CHURCHILL WARNS AGAINST RUSSIA

WINSTON CHURCHILL—former prime minister of England

Leader Calls for Military Alliance

FULTON, Mo., March 5—(AP)—Winston Churchill called today for a virtual Anglo-American military alliance with a blunt warning against what he termed Russia's desire for "indefinite expansion" of its "power and doctrines."

Pampan Loved By Young, Old Given Farewell

Even before the 2:57 train pulled out yesterday Mrs. Mickey Conley was talking to a soldier seated across the aisle. They probably became good friends by the time the caboose was out of the city limits.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF THE great war leader of Great Britain.

CHURCHILL as usual, characteristically hatted and cigared.

FAMILIAR back would be recognized by most anyone, most anywhere.

Mickey left Pampa to make her home with the French Sisters at the Chapel of St. Charles Borromeo, 3400 S. Grand boulevard, St. Louis, Mo.

A host of friends were at the station to see her off. Mickey looked like some of the kind and gracious women you used to read about in fairy tales, or in biographical sketches which ended up right.

Mickey was smiling and laughing and talking along with everyone while she waited in the station for the train. The number of friends who arrived to see her off increased by the minute.

When the train arrived all her friends went to her car with her. The conductor became a bit concerned, seeing the group, saying there were Pullman cars down there. He seemed to think everyone was leaving Pampa and that there wouldn't be room for all. Mrs. R. E. McKernan called to the worried conductor that only one person was leaving.

Women started kissing and mauling Mickey just as she boarded the train. She didn't seem to like it a bit. Mrs. Pollard who had been a friend of Mickey and her husband when they first came here about 19 years ago, was there to see Mickey off. Both their husbands died within a week about 15 years ago.

Someone said that Mickey was well taken care of and seated. She waved from her chair, then would completely ignore everyone while she talked to the soldier across from her. Just before the train left a group of school children came to say good-bye, followed by a couple of Sisters, all running to make the train. Someone had to rap on the car window to draw Mickey's attention to them.

Father Stack came as the train was about to leave. A woman called to the trainman at the rear of the train. "Wait a minute. Father Stack is coming." He had some letters for Mickey.

Mickey waved as the train left, like a child when first taught how to say goodbye. Some woman had said, "Don't let her see you cry," to the group.

Mickey has been declared by many persons as the most beautiful person they have ever known. Strange.

Legion Given Permission for Memorial Park

Heartily endorsing the future development of Recreation park a 196-acre site located one mile east of the city, the city commission today set aside 61.7 acres for use by the American Legion as a Memorial park.

E. J. Dunigan, commander of the Kewley-Crossman post of the Legion asked for and was granted permission to use the site. It was immediately approved by the commission. John Osborne, attorney for the Legion and City Attorney R. F. Gordon submitted an ordinance to the commission to that effect and it was passed unanimously.

At the present time, the Top of Texas Rodeo Association has the lease on the park but Dunigan told the commission that the rodeo association was agreeable to the Legion developing the west section of the park, where the city lake is located.

Mayor Farris C. Oden told Dunigan that the Legion had the city's whole-hearted support in the program of improvement at the park as the site had long been a "white elephant" to the city.

Major Oden also stated that, if it were possible, certain funds received from revenue at the park might be diverted directly back to improvement of the facilities.

When the rodeo association obtained the lease on the park, the heads of that organization agreed to divert as much of the proceeds as possible back into park improvements.

Further business at the city commission meeting included opinions expressed by two local businessmen on the proposed new gas franchise. The franchise was scheduled to be read today for the second time. It is read at the commission and published if it will become effective.

The Texas Gas and Power corporation is applying for the new 20-year gas franchise and indications are that it will be accepted by both the city and the company after the formalities are completed.

Intervention Is Aimed at Halting Telephone Strike

Settlement of the long and costly General Motors strike and halting of a threatened British embargo on telephone workers were major items of business on the labor front today.

The government was represented in conferences, in Detroit and in Washington, aimed to end the disputes. In Detroit, negotiators were to meet as latest action by the CIO union auto workers might bring a possible break in the 105 day old General Motors work stoppage.

The government intervened in the threatened telephone tie-up over a wage dispute, but union leaders went ahead with plans for some 250,000 members of the national federation of telephone workers to leave their jobs at 6 a. m. (EST) Thursday.

The CIO united auto workers' latest action was acceptance of a suggestion by General Motors that the 175,000 strikers take part in a secret ballot on the question of ending the walkout—but the union included a provision.

The union said it would agree to the GM proposal that rank and file workers vote whether they wish to return to their jobs under the company's latest 18 1/2 cent hourly wage increase offer, provided the ballot also included the alternative of submitting issues to a President-appointed arbitrator. The union has held out for 19 1/2 cents an hour boost, which was recommended by a fact-finding board.

Lieutenant and Dog, Ace, Return To Army Life and Dutch Fiancee

DALLAS, March 5—(P)—First Lieut. George Arnold of Los Angeles and his cocker spaniel, Ace, today were on their way back to army life and the fiancee Arnold left behind in Holland.

The veteran of 2 years in the AAF troop carrier command recalled here yesterday with the request that his dog accompany him and that he be sent to Europe immediately. The recruiting officer agreed.

Arnold had special reasons for his request. He and the cocker spaniel had shared much together. He was impatient to get to Europe because his 20-year-old Dutch fiancee, Spelt Bilson, was waiting for him.

The cocker spaniel had gone overseas with Arnold and been on all missions his master flew.

Reds Reported Making New Demands on Iran

LONDON, March 5—(P)—Premier Ali Qavam es Salmeh of Iran was reported on route home from Moscow today bearing six Soviet demands, including one that his country "invite" Red army troops to remain in Iran.

LIUPTU UNSETTLED Moscow advised said the premier prepared to depart following a banquet last night attended by Generalissimo Stalin and indicated the outcome of his talks with Soviet officials had been inconclusive.

An Iranian spokesman in the Russian capital said the premier and his delegation had listened to "proposals" concerning Russian troops in Iran. The spokesman described the talks as "friendly but difficult."

SIX DEMANDS MADE The London Evening News said the six demands had been handed Ali Qavam prior to his departure. Heading the list, the newspaper said, was a specification that Russian troops should remain in Iran until such time as the other five demands were accepted.

Other demands included recognition of "autonomous" government of Azerbaijan. The London Evening News said the six demands had been handed Ali Qavam prior to his departure.

Highway Group Will Hold Meet

Progress of plans concerning highway 18 and 256 will be reviewed and plans for the future discussed at a meeting of the Highway Association 256, 86, 30, 52 and 18 to be held at 11 a. m. March 18 at the Memphis court house.

The meeting, the first of the organization this year has been called by the president, Judge Woodson Coffee of Silvertown.

Attending will be delegates from Castro, Briscoe, Swisher, Hall, Donley, Roberts, Gray and Ochiltree counties.

