Three-Way Squabble On Castro Issue Develops

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The Inter-American foreign ministers conference on Cuban communism split into three blocs today in wrangling over how best to deal with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's threats to hemispheric unity.

Argentina, one of the biggest and most powerful nations, warned other members that the Organization of American States faces a danger of disintegration unless a compromise formula is found.

A U.S. spokesman still expressed hope the meeting would result in some indictment of the Castro regime, but the situation remained extremely fluid.

Brazil, leader of the antipunishment bloc, obviously has not budged an inch after two days of behind-the-scenes bargaining over whether to punish Castro with diplomatic or economic penalties or adopt a soft approach.

"There is little prospect of complete accord at this conference," a Brazilian spokesman said.

Brazil, the largest Latin-American nation, pushed for a second postponement of the formal speeches which could freeze the positions of the 20 inter-American nations considering the case of Cuba, the 21st. Brazil wants another day to trade views and proposals privately.

The first plenary speech-making session was scheduled tonight.

Robert F. Woodward, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said in an interview that the United States is hopeful the member nations will get together toward a common front—not necessarily on the position of the United States.

Woodward indicated no precise formula has yet been worked out which could meet with the approval of all the participants, but he looked for developments by Wednesday night.

Other U.S. sources felt anything could happen, but expressed optimism that some sort of condemnation will be voted by a majority if not the desired two-thirds majority of the Organization of American States.

The conference had taken on the look of a deadlock, with several big nations still apparently holding out against any strong action such as the imposition of diplomatic and economic penalties advocated by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Failure of the conference to act against the Castro regime might have an adverse effect in the U.S. Congress on President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program, a $20-billion project aimed to cure Latin America's dangerous economic ills.

Kennedy's team, facing an array of conflicting fears and aspirations, apparently abandoned any hope of unanimity of the 20 nations on strong collective punishment of the Cuban regime and sought to salvage a majority condemnation, toothless though it might be.

The deadlock involved sharp differences of approach between big Latin-American nations advocating a soft policy toward Cuba and smaller ones feeling Castro pressure acutely and anxious for quick, positive action.

The impasse plunged the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States into complex quarrels that clearly threatened hemispheric unity. However, hopes were expressed that the broad differences of opinion would be glossed over by some compromise formula.

At Brazil's urging, today's formal sessions were pushed back until 8 p.m. to permit another round of hotel room bargaining. The Brazilian and Argentine delegations arranged a number of sessions in the hope a steady exchange of ideas would bring a meeting of minds, particularly with the smaller nations urging strong action against Cuba.

The Brazilians hinted they would seek an additional 24-hour postponement of formal debate if the informal talks failed to turn up any prospects of agreement.

As others wrangled, the Cubans remained in the background, more and more confident they would emerge from the meeting unpunished.

In Havana, Castro predicted failure for the conference. He declared in a TV speech Monday night that Cuba would never accept "sanctions or condemning declarations" from the Inter-American conference. He asserted that any anti-Cuban action taken by the OAS might be a spark igniting revolutions throughout the hemisphere.

The spotlight here focused on Argentina and Brazil, Latin America's largest, most powerful nations.

Argentina seemed to be gaining more support for a compromise formula envisioning denunciation of Castro but short of such mandatory collective punishment as the rupture of diplomatic and economic relations.

Evidently attempting to salvage at least a minimum objective, the United States quietly placed its authority behind the Argentine approach. Anything less than condemnation of Cuba would dim President Kennedy's chances of getting the initial $9-billion appropriation he seeks from Congress for the Alliance for Progress.

The Brazilians doggedly sought backing for the notion that the OAS would defeat its own purposes and drive Cuba irrevocably into the Soviet camp unless the Castro regime is given a chance to assume an entirely neutralist position in inter-American affairs.

Haiti dealt a stiff blow to hopes for penalties against Cuba. Any action requires a two-third majority—14 of the 21 members. As one of the 13 OAS members which has broken ties with Cuba, Haiti was counted on to back strong action. Haiti suddenly switched to the side of such big nations as Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and Chile in advocating a soft approach. On the other side, Guatemala, an advocate of strong penalties, threatened to walk out of the conference if Cuba gets nothing more than a reprimand. The five other Central American nations were reported in a like mood.

Senate Prepared To Act On Tourist Bill

By BOB ROOKER

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate was prepared today to pass its third major bill of the Legislature's special session—a $200,000 tourist advertising measure by Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi.

Maneuvering through a Senate rules suspension and past several amendments Monday, Reagan barely failed to get a four-fifths majority for a final vote on the bill.

It was before the senators without such preliminaries today.

The measure is a slimmed-down one from a $300,000 bill to pay for tourist advertising, repairs to the San Jacinto monument and additional parole officers for the Texas Youth Council.

As amended, the measure provides $200,000 for the Highway Department to advertise tourist facilities in Texas. $75,000 for the monument and $70,000 for the Game and Fish Commission to rebuild a laboratory destroyed by hurricane Carla.

Money to rebuild the laboratory comes from commission funds and not the general revenue fund.

Reagan beat down proposals Monday to restore the San Jacinto Monument appropriation to $156,000, to add $65,000 for the parole officers, to eliminate the tourist advertising entirely and to raise the advertising figure to $300,000.

The House still must act on the measure after the Senate gets through.

Also on the Senate calendar today was a controversial loan shark regulation bill. The State Affairs Committee approved it Monday.

Proponents of the measure said, however, there appeared to be little chance for consideration of the measure today. They said action probably would be delayed until late in the week.

The measure regulates loans up to $500. It sets a sliding scale of interests rates of 3 per cent a month on loans less than $100, 2.5 per cent a month on $100 to $200 loans and 2 per cent a month on those from $200 to $500.

The House approved Gov. Price Daniel's abandoned property bill Monday.

This measure, requiring banks to advertise dormant accounts and to turn some of them over to the state, was the major reason Daniel cited for calling the lawmakers back into session.

Other legislative developments:

A House committee approved the Senate version of a bill to let farmers using gas for irrigation purposes appeal gas rates to the Railroad Commission.

The House and Senate State Affairs Committees approved bills to make San Angelo College a four-year instead of a two-year school, effective Sept. 1, 1965.

The House committee also approved a measure to make Pan American College in Edinburg a four-year state college.

The Senate Water Committee approved a bill to consolidate two drainage districts in southern Jefferson County to deal with the federal government in obtaining funds for a $33 million seawall.

House and Senate committees considered but took no action on measures to make municipal annexations more orderly.

City Councilmen Award Contracts

Snyder City Councilmen last night awarded contracts for construction of a 500,000-gallon overhead water storage tank and named Bill Kimzey, city engineer, to serve as temporary city manager, beginning Feb. 1.

Roy Dunlap, city manager here for the past 6½ years, will terminate his duties here on that date and become city manager at Killeen.

The council announced that Kimzey would serve as temporary city manager until a permanent manager is named, which they hope will be accomplished within a few weeks. Several applications for the post are under study.

Jones Construction Co. of Big Spring was awarded a contract to construct a foundation for the overhead water storage facility, which will be located in the southwest part of town. The successful bidder had the lowest of four proposals submitted, $4,444.

At the same time, R. D. Cole Co. was awarded a contract to erect the tank itself, at a cost of $58,695. The combination was lowest by over $7,000 of several proposals received for erecting the tank and constructing the foundation.

Upon the city engineer's recommendation, the council accepted the proposal of Allis Chalmers to furnish a high service pump for the water department. The bid totalled $2,078. Bids had been opened earlier, but a decision on the contract had been delayed for the engineer to check efficiency and specifications.

In other business during the session, the council authorized several minor budgetary changes.

Application Blanks Ready

Application blanks for poll tax receipts or exemption certificates for people who are ill, or for some other reason are unable to personally purchase their poll taxes at the courthouse, are available at the Chamber of Commerce office here.

The service is intended to aid persons who must rely upon neighbors or close friends to obtain their poll taxes for them, said Chamber officials.

Upon completion of the application, the agent must present the form with the required $1.75 to the tax assessor - collector, if no exemption is claimed, before the receipt can be issued. There is no fee for those entitled to exemptions.

The Chamber of Commerce is furnishing the blanks only, and is not authorized to represent the tax assessor-collector in accepting fees, or issuing exemptions, it was emphasized.

Sunshine Returns To Snyder Area

Sunshine brought hopes of a warming trend here today, as schools reopened following an unscheduled holiday caused by icy roads Monday.

The temperature dipped to a low of 12 degrees here Monday, but had inched upward to 16 this morning. Forecasts indicated a rise into the thirties during the day.

Valley Is Threatened With Another Freeze

By The Associated Press

Texas' widespread ice storm moved deep into South Texas Tuesday, carrying with it a threat of freezing weather for the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Freezing drizzle was reported as far south as Corpus Christi during the morning.

Most of the area to the north remained frosted over with treacherous ice that closed hundreds of schools in North, Central and East Texas and slowed highway travel.

Numerous traffic accidents occurred. At least 11 traffic deaths have been blamed on the arctic blast since its sweep into the Texas Panhandle Sunday.

Austin streets glazed over during the morning as freezing mist fell in 25-degree weather.

Early morning traffic was snarled in usually warm San Antonio as freezing rain ice-coated the city's expressway system.

Brownsville had a low morning temperature of 44 degrees, but the Weather Bureau said much colder weather was in store for the Lower Rio Grande Valley Tuesday. Temperatures of 25 to 32 degrees were forecast.

The Valley is still counting its loss from a record - breaking freeze of two weeks ago.

While colder weather was expected in South Texas, conditions improved somewhat to the north. Skies remained cloudy, but the freezing drizzle and sleet had let up.

The Weather Bureau said another cold night was in store for the northern half of the state, but temperatures would climb above the freezing mark by Wednesday afternoon.

Tuesday night's forecast called for readings of 16 to 24 degrees in Northwest Texas; 15 to 24 degrees in North Central Texas; 14 to 24 degrees in Northeast Texas; 25 to 32 degrees in South Central Texas; 20 to 28 degrees in Southeast Texas; and generally in the 20s in Southwest Texas.

The Texas Highway Department said travel was hazardous east of a line from Sanderson, in far West Texas, through Rankin, Sterling City, Abilene and Jacksboro to Gainesville and north of a line from Del Rio through Uvalde to Corpus Christi.

Moisture stopped adding to the glaze plastered onto most central sections of the state by early morning, when the latest norther had pushed southward into the Gulf of Mexico and northern Mexico.

Before daylight, however, a band of freezing moisture extended all across a belt about 100 miles wide north of a line linking Del Rio, San Antonio and Lufkin.

Temperatures dived as low as 8 degrees above zero at Dalhart well before sunup. Readings elsewhere ranged up to 49 at Brownsville.

Although the drizzle halted behind the norther, bitter temperatures kept the countryside sheathed in ice which started forming Monday.

Jury Expected To End Bank Inquiry

AMARILLO (AP)—The federal grand jury was expected to conclude today its inquiry to determine whether service charges by seven Dallas banks violated anti-trust laws.

