'THE COMMUNIST CONSPIRACY IN THE U. S.'---BY ROBERT E. STRIPLING

Red Activities Continue In U.S.

MAPPING THE SERIES—Robert E. Stripling, left, and his editor, Bob Considine, famous newspaperman, are shown above as they worked in Washington on the series, "The Communist Conspiracy In The United States Today," which starts today in The Morning Avalanche. Stripling for 10 years was chief investigator of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and in the series tells of the inside stories behind the committee's investigations.

Former Investigator With House Committee Tells 'Inside' Story

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING

(Chief Investigator, House Un-American Activities Committee, 1938-1948. Edited by Bob Considine.)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of 28 articles examining the Communist conspiracy in the United States. Mr. Stripling was until recently the spearhead of the House committee that uncovered widespread Communist propaganda and espionage. In this exclusive series he will show the reader, for the first time, the inner working of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Mr Stripling will name names, describe Red infiltration into Government circles, and give pertinent background to cases now in the public eye.)

AT THE beginning let me attempt to outline, without conjecture, the scope of the Communist conspiracy against the Government and people of the United States.

No. 1

To do so is to invite the charge of Fascist, Red-baiter, witch-hunter, smear-artist. To fail to do so is to capitulate supinely to a resourceful enemy who can endure any counter-attack except exposure.

That a conspiracy exists is more than obvious, though the conspirators, who are anything but fools, have been able to spread devious doubt about the nature of their continuing activities.

Plot Claimed Still Underway

The conspiracy operates astutely within the texture of our Constitution and the resilient borders of our native tolerance. For 25 years it had made steady inroads into our institutions and utilized respected American individuals.

Even Presidents of the United States inadvertently have served its purposes.

The roots of the conspiracy are as clearly defined in the writings of Marx, Lenin and Stalin as were the roots of the comparatively less ambitious Naziism in Hitler's "Mein Kampf." Its growth can be vividly traced in the known activities of its agents in this country for a quarter of a century. It is continuing as you read these words.

ITS GOAL is simple: the destruction of life as we know it, and of the liberties we won at such heavy cost.

It is not an easy conspiracy to combat. Communist forces now maneuvering clandestinely in our Government, labor, education, research, religion, entertainment, journalism, radio and other spheres of American life represent a cancerous growth.

Treatment of that cancer cannot be routine, for it is deepseated and diffuse. It avoids a showdown. You will never see a Communist stand in the middle of an American street, waving his hammer and sickle and daring you to fight.

They are much too smart for that. Theirs is a war the normal American cannot understand. And being bewildered, physically unhurt and essentially trusting, the normal American is inclined to believe that it is no war at all.

But it is a war, and to call it

Truman Ready To See Stalin In Washington

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. — The White House said today that President Truman is willing to meet Premier Stalin in Washington but Britain took a critical view of the Soviet proposal.

The British position was relayed to the State department by Ambassador Oliver Franks on instructions from London.

Franks conferred with State department counselor Charles E. Bohlen, who is also the top advisor on policy toward Moscow.

Stalin proclaimed his readiness to discuss a "pact of peace" with the United States and to lift the Berlin blockade if the western powers postpone establishment of a separate German state pending four-power discussion of the entire German problem.

The Russian leader said he is ready to confer with President Truman at a mutually suitable place.

Stalin made these statements in answering questions put to him by J. Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service.

Truman's Attitude Unchanged

White House Secretary Ross said Mr. Truman has no comment on Stalin's aparent bid to end the "cold war."

Ross added, in response to a question, that Mr. Truman's attitude on a meeting with Stalin is unchanged from his statement at a recent news conference. The President, at that time, reiterated that he is willing to meet the Soviet premier in Washington.

Ross was asked: "Has the President changed his position on meeting with Stalin?" he replied:

HST Reads Interview

"All I know is the last word on the subject, which was given at the (President's) press conference. He said that a number of times. There has been no official word from the Russian government."

Ross was then asked: "Has the President seen this interview."

He replied: "How could one help it? He reads the papers assiduously."

The President has said on several occasions that peace with Russia should be handled by established international agencies, such as the United Nations and the Council of Foreign Ministers.

Stalin's pronouncement, which came with dramatic suddenness Sunday, echoed around the globe today.

U. S. Making New A-Bombs

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The Atomic Energy Commision announced today that the United States now is making A-bombs many times deadlier than those which blasted Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

In its fifth semi-annual report to Congress, the commission reported that not only has the destructive power of atomic bombs been vastly increased but production has been streamlined.

The commission said that there has been "expansion and improvement all along the atomic development chain from the mines to the ultimate use made of fissionable materials."

Intelligence System Set

AEC predicted that the U. S. not only will keep but will boost the lead it has held since man first harnessed the power of the atom.

Th commission disclosed that it has appointed a "director of intelligence" to keep America fully informed on up-to-the-minute atomic developments in Russian and other foreign countries.

He is Dr. Walter F. Colby, former Michigan university physicist. Colby's chief duty will be to supervise a world wide intelligence system set up to determine the standings of nations in the "cold war" race for atomic supremacy.

Secrecy To Be Lifted

Atomic Energy Commissioner David E. Lilienthal said that within the next six months secrecy restrictions will be removed from a great mass of non-secret information. H explained that a series of reports will be published on "matters about which people should be informed, including a detailed dis-

Mr. Groundhog Gives Somewhat Hazy Preview For South Plains

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

COME Wednesday morning and sunup, a number of people who the remainder of the year have nothing but unprintable words for the rising rays hurriedly rush to their windows to see if spring is just around the corner or if they are to freeze for another six weeks or so.

In an effort to perform a public service and join the weatherman in crawling out on the longest limb still standing after a solid month of solid ice, The Morning Avalanche sent a reporter to interview the guy who's supposed to know in an effort to get an advance preview of what's in store for Lubbock and the South Plains come sunup and groundhog Wednesday.

Ever interview a groundhog? We thought not, but then neither had we when we left our desk nearest the radiator and set out, tongue in cheek and pencil in hand.

After walking many a mile we finally found Mr. G huddled in his abode near the stove and listening in on a Weather station broadcast.

"'Twas a rough month, son, a rough month," the little gentleman was saying. "Rough, that is, for the groundhogs."

We raised a pencil in protest . . .

But Mr. G. rushed on. "Rough for groundhogs, but mighty fine for farmers. Why the Weatherman just said the

$18 Millions Loss Seen In Valley Freeze

(By The Associated Press)

A DISASTROUS hard freeze wiped out Rio Grande valley crops Monday as the coldest weather on record blasted North, Central and South Texas and brought sub-zero temperatures as far south as San Antonio.

Cameron county in the valley alone suffered $18,000,000 damage and the biggest citrus exchange in the area went out of the market pending a checkup of extensive citrus damage. Great loss of ewes and lambs was feared in the hill country north of San Antonio, and in the south Texas winter garden district bitter temperatures blighted tender crops.

Crops in the Gulf coast area around Houston may have been damaged $5,000,000, J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist at Texas A. & M. college said.

Records Below Zero

The mercury dove to five degrees below zero at Waco and to six below at Llano, in Central Texas. The great area of Texas south of Fort Worth and Dallas caught the brunt of the cold wave and the terrific unprecedented, temperatures brought great hardships to humans, animals and birds.

However, during the day, temperatures skyrocketed in the lower Rio Grande valley and Central Texas. Brownsville reported a maximum temperature Monday of 54 degrees, Alice 50, Crystal City 47 and Del Rio 40, San Antonio recorded 38, Austin 39, Waco 28, Dallas 26, Fort Worth 30, Tyler 32, Texarkana 39, Lufkin 39, and Bryan 34. In West Texas, the mercury went to the upper 20s and mid-30s. The sharp rise was caused by bright sunshine over almost all the state.

Temperatures were expected to be much higher Monday night.

Since last Friday, 25 Texas deaths have been attributed directly and indirectly to the current cold wave.

Travel Made Hazardous

Hundreds of cold-stricken persons thronged the welfare bureau at Dallas.

And the snow which fell in record quantities over north, central and East Texas Sunday froze hard on the highways Monday imperiling all traffic.

Frigid Blanket Envelops South

(By The Associated Press)

A surprise attack on Dixie by winter's bitter cold dealt Texas crops a sub-zero blow Monday, causing multi-million dollar damage.

The frigid, snow-banked western plains and Rocky Mountain areas had some slight respite from extreme conditions, permitting progress by a corp of Army, Air Force and civilian teams striving to aid beleagured humans and livestock.

But the vulnerable South had record-breaking low temperatures, heavy snow, sleet and freezing rain. In Llano, in central Texas, the mercury reached six below zero. San Antonio had a record zero.

Death Toll Hits 18

The death toll in recent days from floods and cold in the South reached 18.

Three persons were found frozen, one at Seneca, S.C., and two in a flooded cotton field near Charleston, Mo. In Kentucky, five persons died in fires and four in accidents. There were two cold and two flood deaths in Arkansas. Louisiana reported two traffic fatalities and Tennessee one because of glazed roads. A negro froze to death in Chattanooga. A Maryland man was killed in a fall on ice.

In Texas' Rio Grande valley tomato and potato crops were a complete loss. Ripening fruit was heavily damaged. Even hardier

Texan, Bridges Clash On Foreign Policy

Connally In Bitter Attack On Solon

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, and Sen. Bridges, (R-N.H.), clashed bitterly today in floor debate on American foreign policy.

The flare-up came after Bridges followed a demand that Secretary of State Acheson give reassurances he will support the "cold war" against Russia with an attack on United States policy toward China.

Bridges charged that former Secretary of State Marshall did a "miserable job" in 1946 when, as special envoy, he tried to make peace between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists, Bridges cried:

Marshall Assailed

"Gen. Marshall came back very bitter and as a result we have seen China scuttled."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), joined the debate in support of Bridges, Knowland blamed China's plight on agreements made with Russia by President Roosevelt at Yalta.

Connally retored that Marshall only was embittered "toward those officials surrounding Chiang Kai-Shek who had lost the confidence of the Chinese people."

Connally Defends Acheson

The Texan also called Bridges demand on Acheson an "attack" which was "unjustified." Bridges denied he was "attacking" the secretary of state. Connally shot back:

"Well, you hit him in the ribs, and you hit him in the nose. Of course, it's an attack, although not the kind a witness would have to support in a court of law."

Bridges called upon Acheson to explain remarks purportedly made by his brother, Prof. Edward Acheson, concerning U. S. foreign

Gas Overcomes McAllen Pupils

McALLEN, Jan. 31. (AP)—An estimated 50 pupils and eight teachers were treated tonight after they had been overcome by gas or gas fumes at a McAllen public school this morning.

Most of them became violently ill when they staggered out of the classrooms at Lincoln elementary school. An emergency clinic was set up in the school gymnasium.

Tonight the emergency clinic was moved to the fire station and indications were that there may be more coming back for a second oxygen treatment and others may be feeling the effects for the first time.

One Reported Critical

Only one had been reported in critical condition. He was Ernest Vining, an eighth grade student, who was given a blood transfusion. He was reported improved and resting.

A city gas system representative said condensation in the gas pipes, because of the cold, may have resulted in incomplete combustion, causing fumes.

At an afternoon meeting here today no final decision on the cause was announced.

The McAllen Monitor said that "practically every doctor in town" answered the emergency call to go to the school this morning. Vic-

Couple Traveling In West Texas May Be Carrying Rabid Dog

Somewhere in this section of Texas, a man and woman are traveling in a car with a dog which may have rabies.

The dog, a German police type animal, bit a Tahoka man Saturday morning while he and the owner of the dog were trying to seperate the dog and another in a dog fight. The owner of the strange dog was also reported bitten.

Dr. E. Prohl, Lynn county health officer, issued an appeal today to officers of this area to be on the alert for the couple and inform them of the necessity of submitting their animal to a rabies test.

Dr. Prohl wants the couple to contact him by collect wire or telephone if they read this.

Last Ditch Stand Planned In China

By JAMES FLOOD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CANTON, China, Jan. 31.—China's four southern provinces centered on Canton will make a last ditch stand against the Communists, whatever the outcome of peace efforts elsewhere, Gov. Hsueh Yueh declared today.

The new governor of Kwangtung, who reluctantly took over last week after T. V. Soong departed, said in an interview that he was "ready to be a martyr" and intended to lead the independent defense of Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Hunan and Fukien provinces.

He predicted that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek would try a comeback from his questionable 10-day-old retirement, but intimated Chiang would get a cool welcome in the south.

Government Moving

As he spoke, the Communists formally took over the old northern capital of Peiping and government hopes of arranging a general surrender deal seemed fainter than ever.

Acting President Li Tsung-Jen flew from Nanking to Shanghai but returned to the semi-deserted capital after a short stay.

Dimes Campaign To Be Continued Here

Approximately 1,150 people attended the three President's Birthday Balls held here last night at Hotel Lubbock, Cotton club, and Lubbock Supper club.

Although March of Dimes campaign chairman last night had not counted the amount received into the Lubbock county March of Dimes fund from the sale of tickets to the three benefit functions, they were "well pleased" with the response of local citizens.

Meanwhile, $84.50 in contributions was received in 12 letters at March of Dimes headquarters Monday, bringing there to approximately $5,040. Total number of letters received back at headquarters was 631 last night.

The dances originally were scheduled to climax the March of Dimes drive, but due to bad weather, Warlick Carr and Lester Grimes, co-chairmen of the campaign, announced that the drive would be continued this week. The "wishing well" will be run all this week at the corner of Broadway and Ave. J with various civic clubs participating in its operation. The co-chairmen also have announced that it is not too late to mail donations to the March of Dimes headquarters, 612 Myrick building. Headquarters will be open all this week to receive such contributions, they stressed.

Senate Group Criticizes Texas Methods Of Oil Conservation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The Senate Small Business committee criticized Texas state officials today for the manner in which they enforce oil conservation practices.

The committee issued the report on its final day of existence.

The Senate Banking and Currency committee now is expected to take over its functions.

Discussing hearings it held on petroleum industry problems, the committee attacked the practice of Texas authorities permitting "gas wastage" through flaring.

"The state of Texas boasted," said the committee, "that it has always produced all of the oil that has been indicated as needed by the bureau of mines in its certified estimate of crude needed for the current month, month by month.

"Yet in January 1948 a total of 1,475,653,000 cubic feet of gas (14.41 percent) was flared to the air in the state of Texas in the production of oil.

"It is unfortunate that the state of Texas, which produces almost half of the nation's requirements

GOPs Claim New Labor Bill Lacks Power For Disputes

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The hot fight over the Truman labor bill opened today in Congress. Secretary of Labor Tobin called for its enactment, and Republicans immediately objected that it had "no teeth" to deal with union leaders like John L. Lewis.

Lewis, though absent, dominated the hearing before the Senate Labor committee on the administration bill, which would repeal the Taft-Hartley act, and replace it with an "improved" Wagner act.

Much of the discussion centered on an administration proposal to wipe out the Taft-Hartley law power to block "national emergency" strikes by means of court injunctions.

Lewis Is Cited

Tobin said this provision should be scuttled and replaced with a 30-day voluntary cooling off procedure.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt) protested. Talking about the chief of the United Mine Workers' union and its coal strikes, Aiken said:

"In the case of Mr. Lewis, that (the voluntary plan) would be hardly any teeth at all—unless you might say false teeth."

Tobin argued that settlement recommendations by emergency boards under the cooling off procedure would be backed by the "powerful force" of public opinion. He said that would do the trick and prevent strikes affecting national health or safety.

The cabinet officer started to say something, too, about "the power of the President of the United States. . ." then he turned instead to the "force of public opinion."

