Oil Experts At Loggerheads Over Reagan County Producing Methods

BIG LAKE FIELD SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY

North Texas Complaints Of Discrimination to Be Heard Today

INVESTIGATION LOOMS

Attorney General's Aide Takes Active Part In Questioning

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Expert testimony was at loggerheads today over whether the Big Lake oil field in Reagan county was producing oil with an enormous waste of gas or whether operators of the field were proceeding with due diligence in producing from the world's deepest oil wells.

The question of waste was paramount among those brought out at a hearing of the state railroad commission on whether the field, operated by two companies on university land, should be subjected to the state-wide proration order of the commission.

Prior to the Reagan county hearing, the commission heard complaints of Panhandle and North Texas operators who alleged discriminations by common carriers in oil takings from operators in those fields. Neither hearing was completed. The Big Lake will take precedence at the commission's meeting tomorrow morning, and the pipe line hearing finished later tomorrow.

Questions on Waste

Interest of the attorney general's department in the alleged waste was evinced by questions of Rice Tilley, assistant attorney general, representing the railroad commission and the board of regents of the university.

Tilley, taking note of the statement of Dave Donoghue, technical adviser for the proration committee, that there was a great waste of gas, asked Donoghue to say how much that waste amounted to. Donoghue estimated the waste was 5,000 cubic feet of gas to every barrel of oil produced, and there had been about 3,000,000 barrels of oil produced.

Inquiry Hinted

Tilley's interest led to speculation as to whether the attorney general's department would investigate the alleged waste further. The assistant attorney general would not discuss the matter, but it was pointed out the university would have been paid a one-eighth royalty on any sales of gas. Later testimony brought out that the Big Lake Oil company, one of the two producers in the field, this week had completed a plant to extract the gasoline from the gas, the residue still being burned since there was no outlet for it.

Donoghue testified more than an hour and was cross-examined at length by attorneys for the Big Lake and Group No. 1 Oil companies, the operators and by Judge R. L. Batts, chairman of the university board of regents.

Among Donoghue's statements were that the deep wells were not operated on the most efficient oil gas rating; that the amount of gas needed to produce a barrel of oil, about 12,000 cubic feet, could be materially lessened by tubing the wells; and that there was no danger to the wells in tubing, or in increasing the back pressure of gas reasonably. He cited the deep wells in California and the Oklahoma City field as sustaining his

Fourth Arrest Imminent In Death Of 2-Year-Old Girl After Third Man Is Jailed

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas, Oct. 22. (AP)—A third man was arrested late today and another arrest was imminent tonight in connection with the death of 2-year-old Evangelina Cavazos, daughter of a tent show manager, found brutally slain here last Friday.

Immediately after the arrest, the sheriff and both his deputies accompanied by the justice of peace, left for Lockhart, the home of the district attorney. A long distance call to the district attorney's home elicited the information that no charges had been filed and that the matter was "under investigation," but the district attorney refused to give any further information.

The arrest was said to have been made after one of the two suspects already held had made a confession to officers, implicating the others. Deputy Marshal Barker at New Braunfels said the sheriff took his new prisoner to Lockhart and that they expected to arrest a fourth man there.

'Baering' Down On The News

With ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Vice President Curtis sneaked in a speech on the administration.

It wasn't exactly a speech. No microphone goes along with that job.

It was a telegram the the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Curtis advised everybody to make cash purchases. We hope he didn't spoil it all by sending that telegram collect.

By spending cash you can increase your credit. That will bring back nation-wide confidence. Once we have that we can start throwing the harpoon into each other again.

Mr. Coolidge didn't say anything about the telegram. He's too busy helping us columnists run the country.

We all agree with Mrs. Curtis that you should pay cash. We are opposed to instalments.

Instalments are no good. We have been dropping nickels into telephones and speakeasy pianos for 20 years and we don't own one of the blame things yet.

Let's all dig in and get off that slow boat to Egypt. The answer to the situation is cash. And the way to get that is on credit.

HASKELL GIRL TAKES STAND

Record Crowds Attend Assault Trial

Special to The Record News

HASKELL, Okla., Oct. 22.—Before the largest crowd of spectators ever assembled for a trial in the district courtroom here, an 18-year-old girl, the prosecuting witness in a criminal assault charge against Buy McCulley, Wednesday afternoon described a vain struggle with the defendant in a cotton field near Judd on the night of Oct. 12.

"He said he meant to kill me little by little" the girl asserted, telling of being bitten, kicked and struck by her assailant.

The girl said she and two other girls accompanied McCulley and Gale Mosely on a ride on the afternoon of the alleged assault. There was a fruit jar of whisky in the car, the witness said. She and McCulley both took one drink, she admitted.

Her testimony said that McCulley took her forcibly from the car and dragged her 85 yards across the field from her companions.

Billy Carnes, one of the girl companions, corroborated her story, declaring that the others in the car heard screams and blows, but were threatened with death if they attempted to save the girl.

McCulley, a married man, entered a plea of not guilty when the case was called. His attorneys indicated by their questions that they would attempt to prove the defendant insane. Thirty-five witnesses were sworn in before the taking of testimony began.

FREEMAN GIVEN 12 YEARS IN ROBBERY CASE

Jury Convicts Defendant Of Looting Store At Electra

SECOND VERDICT

Accused Man Given Same Penalty as in His First Trial

Earl Freeman was sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary when a jury in the 30th district court Wednesday evening found him guilty of robbing the Loma Walker store in Electra on April 25, 1929. A similar sentence assessed against the defendant in an earlier trial was reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals.

The verdict was returned shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, after the jury had deliberated since 4:45 in the afternoon.

$1,600 Burglary

Freeman was charged with taking approximately $1,600 worth of women's clothing from the Electra shop.

Testimony in the case revealed that between midnight and daybreak on April 25, 1929, entrance to the Walker store was gained by cutting through the floor of a room in the Morris hotel. Testimony previously given by J. H. Williams, owner of the hotel, now dead, played an important part in identifying Freeman as the man who occupied the room in question under the name of Earl Franks.

Creek Brown, peace officer at Electra, told of having seen two men crossing the street from the hotel about 4:30 on the morning of the alleged robbery, carrying sundry bags and bundles. Assuming that they had checked out of the hotel for an early departure, he did not accost them, but made an immediate investigation to ascertain the facts concerning their departure. The pair had escaped in an automobile when the robbery was discovered, he testified. He declared Freeman to be the smaller of the two men whom he had seen carrying away heavy luggage from the scene.

Youth's Term Suspended

Wednesday morning, Juan Rodrigues, 18-year-old Mexican youth, received a three-year suspended sentence on a plea of guilty to automobile theft. He was charged with stealing a roadster belonging to R. L. Ward here in August. He was returned here from Sinton, Texas, about two weeks ago. The car was recovered.

District Attorney Sam B. Spence and his assistant, George Anderson, prosecuted the cases for the state.

Trial of H. H. Ward on a charge of forgery by check in the amount of more than $50, and of Ezra Williams on a charge of possessing whisky for the purpose of sale, will be called Thursday morning, Mr. Spence said.

J. C. Walton Quits Senate Campaign

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—J. C. Walton, former governor, withdrew late today as an independent candidate for the United States senate, giving pressure of private business as his reason.

"My business affairs have been such that I have not had the time to give to my candidacy," Walton said. "For a successful race it would have meant that I must keep in the field to keep my name and principles before the people, but my other affairs have been too pressing to warrant my giving the necesary time."

Walton was Democratic nominee for the senate in 1924 and was defeated by W. B. Pine, Republican, who was renominated in the July election. Thomas P. Gore, blind former senator, is the Democratic nominee. Three other independents, Edward D. Evans, Leslie P. Ross and Thomas P. Hopley, remain in the field.

Police Prepare Murder Charge After Detective Questions Wife

DENVER, Oct. 22. (AP)—A detective-father late today questioned his wife, accused stepmother, about the death of their 10-year-old girl whose body was found in Berkeley lake last week.

Leo O'Loughlin, city detective, today met his wife, Pearl, for the first time since the tragedy. He has been ill in a hospital for a week suffering with effects of ground glass. The cause of his illness and the discovery of ground glass in the organs of the child, Leona, resulted in police holding Mrs. O'Loughlin in connection with the murder.

Police would not reveal what resulted from the meeting, except to say Mrs. O'Loughlin will be charged with the murder of the child. She has avowed her innocence continuously.

The meeting climaxed the relentless efforts of police in their questioning of Mrs. O'Loughlin. Time and again her shouted denials that she knows anything of the murder of Leona or the attempt on the life of her husband have resounded through the corridors of police headquarters and through the mortuary where the body of the child awaits burial. Police took Mrs. O'Loughlin to the mortuary last night in an attempt to shake her story by confronting her with the body.

Mrs. O'Loughlin was pale and wan as detectives led her from her cell today for the meeting with her husband. She appeared to be almost in a state of collapse.

Despite the woman's denials of the crime Captain of Detectives Bert Clark announced today unless there are developments in the meantime he will file first degree murder charges Friday. This will be done, he said, to defeat an application for a writ of habeas corpus filed yesterday by Mrs. O'Loughlin's attorneys.

Another suspect, an unidentified man, was arrested today by inves-

Old Time Stomach Ache Gone

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Old fashioned stomach aches have gone modern, abandoning their traditional role of a simple ailment with a simple cure, as research has shown them to be frequently highly complex, the International Medical assembly was told today.

Instant recourse to an old standby, a spoonful of castor oil, is not only passe in the care of children, but often may be dangerous in view of the new picture of the significance of abdominal pains furnished by research, Dr. William D. Lower, director of the Clinic foundation, Cleveland, told delegates.

Instead of a simple digestive disturbance, the aches may be the first warning of appendicitis, of kidney ailments or hip diseases, as well as one of many other ailments which occur with less frequency, Dr. Lower said.

As a result, administration without further diagnosis of what have been considered old reliable cures, instead of being of aid to the patient, offer possibilities of great harm, he said. In the case of a diseased appendix, the old cure may be particularly dangerous, its action being comparable to that of a submarine torpedo because of high sensivity in the region.

Improvement in milk supply and better care of it in the home is one of several forces which had aided to reduce greatly the loss of infants from one of the worst diseases in the past, common summer complaint, the assembly was told by Dr. Isaac A. Abt, professor of pediatrics at the Northwestern School of Medicine. Pneumonia now remains one of the most serious of diseases among young children, he said, adding a vast educational program appears necessary to check it.

SEVEN MINERS RESCUED ALIVE

Hope Abandoned for 25 Entombed Men

ALSDORF, Germany, Oct. 22. (AP)—Seven miners were rescued alive tonight from galleries of the Anna II mine, but there was almost no hope for 25 others still unaccounted for and believed entombed by the explosion which yesterday at dawn destroyed the shaft. At midnight an official count showed 248 persons had died in the disaster.

Four of the seven miners rescued had taken refuge in a small blind gallery and were severely injured. One of the four died soon afterward from effects of poisonous fumes which he had breathed. At the 1,200 foot level nine others were found huddled together of whom six were dead and three injured.

The cause of the disaster remains as mysterious as ever. Among experts opinion is growing, and is shared by many survivors, the coal damp at least was the primary reason for the explosion.

The management asserts recent arrwals of dynamite were stored last Saturday in their proper places. Messages of condolence are pouring in from all parts of the world. The victims will be buried Saturday.

Officers Fail to Trace Youths Who Took Deputy for 27-Mile Ride

No trace had been found late Wednesday by members of the sheriff's department of the two young men who kidnaped Deputy George Garrett shortly before midnight Tuesday in the Country Club estates, carried him to a point about 27 miles southwest of this city, and released him unharmed to make his way back to Wichita Falls.

Because the captors of Garrett conducted themselves as fugitives from justice, declaring to him their object in kidnaping him was to facilitate their departure, local officers were inclined Wednesday to believe that the two men may have participated in the hold-up of a union terminal messenger in Dallas Monday morning, when four men escaped with $17,000. Support for this theory was drawn from Garrett's statement that he caught sight of a satchel under the turtle back of the car while in the hands of his captors.

Noticing the two men driving slowly about the Country Club estates about 11 o'clock Tuesday night, Garrett accosted the pair, telling him that he was an officer. He was immediately covered with two guns, deprived of his pistol, and forced to accompany them as they drove away.

Plans which they adopted en route called for a piece of wire with which to tie him to a tree, Garrett said. For that purpose, they secured a pair of pliers from the rear of the car and clipped a section of wire from a fence. It was while the turtle back was raised that the deputy sheriff saw the satchel, he stated.

Reaching the southwest corner of Wichita county, the two men abandoned the plan to tie Garrett, and placed him on the roadway minus his searchlight, with instructions to walk until their car had disappeared in the direction from which it had come. Garrett's pistol was left unloaded for him in the road where he had been released. He walked about five miles to a farm house, obtained transportation to Electra and reached Wichita Falls shortly after 6 a. m. Wednesday.

TRAVIS STREET BLOCK GIVEN SECOND CHOICE

$750,000 Building to Occupy Methodist Church Property

ATTORNEY EXPECTED

Letter From Sen. Sheppard Reveals Decision Of Government

Wichita Falls' new $750,000 federal building will be constructed on the site of the old First Methodist church at Tenth street and Lamar avenue, it was learned by The Record News Wednesday.

Information as to the selection of the site came unofficially in a letter from Senator Morris Sheppard to John T. Young. The letter to Mr. Young said Senator Sheppard had been informed by the site committee of the postal department that the Methodist church site had been selected as first choice and that the proposed location on the west side of Travis street between Seventh and Eighth streets had been named as second choice.

The Methodist church block was offered to the government with several other sites several weeks ago. The price placed on the property was $125,000.

While official notification of the government's decision had not been received by Postmaster O. P. Maricle, the postmaster told The Record News he was expecting a government attorney to arrive here within the next few days to arrange for the transfer of the property. Mr. Maricle said he had been informed unofficially of the selection and that the official announcement might await the arrival of the government agents here.

Steps to clear the site to meet with the government's specifications will be started soon, leaders of the First Methodist church told The Record News Wednesday.

Girl's Complaint 'Surprises' Altus Football Player

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 22. (AP)—Adna Cole, 24, former Dartmouth college football star, tonight told newspaper reporters he was "completely surprised" when arrested here late yesterday as a fugitive from justice from Massachusetts.

The former football star, at liberty on a $1,000 appearance bond, denied emphatically having known previously of the charge filed against him in Boston alleging an offense against a young woman.

When asked if he knew Dorothy McLean of Brighton, Mass., who filed the complaint, a part of the charge, Cole said "not personally." Cole said he met Miss McLean in Boston about two or three months ago.

Cole, who graduated last spring, was a three-year letterman in football and had received honorable mention on all-American football teams. He was outstanding in campus activities.

Cole is unmarried. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cole, of Muskogee, Okla. He attended school here and at Muskogee and at Dallas before going to Dartmouth.

Pair Questioned in Death Of Farmer

they had been confronted with a 16-year-old boy who said the pair told him Monday of borrowing a horse from a farmer northeast of Birdville. The boy said the pair had pledged him to secrecy. The pair denied telling the boy about the horse.

The 17-year-old youth, a cousin of the boy who furnished police with the information, and who has served a term in the state reform school at Gatesville, was transferred to the North Side jail last night to prevent communication with his companion. The cousin was held as a material witness.

The two suspects were arrested by police Lieut. C. L. Green after they tried to sell an overcoat in a second-hand establishment.

The boy who gave the original information approached two policemen today when they answered a call to a wreck and told them he had found a horse wandering near his house. Subsequent investigation revealed the story about the two suspects. A saddle at the boys' home was identified by Mrs. Frank Mosteller, a neighbor of Cavender, as belonging to the slain farmer. She said her husband had frequently borrowed the saddle and positively identified it by wire used to hold it together.

According to police, two boys were seen riding a gray horse Monday afternoon. Cavender was killed Monday night, police and neighbors believed.

Neighbors found Cavender's body partially covered with oats in a granary after his unattended cattle had attracted their attention.

Cavender's watch and money were missing. The object police believe to have been used to crush his skull, a piece of steel from a binder, was found on the farm.

County investigators believed Cavender had been struck as he stood with his back to the door of his granary filling a sack with oats. The body lay near the door with several blood stained sacks underneath. There was no sign of a struggle.

Western Air Express Official Assures C.-C. of Service Here

As a result of an erroneous statement in a Dallas newspaper Monday to the effect that Wichita Falls was the only city of any size in Texas that did not have air service, C. A. Nickerson, traveling passenger representative of the West Air Express, was in Wichita Falls Wednesday to confer with chamber of commerce air officials.

"We have no idea of discontinuing our line through Wichita Falls, but expect to improve it as conditions warrant," Mr. Nickerson said, in speaking of numerous rumors that the Western Air Express would follow the Safeway in discontinuing operations here.

The Mid-Continent Air Express, which is a subsidiary of the Western Air Express, has been serving Wichita Falls since April 10, running a plane daily from Dallas to Denver and from Denver to Dallas, connecting at Amarillo with the Western Air Express transcontinental line from Los Angeles to New York.

One decided improvement in the line here which has already been made, Mr. Nickerson pointed out, is the recent installation of radio apparatus at the municipal airport where weather data over the entire line is collected from Denver, Albuquerque, Amarillo, Kansas City and Dallas and is redistributed to each point. The radio is also used in dispatching ships, he said.

While in Wichita Falls Mr. Nickerson conferred with the chamber of commerce aviation committee, composed of James E. McKanna, chairman, J. S. Bridwell, Judge W. N. Bonner and Wilbur Cahoon.