Under federal procedures, the jurors may either announce an immediate decision or postpone a report until they have studied transcripts of testimony.

Technicians Rush Capsule Repairs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Space technicians, racing a new deadline, worked today to assure astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. a foolproof oxygen supply when he vaults into orbit.

As they replaced two key parts in the oxygen system, an apparently unruffled Glenn paced his own preparations for his rocket ride about the earth now planned, hopefully, for Saturday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said late Monday the fourth postponement of this first orbital flight by an American was caused by trouble in the all-important oxygen system in the 4,000-pound spacecraft.

The technicians, working on the capsule atop a mighty silver Atlas rocket, were installing a new hose and a new device which regulates the oxygen flow into the astronaut's helmet.

NASA officials declined to say how long it would take to repair the oxygen system. After that job is done, the technicians must make painstaking checks to be certain the trouble has been licked.

NASA spokesmen refused to speculate how much more of a delay would be required if the shot cannot meet its Saturday target date.

Glenn, 40, a Marine lieutenant colonel, altered his preflight routine in one way—he temporarily abandoned a low-waste diet to which he shifted on Sunday in anticipation of a takeoff Wednesday morning.

His day Monday was a full one. Wearing his silver-coated pressure suit, Glenn "flew" a simulated 12 miles to the hospital at Patrick Air Force Base. There, he underwent the first half a detailed preflight physical. Doctors gave him brain wave tests, checked his eyes, ears, nose and throat and examined his heart.

On Thursday, Glenn will take the other half of an exhaustive physical which NASA officials said is part of the routine planned for this flight.

The space agency hopes Glenn will be able to make three trips around the earth, at an altitude between 100 and 150 miles. Each circuit would last about 90 minutes.

This will depend on the time his rocket blasts off from this spaceport. The determining factor is the amount of daylight available for the efforts to recover the capsule after it returns from space and lands in the Atlantic.

The present blueprint calls for launch about 7:30 a.m. EST. Experience in the two short-range space flights last year points to possible temporary halts during the countdown.

If Glenn can be boosted aloft before about 9:30 a.m., NASA authorities are looking for a three-orbit effort. Should the shot come sometime between 9:30 and 11:30, the mission would be cut to two orbits. If takeoff is delayed until the following hour, Glenn will try only a single orbit. The shot would be postponed to another day unless it was fired before about 12:30 p.m.

Control Measures Prompt Gunfire

ALGIERS (AP)—Terrorists replied with gunfire and explosives today to plans of French authorities to clamp tight traffic and other restrictions on three of Algeria's largest cities.

Jean Morin, chief government representative in Algeria, ordered the special control measures for Algiers, Oran and Bone Monday night in an effort to stop the war between European and Moslem terrorists.

But terrorist gunfire left two Europeans and a Moslem dead and nine Moslems wounded in Algiers today.

In Oran a terrorist shot a European to death and a European crowd in retaliation killed a Moslem flower seller who had a dagger hidden in his flower basket.

In Bone, an explosive charge damaged the stern of the steamship Djebel Dira, which was preparing to sail with a company of riot police being transferred to France. The ship will have to go into drydock for repairs.

Four persons were killed and 18 wounded in terrorist attacks and seven Moslems were killed by police Monday.

Authorities said the terrorist attacks showed the necessity of immediate application of the new security measures — including roadblocks, traffic curfews and troop cordons.

They said it would be some time, however, before they could be put into effect because of a shortage of troops.

The city's public transport system was strikebound for the sixth day, and European doctors were in the second day of their 48-hour strike. Bus drivers and doctors are demanding police escorts, but authorities say they do not have enough manpower.

Only two roadblocks guarded approaches to Algiers this morning. Cars were not being searched, and there were few signs of increased patrols as planned under the new decrees.

For the past 15 years Taylor has operated a real estate and insurance business in Snyder.

He feels that with his business experience and experience as a public official, he is capable of serving the county in the capacity of County Judge in an efficient and business like manner.

Hopes For Settlement Rise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant held exploratory talks Monday night with the Netherlands and Indonesia as hopes rose for a peaceful settlement to the dispute over West New Guinea.

Thant met separately with representatives of the two nations for the first time since both agreed to his offer to serve as go-between.

The secretary-general conferred first for 35 minutes with Dutch Ambassador C. W. A. Schurmann, then talked for more than an hour with Subjarwo Tjondronegoro, an Indonesian expert on West New Guinea sent here by President Sukarno to represent his government.

Indonesian delegate Sukarjo Wirjopranoto, who accompanied Tjondronegoro to the conference with Thant, said the Jakarta envoy filled Thant in on the current situation in West New Guinea as Sukarno sees it and ranged over the whole problem.

"It was a pleasant meeting," he said.

The Indonesian delegate said, however, that Sukarno is standing firm on his insistence that negotiations proceed only if the Netherlands agrees in advance to transfer the disputed territory to Indonesian administration.

The Netherlands says it will negotiations without prior conditions. It has suggested that Thant send observers to West New Guinea, where Dutch and Indonesian naval forces clashed last week.

The United States has endorsed Thant's efforts to get the Dutch and Indonesians to negotiating. President Kennedy, who discussed the crisis at a luncheon meeting with Thant in New York Friday, has urged both sides to cooperate with the U.N. chief.

In Hollandia, capital of West New Guinea, the New Guinea Council asked the Dutch government to increase the strength of the native Papuan volunteer corps in view of the Indonesian "war threats."

The advisory council, which the Dutch established to give the Papuans a voice in the territorial government, also voted to ask the United Nations to send a commission to investigate the controversy and determine the Papuans' views on the Indonesian claims.

Council members — Papuans with a sprinkling of Dutch — accented the Dutch version that the Indonesian torpedo boats the Dutch navy drove off last week were trying to land Indonesian soldiers in New Guinea. They termed it an act of aggression.

In Jakarta, Indonesia's former vice president and elder statesman Dr. Mohammad Haita sent a strong protest to Sukarno against the recent arrest of leading Indonesian political personalities who have opposed Sukarno in the past.

Films From Plane Are Under Study

By BENNET M. BOLTON

ROME (AP) — NATO experts today were completing development and study of films from the Bulgarian jet that crashed near a secret NATO base in southern Italy. The pictures were expected to prove that the young pilot was on a spy mission.

The Italian Defense Ministry in a communique Monday said a "final judgment on the nature of the episode" could not be given yet. But it said there were "indications of a true and proper case of aerial espionage" which needed only to be "further substantiated."

One high Italian government official went farther.

"We can say now that the mission of the Bulgarian aircraft was unfriendly," he said. "We expect to state flatly in the next few days that the plane was flying a spy mission."

A Defense Ministry source predicted that the Bulgarian pilot, Lt. Milusc Solakov, 22, would be put on trial by the Italians for espionage, as American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was by the Russians.

If convicted of espionage, Solakov could get 5 to 11 years in prison. The Russians sentenced Powers to 10 years.

Solakov was held under guard at the civil hospital at Acquaviva. Italian intelligence officers planned to start questioning him after he is transferred to a military hospital in Bari. Doctors said he was recovering from fractures of the left collar bone and left arm and a head concussion, but the fractures were complex and it would be awhile before he could be transferred.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

By Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Never flag in zeal, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord." Romans 12:10 (read verses 9-21)

When you are walking down the street can others look at you and tell that you are a Christian? Or would they be just as apt to think you were an atheist, or a Buddist, or a Hindu? Paul seems to think there is a radiance that comes from the inner resources that God gives us; a light within that comes from Christ dwelling in our lives; that shines like a candle in the dark. "Be aglow with the Spirit," he says, and it sounds as if you can actually see the difference between the Christian and the non-Christian.

There have been people of great, joyful, faith who have had that glow about them. It is wonderful to be with them to let some of that radiance rub off on you. You too could be like them if you would only open your heart to Jesus.

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Balmain's new spring and summer fashion collection today promised women ease and gave them back their waists.

His silhouette is pyramid-shaped throughout the whole collection, with narrow shoulders and midriff, belted waist and a slightly widened skirt. Hems are just below the knee.

The woman Balmain likes to dress is married, he says.

"This year this same woman has discovered action; she will [illegible]," he declared.

For day, brightly colored suits are most striking. There is plenty of "brutal red."

Blinding yellow and turquoise glow in small jacketed suits which stop just at the hip, barely fitting the midriff, and sport swinging pleated skirts. Other versions of the same suit have moderate pyramid-shaped skirts.

Ensembles included bright coat with lighter dresses. Among them was a turquoise wool coat, narrow at the shoulders and slightly high waisted, with a white sleeveless dress with turquoise bindings at the seams. Another ensemble was a red coat with a white shantung tennis type pleated dress.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling [illegible]. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Jackie's Use Of French Fashions Draws Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — Clare Boothe Luce says that whatever Jacqueline Kennedy "does for French fashions does not help our own fashion industry."

Mrs. Luce, former ambassador to Rumania, Republican congresswoman and playwright, comments in an article in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

"When she wears French-designed, French-made clothes, it may be interpreted by fashion-conscious Americans as mistrust of American designers' ability to bring out her full beauty," Mrs. Luce wrote.

"This would be unfortunate, since this country can boast of some of the finest designers in the world."

Mrs. Luce was replying to a question by a reader: "Do you think Jacqueline Kennedy should be censured for buying some of her clothes in Paris?"

The First Lady's press secretary, Pamela Turnure, said in Washington that Mrs. Kennedy "wears American clothes in the course of her official duties."

Miss Turnure said Mrs. Kennedy made one exception—"as a tribute to the French." This, Miss Turnure said, was when Mrs. Kennedy wore a dress by a French designer, Givenchy, during her state visit to Paris last June.

Mrs. Kennedy wore clothes by American designers during her recent trip to South America with the President, Miss Turnure said.

Miss Turnure said she had no comment on what Mrs. Kennedy wears in private. And she said the White House officially would have no comment on Mrs. Luce's article.

Mrs. Luce said in her article: "While Mrs. Kennedy may feel that French fashions do a lot for her, the fact is she does more for them—and for foreign designers—than they can ever do for her. And whatever she does for French fashions does not help our own fashion industry."

Mrs. Luce suggested that Mrs. Kennedy does not pay sufficient attention to her husband's plea in his inaugural address: "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

The article also said: "Mrs. Kennedy must ask herself not 'What do these clothes do for me?' but 'What do these clothes I wear do for the United States?' "

JFK Draws Praise By Protestants

CHICAGO (AP) — President Kennedy's record on the issue of separation of church and state was hailed today by one of the nation's leading Protestant publications.

The praise was voiced in an editorial of the Christian Century, an interdenominational Protestant weekly magazine widely circulated among clergymen.

"In his first year as president, John F. Kennedy has compiled a better record on the issue of separation of church and state than any other president we have had in the past 30 years," an editorial said.

"Our tape measures him not a smaller but a bigger man than he was a year ago. We expect that he will grow even more in the years ahead."

The Christian Century editorially took to task the Roman Catholic magazine America for observations on Kennedy it published earlier.