Highway 256 is a first class state highway extending from Memphis to several miles beyond Lesley in Hall county.

Third class connecting roads serve to connect highway 256 to highway 18 which crosses the main cross-country highway 66 and extends northward to Pampa, and highways 86 and 207 at Silvertown.

The proposed Pampa to Perryton highway would probably be an extension of highway 18.

Congress Now Has Chance To Modernize

WASHINGTON, March 5—(P)—Congress now has the chance to modernize itself, after a long shadow has been cast by the shadow of the new year.

One year ago, a joint committee of state and house to suggest ways of improving the machinery of congress.

This committee, after a year of listening to suggestions by congressmen and civilians, has now turned in a report a list of recommendations for making the work of congress better, faster, easier.

It suggests among other things that congress raise its salary from $10,000 to $15,000 a year, that congressmen set up a pension system for themselves.

But then the committee comes down to the meat with this: "Your committee believes that no adequate improvement in the organization of congress can be undertaken or effected unless congress first reorganizes its present absolute and overlapping committee structure."

In the senate there are 30 standing committees. The joint committee says these should be reduced to 16 and that the 48 standing committees in the house should be reduced to 18.

These committees have grown through the years and their work does "overlap." Committees are powerful. So is membership on them.

A bill introduced in congress is assigned to a committee which can, with few exceptions, bill it by ignoring it. But before a bill gets up on the floor for full house and senate vote, a committee must approve it.

Therefore, the committee says, almost a strange hold on what kinds of bills are passed to become law.

Membership on and chairmanship of many committees carry great prestige and, of course, power. A newcomer is lucky if he can get

Valley Residents Fight Lease Sale

AUSTIN, March 5—(P)—A delegation from the Rio Grande Valley is expected to appear before a meeting of the state school land board here today to protest lease sale of land in the bed on the Rio Grande Valley adjacent to Hidalgo county.

The land board is meeting at 10 a. m. to consider bids on leases of oil and gas rights on 11,206 acres of state-owned land in 24 Texas counties.

A press dispatch from Waco last week quoted Lloyd Ramey, manager of the valley water conservation association, as declaring his intention of appearing before the board to protest the Hidalgo lease sale in the interests of preventing stream pollution.

Bascom Giles, commissioner of the general land office, assistant manager of the land board, said the board is deeply interested in preventing stream pollution and would be pleased to receive any protest Ramey and associates might have to offer.

Other counties included in today's land leases are Cooke, Culberson, Eastland, El Paso, Montgomery, Panola, Reeves, Shackelford, Starr, Webb, Winkler, Jackson, Clay, Milburn, Robertson, Shelby, Wharton, Garbott, Kleberg, Kennedy, Jackson, Calhoun and Nueces.

House Approves Veterans' Fund

WASHINGTON, March 5—(P)—A new $114,000,000 administrative fund for the Veterans Administration was approved today by the house appropriations committee.

It was the major item in a deficiency supply bill which also carries funds for the social security board, the agriculture department and the post office department.

The extra money for VA, the committee said, is the minimum amount needed. By the end of the current fiscal year next June 30, the committee said, the administration will be responsible for an estimated 13,000,000 veterans, an increase of approximately 10,500,000 in one year.

Three-Power Plea Is Made To Spanish

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—Generalissimo Franco of Spain has served notice on the United States that he has no intention of leaving office under Allied pressure.

A state department official reported today that Franco, apparently anticipating the Anglo-American-French declaration against his government, set forth his stand in a note received here 24 hours before the three-power statement was issued yesterday.

VIGOROUS ASSERTIONS The note containing assertions that Spain could run its own affairs without outside intervention, was delivered at the state department by Juan Francisco de Cardenas, Spanish ambassador.

The state department official, who asked not to be identified, said he did not know whether similar notes had been delivered simultaneously in Paris or in London.

American officials phoned their hopes today for overtaking Spain's Franco government almost entirely on the possibility that the Spanish army might force the generalissimo to yield to a caretaker regime.

Hoover Will Make Survey of Food Needs in Europe

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—Premier Truman today accented an invitation by President Truman to go to Europe to survey food needs of that continent.

Mr. Hoover's acceptance was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson following a breakfast discussion of the food situation, presided by the former chief executive, who carried out foreign relief programs in Europe after World War I.

Anderson said Mr. Hoover will leave tonight for Europe. It will be his object to learn at first hand the actual needs of war-torn areas.

The former president will take several persons with him, including Dr. F. F. Fitzgerald, food allocations officer of the agriculture department. The other party to be named by Hoover later, Anderson said it was probable that Hoover would go to France first.

The secretary of agriculture said the government in sending Hoover abroad sought to ascertain whether there is any "waste" in statements of food relief requirements submitted by the various countries asking U. S. aid.

The Hoover party plans to fly to Europe.

Hoover's assignment followed last Friday's White House food conference at which Mr. Truman called in Hoover and other authorities on the subject to devise ways of getting Americans to share their food with the less fortunate peoples of the world.

Secretary Anderson also announced that advisory committees of the food processing industries, food distributors, wholesalers and retailers, as well as hotels and restaurants will meet with him and other food officials Thursday on ways of saving foods.

Anderson said the government hopes to announce late this week or early next a specific pattern of food consumption for individuals, families, hotels and other public eating places.

Solon Calls for More 'Fair Play'

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md.) contended in the senate today a campaign is underway to "create an atmosphere of instability" about consideration of Edwin W. Pauley's nomination for undersecretary of the navy.

Tydings, who was called repeatedly for "fair play" for Pauley in senate naval committee hearings, told his colleagues that any of them who has made up his mind about the appointment without having heard all of the evidence ought to be barred from voting on the nomination.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) and Stewart (D-Tenn.), who are not members of the naval committee, have called for the withdrawal of the nomination of the former democratic national committee treasurer.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(AP)—The stock market today dragged through another featureless session with many leaders off fractions to 3 or more points at the close, despite the absence of any real selling pressure.

Caution, rather than outright bearishness, brokers suggested, accounted for such offerings as appeared.

Dealings were sluggish from the opening on with the ticker tape frequently halting. Transfers of around 1,000,000 shares were another of the smallest turnover for a full stretch of the past six months.

In the being ranks the greater part of the proceedings were General Motors, U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Western Union, American Can, General Electric, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, International Harvester, Boeing, Texas Co., and Montgomery Ward.

On outside at intervals were Woodworth, Sears, Roebuck, Schenley, Caterpillar, Tractor, Republic Steel, J. I. Case, U. S. Rubber and Public Service of N. J. Blotings were irregularly lower.

23 Panhandle Men Enlist in Regular Army

Twenty-three young men joined the new, peace-time regular army last week to be among the last of those who will be sworn in as "Regulars" at the Amarillo enlisting and recruiting station, Captain Clifford K. Odum, has announced.

