Shrimp Landings Show Five Percent Drop

Landings of headless shrimp in Texas amounted to 6.3 million pounds valued at $11 million in October 1973. This was 5 percent below the volume but 21 percent above the value of landings in October 1972. Landings at ports on Galveston Bay were the second highest on record, being surpassed only by July 1967. The following table represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Area	October 1973	Jan.-Oct. 1973	Jan.-Oct. 1972
Port Arthur-Sabine	337,900	1,714,700	1,567,300
Galveston-Seabrook	1,284,200	6,027,000	4,420,000
Freeport	952,100	10,035,700	5,394,700
Matagorda-Palacios	235,100	933,600	1,156,900
Port Lavaca - Port O'Connor-Seadrift	493,800	2,638,900	2,928,200
Aransas Pass - Rockport-Fulton	1,504,800	13,392,700	10,717,600
Brownsville-Port Isabel-Port Mansfield	1,521,600	19,470,300	15,861,700
TOTAL	6,329,500	54,212,900	42,046,400

Vessels working brown shrimp in waters from south of Morgan City, Louisiana to the Gulf of Campeche made poor catches of 150-300 pounds per night throughout October. These reduced catches were a continuation of the poorest brown shrimp harvest in recent years. Long-range trawlers working the Gulf of Campeche made trip catches of 200-300 pounds per night. Trawlers working white shrimp on the central and north Texas coast landed a record 3.7 million pounds. Catches from major bays and inshore Gulf waters were good to excellent with spotted heavy catches around major passes. Trip catches ranged from 200-2,000 pounds per day of mixed sized shrimp.

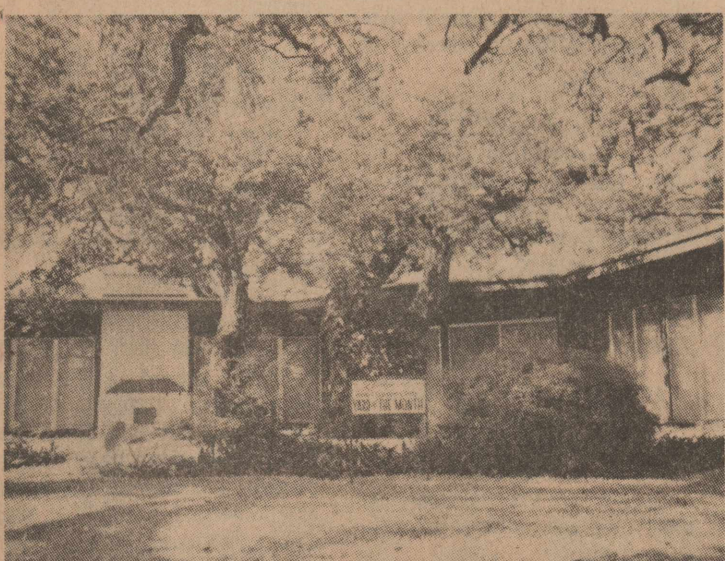

Blue crab landings amounted to about 575,000 pounds in October 1973. This was practically unchanged in volume from October 1972. Fishermen received from 10-14 cents per pound for live crabs.

Three new large vessels entered the Texas shrimp fishery in October. One vessel was lost at sea.

The 1973 fall oyster season is scheduled to get underway in November on public reefs in Galveston Bay but very little hope is maintained for any volume harvest. Floods throughout the spring and early summer inflicted heavy kills throughout Galveston Bay.

Sports fishermen enjoyed an excellent month for fishing. Catches of speckled trout, sand trout, and flounders were very good. Reports of 10-20 pounds of fish per man per day were consistent throughout October with daily reports of high catches of 50 pounds per man-day. Redfish catches were somewhat spotted and below the expected normal, however, there were many reds caught and released that measured 11-13 inches—slightly short of the legal and/or usable size. It is interesting to note the composition of catches landed compared with only 6 months ago. The present high food cost has prompted many to keep all their catch for their own use or to divide with their neighbors. It is a frequent and commendable sight to observe boat fishermen sharing their catch with bank fishermen who are unable to fish more desirable waters. Live bait was plentiful at a reasonable cost throughout October.

expanse of lovely lawn are the 28 magnificent, massive live oak trees, some more than 100 years old. Large fern at tree bases and large leaf philodendron vining high in branches are a beautiful sight.

The house was designed by the architect to fit the location of the trees, and none was disturbed. A hole was even cut in the roof to accommodate a large outflow limb.

House foundation plantings are pittosporum, wax leaf ligustrum, shrimp plant and elephant ears. Other trees are banana, yupon, loquat and mimosa. Walkways and brick patio are bordered by nandinas, althea, silver variegated euonymus, miniature pomgranate, purple wandering jew and Joseph's coat.

Mr. Welhausen says his gardening and yard work are recreation from his desk work in his business.

The Yard of the Month award is given by the Rockport Home and Garden Club. Anyone is eligible to receive it. Nominations by mail may be made to Mrs. B. F. Street, 1306 Redbird Lane, Rockport 78382.

Drug Abuse Meeting Dec. 18

A meeting of the Coastal Bend Regional Advisory Committee on Drug Abuse will be held Tuesday, December 18 at 1:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Corpus Christi State National Bank.

Mrs. Alma Meinrath, committee chairman, said guidelines will be discussed for a program to define and evaluate drug abuse in the 12 counties of the Region, Aransas, Bee, Brooks, Duval, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Live Oak, McMullen, Nueces, Refugio and San Patricio.

