MISS HURST AND BUCKLER RETURN HOME

HUNT, July 22.—Summer camp days at Waldemar ended and week-end for Jacqueline Hurst and Ann Buckler, who returned home on Saturday following the final banquet on Friday evening. They had been spending a six-week vacation at the summer camp.

At the banquet more than 500 were given to campers for their achievement in camp activities. All awards went to the girls. The girls for having accumulated sufficient points in the camp, took. For Jacqueline Hurst and Ann Buckler, it was a first. They had been spending a six-week vacation at the summer camp.

They also won prizes for their back riding and in the field. These girls attended the Waldemar and rifle banquet on Wednesday evening of the last week and they received the awards for their achievement in camp activities.

Miss Una Jo Coffee, who was given the sharpshooting award, was awarded by the National Rifle Association, which Waldemar is a member of, for the position of "best" among girls' camps in this county.

COUPLE WILL MAKE HOME IN ALASKA SOON

During the early part of June, Miss Edna Mae Bratton, junior high school home economics teacher for four years, was married to Howard M. Cameron of Madison, Wisconsin. The marriage was solemnized in the Trinity Methodist church at Denver, Colorado.

From Denver Mr. and Mrs. Cameron visited in Kansas City, Missouri, Madison, Wisconsin, Chicago, New York City, Niagara Falls, and Washington, D. C. After a short visit with her people in Texas, they will attend the Indian school in Chemawa, Oregon, beginning July 18. From there they will sail from Seattle in August to assume their duties in the Alaskan Indian Territory where Mr. Cameron has been employed for the past three years.

Miss Bratton was recently appointed to a similar position. Mrs. Cameron received her bachelor's degree from Southwest Texas Teachers college and has done work on her masters degree in Colorado. Mr. Cameron received his masters degree from the University of Illinois and his Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will make their home in Kanakak, Alaska.

Time Has Come When Men Can Look Gay-Smart

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

Ladies, you can buy smarter and more colorful sports clothes for your husbands this summer. The new tricks in shirts, slacks and sandals will make you both take notice. Color is the big news. Men are going to wear more of it this summer than ever before, says the director of one of New York's leading men's sports wear shops. The newest shades are gray-green, blue, lagoon tan, red rust and natural beige.

This is also the first year when the European idea of shirt and slacks has been adopted by men in the East, though it formerly found favor in California. This summer's costumes for country wear and golf combine a shirt and slacks made of linen, hemstitch cotton or acetate, suiting in one of the new colors. (Some men like to contrast their shirts.)

Some men also like to wear one of the new summer muffs—a scarf of foulard or terry cloth—tucked inside the open neck of the shirt. The news in casual country coats is a colorful jacket of the cardigan type made of tropical acetate mixed with silk or gabardine in a soft neutral color. The 1938 sports shoes for men are a story in themselves. First come the slippers—a cross between a moccasin and a house shoe, inspired by the Swedish shoe and carried out in soft leathers. They are said to offer comfort in big cities and country smartness in the hills.

Then come the heavy-soled shoes which are a big fashion note this year. Among them are oxford sandals with thick cork soles and oxfords with half-inch rubber soles. The espadrille with its laced or canvas top and thick rope soles which prevent slipping on wet surfaces, is still listed as a big favorite for the season. Sailing clothes include slacks and shirts in faded blue denim. The smartest swimming trunks are machine-knit of wool and are reversible—one side being blue for instance, and the other gray. Shirts of cotton or flannel with a short-sleeved, knit tie shirt are the thing for tennis, badminton or squash.

DON'T BE IN A HURRY, SKUNKS DON'T RUN VERY FAST

HOODRIVER, Ore. (AP)—If a skunk started chasing you, you'd run like everything was on fire. Mrs. G. M. Dougherty's headlight picked up a skunk one night and the chase-in-the-dark for half a mile, keeping an eye on the animal. Top speed for the polecat was found to be 3 miles an hour.

FOR COOL SUMMER SLEEPING For cool sleeping on torrid summer nights are comfortable short flared pajamas of batiste or rayon. The necklines are low squared or V, the prints dainty flowered designs on white and pastel grounds.

Gifts were sent by Misses L. H. Buzbee, Glen Potts, J. H. Tucker, R. E. Mitchell, E. M. Dinsworth, Gordon Smith, Ora Wilcock, E. T. Clark, Onie Barnett, Swearer and Miss Alice Ford.

Mrs. Perry Everett Honored at Birthday Party in McLean

McLEAN, July 22.—An estimated crowd of over 200 people attended a birthday party and covered dish supper honoring the birthday of Mrs. Perry Everett, Tuesday evening.

The party was a complete surprise to Mrs. Everett, as her friends had kept the object of the affair a secret. It was planned to have the supper at the city park, but the shower changed the plans, and it was held at the ward school gymnasium, as no other building would hold the big crowd.

A long table loaded with food was placed in the center of the gym. In the center of the table was placed a 35-pound, three-tiered, nine-layer cake topped with the proper number of candles. Fried chicken, assorted sandwiches, salads, pies, cakes, iced tea, and ice cream, were stacked on the table.

A number of beautiful presents for Mrs. Everett were displayed at another table. Games were played preceding the supper.

Many people left before registration was thought of, but the following registered as they left: Messrs. and Mesdames J. S. Morse, H. W. Brooks, Clifford Allison, Bill Bentley, B. H. LEE O'DANIEL CANNOT VOTE IN ELECTION

By HARRELL E. LEE

AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—Adult Texans who have paid their poll tax or are exempt from its payment will say with ballots tomorrow whether a man who hasn't met the voting requirement is the leading contender for the high office of governor.

The non-voting candidate in the unprecedented large field of 12 is W. Lee O'Daniel, of Fort Worth, scarcely known until last month except as the master of ceremonies of a mountain music flour-selling radio program.

It appeared certain the vote in the first Democratic primary would exceed 1,000,000 for the third time in history. Many persons believed it would surpass the total of 1,071,372 two years ago, an all-time high.

Opposing O'Daniel were Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission and a member of the important State Railroad Commission, Attorney General William McGraw, Tom P. Hunter of Wichita Falls, runner-up in 1934 and 1936 and eight other Democrats who entered the campaign under the disadvantage of not having large statewide acquaintances.

The eight were Karl Crowley, who quit a good position under Postmaster General James A. Farley to make the race, P. D. Renfro, former mayor of Beaumont, State Representative Clarence E. Farmer of Fort Worth, James A. Ferguson of Belton, cousin of former Governor James E. Ferguson, S. T. Brodgon of Stephenville, Thomas Self of Crockett and Marvin P. McCoy and Joseph King of Houston.

F. L. Hawkins, 71, of Waxahachie will be renominated without opposition to a full six-year term on the Criminal Appeals court. He was the only statewide candidate to be so fortunate. The other 11 races had 51 entrants.

Runoff August 27
The Run-off primary will be held August 27.
Races in which run-offs seemed most likely were those for governor, attorney general, railroad commissioner, lieutenant governor, land commissioner and state superintendent.

The ballot-counting was expected to be slow. It may be late Sunday or Monday before the public will know who will make the run-off in the governor's race.

Every member of Texas' solidly Democratic delegation in the National House of Representatives filed for renomination, with 11 of the 21 drawing opposition. Among the eleven were Maury Maverick, San Antonio's fiery new dealer, Hattan W. Summers of Dallas, chairman of the House judiciary committee, and Morgan G. Sanders of Canton and

W. D. McFarlane of Graham, who had close races two months ago. Maverick again was backing the powerful San Antonio city organization, headed by Mayor C. K. Quinn. His opponent was Paul J. Kilgus, popular former assistant district attorney.

In the race against Summers were Thomas B. Love, leader of the host of Texas Democrats who would not support Alford E. Smith in the 1928 presidential election, and Leslie Jackson, hand-campaigning young Dallas attorney.

EVANGELIST SPEAKS ON FUTURE LIFE THURSDAY

"Every nation and tribe that has left any religious literature has held to a belief in a future life," declared Evangelist John W. Darby in his sermon Thursday night at the First Christian church. "The American Indian spoke of the Happy Hunting Ground. The Greeks spoke about the Fields of Elysium. The Christian speaks about Heaven."

"All of nature declares that there is a life beyond the grave, but the greatest proof of future life is the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Christ points the way to a happy future life. Man has the power of deciding how he wants to spend eternity."

A large crowd heard the sermon. Because of inclement weather the service was held indoors. Dr. Darby's subject for Friday night will be "What Lack I Yet." Sunday morning's subject is "Things That Make a Church Great" and Sunday night's subject is "Lives Greatest Question Answered."

The night services begin at 8 o'clock and are preceded by 15 minutes of organ music played by Ernest Jones. The morning services begin at 9:30 o'clock.

The number of men in gainful occupations in 1930 was three and a half times the number of women.

RUSSIA CALLS JAPAN'S BLUFF

By WADE WERNER

MOSCOW, July 22 (AP)—Soviet Russia made clear in plain words today she will move troops as she sees fit along her Far Eastern frontier, but if there is to be war over the matter Japan will have to start it. This, to foreign circles here, appeared unlikely.

The Russian government's sharp rejection of Japanese demands for withdrawal of troops in territory claimed by both nations, from the Soviet standpoint, simply called Tokyo's bluff.

The next move was left squarely up to Japan.

The Russian stand was set forth last night in a communique detailing Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff's reply to representations of the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Sigmitsu.

