Luther Wiley Seeks to Have Bar Against Negroes' Vote Destroyed; Hidalgo Seeks Probe of Poll Taxes

(By Associated Press)

POLITICAL observers over the state were wondering Tuesday what effect, if any, the negro vote would have on the outcome of the governor's race if state democratic party officials should be restrained from barring negroes from the primary.

Luther H. Wiley, San Antonio negro, brought suit in federal district court at El Paso seeking to destroy the bar against negroes. Bexar county negroes said that the Virginia primary law, similar to the Texas statute, had been held unconstitutional by a United States circuit court.

With Committee

The Texas law gives the state executive committee power to fix qualifications for voters, and the executive committee this year voted 14 to 13 to continue the ban against negroes. Several counties have refrained from enforcing the ban. The McLennan county executive committee voted unanimously today to allow negroes to participate in the primary there.

Another Tuesday development, aside from the usual flood of campaign oratory, was the appearance of a group of representatives of the good government league of Hidalgo county requesting the attorney gen-

Aviation Jinx Follows Youth

Ill-Fortune Which Resulted in Death of Father Hovers Near for Frank Goldsborough, Air Crash Victim

(By Associated Press)

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15.—The aviation jinx which hurled his father to death in the barren wastes of the North Atlantic hovered tonight over the unconscious form of Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old aviator, whose plane crashed into a mountain side east of here yesterday.

The youthful aviator, holder of the junior transcontinental flying record, was in a critical condition at Putnam Memorial hospital suffering from a fractured skull. An all-night search was conducted for him and his plane which now lies in shreds at the side of Woodford mountain.

The ill-fortune which purchased his father, Brice Goldsborough, one of the party in Mrs. Frances Grayson's "The Dawn," lost in 1927, on an attempted trans-Atlantic flight, trailed young Frank yesterday from Buffalo, N. Y. The plane, which was en route to Keene, N. H. With Donald Mockler, lecturer, as a passenger, hurled itself to destruction in a fog-bound forest.

Young Goldsborough lay unconscious amid the wreckage until six o'clock this morning, when searching parties after a fruitless all-night combing of the wilderness came upon the wrecked plane and its victim. Mockler, who was thrown clear of the wreckage, brought news of the accident to a farm house near here. He had struggled in vain to pull his companion from the plane and then wandered through thick underbrush for hours before he found help.

Doctors Puzzled By Poison Malady When Three Children Die

(By Associated Press)

NEWTON, N. J., July 15. — With three of his children dead, and his wife and a fourth child in a critical condition, Wilburt Stanton tonight was waging a losing fight for life against a poison which puzzles doctors.

The children, Elizabeth 13, Fanny 12, and Alice 4, died today shortly after being stricken. Mrs. Stanton and William Cortwright, a stepchild two years old, also are suffering from the ailment, but are expected to live through the night.

Found Family Dying

Returning to his farm yesterday in agony, Stanton failed to arouse his family. He dragged himself into the house and found his wife and children near death.

The farmer crawled to the main road which runs past his house and was found by a passing motorist who summoned Dr. Lamar Voorhees. By the time the doctor arrived, the three children were dead. Dr. Lamar called two other physicians and together they labored to save the remaining three.

Sunday the family went on a picnic, taking with them sandwiches made of preserved meats. On their way home they stopped at a stand and ate some ice cream.

It has not been determined whether these foods caused the illness.

Lubbock Child Badly Injured In Auto Crash

Theron Lee, Three Years Old, Suffers Cuts and Bruises About Head When Two Cars Collide Here Tuesday

Theron Lee, three and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lee of 1608 Avenue E, suffered severe cuts and bruises about his head when thrown from the family automobile when it crashed at Sixteenth and Avenue H Tuesday afternoon with another car driven by Walter L. McDill, 1609 Ninth street.

Mrs. Lee was badly shaken up but she was not seriously hurt. She was taken with her son to the West Texas Hospital for treatment but was discharged later in the afternoon.

Last night at the hospital it was said that the boy had no broken bones but that he suffered severe cuts about the head. He was resting well at a late hour. Theron was thrown clear of the car onto the pavement by the impact of the two cars.

Mr. McDill was alone in his car and Mrs. Lee and her son were in their car. Mr. McDill was able to go to his home.

A Bynum brothers ambulance was called and the injured taken to the hospital. The crash occurred about 3 o'clock.

TO OPEN HIGHWAY

Stretch of Paving to Slaton Will Be Ready Soon

Several more miles of paving on Highway 7 between Slaton and Posey will be opened to traffic within the next two or three weeks, barring unexpected delays, according to Robert H. Bean, county judge.

At present the paving north from Slaton is open for about two miles and another stretch north of Posey for the same distance is also open to traffic.

