meal.

Mrs. Mickie Crump is county home demonstration agent, Leroy Colgan, county agricultural agent and Joe Ed White is assistant county agricultural agent.

Threatening Letter Charge

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A man has been accused of having written a letter threatening President-elect Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey during the campaign.

Harry L. Johnson, 54, who officials said moved to Milwaukee from Missouri 13 months ago, was arraigned Friday before a U.S. commissioner on a charge of writing a threatening letter. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Johnson, of suburban West Allis, wrote a letter to The New York Times, declaring "shots will definitely be fired at either Nixon or Humphrey at the earliest possible time after whichever one gets elected," the Secret Service said. An agent said the letter was received by the Times Nov. 5.

Want To Do More Than Is Possible

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His four surviving heart transplant patients seem to feel that they must be more productive than is really possible for them, says Dr. Norman E. Shumway.

Shumway, the Stanford University surgeon who has performed seven heart transplants, told a seminar of California Hospital officials Friday that surgeons may need "considerable help from psychiatrists" to keep this from becoming a problem.

Because they have gotten a second chance, heart transplant patients seem "to feel they should do more... they wish to be more productive than is really possible," Shumway added.

David Eisenhower, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Julie Nixon, daughter of President-elect Richard M. Nixon, watch as David's sister, Barbara Anne, and her new husband, Fernando Echavarria-Uribe of Bogota, Colombia, leave the chapel after their wedding in Valley Forge, Pa., Saturday. David acted as an usher while Julie was a bridesmaid at the ceremony. They said they have picked the date for their own wedding but are not telling anyone.

Bridegroom Arrived Early, Ike's Granddaughter Late

By SALLIE NICHOLS
Associated Press Writer

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The bridegroom arrived early and the bride was a little late, but everything else went according to plan Saturday at the wedding of Barbara Anne Eisenhower and Fernando Echavarria-Uribe, of Bogota, Colombia.

The 19-year-old granddaughter of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was calm and composed as she sat back in the limousine bringing her to Washington Memorial Chapel in Valley Forge National Park about ten minutes before the noontime ceremony was to begin. It was a double-ring Episcopal service.

HAPPY

When she emerged from the chapel some 30 minutes later, she was radiantly happy, but appeared a bit disconcerted by the press of newsmen and the 150 onlookers who had gathered to greet the couple. She smiled a bit timidly and, clutching Fernando's arm, made her way slowly to the waiting car.

The former President could not be present to share his lovely granddaughter's happiness. He's in Washington recovering from a heart attack. But the bride's famous grandmother, Mamie, came.

She told reporters that Anne had telephoned her grandfather earlier in the day, but said she did not know what they talked about.

Future first lady, Mrs. Richard Nixon, attended the ceremony with her daughter, Tricia. The President-elect, however, was not there.

CAN'T TELL

The Nixon's younger daughter, Julie, was one of Anne's bridesmaids.

Julie plans to marry David Eisenhower in the near future, possibly around Christmas. David was also a member of the wedding party—he served as an usher for his sister.

Julie and David said they had decided upon a date for their wedding, but "We can't tell anyone yet."

After a reception at the Aronomick Country Club, Anne and Fernando planned to leave for a wedding trip to an undisclosed spot. They will live in Bogota where Fernando is assistant to the planning coordinator for an insurance firm, the Compania Colombiana de Seguros.

Big Spring Band Rated Superior

ODESSA — Big Spring High School Band placed superior Saturday in the marching band competition event here.

The young musicians were pitted against eight bands in District 3-AAAA. Two hundred and 25 of the youngsters played in the contest with Bill Bradley directing.

The three judges, Bill Woods, Levelland, H. N. Howell of Clovis, N.M., and Jerry Zook of Canyon, were lavish in their praise of the local organization.

Youngsters said that the judges did add one comment — that the musicians would make a better appearance if provided "overlays" — a part of a marching band uniform not provided for the organization this year.

In all, 25 bands entered in the several classifications.

Susan B. Beaird, Harriett McKinney and Janie Molina, the three twirlers with the Big Spring organization, won second in the twirling competition.

It was the eighth straight year that the Big Spring band has rated superior at the Odessa competition.

Texan Admits Skyjack Raps

MONTREAL (AP) — Charles Lavern Beasley, a 22-year-old Texan, pleaded guilty Friday to four charges arising from the Sept. 11 hijacking of an Air Canada Viscount airliner.

Judge John O'Meara said he will pronounce sentence Dec. 6. Beasley, a native of Dallas, pleaded guilty to kidnaping, public mischief and two charges of assault.

He interrupted the Air Canada flight to Toronto from Moncton, N.B., by producing a .22-caliber revolver and ordering the pilot to fly to Cuba. The aircraft landed at Montreal for fuel and Beasley was persauded to get off after holding the crew hostage at gunpoint for several hours.

Suspected Sex Killer's Arrest Closes Manhunt

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives investigating the sex killings of three little girls in the English countryside arrested a married man Saturday after the biggest manhunt in British criminal history.

Raymond Leslie Morris, a 39-year-old engineer, was charged with the murder of Christine Darby, 7. A jeering, hissing crowd gathered outside the court where Morris was formally accused.

Raped, Strangled

Christine, a pert dark-haired child, was found raped and strangled 15 months ago in the undergrowth of remote moorlands known as Cannock Chase in the English Midlands.

Her body was dumped only three miles from a ditch where two other murdered girls — Diane Tift, 5, and Margaret Reynolds, 6 — were found in January, 1966.

In the public outcry over what became known as the Cannock Chase Murders, British police organized a manhunt of unprecedented size.

Detective Superintendent Ian Forbes, a 54-year-old Scotsman with Scotland Yard's most successful record of solved murders, was assigned to the case.

80,000 Interviewed

He spent more than a year in dogged research, aided by 200 detectives working fulltime on the inquiry. More than 80,000 people were interviewed, including every adult male in the nearby town of Walsall. Forbes also called on the international police organization to investigate leads in 11 countries overseas.

What Forbes established definitely was that Christine had been lured into a car near her Walsall home four days before her body was found. A main highway runs between the places where all three girls were found dead.

Forbes had solved 13 consecutive murders before taking charge of the Christine Darby case.

SOME ARE JAILED IN TEXAS TOWN

Pupils Boycott Classes

ELSA, Tex. (AP) — Five of an estimated 150 boycotting Mexican-American pupils were arrested at Edcouch-Elsa High School Friday after they refused to leave the school grounds.

Principal M. L. Pipkin signed misdemeanor complaints accusing the five pupils of loitering on the school grounds. They were taken before Justice of the Peace Uvaldo Lopez who set bond at $500 each.

Lopez freed one of the pupils, Miss Mirtala Villarreal, on her own recognizance. The others were jailed at the Hidalgo County Jail in Edinburg in lieu of bond.

Lopez identified the others arrested by Hidalgo County deputies as Xavier Ramirez, the leader of the militant pupils, Homer Trevino, Freddie Saenz, and Arnulfo Sustaita.

An estimated 100 of the pupils gathered in front of the Hidalgo County Jail for a silent protest after the pupils were jailed.

McAllen lawyer Bob Sanchez told newsmen he would seek to get the bond reduced and would attempt to release the pupils today.

The arrests came as the demonstrators marched around the school for the second straight day. Pipkin expelled all of the estimated 150 pupils for three school days after they refused to attend classes Thursday.

The pupils said they were boycotting classes because the school board has refused to meet with them to discuss a list of grievances drawn up about a week ago.

The grievances include complaints about the school cafeteria, alleged discrimination against Mexican-American students and a reported order that all students speak English on the campus. Pipkin estimated that about 96 per cent of the students and about 70 per cent of the faculty is Mexican-American.

The school board is expected to discuss the complaints and the student boycott at a regular board meeting at 8 p.m. Monday. The board also is expected to expel the pupils for a semester because the board recently passed a rule barring student participation in such demonstrations.

34th Anniversary For The Johnsons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson observe their 34th wedding anniversary Sunday and may spend parts of the day at the wedding of a young presidential assistant and at a big Texas reception.

The White House said the Johnsons have no special plans of their own and will mark the occasion very quietly.

But there is every expectation that they will join in the unrelated celebrations with their close friends and staff members.

Mrs. Johnson is being honored by the Texas State Society at a 5-to-7 reception for more than 600 Texans, many of them in Washington for the Dallas-Washington National Football League game Sunday afternoon.

It is a farewell here for the first lady, a native of Karnack, Tex. A 14-foot-tall American holly tree is to be presented in tribute to her beautification efforts. It will be planted in the nation's capital at a site to be selected by the National Park Service.

The reception at the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology is under the chairmanship of two close Texas friends of the Johnsons, Mrs. W. Marvin Watson, wife of the postmaster general and former presidential assistant from Daingerfield, Tex.; and Mrs. Jack Hight of Dallas and Corpus Christi, whose husband served as a secretary to Johnson on his Senate staff.

Sunday evening at 8 Johnson's presidential assistant, Jim Jones, 29, of Muskogee, Okla., is to be married to Miss Olivia Barclay, a Washington attorney, at a black-tie ceremony in Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Georgetown. A reception is scheduled afterward at the Federal City Club in the downtown Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

Though the White House wouldn't say firmly, it is considered likely Johnson will be on hand to see his young assistant married, especially since Jones picked the same day the Johnsons did.

Lyndon and Lady Bird Johnson were married Nov. 17, 1934, in St. Marks Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Tex.

Scouts Plan Lake Campout

Boy Scout troops in the Lone Star District will pitch camp Friday at Moss Creek Lake for a weekend of contests, Scouting and other fun.

Frosty Robison, district chairman of camping and activities, urged Scoutmasters to call him or Tommy Cone, the district Scout executive, not later than Wednesday evening on the number of boys they expect to have on the campout.

Registration at the camp site on the south side of Moss Creek Lake will begin at 4 p.m. Friday. The fee will be 50 cents per boy, and this is to cover the cost of a shoulder patch designed especially for the district.

Each troop will be responsible for its food, and most of them will cook by patrols.

Saturday at 10 a.m. a fishing contest will begin with prizes at stake for the most and the largest fishes. Boys or troops not participating in this, will be working on advancement. There also will be camp inspection.

The campfire is scheduled for 6 p.m. when there will be a presentation of the President's Ribbon for the best camping unit; also awards for first, second and third place campers; skits; awards for fishing and other contests. Scouts will break camp about 7:30 p.m., said Robison.

There will be a concession stand operating for convenience of the boys.

Police Station Fired On By Militants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 9th District police station in St. Louis was fired on early today for the second time in less than three months. One policeman was injured slightly by flying glass.

In both cases, the shooting incidents followed arrests of members of a militant group called the Black Liberators.

Today's shooting came after the arrest of Dolan Chapele, 19, on suspicion of theft. Police identified Chapele as a lieutenant in the militant group.

District police said they received a telephone call shortly after the arrest from a person who asked if Chapele had been arrested.

When the desk sergeant said yes, the caller replied:

"We're tired of you locking up the Black Liberators. We're coming down and blow up the station."

Later a volley of shots was fired from a car speeding past the station.

One bullet shattered a window in the commander's office. Lt. Emund Moran was cut on the right hand by a glass fragment.

The police station was fired on Sept. 4 following the arrests of several members of the Liberators. The same night, shots were fired at the home of 9th District Lt. Frederick Grimes and a real estate office owned by Police Commissioner Clifford W. Gates was firebombed. Grimes and Gates are Negroes.

Thief Fails, But Causes A Big Stir

FORT WORTH (AP) — A would-be thief, armed with five hunks of wood and some impressive - looking electronic parts, tried to rob a busy Haltom City supermarket of its money Friday night.

He did not succeed but did cause evacuation of the store and a flying journey from Ft. Hood in Central Texas of a demolition squad.

Bob Davis, of Hurst, Tex., the night manager of the Buddies Supermarket, said he ordered 25 customers out of the store in the Fort Worth suburb after a caller told him that a bomb had been hidden inside the building.

Davis said a man called and told him he had placed a radio controlled bomb inside the store and ordered the manager to sack up his money and place it nearby.

Davis instead evacuated his customers and called police after he found a fishing tackle box in a paper sack. The box contained what looked like five sticks of dynamite, wired to transistors and covered with cellophane and plexiglass.

Police called for the squad of demolition experts from Ft. Hood and they arrived about midnight at Carswell Air Force Base. They rushed to the scene and after first examining the box, moved it to an empty parking lot.

Police said the team carefully dismantled the device, only to find the pieces of wood, coated with wax to look like explosive, and some useless electronic components.

YOUNG BOY FIGHTING DEADLY ENEMY
5-year-old Albert Weatherby makes a struggle for life

TRAGEDY FOR FAMILY

5-Year-Old Lad Fights A Tumor

By SAM BLACKBURN

Little Albert Weatherby must have been born under an unlucky star.

At the tender age of 5 years, the lad appears to be very near to his death — struck down by a malignant tumor which doctors say could have been imbedded in his brain when he was born.

Strangely enough, Albert's lethal problem was brought to light by an accident.

Several months ago, Albert was accidentally struck by the family car as his 18-year-old sister, Ruby Fay, was backing out of the driveway.

He appeared to have a head injury and two months ago he was taken by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clayton Weatherby, Snyder highway, to a neurosurgeon in Lubbock.

The specialist operated. He discovered a tumor, later proved malignant, in the child's brain. He said that the impact of the accident had broken the invader loose and the difficulties he had developed were the aftermath of the freeing of the tumor.

"The tumor was as large as an orange," said Mrs. Weatherby.

On return from Lubbock, Albert appeared to be well on the road to recovery. He played with more zest than he had shown even before the accident.

"The malignancy was still there, though," explained Mrs. Weatherby. "The surgeon at Lubbock had warned us it might be".

A little over a week ago, Albert became so ill he had to be placed in the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

His doctor feels that there is little chance Albert can beat off his enemy this time.

Friends of the little lad, who have watched him for all of his brief life playing around the iron and metal business operated by his parents, are grieved at his misfortune.

The family, already hard-pressed by the load of bills that the earlier treatments imposed, are facing even harder times now.

Weatherby is in bad health and Mrs. Weatherby said that his physician has told him he shouldn't work.

"He's trying to carry on the little business we have," she explained. "I have to be up here with Albert. I have had only one night's rest since we put him in the hospital. I did much of the work at the business — work that Clayton is now doing and work he shouldn't be doing."

In addition to Albert, the Weatherbys have four other children, Ruby Fay, 18, Luther Ray, 14, Brenda Sue, 10 and Fred Clayton II, 7.

A part of the tragedy is that no one can say with any certainty how long Albert's struggle with his illness may last.

It could go on for a long time but regardless of how long, there is sorrow and concern as well as mounting expense.

YOUR MONEY

By CHARLES E. BEIL

Among history's exotic financial items is a note about Marcus Brutus (Caesar's betrayer) arranging a loan to the King of Cappedocia and to the city of Salamis at a 48% interest rate. The famed Cicero, shocked by the incident, caustically reminded Brutus that 12% was the legal rate.

Interest rates have changed, but one doesn't have to go back to Roman times to find examples of exorbitant interest. In the field of home loans, it is the tremendous growth of savings and loan associations in the past century which has had much to do with making long term, low interest home loans available to everyone.

To indicate how much savings and loan associations have done in this area, from their beginnings in America little more than a century ago, savings and loan associations now make more home loans than all other financial institutions combined.

We are, in fact, home loan specialists. That is why we can give you expert help in arranging a loan when you buy, build or remodel. Stop in and talk to one of our loan counsellors!

Steers Move Closer To League's Crown

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas, sniffing a Southwest Conference championship, rolled roughshod over crippled Texas Christian University 47-21 Saturday en route to its seventh straight football victory.

The eighth ranked Steers, blending their brute force ground game with a fierce defense, moved within a game of at least a share of the SWC title.

Only a Thanksgiving Day showdown with arch rival Texas A&M blocks the way to a possible Cotton Bowl berth.

The Longhorns, whose only loss was to Texas Tech, now have a 7-1-1 record. TCU, playing without ace backs Ross Montgomery and Norman Bulaich, is now 2-7.

Quarterback James Street served as a catalyst for Texas' big swift running backs, who tore into the record book in turning TCU's homecoming into an autumn nightmare.

Steven Worster was the big gun in the Texas machine that rolled up 373 yards overland.

Texas' Chris Gilbert eclipsed the 1,000 yard mark for the third straight year and is firmly entrenched as the conference's all-time great ground gainer.

Texas built a 16-0 halftime lead and then exploded for four touchdowns in the final 30 minutes, Gilbert getting one on a five yard run after TCU fumbled away the ball at its own seven.

Gilbert moved up to sixth among the all-time NCAA rushing leaders.

Worster, scored only once, going two yards for the fourth Texas touchdown, but he netted a total of 137 yards, high for the day. Reserve back Bobby Callison scored the final two Texas touchdowns going 49 yards for the first and eight for the second.

Street had opened the scoring on a one-yard sneak in the first quarter and then passed 24 yards to Charles Speyrer for a second score.

Happy Feller kicked field goals of 37 and 41 yards.

TCU broke into the scoring dramatically as Billy Foundren stole a Joe Norwood pass in the third period and raced 80 yards to the end zone.

Third string quarterback Busty Underwood hurled two touchdown passes for TCU in the final period. The first went to Bubba Thornton from 31 yards and the second went to Leslie Brown for 42 yards.

Gilbert got only 60 yards on 13 carries but this gave him 1,047 for the season and 3,146 yards for three years.