The disputed territory is near the junction of Siberia, Manchukuo and Japanese Korea, and of troop movements there the communique said:

"Soviet detachments in this region have no other purpose than defense of the status quo on our frontier. Unlike other countries, the Soviet Union maintains armies not for invasion, but exclusively for the defense of its own borders. The Japanese demand for withdrawal of the troops was rejected as 'unjustified and unacceptable,' since Russia regards the territory involved as Russian."

The communique said Litvinoff told the Japanese ambassador that although threats of armed force might be good diplomacy elsewhere, "such methods will not succeed in Moscow." (A Japanese spokesman in Tokyo said no threat in force was made, but that Sigmitsu proposed withdrawal of troops be preliminary to a general compromise.) Despite the rough language used by both sides during the present dispute, one of many over the past five years, foreign observers here were disinclined to predict war.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of an Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 101st Judicial District Court of Texas in and for Dallas County, on the 5th day of July, 1938, in the case of THE DALLAS JOINT STOCK LAND BANK OF DALLAS versus MARY J. PURVIS, ET AL, No. 31650-E, and to me as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I have levied upon this 7th day of July, 1938, and will between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., on the first Tuesday in August, A. D. 1938, it being the 2nd day of said month, at the Court House do. of Gray County, Texas, in the City of Pampa, Texas, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, all the right, title and interest which Mary J. Purvis, The Texas Company, a Delaware corporation, Texoma Natural Gas Company, Skelly Oil Company, Panhandle Royalties Corporation, Reece E. McGee, C. M. Humphreys, Prairie Pipe Line Company, Gulf Pipe Line Company, Gulf Production Company, Cities Service Gas Pipe Line Company, First National Bank of Amarillo, Lloyd L. Purvis, Gerlach Mercantile Company, Earne Mary Purvis, A. R. Sawyer, E. E. Reynolds, Amarillo National Bank, American State Bank & Trust Company, Minneapolis Moline Power Implement Company, J. E. Yates, Ben H. Ashe, Jr., Dr. N. Stuart White, Kathryn Stewart, Maude Craig, Cities Service Gas Company, a private corporation, Wm. T. Fraser, De Les Vicens, Frank Carter and W. E. Campbell, had on the 17th day of October, A. D. 1922, or at any time thereafter, or in and to the following described property, to-wit:

SITUATED IN GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS, and being:

All of the E-1/4 of Survey 132, Block 3, I. & G. N. R. Survey, Deed 1131, containing 320 acres.

All of Survey 151, Block B-2, H. & G. N. R. Co. Survey, Cert. 15/3225, containing 359-3/10 acres; All of Survey 152, Block B-2, H. & G. N. R. Co. Survey, containing 330 acres; and

Being the same land conveyed to Mary J. Purvis by H. P. Lovett, et al., by deed recorded in Vol. 19, page 427, Deed Records of Gray County, Texas;

SAID PROPERTY being levied upon as the property of said named persons and will be sold to satisfy a judgment in favor of THE DALLAS JOINT STOCK LAND BANK OF DALLAS against MARY J. PURVIS amounting to $12,278.80, together with 8 per cent interest thereon from NOVEMBER 7, 1935; and in favor of THE TEXAS COMPANY establishing its debt in the sum of $1,209.32 together with 8 per cent interest thereon from NOVEMBER 7, 1935; and a judgment in favor of FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PAMPA against MARY J. PURVIS amounting to $25,269.63 together with 7 per cent interest thereon from NOVEMBER 7, 1935; and all costs of court and the further costs of executing this writ;

SAID PROPERTY above described will be sold by me in the following ORDER:

1st tract: An undivided 1/4 of all oil, gas and other minerals under said Survey 152;

2nd tract: All of the E-1/4 of said Survey 132; ALL of said Survey 151; and ALL of said Survey 152; SAVE and EXCEPT all mineral interest therein, and likewise SUBJECT to a right of way of CITIES SERVICE GAS PIPE LINE COMPANY over the W-1/4 of said Survey 151; and the pipe line right of way owned by GULF PIPE LINE COMPANY and GULF PRODUCTION COMPANY over the E-1/4 of said Survey 132; (but if on said date of sale, said second tract is still within the control and jurisdiction of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, I will not sell said second tract, but, after selling said first tract, will pass over said second tract, and sell the third tract, as hereinafter set forth.)

THE FOLLOWING TRACTS will be sold in the following ORDER, each tract to be sold only in the event that the proceeds of the sale of the tracts theretofore sold have not satisfied the judgments in favor of The Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank of Dallas and The Texas Company:

3rd tract: The following undivided interest in oil, gas and other minerals under said Survey 152: 3/4ths interest under W-1/4 of SW-1/4; 3/4ths interest under W-20 acres of E-1/4 of NW-1/4; 4/64ths interest under W-20 acres of E-1/4 of NW-1/4; 4/64ths interest under W-20 acres of E-1/4 of SW-1/4; 4/64ths interest under W-33 acres of SE-1/4; 44/64ths interest under E-5 acres of W-1/4 of SE-1/4;

4,000 LISTEN TO THOMPSON AT OVERTON

MT. PLEASANT, July 22.—An "air-conditioned" political rally welcomed Ernest Thompson to Mt. Pleasant this morning. Friends of the candidate for governor, seeking to avoid the oppressive heat of the last few days, took Thompson into the air-cooled Martin theater here to address several hundred Titus county voters. Talks at Pittsburg and Mt. Vernon also were on Thompson's schedule before he reaches Greenville tonight to wind up his first primary drive with a speech from 8 to 9 p. m. Hunt county candidates are sharing the time of their final rally with him. Ellis Hardy, Greenville cotton buyer and Thompson supporter, will preside at the night rally. The candidate will be introduced by J. K. Brim, Sulphur Springs attorney. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will be serenaded by the Greenville municipal band at their hotel at 6 p. m. and will lead a "victory march" to the courthouse square where the rally will be held. Thursday night at Tyler Thompson talked to 5,000 people. At Overton in the afternoon he drew 4,000, largest crowd ever to hear a political speech in that city.

He talked also at Henderson, Arp and Kilgore. Everywhere in the rich East Texas oil field Thompson was greeted with cheers from the workers in that industry, who credit him with saving their jobs through wise conservation policies as Texas Railroad commissioner. It was a distinct pleasure, Thompson remarked, to be greeted so enthusiastically in a section, four years ago, he would have encouraged hisses instead of smiles. That was in the days when Thompson's courageous and eventually successful effort to stop "hot oil" was at the white heat of its most controversial stage.

The entire city council and the mayor of Overton, with a number of other supporters, met Thompson at Kilgore and conducted him to Overton. Gus Blankenship of Jacksonville, member of the state tender board; George Walters, Overton city attorney; and Jack Blalock, of Marshall and Houston, a former schoolmate and World war buddy, were among the speakers advocating Thompson's candidacy. At Tyler the rally was held in the baseball park, prior to an East Texas league game between Tyler and Jacksonville.

Col. T. N. Jones, pioneer jurist, and Ernest Goens, former state commander of the American Legion, spoke in praise of Thompson. The candidate talked briefly on his industrial expansion program, sticking to the issues he had outlined at the beginning except to mention that he had not been "two-faced" in any particular and to stress that the Ferguson Forum, Austin publication edited by "Farmer Jim," had not lauded Ernest Thompson in its columns. "It might be well for you to notice whose campaign workers have been circulating this paper the last day or two," Thompson commented.

'BADE' DIDRIKSON TO WED PUEBLO GRAPPLER

ST. LOUIS, July 22. (AP)—A golf course isn't exactly the most romantic spot in the world, as Mildred "Babe" Didrikson put it, but it was on a putting green at the Normandie club here that she announced her engagement yesterday to George Zaharias, the Pueblo, Colo., wrestler.

"We haven't agreed on the date," the famous Beaumont, Texas, woman athlete said. "We'll probably decide that when we make up our minds whether we go to Australia or Niagara Falls on our honeymoon."

George said he is holding out for Niagara Falls.

SEC ACCUSES UTILITY FIRM

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission, in a bill of complaint filed in the U. S. district court here today, charged the Associated Gas & Electric system with violation of the public utility holding company act of 1935 and the securities act of 1933.

The SEC action arose as a result of the system's efforts to extend the Associated Gas & Electric corporation 5 1/2 per cent convertible investment certificates which mature November 15.

Attorney for SEC sought a preliminary injunction against the utility company.

This is the first action of its kind since the 1935 holding company legislation was held constitutional by the supreme court in the Electric Bond & Share case.

The SEC complaint was divided into three parts:

1. It charged the utility system with violation of the 1935 holding company act, in that it did not ask the approval of the commission before it sought extension of the investment certificates. The company seeks to extend the certificates from 1 to 5 years.

2. The SEC further charged that the plan for extension of the certificates is, in effect, a plan for reorganization and must be filed with and approved by the commission. This, the complaint said, was not done by the Associated Gas & Electric company.

3. The third section of the complaint involves the securities act of 1933, charging the company with selling securities without registering them with the commission, as required by the act.

DALLAS, July 22. (AP)—J. M. Newell, 28, Fort Worth salesman who was abducted, robbed, and spent most of yesterday lashed to a tree in a thicket near Dallas, told officers here he believed his abductors were Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, fugitives from the Montague county jail.

He released himself about 6 p. m. yesterday, staggered to a highway, hailed a passing motorist, then telephoned University Park police from a nearby tavern.

Two men who he picked up in "Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, on Sunday, July 24.

