Clerk Is Shot During Fight With Bandit

Max Woodroof Dies On Sunday Of Wounds; $500 Taken When Haberdashery Is Robbed

(Special To The Journal)

LAMESA, Dec. 13. — Aroused Lamesa citizens Sunday contributed $1,000 as reward for arrest and conviction of a holdup man who fatally shot Max Woodroof after the robbery of a haberdashery here Saturday night and Sheriff Gus White estimated that approximately 100 South Plains officers continued to aid in search for the man.

Woodroof, 27, died at 5 o'clock Sunday morning in a hospital after undergoing an emergency operation. The bullet had entered the left side of his chest near the heart and ranged downward. Woodroof, clerk who had been confronted with a gun in hand of the unmasked hijacker, was shot when he pursued the man and grappled with him after the store had been robbed of $500.

Funeral Rites Today

The body was sent to Grand Prairie, where funeral services were to be held today.

The town was thoroughly aroused by the shooting and many attended a meeting at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the office of Carl Rountree, lawyer, said Sheriff White. Much of the reward was made up by contributions of business firms.

The meeting was held on short notice, and "everyone attended who knew about it", it was said.

Dragnet Out For Killer

Should the hijacker attempt to escape from this vicinity he must slip through a net of officers that is carefully guarding every highway. No car had been reported stolen late this morning, said Sheriff Gus White.

Officials of Lamesa and neighboring towns were guarding highways in this vicinity and officials in other towns had been afforded descriptions of the man.

The lone bandit entered Hurt's Haberdashery, bought a tie and accompanied Woodroof to the cash register to get his change, according to reports. Woodroof looked up into a pistol when he held out the change, and the hijacker reached into the cash register, took the money, and backed out of the door. He was leaving before notice of other clerks and "three or four" custom-

Desperate Killers Defy Governor's Plea And Murder Hostage In Attempt To Gain Liberty

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 13— Six desperate convicts who slew their hostage, the captain of the state penitentiary guards, after defying a dramatic two-hour plea to surrender by Governor Olin D. Johnson, were thrown into "solitary" today to await an early trial.

Sheriff T. Alex Heise announced that William B. Woods, 24-year-old highway robber, confessed he was the one who stabbed the 61-year-old guard captain, Olin Sanders, yesterday before the convicts were routed from Sanders' office by national guardsmen hurling tear gas shells.

Prison officials said that Sanders had issued a standing order that in such emergencies the demands of prisoners should not be heeded.

Pursuing his daily custom, Captain Sanders had gone to his office in a building in the prison yard after breakfast. The six men, in the prison yard for the recreation period, approached him singly or in couples on the ruse of asking a favor.

In the office they overpowered him and demanded an automobile and passage out of the penitentiary gate. Captain Sanders was unarmed.

The first that the prison staff knew anything was wrong was when Captain Sanders called Corporal G. L. Christmus of the prison guard, on duty in the yard, to the window of the office. Christmus quoted Sanders as saying:

"Charlie, these boys have got me tied up in here. They have a gun in my ribs and want a car to get out."

Corporal Christmus reported

A radio message from the McKinley's master said 134 cabin passengers were taken from two rocky islets where they found refuge when the liner President Hoover went aground on Hoishoto island. The brief message did not mention whether all refugees were aboard the McKinley.

Another Speeds To Aid

An unconfirmed report here said another Dollar liner, the President Pierce, was speeding toward the Hoover and it was assumed the craft's mission was to make additional rescues. Early reports placed the total passenger list at some 600.

While rescuers removed passengers, the master of a German steamship told today how the big vessel ploughed half her length up on jagged shoals near Formosa in murky, rough weather last Friday midnight.

Death Plays Final Ironic Role In Man's Plot To Get Riches

By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.— The final ironic twist was given today to a macabre plot in which Detective-Lieutenant Aldo Corsini said, a Glendale drug salesman tried to hire the slaying of his wealthy brother-in-law.

The salesman, John L. Petersen, World war veteran and father of two children, is dead. Detective Corsini said he died by his own hand, taking poison in jail.

The brother-in-law, Floyd G. Withrow, drug manufacturer, exclaimed today:

"I can't understand John's thinking of such a thing. We have never quarreled. His kids play with my little boy and girl.

"The police say John tried to have me killed to get my business. I've planned for sometime to turn it over to him as a Christmas gift. I was going to tell him when I gave the four kids the bicycles I bought for them."

Withrow's wife, Ada, and Mrs. Beatrice Petersen, the suicide's widow, are sisters. They came originally from Grand Rapids, Mich. The families live across the street from each other.

Quick Vote On Labor Bill Is Being Sought

Administration Leaders Hope To Send Measure To White House In Near Future

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — Administration leaders urged the house today to vote on the wage-hour bill by mid-week, thereby hoping to send it to the White House before the special session ends.

Even if the house passes the controversial measure quickly, much behind-the-scenes work remains before President Roosevelt can sign it.

Doubt Is Expressed

A joint committee of senators and representatives must compose differences between the house bill and one which the senate approved last summer. Some legislators expressed doubt this could be done by Dec. 22, the adjournment date.

The bill came to the floor after 218 members signed a petition to free it from the rules committee, which had blocked action for nearly six months.

The measure is designed to bring about minimum wages and maximum hours in industries engaged in interstate commerce. As it now stands, the minimum wage could not be set higher than 40 cents an hour, nor the maximum work week at less than 40 hours.

Debate Begins Again

On the senate side, the farm bill debate began its fourth week. There also leaders aimed for a mid-week vote, but many issues remained to be fought out.

Supporters of the farm legislation said that if they could get it to a conference committee by mid-week, there would be a chance for an agreement before the special session adjourns.

The only other administration measure still having a chance for enactment at the special session—the housing bill—was back of the wage-hour bill in the house and the farm bill in the senate.

Snow Due For Area Tonight

Livestock warnings and a hint that snow would fall tonight were made this morning by government weather forecasters for far West Texas.

Mist clung to the ground at noon and the sky was overcast. The thermometer was dropping, but barometers were rising rapidly.

A "high" had set in, reported Municipal airport, at 7:30 o'clock when the wind shifted from the northwest directly from the north.

Sudden Variation

The frigid weather expected would make for one of the most sudden temperature variations of the winter. Sunday's high reading was 81.9 degrees and a hot sun made the day as balmy as early summer.

At 6:30 o'clock this morning the airport reported the barometer at 29.61, temperature at 47 degrees, dew point as 37 degrees, wind velocity north 14 mph, sky cloudy, ceiling 4,100 feet and visibility 15 miles.

One Dead, 15 Others Wounded; Blame For Affair Is Accepted

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 13.—The Japanese navy tonight accepted full blame for the warplane bombardment and sinking of the United States gunboat Panay and two Standard Oil company ships, and avowed "profoundest regret" for the "terrible mistake."

One American seaman died of injuries from the bombardment by Japanese warplanes indiscriminately strafing all craft in the Yangtze about 25 miles above Nanking.

Fifteen of 54 survivors aboard the Panay were injured. Seventeen at first were reported missing, but advices by the British gunboat Bee said tonight that 12 Europeans had been sighted on the Yangtze river shore. They possibly were survivors of the Panay but definite confirmation was not at once forthcoming.

The Japanese flyers which bombed the ships, said Rear Admiral Tadao Honda, Japanese naval attache in China, were unable to see the foreign flags and believed the craft to be Chinese.

Regret Is Expressed

This resulted in the "terrible mistake for which the Japanese navy feels profoundest regret," the admiral said.

Three naval aircraft participated in the attack, Admiral Honda said.

"The flyers returned, proudly reporting achievement of the bombing of this concentration of ships," he continued. "But the feeling of accomplishment turned to regret and sadness when they learned their mistake."

The Japanese navy, he said, was preparing to punish those responsible for attacking the American craft "identity of the flyers naturally being known. Action will be taken after investigation."

They Plead Ignorance

Japanese, however, pleaded ignorance of most of the details of the attacks.

"The flyers didn't notice what happened after they observed their bombs found their objectives," it was explained.

Admiral Honda explained that the flyers were aware American and other foreign craft were "somewhere in the vicinity above Nanking," but were not aware of the specific location of the Panay and the others.

"The attack occurred at 1:30 p. m. Sunday (12:30 a. m. Saturday)" the Japanese admiral related. "At 10 a. m. Monday, United States naval officials in Shanghai requested the Japanese navy to search for the Panay, giving us the location where they thought the gunboat was located. We examined the records of yesterday's air raids and found with dismay that where the Panay and the Standard Oil craft were located coincided with the scene of the air attack. We quickly concluded they were the mistaken object of our bombs."

Solution To Be Sought

"The Japanese navy with the utmost sincerity is willing and prepared to bring about solution of this unfortunate incident, and hopes no extravagant reports of it will be circulated," the admiral told newspapermen.