Albany Boy Recovering Here After Pecan Kernel Is Removed From Lung

Benny Bob Mathis, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Mathis of Albany, Texas, was well on the road to recovery here Wednesday after having the kernel of a pecan removed from the lower part of his lung Monday by a group of Wichita Falls physicians.

The child's fever had subsided Wednesday, and his recovery is assured, it was said.

The operation which removed the pecan from the child's lung is well known in the medical profession, attendants said, although it is always a delicate undertaking. The pecan lodged in the child's lung Sunday and he was first taken to Breckenridge for treatment. Instruments for the location and removal of the substance were not available there, so the child was brought to Wichita Falls on the advice of Breckenridge physicians.

Diagnosis of the case was made by Dr. H. P. Ledford of the Ledford Children's clinic, and Monday morning the task of removing the pecan from the child's lung was submitted to Dr. L. F. Stripling and Dr. J. A. Johnson in the Hamilton building. This was accomplished by inserting a bronchoscope, a metal tube and tiny electric light, into the child's windpipe and down into his lung. A pair of delicate forceps, but measuring 16 inches in length, was then used to extract the substance.

The removal of the pecan kernel from the Albany child's lung came only two days after a similar operation here by another group of Wichita Falls physicians to remove a watermelon seed from the lung of a Goree boy. During the last few years various Wichita Falls physicians, a number of whom are equipped with bronchoscopes and other instruments for location and removal of foreign substances from the lungs, have taken buttons, peanuts, safety pins and various seeds from the lungs of Northwest Texas youngsters. And all of the said youngsters are still living to tell of their adventures, according to the best information available here.

60,000 KILLED BY 'RED' ARMY

Expedition Planned For Punishing Raiders

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 22. (UP)—Reports of the massacre of 60,000 Chinese by Communist troops in the bandit-communist infested province of Kiangsi reached Shanghai today.

The reports said the massacre occurred Oct. 6, when the fourth and fifth red armies captured the city of Kian-Fu, Kiangsi province, south central China.

Bodies were reported to have been piled high in the streets. The waters of the Kan river, on which Kian-Fu is situated, were said to have been stained red with the blood of thousands of victims.

The provincial government authorities at Hankow, central China, announced a loan of $3,000,000 Chinese currency (about $900,000 United States currency at the present exchange rate) would be floated to finance an expedition against the Communists, said to have perpetrated the slaughter.

The expedition will start from Hankow, north of Kian-Fu, on the Yangtze river, Nov. 1, authorities announced, in a determined effort to locate and exterminate the bandit-communist forces who have terrorized Kiangsi province and vicinity for months.

The massacre occurred in the province where bandits and Communists recently have been making high demands for the release of foreigners they have captured. The latest demand, and the highest yet received, is for $10,000,000 silver ($2,930,000 in United States money). This sum is being demanded by bandits for the release of four nuns and six priests kidnaped in Kiangsi province, missionary headquarters were advised today.

Bert Nelson of Minneapolis, is another foreigner being held for ransom, the bandits demanding $300,000 silver in his case. Nationalist troops on a rescue expedition were reported nearing the bandit headquarters, to negotiate with them or effect his forceful release. Nelson is a member of the United Lutheran mission.

TESTIMONY OF OIL MEN HEARD

Experts Disagree on Big Lake Problems

contention that deep wells could be tubed, pinched, and even shut in without injuring them.

University "Safe"

Donoghue estimated the potential recoverable would be increased from 25 per cent to 50 per cent of the available oil if the gas were conserved. He also brought out that the university stood in no danger of loss in any event, since "the oil would still be there, whether or not the wells were injured, and if these companies did not develop it, others would."

E. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, chairman of the West Texas advisory committee on proration, told of his negotiations with the Continental Oil company, majority stock owners in the group No. 1, and considerable stock owners in the Big Lake company, to get them to attempt to curtail production as was being done in all the rest of the state.

Asked if he thought it possible to tube the wells, Landreth declared "If they were my wells, I'd had them tubed a long time ago." Replying to a question by a Humble attorney, Landreth stated it would be difficult and expensive to pump the deep wells and when the gas was exhausted, production would be virtually over.

Penn Favors Tubing

R. R. Penn, chairman of the operators' proration committee, declared he, too, would take the risk of tubing the wells, especially in view of the already large production from them. Attorneys for the Big Lake operators had stated the wells cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars each, and asked Penn if he would risk that much on an experiment. "Yes," was his reply. "I'd take that risk if I had already taken a couple of million dollars out."

The only witness for Big Lake today was Charles Beyer, manager of the company. He declared they had been experimenting steadily since the first well was brought in to determine the most efficient oil and gas ratio, and that to proceed in any but a cautious manner might cause the permanent injury of the wells. He said the company was not prepared to proceed hastily in the matter.

Beyer also testified that since the first proration meeting here the company had arranged to tube one of their deep wells and expected to have it completed in the near future. He said there was considerable doubt, however, as to the success of the experiment.

He also declared the company was not willing to cut its production in the shallower sands while the experiments were being pushed in the deep wells, since the oil from the shallow sands, mixed with the highly volatile oil from the deep wells, produces an oil of about 44 gravity which commands a premium of nearly 25 cents a barrel. He also said there was danger from water should the shallow wells be pinched.

Pipe Lines for Cut

Attorneys estimated it would take several hours tomorrow to complete the testimony, following which the pipe line hearing will be resumed.

Earlier in the day representatives of pipe line companies had recommended a further cut in production, declaring that the allowable under the present production by far exceeded the market capacity.

Nearly all pipe line representatives expressed unwillingness to make new connections, declaring their present connections gave them all the oil they could use.

The most drastic suggestion made was that the commission forbid the drilling of any more wells until the oil industry was stabilized. There was doubt expressed as to the commission's power to promulgate such an order, only three of the 20 or more attorneys present expressing the belief the commission could do so.

The pipe line complaints, charging failure to make connections, failure to take equitably between fields and failure to take ratably between wells, were mostly from the Panhandle and North Texas districts.

Horse Drawn Vehicle Sales Drop Sharply In Two Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—The sulky, phaeton, barouche and common buggy are passing more and more.

The commerce department today noted a 13 per cent decrease in the value of all horse drawn vehicles sold from 1927 to 1929. The 122,734 such vehicles sold last year brought $10,323,535 to the manufacturers.

Farm wagons, business wagons, lunch wagons, carriages and buggies were fewer than in 1927, but two wheeled carts increased 111.9 per cent in number to 9,132. More public conveyances and farm trucks also were sold.

Likewise the value of wheelbarrows dropped 4 per cent and the number of handcarts and push carts 16.8 per cent.

The girls earned the right to make this trip by being high point winners at the recent Stephens county 4-H club show held here.

Poison Liquor Mystery Death Toll Is Now Five

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 22. (INS)—The death toll in Titusville's "poison liquor mystery" mounted to five today when Lawrence Kirchner, 27, was found dead in his room here.

Magistrate M. A. Kerr, who also is acting coroner, immediately ordered the impaneling of a coroner's jury to probe Kirchner's death.

Four other men died here yesterday from the effects of poison liquor. They were William Bodamer, 42; Charles Burchim, 48; William J. Lang, 57, and his brother, Edward, 52.

Analysis of liquor found near the bodies, authorities said, revealed that the liquor was composed of wood alcohol in the ratio of 70 per cent with a content of denatured alcohol approximating 15 per cent.

Rabbit-breeding for fur has become quite a large industry in France, and it is estimated to be worth about $15,000,000 a year.

LAWTON LIQUOR CASE OUSTED

U. S. Judge Reprimands Dry Agents

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 22.—With a severe reprimand to federal prohibition agents for obtaining evidence "illegally and improperly," Judge Edgar S. Vaught in the United States district court Wednesday dismissed a whisky conspiracy charge against three defendants here. The case involved 1,089 gallons of liquor seized in an abandoned house near Lawton last year.

Judge Vaught threw the case out of court upon the opening statement of the charge which showed that Dave Welsh, George Barker and George Meadows were arrested before the whisky was found and that the raid was made without a search warrant. The magistrate declared that no evidence of conspiracy was shown and read the agents a sharp lecture for the employment of such methods.

Nicky Arnstein's Crony Arrested in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—W. W. W. Easterday, one-time associate of the notorious Jules (Nicky) Arnstein, was in federal clutches here tonight, charged with being a fugitive from New York, whence he disappeared after posting bond of $25,000 on a mail fraud charge.

Easterday was arrested here today by city police as the outgrowth of an investigation of the Oklahoma City better business bureau into activities of promotion companies that have painted glowing pictures of riches for investors in stocks in Oklahoma City oil field enterprises.

Interesting Talks Given At Tuesday Session

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 22.—The Burkburnett grade school Parent-Teacher association held its second regular meeting Tuesday, with Mrs. H. A. Brooks, president, presiding and Mrs. John Bostic, program chairman.

After a short business meeting, which included the reading of the minutes of the executive meetings, the children of Misses Vera Owens', Nancy Bryant's, and Gladys Westbrook's rooms gave an interesting program on fire prevention in the form of a court scene, where causes of fire were tride but carelessness condemned.

Floyd Jackson, city attorney of Burkburnett, gave an instructive talk on the city's ordinance for double parking and explained the city's desire to make the ordinance work for the good of all the city.

The devotional exercises for the afternoon were led by Rev. Mr. Bone, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Miss Gladys Westbrook's room won the prize for the largest per cent of parents present, which is the privilege of choosing and buying any book the teacher and room desire, the book is to stay in the room and help out the library.

A nursery was provided, with some parents in charge, for about 75 children. Mrs. A. C. Houser, membership chairman, reported about 185 paid members.

'Prospectors' Rush Missouri Section In Search of Fleagle's Buried Loot

HOLLISTER, Mo., Oct. 22. (INS)—The "gold rush" for Jake Fleagle's loot is on.

Numerous fortune seekers, armed with digging tools, have invaded the neighborhood frequented by the notorious bandit south of here and the cabin in which he lived for two years as Walter Cook, in hopes of uncovering some of little Jake's ill gotten gains.

That Fleagle left a fortune is not doubted in this locality. Loot obtained in the several bank robberies attributed to him runs into six figures and it is believed most of that amount, none of which was recovered, is hidden in these Ozark hills.

The influx of loot prospectors has assumed such proportions as to necessitate the calling in of the sheriff to dislodge several persons who all but wrecked the cabin used by Fleagle as a hideout.

Impetus has been added to the hunt for Jake Fleagle's loot by the announcement recently that Ralph Fleagle, the bandit's brother, who was hanged in the Colorado state prison, had left an estate valued at $850,000.

A large field is available to the fortune seekers for operations, there being scarcely a dozen homes in an area of 100,000 acres surrounding the Fleagle cabin.

Fraternity Regulation to Be Weighed in Court

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—In a test suit to determine the authority of the state to place restrictions on secret societies in public grade schools and high schools, a warrant was issued here today for the arrest of James Blakeney, Classen High school student and son of B. B. Blakeney, local attorney.

Young Blakeney is charged with "soliciting for and encouraging school fraternities." He is alleged to have solicited membership to the Phi Lambda Epsilon fraternity.

It was expected a habeas corpus action would be brought to obtain a court decision on the power of the state to hold Blakeney under the statute forbidding public school students from becoming members or soliciting members of secret fraternities.

Finnish Army Leaders Arrested for Kidnaping

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 22. (AP)—The chief of the Finnish general staff, General Wallenius and the head of the general staff mobilization section, Colonel Uusjaervi, have been arrested in connection with the recent frustrated kidnaping of Dr. Kaarlo Stahlberg, former president of the Finland, and his wife.

It was said in authoritative circles today there remained little doubt in the minds of investigators the incident, when Dr. Stahlberg and his wife were carried away in an automobile to a point near the Russian boarder, was part of a projected political coup.

YOUTHS HELD FOR SLAYING

they had been confronted with a 16-year-old boy who said the pair told him Monday of borrowing a horse from a farmer northeast of Birdville. The boy said the pair had pledged him to secrecy. The pair denied telling the boy about the horse.

The 17-year-old youth, a cousin of the boy who furnished police with the information, and who has served a term in the state reform school at Gatesville, was transferred to the North Side jail last night to prevent communication with his companion. The cousin was held as a material witness.

The two suspects were arrested by police Lieut. C. L. Green after they tried to sell an overcoat in a second-hand establishment.

The boy who gave the original information approached two policemen today when they answered a call to a wreck and told them he had found a horse wandering near his house. Subsequent investigation revealed the story about the two suspects. A saddle at the boys' home was identified by Mrs. Frank Mosteller, a neighbor of Cavender, as belonging to the slain farmer. She said her husband had frequently borrowed the saddle and positively identified it by wire used to hold it together.

According to police, two boys were seen riding a gray horse Monday afternoon. Cavender was killed Monday night, police and neighbors believed.

Neighbors found Cavender's body partially covered with oats in a granary after his unattended cattle had attracted their attention.

Cavender's watch and money were missing. The object police believe to have been used to crush his skull, a piece of steel from a binder, was found on the farm.

County investigators believed Cavender had been struck as he stood with his back to the door of his granary filling a sack with oats. The body lay near the door with several blood stained sacks underneath. There was no sign of a struggle.

Officers made a thorough examination of the O'Loughlin home for evidence. They searched for particles of ground glass similar to that fed Leona and her father.

Members of Mrs. O'Loughlin's family retained private detectives today to seek a solution of the case.

Western Air Express Official Assures C.-C. of Service Here

As a result of an erroneous statement in a Dallas newspaper Monday to the effect that Wichita Falls was the only city of any size in Texas that did not have air service, C. A. Nickerson, traveling passenger representative of the West Air Express, was in Wichita Falls Wednesday to confer with chamber of commerce air officials.

"We have no idea of discontinuing our line through Wichita Falls, but expect to improve it as conditions warrant," Mr. Nickerson said, in speaking of numerous rumors that the Western Air Express would follow the Safeway in discontinuing operations here.

The Mid-Continent Air Express, which is a subsidiary of the Western Air Express, has been serving Wichita Falls since April 10, running a plane daily from Dallas to Denver and from Denver to Dallas, connecting at Amarillo with the Western Air Express transcontinental line from Los Angeles to New York.

One decided improvement in the line here which has already been made, Mr. Nickerson pointed out, is the recent installation of radio apparatus at the municipal airport where weather data over the entire line is collected from Denver, Albuquerque, Amarillo, Kansas City and Dallas and is redistributed to each point. The radio is also used in dispatching ships, he said.

While in Wichita Falls Mr. Nickerson conferred with the chamber of commerce aviation committee, composed of James E. McKanna, chairman, J. S. Bridwell, Judge W. N. Bonner and Wilbur Cahoon.

Albany Boy Recovering Here After Pecan Kernel Is Removed From Lung

Benny Bob Mathis, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Mathis of Albany, Texas, was well on the road to recovery here Wednesday after having the kernel of a pecan removed from the lower part of his lung Monday by a group of Wichita Falls physicians.

The child's fever had subsided Wednesday, and his recovery is assured, it was said.

The operation which removed the pecan from the child's lung is well known in the medical profession, attendants said, although it is always a delicate undertaking. The pecan lodged in the child's lung Sunday and he was first taken to Breckenridge for treatment. Instruments for the location and removal of the substance were not available there, so the child was brought to Wichita Falls on the advice of Breckenridge physicians.

Diagnosis of the case was made by Dr. H. P. Ledford of the Ledford Children's clinic, and Monday morning the task of removing the pecan from the child's lung was submitted to Dr. L. F. Stripling and Dr. J. A. Johnson in the Hamilton building. This was accomplished by inserting a bronchoscope, a metal tube and tiny electric light, into the child's windpipe and down into his lung. A pair of delicate forceps, but measuring 16 inches in length, was then used to extract the substance.

The removal of the pecan kernel from the Albany child's lung came only two days after a similar operation here by another group of Wichita Falls physicians to remove a watermelon seed from the lung of a Goree boy. During the last few years various Wichita Falls physicians, a number of whom are equipped with bronchoscopes and other instruments for location and removal of foreign substances from the lungs, have taken buttons, peanuts, safety pins and various seeds from the lungs of Northwest Texas youngsters. And all of the said youngsters are still living to tell of their adventures, according to the best information available here.

60,000 KILLED BY 'RED' ARMY

Expedition Planned For Punishing Raiders

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 22. (UP)—Reports of the massacre of 60,000 Chinese by Communist troops in the bandit-communist infested province of Kiangsi reached Shanghai today.

The reports said the massacre occurred Oct. 6, when the fourth and fifth red armies captured the city of Kian-Fu, Kiangsi province, south central China.

Bodies were reported to have been piled high in the streets. The waters of the Kan river, on which Kian-Fu is situated, were said to have been stained red with the blood of thousands of victims.

The provincial government authorities at Hankow, central China, announced a loan of $3,000,000 Chinese currency (about $900,000 United States currency at the present exchange rate) would be floated to finance an expedition against the Communists, said to have perpetrated the slaughter.

The expedition will start from Hankow, north of Kian-Fu, on the Yangtze river, Nov. 1, authorities announced, in a determined effort to locate and exterminate the bandit-communist forces who have terrorized Kiangsi province and vicinity for months.

The massacre occurred in the province where bandits and Communists recently have been making high demands for the release of foreigners they have captured. The latest demand, and the highest yet received, is for $10,000,000 silver ($2,930,000 in United States money). This sum is being demanded by bandits for the release of four nuns and six priests kidnaped in Kiangsi province, missionary headquarters were advised today.

Bert Nelson of Minneapolis, is another foreigner being held for ransom, the bandits demanding $300,000 silver in his case. Nationalist troops on a rescue expedition were reported nearing the bandit headquarters, to negotiate with them or effect his forceful release. Nelson is a member of the United Lutheran mission.