The program is being set in motion by the Coastal Bend Council of Governments, under a Texas Criminal Justice Council grant, along guidelines established by the State Office on Drug Abuse.

Mrs. Meinrath asked that representatives concerned with community problems in each town or city of the Region attend the meeting and represent that community on the Committee. She said the success of the program in each community will depend upon local participation.

The goal of the program is to determine the extent of drug abuse problems, where they exist, what services are meeting needs, and where gaps in services exist which need to be filled.

Seek Animal Control Unit for County

Interested citizens with the help of Aransas County officials are exploring ways to establish an animal control unit for rural areas.

The group already has talked with representatives of the Humane Society of the United States from the regional office in Corpus Christi and now is awaiting additional information on what other Texas counties do to control strays in unincorporated areas.

Mrs. Dan Shelton said one meeting held recently to explore possibilities yielded the information that counties apparently do not have the same regulatory powers as do municipalities in pick-up of strays and in humane disposal of unwanted animals.

Sheriff Bob Hewes said there is a problem of strays in rural areas. Both Hewes and County Judge John D. Wendell are working with the interested persons in coming up with a means to handle the problem.

Police Report 140 Accidents In 1973

As of noon on December 3, the Rockport Police have investigated 140 reportable motor vehicle accidents since January 1, 1973.

In most cases two cars were involved, which means approximately 280 vehicles have been damaged, and then there were many person injured, plus doctor and hospital bills.

"Most of these accidents are due to driver error, excessive speed or just plain lack of good old common sense," according to Chief of Police James Craig-mille.

The Rockport police urge all drivers to slow down, obey traffic regulations and help cut down accident rates in the city.

"None of the accident victims planned on a collision when they left home. Maybe they said, 'it won't happen to me.'"

LADY PIRATES WIN THIRD

Tuesday, November 20, the Lady Pirates hosted the TCIL State Champs when they played Incarnate Word Academy of Corpus. Final score was I.W.A. 65 - Rockport 44. High scorers for the Lady Pirates were Mary Laird with 17 and Cheryl Vermillion with 15.

The Lady Pirates' J.V. fell short of victory last evening with a loss to the I.W.A. J.V. The Lady Pirates held on to a slim lead throughout the game, but with time running out and

County Will Issue Bonds For Youth Detention Facility

The Aransas County commissioners court has authorized publication of intent to issue up to $100,000 in time warrants to finance construction of juvenile detention facilities.

In a separate action, County

Judge John D. Wendell was authorized to execute a contract with Anvil Construction Co. of Corpus Christi, for the project. The firm submitted the low bid of $94,000 to build the two-story structure to be located behind the courthouse.

The time warrants will be issued in amounts of $25,000 quarterly at 6 per cent per annum and all will be payable by Jan. 1, 1975.

The court plans to retire the time warrants with federal revenue-sharing funds. The county receives an allotment of $119,000 a year from this source.

The juvenile shelter, which will have an enclosed fence to provide an outdoor exercise area for its occupants, will replace holding facilities now provided in the county jail.

In other business at the regular monthly meeting, the Court approved the filing for record the Copano Ridge Lake-side Subdivision plat which calls for development of 16 - residential lots.

Sheriff Cuts Vehicle Use

A plan to reduce fuel consumption by at least 20 per cent is the goal of Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes. He has called upon his deputies to end any use of county vehicles for personal business.

In a letter to his deputies, Hewes said that the five units now operating should be used only on official business.

He said if fuel consumption could not be cut down by voluntary observance of this directive, that officers may have to leave their units at the sheriff's office while off-duty. Hewes said he realized that this would work a hardship on the deputies and that this step would not be taken except as a last resort.

City Police Launch Protective Program for Christmas Season

With the Christmas season upon us already, the Rockport Police Department wishes to pass on some tips to both merchants and shoppers alike. It is during this season that many thefts occur as well as robberies.

1. Do not leave your ignition keys in the car.

2. Always lock your car when unattended.

3. Do not leave Christmas packages in your car where they can be seen. Lock them in the trunk.

4. Ladies' purses should have an arm strap, and used when in crowded buildings and on the street.

5. Do not leave purses in grocery carts. Many purses have been stolen when you turn around to select item from the shelf.

6. Do not "flash" large amounts of cash, and only carry what you need on your person.

7. Be sure to pick up your credit card as soon as the sales clerk is finished with it.

8. Take someone along when shopping if you are going to carry a large number of packages. When a shopper is loaded down with packages is a good time for the purse snatcher to operate.

9. Do not accept checks unless you know your endorser. Always ask for identification in any event.

10. In case of armed robbery, do not panic, give the robber what he asks for.

11. As soon as possible after a crime has been committed, call the police. Then write down a description of the person or persons committing the crime and get a vehicle license number if possible, while the details are fresh in your memory.

12. Maintain good lighting at night inside store buildings.

13. Check restrooms, closets, walk-in areas, etc. for hide-in burglars just before closing.

14. After all customers are gone, recheck window locks and outside door locks. Often at the last minute the burglar enters the store to use a restroom. He unlocks a window or door and then re-enters through the unlocked door or window after closing hours.

Chief of Police James Craig-mille advises that officers in plain clothes as well as uniformed officers will be checking the business areas on foot during the holiday season. These officers will be equipped with radios. It is hoped this will help reduce crimes in the city over the holiday season.

