Santa Claus Comes To Colorado City

The Christmas season officially opens in Colorado City and Mitchell County Monday with none other than "Old Saint Nick" himself leading the yuletide parade into the city.

Activities get underway Monday morning at 9:30 a.m. when the "jolly old gentleman" will be on hand at the Civic House to meet with pre-school age children.

Free candy will be available for those present and Santa will visit with all the youngsters and parents on hand for the festive event.

The first visit of Santa Claus will continue until 11 a.m.

Monday night's activities will be opened with a burst of splendor as the Christmas lights are turned on for the first time along the main thoroughfare in Colorado City.

City crews were busy last week string the wires and installing a host of the multi-colored lights that will decorate the city in the true holiday spirit for weeks to come.

With the bevy of beautiful Christmas lamps lighting the way, Santa Claus will make a grand entrance through the city on the Colorado City fire truck.

The Christmas parade featuring Santa will be led by the high-stepping Colorado High School Wolf Band under the direction of Director Dwight Tomb.

Following the parade through the city, Santa Claus will again arrive at the Civic House for a visit with children of all ages on hand to make his acquaintance. Free candy will again be provided for all those coming out to see the jolly old gentleman with the flowing white beard and red, rosy cheeks.

In the spirit of the holiday season, many local merchants will remain open each Monday night until 8:30 p.m. throughout the Christmas season.

The two Monday nights will be Dec. 6 and Dec. 13.

Stores will remain open until 8:30 p.m. each night the entire week prior to the end of the yuletide shopping period.

Stores close at 6 p.m. on the Friday, Dec. 24, Christmas Eve.

Free parking will be in effect on downtown city streets during the Christmas shopping season as the six-months trial on non-use of parking meters continues.

The removal of parking meter heads was apporved earlier in the year to boost business in the downtown area by making more and free parking space available.

Hutchinson Sets Talent Exposition

Hutchinson School students will shine Tuesday night at their annual Talent Show, sponsored by the PTA, and set for 7 p.m. in the Colorado High School auditorium.

Proceeds will go to Hutchinson PTA, which sponsors the Talent Show each year. Tickets are 50c for adults and 25c for students. They can be bought from any Hutchinson School pupil or at the auditorium door, Tuesday evening.

Parents and friends of sixth grade band members, directed by Bob Newman, are invited to come early and hear a concert by the band.

Choral groups, square dances and special numbers will be presented by Hutchinson School music classes of Miss Sherrie Payne.

First second and third prizes will be awarded entries in the Talent Show contest proper. Fourteen numbers, some with more than one part, are scheduled to take part in the Talent Show contests.

Heading Hutchinson Parent-Teacher Association as president, this year, is Mrs. Warren Anderson.

Mrs. Truman Nix is chairman of the Talent Show plans for Tuesday evening.

NEED $6,000 IN GIFTS

Library Fund Backers Seek Private Donations

Application for the construction project of a new Mitchell County Library has been finally and officially approved.

Notice of the approval was received in the office of County Judge Elmer Martin from the office of H. Kenneth Jackson, director of Field Service Division of the Texas State Library department.

Federal funds are available, to the extent of $50,000, through the State of Texas — if a matching sum is raised locally.

The county already has the land for the library, approved by the Texas State Library. The site is on lots north of City Hall, east of the courthouse, cornering 4th and Oak Sts. Lots are 175 feet north and south by 150 feet east and west. Plans for the new library call for a modern building of 7,000 square feet.

Construction will be of brick, air-conditioned, with shelves for 35,000 books, a multi-purpose room to seat 40 to 50 people, a children's department, magazine and browsing area and librarian's office.

Overall construction of approximately $100,000 will include equipment such as durable and tasteful furniture. Always a costly item in any library meeting library standards, furnishings and equipment will run about $20,000 of that approximate total.

The new library construction depends on the County Commissioners Court's appropriating between $37,000 and $40,000 from funds soon to be available from the 1965 tax collection — a sum which would not otherwise be used for operating the county through 1966.

"It is beleived from talks of county officials with the Library Board," said Joe Earnest, who is vice-president of Friends of the Library, "that the court will be as responsive as it feels it can.

"The job is now up to the public," said Earnest. "The public must now raise approximately $6,000. About $6,000 has already been donated through clubs and organizations and private citizens who made substantial gifts to the library fund.

Those working to secure the library a new and permanent home, Earnest went on to say, "Realize that sizeable sums must be contributed by individuals so that the $6,000 from private subscriptions will be raised."

"Though any donation will, of course, be acceptable, it will take many gifts of $5

Two Wrecks In C-City

Two auto accidents were reported during the past week on Colorado City streets.

Saturday, Nov. 20, a car driven by Fletcher Perkins Henry, Rt. 2, Colorado City, struck a parked vehicle belonging to L. C. Morris at 9:25 a.m. on Third St.

A two-car accident Wednesday at 2:35 p.m. at the Fifth and Elm St. intersection involved autos driven by Meri Anthony Morgan, 321 E 12th St., and Bobby G. Carpenter of Port Allen, La.

Damages to the Morgan auto were estimated at $150 and at $250 on the Carpenter car.

Cooler Temp Hits County

Mitchell County cotton farmers continued to hope for the "first killing freeze" of the harvesting season as cooler weather moved into Texas Friday.

Ginning is going at an inconsistent pace throughout the county with a total of 6,321 bales turned out thus far as of Friday morning.

Most estimates of the county crop range from 30-40,000 and judging from those figures, the total output so far is from 12-20 percent of what is expected.

Defoliation has increased in the county somewhat in the past two weeks, but the majority of the farmers are still counting on the weather to put the leaves on the ground.

China Grove has the highest single production figure of any gin with a total of 1,445 bales.