Crowd Jams Room

In assailing the Taft-Hartley law and plugging for a new labor law "encouraging free collective bargaining," Tobin read a 20-page statement. When he finished there was less than an hour left for committee questioning. So Tobin, after answering some inquiries, agreed to come back Wednesday to deal with the rest.

The hearing was held in the

Poll Tax Payments Reach 9,377 Total For Lubbock County

Poll tax payments up to the deadline at midnight Monday were estimated at 9,377, with 1,500 exemptions issued, J. B. Johnston, city-county tax assessor and collector, said.

Approximately 1,908 were issued on Monday alone, he said, with exemptions running to about 522. One sub-station, at Nineteenth and College Ave. had not been reported when Johnston made his estimate.

He pointed out that poll taxes still in the mail will have to be counted before a final definite figure on poll taxes for the county can be given.

Although standing far below the maximum of 20,000 poll taxes sold last year, Johnston stated that this was "a good off-year—much better than average."

Supreme Court Grants Review Of 'Basing Point' Decision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS) — The Supreme court granted a review today involving its highly-controversial anti-trust decision last spring against the "basing point" price system in cement.

The decision, widely interpreted as requiring F.O.B. pricing in all heavy industry, has brought hundreds of protests from plants assessed additional freight rates on their supplies.

A review of the "basing point" system was granted in the rigid steel conduit industry at the request of the Federal Trade commission. The FTC said that the decision has upset industries throughout the country, and that a clarification by the court would be "in the public interests."

Suspect Admits Three Burglaries

The burglaries of three business houses Sunday night were believed "cleared up" last night with the arrest of a 25-year-old Lubbock man who admittedly was the burglar and who left a bloody trail behind in the establishments.

Hobbs Manufacturing company, at 2809 Ave. H, Troy Harber Produce & Supply, at 2707 Ave. H, and G & M Fruit company, at the rear of the 2707 Ave. H address, reported blood "all over" the places, apparently from injuries which the burglar suffered while breaking glass in windows and doors to gain entrance.

Loot Is Light

Loot was not believed, after immediate checking, to be high.

However, three "insufficient" checks that had been returned by the bank—and totaling $1,400—were taken from the Hobbs plant, as well as approximately $10 in postage stamps.

A $50 check was taken from the fruit company, and less than

Israel, Trans-Jordan Gain U.S. Recognition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—The United States extended full diplomatic recognition today to Israel and Trans-Jordan.

President Truman announced the American action at the White House, stating that ambassadors will be exchanged between the U. S. and the Israeli and Trans-Jordan governments.

The U. S. gave de facto recognition to the new state of Israel several months ago. Today's action recognized Israel on a de jure basis, which means full recognition. Trans-Jordan's recognition also was de jure.

Mr. Truman pointed out that he had stated on Oct. 24, 1948, that when a permanent Israeli government was elected, it would be given full and permanent recognition.

TAX RELIEF SEEN BY HOOVER

Reorganization Of Government Claimed Path To Slash Costs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)— Former President Herbert Hoover declared today that taxation "has reached the saturation point" and that President Truman should be given sweeping power to reorganize the government to cut costs.

The only living ex-president urged passage of the administration bill authorizing the chief executive to reshuffle the executive establishment subject to a veto by Congress within 60 days of each reorganization plan.

Hoover told the House Expenditures committee that, over a period of years, "billions of dollars" could be saved by regrouping the sprawling mass of 1,800 government agencies and bureaus into a semblance of order.

He declared that the "only way out" is to give the President full authority to do the job, subject to a check by Congress, and warned that exemption of agencies from reorganization would cause the whole program to collapse.

The former President bore lightly his 74 years. His answers to questions by committee members were nimble and thorough and he displayed an extensive finger-tip knowledge of the work he is doing as head of the commission on government reorganization.

His testimony was wholly nonpartisan. He ignored or answered in non-political terms all questions that savored of politics.

In pointing to the possible economies from reorganization and the need for relief of heavy government costs, he said:

"I believe this conutry has reached the saturation point by way of taxation."

He declined to comment further on this point, but made it clear that he regarded reorganization as the road toward tax relief.

Asked whether he considered the present cost of government as "too high," he replied:

"I would not want to put that in a form of an accusation because we now have a form of government organization that is hopeless in the way of economy."

Texan On Way To Rejoin Wife After 42-Year Separation

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 31 (AP) — Helped by Plainview citizens, Barkeley Burris, 72, left today for Bristow, Okla., to see his wife for the first time in 42 years.

Burris earlier said he would wait until he received his pension check to make the trip. But Plainview residents gave him a railroad ticket and more than $100 so he would not have to wait.

Burris became separated from his wife at Corsicana about 1906 when he moved to Altus, Okla., to work and she went to Ferris, Tex., to have a baby.

They later attempted to contact each other but the attempts failed and both thought the other dead.

After she heard Burris was dead, she remarried and is Mrs. Ella Mershon. She's a widow now and has two surviving children by her second marriage. Her two children by Burris died.

Burris learned of his wife's whereabouts last week when he happened to meet her brother, Frank Owens, 56, in front of the Plainview courthouse. Although Frank was a small boy in 1906, both said they recognized the other instantly.

At Bristow last week, Mrs. Mershon said, "I'm all nervous about seeing Barkeley. My, it's been a long time. I never dreamed anything like this could happen. I'm so upset."

U. S. College Student Among 500 Lost In Chinese Ship Collision

SHANGHAI, Jan. 31. (INS) — An American college student, Harry Humphreys of Atlantic City, N. J., was reported to have been aboard one of the two Chinese ships which collided with a loss of 500 lives last Thursday.

Chinese shipping officials said in Shanghai that Humphreys was a passenger aboard the steamship Taiping when she sank with the other boat after the collision.

Only 35 persons, all Chinese, survived the disaster. They were picked up by an Australian destroyer which brought them to Shanghai.

The survivors said today that all of the passengers were asleep when the ships collided and that no one had any prior warning.

NLRB Calls Collective Bargaining Election At Lufkin Paper Mill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (U.P.)— The National Labor Relations board today ordered a collective bargaining election to be held within 30 days at the Southland Paper Mills, Inc., Lufkin.

The order was granted on the request of the International Association of Machinists, lodge 1808, and will be held to determine whether pipe fitters, carpenters, trainmen, and blacksmiths desire separate bargaining units.

IMA claims to represent a majority of workers in each classification. The International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper mill workers, AFL, was listed as an interventor, opposing the petition.

In another action relating to Texas, the NLRB ordered an election at San Marcos to determine whether employes of the San Marcos Telephone company desire southwestern division number 20 of Communication Workers of America union as their collective bargaining agent.

Cancer Clinic Operator Wins First Round In Libel Action

DALLAS, Jan. 31 (U.P.)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, lost a round today in his legal tilt with Harry M. Hoxsey, operator of a Dallas cancer clinic.

Hoxsey has sued Fishbein and others for $1,000,000, alleging that he was libeled.

In today's action, federal district Judge William H. Atwell ruled that Hoxsey had complied with an order to furnish the defendants samples and named ingredients of the alleged remedies.

Fishbein's attorneys had complained that the materials were not sufficient. Hoxsey's attorney countered with an offer to permit any number of licensed cancer experts, to be selected by the AMA, to spend a month in the Dallas clinic to observe the application of the "Hoxsey method" of treating cancer.

Jap Reparations Payments Light

By FRANK L. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Jan. 31 — Reparations shipments from Japan to date have scarcely touched the equipment in her arsenals or her gigantic war-supporting industries.

Japan has lost her big investments in Manchuria, where the Chinese Communists rule. Thirty per cent of her industrial plants were heavily damaged by U. S. bombers.

Policy Still Unset

But allied nations, including many of those whose industries suffered devastation when contending armies fought over their territory, have received little recompense.

Little more is likely, until the Far Eastern commission agrees on reparations policy.

The nations represented on the commission are divided. There are those, such as China and the Philippines who were hard hit, who believe the interests of badly injured nations should come first.

Others believe reparations must not be allowed to wreck Japanese economy. The United States, for instance, wants Japan to get back on her feet to save further calls on the American taxpayer for help.

Here are the reparation allocations made to date:

Metal working machines from arsenals: China, 13,677 valued at $3,000,000; Netherlands, 1,652 valued at $2,300,000; Philippines, 3,033 machines valued at $5,000,000; United Kingdom, 1,261 machines valued at $2,400,000.

Laboratory equipment from arsenals: China, 1,690 items valued at $175,000; Netherlands 555 items valued at $56,000; Philippines 501 items valued at $54,000; United Kingdom, 452 items valued at $50,000.

Miscellaneous:

China and United Kingdom, two steam power plants from arsenal at Sendai, valued at $64,000; Philippines, three lots of miscellaneous items (nature not given) valued at $25,000.

Texas Solon Sits In On Tidelands Study

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (Special)—One Texan, Rep. Ken Regan, of Midland, was present today when Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug outlined how tidelands will be administered under the federal government should Texas lose its title to the submerged oil-bearing lands.

Regan is the only Texan on the public lands sub-committee, which will hear matters related to tidelands.

Regan's post there is unique and fitting because as a member of the Texas Senate, he became interested in the possibility of exploring for oil on the submerged lands and sold the state land commissioner on the possibility of leasing the lands for royalities which would enrich the Texas schools. He is considered an expert on tidelands, and it was for this reason that Rep. Sam Rayburn, Bonham, House speaker, and Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont, House Ways and Means member, saw to it that Regan was placed on the public lands committee.

Burma Rebel Force Surrenders After Battle Near Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 31. (AP) —Government sources said a force of entrenched Karen rebels surrendered today after a bitter nine-hour battle with Burmese troops on the outskirts of Rangoon.

Heavy machine guns and mortars blasted the Karens from trenches and concrete buildings in and about the suburban village on Thamains, only eight miles north of the capital, the informants said. At times the battle raged at point-blank range.

Residents of the suburbs made a panicky rush toward Rangoon after the shooting stopped.

The fighting held up peace talks scheduled here. Saw Ba U Gyi, president of the separatist Karen National union was unable to get through the battle area to resume truce conversations started yesterday with Burmese government leaders.

Burma is now giving special attention to hydroelectric development.

Sweden has started rationing of electric current for street lighting.

Scandinavian Nations Fail To Agree On Atlantic Pact Stand

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 31 (AP)—Norway, Sweden and Denmark have been unable to agree on a joint attitude toward the proposed Atlantic security pact.

Months of negotians between the three Scandinavian nations ended in failure yesterday.

Sweden insited on preserving her principal of neutrality. Norway favored joining the broad western defense system and Denmark was said not to have made a definite choice.

Norway was reported to have stuck to her pro-western stand despite Russian pressure.

Russia asked Norway Saturday whether she intended to join the North Atlantic alliance and whether she intended to grant military bases in Norway to the western powers.

The questions came shortly after the Soviet government asserted the North Atlantic past is interided to establish American-British domination of the world by force.

The pact, as now described, would take in the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Premier Files Report

The Soviet note to Norway pointedly called attention to the fact that Norway and Russia have a common frontier and said the "initiators" of the Atlantic pact were seeking bases in states "close to the frontiers of the Soviet Union."

Officials in Stockholm and Copenhagen said Russia had not approached Sweden and Denmark with questions such as those asked of Norway.

Norwegian Premier Einer Gerhardsen presided over the three-nation talks. In a state issued for all three governments he said:

"We felt that we have no right to give the impression, through soft formulations, that unity exists when it does not. We canno create a defense alliance until it has the inner strength that is needed if it shall be able to solve its task. But no shadow will be cast over Scandinavian co-operation.

"We will always lead a foreign and defense policy that makes its first aim to secure the independence of each nation. We will never take part in a policy that has aggressive aims."

Bomber Badly Damaged After Carrying Record Bomb Cargo

FORT WORTH, Jan. 31 (AP)—A new right landing gear was installed on a huge B-36 superbomber here yesterday and more details made available on the record 42-ton bomb load it carried to a bombing range in California.

The plane's landing gear collapsed as it landed Saturday after the bombing run.

Some of the plane's six engines, damaged by fire fighting chemicals sprayed on the craft as a safety measure, may have to be replaced.

It was reported that the two "earthquaker" bombs were each 26 feet, 10 inches long and four and one-half feet in diameter.

The bombs carried a plaster compound instead of explosives and were not armed with war heads.

The ship was over the target at Muroc, Cal., at 2 p. m. The first bomb was dropped at 2:30 p. m. from 35,000 feet. The second was dropped from more than 40,000 feet.

Ex-Tennis Champion Faces Morals Charge

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 31. (AP)—A warrant for the arrest of William T. Tilden II, former world tennis champion, on a morals charge was issued today.

Lieut. Lynn Brackett, head of the juvenile division of the police department, said Tilden, 55, is accused of making improper advances to a 17-year-old boy last Friday.

A second complaint accuses Tilden of violating five years ppobation on a similar charge two years ago involving a 14-year-old in Beverly Hills.

Sentenced Previously

The new complaint was issued by Superior Judge A. A. Scott of Juvenile court, who, when he sentenced Tilden to nine months in jail in 1947, called him a disappointment to thousands of youngsters and adults all over the world "who do not expect this kind of conduct from a world champion."

Brackett said an Inglewood youth told him that Tilden picked him up on Wilshire boulevard, drove to Santa Monica, but finally let him out of the car when the lad spurned the tennis player's overtures.

One of the conditions of Tilden's probation is that he shall not be in the company of a male or female juvenile unless the juvenile's parent or parents are present. The court also prescribed psychiatric consultations.

GROUNDHOG DAY

LOTS of people will be waiting to see the legendary prophet of the elements Wednesday when he ventures from his hole to prognosticate the weather for the next six weeks.

According to the story, if the sun shines any time during the day he will scurry back into his hole for six more weeks of hibernation and bad weather. But if the skies are overcast and dull there will be an early spring.

Groundhog day originated with the Germans and reached this country by way of the settlers. In Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, even today, the descendents of these German farmers have an organization called Slumbering Groundhog lodge. Each year they go through a ritual on February 2 to discover the groundhog's prediction.

MAID WITH HOE

SOMEONE sent our name to a seed house and their catalog arrived today. We've been dreaming over the beautiful sight of rows and rows of roses, gladioli and daffodils and had almost forgotten the weather conditions.

It has always been in our mind to have a garden some distant day. But when we hear friends muttering the most inexplicable jargon about compost piles, natural soil, acid soil, sand soil, tilth and humus . . . then we are not down-hearted that we have never started gardening.

The so-called "green thumb" is probably not a digit we own. But nevertheless, we know that with a hoe you can glean a rewarding philosophy along with developing roses. So gardening is still on our agenda.

LEAVING BUSES

WATCHING a youngster get off a bus in front of his mother and dash across the street, barely missing a car, we wondered if something could not be done about it.

Wouldn't it be a good idea if an adult got off first, then helped the youngster down?

That way, the grown up could check the street for oncoming cars and perhaps save a life.

Churches Will Be Invited To Join Local Federation

Church Women's Federation of Lubbock, at its regular fifth Monday meeting held yesterday afternoon at the First Nazarene church, voted to invite churches which do not belong to the Federation to join. Purposes of organization include the encouragement of Christian fellowship and promotion of worthy projects.

The group voted, also, to continue its present project, the sponsorship of the library at the Community center. An offering of $13.30 taken at the meeting will be added to the library's fund.

Dr. James M. Reynolds, guest speaker, discussed problems of establishing a YMCA in Lubbock. He reported to the Federation that Lubbock is the second largest city in the state that does not maintain a YMCA. "Austin, the largest city in the state without a YMCA, is also the largest city in the United States without such an organization," the Doctor said.