TESTIMONY OF OIL MEN HEARD

contention that deep wells could be tubed, pinched, and even shut in without injuring them.

University "Safe"

Donoghue estimated the potential recoverable would be increased from 25 per cent to 50 per cent of the available oil if the gas were conserved. He also brought out that the university stood in no danger of loss in any event, since "the oil would still be there, whether or not the wells were injured, and if these companies did not develop it, others would."

E. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, chairman of the West Texas advisory committee on proration, told of his negotiations with the Continental Oil company, majority stock owners in the group No. 1, and considerable stock owners in the Big Lake company, to get them to attempt to curtail production as was being done in all the rest of the state.

Asked if he thought it possible to tube the wells, Landreth declared "If they were my wells, I'd had them tubed a long time ago." Replying to a question by a Humble attorney, Landreth stated it would be difficult and expensive to pump the deep wells and when the gas was exhausted, production would be virtually over.

Penn Favors Tubing

R. R. Penn, chairman of the operators' proration committee, declared he, too, would take the risk of tubing the wells, especially in view of the already large production from them. Attorneys for the Big Lake operators had stated the wells cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars each, and asked Penn if he would risk that much on an experiment. "Yes," was his reply. "I'd take that risk if I had already taken a couple of million dollars out."

The only witness for Big Lake today was Charles Beyer, manager of the company. He declared they had been experimenting steadily since the first well was brought in to determine the most efficient oil and gas ratio, and that to proceed in any but a cautious manner might cause the permanent injury of the wells. He said the company was not prepared to proceed hastily in the matter.

Beyer also testified that since the first proration meeting here the company had arranged to tube one of their deep wells and expected to have it completed in the near future. He said there was considerable doubt, however, as to the success of the experiment.

He also declared the company was not willing to cut its production in the shallower sands while the experiments were being pushed in the deep wells, since the oil from the shallow sands, mixed with the highly volatile oil from the deep wells, produces an oil of about 44 gravity which commands a premium of nearly 25 cents a barrel. He also said there was danger from water should the shallow wells be pinched.

Pipe Lines for Cut

Attorneys estimated it would take several hours tomorrow to complete the testimony, following which the pipe line hearing will be resumed.

Earlier in the day representatives of pipe line companies had recommended a further cut in production, declaring that the allowable under the present production by far exceeded the market capacity.

Nearly all pipe line representatives expressed unwillingness to make new connections, declaring their present connections gave them all the oil they could use.

The most drastic suggestion made was that the commission forbid the drilling of any more wells until the oil industry was stabilized. There was doubt expressed as to the commission's power to promulgate such an order, only three of the 20 or more attorneys present expressing the belief the commission could do so.

The pipe line complaints, charging failure to make connections, failure to take equitably between fields and failure to take ratably between wells, were mostly from the Panhandle and North Texas districts.

The girls earned the right to make this trip by being high point winners at the recent Stephens county 4-H club show held here.

Poison Liquor Mystery Death Toll Is Now Five

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 22. (INS)—The death toll in Titusville's "poison liquor mystery" mounted to five today when Lawrence Kirchner, 27, was found dead in his room here.

Magistrate M. A. Kerr, who also is acting coroner, immediately ordered the impaneling of a coroner's jury to probe Kirchner's death.

Four other men died here yesterday from the effects of poison liquor. They were William Bodamer, 42; Charles Burchim, 48; William J. Lang, 57, and his brother, Edward, 52.

Analysis of liquor found near the bodies, authorities said, revealed that the liquor was composed of wood alcohol in the ratio of 70 per cent with a content of denatured alcohol approximating 15 per cent.

Rabbit-breeding for fur has become quite a large industry in France, and it is estimated to be worth about $15,000,000 a year.

LAWTON LIQUOR CASE OUSTED

U. S. Judge Reprimands Dry Agents

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 22.—With a severe reprimand to federal prohibition agents for obtaining evidence "illegally and improperly," Judge Edgar S. Vaught in the United States district court Wednesday dismissed a whisky conspiracy charge against three defendants here. The case involved 1,089 gallons of liquor seized in an abandoned house near Lawton last year.

Judge Vaught threw the case out of court upon the opening statement of the charge which showed that Dave Welsh, George Barker and George Meadows were arrested before the whisky was found and that the raid was made without a search warrant. The magistrate declared that no evidence of conspiracy was shown and read the agents a sharp lecture for the employment of such methods.

'Prospectors' Rush Missouri Section In Search of Fleagle's Buried Loot

HOLLISTER, Mo., Oct. 22. (INS)—The "gold rush" for Jake Fleagle's loot is on.

Numerous fortune seekers, armed with digging tools, have invaded the neighborhood frequented by the notorious bandit south of here and the cabin in which he lived for two years as Walter Cook, in hopes of uncovering some of little Jake's ill gotten gains.

That Fleagle left a fortune is not doubted in this locality. Loot obtained in the several bank robberies attributed to him runs into six figures and it is believed most of that amount, none of which was recovered, is hidden in these Ozark hills.

The influx of loot prospectors has assumed such proportions as to necessitate the calling in of the sheriff to dislodge several persons who all but wrecked the cabin used by Fleagle as a hideout.

Impetus has been added to the hunt for Jake Fleagle's loot by the announcement recently that Ralph Fleagle, the bandit's brother, who was hanged in the Colorado state prison, had left an estate valued at $850,000.

A large field is available to the fortune seekers for operations, there being scarcely a dozen homes in an area of 100,000 acres surrounding the Fleagle cabin.

SUIT TO TEST STUDENT LAW

Fraternity Regulation to Be Weighed in Court

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—In a test suit to determine the authority of the state to place restrictions on secret societies in public grade schools and high schools, a warrant was issued here today for the arrest of James Blakeney, Classen High school student and son of B. B. Blakeney, local attorney.

Young Blakeney is charged with "soliciting for and encouraging school fraternities." He is alleged to have solicited membership to the Phi Lambda Epsilon fraternity.

It was expected a habeas corpus action would be brought to obtain a court decision on the power of the state to hold Blakeney under the statute forbidding public school students from becoming members or soliciting members of secret fraternities.

Finnish Army Leaders Arrested for Kidnaping

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 22. (AP)—The chief of the Finnish general staff, General Wallenius and the head of the general staff mobilization section, Colonel Uusjaervi, have been arrested in connection with the recent frustrated kidnaping of Dr. Kaarlo Stahlberg, former president of the Finland, and his wife.

It was said in authoritative circles today there remained little doubt in the minds of investigators the incident, when Dr. Stahlberg and his wife were carried away in an automobile to a point near the Russian boarder, was part of a projected political coup.

Thieves Make Big Haul At Breckenridge Store

Special to The Record News

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Oct. 22.—A partial checkup of the loss sustained in recent robberies of the S. and Q. Clothing store here revealed that 27 suits of the best tailoring quality had been stolen, according to S. Q. Allgood, local manager. The 27 suits of men's clothes represent a loss of approximately $750, Allgood said.

Mr. Allgood explained that the suit department was the only one checked up for losses. Other departments will probably show a heavy loss as well, he said.

Loyal Daughters' Annual Banquet Beautiful Affair

Reception rooms in the First Christian church were beautifully tropical in appearance Tuesday night when ferns, palms and singing birds were a background for the members of the Loyal Daughters class of the church who met in their annual banquet, with the teacher, Mrs. J. Lem Keevil, as hostess.

The delicious dinner was served in the church basement when zinnias, roses and dahlias perfected the lovely autumn setting. Mrs. Keevil presided and introduced the new president, Mrs. L. D. Smith Jr., with a charming welcome and also made a gracious speech of thanks to Mrs. C. F. Chewning, the outgoing president.

Mrs. W. L. Parker sang "The Holy City" with Mrs. R. E. Shepherd accompanying and Miss Ellen Parker made an interesting talk on the Passion play which she saw in the past summer at Oberammergau.

Miss Madge Davis was introduced and held the interest of her audience from the time when she bade them close their eyes and go with her on her visionary trip to Europe. The vivid scene when as they were almost ready to land, they rescued people from a burning ship was portrayed. Miss Davis touched on the high spots of her tour, using the backgrounds of history and literature to interest her hearers. She stated that if there was only one place she might revisit, she would choose Rome and with her enthusiasm, envisaged the beautiful blue Mediterranean. The Danube, she said, was all that had been written and sung of it, but it was not blue and words could not tell nor dreams portray the real beauty of the Mediterranean. She left the audience in a little church at Oberammergau where her party attended mass.

With the friends and husbands of the class members, there were present approximafely 115 people. Mrs. H. T. Wood dismissed the assembly with prayer.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

During the week of Oct. 4-11, according to the magazine Time, the New York school board dropped 483 pupils between the ages of 12 and 21 from the city school rolls because they were married.

They'll be looking for homes. And what is a home, anyway? We looked for Mr. Webster's definition and he states among other things, a place of rest and security—and the place of one's abode. We might add that a real home is the place where one's heart is at rest.

The rest and security must have dated back to that "every man's house is his castle" day that seems to have passed out with the 18th amendment. And though in the mauve decade one was supposed to own one's home to love it—that is past. Real estate men rent in these days.

An entirely new angle on the American idea of "home" may be found by one who is hunting a house to rent. Advertisements are magical things; they leave the reader eager to find the wonders of which he reads.

Over the phone, a manly voice assures the homeseeker that the house is rented for at least $10 less than its value because the family is leaving town and they wish to rent it to some one who will remain in it.

Asked about the modern features of the domicile, he answers with real majesty, "This is a home, and you must see it to appreciate it; it is a real home."

All agog with fear that some one else will snatch up the treasure, the househunter starts out and knocking at the door, finds it opened by the owner of the voice, who waves a hand grandiloquently, announcing "this is the living room."

Seeing the visitor's eyes fixed on the water-stained ceiling and walls, he says imperatively, "Come this way," leading through an archway into a small room which he remarks is to be used as a bedroom or if one prefers, "a den." "If you entertain much," he adds, "it can be used as part of the living room."

"And this," leading to the back, "is the small dining room. It is small, with a western window and a door opening into the small kitchen. That is the next room and a door thrown open, shows the pantry." The home seeker, having as yet seen no wonders constituting a particularly attractive home, follows through the other two bedrooms, taking cognizance of the ordinary bathroom and the little linen closet in the hall.

"That," she says, nodding toward the room adjoining the living room, "is really the dining room, isn't it?" "It could be so used," answers the dignified proprietor. "And this room has paper in fearful condition," she summons nerve to remark. "I do not intend to paper anything before spring," the owner affirms severely. "If this house sweats as it did last year, it would have to be done over in the spring."

The house hunter escaped saying "sweats" under her breath and deciding that the best way to rent a house is to rent it from a real estate man.

They know more about a real home.

Current Books Discussed By Junior Travel

Visitors to the Spanish tearoom at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Wednesday were mystified at the pretty poster attached to the door of the room where the regular meeting of the Junior Travel club is held each Wednesday. It read "Humphrey-Sheldon Book Shop" with artistic flourishes. There were some visitors who opened the door and took a peep at the stacks of new books on the tables and left, still wondering.

With the announcement of the program of the Junior Travel club on current books, interest remained. When members gathered Wednesday afternoon, Mesdames Humphrey and Sheldon, who were in charge of the program, presented each member with a souvenir of the afternoon, a list of books decorated with the same silhouettes that adorned the poster on the door and tied with dainty ribbons.

On the table were stacks of books of biography, miscellany, fiction and poetry. The roll was answered with recent books of value and Mrs. I. R. Sheldon, leader, gave a talk on the new books and reviewed charmingly the little masterpiece, "The Woman of Andros," by Thornton Wilder.

Mrs. John Humphrey held the interest of her audience with her splendid reviews of "The Beautiful Years" and "The Pathway," by Henry Williamson.

New books for display and lists of the best recent books were loaned the club by courtesy of Cargill Book store. In a short business session, Mrs. D. O. Johnson was elected forum representative.

Members present were Mesdames O. T. Ailes, W. H. Caldwell, F. T. Datson, E. A. Deaton, N. H. Downing, E. T. Duff, J. J. Fennessy, John Humphrey, Grover C. Johnson, D. O. Johnson, A. L. Contest In Twain Bible Class Results In Banquet

A contest in the Twain Bible class of the First Methodist church resulted Tuesday night in a banquet in the basement of the church when Mrs. J. H. Green, with members of her group, called "Caspers," were entertained by the losers, the "Hoofers" headed by Mrs. W. R. Scott, at a delightful turkey dinner.

Halloween favors were little snappers at each plate and the Halloween motif was elaborated with many baskets of flowers in orange tints. Favors were miniature "Caspers" and "Hoofers" at places representing each side.

In the program, E. F. Bohmfalk was toastmaster and led in the singsong and special vocal numbers were given by Miss Minnie T. Baker and D. F. Gerstenberger. Mrs. Bohmfalk gave two Italian dialect readings.

Members present were Messrs. and Mesdames T. A. Richards, W. W. Voss, Lester Merrick, Perry McDonnell, Guy E. Ragland, N. O. Holland, Murrell Hooper, T. L. Terry, W. W. Calhoun, Alton V. Grant, S. A. Crust of Dandruff quickly dissolved!

It's so Easy! Make Scalp Healthy; Give Hair New Lustre and Vigor!

One after another a million men and women have made this discovery for themselves; that this simple method does dissolve the crust of dandruff, put the scalp back into the pink of condition; make the hair soft, lustrous, thick and vigorous.

Why experiment? The example of this great multitude of people points the way to the quick, sure way to be rid of dandruff and the many hair worries it causes!

Get a bottle of Danderine from your drug or toilet counter today. Put a little on your brush each time you dress your hair. Penetrating to the head, its soothing aid soon has an itching, feverish scalp cool, comfortable, healthy. The crust of dandruff simply melts away.

Dandruff is unsightly; and it is the proven cause of premature grayness; baldness; dry, brittle, dull hair. When the scalp is free from this irritating scurf, Danderine soon has the hair back in condition; soft, glossy, thick and abundant.

Start on Danderine today and end hair worries. A 35 cent bottle is enough to demonstrate its remarkable merit!—Adv.

Texas Mother's Lucky Find

WHEN we find that some slight adjustment makes a marvelous improvement in a child we wonder why we hadn't thought before to give the child this help.

A good example is the experience of Mrs. T. N. Atchley, 2204 N. Pearl St., Dallas. She says: "My little girl was doing fairly well but I noticed she didn't eat like she should and didn't seem to have much energy.

"I wanted to do something for her, and I heard a lot about California Fig Syrup, so I gave Imogene some. She improved so much I wonder why I didn't do something for her stomach and bowels before. It relieved her sluggishness, gave her a good appetite and plenty of energy."

To point up a child's appetite, increase energy and strength, assist digestion and assimilation, there's nothing more effective than pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. Doctors advise its use to open the bowels during colds and children's diseases, or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, listlessness, etc., warn of constipation.

The genuine always bears the name California. So look for that when buying. At all drugstores.

The New Way Doctors Use For Fat

A Simple Gland Food

Modern doctors no longer advise starvation diet to the over-fat. Nor drugs to attack the fat. Science has found that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. Thus comes a scant supply of a secretion which largely controls nutrition. Too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy.

Doctors the world over now supply that lack, with the very factor long employed in Marmola prescription tablets.

Marmola is prepared by a famous medical laboratory, to supply the right factors at a low cost so all may have the benefit. People have used it for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and multitudes have thus attained the normal figures all desire.

No secrets about it. A book in each box gives the formula and tells you how and why it acts. As the pounds go, there comes new joy in living. Just because the body gets a factor that it needs.

Marmola costs only $1 a box at your drug store. Go get it and watch the results. Do that in justice to yourself. Do it because so many folks around you have benefited by it. Then tell others who need this help. Go start today.

HOME DECORATION TALKS—NO. 17

AMATEUR DECORATING

Often I have had the privilege of lecturing on interior decoration at clubs and women's meetings. One of the most frequent questions I receive after my lectures is "I would just love to try to redecorate my own home, but I can't afford to hire some one to do it; do you think I could paint it myself without making a mess of it?"

Ordinary lacquers and enamels are difficult for women to work with, I know. When I have tried them, brush marks seem invariably to show. I would put so much paint on my brush that it "stuck" and became "tacky." For a long while I searched for a paint which would flow smoothly and be self-leveling so that any one, with no experience at all, could use it.

A year ago I heard of Flex. Some of my friends were talking about it enthusiastically. "Any one can use it," they said. "It flows on like water, yet in a few hours it has a hard, elastic finish which is actually as smooth as a plate of glass."

I tried Flex myself and I can recommend it to you. Neither an enamel nor a lacquer, it is the newest thing in color finishes. It is flexible and it will not crack even when applied to leather or fabrics, yet its hard, resistant, durable finish makes it unsurpassed for furniture, woodwork or automobiles.

This Cup of Coffee is Our Best "Ad"

Just Taste These Rare Coffees From the West Coast of Central America

If It Does Not "Spoil Your Taste" For Less Flavory Kinds— We'll Pay the Cost

DOWN along the west coast of Central America, in certain tiny mountain districts shown on the map below, Nature produces the choicest flavored coffees known today.

Less than 5 per cent of the world's coffee comes from this famous region. But it has a rare tang and rich mellow body, that experts concede, are not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

These are the coffees that you taste in Folger's. We don't want to tell you how good their flavor is. We want you to try it yourself and see. For our best "ad" is a cup of the coffee itself, steaming, fragrant, delicious. Different in flavor and richness from any other coffee you ever used.