With the closing of facilities at the Amarillo army air field Wednesday, the enlisting station is moving to the South Plains army air field at Lubbock. However, young men 17 and 34 will still be accepted for the regular army at the Amarillo army recruiting station in the post office building. They will be sent to Lubbock for physical examination, and will take meals and be quartered at the South Plains field.

Among the 23 men sworn in at Amarillo Wednesday were 19 youngsters entering the service for the first time, raising the number of original enlistments to 200 for February. Seven of the youth chose the European theater, three as air force men, two as transportation corps soldiers and two for the medical department, and two selected the Pacific theater, selecting to serve in the Ordnance department—all seven entering an eight-year "hitch."

Ten lads chose eighteen-month periods of enlistment and entered the regular army, unassigned. Four men with previous service signed up again, three for three years to serve in the European theater and one for eighteen months, unassigned. All are enroute to Fort Bliss at El Paso, for their first assignment.

Eight Amarillo men and similar number from Lubbock, four from Quanah, two from Childress, and one veteran from Pampa comprised the group enlisting at Amarillo's army recruiting station. Their names, home towns and branch and theater chosen as well as period of enlistment entered upon are given here.

From Amarillo: Johnny L. Donley, AAF, Europe; James E. Roach, transportation corps, Europe; and Andrew C. Nail, infantry, for Europe, all joined for three years. Floyd T. Turner, Jr., and Richard G. Archer, both of Amarillo also, joined for three years, too and each chose the Ordnance department to serve in the Pacific theater: Jack N. Manning, Tommy J. Scott and Marshall D. Boswell entered the regular army, unassigned for 18 months.

From Lubbock: Clarence T. Gregory and Henry D. McMin selected the army air forces, the European theater, and will serve three years. They hail from Lubbock. While also from Lubbock and enlisting unassigned are Bobby B. Jones, Billy R. Willis, Walter B. Elliott, Guy H. DeLashaw, Loye E. Curry and James D. Branch who elected to sign up for 18 months.

Three men from Quanah, Leroy Birdine and George J. Thomas, both for the Medical department, and Earl C. Dillon for the corps of military police, all chose the European theater, and signed to stay in for three years. Calvin N. Hydon, Quanah also, entered into the "regulars" for 18 months, unassigned.

Carl R. Knox, and James C. Sims, for the transportation corps will do their three years of duty mostly in the European theater. They are from Childress.

Wayne A. Coym of Pampa entered the army for 18 months service unassigned, as a private first class.

Many mighty wartime military centers in the Far East today are ghost towns and cities, but the Pacific is still full of Texans.

Change Urged in Milk Price Policy

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A new incentive price policy announced in advance for dairy farmers to encourage more milk production is the only remedy for shortages of butter and other milk products, Raymond Skinner, consultant to the dairy branch of the U. S. department of agriculture food administration, told the special house committee investigating food shortages.

Mr. Skinner, who is also president of the international association of milk dealers reviewed the current dairy situation at the hearings (Feb. 15th) and made suggestions which he said were concurred in by leaders in the fluid milk industry he was representing.

Mr. Skinner declared that talk of restoring limitations on milk sales, rolling back cream prices and re-installing the limitations on butterfat used in ice cream were based on the "wholly erroneous belief that they would divert back to butter a substantial amount of cream now being sold in whole milk and ice cream. Enforcing limitation orders would require an army of enforcement officers."

He also said that forceful channeling of a part of the farmers whole milk into butter would only result in the farmer receiving less money for his present milk production and would thus not encourage the farmer to produce more milk. This would hasten an already disturbing trend toward less milk production in 1946.

"Cream supplies for the butter makers have always come from cream shippers, mostly small dairy farmers, who separated their whole milk, shipped a can of two of cream, and fed the skim to their stock, and such other fat as could not be otherwise disposed of at a higher price. The demand for fluid whole milk plus the economic advantage, has substantially changed this picture.

"The only effective remedy for the present and prospective inadequacy of butter supplies and other dairy products is to encourage greater dairy production by price policies which will provide an incentive and which should be announced definitely in advance to the producers to which they are applicable.

"The recommendation of the dairy industry committee is that all price ceilings on milk and dairy products from farm to consumer be abolished as of July 1, 1946. I heartily concur in this recommendation as the only practical means of inducing the farmers to stay in business and encourage them to increase herds. It will also open the market to the free play of supply and demand, permitting consumers to render the final verdict as to relative volumes of milk and dairy products which may be sold at fairly competitive prices."

It is estimated that people in the United States spent an average of 40 cents a year for books.

Art Exhibit Held

An art exhibit and contest will be held in conjunction with the convention meeting of the Seventh district, Federation of Women's clubs, Thursday and Friday in Amarillo. The contest is sponsored by the federation to encourage the creative arts in Texas and any original picture created in the past two years is eligible.

Money prizes for the best pictures are being given by the Twentieth Century club in Borger. Mrs. J. B. Lewis, Phillips, is district chairman. The exhibition will be made in four sections, a senior group for professionals and those who paint as a hobby, a junior section composed of the work of art students in the colleges and universities of the district, a high school art section and a grade school art exhibit.

The prize winning paintings in the first three groups will be entered in the state federation exhibit and contest later in the year. The Borger club has donated a $5 first prize, and a $2 second prize in each of the four sections. Honorable mention will also be named.

All entries must be sent to Amarillo prepaid, to arrive two days before the convention opening date. Delegates may carry pictures back or they will be returned by express collect.

Girdle's Stretch Preserved by Care

You can show that you appreciate the return of your little two-way stretch by rubbing it often—perspiration and body oils are deteriorating, you know—and treating it to persuasive methods when pulling it on and off. Supplies are still not plentiful enough to treat a girdle any other way.

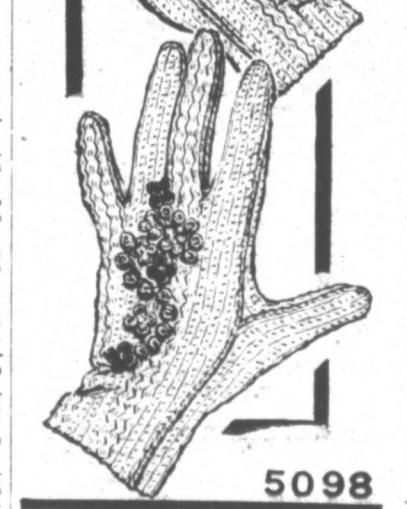

There is no method of laundering a girdle better than the one that's recommended in the washing instructions which come with the garment.

As for easing it on, the pull is easier on the girdle if you'll use for tugging the cushions of your fingers and not long nails which can poke holes in elastic. Difference between easing off and prying off a girdle usually sells the difference between a long and a short life.

If you save your girdle as your prized possession, reserved only for a Cinderella role after dark, wear it now and then with your daytime clothes to preserve the rubber's lively bounce.