"In a lead editorial in its Jan. 13 issue the magazine concludes that the President's public relationship to his own church has been entirely negative and that his approach to Protestants has been politically motivated," the Christian Century said.

"What piques America's editors is the fact that President Kennedy refused to bow to the will of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in including parochial schools in his aid-to-education bill a year ago.

"What riles them even more is the fact that Mr. Kennedy in presenting his education program put his objection to the use of public funds for parochial schools on a solid constitutional basis.

"Stranger still is the editorial's inference that it is quite all right for the president to be a politician in some instances and in regard to one segment of the population but not right for him to be a statesman in resisting the special interests of another segment."

Panel Okays College Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The House State Affairs Committee recommended passage of a bill to make San American College in Edinburg a four-year, fully state-supported school.

The committee gave Rep. Eligio de la Garza's bill a "do pass" recommendation after a brief hearing Monday.

The bill would place the school in the state system of colleges and universities in 1965. The Texas Commission on Higher Education recently recommended full state support for the school.

"There is a great need in our area of a state for a regional college," de la Garza said. He said it no longer is feasible to continue the school as a locally supported institution. He predicted the 2,000-student college would have 2,200 students in 1965.

Cubans Tell Of Execution

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban firing squads in Havana have executed two men identified by the Fidel Castro government as captured agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, it was reported here today.

Reliable sources said Capt. Pedro Isaias Iglesias Pons and Pedro Lopez Perez, who were questioned on Cuban television Dec. 23, were shot last week.

The Cuban government accused them of being saboteurs sent into Cuba from Miami.

Lopez Perez said on the broadcast in answer to questions that he fled Cuba illegally in a small boat and met with anti-Castro Cubans in Miami. Iglesias had little to say on the program monitored in Key West, Fla.

Wisdom Teeth Transplanted

DALLAS (AP)—A team of oral surgeons reported today the successful transplanting of wisdom teeth to more useful spots in a series of patients.

The third molars, or wisdom teeth replaced extracted six-year molars in a series of 40 patients at Parkland Hospital in the last two years.

Dr. Robert Walker, chief of the Division of Oral Surgery at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, reported the work at the Dallas Mid-Winter Dental Clinic.

Upper and lower wisdom teeth can be used to replace any molars, said Dr. Walker. "They are almost by design made for replacement of these teeth."

Dr. Walker said the procedure is limited to patients 12 to 16 years old, but it results in a valuable service for many.

It can help maintain proper spacing, obviates the necessity of a bridge, and eliminates the future trouble highly predictable with wisdom teeth, he said.

Insurance Man Struck By Cars

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Hans Weigand, prominent Victoria insurance man, died today of injuries suffered when struck by two cars as he walked across a rain-slick street.

His wife was seriously injured.

Authorities said the two were walking across a street last night and were hit and knocked down by a car. A second car then struck Weigand. The second car did not stop and the driver was being sought.

The Weigands are the parents of the Victoria Corporation Court Judge, Allen Weigand.

Cohen's Furniture Is Confiscated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen, minus his freedom, is minus his furniture, too.

Internal Revenue agents confiscated it from a warehouse and auctioned it Monday to help pay a $400,000 debt the government says Cohen owes for back income taxes. The sale raised $2,000.

MCALLEN (AP) — Florencio Estrada, 77, of Port Isabel, was found dead in his home Monday night. He lived alone. Investigators said he died of asphyxiation several days ago.

TV Controls Are Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strong opposition to any federal regulation of network television program control was voiced today by Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Instead, Stanton advocated more competition through more TV stations and networks.

Increased competition, Stanton said in testimony prepared for a Federal Communications Commission hearing, would result in program improvement.

He said the improvement would come through "competition for the attention and approval of free people, able to make up its own minds."

FCC officials, however, concerned by the control networks exert over viewing fare of the American public, say the question is not whether TV networks should be regulated but what kind of regulation is needed.

Stanton was the first witness as the FCC began three weeks of hearings on network influence on programming. Additional CBS witnesses will be heard this week, followed by representatives of the National Broadcasting Co., and the American Broadcasting Co. during the next two weeks.

"The question is not whether television should be constantly improved toward realizing its enormous potential, but what roads are to be taken to reach that potential and from where," Stanton said.

"What we have been seriously concerned about is a drift towards indirect, but nevertheless effective program control by the government."

In outlining the issue of the hearing, FCC officials stressed they had in mind regulation of network programming — not licensing, as it applies to individual stations.

The hearings will be video taped on a pool basis and made available to all three networks.

Bob Kennedy Declines Bid

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has declined an informal invitation to visit the Soviet Union next month on his trip around the world. But he says he looks forward to visiting there in the future.

Kennedy issued a statement Monday night following a day of speculation about the meaning of the Soviet invitation.

The brother of President Kennedy said: "I have received an informal invitation to visit the Soviet Union during my currently planned trip.

"My travel plans, however, have been completed for some time and I will not be able to alter them at this time. I will however, visit the Soviet Union in the future."

Neither Kennedy, the Justice Department nor the White House would say who issued the invitation. A Justice Department spokesman said it was received last Thursday.

The decision apparently was reached after discussions between the attorney general, th President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger had said earlier that the attorney general had a full schedule for his trip starting Feb. 2.

Presumably, Kennedy's schedule could have been changed to fit in the Moscow trip if the President and Rusk had thought it worthwhile.

There was speculation the invitation might be accepted to give Kennedy—and through him the President—a first hand look at what is going on in Moscow now. Some U.S. officials think Premier Khrushchev is faced with demands for a more aggressive attitude toward the Western alliance—demands from within the Soviet Union and outside. They think he might welcome a chance to communicate with the President through his brother.

Apparently outweighing the possible advantages was the opinion that there would be objections a home and abroad to the attorney general, who has no diplomatic rank, taking on such a job.

The younger Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, will be making goodwill visits to Japan, Indonesia, Iran, Germany and the Netherlands, ending about Feb. 26. Last August they made a similar trip to West Africa.

Houston's Rule Relaxed

HOUSTON (AP) — City school trustees decided Monday night to relax their rule against letting children in the same family attend more than one grade school.

In a hearing on an integration suit which started earlier in the day, U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally said he could not see any logic in the policy.

Negro parents appearing in the case said the regulation was used to keep their children out of white schools in defiance of a federal court order. They asked Connally to hold the school board and Supt. John McFarland in contempt.

The relaxed version of the rule lets McFarland rule on admissions and grant exemptions for hardship cases. It goes into effect next September.

Mrs. Charles White, lone Negro member of the board, asked what the implications were, since the rule was relaxed on the hearing's first day.

John Robinson, the board member offering the motion, said there were no implications.

Connally had ordered McFarland to return today with an explanation for the rule.

A substitute motion by Mrs. White would have abolished the rule but no one seconded it.

Houston's public schools have 38 Negro first and second graders in four previously all white schools. The garde-a-year integration order went into effect in 1960.

Rites Held For Oilman

DALLAS (AP) — Funeral services were held at Highland Park Methodist Church today for Elbert Williams, former Corsicana businessman and oilman and ex-mayor of University Park.

Williams died at his home here Monday. He served as mayor of University Park from 1936 to 1952 and was active in Dallas civic affairs from the time he moved here from Corsicana in 1932.

He was a grocer and insurance salesman in Corsicana before becoming an independent oil operator during the Powell, Tex., boom in the 1920s. The Powell Field was the largest in the mid-continent area until the East Texas pool was discovered in the 1930s.

Survivors include the widow; three daughters, Mrs. David Justice of Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Jack Weeks of Dallas and Mrs. Robert Hersey of Colorado Springs, Colo.; a son, Duvall Williams of Lake Dallas; two sisters, Mrs. Lois Wiley and Mrs. Ruth McGill, both of Denver, Colo., and two brothers, Earl Williams of Wellington and Lloyd Williams of Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Five Applications For Muleshoe Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission said Monday it has five applicants for the job of postmaster at Muleshoe, Tex.

They are Arnold Alcorn, Spencer Beavers, Andy Davis, Doyle King and Mrs. Hertha Walker.

The post pays $6,255 annually at Muleshoe. After checking qualifications, the commission will designate three of the applicants as eligible for appointment. Any may be nominated by the President, subject to Senate confirmation.

Biggest Tanker Tries To Dock

HOUSTON (AP)—The SS Manhattan, the world's biggest tanker, will try again today to get to a dock to take on her first load.

The ship has been at anchor near Galveston Island since Sunday morning because a thick fog has kept the Houston ship channel closed.

She is scheduled to take on a load of petroleum products at the American Oil Co. refinery in Texas City.

The Manhattan is 940 feet long and can haul 905,000 barrels of oil.

Folsom To Seek A Third Term

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— James E. Folsom has formally announced what a lot of observers predicted all along—that he'll seek an unprecedented third term as governor.

Folsom, 53, was governor in 1947-51 and 1955-59.

Gizenga Put Under Arrest

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga was placed under house arrest in a comfortable suburban villa today to await trial for acts of rebellion against the central Congolese government.

U.N. protection for the former deputy premier was lifted Monday night and Gizenga was transferred from accommodations in the U.N. headquarters building.

Officially the troops surrounding the modern two-story residence were to "protect" Gizenga. But the sergeant of the guard assured newsmen that they had orders to prevent him from leaving the house.

U.N. headquarters had no further information about the activities of the mutinous Congolese troops in north Katanga who are apparently still at large after slaying 19 white Roman Catholic priests on Jan. 1 and the capture of a Roman Catholic mission at the river town of Sola last week.

A U.N. spokesman said plans are being carried out to restore order in north Katanga and deal with the marauding troops.

Fluoridation Is Supported

DALLAS (AP) — A Kentucky professor declared today that it is a "crime against the public" for minority forces to stop the use of fluoridation of water in preventing decay of teeth.

"With a tool as effective as fluorine, we certainly should take advantage of it," declared Dr. Harry Bohannan, "and not let a vocal minority stop progress."

He spoke at the Dallas Mid-Winter Dental Clinic. He said modern techniques could assure good dental health for everyone.

"With proper interest on the part of patients and utilization of techniques now available for dentists," said Dr. Bohannan "no one should have to have dentures."

But that is not the case, the professor of periodontics at the University of Kentucky Dental School said. People need to exercise more care, and there is room for improvement in some practices of dentistry.

Stock Exchange Officers Resign

NEW YORK (AP) — Chairman Joseph F. Reilly and three other top officers of the troubled American Stock Exchange have resigned.

Their action Monday virtually erased the higher element of an administration that has been under fire from the Securities and Exchange Commission and some exchange members.

Quitting with Reilly, who also was acting as president pro-tem, were Vice Chairman Charles J. Beckley, Jr., a member of the Board of Governors and chairman of the Committee on Finance, and John J. Mann, a governor and chairman of the Committee on Floor Transactions.

The SEC had accused the four of dominating the administration of the nation's No. 2 securities market for the last 10 years.

This statement was part of an SEC report in which it said the exchange had allowed "manifold and prolonged abuses" of trading rules.