Domasch and Betty Baldwin. November 26, the Lady Pirates won a pair of games from the West Oso Bears. Both teams capitalized on the Bears' mistakes as the Varsity clobbered the Bear Varsity 58-38, and the Lady Pirate J.V. smeared the West Oso J.V. 75-35. High scorer in the varsity game was McLead with 20. High scorers for the J.V. were Carter and Elder each with 17 points.

November 27, the girls' teams hosted games with Woodsboro and again both teams were victorious. Final score of the varsity game was 56-41, and final in the J.V. was 53-28. Scoring for the varsity was Vermillion with 20, Laird with 28, and Haigood added 8. High scorer for the J.V. was Stanush with 18.

Friday and Saturday of last week, the varsity girls participated in the Woodsboro Tournament. In the first round, the girls won over Ingleside, 56-50, moving them into the winners bracket to play Gregory-Port. Falling to get their offense clicking, the girls lost to G-P who went on to win the tournament. Losing to G-P put the girls up against LaFeria for the 3rd place trophy. The Lady Pirates finally got rolling to take 3rd place by the score of 63-52. Mary Laird was named to the All Tournament Team, and Barbara Lewis was placed on the Honorable Mention Team.

Monday and Tuesday of this week, the girls will be on the road playing I.W.A. and Ingleside, respectively. Friday and Saturday will find the varsity girls participating in the Gregory - Portland Tournament. The girls will be up against Port Lavaca in the first round. Game time is 6 p.m.

Henry Grover Gives Two Talks Here

At the conclusion of his speech, Grover opened the floor to questions from the students. He received many questions and his answers were interesting and informative to all persons attending the assembly.

At the Woman's Club Building Grover spoke on governmental topics of interest and then presided over an open question and answer session.

Refreshments were served and special thanks extended to the Woman's Club for use of the building.

C of C Directors Hold Meeting

With president Bill Janacek presiding, the Chamber of Commerce directors held a productive luncheon meeting Tuesday noon at Ramada Inn.

Among the numerous C of C projects discussed were the following:

--In connection with the Christmas season and the Shop at Home project, it was announced that red ribbons to be worn by local merchants and clerks had arrived. Gold lettering on each ribbon states: "Merry Christmas. Thank you for Shopping at Home." These ribbons may be purchased at the Chamber office for 10 cents each.

--It was reported that much favorable response had resulted from the Nov. 15 "Shop at Home" ad which appeared in the Rockport Pilot. The same type ad will be published this month in the Toast of the Coast Herald.

--The Chamber is selling tickets at $1 for a drawing in which the prize will be a calf weighing between 300 and 350 pounds. Funds raised will be used to help defray the cost of Christmas decorations for the business districts of Rockport and Fulton. Tickets may be purchased at the C of C office or from board members.

--A total of $760 has been received so far to help pay the cost of the Christmas decorations.

--The Tourist of the Month hospitality promotion program will begin this month.

--Tourist ads published in the Des Moines Register and Minneapolis Tribune on Nov. 18 already have produced almost 100 inquiries from people interested in vacationing in the Rockport-Fulton area.

--Joe Hugenberg was named chairman of the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet which will be held next March.

--Copies of an attractive, new Chamber of Commerce brochure were shown to the directors. A supply of 20,000 of these colorful booklets were produced for nationwide distribution to promote the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area.

Contestants will be judged in five phases: talent, evening gown, sportswear, scholastic achievement, and judges interviews. There will be no judge from any town where there is a contestant.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Injury Before Birth

Motorists who negligently knock down pedestrians would naturally expect to be held legally liable for the consequences. But suppose the pedestrian is an expectant mother. And suppose, as a result of the accident, her baby is born with some sort of defect. Could the motorist be held liable also for the injury to the child?

Traditionally the law refused to grant damages for prenatal injuries. Courts reasoned that until the actual moment of birth, the child was merely a part of its mother, with no independent existence on which to base a claim.

But in recent years the law's viewpoint has changed sharply. Today, almost everywhere, a child is entitled to collect damages for a prenatal injury that was inflicted negligently—at least, if it occurred during the later months of pregnancy.

As one court put it: "A child has a legal right to begin life with a sound mind and body."

Of course it is still necessary, in establishing the child's claim, to prove there was a causal connection between the accident and the disability. Consider this case:

A baby was born with a deformed foot after his mother had been hurt in an auto collision. But medical experts said there was no reliable way of tracing the deformity to the accident. Accordingly, a court ruled that there were no grounds for holding the other motorist liable.

Assuming that the child does have a legitimate claim, would it make any difference if the mother herself was partly to blame for the accident? That question arose in another auto case, in which the mother's own bad driving—as well as the other motorist's—had contributed to the collision.

But a court decided that the mother's negligence should not block her child's claim against the other motorist. The court thought it would be unfair, to take that right away because of somebody else's error.

California Leads With 3.23 Million Vets

A Veterans Administration report indicates California, with 3.23 million veterans, maintained its position in fiscal year 1973 as the state with the most veterans.

New York ranks second with 2.52 million veterans, Pennsylvania third with 1.75 million, Illinois fourth with 1.56 million and Texas a close fifth with 1.53 million veterans. States with the fewest veterans are Alaska, 40,000, Wyoming, 49,000 and Vermont, 61,000.

"Veteran Population," a VA pamphlet published semi-annually in June and December, reports there were 29,07 million living veterans in June 1973, as the fiscal year ended. Officials noted that figure increased to 29.15 million by September, however.