"Where in Lubbock can a boy 17 and older find supervised recreation?" asked Dr. Reynolds. "At present we have a good summer park program for younger children, we have the Boys' club for boys of 16 and younger and we have the Boy Scouts, but no part of this program takes care of the older age group," he explained.

"To make definite plans for opening a YMCA in Lubbock, it will be necessary to have at least $10,000 and a building to house the organization," the speaker stated.

Rev. A. F. Laing, pastor of the Nazarene church, brought a devotion, "Moses Chooses," from Hebrews 11:25. Mrs. R. B. Parkinson sang "Bless This House," accompanied by Mrs. Marlin Hayhurst. The opening song by the group was "The Church's One Foundation."

Sixty persons attended the meeting.

MRS. TOMMY HOLMES

N. Hindman Is Married

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hindman of 511 North Monroe are announcing the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Lunita Nell Hindman, to Tommy Holmes, son of Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes of Lubbock. Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist church, performed the ceremony before an archway of flowers in the Hindman home.

Mrs. A. E. Hindman, a sister-in-law of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly." Sandra Pharr and Patricia Hindman lighted candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a copen blue suit with a corsage of white carnations. For something old, she carried a linen handkerchief which had belonged to her grandmother. Miss Norma McGuire, maid of honor, wore a navy blue suit with a carnation corsage.

Gene Holmes served as his brother's best man.

The bride's table, covered with lace, was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake and a bouquet of sweetpeas and greenery. Mrs. Leroy Kennimer registered guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are making their home at 2918 Twenty-first. The bride, a graduate of Lubbock High school, is employed by Southwestern Associated Telephone company and the bridegroom is employed by the electrical department of the city.

Facts Of Basic Dress Gathered

Professor Writes Book, "Clothing For Moderns"

Miss Mabel D. Erwin, professor of clothing and textiles at Texas Technological college, has in her latest book, "Clothing for Moderns," gathered together all facts of basic dress common to all young women.

Miss Erwin recommends her book be used as a "sort of hand reference for the career girl, the young married woman or anyone with a clothing problem she wants to solve."

The author's experience with college girls pointed out the need for instruction on subjects closely related to clothing for which there is little or no time in a college curriculum and yet which are essential.

Is Second Book

"Clothing for Moderns" is the second book Miss Erwin has written to be published by the Macmillan company. Her former book, "Practical Dress Design," has been adopted as a text for college courses in clothing.

The newest book goes into further detail on clothing problems and includes chapters on shopping, wardrobe planning, dress decoration, fitting, restyling old clothes and altering ready mades.

The illustrative material has been contributed by Mrs. Troy Allen Lockard, assistant professor of applied art at the college, and photographs through the courtesy of Miss Dorothy Shaver, president of Lord and Taylor, New York, and a number of other photographic plates.

Miss Erwin said she has encouraged through the techniques outlined in "Clothing for Moderns" modern girls to discover "talents" by experimenting in pattern design, draping dress forms and executing simple decorations.

Some attention is given budgeting and financing of a wardrobe, guidance toward a career, how to study clothing, courses to elect, how to evaluate one's progress, tips on grooming, posture and health, in addition to the basic needs of the modern girl in making her own clothing.

CHENNAULT SCORES U. S. POLICY IN CHINA

U. S. Losing Pacific Area 'War,' Former Leader Of 'Flying Tigers' Warns In New Book On Orient

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 — "The United States is losing the Pacific war," begins the startling foreword of Gen. Clare Lee Chennault's explosive memoirs, "Way of a Fighter," published tomorrow by Putnam.

The boss of the Flying Tigers, long-time warrior and civilian in China, friend of Chiang Kai-Shek and now operator of China's leading airline, has written the most arresting book composed by any general officer of World War II.

It was held up for months by the department of defense and the State department. But what seemed like a disastrously bad break for the author has become his biggest asset. The delay enabled Chennault to seize the current terror in China and jam it into a last-minute foreword which is certain to blow the ceiling off many a Washington office.

Predicts World War III

Victory for the Chinese Reds, who have been equipped so well by the Russians with seized Japanese army supplies that a million of them can fight another ten years, will set the stage for World War III—Chennault baldly writes from embattled Shanghai.

U. S. policy toward China "is plunging us into a disastrous repetition of the errors that dragged us into World War II," he states.

"I can hear the time fuse of a third world war sputtering in China as it burns toward the final powder keg, and I cannot stand idly by without making every effort in my power to snuff it out.

"We face essentially the same choice the British faced in 1938 in Munich."

"They were appalled at the possible price for resisting German aggression. They felt they could not afford that cost. Yet that choice only boosted the final bill to the fantastic total they had to pay. When the bill was finally presented they had no choice but to pay it or accept the end of their nation. The failure to pay the price at Munich eventually cost the British five grinding years of war that eroded their national economy to a bare sustenance level and lost the bulk of their empire."

Condemns Policy

Chennault condemns the state department's policy toward China as the work of "incompetent scrubs, not deemed fit to play in the European game, while men of Wedemeyer's calibre and ability sit on the sidelines."

Russia will make no warlike move in Europe, he predicts, until it completes its plan to seize and fortify bases reaching from Siberia to Saigon.

China is the strategic key to that Russian aim, he writes. If Chinaais lost, in battle or by a Russian-dictated coalition government, this country may one day have to face China's millions in battle, Chennault states in the emphatic prose of his book.

He blames the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell for most of China's woes. He acknowledges his respect for Gen. George C. Marshall, but blames him for imposing measures on Chiang which have brought the generalissimo's armies to the brink of destruction.

He names Henry Wallace as one of the chief architects of the stoppage and slow-down of various post-war U. S. aid plans for China. ". . . a man whose position on Russia has since become quite clear."

Chennault is bitter about the Marshall truce, which was imposed at a time when Chiang's armies were, he states, on the verge of decisive victories.

He cites this as the "worst fiasco." Chiang's armies trapped a million Chinese Communists in that northern region, which had been stripped of its Japanese industry by Russia. But Marshall insisted that Chiang open the pass. The million Reds streamed into Manchuria, then fortified the pass, and the Chinese government armies had to fight a bloody campaign to recapture it.

Nationalists Driven Back

Later the government forces were driven back by a huge Chinese Red army, well-equipped by the huge store the Russians had siezed from the Japanese Kwantung army. U. S.-trained Chinese forces, crippled by a 10-month embargo, had to fight the Reds with junk.

Chennault concludes his thumping forword by stating that experience has taught him the futility of war. He pleads for immediate military aid to China, however, and a world government of mutual federations of free peoples, "rather than through the ruthless domination of a master state enslaving all the other." He says:

"In this struggle there are still many battles that cannot be avoided. The most critical of these now is to prevent the Communists from organizing the vast and rich land mass of China under their whip and turning its weight against us and the other free peoples."

STILL IN DEMAND

Gift Horse Offer Gets Quick Replies

Who said there was a slackening demand for horses?

Not Earl Collins, manager of Bell Ice Cream & Milk company, who advertised Sunday that he would give away the eight milk wagon horses the company was replacing with motor trucks.

Collins had to get out of bed Sunday morning at 6 o'clock to answer the first call for one of the horses and people were still calling him today wanting one of the animals. In the more than 250 calls he has received since Sunday morning, he has had seven long distance calls and several letters.

One letter came in this morning from two little girls, Beverly and Sue Suttle, ages 4 and 7, Hale Center, asking for one of the horses.

Collins had disposed of all the eight horses before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. His only requirement was an agreement from the person who took each horse that he would provide a home for him.

Large Crowd Watches Opening Of Golden Gloves Bouts

Lubbock's DeLaney Scores First Night's Only Kayo

17 Top Notch Bouts Start Off First Of Four Nights In Regional Tourney

By JOE KELLY and EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Staff

Only one knockout was on the opening card of the 1949 regional Golden Gloves tournament last night in Tech gym, but an overflow capacity crowd saw 17 good bouts to start off the first of four nights of punching.

Bob DeLaney of Lubbock put the bee on Fred Lee of Petersburg in the second round, winning by a technical knockout. All the other fights were decision go's, although two or three were on the verge of technical knockouts when time ran out.

One fight was won by default, Leroy Malouf of Lubbock winning when Jimmie Lee of Olton failed to appear. And of the entire card of 18 fights, 14 were novice, four were open.

Johnson Drops Raney

The first major upset of the opening night card was scored in the third bout, when Charles Johnson punched out a decision win over Wayne Raney in a feature open division light-heavyweight scrap. Both fighters are Texas Tech students.

Raney opened up with a fast series of left jabs, as Johnson kept out of danger with a slow bob and weave, then Johnson began to connect on some sharp counter-punching. Johnson caught Raney with a short right late in the first round that caused Raney to half-fall, half-stumble for a couple of seconds, but then Raney opened up with a steady barrage of short lefts and rights.

Both fighters slowed down in the second round, with Johnson scoring on three looping rights but Raney was doggedly boring in at the end of the round. Johnson clinched the win in the third round, with deadly counter-punching, although both fighters were very tired at the final bell.

One of the top crowd-pleasing bouts of the night was the decision victory for Levelland's Ismael Olvera over Plainview's Gordon Kurbis in an open division lightweight encounter. Olvera staggered Kurbis early in the first round with a vicious right hook, then knocked Kurbis partially through the ropes just as the bell sounded.

Both fighters absorbed hard punches in the second round, as they "mixed it up" in a wild slug fest. The experienced Olvera came out of the stanza in better shape, however, despite a collision that stunned him for a few seconds. The fighters set a slower pace in the final round, but Olvera kept pressing Kurbis and connected with several heavy lefts.

Another upset was chalked up in the tenth bout on the card, with Texas Tech's James Bickel taking a close decision over Lockney's Calvin Pyle in an open division middleweight battle. Bickel gained the advantage with steady counter-punching, despite Pyle's lightning left jab, and was in command until late in the third round.

Pyle opened up with a terrific barrage in the final minute, pounding Bickel into the ropes, but the Tech student had built up too much lead.

For Pyle, it was only the second defeat in 22 bouts over the past three years and it was close. But Bickel earned the decision by throwing more leather more effectively.

Tonight the fights go into the second round, with several fighters making their first appearance and some returning. There will be 24 fights starting at 8 p.m. and another capacity crowd is expected to view them.

General admission tickets will be on sale all day at Tech gym at $1.20 each and will also be available tonight at the gym office.

All individuals who reserved tickets for three nights can get fourth night tickets by calling, or going to the ticket office in Tech gym not later than Wednesday noon. Please bring your section number, row number and seat number of present reserved seats when applying for tickets for Thursday night.

BURKHART vs. LADUKE

Bill Burkhart opened the card by chalking up an easy victory over Olton's Max LaDuke in a novice division bantamweight bout. Burkhart utilized his advantage in height and reach in counter-punching, and kept LaDuke off balance. The second round was slow, as LaDuke failed to connect with his left and fell into a clinch at every opportunity. Burkhart absorbed one hard right in the third round, but came back to press LaDuke for the remainder of the round.

GARCIA vs. MANN

Alex Garcia of Lubbock decisioned Plainview's Woodvin Mann in a novice featherweight battle, but Garcia had to stave off a late rally by Mann to clinch the win. Garcia was aggressive throughout the fight, building up a lead in the first round with his southpaw punching. Mann bounced back to make the second round very close, with a series of hard lefts and rights, then both of the fighters turned in their best round in the final stanza. Garcia demonstrated unusual defensive boxing ability late in the fight to check Mann's rush.

RANEY vs. JOHNSON

The clash of two Texas Tech open division light-heavies, Wayne Raney and Charles Johnson, stole the spotlight on the opening card. Raney opened with a rush, using a deadly right cross, but Johnson surprised the crowd with brilliant counter-punching. Near the end of the round Raney half-fell following a punch by Johnson, but quickly regained his balance. The second round was slower, with Raney leading and Johnson following up with sharp lefts and rights, but at the end of the stanza Raney was still on the attack. Johnson clinched the triumph in the third round with a series of right hands to the body, despite a desperate flurry by Raney. Both fighters were very tired at the final bell.

McCLURE vs. NEIE

Bo McClure of Olton advanced in the novice featherweight bracket by decisioning Durwood Neie of Plainview. Both fighters opened with a rush, but McClure had the advantage in the long-range punching. A hard right gave Neie a bloody nose, but the determined little Plainview battler kept boring in. McClure started pressing Neie in the second stanza, battering the Plainview boy with hard rights, then in the third round McClure gave Neie a thorough boxing lesson. Neie was still battling at the finish, however, and the crowd gave him a tremendous round of applause.

RECORD vs. GULLETT

Bob Gullett, Olton lightweight, decisioned Jim Record of Lubbock in a novice setto. Gullett pressed the fight in the opening round, with Record countering well. Gullett opened up with a series of hard lefts and rights in the second stanza, but had difficulty in connecting, then the two fighters battled on nearly even terms during the final round. Gullett did most of the leading during the clash and kept a point edge.

REED vs. GILLESPIE

Jack Reed of Tahoka defeated Billy Gillespie of Plainview in an exciting novice featherweight scrap. Gillespie started strong, exhibiting a good left and a fast right, but Reed forged ahead in the second round on a furious exchange. Reed connected with several hard rights and had Gillespie in trouble near the end of the round. The third round was much slower, with Gillespie continuing to press the fight but having little success against Reed's counter-punching.

OLVERA vs. KURBIS

Ismael Olvera of Levelland decisioned Gordon Kurbis of Plainview in a top open division lightweight brawl. Kurbis was staggered early in the round by a flurry of lefts, then just before the bell sounded Olvera knocked the Plainview puncher partially through the ropes. The second stanza was a wild slugfest, as the fighters traded punches "from the floor," but Olvera moved out in front as a result of his ramming left jab and shifting defense. Both fighters tired in the third round, but Olvera kept pressing the fight and finished well in front.

ADAIR vs. BAIN

Jim Bain of Plainview got up off the canvas to gain a decision over James Adair of Olton in a featherweight novice setto. Adair rushed Bain at the opening bell and dropped the Plainview boy for a five count before the fans realized what was happening. Bain came up in good shape, however, and opened up with several hard rights at the close of the round. Adair continued to press the fight during the slow second stanza, but faltered in the third round under Bain's persistent pounding. Adair tied up Bain at every opportunity and was very tired at the finish.

QUIRINO vs. NICHOLS

Huck Nichols, Olton welterweight, blasted out a well-earned decision triumph over Isaac Quirino of Lubbock in another novice clash. Nichols pressed Quirino hard from the opening bell, slamming lefts and rights into the body, then Nichols drove Quirino into the ropes with a hard right. The bout slowed down in the second round, with both fighters taking the defensive, but two quick flurries kept the fans interested. The final stanza was very fast and steady punching by the aggressive Nichols clinched the win.

ANDREWS vs HALL

Both boys were willing to mix it up, with Hall getting the better of it in every round. He fought off Andrews' whirlwind attack in the first canto, poking a good, consistent left to the face. Hall showed more experience, but the fight was a pleaser.

OGLE vs PADGETT

This was a case of inexperience fighting inexperience and the fight could have gone either way. Ogle had the best of the first round, but Padgett came back to hit a little more often in the final two stanzas. In the third round, Ogle went down from a right, but the bell halted the go.

McMILLAN vs DRIVER

A battle of cuties. The fighters made faces at each other, pranced and preened and generally had a good time. The difference was that McMillan had some artillery to back it up and Driver spent a lot of time on the canvas. The crowd laughed heartily and enjoyed this as much as any fight.