The Golden Text is: "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth; unite my heart to fear thy name" (Psalms 86:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thy mercy is great above the heavens; and thy truth reacheth into the clouds" (Psalms 108:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Lulled by stupefying illusions, the world is asleep in the cradle of infancy, dreaming away the hours. Material sense does not unfold the facts of existence; but spiritual sense lifts human consciousness into eternal Truth" (Page 95).

9:30 a. m.—Sunday School.

International Sunday School Lesson

Text: Judges 7:4-7, 15-23
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The story of Gideon's army would seem to be almost without parallel in the history of military strife, though it has some striking parallels in the records of moral endeavor and triumph.
Napoleon is credited with the cynical remark that "God is on the side of the great battalions." That, in general, is the world's estimate—that might not only makes right, but that might makes for success and power. Napoleon might well have read to better advantage this story of Gideon's army; and our modern world, which trusts too implicitly in great battalions, might likewise take the story to heart.
Dominant in the story is the emphasis upon Gideon's trust in Jehovah. He was, first of all, a man of strong character and purpose, whose life was completely devoted to righteousness and the service of his people. He had the sense of a clear call to deliver Israel, and with this came the conviction that the deliverance could be achieved only by men whose spirit was similar to his own.
He did not want a great army of laggards and cowards. He realized that the strength of his army was in the spirit of those who went with him to a great task, so he took his army down to the water where thirsty men might drink. Some of them bent down upon their knees, taking plenty of time to drink. Others lapped up the water quickly.
It was these men of action and haste that Gideon selected and set by themselves, discarding those who had taken time to get down on their knees and drink. Clearly it came to Gideon that the 300 men he had chosen were sufficient to deliver Israel from the Midianites.
But Gideon had strategy as well as courage, as he had faith in the strength of a small army of determined men. He realized that, on the part of those who trusted in numbers, fear might be created by the impression of numbers. Accordingly, he hit upon the device of arming his 300 men with trumpets and lamps and pitchers.
The pitchers served to conceal the lamps, or torches, and at the given moment, Gideon commanded his men to blow the trumpets, to bring the lamps from the pitchers, and to break the pitchers, so that the Midianites had the impression that an enormous host had come against them.
The strategy worked exactly as Gideon had anticipated, and the Midianites broke in confusion. Gideon was not content simply with victory, however. He put the host completely to rout and effected his triumph.
It is a most inspiring story. The watchword, "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon," has found its counterpart in the watchword of a modern prophet, "God and one make a majority."

EVANGELIST SPEAKS BEFORE LIONS CLUB
"Ships That Pass in the Night" was the topic discussed by Dr. John W. Darby, evangelist at the First Christian church, in an address before Pampa Lions club members at their weekly luncheon in the Methodist church Thursday.
Musical entertainment was provided by Ernest Jones, soloist, accompanied at the piano by Mary Lynn Schofield.
Dr. Darby is a charter member of Tulsa, Okla., Lions club which was organized in 1914.
Yesterday's program was in charge of D. L. Parker. Telegrams were read from President Frank Culbertson, Dr. R. A. Webb, and R. E. Dunbar, who represented Pampa Lions at the Lions International convention in San Francisco this week.

HULL ASKS MEXICO TO PAY FOR SEIZED LANDS
WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—A request for international arbitration of the seizure of American farm lands by the Mexican government went to Mexico today from Secretary of State Hull.
Hull, in a strong note to the Mexican ambassador, Francisco Castillo Najera, termed expropriation with-out just compensation "confiscation." He invoked the inter-American treaty of arbitration signed here in 1929.
Involved are an estimated 1,000,000 acres of land, taken since 1927. The moderate-sized farms alone are valued by their owners at $10,132,388.
Although pressing for adequate, prompt payment for the agrarian holdings, the American note ignores the question of the American oil properties expropriated in March by Mexico.
Persons close to President Roosevelt said recently the United States would not press the claims of oil property owners. These persons contended that the holdings had been greatly overvalued at $150,000,000.
Secretary Hull's note acknowledged the Mexican government's right to expropriate property—provided it made full, immediate compensation. The United States exercised the same right, the note said, in acquiring land to be retired from farming, clearing slums, building power dams and preserving resources—but it paid for it.

FOR LUSH GARDENS
A new appliance for watering lawn and garden is made of a specially constructed canvas which allows water to seep through its porous surface thoroughly dampening the ground for a radius of an area of approximately four feet on each side over its entire length. It can be purchased in lengths of 18 and 30 feet, is inexpensive and durable, is closed at one end and attaches to the garden hose at the other end. It can be moved from one place to another without turning off the water, and is economical in that every bit of the water released soaks down into the soil.

FDR 3RD TERM DRIVE OPENED CRITICS AVER

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Harry Hopkins' assertion that 90 per cent of federal relief recipients favor the Roosevelt administration aroused today a Republican cry of "launching the Roosevelt third term movement."

The WPA administrator told reporters yesterday the reason for the relief workers' attitude was that "we're the only crowd that has anything constructive to offer."

John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, immediately called his remarks evidence of an effort by the Roosevelt administration to "perpetuate itself in power." Chairman Sheppard (D., Texas) of the senate campaign investigating committee said he would study the matter.

Meanwhile, it was learned Joseph B. Keenan, an assistant to the attorney general, had made cryptic references to third term possibilities during a speech at a Virginia political rally.

"There is much loose comment today concerning candidates for the presidency," said Keenan, one of the administration's political counselors.
Hopkins Ignores Question
"From time to time the question is asked, will so-and-so seek office or attempt to succeed himself? It seems to me that this is thinking in reverse. Individuals do not choose to be president of the United States. Presidents are chosen by the people."

Questions about a third term for Mr. Roosevelt were put to Hopkins at a press conference. He turned them aside.
Hamilton, however, asserted Hopkins was referring to the 1940 presidential race in his general statements about WPA voters.

"If Mr. Hopkins did not have in the back of his mind an intention to promote Mr. Roosevelt for a third term," Hamilton said, "why did he make such a statement?"

In view of this development reasons become clearer for the constant increase of the federal relief rolls—now reaching a new high record—and the failure of the Roosevelt administration to take steps to stimulate private industry.

"Obviously the Roosevelt administration is seeking to perpetuate itself in power through the use of relief funds, because as the President said in 1936, 'every message is a pay envelope, even if it is the truth, is a command to vote according to the will of the employer."

Retain their comfort and get new shoe service and appearance by having your shoes properly re-built at the . . .

Hopkins' comment on the way relief workers would vote was the second to come from a WPA official.

Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA chief, recently told a group of workers they should stand by their "friends."

In 1929 over 19 million families had yearly incomes of less than $2,500, and in 16 million families the income was less than $2,000.

"WHY I WOULD LIKE AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR"

We insure our lives and buildings, so why not insure our health against possible food contamination or spoilage? Therefore the first reason "Why I Would Like An Electric Refrigerator" is HEALTH INSURANCE.

The second reason is that I could save safely left-overs from time to time which could be made into nourishing, tasty main dishes or salads. I never have been able to do this with other refrigeration, as it is, the dogs and cats get the scraps. So I should like an Electric Refrigerator for ECONOMY.

A neat, reliable and clean mechanical "Servant in the House" would save me many steps, make me delicious frozen desserts and cooling drinks whenever I desired, so CONVENIENCE would be my third reason.

The fourth reason, "Why I Would Like An Electric Refrigerator" is that I would have assurance of all-around-the-year refrigeration. . . .

An Electric Refrigerator adds to home attractiveness, which is always very important. I too, I could give reasons of reasons. "Why I Would Like An Electric Refrigerator," because I've dreamt of having one since the power Co. wired our home "For Better Living Thru Electricity!"

A GOLD WATCH AND WORK

Retirement is an insult to a man who is still capable of doing his work and wants to do it. Retirement, intended as a reward, often turns out to be a punishment. Enforced idleness is seldom fun.

A brokerage firm in New York deftly removed the snag from the retirement the other day, and many firms might do their employees and themselves a considerable favor by following suit in appropriate cases.

The time had come to retire a man who had served the regulation period to make him eligible, but he had started with the firm as a boy, and now he was only 62—scarcely ready for the wheel-chair yet. He didn't want to stop working, and the firm didn't want to make him stop, but it did recognize its obligation to reward 50 years' service in some way.

So the man was put on a pension, and given a gold watch, and dined, and slapped on the back—and then informed that if he felt like coming down to work the next day he could, but if he didn't want to he didn't have to. At last reports the man was still coming down to work.

From here, that looks pretty sensible. The firm retains an asset, and the man's service is rewarded with a leisure extended as a privilege, instead of a penal term.

KEEP THE SHIPS AT SEA

American shipyards, long almost completely idle, are awakening to contribute a definite share in national recovery.

It seems impossible, but it is true that for 16 years not a single general-cargo ship has been built for foreign commerce in an American shipyard.

Tankers, yes. A few liners, yes. But the general-cargo freighter, which is the backbone of any merchant marine and an absolutely necessary naval auxiliary in time of war, has been neglected to an unbelievable extent.

Soon 33 ships will be under way, including the $15,750,000 successor to the Leviathan. They are the forerunners of a fleet of 500 ships within the next 10 years, to cost a billion and a quarter dollars.

Before that fleet hits the sea, however, every effort should be made to get going with a workable system of maritime labor. The incessant bickering between and among longshoremen and seamen ought to be reduced to a workable system before the fleet goes to sea, or else the United States may find itself self with a merchant fleet at last, but no way to sell it.

The time to begin working out the marine labor problem is now, before the ships are ready to head out to sea.

NATIONAL TRANSFUSION

To many who were born and brought up in this country, the priceless privilege of American citizenship is a commonplace. We don't think about it, we take little interest in politics, we exercise little of that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty.