In San Francisco's Famous Bohemian Restaurants

Years ago these coffees were first served in the old Bohemian restaurants of metropolitan San Francisco where they were brought by Folger. Travelers tasting them there were captivated. They wrote back for shipments. Connoisseurs among the European nobility, it is said, even purchased private plantations in Central America to secure these rare coffees—first for their own tables, and later to exploit commercially in Europe.

Through your grocer, Folger brings you these same coffees packed in flavor-sealed vacuum tins, always as fresh as they left the roasting ovens.

Accept A Pound To Try

Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it? 22-B

From the tiny mountain districts shown on the map below, rare coffees can be brought down to sea only in sturdy ox carts or on the backs of mules. The wheels of the carts are often made of mahogany—esteemed here not for beauty, but because its tough fibre withstands the terrific strain of rough mountain trails.

Divorcee Asks Dix How to Win Back Husband

Dear Miss Dix—I have been divorced from my husband for three years and would like to know how to get him back, as he hasn't married. I was a spoiled girl who had never been taught to be practical, so I made his life miserable with quarreling and by my extravagance. My husband, I realize now, was a real man, honest, faithful, a hard worker who devoted many evenings to business. He tried to teach me to be thrifty and to live within our income, but I was wasteful and self-indulgent. I cheated on him and would hide the bills and buy things he wouldn't know about. When he found it out he was furious, and so was I, and I rushed out and got a divorce, although I had two children.

After I got the divorce I had to go to work, and that made me appreciate the value of a dollar. I wish to God I had gone to work before I married and then I would have known how to value a good husband and sympathize with him and help him instead of ruining him. If I could get my husband back, I would work and slave for him instead of trying to make him just a meal ticket. Do you think that there is any way of getting him to take me back and give me another trial.—CAROLINE.

Answer — Perhaps you can blow the old fire into flame again. At any rate, it is worth trying, because the fact that your husband has not married again is ground for hoping that he still cares for you. So if I were you I should go humbly to him and confess my fault and tell him that I had learned my lesson.

It is one of the tragedies of divorce that so often the woman who gets one finds that her last estate is worse than her first, and that her decree absolute has brought her absolutely nothing that she wanted.

Her marriage hasn't come up to all of her rosy dreams. She has found her husband hard to get along with. She hasn't had all the money she wanted to spend. She has found housework and taking care of children confining and dull and she thinks if she could just get a divorce somehow, some way she would be miraculously transported into an elysium where everything would be soft and luxurious and she would have nothing to do but to amuse herself.

So she rushes to the divorce court and then finds that she has to work harder in an office than she had to work in her home, and that employers are just as cantankerous as husbads, and she wishes she had her old husband and her old job back again.

And as you say, Caroline, it is a pity that every girl has not earned her own living before marriage. It would make her have more sympathy for her husband and a better understanding of all he is up against in supporting a family. And it would make her go easier on his pocket.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Why is it that so much stress is put on the ages of a couple about to be married? I have in mind an attractive woman of 39 and a young man of 30 who are very fond of each other, but they hesitate to get married because his friends advise him that he will not be happy if he marries a woman older than himself. What do you think of this?—E. M. E.

Answer—I see no reason why a man of 30 should hesitate to marry a woman who is nine years older than himself, because at 30 he is mature, his tastes are formed and he is not likely to change. But I think it a great risk for a boy of 20 to marry a woman of 29, because he is too young to know what he wants in a wife.

The reason so much stress is put upon age is because men and women of the same age are more likely to have the same tastes, ideals and point of view and therefore to be more congenial. A young man and woman who like to dance and go to places are, for instance, more likely to be happy together than either one would be if married to some one much older, who had tired of amusements and wanted to stay at home.

But age is not a matter of years. Sometimes people are old in the cradle and flappers and playboys at 70. Happiness in marriage consists in congeniality and some of the most successful mariages are between men and women between whom there is a great disparity in years.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 19 years old and am very much in love with a girl of 18. Our parents will not consent to our marriage because we are so young. It is our intention to get married secretly in some small twon. I expect to land a fair job in a few months. We ask your advice in the matter.—PUZZLED.

Answer—Don't do it, son. Wait at least until you have pulled off that "fair" job and have some way of feeding your wife. You know girls of 18 are a hungry lot. Also they have to have clothes. And consider this point: Don't you think it is a pretty rotten thing for a boy to get married and bring his wife home for his poor old father to support?—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a boy of 17 who tells me that he is going to marry a girl I have never even seen, and he wants to bring her to my house to live. I am a poor woman who makes a living taking roomers. My son has no trade or vocation by which he can make a decent living. How can I prevent this marriage that is bound to bring disaster on all concerned?—ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Quick Action Seen on Oklaunion Underpass

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 22.—A study of the highway No. 5 underpass, a mile west of Oklaunion will be made by a state highway engineer at once as a result of orders issued Monday at Austin by the highway commission, Judge J. V. Townsend of Vernon, who attended the commission meeting, said. An immediate study was ordered to determine if the high water in the underpass after rains can be prevented. During heavy rains the underpass is impassable.

If the state engineer is unable to find a suitable remedy for the situation the state highway commission will furnish two-thirds of the cost of graveling the detour road from the underpass to the Oklaunion depot crossing of the Denver tracks, Judge Townsend said. The detour road at present is almost impassable following heavy rains.

The highway commissoion also informed Judge Townsend that it is ready to proceed with plans for the proposed Red river bridge on highway 23, about 20 miles north of Vernon, as soon as the Oklahoma highway commission is ready. A fifty-fifty agreement has already been reached with the Oklahoma commission for the construction of the bridge, but no definite location has been agreed on by Oklahoma engineers.

Shooting Worth While
Coste's Good Sense
The Law in Italy
Einstein's Assistant

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Those among New York's unemployed who like to do a bit of shooting and earn some money are advised to go to Omaha, where the City Bankers association has offered a $3,000 reward for every bandit caught and slain.

In New York the price for putting a gangster on the spot seems to have dwindled to such a low rate that it no longer pays. In Omaha one can become rich at the profession and have the sanction of the law besides.

Dieudonne Coste, hero of the first non-stop flight from Europe to the United States, showed the right spirit when he refused to figure in a tableau in which he was asked to pose behind an exhibit of medals and cups won in his recent American tour. "It's too much like a cattle show," he remarked.

Had Rear Admiral Byrd shown as much consideration for good form, he would never have come in for the criticism leveled at him by the British for "vulgarizing the South Pole."

Heroes are the first to be criticized. A national idol must be as circumspect as a diplomat. It is the price of fame, and the payment is immediate. Where the prestige of a government is concerned, bad form can be as odious as crime.

The new commercial code in Italy, aimed at the "acrobats of business," provides that those guilty of defrauding the public are liable to 10 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

A similar code here might work wonders with racketeering—if it could be enforced. In Italy there is a genuine respect for law because the courts and prisons are right behind it. In the United States crime and punishment are as far removed from each other as the Heavenly City and gehenna.

Dr. Albert Einstein will enjoy the services of an endowed collaborator and the use of a $5,000,000 fund besides for his scientific researches, according to the provisions of a bequest by Mrs. Walter Graeme Ladd, of Far Hills, N. J.

This unique foundation, to serve one man, is perhaps as great a tribute to Einstein's genius as his inclusion among the sculptured saints, on the facade of the Riverside church and will help him a lot more.

George Mayer, New York's premier first nighter for the last 50 years, dies at the age of 66. He is reported as never to have missed an opening, and never to have accepted "courtesy" admission. He was always in his seat before the curtain rose, as well as when it dropped on the final act.

He took his mother along with him to the play. When she died he continued to reserve two seats although he sat alone thereafter. Perhaps she was with him all the time.

A smoke eliminator or transformer, which will change the dense smoke of cities into innocuous vapors, has been anounced by the General Electric company in Chicago. The smoke eliminator consists of metal plates charged with a high voltage of direct current. The negatively charged plates repel the grime particles while the positive plates attract them. Smoke, free of its grime particles, is harmless.

Robot Plane Gunner

WASHINGTON—The war department is testing a robot anti-aircraft gunner which will automatically determine the range and direction of guns used in fighting invading planes. It will be able automatically to determine range and direction of fire so that projectiles and the moving plane will reach the same point at the same time, it is said.

Education vs. Indifference

TEXANS might well hope that the roseate predictions of the state Republican committee of capturing the governorship were based on something more than the tradition that political parties must claim everything and concede nothing. If we had a real Republican threat this year, the state might turn out enough good Democratic voters to adopt the several vitally needed constitutional amendments before the people in November.

As it is, the amendments this year, as at all times in the past, face the tremendous obstacle of public indifference and public refusal to analyze any issues other than personal ones. The few voters who go to the polls, suddenly faced with a series of proposals with which they are only vaguely familiar, on the whole play safe and "scratch 'em all." And if such is the case this year, the results in at least one instance will be almost tragic.

Unless the amendment giving greater latitude in the investment of funds of the University of Texas and of Texas A. & M. is adopted, there seems little chance that these schools will secure anything more than two and one-half per cent on their investments. The constitution at present prevents the schools from investing their funds in anything but state or federal bonds. There are no state bonds, and indications are that by 1933, when vast sums must be reinvested, government bonds will yield the schools no more than two and one-half per cent. They might as easily secure twice that much. It ought to be fairly clear to the voter that if he refuses this amendment, he will be cheating his own and other children of their opportunity for a better education. Two and one-half per cent on the permanent funds of the two schools would be a high price to pay for pig-headedness.

Divorce in Texas

THERE probably will be considerable head shaking and viewing with alarm the recent statistics which show Texas' percentage of divorces to rank with the highest in the nation. There even may be some legislative effort to remedy this condition, on the false premise that it is a bad thing.

Except that we know the Texas law was not so conceived, it seems to The Record News our high divorce average might be considered a mark of the state's enlightenment. As it is, the best we can say is that the Texas divorce law or its interpretation is a happy accident. There seems no reason to this newspaper why we should deplore the fact that divorce in Texas is fairly easy, or why we should consider an increase in divorces as significant of some moral decline of the citizenship.

Happy marriages may be and quite likely are somewhat divine. But unhappy ones are undoubtedly the reverse; and we doubt if human beings can be made any better by being forced to continue a partnership to which one or both of the partners object, especially if the relationship is one so intimate and all-absorbing as marriage. We can be thankful for the number of couples who are more or less happily married; but we ought not to deny to those less fortunate the right to have another chance. They ought to have the sanction of the courts and the public in their pursuit of happiness, even if they never are successful in catching up with it.

Join the Waltons and Catch a Fish

THE Izaak Walton league of Wichita Falls has launched its annual membership drive, an event which this newspaper wishes to call to the favorable attention of the sportsmen and conservationists in this area. The goal of the drive this year, we are told, is not only the enrollment of a membership large enough to carry on the league's program here, but one of sufficient numbers to give some background to the league's efforts to secure a North Texas division of the state organization.

To most folks, the Izaak Walton league simply represents an organization which hopes to secure better fishing and hunting; and while this description does not tell its full value or program, it can be content with its laurels on this score in the Wichita area. There has been no finer or more unselfish piece of public work than the building of rearing ponds for fish and the stocking of the lakes of the Wichita area by the Walton league. If the organization is able to command half the public support that it deserves, it will give this town an attraction to outsiders far superior to any we now have and furnish our own residents with possibly the finest of outdoor recreations.

An Accomplishment

THE county commission's decision to restore the highway patrol to the roads of the county on Nov. 1 is a commendable one, and one in which this newspaper hopes the two dissenting commissioners, H. H. Haynes and F. R. Knauth, will later concur.

Aside from the protection which the patrol affords motorists, The Record news believes the county paid and maintained patrol is a step toward a better basis for the operation of all state and county law enforcement agencies. We already have had too many examples of the vicious workings of the fee system in Wichita county. In the patrol, we have an example of law enforcement on a different plane.

If the public protest over the elimination of the patrol shows anything, it is that the patrol has been highly successful not only in its work, but in commending itself to the public. The Record News would judge that the patrol has been able to command real public respect and true public co-operation. In this day and time, that is no mean accomplishment for a law enforcement agency.

Brazil Rebels Are Banned

UNCLE SAM has ruled that the government of Brazil has a perfect right to buy munitions of war in the United States. He has ruled that the state department would decline permission for sales of munitions to the rebels of Brazil. Secretary Stimson, speaking for Uncle Sam and President Hoover in a brief statement announced that the Brazilian government is on friendly relations and has a perfect right to buy the wares of the gun and powder makers of our people. Business is business.

Quotations Worth Noting

As people grow accustomed to flying a new sense of distance will develop and foreign countries will not seem so far away.—Colonel Lindbergh.

Logic

You have come back with all your old allure,
And once again my nights are filled with you;
I felt the months had wrought a certain cure,
But now I know my thoughts were far from true.
I am still slave to each enchanting way,
I am still bound by slim and silken chains,
must say,
muts say,
There is so much of love that still remains.

Well do I know that you will not be true,
Well do I know how quickly glamour dies;
Yet there are nights that I must spend with you
Probing the secrets in your laughing eyes;
If, at the end, these secrets still remain—
Surely, my dear, the search is worth the pain!

Add Practical Jokes

The United Press, according to the New York Herald-Tribune, quotes Miss Barrymore as "emphatically denying" that she called the newspaper profession "the lowest."

"Why should I fear the New York critics?" Ethel is also supposed to have said. "I suppose few persons have received more generous and gracious treatment at their hands than I have."

The Sunday World files of only a few months ago could reveal why Miss Barrymore "fears the critics"—unless, of course, the Sunday World and its interviewer played Ethel a dirty trick.

And didn't the Sunday World, after some doubt was expressed that she said the things she was quoted as saying, get another statement from her in which she reiterated her tongue lashing?

Anything for a Titter

Leave it to Izzy Elinson, who probably used to put mustaches on billboard faces, to toy with a sign near a hospital. It now reads: Kindly Refrain from Making Any Nurse.

Hehehch

Elinson was saying that those cardboard phonorecords that they're peddling for fifteen cents are great things, considering the fun you get in buying a copy of the "Stein Song" every now and then, just to tear it up!

Gosh, Yes!

"Dear Mr. Winchell," writes Beatrice Gumbinner. "Sunday night during the Heywood Broun refereed spelling bee you mussed up badly on 'tabloid' when you spelled it 'tablurd.' A little quick thinking on your part and you would have spelled it 'tab-lurid.'"

Gag

Take it from Bob K. London, the booking agent, an actor who had been visiting his office for nearly five years, without any encouragement, finally barked: "Listen here, now! Can you book me or not?"

Mr. London shook his head in the No manner.

"Well, then," said the disgusted fellow, "give me back my name and address!"

Repartee

Then there is Leo Townsend's report of this eavesdropped chatter: Broker: "Business is awful, Mac. They've got me with my back to the wall." Broker Still: "You're lucky. I haven't a wall left to go back to."

Just for the Records

The column's incessant argument that "Gina Malo" (who succeeded Lily Damita in "Sos o' Guns") was a colleen named Janet Flynn, enticed an abundance of abuse. No less than twenty letters came from persons who "could vow" that Miss Melo was a Frenchy "because I was raised with her in France," etc.

Recently Janet Flynn, who was forced to masquerade as a mam'selle revolted when the show played Cincinnati, her home town.

"I'm warning all of you," she exploded, "in Cincy I'm letting my hair down, see? I cooperated best I could with the management in New York, but I'll be damned if I make a fool out of myself before the kids I went to school with here."

Wurra, Wurra.

A Passing Curse

Jean Mallin, whose antics at the Abbey every dawning make night loafers out of night lifers, has been at odds with his opposition and competitors. That is to say, Mallin and La Guinan have been disguising the pokes as jokes, but the venom is there.

The night that the Guinan asylum down the street was razed by flames (forcing it to close for a few days), Mallin stifled a heckler in the Abbey audience with this typical of the type retort: "If you've read the papers," shrieked Jean, "then you'll know that my curses have been working!"

Hic!

Clipped from "America," a tome written 30 years ago by Joel Cook: "The scene of this great carousal is said to have been the island where is now the City of New York. The Indian word Man-a-tey means 'the island,' and from this they named the place Man-ahat-ta-nink, 'the island of intoxication' . . . later it was changed to Manhattan, 'the place where they all got drunk.'"

You shaid it, bwoy!

There, Now!

"Now, now, Walter, don't you let that horrid old Mark Hellinger make you cry with his taunts of how pale you are," affectionately writes "Duke" Ridgely of Huntington, W. HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN . . .

Gail Stuart, picked up by Nick Walther, wealthy young real estate man, while she was hiking to Hollywood, fails in a screen test he arranges for her but lands a job with Carla Cross, the star. Gail is engaged to Ross Hardy, an extra whom she has met, and both have pledged themselves to help each other get a break. Gail gets her chance to help Ross by pretending to Max Brackett, Carla's director, that Carla wants him to see Ross. Carla returns home, elated over her handsome young leading man—Ross has got the job. To help Ross and protect herself, Gail insists that he say nothing to Carla of their engagement.

CHAPTER XIV

"Ross, this is my secretary, Miss Stuart," Carla said as she introduced Gail.

Ross, his eyes twinkling, bowed. Carla had taken him by the arm in a proprietary fashion as soon as he had come in.

Gail looked admiringly at Ross. She wished she could tell him just how nice he looked in his dinner clothes. So tall, so straight, with his broad shoulders thrown back.

Carla looked her best, too. She had tried on three dresses before she had finally chosen the one she wore, a daffodil yellow frock of fluttering chiffon. She always was particular when she dressed, but tonight Gail thought she had been more than usually careful. She floated through the rooms like a flower, her silvery laugh everywhere, dragging Ross after her, introducing him, making him feel at home.