Reilly, 54, had been serving as president pro tem since the resignation last Dec. 11 of Edward T. McCormick as president. He has been an exchange member 31 years, a governor since 1951 and was completing his second term as chairman.

Reilly and the three other officers made no comment about their resignations.

Immediately upon accepting the resignations, the Board of Governors named Edwin Posner, a partner in the New York City brokerage and specialist firm, Andrews, Posner and Rothschild, as president pro-tem.

Posner, 71, a former chairman, is a leader in a reform movement within the exchange.

The SEC investigation of the exchange began after a scandal broke last May involving a father-and-son team of specialists, Jerry and Gerard Re, who were suspended from the exchange and later arrested in connection with alleged stock manipulations.

The SEC later widened its inquiry to embrace the entire securities business.

The exchange has its own investigating committee, headed by Walter Hoadley Jr.

This group has recommended a drastic reorganization.

Posner is scheduled to take office as chairman Feb. 12. The Board of Governors will serve only until a new constitution, which will include revison of the method of selecting governors, becomes effective.

Ponies Invade Tiger Gym Tonight, 8 p. m.

Tiger Gym will be the scene tonight of an important District 3-AAA cage battle when Coach J. P. Ward's Snyder Tigers tangle with the Sweetwater Mustangs, a district co-leader with Lamesa and a ranking contender for the loop crown.

Tipoff time for the clash—always a grudge-type affair when the two teams meet—is 8 p. m. and it will be preceded by a B game matching the same schools at 6:15.

Elsewhere on the district front, Lamesa will be in Colorado City (0-2), while Lake View (0-3) will enjoy an off-night from the firing line and get a chance to lick its multiple wounds.

Sweetwater and Lamesa are currently riding atop the standings with 2-0 readings, while Snyder is only a whisper away at 2-1. The sole Tiger loss as suffered came at the hands of the Lamesans by 62-45, while Tiger victories have come at the expense of Lake View and Colorado City.

Sweetwater will take the floor with the better seasonal mark, having reigned supreme in 13 of 19 outings to Snyder's 11 of 20.

Coach Ward is expected to give the starting nod to Steve Free and Eddie Phy at the guards, Pooch Hatter and Freddy Miller at the forwards, and William Robinson at center.

Free is pacing Tiger scoring [illegible] the entire season. His 250 points in the 20 games to date give him an average of 12.5 per contest. District play has seen him mesh a total of 39 for a slightly larger 13.0 per game. He hit his point-making peak last week against Lake View when he scorched the nets for 28 tallies.

Don Groghan, a 6-2 guard, is top pointman for the Ponies. He is averaging in the neighborhood of 18 points per game for the year, and in 3-AAA competition has amassed a total of 50 for an average of 25 per game.

Only one district performer is ahead of Groghan in family scoring — Danny Tomlinson of Lake View with 68. Tomlinson, however, has appeared in one more game to help fatten his total.

Truett Mobley, in his freshman year at the Pony helm, is expected to start—in addition to Groghan—Jim Tindall, Darrell Turnbow, Garland Brock and Mike Perry.

Coach V. V. Shearburn's Tiger B team will enter their game with an 11-8 record, with Benny Minor being the scoring pacesetter with 142 points for the campaign.

Tatum On A Bowling Binge

Jim Tatum, an avid local kegling enthusiast, strongly adheres to the adage that bowling pins were made for the sole purpose of being knocked down.

Tatum is a familiar figure within Snyder pin splattering circles, and recently reached his own personal "fine edge" during the past week and a half. His bowling during that span—although there are no figures to confirm it—could possibly rank as the highest ever by a Snyder kegler.

Here are the recent figures which should serve as "backup": (1) in Guys and Dolls League play at Snyder Lanes Friday night he rolled a 721 series; (2) he notched a 711 Tuesday night while participating in the Business Men League (3) a 691 was of his doing Sunday before last to win the weekly bowling competition in Sweetwater; (4) Saturday saw him compiling a 689 to give him the lead in Snyder Lanes' Weekend Bowler-of-the-Month scramble; and (5) the past Sunday had him rolling a 663 while teamed with Dan Cogburn in a Midland tournament.

He also admitted to bowling a "little ol' 675" in a practice round of the past week, but...

Junior High Play Halted By Weather

Jack Frost put in his two bits worth, and with it had the final say-so in yesterday's scheduled junior high ball games involving Snyder teams.

Travis' trip to Lamesa was cancelled out late in the morning, and then early in the afternoon the Colorado City jaunt here for the purpose of engaging Lamar was nixed.

The next scheduled activity for both local groups will be Friday and Saturday, when tournament play will hold the spotlight. Travis 9th (10-1) and Lamar 9th (10-2) are both entrants in the second annual Snyder Ninth Grade Basketball Tournament, with Lamar kicking things off Friday at 3:30 in the first tourney action against Sweetwater and Travis taking the court at 6:30 the same day against Stamford.

Lamar, Sweetwater, Big Spring Runnels and Colorado City compose one tourney bracket and Travis, Stamford, Post and Big Spring Goliad the other.

Rounding out Friday's first flair of activity will be Runnels vs. Colorado City at 5 o'clock and Post vs. Goliad at 8.

Both local 8th grade teams will trek to Sweetwater Friday and Saturday for the tournament being staged there.

Treated Lake Ready For Reopening

AUSTIN—Lake Sweetwater will be reopened to anglers February 15, after having been closed down since the complete kill by biologists in August, 1960. Bass planted in the lake after this kill now have reached sufficient size and weight to justify reopening of the lake, according to Marion Toole, inland fisheries coordinator of the Game and Fish Commission.

Lake Sweetwater was given a rotenone treatment to kill all the fish in the lake after netting samples had shown that 99 per cent of the fish population of the lake was undesirable.

Lake Sweetwater covers 500 acres, and is operated by the City of Sweetwater as a municipal water supply and recreational area. A fish kill by the Game and Fish Commission was in cooperation with the Sweetwater City Council.

After the kill, the lake was stocked with black bass fingerlings, and netting samples show that these fish now have attained a weight of two or three pounds each. Several channel catfish caught in nets average 2¾ pounds.

Recent netting samples showed no carp, suckers or shad.

Bradley Ace Tightens Grip

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bradley's Chet Walker strengthened his hold on the Missouri Valley Conference basketball scoring lead by hitting 40 points at Wichita Saturday.

Walker has averaged 26.9 points in 14 games. He also leads in accuracy, sinking 59.7 per cent of his field shots.

James King of Tulsa is second in scoring with an average of 19.7 points in 15 games.

Paul Hogue of Cincinnati is top rebounder with an average of 12.7 a game. Wichita's Gene Wiley is second at 12.1.

Lanny Van Eman of Wichita has hit 54 of 62 free throws for 87.1 per cent. In second place is Oscar Miller of North Texas State with 58 of 69 for 84.1 per cent.

Lane, Randall Clashing

HOUSTON (AP)— Busy Kenny Lane meets Rip Randall of Dallas tonight in what will be Lane's 88th fight as a professional.

It also will be his third bout with Randall, whom he has beaten twice. The 10-round scrap is set for Sam Houston Coliseum.

Lane, ranked No. 2 in the junior welterweight division and No. 6 among the lightweights, is favored.

Curtis Cokes of Dallas, the sixth-ranked welterweight, meets Carlos Macias of Mexico City in another 10-rounder.

FOR CROSBY CROWN

Ford Nips Campbell

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Veteran Doug Ford, 39, checked the rush of golf's oncharging youth brigade as he captured the $50,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament title in a sudden death playoff after whipping miserable cold weather en route to his crown.

The former Masters and PGA champion from Vernon Hills, N.Y. went 71 holes before he finally caught collegiate champion Joe Campbell [illegible] layed finals.

They finished the 72 holes all even at 286 and went on to the first extra hole. If Campbell had won, it would have continued the youth dominance for 1962 that started when Phil Rodgers won the Los Angeles Open and Tommy Jacobs followed with a triumph at San Diego.

Neither Ford nor Campbell hit the green on the 385-yard, par-four hole. The ex-Purdue athlete from Pendleton, Ind., who had led from the opening day, was in the fringe at the front edge of the green. He tried a putter and left his ball six feet from the cup.

Ford's second shot hit a grassy embankment, bounced off a woman spectator's leg and into a trap. He wedged out of the trap within five feet of the hole. Campbell missed his putt, and Doug calmly tapped a perfection downhill putt with a four-inch break. When it dropped, Ford had $5,300.

"I was doing so poorly that I didn't think it paid me to come out here," Ford said. "I didn't make the cut in Los Angeles and didn't make a dime in San Diego."

In addition to his first prize as low pro, Ford collected $1,000 for a fourth-place finish with partner Dudley Wysong of McKinney, Tex. in the pro-amateur. It was the first Crosby for Wysong, who went to the finals in the 1961 National Amateur before losing to Jack Nicklaus over this same Pebble Beach course.

Nicklaus, now a pro, won money for his third straight tourney, collecting $450 for a 76—296.

Left-handed Albie Pierson, the 5-foot-5 outfielder for the Los Angeles Angels, helped his partner Bob McCallister of Yorba Linda, Calif., to a $3,000 check as winners in the pro-amateur category. The baseball player, with a 10-stroke handicap, added 45 strokes in the winning 255 score.

Rodgers finished third here with a 228, two strokes off the pace. Both he and Ford carded two-over par 74s. Campbell had a 76 and, after the playoff, a check for $3,400.

Morris And Taylor To Run At Lubbock

A crack pair of Snyder High trackmen will accompany Coach Jim Stehley to Lubbock Saturday in order to participate in the First Annual Lubbock Invitational Indoor Track and Field Meet in the Municipal Coliseum.

Mike Morris, veteran senior speedster, is an entrant in the 60-yard dash, while timber-topper Jimmy Taylor, a junior, will give it a whirl in the 60-yard high hurdles.

High school competition in the meet—the first such indoor carnival ever held in the Southwest area—will begin at 4 p.m. Saturday.

THIS TRIO SPARKLED—The Travis Junior High Blue Devils made quite a showing for themselves the weekend past by copping championship laurels in the San Angelo Junior High Tournament. Pictured are the Blue Devils named to the all-tournament team—Leslie Brown, Bobby Kay and Leslie Anderson. Lamar's Drew Bullard was also an all-tourney selection. Both local schools are entrants in the Snyder Junior High Tournament which begins Friday in the Travis Gym. (Photo by Jackson)

State Clings To Top Rung

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Ohio State unanimously maintained its lofty position as collegiate basketball's No. 1 major team today in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The mighty Buckeyes (13-0) received all 42 first-place votes in the balloting of the special panel of sports writers and sportscasters from coast-to-coast. Ohio State collected 420 points on the basis of 10 for the first place, 9 for second, etc. The voting is based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky beat Tennessee 95-82 in its lone outing, Cincinnati posted victories over Dayton, 80-61, and Duquesne, 62-54, while Kansas State turned back Missouri 69-66.