"Both naval and military authorities have ordered forces in that area to render whatever assistance is possible to the victims, and also to withhold hostilities against Chinese thereabouts, thereby lessening the danger to the survivors. In addition, the navy is sending a warship to the scene with utmost haste and also is dispatching aircraft tomorrow with relief workers. The navy is prepared to assure Americans, should they desire that their own craft proceed to the scene, or bring the wounded to Zhanghai, they will not be attacked."

Reports that the 12 Europeans and others, presumably officers and the remainder of the Panay crew, were seen on the left bank of the Yangtze above Nanking, alleviated fear that at least 18 American lives might have been lost.

Reported By British

The report of sighting possible survivors on the river bank was made by the British gunboat Bee to the American flagship, the cruiser Augusta at Shanghai.

The Bee, apparently the first rescue ship to reach the scene, said she had taken aboard Vernon F. Puckett, chief petty officer on one of three Standard Oil vessels attacked; J. V. Pickering of Cadiz, O., acting manager of the Standard Oil's Nanking branch, and stoker William T. Hoyle.

The men, picked up near Hohsien, where 34 survivors of the Panay disaster were taken, said they had seen the Europeans on the river bank.

The Bee thus far had been unable to locate the reported survivors but continued the search throughout the night, remaining in the vicinity of the Kaiyuan wharf at Hohsien.

Fifteen Are Wounded

The other Panay survivors at Hohsien, a small Chinese river town in the center of a battle between Japanese and Chinese, included 15 wounded, several seriously.

They were taken ashore there amid great danger from artillery and gun fire but a Japanese spokesman said urgent messages to Japanese forces had halted the attack to enable rescuers to tend the survivors without the peril of bursting shells.

The American gunboat, Oahu, sister ship of the Panay, and a Japan-

Grave Protest To Be Offered By America

Secretary Of State Goes Into Conference With Advisers To Take Action Against Japan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — Secretary Hull prepared vigorous representations today to be transmitted to the Japanese government on the bombing and sinking of the American gunboat Panay.

The secretary of state went into conference early in the forenoon with a group of his advisers on far eastern affairs, preparatory to drafting his protest.

To Send Strong Note

His aides indicated that as soon as complete information concerning the incident was in hand here, a strong note would be dispatched to Tokyo.

There was no indication, meanwhile, as to whether this government's representations would include a demand for indemnity covering the cost of the Panay and suitable compensation for casualties involved.

Confer With President

Before dispatching the note, Hull was expected to confer with President Roosevelt.

This development was coincident with a report from the commander of the British gunboat Bee that he had picked up four survivors of the Panay.

The British commander gave the names of the survivors as Chief Petty Officer Vernon Fate Puckett of Kerens, Tex.; Stoker William T. Hoyle of Balsam, N. C.; Pickering (no initials of the Standard Oil company and the Chinese manager of the Panay's canteen.

The rescued men "informed me that there are some twelve Europeans about one and one-half miles from Kaiyuan wharf where I have berthed alongside," the British officer said.

Officer Is Wounded

The Bee made a run of approximately 150 miles from Wuhu to find the Panay's survivors, among whom Lieutenant Commander J. J. Hughes, commanding officer of the Panay was reported wounded.

The state department was trying to check exactly the identity of the American refugees aboard the vessels when they were sunk.

The United States' remonstrances over the undeclared war between Japan and China already fill bulky files at the state department.

Besides formal notes, there have been protests of specific instances by consular and military authorities.

Some Of Communications

Some of the communications were:

July 27—Hull expressed to both China and Japan the hope that hostilities would be avoided.

Aug. 30—Hull protested vigorously the bombing by Chinese of the liner President Hoover at Shanghai.

Sept. 22—Hull advised Japan the United States considered any aerial bombing of Nanking would violate the law of nations and of humanity. Japan, he said, would be held responsible for any damage suffered by Americans.

Nov. 29—The United States demanded that Japan discuss with it any contemplated changes in the Chinese maritime customs service.

Oct. 6—The United States formally condemned Japan as a treaty violator in China. (This was followed by United States participation in the nine-power conference at Brussels).

Popular Model

In spite of her pert little nickname (and it has been her nickname so long that all who know her have forgotten what her real name is), Bunny Hartley is considered a typical example of the placid, aloof American woman who buys the right clothes always and always wears them well. One of the most popular models on John Robert Powers' list of beauties, Miss Hartley has blond hair, blue eyes, fair skin and a slender, perfectly proportioned figure.

Ordinarily candlewick bedspreads need no pressing after laundering. If, however, the spread appears too wrinkled, press dry on the wrong side over a soft pad, then brush the tufts of yard briskly with a stiff brush to make them fluffy.

You May Have To Look Up Your Chirotonsor For A Haircut

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13. (AP)—It may be that you soon will be insulting your chirotonsor by calling him a barber.

"Congress has already authorized reclassification of the barbers as professional men rather than tradesmen," Frank Mileham, director of examinations for California licenses, says. "Many of the boys believe that a more dignified name such as chirotonsor should be attached to the profession."

South America Hangs Out The Sign Of "No Help Wanted"

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 13.—Unless people stop telling American young men to learn Spanish and hop on the first boat for South America, the American Chambers of Commerce in these lands are in for a batch of headaches.

"Go south, young man," exhorted Dean Carl W. Ackerman, of Columbia university school of journalism, after a recent trip around South America.

"Stay away, young man," counters the American Chamber of Commerce in Argentina — unless you know Spanish fluently AND have a job before you leave United States shores."

A Few Tips

"Unless a young man is sent out from the States with a job by a company," warns a chamber booklet, "he is quite likely to become a public charge on the American community abroad."

The booklet is intended to familiarize American business men with trade problems in Argentina —richest and most progressive of South American countries. Argentina holds out more and better opportunities than some of its neighbors. The paragraphs on employment possibilities are being inserted for the benefit of those Americans who, in increasing numbers, are writing about jobs.

Job mail began to get heavy after President Roosevelt's trip to the Inter-American Peace conference here in 1936 put South America in the spotlight. The mail increases in volume every time an American of prominence returns home after a trip here and proclaims South America as the continent of the future.

There is no doubt that the South American countries are going ahead fast. The big cities, Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, are booming with new construction. Buenos Aires is putting up buildings, digging subways, and opening great new avenues at a feverish pace.

Bring Your Own Capital

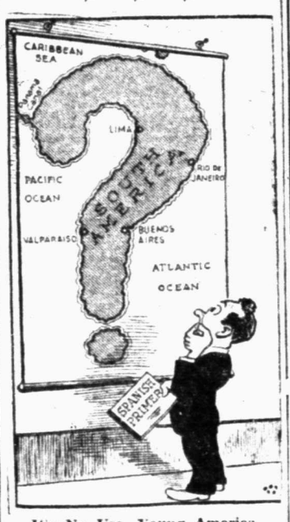

But the chamber of commerce says J. B. Thomas, secretary, sees all sides of the picture as far as American job-seekers are concerned, and wouldn't advise the youngsters to come down on prospects.

Opportunities are here by the score, is the chamber view, but for men and women with capital, knowledge of the country, and a good knowledge of Spanish.

Says the chamber booklet: "Americans contemplating a trip to Argentina in search of employment are warned that it is most difficult to secure positions.

"In the first place, a knowledge of fluent Spanish is absolutely necessary, as otherwise the employe is of no value to either American or Argentine firms.

"In the second place there is a large supply of Anglo-Argentine employes willing to work for considerably less money than the average American, and these people speak both Spanish and English fluently and know the country and are of more value to the average company."

It's No Use, Young America

The chamber also points out that wages are lower here than in the United States. An ordinary male clerk here gets the equivalent of $50 to $60 a month. Although he pays a little less for food than he would in the United States, he has to pay about as much for rent in Buenos Aires as in New York, and must pay more for clothing and luxuries.

Home Again—Broke

Living is much cheaper in some of the other South American countries, but opportunities are fewer. Some countries make it compulsory for foreign firms to have 90 per cent of their employes nationals.

Specialists, technicians and engineers get along well here, but most of them have job contracts before leaving home. The supply of nationally-trained specialists is increasing in South America.

For ordinary white collar people, the competition is intense, and Americans often are at a disadvantage. A young American seeking a job in a Buenos Aires import or export house, for example, will have to buck young Argentines and Europeans who quite likely could speak not only Spanish and English, but also German and French.

The American Chamber of Commerce, and the British-American Benevolent Society, have had to give help to some Americans who have come down on prospects. Some have found jobs, but others have been shipped home—broke—by charitable institutions.

"Slingin' Sam" Baugh Stages One-Man Show To Win Grid Title By 28 To 21

Texan Branded As Football's Ace Marksman

BY EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Professional football doffed its helmet today to "Slinging Sammy" Baugh.

Older and long-established stars of the gridiron's toughest class—the national professional league—paid tribute to the youth whose passing performance yesterday stamped him the greatest aerial marksman in the game.

Greatest One-Man Show

Earl (Dutch) Clark, Detroit Lions' brilliant playing coach and Ray Flaherty, Washington coach, agreed that Baugh's passing in Washington's 28 to 21 victory over the Chicago Bears for the championship "was the greatest one-man show ever put on by professional football."