The slab in between these two points is now completed, it is reported. As soon as the necessary 21 days for "setting" is completed, the road will be thrown open.

Work is now being started on the slab between Posey and Lubbock.

Mob Faces Charges

Negroes Make No Attempt to Return After Being Driven from Homes by Mob of 300 Men Saturday Night

(By Associated Press)

ERICK, Okla., July 15.—The racial situation which developed here Saturday night when a mob, incensed at the murder of Mrs. Henry Vaughn of near Shamrock, Texas, drove more than 250 negroes from their homes in southeastern Beckham county, continued tense tonight.

Reports here were to the effect that Jesse Lee Washington, negro, alleged to have attacked and killed Mrs. Vaughn, former Erick citizen, was being taken from the state reformatory at Granite to Wheeler, Texas, about ten miles north of Shamrock and about 40 miles from here.

Relatives Leave

Frank Tackett, father of the dead woman, Leo Rosson, a brother-in-law, and a number of Erick citizens were reported to have left for Wheeler.

Although feeling was at a high ebb here as county and state officials interviewed citizens who were believed to have been in the mob, the situation was not so acute as to warrant the calling of national guardsmen.

Action Not Approved

Erick business men met today in a special session and refused to approve the mob's action or sign petitions providing negroes should not be permitted to live in this section in the future.

Meanwhile, the negroes, all of whom were visited Saturday night by a group of 300 men and told to leave the vicinity immediately, had made no attempt to return.

County officers discussed the probable filing of charges against the mob leaders. M. L. Inman, acting sheriff said that names of those who took part in the affair were known, but that it had not been decided what charges should be filed against them.

Five Bandits Resemble James Gang in Shooting Up Town; $50,000 Loot Taken and 2 Women Shot; One May Die

(By Associated Press)

WILLMAR, Minn., July 15.—Five machine gun bandits, moving swiftly in a well-planned raid, descended on the bank of Willmar today, shot up the town in a fashion reminiscent of the James gang, wounded two women, one probably fatally, and escaped with $50,000 after exchanging shots with citizens.

Although it was estimated that more than 100 shots were fired by the bandits the only casualties were the two women—mother and daughter—who were shot down in the final burst of wild firing as the robbers sped out of town. Windshields in several automobiles were shot out in the fusillade and windows shattered in buildings adjacent to the bank.

Investigate Robbery

Agents of the state bureau of criminal apprehension were investigating the robbery tonight while sheriffs through the state and in Iowa and South Dakota were asked to patrol the highways in an effort to apprehend the gunmen whose raid was one of the most spectacular in the northwest.

Despite the close watch kept on the roads no trace of the bandits had been found tonight. They fled southward and none of the citizenry attempted pursuit although several sped their departure with shotgun and revolver fire. The driver of the

Valuations In County Reveal Million Boost

Total for Taxation Purposes Is $25,156,000, According to A. B. Ellis, Lubbock County Tax Collector Tuesday

Valuations of Lubbock county for taxation purposes show an increase of $1,144,740 over the 1929 figures, A. B. Ellis, county assessor, declared yesterday in announcing the 1930 figures as 125,156,810.

"These figures are preliminary, but I do not think the additional gain will be over $5,000 or $6,000" he added.

Average Million a Year

"Our records show that since the Santa Fe railroad came here, in 1919, we have averages a million dollars a year in increased valuations. We looked up the 1910 valuations here in the office the other day and found they amounted to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 as I recall it."

The 1929 valuations were $25,012,070, Mr. Ellis said. For 1928 the figures were $22,092,101, showing a gain for 1929 over 1928 of $1,919,969. For 1927 the totals were $20,804,737, a gain of $1,287,364 for 1928 over 1927.

Four Contacts With Refueling Ships Precede Start

(By Associated Press)

VALLEY STREEM, N. Y., July 15. Having received gallons of gasoline in long-drawn-out fueling operations, the monoplane "K" of New Haven headed southward tonight on the first leg of a non-stop, refueling flight to Buenos Aires. The "K" had hopped off from Roosevelt Field at 3:24 p. m. (EST) with a light load of gasoline, which was increased over this field by four contacts with a refueling ship.

The last contact was made in the gathering darkness as the planes moved away from the field and were lost to sight. The refueling plane then headed back to this field, but was forced to descend in New Jersey for a new supply of gasoline. Until it returned here, field officials were not certain that the "K" had at last gotten under way. R. W. Mackie, the supply ship's pilot, told them, however, that when he last saw the "K" it was speeding southward.

Ask Fourth Contact

Although the "K" crew had planned to take only three loads of gasoline from the refueling ship here, so much time was consumed in the operations they were forced to ask for the fourth contact which was made at 7:20 p. m. (EST.)