The pamphlet also reveals that 13.96 million World War II veterans comprise the largest single group of veterans, followed by 6.56 million Vietnam Era veterans (including 0.41 million who also served during the Korean Conflict).

Other groups in order of size include 5.94 million Korean Conflict veterans (including 1.26 million who also served in World War II), 3.11 million veterans who served between the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Era, 1.18 million World War I veterans, and fewer than 2,000 Spanish-American War veterans.

The average age for all veterans is 45 years, with the largest number, 4.79 million, clustered in the 50 to 54 years age group. There are 4.46 million veterans aged 45 to 49 years old, 3.55 million aged 40 to 44, followed closely by 3.54 million 25 to 29 years old.

The few remaining Spanish-American War veterans are the oldest, an average 93.7 years old. There are 41,000 Vietnam Era veterans who are under 20 years of age.

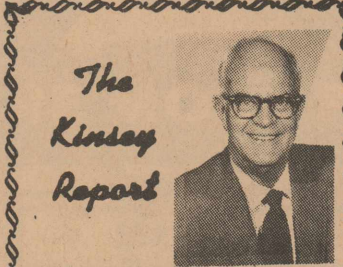

There are 59,000 veterans 85 years old or more, 330,000 aged 80 to 84, and 749,000 who are 75 to 79 years old, according to the VA pamphlet.

The Kinsey Report

My wife and I want to thank those friends who were so thoughtful in connection with my father's death November 24 in Long Beach, Calif.

I particularly want to thank Roy Rogers, Sr., for using this column to publish a well written article about Dad.

I also wish to express appreciation to those friends who sent cards of sympathy or flowers, those who called on us in person or phoned, those who made memorial contributions to worthwhile agencies in Dad's memory, and others who were so kind and thoughtful in many ways.

We appreciate these acts. They were comforting, and we will never forget how helpful these friends were.

Incidentally, before Dad suffered a heart attack and became critical, my wife and I had two opportunities to talk briefly with him.

During one of these visits, he said, "When you go back to Rockport, be sure to give my regards to my friends there."

OUTDOORS 'n things

by

There is a beautiful flower in Texas that some romantic fool once described as, "a lavender symphony, wreathing the world in beauty". To scientists and technicians who are trying to keep the water hyacinth from overrunning the inland waterways of the Gulf Coast, Southern Asia, Africa, South America, and Australia it is more aptly called the "purple curse".

This is one of the world's most widely distributed weeds, an aquatic plant whose behavior is as ugly as its flower is beautiful. It multiplies with unbelievable speed. In a single growing season just 10 small hyacinths can increase to more than 600,000 closely entwined plants -- a solid acre of a mat so dense that it weighs 180 tons yet so buoyant that it will support the weight of a man. It can grow and spread until a solid mat covers a lake or stream like the crust of a pie, sealing out oxygen so that fish cannot live and clogging up waterways so that boats cannot navigate. The plants can drive waterfowl from their feeding places, form ideal breeding places for mosquitos, and clog irrigation canals and hydroelectric generator intakes. High waters and storm winds have rolled these mats into huge dams causing floods that isolated and flooded villages along the Congo and Upper Nile.

Man has only himself to blame for the spread of this weed. It stayed in its native home in South America until 1884 when it was sent to the New Orleans Exposition as a part of a horticultural display. From there gardeners took seedlings home to plant in their fountains and ponds. Later they threw surplus plants into nearby rivers and the plague was started. A visitor from Florida took some home to beautify the St. John's River. In six years it had spread from Florida to Texas and later as far north as Virginia and as far west as California. By 1895 some stupid gardener had carried it to Australia and it was present in India by 1902. It arrived in Africa in 1950. It was carried to the Congo River, it is said, by a missionary. Now there is a fellow that spread more than the word of God in Africa. In just six years it had swept down 1000 miles of the Congo and its tributaries and into five countries.

Since 1899 the U. S. Corps of Engineers has been fighting the weed -- first with pitchforks, then dynamite, arsenic and flamethrowers. They had no success whatsoever until 2-4D was developed, now some control is possible. Not eradication, scientists say that it is practically impossible, but at least a measure of control.

The Parks and Wildlife Department has a team of men whose only job is to fight the beautiful nuisance. They use back-pack pumps, boat mounted and pickup mounted spray rigs and contract aerial spraying. They are doing a splendid job, but they can't let up for a minute. All they can hope to do, however, is keep the weed under control.

Ninety-six Attend A.A.R.P. Meeting

The Rockport Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, met in V.F.W. Hall November 28 with ninety-six present.

A program in keeping with the Christmas season was presented by Rockport-Fulton High School Choir. The forty member group, ably directed by Rich Glover, was presented by Lee Rasco.

Zollie Glass, president, introduced committee chairmen who gave reports. These are: Mrs. Neva Sorenson, membership; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hodgins, hospitality; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McNickle, courtesy; Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Babbitt, sunshine; Mrs. Zollie Glass, Paul Riddle, program; Mrs. Loreen Collins and Mrs. Gladys Thompson, social; John Leslie, legislative; Mrs. John Leslie, telephone; Mrs. Clyde Townsend, community activities; and Mrs. Volney Cavitt, publicity.

Mrs. Della Scott, chairman, reported that plans are complete for Christmas Arts and Crafts Fair to be held at V.F.W. Hall Friday, December 7 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. In addition to variety of handcrafted articles, there will be home-baked goods and a "White Elephant" booth. Santa Claus will also be present during the day. Drawing for quilts will be at 5 p.m. Bazaar booths may be reserved by nonmembers, as long as they are non-commercial.