There's a story behind the sensational rise of the Texas youth as the most brilliant freshman ever to crack the pro league ranks. It's the story of a boy who'd much rather run with the ball than hurl a touchdown pass, but who, once he knew he could throw a football, was determined to "throw it better than anyone else."

Spent Hours In Practice

All one summer before his sophomore year at Texas Christian, Baugh practiced throwing footballs at an old tire he hung from a tree in the backyard of his Sweetwater, Tex., home.

Yesterday, some 15,000 fans saw the result of those long hours of drilling as Baugh pitched three spectacular touchdown passes which ran the Bears dizzy and the league pennant up the Redskin flagpole.

Washington scored first on a smash by Cliff Battles with Baugh's short passes setting the stage. The Bears tied the count on Manders' 10-yard smash and went ahead late in the first period on a touchdown pass from Bernie Masterson to Manders. Then, after a comparatively dull second period in which Manders twice missed long field goal tries, Baugh went to work.

Baugh Goes To Work

He passed 20 yards to Wayne Millner, who ran 35 yards to score. The Bears came back to go ahead on a short touchdown pass from Masterson to Manske, but Baugh enabled the Redskins to tie the score when he passed 28 yards to Millner, who ran 50 yards to score. The winning touchdown came late in the third stanza. Baugh hurling a 20-yard aerial to Ed Justice, who scampered 15 yards over the Bear goal line.

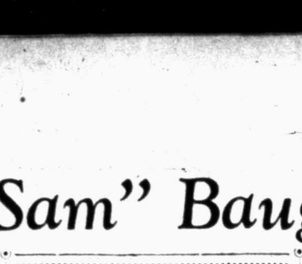

Baugh hurled 34 passes, making good on half of them for a total gain of 352 yards. In addition, he ran well when called on and played a big part in running a last-period aerial attack by the Bears, twice batting down passes near his goal posts.

Washington's victory climaxed a great late-season drive to the eastern division title won with eight victories and three defeats in the regular schedule. The Bears won the western title with nine victories, one defeat and one tie.

Just Who Is This Fighter Harry Thomas

HE'S A KNOCKER-OUTER
The man who fights Max Schmeling in New York's Madison Square Garden tonight has been boxing professionally for five years, and has beaten some fair punchers but is generally unknown except in the west. However, he has achieved 44 knockouts in 56 bouts — a good batting average in any league.

HE'S A HARD WORKER
He's the perfect training camp fighter managers dream of. He says he likes the rough routine and the manner in which he wears out sparring partners and the aides accompanying him on road runs bears him out. Thomas (left) has a very nifty left hook, and a granite jaw.

HE'S A CARD PLAYER
When he finally tires, Thomas gets relaxation in card games. He played football and baseball at Trinity college (Iowa) and was good enough to play baseball with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast league. He was a catcher, but says that doesn't mean he'll be a receiver in boxing. His big chance comes against Schmeling.

HE HAS HUGE HANDS
Railroad work and pulling a switch engine throttle toughened his hands. He's six feet and weighs 196. He is no boxer, but a rough, two-fisted battler. He fights out of a crouch and throws punches with either hand. Critics say Max idle for 18 months, has picked no soft-touch.

Forest fires do about $75,000,000 damage in the United States annually.

Conroe-Longview Clash Will Feature Grid Race

Max 3 To 1 Favorite To Lick Thomas In Battle At Garden

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The situation is going to be all reversed tonight when Herr Schmeling, the mighty hunter, climbs into the Madison Square Garden ring for 15 rounds or less with rugged Harry Thomas.

This time Joe Louis, the champ, is going to be sitting there with his sleepy eyes glued on the proceedings—hoping to "see somethin'" important. He would like to locate a leak in Schmeling's 32-year old armor.

Only Fair If He Did

It would be only fair if he did, because Max, you will recall, sat there in the shadows a couple of winters ago and "saw somezing" nobody else had even suspected while Louis, the youngster, was smashing old Paolino Uzcudun out of the fight game for good.

Schmeling discovered that night that Joe was a sucker for a right, and a few months later he reaped the benefit of that discovery by nearly knocking Joe's head right off its hinges. Der Maxie fully expects to do it again when he tackles Joe for the title next June.

3 To 1 On Max

Prospects were that Joe, 18 months older and wiser than when he ran into the fury of Schmeling's right, would have a good opportunity to study his most dangerous rival tonight. The odds favored Schmeling to win by 3 to 1, but a lot of critical observers expected him to have his hands pretty full.

Thomas, though unknown to fame in the east, has knocked out a bushel of fair fighters through the middle west and west, and he's never yet had to dust the resin off his pants.

Red-Head Donald Budge Gets Ranking As No. 1 Athlete Of Year; Results Of Poll Given

(NOTE: This is the first of a series analyzing the seventh annual Associated Press sports poll. It covers replies on the rating of outstanding performers among men in any sport during 1937).

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Red-headed John Donald Budge, who carried the tennis torch so dazzlingly for Uncle Sam, rates well off by himself as the No. 1 athlete of the year, in the opinion of the nation's leading sportswriting experts.

For his championship exploits at Wimbledon and Forest Hills, topped off by playing the star role in recapture of the historic Davis cup, the lanky Californian received a thumping majority vote in the seventh annual Associated Press sports poll.

Achievements Dramatic

Now the world's No. 1 tennis player but not even mentioned in last year's poll, Budge was piff at the top of the all-sports list by 28 out of 48 experts in recognition of his highly-dramatic achievements. He totalled 95 points under the 3-2-1 system of scoring for the three entries posted by each contributor to the poll.

Chief contenders for the runner-up honors were those two major league rivals for all-around honors, Outfielders Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals and Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees. Medwick finally outpointed the Yankee sophomore, 39 to 35, but each received three-first place votes and the margin was not enough to settle an argument that raged all year between their partisans.

Yale's Clint Frank and Colorado's Whizzer White, All-American backfield stars of 1937, shared the chief honors accorded gridiron heroes. Frank took fourth place with 28 points but he had only two votes for first place to White's four.

Ralph Guldahl, the United States Open champion, led all golfing rivals in the poll. Henry Armstrong, the busy featherweight fistic champion, achieved distinction by getting more voting support than Joe Louis, the heavyweight titleholder. Each received two first-place nominations but Armstrong led on points, 11 to 9.

Here are the tabulated results:

Performer	Firsts	Points
Don Budge, world tennis champion	29	95
Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder and National league batting champion	3	39
Joe DiMaggio, Yankees' outfielder and major league home run champion	3	35
Clinton E. Frank, Yale All-America halfback	2	28
Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado All-America back	4	15
Henry Armstrong, world featherweight champion	2	11
Ralph Guldahl, U. S. Open golf champion	0	11
Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion	2	9
Charley Gehringer, Detroit second baseman and American league batting champion	1	7
Marshall Goldberg, Pitt All-America halfback	0	4

Southwest Loop Content To Stand With Seven Teams

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 13—Sideline comment on the Southwest conference fall session:

Cotton bowl: President Henry Trantham of the all-powerful faculty committee predicting "the Cotton bowl classic will be another Rose bowl game in time." Official sanction of J. Curtis Sanford's post-season clash by the spring session almost assured by bias comment dropped in smoke-filled meeting rooms. . . Still alive, however, was the intent of another group to broach a "bowl" game plan after the present game has been played.

Texas Tech Ignored

Contented: Terse refusal of the conference fathers to approve formal application of Texas Tech for admittance left little doubt that the league will remain a seven-club affair for quite a spell. . . . Centenary, which annually takes many conference foes, not a formal applicant and not considered.

Brothers: Coaches' broadside at officiating kept behind closed doors. . . . Coaches and officials later arm-and-arming it together in joint sessions and lobby gossiping. . . . Tenseness of the past campaign believed by all to have caused the unusual amount of criticism directed at veteran officals. . . . Indication that the old method of opposing coaches agreeing on their game officials would return, supplanting the present "assignment committee" setup.

New Stories Wanted

Wanted: Good new football stories by banquet-worn coaches. Said D. X. Bible, who reported nightly duty in the "smashed potato" league, admitted his supply was alarmingly low.

Best story: Jimmy Kitts of Rice's titular Owls giving the aftermath to a recent interview given by his young son, Jimbo, in which he told reporters "my dad is just a fair coach." Kitts, sr., reporting that he returned from a hunting trip after publication of the season's "cutest" interview to find son Jimbo upset. . . . "Dad, I want to explain about that newspaper story. . . . That reporter had me on the spot. . . . He come out here when you were out hunting and mother had gone to the beauty parlor. . . . You weren't here to tell me what to say, so I guess maybe I just said the wrong thing."

Shavings: Scribes applauding the appointment of Tony Ketterson of A. and M. as official statistician . . . Marty Karow, once of Texas and now Navy's backfield coach, slipping some of the east's pet scoring plays to very attentive Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech, who used up five envelope backs on "Karow" specials . . . Conference heads quickly banning grid acrimmages with other schools, such as the Aggie-Trinity practice game of the '37 season. . . . Investigation of the use of movies to point out possible mistakes in officiating likely to lead to a conference ruling against such practice.