The ship had 125 gallons of fuel in its tanks when it left Roosevelt Field, making a total of 550 gallons taken on for the jump to Havana, second refueling point on the "K's" schedule.

Highway Nine Will Be Made Mile Shorter

Route Between Lubbock and Tahoka to Be Changed When Bids for Grading and Drainage Are Opened This Month

State Highway No. 9 between Lubbock and Tahoka will be shortened about a mile or so by the new route when the bids for the grading and drainage in Lubbock county are opened by the state highway department at its July letting, Judge Robert H. Bean, county judge, explained yesterday afternoon.

"The distance to be saved will not be in Lubbock count, but in Lynn county," he explained. "The new route south of Woodrow school will go to the west instead of the east, avoiding that unhandy detour. It will cross the county line into Lynn at a point that will save more than a mile of road in that country."

Distance of the contracts to be let when the board meets about July 30 and 31 and August 1, will be approximately 30 miles. Of this, 16 1-2 miles will be between Lubbock and Abernathy and 13 1-2 between Lubbock and Lynn county.

North of Lubbock there will be a change in the route that will call for an underpass in about section 33, sending the road west of the Santa Fe tracks there instead of at Monroe.

The present route north from Lubbock for about six or eight miles will be used, Judge Bean said. Then the highway will be sent underneath the railroad and will go directly north until just a short distance south of Abernathy. There it will swing west to join with the present Hale county paving, now completed to the Lubbock county line.

WITH selection of R. J. Murray, of Lubbock, as district chairman, the membership campaign of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association in the 48 counties of district two was launched here Tuesday afternoon.

Thirty days time will probably be required to complete the campaign, according to Lawrence Westbrook, organization director of the Texas association, as considerable educational work is to be done prior to active solicitation for members. Herman Dieterich is the director in charge of the campaign for the district and will have active charge of workers and details.

Final Number of Tech College Artist Course Presented Here Tuesday Night

APPEARING as the final number of the Tech artists course during the summer term, the "Light Opera Mirror" was presented at the college gymnasium last evening before an audience which, although smaller than usual, was quite enthusiastic.

The main part of the program was a rendition of Balfe's "Bohemian Girl", which was sung in costume.

Mary Krakowski, soprano, had the part of "Arline"; the tenor part, "Thaddeus" was sung by Henry Phillips; Alma King was in the role of "Queen of the Gypsies"; "Devilshoff", baritone, was sung by Ralph Henry Steffen, who also took the part of "Count Arnheim." Magdalena Maseman was the pianist.

Encores Are Numerous

The opera was well presented and just as well received by the audience who called them back for bows time after time.

The second part of the program consisted of solos and quartets selected from world famous selections, including "Allah's Holiday" (Brihmi); "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", (Victor Herbert); "Ave Maria" (Gounod) and "Thanks Be to God,55 by Dixon.

Miss King sang "I Love Life" and "Alleluia" (Mozart.) and Miss Krokowiski sang two soprano solos.

Fourteen-Year-Old Youth Kills Maid Because "All Women Are Like Cats"

(By Associated Press)

MORRISTOWN, N. J. July 15. —Unmoved at his predicament and apparently showing no alarm, 14-year-old Robert Woolsey was held without bail today when arraigned on a charge of stabbing to death Miss Anna Miller, 23, his mother's maid.

Willingly, and almost gleefully, young Woolsey re-enacted the murder for police today, describing in minute detail his movements as he plunged his hunting knife into the maid's back as she stood on Lookout mountain, near Green Pond, Saturday night.

Women Like Cats

He interrupted his description at one interval to tell the officers that he did not like women. "They are all like cats," he said.

Woolsey had gone walking with Miss Miller from his parent's summer home when, he said, he felt a sudden desire to kill her.

Suddenly he plunged his knife into her back, then pursued her, when she ran, stabbing her again and again.

Then threw his weapon away and dragged the body down a steep cliff and attempted to conceal it beneath two boulders. Flight entered his mind, and he hid all night in a lumber yard, continuing on his way in the morning.

Headquarters Of Local Gas Firm Modern

General Offices of West Texas Gas Company and South Plains Pipe Line Firm Are Located in New Building

General offices of the West Texas Gas company, and the South Plains Pipe Line company, located at Tenth and Avenue K, are said to be in one of the most modern office buildings on the south plains. The pipe line offices were only recently moved to this city.

The structure covers half a block, with two spacious offices on the ground floor, one for the gas company on the west side and the other for the pipe line company on the east side.

Simplicity Featured

Built of light colored face brick, with panels of corresponding colors, the structure is remarkable for its simplicity and beauty of exterior construction.

The offices on the first floor are designed to give the most efficient operation possible, with ample space for necessary equipment to handle the many details of customer's accounts.