Southern California (12-3) advanced from sixth to fifth even though the Trojans were idle. Duquesne (13-2) dropped a notch from fifth to sixth after its loss to Cincinnati. The Dukes did beat Toledo 80-57 and St. Vincent (Pa.) 85-33.

Tom McNeeley Beaten Again

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Tom McNeeley, who last month was soundly trounced by heavyweight king Floyd Patterson, lost a split decision Monday night to the man who impersonated the champion in his pre-title fight training.

Before the Patterson go, a willing strong fighter named Chief Don Prout of Providence was in the challenger's stable as a sparring partner.

Prout's job was to impersonate Patterson so McNeeley could sharpen a defense against the champion's style. Camp observers at the time said Prout, who is a Narragansett Indian, did a good job of playing Patterson.

And in Monday night's fight, Prout kept up the role and shattered McNeeley's comeback try with a split decision victory over the Arlington, Mass., mauler.

Prout weighed 192, McNeeley 201½.

LIFE LINES

DEPLETED FREEDOM BY

Wayne Poucher, Minister And Commentator

The future of human liberty throughout the world is inseparably linked with the prospect for a solvent, nationally independent, and constitutionally governed United States of America. American liberty and America's national sovereignty were born together in our Declaration of Independence.

As long as this country is morally, militarily and financially strong, with the power of its federal and state governments checked, balanced and strictly limited by enforceable constitutional law, Communism cannot feel secure in any of its victories anywhere on earth. The continued freedom, strength and moral courage of this country will fan the fires of rebellion all over the Red slave world and the scourge of Communism will perish in the dry rot of its own falsity and contradictions.

On the contrary, if we continue to ignore consitutional restraints upon the power of our overgrown federal government and further dissipate our strength and our national independence in Utopian schemes for the collective security of an international superstate, the quick and successful Communist conquest of all mankind will be inevitable. Just as soon as the financial and moral solvency and the political sovereignty of the United States are both destroyed, Khrushchev and the other Kremlin gangsters will promptly take over the entire world without firing a shot. What the battle against Communism badly needs now is a nation-wide revival of militant, informed and understanding American patriotism.

The fight for the dignity of the working man did not start with the Bolshevik Revolution. The first time a really new system of limited government had ever been tried, our forefathers recognized the basic truth that all liberty and dignity comes from God and none from government. They were an extraordinary group of men.

Here is a quotation from the Modern Library's introduction to "The Federalist Papers":

"It is not merely patriotic pride that compels one to assert that never in the history of assemblies has there been a convention of men richer in political experience and in practical knowledge or endowed with a profounder insight into the springs of human action and the intimate essence of government....It is no less a cause for admiration that their instrument of government should have survived the trials and crises of a century that saw the wreck of more than a score of paper constitutions....Again, despite their youth, the delegates were men of wide experience in politics and government, in war and diplomacy, in the law and in business; they were learned in history and political theory."

Yet it is to be doubted that any of us have ever been required, as a part of our academic or business training, to read and study "The Federalist Papers" or many of the other basic documents of our freedom, such as the proceedings and debates of the Constitutional Convention and the biographies of its members. A study of these documents would be most helpful for our effective knowledge and leadership in the fight to preserve freedom.

One will not find the word "democracy" in the Bible, in the Declaration of Independence, in the Bill of Rights, or in the Constitution of the United States or any of the original States. Each State was guaranteed "a republican form of government." We still pay lip service to the basic concept each time we say, "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." What is the difference between a republic and a democracy? A Republic is a government of laws—not of men. A pure democracy is a government of the decisions of the majority, without regard to the written law.

Here is another quotation from the introduction to the "Federalist Papers":

"Although the proposed government was to be representative in character, it was not to be democratic. Further [illegible] democracy in 1787 was regarded as a radical creed even where it was entertained at all....In the United States, democracy dates from about the middle of the nineteenth century rather than from the end of the eighteenth."

Our forebears determined that restricted government should exist under God. They knew that it would not be enough to establish majority rule, for they also knew that no tyranny can match that of an unfettered shifting majority which Jefferson termed an "elective despotism." We were supposed to have a constitutional republic and not a democracy. The restrictions of the Constitution were to operate upon patriotic Americans, who might be temporarily elected or appointed to office, and were intended to control and restrict and informed, active, and religious people sufficiently interested in God and in government to remain free and be thereby enabled to govern themselves through elected representatives who had proved to be true believers in the revolutionary American ideal.

Human nature has remained unchanged; our forebears knew that it would, and they knew that without the prohibitions of the Constitution and the means of giving them immediate effect, men in power would become as dangerous as ever to the safety, liberty and freedom of the people. Jefferson wrote, "In question of power then, let no more be heard of confidence in man, but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the Constitution."

The founders of our Republic feared parties of the people as much as they did a royal government. "Whenever there is an interest and power to do wrong," wrote Madison to Jefferson in 1788, "wrong will generally be done, and not less readily by a powerful and interested party than by a powerful and interested prince."

Our immortal forebears, with a firm reliance upon Divine Providence, declared to the world that free men and women would no longer be subservient to any government not based upon a belief in God, knowing full well that our rights and privileges are derived from God and not from government. The fact that in America even a majority cannot have its way unless it conforms to the Constitution is the difference that makes us a republic. We need to understand this, for the Constitution will safeguard our freedom only so long as we insist that it be observed.

Under our constitutional republican form of government, we would not be experiencing the difficulties we are today, had we insisted upon strict adherence to the checks and balances and the prohibitions against government as contained in the basic documents of our republic. There have been eight great governments in the history of the modern world in which free enterprise flourished. In five of these eight, freedom and liberties of the people were voluntarily voted away by the people themselves under democratic government. In the other three, in a long list of elections in which "government-in-business," socialism was imposed by bureaucrats—not by vote of the people, but by apathy and default refusal to be aware and to resist.

As more and more individual Americans come to recognize the power which each can have within his or her prescribed area of influence, the more secure freedom becomes. God-fearing Americans will individually and collectively bring about the defeat of those who threaten our liberty.

Success can be achieved in spreading an understanding of freedom if in government we live by know, and understand the basic religious principles upon which our constitutional republic was established. The antidote to socialism, totalitarianism, authoritarianism, tyranny and loss of freedom is an independent project of learning and looking to the area of improving our own dedication to the principle of freedom. It is not a project in selling as much as it is a project in living.

Our freedom has been seriously depleted. If it is lost, may it never be by default!

CLOSEUP OF AN ASTRONAUT—This exclusive candid closeup of Astronaut John Glenn was made by AP Photographer Murray Becker outside the Riverside Presbyterian Church in Cocoa Beach, Fla., where Glenn attended services. It was taken while he was signing autographs for members of the congregation. Glenn left the seclusion of flight "ready room" at Cape Canaveral, Fla., to attend church less than 72 hours before he was scheduled to make a three orbit trip around the earth. (AP Wirephoto)

Republicans Facing Financial Woes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hard-pressed Republicans are facing what some of them fear may be a near financial flop in their Feb. 1 across-the-nation fund raising spectacular.

Because of this there is grumbling behind the scenes about what organization Republicans contend is a continuing effort to tap wealthy Eastern contributors for funds to help former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his race for governor of California.

Some of these Republicans thought they had detected a new touch in invitations sent out by Eugene McGovern, Long Island contractor, for a luncheon with ... Waldorf-Astoria ...

But McGovern, who served in the Navy with Nixon during World War II, said in a telephone interview it was "just a sentimental occasion." McGovern, who worked with the Nixon-Lodge volunteers in New York's Westchester County in 1960, denied there was any thought of raising funds for Nixon's campaign.

However, Republicans charged with raising funds for this year's congressional and senatorial campaigns feel that too many trips are being made to the usually reliable wells of party contributions.

They have had to revise downward their hopes they might net $500,000 or more from the closed-circuit television appearances Feb. 1 of Nixon, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Because they have had to put up about $250,000 to bring off the closed-circuit deal, some of them feel they may be lucky to net $300,000.

This is a far cry from the $1 million or more they used to bank when Eisenhower was president. It compares with the $550,000 the Democrats took home from President Kennedy's inaugural anniversary dinner here Saturday night.

As some party leaders now view it, they may have to depend on a Cleveland dinner, at which Goldwater will speak, and a Washington affair for their largest share of receipts.

National Chairman William E. Miller will serve as master of ceremonies at the Washington dinner. It will be held in a hotel with a seating capacity of about 4,300 persons, compared to the 6,000 the Democrats crammed into an armory for Kennedy's second-year sendoff.

The GOP sponsors weren't successful in lining up a big-time dinner in New York, so Rockefeller will speak in Des Moines, Iowa.

Government Clearance Of Drugs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said today the drug industry ... about $750 million a year — or several times the amount it takes to operate all the nation's medical schools — to persuade doctors to write prescriptions in trade names.

Kefauver, head of a committee that has been investigating drug industry practices, said in remarks prepared for an AFL-CIO legislative - economic conference that consumers "take a beating" because pharmacists are bound by law to fill presciptions exactly as doctors write them.

Kefauver urged AFL-CIO support for his pending bill to control drug licensing and require advance government clearance before drugs can be marketed.

At Monday's session, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Labor Committee, invited labor union lobbyists to get behind his bill to reduce the present 40-hour week to a 35-hour week. Powell complained his bill hasn't gotten much help from unions so far.

Baptists Advised Of Opportunities

DALLAS (AP)—"The world is lost and likes it," outspoken editor E. S. James of the Baptist Standard told fellow churchmen Monday night.

"It is dead and doesn't know it, damned and doesn't dread it, hell-bound, helpless and happy about the prospects."

Even so, Dr. James declared at the Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference, the entire world would be won to Christ within 11 days if each of the state's 1,600,000 Baptists were to convert one unbeliever a day.

More than 3,000 persons turned out for the opening session of the conference despite sleet, freezing rain and icy roads and streets. Before the weather turned bitter, church leaders had looked for 10,000 at the conference, which continues through Wednesday.

Dr. James told his audience that in view of the wintry weather, he felt a duty as leadoff speaker to warm up the gathering "and that's no easy job."

Discussing opportunities for evangelism in Texas, he asserted:

"We do greatly err when we think the lost world is waiting to receive the evangelist with open arms. . . .

"We have the message, the manpower, the means and the money to send the Gospel. Our trouble is that we are giants at sending and pygmies at receiving."

Dr. Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in Richmond, Va., appealed for young people to dedicate their lives to winning the world to Christianity.

Painting a dismal picture of global spiritual needs, he said the world must renounce war as an instrument of solving its problems and turn to Christianity as the only hope.

"For the first time in the history of mankind, the world is faced with the possibility of one great political monolith taking power, and it is marked by the hammer and sickle," Dr. Cauthen said.

"For the first time in history, the world also faces in this generation the possibility of wiping out all civilization through nuclear power.

"We must reach across all these barriers that separate mankind and link all people together with love—no matter what their race, color or nationality."

An Oklahoma minister and a Louisiana evangelist criticized Southern Baptist methods of evangelism at the conference today.