In the Kitchen

CHEESE-CAPPED MUSHROOMS

1 1/4 oz. blue cheese
2 tbsps. fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup Italian salad dressing
10 medium-sized mushrooms

Mash cheese with a fork, add crumbs and salad dressing. Mix well and form into 10 small balls. Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Dry mushroom caps and brush well with remaining salad dressing. Place round side up on grill about 8 inches from source of heat. Grill 3 minutes. Turn mushrooms over and drop a cheese ball into each. Grill 3 minutes more.

Burn Wood

In former days many American families heated water, cooked food and heated their homes with wood. It isn't as easy to heat with wood as to use other forms of energy, but cutting wood, hauling it and making fires is good exercise--if not suddenly overdone.

Some enterprising Americans, preparing for winter, have already built pipes around fireplaces to heat radiators, put in water jackets behind fireplaces and converted coal or oil burning heating equipment to wood.

Many in fashionable homes, in which large fireplaces were built as decorative centerpieces can now utilize them for heat. (Some may find they have fireplaces which don't draw!) Wood is a reliable source of heat. Use it, enjoy crackling fires this winter and save fuel.

U. S. Advantages Taken for Granted

A Corpus Christi furniture designer and manufacturer who became an American citizen by choice rather than by an accident of birth told his audience that most Americans take for granted the many unique advantages they enjoy. He was Basilio Bachor who spoke at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club November 28 at the Ramada Inn Restaurant.

Bachor was born in Poland but moved with his family to Argentina at the age of 15. After completing his education he established a furniture factory which eventually grew to employ 32. Because of oppressive business conditions and confiscatory taxation of the Peron dictatorship, he was forced to close his business, the speaker said, adding that when he arrived in the United States he had just $42 salvaged from sale of his factory.

Bachor married an American missionary while still in Argentina and they have three $5,000 to $6,000. He said he had never met a poor person in the United States compared with the poor in other countries.

Bachor asserted there are too many communists in positions of authority in the United States and they are attempting to paint a distorted picture of our country in the eyes of the rest of the world. He urged every American to take a firm stand in support of our leaders.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. Dolph Briscoe called for a 55 mph speed limit, an hour-shorter school day, 68 degree heating thermostat settings, carpools, driving curfew and elimination of night football.

The proposals were part of the governor's 90-day emergency program to conserve energy.

He said he hopes to cut gasoline consumption by 20 per cent through the speed reduction, carpooling and cutting down on non-essential trips.

The governor also hopes for a similar saving in fuel use for homes and offices through 68 degree winter temperatures (78 degrees for cooling), switching off all unnecessary lights and darkening displays and advertising signs after midnight.

He termed his program "a minimum response that all of us must take. . . . We are asking only for the elimination of luxuries and frills."

While he "deliberately avoided" specific recommendations for industry, Briscoe made clear he will expect industry to "do its share, no less than the rest of us."

He asked the State Highway

Commission to "consider the statewide speed limit questions immediately and make a determination under its existing authority."

The commission scheduled a Tuesday meeting at Texas A&M University in College Station to consider the 55 mph proposal. Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir said the reduced limit will be difficult to enforce, but his men will "do their best."

Briscoe's plan calls for an end of the school day at 2:30 p.m. January-March, unless nationwide Daylight Saving Time is ordered. In that event, let-out time would be 3:30 p.m.

GAS SOURCE STUDIED — A University of Texas professor told Texas Water Quality Board that gas from decomposition of sewage can supply up to two-thirds of the power necessary to operate sewage plants.

Dean Ernest Gloyna recalled that sludge gas use is nothing new. The board agreed to spend $5,000 for a study to determine practicality of such usage now and to evaluate new techniques of producing sewer gas. Several U.S.

projects are operating, but most advanced ones are in Europe (chiefly Germany).

Gloyna said decomposing sewage sludges produce gas which is 70 per cent methane and 30 per cent carbon dioxide. He said a city of 40,000 could recover enough gas from its sewage plants daily to replace 200 to 300 gallons of gasoline.

COTTON STALK DEADLINE EXTENDED IN EAST TEXAS — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has extended the November 30 deadline for cotton stalk destruction in 45 East Texas counties with unharvested acreage.

The area covered is bounded by Hood, Panola, Newton and Burnet counties. Destruction of the stalks is aimed at destroying cotton insects. White noted heavy infestations of pink bollworms and boll weevils in Rio Grande Valley and Upper Coast fields.

White urged farmers to get their crops in as soon as possible and to plow stalks under promptly.

DECEMBER HIGHWAY BIDS POSTPONED — A cloudy fuel supply situation forced postponement of the December highway bid lettings.

Bids were to have been opened December 5-6 on 33 projects. Contractors, according to State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry, cannot get firm commitments on price or availability of fuel which affects their own ability to bid firm prices.

Projects scheduled for December bidding will be carried over on a priority basis, some to be placed on the January letting list, DeBerry said.

COURTS SPEAK — Constitutionality of the 1967 state provisional driver licensing law was upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The high court last week also:

- *Ruled Gulf Holding Company cannot fence a public beach in Brazoria County.
- *Interpreted rare coin collections as "money," and ordered an insurance company to pay off on theft of such a collection as "loss of money and securities."
- *Held in case involving Justin and Tony Lama leather companies that non-competition agreements with former employees are valid.
- A Court of Civil Appeals ruling directed a Travis County mobile home owner to comply with deed restrictions in his area and move the facility, which the court classified as a "trailer."