Arches overhang the long counter across the big room. Lines and angles of decoration carry out further the modernistic design and the same motif is expressed in the straight hanging, squared toned lighting fixtures. Soft toned colors of the ceiling and walls complete the effect.

Outside doors are of metal with straight panels of plate glass. Interior doors in the hall also are with plate glass panels.

Entrance Latest Design

The entrance hall to the stairway is of the latest design. Tile is used in the floors, walls and stairs, a satin tan banded with black following the contour of the stair halves into the ivory of the interior finish.

Steel stairs have a geometrical designs.

The entire second floor is occupied by the general offices of the gas company. On the east side are the accounting and purchasing departments, the addressograph room and the material room. On the west side the engineering, sales and operating departments and the industrial engineer as well as the executive offices are located.

Thrilling Scenes in Evacuation of Rhineland

DECISION UPHELD

Marriage Phases of Case Are Not Considered

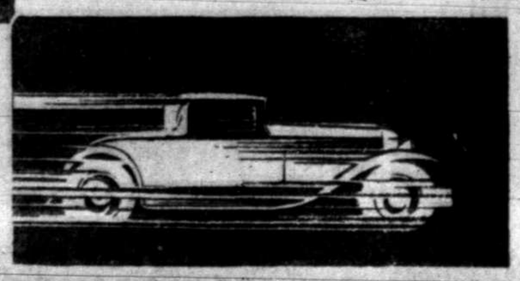

ABILENE, July 15. (AP)—The board of education at its monthly meeting today upheld decision of Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs in a marriage case from Navarro county, without, however, dealing with the marriage phases of the case.

The case was that of Mrs. Mary Ruth Hollida Bennett, whose contract was broken at the Union rural high school in Navarro county because she was married while teaching. Superintendent Marrs sustained the local board's action in dismissing her, because Mrs. Bennett did not file her appeal within thirty days.

Chicago Again Faces Crisis

Financial Situation Among 10,000 Public School Teachers Acute; Pay Checks Are Three Weeks Overdue

CHICAGO, July 16. (AP)—The financial situation among Chicago's 13,000 public school teachers is once more acute.

The dire days of last winter have been paralleled. It is vacation time and pay checks are three weeks overdue.

The recent special relief session of the legislature authorized the school board to issue $25,000,000 in bonds for emergency purposes but board members, after a fruitless session yesterday, said bankers would not take the bonds without a court ruling, in lieu of a referendum.

To date the back pay amounts to $6,500,000. The board has for sale $13,000,000 in tax warrants, but they are unable to market these until the 1928 and 1929 warrants are redeemed.

Many school teachers are facing actual poverty. One, with $275 in back pay due her, told Lewis E. Meyers, school board member, that she had only 75 cents. That was yesterday.

Dr. Horn Will Present Tech Needs of Funds

Claims for Financial Help During Next Biennium Will Be Given to State Board of Education Today

Claims of Texas Technological college for financial support for the coming biennium, amounting to $3,345,430, will be presented the state board of education today in Austin by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the school. The president will hand to the board an itemized budget of the expected expenditures and needs of the local institution for the next two years.

Members of the board, of which Tom W. Garrard of this city is a new member, will consider the request of Dr. Horn and of executives of other state institutions and will then make its recommendations of the state board of control.

For 1931-1932, the school is expected to need $1,750,865 and for the following year, $1,585,565. These figures are a minimum for building and maintenance.

Representing a 12 1-2 per cent increase over the enrollment of 1928-29, a total of 2,353 students were registered at Texas Tech during the 1929-30 season. The appropriations for the latter season were $40,000 less than for 1928-29.

"Texas Technological college has grown beyond the point of adequate appropriations," Dr. Horn stated in discussing the situation. "There is now an emphasized need for greater financial support. We have an able faculty but we are now confronted with the problem of paying ample salaries. Recent resignations of faculty members have pronounced the salary needs.

"It is believed that the Board of Control will consider recommending appropriations in a lump sum rather than the former plan of itemizing expenditures. Such a system would make it possible to pay better salaries, perhaps."

A New Champion Is Crowned

Folks, meet the world's champion tree sitter. Ten-year-old Jimmie Clemons, above, won the title and also $13.67 prize money contributed by friends and neighbors in Racine, Wis. when he stuck it out for 34 hours and 13 minutes in his backyard. The Chicago endurance flyers gave him the idea. Above is Jimmie in his leafy perch and, left, Jimmie's "refueling crew" hoisting soda pop and sandwiches to him by means of the family clothesline which was borrowed for the purpose.