Dr. C. A. Roberts, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Altus, Okla., said too many Baptist preachers are putting emphasis on the techniques instead of the end results of evangelism.

The Rev. B. Gray Allison, evangelist from Ruston, La., asserted that an idea has sneaked into too many people's minds that it is best for Christians to "live your religion and not say much about it."

"Don't you believe it," he said. "It takes a combination of the two."

Growers Voting On Rice Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of continuing federal marketing quotas on rice was submitted today to a referendum of growers.

Agriculture Department officials said they expected more than the necessary two-thirds majority vote. Arrangements were made to tabulate the returns tonight.

If approved, quotas would be applied to this year's crop. A referendum a year ago gave majority of 91.2 per cent for controls on the 1961 crop.

Major rice producing states are Texas Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, and California.

The practice of using women's names for hurricanes became popular during World War II.

Motions Are Filed In Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and three opposing lawyers filed motions Monday to prevent each other from representing University of Texas officials in a dormitory desegregation suit.

The attorney general's motion, filed first, asked dismissal of all pleadings by lawyers Leon Jaworski of Houston and Edward Clark and Franklin Denius of Austin.

University regents hired them to fight the suit three Negro students filed last year. It seeks integration of all dormitories at the school.

Wilson said that as attorney general he has the job of defending state agencies in suits brought against them.

The regents said they hired the private lawyers because Wilson probably will be out of office before the suit is completed. Wilson is a candidate for governor. His term as attorney general expires next January.

The lawyers disagreed with Wilson's opinion. They asked the district court here to strike the pleadings filed by Wilson and overrule his motion to dismiss them from the case.

They said that if Wilson's motion remains on file, it will "interfere with and impede the orderly process of justice."

Winds Lash Red Fences

BERLIN (AP) — Gale winds blew down parts of the wire fence set up around West Berlin by the East German Communists to stop escapes, West police said today.

Gusts of 70 miles an hour uprooted concrete posts supporting the double lines of wire at several spots.

At other places big boards on the Western side warning of the proximity of the border were toppled. They fell on the wire, smashing gaps in the fence.

East German border guards were busy repairing the gaps.

During the night two women, one carrying a 4-month-old baby, escaped across the wall from East Berlin. A man made his getaway to the West at another spot.

Most Cheerful Headlines On New Bombs Are Frightening

BY INEZ ROBB

The teachers in the public school system of Norwalk, Conn., have been ordered not to discuss atomic war in the class room. The subject was scaring the wits out of some children and filling others "with unnecessary apprehensions."

No wonder! Some days we adults don't feel so good either. Count that low, descending day as lost whose sun sees no new prophecy of yet more hideous A-weapons to come, each calculated to do in mankind in ever more unpleasant ways.

As if a 100-megaton H-bomb weren't enough to still further ravel the sleeve of care, there are continuing prophecies of a neutron bomb, a little jim-dandy that will save the real estate and only kill people. No muss, no fuss, no ruins or rubble to impede the conqueror. And no people either.

Those who have been following the philosophic and pragmatic possibilities of the A-weapon will note that the cobalt bomb, considered the real killer-chiller some eight or 10 years ago, is no longer mentioned. It was replaced, speculatively, by the neutron bomb, just as lethal but so much more tidy.

However, the neutron bomb may face the same fate as its cobalt brother. By 1970, the "asteroid bomb" may be perfected. At the end of this decade both the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. may have the rocket or missile power to nudge a small planet or asteroid out of its orbit and send it crashing into a predetermined spot on this globe.

Dandridge M. Cole, member of the Missle and Space Vehicle Department of General Electirc Company, has told the American Astronautical Society that such a bomb is theoretically possible.

All an atomic power has to do is select a nice little asteroid or minor planet, ranging in diameter from 100 feet to 20 miles or so, and send it crashing to earth. The resultant collision would equal the violence of millions of hydrogen bombs.

The aftermath wouldn't be neat and tidy, as with the neutron bomb, but it would be definitive. Cole estimates that an asteroid falling on Kentucky would destroy the Eastern half of the U.S.A. from Boston to Miami, Duluth to New Orleans, Washington to Omaha. Resultant earthquakes of the first magnitude would topple building all over the continent.

Or if the asteroid were aimed at the Atlantic Ocean, mankind would expect tidal waves that would destroy all life and property along the Atlantic seaboard and much of Western Europe.

Asteroids have the advantage of being numerous and free and delivering a coup d'etat so decisive that the injured nation might never be able to mount any retaliatory power. And there is always the cheering fact that if we Americans or the Russians don't git thar fust with the mostest, the Martians or Venutians may beat us to it.

Who can remember when the only destruction from the outer world we had to fear was from Halley's comet? I vaguely remember that ominous summer and the chilling conversation of adults that so frightened me my grandmother used to take me into her bed to comfort me at night. Scant wonder Norwalk is trying to soothe its young scholars by banning atom war talk.

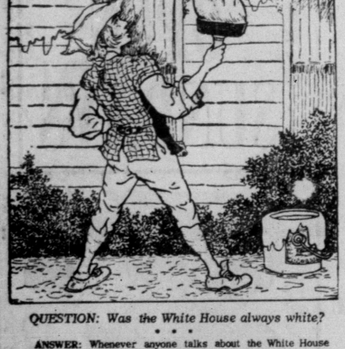

Even the most cheerful headlines on this subject can be deceptive. "Ample Food Seen in Atomic Attack" I read only a week or so ago.

I should have stopped at the headline, for the first paragraph of the story explained that "surplus food and plenty of livable housing" would be left after a massive nuclear strike "because so many people would have been killed in the attack."

That is surely achieving plenty the hard way. Facing nuclear facts is one thing, but in the interim dying a thousand deaths is hard on most of us, especially the kids.

Junior Editors Quiz on WHITE HOUSE

QUESTION: Was the White House always white?

• • •

ANSWER: Whenever anyone talks about the White House there can be only one place that means the same to everyone: The White House, the home of the President of the United States. This building is located on Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D. C. The idea for it came from George Washington who felt that there should be a home especially intended for the President during his term of office. The first President to live in the house was John Adams. It was a three-story building of moderate size, and was built of yellow sandstone. To give it a better appearance, it was subsequently painted white, and has had a white finish ever since. The White House, incidentally, belongs to the American people and thousands upon thousands visit and tour it each year. It was completely renovated between 1946 and 1952 and has many new features. But the big historic rooms characteristic of its first day as a presidential residence remain unchanged.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Most reference books have pictures of the White House and you can get a good idea of what it looks like from such illustrations. There are many good books telling interesting stories of the families who lived there and how their lives were affected by the famous mansion.

Columnist's Mail Brings More News

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Eastern Nigeria must be the world's worst place to get a toothache. It has only five dentists among its nine million people.

Sounds reasonable: The subway in Athens, Greece, has special cars for smokers, and now a group is demanding a special car be added for Greeks who insist royal highness: one of the Russian czars once decreed no one in his domain could wear a beard.

Frigid consolation: No matter how much lower the mercury falls than 40 below zero, you don't feel any colder. That is the point at which your skin nerves stop distinguishing difference in temperature.

Tired of being crowded? then go to Alaska. It has only one person to every 2½ square miles, compared with the U.S. national average of 40.4 per square mile.

Our quotable notables: "A woman will sometimes confess her sins, but I never knew one to confess her faults"—Josh Billings.

Bet you didn't know this: The cherry, peach, strawberry, apple, blackberry, apricot, plum, raspberry and pear all are members of the rose family.

Speaking of large families, on the human level they often produce geniuses. George Washington was one of 11 children; Alfred Tennyson one of 12; Ben Franklin one of 17, and Johann Sebastian Bach one of 20.

The size of the average American family today has increased to 3.68 persons.

How they got started: Joan Crawford was a waitress, J. Edgar Hoover a lawyer, movie magnate Spyros Skouras a bootblack.

Quips from our contemporaries: The Catholic Digest reports this sign in a Minneapolis car wash: "Special today. Car wash $1. Compact cars dipped and towel dried, 50 cents."

Odd legislation: In Nebraska a law was passed under which you could be fined if your clock showed anything but standard time.

Old House Destroyed

LANESBORO, Mass. (AP)—Martin C. Reilly became so burned up about an increased assessment on his property he burned down a 200-year-old, 18-room house Monday.

Reilly, a tavern-keeper, said that before this small western Massachusetts Community revaluated property the house was assessed for $1,200. Then it was re-assessed at $8,600.

The house sat alone in a 280-acre plot and is believed to have once been the home of humorist Josh Billings.

Reilly had owned the place since 1948 and used it lately only for storage purposes.

Volunteer firemen stood by the fire and cheered in the rain. The fire department had issued a permit to Reilly.

Unlike many of his rodent cousins, the ground hog does not store food for the winter. Instead, he battens on greens all summer and autumn. Then he sleeps through the cold months, resting up for another war on spring vegetation.

Last Streetcars In Capital End Runs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's two remaining streetcar routes will shut down for good early Sunday but the kids are getting a break.

All day Saturday—and until 2 a.m. Sunday—youngsters accompanied by an adult will be allowed to ride the trolleys free.

A spokesman for the D.C. Transit Co. said "Lots of kids might never have the opportunity to ride a streetcar. We thought it would be a nice thing to do."

Kids Of Cape Canaveral Are Burned Up Over Orbit Delay

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Lacking Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's stoic imperturbability, the kids of Cape Canaveral are pretty burned up over the latest postponement of the orbital man shot.

They'll be doubly disappointed if Monday goes off on Saturday.

A Saturday blast-off, from the viewpoint of Cape kids, means that Principal James E. Lee of the Edgewood Junior High School won't get to call one of his convenient fire drills so the whole student body can file into the schoolyard and watch the big Mercury-Atlas missile roar up over the basketball backboard.

It means the small fry at Cocoa Beach Elementary won't get to march down to the beach, two blocks away, to cheer one "Mr. Glenn," who ranks several notches higher than Roger Maris as the school's favorite hero.

It means that the Weather Club at the Edgewood School won't get to post its flight forecast on the door of the science department, and that the sixth graders over at the Cocoa Beach Elementary won't get to tell cafeteria chums precisely why the astronauts land in different places depending on the number of times they orbit.

The Edgewood School on Merritt Island and Cocoa Beach Elementary are the two closest schools to the busy Cape firing range. Both draw many of their pupils from families directly connected with the big shooting match.

For several weeks now, the two student bodies have been in a sort of scholastic "ready room," sweating out the countdown in somewhat the same manner as astronaut Glenn: boning up on technical data, checking on weather conditions and trying to keep getting too excited.

Monday second-grade teacher Madelyn Buran scribbled these words on the blackboard: "Atlas missile orbit space lift off Mr. Glenn earth." The idea was for the kids to take these words and make up a sentence, then a paragraph and finally a whole story.

Some of the stories the second graders came up with about Mr. Glenn were exciting enough to tempt copy-starved newsmen into peeking over their shoulders for new leads on the postponed shot.