BICKEL vs. PYLE

James Bickel, a Texas Tech student, stunned the capacity crowd by scoring an upset decision win over Calvin Pyle, Lockney's highly rated middleweight, in an open bracket bout. The fighters battled on even terms during the first round, although Bickel connected more often than Pyle, then in the second round Bickel opened a cut over Pyle's right eye. A wild third stanza gave Bickel the win, despite a late assault by Pyle. Pyle drove Bickel into the ropes on the final exchange, but Bickel covered well and moved out of danger as the bell sounded.

BELL vs CANNON

Two fighters evenly matched, both inexperienced but willing. The first round was about even, the second went to Cannon and the third went to him by a hair, although it was Bell's best canto. It wasn't a rock 'em sock 'em fight, but it was an entertaining go.

LYLE vs LOW

Lyle had all the best of this fight, knocking Low down in the first round and hurting him with stomach blows in the second. In the third, Lyle again landed damaging blows to the midsection, as well as landing some blows to the head tellingly.

DELANEY vs LEE

One of the classiest fighters on the night's card, DeLaney stalked his man beautifully. He seldom unleashed his left or right, but when he did, he rocked Lee. He had him in trouble in the first round and in the second, he stalk-him until he caught him in a corner. Then a flurry of lefts and rights dropped the Petersburg boy for good. The crowd liked the fighting Irishman.

WHITE vs CRENSHAW

Billed as one of the top fights of the night, the action failed to materialize. And when it did Crenshaw came in second. White, with a ring around his waist, looked as though he might tire, but Crenshaw couldn't reach him with his left and kept his right cased all night. It was a slow fight, but White had all the best of it.

OPENING NIGHT ACTION—Three good action shots of action on the first night of the regional Golden Gloves tourney in Tech gym. In the top left photo, featherweight Durwood Neie of Plainview, blood flowing from his nose, is trying to ward off Bo McClure of Olton, eventual winner, who has his right cocked and ready. In top photo are right, Welterweight Ray Crenshaw walks into a left from Gene White of Roswell, N. M., who won the decision, as Crenshaw misses a left to the body. And in the other picture, Referee Toby Waggoner watches Featherweight L. H. McWilliams of Tahoka start Dwayne Driver of Idalou on his way to the floor with a stunning right to the head. There'll be more action in Tech gym tonight. (Staff Photos by Bill Hams.)

Tech made a determined bid early in the second period, with Center Don Grove and Forward Gene Gibson sharing scoring honors, but Flagstaff's cagers started rolling again to protect their lead. Coach Polk Robison used 10 Raiders in an effort to halt the Flagstaff offense.

Demaret Cops Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 31. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret squared playoff accounts with Ben Hogan today as he won a three-stroke victory in an 18-hole special round to decide the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

The colorful Ojai, Calif., shotmaker scored a four under par 67. Hogan took a 70. They had finished the 72-hole tourney yesterday tied at 278.

As he finished the round Demaret quipped, "I feel like a race horse beating Citation."

This was a reversal of the outcome last week when Demaret and Hogan ended deadlocked in the Long Beach Open. Hogan won that playoff 67-69.

With his approaches hitting the green with deadly accuracy, Demaret brought a careful putting game into play.

A pair of putts between 25 and 30 feet helped the Demaret cause. One, on the fourth hole, gave him a two-stroke lead. Hogan three-putted the hole. The second came on the 18th, when Demaret already had virtually clinched the event.

It was the 11th straight day of competitive golf for Demaret. He played in the pro-amateur meet here between the Long Beach playoff and the start of this tournament.

Cerdan May Defend Title Against Zale

The Frenchman grabbed the title from Zale last September.

Chickie Bogad, T. of C. matchmaker, said he will relay Cerdan's offer to Zale immediately and that if Zale turns it down another opponent will be sought.

Lubbock High's Westerners are past the half-way mark in the torrid District 1-AA cage race now, but they still face their toughest battle of the season here Friday night when they tangle with the strong Pampa Harvesters. The Harvesters have already defeated the Westerners twice this season, but only one of the triumphs was in district competition. The winner of the setto Friday night will have the inside track in the title chase and, barring an upset, will coast to the championship.

Here's the district standings at the present time:

TEAMS	W.	L.	Pct.
Lubbock	5	1	.833
Pampa	4	1	.800
Amarillo	3	2	.600
Borger	1	2	.333
Brownfield	1	3	.250
Plainview	0	5	.000

The slate this week sends Borger to Pampa tonight, then Friday Pampa journeys to Lubbock, Borger goes to Plainview and Amarillo travels to Brownfield. Saturday night Lubbock goes to Borger, Plainview plays at Amarillo and Pampa takes on Brownfield at Brownfield. When the last whistle is blown Saturday night, fans should know the district winner.

It has been called to our attention that the District 1-AA schools face a dangerous threat in the increasing criticism of basketball game officials. The coach of one of the Panhandle members of the 1-AA loop revealed Monday night that officials who were due to officiate at several district games during the next two weeks have cancelled their agreements. Although the officials gave various reasons for not appearing, the mentor feels certain that their action is the result of sharp criticism of their work which has appeared several times recently in a large Panhandle newspaper. And, as the coach says, the officials can't be blamed. They are not required, by any stretch of the imagination, to officiate games where they know they will be subjected to such criticism. They can make just as much money, under more pleasant conditions, by officiating in districts other than 1-AA.

The coach also emphasized that "such criticism is going to leave us holding the bag. If the conditions that have caused these cancellations continue, we'll have to go to Fort Worth or Dallas to get officials. And that will certainly be a reflection on our district, as well as an expensive procedure. But we can't expect the officials to put up with the usual critical "home town" crowds, and then be held up to ridicule in the newspapers."

• • •

We'll get off the basketball subject just long enough to pass along to Lubbock football fans the information that Westerner Menton Pat Pattison has tentatively decided to switch to the "T" formation next season. The Lubbock gridders used a modified single wing last season, but Coach Pattison plans to try the "T" this fall.

Paul Brown Signs For Another Seven Years With Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31. (AP)—Paul Brown tonight announced he had cast lot as a football coach with the Cleveland Browns for another seven years by signing to extend his present contract as coach and general manager for five years through the 1955 season.

Brown described his new contract as "a continuation of the same terms." The terms of the original contract, signed in February, 1945, were for a salary of $25,000 plus 15 per cent of the All-America Football Conference club's proceeds. That contract had two years to run.

New Conference Slated In Fall

DALLAS, Jan. 31. (AP) — Come fall and another collegiate conference will blossom forth in Texas.

It is as yet unnamed although it probably will be known as the Big State Conference and will include Trinity university, North Texas State, Hardin college and University of Houston.

These schools will leave the Lone Star Conference with the close of spring competition.

There may be other members by the time the new conference officially begins operation. At least three schools are interested in joining.

Formed In Dallas

The new circuit was formed in Dallas over the week-end at a meeting of athletic directors. The next meeting will be in the spring, probably in April, when the constitution and by-laws will be drafted and the name officially selected.

Hardin college becomes probably the only school in history to be a member of a Conference without competing in it. Hardin was admitted to the Lone Star Conference in December but was not to start competition as a member until next fall.

Hardin also has made very fast progress. Three years ago it was a junior college. Then it became a four-year school and entered the Texas Conference.

Schools Are Growing

The four colleges represent a combined enrollment of 21,700 with University of Houston the largest with 12,000. Trinity has 2,000, North Texas State 5,200 and Hardin 2,500.

D. L. Ligon of Hardin is president of the Conference.

It was not revealed what other schools are being considered for membership but conjecture is prevalent that University of Corpus Christi, a new school, is one of them.

Objectives of the new conference were announced as a program that not only includes athletics but forensics, drama, journalism and various literary activities.

OWLS BUY NEW CLOCK

HALE CENTER, Jan. 31 (Special)—The four classes in Hale Center high school paid most of the cost of buying and installing an electric scoreboard and clock in the new Watley memorial gymnasium, for use in basketball contests. The clock cost $304, Principal L. C. Greenlee, said.

Mexico has a new National Moving Picture Commission, partly government financed.

UCLA Okays Sanders' Staff

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (INS) UCLA today formally put its stamp of approval on five men the new Bruin head football coach Henry (Red) Sanders, is bringing to the west coast from Vanderbilt to serve as his staff.

The five are Tommy Prothro, jr., backfield coach; Jim Myers, line coach; Mike Balitsaris, end coach; Tommy Harrison, assistant coach, and Charles (Smokey) Harper, trainer.

George Dickerson, who was a member of the resigned Bert Labrucherie's staff, was retained as freshman coach.

Sanders flew back to Nashville today to work out the final details of his move from Vanderbilt to UCLA.

Meanwhile, UCLA completed a nine-game schedule for 1950 that calls for two clashes with Big Nine opponents.

The Bruins will take on Illinois at home on Oct. 14, 1950, and will meet Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., on Oct. 28.

In the Big Nine games Sanders will be going against an old foe. His Vanderbilt teams hold three decisions over Big Nine teams.

Jess Neely Will Remain At Rice

HOUSTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—Jess Neely says he expects to remain at Rice Institute as football coach.

Neely repeated earlier statements on his arrival here yesterday after a visit to Vanderbilt university, where, it was reported, he was offered the job as head fotoball coach.

Neely said he would confer with Rice officials early this week, then would write Vanderbilt officials a letter advising them of his intentions.

"I am well pleased with my position here," Neely said again yesterday. "I don't believe I would care to make a change."

It was reported that H. N. (Rusty) Russell, assistant football coach at Southern Methodist University, was among those to be considered for the Vanderbilt position if Neely declined to accept the post.

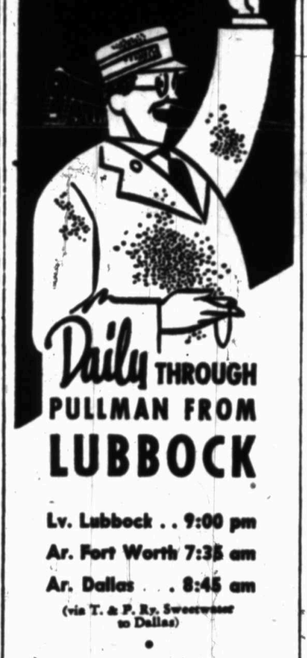

(Russell said in Mexico City Saturday he had not been approached concerning the vacancy at the Tennessee school, but that should an offer be made he would give it "serious consideration.")

Owens, Martin, Switzer Are High Point Men

Stars Of 1943 Jeff Davis High School Pace Southwest Loop

HOUSTON, Jan. 31. (AP) — Back in 1943 the Jeff Davis High school basketball team of Houston moved into Austin and carried off the state Class AA schoolboy title a second straight year.

Today, three of the stars of those teams are pacing Southwest Conference clubs to a tight three-way championship race.

Baylor, Rice and Texas — each with only one defeat—head for a showdown next week and familiar faces will line up against each other.

Over the full season route, Jamie Owens is second high scorer for Baylor, Slater Martin is the leading point maker for Texas, and Warren Switzer is the second high man for Rice.

All three played on those Jeff Davis championship teams of 1942 and 1943.

Martin was All-State both years. He went to Texas and played the first part of the 1944 season before entering the navy.

While in the service he dropped his old Jeff Davis coach, Roy Needham, a note in which he told of fixing up a basketball goal aboard ship.

"It's hot as blazes but I've got to keep in shape," he wrote.

Owens, the red-head, was a little tyke when he was at Davis but he was a hustler. After the schoolboy years and after leaving the service he enrolled at Rice, changed his mind, went to Baylor.

He and Martin are fast friends, having played at Burbank junior high school, Houston, together. Owens thinks Martin is the best basketball player in the country.

But Owens is a star in his own right and is one of the big reasons why Baylor won the championship last year and is back in the title fight this season.

Switzer was All-State in 1943. He now is the play-making, aggressive, close-checking, sharp-shooting forward at Rice.

Three other former Jeff Davis players figure in the Southwest Conference lineups this year.

Ed Kelley, the husky Texas football tackle, is a reserve on Jack Gray's Longhorn five. He was All-State in 1942 in basketball.

Billy Shrack, a valuable reserve a year later at Davis, is among Bill Henderson's top reserves at Baylor.

Bill Hickman didn't break into the Davis lineup until 1944 but he is being mentioned as the most likely successor for the Baylor starting lineup vacancy created by automobile acident injuries to star Bill Johnson.

Shrack also sees another familiar face when Baylor meets Texas. He and Tom Hamilton, the big, fancy shooting Longhorn forward, played against each other in high school tilts in Kansas.

About the same time Schrack moved to Houston, Hamilton moved to Dallas where he started at Crozier Tech before entering Texas.

Busy Week Faces Junior Cage Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The busiest week of the Southwestern Junior College Conference basketball race is at hand.

Eight conference games are scheduled with Lamar of Beaumont playing in three of them. Tyler's pace-setting Apaches have a single tilt—meeting Lamar at Beaumont Saturday night.

Lamar and San Angelo clash at San Angelo and Schreiner and John Tarleton at Stephenville tonight. Tomorrow night Lamar again is at San Angelo.

Wednesday night North Texas agricultural college and Kilgore get together at Kilgore. Friday night San Angelo opens a two-game series with the North Texas Aggies at Arlington while Kilgore will be at Paris.

Greg Rice Says His Track Record Can Be Smashed Anytime By Belgium's Reiff

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (INS) — It is a good, old record while it lasts —that world's indoor time of 8:51 for two miles by Gregory Rice.

But, if it lasts any longer than the next time Belgium's Gaston Reiff gets a chance at it, the most surprised guy in the world will be a man named Gregory Rice, who said as much today. "Next time" for Reiff, incidentally, will be Feb. 12 at the annual New York A. C. games.

But the shuffling little man who put the record on the books six years ago flatly conceded it probably would be off the books in 12 days, doing so thus in a resigned monotone befitting an epitaph:

"Reiff can beat 8:50 now, next week—any time he wants.

"In style, stamina, poise and running-savvy, he's ideally equipped in every way to do practically whatever he likes with present-day times and competitors.

"No, he's not better than Gunder Hagg. But, after all, who is?"

The pre-war champion of the American "boards" arrived at this glowing appraisal while watching Olympic champion Reiff take to the pine runways for the first time Saturday night and run everybody bleary-eyed in 8:56.1, coasting.

Quite so, Greg Rice might have stated if he were that kind of a guy. But all he said was—

"Yeh, coasting."

And, as a tribute, it was not without a degree of genuine eloquence.

So, for that matter, did New York A. C. games-manager Paul Pilgrim's appeal to Wisconsin's athletic authorities to release their remarkable Don Gehrmann from his dual-meet obligations.

The idea was to have the stiltman become a starter in Mr. Pilgrim's Baxter Mile, which without him would be merely great. And, as generally acknowledged, that's hardly good enough nowadays.

At last reports, the situation was briefly this:

Wisconsin was being "pressured" to release Gehrmann and, according to Pilgrim, "there is a possibility" that negotiations will have a favorable outcome.

Otherwise, the Baxter Mile will be just a second Millrose Mile—less Gehrmann which is like a two-legged table.

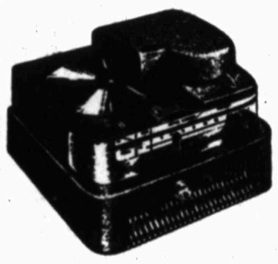

As for French champion Marcel Hansenne, meet-manager Pilgrim wouldn't say what his plans were for Marcel in the Baxter Mile—apparently because he couldn't. All he'd vouchsafe was a gruff:

"We'll have to await for Hansenne's arrival Saturday."

Former Official Relates Story Of Communist Conspiracy In U. S.

"cold" is a comfort to the enemy. It is being waged against us by men and women — a great many of them native-born — who are regimented far beyond the regimentation of our armed forces.