But it is not so to the 2016 shining-eyed people who gathered at Gauga Lake near Cleveland the other day to receive diplomas certifying their new citizenship. They were foreign-born residents of the Cleveland neighborhood, and their pride in their new status shone in every face as the diplomas were presented. The enthusiasm, the evident devotion of the new citizens gave good assurance that no foreign propaganda, "once a Ruritanian, always a Ruritanian," is going to touch them.

America welcomes such new citizens. In them, American ideals, freshly taught and espoused anew, often have their brightest reincarnation.

For in Cleveland this process is not left to a hit-or-miss formality in a grubby courtroom. A Citizens' Bureau, headed by prominent citizens, offers constant advice and help to aliens in problems of naturalization. It teaches and leads, and makes of the Americanization process a dignified and beautiful thing.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Dr. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School at this stage leads the field of possible successors to the late Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo.

Frankfurter was not seriously considered for the vacancies which were filled by Senator Hugo Black and Solicitor General Stanley Reed. The fact that there were two Jews on the court, Brandeis and Cardozo had to be taken into account.

With Cardozo gone, Roosevelt still wants Frankfurter on the court, Cardozo, everywhere respected as a scholar, fell heir to the Supreme Court seat of Oliver Wendell Holmes, which has become traditionally a scholar's seat. Frankfurter's appointment presumably would not be unpopular, since he led the list in the American Institute of Public Opinion's poll of lawyers for the Supreme Court preference. John W. Davis, the Morgan lawyer, ran second.

Tex's Topics

Flying men say Texas is the grandest state in the country to fly over—there are so many safe places in which to land a ship. Its magnificent distances beckon the flying man on, make the airplane an adjunct of growing importance in the scheme of things. . . . Perhaps it wasn't just a happenstance that three Texans of notable achievements in the aviation world flashed across the screen of events within the last ten days.

Two of them are very much alive and the third, although dead, lives on in the hearts of his flying brothers. . . . Howard Hughes, native of Houston, went around the world faster than any human ever had before, flying the last whisper in modern airplane design. Modestly he insisted that any army or navy pilot or any pilot flying a regular schedule on the airlines could have done as well. He received his largest tribute for Wiley Post, the lone wolf who turned the aviation world upside down with his exploits. Wiley Post died in action.

The third member of this trio of Texas fliers is Douglas Corrigan, whose spectacular flight to Ireland has the world by the ears. . . . Three Texas comrades of the skyways—Wiley Post, native of Texas, brought up in Taylor county; Howard Hughes, native of Houston; and now the most daring, unpredictable and sensational of the lot, Douglas Corrigan, native of Galveston. . . . It's in the blood; Texas, it seems, have been doing things since the days of the Alamo.

Comes news of another one of those former boy geniuses who grows up to be just another adult. Apparently enlightenment never strikes the same place twice. . . . A cat in Maine observed his 25th birthday recently. He attributed his longevity to going to bed early every night and shutting up. . . . Opposing group of mural painters are tiffing over employment in New York, and no murals are getting done. The painters have their backs to the wall. . . . According to a Miami professor, the earth will freeze solid in 71,799 years. That's a conservative estimate if this weather keeps up.

A British botanist arises to claim that he once tracked a flea from Scotland to Central Europe. Now let's see him start in Central Europe and find where political sanity went to. . . . Reading about the Howard Hughes flight has suggested at last what the toughest job in the world is: calling stations between Omsk and Yakutsk. . . . It's getting so a man can't have any fun any more. Brides and grooms have been forbidden to kiss in a Cleveland church, and officials in Cairo have clamped a ban on waiting at funerals. . . . Comes news of a man in Florida who had been postmaster for 80 years. There's a postmaster who's a postmaster. . . . The reason why so many Americans are making good will flights appears. A man has been discovered in Ohio who played a slide-trombone clear around the world. . . . And, his name isn't O'Daniel, either.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY With 24 absentee votes cast and many more to be received, Gray county was to have its share in the number of early votes cast for the Democratic primary.

L. W. Chadwick, pioneer Gray county and Pampa resident, completed the purchase of more than 2,000 acres of wheat land in the Kimball community, Hansford county, from A. C. Witt.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Gray county officials were seeking from the state highway commission an answer to the county's request for state designation of the Pampa-McLean road and its hard-surfacing by the state.

The crippled children's fund of the Pampa Kiwanis club was to be benefited by the presentation, in English, of the famous Passion play at the city hall.

was Premier Aberhart's social credit plan and the other was his press gag law.

Both these dangerous doctrines have now been held by the heels. The Canadian judicial council, highest tribunal outside England itself, has terminated a hearing and declared both statutes void. The council indignantly remarked that it deemed it unnecessary "to express any opinion to His Majesty on a subject which no longer is practical in any sense at all."

The press gag was similar to the one proposed for American newspapers by Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana. It would have compelled provincial newspapers to publish "as is" anything dictated to them by provincial officials, who doubled in the role of social credit officials. It would have made the press subject to the whim of officialdom, just as the Minton state-in this country would have made it the creature of politicians in search of power.—Allene Reporter-News.

All Over But The Shooting, Eh?

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—"Betcha" two to one I can name the next governor of Texas," said a newspaper correspondent in the capitol press room a few days before Saturday's primary.

"I'll take that bet," retorted another. "Who's your choice?" "Walter Woodul," replied the first, who was banking on Gov. James V. Allred resigning the executive post to take the bench as a federal judge.

Lieut.-Gov. Woodul has indicated willingness to fill in the unexpired term of Gov. Allred has not yet issued his statement he was undecided whether he would resign.

Capitol circles had taken the governor's resignation for granted. The governor's indecision, announced later, therefore indicated the impulsive taker of the short end of the wager might win after all.

The Board said per capita consumption of liquor and wine declined noticeably in June while beer gained somewhat over the previous hot month of May.

Liquor consumption dipped 33/100 of a gallon from 42/100 and wine slipped two pints down from 14/100. Some 200,000 gallons of liquor and 70,000 gallons of wine were sold last month.

The gallenage report on beer was 4,800,000 with consumption per person at nearly 4/5 of a gallon, a slight increase from May.

The figures were based on tax stamp sales and population estimates by the United States Census Bureau.

With the consumption figures, the board reported prorated June liquor revenues would add nearly $284,000 to the old age assistance fund, $85,000 to the available school fund and $30 to the general fund in the state treasury.

The prorations, the board said, would bring to nearly $11,000,000 the total contributed by alcohol beverage and liquor consumers to pensions, more than $3,300,000 to public schools and $330 to the general fund.

To date, since liquor again became legal in Texas, the state has netted revenues from that source of more than $14,000,000.

Many Texas Panhandle farms are taking on stream-lined appearance what with contour rows sweeping gracefully across slopes, the United States Soil Conservation Service reports.

Director H. H. Fennell said farmers in the wind erosion region, without upsetting their general programs, are farming on the contour, plowing contour, pasture, fence, constructing dams and stock water ponds, planting trees, re-arranging fields and doing other things designed to check erosion and increase their incomes.

Fennell said changes were noticeable especially in the conservation service's control areas located near Littlefield, Lamesa, Memphis, Hersford, Vega, Perryton, Stratford and Dalhart where five-year control programs are being worked out.

Such programs, he said, call for terracing, contour farming, growing cover crops, strip cropping in some areas and other practices aimed at halting wind and water erosion.

"On many farms," Fennell said, "field division fences are being relocated so they are on the contour. Such fences are found to make excellent guide lines for contour farming and help eliminate point rows on the fields."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

A very sincere and earnest person who was electioneering came to see the Old Timer. "I want you to vote for me," he said.

"I'm not promising to vote for anybody, I did that once—more than fifty years ago—and I'll never do it again. I was working on a ranch in Donkey county. One of the cowboys of the ranch was the favorite of all the boys, but not long before the election we found out that he was a scoundrel, including a horse thief—and there was nothing lower than a horse thief in those days. Well, I had given him my promise to vote for him."

About the time we found him out there was a cowboy from Virginia on the ranch and one day this young fellow said to me, "do you think I could be elected sheriff?" And the minute he asked me that I knew he was right.

He was elected even if old man Goodnight was against him—all though I had never thought of him before as a candidate for sheriff. So I urged him to run, and he did. Two or three days later I went to the other side of the place, without stopping for clothes or baggage. Poor Karloff really was interested in analyzing the gardener's face. He wanted to copy it in his make-up for his next picture.

Basil Rathbone tells me he had raised moments of his life when an excited woman accosted him at the preview of "David Copperfield" screaming "I hate you, I hate you." "I cringe sometimes," says Basil. "When I think that I'm one of the most despised of screen characters. I know just how Basil feels."

I don't suppose Misha Auer has gone to a party in three years without being expected to do the "monkey act" and leap from the chandeliers to the divan.

Strangers who know Glenda Farrell only by her wise-cracking character parts invariably open their conversation with the fastest slang they can muster. It's very embarrassing to Glenda, who doesn't know if she should speak their "slang" right back at them and put them at ease, or if they're trying to put her at ease by speaking her language—or at least her screen language, for there probably never was a lovelier, softer and better-mannered voice than Glenda's in private life.

I never cease being amused at the shocked expressions on the faces of new acquaintances when they discover that I eat my breakfast, wind my clock, get to the set on time, have my answers on schedule, and lead the same kind of life as any other human. I'm a zany on the screen and stage and they think I should be that way in real life.

But then—life is just full of little vagaries, and I don't seem to mind too much being a little "vague-ary" myself—Pardon me!