Arkansas Slows Hixson To Trip Ponies, 35-29

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Bill Montgomery and Bill Burnett, a pair of talented sophomores, and a reckless Arkansas defense ruined Southern Methodist 35-29 Saturday and set up the 10th ranked Razorbacks' Southwest Conference showdown with Texas Tech.

Montgomery passed for two touchdowns and Burnett, who did not practice until late in the week because of an injured toe, scored on runs of one, two and five yards.

SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson, who entered the game as the nation's leading passer, threw four touchdown passes in the final quarter as the Mustangs battled back from a 35-0 deficit.

Hixson's final touchdown shot, a 20-yarder to Pinky Clements, came with less than a minute left.

The Arkansas defense, led by junior linebacker Lynn Garner, set up three touchdowns with fumble recoveries. Jerry Levias, the top pass receiver in the nation, did not catch a pass until the closing moments of the third period when Arkansas led 28-0.

The victory kept Arkansas in a tie for the conference lead with Texas and virtually eliminated the Mustangs from championship consideration. The Razorbacks meet Texas Tech next week at Lubbock.

Hixson finally began connecting in the fourth quarter. He threw scoring passes of eight yards to Levias, 18 to Frank Stringer, 13 to Mike Richardson and the 20-yarder to Clements.

Arkansas' ability to control the ball and the defense's knack for the big play kept SMU in poor field position during the early going.

SMU had 68 yards or more to go on each of its first nine possessions and five times took over inside its own 20.

Montgomery passed three yards to Chuck Dicus for one touchdown, and tossed a five-yard scoring pass to fullback Bruce Maxwell. Arkansas had to travel 17, 21 and five yards for touchdowns after the defense came up with SMU bobbles.

Harvard Nudges Brown, 31-7

CAMBRIDGE, Mass (AP) — Undefeated Harvard broke through stubborn Brown on John Emery's 54-yard scoring jaunt with an intercepted pass late in the first period and rolled to a 31-7 victory Saturday in a tune-up for an Ivy League football showdown with Yale.

The surprising Crimson, who started the campaign with only 11 lettermen, fashioned their first 8-0-0 record since 1913 in providing coach John Yovicsin the 100th victory of his career.

Hargett Hurls Aggies To Win Over Flock

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M's Edd Hargett staked his claim Saturday as the best passer of all times in the Southwest Conference, driving the Aggies to a 24-14 victory over the winless Rice Owls.

Hargett, a senior, completed 24 of 41 passes for 328 yards. Two of those were for touchdowns, tieing him with TCU's great passer of the 1930's, Sammy Baugh, who threw 36 in his career.

Hargett's exploits, most of them in a wild first quarter that put 35 points on the scoreboard for both teams, pushed him nearer the top among the national all time passing leaders.

IN FOURTH

He jumped to fourth in completion with 381, third in yardage with 5,158 and 6th in total offense with 5,258 yards. His totals are also SWC records.

Hargett ran his string of passes without interception to 171, 27 short of the college record set by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa.

Much of Hargett's work came in an intermittent rain that started just as the two teams lined up for the kickoff.

After the first quarter, Rice had two drives halted by pass interception at the Aggie two and at the A&M end zone. A&M fumbled away a scoring chance at the Rice eight, and the Owls stopped the Aggies at the Rice six inch line.

The game meant nothing in the SWC title race as A&M is now 2-4 in the conference, and Rice is 0-5.

Hargett has one more game, against Texas on Thanksgiving Day, to hike his records.

The only score after the first period came with just over five minutes left in the game when Charlie Riggs kicked a 16 yard field goal. The ball spiraled into the cross bar, bounced high and fell across.

Tony Conley, Rice's 217-lb. sophomore fullback, set a school record by carrying the ball 35 times. He gained 128 yards. A&M's Larry Stegent gained 100 of the Aggies' total of 106 yards on the ground.

Rice quarterback Robbie Shelton completed 10 of 17 passes for 106 yards.

Texas Tech Shocked By Baylor, 42-28

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Junior Gene Rogers jarred heavily favored Texas Tech with three slashing touchdown runs Saturday to give the Baylor Bears a 42-28 upset and dashed the Red Raiders' Cotton Bowl hopes.

The Tech loss in the wild Southwest Conference football battle kept standing a jinx that has never seen Tech defeat Baylor in Waco. The Red Raiders dropped into second place in conference warfare with a 5-2 mark, leaving the top spot to Arkansas and Texas.

RIP TECH LINE

Rogers ripped the Tech line for 139 yards in a spirited second half comeback that saw Baylor score 35 points.

The 182-lb Rogers scored on runs of 17, one and six yards. He set up another one yard touchdown plunge by Pinkie Palmer, who surprised Tech with his first completed pass of the season good for 14 yards in a touchdown to Mark Lewis.

Delirious Baylor fans —less than 20,000 of them— poured onto the field before the game was completed and wouldn't leave until the band finished playing "That Good Old Baylor Line."

Hapless Baylor now has a 2-3 conference mark, a pinnacle SWC football experts thought it would never achieve this season.

It appeared that Baylor was doomed by its own fumbling play early in the third period. Tech intercepted three Baylor passes and recovered two fumbles to keep the Bears in the hole for a good part of two and a half quarters.

Tech built a 14-7 halftime lead on Tom Sawyer's five yard touchdown run and a scoring pass for the same distance from Sawyer to Charles Evans.

3-TD BLITZ

Roger Freeman rambled for touchdown runs of one and five yards to build up a 28-21 Tech lead going into the final period.

Baylor then struck for a 3 touchdown blitz.

Rogers' one yard touchdown run tied the score at 28-28 and Baylor went ahead for good when Palmer plunged over from one yard out after consecutive runs of 28, 11 and six yards by Rogers put the ball on the lip of the goal.

Quarterback Steve Stuart of Baylor kept the usually tough Tech defense off balance all day with his heady play selection. When he wasn't feeding the ball to Rogers or Palmer he found time to complete 16 of 32 passes for 205 yards, including a 15 yard touchdown shot to Don Huggins.

Baylor's fine defense, paced by rugged Roy McDeamon who three times dumped the Red Raider quarterbacks for losses, surrendered only 71 passing yards to the Tech offense.

Sawyer was the leading ground gainer for Tech but could only net 41 yards in 18 carries. He connected on six of 16 passes for the 71 yards but suffered two interceptions.

Palmer gouged out 95 yards in 26 blasts at the Tech line.

Storm Halts Competition In World Cup Golf Play

ROME, Italy (AP) — A flash hail and rain storm abruptly halted the world Cup golf competition Saturday with the U.S. team of Lee Trevino and Julius Boros holding a two-stroke lead over the field with one hole to play in the third round.

The amazing Nationalist Chinese were in second place, two strokes back of the Americans with two holes to play, followed by Italy and Canada another shot back. The Canadians finished four-under and the Italians were four-under with one hole remaining.

These three teams, plus those from New Zealand, England and Ireland, were the only ones in the 42-team field which had not finished when the storm struck, drenching the fairways and greens.

Fred Corcoran, tournament director, ordered all balls marked. Competitors will resume early Sunday at the place they left off, completing the third round and then plunging immediately into the fourth and final round.

The United States was seven under par 72 for 53 holes on the 6,850-yard Olgiata course.

Nationalist China, which started the day tied with the Americans at a five under par 283, was five under par through 52.

JayVees Wind Up Stellar Season With Permian Win

By NATE MITCHELL

The Big Spring JayVees wrapped up their season here Saturday with a determined win over the tough reserves from Permian High School.

The win gave the locals a tie with Abilene Cooper's Cougars for the district crown. Each club has been stopped but once for 9-1 records.

The Shorthorns, deemed by many observers as a team which wouldn't win a single game, quickly developed into a powerhouse — rolling up 262 points vs. 73 for the opposition during the year.

Pride, poise, desire, unity and that never-give-up attitude have done more than anything else to make the 'Horns the finest reserve grid unit in the "Little Southwest Conference" — District 3-AAAA.

Coaches Oakey Haygood and Dan Bustamente had to utilize every boy on the bench to turn back the Little Panthers who boasted towering goliaths who played the game like their big brothers.

What ultimately broke Permian's back in the confrontation was a goal line stand staged by the Shorthorns midway the final period. With first and goal from the five, Permian, trailing 21-13, seemed to be ready to turn the game around.

Four plays later, however, the Black Cats begrudgingly gave up the ball at the Big Spring seven — a loss of two yards.

Big Spring opened up the battle when Herman Evans ended a 64-yard drive with a 10-yafd burst for the initial TD of the game. Johnny Rutherford converted with a kick.

Quarterback Gary Hughes went to Tommy Tanner for a 12-yard touchdown pass later in the opening period for a 13-0 bulge, after Rutherford's kick went wide.

Hughes hooked up with Evans for a 46-yard scoring missile in the waning seconds of the first half; then the signal caller converted on a sweep for a 21-13 ball game.

Permian had counted in the first period on a one-yard QB keeper and closed the gap with a 76-yard punt return by Jim Justice following Tanner's TD. Larry Bates converted once for Permian.

Big Spring got a lot of mileage out of Evans, Joe Zubiate and Kyle Rosene during the afternoon and was threatening at the enemy 7-yard line when the gun sounded.

Making up the fine group of gridsters who will all return next season are, quarterback Hughes; running backs, Evans, Zubiate, Rosene, and flanker Rutherford.

Other juniors are ends, Noel Brooks, Steve Tidwell, Tanner, and Charley Rodriquez; tackles, Andy Neiland, Joey Artega, Dave Thomas, John Hilario, Danny Clayton and John Jarvis. "Monster Man" Lew Switzer had been with the unit all season, but graduated to the varsity last Friday night and didn't see JV action Saturday.

Sophomores include quarterback, Dave Duncan; running backs, Joe Chavez and Walt Campbell; tackles, Steve Rich, Mike Gerhart, Dale Crenshaw, Jack Chrane and John Armistead.

Congratulations, Shorthorns! You had a fine year.

BIG LAKE — Unless you saw the game here Friday night, the 64-25 Reagan County victory over Stanton's Buffaloes might be deceiving.

Sure, the high-flying Owls won, and won big. The victory sends them into bi-district play against the Alpine Fighting Bucks (District 6-AA champions) next week to determine which eleven will go on to the regional play-offs.

For the Bisons, it marked the end of their second consecutive 4-6 hohum season which saw numerous key injuries turn a promising ball club into a mediocre one.

Since there's often victory in defeat, however, the Buffs took the long ride home with a consolation or two under their tired belts. Not only did they roll up a 19-0 early game lead over the gaudy Night Fowl, but saw quarterback David Jones and End Benny Avery, both seniors, stage an aerial circus the likes of which few had seen before.

Jones threw the ball 49 times in the fracas — certainly this must be some kind of record — for 276 yards and three touchdowns. He completed 29 with five interceptions.

Avery caught 14 of these for 136 yards and two six-pointers.

Stanton wasted little time lighting up the scoreboard and gave the District 5-AA kingpins some anxious moments before they got untracked and put the game out of reach following the intermission.

SCORING BOMB

Jones found Benny at the end of a 50-yard scoring bomb with 2:18 gone in the game; burst over himself to score from eight yards out as the first period ended, then hit Avery with a 35-yard pay-off pitch early in the second period.

Jack Madison's boot, following the initial TD, blossomed the Bison lead to a frightening 19-0.

After Avery made a great save by batting away Owl quarterback Joe Barnes' pass to end Jim Watson at the goal line midway the second canto, Barnes went to fullback Terry Tarvin with a 31-yard TD shot to put the Owls in contention. The PAT pass failed as Avery again intervened.

On the ensuing kickoff, Big Lake tried an onside kick and tailback Sandy Wilson smothered the errant pigskin for the Reagan County team at midfield.

Barnes hit Watson on a down and out pattern at the Buff 31 to open the drive; caught him alone in the end zone the very next play. After the conversion kick failed, the gap closed to 19-12.

Lightning struck twice — almost in the same place — as Wilson fell on another onside kick which set up another Owl score. After Buff Rusty Hicks swatted away a Barnes-to-Watson missile near pay ground, the tricky QB used a draw to Wilson which scored from the 16.

Barnes was so effective with his fake that only he and the ball carrier knew where the 'skin was until Wilson crossed the goal line.

Although the third consecutive onside kick failed for the Wise Birds, they tallied again when Barnes picked off a Jones pass at his 20, roared back to midfield where he fumbled the ball, but caught it on the bounce and thundered on in for an 80-yard scoring thriller. Barnes missed with the PAT kick.

COUNT AGAIN

Big Lake counted again with 9:24 left in the third, with Barnes hooking up with Watson again on a seven-yard scoring play. Hefty pass receptions by Watson set up the TD. Tobe Browder's PAT kick went wide.

Stanton came right back when Jones concluded a 62-yard offensive by hitting end Steve Stallings from 12 yards away. Avery caught the PAT pass, but landed out of bounds for no go.

Sam Douglas took Madison's kickoff at his five and streaked 95 paces to score and Barnes converted on a run for a 36-25 ball game.

Reagan County's sagacious signal-sounder rambled 55 yards across the goal line to open the final segment, but a clipping fine erased the fine run. Four plays later, Wilson exploded around end for a 26-step TD. Again, Browder's kick failed.

Barnes went to end George Wright for a 49-yard scoring explosive with 5:42 left and back Larry Settle converted with a kick.

Following a Bison fumble at their 26, Wilson closed out the scoring madness with a 14-yard burst and Browder finally found the range with his boot for the 64th Owl point.

Perhaps the single factor that turned the game around was a highly-controversial official rules interpretation on Barnes' 95-yard TD romp. For a while, following this unrest, the Owls seemed to have 15 men on the field.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Fine Linemen Will Return

By TOMMY HART

Has it occurred to you that four of the biggest stars in the recent Olympic Games—Spencer Haywood, Bob Seagren, Lee Evans and Ronnie Ray Smith — are products of junior colleges? . . . The senior college bird dogs still miss a lot of fine athletes that go on to make their mark in JCs . . . Leon Hillard, who made a hit here as a dribbler, is now the head coach of the Harlem Globetrotters . . . It appears Rusty Hicks, who throws the short pass better than he does the long one, will wind up as Stanton High School's quarterback next fall . . . Ace QB David Jones is one of six boys playing out their string at Stanton . . . The others are Benny Avery, Jack Madison, Frankie Arguello, Roger McAlister and hard-luck Mike Curry . . . There was a time at the University of Southern California last fall when the school's drama department invited a local elementary school class to attend the performance of a play on campus. After the visit, Prof. William White received the following message: 'We all wish to thank you for inviting us to see the play. We are grateful to you for letting us come backstage and set how it is set up. Our whole class wishes you, the cast and O. J. Simpson a wonderful Thanksgiving' . . . The parents of Midland Lee athlete Kelly Roach now reside in Tulsa but he'll complete his eligibility there in basketball before rejoining them . . . The senior Kelly flew in here from Oklahoma to watch the Rebels take apart the Steers back in September . . . Big Spring has the nucleus for a fine line returning in 1969, with Roy Anderson, Robert Dennis, Randy Morgan, Tony Dean, Jimmy Farris, Fernando Mendoza and Fill Guinn all due back . . . Don Farley and Ray Thomas of Our Town teamed to win consolation honors in the recent Amarillo Invitational Handball tournament . . . In the first four games played by the University of Houston's freshmen this season, Big Spring's Bill Burchett intercepted four passes and ran them back for an average of 14.7 yards . . . Big Springer Joey Baker's punting average for the same team was a robust 39.7 yards.

RUSTY HICKS

* * * *

Virgil Carter of the Chicago Bears, new quarterbacking sensation of the NFL, once resided in Texas . . . His father was an Air Force career officer . . . The hazards of kickoff-return and punt-return duty in professional football are such that no player has ever led either the NFL or AFL in both categories in the same season . . . Fact is, in the 27 seasons since the NFL began record punt-return statistics, 27 different players have led the league . . . What was the worst baseball game ever played in Big Spring? . . . Back on Aug. 17, 1931, a Daily Herald sports writer was certain it was a contest played the preceding day between a Cosden club and a Fort Worth Latin-American nine . . . Cosden was leading, 36-4, when it was called in the sixth inning . . . Every member of the Cosden team had scored at least three times and four of them had five hits each . . . With one exception, everyone had three hits or more . . . In all, Cosden had 25 hits before the mayhew was called off . . . Otto Graham may be turned out to pasture as coach of the Washington Redskins after this year . . . Would you pick Bob Beamon or Mickey Lolich as Athlete of the Year? . . . They say the basic difference in the two teams when the U.S. creamed the Yugoslavians in the basketball finals of the recent Olympic Games is that all five Americans played defense whereas the Slavs drop only three men back for the chore . . . Scott Appleton, the former University of Texas All-American who is now with the San Diego Chargers, has a ranch near his home town of Brady on which he runs 1,200 cows and 4,000 sheep . . . The spread embraces 1,000 acres . . . Quite probably, all parks used by NFL clubs will be using artificial turf in the next few years—too many players are now being crippled through knee injuries, which occur when the men's cleats stick in the turf and his knee fails to give with a blow.

Westbrook Man With Elite Athletes

When Leroy Gressett, longtime resident of the Westbrook community, played baseball with the Portland entry of the Pacific Coast League in 1922, he performed with some well-known athletes. From the left, in the above photo, they are Rube Walberg, later one of the Philadelphia Athletics "big three" i nthe 1931 World Series; B. Ellison, Gressett, assistant manager Tom Turner, catcher Rip King and the immortal Jim Thorpe. Thorpe, who divided time in the outfield with Gressett, was named the outstanding athlete of the first 50 years of this century in a nationwide poll and is still regarded by many as the greatest football player who ever lived. Bill Kenworthy managed the Portland club that year. Sammy Hale, later with the Philadelphia A's, also played with the team.