Planter's Gin at Westbrook reported 729 as of Friday morning.

Buford has turned out 328 bales.

In the Loraine community Guitar Gin has produced 708 bales while the Loraine Co-op has ginned 588 for a 1,296 total in that area.

Colorado City's total production from four gins was set at 2,523 Friday morning.

The breakdown gin-by-gin in Colorado City goes like this:

Producers — 784
Guitar — 367
Colorado City Gin — 352
Farmers — 1,020

All figures are current with Friday morning totals.

Hopes were up among the farmers as cooler weather moved in Friday afternoon, but there was still some doubt as to whether temperatures would drop to the magic freezing mark hoped for.

Possible freezing temperatures were forecast for the Panhandle area, but local observers seemed to feel that the lower reading would reach into the Mitchell County area.

The killing freeze is approximately two weeks overdue in the county in relation to the date of its arrival in 1964.

SS Claims Need Filing Immediately

All farm and ranch operators in Mitchell County who are age 65 or over, and all farm and ranch workers who are also that old, are reminded by Irven Fisher, Big Spring social security district manager, that the 1965 changes in the law make it imperative for them to file their social security claims immediately.

This applies even though they are still active on the farm and ranch.

Hospitalization insurance, which is automatic, and the medical insurance, which is optional at a $3.00 per month premium beginning next July, require that social security claims be filed before those provisions can apply. Persons already 65 need to take such action now.

Those who do not file by the deadline of March 31, 1966, will have only one other chance to enroll, and that will be at a higher cost in the October-December 1967 enrollment period.

Fisher urges all persons affected by the above information to talk with a representative of the Big Spring social security office when he visits Colorado City any Tuesday. The representative will be in the National Guard Armory from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Even though a person's earnings may be too high to permit immediate payment of monthly retirement benefits, Fisher wants to feel sure that no eligible persons have lost out on the health insurance program because of lack of information.

FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

HD Agent Publishes Special Tips Letter

New on the homefront this week was a special news letter directed to "Hurried Homemakers," Colorado City business women.

The letter, "Homemaking Tips for Business Women," was prepared in the office of the Agriculture Extension Service, by Miss Idalia Wood, Home Demonstration Agent for Mitchell County.

Citing the fact that 38 percent of the homemakers in Mitchell County are also full-time business women, Miss Wood promises the periodic publication will be mailed free "if there is sufficient interest."

A card or a call to the Extension Service office, RA 8-3111, will put the name of business women-homemakers and others interested in the "Tips."

First issue concerns itself with "Home Appliances," naming as the "big four" favorites of women, ranges, refrigerators, washers and vacuum cleaners. Most helpful appliances were named as clothes dryers, dishwashers, irons and electric mixers.

Another section of the letter deals with "Helpful Hints for Men's Hats," advising frequent brushing with a brush of soft bristles, "with the nap."

There are directions, in another section, about pine cone decorations for Christmas.

Section of current interest, too, was one sub-titled "Favorite Holiday Foods." In that section, Miss Wood writes of food supplies. Enclosed with the letter came a recipe brochure accenting the use ofpecans, now plentiful on the market, the HD Agent reports.

Her hints for holiday food choices follow:

Favorite Holiday Foods

December ushers in the busiest season of the year for most homemakers.

One way to save time — and money — is to shop with the plentiful foods list of the U.S. Department of Agriculture as your guide to budget buying.

When foods are seasonally plentiful, you have a broader selection of color, size, and quality. But what's more, they usually wear the most favorable price tags.

Topping the December plentifuls are pecans — a favorite of most chefs because they add elegance, texture, and flavor to stuffings and sauces as well as to desserts, salads and entrees.

Also, December promises plenty of apples, oranges and frozen orange juice as well as onions and cabbage, peanuts and peanut butter.

Apple production is about 9 percent above the 5 year average with peak shipments moving to market now.

Orange shipments will be much larger since both Texas and Florida citrus groves have recovered from freeze damage of several years ago. Total orange crop is expected to run about 13 percent larger than average.

The late summer onion crop set a new record, and cabbage production is the largest since 1956.

Cooper Set To Receive $3500 Check

A check for $3,500 went into the mail this weekend for Robert Cooper, Colorado High Junior student and Mitchell County 4-H Club member, in payment for his grand champion steer at the State Fair of Texas Junior Livestock Show.

The 985-pound Black Angus steer was purchased at auction by the A&P Food Stores of Texas following last month's show in Dallas.

Cooper's check was among a total of $180,700 going out to the 1,700 4-H Club members and FFA students who participated in the livestock and poultry shows at the State Fair.

Regarding the checks, Ray W. Wilson, State Fair livestock manager, said, "The support that the Junior Auction Sale Committees obtained from individuals and firms in Dallas, Fort Worth and other Texas cities made the 1965 junior auctions the most successful in the history of the State Fair."

Wilson advised that the checks were mailed to county agricultural agents and vocational agriculture teachers who supervised the boys and girls with their projects.

Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cooper.

OVER AAA ODESSA

'Cats Continue Unbeaten Skein

Trailing by a 10-2 count midway in the first quarter, the Wallace Wildcats roared back to overtake Odessa's Blacksear High School Steers 59-42, in a non-district basketball game.

Wallace also won the B game, 49-34

High scorer for Blackshear, which holds membership in District 1-AAA of the Prairie View Interscholastic League of Texas, was Leroy Hudgins with 19 points.

In double figures for Wallace were Willie Brown, 16; Curtis Taylor, 15; Wayne Russell, 12, and Melvin Williams 10. Don Irvin completed the Wildcat scoring by tallying six.