Our homegrown and imported Red agents are brilliantly trained, frantically dedicated, physically brave, and industrious beyond the comprehension of Americans who wishfully insist that we are at peace with all lands.

You may say that there are scarcely 75,000 confirmed Communists in the United States, and perhaps no more than two or three times as many fellow travelers with devotion enough to follow the most extreme orders. The sum is not great, compared to our 148,000,000.

BUT the Communists, my ten years of study have proven beyond question, are an unfissionable cadre, tougher, more determined, more alert and less hampered than the action-taking cadre of our native millions. And almost as large.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the country's greatest authority on the Communist conspiracy, had this to say during an appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee:

"The size of the Communist Party is relatively unimportant because of the enthusiasm and iron-clad discipline under which they operate. In this connection, it might be of interest to observe that in 1917 when the Communists overthrew the Russian government there was one Communist for every 2,277 persons in Russia.

"In the United States today there is one Communist for every 1,814 persons in the country."

We all have seen the Communists nucleus in operation. We have seen our ports tied up as effectively as if destroyed by bombs. We have seen our key industries crippled by single commands from Moscow, though our workers may have believed that they themselves stimulated the strikes.

We have seen the White House picketed and our President debased when our policies clashed with those of the Party line. We have seen our hard-won atomic secrets and our inventive know-how stolen and transmitted to Russia. We have seen our diplomatic files boldly rifled.

We have seen Communists or their dupes rise so high in government that one among the latter, Henry Wallace, stood within a heartbeat of the Presidency through the years of tremendous decision between 1940 and 1944.

WE NOW see indicted a distinguished young man, Alger Hiss, who sat with Roosevelt at Yalta when Poland and the rest of Eastern Europe were abandoned by the West, and the Far East was laid open to Communist aggression.

We have seen a procession of subversives, whose records fill the files of the Un-American Activities Committee, those of the F.B.I. and other government agencies, either revile the Congress which sought to hear their side of a question, or wrap themselves in the protective folds of a Constitution they seek to destroy.

We have seen many labor unions and nonpartisan organizations evolve into little more than Communist fronts. We have seen publications cloaked in such disarming names as "The Protestant" become echoes of "The Daily Worker."

Many of the conspirators move freely about the country today, though their guilt has been clearly established. Others, in danger of exposure, have managed to find well-meaning friends in high places to remove them from danger.

Mrs. Earl Browder, a Communist and therefore sincerely dedicated to the overthrow of the United States government, was given a visa to enter this country at the direct request of President Roosevelt. Roosevelt did not wish to face the embarrassment of Stalin's questions about her.

More of this later.

Top Officials Affected

Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Russian-born accused Communist who rose to several influential posts in the government, was protected by the Secretary of War Robert Patterson after the Office of Naval Intelligence had demanded his removal from a post of great importance.

More of this later.

Silvermaster's foremost friend in government was the late Assistant Secretary of Treasury Harry Dexter White. At the time Naval Intelligence was calling Silvermaster a Communist, White retained him to help set up the Bretton Woods Conference. The F.B.I. subsequently monitored all phone calls made and received by White's section of the Treasury Department, but has not revealed its findings.

More of this later.

DR. EDWARD U. Condon, whom Henry Wallace peremptorily appointed Director of the National Bureau of Standards, has an extended associaiton with known subversives. A 3½ page F.B.I. letter concerning Dr. Condon's associations is being withheld by President Truman despite a 10-to-1 congressional vote demanding its release.

More of this later.

Gerhart Eisler, identified by a number of Communists as the secret head of the Red conspiracy in this country, was sentenced last March 25. One prominent Washington attorney, was offered a "fee" of $100,000 if he could arrange a postponement in Eisler's trial. Eisler has not served an hour of his time.

More of this later.

Eisler's brother, Hanns, hailed in the Soviet press as the foremost revolutionary composer, won a visa to this country through the intercession of many prominent Americans including Raymond Gram Swing, Dorothy Thompson and Eleanor Roosevelt.

More of this later.

The Soviet Purchasing commission flew a ton of Lend-Lease uranium oxide and 25 pounds of uranium metal out of the U. S. over the protests of Gen. Leslie R. Groves, in the midst of our secret development of the A-bomb.

More of this later.

George Silverman, second highest-ranking official assigned to Air Force planning and purchasing from March, 1942, to August, 1945, refused to answer Congress when asked whether or not he was a Communist. He refused also to acknowledge whether he knew Elizabeth Bentley, the former Communist who accused him, and many others to whom his name was linked.

More of this later.

THREE Hollywood writers, including John Howard Lawson, were convicted of contempt of Congress but remain free on bail. The House committee, which underwent considerable abuse when it sought to inquire into the spread of Communism in an industry whose product goes to 75,000,000 Americans weekly, possesses the Party cards and aliases of 33 writers, directors, producers and kindred film cogs.

More of this later.

All of the above is but a suggestion of the scope of the Red infiltration. No purpose could be served if, in these subsequent articles, I relied on personal indignation to present this case.

What will follow are documented facts, painstakingly gathered over the past decade by what seems safe to say is the most misunderstood and maligned committee in the history of the Congress.

crops such as cabbage and carrots suffered damage. Vegetable damage in Cameron county alone was estimated at $15,000,000 by County Agent Frank Brunneman.

Only Florida of the Gulf states remained fairly mild. New Orleans' 29 and Mobile's 33 were unusually cold, but inland conditions were more severe.

Shreveport had a minimum of eight above, and it was 17 at Memphis. Snow up to five inches in depth blanketed much of Kentucky and Tennessee with other areas along the Ohio river getting more than three inches.

Atlanta was hit by freezing rain which reached underground conduits, knocking out virtually all the city's power for more than two and one-half hours. Effects of the cut-off included stoppage of power buses, jamming of elevators in office buildings, and interruption of an operation in a hospital.

The Atlanta glaze was part of a storm which moved northeastward up the Atlantic coast during the day, bringing rain and snow to most of the seaboard. Washington had four inches of snow, followed by rain. Rain and snow fell northward into New England, hitting New York, and bringing heavy snowfall to inland areas.

News Briefs

Clothing valued at a total of $90 was stolen from the car of Dub Parks of Dimmitt, while the vehicle was parked at the gymnasium on Texas Tech campus last night during the boxing matches, he told police. Included in the stolen property were a dress suit, a short top coat, four dress shirts and two wool sweaters, he said.

Quarterly luncheon of the South Plains chapter of the Texas Manufacturers association will be held at 12:15 p.m. today at Hilton hotel, T. A. Rogers, chapter president, announced Monday. Victor F. Grima, head of the industrial relations department of TMA, will discuss industrial relations and problems.

Lewis Kittrell of 2008 Fifteenth, chief of police, was considered satisfactory in condition last night at West Texas hospital and was reported to be resting well. He has been a patient there since Friday when he underwent surgery.

Houston Ray Johnston, 14, of 1110 Thirtieth, was treated at West Texas hospital for a sprained ankle and bruises and lacerations of the hip and leg, after his motor scooter skidded about 5:40 p. m. Monday on ice in the underpass in 500-block Ave. H. The youth lost control of the scooter and was thrown against the curbing, investigating patrolmen said. He was released after treatment at the hospital, where he was taken by a passer-by.

Burglary Suspect

$10 in "change"

Only six cigars had been discovered lost by the produce company.

Evidence of manner of breaking, the handles of a .32 caliber German-make pistol, as well as a cartridge clip, were found in the Hobbs plant near where double-glass in a window had been hammered out.

Five other windows had been broken, but lock manipulation through the fractures apparently had resisted efforts of the burglar.

Suspect Is Seen

The arrest of the suspect, who later signed confessions to the three burglaries, followed soon after "witnesses" reported incidents to the police after reading an account of the burglaries in the Lubbock Evening Journal.

A 16-year-old boy, who had been passing the Hobbs Manufacturing company premises about 7:30 or 8 p. m. Sunday, had gone home and told relatives that he had seen a man smashing windows out of the place. His story was credited to "imagination" until the newspaper account corroborated his story.

Shortly after, Moore's bonded patrol reported to police that one of their patrols had picked up a man "covered with blood' who said he had been in a fight in a local night spot. They took him to a local tourist court where he said he had lodging. The newspaper report also brought sudden realization to the men involved that they had unwittingly let the burglar escape.

Statements Signed

Fortunately, however, Moore's patrol knew the man they had picked up, and police soon had a pickup order out on the suspect. A police patrol car sighted the subject at Broadway and Ave. J a short time later, and he was arrested at Main and Ave. J as he was preparing to enter a theater.

The man made and signed his statements before assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars after being confronted with the weight of the evidence against him. He had minor cuts and lacerations on both hands.

Two additional witnesses were later found who said the suspect had shown them checks which were taken from the burglarized establishments.

At least one formal complaint of burglary will be filed this morning against the suspect, who was turned over to the sheriff's office to be jailed.

Peace Bond Set

Five tires, a battery and a barrel of gasoline were stolen "sometime during the bad weather" on the S. T. Shivers farm, a mile north and two west of Idalou, the sheriff's department was informed Monday.

Bond of $1,500 was set by D W. Robertson, justice of peace, in binding over to the next grand jury Everett Lester Fitzgerald, 30, of 422 Ave. Q, on a recent charge of murder while driving when drunk.

Peace bond of $500 was set Sunday by Robertson after a hearing on affidavit that Chris W. May, 32, of Lubbock had threatened to kill Mrs. May.

Several thefts were under investigation, including reports that a Ford sedan, license AR 8149 had been stolen at Brownfield.

Carpenters tools valued at $100 were taken from the car of Robert Wassom of 2012 Ave. U.

Fines Are Assessed

E. W. Cox of 2605 East Broadway informed the sheriff's department that a handsaw had been stolen there.

Police were told of the theft of a peanut vending machine, valued at $15, which had been stolen from the administration building on Texas Technological college campus.

When Jessie Lira, 22, a Meadow Mexican who also is under charge of forgery by false endorsement, pleaded guilty Monday of illegally carrying a pistol, County Judge Walter Davies assessed his punishment at 30 days in county jail.

County court judgments signed by Judge Walter Davies:

Fine of $75 and court costs assessed after N. M. Botkins, 44, of Lubbock, had pleaded guilty of drunk driving.

Fine of $75 and court costs assessed after George Jackson, 44, a negro, had pleaded guilty of drunk driving.

Fine of $1 and court costs assessed after V. H. Payne, 31, of Lubbock had pleaded guilty of check law violation.

MARKET TRADING SLOW

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—In one of the quietest stock markets in nearly four months, prices slipped lower today despite the efforts of some leading issues to push ahead.

It was a day of small changes with eighths, being added and subtracted here and there in a mixed pattern.

A little strength at the opening lasted for a matter of minutes before the downward drift took over.

Steels kept their head above water some of the time but ended down by fractions to around a point. Motors did better and closed unchanged to higher among the leaders. Rails and utilities were mixed in a narrow range with rails off slightly on average. Building shares, aircrafts, oils, and retail and mail order stores were down.

Higher were General Motors 60⅜, Chrysler 55, Goodyear 44⅝, J. I. Case 36⅝, Schenley 27⅝, Anaconda 33⅞, and Philip Morris 40⅜.

Lower were U. S. Steel 77⅞, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 71⅛, Goodrich 60, Montgomery Ward 53⅜, Oliver Corp. 28, Curtiss-Wright 8⅞, Kennecott 51⅞, General Electric 38¼, Owens Illinois 54¾, U. S. Gypsum 101⅛, Santa Fe 100¼, Illinois Central 28, Standard Oil (NJ) 70⅛, Mission Corp 47½, and Johns Manville 38.

Of the 15 most active stocks—with Curtiss-Wright and U. S. Steel in first and second place—there were five up, five down, and five unchanged.

With the volume of trading at 610 000 shares, it was the slowest day since Oct. 11. Of the 899 issues traded, 269 declined and 293 advanced on the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks also told the story of the inactivity of prices by declining only .1 of a point to 65. The industrial components lost .2, rails were down .1, and utilities were unchanged.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady today in slow dealings, as mill buying met only light hedge offerings. Export covering was small, with traders inclined to await new developments in that field, and Washington legislation affecting cotton.

New crop months sold at a discount to the nearby deliveries and attracted some New Orleans buying.

Widespread rain and snow over the cotton belt were considered favorable by traders in building up a moisture reserve for the next crop.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31. (AP)—The New Orleans cotton exchange estimated the price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets at 32.86 cents a pound. This was unchanged from Saturday. The average was estimated at 30.87. The exchange said that six of the reporting markets were unheard from because of damage to wires by ice.

Gas Flaring Hit

of crude oil, should have devoted so many years to enforcing proration to market demand instead of enforcing conservation from the start.

"It is equally unfortunate that the state of Texas waited until Nov. 23, 1948, to issue an order requiring the operators of 16 fields, to cease and desist from wasting gas in these fields, when it is determined that the quantity of oil to be thus cut back amounts to about the same amount of crude oil as is currently being run to storage.

"True conservation practice would require the gas produced in the production of oil to be returned to the underground to restore pressure, or used commercially, or close in the wells."

SENATE GROUP RAPS BIG OIL COMPANIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — The Senate Small Business committee today criticized the way a few big companies control a major part of the petroleum industry from oil well to filling station. It said that "presents a real challenge to American ideas of free enterprise."

The committee reported to the Senate on an 18-month investigation of the oil industry.

The report said "some 20 large integrated oil companies" carry on all four main functions of the industry: production of crude, transportation, refining, and marketing. It did not name the companies.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP) — Grains eased off today when an early rally stalled after the first 30 minutes of trading. Wheat dropped the most while corn showed some resistance to the slump. Cash corn arrivals totaled 213 cars, which was considered small for a Monday.

Dealings were light. Commercial and cash interests appeared to be almost entirely out of the market, indicating small sales of cash grain to the Commodity Credit corporation. Some of the selling in wheat came from several houses with southwestern connections.

Wheat closed ⅛-⅝ lower, May $2.19⅛-¼, corn was ⅛-⅜ lower, May $1.40⅛-¼, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, May 70⅝-⅝, rye was ¾ to 1 cent higher, May $1.56⅜-1.57, soy beans were ⅛-1¼ lower, March $2.43½-¾, and lard was 7 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower March $14.70.

Stalin's Proposal

weary of the war-of-nerves between East and West, diplomats waited to see whether Stalin means what he says.

Great Britain's reaction was transmitted to the State department by British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

The department regarded the Stalin document coldly, noting that Russia could very readily establish a dependable peace merely through existing international agencies.

Vandenberg Skeptical

No official communication has yet reached the State department proposing an overall settlement of U. S.-Russian differences.

Reactions on Capitol Hill and elsewhere were tinged with skepticism, based on Stalin's past performances in breaking his word to the West. Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), GOP foreign policy spokesman in the Senate asserted:

"I am always anxious to appropriately explore any real peace plans so long as we understand that Soviet willingness to 'talk' is different from Soviet willingness to 'agree' or to 'keep agreements.'

"Some day, all three things must happen."

In Moscow, the official Russian press and radio gave the widest publicity to Stalin's statement.

cussion of the effect of atomic explosions.

The commission, in the 212-page report, said that the "weapons situation has been greatly improved." The report asserted:

1. Bombs since the Bikini atoll tests "show a substantial gain in power."

2. By the end of 1948 the atomic program reached a momentum which, if sustained, "the commission believes will maintain and increase the nation's lead in atomic development."

3. Development of nuclear reactors to produce power and breed new fissionable materials "is being vigorously prosecuted."

Texas Loss In Cold Is Soaring

ganization in the valley said:

"Pending investigation of damage to citrus fruits, Texsun has withdrawn from the market. Early examination shows fruit undoubtedly damaged."