WINK — Coahoma, already assured of a spot in the Class A playoffs, subdued Wink, 28-0, here Friday night to wind up 5-A play with an unbeaten, untied mark.

In 10 starts this fall, the Bulldogs have lost only to Class AA Ozona. This marks the third time in five years the Bulldogs have bounded into the playoffs.

Coahoma will now play the 6-A kingpin, Aspermont, which upset the season-long leader, Abilene Wylie, Friday night.

Bernie Hagins' Big Red scored twice in the opening period, once in the second and added its final score in the third — before letting the reserves take over.

Halfback Ricky Evans put the Bulldogs out in front with a two-yard run and reserve QB Ken Clanton added the two points on a sprint around right end.

Coahoma got on the board again before the period was out when Clanton sought out end Billy King with a ten-yard pass. The Bulldogs took to the air for the conversion try but missed.

Midway in the second, Evans cranked up to score again from four yards removed. Clanton added the two PAT's on a run.

In the final minute of play in the third, Evans counted his third touchdown of the night on a run of two yards. The try for point failed.

Wink ended its season with a 3-7 record.

Coahoma had a decided advantage in statistics, gaining over 175 yards rushing and passing.

Sterling Nudges Kats, 16 To 14

By TEX ROGERS

GARDEN CITY — There was a lot of conflict written into Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities," but that looked like tea and crumpets compared to the epic battle of the cities of Sterling and Garden here Friday night.

When the smoke cleared and the final pages were edited, it was Sterling on top to the tune of 16-14 and the most likely to go on to the District 3-B eight-man championship. Garden City appears to be levelled to the role of an also ran.

The Garden City Bearkats hurled their thundering twin barrels of Robert and David Hillger at the visiting Eagles, but quarterback Tim Duncan outgunned the Hillger brothers like the Earps whitewashed the Clantons at the OK Corral.

Garden City rang up the scoreboard first early in the duel without even marking a play from scrimmage.

Held on the first series of downs, Duncan was forced to punt to Steven Hirt who returned the ball 48 yards for a touchdown with barely eight minutes left in the first period. David Hillger ran the two-point conversion to give the Kats an 8-0 margin.

The Bearkats staged another march in the period, but it died on the Eagle 20 when Robert Hillger bobbled the ball.

Sterling City came alive midway in the second canto when Duncan swiped a pass by Hirt on the Eagle 20. Duncan then operated the Eagle attack to the touchdown with passes of 15, 9 and 11 yards to Randy Peel and Allen Price.

Halfback David Currington contributed a 31-yard gallop to the Kat three before he was shoved out of bounds by Roger Lange, and two plays later Duncan fired a scoring pass to Peel, who also took a conversion aerial to knott the score with five minutes to intermission.

The Bearkats came back to go ahead with a minute left on a two-yard charge by Robert Hillger to cap a 65-yard march, but the point-after run by brother David fell short.

Garden City took the opening kickoff in the second half and appeared to be roaring back for insurance points. However, Robert Hillger again fumbled and Ishmael Vargas recovered for the Eagles on his own 10.

Sterling City tied the score late in the third period when Duncan passed 11 yards to Peel to end a short drive set up when Frank Price covered a Robert Hillger fumble on the Kat 17. Peel also charted the go-ahead points on the conversion pass from Duncan.

Garden City started to threaten in the closing seconds, but Duncan swiped a pass from Hirt to kill the drive and ice the game away for the Eagles.

Howe Nearing New Plateau

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe is on the verge of scoring his 700th regular season National Hockey League goal, an almost unbelievable achievement of an almost unbelievable career.

What will the milestone mean to the 40-year-old Detroit Red Wing great?

"Nothing," he said as he sat stiffly on a table in the team's locker room after a recent game, trying not to aggravate a strained back.

"I'm not numb to the fact that it's a wonderful thing," he added in his quiet, unassuming manner. "I like to get them."

But to a man who has reached as many milestones as Howe, each new achievement is simply another harassment of publishers who must revise hockey record books.

Howe is in his 23rd year in the NHL. He signed with the Red Wings Omaha farm team when he was 17 back in 1945 and earned $2,600. Today the 18-time Allstar reportedly makes $50,000 a year.

He said he isn't interested in records.

"I just want to last as long as I can," he said with a pause that seemed to scan past seasons of glory. 3

"I'd like to be on another Stanley Cup winner."

He was with the Wings when they won the Cup in 1950, 1954 and 1955.

The greying veteran holds NHL marks for most games played, most goals, most assists, most playoff assists, most playoff penalty minutes and most playoff total points.

He has been the league's Most Valuable Player six times, won six point scoring titles and five goal-scoring titles. He has many other records and awards too numerous to list.

The six-foot, 205 pound forward, who was the team's captain for four years, has also received countless face cuts from flying pucks and subsequently countless stitches.

"They go well into the hundreds, close to 300," he said. But amazingly enough a person has to look hard to see the scars.

He has suffered damaged knees, broken ribs, a broken wrist, broken toes, a shoulder dislocation, scalp wounds and other cuts. On March 28, 1950, he suffered a severe skull fracture and underwent a lengthy operation.

Pagan & Coates Pace Lion Win

OZONA — The tandem of David Pagan and Fleet Coates clicked again here Friday night as the Ozona Lions mauled the McCamey Badgers, 40-23, to close District 5-AA grid action for both clubs.

Coates scored three TDs, while setting up another one with a massive run. Pagan counted one touchdown, but turned in a fine job of rushing for the Lions.

Trojans Battle Back To Topple Beavers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Clutch quarterback Steve Sogge and the fabulous O.J. Simpson led unbeaten Southern California from behind with 17 points in the final quarter to defeat Oregon State Saturday, 17-13, and USC headed on to its third straight trip to the Rose Bowl.

The victory sewed up the Pacific-8 conference championship for the No. 1-rated Trojans and wrecked an aggressive try by the beligerent Beavers from Corvallis to register an upset.

The teams were deadlocked for 2½ quarters of scoreless football before 59,236 in Memorial Coliseum and a regional television audience before Oregon State hit the scoreboard.

Quarterback Steve Preece led the Beavers 59 yards in eight plays and Bill Enyart, the fullback they call "Earthquake," smashed for the final yard midway through the third period.

Southern California, en route to its eighth triumph of the season, suddenly began to click and traveled 64 yards in eight plays, with Sogge throwing a scoring bullet pass of 22 yards to a little-used junior end, Terry DeKraai. Ron Ayala tied it with a conversion kick after 2:13 of the fourth quarter.

Southern Cal went ahead after 10:40 of the quarter as Sogge and Simpson paraded from deep in Trojan country to the enemy 11, where Ayala stepped back and kicked a 27-yard field goal for what appeared to be the winning margin.

The excitement was hardly over, however, for with less than two minutes left, Simpson swept to the left for 40 yards and a touchdown and USC had a 17-7 lead.

The battling Beavers were still not subdued. Preece arched a towering pass to Billy Main for 74 yards and a touchdown with 1:06 remaining.

O.J. carried the ball 47 times for 238 yards. He fumbled twice but no one cared after the game was over.

Cadets Flatten Pitt, 26 To 0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steve Lindell and Lynn Moore broke loose for long touchdown runs as Army ground out a 26-0 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday.

Lindell scored in the third quarter when he caught the Pittsburgh defense overshifted to the right and went 30 yards to the left.

Sophomores Slam Colts, 38 To 0

Big Spring's gaudy Sophomores routed the visiting Sweetwater Mustangs "B" team, 38-0, here Saturday morning for their ninth win of the closing grid campaign. The locals have lost but one start to Monahans JV.

All 36 boys on the squad saw action, with spell-binding defensive work telling the tale of the verdict.

For the season, the Sophs allowed only 61 points scored against them, while punishing the opposition to the tune of 291 points.

Coaches Garland Braun and R. S. Hicks were forced to change their game strategy during the intermission to overcome a stubborn Colt defense which had held the locals to only eight points throughout the first two quarters.

Big Spring had tallied late in the second canto, when QB Larry Vasquez burst 20 yards to the Colt 10 and sent Dave Englert into the end zone two plays later. Roddy Caffey went off tackle for the two-point bonus.

Billy Franklin picked off a Sweetwater pass at the 42 and tore down to the 10 to set the stage for Big Spring's next TD. Caffey bruised on down to the two, where Joe Zubiate counted on a fourth down play. The PAT run failed.

Garry Ferguson stole the Sophs' third wanton aerial and Scott McLaughlin tossed 10 yards to Tommy Fletcher for another six-pointer soon thereafter. McLaughlin found Bruce Hicks with a pass for the two points.

Opening the final segment, Vasquez sought out Fletcher at the Colt 10 with an aerial; heaved to Englert from 11 yards out for the pay-off. Benito Rubio converted on a run.

Franklin stole another Colt pass later in the period, as did Howard Stewart whose interception at midfield set up Big Spring's final TD.

McLaughlin hit Caffey for a 55-yard scoring bomb and Phil Ferguson ran over the final two points.

Like their bigger brothers, the Sophomores came out of nowhere and finished with an excellent season — a job well done by every member of the team.

Green Bay Mentor Treading On Ice

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, who used to walk on water for Vince Lombardi, now are sliding on ice for Phil Bengtson. And, while everyone seems to know what has caused the freeze, no one seems to know how to change the climate.

Ask Lombardi, or Bengtson, or any of the players, what's the cause, and the answers are almost standardized.

"We're making mistakes we never made before," says Lombardi. "We used to take advantage of other people's mistakes; now they're taking advantage of ours.

PACKERS PROSPERED

"We haven't seemed to be able to play badly and win, and that's what you have to do. No one can play 14 great football games. The Packers certainly never have. But we were always able to win playing a bad game."

"The obvious thing," says Bengtson, "is that we're losing the close ones. In the past we won those. In the close games there are always crucial plays —fumbles, interceptions. We used to get them; now our opponents are."

"It always seems," says linebacker Forrest Gregg, "there are 10 guys doing the job, and one mistake being made somewhere. We seem to make more errors now."

And so, the Packers suddenly have fallen from the top of the heap in pro football, the aura of invincibility that surrounded them shattered—their chance for a fourth consecutive National Football League championship hinging on a sudden turnabout now that they are tied for last place in the Central Division with a 3-5-1 record.

There is, certainly, no disputing that the turnabout has been the result of the Packers' inability to force mistakes and instead, commit them. It's there in the record, and specifically, in their last two losses, by a total of seven points.

But, if mistakes are the reason for the Packers' decline, why are they being made? That's the big question—and there are no ready answers.

Injury and age are advanced as two theories, but usually denied as the main causes. And so, what's left, is a psychological prove of the Packers, and the possibility that the transformation came with the change from Lombardi to Bengtson.

NO LESS A COACH

That in no way implies that Bengston is any less the coach than Lombardi.

"I can't answer whether the change from me to Phil has had any bearing," says Lombardi. "It's a mistake to try and copy anyone else's personality. Methods, yes. Organization, yes. But this is one game in which the personality of the team is an extension of the coach.

"But I will agree that the problem is psychological now more than anything else. When you start to feel sorry for yourself you start going down quickly."

"My frank opinion is that there's an overanxiousness," Bengtson says. "A certain tenseness seems to have developed over everybody expecting them to continue winning."

That's as far as either Lombardi or Bengtson will go—or as far as they can go.

But the players touch on it even more.

"I think," says quarterback Bart Starr, "that in back of all our minds when Coach Phil took over, we thought about making the necessary effort to do the job for him this year. This, in reality, is what has disappointed us—hurt us—that we haven't played well for him."

"Down deep," says linebacker Ray Nitschke, "the players feel we'd love to win for Coach Bengtson. He's been a real big key to our success over the years and we want to win a championship for him. Possibly this is a psychological problem that may be always in the back of our minds."

ODESSA — It wasn't safe in W. T. Barrett Stadium here Friday night, with the Odessa Permian juggernaut loose and no traffic island in sight.

The Panthers put it all together, perhaps for the first time this season, to take Big Spring apart, 42-15, and thereby guarantee themselves a spot in the Class AAAA playoffs.

Gene Mayfield's Black Cats raced to a 35-0 lead and then spent the remainder of the evening weighing the assets of their vast reservoir of backs. In all, 13 secondary appointees handled the ball for Permian.

Big Spring thus wound up with a 5-5 over-all record and finished at 4-4 in conference. Permian proceeds to its next business at hand — a date next weekend with the 4-AAAA king — offering a 7-3 season's mark and a 7-1 record within the family among its lists of credentials.

The Steers' Waterbug, Roy Lee Warren, had no cause to regret the trip. He exploded for 144 yards in 15 running plays, which averages out to a 9.1-yards per carry.

Permian had only a 7-0 bulge at the end of the opening period but had expanded that to 21-0 by halftime. The Longhorns counted once in the third but the Panthers more than matched that with two more TD's.

Mayfield dispatched three quarterbacks into service and they didn't play any favorites in dialing their team mates' numbers on touchdown plays.

Mercurial Tommy Stewart, Tookie Berry and Charles Billingsley each bruised into the end zones twice for the Tabbies. Stewart sprinted 68 yards with the second half kickoff for one of his scores.

Stewart also scored first for Permian, going 28 yards on a double reverse with 4:05 left in the opening period. Tommy's run climaxed a 66-yard drive the second time the Panthers had the ball.

Berry traveled minimal distance for the second, slicing one yard on a dive play with 9:02 gone in Round Two at the end of an 87-yard push.

After Lindall Dempsey had picked off a Big Spring pass at the Steer 26 near the end of the second quarter, one of four intercepted by Permian during the long evening, Billingsley accounted for the third Permian tally with a four-yard run.

The Panthers came close to going in again on the last play of the first half when Dennis Duckworth jumped the highest of three players going for a 32-yard pass and was wrestled to earth on the Big Spring four.

SCORE TWICE

Permian's reign of terror was intensified in the third when the resident 11 scored twice. After Stewart had opened the round with his 68-yard run, the Felines made it 35-0 when Billingsley ran 13 yards up the backbone of the gridiron on a fourth down play, a maneuver which culminated a 32-yard drive.

That particular march was set in motion by another pass interception by Dempsey, as the Panthers quickly adjusted to a shotgun formation tried by Big Spring.

Realizing that things were fast getting out of hand, Big Spring then mounted a 61-yard drive that receipted for a score when QB Gary Hinds went wide on an option play. Fine runs by Leonard Basco and Warren and a pass to Lewis Switzer set up the tally. After Hinds melted through the hastily revised Permian defense alignment for the six-pointer, Jimmy Wilson booted the extra point.

In the fourth period, the teams traded touchdowns.

Permian counted first when Berry erased a few fingerprints made by desperate Steers on his running gear and heel-and-toed it three yards into bonanza country. His maneuver arrived with 10:22 left to play.

After each Permian score, Kent Hulsey coolly booted the PAT for the Panthers.

Warren, who might have done even better in the rushing department had he not gone to the sidelines for repairs with five minutes to play in the contest, set up Big Spring's second TD of the evening with some breath-taking runs and ultimately did the honors himself from 28 yards out after taking a pitch from Hinds. Warren could have run forever on that particular play, the swiftness with which he eluded the defenders.

Roy Lee then scored the Steers' final two points of 1968 when he accepted another pitchout and set sail around right end to the end zone.

Late in the contest, Permian's reserves hacked out yardage down to the Steer two but couldn't go in.

Rocky Wooley and Johnny Hedges were double tough on defense for the Longhorns.

Temporary Derailment

Wild Demonstration Erupts Following Fight Verdict

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden got its baptism of whiskey and wine bottles and stray chairs Friday night in a wild demonstration after the main event of a fight show.

When Ismael Laguna of Panama, former lightweigh champion, was given a majority decision over Roman Blanco of Venezuela by way of Puerto Rico, the trouble started.

Ringside spectators scattered for the exits and reporters and the referee crawled under the ring while pieces of glass boanced off chairs and showered the fugitives.

Several seats were ripped with knives. One small fire was reported to have started. The hockey press box was torn up and a small refrigerator was torn from its moorings.

It was a scene reminiscent of riots in the old Garden in recent years. Trouble started after the Flash Elorde-Frank Narvaez match March 10, 1967 and the Dick Tiger-Jose Torres bout May 16, 1967.

Three spectators were reported to have been slightly injured. One complained of a shoulder injury suffered in a fall. Another had superficial cuts. Both were examined by Dr. Kazuo Yanigasawa, the Garden physician.

This spectator can report that the thump, thump of hard objects overhead in the ring and the shower of splintering glass were real enough to make a man want to take his boxing on television.

Laguna, 136, is a fancy dancer type with quick hands and agile moves. Blanco, 136, called in Wednesday as a sub for the ailing Bunny Grant of Jamaica, is a sturdy little man who gave away height and reach but almost made up for it in punching power.

He wobbled Laguna two or three times but the Panamanian always escaped and came back strong, his jab spinning his opponent with those quick hands.

Referee Jimmy Devlin and Judge Tony Rossi each scored it 7-3 for Laguna. Judge Johnny Dran had it even at 5-5 in rounds and 6-6 in points. The AP had Laguna a 6-4 winner.

Eagles Smother O'Donnell, 47-6

O'DONNELL—The Seagraves Eagles ran up a 23-6 halftime lead, then coasted to a 47-6 victory over the O'Donnell Eagles here Friday night to conclude district 5-A grid action for the season.