Robert Brown of Wallace and John Lenford shared scoring honors in the B game with 11 each. Kenneth Johnson bagged 10 for Wallace, while other Wildcat scorers included Larry and Kerry Campbell, who bucketed eight each; Danny Green and Milton Bender, with five each, and Billy Williams, who netted two.

Despite Blackshear's eight-point margin during the first quarter, Wallace rallied to cut the deficit to one point, 12-11, at the end of the period, and moved out in front, 19-13, before the Steers came back to tie the score at 19-19. Baskets by Williams and Taylor gave Wallace a 23-19 lead, but Hudgins connected twice to make it 23-23, before Willie Brown gave Wallace a 26-23 halftime lead with a field goal and a free throw.

Wayne Russell led the Wildcats' third quarter surge which gave Wallace a fairly comfortable lead, 41-28, at the end of the third period.

and up into the hundreds to realize the necessary amount. This is an opportunity for citizens to make gifts as lasting memorials (as one does to his church in a stained glass window) honoring deceased loved ones."

"Those working in behalf of the new library feel that a gift to the library is a gift that keeps on giving." Earnest said.

Checks may be mailed to Box 427 at Loraine or to Box 206, Colorado City.

Mitchell County Library was first opened in 1925 in a small room at the courthouse, with 117 books donated by club women after a "Bring a Book" tea at the home of the late Mrs. P. C. Coleman. The library now has a total of 20,000 volumes and has outgrown its cramped quarters, limited space which faces south in the corner of Civic House building.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

MOVIES ON THE COURTROOM

The jurors were duly impressed when the attractive young plaintiff described the leg injuries she had suffered in an auto accident. She was so crippled, she said, that she was forced to wear low heeled shoes at all times.

In short order, the opposing attorney called for the courtroom to be darkened for a movie. Taken secretly, the movie neatly punctured the plaintiff's claim by showing her arriving at a party wearing extra-high heels.

Courtroom movies have found their greatest use in deflating injury claims that are either false or exaggerated. However, they have also proved useful in establishing claims that are valid — for instance, by clarifying the conditions that led to an accident, or by demonstrating the effects of an injury.

In fact, movies are so revealing that, though offered by one side of a lawsuit, they may aid the other side even more.

For example, in disputing the claim of an injured boy, the defense showed movies of him playing baseball to demonstrate that he was still able to take part in sports. But the movies also showed, more poignantly than words, the handicaps he did suffer in chasing fly balls and running bases.

Of course, the law's concern is not which side is helped but whether justice is served. There is real danger in the very fact that movies are so persuasive, for they may influence a jury beyond fair limits.

With that danger in mind, the law insists on careful conformity to the rules of evidence. Authenticity and accuracy of the films must be proven. Relevancy to the issues must be established. The trial judge may, at his discretion, rule out films that don't meet these tests.

In one case, a film of a stretch of highway was offered to show that the injured pedestrain should have been able to see the oncoming car.

However, it turned out that the picture was made in the wintertime, when intervening trees were bare of foilage. Since the accident happened in the summertime when the trees were in full bloom, the film was excluded by the judge.

But with legal safeguards, movies have an important role to play in the courtroom. Like many other scientific developments, they open new paths in the law's search for truth.

QUESTION BEFORE TEXAS

Sample Receipts At Season High

Sample receipts at the Cotton Classing Office in Abilene steadily gained last week and the Nov. 19 receipts, about 6,500 samples were the heaviest for the season.

Eleven classers processed 28,000 samples for the week ending November 19, 1965, which brought the season total to 143,000. Eight micronaire operators were able to keep current with incoming cotton. About 7,000 miked, but unclassed, samples were on hand Friday night.

Receipts from District 2 totaled 15,455. The quality of the cotton was about the same as for the preceding week.

Eighteen percent of the samples were classed white, 80 percent light spotted, and 2 percent spotted. The amount of cotton reduced in grade because of grass, bark, or stems was 2 percent of the total classed.

The 29/32 and 15/16 staple lengths made up 90 percent of the total.

Ninety-eight percent of the mike readings were in the 3.3 through 5.1 range.

Pressley readings were steady with 98 percent of the measurements going 75,000 pounds per square inch and higher which was fair to very strong.

Prices for middling light spotted cotton continued to decline, and producers received gross prices ranging from even with Commodity Credit Corporation rates to 50 points or about $2.50 per bale above CCC loan rates.

Some of the middling light spotted cotton as well as most higher grade cotton went into the government loan program.

Demand and prices for strict low middling light spotted and lower qualities remained the same and grossed 50 to 100 points above loan rates.

CONVERSATION CORNER

HUMAN NATURE, which is about three parts contradiction anyhow, can count blessings just so long . . . and just so many.

Then it comes time again to count complaints for the Gotta-Grine department. Like a sand storm the day after Thanksgiving.

Heading the list around here for now though, was that 90 degree weather on Thanksgiving Day, for goodness sake!

It's called "Indian Summer," and the Indians can have it back.

STILL, and all, it was a very fine day indeed for visiting without the added hazard of driving through rain or snow or sleet and slush and such.

Just nearly everybody had company . . . or went somewhere to be company, themselves.

The weather Thursday left Thanksgiving travelers nothing to complain about . . . nothing except drivers who signal left, then turn right . . . drivers straddling the middle line of the highway at about 20 miles per hour . . . or other drivers practicing up to be fire truck or ambulance drivers.

EVEN though it turned out to be a day calling for iced tea instead of mugs of steaming coffee, and frozen dessert instead of pumpkin pie, it was a good day.

Thanksgiving, by tradition a family day, brought happiness to many C-City families.