Thomson Is Fellow To Watch In Final Offensive Of Rich Miami Biltmore Tournament

(By The Associated Press)

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP)—Jimmy Thomson was the man to watch today in the last offensive of the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open.

Johnny Revolta—the 54-hole leader with 209 after yesterday's par-shattering round—led, but it was Thomson, who cracked the course record with a 65, to whom the galleries looked.

Six Under Par

Thomson whacked six strokes off par and started the final drive a single stroke back of Revolta, who grounded out a 70.

The 65 was a stroke better than the previous record, set in 1935 by Ted Turner of Pine Valley, N. J.

Also close on Revolta's heels was Dick Metz, whose 67 gave him, like Thomson, a 210.

Samuel Jackson Snead was still much in the running at 211. Horton Smith remained in striking position at 213.

Four Elevens Remaining In Title Rounds

DALLAS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Diminutive Cam (Powder) Harrell, the 123-pound wraith who put Conroe's boom town back into the headlines with some wriggling football toting, leads his mates into a game next Saturday all of Texas will watch.

The Conroe Wild Horses who surround Harrell on his touchdown trips — a gallant little band of lightweights who have won 11 straight games — meet Longview's Loboes down on their home field in a semi-final Texas Interscholastic league skirmish.

Conroe Rates Tops

Up at Wichita Falls the home-town Coyotes, a great club in the stretch, meets North Side of Fort Worth in the other game to determine finalists, but the glamorous appeal of the Conroe game rates tops.

Cellarites for many seasons, Conroe, under the guidance of Coach Joe Lagow, this season burst into a superb eleven that specialized on blocking and Cam Harrell's zig-zag jaunts. The backfield all tossed together will average about 133 pounds, but they are scorers.

Scores Four Times

Last Friday Harrell scored four times and his other scoring mate, "Shorty" Waldie, joined in as Conroe swamped Robstown, 47-7, in a quarter-final game. It ran their season total scores of points past any other class "A" effort and moved them a notch closer to a title that for years they only heard about.

But Saturday's game will be their severest test. Longview, early season winners over Port Arthur, the "team without a district" all the critics said would breeze to the title, showed more of the power Saturday that many believe will push them through to the championship by downing Temple 19-12. Two brothers, Dandy Dick and Hardy Miller, are their offensive weapons.

Hardy, usually the blocker for brother Dick, crossed up Temple with a show of his own that brought in the victory, earned only after Temple had pecked away to a 12-6 lead at the half.

North Side's easy 25-7 victory over Sherman marked the second successive year it had reached the semi-finals. Danny Reese, a stormy triple-threater, passed North Side to its win over Sherman in a stiff wind and cold weather.

The Wichita Falls Coyotes, who let all their power loose to sink Amarillo's hopes of winning a fourth straight title two weeks ago, scraped past Austin of El Paso, on a single penetration. The game ended 7-7 but penetrations stood three-to-two for Wichita Falls.

No official announcement will be made until after the finalists are determined, but it was assured that the titular game would be played on Christmas day.

Salary Limit To Be Raised

KILGORE, Dec. 13 (AP)—A raise in the salary limit was assured and the number of men carried by each club fixed today for the East Texas baseball league's 1938 season.

Directors of the league voted here yesterday to raise the salary limit from $1200 to $1500 monthly next season, and decided each club could carry three class men and 11 rookies, six with less than two years' professional experience.

To Prepare Schedule

Harry Faulkner of Longview was delegated the task of preparing a schedule for 1938. The season will open April 20 or 21 and close Aug. 28.

J. Walter Morris, league president, who reported the league office in good financial condition, said he believed the same teams would form the league next year.

Election of officers was deferred.

Sports Gossip Over Country

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Fielding H. (Point-A-Minute) Yost is quoted in the Chicago papers as saying the great Dutch Clark will not be considered as Harry Kipke's successor at Michigan because he is a pro. . . Haw! . . . Benny Friedman, now doing a great job at City college (with nothing to work with) rates that spot, but odds are Gus Dorais will land it. . . . Everyone here got a laugh out of the picture of Dizzy Dean, all dolled up as Santa Claus, talking to the kids in front of a Coral Gables, Fla., department store. . . . That's one way to get back in the papers, Butch. (And boy, have you been out!)

Our guess is Schmeling in eight rounds. . . Mr. Mara, who is a professional bookmaker, bet on only one football game in his life. . . . That was the Pitt-Fordham game (or one of them) which ended in a scoreless tie.

Wrestling promoters are spending lots of dough in telegrams trying to get Joe Routt, Texas A. and M.'s star guard, to turn burper. . . . The team Alabama is sending to the Rose bowl is the lightest in years . . . . Not a man in the starting lineup weighs as much as 200 pounds.

MAYBE there's a better way to start out a Monday column, but if so, The Plainsman doesn't know it. Hence, we present a spanking new list of "brain teasers."

The second question should be a cinch—but if you're at all forgetful, you'll miss it.

Think hard!

1. Their name sappear in newspapers almost daily, but can you give the government agencies represented by the following initials:

PWA, TVA, RA, HOLC, FDIC, REA and FERA?

2. What city official was fatally wounded when an assassin attempted to kill President-elect Roosevelt?

3. How many types of poisonous snakes are found in the United States?

4. How long is the U. S. nautical mile?

5. Who was England's queen for nine days?

The answers are down near the bottom of the column.

A shrewd commentary by Nat Campbell, in "Filosophy and Foolishness":

THE TRANSITION

The man of not so long ago
Used to kinda want to know
That he had sufficient "dough"
Fer another year or so.

But the average citizen of today
Goes whistling blithely on his way
Acting like it's all okay
To keep the pesky wolf away
Fer another day or so!

MOTHERS who would swoon if they saw their daughters eating peas with a knife and fathers who would swear between their teeth if they saw their female offspring using a toothpick don't seem to realize that their youngsters' habit of chewing gum the audible way is just as bad manners—and a whole lot more disturbing to the other person—as either of the aforementioned acts.

The Plainsman will admit that he's cracked on gum-chewing. He's biased and perhaps unreasonable, since he firmly believes that people should do their gum-chewing where they do their corn-paring—in the privacy of their own boudoirs.

But we don't think we're unreasonable in screaming against the slap-slap method, particularly in picture shows and at other gatherings.

There's no excuse in the world for noisy chewing and people who persist in it should realize that the act is fully as disgusting as sucking soup out of the bowl.

There ought to be a law again' it!

ALTHOUGH Big Spring is more than 100 miles removed from Lubbock, it is of interest to us here to learn that Howard county voted dry in a special election the other day.

By a margin of 118 votes, the oasis on the T&P banned beer, wine and hard liquor, all in one swoop and is now technically as dry as Lubbock.

The reason the Howard county vote is of interest here is because beer in Big Spring has been drawing some trade from Lubbock to the Howard county capital ever since the collared brew has been sold there.

Numerous people in Lamesa and environs who used to come to Lubbock for things they couldn't get at home have been going to Big Spring so they could quaff a few steins between shopping sallies and with their sandwiches.

Now that Big Spring has gone dry, perhaps those lured there by beer will return to Lubbock as a shopping base.

That Man on Avenue Q says if we'd study our own faults as enthusiastically as we study our neighbors' we'd make much better citizens out of ourselves.

It's easy to be philosophical about the reverses of others.

SINCE "Blue Monday" seems to be a good time to get things off our chest, we give rise to another pet peeve—and we'll bet we're joined by many others in it.

That is the confounded practice of magazine publishers in inserting between their pages cardboard order blanks to be used in renewals or in ordering the periodical for someone's Christmas gift.

The cardboard blanks cause the magazine to be hard to open at pages other than where the blanks protrude and they hide parts of the pages between which they lie.

They are bradded in the cover so firmly that when the subscriber tries to tear them out, the magazine is apt as not to come to pieces.

Maybe the inserted blanks bring in a lot of subscriptions, but if everyone was like The Plainsman they'd lose the magazine publishers customers.

THERE'S a lot of loose talk going around about the possibilities of our having another depression—bigger and better than ever.

While The Plainsman doesn't believe in borrowing trouble and certainly isn't going to believe we're going to hit the skids again until we do, he recently ran across an interesting bit of comment which—if we have one—ought to make the next depression a little easier to bear.

The idea is William Feathers.

"There is nothing like an empty stomach for promoting thought.

"This has been illustrated by writers and inventors doing their best work in poverty—and often going to seed after they become prosperous.

"It has happened, too, with many a business—fighting hard and building up during the lean years, becoming fat and sluggish in the years of plenty.

"When the stomach is filled with food, the blood leaves the brain and goes to the stomach to aid digestion. Partial brain anemia ensues, the mind functions slowly.