Seagraves counted one TD in the first quarter, two in the second, another in the third and three in the final 12 minutes for the win. O'Donnell counted its lone TD in the opening period.

Jurgensen Is Set For Game With Pokes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen gets out of his straitjacket as the Washington Redskins and Dallas Cowboys renew their irrational rivalry in the National Football League Sunday.

The Redskins quarterback will replace the stiff and cumbersome cast he has been wearing over his cracked rib with lighter padding as he tries to bounce back from the passing disappointments of the past month.

Jurgensen's comeback still carries a question mark of uncertainty, but everything is usually unpredictable in the wild duels fought by Dallas and Washington every year.

Each of the last five games between the twain has been decided by a last-gap effort in the final two minutes.

No team has ever won twice in one year, and the rivalry stands at 6-6-2 for the seven seasons the Redskins and Cowboys have been tangling in two-game series.

The invading Cowboys will be trying to stretch a three-year streak in which the visiting team has won every encounter.

The Redskins have been weakened by injury and illness which extends even to the coach, Otto Graham, who has been bedridden with flu.

One starting back, Gerry Allen, is benched with a muscle pull, and his two rookie substitutes, Bob Brunet and Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban, are both burdened with an assortment of pains that could hobble their effectiveness.

Pete Larson, who has carried the ball only three times this season for a grand total of three yards, will get the starting nod as a result.

The Redskins will have a rookie, Willie Banks, who was one of the taxi squad only a couple of weeks ago, filling in because of injuries at guard directly opposite Dallas' All-NFL in pass receiving with 35 catches each, could torment an often leaky Redskins defense as targets for quarterback Don Meredith, whose stiff knee is not likely to bother his strong arm.

Crane Is Winner

CRANE — The Crane Golden Cranes, District 5-AA runners-up, defeated the New Mexico Military Institute Colts, 27-14, here Friday night in non-district grid competition.

Jets, Raiders Clash In AFL Headliner

By The Associated Press

The New York Jets, already a cinch winner in the Eastern Division, launch phase one of their role Sunday to help determine the team they will face in the American Football League's championship showdown.

The Jets, owners of a bulging 3½-game lead in their division, step into the thick of the Western Division chase—tightest in AFL history—for a two-game West Coast swing.

They take on Oakland Sunday, then meet San Diego the following week—the two teams currently locked in second place with 7-2 records, just one half game behind Kansas City, 8-2.

A pair of Jet victories would not only assure them of their first Eastern title ever, but also could help set up Kansas City as the Jets' foe for the right to move on to the Sugar Bowl.

New York's magic number is only two for clinching the title —any combination of Jet victories and Boston or Houston losses totaling two gives the Jets the crown.

The Raiders may have to combat New York with the oldest player in the league—40-year-old George Blanda—handling the quarterback duties again.

A decision on whether injured Daryle Lamonica would start was not expected to be made until game time. Blanda filled in last week and rifled four touchdown passes in a 43-7 blasting of Denver—the Raiders third straight since a loss to Kansas City.

The Chiefs and the Chargers, meanwhile, aren't expected to have much difficulty winning. Kansas City plays host to Boston, 3-6, while San Diego goes to Buffalo, 1-8-1. Denver, 4-5, is at Houston and Cincinnati, 2-8, at Miami, 3-5-1, in other league games.

Boston's big chore in trying to stop a three-game losing streak will be to contain the Chiefs' rookie Robert Holmes, who carried 21 times for 158 yards and caught all five of Kansas City's completions for 62 yards in a 16-9 victory over Cincinnati last week. The Pats gave San Diego a rugged battle most of the way last week before finally losing, 27-17.

Buffalo faces a murderous task in attempting to stop the Chargers' John Hadl-led attack, the most potent in the league. And, the Bills have to do it with a lineup riddled with injuries. Even rookie quarterback Dan Darragh, who is subbing for a sub, is injured and may not be able to play.

If quarterback Steve Tonsi can bounce back from a poor showing against San Diego, reviving Denver could make it a long afternoon for Houston, in second place in the Eastern Division despite only a 4-6 record.

Cincinnati rookie Paul Robinson, who has taken over the league rushing lead, will be looking for his fourth straight 100-yards-plus showing against Miami, which has the league's worst defense.

TUSCOLA — Forsan accepted its third defeat of the season, compared to five wins and a tie in yielding a 29-0 decision to Jim Ned here Friday night.

Forsan moved inside Jim Ned's 40 yard line on six different occasions, once powering its way to Jim Ned's one, but simply couldn't mount the fire power to go on in.

Bobby Reeves ran 75 yards on an off tackle play for the Indians' first tally, catching the Bison defense napping. Larry Allen booted the point. The Jim Ned breakthrough occurred in the opening period.

In the second, Terry Herron plunged a yard for Jim Ned's second score. Allen again booted the PAT.

The two teams fought to a standoff in the third but Jim Ned fired up for two more scores in the fourth.

Reeves passed to Herron for 55 yards and one tally, after which Allen made good on the PAT kicking try.

Late in the game, Reeves faked a punt and roared 40 yards for the Tribe's final tally. The home club got its final two points on a pass from Stanley Egger to Gary Peden.

The Buffs suffered several minor injuries but all hands likely will be ready for the final game of the season in Forsan next Friday against Loraine.

Larry Tolson, David Myers, Garry Irwin and Jackie Willis were the boys bothered by nagging physical miseries against Jim Ned.

Brownfield Mauls Snyder By 22-0

BROWNFIELD — The angry Brownfield Cubs mauled the Snyder Tigers, 22-0, in a District 3-AAA football game here Friday night.

Quarterback Bob Craig tallied the first TD on an eight-yard run; passed 24 yards to Keith Nell for another. Richard Lepard returned an intercepted pass 18 paces for the other TD. He also kicked two extra points, while Craig ran over the other two.

Woman Jockey To Make Riding Debut Monday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It will be at least Monday before Penny Ann Early can become the first woman to ride in a professional thoroughbred race.

Miss Early, 25, was scheduled to ride Bo Tree in Saturday's first race at Churchill Downs, but the horse was scratched Saturday morning by trainer Hal Steele.

A muddy track was given as the reason for scratching Bo Tree. Miss Early confirmed Saturday that the 2-year-old colt is a very bad mudder, and she said, he finished 23 lengths behind in his last race on a sloppy track.

In the short time between Friday's announcement that Miss Early had a mount and Saturday morning's scratch, unconfirmed reports said some male jockeys would refuse to ride in the same race with her. There also were unconfirmed reports that the jockeys would boycott the entire racing card Saturday.

Track officials said they had no knowledge of any such plans by the riders. A spokesman said the jockeys had applied no pressure to have Bo Tree scratched as far as they knew.

Miss Early confirmer that no pressure had been brought to bear on trainer Steele.

Miss Early, a petite blonde divorcee and the mother of an 8-year-old girl, said she hopes she can get a mount sometime during the coming week—the final week of the fall meet at Churchill Downs.

We give you less for your money.

You don't get a drive shaft. (Our engine is in the rear to give you better traction.)
And you don't get a radiator. Or a water pump. Or hoses. (Our engine is air-cooled, not water cooled.)
And since you don't get any of these things, you don't have to get anti-freeze. Or rust inhibitors.
And what you don't get, you don't have to pay for.

Teachers From Webb

The observance of American Education Week has brought to attention this year the fact that many schools are benefitting from adding to their faculties numerous young teachers whose husbands are serving at nearby military bases.

Such is the situation in Big Spring, where over the past few years, scores of young women have helped staff local schools while their husbands were stationed at Webb Air Force Base. These are capable and enthusiastic teachers who bring with them the flexible personality and tolerant understanding that belongs to — and is needed by — youth.

Pictured today are 24 such teachers who are new to the Big Spring Independent School System. They represent only about half the present number of teachers whose husbands are connected with Webb AFB.

Women's News

Big Spring Herald
SECTION C
BIG SPRING, TEXAS
SUNDAY, NOV. 17, 1968

BIG SPRING SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL'S restful patio takes on more beauty with the addition of these pretty teachers who are in tune with the younger generation because they are still a part of it. Seated, from left, are Mrs. Richard Arndt, Mrs. Lloyd Scott, Mrs. Stephen Thrapp, Mrs. Emmet Lung, Mrs. Robert Ellig and Mrs. Jerry Torbensen. Those standing are Mrs. Randell Carr, Mrs. Ron Pemberton and Mrs. Kermit Leonard.

NEW TO LOCAL SCHOOLS are these women who are just beginning their careers as teachers. Mrs. Robert Spanyol, left, is at Marcy Elementary School; while Mrs. Walter Petroski and Mrs. Benjamin Andrus are assigned to Goliad Junior High School.

THIRSTY FOR KNOWLEDGE? Learning seems less laborious to youngsters who are guided in their studies by these vivacious young teachers who respect youth and its potential. Pausing at the fountain are Mrs. William Walsh and Mrs. Thomas Eves of the Special Education School and Mrs. Donald Gerber who is on the faculty at College Heights Elementary School.

STEPPING INTO the educational field in the past year or two have been these attractive young women who plan careers in teaching. From left, they are Mrs. Richard Betterton, Marcy Elementary; Mrs. Gary Piukkula, Bauer Elementary; Mrs. Dennis Tewell, Gay Hill; Mrs. James Reese, Washington Elementary; and Mrs. Wayne Kloske, Marcy Elementary.

★ ★ ★

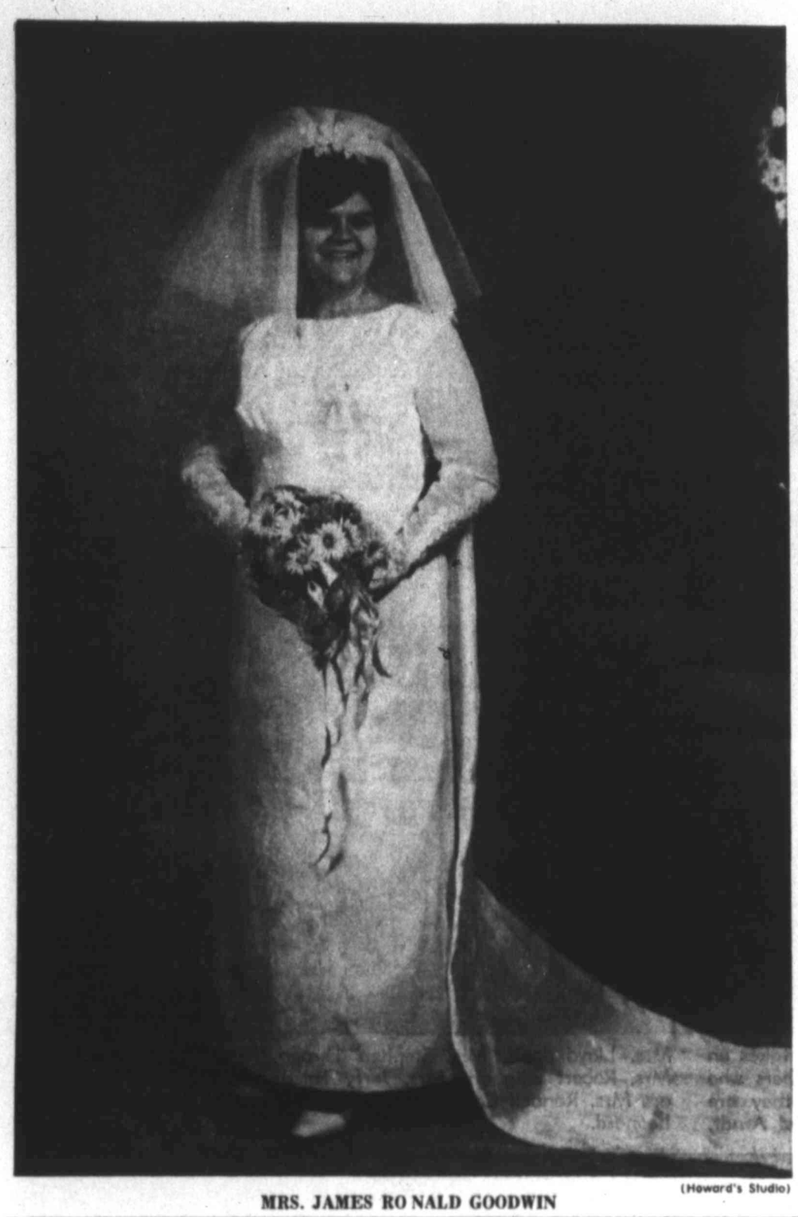
Miss Kay Coppedge Weds J. R. Goodwin



MRS. JAMES RONALD GOODWIN (Howard's Studio)

Miss Kay Coppedge became the bride of Sgt. James Ronald Goodwin of Webb Air Force Base in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Leo K. Gee officiating.

Traditional wedding selections were played by the organist, Miss Sherri Alexander, as the couple stood before an altar graced with seven-branched candelabra and baskets of blue carnations and white chrysanthemums flanked by emerald fern.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Coppedge, 1906 Morrison, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Goodwin, Port Byron, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal A-line gown on white taffeta overlayed with silk chiffon and featuring lace appliques on both the gown and chapel train. Her headpiece was a cluster of lace flowers, outlined with seed pearls, and it held a shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid and showered with picot streamers.

Mrs. Lloyd W. Coppedge of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and the maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Sisson. Bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Merrick, Miss Judi Houston of Stephenville and Miss Debbie Sisson. All were identically gowned in A-line dresses designed with Empire bodices of royal blue velvet and light blue taffeta skirts overlaid with blue chiffon. Matching chiffon formed the long, puffed sleeves. Their headpieces were blue velvet bows with lighter blue veiling.

The bridegroom's attendants were all of Webb AFB. Sgt. Dale Rowin was best man, and groomsmen were S. Sgt. Dan Martin, Airman 1. C. Ronnie Sternick, Airman 1. C. Henry Schick and Sgt. Clarence Legge. Ushers were Lloyd Coppedge of Lubbock, brother of the bride; Airman 1. C. Mike Koflanovich and Sgt. Tom Forsythe. Billy Null was ring bearer.

Tracie Lin Coppedge was flower girl, and the altar tapers were lighted by Jane Thompson and Debbie Starr. They wore dresses styled similarly to the other feminine attendants.

RECEPTION

The fellowship hall was the setting for the reception honoring the newlyweds. Miss Sharon Goodwin, sister of the bridegroom, attended the register, and members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Daily, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Sisson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houston of Stephenville, Mrs. Fred Butler, Ray Null, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. William T. McRee, Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McGlothlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. C. E. Gressett, Miss Cindy Gressett, Miss Debbie Gressett, Mr. and Mrs. John Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Spence, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marstrand, Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, Miss Linda Olsen, Miss Patti Olsen and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Newton.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann and Beth, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Allen, Currie and Janice, Bob Griggs and Miss Susan Fowler, all of Abilene; Mrs. Ann Smith and Jana of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Abilene.

The bride's table was covered with an organza cloth, accented with blue carnations on the skirt, and appointed with crystal and silver. Branched candelabra with blue tapers flanked the wedding bouquets, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Ray Null and Mrs. Betty Ovcarik served. The bridegroom's table was laid with an avocado cloth and centered with orange, brown and green feather flowers. Brass and china appointments were used to serve the chocolate cake. Miss Linda Jones and Mrs. Dan Martin served.

Rice bags were distributed by Miss Janice Allen, Miss Beth Lehmann, Miss Jana Smith and Miss Robbin Martin.

SCHOOLS

Sgt. Goodwin is a graduate of Riverdale High School in Port Byron where he was active in athletics, and Mrs. Goodwin is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School. She attends Howard County Junior College and is employed by the Hale Pump Company and Bill Reed Insurance Company. She is a past worthy advisor of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at the Alta Vista Apartments, No. 3. For traveling, Mrs. Goodwin chose a green A-line dress with green and Navy houndstooth coat and Navy accessories.

Kiwani-Queens To Assist With Party

Mrs. Pete Hull presided at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Kiwani-Queens and announced plans for the Kiwanis Christmas party, Dec. 12, for the Westside Recreation Center. The group met at the Holiday Inn, with Mrs. Bill Johnson as hostess. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a cornucopia of fruit and autumn flowers. Mrs. J. C. Pickle led prayer.

Club Told To 'Create' More Time

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration agent, spoke on "Time Management" at Thursday's meeting of the Progressive Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. Max Green, 1902 Main.

"According to a national survey, lack of time causes more frustration and discord in the home than any other single factor," said Mrs. Crawford. She discussed personal time management, job-imposed factors such as feeding and clothing the family, community imposed tasks and self-imposed tasks.

Mrs. Crawford said it would be impossible to do all these jobs without creating frustrations and tensions in the home and suggested ways to "create" more time. These included hiring household help, the utilization of other family members to assist with the work, work saving devices and machines and purchasing easy-care clothing.

Club members will sell pecans as a fund-raising project. Mrs. Green was elected secretary following the resignation of Mrs. C. K. Orr.

The next meeting will be a Christmas dinner, Dec. 12, in the home of Mrs. Roy Cederberg, 2306 Merrily.

Decorative Items Shown To Forum

Christmas decoration ideas were presented by members of the Junior Woman's Forum at Thursday's dessert bridge meeting at Cosden Country Club.

Items displayed included gilded Christmas tree made of egg cartons, Santa Claus light switch plates, a Virgin Mary figurine made of gilded sheeting and children's Christmas calendars.