Edgar E. Witt Campaigns In City Tuesday

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor Brings Personal Campaign Here; No Speech Made During Visit

Lubbock was the host yesterday to a candidate for a state office who came here not to make an address but to greet friends and to do a personal campaign for office. The candidate was State Senator Edgar E. Witt, who is seeking the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Senator Witt spent several hours here enroute to San Angelo and San Antonio where he is to bring to a close his campaign. The senator came here from Wichita Falls, Quanah, Vernon and Amarillo.

Watched Growth

"I have watched with much interest the development of the Panhandle and the South Plains sections," Senator Witt commented. "I have taken a particular interest in the state's educational institutions located in this section of Texas. In the senate I always supported wholeheartedly liberal appropriations for both Texas Technological college and West Texas State Teachers college. I voted for the establishment of Texas Tech here and have always given this institution with its wonderful growth, my wholehearted support.

"Personally, I was glad to aid Senator Small in the last session of the Texas legislature in the passing of his river bed bills and I followed him in voting for those bills and in passing them over Governor Moody's veto. I thought these bills were but common honesty. They simply required the state to do justice by the purchasers of its lands as the state requires individuals to do towards each other. I also supported the resolution sent to congress asking that body to place a duty on oil."

While in Lubbock Senator Witt called on his cousin, M. E. Witt, member of the faculty of Lubbock High school.

Five Men Die In Mine Smoke

Miners Trapped in Shaft as Forest Fires Fill Underground Chamber with Smoke; Victims Overcome.

SACREMENTO, Cal., July 15. (AP)—Five miners died of suffocation from smoke swirled through the Glenn gold mine as the surface buildings and surrounding forest were destroyed by fire yesterday.

The victims were James Campini, Placerville; E. C. Shepherd, Roseville, G. B. Henry, Sacremento; Joseph Shearer, Grass Valley, and Tom Capitan, address unknown.

The mine ordinarily employs seven miners, two not being on duty.

Flames Spread

The cook house of the mine, 85 miles east of here, caught fire, the flames spreading to other buildings and destroying the compressor which supplied air to the shaft.

Smoke rushed into the mine drifts which run into the second level with the surface.

The five men were working on the higher of two levels when the fire started. Rescuers at once attempted to enter the shafts but before they could do so the smoke rushed from the lower level, indicating the entire underground working had been filled with the fumes.

Miners Overcome

The trapped miners attempted to escape to the surface, but were overcome.

When rescuers entered the smoke filled doggings they found the five bodies on the lower level of a 3,000 foot tunnel.

The fire spread to the surrounding forest after destroying the cookhouse, machine shop, compressor room, and other structures.

Fifteen men placed the forest fire under control.

Lubbock Is Host to Egyptian Prince Tuesday; Complimentary Dinner Held

Lubbock was host yesterday to a prince of Egypt when fellow country-men of Emir Adil Arslan, tended him a complimentary dinner in the Hotel Hilton at noon.

The Emir gave his audience an outline of economic and social conditions today in Egypt and the near east. Scion of a royal family that traces its lineage to before the time Christ, the prince is an observer who speaks with authority on present day conditions.

On U. S. Tour

He arrived Monday afternoon from New York City, after spending several months on a tour touched many of the more important towns of the east and middle west. He has been in the United States for three months and will go from here to Mexico. He plans to return to Egypt in about a month.

With Prince Arslan is an aide and companion, one Tsia Bandek, editor and publisher of The Lawt-Ashaal News, Jerusalem, and member of the Arab executive committee. The purpose of the American tour, as explained by the Prince and M. Bandek, is to acquaint their fellow countrymen in the United States with the threatening political, economic, and social conditions of Egypt and Assyria. The party leaves Lubbock today for the Mexican border for an extensive tour of that country.

He's Regular Fellow

An interview with the Prince in his suite at the Hilton Hotel revealed that the royal personage is a human being, highly cultured, good to look at, possesses a sense of humor, wears well-cut American clothes, smokes a popular brand of American cigaret, wears no jewelry, prefers Lubbock to New York City, can't figure out Texas weather and time tables, and would make a great tackle on anybody's football team.

The Prince, who has played an important part in Eastern politics and warfare, having been a noted leader in the Arab revolution of 1925 against the French, complained of the hot weather in the United States, praised Lubbock for its beauty and progressiveness, discussed the stock market crash, spoke volubly in his native tongue to a group of friends who brought the interview to an end, and likes the fast life of America.

Likes Football

"And what is your favorite sport?" inquired the interviewer.

"Ilshu-shikros akhnotzka kolay lut lot angli amen oaky woo how," said His Royal Highness, and the interviewer wrote down football. Prince Arslan confessed that American life eclipsed that of Palestine in speed and color, but that there were fewer flappers in the old country, and the climate there is preferable with definite changes of temperature.