BULL INFURIATED BY OWN IMAGE OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—The next time Charles Brawner buys a new car he will be more careful where he parks it at his dairy farm. Recently he drove a shiny new car into the pasture and a huge bull wandered toward it, eyed it with curiosity.

Suddenly the bull saw its image in the polished surface of the car door. He charged and the door crumpled. Before Brawner could move the machine there were few smooth places left large enough to reflect images.

How's Your Health?

NEW SLANTS ON MARRIAGE

Of books on marriage and parenthood there is no shortage, but the authoritative works—those that the layman may profit—are comparatively few in number.

There is a general tendency for works dealing with sex, marriage and parenthood to be either excessively sentimental or grossly frank. "Plan For Marriage," recently published by Harper & Brothers, is a work against which neither of the above criticisms can be directed.

Under the editorship of Joseph Kirk Folsom, a number of experts in various specialties have contributed a series of meaty discussions.

Some of the chapter headings read: Finding a mate in modern society; the anatomy and physiology of reproduction; emotional maturity and the approach to marriage; and the medical basis of intelligent sexual practice.

All of the discussions are presented in a direct, simple frank style. A pleasant persuasiveness prevails through the book. There is a little pompousness. The book is not aggressively conservative nor aggressively radical.

Naturally the critical reader will find in this book much to question. For example, the chapter that deals with "The Married Woman and Work" is likely to prove provocative to many readers.

The writer of this section made a study of the families of 100 married women. Fifty of the women devoted all their time and energy to their homes, and the others combined home-making with outside jobs.

She reports that, which the employed women on the average did not differ in any significant degree from the full-time home makers in their health, their sexual or emotional adjustments, the extent or nature of their problems in relation to their children, nor in time spent with their children.

Without questioning the sincerity of the writer one is compelled to question her findings which appear to be so much at variance with common experience.

This work should be read for the stimulation it thought, which affords, rather than in the spirit of a subtle acceptance of the statements which the authors make.

Book A Day

By BRUCE CATTON

It is a strange and fantastic book that Upton Sinclair has written in "Our Lady" (Rodele Publications: $1.50). Some readers may find it irreverent, even sacrilegious yet that, obviously, was not Mr. Sinclair's intention, and I believe that he has handled his unusual story deftly enough to avoid giving offense.

Briefly, the story is this: The Virgin Mary reappears on earth today in Los Angeles. She meets and talks with a learned priest, who is able to speak the archaic Aramaic dialect spoken in Palestine 2,000 years ago, and he serves as her guide during her visit.

And although he explains everything to her, she does not recognize anything in modern American civilization as having the most remote connection with herself and her Son!

How the story ends is something you had best learn for yourself—if the thing interests you—by reading Mr. Sinclair's book to summarize it here would be, probably, to distort it and convey a wrong impression of the book.

I can only say that Mr. Sinclair has written an engrossing and urbane satire; a book which is more than a little in the vein of Anatole France, and which puts under the microscope what we are pleased to call our Christian civilization, and calmly remarks that there is precious little in it which the Founder of Christianity would recognize.

Americans Do Not Yearn For War-Like Splendor

By BRUCE CATTON

To a very considerable extent, President Roosevelt's disarmament plan, made under the guns of 63 men-of-war in San Francisco Bay, was overshadowed by news of the scorching round-the-world flight by Howard Hughes. This was one of the new occasions on which the presidential knack for good timing was defeated by the chance intervention of a more spectacular event.

But now that Hughes' magnificent flight has in turn been somewhat blurred by the daring of Douglas Corrigan, the California "wild Irishman" who as casually hopped over to Ireland as the fastest of 10-year-old ship of the Lindbergh vintage, it is worth while to turn back to the President's words at San Francisco.

He spoke in a strange place and in strange surroundings for a disarmament talk. The naval concentration spread out beneath him in San Francisco Bay was one of the greatest peace-time naval shows ever assembled.

Yet, generally speaking the United States paid no heed to this great demonstration of might at sea. When England crowned a king and the Royal Navy paraded at Spithead, a world watched and was duly impressed by the British fleet. Mussolini entertains Hitler and parades his submarine and destroyer fleet, and the publicity is tremendous.

Yet there was little notice of the mighty U. S. fleet that lay strung out in the San Francisco roadstead while its commander pleaded for disarmament.

The comparative public indifference in a country whose every schoolchild could have told you the name and commanding officer of every one of Dewey's ships 40 years ago is the best proof that the President is making no idle gesture when he says that the American people really wish they could be spending less on armaments than they do. We quite definitely are not militaristic, and our great fleet and other armaments result from the undoubted fact that we are faced, as the President said, "with a condition—a theory, and the condition is not of our choosing."

After the World War, when the United States had, in the water and under construction, the greatest fleet in the world, and certainly one of the strongest military machines, we gave them both up, disarming the army, and bob-tailing the fleet for the sake of disarmament as envisioned at the Washington conference.

Russia, in making its startling proposal a few years ago of complete disarmament, has made the most gallant gesture toward disarmament.

But not other country has actually given up so much as the United States, and it is well that the President keeps this principle in the forefront of national thought: "What others will do to decrease the arms burden, the United States will do, and do gladly."

TERRELL PROMISES TO CONTINUE GAS FIGHT

ATHENS, July 22.—After brief announcements at Kaufman, Kemp and Mabank, C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, pulled to a halt here long enough Thursday to promise that he will continue to fight for lower gas rates for Texas homes and factories as long as he is a member of the commission which regulates gas utility companies.

"I wrote and signed the first oil conservation bill," he told a "Re-elect Terrell" rally crowd here in mid-morning. "I created the precedent under which the railroad commission now speaks right up to the Interstate Commerce Commission on matters concerning Texas freight rates. But these two things, great aids though they have been to all the people of Texas, are not even near what I hope to do with our rate-reducing gas orders. "Texas will profit from lower gas rates. I intend, as chairman of your commission, to do what I can to reduce them. We already have entered orders reducing rates $2-000,000 a year in some 200 Texas towns and cities. And we only have started."

Judge Terrell was to push on at noon to Palestine where he will make a radio talk, then continue his campaigning to Jacksonville, Canton, Willis Point and Terrell in the evening. He will speak 30 minutes over a statewide radio hookup at Dallas Thursday night.

DOG SAVES LIVES OF 5 BY WAKING OWNER

SAN ANTONIO, July 22. (AP)—Master Sgt. J. B. (Jimmie) Brought, retired, his wife and their three children were saved from a flaming death early this morning by the persistence of a neighbor's eight-month old Boston Terrier, Judie. The Brought family was asleep in their home when a neighbor, Alton Hair, was awakened by his dog which kept jumping up on his bed and licking his face. Hair saw the Brought home enveloped in flames. He roused the family.

GOVERNMENT TO PLANT TREES IN SHELTERBELT

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—The government, encouraged by progress in its prairie states "shelterbelt" program, plans to plant trees this year in 6,000 miles of 15-foot-wide strips of land in six states. George Phillips, acting chief of the forest service's division of state forests, said this program would be carried on if small trees now growing in leased nurseries throughout the area "come through all right."

Phillips said that so far 84,000,000 trees have been set out in strips 115 feet wide in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The total length of these strips is approximately 7,000 miles.

Trees have been placed on 13,000 farms. Survival of plantings in the semi-arid sections ranges from 65 to 70 per cent, Phillips said. The highest tree death rate was in Kansas.

ICKES SAYS ROSENDAHL WAS 'WINED AND DINED'

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that Commander Charles E. Rosendahl had changed his mind about the military importance of helium after being "winced and dined" in Germany. Rosendahl, in charge of the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., said on his return to the United States that helium had no military value. In his book, "What About the Airships?" Ickes remarked to reporters, Rosendahl recounted the experience of dirigibles in the world war and added "small wonder then, at the high regard in which helium is held as a valuable military asset."

When You Go to the Polls Tomorrow REMEMBER THE FOLLOWING FACTS

- 1.—HIS PAST RECORD—Served his Country in the World War. Served his City as Mayor for four years. Served his State on the Railroad Commission for six years.
- 2.—He is fair to Organized Labor, is for collective bargaining, has always helped and sponsored the rights of labor.
- 3.—He is a friend of Farmer and Rancher, has granted emergency drought freight rates, lowering them in the Panhandle, thereby saving farmers and ranchers thousands of dollars. He is the only candidate with a sound and constructive farm program.
- 4.—He is a friend of the Independent Oil men. Since Thompson has been on the Railroad Commission our Panhandle Oil allowable has increased from 55,000 barrels per day to 83,000 barrels per day.

5.—He is a natural-born leader. Thompson's executive ability was recognized by President Roosevelt who appointed him his personal representative to the World Oil Conference in Paris, France.

6.—He HAS kept his promises. When running for Mayor of Amarillo he promised lower tax rates and cheaper gas. Both promises were kept, Amarillo having the cheapest gas rates of any city in the United States. Since being on the Railroad Commission he has reduced the gas rates in over one hundred cities in Texas.

7. He is a Panhandle Citizen

SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R BY CLARKE NEWLON

COPYRIGHT, 1938
NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
NIKKI JEROME, heroine: blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired STEVE MALLORY, hero, who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father, PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York jewel merchant.

Yesterday Nikki Jerome starts her trip by finding $100,000 in a strange traveling bag. Then she gets a surprise message from her father warning her not to antagonize Charles Dillon, who is on the train.