AG OPINION — An audit report on a child care center for a governmental body is public information under the open records law, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- *The Board of Pardons and Paroles is not required to make public all information in its files about an inmate on the inmate's demand.
- *Juvenile delinquents can be assigned to state training schools of the Texas Youth Council on a coeducational basis.
- *An automatically-resigned justice of the peace may receive a salary for the period during which he was holding over awaiting appointment of his successor.
- *A police officer to be eligible for educational incentive payments must have completed college law enforcement courses comprising the "core curriculum" approved by the Higher Education Coordinating Board and Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.
- *Texas Board of Medical Examiners may not refuse to admit to examination an alien, legally within the United States, but who has not filed a declaration of intention to become a citizen for any reason relating solely to his alienage, unless he is prohibited from taking the examination by federal law.
- *Retired state judges may legally be appointed to serve as administrative appellate officers, but those who accept and qualify may no longer retain status as judicial officers.
- *Non residents of the state may not be admitted to a Texas state school for the mentally retarded. But status as a resident cannot be judged solely on residence for a year or more.
- *The State Board of Control may purchase liability insurance for officers and employees arising out of power lawn mower and edger operation around the capitol.
- *Junior college districts may not validly discriminate on tuition between out-of-district students who reside in another junior college district and those who do not live in such a district. They may charge tuition at out-of-district extension classes in amounts different from those charges for classes taught at in-district facilities.

APPOINTMENTS — W.D. Bedingfield of Corpus Christi was appointed by Gov. Briscoe to the Texas Structural Pest Control Board along with Leo Holder of Houston and Ralph S. Abel of Dallas.

Also named by Briscoe were Jack Lovette of Bowie to the board of directors of Red River Authority of Texas; Henry M. Rosenwald of Houston, Joseph E. Saar of Dallas and Mrs. Jessie Belle Newman of LaPorte, Texas Private Employment Agency Regulatory Board; and Rufus H. Duncan of Lufkin, Bob Bowman of Lufkin and Jack Flock of Tyler, board of directors of Neches River Conservation District.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. appointed Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake to the Council of State Government Southern Legislative Conference Committee executive committee. Daniel placed Rep. Bill Hillard of Fort Worth on the Council of State Governments Southern Legislative Conference committee on transportation.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
My husband and I got a divorce six months ago. Neither of us had been unfaithful to the other or were interested in anyone else but we had simply been unhappy with each other. The things he liked I hated and the things and people I liked bored him. So we decided to divorce.

Well, it is very different from the way it was when I was a single girl. If anyone asks me for a date, the next thing I know I am being propositioned. What in the world is the matter with the men of today? Can't they enjoy an evening out with an attractive woman without trying to bring sex in the picture?

To be frank, I am looking for a husband. Life is much more pleasant with a man around the house but I am not looking for someone who is a drunk or has nothing but sex on his mind.

Where can I meet wholesome eligible men?

D-La.

Answer:
My only answer to this is to go where interesting men are. Get a job in a place where there are men or do volunteer work with organizations or with your church. Go for a cruise.

Don't look for good husband material in bars or public dance halls. There are plenty of good men around if you can only find them.

Louisa.

Address letters: Louisa, Box 532, Orangeburg, S.C. 29115

Dear Louisa,
My little boy is three years of age and is begging for a puppy. He says he will take care of it himself but I don't think that he is old enough and I surely don't want to bother with a puppy. What do you think I should do?

Mother-III.

Answer:
Nearly all children want pets and get a lot of pleasure playing with them but a three year old would certainly not be able to take on the responsibility of caring for a pet.

However, you may find that the extra things you have to do may be offset by the pleasure your young son gets and the things he learns by trying to care for one of his own.

You, of course, will have to see that a puppy gets shots for rabies, etc., and will have to remind your son about food and water and other things. A great help will be in getting a puppy that has already been house broken. If you have a fenced in yard a pet is much less trouble and you also have a greater choice in the kind of dog you can choose.

Every child should have a pet, if possible, and if he really wants one.

Louisa.

Davis - Pickett Unite

Miss Martha Ann Pickett became the bride of William Glenn Davis in a double-ring ceremony Saturday evening, November 17 at the First Baptist Church in Bacliff, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Pickett of Houston and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John

C. Davis of Fulton. Reverend James O'Connor officiated at the ceremony before an altar decorated with standing baskets of white chrysanthemums and carnations.

The bride, who was given in marriage by A.J. Woodum, wore a formal length white silk organza gown with bodice of cotton lace and mandarin collar. Her veil was made of silk illusion making a cathedral train and she carried a white orchid bouquet circled by white carnations, with a white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Jacquelyn Heard of Alvin was matron of honor. She wore a red knit dress and carried a long-stemmed carnation.

Best man was brother of the groom, Michael W. Davis of Fulton. Ushers were Jerry Baggs of Richmond, and George Heard of Alvin.

Mrs. Betty Burns played the traditional wedding music.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a floor length green and white gown. She had an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Flo Moziack, Mrs. Jan Baggs, Mrs. Della Garrett, and Mrs. Barbara Warden served the bride's cake, coffee and punch. Mrs. Charlotte Dornay was in charge of the bride's book.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a red and blue knit suit, and her corsage was a white orchid from her bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Spring Woods High School in Houston and is employed by Texas Employer's Ins. Assn. in Galveston. Glenn is a graduate of Aransas County High School and is employed by the Texas Department of Corrections.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davis went to West Texas for their honeymoon.