Gail was conscious that she did not look her best. The dress she wore was an old one of Carla's, she did not have an evening frock, and the actress had lent her this one. A demure taffeta thing of lavender was not becoming to the girl. Carla had told her to go to the wardrobe and pick out something. Gail had come back with a white gown, which Carla vetoed at once.

"I don't want you to look too conspicious, my dear," she had said, "besides that's one of my best." Four other white gowns hung beside it. Then the actress had taken down the taffeta dress. "Here, this will do."

Carla Triumphant

Ted Janson raised his eyebrows significantly when he saw Gail. "Took my advice, didn't you? So you're Carla's secretary," Gail's face burned at his words, and she turned away quickly. He said nothing else to her all evening, even though he sat beside her at the dinner table. After all she was only Carla's secretary and that meant nothing to him.

Carla, charming, beautiful between Nick and Ross, smiling first at one and then at the other. Tapping Ross' arm now and then with a white finger, leaning toward him, as if she were drinking in every word he said.

Ross' face was shining with happiness. He was so thrilled he forgot the cocktail in front of him. Gail, too, did not eat hers. She toyed with it, but that was all. There had been no chance yet to talk to Ross alone. Perhaps after dinner, they might get a short chat. She hoped so.

Here she should be the happiest girl in the world, and she wasn't. She was a—little miserable. Silly of her, when Ross couldn't help sitting beside Carla, talking to her, smiling at her. Jealous? Yes. Foolish, when Ross cared for her only. When he loved her. They were to be married. Carla didn't know—that was the rub.

She barely heard the conversation during dinner. It was about the picture she knew, for faint snatches of it came to her ears sometimes. She wasn't interested in it. As far as she was concerned there were only Ross and Carla at the table. She had eyes for no one else. Not even Nick, whom occasionally she found staring into her eyes.

After dinner was over, Carla sent her upstairs for a vanity case. Mrs. Cross went up with her. She was leaving the party, as she usually did as soon as dinner was finished.

She was in his arms . . . he still loved her . . . he wanted to be with her.

"Nice looking boy, this Ross Hardy," she murmured, panting as she went up the stairs. Gail admitted he was.

"Carla seems to like him very well. They'll make a lovely pair on the screen. He so dark, and she so light."

"Is she—is she always so nice to her leading man?" Gail asked. She wanted to take back the words after they were said. To give herself away like this . . .

"Oh, yes. Carla's always nice to men, especially handsome ones. She was in love with Norman Frame for awhile, but of course she never considered marrying him. He wasn't making enough money."

"Was she ever in love with any other of her leading men?"

"Yes, but her affair with Norman was the worst. That's why Mr. Brackett wouldn't have Norman in this picture. At least that's what I heard. Too hard to manage him. Norman's still in love with Carla."

Gail found the diamond studded vanity case, and slowly went downstairs. What Mrs. Cross had told her bothered her not a little. She was still puzzling about it, when Sarah Morton came and sat at her side.

Stars Come and Go

"You look sort of glum, Miss Stuart," she announced, as she glanced at Carla surrounded by men. Sarah, Gail remembered, had been a star herself once. Now she did second leads. Something had happened. What it was, she didn't know. For Sarah was as lovely as ever, a vivid dark beauty, with enormous brown eyes, and a pert smiling mouth. Two years ago, this house had belonged to her. That Gail knew, too, from the servants. She had had to give it up, and was living now in a small apartment off the boulevard. The girl thought it must be hard for her to come here, to see this house which once she had owned. Much of the furniture she had bought herself, for she had sold the place in entirety. Carla's present boudoir and bedroom had been hers. But, when she lived here, it had been furnished differently. Martin, who had once been her butler, had said it was done in lacquer, red and green—all Chinese.

Gail was embarrassed. She did not quite know what to say.

"Good looking chap — Ross Hardy," Sarah went on, letting her eyes linger on Ross for a time. Gail nodded. That's what everyone said. Even Mrs. Cross.

"Don't know where Carla found him. Much nicer than Norman Frame. More personality. The lad will go far."

Gail smiled at her gratefully.

"That is—he'll go far if Carla lets him. She has a habit of stifling her leading men. Like she did Fame. He started out well, but fell in love with Carla. Forgot his own ambitions, his own pride. You can't do that in pictures. You've always got to remember yourself. That's where I made my mistake. But I know now, and I never make the same mistake twice."

"I don't understand." Gail thought Sarah was talking in riddles.

"You're too young to know yet, what I mean. Carla knows. She always has known. It's inborn in her. Selfishness."

The radio was on, and a slow waltz droned through the warm room. Carla was dancing with Ross, her arm on his shoulder, her face turned up to his. Ross danced well, Gail thought. Long even steps. Nick came over to Gail and asked her if she would dance with him. She rose thankfully. Nice of him to ask her. She appreciated it. They had taken no more than a few turns, when Carla broke away from Ross and claimed Nick. She seemed annoyed, Gail thought, when she touched Nick's arm.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are ones that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied by the writer's name and address and two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send your question to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—How long have tops been used as playthings?—T. E. J.

A.—Tops were known in ancient times. They are referred to by Perseus in the third Satire and by Virgil in the Aeneid. They were common in Japan and China at a very early period. A marginal drawing of a 14th century manuscript in the British Museum has a picture of a man and boy whipping a large top.

Q.—In what part of Canada has a new ice field been discovered?—N. C.

A.—A party has returned from the headwaters of the Southgate Littlewood, and Toba rovers in the Cascade range, 160 miles north of Vancouver. Huge snowfields and glaciers estimated at an area of 350 square miles were seen and photographed for the first time in history.

Q.—How many miles of railway did Germany build in her lost concession in China?—S. W.

A.—Up to the time of the world war, the Germans had built two railways in China, the Shantung railway and the northern section of the Tientsin railway, both in the province of Shantung. The first was 284 miles long, built by a German company with German capital and opened in 1904. The second was 390.48 miles long and built with materials of German manufacture. The line, however, was the property of the Chinese government and built with Chinese money.

Q.—What is the origin of the Sealyham terrier?—R. R.

A.—The Sealyham terrier is a breed which has but recently come into prominence in the dog world. Although there seems to be no reason to doubt that such terriers have been bred for a considerable number of years in their native land, Wales, the breed did not acquire extensive popularity until its fanciers began participating in British bench shows. It is generally agreed that the Sealyham is a manufactured breed, being a combination of the fox terrier, Dandie Dinmont terrier, and bull terrier. Early specimens frequently displayed evidence of their mixed ancestry, but the type has now become well fixed and individuals as a whole are uniform.

HEARTBREAK GIRL

by ROB EDEN

Ross was free. He was beckoning her. She left the room as unobtrusively as she could and went out into the garden. Ross followed her in a few seconds.

"I've been waiting all evening," he said, "to talk to you, Gail, dear. . . ."

She was in his arms, half sobbing with relief. He still loved her. He wanted to be with her.

"Close your eyes!" She did and felt him fumbling with her left hand. "Now open them!"

There was the ring he had promised, sparkling in the darkness. A diamond ring.

"I told you it would be there some day, didn't I? Only really I didn't expect it to be there so quickly!" Ross grinned boyishly. "You must have wanted it badly to do what you did for me—"

"You shouldn't have gotten it so soon, Ross. You haven't started working, and you haven't the money—"

"I drew advance salary. Brackett was tickled to death to give it to me. I ordered a car, too."

"So soon?" Gail was breathless, with astonishment.

Big Plans

"Sure, why not? What would everybody think if Carla Cross' leading man walked to work? Or rode the street cars. Everybody in Hollywood has a car. Mine is a Sun—a roadster, Gail, and we'll have a peach of a time in it. I bought it on time, of course. Couldn't afford to pay for it outright. Yellow, I ordered. Won't be here for a few days. I found an apartment too today, in the Gaylor, three rooms, living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath. Rented it furnished, but as soon as I get time, I'm going to get some furniture together. Pretty different than living at Mrs. Green's.

"And Gail, a girl from one of the movie magazines interviewed me today, and got a lot of pictures. I'm going to have a big spread. Got my life story. How I rose from an extra, and all that rot. I've an appointment with another tomorrow—also for an interview. I was talking to Miss Cross tonight at dinner about my publicity, and she thinks Tod Janson is the best press agent here. Thinks I ought to hire him. It'll cost fifty bucks a week, but it'll be worth it. A fellow has to have a lot of publicity to get by nowadays. What do you think?" But he didn't wait for her to answer. He went hurrying on with his chatter.

"Miss Cross is right about publicity. It means everything. The 50 bucks won't be wasted anyway. She says Tod Janson has done wonders with her. Gets her name in some paper every day, gives her loads and loads of clippings. He'll do the same for me.

"Gosh, I've never seen anyone so pretty. And sweet, Gail. Won't it be great working for her every day?"

Ross turned admiring eyes toward the living room where Carla was still dancing with Nick.

Jackson County Roads In Good Condition

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 22.—County highways are in excellent condition for traffic, John Riley, county engineer, said this week. The entire system of county roads has been scraped and dragged and thoroughly reconditioned following rains for most of this month.

State highways in this county, according to J. R. Baker, local state highway maintenance engineer, will not be in good condition before the end of this week.

A grading and drainage program now under way on state highways in this county, has caused unusual damage to the surface of the roads as a result of the heavy rainfall, Baker said.

Township roads were reported to be in conditions varying from poor to fair.

At the present time county highways compose 276 miles of the county roadways; state highways 63½ miles and township roads 1,591.

Oxford Men Renew War Against Co-Eds

OXFORD, Eng., Oct. 22. (AP)—A campaign against having co-eds at Oxford has been renewed by male students of this ancient university.

For a long time many of the men students have been strongly against the co-ed policy. The student magazine Isis today published an editorial against woman students, inviting them to "make for home, angels."

One of the complaints Isis has against the girls is that they are indecorous—they ride bicycles in the street "with truly shocking display of worsted" and munch belated breakfasts of chocolate and biscuits in lecture rooms. The paper adds: "When Matthew Arnold knew Oxford he never envisaged its home of lost hairpins and impossible hats."

Holloway to Attend Highway Celebration

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—Gov. W. J. Holloway today accepted an invitation to attend a celebration at Cushing, Nov. 2, that will mark the opening of a paved highway between Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

An eight mile stretch of road between Drumright and Cushing on state highway No. 33 will be formally opened to motorists that day.

Members of the state highway commission will attend the celebration.

WOMEN DUPED BY BOB'S FIRM

Long Distance Speculators Buy Mining Stock

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Women who live in Kansas, Kentucky and Ohio, in New England and Canada—long distance speculators who know little or nothing of finance—are the heaviest losers in the collapse of Charles V. Bob's Metal and Mining Shares, Inc., the attorney general's office said today.

This is the Bob enterprise to which Assistant Attorney General Washburn is directing most of the activity of an investigation into all Bob's manifold stock promotions. Bob has been missing since Oct. 5, when he flew to Chicago in his own airplane, informing business associates he expected to return in a few days.

His friends remained convinced today that the financier had left the country, despite a report of a telephone call last Friday in which a man who represented himself as Bob talked from Akron, Ohio, with a maid at the Bob home here. Mr. Washburn said he would talk to Mrs. Bob about that.

Examination of records of Metal and Mining Shares, he said, disclosed that "an astonishingly large percentage" of investors were women holding minority shares. A majority interest in big blocks is held by Bob and his associates. There is nothing to indicate what the small investors paid for their stock. Similar investigatons of 29 other Bob companies are in progress, and within a day or so, Mr. Washburn said, applications will be made for receiverships for a number of these concerns.

Since his inquiry began Mr. Washburn has estimated total losses to investors in Bob concerns between $6,000,000 and $12,000,000, the figure increasing as his investigation progressed. His statisticians, he said, have not tabulated the names of any small stockholders.

NO SECRET NOW

Aspirin was originally a guarded mysterious secret, and was used only by a few physicians. Today aspirin is the most popular and most widely used of all medicines. The medical profession and public alike have learned that pure aspirin such as St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin is safe and effective for many ailments.

No secret attaches to aspirin. It is included under its scientific name in the United States Pharmacopoeia and St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin conforms in every particular to government standards.

Thousands of people have learned there is no reason to pay more than ten cents for one dozen pure aspirin tablets and St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin is sold everywhere in convenient tins for ten cents for one dozen pure tablets of pure aspirin. It is generally known in medical circles that the manufacturers of St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin guarantee that it is as pure as money can buy.

Upper Mississippi Navigation Closed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (INS)—Navigation on the upper Mississippi will be closed early this year because of exceptionally low water resulting from the drouth, the lighthouse service said today.

The superintendent of lighthouses at Rock Island, Ill., was instructed to delay removal of the buoys as long as possible.

New Creamery Plant Nearing Completion

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 22.—Plans are being made by the chamber of commerce for an intensive advertising campaign for the benefit of the new cooperative creamery which will open for business within the next month.

Local business men raised $5,000 and the Oklahoma Farmers union gave $15,000 toward the creamery. Profits from the enterprise will be prorated among the farmers who have signed to furnish cream.

More than 2,000 cows have been signed up with the organization.

G. Daniels, who will manage the plant, has been here for some time completing plans, while the new brick building which will house the creamery is being completed.

Cream buying stations will be located in Ryan, Hastings, Addington, Comanche and Ringling and it is at these places that local business men are planning meetings with the farmers to discuss the operation and work of the new creamery.

Storm Losses In Mexico Increase

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—Losses from storms and floods over Mexico continued to mount today and probably will reach several millions of pesos.

Meanwhile gales of near tornado proportions still assailed the gulf coast as far north as Tampico and south as the Isthumus of Tehuantepec, striking inland as far as Oaxaca.

Excelsior dispatches said that the hurricane had leveled banana trees at Tuxtepec, banana region of Oaxaca. Rivers of the region were swollen and the villagers have fled to higher ground.

Lower parts of Tampcio are under water while the village of La Ribera, northern Vera Cruz, has been inundated by a flooding rivulet there.

The ports of Tampico and Vera Cruz both have been closed because of the bad weather, flying between Mexico and the United States continues suspended.

If you're tired at 4 o'clock get something to eat that's Sweet

Nearly every business makes its greatest demands on the worker from mid-afternoon on. Yet that is invariably the "zero hour" so far as vitality is concerned. Refined sugar in any form supplies quick nourishment and overcomes mid-afternoon fatigue.

RECENT scientific investigations have proved that the eating of sweet cakes, a few pieces of candy, a dish of ice cream or the drinking of a sweet beverage—even a glass of water sweetened with sugar—will revive one in an amazing way when mid-afternoon fatigue sets in.

The reason for this lies in the quick digestibility of sugar.

There are few food products which nourish the body so speedily. And when the system is nourished, fatigue is noticeably decreased.

It pays to eat something sweet when you are tired. Foods sweetened with refined sugar always are safe. The Sugar Institute.

It costs you LESS per pound than many good coffees but—THAT ISN'T IMPORTANT!

Most grocers at one time or another make a "leader" of Maxwell House Coffee.

Many intentionally sell it on a slimmer margin of profit than they place on other coffees for which they pay the same wholesale price.

In either case, they are utilizing the matchless popularity of Maxwell House to attract new customers to their stores.

Whether you are the gainer by a few cents a pound or pay the grocer's full price isn't the important thing.

What is important is that when you buy Maxwell House you get for your table the most delectable coffee that ever ennobled a meal!

It is something more than good coffee, fresh coffee, modern coffee: it is coffee enhanced by art at a point where science must stop.

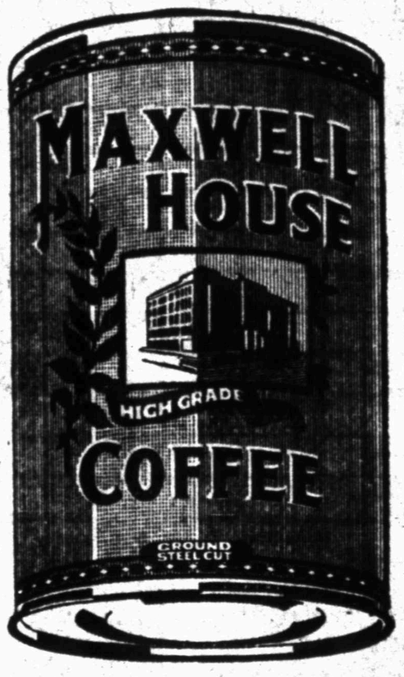

It is the creation of a gentleman schooled in the graces of good living, who devoted his taste, his time and his knowledge to achieve the perfect blend for his own private table.

That the quality he attained might never fall from his highest standard, Maxwell House has for years maintained a school of coffee tasters trained in the exquisite appreciations of the Old South.

The cup of Maxwell House Coffee that you lift to your lips bears witness to all this.

It exhales an inspired harmony of fragrance, it yields an inimitably rich and mellow flavor, it is bland, cordial, honey-smooth.

Just try it, not alone to see how fine it was in the beginning, but how better, even, it is now. It is waiting for you at your grocer's in the friendly blue tin.

"GOOD to the LAST DROP"

Maxwell House Coffee has been reduced 11¢ a pound to the wholesale trade since July 1, 1929. This reduction parallels the reduction of green coffee, and you may now enjoy Maxwell House Coffee at the lowest prices in years.

Health and Diet Advice

Asthma Is Curable

Since asthma is such a distressing disease, its sufferer usually vainly tries one remedy after another until he comes to the conclusion that it is an incurable disease. In spite of the failure of many remedies, I am sure that every case of asthma is curable if the right diet, exercise and sometimes manipulative treatments are used.

In order to bring about a cure it is necessary to correct the causes. In many cases which I have examined, the reasons could be sifted down to the following three: first, excessive gas pressure against the diaphragm; secondly, lack of mobility of the diaphragm; and thirdly, the excessive formation of mucus in the bronchial tubes.