The proudest kid in all Cocoa Beach was Diane Prentiss, who showed up with the Bible that astronaut Glenn autographed for her outside church on Sunday. Her treasure was rated second only "to the American flag in the glass case in Principal Robert Fritz's office. The flag happens to be the one that Alan B. Shepard carried in his capsule on America's first manned space shot.

For kids who have seen dozens of rockets go off and who regularly read the space slang down at the drug store, there is still a special kind of excitement about the Glenn shot that transcends all other adolescent interests.

The most disappointed kids on the entire Cape were the 30 honor students at Edgewood Junior High who had been chosen to watch the shot from out at Port Canaveral. Although they probably would never orbit in anything more critical than the gymnasium ropes, seats by writing essays on "Why I Want to Participate in the Next Mercury Shot."

Grain Sales Protested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The grain trade is complaiping that the Agriculture Department's feed grain program is threatening the health of the nation's country elevator system.

In a letter to Undersecretary of Agriculture Charlos Murphy, the Grain and Feed Dealers National Association finds fault with the way the government is selling surplus corn and sorghum grain. Such sales are being made to raise money to pay farmers for diverting acres from these two grains last year.

The letter says the association is expected to sell around 800 million bushels of corn during the current market year and that 80 per cent will be taken out of country elevators. The remainder will be taken from the government's own storage facilities.

It says the loss in storage business is causing hardship for many elevators.

The letter also protests regulations of the department which, in effect, bypass country elevators in handling corn sales. The department usually sells directly to processors.

LONDON (AP)—A man whose truck came off second best in a collision with a dog was awarded 33 pounds 15 shillings—$96.50—damages from the animal's owner Monday.

Hyman Gomberg said the 200-pound St. Bernard dashed out of a store and in front of his truck.

City Firemen Answer 271 Calls In '61

A total of 271 calls were answered by Snyder City Firemen during 1961.

The tabulation, just completed by Assistant Fire Chief G. L. Autry, Jr., is sent every year to the national board of fire underwriters. It is used in partially determining the effective rate of fire insurance in the city.

Calls within the city limits totaled 184. Of these, 46 were residential fires; 9 were in "non-residential assembly places" such as schools or churches; 31 in business houses; 4 in storage areas; 2 at public utilities. Grass fires accounted for 51 of the calls and miscellaneous fires totaled 41. Fires in any moveable object such as autos, trailers, cotton on trains, etc. are included in the miscellaneous category. False alarms accounted for 10 calls, and 8 emergency calls were made for non-fire causes.

The 69 fires outside of the city limits were not itemized on the report as they do not influence fire rates in the city.

Boy Killed In Mishap

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — An auto crash in drizzling rain killed Vicente Moran, 11, and injured two teen-agers near the west edge of Edinburg about midnight.

State police said the Moran boy was riding in a stolen car driven by Hernando Pena, 14, also of Edinburg, who was reported in critical condition from a skull fracture.

Injured in the other vehicle was Eleazar Flores, 19, who suffered a broken collarbone and severe hand cuts. Homes of all three are in Edinburg.

The collision occurred at a highway intersection.

Officers said the car was stolen about an hour earlier from fireman Ray Timmer in McAllen.

They reported two other teen-agers driving a second stolen auto drove into Edinburg after witnessing the crash to notify police and surrender.

Graham Is Denied Use Of Stadium

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia (AP)—Billy Graham has been denied permission to hold an evangelical service in the city baseball stadium.

Mayor Ricardo Gonzalez said he withdrew permission because an advance group had been "proselytizing and propagandizing" for Graham's crusade in violation of the constitution.

Gonzalez said that only the Roman Catholic Church is allowed to propagandize in Colombia. Supporters of the American Baptist evangelist have been distributing pamphlets and posting signs, the mayor said.

Internal Strife Menace To Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trouble is all around but it's the trouble inside world communism which in the end may affect history most.

Latin America is split on punishing Fidel Castro; African nations are split into rival blocs; France holds aloof from her allies in dealing on Berlin.

Laotian princes can't agree on running their country; Algerians are slaughtering one another; There's guerrilla war in Viet Nam and murder in the Congo.

Communism's trouble — Starting with Russian-Chinese differences on how to handle the West — could, if it got bad enough, shake communism to its roots.

In 1947 George Kennan, now ambassador to Yugoslavia but then head of the State Department's planning staff, made a prediction on communism's future.

He was basically right, although proof may have to wait, when he said: hold the line tight enough long enough around world communism and internal tensions [illegible] the system will shake it.

The reasoning had to be based on this kind of understanding of groups and nations, that whenever people get together, so long as they have individual views, problems and ambitions, there will be disagreement, as there is within a family, and perhaps conflict, ranging from mild to terrible.

When nationalism, which preceded communism, is added to this, conflict is inevitable.

Even before the war, when Russia was the only Communist state, there were deadly internal conflicts. Most memorable were the Stalin-Trotsky split and, in the 1930s, Stalin's bloody purges of old Bolsheviks.

These were signals of what could be expected if communism expanded.

After the war Stalin dominated his new acquired European satellites — Red China didn't emerge until 1949 — for more reasons than just his brutal repression.

Communism in the satellites was new, untried, unsure, needing Russian help and protection. Their problems were all more similar than dissimilar.

The blind submission to Russia had to change when: (A) Stalin died and Premier Khrushchev adopted what looked like a milder line; (B) the satellites and Red China began to develop in their own ways, with their own ambitions; (C) their built-in nationalism began to assert itself; and (D) the West confounded Communist theory and belief by becoming enormously prosperous instead of collapsing.

Speculation on the Russian-Red Chinese differences has centered mostly on China's alleged rejection of Khrushchev's announced belief, real or not, that communism can triumph over capitalism without war.

A much deeper reason, perhaps, is rivalry in Asia and a Chinese belief that Russia has done far too little, economically, industrially and scientifically to help Peiping in its "great leap forward."

That's only one side of the conflict. Apparently there is dissension inside Russia over policy between Khrushchev and the hard-nosed old Stalinists like V. M. Molotov.

In addition there are signs Communist parties are choosing up sides: the Asian parties with Red China, the European ones with Russia, except for Albania, which is Red China's puppy.

On top of all this there seem to be conflicts between the Communist parties in the non-Communist countries, and perhaps even growing pressure within the satellites for more freedom from Russia.

One of the great ironies of our time has been the discussion between this country and Russia on disarmament and a ban on nuclear testing without including Red China. There could be no agreement without her.

It is unthinkable that China, with a population three times greater than that of Russia and the United States, would ever cease trying to become an atomic power equal if not superior to those two.

This is the last thing Russia would want for her Chinese ally. And yet without at least equal power Red China could hardly escape domination by the Soviets.

Sea-Going Posts Part Of U. S. Plan

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department plans to add several sea-going command posts to its system of alternate military headquarters for use if a nuclear attack wipes out the Pentagon.

Several alternate headquarters have been set up. They include the underground "Little Pentagon" in the mountains on the Maryland-Pennsylvania border and the Navy cruiser-command ship Northampton.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara asked funds in the new military budget to convert at least two mothballed light carriers. He says that for the next few years "we have tentatively programmed the construction of one new command ship in each year."

The addition of sea-roaming alternate headquarters is a part of the new emphasis on the system of command and control of forces in time of attack.

Testifying before a Senate committee last week, McNamara said that "achievement of our over-all national security objectives requires that our strategic retaliatory forces be kept continually under the control of constituted authorities, from the President on down to the commanders of these forces—before, during and after a nuclear attack."

The command and control system involves the constant linkage by radio and other communication systems of bomber and missile forces, Navy ships and troops with operational and top administrative headquarters.

McNamara said that "because of the urgent need," the program provides for a start in the next fiscal year on the conversion of the hull of one light carrier to a command ship, to be ready about June 1963, with a second one ready about a year later. Then would follow construction of one new command ship each year for several years.

The Navy has eight or ten light carriers in its mothball fleet.

Urges Wool Safeguards

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Speaking as president of the National Wool Growers Association, Penrose B. Metcalfe of San Angelo counselled close attention by its members Monday to new tariff legislation.

He called for every effort possible to assure that Congress incorporates adequate safeguards for the domestic sheep industry into any tariff measures.

There must be protection for the industry, Metcalfe said, against excessive imports in all forms —raw wool, wool textiles and lamb.

At the same time he proposed the wool growers call on the best brains and hardest workers in their ranks to solve their own problems.

"We need help from every one of you," he said, "so that we can stand on our own feet and operate on such a foundation that eventually our industry can continue to exist without subsidy of any sort."

Drought, foreign trade problems and competition with synthetics are to blame for current price declines in the industry, Mrs. Sterling Ercanbrack of Provo, Utah, told the association. She is president of its auxiliary.

Judges picked Paula Johnson, 17, of Abilene, Tex., and Jo Ann Odegaard, 18, of Convick, Minn., as winners in the national Make it Yourself with Wool Contest. The prize for each is a trip to Hawaii.

Miss Johnson took top honors in the junior division with a tailored beige suit, topped with a beige beaver hat with velvet visor. Miss Odegaard's entry was a black suit and fingertip length black coat.

The seated figure of Lincoln at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington is 19 feet high. It was carved from Georgia marble by the late Daniel C. French. The statue is Daniel Chester French. The status is comprised of 28 blocks, fitted so perfectly they seem to be a single piece of stone.

Switzerland Logs 2nd Smallpox Case

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—A second case of smallpox has been diagnosed in Switzerland, the government health service reported today.

Mass vaccination is in progress in Schaffhausen, near the German border. The disease was originally imported by a German mining engineer returning from Liberia. Several cases have been diagnosed in West Germany.

Offbeat Test Protested By Parents

WAPPINGERS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The teacher passed out a syntax exercise to a high school English class.

"My name is Irving. I have a dog. His name is Schlep. I keep Schlep to bite the postman.

"Sometimes I go to Grandpa's farm. He owns a horse and cow. Sometimes Grandpa lets me put phony license plates on the hot cars."

And so on, for 31 sentences, adapted from a satire on first-grade readers originally published in a humor magazine.

Underline the subjects once, the predicates twice, the teacher instructed the class. Give the syntax of the encircled words.

One mother noticed the exercise her son brought home.

What are they teaching, English or juvenile delinquency? she demanded in a letter to the Poughkeepsie Journal.

"I was born and raised when they taught English in schools," she said, asking that her name not be published.

We do teach English, said Dennis J. Hannan, head of the English department of the Wappingers Central School. He said 80 per cent of the school's graduates in the last 25 years had passed the state regents examination in English.

A letters-to-the-editor battle raged for a week. The newspaper said, they ran about 3 to 1 against the exercise.

Apout 50 parents showed up Monday night when the board of education considered the matter.

Hannan explained that the teacher, whose identity was not disclosed, had used the example when students inquired about sick humor during a study of humor in literature. She just killed two birds with one stone, accommodating the student interest to a grammar lesson.

The board unanimously voted confidence in Wappingers Central's English department. Nobody said what would become of the offbeat test.