"With the stomach empty, there is a surplus of blood in the brain. Nature is stimulating the individual to evolve a plan for obtaining nourishment.

"Prosperity, like a large dinner, generates langour. There is a letdown of the dynamic forces. Probably this explains our periods of business depression—the reactions from prosperity causing drowsiness.

"With prosperity all the time we would be like lotus-eaters. Business depressions waken us from a toxic condition resulting from too much prosperity."

If it's all the same to Mr. Feathers, The Plainsman's next depression may be safely postponed for awhile.

He's never had enough prosperity to grow toxic!

HERE are the answers to today's "brain teasers." Did you get No. 2 right?

1. The governmental agencies are:

PWA—Public Works Administration.

TVA—Tennessee Valley Authority.

RA—Resettlement Administration.

HOLC—Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

FDIC—Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

REA—Rural Electrification Administration.

FERA—Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

2. Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago was fatally wounded when Joseph Zangara tried to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt at Miami, Fla., Feb. 15, 1933.

3. Four types of poisonous snakes are found in the United States: rattlesnakes, copperheads, water moccasins and coral snakes.

4. The U. S. nautical mile is 6,080.2 feet long or 1.152 statute miles.

5. Lady Jane Grey was proclaimed queen of England, succeeding Edward VI on July 10, 1553; on July 19 the Council of State proclaimed Mary I queen. Lady Jane was beheaded.

AMY KERR—Cilly's roommate and murderer's victim.

JIM KERRIGAN—Cilly's fiance.

HARRY HUTCHINS — Amy's strange visitor.

SERGEANT DOLAN—Officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday: The case against Kerrigan suddenly crumbles when the Perrys return to reveal that they took him to the airport Sunday night at the time of the murder. So Dolan and Cilly agree to work "together" on the case henceforth.

CHAPTER XXVII

Cilly went into the bedroom and picked up the little gadget for which she had searched through her lower bureau drawer. It was a small dressmaker's awl, used years ago by her mother for marking out patterns. All along it had been a perfectly useless thing. Cilly kept it only against the possibility that it might come in handy sometime. This was the time.

The little gadget not only marked off patterns very nicely, but a long time ago Cilly had found that it cut glass without any effort and without any crash or splintering. It was going to serve that purpose now, for Cilly was going housebreaking.

Sergeant Dolan might have his compunctions about ransacking other people's homes, as he put it, but Cilly did not share them. Her best friend had been murdered and now, although Jim was out from the shadow of guilt, the murderer was still at large. If he were not one of the tenants, there were two apartments where he might hide out very nicely.

The first was Mrs. Elliot's. It was curious about her. For an old lady, she showed very little interest in a neighborhood sensation. She must have seen the glaring headlines in the newspapers. Connecticut was not so far away. She must have recognized the pictures of her own apartment house.

Slowly, step by step, she climbed to the floor above, carefully feeling her way, lest she slip on the wet metal. Eight steps took her halfway up, then she turned on the small platform to ascend the second half of the flight. It was like walking on greased glass.

She hesitated a moment as she finally reached the window of Mrs. Elliot's bedroom, and tried to pierce the gloom within the room. True, there might be a murderer hiding in there, under the bed, or in the clothes closet at the side. But Cilly did not think so now. Fearlessly she peered through the window only to get a glimpse of the room's layout. Then she took the dressmaker's tool out of her pocket.

Very carefully she cut a semi-circle in the pane of glass directly above the window's catch—just enough so that she could slip her fingers through and unlatch the window. Some day, she thought with a smile, she would confess to Mr. Johnson and offer to pay for the broken window pane.

The small semi-circle of glass fell to the floor within the room and splintered with a resounding crash. But it could not have been heard anywhere except in the apartment below, and that was her own. Cilly unlocked the window and raised it slowly. An instant later, she slid over the sill, careful not to tread on the broken glass at her feet.

She wished she had brought a flashlight, but she did not own one. She looked carefully at the window shade . . . Good! It was as she had hoped. The windows were equipped with two sets of shades, light and dark, for this apartment faced the south and the sun shone in brightly all day. She pulled down both sets of shades; now she could turn on the light with little fear of being seen from the outside.

In the full glare of the overhead fixture, the room looked bare and cold. It lacked the cozy homeliness one usually associates with old ladies' rooms. There were no magazines on the end table, no intimate snapshots of nieces or nephews or grandchildren, no snuggly cushions. . . .

Cilly started on the chest of drawers. One after another she opened each drawer, and her eyes widened in amazement. They were entirely empty! There was not even newspaper covering on the bottom. Had Mrs. Elliot moved out completely, bag and baggage, as had Mrs. Wheeler?

Next she looked into the clothes closet. Would this too be empty? But no, there were clothes here. Typical old ladies' clothes. A black silk dress, of no particular style. A plain cloth coat, of a slightly rusty black. A muslin slip, hung on a wall bracket. Black oxfords, very large black oxfords, looking not unlike a pair of man's dress shoes, lay on the floor.

Cilly looked again. Surely there must be something else . . . . this was only one complete outfit. Did Mrs. Elliot have no other clothes? And where were her underthings, her house dresses? She opened the door wider, to see deeper into the closet. . . .

Here was something! Another coat it appeared. Cilly brought it

"A LITTLE NONSENSE NOW AND THEN"

Possibly there were some serious-minded souls who looked with disfavor upon the "horse play" engaged in by President Roosevelt and other official bigwigs the other day concerning Vice-President Garner and his deer.

A busy Chief Executive took time out to write a joshing letter to his No. 2 man, hinting, among other things, that the buck "Cactus Jack" killed in Pennsylvania was "a friendly pet of a hunting camp that answered to a whistle and ate out of your hand," or even that it wasn't a deer at all, but a cow. The President doubtless enjoyed the fun. So did Garner and the other officials.

Instead of criticizing the fun, The Journal approves of it—is glad to note the incident.

We are of the opinion that there's nothing much wrong with the country, or the men who run it, as long as they can turn briefly from their heavy duties to swap jokes and have a little fun. We believe such incidents are good for the country and for the men themselves—that they are indicative that conditions aren't as bad as some would have us believe.

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men," someone once noted and the statement represents a fact.

Good feeling—close feeling—engendered by a little "horse play" often has its effect further down the line when a little friendly co-operation and confidence is needed.

Let the "big shots" have their fun along with the rest of us.

It will do them—and us—good!

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13 — Night and day, day and night, color cameras at the Disney Studio are grinding away at "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Perhaps "grinding" isn't quite the word. These cameras merely click, and slowly. A photographer adjusts a painted background under the lights and the lens. From a great stack of celluloid sheets he takes those on which are painted all the players in a scene and places them over the background. Then he pushes a button and the camera clicks once, recording a split instant of suspended animation.

To make the picture move there must be 24 of these carefully arranged shots for every second that "Snow White" runs on the screen. That will mean, for this first full-length animated feature, about 150,000 frames of film and at least 100,000 more to be lost in the editing, cutting and retakes.

After four years, the job is nearly finished now. They're recording the last of the background music, and the songs are being synchronized. Snow White already is in the arms of the Prince and the Dwarfs are chasing the Wicked Witch.

But only a Hollywood, where a dazzling, formal premiere is being planned, will the completed film be seen by Christmas. Weeks more will be required to make prints for nationwide distribution.

Experimental Idealist

Walt Disney grins when people accuse him of doing a Chaplin—that is, working slowly and meticulously, regardless of time and cost. Disney points out that "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is, after all, the first animated feature, and that much of the work naturally was experimental. Three years ago he had a staff of about 100 people. This had to be enlarged to a total of 600.

Several times during early stages of the work, discoveries were made which prompted idealist Disney to go back and virtually begin again. One development is an impressive contraption called the multiplane camera, which gives an impression of depth.

Until now, all animated cartoons were photographed as if from a single sheet of paper, with the characters moving flat against the background. The multiplane process causes the characters to stand out as though on a miniature stage. Disney spent $30,000 perfecting this idea, and a lot more in applying it.

To meet the voice problem, Disney established a casting department, which held thousands of auditions. The job was to look at the character while listening to the voice and decide whether the two went together convincingly.

The dwarfs — Sneezy, Bashful, Dopey, Sleepy, Doc, Grumpy and Happy—have quite different personalities. The queen is cold, the witch an horrific hag. Snow White required the voice of a young girl, not a child. And she had to sing.

A Lovely Headache

Snow White was by all odds the most difficult part of the entire production. She is not a caricature, but a human being. Also, being the heroine, she had to be beautiful.

It would have been no trick at all, Disney explained, for his artists to produce almost photographic likenesses of some lovely model complete with all the lines and coloring and detail of a human face. Nor would he have begrudged the extra expense and labor entailed.

But it was photographically impossible to employ such minute detail because in animation Snow White's face would have become hazy.

So they finally worked out a simplified design for a pretty girl, who probably is as real a person as the animated screen is likely to see. Her movement and gestures also caused a thousand headaches among her creators, who for the first time were obliged to show motion as graceful and natural instead of comic.