In speaking of the educational systems of his country, the Prince stated that the question of getting an education was no longer hard to solve, if ambition and willingness were present in those seeking such. Several large universities, including an American university with an enrollment of some 2,300 students were within reach of all so inclined.

Editor Explains Tour

Tsia Bandek, who travels with H. R. H., and who owns and operates one of the leading newspapers of Jerusalem, explained the nature of the excursion, adding that it was their first tour of the country, and that much pleasure and knowledge was being gained as a result of their trip. For the benefit of the interviewer, he explained in detail the conditions, past and present, existing in The Holy Land, some of which appear to indicate trouble ahead. By diplomatic actions, however, he hopes that such trouble, if any, will be subdued even before it begins. He spoke of the present decline in the American business world, and hinted of bolshevism if a solution were not found.

Holding himself in check most of the way, the Prince became talkative to the point of being loquacious when a group of friends sought his attention and the interview was summarily brought to an end.

Modern Method Lift Them Out

CORNS

Callouses Go Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further thru the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Bowen's Drug Store, Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy and City Drug Stores or any drug store. Adv.

ANOTHER VICTORY

FOR THIS REGULAR STOCK MOTOR OIL!

CLOSE ON THE HEELS OF ITS ACCOMPLISHMENT AT INDIANAPOLIS MAY 30, CONOCO WINS 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH PLACES AT ALTOONA AT BETTER THAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR!

Frank Farmer, in a Miller Special, "placed" third with an average speed of 102.2 miles per hour. "Shorty" Cantlon, in a Miller-Schofield Special, was fourth with 101.5 miles per hour. "Speed" Gardner was fifth in a Miller Front Drive Special. All three used CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this convincing demonstration of the qualities of this regular "stock" motor oil. At Altoona, as at Indianapolis, this was the first time that a stock oil had placed so high in the finish of the race.

The story of the Altoona race cannot be told without reference to the accomplishment of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil at Indianapolis. For it was in that 500-mile classic that the stamina of this new oil was impressed on the racing fraternity. After observers had seen the oil at the close of the Indianapolis race; after they had observed its full body and good color as it came from Dave Evans' motor, the word went out that CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil had displayed the qualities necessary to solve the lubrication problems of racing motors. CONOCO had earned the respect of this most skeptical group—and earned it fairly.

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

The Contest Board of the AAA took all the necessary precautions to make sure that the oil used was the regular CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.
CERTIFIED TEST No. 2355

In view of the Indianapolis results, it was only natural for a majority of the drivers at Altoona to choose CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil for America's fastest competitive race.

And as these cars whizzed around the boards at Altoona on June 14th, CONOCO again proved its worth in a field previously dominated by castor blends—a field which other stock oils have repeatedly tried to enter without success!

So chalk up another victory for CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, close on the heels of Indianapolis . . . a victory won with the same stock Germ-Processed oil that you can buy at any Red Triangle station.

These CONOCO victories have a definite meaning to every one who drives a car. They substantiate every claim that was made for it when the oil was introduced last November.

You can experience the safety and economy of this oil by stopping at the next Red Triangle Station and asking for:

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Now I pray to God that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.

For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.—II Corinthians, xiii, 7, 8.

THE OBSTRUCTIONIST

SINCE the beginning of human history, recorded and unrecorded, there have been members of every community who have stood in the way of progress, some for selfish reasons, others because of lack of vision. Their part in life seems to be throwing the wrench into the machinery.

All great builders, whether of empire, magnificent cities or large institutions, have had to overcome obstacles created by the visionless. Railroads, steamships, automobiles, airplanes, telephones and all the other gifts of inventive and industrial genius to mail were depreciated and retarded by these four-wheel brakes of progress.

Obstructionists and reactionaries play havoc with community progress. Given the opportunity, they tear down faster than others can build. They resist every forward step, often just for the sake of going on record as being an objector. Though they are ignorant, by the knowing, the harm they do is considerable and too often underestimated.

That man is not a good citizen who opposes a necessary public improvement because it does not directly increase the value of his property. That man is not a good citizen who locks the doors of his community to new industries because they compel him to meet a higher wage level that aids the entire community. That man is not a good citizen who prefers to aid out-of-town business and industry. That man is not an asset to his home town who is blind to all but its blemishes.

Lubbock and the South Plains have been extremely fortunate in having few obstructionists. To say so is unnecessary, for the record of the section is conclusive proof of the statement.

But there is an old saying, "In Time of Peace, Prepare For War," which might be revamped to fit this particular occasion. While we are happily short on obstructionists now, it is well to look ahead and insure keeping up the walls against those who would fight progress and development of the needed type.

There is no room for the obstructionists in this country, for there is too much work to be done.

Let's keep them out—not by force but by educating them to see the light as this great territory pushes ahead.

RICHES ALSO

For three weeks and two days the Hunter boys were heroes-on-the-make as they flew their second-hand plane.