Cardiac asthma is caused by some heart derangement whereby the heart does not pump enough blood through the chest, causing a feeling of fullness and shortness of breath. This is not true asthma, although it greatly resembles it.

What are usually trmed asthmatic causes, such as irritating dust and substances, and the pollen of plants, are really only exciting causes. When the bronchial tubes are so congested, it takes only a slight irritation to bring on an acute attack. In many people, such an attack may follow exposure to eat fur, felt, feathers, horse dander, orris root in face powder, or even the ink in the picture section of the Sunday paper. Bakers breathing flour dust often suffer. None of these things, however, will cause asthma unless the underlying causes are present, and they will cease to bring on attacks once the real causes are corrected.

The attack usually comes on suddenly following certain symptoms which the patient learns to fear. The face becomes covered with sweat and may turn livid, and the hands are cold. The patient finds it increasingly hard to breathe. He first fights for every breath he draws and struggles to expel it. He will often sit in front of an open window because of the agonizing air-hunger which he feels coming upon him.

In the beginning he may have some trouble with a hard, dry cough, but at the height of the attack the cough begins to raise sputum, which is characteristic and carries in it small bits of mucus which look like tapioca, and are called "Laennec's Pearls." Once this sputum is raised, relief begins, the coughing grows easier, and the breathing normal.

An attack may last a few minutes, a few hours, or a few days. The magic of the fasting regimen will never be more quickly seen than in its application to this malady, but a careful diet free from carbohydrates will also bring about a cure of this distressing disease, although the cure is much slower than if the initial fast is used. The patient should be encouraged at the same time to develop a strong movable diaphragm.

If much bronchial mucus is present, the cure will be slower but none the less sure, and it seems that advanced cases often yield as readily as those which are just beginning. It is necessary to restrict the use of starches in the diet and also to avoid gasforming foods or combinations.

I will be pleased to send anyone who is interested complete free instructions regarding the dietetic treatment of asthma if he will write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dirt-eating

Question—M. J. writes: "I have a child two years old who eats clay or other dirt at every opportunity. What makes a child do this, and how may I stop him?"

Answer: This dirt-eating practice is probably only a habit which the child gets into because he is not kept sufficiently interested in healthful playing. Some claim that it is because the child craves certain foods containing mineral and not getting enough of these foods acquires the instinctive desire to eat dirt. My observation is that this is not usually true, but that the dirt-eating habit or the habit of putting objects into the mouth is simply a bad habit of a poorly trained child.

Dry Cereals

Question—Reader asks: "Do you recommend the dry, ready-to-eat breakfast foods now on the market, such as corn flakes, etc?"

Answer: "When these breakfast foods are re-toasted they form an excellent dextrinized article of food and may be used freely with milk or cream except by those who have a tendency to catarrh, in which case it would be best to use only a small amount of butter. Milk and cream are to be avoided by catarrh sufferers on account of their mucus-forming elements.

Question—G. F. writes: "During the night I am awakened by my left arm aching dreadfully and this ache remains until morning. Could it be caused from poor circulation or lack of exercise, or is it all in our eating?"

Answer: Yes, the aching in your left arm may come from poor circulation, lack of exercise, or from over-eating. When such aches come only in the left arm, one must be suspicious of angina pectoris, which is a serious functional disorder affecting the heart and its arteries.

Borah Declares for Soviet Recognition

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 22. (AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho declared without qualification for recognition of the Russian government in a campaign address last night.

"I am not afraid of Communist propaganda," he said.

"There is nothing the people of the United States reject more quickly, when they know what it is, than they do the Communist doctrine," he said.

"If I had my way I would trade with every country in the world. I know in due time we will recognize the government of Russia. We don't do it now because that would be regarded in some quarters as an endorsement of the Communistic doctrine.

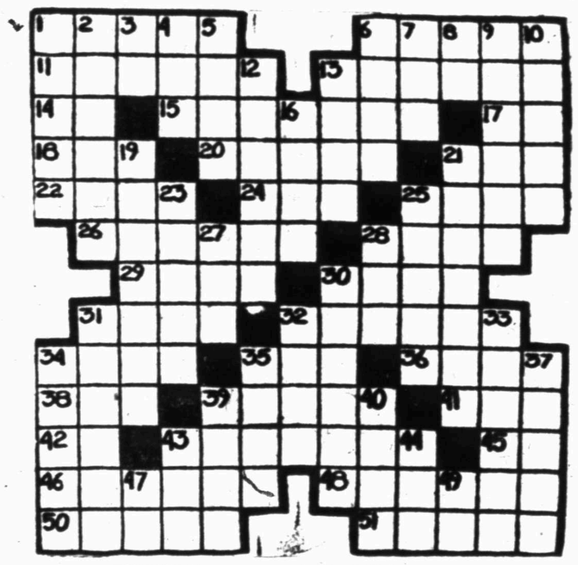

"No one has less use for the doctrine than I, but I believe that Russia, in pursuing her present policy, will work out something in the nature of a sane democracy."

COYOTES DRILL VERNON PLAYS; LIONS IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The Morning Mail

Editor,
Wichita Falls Record News,
Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Your reporter evidently did not understand Assistant Coach Bill Morris, for the statement credited to me in your feature story on the sport page of Tuesday's edition is false. I did not make any such statement and know Bill Morris too well to believe he quoted me as saying Quanah would have beaten our team on a dry field; nor do I believe they would have beaten us on any kind of a field.

My statement to Bill before the game was as follows:

"You will be playing the kind of a defense that Quanah hopes for and they will score against your team."

After the game, I told Coach Holton that Quanah had the most improved and changed team from one season to another that I have ever seen. Furthermore, in the Armilda hotel at Electra Saturday night, Assistant Coach Morris told me that I must have been right in my statement before the game about the defense.

Trusting that you will give this correction the same prominence given the incorrect statement, I am

Yery sincerely,
W. C. WEIR, Coach,
Vernon High school.

Coach Morris may have indeed misquoted the Vernon coach. Whether Quanah would have beaten Vernon on a dry field is a problem no person can answer anyway. The statement was included in the news story merely to give fans in the section an idea of the strength of the new and aspiring Quanah team.

But whether Morris misquoted the Vernon coach or not, and whether Coach Weir believes Quanah would have whipped his team or not, there are a few Vernon people who believe to this day that on a dry field Quanah would have given the Lions some run for their money. A news dispatch originating in Vernon, and printed on this page Wednesday morning even went so far as to say that had the game been played on a dry field the result of the affray likely would have been reversed. And Coach Morris didn't have anything to do with that story, and neither did Coach Weir.

But as stated, the matter is of slight importance, in that it is second guessing. No one actually knows but what Vernon may have whipped the socks off the Indians on a dry field or on a field loaded with dynamite. All are agreed, however, that Quanah has a nice little football team this year, and we all hope that the Indians continue to do the good work.

More Schedules

Gradually the schedules for class B, district No. 3 are being revised and sent to us for publication by B. C. Shulkey, superintendent of the Olney schools, in order that fans may know who will play who next. The last revised schedules to arrive are those for the Megargel and Chillicothe schools, as follows:

Megargel

Oct. 24.—Oakland.
Oct. 31.—Archer City at Megargel.
Nov. 11.—Megargel at Olney.
Nov. 21.—Thrift at Megargel.

Chillicothe

Oct. 24.—Seymour at Chillicothe.
Oct. 31.—Olney at Chillicothe.
Nov. 11.—Crowell at Chillicothe.
Nov. 21.—Archer City at Archer City.

The Protest

We carried a news story Wednesday morning about a protest having been filed in South Texas on the strength of the 10-semester rule of the interscholastic league. Ball High school of Galveston won from Milby High of Houston, but the game was awarded Ball High on account of the alleged ineligibility of a couple of players. Ball High then protested to the executive committee, which deferred action until the state committee meets in Austin. The latter body is to meet today, incidentally.

Ball High school has no title to the game, in the opinion of this writer who has always held that the law should be enforced. More than likely Ball High school coaches paid but scant attention to the new rule, as was the case with coaches over the state—or, what is more probable, they didn't know anything about the rule. Which was, of course, their fault. The interscholastic league was at fault in not giving the rule more publicity, but the coaches should have found out about it anyway.

Under the rule, Milby has a clear title to the game.

Altus May Play Cage Team From Amarillo

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 22.—Possibility of a basket ball game this year between Altus and Amarillo, Texas, was announced this week by high school athletic officials. Place of meeting or date was not named.

SCATIC!

Big Gray Cat 'Interferes' With Broadcast To Australia

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 22. (INS)—A large gray cat here today holds the honors of being the first of her kind to speak to Australia via radio.

While engineers of the General Electric company's short wave station were talking to others in Sydney the cat appeared. Jumping quietly on the table, she yawned and then gave a melancholy "meow."

Far on the other side of the world, at the beginning of spring one of the officials heard it. He paused uncertainly and then, apparently not to be outdone, very politely replied, "meow." The cat sneezed slightly and hopped to the floor.

PACK STAGES PRACTICE GAME

Withrow Takes Rest; Pep Rallies Start Today

When the Coyotes play the Vernon Lions Saturday at Vernon, it will be for the second time this week; for the Pack took them on "in effigy" on the practice gridiron behind the High school Wednesday afternoon.

It was a regular game, so long as it lasted, and it lasted a full half—with a kickoff, and everything. Coach Barry Holton attired his first string reserves in orange jerseys, and, dubbing them the Lions, sent his red and black regulars at them. The "Lions" were thoroughly drilled in Vernon plays, as the result of the efficient modern system of scouting, and in all things the practice workout resembled the real thing. The two Vernon backfield aces, Christian and Lawrence, were there—in the persons of Doerr and Janeway, and the Pack worked hard and long, stopping their drives through the line from the various wing-back formations used by Coach Weir up at Vernon. A thoroughly organized effort at stopping those Vernon drives was made, and a system was evolved which will give the roaring Vernonites a tough time of it next Saturday.

Withrow Takes Rest

Bennett Withrow, ace of the halfbacks, was given a rest Wednesday as Malcolm Maudlin and Harlan Ray took over the ball lugging duties with Cox and White. Maudlin, as has been previously announced, has been shifted from his end position to the backfield, and will hold down his new post in the Vernon game, according to Coach Holton.

The first of a series of pep rallies to herald the approaching annual classic with the Lions will be held in the regular assembly period this morning, it was announced, and the big pep rally of the week will be held on Friday night. The team will leave here Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock for Vernon.

Another brisk workout is on the program for today, with a light signal drill being scheduled for Friday, Coach Holton announced.

The Zundy eleven took on the C squad Coyote team Wednesday afternoon on the Zundy field, and whipped them, 6 to 0.

ALL VERNON PLAYERS DECLARED ELIGIBLE

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 22.—With Vernon keyed to high pitch at the approach of the traditional contest with Wichita Falls, Coaches Weir and Binnion drove the Lions through a hard session of practice in offensive football today at the city park. Coach Weir announced that all members of the Lion squad are scholastically eligible, and that only one or possibly two will be out because of injuries.

It is apparent that the Lions should be near top strength for the contest. Captain Marshall Nixon, quarter, who did not play in last week's game with Grandfield, has recovered from an injury and is in shape for Saturday's game. Lawrence, Smith and Williams, the other members of the Lion starting backfield are in excellent condition and should turn in a creditable performance. Lawrence, Vernon ace ball carrier, apparently has completely recovered from a knee injury that kept him out of games most of last season and troubled him some during the early part of this season.

The Vernon prospects for victory are considered bright here, too bright in the opinion of the Lion mentors. Over-confidence promises to be the major handicap which will be hanging over the Lions when they take the field Saturday, as the squad as a whole will be in good condition.

Beaucond Joins Poloists in Tryout

MARFA, Texas, Oct. 22. (AP)—Capt. C. A. Beaucond of the 82nd field artillery, Fort Bliss, arrived today to participate in the tryouts of the international polo squad, preparatory to a series of games in Mexico City next month.

Capt. John Smith, from the eighth corps area headquarters, who will pick the team, will have difficulty in deciding which four men will make the best combination, he said.

For the present, two teams have been organized, Whites and Greens. The White team, composed of Captain Boyle, 12th field artillery; Lieutenant L. G. Smith, first cavalry; Capt. W. H. Craig, ninth infantry; and Lieutenant Ridge, first cavalry, scored eight goals to two for the Green aggregation in a game last night. The Greens were Capt. H. E. Watkins, first cavalry; Lieutenant Harry Collins, second field artillery; Capt. John Smith and Lieutenant H. W. Johnson, first cavalry.

Tomorrow's game will see Captain Beaucond in the line-up for the first time.

Mickey Cochrane, Athletic catcher, had only caught three games when he joined the Eastern Shore league in Maryland. He chose that position because it was the only one vacant.

Notables To Attend Dedication Of Mustangs' Stadium

INDIANA TO PLAY PONIES

Presentation Ceremony Is Planned

Special to The Record News

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 22.—Governor Dan Moody, Ross Sterling, Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, President C. C. Selecman of S. M. U., President William Lowe Bryan of Indiana, and Mayor J. Waddy Tate of Dallas head the list of honored guests of the dedication game of the Dallas stadium when the Southern Methodist university Mustangs meet the Indiana university Hoosiers Saturday at 2:30. The brief but auspicious ceremony which has been arranged will mark the presentation of the new stadium to the people of Texas by President T. E. Jackson of the State fair to Governor Moody. This ceremony will be one of the big features of the day and will boost the attendance.

"The ticket sale for the game has been the heaviest that we have experienced in our history," Dr. R. N. Blackwell, business manager of athletics of S. M. U. said Wednesday. "And because of the low price feature of several thousand tickets we believe that the new stadium will be practically filled. There will be no cause for the fans to worry for fear they will not be able to get a seat for there are over 46,000 seats in the new stadium but it is advisable to buy your tickets soon if the most desirable seats are expected."

It was announced that end tickets would sell for $1.50 while seats on the bends would sell for $2 and the others would sell for the $3 top price.

It will be the first time in the history of the conference that a Big Ten team has made an invasion of this section and the first time that S. M. U. and Indiana have met on the gridiron. Press reports from Indiana say that the Hoosiers have been pointing to the S. M. U. game and are determined to win.

STEERS GET READY FOR PONY CLASH

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Pointing to their clash with S. M. U. two weeks off as well as their game with Rice Saturday, the University of Texas Longhorns were sent through a stiff practice session today.

Coach Littlefield gave considerable attention to the work of his sophomore backs, Koy and Stafford, whose game against Oklahoma Saturday made them factors to be considered in the first Southwest conference game for the Longhorns Saturday.

FROGS WORK ON MATADOR PLAYS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Coach Francis Schmidt gave his B and C squads work on plays seen by Horned Frog scouts at the last Texas Tech game today in preparation for the tilt Saturday with the Matadors.

It was expected Coach Schmidt would give his A team a rest from the game.

RICE OWLS IMPROVE IN PASS SNATCHING

HOUSTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Rice Owls, in a scrimmage with the freshmen today, showed some improvement in pass snatching—a department of play in which Coach Meagher's men last Saturday against Arkansas were woefully weak.

Coker and Klaerner, big ends, showed aptitude in snaring the ball, with Driscoll, Hammett and Squires doing most of the passing.

Coker, a fast, rangy lad, should see service here Saturday against the Texas University Longhorns, while it is quite probable Klaerner's 200 pounds will be needed to help break up the Longhorns' power plays.

BRUINS PLAN DIFFERENT BACKFIELD COMBINATION

WACO, Oct. 22. (AP)—With no sign of a let-up after terrific struggle against the Mustangs Saturday, Coach Morley Jennings' Bruins today were whipping into shape for the powerful Gents from Centenary whom they play Saturday in the Louisiana city.

Jennings plans an altogether different backfield combination, he says, affording Wilson, Alford, McElreath and Lewter a rest.

There is a chance the Bears will stake much on passes during the rest of the season.

Wood Runs With Ball for the First Time This Year

By BILL KING
Associated Press Sports Editor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 22.—Barry Wood, called Harvard's greatest all-around athlete since George Owen, is being developed into a triple-threat back.

Arnold Horween, Crimson coach, has sprung several new football ideas on his varsity squad this season, but this one leads the list.

This tennis-playing footballer, described by no less an authority than Knute Rockne as the gridiron game's greatest forward passer, also is an accurate kicker, but until this season started he never carried the ball for Harvard.

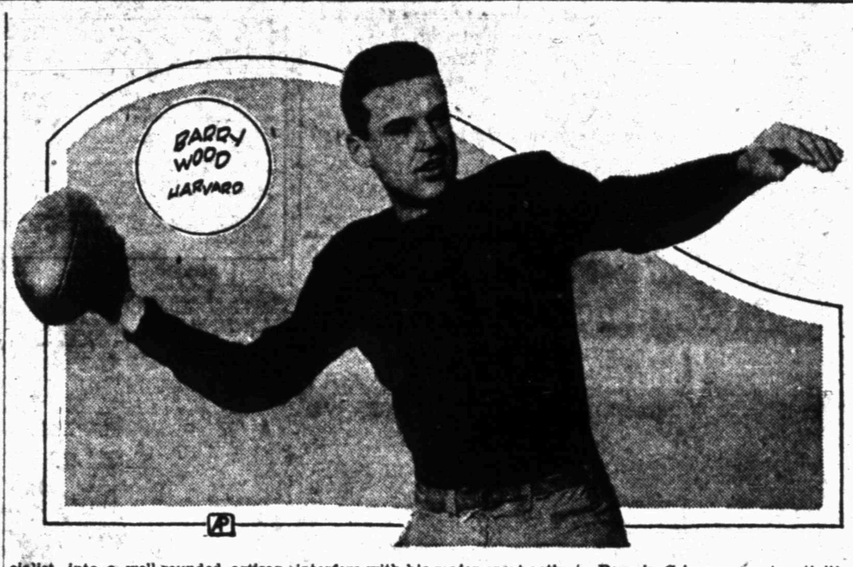

The public that ranks him with such super quarterbacks as Al Marsters, "Red" Grange, Albie Booth and Jack Elder, may find this statement incredible.