Anyway, the job is done, and cameras are putting the last few thousand drawings upon film. Total cost will be $1,500,000.

Where Things Get Completely Out Of Control

Reason For Cold Reception To Green's Wages And Hour Legislation Explained By Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — The cold reception given the A. F. of L.'s latest proposal for wage-hour legislation is largely due to president belief that it couldn't possibly pass Congress and that even if it became law, it could not be enforced.

President William Green and his executive council aren't being taken quite so seriously since friends of the pending wage-hour bill spanked them by forcing the measure out of the House Rules committee. There is widespread doubt that dominant A. F. of L. leaders really want an effective law.

A. F. L. Plan "Impractical"

The executive council's demand for a rigid wage minimum of 40 cents an hour is generally considered unrealistic and impossible of acceptance. The pending proposal would permit a board to set lower wage rates in the South and other areas where immediate imposition of a $16 weekly wage or a maximum 40-hour week would be "impractical."

Rodney Dutcher

Accumulation of 218 signatures to the petition forcing the House Labor committee's bill to the floor, coming after Green's denunciation of the measure, was most of all a victory for the House bloc of 40 or 50 progressives and Labor's Non-Partisan league, acting in concert and with the active support of Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas and Democratic Whip Paddy Boland of Pennsylvania.

Perhaps the most surprising aspect of the battle was the degree to which many A. F. of L. groups, repudiating Green, went to bat with the league in its pressure campaign. At least some officials of 20 A. F. of L. international unions cooperated with the league, although the bulk of pressure came from C. I. O. and independent unions.

Used Old Lobbying Tricks

Most of the old familiar lobbying tricks, so often denounced by pro-labor liberals in Congress, were used. E. L. Oliver, the league's executive secretary, was entirely responsible for organization by liberals of last summer's rebellious caucus which resulted in Rayburn's promise to fight for the bill and

The Morning After Taking Carter's Little Liver Pills

FROM A "STENO"

Dear Plainsman: I am sure you have your pet peeves; in fact, I believe you have voiced some of them in your column. Maybe by voicing mine, a few of the people who have the habit of doing what peeves me most will see, and will realize, perhaps for the first time, how silly this particular habit sounds to some people.

Have you ever had a man walk into your office, or call you on the 'phone and say "this is Mr. Brown"? I wonder if a man knows how silly and conceited this makes him appear. I don't believe that I have ever heard a man's voice over the telephone or seen a man in person, that I did not know at once that he was of the male species, and therefore, did not doubt that he was a Mr. without his emphasizing the fact. I think it would be a lot more original if a person who is conceited enough to inform every one he meets that he is Mr. Brown would simply begin his conversation with "I am extremely wealthy, there is not a flaw in my make-up. I am considered the most handsome man in town. Since some people do not know these facts I make it a point to tell them." Then when he got through telling you all about his lovely self, he might ask if your boss is in, or whatever he came to see you about. I do believe I would like the fellow who did this and made no bones about loving himself much better than that idiot who is so self-centered that he thinks that "Mister" stuck before his name is all he needs to make everybody sit up and take notice.

I enjoy your column more than any other part of the paper. Your ideas on most things are the same as mine, although I do not have the brain to express mine. It is nice to have some one to express them for you, then all you have to do is pick up the paper, turn to The Plainsman's column and see how you feel about things in general.

Best wishes,
A Steno.

(Dear "Steno": Thanks a lot for your kind words. I am sure you do not realize how good it makes me feel to occasionally receive a letter containing a 'pat on the back'. It's a pretty tough job, grinding out a column every day—along with editorials and a lot of other routine duties—and it helps a lot to get a written handclasp once in-awhile. Thanks again, The Plainsman.)

THE CHINA-JAP ROW

Dear Plainsman: After readin' the papers and thinkin' it over, I myself, it strikes me that Pea. Buck started sumthin' when she made up that yarn about the Chinaman's "good earth." Right away a lot a furriners begun a hankerin' after it, but they dassen tech it—None but the Japs. Square people, them Japs. They b'lieve in kin folks a-stickin' together, them is perfuckler as has slantin' eyes and yeller skins. They got plum tired seein' them Chinks a lettin' all the bars down to Tom, Dick, and Harry to come in and do bizness on the same footin' as the Japs. So they stepped right in to learn them proper respect fer their own kin folks. They don't even call it war—jest a family row. And they're a sayin' to Tom, Dick, and Harry

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Stocks went into a slow but sizable decline in today's market, leading issues falling as much as 4 or more points.

Efforts to rally the list were feeble. A number of new lows for the year or longer were in evidence near the fourth hour.

While the business scene was viewed a little more hopefully by market analysts, trading forces were inclined to stand aside and wait for Washington to make the next move in the campaign against the economic slide.

Mildly unsettling was the sinking of an American gunboat by the Japanese near Nanking, although an immediate apology from Tokyo tended to lessen early tension created by the incident.

Bonds and commodities were quiet and uneven.

Among conspicuous stocks on the slide were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, J. I. Case, International Harvester, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, Standard Oil of Cal., Texas Corp., Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Allis Chalmers, Commercial Investment Trust, Eastman Kodak, Owens-Illinois, American Tobacco "B", U. S. Gypsum and Lone Star Cement.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures were uneven in the early dealings here today in sympathy with poor cables and some covering by shorts.

Initial sales were 1 point net higher to 2 points lower with Dec. at 8.12, Jan. 8.15, March, 8.20, May 8.21, July 8.22, Oct. 8.25 and Dec. (new) at 8.30.

The turnover was small after the start but towards the end of the first half hour prices remained at or near the opening figures.

Washington advices indicating that the farm bill might go to conference during the week was construed as bullish by the trade and spurred enough demand to wipe out the early loss.

Near mid-session Dec. sold at 8.17, March at 8.22, May 8.22, July 8.25 and Oct. at 8.28, or 1 to 3 points above the previous close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — Cotton futures opened quiet, 1 lower to 2 higher. Lower cables were partly offset by trade and foreign buying. Dec. 8.00, Jan. 7.98, March 8.07, May 8.10, July 8.12, Oct. 8.18.

Although offerings were not plentiful after the call, prices sagged a few points largely because of slow demand.

March was 8.06 and the list was net unchanged to 3 points lower shortly after the first half hour.

The market remained quiet but the tone was slightly steadier late in the morning.

March advanced to 8.10 and at midday was 8.09, when prices generally were 4 points higher to 1 lower.

Initiation Of 26 Is Staged

Nineteen active members and seven alumni members were initiated to the Beta chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering association, at a meeting at which the chapter was installed Saturday night at Hilton hotel. Lester Mueller from Roscoe was elected president of the chapter, which is an outgrowth of the Texas Technological college chapter of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Scholarship.

Other officers chosen were: Vice president, William King, Weatherford; recording secretary, Winton Rochelle; corresponding secretary, John Sheehan, Hermleigh; treasurer, Maxwell Nuttall, Borger; cataloguer, Jim Kelley, Hobbs, N. M.; advisory board, H. F. Godeke, Dr. A. G. Obeg, Dr. V. Schneider, and F. A. Kleinschmidt, faculty members.

Sponsor Since 1932

Godeke has been sponsor of S. P. E. S. since it was organized at Tech in 1932 under his supervision. He was delegated by national officers to install the chapter.

Out-of-town Tau Beta Pi guests came from Borger, Amarillo, and Abilene.

Alumni members initiated were Alton Miller, member of the 1933 graduating class, Hereford; Stiles Roberts, 1934, Austin; F. F. Campbell, 1936, San Angelo; H. A. Holcomb, 1937, Austin; Hoyce McMurtry, 1937, and Hall McCrummen, 1937, Lubbock.

O. V. Adams, dean of engineering at the college, and Capt. Frank A. Pettit, commander of the R. O. T. C. unit, who came from schools having no chapter, were initiated as graduate members.

Active members initiated were Bill McDavid, John Pierce, Nuttall, John Emmett, Mueller, Kelley, Rochelle, William Richards, Clarence Rannefeld, King, Homer Henslee, Sheehan, Lyle Donaldson, Wayne Vaughn, George Dupree, jr., Kendall Onstott, Dan McDonald, Barney McCasland, and Wayland Merriman.

sel to reach the $8,000,000 luxury liner, said the Hoover's condition was precarious because heavy seas rush in with great force this season where she is grounded.

"She will be ashore a long time," he said, refusing to hazard whether the Dollar line vessel could be salvaged.

Captain Stepback, advised by Captain George Yardley of the Hoover that he needed no further immediate aid, left the stranded vessel shortly after dawn Saturday.

Stepback estimated the 21,900-ton ship, which is 653 feet long, had driven up on the rocks as far as her second funnel, or more than half her length. The stern is floating, said the German.

600 Said Involved

Information here indicated about 600 passengers were involved in the rescue, the method of which was not known.

Two United States destroyers, which sped 500 miles to the scene from Manila, stood by to lend any needed assistance.