At the house of Luna and Henry Bilberry were both the Bilberry daughters and their husbands. Here from Post were Carolyn and her husband Charles Black, coach at Post, and their sons Chuck and Bill. From Norman, Okla., came Judy and her husband Arthur Barnes. Art is doing graduate work in music at O.U. and Judy teaches in public schools.

BRIDGFORDS, Emily and Dr. Dave, are entitled to the prize for number of Thanksgiving dinner guests.

They entertained their son David and his wife Terry of Maryneal and, of course, their C-City son, Dr. Bill Bridgford (still a bachelor.)

Also here for the family celebration were Emily's sister Mrs. C. L. Bast, her husband and his father Charles Bast, all of Sweetwater; their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bast of Hamilton, Ohio; the Bast twin daughters and their husbands.

Kay and her husband Terry Scott live in Eunice, N.M. Ann and her husband, Jim Corley were her from Dallas.

FROM ALPINE as guests in her parents' home came the former Zora Mae Sweat, daughter of the Olson A. Sweats 1236 Locust.

Zora Mae and her husband, Ross Hise and their sons Paul, who is 9, and Clark, 5, spent the whole holiday weekend here. (Mrs. Sweat, public school music teacher in Primary School is still recuperating from a recent illness.)

In Alpine, Ross Hise teaches music in Sul Ross, and Zora Mae teaches third grade in the public schools.

MIKE HAMMANS home was brightened by the holiday vacation for their only daughter, Danna Hammans, freshman at Texas Tech, where she plans to major in speech therapy. Mrs. Hammans is, you'll remember, public school nurse in C-City. The family lives at 1830 Austin St.

Judy Wood, daughter of Jim and Odessa Wood of 1325 Walnut St., is another of our cute Tech coeds home for Thanksgiving. She's a Tech freshman.

Dois Pace and his pretty little wife Jimmie (Jaames) were here from Canyon where they are West Texas State University music students. They visited his parents the P. H. Paces and her parents, the Carl Jameses.

LESTER BIGGS household, 1421 Walnut St., had the fun of a visit from son Reid Biggs and his wife Kaye (Stewart) and their little daughter Shari, from Dennison. First visit they've made here since Easter!

The Biggs son Todd, who lives in Casper, Wyoming for now, came through Saturday enroute to Houston on a business trip. Todd, his wife Mary Lou (Patton) and their sons John and Greg, expect to move to Denver Colorado soon. Mary Lou is daughter of our Dorothy Patton.

Kaye, wife of Reid, is daughter of the John Stewarts who live in Robert Lee, but who are being transferred by Sun to Premont, Texas, hear tell.

RODGERS HOME, 1225 Hickory, had Thanksgiving plus a wedding!

Judy May Rodgers, daughter of Mildred and Omer F. Rodgers, became the bride of Doug Chitsey, freshman football coach here, and son of the E. L. Chitseys of Hermleigh.

MORE STUDENTS from SAC, San Angelo State College, who came home for the first long break in this school term's routine, included Deanna Simmons, daughter of the Earl Simmons, 424 East 13th St.,

Also Dannie Fisher, son of the E. M. Fishers of 987 Vine St. and Ronnie Moseley, youngest of the R. L. Moseley (Tommy and Velma) family were here from SAC.

Jeanie Gundrum, senior in West Texas University at Canyon visited her parents, the H. L. Gundrums, 865 Marshall St.

Cheryl Nunley, who's enrolled in secretarial course in a Midland Business College, was guest of her parents the Bob Nunleys, 1636 Dallas St.

Here from Southwest Texas State at San Marcos were Dickie Shimer, son of Corky and John Shimer, 1014 East 10th . . . Jan Williams, daughter of Happy and Dr. J. D. Williams . . . and Pam Roberts, daughter of Janice Roberts.

VIRGINIA FULLER and her husband Raymond entertained Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Tayman, Virginia's mother and father, here from Stamford for the holiday dinner.

Virginia's daughter Terry Myers was home from SMU. Younger daughter Judy, sixth-grade Hutchinson student, celebrated by having an attack of flu, complete with fever.

SOME of us families had to tie in by phone to get the whole family together. Jo and John Tiller, for instance, talked to son John, freshman student in Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, Calif. He's due home in exactly three weeks for Christmas college vacation.

The Bill Coffeys, daughter Doris Ann Mann, her son Jim and her daughter Betsy Ruth, talked via long distance to the Coffey son Bill and his family, too.

H'm .It wasn't even cold in Midland, Michigan, where the Bill Coffeys Jr. live. So, even though Thanksgiving was unseasonably warm, weather-wise, it was also very seasonably warm with family greetings. And get-togethers.

Dois Paces Visit Parents in C-City

Home from West Texas State University at Canyon, where they are both students, were Mr. and Mrs. Dois Pace.

The couple visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Pace, 1021 Locust St., and the younger Mrs. Pace's parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl James, 221 East 6th St. Mrs. Pace is the former Miss Jimmie James.

Other weekend guests in the P. H. Pace hame were Mrs. Pace's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Singleton and son Billy, of Grand Prairie. The family also visited Mrs. L. E. Robertson, mother of Mrs. Pace and Mrs. Singleton, in Valley Fair Lodge.

LIVE IN ODESSA

Miss Kahler Bride Of Mr. Weatherly

Miss Jonnie Kahler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kahler, 119 East 6th Street, was married Wednesday evening, November 24th to Doyle Weatherly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weatherly, 204 East Fairmont.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Mrs. Earl Walraven, was matron of honor.

Bennie Lloyd Weatherly, brother of the groom, served as best man. The Reverend Caddo Matthews, pastor of Plainview Baptist Church, officiated for the single ring ceremony.

Nuptials were spoken in the home of the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. William Kahler, 1825 Hemphill. Following a reception in the home, Mr. and Mrs. Weatherly left for a brief wedding trip, after which they will live in Odessa.