Here are the things you want in a GOOD JOB

If you sat down and made a list of all the advantages you'd like to find in a job, you'd wind up with something very close to what the Regular Army offers you right now. If you've never thought of an Army job that way, check over these points:

1. GOOD PAY
Most of your Army pay is clear savings. Food, shelter, clothes, medical and dental care are all provided. Insurance, amusements and other incidentals cost far less. You're way ahead of the average civilian.

5. ADVANCEMENT
The new Army needs a high percentage of technical experts. If you have the ability, you can earn quick promotion to higher grades, with more pay. And there's always an opportunity for qualified men to become candidates for officers' training.

8. SECURITY
If you choose to stay in the Army, you can retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service, and so on up to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. As a civilian you would have to pay $84 a month for annuities to provide such a retirement fund.

2. TRAINING
It takes first-class technical training to handle the Army's modern equipment. That's why you get thorough instruction in one or more of 200 skills. The best trade schools in the world fit you for a future career.

6. CARE OF DEPENDENTS
The Army pays liberal family allowances for dependents. Army service need not interfere with a happy married life.

9. START NOW
You can take this job immediately if you are 17 to 34 years of age, and physically and mentally fit. Enlistments may be for 1 1/2, 2 or 3 years. Find out more about one of the world's best jobs from your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station today!

3. TRAVEL
If you join for 3 years you can choose not only the overseas theater to which you wish to go, but also your arm or branch of service.

7. THE FUTURE
Every young man who joins the Army before October 6, 1946, is entitled, under the GI Bill of Rights, to further education after discharge. After a 3-year enlistment, for example, you can have a full course in college, trade or business school, with tuition up to $500 per ordinary school year paid by the Government, as well as $65 a month for living expenses—$90 a month if you are married.

CROSSROADS AHEAD

The threatened national walkout Thursday of telephone workers, and the strike threatened by "Red Mike" Quill's New York transit union, following on the heels of New York's tugboat tieup, suggest re-examination of the wartime expedient of federal plant seizure.

During the war, when important production was halted by labor trouble, it became standard practice for the federal government to take over and operate the plant without regard for which party in the argument was right or wrong.

The temporary success of this questionable makeshift deceived the public into assuming: first, that unions could not legally or properly strike against the government; and, secondly, that the unions conceded that disability.

The tugboat strike rudely shattered that fond illusion. When Uncle Sam took over the harbor craft the tugboatmen just ignored him and stayed at home. It may be assumed that they wondered, at first, what would happen. If so, they found out. Nothing happened. The navy did not even put sailors aboard the tugboats to bring fuel and food to the stricken metropolis.

Now the telephone workers, who may have read newspapers during the tugboat strike, say frankly that they don't know what they will do if the federal government takes over the communications system. They recognize no compulsion to stay on the job just because "Uncle Whiskers" calls himself the new manager. He will have to satisfy them with the conditions he offers.

And Councilman Quill's transit workers led by communists and pro-communists, propose to strike directly against government itself unless their union is recognized as bargaining agent for all subway, elevated, trolley, and bus employees of the city.

Thus far, government seizure and operation is the only device yet found by which operation of life-and-death services can be assured while management and unions fight out their economic disputes.

If that fails, as it now is failing, the public will be left completely at the mercy of an irresponsible employer or union forcing a strike in a critical industry.

We are coming close to the crossroads where we must decide which is the direction toward an end to economic turmoil.

Why The Stock Market Crash

The stock market dropped $5.50 on Tuesday. This is the largest drop in one day since November, 1942. If I read my chart correctly, it looks as if people who have assets to invest are beginning to realize what the new ruling by "Harry, the Hatter," means.

When the federal government takes the position in peace time that industry cannot raise wages without the consent of the bureaucrats in Washington and have any chance of being permitted to increase the relative value of their money, we begin to see how the owners of the physical means of production have lost control of their business. We begin to see how rapidly we are losing the right to use the initiative of those who have demonstrated their ability. Of course everyone who has given any thought to what produces a higher standard of living will realize that the bureaucrats in Washington will not be able to determine the relative value of all things, as they will have to do in order to administer this ruling.

Especially is this true, when "Harry, the Hatter," seems to have no more judgment as to the value of different things than "Adolph, the paperhanger," as to the usefulness and value of different things in Germany.

It will be remembered that Harry, the Hatter, did not even know the value of hats enough to stay in business when he was selling hats. Now he is proposing that he and his appointees know enough about values to establish the value of everything.

The result is that people who have invested in the stock market look for very small earnings for corporations until such time as this policy of government squeezing the industrialists is abandoned.

They think that it will so discourage investors that they will prefer to have their savings in credit money, even if it is fiat printing press money. They evidently believe that they will be able to get back in the market when the fiat money is broken again.

By means of electronics we may be able to magnify 100,000 times and discover and isolate the carriers of disease, which heretofore have baffled medical science. We will perhaps be able to drive our tired 100,000 miles, because the vulcanization process will create a strength that will give that vast mileage.

A little communication device called a "walkie-talkie" has been developed. It can be carried on one's person. It was used in the Army, where an officer could talk with his men and his men with him, as it is a two-way sending and receiving device. These two men are publicly within an area of three miles. Think what this will mean for the future! A man equipped with one of these "walkie-talkies" will be able to receive directions from his wife all day long. But, men readers of this newspaper can take comfort, for now we have enough gasoline to get outside the three-mile limit.

These technological developments are only symbols of greater progress to come. It is a great age that stretches out before us and fortunate indeed are we to be alive to enjoy the wonderful opportunities that will present themselves. Have confidence in the future!

When you go out at night you will make memoranda for you to read upon your return; and if it is necessary to get you at once, you can be reached in your car, telephonically, as you drive. The telephone house has been invented, where, among other things, you will be able to lie in bed on a cold winter morning and close the windows without getting up. A GREAT FUTURE AHEAD FOR US

By Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Reverend Norman Vincent Peale, D.D., is pastor of Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth Ave., New York City.

If you wish to establish a reputation for being a wise man, there is one certain way to go to; it is to believe in the future. Men who have no confidence in the future demonstrate, in the long run, that they lack vision and insight.

In 1886 a high government official announced that all of the canals and railroads had been built, and there would be no further progress in transportation in the United States. At about the same time, another profound thinker was making the statement that the physical sciences had reached a stationary condition. When these two false prophets were airing their views, Thomas A. Edison was 39 years of age, Henry Ford was 23, Steinmetz was 21, Orville Wright was 15, Marconi was 12, and Einstein was 7 years of age. The men who made those statements were not believers in the future; so they turned out to be bad prophets. The wise man is he who believes that greater things will come to pass.

And greater things are coming. In the research laboratories of America are marvels which can give us an era of unprecedented development. For example, there is radar with its mysterious and the clouds or through obstructions.

We are now in the "electronic age," a development that may revolutionize the lives of the people. This is something of special interest to the ladies in connection with electronics. The housewife of the future will scarcely need to sweep and dust. Recently in a display of household appliances, I saw a little mechanism known as a "precipitator." By means of electronic energy it sucks down dust particles in the air and destroys them. The women of the future will never have to sweep again.