Honored guests were the groom's grandparents, Mrs. Alma Bishop of Casper, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis of Wray, Colo.; Mrs. Linda Honsinger of Hozy Loch, Scotland, sister of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodum of Conroe, Texas.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

TV NEWS, like the local preacher, is constantly under scrutiny and/or attack from some quarter. Verbal bombs rain down, blasting accusations that the news is biased, bent, warped out of shape, or simply lacking in depth.

A PIONEER in extending the five to fifteen minute news shows to a half hour is Walter Cronkite. He still believes news shows are too superficial, because of time and other limitations.

ONE of the other limitations is that news editors have to put on their air raid helmets and keep an eagle eye on the ratings, just as producers of other shows do. As a result, many times news clips and comments cover areas of human interest rather than pure information.

THUS A HECKLER, or campaign activities, or some strange but interesting event seduces the camera's eye and commentary away from important policy statements or vital issues.

MANY ARGUE that this is a sad state of affairs and that TV news should do better (It is now the greatest source of news among all media.); that the news should be covered interestingly and meaningfully. Others suggest that the nature of viewers must change before the nature of television news will change.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

Library News

Aransas County Public Library patrons interested in Texas history will enjoy reading "Lon C. Hill" by Kate Adele Hill, Ph.D. The book is an account of Lon C. Hill's dreams and their accomplishment through his vision and pioneering spirit. Lon C. Hill was the founder of Harlingen.

Other new books added to the library collection include "She Came to the Valley" by Cleo Dawson, "Return to Earth" by Col. Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin, Jr., and "A Thousand Summers" by Carson Kanin.

Mrs. Eugene Garcia will be in charge of the Story Hour, Thursday, December 6, 10:30 to 11 a.m. All pre-school children are invited to attend.

The Library gratefully acknowledges donations and memorials from the following people: Paul Clark, Oliver Stuttle, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Filleman, Grady McNutt, Mary Lou Crawford, Ed Frazer, Alice Moore and the Woman's Club of Aransas County.

Methodist Women Hold Meeting

The United Methodist Women met December 4 at 9:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Harvey Bristow, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. I. E. Allemang led the group in prayer. Mrs. George Rhoads gave the story of "The Other Wise Man."

Plans were made to invite the district and conference presidents to the January 8 meeting to bring information for the set-up of the new organization known as the United Methodist Women.

All women of the church are invited to celebrate their birthdays with the society as tables are set up for each month of the year. This event is on December 18 at 10 a.m. and will be a covered dish luncheon. Come, join in the fellowship. Meeting closed with 26 members and winter guests present.

Waiter: Yes sir. Do you prefer the applesauce or the plum filling?

SPECIAL—Everyone knows that mechanical details of automobile care should be left to men. But along the way, someone forgot to tell the increasing number of girls in the 4-H automotive program.

A prime blow to male chauvinism has been leveled by the likes of Martha Lee, of Martinsville, Va. As part of her work in the 4-H automotive program, Miss Lee rebuilt a V-8 engine. Learning automotive maintenance from her father and older brother, the 1972 national winner, discovered that what can be difficult tasks for a man—changing a tire, battery, filter and mufflers—are just child's play for her. For her efforts in the 4-H automotive program, Miss Lee received a $700 scholarship from The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, donor of awards in the 4-H automotive program.

Girls as well as boys, in the Cooperative Extension Service supervised program, learn all about how an automobile works, and how it can be repaired. In addition, safe driving skills and habits are developed.

Donna Borrenpohl stressed safety in her 4-H automotive work. A resident of Okaville, Ill., Miss Borrenpohl worked with younger 4-H'ers in teaching them the importance of safe driving skills. Her 4-H efforts earned her a $700 scholarship as a national winner.

Working as individuals and in groups, youths in the 4-H automotive program sponsor driving skill clinics, seminars on how to repair autos, courses on defensive driving and help teach younger 4-H'ers proper respect and knowledge of automobile operation.

Firestone, program donor, provides incentives and recognition to boys and girls in the 4-H automotive program. Up to four medals of honor are awarded winners in each county, while the top winner in the program from each state receives an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress, in Chicago, Nov. 25-29.

During the annual 4-H event, eight national winners are announced by the National 4-H Service Committee. Each receives a $700 scholarship courtesy of Firestone.

Fix-It Tip

In a brick outdoor stairway, look for worn mortar and loose bricks. Clean out loose mortar and remortar if brick is still securely in place. If brick is loose, remove completely. Scrape out all the loose mortar; don't leave any particles. Hose down thoroughly. This gets rid of loose dirt and moistens the surface for the new mortar. Use ready-mix and cover all surfaces of the brick, except the face, with mortar, then fit it in place and fill up remaining space with mortar. Scrape away any excess and keep the area wet for a few days.

Fraud By Mail

To Eddie, the idea seemed like a sure thing. He mailed out phony invoices to a number of businessmen, billing them for ads they had never ordered, and waited for the money to roll in. Some money did. But so did two federal investigators, who haled Eddie into court on a charge of "using the mails to defraud." In short order he landed in jail, following the path of countless get-rich-quick artists who have run afoul of the United States Post Office.

Under our legal system, most crimes are local. Robbery and riot, murder and mayhem ordinarily come under the jurisdiction of local governments.

But mail fraud is federal business, because the Constitution gives exclusive control of the postal system to the federal government.