Nevertheless, it is a fact. Wood ran the ball for Harvard for the first time in this year's opening game against Vermont.

And it also must be said he was not so impressive as a rusher. He did, however, hit the enemy line on several straight away tackle slants and ran back a few punts, displaying quite a bit of power and no signs of weakening under the stress of tackles and pileups, situations that daunt most novice ball-carriers.

Horween, however, is banking on Wood's grit and determination, which made the youth a capable baseball, hockey, tennis player and student, to force him to become a shifty ball-carrier in addition to his quarterback duties, which he carried out last season in cool and level-headed fashion.

A year has made great difference in Wood. Since the last Yale game he has grown in football stature and developed from somewhat of a football freak, a forward pass specialist, into a well-rounded artisan of the gridiron.

He has yet to emulate Albie Booth flitting through a broken field, but Horween has high hopes that he will do so and very soon.

Wood, now 20, weighs 175 pounds and stands an inch over six feet. He is a quiet chap and studious to the nth degree. In fact he is Harvard's highest ranking student-athlete.

His studies, however, have yet to interfere with his major sport activities. Last year as a sophomore, he made an "H" in football, hockey and baseball and three "A's" and one "B" in his classes.

Before Wood became a varsity athlete he was the highest ranking New England tennis player on the national singles list. He was such a promising player that the U. S. L. T. A. named him as one of the 17 members of the 1930 American Davis cup squad.

Barry's Crimson sport activities, however, prevented him from devoting much time to the court game and it was not until late in the season that he started his tennis campaign.

He played in several important tournaments and, though competing against players much farther advanced than he, was skillful enough to gain the final round of the Longwood bowl tourney, a no mean tennis feat.

MEGARGEL TO PLAY QUANAH

Practice Game to Be Held Friday

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 22.—Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Athletic field the Quanah Indians class A team will play the Megargel, class B, football team, and a good game is expected. The Megargel team last week provided an unexpected victory when in the last quarter the team overcame a 12-point lead and defeated Seymour 13-12, for its second conference victory. This victory booted Seymour from first place tie and Megargel celebrated its win with considerable gusto.

Next week-end the Altus, Okla., high school eleven will come here for an intersectional battle and the week following finds the Indians in Lubbock to meet the Westerners. This clash will be under the floodlights, and will be Quanah's first night game.

The final home game of the season will be with Electra Nov. 22. Thanksgiving day ends the season with the Indians and the Pampa Harvesters in the oil city.

Duncan Team Meets Walters Eleven Friday

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 22.—Duncan and Walters will meet here Friday in a Southern conference football game. The two teams have long been rivals and the game promises to attract considerable interest.

Duncan's conference hopes were smothered last Friday by a 38 to 6 defeat at the hands of powerful Yukon team, whose effective passing machine promises to put them in the lead at the close of the conference schedule.

San Angelo Poloists Arrive in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—The polo team of San Angelo, Texas, arrived here today for a series of games with the Mexican army team. They are repaying a visit made by the Mexicans to the United States earlier this year.

Football Has Resolved Into Two Styles of Strategy, Says Coach

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The great game of intercollegiate football has dwindled down to two styles of play, two sets of strategy, and there it is going to stay until the last pigskin is booted and the final whistle blown. You can take this on the word of John (Chick) Meehan, head coach of the New York university Violets.

"Football," remarked Chick, "has come down to the Notre Dame system on one side—the balanced line, shifting backs—and the Warner system on the other—unbalanced line, wing backs. With but three exceptions, every offense in the country is based on one of these two plans.

"Knute Rockne has put deception, lateral passes, thrusts, speed into his attack. Warner into the unbalanced line has moulded power, fakes, guile, double and triple passes. Now show me any system and I'll prove to you it's derivative of one or the other."

Yale was suggested.

"Yale is Warner," said Chick. "Unbalanced line, haven't they? Backs in 'Z' formation? Nothing to it."

"The Rockne system," Chick continued, "requires acrobats for players. They must be clever, have poise. Warner builds on power and drive. Those are the fundamentals of the two systems. For myself I'm following Warner. Army is doing it this season. Last year they were Rockne.

"Strangely enough," Chick went on, "the west coast as a whole runs to the Notre Dame system, the east Coast goes for Warner, the South to Rockne. The Midwest, jealous of Knute probably, won't copy Rockne, so they follow Warner. However, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue in the Big Ten are playing Rockne football."

Bo Zuppke, at Illinois, Amos Alonzo Stagg, at Chicago, and Fielding Yost, athletic director at Michigan, are the three men whose football styles defy classification in either the Rockne or the Warner lists in Meehan's opinion.

"Zuppke uses all styles and says he starts where the others leave of," Chick announced with a grin. "Stagg is beginning to talk about 'flank movement' and is losing plenty of games. Yost goes back to the kick formation, old as football itself."

Thomas A. Edison has five children, three by his first marriage and two by his second.

PORKERS WORK HARD IN MUD

Eleven Practices Plays Of Texas Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 22. (AP)—Although the practice field was very muddy after overnight showers, Coach Fred Thomsen sent the Arkansas Razorbacks through a stiff workout today. For more than an hour the Porkers smeared Texas Aggies formations taught the freshman eleven. By using Uptmoor and Phillips to call signals, Thomsen indicated he would not draft Holmes, injured quarterback, for service Saturday against the Aggies. The Razorbacks planned to entrain tomorrow night for Little Rock, and to hold a signal workout Friday afternoon.

Lamesa Team Will Be Idle This Week

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 22.—The Lamesa High school Golden Tornadoes will remain idle this week, no game being carded, but hard workouts are being taken for the conference game Oct. 31 with Brownfield high. The Tornadoes have defeated Tahoka and O'Donnell in conference games this season, but the game with Brownfield is expected to be the hardest fought game of the schedule, as Brownfield held the powerful Slaton Tigers to a tie game last Friday, and are touted as being one of the best teams in the district.

PHELAN STARTS WORK EARLY

New Pilot of Cats Plans Changes

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Arthur Thomas Phelan, appointed manager of the Fort Worth Panthers today, went to work immediately. He set out to find out all about the 30 or so men owned by the club. He was busy during the afternoon going over records with President Ted Robinson and Secretary Roy Meehan.

"Art," said Robinson, "will not only have full charge of the team on the field but he will be allowed to pick his own men. When he lets us know what players he wants to fill out the team we will do all we can to secure those players for him. If there are any changes he wants to make he will have a free hand to do so."

The sale of Les Mallon and Lil Stoner, the drafting of Dick Whitworth and the recall of Stuart Clarke has created some holes that will have to be filled.

"I'm not prepared at this time to say just what I will do with the team," Phelan said, "but I intend to make any changes which I believe will be for the best interest of the club. I want to have a fighting ball club and no one except a hustler will be retained. If I get an opportunity to trade a good ball player for a better one I believe will fit into the combination with better effect, I will make the deal."

Few important changes are expected until the middle of December.

Phelan replaces Frank (Pancho) Snyder, who resigned after the Texas league season closed.

CUB CARRIERS GET ATTENTION

Olney Prepares for Game With Archer City

Special to The Record News

OLNEY, Texas, Oct. 22.—After a ragged display of offensive football against Burkburnett Friday, Coach Acker's Cubs are being driven hard in preparation for the Archer City team on the latter team's home field Friday at 3 o'clock.

The Cub ball carriers looked sluggish last week and Coach Acker is trying for more coordination of effort. The only back that played his usual good game was Goode at quarterback.

This boy is smart and fights his way for many yards after his interference has been used. His play at Burkburnett stood out as a brilliant display of football courage and ability. His generalship and passing were above par and the 75-yard dash he made early in the game was a fine exhibition of broken field running. Performance of the other regular backs was disappointing. In the line W. Gilmore and Captain B. Gilmore are leading the way with their consistent pass receiving and fine defensive play. The rest of the line is playing mechanical football, which has been good enough so far, but Coach Acker sees trouble ahead unless there is a change.

George Gilmore is making a strong bid for a regular berth. He can play all positions well and is tough.

The Archer City crew carries a threat for the Cubs each year and this one is no exception. Coach Scott has a fighting team that is expected to be at its best Friday.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under Southern and local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and a favorable view of the weather, was followed by advances in today's later trading on trade buying and covering. New December contracts sold up from 10.41 to 10.57 and closed at 10.55 with the general market closing very steady at an advance of one point on the old October and of 5 to 11 points on other positions.

The opening was steady at a decline of two points to an advance of two points. Orders seemed to be pretty well divided at start, but the selling soon increased. It was influenced, apparently, by favorable interpretation of the weekly report of the weather bureau, prospects for moderating temperatures in the South, the easier showing of Liverpool and the action of the stock market.

Part of the day's trading was attributed to selling of near months against purchases of late deliveries based, apparently, on the differences or the late month premiums. Considerable switching also was reported from near to later positions. There were reiterated reports of a sufficient spot demand to absorb current offerings at a steady basis and trade interests were credited with buying some May and July contracts in the local market.

Liverpool cables said hedging and liquidation had been taken by trade calling but that Manchester was quieter. Exports today 20,614, making 1,950,200 so far this season. Port receipts 74,298. U. S. port stocks 3,315,625.

Futures closed steady, 1 to 11 points higher; spot steady; middling 10.50.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22. (AP)—The cotton market, after ruling quiet most of the session and easing off 6 to 9 points in sympathy with weakness in stocks and some hedge selling became quite active in the late afternoon. Prices advanced rather sharply owing to some recovery in the stock market and to reported active buying in the American markets by the continent. Active months rallied 13 to 15 points from the lows and closed at the top showing net gains for the day of 7 to 11 points.

Floor comment was to the effect that the market had held up well under the slump in the stock market and had rallied sharply at the first encouraging developments.

Liverpool came in as due to 1 point better than due. Private cables reported hedge selling and some liquidation. First trades here showed losses of 1 point but prices soon rallied owing to the execution of overnight buying orders. December advancing to 10.52, January to 10.63 and March to 10.87, or 2 to 4 points above the opening prices.

The market later turned easier with weakness in the stock market and due to some hedge selling and by early afternoon December had traded down to 10.43, January to 10.55 and March to 10.81 or 6 to 9 points down from the early highs and 3 to 7 points under the previous close.

In the late afternoon the market became quite active and advanced with stocks and on good continental buying, making new highs at 10.57 for December, 10.70 for January and 10.94 for March, up 13 to 15 points from the lows. The market closed at the top at net gains for the day of 7 to 8 points on the three most active months.

Port receipts 74,298, for week 290,405, for season 3,862,848, last season 3,538,620, exports 20,164, for week 153,070, for season 1,912,100, last season 1,675,257. Port stock 3,327,466, last year 2,101,970. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 85,865, last year 148,531. Spot sales at Southern markets 46,712, last year 68,917.

Futures closed steady 7 to 11 points up:

Oil Stocks Sell Off to New Lows On Generally Indecisive Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (US)—At the conclusion of today's session on the stock exchange minus signs were still in numerical majority, yet the net losses for the day were rather moderate. The bear element might have claimed victory in the descent of many prominent stocks to new lows, but no decisive conclusions could be reached on the day's movements, except perhaps a continued, even slight, overweight on the selling side. The new lows reached might have been the result of the arrogant bear element's desire to demonstrate the falsity of the claims that the lows of Saturday morning represented "bottom." Nevertheless, there were modest recoveries from those prices, so that it might be that the test as to their permanency is still under way. Certainly, the market was a highly orderly affair, with no evidence of anxiety to sell except with careful precision. It was rather surprising, perhaps disappointing, that the stock market failed to respond to continued firmness in commodities, although the strength of wheat, cotton, sugar and other food-commodities may have been offset by evidence of additional uncertainty surrounding the price of Copper.

Early weakness presumably represented continuation of the selling of the previous day, although attempts were made to link it with the Iron Age review. When the latter was issued, it proved relatively cheering, with report of increased railroad orders and some further signs of reviving demand from other quarters. Announcement of further cut in Steel scrap prices, however, tended to offset the possible influence of the review, with the market accepting the view that possibly lower operations may be witnessed in the industry before a sustained upturn develops. Yet Steel common closed off but half a point, up almost two points from its extreme low. The comparatively narrow price swings and net changes in the leaders provided considerable cheer suggesting possible commencement of a quiet period in the market with minimum price fluctuations, a development which would be highly cheering.

During such a period of general inactivity, individual situations of merit or difficulty could be more accurately ascertained without the influence of the hysteria prevailing in widespread weakness. Thus, it was noticeable that an improved investment demand appeared for New York Central as it sold to a 6 per cent yield basis, and American Telephone and Telegraph enjoyed a fractional gain. American Can, which enjoys obviously well-maneuvered market handling, failed to reach its Saturday low and closed off but a small fraction. This stock is utilized by the controlling banking powers as the most valuable issue in stemming threatening spread of the selling movement to undue proportions. The Electrical Equipment stocks, Westinghouse and General Electric, continued under pressure, with Westinghouse selling down to 101⅛, where the yield is almost 5 per cent, while General Electric also attained a new low finally breaking through 50, to close off 1⅝ points. The bears have been particularly fortunate in both electrical issues, with considerable assistance recently from their quarterly statements.

Oil stocks sold off to new lows, including Standard of New Jersey and Texas corporation. The latter's yield approached 8 per cent and a statement of its chief executive assuring continued payment of the dividend brought about only a slight rally. It is obvious the Oils are reflecting nervousness of a more fundamental nature affecting the entire industry, but there were reports that the latest unfavorable developments may induce a more friendly attitude at Washington toward proposals to establish a tariff on foreign oils. The last attempt to establish such a tariff was defeated.

In the railroad list, chief interest centered around Alleghany corporation, which sunk to a new low because of the enormous depreciation of its Railroad investments. Greater stability was evident in American and Foreign power, a speculative issue which probably has gone a long way toward discounting the most unfavorable aspects of its prospects. The stock is now at the lowest price in several years and the enormous investment in foreign power of the Electric Bond and Share company attests to the latter's firm confidence in the long-term outlook. Generally speaking, the average Public Utility issue is still selling at high ratios to per-share earnings, with the average yield substantially below the Industrial and Railroad shares.

Notwithstanding the market's erratic day-to-day manifestation of continued nervousness, in speculative quarters, shrewd, discriminating interests are chiefly concerned with the price situation in Commodities.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Cash wheat followed partially the advance in the big contract markets today and fair demand was reported at an advance, mills were bidding 88½@89c; basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid. Corn, oats and barley were fairly easy to sell, with light offerings a big factor in prices here. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 6 cars; corn 9; oats 1; barley 4, and sorghums 3.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 91@92c; No. 2 white 94@95c; No. 2 yellow 93½@94½c.

Oats—No. 2 red, according to quality 50@52c. No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 47@47½c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

Barley—No. 2 65@66c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally $1.65@1.70; No. 2 kaffir $1.42@1.44.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (AP)—With buying active and carrying the market briskly upward, wheat attained the highest close today in several weeks, simultaneously the wheat market gave notable evidence of a disposition to ignore weakness in stocks, and much of the buying of wheat appeared to be based on recent refusal of grain values to follow downturns in securities. Another strengthening factor as to wheat was the announcement that a Canadian crop authority had almost doubled his estimate of the quantity of wheat unthreshed in Canada and now being subjected to damage.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1@1⅜c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝@2⅝c up, oats ⅝@⅝c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Accompanying the rise of wheat values were statements from important houses putting emphasis on the fact that for the first time since 1927, at this season of the year, wheat available for immediate use commanded a premium over future deliveries.

Corn developed independent strength, affected even more decidedly than wheat by purchases which appeared to be based a good deal on belief that agricultural commodities had touched bottom, and that price rallies were in order. Besides, corn receipts in Chicago today were meager, 89 cars, fewer than half as many as a year ago. Oats followed corn and wheat.

Provisions averaged higher, sympathizing with the upturn of grain values and of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Dec. 79¼@⅜c, 82⅝c; March, 83c, 86; May 84⅛c, 87¼c. Corn—Dec., 78½c, 81¼c; March, bids 80⅝c; May 83c; 85½c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (US)—Traders who believe that fundamentally sound situations behind the grains will lead to increasing indifference on the part of the markets toward the stock trend, were rewarded for their patience today. One market analyst pointed out that the wheat market was at the same level today as on Oct. 8, while the Dow-Jones average of industrial stocks has declined 17 points since that date.

Warren Danley, of Daniel F. Rice & company, says: "One would think that it would begin to dawn on European buyers that America is not minded to sacrifice her wheat at ridiculous prices. It takes two to make a bargain, a seller as well as a buyer. The buyer alone can no more determine the price than the seller alone. The economic law often mentioned in grain circles is the law of supply and demand, not, merely, the law of demand."

Rumsey & company say: "In canvassing the cash interests in this market we find that the smallest amount of corn has been bought to arrive that we have had (at this season) in a great many years, and in conjunction with this, we do not find any increased country offerings, and farmers are not showing any disposition to sell at prevailing prices."