Hostesses were members of the hospitality committee, with Mrs. Paschal Odom as chairman. Mrs. Jerry Barron presided, and Mrs. Wayne Henry gave a project report on the film being shown in elementary schools on drugs and glue sniffing.

Mrs. Morris Holmes, a new member, was welcomed, and guests were Mrs. Ramzi Botros and Mrs. Tom Coleman.

"Crazy" bridge was played, and high was won by Mrs. Delbert Donelson. Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with the Virgin Mary figurine. The next meeting will be Jan. 9 in the home of Mrs. Doug Cutsforth, 1906 Goliad.

Miss Shaffer Weds Sgt. William L. Griffin

(Curley's Studio)

MRS. WILLIAM L. GRIFFIN

Miss Connie Jo Shaffer and S. Sgt. William L. Griffin were married Saturday evening in the Trinity Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Shaffer, Route Two, and Sgt. 1.C. and Mrs. William Griffin of Copperas Cove.

The Rev. Claude N. Craven performed the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with seven-branched candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums and ferns which flanked an arch of greenery. Family pews were marked with votive lights, greenery and pink chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Donald M. Richardson, organist, accompanied Mrs. Virgil Blackwell of Wichita Falls, as she sang "Each Step of the Way" and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody who sang "O Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer." The couple knelt on a satin prie-dieu.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of candlelight peau de soie and white organza with fitted bodice featuring a round neckline edged in Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The sleeves formed petal points over the hands, and the slim skirt was enhanced by a lace applique and seed pearls. Enhances Beauty

Some materials actually look better as they grow older. Quarry tile, a type of ceramic tile, is one such flooring material, says the Tile Council of America. With age but without waxing, quarry tile develops a lustrous patina on its surface.

MRS. JOHN M. WHITE, 2110 Cecilia, has the accounts of last weekend's earthquake as reported in the Benton (Ill.) News. Said the News: "The first reaction was automatic. It was those d--- jets. An instant later, when the floor seemed to rise and heave . . . books jumped off the filing cabinets and hit the floor, dust filtered from the ceiling. An earthquake for sure! The fire department had more calls than it could answer and rescue parties were organized to inspect underground mine workings. Some brick walls crumbled. One grocery store closed due to shattered bottles and debris . . . Benton is Mrs. White's former home.

MAJ. ROBERT ANGEL, who with his family has recently moved to Scott Field, Ill., called his parents, the CLYDE ANGELS, to tell him they were all right. Mrs. Angel was in a beauty shop and while she didn't know what was happening, she knew that things didn't seem normal. And she was right!

Wedding Performed In Lubbock Church

MRS. RICHARD CLARK SHERK

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Sherrie Kay Price and Richard Clark Sherk Saturday afternoon in Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church in Lubbock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joel L. Price, 2117 53rd, Lubbock, formerly of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Kinder Sherk of Houston.

The Rev. Larry Hemp performed the double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar flanked with bouquets of chrysanthemums and candle trees. Mrs. J. T. Sims, organist, played traditional wedding selections by Handel and Purcell.

BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal gown of silk organza over peau de soie, designed with bodice of Alencon lace. The dress front and chapel-length train were accented with lace appliques, and her only jewelry was a topaz dinner ring, a gift from the bridegroom. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a peau de soie and lace bow, and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and pompon chrysanthemums.

Miss Patricia Collyer of Fort Worth was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Chris Sherk and Miss Gretchen Sherk of Houston, sisters of the bridegroom. The attendants were attired in gowns of moss green delustred peau de soie accented with candlelight lace.

William C. Sherk, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ushers were Micheal Dawkins and Robert Fabling. Lucy Kim Price, sister of the bride, was flower girl and was attired in a gold dress trimmed with velveteen streamers. Kirk Price, brother of the bride, lighted the altar tapers.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Brownfield High School and attended Texas Technological College. The bridegroom graduated from Spring Branch Memorial High School in Houston and Texas Tech. He is now in Officer's Training School at Fort Sill, Okla.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents where the refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with white chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with lace bells. The bridegroom's table was laid with a green cloth and gold centerpiece.

Mrs. Dee Lindley presided at the guest register, and others in the house party were Miss Cherie Glass, Miss Cindy Davis, Miss Barby Jacob, Miss Ann Richardson, Mrs. Donnie Hester, Ralph Quest Jr. and Rocky Greenwood.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Dallas and Houston area. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue knit dress and white coat with mink collar. Her accessories were gray, and she wore a rose corsage.

The couple will be at home in Lawton, Okla.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Timmons and Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Kirchhoff, all of Plainview; Mrs. C. V. Beck Sr. and Mrs. Karl Huber of Toledo, Ohio.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood, 2221 Lynn Drive, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy, to 2nd Lt. James Dee Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Young of Abilene. The couple plans to be married Dec. 22 in the First Baptist Church at Colorado City with the Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt officiating.

Joe Dawes Points To Changes In Education

Joe Dawes, computor math teacher at Big Spring Senior High School, was guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of College Heights Parent Teacher Association. He was introduced by Mrs. Harlan Hill, vice president.

Dawes spoke on school curricula changes, remarking that schools are basically conservative and that changes come about slowly in this area. However, he noted that other fields, notably industry, are asking for more "flexible" people. Instead of wanting people with only a knowledge of facts, industry wants those who will know new ways to approach facts.

The speaker stressed that changes are being made in school organization and administration; that programs such as public pre-school are in the planning stages. Dawes concluded by remarking that, often, what children learn is not the subject but impressions gotten from the presentation.

Mrs. C. K. Orr brought the devotion, and Mrs. Joe Heddleston's fourth grade won the room count.

Mrs. Elvis McCrary, hospitality chairman, assisted in serving refreshments from a table covered with a lace cloth over a blue underlay and centered with fall flowers.

Knott HD Club Sets Christmas Party

The Knott Home Demonstration Club planned a Christmas party for Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Dalton Wright during Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. E. G. Newcomer. Gifts will be exchanged. The group will assist at the Howard County Hereford Breeders Association sale Nov. 22. Mrs. Joe Myers presided, and refreshments were served.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS, SANTA'S VISIT

Holiday Events Scheduled

While many Big Spring stores are beginning to show signs of Christmas, the official season will open Nov. 29 with the lighting of the street decorations. But Big Spring children can be assured that Christmas is just around the corner at 2 p.m. on Dec. 2 when Santa Claus makes his initial appearance here on the east courthouse lawn.

Santa, who has contacted the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce to handle the arrangements for his visit here, will be assisted by members of the American Business Club in handing out candy and balloons to the children.

A police escort and the Big Spring High School band will escort Santa Claus to the courthouse, according to Ted Hull, Ira Bigham and Leland Pierce, who received a telegram from the North Pole co-ordinating center to make plans to have a stage coach available for the honored visitor to ride to the courthouse. They have made plans for the coach to be drawn by Shetland ponies.

Because of expected surge of school children after classes, parents of pre-school children have been requested to bring their children for a visit between 2 and 4 p.m. This will give Santa time to take the personal toy requests from the preschoolers, he said, and make room for the school youngsters later in the afternoon.

Salvation Army staff members under the direction of Capt. Bart Deggs, assisted by Earl Wilson, will assemble the Nativity Scene on the east side of the courthouse.

Home decoration contest entries should be phoned to the chamber office by Dec. 18. The annual contest, sponsored by the Texas Electric Service Co., will be judged the night of Dec. 20.

Almost 31,000 Bales In, And Gins Are Kept Busy

By SAM BLACKBURN

With 30,906 bales of Howard County's 1968 cotton crop ginned as of last Thursday, it is estimated that 60 to 65 per cent of the total crop is now in.

Most ginners report the crop in their area anywhere from half to two-thirds gathered. Some say that three-quarters of the fields have already been stripped, and in a few places, the estimate is half or less.

To some observers, the 30,900 ginning figure was a little disappointing. Some felt that if this represents 75 per cent of the crop, the dreams of a 40,000 plus bale crop will not be achieved. If the current ginning total is three-quarters of the total crop, the final figure will be about 39,000 bales.

However, few of the ginners think that the totals of Wednesday represent 75 per cent of the crop. The average would be nearer to 66 per cent in the opinion of gin managers. If this is a correct picture, then the crop could pass 41,000 bales.

The gins are still busy and there are a great many fields yet to be stripped.

Vincent community is probably nearer to the final gin than any other comunity of the county. The Hill Gin there had ginned 2,550 bales through Wednesday and estimated that over 75 per cent of the fields have been stripped. About all that remains, it was said, are smaller growers who do not own strippers and who are waiting for the farmers with the larger fields to finish. When the strippers are available, the little fields will be harvested. Two weeks ago, the Hill Gin had processed 1,758 bales.

At Coahoma, the ginners estimate that from half to a third of the crop still remains in the fields.

Acuff Gin had handled 2,023 bales through Thursday morning. This compares with 922 bales two weeks ago. Guitar Gin has ginned 530 bales — double its total of two weeks ago.

Luther community is within 1,000 bales of having all of its crop ginned, according to the operator of Planter's Gin there. The gin had handled 2,400 bales through Wednesday afternoon compared with 1,300 two weeks ago.

Paymaster Gin at Fairview has ginned 5,785 bales to lead the county's plants in number of bales handled. The gin had 3,281 ginned two weeks ago. Much of the lush crop in the Fairview area is now in. However, a steady trickle of trailers continues to pull onto the gin lot.

Knott ginners estimate the crop as from 50 to 70 per cent harvested.

Planter's Gin has handled 2,170 bales. Two weeks ago, the ginnings stood at 796. Guitar gin total was 1,210, compared with 500 Oct. 30. Farmer's Co-Op has now ginned 2,777 bales. It had ginned 1,536 two weeks ago.

Nearly all of the crop is in for the Lomax community. The Lomax Gin has handled 4,583 bales compared with 2,600 two weeks ago.

The Big Spring ginners are not agreed on the percentage of the crop already harvested. Estimates from 70 per cent to half are offered. Planter's Gin has ginned 2,800 bales. The plant had handled 1,039 as of Oct. 30. Guitar ginnings stood at 1,227 Thursday, compared with 606 two weeks ago. Farmer's Co-Op has ginned 2,851. This is nearly double the 1,467 of two weeks past.

Some of the ginners said optimistically that if the weather continues good, they "would be about all finished" by the first week in December. Every ginner seems agreed that the crop will all be in by Christmas.

The light snow and shower of last week caused the farmers some annoyance, but the ginners made good use of the lull in cotton arrivals to clean up the backlog of trailers already parked on their lots.

The quality of the cotton continues good. Middling with light spotting is the general report.

No important additional damage is expected from the snow or from the rains which fell in parts of the county Thursday and Friday morning.

Texas Companies Get Fuel Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., announced Friday that companies in eight Texas cities would receive Defense Department contracts totaling about $99.6 million.

The contracts, issued to 16 Texas companies, would provide for nearly one billion gallons of jet fuel. Included is American Petrofina of Texas in Dallas.

Food Aid

ROME (AP) — The U.N. Food and Agriculture organization has approved appropriation of more than $140 million for food aid to 11 countries, most of them in North Africa and the Middle East. The biggest single project commits $26.9 million over a five-year period to a cooperative network in southern Tunisia striving to lift nearly 200,000 people and their sheep from bare subsistence.

Allen To Place Herefords For Sale

Nathan Allen, Graham, widely known commercial rancher, will place the 54 Hereford bulls for sale at the 24th Annual Auction of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association here Nov. 22.

The association will hold its annual business meeting at Coker's restaurant at 7 p.m. Nov. 21. Officers will be elected and plans made for the ensuing year.

The sale starts at 1 p.m., Nov. 22, at the County Fair Barns, near the Rodeo Bowl.

Walter Britten, College Station, will be the auctioneer. He has served as auctioneer at most of the sales held by the association here.

No show will be conducted this year and no trophies will be awarded. The placing of the animals for sale by Allen is the only preliminary step to the sale itself.

The fair barn has been renovated and all-metal stalls and pens installed. It will be the first use the new facilities are to serve.

The 54 bulls offered for sale have been consigned by leading Hereford breeders of the area months ago by Lee Reed of Sterling City.

Another feature of the sale this year is that the bulls will be sold in the sales ring as "they are." In other words, other than for possible tail trimming, no effort will be made to wash or curl the animals.

The stock will begin arriving at the barn Nov. 20.

Officers of the association are Charlie Creighton, Big Spring, president; George W. Knox, Tarzan, first vice president; Kenneth Loso, second vice president; and Jimmy Taylor, Big Spring, secretary-treasurer.

Consignors and the number of animals consigned are:

Buchanan Herefords, Big Spring, 14; James Coates, Big Spring, 2; Charles W. Creighton, Big Spring, 5; Hall Bar H Ranch, Big Spring, 5; Roy Henderson, Big Spring, 4; Ronnie Hirt, Garden City, 1; George W. Knox, Tarzan, 1; Patterson Bros., Big Spring, 10; Pied Piper Farms, Hamlin, 3; Leland Wallace, Big Spring, 3; W&M Cattle Co., Tarzan, 5, and John Woodward, Tarzan, 1.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand; but save his life. (Job 2:6)

PRAYER: O Lord, help us to walk in Thy light, never forgetting that Thou dost love us all. Make us in spirit as white as snow, even though our sins have been as scarlet. In Jesus Christ's forgiving name we pray. Amen.

Close, But Not Yet There

As we head toward the end of November, our United Fund effort has yet to reach the $100,000 mark, which means that it is still about 10 per cent short of the target.

It is still possible to reach the goal, but this will take the sort of effort that Peter Rabbit had to exert to escape Mr. McGregor. Students of the "classics" will remember that Peter, his buttons caught on the poultry netting, had given up when his little friends exhorted him to greater effort, by which he managed to get free just before Mr. McGregor put an end to his career.

In the case of the United Fund, it is ironic but nevertheless true, that those who already have expended the greatest effort likely will be those who furnish the push necessary to reach success. The reason that the UF is in trouble is primarily because there are literally thousands of people who won't put out cash or pledges, let alone effort.

Otherwise, it is difficult to rationalize the slow-down of the campaign in the stretch. In view of cost-of-living raises in several major industries and of record bank deposits, it would be an interesting analysis to see if employes giving increases in those areas proportionately parallel the increase in pay, or if larger contributors kept pace with gains.

Needs Attention

The Municipal Auditorium is not utilized as much as it should be, but perhaps a bit better maintenance and operation would make it more attractive.

Those who used the stairwells Monday night must have thought that they were in Draculaland when they walked up or down the section of steps underlying the cupolas. Huge patches of paint dangled down like bat wings. Restrooms, a bit inadequate for a building of the auditorium's size, were hardly shining. The upper reaches of the balcony were hot as a pistol, a condition that persists when the lower floor is made comfortable.

Daley Still Winner In Chicago

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Reports of Mayor Richard Daley's political demise have once again been proved premature. The mayor, who has run the Democratic party as his private fief, lost the statehouse and the national ticket in those cliff-hanging hours when both parties were holding back ballot boxes and standing ready to come up with the votes required for a majority.

But Daley is not interested in Springfield nor, for that matter, in Washington. His aim was to consolidate his hold on Cook County and Chicago, and he did just that.

THE OFFICE that really matters is State's Attorney for Cook County, the chief prosecutor. The last Republican to hold that office dragged all sorts of scandals into the light — the fixing of traffic tickets, corrupt bail bond practices and a police burglary ring. It was murder for Daley. Taking no chances this time, he saw to it that his own man, Edward Hanrahan, was elected State's Attorney.

As the cynics score it Daley chalked up another, and even more important, gain. He helped to elect Richard Ogilvie, the Republican candidate, governor of the state.

DALEY WANTED Ogilvie out of Cook County where he is president of the Cook County Board. When he moves to Springfield his job as president will be filled by a vote of the Democratic majority on the board. That means about 15,000 patronage jobs, and a two per cent political levy on that payroll is big money in the Daley bank. In the Daley scales those 15,000 jobs are a lot more important than the 12,000 patronage jobs dispensed by the governor.

IN THIS cynical balance sheet there is one surprising standout. While the Democratic governor, Samuel Shapiro, a kindly, well-intentioned man, was defeated, the reform-minded candidate for lieutenant governor, State Sen. Paul Simon, was elected. This seemed proof that if Daley had not vetoed Adlai Stevenson III for governor the state lineup would have been powerful enough to carry the national ticket to victory.

SIMON'S ELECTION is a remarkable example of the selectivity of the voters in many states. He conducted his own quiet personal campaign in virtually all of Illinois' 102 counties. The backing of such progressive organizations as the Independent Voters of Illinois helped. But it was largely a personal achievement built on Simon's reputation in the legislature for integrity and ability.

At 39 Simon, who announced that in his new office he would serve three days a week as ombudsman hearing the complaints of citizens, has a bright political future. With Stevenson and other young Democrats long smarting under Daley's iron rule, forces are building up that can unhorse the mayor who will be 69 when his present term ends in 1971.

BENEATH THE troubled surface there are new forces in motion. One senses that here in Abraham Lincoln's town where something of the aura of his greatness persists. For all the corruption and the savage pulling and hauling between the small towns and the farms of outsate Illinois and fortress Chicago, the impregnable seat of the last of the old-time bosses, it is possible to believe that a new generation will provide the challenge. Ogilvie is regarded by fair-minded men in both parties as a serious and determined administrator who means to try to revise and reform a state government with a thousand handicaps out of the costly compromises of the past.

What Others Say

The government in recent months has turned its attention to the problem of noise. It now recognizes that noise is a form of environmental pollution that can produce annoyance and harm, and it is trying to do something about the matter . . .