Terry Hull Is Training

Seaman Recruit Terry D. Hull, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hull of Route 2, Colorado City, is undergoing seven weeks of Navy basic training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

In the first weeks of his naval service he will study military subjects and live and work under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian to sailor he will be taught and supervised by experienced Navy petty officers. They will teach him the basic skills of seamanship as well as survival techniques, military drill and other basic subjects.

On completion of his recruit training he will be assigned to a school, shore station or ship, according to the results of his Navy classification tests, his own desires and the needs of the Navy.

L. D. Robertsons Here from Andrews

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Robertson of Andrews spent Thanksgiving Day as guests in the home of Mrs. Robertson's mother Mrs. A. V. Lewis.

The Robertsons, accompanied by their children Larry, a student in Texas Tech, Tommie and Bonnie of Andrews, also visited Mr. Robertson's mother, Mrs. L. E. Robertson of Root Valley Fair Lodge.

Count Turkey A Blessing For Planned Left-Overs

By RUTH COFFEY

One of the blessings most housewives count, on Thanksgiving Day, is the blessing of having left-overs.

Left-over turkey is a help to menu planning, a time saver, and a challenge to any cook's ingenuity.

When the family tires of sliced turkey, the baked bird can be the main course in a casserole, in turkey a la king served on toast or over noodles.

Many cooks like to specialize in creamed turkey with their own imaginative touches of seasonings and vegetables added.

Make two cups of medium thick white sauce using 1 cup each of turkey broth and milk for the liquid, 4 tablespoons of flour, 2 to 4 tablespoons of butter or margarine

Season with minced onion, paprika, salt and pepper. Add 1½ cups of cooked turkey. Serve in indivjdual nests of mashed potatoes or rice. Or top toast with the creamed turkey. Creamed turkey over quick hot biscuits, split, is also a pleasing change.

To make the recipe serve more people, stretch it by adding 2 hard cooked and sliced eggs, strips of pimento or that cup of left-over English peas.

Hot turkey sandwiches for supper might please the man of the house. Cut bread in triangular halves and toast light brown. Cover with white slices of turkey meat, then thin sliced fresh tomatoes. Top with cheese sauce and place under broiler .under sauce is bubbly. (Recipe for sauce on cheddar cheese soup works fine.)

Diced turkey can be added to the favorite casserole re- beef or ham) using spagetti, beef or hame) using spagetti, noodles, macaronni, rice, and /or vegetables in the sauce of the cook's choice.

Ground turkey makes delicious croquettes. Then there is always the old-fashioned favorite for the last day of turkey — turkey hash or soup.

However you slice it, turkey is an asset after Thanksgiving as well as on the feast day.

Miss Idalia Wood, Mitchell County Home Demonstration agent, calls left-over turkey "A boon to the homemaker who knows how to use what she labels planned-over turkey."

Says Miss Wood in a recent newsletter, "Smart shoppers always buy a much larger bird than they need for the major meal so they can plan at least three other meals around the turkey."

To handle planned-over turkey, the HD Agent, says, "Remove the meat from the bone and from any dressing. Separate the white meat from the dark, because each is handled differently. White meat is best for hot turkey sandwiches or turkey a la king so it should be packaged with these dishes in mind and then tightly wrapped and frozen.

"Dark meat needs the added flavor of vegetables and spices to enhance it, so it is best for stew, hash or turkey pie."

Sadler Arouses Suspicions

When any public official denies to the public access to public records dealing with public business, or to its news media representatives, the natural questions is: What is he trying to hide?

This applies to Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler who, a subordinate says has issued an order that nobody is to have access to public records of his office without his personal clearance and permission.

The order came to light when reporters for the Post tried to get information on whether or not payments were up to date on the purchase in 1963 of 1,109 acres of Dimmitt County land by C. D. Wyche, an Irving millionaire. The first $80,000 was guaranteed by B. R. Sheffield, the former Brady land promoter who now is serving a prison sentence for his involvement in the 1954 veterans' land scandals.

THE INFORMATION sought was of the most routine nature, but even if it was not, it still was something which the public has every right to know.

Commissioner Sadler is not a man to stay at his Austin desk. He often roams. His office, on this occasion, said he was out of town. It did not know where he was or when he would return.

The inevitable consequences of any such order as he is said to have issued is to arouse suspicions, whether there is a basis for them or not.

The same is ture when any group of public officials retires to dark corners to transact public business.

IN VIEW OF THE scandals in the Land Office only a few years ago, Texans have a special reason for keeping a very close eye on everything that happens in that unit of the state government.

And any denial of public access to records that should be routinely available to everyone interested enough to examine them is especially ill advised.

Commissioner Sadler legally may be the custodian of these records and the information sought, but they are not his personal property, although it is not uncommon for officials with a contempt for the rights of the public to take that attitude.

Our suggestion to Commissioner Sadler is: "Open the door, Commissioner, and let the public see what you are trying to conceal from everybody except the right people."

"Let's You And Him Fight"

A couple of years ago we carried an editorial titled "Let's you and him fight." I'm running into that problem again. I hadn't been back on the job here more than a week before some folks sidled up to me here at the office or on the street and confidentially whispered in my ear that I should take an editorial jab at thus and so or this and that.

There are altogether too many such customers who are perfectly willing to hold my coat while I take pen in hand to castigate someone they don't like or some one they happen to have a grudge against at the moment.

But when I offer them all the space they need to take out after some one . . . or something, with the only requirement they sign their name, they begin backtracking.

"Oh, I can't do that, I'm in business," is the customary reply.