Every man who does it now will be able to neglect it in the future without a sense of guilt.

This electronic age is marvelous. When you go out at night you will make memoranda for you to read upon your return; and if it is necessary to get you at once, you can be reached in your car, telephonically, as you drive. We will perhaps be able to drive our tired 100,000 miles, because the vulcanization process will create a strength that will give that vast mileage.

A little communication device called a "walkie-talkie" has been developed. It can be carried on one's person. It was used in the Army, where an officer could talk with his men and his men with him, as it is a two-way sending and receiving device. These two men are publicly within an area of three miles. Think what this will mean for the future! A man equipped with one of these "walkie-talkies" will be able to receive directions from his wife all day long. But, men readers of this newspaper can take comfort, for now we have enough gasoline to get outside the three-mile limit.

These technological developments are only symbols of greater progress to come. It is a great age that stretches out before us and fortunate indeed are we to be alive to enjoy the wonderful opportunities that will present themselves. Have confidence in the future!

When you go out at night you will make memoranda for you to read upon your return; and if it is necessary to get you at once, you can be reached in your car, telephonically, as you drive. The telephone house has been invented, where, among other things, you will be able to lie in bed on a cold winter morning and close the windows without getting up. By means of electronics we may be able to magnify 100,000 times and discover and isolate the carriers of disease, which heretofore have baffled medical science. We will perhaps be able to drive our tired 100,000 miles, because the vulcanization process will create a strength that will give that vast mileage.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

OIL—The senate naval affairs committee has shown a surprising squeamishness in shying from a detailed investigation of Edward W. Pauley's oil deals. Inquiries around the state department suggest that this oleaginous field has not been explored sufficiently.

Prosecutor Tobey lifted the lid on the Pauley-Mexico City negotiations for a moment, but was diverted when "Harry, the Hatter," allied with his more serious charges. But the Mexican matter, which had the approval of the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Ickes himself and high state officials for a while, will probably insure Mr. Pauley's reputation by the senate if it is exposed.

George S. Messersmith, our extremely able and honest ambassador at Mexico City, could tell the untold story. He blocked the Pauley proposal at a time when Washington seemed to favor it. But the naval affairs investigators are ascertaining the facts if they will subpoena such men as Cordell Hull, Sumner Welles and Dean Acheson, now under secretary of state.

Mr. Acheson, unlike Mr. Ickes, does not want to blast a prospective cabinet colleague. He has not angled for an invitation to be a witness, as Mr. Ickes did. But he has evidence on the California oil man.

IDEA—Soon thereafter Nephew George's name came across George Bilbo's desk. The new member of the RFC was an applicant for a commission as captain in the national guard, then under control of the state.

As Governor Bilbo began to scratch his signature, an aide remarked, "Governor, you certainly are not going to commission that guy! Don't you know that he is the nephew of 'Private John' Allen?" "Why, yes," replied Mr. Bilbo. "I know it. I'll commission George. Might be a good idea if we sent these Allen to the front and had them killed off!"

NEIGHBORS—Harold L. Ickes and Jesse Holman Jones were Washington's fiercest feudists when they served as members of Franklin D. Roosevelt's political household. They scuffled over helium for Germany, or for Jack and Jill, and anything else that entered their minds. Harold regarded Jesse as the head devil of the conservatives.

Now the two are neighbors in a geographical sense only. Mr. Jones occupies suite 450-1-2 at a downtown hotel while Mr. Ickes has 650-1 directly above.

The former head of the RFC and secretary of commerce, who was fired to make a cabinet place for Harold's buddy, Henry A. Wallace, tells me that he is thinking of buying a pistol or blunderbuss.

"With Harold upstairs," muses the big Texan, "I think that I had better go armed from now on."

What we do in the next year or two will in a large measure determine whether or not we can avoid another 1929 collapse.—Reverend Director John W. Snyder.

CONTRACT—It was then that Mr. Pauley intervened. He organized an oil company, contacted certain Mexican politicians and got a contract under which he would build and manage the proposed high-octane enterprise.

But he insisted—and the Mexicans agreed—that his profit should be ten percent of the gross income. It is estimated that his yearly take would have been from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000.

The RFC, under Mr. Pauley's program, would have advanced him the money. Thus he would have made a handsome profit without putting up a nickel out of his own pocket.

Mexico would eventually have been the loser. But the nation's resentment would have been visited on our government, inasmuch as the RFC would have provided the funds and the Californian was then a key figure in the democratic party.

UPTOWN CLOSE:

Truman Might Want Pauley as His Protector

Why does Truman stick to Pauley? The question puzzles many people. Harry Truman has a large number of persons loyal to those who have helped him, but it is not any larger than his bump of practical political sense, as he understands it. Until his ascension to the presidency Harry's favorite saying was "The only definition I know of a statesman is a dead politician, and I would rather live politician than a statesman."

The business of remaining a live politician implies nimbleness in getting away from associates who become political liabilities, and Pauley is certainly that regardless of whether a democratic majority of the nomination committee stomachs him or not.

Truman may feel that he can be as loyal to oil men and campaign fund collector, Pauley, as he could be to Pendergast. He may not realize how unparalleled are the two cases. Pendergast, like his counterpart Mayor Curley of Boston, always retained a regional prestige. National reactions are much tougher.

Some say Truman is obeying Harneggan, the famous "Private John" Allen, who has always been rather dicker, and his illness has turned his tenacity into stubborn sullessness.

There is another angle, not widely understood. Truman has become alarmed about the "red" influence in his office. He has become very uncertain about James Byrnes. A natural jealousy of Byrnes due to the fact that Byrnes wanted the nomination for the vice-presidency before Harry Truman ever seriously thought of it for himself, enhanced by Byrnes' undisguised desire to become a democratic presidential nominee in 1948. An unpleasant tinge is given this situation by the fact that so long as congress does not change the law of succession, Byrnes would become president should anything happen to Truman.

At the President has an increasing amount of trouble with the men who have honeycombed the administration under the sponsorship of Eleanor Roosevelt, and whose heart is with Moscow rather than with their own nation, it is natural for Truman to expect that Byrnes plays a role in the Moscow-lovers for a political purpose. Truman must recognize that Ed Pauley proved tin plate passer par excellence in the campaign, but what is not so well known outside the White House is that he has been the hardest-boiled and most effective anti-red influence in high administration circles since Truman became President.