San Francisco Dollar line officials said they were informed there was no sickness or injury among the passengers but that they had no additional information from Captain George Yardley, veteran master of the vessel.

There was no further word to indicate the cause of the accident, which occurred while the liner was sailing a new course between Japan and Manila.

ers was attracted.

Woodroof started in pursuit and overtook the hijacker nearly a block north of the store and about a block and half north of the public square. He was shot in the scuffle. A bystander quoted the hijacker as having said, "Look out, fellow, or you'll get shot."

Hubert Watkins, another clerk, also ran after the hijacker but was about "30 steps" behind Woodroof.

The estimated $500 taken was in currency, according to Swanson Hurt, store manager.

Description Is Given

Clerks described the bandit as being approximately six feet tall, weighing approximately 190 pounds, between 30 and 35 years old, having a three or four days growth of whiskers, and wearing blue overalls and jacket. The sheriff's office reported he had adhesive tape on his nose and left side of his face.

A man fitting that description had been seen on the streets and "hanging around gins", residents said.

Lamesa officers joining in the search are Sheriff White and Deputies Jap Randale and Andy Anderson, Jack Phinizy, city marshal, Shank Costin and Barney Yarbrough, deputy marshals, Jack Aldridge, constable, and L. E. Eager, city nightwatchman.

the situation to Col. J. S. Wilson, the superintendent, who notified Governor Johnson. Quickly more than 125 guards, constables, police and national guardsmen assembled.

Governor Johnson, rushing to the prison, talked to the convicts through a barred window of the captain's office and offered them immunity from punishment if they would surrender.

One of the felons shouted back:

"Get us a car. Open the gates. Otherwise it'll be too bad for Sanders."

For two hours the youthful governor pleaded.

Adjutant General James C. Dozier warned the prisoners they couldn't possibly survive the fire of machine guns, rifles, pistols, hand grenades and gas bombs that would meet any attempt to make a break.

"To hell with you—go on and shoot all you —— —— please."

Two minutes after the first tear gas shell was hurled into the room, a prisoner shouted:

"We surrender. For God's sake let us out!"

One by one the convicts stumbled out, hands upraised. On the floor lay Captain Sanders, bleeding profusely. He died a few minutes later.

British officials quoted a Japanese spokesman as saying he had orders to "fire on every ship on the river."

A Japanese army communique, meanwhile, reported the capture of Pukow, across the Yangtze from Nanking, last midnight. It declared Japanese possession of Pukow cut off all retreat from Nanking except by boat up the river.

Under the circumstances, Japanese added, all foreign ships were warned to keep away from Chinese vessels to avoid danger. They said, however, they had no authority to say whether Japanese artillery was under orders to fire on any ships on the river.

Square Deal For Texas Goal Of Man

Harold Matsler, 305 F street, Springfield, Ore., is a native of Texas and wants the world to know it.

Further than that, he wants to clear away some of the ignorance which prevails elsewhere concerning the Lone Star State.

These, at least, were his statements in a letter received at the chamber of commerce this morning asking some facts and figures concerning Texas.

He Selects Texas

He explained that pupils of his class are to present a program at which individuals are to represent the states of their own selection. He has chosen Texas.

"I would like to add this—'boost Texas,' because you'd would be surprised how ignorant people here are about Texas," his letter continued. "I like Oregon but I want to see Texas get a square deal."

Chamber of commerce officials promised that he will be obliged in a large way and they were attempting this morning to locate a copy of an essay which illustrates Texas productiveness by stating how large the cow, hog and cotton bale would be if all produced in the state were combined into one of its kind.

Funeral Services For Victims In Ralls Tragedy Are Held

RALLS, Dec. 13. (Special)—Funeral services for two young victims of a triple death accident near Ralls Saturday night were conducted here Sunday afternoon and last rites for a third victim were set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The service this afternoon for Ben Davis, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis of Ralls, was conducted in Cumberland Presbyterian church, with Rev. E. M. Jennings, Lubbock, officiating. Marr Funeral home announced. The youth died in a sanitarium in Lubbock Saturday night of a broken neck and several fractured ribs.

Two Killed Instantly

Miss Mary Seale Little, 22, and Arvin Hines, 21, were killed instantly when the automobile in which the three were riding overturned a mile east of Ralls on highway 24 shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Funeral services for Miss Little, daughter of Hugh B. Little, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the residence. Rev. W. R. Deer, pastor of the Baptist church, and Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated. Miss Little was survived by a sister, Bernice, and a paternal grandmother. Miss Little died of a crushed chest.

Last Rites Conducted

Last rites for Arvin Hines, son of Mrs. Bill Pettit, were conducted at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist church, with Rev. Will Flores officiating. Hines died of brain injury and probably a fractured skull.

Marr Funeral home directed each funeral. Two bodies were buried in Ralls cemetery Sunday, and interment also will be there this afternoon.

The car overturned after passing another automobile. It turned across the left side of the road and went through a barbed wire fence. All three persons were thrown clear of the car. Grady Moseley, Ralls City marshal, who investigated said Hines was driving. Highway patrolmen also investigated.

Death Plot

sen, before he died, confessed he had paid $3 to Robert Suess, 31-year-old artist, to buy a gun to kill Withrow, his employer.

Suess tipped off police that he had been promised $100 in cash and half of $15,000 insurance signed over to Mrs. Petersen by Withrow, if Petersen's plan was successful and he gained control of the drug manufacturing business.

Corsini posed as a gangster, he said, willing to aid in executing the alleged plot. He arrested Petersen after they were introduced by Suess.

Early Visit From Santa Claus At Brownfield Is Promised

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 13.—Children under 16 years old will receive an early visit from Santa Claus if the plan of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce is put into effect.

The chamber, with which Rotarians, Lions, Maids and Matrons and other service clubs are cooperating, are endeavoring to stage a Santa Claus party in which they will distribute 5,000 boxes of candy in Christmas packages to children who are residents of Terry, Yoakum and Gaines counties. In addition to the candy, each child will be admitted to the Rialto theater free.

The party will be held Friday and will be commenced by a parade led by Santa Claus. The packages will be distributed from one of the main streets of Brownfield.

Over 6,000 Santa Claus letters have been mailed out by the chamber and all schools in the three counties have been requested to declare a holiday for the affair.

Mail Car Hurdles Wrecked Engine

Poised high above the ground at a perilous angle, this express car of a speeding passenger train was carried by its momentum almost entirely over the half-buried wreckage of the derailed locomotive, in a wreck near Batesville, Miss. Plowing into a herd of stray cattle, the engine and three express cars were derailed, killing the fireman, injuring the engineer critically. No passengers were hurt.

Road Work Is To Be Pushed

Speeding of road improvement and maintenance work in commissioner's precinct No. 4 was insured with the purchase of a new grader at a net cost of $1,575 at the semi-monthly meeting of the county commissioners court at the courthouse this morning.

Bid of Austin Western Road Machinery company was accepted. Total cost will be $1,925, the county receiving a trade-in credit of $350 on an old machine. B. O. McWhorter serves the precinct as commissioner.

Approve Rights-Of-Way

The county also approved rights-of-way sought by South Plains Electric Cooperative, inc., for power lines to serve rural electrification projects of the cooperative. The franchise will extend from the city limits to lands of the organization members, with the city power plant delivering power at the city limits under a wholesale contract approved by the city commission last week. The contract, officials explained, allows the cooperative usual published wholesale rates.

Routine business occupied the remainder of the county commission session, according to County Judge J. J. Dillard. The official $1,000 bond of Mrs. Stella Brown Robbins, newly appointed deputy district clerk, was approved, as were monthly reports of several county and precinct officials.

Baugh Makes Report

Among reports were those of Dr. W. L. Baugh, county health officer, listing 28 calls at the county jail, inspections of nine cases of contagious diseases, five sanitation inspections, three insanity investigations and appearance at two insanity trials. J. W. Wilson, executive secretary of the City-Council Welfare association, reported net November expenses of the organization at $1,420. Justice of the Peace Homer Smith of Slaton reported net collections in fines and costs for the county in November at $209.15, and Justice of the Peace Walter Davies, precinct 1, place 1, Lubbock, turned in $160.90 for the same period.

Present at this morning's session, additional to Dillard and McWhorter, were Commissioners P. B. Penney, Ben Mansker and T. L. Holt.

much clothing had been stolen from him. A suspect in an automobile was sought to the westward of Lubbock.

A man of eight miles south of Lubbock, listed as "H. P. Gotersah," reported to police his car had struck Mrs. A. D. Stanley on Avenue H Sunday, but she was not seriously injured. The driver took the woman to a sanitarium to determine whether she was injured.

A Spur man, W. B. Francis, said his overcoat had been stolen here.

A 22-year-old man probably will be charged with theft of clothing. He was to be transferred to county authorities, said police.

Cooperation Of Ministers Is Asked In Safety Campaign

Cooperation of Lubbock ministers in the fire prevention campaign through the Christmas holidays was invited in letters from the chamber of commerce this morning, according to Guy L. McAfee, chairman of the chamber's fire prevention committee.