Most of Valley Hit

A great gloom settled over the lush valley as reports rolled in from every county:

Cameron: 10,000 acres of peppers believed a total loss. County Agent Frank Brunneman estimated the county's tomato loss at $7,000,000; cabbage and lettuce loss, $8,000,000; potato crop loss $3,000,000.

Willacy: Tomato crop totally destroyed. Potato loss 75 per cent or higher. Twenty-five thousand acres of onions seriously hit.

Hidalgo: Heavy citrus damage and heavy losses in potatoes, tomatoes, broccoli. Fifteen thousand acres in tomatoes laid waste. County Agent J. A. Oswalt found solidly frozen limes. He found some young citrus growth splitting.

NO IMPORTANT CHANGES

Lubbock and the South Plains could look forward to little change in the weather picture today, with continued cold and partly cloudy weather on the menu. However, the possibility of another cold front was seen for the area sometime late Wednesday or Wednesday night, although it is not expected to be as severe as that of the past few days.

Starr: County Agent J. B. Talcott said row crops in the county are wiped out.

The McAllen Monitor said: "The entire valley vegetable crop is virtually destroyed. Only some cabbage, carrots and beets may survive. Ice particles formed in all citrus."

And authorities at Corpus Christi estimated that 50 per cent of the 292,000 acres of South Texas flax was destroyed. A snow cover saved the other fifty per cent.

Most Readings Low

Temperatures over the state Monday included Paris, four degrees below zero; Bryan, three below; Austin, Sherman, Fort Worth, Junction, two degrees below; San Antonio, four-tenths of a degree below; Amarillo, 9 above zero; Brownsville, 22 above; Corpus Christi, 20; Del Rio, 17; Houston, 10; Beaumont, 17; Lufkin, 5; Wichita Falls, 12; Clarendon, 6; Abilene, 7; Big Spring, 16; El Paso, 15; Mission, 19; Rio Grande City, 17; Weslaco, 20; Raymondville, 20 and Harlingen, 21.

Lambs were frozen in the Kerrville area and at Cuero flax and oat crops were a total loss. A big loss of lambs and ewes was feared in the Fredericksburg area where temperatures ranged below zero and the snow was nine to 10 inches deep.

In the South Texas winter garden district, Carrizo Springs had a low of 18 degress and carrots, onion plants and spinach were damaged. Crystal City, which also suffered 18-degree weather reported garden crops hurt by cold.

Snow Hits Wide Section

On the Mexican border, at Laredo, the reading was 23 degrees and some crop damage was reported.

The hill country, Burnet, had eight inches of snow on the ground and a reading Monday of four below zero. It was three below zero at Cleburne and four and one-half inches of snow covered the ground.

Some of the latest deaths reported included:

At Smithfield, near Fort Worth, Bobbie Glenn Hollingsworth, 8, was burned to death and her sister, Mary Ina, 5, died in a Fort Worth hospital nine hours later. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hollingsworth, 32 and 24, were confined to a hospital with third degree burns.

A blast occurred when Hollingsworth attempted to light a kitchen stove that used butane gas. Fire followed and soon the 4-room, frame house was a mass of flames.

Mrs. Bertha Buchmann died from asphyxiation at Houston.

Justice of the Peace Manuel Diaz de Leon at Brownsville said the freezing weather contributed to the death of Bernardo Solano, 79, of Brownsville.

Frank Little, jr., 25, of Greenville, was fatally burned Sunday when his car skidded and left the highway about 10 miles southwest of Greenville. Raymond L. Green, 32, who was riding in the car, sustained serious head injuries and minor burns.

policy. The senator was one of six who voted against Secretary Acheson's confirmation.

The New Englander told the Senate he had "profound doubts" as to Acheson's qualifications for the top cabinet post, and that his opinions were not changed by the statements made by Acheson to the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

final total on moisture for the month was 4.05 inches. That breaks all records for January for the past 38 years since they started keeping records, son."

The pencil came up again . .

"That's right, son. Why, this year we had 3.56 inches of moisture above the January normal of .49 inches."

We tried to shush him up by telling him we could get these figures any day from the weatherman himself, but the old gentleman rattled right on, aware, no doubt, that what he did and said the next day or so was pretty important to a lot of people.

"Of course," he continued, "it got off to a bad start. There was a duster or two before the rains—er, ice, that is—came, but shucks, son, this is a great country. It had to rain sometime . . . After all, it's been nigh onto . . ."

That time we stopped him with a remark about the Chamber of Commerce not going in for such conversation.

"Anyway son, they'll be talking about this January for many a moon . . . How's that? What about Wednesday morning? Don't rush me, son, don't rush me. Got all night, you know.

Temperatures Bit Unusual

"Now take temperatures this month. They've been mighty unusual, too. Bet you didn't know the mean (average) temperature for the whole month was 31.2 degrees. That's way below the January normal of 40.

"And while we're on this business of temperatures," Mr. G. continued, "the warmest day last month was Saturday, Jan. 8, with a maximum of 66 degrees, and the coldest day was Sunday, Jan. 30, with eight degrees. There now, bet you didn't know that did you, son," he smirked triumphantly.

Rubbing two frost bitten ears, we just nodded numb like.

"And while I'm at it, I'll just tell you something else, son," the old gentleman went on, "this January, we're clear out of sight of January a year ago. Maybe you didn't know it, but things sure weren't up to snuff in January, 1948. Why, son, every thing was below normal then . . . the mean temperature was 35 degrees when it should have been 40, and the precipitation for the whole month was only .14 inches. Just compare that with this year when we had 13 days with precipitation."

We mentally compared and made some bright comment or other, all the while noting that Mr. G's fire was burning low by that time. And THEN he came around to the big question.

"Now about that Wednesday morning business, son. To tell you the truth, hadn't thought much about it. The Weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and slightly colder Wednesday. But even if it is cloudy when I come out and I can't see my shadow, I'm still coming back down. Spring around the corner, son? Don't make me laugh. Anyone who's lived in West Texas as long as you have ought to know we have about two months of snow, ice, and a blue norther or so yet to come. I didn't buy those extra blankets at the clearance sales for nothing, son."

And who were we to argue? So back we trudged to our desk. The one, as we said before, nearest the radiator.

Four Officials Resign At St. John's College

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 31 (AP) Anadministrative controversy at St. John's college has resulted in the resignations of President John S. Kieffer and three other college officials.

The Board of Visitors and Governors meeting in a special session in Baltimore yesterday accepted the resignations of Kieffer, Dean Raymond N. Wilburn and his assistant, Luke Harvey Joe, jr., and Treasurer Harrison Fiddesof.

The board said the shake-up was the result of "differences of opinion on purely administrative problems." What the differences were remained a mystery, except that they involved clashes between Kneffer and the other three men on the college's administrative council.

Faculty Status Unchanged

The governors emphasized that the resignations would not affect the faculty status of the four men. Kieffer's and Poe's are effective immediately and Fiddesof's as soon as a successor is named.

Kieffer told the student body which was assembled on the campus last night to be informed of the board's action that the dispute "is evidence of the vitality and growth of the college."

C. E. Lynn's Brother Killed Near Henrietta

Lubbock Man Loses Fourth Member Of Family In Crash

Another grim link was added Sunday to the chain of automobile accidents which already had claimed the father and two brothers of Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn, superannuated Methodist minister of 1916 Fifteenth. The third brother was killed Sunday.

Ellery Lynn, 61, veteran rural mail carrier in the Henrietta area, was killed when his automobile and an eastbound Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train were in collision at a crossing between Henrietta and Wichita Falls.

It was about 1927 when Justice Lynn's youngest brother drowned when a car in which he and his father were riding missed a bridge approach to the Guadalupe river near San Antonio and plunged into the water.

The father a powerful man, was able to extricate himself and swim to safety. But he could not remove the body of his son, pinned under the car.

About two years later, the father was killed in a car crash near Wichita Falls.

Two years ago, J. Paul Lynn, 32, of Amarillo died after a crash 20 miles north of Plainview.

Then yesterday's crash.

A member of C. E. Lynn's family pointed out that "thousands of hours aloft in airplanes have never injured either of two sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lynn." C. W. Lynn was a captain who flew a fighter plane, and H. D. Lynn, a first lieutenant, was a navigator aboard a bomber. Both were in overseas combat many months of the war.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lemon of Lubbock route 1 have gone to Henrietta. Other relatives probably will go there later. Funeral services had not been announced. Mrs. Lemon is a sister of the victim.

Three other brothers survivors, Hiram and Alford Lynn, of Wichita Falls, Ansil Lynn of Dallas. Mrs. Luther Glover of Oregon is another sister.

A daughter, Naomi, lives in New York, a son, Lowell D., in Henrietta.

JUDGES CAN BE WRONG

SAVANNAH, Ga. (U.P.) — Judge David S. Atkinson gets tired of court routine sometimes. So, before discharging a grand jury, he gave them a tip from the bench in answer to a local quiz program. The local radio station, good-naturedly irate, announced that Hizzoner had better stick to law. It was the wrong answer.

Spring Semester To Open At Tech Today

The lack of activity which prevailed on the campus at Texas Technological college during the latter days of last week was broken Monday as approximately 119 entering freshmen went through a full day of counselling and guidance and a few students began scheduling classes.

Official scheduling of classes for the Spring semester begins at 8 a. m. today, and only those who will be helping with registration were permitted to register Monday. Thursday will be the last day of preliminaries and classes will get underway at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

No estimate was given as to the total number of students expected to register, but W. P. Clement, registrar, did say the figure probably would fall below that for the fall term, which is the usual thing.

BANQUET IS PLANNED

Carter, high school agriculture teacher, has announced.

Body Of United Press Official, Companions, Found In Tokyo Bay

TOKYO, Jan. 31. (INS) — The bodies of Miles Vaughn, United Press vice president for Asia, and a hunting companion drowned in Tokyo bay Sunday with three others, were recovered today.

The victims, besides Vaughn, were Major T. R. Haddock of Cape Girardeau, Mo., a Japanese newspaperman, the boatman of the sampan in which they were on a duck hunting trip, and his young son.

The bodies of Vaughn and Haddock were spotted drifting in the bay after their overturned sampan was sighted offshore.

Vaughn, 58, had been in the Far East since 1924. Gen. Douglas MacArthur paid the newspaperman a gracious tribute in a message of condolence to UP President Hugh Baillie. MacArthur declared:

"He represented the best in modern American journalism. Fearless in his reporting, objective in vision and brilliant in rhetoric, he was unfailing in his support of American principles and American ideals."

Hale Center Lions Club To End Four-Week Membership Contest

HALE CENTER, Jan. 31 (Special) — Hale Center Lions club has secured more new members in a four-week membership contest than it had when it was chartered in 1945, Lion Boss W. W. Adcock, Methodist minister here, said this week. Two teams, captained by Wayne Brown and Jay Cannon, will wind up the contest Tuesday night, Feb. 1. New members secured last week-end totaled 38, with the final push set for the closing night of the drive, which may bring in several more, Adcock said. The club was chartered with about two dozen members, Adcock recalled. Membership before the contest began totaled 42, giving the club now a roll call of 80 businessmen and farmers here. The losing team in the contest must entertain the winners in a supper on ladies night, Feb. 14.

Improvement Of Highway 66 At Amarillo Is Given Approval

AMARILLO, Jan. 31 (U.P.)—An overall improvement plan for U. S. 66 across the Texan Panhandle calls for widening of the highway through and around Amarillo's business district, it was announced today.

Approval for the Amarillo program has been received from the State Highway department. It calls for streets to be widened from 90 to 200 feet, the construction of a railroad overpass and the setting back of many homes and business houses along the route.

City Manager N. V. Moss said the cost of the project has not been determined until cost of securing right-of-way has been completed.

Committee Appointments Hold Spotlight

Area Solons May Get Key Posts

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 31—Speculation over who will head the most important House committees today overshadowed other legislative matters.

The 51st legislature had brief sessions of the House and Senate, the House adjourned because it lacked the 100 members required to transact business. Nine bills were introduced in the Senate, which quit 18 minutes after convening.

House committee appointments will be announced tomorrow, Speaker Durwood Manford said. He would not comment on who will receive the chairmanships, important not only as an honor but because the men who hold them can exercise considerable control over legislation.

Victoria Man in Running

Reps. Pearce Johnson of Austin, William S. Fly of Victoria, and Ray Kirkpatriek were said to be top contenders for the chairmanship of the Appropriations committee. They were three of Manford's strongest campaigners for his election as speaker.

Manford was expected to put them at the head of the three key committees: Appropriations, State Affairs, and Revenue and Taxation. Which man would get which job was the big question among House members.

Chairmanship of the oil, gas and mining committee was considered a certainty for Rep. Sterling Williams of Snyder. Rep. I. B. Holt of Olton was a likely choice to head the Highways and Roads committee.

Rep. Bill Jameson of El Paso may preside over the Criminal Jurisprudence committee.

Smith Offers Plan

With naming of committees, introduction of bills will begin in the House, and the legislature can start making up for time lost in the three weeks since the session began.

The temporary committee on House Rules reportedly has been trying to work out a system of staggered meeting times so that members will not face the problem of trying to serve on two committees at the same time.

Each member usually serves on five committees. In past sessions, representatives often found two or three of their committees scheduled to consider bills at the same hour.

Two suggestions were made today on how to eliminate the traditional two or three-week delay in getting House business underway.

Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock proposed that a meeting of House members be called 30 days before the session begins to elect the

New Food, Drug Law Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Jan. 31. (AP)—A new Texas food, drug and cosmetics act designed to bring state regulations in line with federal laws was introduced today by Senator John J. Bell.

Bell said the proposal would "afford legitimate manufacturers in any of the industries greater protection against those few unscrupulous indivduals who are willing to cheat their fellow man . . . by offering the consuming public adulterated, mis-branded or falsely advertised products."

Plan Given Backing

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, endorsed the measure.

He said the bill would solve the problem of horse meat being sold for human consumption by making violators of the law subject to a heavy fine and jail sentence.

He said the law would limit the sale of synthetic hypo-narcotic drugs "such as the barbitial preparations."

In addition the bill would bring devices such as "cancer belts" under control and subject them to the same general requirements as those set up for drugs. It would bring all cosmetics except toilet soap under control.

Dr. Cox promised strict enforcement of the new act if it is passed. He said he would hire "20 or 25 inspectors" to patrol the state.

Southern Senate Bloc Prepares Compromise On Filibuster Rule

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Southerners got ready today to hold out an olive branch to the Senate's filibuster fight—a compromise whereby 36 senators could shut off debate in a national emergency.

But they made it clear in testifying to the Senate Rules committee that there would be no agreement calling off a filibuster on President Truman's civil rights program.

Administration leaders and Republicans are trying to amend Senate rules to permit a two-thirds majority to cut off debate on any subject. A tight 20-man bloc of southern senators sees it as a move to push across the Truman anti-lynch, anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination bills which they contend invade state jurisdictions.

A new survey shows Chile's population is 5,632,546, an increase of 95,000 during 1948.

Eight Persons Claimed Over Area

Heavy Toll Taken In Traffic Mishaps

Eight deaths resulted from automolibe accidents on the South Plains and adjacent areas during January, a survey conducted by The Morning Avalanche shows.

Not all of the deaths occurred within the territory encompassed by the Lubbock district of the Texas Highway patrol, hence the newspaper survey differs somewhat from the highway patrol report which is expected to be released within the next few days.

The greater part of the accidents which resulted in deaths took place during the various January weekends, the survey indicated.

Storms Contributed Little

The survey also showed that most of the accidents occured not during the worst parts of the recent ice storms in the area, but preceding and following the climax of the storms.