CHAPTER II

NIKKI spent a puzzled and unhappy night. The incident over the money and the note from her father mystified and frightened her. As the train got underway she sat down in bewilderment and reread the message.

The note warned her not to antagonize a man named Dillon. Apparently Dillon, then, was the man who had appeared in her stateroom. But what was his connection with her father, and what was he doing carrying around $100,000 in a dressing case? If the case had contained jewels, Nikki would have thought little of the incident, Peter Jerome was president and major owner of one of the country's largest retail jewelry concerns and a jewel expert recognized on two continents. But no business associate or friend of her father would be carrying a dressing case stuffed with money, as far as Nikki could know.

Her first reaction was, "I must tell Steve." And then she saw again the "extremely confidential" phrase and knew, miserably, that she couldn't tell Steve, that she couldn't tell anyone.

Later, in the lounge with Steve, he said:

"What is the matter, Nikki? You look like you'd just looked down from the top of the Empire State building."

"I'm sorry dear." She had to make some excuse and she knew Steve deserved a better one than she could give him. "I guess it's the train. The train and my head. Sometimes they bother me," Nikki smiled. "My head really is splitting," she finished.

Steve went back to the club car to spend the evening leafing through the train magazines. Nikki retired to her stateroom, desultorily taking off her clothes and wondering whether to wire her father. She decided not to wire.

If he could have told me more he would have in the first note, thought Nikki as she climbed into bed. And then she suddenly came to the conclusion that her father probably knew what he was doing and had good reason for it.

There's no point in my worrying myself into a state about it, she concluded. At least not until something else happens. And feeling better, she went to sleep.

Something else happened, and if it didn't add to Nikki's worries, it at least added to the whole puzzle. She had greeted Steve cheerily at breakfast.

"You were a darling not to be angry last night," she told him. "I'm feeling fine now." She was, and after five minutes' bright conversation decided she had atoned in Steve's eyes for her behavior of the night before and that all was well there. After they had eaten Steve had gone back to his stateroom while Nikki paused a moment to talk to the porter. She was just starting away when she looked down the corridor.

"Get ready," she told herself half aloud. "Here's that man again."

HE was followed by another, shorter and stockier, and obviously they were together. He was almost abreast of Nikki when he spoke.

"I would like to apologize for my intrusion of yesterday. I must have startled you," he said, and Nikki remembered his soft, smooth voice.

Illustration by E. H. GUNDER

"Take your hand off her arm!" Steve's voice was low, but it was gratingly harsh.

She simulated mild surprise.

"It was quite all right," she said, deciding swiftly that her safest course was to be casual.

"No one could blame you for being anxious about your—er—dressing case," Nikki said it as if carrying $100,000 in cash around was the most usual thing in the world to her.

"I would like to introduce myself," he continued. "My name is Wade Bancroft. This gentleman is Mr. Sarto, my business associate."

Mr. Sarto nodded jerkily and backed away until he could continue on up the passage.

"I would like to see more of you," said Bancroft, and Nikki thought, I wonder how he means that. If he doesn't quit saying "I would like" I'll scream and if he's Bancroft and the other man is Sarto, where is Dillon? Then she remembered her father's note and said:

"I am Nikki Jerome."

"Going to the coast?"

"No, just to the Lazy R Ranch in Wyoming."

Bancroft nodded pleasantly, announced that he hoped to see her again and Nikki continued on to her stateroom, her brain whirling.

The man with the dressing case full of money isn't Dillon, she thought, he is Bancroft. He is traveling with an "associate" who looks remarkably like a body-guard.

And now, summed up Nikki unhappily, I know about the money. Either Bancroft is Dillon or he has done something to Dillon and taken his money. If he's Dillon I've got to be nice to him on account of Dad, and if he isn't I'm liable to be murdered because I know about the money.

THAT afternoon she and Steve strolled back to the club car, but found every chair taken. The train had filled up at Chicago.

"Want to try the observation?" asked Steve. Nikki nodded and they had almost reached the far end when a man arose hastily. It was Bancroft.

"Miss Jerome," he observed. "Looking for a chair? I think Mr. Sarto was just leaving, weren't you Carl?" Sarto arose without a word.

becoming commonplace in China. At few years ago no respectable Chinese girl would have dared to appear in a bathing suit.

Western influence and the emphasis on health and athletics by the Chinese government's "New Life Movement" are rapidly changing the idea of China's young people.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 22. (AP)—The Harriman Institute for social research took the first steps today toward creating a lottery to fund a $100,000 trust fund for the Carrie Tingley hospital for crippled children at Hot Springs, N. M.

F. W. Denduhn, national director of the organization headed by Mrs. Oliver Harriman, New York philanthropist, said tickets would go on sale today for the lottery by which the group expects to raise $1,000,000 of funds.

The plan to establish a lottery at a 13-day fair next autumn, institute officials said, is not "a sidestep" toward any loophole in New Mexico statutes, but an action under a 55-year-old statutory provision authorizing "charity drawings at any fair within the state."

JONES POINTS TO PROMISES HE MADE GOOD

"I believe the resources of this section have only been touched on the surface," Congressman Marvin Jones stated in a radio address over Station KPND Thursday night. "Natural wealth is here in abundance," he said.

Congressman Jones told how he had seen written into law most of the planks he had in his platform the first time he ran for Congress. In this platform, he said, he advocated a tariff offset for agriculture, a separate credit structure for agriculture, low interest rates to encourage home ownership in the town and country, research into new uses for farm products, and encouragement of agriculture and manufacturing so the two could develop together.

Referring to the Farm Home act of which he was point author, he said that he believed this measure would encourage the ownership of individual farm homes. "As the tendency away from ownership has been growing for many years," he said, "it will of course take some time to cure the situation, but there is nothing more important than home ownership."

Congressman Jones called to mind conditions in the 1920's that led to the depression and commented on the tendency of people to forget "the things that bring trouble and hardship into their lives."

He described the numerous steps taken by the present administration to correct these conditions. Included among steps he told of were those to guarantee bank deposits, to abolish pyramid holding companies, to provide old-age pensions, to provide stock market regulation, and to develop rural electrification.

Congressman Jones' final address in his present radio series will be made over KPND at 8:30 p. m. tonight.

Walter Hagen Competing In Chicago Open

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Big time golf welcomed Walter Hagen back today and "The Hag" took it all in his colorful, old-time style.

"Sir Walter," after almost two years of globe-trotting, made his return to major competition in the $15,000 Chicago open over the three-lined, hazard strewn Olympia Field's courses. Once holder of practically every major golf title, Hagen was competing in a field of 359 players which included most of the nation's top-notchers and he discounted his chances of winning with the remarks he was "just here for a little fun."

Those who watched him tour the No. 1 course in a practice round, bar, however, gave him an excellent chance to win the title now held by Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn. Hagen, attracting the largest gallery of the day and keeping up a running fire of "chatter" to his playing partner, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, was long off the tees and putting well.

Boxer Suspended Following Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22 (AP)—It cost Eddie Simms, Cleveland, Ohio, heavyweight boxer, $727 and a six months suspension to fight Phil Eubaker, Linuba, Calif., fighter in Oakland July 13.

The fight was stopped in the seventh round by Referee Billy Eureka and declared "no contest." The California boxing commission launched an investigation.

Yesterday the commission suspended Simms for six months and fined him his purse, $727. Eubaker was exonerated.

The Depression Hits Cambodia's Ballet

THEY'RE seeking a balanced budget, too, in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, Far East protectorate of French Indo-China. And to whittle down expenses 63-year-old King Sisowath Monivong plans to "fire" half of his dancing-girl harem. He's going to reduce the retinue to a mere 100.

But the king's dancers won't go on relief. That's because Cambodia actually suffers a labor shortage, and secondly, and more important, because the king's ex-wives are members of a popular and highly-honored profession, the Cambodian ballet.

Cambodia is the home of the classical ballet. Archaeologists have pretty well established that the royal ballet, as depicted on crumbling walls of the Khmers, is a very ancient dance and was executed in the dim centuries with rare talent and emotion.

Today, training for the ballet is serious business in Cambodia. Fortunate little girls chosen for the royal troupe begin training at eight. But actually their mothers have been training them for many years earlier. Not that there is any money in the art. About 10 years ago some of them actually went on strike for better working conditions. But the ballet does lend prestige. The humblest dancer seeks this. A Cambodian native girl is shown here on an early stamp of Indo-China.

COUNTY COURT CLERK'S LOT BECOMES AN UNHAPPY ONE

HUTCHINSON, Kas. (AP)—The clerk of the county court probably is the unhappiest man in Reno county as the result of a recent census. It showed the population dropped from last year's 56,217 to 55,587.

The law says counties with less than 56,000 population can't pay their county court clerks as much money as those with more population.

Borger To Play Denver Outfit In Sunday Tilt

Lakersiders

Trinidad Century vs. Denver City

League stars

Enid, Okla., Oilers vs. Colorado

Springs Orioles

In Okla.'s contests, the Duncan, Okla., C-centers, runnersup last year, will play the Denver White-Horse team, and the Ogallala, Neb., Indians will meet Worland, Wyo.

The Borger, Texas, Hubers will play the Denver Deer Optical outfit Sunday in the final first round game. Two defeats are necessary for elimination.

TERM OF PARIS MAYOR EXTENDED FOR KING'S VISIT

PARIS (AP)—Rene Faillot's term as president of the municipal council, or mayor of Paris, has been extended seven days to assure King George of England a polished greeting on his state visit to France.

The new president should be elected June 27. But this year the British sovereign is coming to call at the city hall June 29. So the question arose: would a mayor, in office only two days, experience enough to meet a monarch?