Ministers were asked to stress the need for precaution at all Christmas tree and program assemblies, and several already have given assurance of cooperation, McAfee said.

Attention also was called to the campaign at intervals today by radio station KFYO which will continue its assistance through the holidays. Several special programs are planned over KFYO and in schools next week, the chairman announced.

Meanwhile, Fire Chief W. E. Twitty advised the chamber that any further substantial additions to Lubbock's comparatively heavy fire loss this year is almost certain to be reflected in the fire insurance rate. The affect of a serious fire before Dec. 31 on the insurance rate in all probability will be much heavier than if it should occurr after that date, he explained.

Although it is a rickety affair at best, the thirty blue herons will repair and use the old nest year after year.

Brief Bits Of News

Grand Jury At Work — A 72nd district court grand jury had been reconvened this morning to investigate recent filings in justice courts and general reports of lawlessness. It had been impaneled at the beginning of the November term of court. No statement was forthcoming from the district attorney's office to indicate when the body might be expected to complete its investigations.

Dupree will attend the annual meeting of north-central district Scouters of South Plains Boy Scout council at Plainview at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to information given this morning by Earl M. McClure, executive. Election of officers will be a feature.

Missionaries Are Speakers At Baptist Rally Held In City

At 2:30 o'clock, about 500 delegates for the Lubbock Baptist association met for their annual pre-Christmas meeting conducted in the interest of the Baptist missionaries in foreign fields. Dr. Moore, a missionary 17 years in China spoke on missionaries in that country.

Federal Court Opens In City

Short docket of both civil and criminal matters for the winter term of United States district court for the northern district of Texas, Lubbock division, was indicated this morning by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding. He called the civil law docket and set about a dozen cases.

Several equity docket and bankruptcy cases were likewise disposed of, by agreement of counsel.

Judge Davidson told the jury to report at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday. Several on the panel were excused for various reasons.

Frank Taylor, assistant U. S. district attorney, represented the district attorney's office in criminal matters. He said there would probably not be many cases requiring a jury.

Case Is Transferred

Case of violation of federal hunting laws against E. F. Laird was transferred to the Dallas district by Judge Davidson at request of Taylor. Case against Grady L. Tunnell, charged with theft, delay and tampering of the mails, was dismissed at the request of the attorney general.

Bond was ordered forfeited in a liquor case against Willie E. Page, when he failed to appear and his bondsmen to produce him.

Hugh Smith, charged with forgery of a U. S. government check, was given 60 days in jail, suspended for five years, dependent upon good behavior of the defendant. Smith entered a plea of guilty.

Eula Mc Michael, former Ralls negress, charged with possession of a still and three other liquor counts, was given 30 days in Tarrant county jail on the first count and 18 months in Alderson, West Va., on the other three, suspended for three years.

Houston Stamp Collector On Ground Early For The Next Airmail Flight From City

A. S. Harrison of Houston, a stamp collector, missed out on the first airmail plane to leave Lubbock, but he is on the ground early for the next—when and if there is one.

He did not learn until too late, he explained, that a test airmail pickup was scheduled for Lubbock last Friday. But this morning, the chamber of commerce received 21 stamped airmail envelopes, all self addressed, to be mailed to him sometime in the indefinite future.

He asked also, if it can be done, that the "first flight" cachet designed for Lubbock be placed on the envelopes. The cachet was a rubber stamp depiction of Texas and the six flags under which it has been governed.

Several letters also were received at the chamber this morning from individuals to whom souvenir covers were mailed on the first plane. One among them was an acknowledgement from Gov. James V. Allred.

Bishop E. C. Seaman Leads In Vesper Service Here Sunday

Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the district of North Texas, led the Texas Technological college Y vesper service Sunday afternoon.

Sunday was the bishop's regular fall visitation to Lubbock. Starting the program at 8 o'clock, Bishop Seaman led the holy communion. A breakfast for the students was at 9 o'clock. At 9:45 o'clock the bishop was the speaker at the church school of St. Paul's-on-the-Plains. The bishop closed his morning activities by speaking to the Ministry on "The Place of the Ministry in Preparing the World for Christ".

At 5 o'clock, Bishop Seaman confirmed a class of 12, and spoke to the Young People's Service league. He led the college discussion group in their regular Sunday meeting at 7:30 o'clock and he spoke on the national triennial general convention of the Episcopal churches.

At the 11 o'clock church service, Bishop Seaman consecrated a baptismal bowl given to the church by one of its members.

Lubbock's new traffic ordinance will go into effect Dec. 29, according to announcement at city hall this morning.

The ordinance is the longest ever to be adopted in Lubbock; representing a consolidation of most all previously enacted traffic regulation measures. It consists of 20 typewritten legal pages, approximately 12,000 words and required six columns of 5 1-2 point type for reproduction.

Other Names Are Being Drawn Into Probe Of Murder Ring

PARIS, Dec. 13. (AP)—The names of a second Strasbourg woman and two more men were brought into the investigation of the murder-for-profit syndicate today as police became convinced there were more victims than the five which Eugene Weidmann confessed slaying.

While still further evidence was uncovered indicating that the missing Janine Keller, 30-year-old Alsatian, had been lured to Weidmann's St. Cloud villa where the young American dancer, Jean de Koven, met her death, an Alsatian named Sibenhaim informed police his wife had disappeared in October under mysterious circumstances.

The Africa okapi is related to the giraffe, but, according to scientific findings, the okapi is more primitive in skeletal formation than any of the fossil giraffes so far discovered.

Christmas Notes

by Carolyn the Co-ed

Then we walked over to the next counter and found these beautiful imported brocaded satin robes. They would make a delightful gift for any good boss. These robes are stunning in combinations of black and gold, wine and silver, and black and orange form a happy combination of the luxurious and practical. Rayner satin smartly trimming the collars, cuffs, pockets and tasseled sash gives the robe an opulent air that the boss would like in spite of himself. You can get these robes in $15 and $25 sizes.

Now if your boss wears a size four shoes instead of elevens and skirts instead of pants, she can't resist the glamour of some satin lace trimmed negligees we found. Their delicate colorings would give her the charm of Dresden china in her home after office hours. One that we could hardly leave was a shocking pink with a dainty lace collar. Delicate lace softly outlines the zipper down the front of the robe. Slightly puffed sleeves make this alluring negligee especially enhancing. Its price is $10.85.

As happy a way of wishing your lady boss a merry Christmas that we know is with these $16.85 pajama and robe sets found in the ready-to-wear department. Our visualization of this dark wine lounging robe with sleek Parisien lines over the polka dot trousers when on a sophisticated personality was just too divine! Yes, the problem of what to get the lady boss for Christmas will lose its terror when you see this striking ensemble.

not to come a buttin' in, if'n they know whut's good fer 'em. So fur, they've got 'em all buffaloed.

This buttin' in on family rows is mighty ticklish bizness, anyhow. I rickolect one night when the Jeems brothers, Bill and Bob, got kinda stewed-up on corn licker and got to fightin' out in front o' Parson Darby's house. And when the preacher went out and tried to pull 'em apart, they both turned on 'im and nearly chawed his years off.

Definite Word On Contracts At Ropesville Not Received

Definite word on the letting of contracts for construction work on the Farm Security administration's project at Ropesville, has not been received, James P. Williams, manager, said this morning.

Results of bids for grubbing, contouring, construction of houses and drilling of wells and windmill buildings, were forwarded to Washington, after being opened in Amarillo and Dallas. Williams said he was expecting advice almost any day.

Meantime, road location work is completed, also the location of the various tracts and also for sites for houses, barns, windmills, tanks, etc. Everything is ready for contractors to start work.

Dutcher's Column

paved the way for the discharge petition.

Hundreds of telegrams went out to local unions with requests for pressure on individual congressmen. A girl at league headquarters kept telephoning members' offices to ask if they had signed. Those who stalled often found fires breaking out back home.

Several congressmen found themselves pressured by farm organizations with which the league has connections. Lieut.-Gov. Tom Kennedy of Pennsylvania, United Mine Workers' vice-president, transformed Boland from a lukewarm into an active worker. Maryland congressmen signed after an Amalgamated Clothing Workers' delegation came visiting. New York's American Labor party made the Tammany boys hit the trail. The A. F. of L's. brewery workers went to bat hard. Some Florida signatures were driven in by A. F. of L. unions.

Cotton Bloc Capitulated

Field generalship was provided by Rayburn, who became angry and made it a personal issue, by Boland and such progressives as Maverick of Texas, Healey of Massachusetts, Voorhis of California, Keller of Illinois and the Wisconsin and Washington groups.

The threat of urban congressmen to block an amendment to the farm bill which would cover the next cotton crop brought in at least ten signatures. Green's blast, although expected to result in withdrawal of several names, failed to remove a single one—although Kramer of California took his off, then hastily put it back.

In the end it was Rayburn who, through personal pressure, sent Mansfield of Texas rolling up in a wheel chair to add the 218th signature.