Nothing momentous is likely to develop soon as a result of the government's first steps. It is significant, nevertheless, that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has sponsored a national conference on noise, that the Interior Department is making tests on the effects of noise, and Congress has passed the first piece of national legislation dealing with the noise problem in the form of an amendment to the Federal Aviation Act. It authorizes the Federal Aviation Administration to fix noise standards for airplanes and to deny certification to any airplane that doesn't meet the standards.

Airplanes, of course, are by no means the only objects that contribute to our environmental din. Recent tests suggest that the electronically-amplified sounds so popular at teenage parties reach a decibel level that can inflict permanent damage to hearing.

Surgeon Gen. William H. Stewart marks 1958 as the point at which national concern was stirred up over air pollution. Just a decade later, he says, national concern now is being stirred up about that other form of environmental pollution — noise.

A very wise man, Prof. William H. Lloyd, saw the shape of things to come some years ago when he observed, "Our inventors and engineers, who, having devoted one century to creating pandemonium, may spend the next century in abating it."

He may have been right.

Billy Graham

What information can you give me about the closing days and what we can expect before the coming of the Lord? B.K.

The only reliable source of information, regarding the closing days of history is the Bible. Our Lord, when asked by His disciples, "What shall be the sign of Thy coming and of the end of the world," gave several signs in the twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew. He said, "Many shall come in my name saying 'I am Christ' and shall deceive many." He plainly said that there would be a revival of 'religion,' but a decrease in real spirituality. There are signs of this everywhere.

He also said, "Iniquity shall abound." Crime is on the increase, and everywhere there is violence, prejudice, hatred and war. While wars have been prevalent throughout history, the last half century has seen more bloodshed than the previous nineteen centuries.

He also said, "Many shall be offended, and shall betray one another, and hate one another." Have nerves ever been so taut? Have psychiatrists ever been so busy? Phobias, fears, and deep hatreds abound everywhere.

There are many other signs in Matthew 24, and I can find none which are not being fulfilled.

Puzzle: Is Or Isn't Boom Tapering Off?

NEW YORK (AP) — An increasingly perplexing question is whether the rate of economic growth is tapering off or whether business is holding firm.

There were conflicting signs this past week.

Many economists and government officials had predicted there would be a slowdown about this time as a result of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge. This was the intent of the higher levy imposed as a means of stemming inflation.

Some saw indications of a softening in a sag in new car sales in early November from normal levels and a dip in retail sales in October. On the other hand, company purchasing executives reported a better-than-expected increase in new orders and production in October — a barometer of future business activity.

EXCEEDS EXPECTATIONS

Looking further back, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said the economy had expanded far more rapidly in the third quarter than most observers had expected.

In the first 10 days of November, dealers sold 209,505 U.S.-made cars. While this was 14 per cent ahead of the total in the like 1967 period, when Ford Motor Co. dealers were short of cars as the result of a two-month strike, it was below the pace of the 1966 and 1965 periods.

The auto industry considers November a key month for testing public reaction to new model cars.

Automobile production this past week slipped to an estimated 211,100 passenger cars from 217,197 the previous week.

The Commerce Department reported that in October Retail sales slipped for the second straight month. The drop to $28.8 billion from $28.9 billion in September was only one-half of 1 per cent and was 10 per cent above October 1967.

EASE SLIGHTLY

The Federal Reserve Bank said that as the third quarter drew to a close, retail sales and a few other economic indicators appeared to ease slightly but many others, including housing starts and new orders for durable goods, strengthened.

The bank commented that the cumulative effects of the fiscal-restraint program are likely to become more clearly visible as time passes.

But, it added, "the delay in getting the economy back to a slower rate of growth has unquestionably complicated the task of restoring reasonable price stability and achieving the much needed improvements in our international trade balance."

Chase Manhattan Bank, one of the country's largest banks, this past week forsook its lonely stand with a 6 per cent prime interest rate. It raised its rate to 6¼ per cent, the level which had prevailed among other major banks since last September.

Chase said it took the action because of the substantial rise in money market rates in recent weeks.

MERGER ACTIVITY

The prime rate is the interest charged by banks to their biggest and most credit-worthy customers.

There was important activity on the busy merger front again this past week.

U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers, Inc., and Johns-Manville Corp. said they were discussing a possible merger. Such a combination would result in one of the nation's biggest building products concerns.

Last year U.S. Plywood had sales of $1.13 billion. Johns-Manville's sales totaled $510.4 million.

Xerox Corp. and C.I.T. Financial Corp. announced they had terminated negotiations which could have led to one of the largest mergers in corporate history.

Steel production last week rose 4.6 per cent to 2,175,000 tons from 2.08 million tons the previous week.

CONFLICTING SIGNS

- Retail and car sales soften, prime rate raised
- But more new orders, housing starts reported
- Third quarter expansion exceeds first estimates
- Steel production gains, more merger talk heard
- Automobile output eases in face of dip in buying

Different Attitudes Toward Diabetes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

A newspaperman I once knew used to mutter, "There are two kinds of people in the world — the ones who will do anything to get their names in the paper and the ones who will do anything to keep their names out."

Sometimes I think there are two kinds of people where diabetes is concerned. Some take it too seriously and some refuse to take it seriously enough.

Diabetes, of course, is one disease that year by year is becoming a more serious problem because the number of cases steadily increases. It now rates among the 10 most frequent causes of death.

Until about 40 years ago a severe case of diabetes meant early death. Relatively few people with severe cases lived long enough to have children. Since diabetes is strongly governed by heredity, the trait tended to control its own incidence.

Since the discovery of insulin, and more recently the oral medications to reduce blood sugar, more people with diabetes, or carrying the diabetes trait, are living and raising families. Today the number of cases in the U.S. is in the millions.

Some patients, the despair of their doctors, refuse to take the disease seriously. They stick to their diets and medication long enough to begin feeling better — to feel quite normal again. Then they start kidding themselves that "an occasional piece of pie won't hurt me" or they just eat too much and begin to get fat or they eat candy or think they can drink cocktails or beer. And sooner or later they develop heart disease, circulation troubles, severe eye trouble, diabetic neuritis, and all the rest.

Then there's the other kind of patient who, when he learns he has diabetes, rails against his fate, thinks he is doomed to be an invalid, and generally makes himself needlessly miserable.

The truth lies in between. The person with diabetes, if he will learn to eat properly, learn to understand his disease, and be checked periodically to keep his medication at the proper amount, can live what is to all real purposes a normal life, and just about a normal life span.

I've been mentioning this in my column for quite some years, but now I've run across a new book which I think tells it better than anything I've yet seen.

It isn't a technical or "medical" book, even though written by a physician, Blair Holcomb, M.D. It's titled "How to Live Happily with Diabetes," and I think it is worthwhile reading for anyone with diabetes, and most particularly the patient who has recently learned that he has diabetes.

Dr. Molner has written "The Everyday Medical Handbook," which gives the answers to many questions on family health. Copies may be obtained by writing to Fawcett Publications, Dept. HH, Fawcett Place, Greenwich, Conn. 06330 and enclosing check or money order payable to Dr. Molner Book in the amount of $2.50 plus 25 cents handling.

Any book dealer, if he doesn't have it in stock, can get it. (Barkerbrook Press, 711 SW 14th Ave., Portland, Oregon 97205. It is priced at $3.95.

Dear Dr. Molner: You wrote about the possible dangerous complications of measles. Does this apply to all persons or only young children? My two sons, aged 9½ and 13½, have had three-day measles but never the long-term measles. Should they have shots? — Mrs. M.E.S.

In the past, mighty few people have escaped measles entirely, and the disease can be dangerous at any age. Your boys are ideal candidates for measles vaccination, now.

Around The Rim

Love Is Right Under Your Nose

DEAR RUFE:

Wa-al, we started our culture season with drahma, if you are going to let that include a bunch of belly laughs and some cuss words.

It was all in fun, and if you get right down to the moral of the thing, Rufe, it was that a feller never knows what a good thing he has right in front of his nose, particularly if he is looking off somewheres else all the time.

THERE WAS a dentist in the thing, see, and if this causes you to wince, let me report that he was never shown pulling teeth or filling cavities. I guess that took place backstage. This upstart feller really spent more time yakking at his nurse than he did caring for his patients, but I suppose he made a good enough living.

Leastwise, he made enough to chase young girls after office hours.

ONE OF THESE was as perky a little thing that ever put a twinkle in your eye, and older fellers like us, Rufe, couldn't hardly blame the dentist for his choice.

Thing was, this chick also had a boyfriend next door, a sort of off-beat type, but leastwise her own age. And you can just guess what begins to happen to a little doll if she has a choice between a husky lad of her generation and another guy who may already have lost all his own teeth, for all I know.

ALL THE TIME these people were messin' around, there was this old-maidy dentist's nurse right in his office, warding off his nasty phone calls, working out the patients' appointments, taking care of his clothes and even bringing him sandwiches — even if they weren't very good sandwiches.

I ain't gonna take up the whole letter with the story, but the upstart bachelor dentist sandbags the nurse into playing like she was his wife — the cutie had a hand in this — and before you know it they are finding out they are just like really married people, raising old Ned with each other one minute, and getting romancy the next. Mostly raising old Ned, which gives marriage the ring of truth, don't it?

THIS MARRIAGE business wasn't no problem with the folks on the stage, Rufe, because, would you believe, about three sets of them are married for real. Traveling together, too — boy!

So, they mostly had fun with the whole idea, and of course that made the people out in the audience have fun, too.

I MIGHT ADD one thing: I din't got nothin' personal against dentists — I just don't like their work — but this one had about as much taste in getting a woman a fur piece as you and me would. He gave one of them gals a thing that looked like it came right out of a beaver trap, with the beaver still wearin' his tail. This thing go t bounced around all night till some of us figgered it ought to end up as a dust rag. It all but did.

It goes to show you, Rufe, that if you take love and marriage, and throw in some confusion from time to time, you are going to end up with a drahma that certainly is easier to take than a dentist's drill.

That's what the folks were saying — I think.

Yore friend,

Nixon's Cabinet Selections

WASHINGTON — President-elect Nixon is thinking a lot these days about whom to appoint to his cabinet. But the persons who are trying to do his thinking for him are legion. There would have to be several times the number of cabinet posts to satisfy the demand.

It is not unusual for the close friends of a President-elect to be approached with the idea of influencing the selection of cabinet officers and the filling of other posts in the government which will become vacant when the Johnson administration ends its tenure on Jan. 20.

BASICALLY, THE pressure is coming from individuals who have played a part in the campaign. These include men who actively organized support for the presidential nominee in various states throughout the country and those who contributed sums of money to meet the heavy expenses of paid political broadcasts over television and radio as well as in the advertising pages of the press.

Persons who are talented and well qualified for high office do not as a rule like to seek appointment themselves. They prefer that friends and close acquaintances make recommendations to influential groups of advisers in different states who are expected to be intimately identified with the Nixon administration.

BUT THE President-elect cannot just reward individuals who have helped him in his campaign. He has to consider carefully also the requests of Republican members of the Senate and House on whom he will be dependent for cooperation in the legislative programs he presents in the next four years. Then there is the problem of experience. Too many people think that almost anybody who has been a successful lawyer or businessman can be given any cabinet post and do a good job. Unfamiliarity with governmental operations, however, can be a serious handicap.

EVERY President-elect unquestionably gives consideration to political obligations. Gov. Rockefeller of New York and Gov. Romney of Michigan, for example, are being mentioned for cabinet posts because of their warm support of Nixon in the campaign. It is not unusual for a new President also to consider what his political problems might be four years later when he is up for re-election.

President-elect Nixon has only two months in which to choose his cabinet, and lots of names are being heard around Washington as possible appointees. The chances are he will not be impetuous about making his selections, but will reach his decisions after much deliberation.

SOME OF THOSE individuals who have a substantial backing but who do not get a cabinet post may be deeply disappointed. It is always possible, however, for the President to bestow honors in some other direction — possibly in the picking of ambassadors or the appointment of some of his friends to serve on commissions and task forces which will deal with subjects that come into the limelight.

THE LIFE of a President-elect in dealing with the ambitions and desires of many of his supporters to see their friends appointed to government posts is certainly not an enviable one. When a new President takes office, he must depend upon qualified personnel, and this requirement doesn't always fit in with the political factors involved. So it may be anticipated that the Nixon supporters who will be disappointed will probably outnumber those whose requests will have been granted.

Peace Conference Among Friends

WASHINGTON — After five years of doing practically everything, the United States finally got Hanoi to come to the conference table. But the only trouble is that, although Hanoi has agreed to come to the conference table, Saigon is refusing to come. This leaves the United States in one bad spot, because it's always harder to deal with your friends than it is with your enemies.

The problem that everyone is working on now is, how do you get President Thieu to send someone to Paris?

MY FRIEND at the State Department has been working on this tricky problem for three weeks.

"There's a division of opinion on how to deal with South Vietnam," he said. "The Hawks want to bomb Saigon."

"What on earth for?" I asked.

"To save face for the South Vietnamese. If we bomb Saigon, then they can say they won't go to Paris until we stop the bombing. That's how we got the North Vietnamese to agree to talk, so there is no reason why it wouldn't work for the south."

"It makes sense. What's wrong with it?"

"THE DOVES say if you bomb Saigon it will just strengthen the South Vietnamese determination to keep fighting the war. They maintain we've been bombing parts of South Vietnam for years now and it hasn't intimidated President Thieu or Vice President Ky. It's just made Saigon's position tougher."

"What does the Air Force say about that?"

"THEY SAY we've been bombing the wrong targets in South Vietnam. If they could bomb the port at Camranh Bay and the city of Hue, then they're sure Thieu would see the light. But since they've only been permitted to bomb selected targets below the DMZ and on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, there is no reason for Thieu and Ky to talk peace."

"Then the American military are insisting on all-out victory in South Vietnam?" I asked.

"They say we shouldn't have gone into South Vietnam unless we wanted to win."

"Is there any other way of getting the South Vietnamese to come to the conference table?"

"WE WERE considering closing up all the U.S. Army PXs in South Vietnam, but that is a very drastic step and could turn world opinion against us. Without the black market, South Vietnam would not be able to survive."

"It's probably against the Geneva Convention," I said. "Are there any alternative suggestions?"

"We could threaten to de-escalate the war, but that has its drawbacks. If we de-escalated the war, then we'd be dealing with Hanoi from a position of weakness."

"It looks as if you're not in very good shape."

"I GUESS our mistake was assuring South Vietnam they could win the war. Now they believe it."

"Couldn't you ask Ho Chi Minh to intervene and use his good offices on our behalf?"

"We have, but he says it's not his problem. We got ourselves into the mess; he claims we have to get out of it."

TOO MANY DINERS FOR AVAILABLE SERVICE POINTS
Dawson County sow produces king-sized litter of 22 piglets

Dawson Sows Litter Their Pens Overnight

By SAM BLACKBURN

LAMESA — The Earl Bowmans got into the pig business on a wholesale scale overnight. They live about 10 miles south of Lamesa in the Sparenburg community.

"We had two pigs when we went to bed on Nov. 4", said young Bowman.

"When we got up the next morning", chimed in Mrs. Bowman, "we had 32 pigs." Most of the sudden population explosion must be credited on one of two huge red sows that the Bowmans own.

She had a litter of 22 pigs on the night of Nov. 4. On the same night, another sow, identical in appearance and age to the first, produced eight little pigs.

"One of the 30 pigs was dead when we got to the pen," said Bowman. "Since then six others have died. We do not know if the six were all from one litter or were from both."

Anyway, there are now 23 little piglets and two big sows in the pen. The youngsters are well on the road to permanent residence. Bowman thinks they will make it without any further trouble.

"We looked up the record in the encyclopedia," said Mrs. Bowman. "The record is 27 pigs in one litter so our sow came pretty close to the top."

Meantime, the youngsters are not concerned with which sow is their official mother. When lunch time is at hand (which is about all of the time) any sow that's handy is all right with the pigs. There is a shortage of feeding spouts, however.

The sows are not concerned over whether they are feeding their own progeny. They contentedly accept any and all diners without bothering whose pigs they may be.

It was the first litter of pigs for both sows. They are crossbred animals — half Poland China and half Duroc. The clutter of piglets all have the same papa — a Duroc boar. Bowman doesn't know what percentage of his little pig crop are girls and what per cent boys.

"Looks like about three quarters of them are gilts," he said. "That would leave about a quarter of the bunch males."

The Bowmans are wondering about the next litter of pigs their sow may produce.

"Some folks tell us," said Mrs. Bowman, "that when a sow has a big litter like this the first time she has pigs, she may not have but one or two the next time."

The average litter for sows is about eight, the Bowmans said. Meantime, they are agreed on one thing.

At least one of their sows is certainly an overbearing sort of mother.

Money Going Out Of Style In Cuba

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP) — Money is going out of style in Cuba, but it's not worthless yet.

Most Cubans, including those in government ministries, still work for money but their dependence on it is decreasing as Prime Minister Fidel Castro turns the domestic economy toward what he describes as a genuine Communist system.

NOTHING TO BUY

Castro's idea is that eventually the state will supply all the necessities of life to its workers. His government has made a small start on the plan. In some agricultural sectors workers now receive free food, lodging and work clothes in addition to the free medical and educational services available to the rest of the population.

Castro's campaign against what he considers evil capitalistic incentives coincides with the economic realities: There is just not much to buy.