I always wonder what the heck they think I'm in. It just so happens I'm in business too, with the same problems of paying the rent, salaries, utilities, taxes and the like, while trying to make a modest profit. And we share the same customers, in most cases, and need to get along with them the same as anyone else.

I have the unique talent for getting into enough hot water on my own hook without any assistance from anyone. And I'll probably keep on doing so. But these are going to be self-inflicted problems and not those suggested by someone else.

And, I feel, this is the way it should be. I, alone, do not constitute a faction. As long as I, alone, originate my own controversies, there will be no factional strife in Lewisville. In fact, just the opposite will be the case. Folks who normally might not get along will become unified in a common cause, that of riding me out of town on a rail. You can't have factions when a community is united in such a worthy endeavor.

—Clemo Clements, The Lewisville Leader

Amendments And Rattlers

Texans always have shown a healthy respect for rattlesnakes.

So it was understandable last week when Lt. Gov. Preston Smith cautioned Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas about the political risk of studying inequities in county-state property tax valuations.

"You're sure fumping on a rattlesnake," Smith said emphatically.

Atwell proposed the legislative budget board should study the possibility of standardizing valuations procedures in the 254 counties.

Predictably, he got nowhere.

Other board members candidly admitted there is too much political dynamite in the subject. They were not ready to light the fuse.

A useful purpose was served, however.

The fact that the board's executive director, Vernon McGee, put the question on the agenda showed that state legislators and budget makers are concerned about the property tax problem.

The board's negative action does not mean the matter will be dropped.

Taxpayers who are getting socked harder on the valuation of property in their counties than are taxpayers in other counties have a faint ray of hope for fairer treatment eventually.

Atwell said he is going to carry his complaint to the Committee on Local and State Tax Policy. He is vice chairman of this continuing committee, which will report to the 1967 Legislature.

The problem of inequity between counties is certain to come to the attention of the Texas Research League in its study of the inter relationships between city, county and state government in metropolitan areas.

That study is underway, at the request of Gov. John Connally. A report will go to the 1967 Legislature.

The governor asked the Legislature this year to submit a constitutional amendment to get the state out of the property tax field That would have eliminated part of the inequity because the state receives property taxes on the basis of valuations set by the counties.

The legislature defeated Connally on that proposal, siding with Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo. Hardeman was the leader in persuading the legislature not only to retain the state property tax but also to increase the rate for financing college buildings.

Voters last week endorsed Hardeman's idea, voting to increase the tax from 5 to 10 cents per $100 valuation. The wording on the ballot made no reference to a higher rate so some voters may not have realized they were approving increased taxation.

Adoption of the amendment — while for a worthy purpose — will accentuate the inequity, for some counties set property valuations six times higher than do other counties.

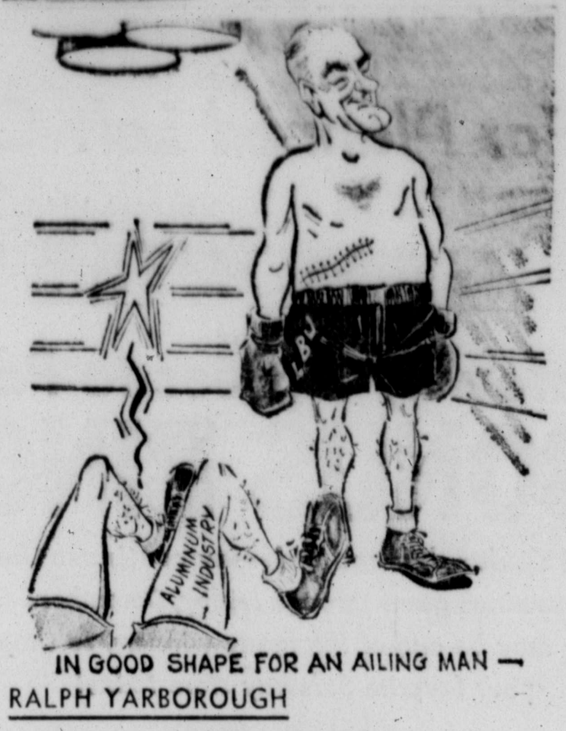

The key to improving the situation will be to rouse the concern of legislaiors from the counties where the property tax burden is heaviest and most inequitable.

With commercial, industrial and residential valuations running heaviest in the metropolitan counties, this year's legislative redistricting on a "one man, one vote" basis may encourage "big city" legislators to seek standardized tax values statewide.

We say this "may" happen.

Whether it will or not depends on Connally's willingness to lead such a reform effort and the courgae of legislators to support him in jumping on a political rattlesnake

Health Bills Are Discussed

This week, I am reporting on Congressional Health legislation. Here in America, we have the best medical schools and the best trained doctors in the world, largely as a result of joint contributions by the Federal government and the medical profession.

For many years there have been Federal programs in support of health. Since the Hill-Burton Act of 1946, hospitals have been built all over this Nation. The National Institutes of Health were financing with Federal money, over 50% of the operating expenses of the more than 80 medical schools in America. Under the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act, the building of new medical schools, additions to old schools, and renovations of buildings are being done with up to 2/3 of the money being put up by the Federal government.

Yet, this is not enough, because there is a growing shortage of doctors in this country. Our rapidly expanding population is such that in recent years about 18% of all doctors licensed each year in America come from foreign countries not trained in American medical schools. In 1963, 27% of all internships in the hospitals in the United States and 24% of all residencies in hospitals were filled by foreign medical schools graduates. At the same time that we have such a shortage of our own medical school graduates, the Soviet Union is graduatjng three times more than doctors per year from medical schools than we are.

Realizing the difficulty that the medical schools are in, Congress passed several laws this year to combat this shortage in theprofession.