Something that should be brought to the attention of congress and the public, but of course will not be by state department propagandists, is that the administration has never published Pauley's reparations report on Europe, nor has it been officially submitted to congress. On the other hand, the Pauley report on Japanese reparations, has been submitted and has received general approval, although Pauley's mission to Japan followed the details of the European mission would show Pauley's reversal of the policy of Isidor Lubin and the manner in which it was accomplished. Pauley wanted President Truman to replace the Lubin coterie on the reparations committee. When this seemed impossible without political repercussions which Truman was unwilling to sustain, Pauley increased the commission to an absurd number of members—some nineteen or so—but enough to outvote the Lubin crowd. The policy of Lubin appeared on the surface to be to throw everything in Germany into Stalin's lap. Lubin's true motive however, was purely and simply to follow the Morgenthau policy of vindictiveness. The easiest way to destroy German industry was to give it to Russia. There was actually more in Lubin's method than love of Russia.

To some extent, Pauley put a stop to this—but how effectively we can not know so long as the report remains unrevealed. Probably the military seizure by Russian troops of Standard Oil properties in Hungary was typical Moscow retaliation for Pauley's policy of taking the

AP World Traveler

BERN, Switzerland, March 5.—Letters are arriving from readers who are anxious to tour Europe and want advice on how to go about it.

That's a project for which your globe trotting columnist team has a sympathetic understanding. We have the same urge and it grows stronger as we proceed on the great adventure of watching the rebirth of a continent.

There are European countries which are looking forward eagerly to a renewal of tour—DEWITT MACKENZIE is a traveler. Among them is Switzerland, which is making special plans to accommodate visitors. But there are many others which are too badly hurt to be able to deal with his great influx of tourists for a very considerable time, and in these countries the traveler encounters harsh difficulties.

Therefore, our advice to would-be tourists is to consult the consulates and embassies of the countries which they wish to visit to determine whether it's a suitable time. One important item to remember is that touring in Europe is devilishly expensive. Don't start out with the idea that you can do it cheaply and still have adequate food and lodging. The reason, of course, is that there is a great shortage of food and lodging.

Lubin candy away from the Bear. In any case, Truman's fidelity to Pauley is more than political bedfellowship. Truman craves protection against the red persuasion of his own official family, and the lack of character of Byrnes in particular.

Ed Pauley, on his part, has been pushed to the place where he has nothing to lose. The democratic majority on the senate committee just might approve him. If not, he has nothing to hang on to.

But the democratic party will lose most if he not only hangs on, but becomes part of the administration. (Copyright 1946)

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD.—(NEA) — Joan Crawford's detronement of Bette Davis of the Warner Bros. lot has reached the non-speaking stage. Especially after an episode the other day, Joan never over to speak to Bette in the studio cafe.

Bette acted colder than the ice in her water glass and never stopped eating while mulling a few words. "The Master Barbers association, we hear, is up in arms over the new 20th Century-Fox picture, 'The Razor's Edge.' There's not a shave in the picture."

Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall are keen to do Steve Fisher's new play, 'Winter Kill,' based upon his novel by the same title, which the Shuberts have bought for Broadway production.

Gloria Stuart tells about the starlet who met another starlet on the lot one day and said: "Darling, you look wonderful. What happened?" Brian Donley, a mild smoker, is afraid his role in Universal's "Pandango" will turn him into a cigarette fiend. He has been consuming six packages daily as a chain-smoking Russian navy captain. The of food and housing in most countries. Naturally the objective of most visitors—the devastated area of Germany—is unattainable at present by the average traveler. There is neither food nor shelter to spare, though the conquered territories presumably will be opened up in due course.

One of the worst bottlenecks which the traveler encounters is transportation. The shortage is so great that you may waste days and even weeks waiting for a booking by train or air. Then, in some cases you also run up against the old hold-up game which involves the giving of a big gratuity to a conductor for sleeping accommodations on a train.

You must expect to be cold in even the best hotels and it's a welcome surprise if there is sufficient heat. Hot water for baths also is rationed in many places.

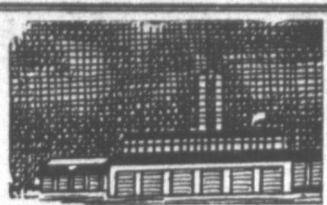

You must bring all that you will need for your trip in the way of clothing, shoes, vitamins and other medicines, cosmetics and so on, because there are few places you can buy these things in Europe.

It's nice to see J. Carroll Naish contending for an Academy Award this year. He's a one-man stock company and has turned in more fine performances than any actor in Hollywood.

Does Your Car Heat? Chances Are Radiator Is Dirty--See the Eagle

Many motorists, within the next few weeks, will begin to notice that their cars heat when they drive for any distance. Chances are that, with the weather becoming warmer, this will be caused by a sluggish radiator.

The Eagle Radiator shop, located at 516 West Foster street, reminds motorists that they can be remedied with a clean-up job. Some radiators probably will need repair work or re-cored, to make them function properly.

Eagle Radiator shop, which was established here in 1925, has been owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. York for the past 12 months. Mrs. York is bookkeeper for the concern.

There are three radiator repairmen on hand besides Mr. York. With the exception of about 18 months, Mr. Dewey Wilson, has been connected with the shop for the past 16 years. Others employed there, to handle any kind of radiator, are Mr. L. O. Mosher and Mr. Alvin Bass.

Mr. York assures all prospective customers that his workmen will do their best to justify their business.

Jack'll Do His Best For He Likes Pampa; He Serves Your Car

In just 15 days, Spring will be on us. Mother and daughter will be decked out in new spring coats and dresses and those inevitable hats. Junior will have a far-away look in his eyes. Dad's step will be lighter—but the old bus that has lasted them so long may be as neglected as a worn-out army mule.

Jack Vaughn, at his service station at 501 S. Cuyler, would like to dress up your car for spring.

Take a look at Leaptin' Lena. Jack will bet you two-to-one that she possibly needs a washing and lubrication job, to say nothing of some of that good Phillips spring tonic—Phillips 66 gasoline and motor oil.

Or, if it's shoes the family wants, then don't forget Jack. He can outfit your car with a set of snappy, long-lasting Lee tires with socks (tubes) that entails a minimum of cost and brings the maximum in value.

Or, if Lena gets a puncture and looks a little run down at the heels, Jack can fix that too, with the kind of expert, fast tire repairing that you'll go for in a big way.

After Lena goes through the mill at Jack's, let him add that special polishing and waxing job. Then step up and take a look at yourself in the mirror—the car will do. If you don't look as proud as the father of twins, then Jack will figure he's headed for the poorhouse—but you can bet he likes Pampa, so he's going to do the kind of job you like.

The attendants at Jack Vaughn's dance around singing Gilbert and Sullivan ditties this spring, but they're sure you will feel like doing it after getting all that service.