A number of telephone surveys taken by The Morning Avalanche to all parts of the area during the worst parts of the recent sleet and snow storms revealed that while weather was at its worst, no serious accidents and wrecks were reported, thus indicating that drivers either were more cautious during the bad weather or did not operate their vehicles.

In matters of highway deaths during January, South Plains areas to the northeast and north of Lubbock apparently remained freest of such tragedies, although these areas were not without automobile accidents during the month. The majority of the highway accidents and resultant deaths occurred in the western South Plains area.

Denver City Youth Dies

Automobile deaths over the South Plains during January were:

William E. Rich, 18, of Denver City, who was struck by an automobile a short distance northeast of Denver City on the Plains highway shortly after midnight Saturday, Jan. 15.

Velera Mae Willmon, 8, of near Plains, who died from injuries received Sunday, Jan. 16 in truck-auto collision at the intersection of the Denver City-Morton and Plains-Brownfield highways.

J. I. Hammond, Floydada farmer, who died Sunday, Jan. 16 when he lost control of his car while driving west of Guthrie.

P. F. McInroe, 21, of Levelland, who apparently died instantly in the early morning hours of Thursday, Jan. 20 when the car he was driving overturned six miles south of Littlefield on the Levelland highway.

Claude Gordon, 52, Levelland carpenter, was fatally injured Sunday night, Jan. 23, when the car in which he was riding crashed into the center section of the East Broadway underpass here.

Car, Train Collide

James Frank Smith, 57, of Ralls, died Jan. 28 of injuries received in a collision of his car and a freight train at a railroad crossing in Ralls.

Willie Joe Hendrix, 18, of Sundown, died in a Levelland hospital of injuries suffered in a car mishap on the Levelland-Sundown highway Saturday, Jan. 8. The car, driven by a companion, overturned several times on a curve about eight miles southwest of Levelland.

Fred T. Stricklin, 30, of 1212 B Fifteenth, Lubbock, was killed in the early morning hours of Monday, Jan. 10 when the car he was driving overturned after skidding on icy pavement about two miles south of Woodrow on the Lubbock-Tahoka highway.

Although not in this area, two additional automobile accidents took the lives of two other South Plains residents.

Mrs. Mozelle Thompson, 29, of Sudan, died Sunday, Jan. 9, at Melrose, N. M., from injuries received in an automobile accident near there.

Mrs. J. B. Everett, 52, of Seminole, died in a Cisco hospital Wednesday, Jan. 12 from injuries received in an automobile accident near there the previous day.

Ginnings From County's '48 Cotton Crop Reach 125,878 Bales

Cotton ginnings in Lubbock county from the 1948 crop had totaled 125,878 running bales on Jan. 16, compared with 177,893 to corresponding date from the 1947 crop, it was announced Monday by Andy King, crop statistician.

The ginnings, representing what is believed to be virtually a complete report, show far in excess of early and mid-season estimates.

Andrews Opens New Producer

A second producer from the Shafter Lake-Ellenburger in North-Central Andrews county has been definitely proven by a drillstem test at Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1-F University, flanker to the discovery of the deep zone in that pool.

The examination was at 11,737-62 feet, with the tool open three hours and 45 minutes. Gas reached the surface in 23 minutes and flowed at the rate of 3,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 7,770 feet of clean oil.

The venture was waiting on orders, undecided as whether to drill ahead a few feet or attempt completion from the current depth.

It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 13, block 13, University survey.

Drillstem Test Due

H. L. Hunt was preparing to run a drillstem test to investigate slight shows logged in cores at his No. 1-B Clayton & Johnson slated 8,000-foot wildcat in northwest Borden county, 11 miles northwest of the town of Gail.

A core at 5,730-38 feet recovered a show of oil. Operator then cored from 5,739 feet to 5,749 feet, recovering one foot of sandy gray shale, one foot of shaley gray sand and six feet of fine gray sand with good porosity and odor.

The examination was to take place at the bottom of the core hole.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 22, block 31 T-6-N, TP survey, about 16 miles north of Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, recently completed as a pumping discovery.

Magnolia Petroleum company was making new hole with its No. 1 Hicks, southeast Gaines county wildcat projected to the Ellenburger, 14 miles southwest of the town of Lamesa.

This prospector, 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving CSL survey, was under 12,034 feet, penetrating hard lime and chert.

Denver Producing & Refining company was drilling ahead with its No. 17-C Elliott, probable Devonian discovery in the Wasson-5100 field of southwest Yokum county.

Last report had it below 10,859 feet in hard grey lime

Location is 1,312 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

LUBBOCK LAWYER FILES REPORT

Five Years' Work On Chinese Cafeman's Estate Nears End

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche Staff Writer

At long last, it would appear, the estate of the late Tom Sheck Nom, may be closed.

Tom Sheck Nom, a Chinese who operated Silver Grill cafe, then at 1111 Ave. J, died here near the Christmastime of 1943.

His family, a wife and three children, lived in China. Because of the Chinese exclusion act, they never were allowed to enter this country.

Difficulties Piled Up

After Nom's death, one difficulty has piled upon another in efforts to convey to the widow her share of the estate and to protect the interests of the minor children.

George Berry, of the Lubbock law firm of Berry and Ball, has informed County Judge Walter Davies that all requisites to final proof required now can be met.

He told newsmen that the widow should soon receive a check that, if she were to make the mistake of converting into Chinese currency, "Might require a wheelbarrow to haul it away."

Native of America

Nom was born in this country and educated in the public schools system. He returned to China and, at about the age of 16, married. Three children were born. Economic opportunities were more favorable in the States, however, so Nom returned and set himself up in the restaurant business. He'd send money to his family, but could see his wife and children only by returning to China on visits.

But China, always heaving under the impact of economic or civil strife, became almost untenable to Nom's family. It became worse after Nom's death.

Mrs. Nom wrote, after probate proceedings had been instituted and she had been located after reams of correspondence, that so destitute were some of the population near her Canton home that seed potatoes she and the children had planted in their garden had been dug up by others for food.

J. E. Johnson was appointed temporary administrator of Nom's estate, which amounted, after payment of claims totaling about $2,500, to approximately $6,400. That residue included money, a diamond, bonds and, after four years of gathering proof, money from an insurance policy.

In efforts to rush to the widow what could be released for the immediate relief of herself and her children, $500 was mailed to her by the administrator.

This, it later was learned here, was converted into approximately 900,000 Chinese dollars. A Chinese professor in the university wanted approximately a third of it, a member of the police department there approximately 40 per cent in return for their routine assistance in making satisfactory proof of the widow's identity.

Finally Berry, as attorney for the estate, enlisted aid of persons here and in Hong Kong—Dr. Ling of Texas Tech, Joe Ma, a Chinese student living here, and persons in Denver university. He was able to get receipts marked not only by the widow's signature, but by her right thumb print.

So, Johnson was able to file

TECH-T.C.U. GAMES

Football 'Naturals'

THE announcement of the resumption of football rivalry between Texas Technological college and Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, in 1950 and 1951 undoubtedly was received with enthusiasm by friends of the schools and gridiron followers throughout West Texas.

The rivalry is a "natural" if ever there was one. No vision is involved in the prediction that tickets will be precious to the games in Fort Worth in 1950 and in Lubbock in 1951. And it is an odds-on assumption that the contests will be worth going far to see.

The scheduling of the contests also supplies further evidence of Fort Worth's often-proven friendship for Lubbock and West Texas. Among the major cities of Texas, "Cowtown" has been the most loyal and vigorous champion of Lubbock, Texas Tech and this whole area.

The renewed rivalry will cement further the already strong bonds of friendship between two communities and two great schools. The only limit to that friendship, from the Lubbock and Tech standpoint will be the determination to do everything sportsmanship will allow to add a couple of T.C.U. football hides to Tech's collection of trophies.

Dwindling Oil Reserves

THE recent report that U. S. petroleum production exceeded demand last year naturally should cheer users of gasoline and oil. The probability of shortages presumably has been eased, for awhile at least.

But one aspect of the report was disturbing when considered from the long range viewpoint despite the reassurances it may offer as to adequate supplies now and during the next few years.

The disturbing feature in the figures was the statement that, while production during the year exceeded two billion barrels, newly discovered underground reserves were increased by only 1.3 billions. Usage thus exceeded newly proved reserves by more than 700,000,000 barrels. During practically all other years of the past, discoveries have more than offset the oil produced and used. Known reserves have been larger at the end of most years than at the beginning.

This trend was reversed last year, and by a substantial margin. The record is all the more disturbing when considered that more tests in quest of new supplies were drilled than during any previous years.

But prospects do not offer cause for panic. Known underground reserves still exceed 27 billion barrels—enough for 13 years at present rates of consumption if no more oil should be found and without improved efficiency in the use of the fuel available. We also have gigantic shale oil reserves—enough for 1,000 years, some experts say—which could and would be used if necessity should compel. Then, too, we undoubtedly will supplement domestic oil well supplies by increasing importations.

The long range outlook, therefore, is far from bad. But 1948 records indicate strongly that the time is drawing closer when Uncle Sam will be compelled to look to sources other than his own wells for adequate supplies of gasoline and oil.

A California woman 67 years old was painfully injured while playing baseball the other day. It would probably be advisable for women baseball players to retire at age 65.

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: When sixteen-year-old Merry Carson learns that her dashing father, Kin, has asked her selfish mother, Susan, for a divorce, her whole world turns topsy-turvy. Kin leaves home and Susan goes to pieces. Aunt Jane comes to look after things. The doctor advises a change for Susan and they take her to St. Vincent's, an inland resort. There Susan buys a house from Carter Bagby. Carter treats her gallantly and Susan begins to perk up. Merry goes to spend a couple of days with her father in their home town. She sees Tip Kennedy again but tells him she still doesn't believe in marriage, after what happened to her parents. Her father warns her not to let this influence her life.)

XVI

THE WAITER came then, and Kin dropped into light talk. When lunch was over he took her hand in his and suggested, "And now come along and see your birthday present. Tip helped me find it, and we both hope very much you'll like it."

Outside in the hot June sunshine, with the hotel doorman standing proudly beside it, was a jade-green convertible, its green paint shining, its khaki-colored top looking fresh and new, its chromium trim twinkling gaily.

Kin handed her the keys while Merry stood still, staring at the car, wide-eyed, breathless, unable to speak for a moment.

"Like it, chick?" asked Kin eagerly.

"Oh, Dad, it's beautiful, it's scrumptuous, it's frantic." She flung herself into his arms and clung to him, laughing and weeping for joy. And Kin, knowing the deep measure of her delight, laughed and put her into the car and got in beside her.

"First we'll get your driver's license. I know you drive well, because I know Andrew taught you. And tomorrow morning, if you like, you and I will drive to Jacksonville. I can get the plane there as easily as here, and it will be only 80 miles back to St. Vincent's for you. Okay?" he asked her.

"Okay? It's frantic!" she stammered radiantly . . .

THERE was no difficulty about the driver's license, as Kin had anticipated, and once the business had been attended to, Merry took the wheel and they rode out into the country and Kin, watching the sparkle in her eyes, the lovely flush of color on her cheeks, was happier about her than he had been since the bitter night when Susan had told her in such vitriolic terms, about the divorce.

They stopped at last on a high bluff above the river, beneath the shade of a friendly pine, and Ken smoked for a little silently before he said gravely, "Merry, I am going to be married in August."

Merry felt as though she had suddenly plunged headlong from a roseate cloud into the depths of a dark pit.

"Oh, Dad!" she whispered.

"You still resent the idea?"

"It's not that I resent it, Dad—it's just that I can't quite get used to it." Then she said huskily, "Well—that is, I hope you will be very happy, Dad."

"Thanks. I expect to be," Kin's voice sounded stiff, almost harsh. "She's quite a person, Merry. Some day I hope you will meet her because I know that when you do, you will grow fond of her."

Merry set her teeth hard against the savage protest that fought to get itself into words, and Kin, looking swiftly at her set, white face, sighed and his brows drew together in a frown of disappointment.

"Well, we won't go into that at any more," said Kin at last, and his voice sounded almost curt. "We'd better be getting back to town, I suppose."

JEFF LAYNE was waiting for them when they returned to the hotel, and he bore Kin off to attend to some business details that had to be settled, and Merry went on upstairs to her own room.

She dreaded the party the "gang" was having for her that night, but she dressed for it more carefully than she had ever dressed before. It was, somehow, desperately important that she should look her very prettiest.

Tip arrived promptly, and when the telephone rang announcing his arrival, Kin still had not returned. She left a note for him on his bureau and went down, slim and proud and very pretty in her cornflower blue frock with her shining hair swept up into a soft knot of curls at the top of her proudly held head.

The party was, of course, at Teen Tavern and the moment Merry arrived, she was surrounded by the old crowd.

She was relieved that no one seemed to want to discuss the break-up of her family, or was the least bit curious about how things were going; and when some of the group assured her happily that their families would be at St. Vincent's for the summer months, she welcomed the news with delight.

"I'm getting two weeks' vacation, Merry," Tip told her as they danced to the blaring music of the juke box. "Mind if I spend it at St. Vincent's?"

"Oh, do, Tip—spend it with us at Cielito Lindo!"

"Thanks, that's swell, Merry, but there's a bunch coming down and we've got a cottage together. But we'll see a lot of each other, if you don't mind."

"Mind, you goop? Don't you know how tickled plumb silly I'll be to see you?"

Tip's smile vanished and his arm tightened.

"Will you, Merry?" he asked softly.

"Of course, Tip. You are my very best friend—always."

Tip said dryly, "Well, I'm grateful for small favors, and I can always hope for larger ones."

And that she would not answer, lest somehow she say more than she dared say.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

SORRY to disappoint you, ladies and gentlemen.

After today you may consider me a ne'er-do-well and a bad influence on the children.

BRANDEIS

Because I hereby state and aver that most of the generally accepted maxims, adages, proverbs and what-have-you are the bunk.

For want of anything better to do I read over quite a few of them last night.

Take this one:

"Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Why should it?

Does it?

Do you know of a single case when going to bed and rising early has ever made anybody rich or wise?

Go to any night club. Go to the most expensive places in New York or Hollywood or any other city where there are expensive places.

Whom do you see at two o'clock in the morning?

The early go-to-bedders? The early risers?

No, they are in bed, fast asleep, getting healthy, wealthy and wise.

Or, perhaps, I had better say, they are in bed, fast asleep, period.

I don't say that those people who can afford to be suckers for night clubs got rich by staying up late and getting up late. But they certainly didn't get that way by going to bed early.

I have got my best ideas late at night. I have never yet been able to do any clear thinking early in the morning.

When we lived in Brookfield, my wife used to rave about the gorgeous sunrises that came over the Berkshire Hills.

Many a time she tried to get me up to admire them.

I still have to see my first Brookfield sunrise, and to tell you the honest truth, I don't think I have seen ten sunrises in all my life.

Sunsets, to me, are every bit as nice.

SO much for that one. I could go on for pages about it. But I haven't the space.

Here are a few more that I think are the bunk.

"First impressions are the most lasting." Ask any young blade who has fallen for a girl on "first impressions." Look at your divorce records.

"Light supper makes long life." I know an eighty-year-old man who makes a hog of himself every night before going to bed and who can lick me with one hand tied behind his back.

"There is honor among thieves." What a joke that one is, as any newspaperman knows. What is called "honor" among thieves is nothing but the fear of being taken for a ride.

"Silence is golden." I wonder whether Mr. Truman would agree with this one.

Etc., Etc., Etc.

Funny Business

GOP MAY BE ON SPOT

HST Is Boomed Again

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The most fascinating but least publicized story of the political planning and speculation which accompanied the recent inaugural festivities here is the undercurrent of sentiment for President Truman's renomination in 1952.