With little on the shelves and no advertising, there is little incentive or desire to earn extra pay. Paradoxically, those who still have bankrolls are about the only ones who can find a little relief from the present drabness. This is done by patronizing the dwindling black market or simply by hiring someone to do the work, such as standing in line for a turn at a seat in a restaurant.

SAME IDEAS

For many Cubans salary is far less important than it was.

"I would work for nothing," says a 20-year-old mother putting in a 48-hour week as a grapefruit packer on the Isle of Pines, the place Castro has picked to establish Cuba's first 100 per cent Communist society.

"The only thing I need money for is for personal things," she adds.

Her pay is $75 monthly plus food, clothing and housing. Her daughter attends one of the government's free nursery schools while she works. A divorcee, she finds plenty of young eligible men working and thinking as she does. Communism by her definition means "packing grapefruit better."

A construction foreman who earns $180 monthly says the only reason he still has an interest in money is to save for a record player. He, too, receives food, lodging and work clothes plus a week's vacation every 75 days.

FOOD SHORTAGE

His life, however, is not so simple as it sounds. His evenings are taken up with "revolutionary" obligations and study. He usually sees his wife, who works in a nearby office, only for one hour a day, normally after 11 p.m. when he finishes his extra duties and before he returns to his separate quarters. Except for civil defense duties, his weekends are free. But hard times and shortages limit him to four beers per weekend and make it difficult to eat away from the workers' dining room.

The country's food shortage plays an unofficial role in diminishing the value of money.

"It is better to work on a state farm for $85 monthly and get three meals a day than battle the lines and ration books for a $200-a-month office job," said a young construction worker. The Communist party asserts overtime pay and tipping are nonrevolutionary in modern Cuba. It has pretty well eliminated both.

Hawk Players To Stage Annual Christmas Play

The Mother of Evil, a vicious young thief, and a prophetess are all a part of the cast of "A Certain Star," a one act Christmas play by Frank A. Cooper, which is to be presented by the Howard County Junior College Drama department, under the direction of Martin Landers.

Presentation of a Christmas plya has become traditional for the Hawk Players. The group will perform for the Bennett House, the VA Hospital, and the state hospital. The play will also be presented at the Officers Club at Webb for the Wives Club of the 64th Squadron, and in the college auditorium on Dec. 16th at 9:45 a.m.

Members of the cast are Donna Herring, the old woman; Jo Anna Cofer, Esther; David Chapman, the merchant; Teresa Conners, Ruth; and Jimmie Jones, Dismas.

All of the cast have had previous experience in high school or college. Miss Cofer performed as Ado Annie in "Oklahoma" and was active in "The Glass Menagerie" in earlier Hawk productions. Teresa Conner appeared in high school productions of "The King and I" and "Macbeth" and was selected best actress both junior and senior years in high school.

Jimmie Jones was in several high school plays. He played the part of a young thug in the recent filming of "Midnight Cowboy." Donna Herring had the lead in her junior class play and performed in a one act play for Interscholastic League. David Chapman received honorable mention as best actor for his part in high school productions and was elected to the All Star Cast in UIL in 1967.

The public is invited to these presentations. No admission will be charged.

Drive Is Wetter By Another Name

DETROIT (AP) — A tiny horseshoe drive in front of Edsel Ford Auditorium in Detroit has been given the official name of Auditorium Drive — so auditorium goers can drink liquor at intermissions. It seems that if the auditorium had an address on Jefferson Avenue — where most people think it is — it would be within 500 feet of Old Mariners church, serving liquor there would violate a city law.

Bloody Wall

SALZGITTER, Germany (AP) — In the seven-year history of the Berlin Communist wall 163 persons have been shot dead by Red border guards or killed by mines while trying to flee to the West, the central office of the Registration of East German Acts of Violence reported.

Union Marker In Comfort

COMFORT, Tex. (AP) — A bit of Texas history 106 years old was brought back recently with a dedication ceremony of a state historical marker at the Union Monument in Comfort.

The marker was placed at the tall, white structure which is surrounded by stone posts and chains to protect it.

The monument commemorates a little-known bit of Texas history dating back to the early days of the Civil War when numerous Germans were killed by Confederates.

This area was filled with immigrants from Germany who seemed never to understand the disputes and the ideology that led to the secession of the southern states and the Civil War.

Historians point out that the Germans were grateful to the United States for giving them a new home and most of them had no desire to secede.

Fredericksburg, 23 miles from Comfort, was occupied by troops headed by Capt. James Duff.

T. R. Fehrenbach, in a new Texas history, "Lone Star," quotes Capt. Duff as declaring the "Dutchmen are Unionists to a man . . . I will hang all I suspect of being anti-Confederate."

Fehrenbach relates that the Germans were persecuted and one group, neutral in views, fled toward Mexico. They armed themselves but their main aim was to reach Mexico.

The refugees camped on the Nueces River, about 200 miles from their starting point and on the night of Aug. 9, 1862, a detachment of Confederates attacked while the Germans were sleeping.

Nineteen Germans were killed by gunfire and six others trampled to death by the cavalry. Nine surrendered and were shot, Fehrenbach relates.

News of the massacre touched off violence in the German area and the uprising was bloodily stopped and a number of men hanged.

FLOWER GROVE — Bonnie Hill, the Flower Grove FFA Sweetheart, will enter in district competition Monday at Midland High School. Also entering in various skill contests are the FFA boys from Flower Grove.

Friday, before leaving for two basketball games at Girard, the high school participated in a pep rally to boost spirit. The six cheerleaders Anne Haggard, Neta Hightower, Brenda Hopper, Virginia Pribyla, Brenda Graves and Beth Holcomb led the students in their school song to begin the rally.

Next the coaches said a few words to their players. Mr. John Clark helped the cheerleaders in a skit, "The Old Oak Tree." Spirit sticks were awarded as the rally ended.

The juniors were measured for their senior rings Friday. The rings should arrive in three or four months.

Thursday, Nov. 7, both Dragon teams were in Westbrook to tangle with the Wildcats.

Bayne Slates Programs For College Students

By FRANK GRIFFIS

Mr. John Bayne, psychology and sociology instructor at Howard County Junior College, has planned various trips and speakers for the current semester for his classes.

One of the activities planned thus far is a trip to the Big Spring State Hospital, in which Dr. Preston Harrison, who deals in shock therapy and treats some patients through hypnosis, will probably speak. He may give some demonstrations, such as mass hypnosis, for anyone who will volunteer.

Another activity slated for this semester is a lecture by Mr. Parnell of the state hospital, who states that for 15 years he was an alcoholic, and who now is in charge of the alcoholic ward at the hospital, Bayne said.

A trip to the county or city jail is also planned with a talk on crime prevention coming from either the chief of police, sheriff, or a local judge.

LASSO CLUB

The Lasso Club is planning a garage sale Nov. 15-16 at Nancy Mathis' house, 1007 Mt. Vernon. This project is to raise money for a banquet to be held in December.

Too, the coed organization is to sponsor the annual Valentine dance in February.

Officers for the club for 1968-69 are Lucy Keene, president; Patti Fry, vice president; Nancy Mathis, secretary-treasurer; Sandra Ryder, reporter; and Mary Evans, student senate representative.

"Hawk Happenings," posters in five different colors, will be posted throughout the various buildings of the college and will inform students about what activities are coming up on the calendar. Each time the posters change colors, the Jayhawkers will know that something new has been scheduled.

Posted will be information concerning activities such as "Spirit Week," which will be sponsored by the sophomore class, and later the Christmas formal. Spirit week heralds the first home game on the campus.

Another event that everyone should be interested in is the Faculty Talent Show, Dec. 20. Those who have submitted their entries so far are Dr. Dean Box, Mrs. Star Warford, and Mr. Dal Herring. Even Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, has offered his services as "curtain puller."

To boost the campus morale, plans are being made to put a victory flag on the pole in front of the student union building. It is expected to be placed there before the next home game and flown on any other volleyball or basketball home game.

Forsan Appoints Citizens Of Month

By SHIRLEY COBB

The student council posted the Citizens of the Month for November. The students selected were Debra Fryar, Rodney Barnett, Tresa Mundell, and Judy Clayton.

Debra Fryar and Rodney Barnett were chosen because they completed their assigned duties instead of attending the game and their respect for elders. Tresa Mundell and Judy Clanton were selected for their consideration of others and their friendliness.

The student body voted Tuesday on All-school Favorites and Class Favorites. The results will remain a secret until the annuals arrive. Those that contend for All-School Favorites are Mary Lou King, Sharon Schattel, Shirley Cobb, Clayton McKinnon, David Myers and Marlin Medlin.

Senior class favorites nominees are Teana Peugh, Shirley Cobb, Dennis Dunagan and Bobby Rodman. Tresa Mundell, Belinda McKinnon, Tommy Hollingsworth, and Alton Callihan compete for the honor of the junior class favorites.

The sophomores have chosen Lea Oma Lewis, Janice Clanton, Harvey Hocker, and Ricky Klahr as nominees for sophomore class favorites nominees. A boy and a girl will be chosen from each of these divisions from the list of nominees. The results will be revealed in the Buffalo Trail, the school annual.

All students are urged to purchase their annuals from a member of the annual staff before Nov. 26.

Members of the senior class are selling birthday calendars to raise money for the senior class funds. The calendars are selling at a price of $2.04 each.

Coach Jack Adams was the special speaker for the pep rally held preceding the Forsan vs. Jim Ned game at Tascola. Lineman of the Week, Garry Irwin, and Back of the Week, Marlin Medlin, were recognized at the pep rally. The Buffs return to play Loraine at Forsan for their final district game Friday, Nov. 23.

RANCHERS FORGET THEM AFTER AWHILE

Cheek-By-Jowl With Missiles

SPEARFISH, S.D. (AP) — To the South Dakota cattlemen and sheepmen who live on the rolling plains staked at the turn of the century, worry is an everyday companion.

There are the spring blizzards that sweep their lands at lambing and calfing time to worry about; there are worries about mortgages to be paid; worries about prices; and children to be raised and educated; worries about machinery to be repaired and fences to be fixed on lands where many of the ranchers were born and where many expect to die.

LITTLE TIME

With so much to do, there is little time to concern oneself with such things as nuclear missiles sites dug into one's land as part of the giant U.S. defense system against attack.

You just come to terms with and learn to live with the cheek-by-jowl existence to missiles, armed with warheads that could be sent aloft to demolish whole cities, or which might make your homes and children and barns and livestock prime targets in case of war.

So to the ranchers, the missile sites have become just part of the scenery, as much as the jackrabbits and antelope that bound across the tabletop plains and bald buttes that suddenly rise from the prairie, yellow with sweet clover and blue with alfalfa in the summer.

"Subconsciously you're aware of the missiles being there, but you tend to forget them after a while," said Earl Waterland, who each day looks through his red chicken coop at the missile site on his land.

What Waterland sees every day looks like a pint-sized power installation. But he knows it is not. He knows that the telephone poles and electronic gadgets he sees are atop a buried missile that could strike any point in Europe or Asia within 30 minutes.

ROARS OUT

He knows the raised section of concrete inside the securely padlocked square acre is really an 80-ton concrete door that would be blown off by jet power seconds before the missile roars out.

He knows that beneath this particular piece of topsoil there is a sophisticated instrument of mass death—one of the 1,000 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles buried deep in the fields of both Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana and Missouri.

Each day for five years now the Dakota plainsmen have passed the harmless-looking sites, knowing the men buried in the launch control centers have been ready every second of that time to turn the keys that would instantaneously send the long and narrow warbirds screaming out of the ground at speeds over 15,000 miles an hour.

Each day nothing happened.

Some of the plains people firmly believe the missiles will grow obsolete in the ground and someday be dismantled. Others admit they have forced themselves to believe the devastating command to fire never will be issued. Otherwise there would be little point in spending 14 hours a day in the field during having time. Or fixing the fences and buying tires that will last for their pickups.

The Air Force has assured the ranchers their pastures would not become a prime target in case of war, but many don't believe it.

RESIGNED

"I guess we're more or less resigned to the fact we'd be among the first targets, but as far as worrying about it, we don't," says Bill Schmele, a 35-year-old cattle rancher who overstocked his lands on the gamble prices would be up and rains plentiful.

"I've got other things to worry about, like feeding the kids," said the tall, blond father of four girls under 7.

A feeling of pride in America's tremendous military strength—and perhaps a certain hawkishness—is common among the men and women who live where Gen. George Custer made his famous last stand and where Sitting Bull was later slain.

"It's kind of comforting to know they're out there," said Joe Jones, who runs cattle on his 6,000 acres near Belle Fourche. "The more we have, the better prepared we are and the less chance there is that we will be hit."

Alfred Allen, a retired postal employe who runs a parking lot in Rapid City, says the enemy could never get past Ellsworth Air Force Base, the Strategic Air Command base that maintains the 150 missiles in South Dakota.

CONFIRM

The Air Force will only confirm that the missiles are nuclear. It will not say whether they are tipped with A-bomb or H-bomb warheads or what their destructive force might be.

"I can only suggest you look at Hiroshima or Nagasaki and draw your own conclusions," said Maj. Thomas McKiernan, head of public information at Ellsworth.

Some of the teen-agers, who played in the shafts when the missiles were installed, say they are a reminder of violence. One is Margaret Jensen, a high school senior who lives with her family on a 6,000-acre spread near Wall where only the Jensens and the Sioux have ever lived.

"It makes you think of the innocent people who will be killed for doing nothing. It makes you think of mass death," said Margaret, who at 16 is far more interested in the horse she raised from a colt than boys.

However, a repressed fear of the missiles has broken through in isolated instances among the children. A 10-year-old girl near Plainview had to be kept out of school one day after a jet broke the sound barrier near her home. She was sure the boom she heard was the sound of a missile exploding and could not be calmed down.

OPPOSITION

When the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers first started knocking on the rancher's doors and asking to buy a little patch of land for a "military installation" they were met with opposition —and one or two loaded shotguns.

"They acted as though we were a little subversive or something if we didn't hand over the land right away," Waterland says.

"The U.S. Corps of Engineers is famous for bungling things and they did it again," explains Horace B. Jackson, a Rapid City lawyer who represented the ranchers in federal courts in Deadwood and Aberdeen when they fought to keep their land. "If they had handled it right, most of those fellows would have simply given them the land."

As it was the government had to condemn nearly a third of the tracts it needed.

Once the land was acquired the front widened. Pot shots were taken at Air Force helicopters and more than one construction worker was marched off the land by an irate rancher with a loaded rifle.

Then the recruits from Brooklyn couldn't remember how important it was to close fences behind them and livestock—including John Kudloch's $1,000-a-head registered Hereford bulls —wandered onto busy highways. Even more livestock fell into the ditches dug for the big cables that connect the missiles.

NOBODY KNOWS

Nobody knows how many really fell in.

"A hell of a lot more in court than on the range," said Jackson, a paunchy man who eats low calorie lunches topped off with cream pie.

The sophisticated electronic gear on the missile sites—which at first couldn't differentiate between a prowler and a crow—amused the ranchers.

"One day the Air Force came a-foggin' down the highway to beat the band," said Mrs. Reid Compton of Plainview. "When they got there they found a flock of crows picking around inside."

The Air Force soon adjusted its sensors.

FU THE SCAB

Red China Wobbly

TOKYO (AP) — The case of "Fu the Scab" suggests that though Mao Tse-tung is making progress in dismantling President Liu Shao-Chi's party-government apparatus in Red China, the skelcial structure rising in its place rests on a wobbly foundation.

Liu took over with Mao's blessing as Red China's chief of state in 1959. He soon built up a power base which the 73-year-old Communist chairman saw as headed in the direction of East European-style liberalization.

PURGE

Since August 1966 Mao has conducted a purge, called the great proletarian cultural revolution, aimed at seizing back the initiative and throwing the Liu "rascals" out. Lacking major army and police support, Mao depended on a few trusted followers, his own still-enormous prestige and a long-range program exploiting to the full his skills as an agitator and propagandist.

The agitprop phase, involving the use of millions of Red Guards to shake up Liu-dominated organizations and pillory their leaders, took up all of 1966 and much of 1967. Phase two, now in progress, calls for installing Maoist revolutionary committees—made up of army men, cadres and mass organizations—in China's 28 provinces, autonomous regions and municipal governments. It now seems close to its goal.

The final stage envisions a rewriting of the party constitution to guarantee that Liu and his ideas never reassert themselves and that Mao and his successors prevail for time eternal.

Originally, Mao seems to have believed he could replace the Liu machine with relatively unknown men whose first loyalty would be to him. The case of "Fu the Scab"—one of many—must have disillusioned him.

LESS THAN

"Fu the Scab" is a less than complimentary name for Fu Chung-Pi, purged commander of the Peking garrison. Like Yang Cheng-wu, named acting chief of the army general staff in 1966 to replace Marshal Lo Jui-ching, Fu was almost a nobody before he got his command.

He and Yang have since been accused of nearly every sin in the Maoist book. An unnamed Red Guard paper said in May that Fu even insulted Mao's wife, the fiery Chiang Ching.

In March, it said, Fu sent two armed motor vehicles to arrest individuals in the holy-of-holies, the Chungnanhai government area, and in Mrs. Mao's own stronghold, the headquarters of the central cultural revolution group.

"Our respected comrade Chiang Ching then bravely came forward and angrily scolded Fu the Scab," said the paper. "The latter, believing he had Yang Cheng-wu's backing, went so far as to retort and hurl abuses at comrade Chiang Ching. How utterly rabid Fu was!"