The council decided to let Faillot, an old hand at such matters, do the job, and elect its new president July 4.

EDITORS KEEP MUM ON RACE FOR GOVERNOR

(By The Associated Press)

Few Texas editors have endorsed candidates in the hurry burly of the 12-man governor's fight which goes to the voters for decision tomorrow.

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, in a statement today, appeared to voice the consensus of editorial sanctums: "The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal for the first time in 14 years has not endorsed a gubernatorial candidate in the present campaign," said Guy. "We will wait for the voters to narrow down the large field and decide between the overlapping platforms, and then endorse the candidate whose platform to us offers the best possibilities to all of Texas."

Other important newspapers however, have endorsed Ernest O. Thompson, William McCraw and W. Lee O'Daniel.

On the basis of Rio Grande valley interests, Carl C. McGee, editor-in-chief of the Harlingen Valley Morning Star, the Brownsville Herald and the McAllen Monitor, has come out for the Fort Worth flour broker political flash.

"It looks as though W. Lee O'Daniel will be the high man in the run-off, some are even claiming no run-off will be necessary," said McGee. "The valley will need help from the governor. Let's give O'Daniel a vote which will gain his cooperation and good will in the solving of our valley problems."

O'Daniel said yesterday he didn't know how many newspapers had endorsed him but he thought there were many.

The important Dallas Times-Herald has championed William McCraw throughout the campaign. Three Texas newspapers of the Scripps-Howard chain, the Houston Press, the Fort Worth Press and the El Paso Herald-Post also have formally endorsed the attorney general for the governorship.

"McCraw has a progressive, liberal program," declared the Houston Post. "He has the brain to conceive and the experience to guide, and, most important, the courage to fight, the warmth of personality to persuade the ability to get things done that will put his ideas into effect."

McCraw Endorsed.

The Paris News, edited by A. G. Pat Mayne, yesterday reaffirmed the endorsement of McCraw as an experienced public servant. "As district attorney of Dallas county, as attorney general of the state of Texas, he has been able and efficient. The News believes he would be equally able and efficient as governor."

Staunchest of McCraw's editorial supporters have been fiery Longview Publisher Carl Estes, who yesterday challenged Governor Allred to a radio duel.

Ernest Thompson's candidacy has received the stamp of formal approval from the influential Fort Worth Star-Telegram, also from the Amarillo Globe-News, edited in Thompson's home city.

"Thompson has an excellent public and private record," declared the Globe-News, published by Gene Howe and edited by John McCarty.

"Every step in his climb upward has been one which he could be proud of from the fact he sold newspapers on the streets of Amarillo until today. He is recognized as the most able and conservative candidate in the governor's race. His program and platform have drawn unstinted praise all over Texas."

The Corpus Christi Caller-Times, published in the rapidly developing gulf coast city, supporting Thompson, said: "His platform is too well known to need further elaboration. It is simple, clear, direct and sensible. But it would mean nothing as any platform means nothing—if its genuineness were not guaranteed by the well known and proved character of the man who stands upon it."

Neither the Houston Chronicle nor the Houston Post has endorsed candidates. Like the Dallas Morning News, these newspapers have discussed the issues of the campaign and urged voters to make their choice at the polls.

Menow Ready To Beat Stagehand

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Menow, conqueror of Sea Biscuit and War Admiral, is ready for his attempt to turn back the mighty Stagehand in the $30,000 added classic stake at Arlington Park tomorrow.

The race, most important of America's mid-summer specials for three year olds, is at a mile and a quarter and probably will draw 40,000 to 50,000 spectators.

Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., owner of Menow, said the Kentucky colt never was better, that for the first time this year his legs were sound, and that he was a much improved horse when compared with his Kentucky Derby performance.

The Little Corporal of the turf, Earl Sande, is mapping campaign plans for victory for either of his pair, Stagehand or The Chief, just

PAMPANS RAVE... ABOUT

A NEW PICTURE!

EVELYN TODD, LIBRARIAN:
Marvelous picture, with strong character acting portrayed. Kept me at high tension throughout the picture.

BROWNWOOD EMERSON:
A down-to-earth story, rich in heart-appeal, wholesome and inspiring. Claude Rains and Jackie Cooper, Fay Bainter and Bonita Granville excellent as principals in cast of the picturization of Lloyd Douglas' famous novel.

MRS. G. O. MILLAN:
Whatever our faith or creed, it's life we must live. We see it lived in "WHITE BANNERS."

MRS. HOLLIS KEYS:
A very unusual picture and very interesting.

REV. JOS. WONDERLY:
To me the picture was wholesome, with all that the word would imply in the way of real entertainment and decency.

MRS. F. E. LEECH:
A most excellent portrayal of human characteristics—the building up of a character through faith and sacrifice and love. Everyone touched by a life willing to make this sacrifice is helped and strengthened for real living. Many people may say "overdrawn" but such building of lives goes on every day in many instances. The one who sacrifices often is made happiest. Thanks for asking me.

Jaycees Eliminated For City Softball Playoff

A six-run rally in the last half of the seventh fell one short of tying the score and the Jaycees lost their last chance of a place in the City Softball league playoff last night when they dropped a 12 to 11 game to the Mack & Paul Barbers. Cities Service won a slugfest from the league-leading Danciger outfit, 13 to 11, in an Industrial league game that meant nothing to the standing.

Only the Supply Boys have a chance to horn in on the playoff and the best they can do is tie the barbers for fourth place. Before the supplymen can do that, however, they will have to take two games from the league-leading Diamond Shop. The two teams will get together at 9:30 o'clock tonight at Recreation park. A win for the Jewelers will make the second game unnecessary while a Supply Boy victory will necessitate the two meeting tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock for another scheduled game. King and Cities Service will meet in the 8:15 battle tonight.

The Jaycees scored six runs and had two men on base in the last half of the seventh when the barbers made the third out to win the game. It was a see-saw encounter with first one and then the other team out in front. The barbers took a commanding lead in the sixth but almost lost it.

Burleson and Brown divided the hurling assignment for the Jaycees with Hall behind the plate. Frock and McWright was the winning combination.

Danciger and Cities Service were in a stick-wielding mood as their batters hit everything that came up to the plate. Chism went the route of the winners with Morgan behind the plate. Patrick and Parkinson was the losing battery.

Going into the last night of play before the playoff beginning Monday night, the Diamond Shop is in first place, Gulf-Cooper of Skellytown on the second rung, Gray County Creamery in third place and Mack & Paul Barbers in fourth.

Three games are in order tonight, the 6 o'clock tussle between the Christians and Gray County Creamery, the first night game between King and Cities Service and the nightcap between the Supply Boys and the Diamond Shop.

Detroit Pitching Gives Cochrane Dull Headache

HARTNETT HAD LOST HOPE OF MANAGING MR. PHIL'S CUBS

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—Gabby Hartnett went to work today on a job he had lost hope of getting—manager of Chicago's Cubs.

Steadily for years—until late yesterday when he announced Charlie Grimm's outright release—Owner Phil K. Wrigley had said his next manager would not be chosen from the Cub roster; that none of the players would be elevated from the rank.

Wrigley even had asserted a willingness to release the 37-year-old Charles Leo when the veteran catcher's name was mentioned prominently for manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds.

But Gabby, Wrigley now says, is the man "who could do the most for the club." The owner of the Cubs added that he had lost a lot of sleep over his athletes' misfortunes this year.

Wrigley said Grimm "has done a great job" but that a change would be "best for the organization." Grimm will be paid until his contract expires December 31.

Somewhat downcast, the jovial former first baseman left for his Missouri farm and hoped to make some connection with another major league club.

He succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager August 2, 1932 and piloted the Cubs to pennants that year and in 1935. His only comment on his release was a brief "that's baseball." He had a broad grin and a slap on the back for his close friend, Hartnett.

The ruddy-faced Gabby will finish out the year under his player-coach contract. No new one has been or will be offered, Wrigley said.

Both Wrigley and the supremely happy Hartnett said the much-talked-of "board of strategy" would remain unchanged with Tony Lazzeri, the ex-Yankee, remaining as coach and utility player, and Roy Johnson and John (Red) Corridan as coaches.

Fred Wolcott Outstanding In Stockholm Meet

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 22. (AP)—Athletes from half a dozen European nations and the United States started the third day of their three-day international meet today with no one in sight able to head off the stampeding Americans.

Fred Wolcott, the sensational sophomore hurdler from Rice Institute, and Ben Johnson, ex-Columbia captain, were outstanding as the Americans won five of seven events yesterday.

Wolcott won his second race in two days in the 110-meter hurdles in 13.9, only two-tenths of a second away from the accepted world record of Forrest (Spec) Towns. Johnson completed a sweep of the sprints by winning the 200 meters in a respectable 20.9.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Lou Ambers is a cocky, confident little fellow who honestly believes he's going to spill a lot of dope and lick Henry Armstrong, August 12.

At his Summit, N. J., training camp today Ambers said: "If I ever bet on fights (which I don't) I sure would grab some of these juicy 3 to 1 odds they are tossing around Broadway."

I am going to win this fight. I want to lick Armstrong just about as badly as Louis wanted to trim Schmeling. I'll do it, too. I may not knock the fellow out but I'll give him a boxing lesson he'll remember for a long time and at the end of 15 rounds, you'll hear the announcer say: "The winner and still champion, Lou Ambers."

Another guest at Madame Bey's famous training resort at Summit, Tony Galento, the Newark night stick.