They knew that each minute in the air was bringing them substantial reward. One firm was paying $100 per hour for every hour above the old endurance record, and another $1 per minute.

Offers of cold cash to exhibit the plane, to appear in motion pictures, on the stage, at oil company station, poured in on them, and were transmitted by the refueling plane to the endurance fliers.

They knew what they were getting. Not one of them made any secret of the fact that they expected to cash in heavily.

Was this heroism, bought and paid for? The public didn't think so. Not only did the world at large take it for granted that the boys would make money, but it took a positive pride in the amount of money they were making.

Ways have changed. Amateurism isn't the glory it used to be. The public mind was easy to read. It felt that the fliers were not only heroes because they stayed in the air for 553 hours, but also because in doing so they put themselves on the way to riches.

It was all part of the stunt. We liked to see the Hunter boys stay up, and we liked to see them getting rich. Maybe it was grass materialism—but then again maybe it was a sense of poetic justice.

The very many loaves of bread the Hunter boys can buy with their rewards make up, in a way, for the heroes of less liberal generations, who have more than once asked for bread in vain.

A physician says that most of the world's work is done by morons. We did not realize before that they were such useful members of society.

If one borrows money it is better to be a nation than an individual. A nation is given more time in which to pay.

"Come! come! get from under foot," said an irritable local parent the other morning to his small son. "You're worse'n Hiram Johnson."

George Godfrey says Carnera is not a powerful puncher. On the fact of the record, though, he can lean pretty hard.

HOOVER'S ANTI-CRIME COMMISSION, WITH SPECIFIC PURPOSE IN MIND, SEEN AS TOO "HIGH CLASS" BY STEWART

By Charles P. Stewart
Central Press Staff Writer)

ASHINGTON, July 15.—The real trouble with President Hoover's anti-crime commission is peculiar:

It is altogether too high class a commission for its job.

Its members are:

Chairman, ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham, one of the greatest lawyers in the world; Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet; Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, (Va.), and Monte M. Lemann, of New Orleans, deeply versed in corporation legal lore; Judges William I. Grubb, William S. Kenyon and Paul J. McCormick of the federal bench and, of course lawyers par excellence! Judge Kenneth Mackintosh of the Washington state supreme court; Frank J. Loesch, another distinguished lawyer and head of Chicago's crime commission; Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard law school, and President Ada L. Comstock of Radcliffe college, a famous educator.

A regular galaxy of talent!—and yet, what do these 11 know about crime?—with the exception, to be sure, of Frank Loesch—and even he can hardly be said to have solved the crime problem, if conditions in his home town of Chicago are to be accepted as any criterion.

"Great lawyers!—certainly," as Representative Tom D. McKeown, of Oklahoma said, discussing the commission just before congress adjourned, "but entirely inexperienced in criminal law."

It happens that I am on pretty good terms with some of that commission. I believe I could get them to testify that I have taken more than the average newspaperman's sympathetic interest in the commission's work.

I know they would testify also that I have said from the first, to themselves, that their study of crime seems to me almost purely theoretical.

Again and again I have asked them what they are trying to do.

The answer, to substance, is always the same.

They consider that the commission is founding a science.

This complex explains what is complained of as the investigation's secrecy.

Its secrecy was referred to by Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, about the same time that Representative McKeown expressed himself. The senator insisted that public hearings were essential, if the inquiry ever is to be made anything of a success.

Naturally; publicity, and a lot of it, is the breath of life to such an investigation—if it is to be popularized.

But popularity is not the commission's object; its aim is scientific.

I have talked over the advantages of publicity, versus secrecy, with members of the commission, too.

They are not trying to keep anything dark.

They say simply that they have not progressed far enough yet to have any conclusions to make public.

To be strictly exact, they have given out what they call a partial report, but it was extracted from them under severe congressional pressure and much against the commission's will, because, as was unofficially explained, its researches thus far have been insufficient to justify even a partial report.

Chairman Wickersham has also made a few suggestions, but only tentatively; as he is not ready to say much.

There honestly is no use in trying to get information out of the anti-crime commissioners.

They have nothing to tell; maybe they never will have.

Their idea is that they are doing only the very preliminary spade work for a scientific edifice which others will have to go on building into the indefinite future; a task in fact, which never will be completed, and more than a research toiler ever can make a final report on all the possibilities of biology or chemistry.

Indeed, they speculate concerning the type of bureau to which they ultimately will have to turn over their task when they believe that they have given it a fair start.

It is from differences of opinion relative to the undertaking's purposes that so much argument arises.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, who thought of it first, meant it to be a prohibition inquiry exclusively and wanted speedy action. Other lawmakers expanded it into a general crime inquiry, but even they looked for something definite in a matter of months at most.