Of course, to constitute the crime, the fraudulent scheme must include some significant use of the mails. However, that need not be the central feature. Consider, for example, the case of a man who used chicanery to sell lots in a cemetery. All of his sales were made in person, not by mail.

But he followed up with letters to his customers, partly to allay their suspicions and partly to discourage them from taking him into court. Such use of the mails, a court ruled afterward, was enough to support a federal charge against him for fraud.

Still, there must really be fraud, not just deft salesmanship. In another case a woman was accused of mail fraud because she had been selling "lucky stones" through the mail.

But at the trial, she pointed out that she had made no claim of magical virtues for her product beyond the name itself. Dismissing the charge, the court said:

"There is nothing immoral in the belief that amulets affect the wearer's fortune. If (the defendant) wishes to sell lucky stones for what they are, without lying about them, she is not acting fraudulently in so doing."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

presented by the Philadelphia College of Art

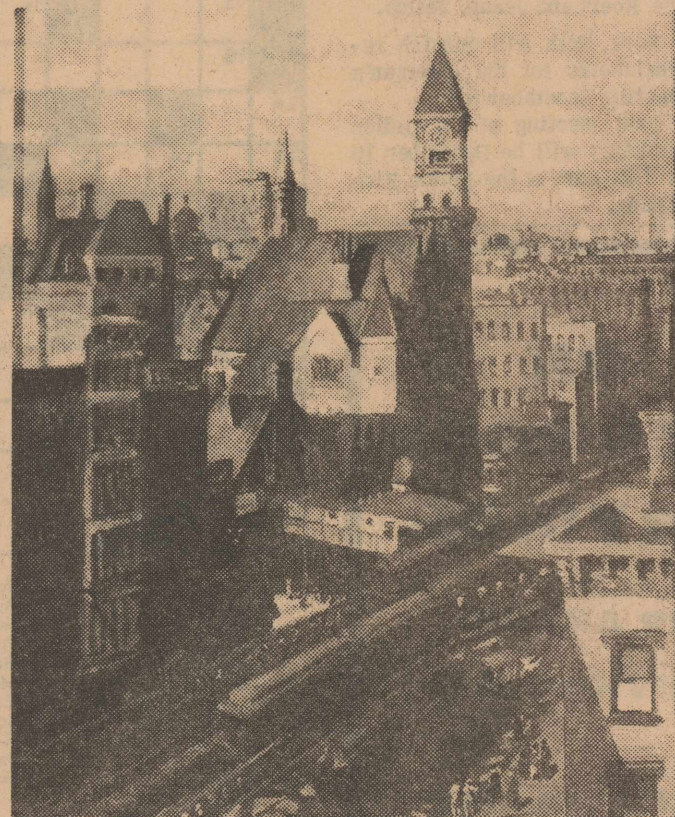

They were called the Ashcan School, The Eight, The Independents, The Eight Secessionists, and, by some, The Gang. As a group, The Eight rebelled against the dull, insipid, redundant art that was being produced in America in the late 19th and early 20th century. They reacted against the tradition and exclusiveness of established art academies and their subjective judgement, especially the National Academy which excluded most of the progressive artists from their 1875 annual exhibit.

The Eight who formed the nucleus of a larger group of emerging American artists included John Sloan, William Glackens, Ernest Lawson, George Luks, Maurice Prendergast, Everett Shinn, Arthur B. Davies and Robert Henri, an artist and teacher, who was the leader of this inner circle. Four of these artists originally came together in Philadelphia where they were newspaper illustrators in the days before photographs replaced "on the spot drawings" of news events. They met in the studio of Robert Henri and discussed the arts, politics, ethics and religion-punctuating these serious discussions with spectacular stag parties. The newspaper experiences of Luks, Shinn, Sloan and Glackens developed their visual training to an acute degree - they learned to observe, capture movement and gesture before they were exposed to any formal academic training in drawing and painting. The vivid characterizations of city life, especially the work of John Sloan, later earned them the Ashcan School label. The term was first hinted at in an interview with Robert Henri in the New York World. He said, "It takes more than love of art to see character and meaning and even beauty in a crowd of east side children tagging after a street piano or hanging over garbage cans." Later, cartoonist Art Young was quoted as saying, "They want to run pictures of ash cans and girls hitching up their skirts on Horatio Street." This comment followed an argument with John Sloan on the status of art in America.

The Philadelphians had gravitated to New York. Robert Henri kept in touch with all his Philadelphia friends but had also cultivated a circle of New York artists, writers and critics who met regularly at Mouquin's, a French restaurant at 28th Street and 6th Avenue and later, at Cafe Francis. It was at these meetings that Henri and his associates began to discuss the possibility of an exhibit of their own. This decision came before the final break between the National Academy and progressive American painters which erupted in the spring of 1907 when the Academy rejected a number of paintings by the Independents from their spring exhibition and elected only three out of thirty-six progressive artists to their membership. Six of the future Eight decided to sponsor a rival exhibit at William Macbeth's galleries, 450 Fifth Avenue. The exhibit opened on Feb. 3, 1908 and proved to be a fantastic success. It received good publicity, drew about seven thousand people and sold over $4000 worth of pictures. The show was significant mainly because it was the first successful presentation of a new kind of art in America and it effectively challenged the authority and prestige of the Academy. The Eight Secessionists exhibit was the precursor of the Exhibition of Independent Artists held in New York in 1910 and the sensational Armory Show of 1913.