He is getting ready for his joust in Philly with John Henry Lewis, the light heavyweight champion on July 26.

Not many smart fight men believe Tony can lay a hand on John Henry (who is the best boxer in the ring today) but all agree that if he does it will be good night for John.

Which would mean that Galento would be right up there in the big money class and able to dictate his own terms to Mike Jacobs and everybody else.

Galento can't fight a lick, but he can hit as hard as a mule kicks and once he connects the birds start singing for anybody who may be on the other end of the stock.

Our new skimmer goes right off to Charlie Grimm who wouldn't quit under fire. They have been after the boy for years but he didn't give up until they made him.

Grimm is a grand fellow, a good baseball manager and a swell friend. Everyone wishes him all the luck in the world.

Phil Wrigley stuck by him a long time too. Now that his number is up and he's got to go, they couldn't have made a more popular choice with every fan in Chicago and every other National league city.

If he doesn't sue me with a thousand and one other Hartnett rooters. All of which brings up the question, where does Tony Lazzeri stand on the coaching line?

All Baseball Team Managers To Meet

Managers of all baseball teams in the Pampa area—LeFors to Skellytown—are urged to meet in the Pampa city hall at 8 o'clock tonight to discuss a playing schedule for the rest of the season.

To date the teams have been getting together whenever possible but some of the teams desire to draw up a schedule to be followed the rest of the season.

Known teams in the area include Magnolia, Keene, Kingsmill, Skellytown, Panhandle, Colfax of LeFors, Sinclair-Prairie, Columbia Carbon.

Managers are urged to be at the meeting on time. They will not be kept long.

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

A Washington baseball writer, taking relief from the heat outside, ran into Mickey Cochrane broussing around among the mummies in a capitol museum a couple of mornings ago.

"What," asked the astonished scribe, "are you doing here, Mickey?"

The Detroit Tigers' manager glanced cautiously over each shoulder, sh-h-h-ed the scribe with finger to lip, leaned over and whispered: "I'm looking for a couple of pitchers."

And there, boys and girls, you have the newest and deepest of the blues—the Cochrane chant, the moan that accompanies the Tigers' drop from fourth to sixth place in two weeks.

It was a tough break that Mickey lost a lot of his power when Roundhouse Rudy York was sent to a hospital yesterday, hit on the head by one of Monte Weaver's pitches while the Senators were twisting the Tiger's tail, 4-3.

But a tougher dose to take is that the pitching, pride of the American league only a couple of years ago, is a "cousin" to the rest of the loop right now. Schoolboy Tommy Bridges hasn't started a game since June 28. Roxie Lawson's luck has run out. And Vernon Kennedy, who looked like the extra dividend on that White Sox deal, has lost three in a row—hasn't won, in fact, since June 22.

On top of that, Mickey, who thought he was weeding out the weakness by trading Gerry Walker to Chicago, and who thought he had a lot of pitcher in Poof Pfenberger, is having a rude awakening on both counts.

For Poof still has something to learn about the pitching business, but has graduated with honors and a master's degree from the daffy school. He disappears for days at a time; his training ritual just isn't, and he forgets to cover first when the other fielders are busy.

Quite a lad is Poof. It got so bad yesterday Mickey had to send him home—before they could get around to giving him his ticket, Poof had disappeared.

Over in the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates maintained their game-and-a-half lead by nipping the Phillies, 5-4, on Lee Handley's triple with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The Giants stayed in the thick of things by trouncing the Cardinals, 5-2, on Carl Hubbell's five-hit pitching.

The Chicago Cubs, celebrating Gabby Hartnett's debut as manager, split a twin bill with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Clay Bryant tossed a four-hitter and the Cubs took the opener, 5-2. In the nightcap, Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin got hot, set the Cubs down with two hits and the Dodgers won, 1-0, on Dolph Camilli's homer.

The Reds and Bees weren't scheduled.

The Tigers-Senators game, for the second straight day, was the only American league tilt, everything else, including the crucial Yanks-Indians doubleheader, being rained out.

Eliminations For Davis Cup Meet In Semi-Finals

NEW YORK, July 22/7.—Business is definitely on the up-grade in the tennis market.

Don Budge and Gene Mako sail for home tomorrow, and will arrive in Montreal next Thursday. The European zone Davis cup eliminations have reached the semi-final stage, with the final round scheduled for next week end.

At Forest Hills, the Japanese are preparing for their North American zone meeting with Canada at Montreal next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and the Mexican team on its way to Kansas City for a match with Australia on the same dates.

And Seabright today made the draw for its annual tournament, which opens on Monday and is one of three through which Davis Cup Captain Walter Pate expects to line his sights on the U. S. cup defenders' No. 2 man. The other proving grounds are the Eastern grass courts at Rye, N. Y., August 6-14, and the Newport Casino tourney opening August 15.

In a state of siege, civil law gives way to military law.

Each club had eleven hits and each three errors.

Marshall's Tigers, hitting heavily in early innings, and leaning on the effective twirling of Archie Cook downed Henderson's Oilers 8-1. Palestine beat Longview 11-2, and Texarkana and Kilgore split a double bill. The Liners took the first 16-3 and the Rangers the nightcap 7-4.

Where they play today: Longview at Marshall. Tyler at Texarkana. Palestine at Henderson. Jacksonville at Kilgore.

CRACK TULSA TEAM TO PLAY SKELLY CLUB

An unusual softball attraction will be presented to Panhandle softball fans Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock at the Skelly-Schafer gasoline plant 10 miles northwest of Pampa when the crack Skelly team from Tulsa, Okla., meets the Skelly-Schafer team. A free gate will be maintained.

Occasions of the meeting will be one of the closing attractions of the all day-all-Skelly picnic and gathering when employees from the entire Panhandle field—more than 800 of them—and company officials from over the southwest will meet.

Mayo, the youngster who hurled a no-hit, no run game on Monday night against Cities Service, will be on the mound for the Pampa team with Johnson behind the plate.

Oklahoma City Beats Houston In Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)
Texas league batsmen went slug-happy in two of five Texas league games last night while Oklahoma City's new outfield-recruit, Gordon Houston, brought joy to the hearts of his employers as the Indians cleared Houston 5-4 and 3-2 in a double bill.

San Antonio's Missions and the Dallas Steers served up 28 hits and 24 runs in an affair which the Missions won 14-10, and Shreveport's Sports whipped league-leading Tulsa 16-6 in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Oilers came back to reverse the picture, however, shutting out the Sports 3-0 in the nightcap.

Beaumont and Fort Worth had their doubleheader rained out, and planned two games tonight.

Houston, up from Texarkana, and a star of the recent East Texas league north-south game, figured prominently with his stick-work at crucial points in both games last night.

Where they play tonight: San Antonio at Dallas. Shreveport at Tulsa. Beaumont at Fort Worth (2). Houston at Oklahoma City.

Eliminations For Davis Cup Meet In Semi-Finals

NEW YORK, July 22/7.—Business is definitely on the up-grade in the tennis market.

Don Budge and Gene Mako sail for home tomorrow, and will arrive in Montreal next Thursday. The European zone Davis cup eliminations have reached the semi-final stage, with the final round scheduled for next week end.

At Forest Hills, the Japanese are preparing for their North American zone meeting with Canada at Montreal next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and the Mexican team on its way to Kansas City for a match with Australia on the same dates.

And Seabright today made the draw for its annual tournament, which opens on Monday and is one of three through which Davis Cup Captain Walter Pate expects to line his sights on the U. S. cup defenders' No. 2 man. The other proving grounds are the Eastern grass courts at Rye, N. Y., August 6-14, and the Newport Casino tourney opening August 15.

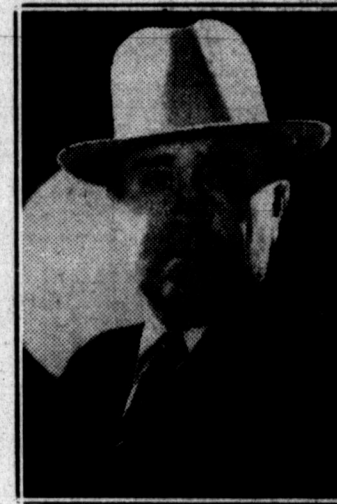

In a state of siege, civil law gives way to military law.

Each club had eleven hits and each three errors.

Marshall's Tigers, hitting heavily in early innings, and leaning on the effective twirling of Archie Cook downed Henderson's Oilers 8-1. Palestine beat Longview 11-2, and Texarkana and Kilgore split a double bill. The Liners took the first 16-3 and the Rangers the nightcap 7-4.

Where they play today: Longview at Marshall. Tyler at Texarkana. Palestine at Henderson. Jacksonville at Kilgore.

A Statement From ART HURST

The law enforcement officer, today, finds his duties exceedingly complex. He is called upon to protect life and property, to detect crime and apprehend criminals, to protect the innocent, preserve the peace and perform a multitude of other tasks relating to public welfare. It is likewise becoming a recognized fact that an important function of a law enforcement agency is crime prevention.

The problems of every community are necessarily different from those of others, but they all have a common problem, that of bringing closer together all officials and citizens in a united front to suppress crime.

The people are beginning to realize more than ever that honesty, integrity, ability, education, courage, and fairness are requisites of the successful peace officer, that these attributes are needed if he is to enforce the law with a wholesome conception of the citizens' rights.

After careful consideration, which every voter should give this as well as all other public offices, if you think I am qualified and worthy, no man will appreciate your support more than I, and it will be my constant aim to justify your confidence in me.

RESPECTFULLY
S. A. 'Art' HURST