Cartoonist Dead At 61

DALLAS (AP)—Cartoonist Jack I. Patton, who spent four decades drawing for newspaper editorial and comic pages, died Monday at the age of 61.

Death came to the veteran artist of the Dallas Morning News at Baylor Medical Center. He had retired last April 1.

He leaves his wife; a son, Jack H. Patton; a daughter, Mrs. R. I. Cole; two brothers, Andrew and Ed Patton, all of Dallas, and four grandchildren.

Patton, a native of Shreveport, La., had made his home in Dallas since moving here with his parents in 1905.

He landed a job with the old Dallas Journal, then an afternoon publication of the News, as assistant art editor while working his way through the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago.

Early in his career Patton became one of the few men in the business to put out both an editorial cartoon and a comic strip, every day.

The editorial cartoons were noted for their stinging wit. Often the originals were requested by such subjects as Franklin Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover, John Nance Garner and W. Lee O'Daniel.

The comic strip, titled "Spence Easley," was nationally syndicated for a number of years. It caricatured the customs of the flapper era.

One of Patton's most popular works was "Texas History Movies," which he and John Rosenfield, amusements critic of the News, created as a newspaper series in the 1920s. It was put in book form and is widely used in teaching Texas history in elementary schools.

Union Files For Forced Arbitration

HOUSTON (AP) — A union claims Shell Oil Co. will not arbitrate the elimination of some jobs at its refinery in nearby Deer Park.

Local 4-367 of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union filed suit in federal court Monday in an attempt to force the company to arbitrate.

"The company has no comment at this time," plant manager J. W. Hyde said.

Worst Snowstorms In Years Retreating From California

By The Associated Press

California's heaviest metropolitan snowstorms in years began a retreat to the 2,000-foot level in the mountains today, leaving a trail of blocked highways, closed schools, flooded intersections and melting snowmen.

Flakes at the Los Angeles Civic Center, flurries on Palos Verdes Peninsula and several inches of snow in higher suburban areas were but a sample of what made Southern Californians shiver—and kids whoop with delight—Monday.

San Francisco's heaviest snow in 75 years kept Northern California cold, too, though Bing Crosby's golf tournament on the Monterey Peninsula dug out and finished play.

The weatherman forecast near blizzards in mountain areas just north of Los Angeles but said downtown temperatures might be slightly warmer than Monday's low of 39 degrees. The high was only 49.

Where it wasn't snowing, it was raining, or sleeting, or hailing. Thunder clapped and lightning flashed as gusty winds blew. The rain was expected to continue another day. The snowfall was Southern California's worst since 1949.

The rainfall in Los Angeles measured 2.35 inches.

Police blamed the weather for two traffic fatalities, one in Los Angeles and one west of Maricopa. Snow marooned 300 cars in Mojave and almost isolated that desert community of 2,500.

Two hundred winter sportsmen caught in a lodge south of Bishop had to bed down on the floor for the night.

The U.S. Forest Service began checking avalanche hazards in Angeles National Forest above Pasadena and warned snow lovers to stay out of the mountains. Even in the San Fernando Valley motorists were skidding about and wondering where tire chains could be had.

Workers in Rosamond, a small Kern County community, couldn't clear snow from streets because heavy drifts buried the town's two snowplows.

Schools closed in Palmdale and some mountain areas near Los Angeles. Main highways from Los Angeles to Bakersfield alternately closed and opened as drifts formed and were plowed away.

Stormy weather also hit sections of the South but unseasonably mild weather prevailed in most of the Southeast.

A broad belt of rain or drizzle, with sleet along the northern edge, spread through most of southern and eastern Texas northeastward to West Virginia and southern Pennsylvania.

Heaviest precipitation was from southeastern Arkansas to southern West Virginia and eastern Tennessee. Freezing rain made driving conditions hazardous in western Tennessee. Some fog shrouded areas from southeast Louisiana along coastal areas into Florida.

Colder weather was expected to extend into the Carolinas and northern Florida by Wednesday.

Snow flurries fell in the cold air over the Great Lakes and in parts of New England. Snow flurries and rain dampened areas of Arizona and New Mexico.

Coldest weather was centered in the northern Rockies and eastern sections of the Plateau states. Temperatures were mostly below zero, dropping to more than 20 below in parts of Idaho.

Early morning temperatures ranged from -22 in Pocatello, Idaho, to 75 in Key West, Fla., and 74 in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Boy, 8, Is Lecturer

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Kurt Amsler, 8, a third-grade pupil, turned second-grade teacher for a while Monday.

Kurt's father, Ben Amsler, a scientist at the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory, was scheduled to lecture second-graders at Georgian Forest Elementary School on the uses of friction in simple machines.

The elder Amsler found out at the last minute he couldn't make it.

Kurt studied simple machines last year.

Kurt explained to the class that without friction, levers wouldn't work and wheels would "skid all over the street."

The youngster, who wants to be a mathematician, said his father gave him one bit of advice.

"He said don't talk too fast because I would be talking to young children, and not to use big words."

Smallpox Outbreak

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Thirty cases of smallpox have been reported in Onitsha, Eastern Nigeria. Thirty thousand people in the town on the banks of the Niger River have been vaccinated. Mass vaccination is also being carried out in Lagos as a preventive measure.

Most Of Hoarded Silver Unloaded

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver speculators have unloaded some of their hoard after a price rise that carried it from 91⅛ cents an ounce Nov. 28 to a high of $1.04¾ Dec. 15. So the price has dropped here and in London—to around $1 an ounce in Britain Monday.

It's against this background that President Kennedy is asking Congress to free silver from all U. S. government control. He wants the metal gradually withdrawn as a backing for paper money and used only in coins.

The speculative rise in the price of silver was set off by the President's order Nov. 28 halting the Treasury's sale of silver, which had effectively set a price ceiling of 91¼ cents an ounce.

Under the Silver Purchase Act of 1934 the Treasury still offers to buy newly mined silver at 90½ cents an ounce. But who wants to sell to it when the free market price is so much higher?

The Treasury stopped selling as the first step in the President's plan to demonetize silver, except as coins. But it already was in a bind. The supply it had for sale in excess of the amount it was legally required to keep as backing for paper money was fast disappearing.

The price of silver rose sharply—about 9 cents an ounce the first day—partly because of a strong demand for industrial uses. But silver users say the rise then and since was due even more to so much being held off the market by speculators expecting the Treasury to use up its supply at the rate its sales had been increasing. They held that growing industrial demand had made the Treasury price artificially low.

Industrial and commercial use had increased not only for more household and jewelry tems, but also for expanded use in electronics, in missiles, in silver-printed circuits supplanting electric wiring.

Handy & Harman, refiner and fabricator of precious metals, puts total world consumption of silver in 1961 at 430.7 million ounces. This is broken down into 350.7 million ounces for industrial usage and coinage, up 8 per cent from 1960; about 40 million ounces in inventory accumulations, part of this in anticipation of the price rise; and some 40 million ounces in speculation hoardings.

The climb in U. S. consumption is charted this way by Handy & Harman: 98 million ounces in 1959; 100 million in 1960; and 105 million in 1961, with the final months of 1961 seeng some stocking up by fabricators.

Last year the U. S. Treasury used 54.2 million ounces in coinage and sold 62.6 million for commercial usage.

Now silver users are counting upon hoarders gradually releasing their stocks to the trade. Also, if the price drop of the recent week or so continues, some silver users will dip into their stocks and be off the market.

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production dipped by 11,828 barrels per day to 7,383,255 last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma output declined for the third straight week, partly because of bad weather. Production of 499,500 barrels daily was down 4,100 from the previous week.

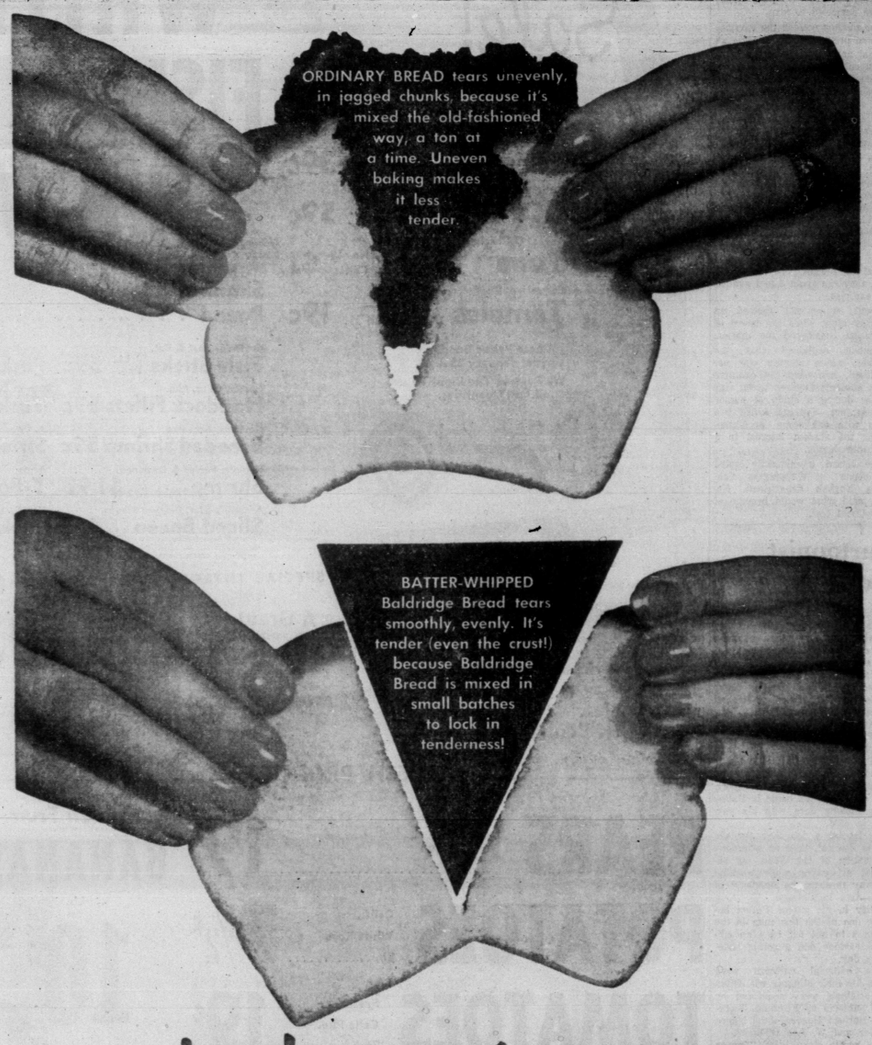

Texas is averaging about 2,658,040 barrels per day, Louisiana about 1,303,750 and New Mexico 313,500.

South Africa Has Smallpox Scare

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa was hit by a big smallpox scare Monday. Hundreds of whites queued four-deep in a downtown block to be vaccinated.

The scare came here when it was broadcast that one or two Africans living outside the town were found to have smallpox and that thousands of Africans had been ordered to report for vaccination.