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.) Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by an improved demand for native grain fed steers and yearlings with substantial price upturns registered at several points. Western steers, however, continued to meet a slow outlet and at some markets packers were able to enforce a moderate decline. Grass fed and medium short fed heifers also were difficult to move. Choice yearlings in Chicago scored $13.15 while at Kansas City $12.85 was secured for choice 946-pound yearling steers. Best weighty steers in Chicago cleared at $12.50. Replacement stock sold slowly at steady to easier rates. Three loads of choice quality stocker steer calves of Texas origin brought $9.50 in Kansas City. Receipts were estimated at 44,900.

Hogs were unevenly steady to 25c higher as compared with Tuesday's average market. The day's extreme top of $9.75 was paid in Chicago. Offerings were around 88,000.

More liberal receipts slowed down demand for fat lambs with prices steady to unevenly lower, with packers generally enforcing a decline of 25c or more. Aged stock and feeding lambs at most points were little changed. Chicago had a top of $9.25 on fat native lambs while at Omaha choice rangers brought $8.75 to shippers. The supply approximated 94,000.

TAX RIGHTS OF WIVES ARGUED

Texas Lawyers Contend For Separate Return

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Conflicting views on the rights of wives in community property were laid before the supreme court today as argument was continued in the community property tax case of I. B. Koch of Arizona.

The litigation, paralleled by other cases from Texas, Louisiana, and Washington, arose from the government's effort to overturn lower court decisions in those state permitting husbands and wives to file separate tax returns on community property. Presentation of argument will be concluded tomorrow.

Explaining the government's contention, Solicitor General Thatcher insisted the laws of the four states gave the husband such control in the management of community property as to make him alone responsible in taxation of the income from the property. The wife, he argued, had no right to make a separate tax return.

This claim was disputed by Clinton Mathews and Rhodes S. Baker, appearing for Koch; Harry C. Weeks, of Wichita Falls, and Palmer Hutcheson of Houston, representing C. W. Bacon in the Texas case, and Charles E. Dunbar Jr., and Monte Lemann, counsel for William Pfaff of Louisiana.

They argued the lower courts had correctly ruled in each case that community property income could be reported separately by husband and wife.

Under the laws of their states, they contended, the wife has a definite interest in the property income which gave her the right to file a separate tax return. The wife's vested interest in the property was actual and could not be ignored by the government in collecting taxes, they said.

Three Trunk Lines Ask State Certificates

Three motor truck lines serving Wichita Falls have filed application with the motor car division of the Texas railroad commission to obtain permanent certificates, according to Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here.

Hearings on the applications will be held at the Kemp hotel Nov. 6, it was said. The Plunket Motor Freight line, the K. M. A. Truck line and the Tarry Motor Freight line, now operating under temporary certificates, are making the applications.

Hearings on motions to cancel certificates of J. W. Pickering, E. L. Houston and W. T. Cribb will be held at Austin. Non-payment of taxes is the grounds for cancellation, it was said.

Chill Rain Lowers Temperatures Here

A chill drizzle of rain, descending intermittently, lowered the temperature in Wichita Falls late Wednesday night and boded another heavy precipitation for this area. At midnight the rain had amounted to hardly more than a trace but low-hanging, heavy gray clouds appeared ready to release another downpour before morning.

North Texas Conference At Greenville Opens

GREENVILLE, Texas, Oct. 22. (AP)—The 64th annual North Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, opened in Wesley church here today with 425 ministers and lay delegates registered.

Bishop H. A. Boaz of Little Rock, Ark., presided and the Revs. M. L. Hamilton, R. E. Porter and W. T. Renfro were introduced as host pastors.

Jeff F. Morris, Greenville district lay leader and general chairman of the conference entertainment introduced Mayor Joseph R. Nichols, who made an address of welcome. The roll call of superannuated ministers attending the conference was answered by each minister giving a short address.

The Rev. R. G. Mood of McKinney is serving his 27th year as secretary of the conference. The conference is composed of nine districts: Dallas, Decatur, Denton, Greenville, McKinney, Paris, Sherman, Sulphur Springs and Wichita Falls.

In an executive session, the Rev. Mood appointed C. W. Dennis of Rockwall, High S. Porter of Garland, and C. B. Fielder of Garland, assistant secretaries. Statistical secretaries were named as follows: Earl M. Jones of Winnsboro, Earl G. Hamilton of Grand Prairie and Gilbert Robertson of Lakewood. District auditors: Dallas, B. F. Browning; Decatur, J. D. Thomas; Denton, W. C. Clements; Greenville, P. G. Hightower; McKinney, E. L. Craig; Paris, A. B. English; Sherman, Lee Miller; Sulphur Springs, F. M. Broyles; Wichita Falls, E. L. Stanford.

FALSE ALARM

Fire equipment answered a false alarm to Bluff and Fourteenth streets early Wednesday morning, according to Fire Chief J. L. McClure. It was believed practical jokers turned in the alarm, as the box was found open with no one near, Chief McClure said.

C.-C. DISCUSSES NEW ARSON LAW

Junior Directors Vote To Hold Fall Dance

Following discussion of a proposal to take steps to cause the amendment of the state arson law to conform to the model law sponsored by the National Fire Protection association or to amend the law with embodiments to make it more drastic, directors of the Junior chamber of commerce at its meeting Wednesday night referred the matter to the next meeting of the board after considerable opposition to the proposed amendment had been voiced by several members of the board.

Further discussion of the matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the board, at which time a copy of the model law will be on hand.

The board voted to have the fall dance within the next 30 days and referred the arrangements and the setting of the date to the social meeting committee under the chairmanship of T. J. Waggoner.

The board approved that the president appoint a committee to confer with the Waggoner interests in an effort to secure a free passage to camping and boat grounds on the shores of the Diversion lake. It has recently gone into effect, it was pointed out, that the Waggoner interests, owning practically all the land surrounding both Lake Kemp and the Diversion lake, have posted all land around the latter, leaving only a narrow strip which at times is impassable for owners to reach their boats. The committee, it was explained, is to confer with the Waggoner interests to point out the value to Wichita Falls of a free passage whereby visitors here may hunt and fish without being inconvenienced.

A financial statement for the third quarter was presented and approved by the board. The statement indicated an excellent financial condition.

Crack of Ceiling Closes Club Room

Weather conditions and the weight of a crowd estimated at 1,800 at the marathon dance caused the ceiling of the first floor of the Mack Thomas building in the 800 block on Scott street to pull away from the walls, causing the Recreation club, just beneath the marathon dance to close its doors shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

The ceiling is beneath the floor on which the marathon dance is being held and a possible panic was averted when a large part of the huge crowd of onlookers left shortly after a wedding ceremony for two of the contestants was performed.

Mack Thomas, owner of the building, on being notified of the condition of the place, conferred with architects who stated that the building would be safe for occupancy if a "stampede" did not occur.

Baptists to Meet In Cottage Prayer Services

The first of a number of cottage prayer meetings to be held in the membership of the First Baptist church, in the interest of the fall revival campaign which begins this coming Sunday, will be held in the home of W. Daniel, Indian Heights, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The board of deacons of the church is to lead the meetings.

Friday night at 7:30 o'clock prayer services will be held in the homes of Solon R. Featherston, 1526 Britain; C. D. Whitley, 2012 Victory; W. W. Brown, 1518 Twelfth; O. B. Albritton, 1813 Victory; J. F. Detlefs, 1662 Collins; J. W. Parker, 1402 Holliday; W. L. Robertson, 1411 Tenth; Carl Williamson, Iowa Park road; James R. Robinson, 1814 Eleventh.

The revival will be led by Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church, Shreveport, La., who is one of the outstanding leaders of the Southern Baptist convention, and widely known for his preaching over radio station, KWKH, of Shreveport.

I. C. C. ASKED TO DELAY HEARING

Southwestern Area Asks More Time for Preparation

A postponement of the re-opened hearings of the consolidated Southwestern cases and of the Texas differential case by the Interstate Commerce commission to be held in St. Louis Nov. 6, Dallas Nov. 17 and Tulsa Nov. 24, has been asked by the Texas Industrial Traffic league, according to Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here, who returned Wednesday from a meeting of the league in Dallas Tuesday.

90-Day Delay

A 90-day delay is sought by the league due to its belief that it is impossible for the southwestern interests to prepare evidence and to determine the facts in the cases in the time allotted before the hearings are scheduled to be re-opened, Mr. Foy explained, stating that the hearings are re-opened on the commission's own motion with the view to harmonizing rate and group structure of the Southwest with the rate and group structure of western trunk line area. The Western Trunk line territory, he said, is composed of states having practically the same economic conditions as the Southwest, and that the decision known as the western class rate decision issued by the commission under the date of May 15, gives that territory a more advantageous freight rate than now in effect in the Southwest.

No doubt is held by the Texas Industrial Traffic league, Mr. Foy said, that the re-opened hearings of the cases would result in new freight rate groups in this area, at least involving some changes affecting the rate level.

The re-opening of these cases is considered by traffic men to be one of the most important to come before the commission in several years, Mr. Foy explained, as a possible change in the entire rate structure will result.

Other Changes

The league also went on record to oppose the application of the Southwest freight bureau asking that floor linings and linoleum cement be omitted from composing a part of the 36,000-pound car load minimum on linoleum shipments. Heretofore, linings and cement were allowed to be included as a part of the minimum, Mr. Foy said.

The opposition to the application is to aid the smaller dealer, who, if the application were granted, would have to buy in considerably larger quantities to obtain carload rates.

It was also decided to oppose the proposal of the Southwest freight bureau that three stops be allowed for partial unloading and practically all carload traffic moving between points in the Southwest. The league is to take definite steps with other organizations of the state to oppose the proposal, which it is said would be a heavy detriment to jobbers.

At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

STATE: "With Byrd at the South Pole," showing entire Byrd expedition. Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: Charles Ruggles, Skeets Gallagher, Ralph Forbes and Clara Bow in "Her Wedding Night." Comedy, color novelty and sound news.

MAJESTIC: "Good News" with Bessie Love. Short subjects and sound news.

Every school child and every American who is in the smallest degree interested in his own country should see "With Byrd at the South Pole," and those who missed it last summer may see it at the State theater beginning Thursday.

Any review of the picture sounds as if written by a Publix press agent, but it is truly different from anything else presented on the screen. It is not an elongated news reel, nor is it a silly story woven about the romance of the frozen polar regions. It is the simple, breath-taking picturization of the actual Byrd expedition.

A man may be as comfortable as it is possible to be in a theater seat—at least in a cozy room and not subject to any immediate danger except another stock market crash—and may travel to the South pole and get almost the sensation of the actual trip. Maybe that "almost" is an exaggeration, but the sensation is near enough that of the explorers that the fellow in the audience cannot help but sigh as the big ship goes back to America, leaving the little band of men in the Antarctic. It is real enough that I shivered on the Fourth of July as I saw it.

The Byrd picture makes something entirely different of exploration. The man who never reads the National Geographic is seeing the Antarctic movie and his interest along those lines is being aroused. No better work could be done for that type of American.

Revival Leader Talks At Optimist Luncheon

Dr. W. R. Hornburg, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist church of Brownwood, and who is now conducting a revival meeting at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, spoke on "Optimism" before members of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

"An optimist," said the speaker, "is one who sees a little bit of light in the distance; a pessimist is one who promptly blows it out. Your continued work with boys should confirm you all in real optimism."

Dr. Hornburg was introduced by Jess McLarry. Ralph Pond led a singsong, with Lee Erwin at the piano.

Starting of the parade will be signified by blowing of the Fort Worth and Denver railway fire whistle, it was said. Forming at the corner of Eleventh and Scott, the parade will be comprised of the following units:

Rhode Island Senator Favors Dry Law Repeal

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 22. (INS)—United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, Republican, seeking re-election, today declared himself for repeal of the 18th amendment.

"It is my conviction," said a statement issued by the senator, "that temperance may be best promoted, that the moral tone of the American community may be lifted to a higher plane, and that respect for law and reverence for government may be best preserved by a repeal of the 18th amendment. This is a personal conviction and in no way alters my obligation set forth in the Republican platform, to vote as the people of Rhode Island vote in the matter of the referendum on Nov. 4th."

Since former United States Senator Peter Gerry, the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic party platform have already declared for repeal, the "dry" forces of Rhode Island were left without a senatorial candidate with "bone dry" views.

Says Wet Sentiment Grows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (INS)—Anti-prohibition sentiment is gaining throughout the state of Illinois, Senator Otis F. Glenn, Republican, of Illinois, said here today after having campaigned in the state in the interest of Republican candidates.

The trend towards a change in the present system is caused by a general feeling of dissatisfaction over the way the 18th amendment and the Volstead act have worked out, he explained.

Lions Hear Talk On State Amendments

Discussions of the five constitutional amendments upon which voters of Texas will ballot on Nov. 4 in the general election was given by Ben G. Oneal, state senator-elect, before members of the Lions club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Various processes for purifying water and methods of handling were discussed by J. H. Simmons of the Perfection Water company in a classification talk. Three hours of constant rainfall would be required to purify air over a city sufficiently to make the rain water fit for human consumption, according to authorities quoted by the speaker.

Announcement was made that the annual banquet of the club will be held next Tuesday evening, Oct. 28, at the Highland Heights Christian church at 7 p. m.

Repairs to Sewers To Cost City $3,100

The Texas sewer will be repaired at a cost of $600 and the sewer at Twelfth and Scott will be replaced at an approximate cost of $2,500, Mr. Fairtrace estimated.

The work is expected to be completed within three weeks.

HERE'S THE THIRD PUZZLE IN THE TIMES-RECORD NEWS "SCRAMBLED LETTER CONTEST"

The Times-Record News is conducting one of the most absorbing contests ever designed for the entertainment of its readers. To stimulate interest in it, and to make it a profitable as well as an enjoyable pastime for the next few weeks, a grand total of 39 prizes aggregating $100 will be awarded for the winning solutions.

Every other day there will be printed a letter of the alphabet in scrambled form, similar to the "S" above. These scrambled sections, when cut apart and properly assembled, will form the accompanying letter indicated. Each letter will be printed once in The Times and Record News.

This new game is extremely fascinating. It requires a high degree of skill to arrange these apparently simple sections in such forms as to make a perfect capital letter. "Scrambled Letters" has swept the country like a storm. Big business executives have taken it up as a genuine test of their ingenuity. Parties are formed in hundreds of communities to work out the puzzle in interested groups.

Each letter will appear in both papers. Full details about entering the contest are published herewith. Remember, 39 prizes make it well worth your time in matching your wits against this brand new intelligence test.

PRIZES ARE AS FOLLOWS

First prize	$25.00
Second prize	15.00
Third prize	10.00
Fourth prize	5.00
Ten prizes at $2 each	20.00
Twenty-five prizes at $1 each	25.00
Grand total	$100.00

Read These Rules

The Times-Record News Nu-Way alphabet puzzles include the 26 letters of the alphabet. The publication of the various letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks. These letters appearing in the paper are cut into pieces of varying shapes, the object being to place these parts together so they will form the respective letters as illustrated in outline accompanying the pieces.

An outline and its entire parts will be published in the Times and Record News every other day, a different letter of the alphabet being presented. The publication of all letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks.

Anyone who is a resident of Wichita Falls or this section may participate in this profitable fun, except employes of the Times and Record News or their families. You pay nothing to enter. Each letter, as it appears in the Times and Record News may be traced or copied free of charge from the files at the office of this newspaper.

The Times and Record News will pay $100 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest, correctly solved complete set of puzzles in accordance with the rules. This does not necessarily mean that you have to solve all the puzzles to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest. Neatness, accuracy and simplicity are the prime requisites. Accurate cutting and correct assembling of the pieces to form each respective letter. Entries that are elaborate will receive no more consideration than the simplest ones. Young and old thus have an equal chance to win.

Take the page of the Times or Record News wherein the puzzles are published. Cut the pieces carefully along the outside of the black border and paste these pieces neatly so that you completely cover the letter appearing opposite, and repeat this operation every week with the new letters in the Nu-Way alphabet puzzles published in the Times and Record News until you complete the full alphabet.

Puzzle solutions are to be submitted only in complete sets five days after all letters of the alphabet have been published in the Times and Record News. Do not send in each puzzle separately. When you have the complete set of 26 puzzles, or parts thereof, mail first class, postage prepaid, or bring them to the Times and Record News alphabet puzzle department. All entries must be in by midnight five days after the last puzzle has been published in the Times and Record News. The winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Be sure that mailed entries have name and address of sender and sufficient postage is used.

In addition to your entry, you must send an advertisement of one of the advertisers shown on any of the letters clipped from the Times or Record News during this contest period, and a letter not exceeding 50 words in length telling why you can profitably deal with this concern.

The Times and Record News will appoint judges, and their decision will be final. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the full amount of the prize tied for will be awarded each tying contestant.

the "hike" that Harry missed ...and the Cause thereof

Harry stopped raking to stare, as down the dusty street, before the house, swung a marching troop of scouts—his troop—off on a hike! He couldn't believe his eyes! His troop. And he not there.

Harry dropped the rake, took the porch steps three at a time. They couldn't—oh, they couldn't go without him!

"Why, I don't know, child," Mrs. Adams exclaimed, looking up blankly from her sewing. "Mr. Brenner, the scoutmaster, surely must have called you."

Harry from the yard, and Mrs. Adams from the porch, gazed sorrowfully after the khaki-clad marchers.

"So that was who telephoned this morning when I didn't get upstairs to the 'phone in time!" thought Mrs. Adams to herself, regretfully. "What we need, I guess, is an 'extension' telephone downstairs."

Telephones where you need them save time, steps—even play a part in preventing youthful heartaches.

An "extension" telephone downstairs might have made it easy for Mrs. Adams to reach the telephone in time.

Few know that the extra cost of one or two "extensions" is between two and three cents a day.

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of the telephones in your home.

His troop. 'And he not there!