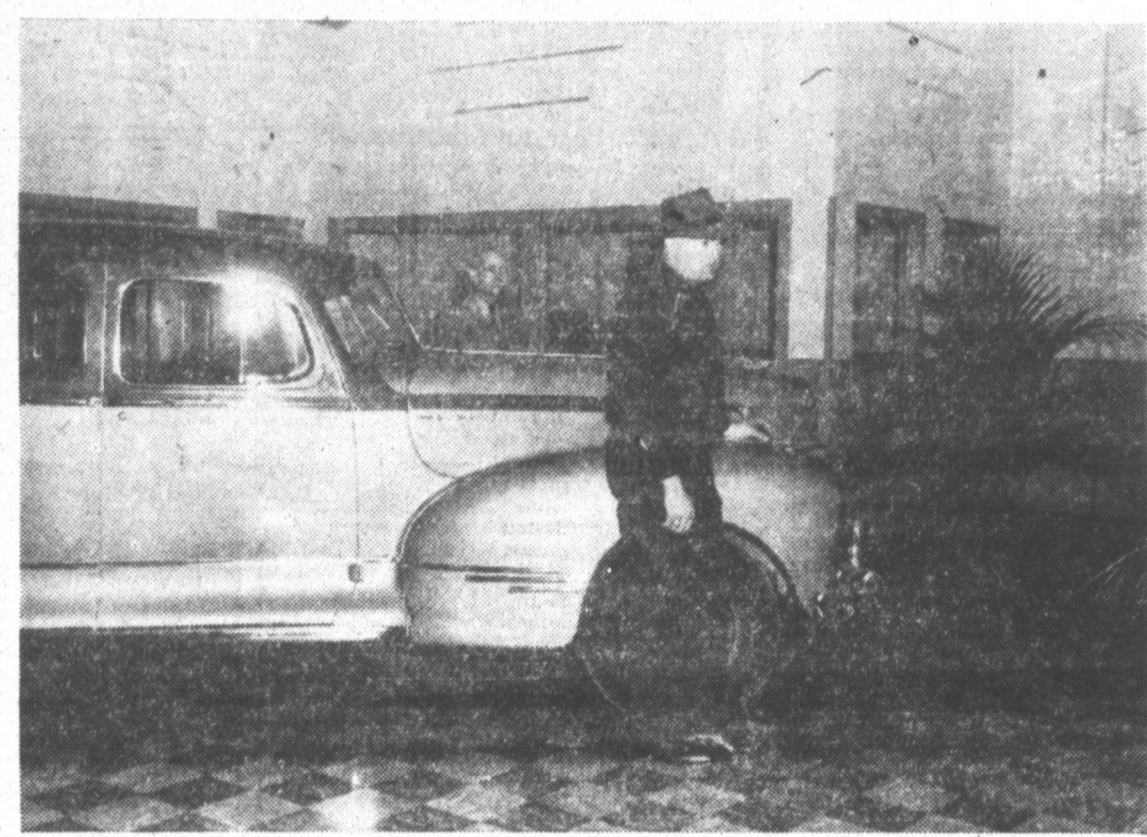

Just look for the traditional Phillips shield at the corner of South Cuyler and Brown—and you'll find them always courteous and willing to serve you the way you want to be served.

Dedication of Service Plaque Is Scheduled

SHAMROCK, March 5 (Special)—A service dedicating the service plaque which was given by the class of 1945, honoring ex-students of the Shamrock high school of world war II, will be held at Clark auditorium, Friday afternoon, March 8, at 3:00 o'clock.

Rev. Hubert Bratner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be the principle speaker. The public is invited to attend.

The new Hudson is here. Shown above is a picture of one of these new automobiles, which can now be seen at the McWilliams Motor company, at 413 South Cuyler street. Starting on the left of the car is Mr. J. C. McWilliams, who operates the agency with Mr. F. M. Outhier. On the back side of the car is George Taylor, who is connected with the newly-established concern. The Pampa Safety Lane, 417 South Cuyler, is also operated jointly by Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Outhier. The Willys Jeep and General tires, as well as parts and services for the two vehicles, are offered at McWilliams.

'Jumbo' Prints Qualls' Special

Operating in a new location, Qualls studio offers you the best in "anything photographic."

An entirely new shop was opened January 2, by Clarence and Sybil Qualls at 454 N. Yeager, and the owners invite the general public to see the new studio, modern in every way. The former location of Qualls studio, which has been in operation in Pampa for the past seven years, was 117 W. Foster.

A new specialty with Qualls is the making of "jumbo" prints. Prints of your favorite snapshots can be made into almost any size.

Here is good news for all kodaking fans! Qualls can give three-day service on all kodak finishing. You don't have to wait, worry and wonder as to the outcome of that most sought after shot.

Qualls is a best "best bet" for portraits, copying, kodak finishing, frames in wood, metal, leather and plastic and kodak supplies.

Drive around today—there is plenty of parking space at the new location, or call 852.

More Royal Typewriters Are Coming on Market; Place Your Order Now at Pampa Office Supply

Those secretaries and stenographers who have "managed" with the old typewriters because they could not get new ones during the war, will be glad to hear that more Royals are coming on the market now. Orders for new Royals, both standard and portable machines, are being taken at the Pampa Office Supply company, and more of them are being delivered.

Other types of machines can be ordered through Pampa Office Supply. There are Shant-Walker files, filing equipment and safes, adding machines, and Speed-o-print duplicators.

Hallmark greeting cards are offered. Among services rendered are letter, monogramming (both matches and stationery of all kinds). Safe combinations are changed, and office machinery, of all kinds is repaired.

Within a few weeks, Pampa Office Supply plans to have about 1000 different Hallmark card designs for all occasions.

Office Supply is operated as a partnership by L. N. Atchison and Lloyd Griffith. The firm has located here since 1930, making almost 16 years of service to this community.

The operators are active in community affairs. Atchison is a past president of the Kiwanis club, member of the chamber of commerce and the Methodist church. Griffith is a member of the Lions club, the Junior chamber of commerce and of the Baptist church.

The business is located at 211 North Cuyler street, telephone 288.

OIL FIELD WORKER

Walter N. Halsey, SSMB2, USNR, husband of Betty Jo Halsey, was discharged Feb. 27 by the U. S. naval personnel separation center, Terminal Island, San Pedro, Calif.

Walter enlisted in the navy in July, 1944 at which time he was employed in the oil fields by the Southern Petroleum Co. He plans to return to his former work.

Franco

The declaration called on "leading patriotic and liberal-minded Spaniards" in effect to bring about a bloodless revolution because of Franco's close ties with the Hitler-Mussolini axis.

Along with the declaration, the United States released 15 hitherto secret documents dug out of German government files. These were designed to show Franco's close and prolonged collaboration with Hitler and Mussolini.

The objective of the German war plans was to capture Gibraltar and strangle Britain's empire lifeline. The project fell through, according to statements which Franco made to Hitler in a letter on Feb. 26, 1941, because Spain was incapable of existing without food imports.

Franco wrote Hitler that he was "entirely and decidedly at your disposal, united in a common historical destiny, desertion from which would mean my suicide and that of the cause which I have led and represent in Spain."

Last night's declaration originally was proposed by the United States government after France had asked for a three-power review of relations with Spain and had closed her Spanish border.