(1) To increase the number of doctors graduating from medical schools, we extended the Health Professional Educational Assistance Act to provide both a $25 million a year student loan fund and $160 million a year for new construction for medical, osteopathic, dental, optometric, and podiatric. $50 million a year more was spent to strengthen the quality of education in all of these schools and we also established a scholarship program for students in all of these schools in addition to the conventional medical schools.

(2) We extended four health program: the migratory workers health program; the mass immunization program; grants of $5 million annually to schools of public health; and the grants to general and community health services.

(3) The Health Research Facilities Act was extended for three years to provide $280 million for construction of health research facilities to research into the ways of improving health and to allow the National Institutes of Health to distribute medical knowledge to all doctors so that the medical knowledge accumulated in a few centers can be made available to every practicing doctor in America.

(4) A new program was begun to pay the initial costs of professional and technical personnel at community health centers, because of the shortage of such personnel in most towns and cities.

(5) The Heart, Cancer and Stroke Bill recommended by President Johnson was passed to avert the death and disease caused by these three crippling diseases. More than half of the deaths in the deaths in the United States are caused by these three diseases.

(6) A new Medical Library Assistance Act was passed to buy new books to improve medical research and better facilitate the use of medical knowledge.

All of these Acts are aimed toward improving the quality of medical training and eliminating the shortages of personnel from medical service. If we are to remain first in the world in medicine, we must continue to progress in our knowledge and our abilities to train more doctors to take care of the health needs of our Nation.

PLANS COMING SOON

Texas Activates First Co-ordinated Program

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas' first major state government program for widespread coordination of public service activities is being activated.

Gov. John Connally soon will reveal his initial plans of the project that will "range across the entire spectrum" of governmental services.

PACT, the Planning Agency Council for Texas, was authorized by the 1965 Legislature primarily to implement the statewide water program. However, Connally wants to broaden its scope into many other areas.

Legislation authorizing a central state planning agency cited the need to coordinate state efforts in the fields of water supply, recreation, transportation, highways & other programs financed with federal, state and local funds.

Eight major agencies — health, highway, parks and wildlife departments, industrial commission, soil conservation board, Texas employment commission, railroad commission and water development board — were designed by the Legislature as members of the initial PACT

Connally's office was named administrative head of the planning agency and placed in charge of coordinating its activities.

Growth of government and a steadily-increasing number of federal programs requiring attention at state and local levels call for a "monumental endeavor" by public officials, Connally noted.

PRESS CONFERENCE — At a recent press conference Governor Connally said:

- He may ask the 1967 Legislature to again submit to the voters a proposed constitutional amendment calling for four-year terms for certain elected public officials holding statewide offices. But this time not at a special election.
- He would call an early special session of the Legislaturqe if federal court orders require legal action in congressional and legislative reapportionment cases and the suit to repeal poll tax.
- He felt called on to make a statewide pitch for Texas as the site of the $340,000,000 atom smasher, because of the competition among Austin, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston, Amarillo, Lubbock and Odessa for the key scientific facility. He assured site-seekers from the Atomic Energy Commission that all of the state's resources would be available to support whichever Texas site might be chosen.

MORE ON REDISTRICTING — Next year Texans may be able to elect House members under the new redistricting law.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will urge a federal court at Houston to let voters elect themembers, even though the court may believe flotorial districts are not constitutional.

If the court will allow such action, the 1967 Legislature could pass a redistricting law without flotorial districts.

This year's redistricting law includes 11 flotorial districts resulting in a situation where small counties share representatives with large counties.

Court could declare the entire law unconstitutional and a special session of the Legislature would be needed to pass a new law.

Except for the flotorial districts, Court indicates new law is constitutional.

AIRPORT AID — Texas Aeronautics Commission is urging cities on the lookout for airport equipment to let them do the looking as part of the government surplus property program that began 14 months ago.

Presently the Aeronautics Commission locates the surplus at military air bases and effects the transfer. Then the equipment is given to needy cities and towns free.

So far, 41 Texas cities have received surplus property worth more than $120,000 for use in the development and maintenance of local airports.

Grants totaling $64,500 have been approved. This money went to Caldwell ($10,000), Comanche ($12,000), Hallettsville ($10,000), Hearne ($2,000), Kountze ($7,500), Lampasas ($8,000), and Pineland ($15,000).

Six others may get an additional $68,000 if they finalize acceptance during the next three months. They are Cameron ($10,000), Clarksville ($12,000), Floydada ($12,000) Gatesville ($12,000), Jacksboro ($10,000), and Post ($12,000).

AG RULES — Trial and state's attorneys fees in Justice of Peace courts are abolished by the new code of criminal procedure, but an offender may be assessed other incurred costs, says Attorney General Waggoner Carr. Opinion was requested by Goliad County Atty. Wayne B. Davis.

In other opinions, Carr held that:

- Law enforcement officers may seize unstamped cigarettes when they have the legal right to arrest a person possessing them.
- Cigarette tax is a valid use levy, and distributing agents must pay and fix stamps to packages before they leave warehouses except on those to be delivered to certain persons designed to sell unstamped cigarettes.
- Person cannot hold office of constable at same time he is deputy tax collector and truant officer of independent school district.
- Lamesa school teacher who spent 10 months teaching in Germany did not lose Texas resident classification for college tuition purposes.

OIL ALLOWABLE HIKED — Texas oil production may hit a six-year high in 1965. This thanks to a jump in December allowable to 31.4 per cent of potential.

December production maximum is 3,084,545 barrels daily. Railroad Commission increased the percentage factor from 30 per cent for November. Firm markets and low inventories are given as the reasons for the increase.

APPOINTMENTS — Hubert A. Henry has been appointed to the new division of automation to be created December 1 in the top administration level of the Texas Highway Department.