It is not too much to say that the movement is already under way, and that his closest friends are making no attempt to hinder it.

TUCKER

The proposal to rename the man who "didn't have a chance of election" as late as last September presupposes two happenings between now and 1952:

In the first place, the nation must be enjoying relatively the same prosperity that it has now. Secondly, he must have improved our foreign relations, if possible, and have kept us out of war.

AGE: Although Mr. Truman will be seventy-two years old four years hence, it is doubtful if his calendar age can be held against him, barring a severe sickness. He looks and acts like a man of sixty.

He emerged from five days of inaugural carnivals, sleeping less than five hours a night and attending half a dozen social or political affairs a day, fresher than many younger men.

In fact, some wondered if he did not deliberately set out to impress his healthy condition upon public and politicos. It reminded many of the late days of the 1944 campaign, when Franklin D. Roosevelt drove through a New York rainstorm in an open car to refute rumors that he would not live through his term, if reelected.

HOPEFULS: The frequent suggestion of "Truman for 1952" does not spring from the fact that the Democrats will have a shortage of hopefuls in that year. Indeed, Mr. Truman had to look around him only a few feet at his inauguration ceremony and at subsequent cocktail parties and dinners to drink a toast to them.

Vice-President Barkley is ruled out because he will be almost seventy-six, and it is known that he would like to retire at the end of his present stint.

But the man who took his old place as Majority Leader of the Senate, Scott W. Lucas, is regarded as a distinct possibility. He stuck by Mr. Truman in the pre-convention days when the Illinois boss, Jake Arvey, was yelling for Eisenhower.

Mr. Lucas is tall, handsome and able. He has a spot in which he could shine in the next four years. He hails from a key state. And in 1952 the upper Mississippi Valley may put in a claim that it is about time for the party's nominee to come from that area.

ASSET: The Democrats have one 1952 asset which they did not possess during the Roosevelt regime, when F.D.R. stood astride the party like such a Colossus that all other men seemed of minor mould. Despite his new prestige, Mr. Truman does not assume such proportions.

The newly elected batch of Governors of great states provides a presidential kindergarten, and they indicated during their inaugural visit here that they are boning up on their political p's and q's.

His advertising friends are already booming Chester Bowles of Connecticut. But he has rivals in Paul Dever of Massachusetts, Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Henry Schricker of Indiana and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

New York may again have several entries. There is talk that Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson may seek the governorship in 1950. If he should win he would be in the 1952 limelight. James A. Farley may reappear on the scene by the same political route.

ELIMINATED: Despite their dizzy state, the Republicans also talked 1952 as they prepared to pick up the pieces of their shattered party at the Omaha conference. Their backroom conversations were more interesting for the men they eliminated than for the possibilities they proposed.

It is generally agreed that Governor Thomas E. Dewey, whether he seeks another try or not, is out. The we-want-a-winner crowd figure that a man who could not come through in 1948 can never make the grade. Moreover, he won no friends among the big boys by the kind of campaign he conducted.

The same consideration applies to Governor Earl Warren of California, Mr. Dewey's running-mate. Senator Vandenberg has no ambition for the honor at his age.

ELIMINATION: Thus the elimination contest, ironically, boils down to the two GOPers who recently met in combat over the post of the Senate Policy committee—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. The so-called "liberals" are pushing the Bay Stater.

Mr. Taft's prospects depend on the ups and downs of the next four years. The fight on him, in the opinion of his friends, has strengthened him. He was depicted as far more open-minded and forward-looking on labor and welfare issues than some of his opponents. And his outstanding ability has never been questioned by his enemies.

DEFENSE: "Now that the budget figures for the 1950 fiscal year have been submitted to Congress by President Truman," writes R.F. of Chicago, "can you estimate the financial sacrifices which Moscow's declaration of the 'cold war' imposes on the American taxpayers?"

Answer: For the benefit of R.F. and many others asking this same question, I figure that Stalin is making us pay out approximately eighteen billion dollars a year—at least for 1950—that we could have saved if he had kept his pledges to cooperate in the postwar period.

Here are the detailed figures: Rearmament, $14.3 billion; Marshall Plan, $6.7 billion; German and Japanese occupation costs, $1 billion; financing of the proposed North American military alliance, $1 billion.

DEBT: Those amounts total $23 billion, but there should be deducted from that figure approximately $5 billion that would have been expended on the national defense establishment even in normal times. Perhaps another billion or $500,000,000 should be subtracted for German and Japanese occupation expenditures that would have been necessary in any event for a few years after the Axis surrender. But the Greek and Turkish outlay almost offset that amount.

It is interesting, also distressing, to speculate on what our domestic situation would be if the United States had not been forced into supporting and rearming the anti-Communist world.

Minus these financial drains, the federal budget would probably be about $23 billion a year. At that rate of expenditure, Congress could reduce all taxes at least 40 per cent and still have a surplus. Or it could cut them by about 25 per cent, and provide for paying off the public debt at the rate of $10 billion a year, making that mortgage fairly manageable within a decade.

Believe It Or Not - - By Robert Ripley

SOLONS SEEK NEW INVESTIGATION

Probe Of Insurance Firms Seen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — The 81st Congress is in an investigating mood.

This is largely because of the way big special interests operated about the 80th Republican Congress. President Truman told that story to the people in his campaign. The new Congress elected with him reflects the curiosity he aroused in the public about powerful business and financial institutions that are so influential in our economy and thus in the daily lives of the people and also, as the 80th Congress demonstrated, also influential in our politics.

STOKES

An investigation of lobbying activities consequently has been proposed, with President Truman's backing, by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.), as a starter, that will be very salutary.

Also salutary would be an investigation into the mammoth life insurance industry such as now proposed in a resolution jointly sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), and Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), chairmen, respectively, of House and Senate Judiciary committees. It would be a joint House-Senate inquiry conducted by a special committee of six, three from each Judiciary committee.

Of Public Interest

The insurance industry is very powerful because of its ramifications into our whole business and financial structure through its investment of billions in all sorts of enterprises. It has great resources at its control, and therefore great influence. Its money comes, in the first instance, from millions of policy-holders in premiums. Because of that, and because of its re-investment of that money elsewhere, the industry is of great public interest and, as the sponsors of the resolution of inquiry said in a joint statement, "detailed information concerning the operations of the industry is not only greatly lacking but apparently difficult to secure."

This powerful industry has been, in fact, almost sacrosanct. It has so many pressures available to stop prying eyes.

There has been no investigation of insurance since the T. N. E. C. inquiry, so-called, conducted back in 1939 and 1940 by a joint congressional committee headed by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.). It is high time for another look. It is a good idea every so often for the public to see how such powerful private institutions operate and whether further regulation is needed. For the money they use belongs to the public.

Regulation, among other things, is a subject of the proposed insurance inquiry. Insurance companies are under state regulation. When the Justice department brought an anti-trust suit some years ago against Southeastern Fire underwriters, the insurance companies got busy in Congress to get specific exemption from the anti-trust laws on grounds they were regulated by the states, and states only. The Supreme court, in a four-to-three decision, upheld the jurisdiction of the anti-trust laws over them. Subsequently, Congress passed a compromise bill that gave them a moratorium from anti-trust prosecution, which expired last June 30, to give states time to tighten up their laws and the companies an opportunity to correct any monopolistic practices that might exist.

Stronger Laws Urged

Senator O'Mahoney, who was largely instrumental in preventing complete permanent exemption from anti-trust laws, expresses the opinion now that state laws still are inadequate despite the congressional injunction to make them more effective.

One object of the proposed inquiry is to find out just how effective state regulation is in protecting the public and policy-holders in an industry that operates across state lines, and to discover whether monopolistic practices exist.

There are numerous other avenues of inquiry too numerous to list here, some relating to operations of their business, others going into broader matters of their influence in business, industry and finance generally, what sort of influence this is, and whether it is contrary to the public interest in any particular.

Senator McCarran, who was sponsor of the bill temporarily exempting insurance companies from the anti-trust laws and who says frankly that he is for state regulation only, explained the proposed investigation is not "condemnatory", but a "friendly" inquiry to get the facts. He said he has conferred frequently with the heads of big insurance companies in New York since the passage of his bill in the interest of getting them to impose effective regulations on themselves. Rep. Celler likewise said this is "no headline-hunting investigation," but would be conducted in a judicial manner, and he hoped for the co-operation of the insurance industry.

lines of section 17, block C-33, psl survey, was bottomed at 5,745 feet in lime, and was shutdown, waiting for orders.

A drillstem test was run to the current bottom. Recovery was reported by unofficial sources to have been mainly sulphur water. Those sources indicated that the section of the San Andres so far penetrated had developed only slight signs of oil and gas.

The venture is understood to be lower, geologically, than had been anticipated. Schlumberger and gamma ray surveys have been run. Interested operators are expecting the project to be abandoned and plugged in the near future.

speaker. This, said Smith, would give the speaker ample time in which to choose his committees.

Smith said he would confer with the Attorney General's office on preparation of a bill to put his idea in effect.

Make Vote Proposal

Rep. Don Lewis of Midlothian suggested that representatives vote for speaker by registered mail, sending their ballots to the Secretary of State the first week in December. The Secretary of State would notify the speaker-elect by the second week.

The nine new bills in the Senate today boosted the total introduced in the upper house to 157.

A bill by Senator John Bell of Cuero would modernize Texas' 1911 food and drug act. One by Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo would set top and bottom salaries for county officials and deputies.

A bill by Senator Pat Bullock of Colorado City would make prison escapes a felony — part of the prison system reform plan.

Senator Walter Tynan of San Antonio proposed remission of ad valorem taxes in Bexar, Wilson, Karnes and Goliad counties to the San Antonio river canal and conservancy district for two years.

Senator Fred Harris of Dallas introduced a bill to tighten up the state's licensing law for architects.

A bill by Senator Kyle Vick of Waco would permit the taking of certain rough fish, such as gar and carp, with seines. He would also permit use of fruit jars with funnel attached for catching minnows.

an annual and final account in the estate. That was in June of 1948. Soon afterward, however, he informed the court that closing of the estate necessarily would be delayed, inasmuch as it had been learned that Kuo Shing Nom, one of the sons, had died in April of 1945. The minor died intestate, without ever having married, and left no heirs except his mother, Betty Lauing Nom, and his two brothers, Kuo Chu Nom, about 18 and Kuo Guen Nom, about 14.

Converted To Cash

The petitioner said that, due to civil war conditions in China, that it was necessary that U. S. bonds and savings stamps be reduced to cash and forwarded to the widow as other funds had been sent, in care of the Hong Kong branch of the National City bank of New York, in Hong Kong, a British possession.

The purpose of sending the funds to Hong Kong was to provide for exchange in British currency, rather than Chinese, it was explained to newsmen.

The widow, the court was informed, is entitled to receive 14-24 of the net proceeds of the estate, the surviving sons 5-24 part each.

Guardian To Be Named

The court was asked for notice of filing of final account, and asked that an order be entered finding who the heirs of the late Nom are, and for the appointment of a guardian for the two minors. The court further was asked to order that all personal property on hand be reduced to cash and that the part which belongs to the minors be paid over to their guardian, the balance, after payment of expenses incident forwarded to the widow.

To further implement the final transfer of estate funds, an application was filed by Berry Saturday wherein K. N. Clapp seeks to be named guardian of the minors. Upon their majority, the minors would come into possession of their estates. Upon further orders of the court, some of the funds might be released earlier, as provided by law.

So, a check should be mailed to the Hong Kong bank within a brief time.

Then Berry—and Johnson—admittedly will be entitled to take a deep breath.

Stalin Throws Personal Weight Behind New Soviet Peace Drive

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Joe Stalin has now thrown his personal weight into the peace offensive by which Russian Communism has been trying for the past three weeks to get the western world to relax its defenses.

The great surge of unity among the anti-Communist nations, climaxed by the formation of a European council and the plans for an Atlantic alliance, apparently has given the Kremlin the worst case of jitters it has experienced since it organized the Cominform to fight the Marshall plan.

Red Predictions Wrong

For three years the Kremlin has been telling its economists to predict the downfall of capitalism through depression in the United States. Stalin and his cohorts may have come to believe it themselves. But instead of western collapse the Moscow campaign produced western resurgency. To fight the cold war, production in practically every country has been shoved above all previous peacetime records. Greater economic and political cooperation has been achieved than ever before in history. There is a growing determination that Communist imperialism shall be stopped cold; by economic means if possible, but by adequate military strength if Russia tries to use force after infiltration fails.

Marshall plan pressure became so great that Russia is working frantically to organize eastern Europe's economy against its blandishments.

It became apparent that Scandinavia was not neutral in fact and would not remain entirely neutral even for the record, and that the Atlantic alliance would move to Russia's very doorstep. It would say to Russia "cross that line and we fight."

Molotov and Stalin suddenly became very solicitous about the United Nations, which they have done so much to scuttle, and whose charter specifically envisions defense organizations such as the alliance. They issued a long statement saying it was all an Anglo-American scheme to dominate the world by force. And they were so right. That's just the object. Police force, which Russia prevented the UN from establishing.

Next the Kremlin jumped on Norway with a definite threat to make it tough for anyone on Russia's border who joins the alliance. Norway is expected to reply that her "ideas are purely defensive, but "don't tread on me."

Stalin Files Answer

Then an American correspondent asked Stalin to answer some questions. He jumped at the chance for more propaganda designed to convince people that all the stir-up in the west is unnecessary, that Lenin-Stalinism doesn't really mean what it says about conquering the world: That Russia wants peace.

There isn't a line of concrete evidence in any of the answers. Not an idea that he hasn't expressed before. Nor has there been a single Russian action to relieve the pressure which causes all the counter-pressure.

Stalin did drop the false front that currency is the basis of all the trouble over Berlin and admit that the blockade there is designed to force the Allies to halt their plans for a western German government.

Defense Plea Filed In Suspension Case

A jurisdictional plea and an original answer were filed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court Monday afternoon by Lubbock Civil Service commission and The City of Lubbock, defendants in a suit filed Jan. 8 by J. W. Pruitt and Woodrow Quinn, former Lubbock firemen.

Pruitt and Quinn sought in their suit to appeal from the civil service commission's affirmal of Fire Chief W. E. Twitty's suspension of them in a Dec. 23 letter for violation of a "special order" of the city commission.

Attended Convention

The men, it was found by the civil service commission, left Lubbock Sept. 9 for a week's attendance of a fire fighters convention in Houston, over express denial of leave by the city commission.

Monday's filings were signed by Vaughn E. Wilson, city attorney who represented the civil service commission at its Dec. 28 review of the case at request of plaintiffs.

The answer said that the provision under which the plaintiffs are attempting to appeal has been "judicially determined to be unconstitutional."

Attorney Speaks At Title Group Luncheon

Durwood H. Bradley, Lubbock attorney, addressed a luncheon session of a regional meeting of the Texas Title association Monday at the Hilton hotel.

Attendance at the one-day meeting was cut by weather conditions, particularly to the south and east. All of West Texas from San Angelo north was involved, but a group from San Angelo advised they would be unable to reach here on account of the weather.

C. R. Embry of Waco, president of the state association, and Frank Boushall of Kerrville, executive secretary, arrived in time for the morning session, but V. C. McNamee of Fort Worth, state vice president, arrived only in time for the luncheon.

A group from the Lubbock Real Estate board extended formal greetings to the visitors. A demonstration of the use of photography by abstractors in West Texas was one of the meeting highlights, along with discussion of other phases of abstracting and title insurance business.

Charles Adams, jr., regional vice president of the association, and Geo. W. Brewer, another Lubbock abstractor, were official hosts.