Fu did more: he tried to obstruct delivery of messages to Mao and Defense Minister Lin Piao from Red Guard groups, sought to get purged Vice Premier Tan Chen-lin cleared, and plotted to overthrow Security Minister Hsieh Fu-chin, chairman of the Peking revolutionary committee.

NOT EXCEPTIONS

The cases of Fu and Yang were not exceptions. Numerous other men yanked out of obscurity and placed in responsible jobs by the Mao group have been found wanting.

Disillusioned with the new, Mao has turned back to the old. Party veterans who erred have been given the word—if they repent ever so slightly, they'll be back in the swim.

What this means is that Mao, essentially, has failed to win over enough men and women pure of heart and dedicated solely to his ideas to man the vast party and government network.

Negroes Have Mission In Film On Slavery

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A plantation owner stands haughtily on a dirt pathway, squinting at his black field hands sweating under a merciless Louisiana sun.

"Niggers is business," wheezes a fat slave trader in a garish checkered suit who had sidled up to him.

"The business of slavery," retorts the landowner with a sneer, "is even more degrading to the masters."

"Cut," someone shouts. "Back in places." "How was the sound?" "Give me five minutes to round up the horses." "Everybody quiet!"

SCENE

It is scene 28, take 1, sound 51 of a movie—a movie intended to depict slavery the way it really was.

"Slaves" is the name of the production, and with the exception of Stephen Boyd, Negroes play the lead roles.

Singer Dionne Warwick plays her first film role and Ossie Davis and Robert Kya-Hill portray slaves.

The site chosen by the producers, the old Witherspoon Plantation 20 miles south of Shreveport.

Yet two Shreveport businessmen enticed the crew here from a location in Florida and the script has been read and okayed by the Chamber of Commerce.

"They said we had to come here to make it," said Philip Langner, president of Theatre Guild Films, the producer. "When they first called, I said, 'You don't want this picture. Wait till you read it.' They read it and said, 'Not at all. This is where you should make it—in the real South.'"

Langner and Herbert Biberman, who co-authored the original script and who is directing the film, said several Shreveport couples whose great-grandparents had owned slaves told them they accepted the validity of the script.

PREJUDICED

"We are prejudiced in the North," says Langner. "We think the South is all of a piece. It's been an eyeopener. I've never met a Southerner who didn't beat me to saying 'slavery was bad.'"

"So much in our lives today is a result of history we are not aware of it," Langer explains. "It applies to Negro actions today. We ask, 'Why are they behaving like this? Why don't they shape up?' Well, we researched the film. Herbert read 150 volumes of history. There were laws passed which kept Negroes from learning to read for hundreds of years. So how can we complain when Negro children have trouble in school today?"

Marvin Hodges, a builder in Shreveport, is one of the men who lured the movie company here. And he landed a bit part, that of a paddyroller, a man who patrolled plantation borders in the days of slavery to catch runaways.

The land is owned by Dr. Clayton H. Smith, a Shreveport dentist, who plans Sunday tours to show the sets.

"I kept telling Mr. Biberman that if the film was derogatory to the South, I did not want him in here," Smith said. "But he assured me it was not, that it's an historical picture of situations in 1850."

One member of the film crew laughs about his dealings with local authorities.

CHAINED

"We were shooting a scene of slaves chained in a wagon and we needed shackles. So we called the sheriff and asked if he knew where we could get 18 pairs of shackles. He said, 'Gee, I don't know. I've got six pairs but I'm using them all now.'"

The Negro members of the cast are playing their parts with a mission.

"Slavery was not moonlight and magnolias," says Davis, whose part is that of a slave named Luke who is educated, baptized a Christian, promised his freedom and then sold down the river away from his wife and children.

"I'm here with a mission. One of the great needs today in the black community is a positive male image. Luke is a slave, but more important, he's a positive black male image. This is something my son and all other black sons—as well as white sons—need to be exposed to."

To Kya-Hill, born on a North Carolina tenant farm and reared on a peanut patch in Virginia, his role as the slave Jericho, "the Malcolm X of 1850," is a chance to relate the evils of slavery with racial turmoil today.

"The attitudes of slavery are so entrenched in this society," he complains, "they are still there. They've taken the chains off the body, and now we've got to take the chains off the mind."

The one performer not trying to make a social statement is the sole white star, Boyd.

The Irish-born actor says he did all his soul-searching before ever coming to the United States. The only reason he is doing the picture, he says, is that he likes the role.

IMPRESSION

"Some people have the impression that people are in this picture because they want to say something. I don't have a damn thing to say. Mackey says it, and what he says, God knows."

Mackey is a Yankee, formerly captain of a slaving ship, who works his field hands so hard in the film they die of exhaustion in five years instead of bearing up 10 years as they do on neighboring plantations.

"Show me a business anywhere which is successful, and I will show you a man who could very easily be Mackey," Boyd, argues. "And that, to me, is really the point."

GUNBOAT DIPLOMACY

Commodore Perry Opened Japan To Modern World

SHIMODA, Japan (AP) — "Four steam vessel disturb our peaceful sleep like four cups of fine tea," wrote a Japanese poet in the fevered hours after the arrival off Japan in July 1853 of the black ships of U.S. Commodore Matthew Perry.

The ships he referred to were the war vessels - powered by the revolutionary new steam engine - Susquehanna, Saratoga, Mississippi and Plymouth.

AMBITIOUS

Headed by the florid-faced, ambitious Perry, the squadron's mission was a historic one: to shock the Japanese islands out of more than two centuries of somnolence and open them to the turbulent winds of the industrial West.

Employing firmness and dignity mixed with friendless, Perry succeeded where others before him had failed. A year later he had concluded a treaty between the two nations which marked the end of Japan's isolation. Two years later, America's first envoy to Japan, the educator-diplomat Townsend Harris, opened his country's first consulate-general in this quiet fishing village at the tip of the Izu peninsula, south of Tokyo.

Perry's use of "gunboat diplomacy" revealed the weakness of the ruling military — hoguate — government. It was a shock from which it never recovered. Fifteen years after the black ships had sailed over the horizon into Japanese waters, a bloody rebellion drove the last shogun from the moated castle in Edo, the modern-day Tokyo.

A youth, later known to history as the Emperor Meiji, ascended the throne. With him Japan embarked on an astonishing career of modernization which moved it into the front ranks of the powers which had such a short time before awakened her from her sleep.

Industrial advance was matched by military prowess. A half-century after Perry, Japan's naval might reduced the imperial Russian navy to a shambles in the battle of Tsushima Straight; less than 100 years after the black ships, Japanese air, navy and ground forces conquered virtually all of Asia.

Because Perry's landing led straight to the Meiji restoration —whose centennial is being celebrated this year—Shimboda's black ship festival in mid-May was given a special character.

In addition to the usual parade of U.S. and Japanese naval forces crew members of Japan-based U.S. naval units and of visiting war vessels re-enacted Perry's landing, complete with bands, epaulets and beards.

At the same time, the Japanese staged their own re-creation of the signing of the Treaty of Shimoda in a temple compound whose chief tourist attraction is an annex largely to a display of sex symbols

It has long been believed that what brought Perry to Japanese shores was an American wish to open Japan to U.S. trade. The fact was that, having accomplished its purpose, the Americans left Japan for years to the commercial exploitation of other nations.

The U.S. objective was much more humdrum. It revolved partly around the pursuit of the North Pacific whale. In the mid 19th Century, the wooden ships and iron men which set out from New England needed friendly harbors for provisions and water.

And the steam warships which Perry had introduced to the Navy had to have convenient coaling stations.

Both these necessities were denied them by the rigid, isolationist policy of the Tokugawa shoguns who had kept foreign influence away from Japanese shores.

RELICS

The relics of Perry's visit and Harris' diplomatic sojourn in Shimoda still remain, a mecca for Japanese more than for Americans. The old consulate—a Buddhist temple—includes a cemetery in which are buried sailors and officers of Perry's squadron who died during the visit.

An American exhibition marking Perry's landing showed some of the gifts he brought with him: a miniature steam train, "from the emperor of the United States," a telegraph instrument, and other bric-a-brac of the Industrial Age.

Negroes Fight 'Dixie' Boot

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Parents of two Negro pupils who were expelled from school for walking out on the playing of "Dixie" at a school function asked U.S. District Court Friday to forbid punishment for such acts.

The suit names as defendants the Jonesboro School Board, schools Supt. Clarence Geis and Jonesboro High School Principal Charles Sims.

The suit stems from an incident Nov. 1, when about 30 of the school's 100 Negro pupils out of a total enrollment of 1,000 attended a school pep rally and "Dixie" was played as a fight song.

The rally was in the school's gymnasium during classroom hours. The Negroes marched to the school auditorium, where nonparticipating students were assembled.

The lawsuit says a condition of re-admittance to the school is that those who were expelled give a class recitation apologizing for walking out of the rally and promising to refrain from such conduct. The suit asks that this condition be forbidden by the court.

Screen Heavy Gets Role As A Lawman

LEE VAN VLEEF

Lee Van Cleef, who has enjoyed a long and profitable career portraying screen badman, has finally turned over a new leaf. Currently he plays a legendary Texas lawman in "The Big Gundown," at the Ritz Theatre in Technicolor and Techniscope.

Van Cleef, a native of Somerville, N. J., began what has become a flourishing acting career, largely through a fluke when he took an amateur theatrical role against his will. This brought him to the attention of a top New York theatrical agent and then, suddenly, he found himself playing an important part in the hit Broadway play, "Mr. Roberts."

Stanley Kramer, producer-director of the currently-popular "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," saw Van Cleef in "Mr. Roberts" when the show played Los Angeles, and Lee wound up with his first movie role in the famous western film, "High Noon." Van Cleef quickly became typecast as a heavy and has enjoyed considerable success as the villain of the piece ever since.

After serving in the Navy, Van Cleef was working in a factory and doubling as a public accountant when he joined a little theatre group and won the juvenile lead in "Our Town." Lack of time forced him to give up the theatre, but he was induced to return for a part in "Heaven Can Wait" although he had no intention of staying with it. A top talent agent was tipped off by Lee's director that the young man had talent, and the role in "Mr. Roberts" resulted.

Among Van Cleef's other films have been "Tribute to a Bad Man," "The Conquerer," "Ten Wanted Men," "Princess of the Nile," "Beast from 20,000 Fathoms," "Vice Squad," "Yellow Tomahawk," and "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly," to name a few.

"The Big Gundown," directed by Sergio Sollima and produced by Alberto Grimaldi, also stars Tomas Milian and Walter Barnes.

Iowan, Texan Win Awards

DENVER, Colo. — Iowa and Texas cowboys have won two of professional rodeo's coveted awards for 1968, the Rodeo Cowboys Association reports.

Paul Mayo, 26, Grinnell, who so far has won $28,200 this year, is recipient of the Bill Linderman Memorial Award; Bowie Wesley, Wildorado, Tex., is pro rodeo's Rookie of the Year.

Gene Pruett, executive secretary-treasurer of the 3,000-member R.C.A., said the Linderman award goes to the pro cowboy winning at least $1,000 in each of three events, which must include one riding and two timed events, or two riding and one timed events.

The award commemorates the career of Bill Linderman, Red Lodge, Mont., who was killed in a plane crash in 1965.

Pro rodeo's annual rookie award goes to the newcomer who has not only won a fair share of prize money in his first year as an R.C.A. member, but who also exhibits strong potential and is a credit to the sport.

Wesley joined the R.C.A. in December, 1967, after winning the required $1,000 in permit-holder ranks, and finished his first pro season in sixth place in steer roping and 18th in calf roping. His first pro rodeo was at Odessa, Tex., last January, and during the ensuing 10 months won $12,640 in calf, steer and team roping and in steer wrestling.

Dick Gets Preview Of Air Force

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon took his first flight Friday night on an airplane that is not yet his: Air Force One.

Technically, it did not bear that designation because the President was not aboard. But the silver and blue four-engine jet is the one which normally carries President Johnson. Presumably, it was used with Johnson's permission for Nixon's flight from New York to Miami.

"Cactus Flower" played to a full house in the City Auditorium last week, and the audience appeared to enjoy the production. There were a few protests to the liberal use of profanity. Otherwise, the situation comedy was well handled, fast-paced and the acting team was nice-looking and appealing.

'BLISS OF MRS. BLOSSOM'
Shirley MacLaine in triangle

Comedy And Farce Blended In Movie

"There was a rare chemistry at work during the making of that one," says Academy Award-winning actress Shirley MacLaine, referring to the production of "The Bliss of Mrs. Blossom," a presentation opening Tuesday at the Cinema Theatre.

"You don't often see it. It evolved as the film went on, a little bit at a time. The first few weeks were rough, but then there was a most unusual feeling about the whole thing — and we all knew we were something special."

All, in this case, were Miss MacLaine, her co-stars, Richard Attenborough and James Booth, producer Josef Shaftel and director Joe McGrath. Because of the delicate subject-matter of the Technicolor film — a preoccupied husband, a bored wife and a handsome young lover who comes to mend a sewing machine and stays on in the attic for three years — the film called for more than the usual concentration on the part of the director and his actors as they walked a hair-line between comedy, farce and very real pathos.

Maintaining this delicate balance meant few breaks on the set during production. Instead of long time-outs following the completion of a scene McGrath and his stars almost immediately plunged into lengthy and animate discussions on the motivation and technique of the next scene.

"To work that way," says Miss MacLaine, "you have to have lots of professional trust and personal regard for each other. With many directors all you do is go on the set, stand where you're told, say the lines you are given and that's that. It works fine with some. But the way, 'The Bliss of Mrs. Blossom' evolved, there was a refreshing quality to the production.

Pancho Villa Returns To Screen In Story Retold

Pancho Villa and his life offers a fascinating study for the historian, and his life is filled with dramatic incident. In "Villa Rides" one series of incidents have been taken from his life and brought to the screen in detail.

This is the period of his life in which he fought insurgent military leaders determined to wrest power from President Madero, for whom Villa had originally fought and to whom he remained unswervingly loyal all of his life.

In the film, the character of Villa, Fierro, Urbina, Madero and Huerta are all taken from real life. Villa himself is portrayed as a revolutionary, a military leader of genius and a far-thinking political romantic, all of which he was in reality. "Villa Rides" opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.

The role played by Robert Mitchum, that of Lee Arnold, a pilot who gets mixed up in the revolution, is fictitious, but based on more than imagination. A natural military genius, Villa was using light aircraft in warfare as early as 1911.

He even invented a way to transport his short ranged planes by rail, and launch them anywhere by laying a portable platform on the rails.

Villa eventually led the 40,000-man "Division de Norte" as a general, and he led them with his personal magnetism and ability. "It is this ability that we wish to bring to the screen," said producer Richmond.

Stanton Refrigeration Co-Op Closing Down At End Of Year

By SAM BLACKBURN

STANTON — Changing times, the widespread adoption of home freezers and new federal laws which hamper operations are spelling 'finis' to an establishment here which has become a landmark in this community.

It has been announced that effective Dec. 31, the Cap Rock Refrigeration Co-Op will close its doors. Actually, according to Orvel B. Bryan, who manages the Co-Op Refrigeration plant, as well as West-Tex Co-Op Telephone and Cap Rock Electric Co-Op, the plant has already been closed. The last employe was released from duties last week.

Meantime, letters have been sent out to all members of the Co-Op who have lockers in the plant in which frozen food is still held. They are being asked to come and remove their food before Dec. 31.

The Stanton cooperative refrigerator is one of 32 plants of its identical type put in operation in Texas a quarter of a century ago.

All the others have already gone out of business, Bryan said. After World War II, about 18,000 small freezing and food processing plants were set up over Texas. Many have closed down, Bryan said. Others will be closing as time passes. Their period of usefulness is over, he explained.

Probably the home freezer has done more to kill off these plants than anything. Nearly every farm home, and many urban residences, now have these small, efficient units. They provide as much room as the lockers in the community refrigeration plants and offer the additional convenience of ready accessibility. The cost has dropped to the point where they are within reach of most families.

Farmers no longer raise their own beef and pork, and then process it as they did a score of years ago, Bryan points out.

CHANGING TIMES PUTS ONE-TIME BIG BUSINESS ON BLINK
Co-op Refrigeration at Stanton to close down effective Dec. 31

Further, a new inspection law passed by Congress has placed a new barrier in the paths of small locker and processing plants which will probably bring about their extinction.

When the Stanton plant opened in 1945, it boasted aisles of lockers totaling 605.

"They were all in use," said Bryan. "We even had a waiting list of people who wanted lockers. We had a crew of five full-time workers who operated the plant and slaughtered and processed meats for the members.

"Today less than 100 of the lockers are in service. Many of these have not been visited by their owners for months.

"We have sent letters to all of these people asking they come to the plant and pick up their property. When the lockers are emptied we will close down the operation."

Already the doors are locked and patrons who come for their property are taken to the plant by special arrangement at the other co-op offices.

The current is still on, however, and the temperature in the locker section is down below freezing. The other cold rooms are still functioning although they are empty. The extensive equipment for processing meat stands idle.

There are still 175 cooperative members on the rolls of the Cap Rock Refrigerator Co-Op. Bill Howell, Lenorah, is president of the five man board.

Police Knew Where To Look

MANCHESTER, Iowa (AP) — An escapee from the state prison farm was arrested early Friday inside the same place into which he was convicted of breaking three years ago, police said.

Robert Beam, 34, was jailed after officers said they found him inside a bowling alley about 3 a.m.

Beam, who walked away from the prison farm Tuesday, was serving a term for breaking into the same bowling alley in 1965.