Senator Lauds Red's Rejection

Perhaps the most significant news of recent days has been the refusal of the United Nations to seat the Communist dictatorship of Red China.

The U. N. members who favored seating of Red China in place of Nationalist China fell short of the two-thirds majority needed to give the Red regime official membership in the United Nations. This was a reaffirmation of the views of the United States and of the vast majority of Americans.

It is inconceivable that Red China should even be seriously considered as an appropriate government for participation in the United Nations. The United Nations charter specifically states that the U. N. is to be an organization of "peace loving" nations.

Peace is one of the last concerns of the aggressive, militant Communists rulers who now control mainland China. Red China made war against the United Nations in Korea and thousands of U.N. soldiers paid with their lives before South Korea was preserved.

Red China is now assisting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Communists in the war against free South Vietnam. American troops in Vietnam have reported within the last week that Red Chinese military "advisors" are on the battlefields of South Vietnam with Red units from the North.

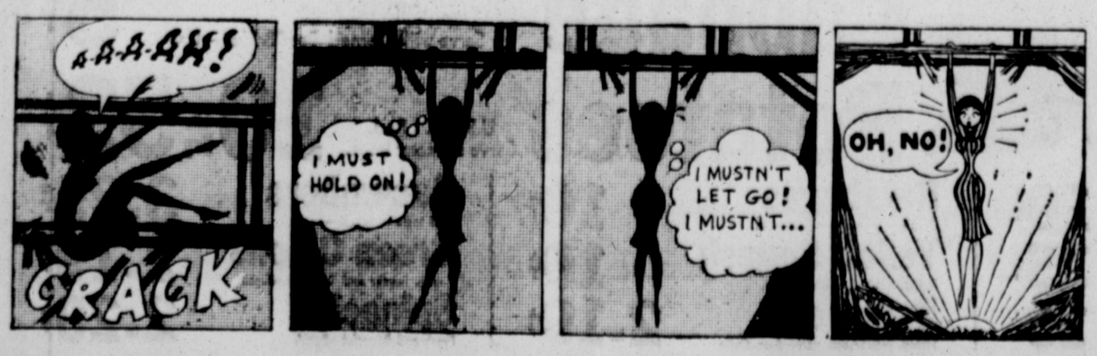

Red China is proceeding with development of a nuclear weapons arsenal that will enable it to spread terror and subversion over vast distances in Asia and the Pacific. Red China is an active antagonist on Communism's struggle to take over all of Indonesia and Malaysia.

Yet despite this aggressive, warlike attitude, many nations voted to seat Red China in the United Nations. We face the distinct possibility that within a few years seating may be accomplished.

If Red China becomes a U.N. member, it would be eligible to take part in various U.N. activities financed at from 40 to 100 percent by U.S. taxpayers. America America would be in the position of strengthening a sworn enemy. Americans would be contributing to Communization of Asia.

This we cannot permit to happen. We must prevent the seating of Red China, because if the Reds are seated the United Nations as we know it will come to an end.

Rev. Caddo Matthews, pastor of the Plainview Baptist Church, officiated for the marriage rites at 7 p.m.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chitsey of Hermleigh.

The bride chose for her wedding an original doubleknit suit in crystal, worn with brown alligator shoes.

Mrs. Steve Pond, aunt of the bride who attended her as matron of honor, wore a yellow two-piece suit.

Corkey Houston attended the groom as best man.

Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the improvised altar and were arranged as flower decorations in the reception suite. Silver and crystal appointments completed decorative details at the bride's table where Mrs. Mike Lowke of Lubbock, and Miss Carolyn Chitsey, sister of the bridegroom, of Herleigh, served refreshments.

The newlywed couple will live at 1636 Austin St. in Colorado City where the groom is a member of the Colorado High School coaching staff. A 1953 graduate of Hermleigh he received his degree from Sul Ross State College in Alpine.

Recipes For Adding Celery Handy Now

Celery still in the vegetable freshener of the refrigerator now that Thanksgiving guests are gone?

Think of ways to use it. Ever try adding sliced celery to sliced carrots and steaming in covered pan together until done? Season with a dash of sugar, salt and pepper, then a generous dab of butter or margarine. The celery-carrot dish may also be served creamed, by adding the basic white sauce recipe.

Try the tender celery leaves added to vegetable soup.

Use the stalks, diced, in old-fashioned Waldorf salad added to diced, unpeeled apples with chopped walnut or pecan meats, plus mayonaise.

Stuff the celery hearts (in bite sized pieces) with your favirite creamed cheese stuffing to "pretty up" some everyday meal.

Use diced celery and a can of creamed celery soup (instead of cream of mushroom) to make a tuna casserole.

Tired of turkey? Tired of tuna, too?

Tuna can look — and taste pretty fancy if you dress it up as tuna chow mein.

You'll need 2 four oz. can of sliced mushrooms; 1 cup of cottage cheese; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; ½ cup chopped onion; ½ cup of celery, cut diagonally in ¼ inch pieces; ½ cup chopped green pepper; 1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained; 2 cups of cooked rice; 1 can chow mein noodles (6 oz.) green pepper rings for garnish; 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 3 tablespoons soy sauce.

Method: drain mushrooms and cottage cheese and save liquids. Melt butter in big skillet and saute onion until tare cheese and add liquid clear. Add celery, chopped from mushrooms to make ¾ green pepper, mushrooms and cup. Add soy sauce. Stir in tuna. Measure liquid from cot- uids into cornstarch to make cook until tender. Reduce heat and cook three more minutes. Blend in cottage cheese carefully. Serve on rice with chow mein noodles. Garnish with green pepper rings. Serves four to five.