Iranian troops have been prevented by Soviet forces from entering Azerbaijan, a northwestern Iranian province.

Meanwhile, a British foreign office spokesman disclosed that Frank Roberts, British Charge d'Affaires in Moscow, had been instructed to "make inquiries" of the Soviet government concerning Russia's failure to evacuate its troops from Iran by the March 2 deadline previously agreed upon by Britain, Russia and Iran.

SIMPLE ARITHMETIC ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 5.

—(Adv.)—Just how many hoes and chickens, the farmer wanted to know, would the government take in payment of his income tax?

Giles L. Matthews, internal revenue bureau field deputy, explained that the government didn't take livestock for March 15 payments. But, he suggested, the farmer could convert his pigs and poultry into cash "and then come back and see us."

out of control. Before bailing out, Arnold put Ace in barracks' bag and fastened the bag around his neck.

They landed in a ditch near Beda, Holland, where members of the Dutch underground found them. The Dutch patriots hid the airmen and his dog and forged papers identifying Arnold as a student priest, working with the deaf and mute. Ace was part of the disguise.

During the seven months he spent behind German lines Arnold met Miss Bilson and they became engaged.

When allied armies liberated the area, Arnold and Ace were soon on their way back to the United States.

Telling the story as he signed up for another 3 years in the army, Arnold said his terminal leave ended January 1 and that he had been unable to get passage to Europe or strange to have his fiancée come here.

He decided to rejoin the army and go to Europe where his fiancée works for UNRRA. Ace is going along too, for Miss Bilson wrote in a letter he received a week ago, "Don't forget Ace."

Churchill

in the possession of either country all over the world.

Eventually, the eloquent Britisher continued, "there may come the principle of common citizenship, but that we may be content to leave to destiny, whose outstretched arm so many of us can clearly see."

Turning to the atomic bomb, Churchill said that in view of the uncertain world situation, it would be "wrong and imprudent" for the United States, Britain and Canada to confide the secret to the UNO while that agency "is still in its infancy."

"No one in any country," he observed, "has slept less well in their beds because this knowledge and the method and the raw materials to apply it are at present largely retained in American hands."

"I do not believe we should have slept so soundly had the positions been reversed and some communist or neo-fascist state monopolized, for the time being, these dread agencies. The fear of them alone might easily have been used to enforce totalitarian systems upon the free democratic world, with consequences appalling to the human imagination."

The "special relationship" he advocated between the United States and the United Kingdom, Churchill would not be inconsistent with the loyalties of those countries to the United Nations organization. Instead, he went on, it probably would be "the only means by which that organization will achieve its full stature and strength."

The British he said, have a 20-year treaty of collaboration and mutual assistance with Russia and "I agree with Mr. Bevin that it might well be a fifty years treaty." Bevin recently proposed extending the treaty.

Churchill spoke of his "strong admiration and regard for the valiant Russian people and for my wartime comrade, Marshal Stalin."

While he said he understood Russia's need to be secure on her western frontiers from all renewal of German aggression and welcomed her "to her rightful place among the leading nations in the world," he added:

"Warsaw, Berlin, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Bucharest and Sofia, all those famous cities and the millions around them lie in the soviet sphere and all are subject in one form or another, not only to soviet influence but to a very high and increasing measure of control from Moscow."

"Athens alone, with its immortal glories, is free to decide its future at an election under British, American and French observation. The Russian-dominated Polish government has been encouraged to make enormous and wrongful inroads upon Germany, and mass expulsions of millions of Germans on a scale grievous and undreamed-of are now taking place."

gers were attracted to her. It might have been just her pure Irish self (Mickey will be 70 on St. Patrick's Day); or the way in which she spoke straight from the shoulder, or the complete declaration of herself to her religion. Or all together.

For 15 years Mickey hasn't missed a day attending mass at the Holy Souls church, going at 5 a. m. when she operated her cafe on North Frost. She quit her business about a month ago due to poor health. Yesterday Mickey said she felt good. Her feet which had always bothered here were fine; the pains in her chest from high blood pressure had gone. She was on top of the world.

During the apt weeks, and always, numerous friends of Mickey stopped in her little home on West Kingsmill to talk with her. She lived alone. Friends had requested that she stay with them, but Mickey liked her own home.

It was her idea that she go to St. Louis. She has three brothers there, one of whom she hasn't seen from 40-50 years.

Saturday women of the Catholic church had a party for Mickey. About 43 persons were there. It was held at the home of Mrs. McKeenan. Many compliments were paid Mickey in short talks. While Mickey was being praised, she sat there saying at intervals, "well, that's nice."

At that time Father Stack told Mickey and the group that Mickey talked a lot. She talked more than any woman in Pampa. But the beautiful part of it was that most of the time she was talking to the Lord.

When Mickey first came to Pampa she worked in homes of Pampans, cleaning. Some of the people for whom she worked then are her best friends today.

When she went into the cafe business Mickey took care of the meals for those she called the "jail-birds," over in the city jail. One time two men tried to rob her, threatening to hit her over the head with a bottle. They were later arrested, put in jail, police officer told Mickey to just give the men beans and bread to eat. Mickey heaped the plate with things, covering everything with beans and bread.

Another time Mickey was mumbling to herself while preparing plates for those jail-birds. She said they deserved to be in jail, they shouldn't have but one potato. They should only have a bit of meat.

jected the union's arbitration offer did not give any indication when it would answer the union's latest proposal. However, company officials and union leaders were scheduled to resume discussions with special federal mediator James F. Dewey this afternoon.

A declaration by President Truman left the wage issue wide open for 250,000 CIO steelworkers who still were on strike in 700 steel fabricating plants. In a conference with steel fabricators, Mr. Truman said that his recommendation of an 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase applied only to basic steel plants, not to fabricating plants.

The federal conciliation service called today's meeting in Washington in an attempt to settle the wage disputes between the American Telephone and Telegraph company and 17 NPTW local unions. The federation of long lines telephone workers was the only union involved in the session. Negotiations between the A. T. & T. and the long lines union have been deadlocked over union demands for a wage hike of 18 1/2 cents an hour and the company's offer of 15 cents.

NO THANKS LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(AP)—A government agency gave the city school system two carloads of potatoes and Business Manager A. S. Nibecker a headache.

The potatoes came free with the proviso they be served at school cafeterias.

That's all very well says Nibecker, but costs of unloading, peeling and serving the potatoes would overrun the cafeteria's budget.

on a committee of his own choosing. But he starts at the bottom of the list and becomes chairman only if he outlives or outlasts all those who were on the committee before him.

And a man becomes chairman only if his party has a majority in house or senate. Right now democrats have a majority in both houses so all the committee chairmen in both are democrats.

It isn't likely some of the senators are representatives will like to idea, or go along with it.

But since congress' own joint committee says deduction of the committee is the "first test of whether congress is willing to strengthen itself," anything less than that will be just playing around.