The members of the commission itself visualize it as extending onward throughout a series of generations.

The vitality of a commission, once started, is wonderful.

TROUBLE WITH EYE I SOFTEN DUE T OIN-FECTED TEETH OR TONSILS

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

For at least twenty years the interest of medicine has been centered particularly upon the possibility that infections in the teeth, tonsils, joints and in other places—so-called focal infections—may be carried to the eye, the heart, the brain, the spinal cord, or other parts and there new infections be set up. Of particular interest is the manner in which the eye may become infected in this manner.

Recently Dr. A. P. MacCallan of London has described various types of disorders of the eye which were relieved by the recognition of such an infection and by its removal. Of particular interest were certain cases in which the eyes were constantly filled with fluid or tears—a symptom called lacrimation.

A woman 32 years old whose eyes were always watering was found to have a considerable number of badly infected teeth. No other cause for such a disturbance of the eye could be ascertained. When the tooth condition was cleared up, the eye condition cleared up promptly, the result may have been coincidence, but it is reasonable to believe that the might also be a cause and effect relationship.

Inflamation of the eyelids its quite frequently associated with the presence of enlarged and infected tonsils. Sometimes these conditions are treated by lotions and ointments and by the provision of glasses and they will seem to improve temporarily, but the improvement will not be permanent until the infected teeth and tonsils are removed.

The most serious of the types of infection are ulcers of the eye which quite frequently are associated with infections in the mouth. In the presence of ulceration with a severe infection of the mouth, it is advisable that the dental treatment be immediate, since every moment of delay may take the condition more serious.

There are of course, certain forms of disorders of the eye which are apparently in no way related to focal infection: for example, cataracts. In an attempt to handle this condition numerous cases have been studied in which every possible foci of infection have been relieved and yet the cataracts did not improve nor was their development delayed.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MORLEY, a lovely girl whose mind has been a blank ever since ALAN STEYNE, her lover, disappeared seven years ago. Steyne returns and she fails to recognize him. Meanwhile, he and Judith fall in love, and he tells Judith that he never loved Chummy and never knew Chummy loved him. Then, abruptly, Chummy's memory returns. Feeling obligated because of her years of suffering, Steyne asks her to marry him. Judith, meanwhile, has aroused the infatuation of BRUCE GIDEON, rich financier, who offers to star her in a musical show. She refuses, at first, but accepts when she feels that it will take her out of the way of Steyne and Chummy. She dances for GUARVENIUS, the famous teacher whom Gideon has selected as her instructor, and impresses him greatly with her latent talent.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

Briefly, Guarvenius told Judy that he would be delighted to train her. He spoke of money himself, and that he would take no fee until she was ready and had made her debut. He was as kind as he could be. He said that she showed great promise, but of course she had everything to learn. She must be prepared to work very hard and to give up everything to the demands of her art.

She mentioned her livelihood as a model, and he answered that although he would have preferred her to do nothing, still it was as harmless an occupation as she could follow, provided she did not get overtired. It would help to preserve the plasticity of her body. He quite understood her position. He hoped she would take every opportunity of watching fine dancing.

At the end he told her, with a little chuckle, that she could not always expect such music as she had danced to today. Perhaps she did not know that the young man was Gregor Gosstelvitch. Judy was deeply abashed as he pronounced the name of the greatest living pianist.

Altogether she was so overwrought that when all the arrangements had been made for her first lesson, her little face puckered up like a child's, and she burst into a tempest of tears. Guarvenius, familiar with the artistic temperament, let her cry.

The famous teacher and the young musician took their leave shortly afterward. Gideon insisted on Judy drinking a cup of tea.

"You are worn out," he said. "You don't know it, but you were simply immense. You will be a divine dancer!"

"I thought I was very bad," she faltered. "I was terribly frightened. I thought I had disgusted him."

"He never says much," Gideon replied. "He said all sorts of things to me. And, you see, he has taken you on. That is everything."

They sat in another beautiful room, dark, like the others, and with three or four priceless old masters on the walls. The dominant color was a strong blue.

Judy drank three cups of tea, but she could eat nothing; and as soon as she had finished she rose to go.

Gideon accompanied her to the door. As he opened it, he was behind her. She felt him draw nearer, and the next moment he had taken her hand and was holding it to his lips.

"You little witch!" he murmured.

She snatched her hand away as if his kiss had been a poisonous sting.

Gideon's pale eyes were ugly just for a second as he looked into Judy's red, furious face, and the thin, bad-tempered line of his mouth was malicious.

"How dare you?" she gasped. "How dare you do that? I hate you. I'll never speak to you again!"

She rubbed her hand violently where his lips had touched it. His face cleared, and he smiled at her in a humbly deprecatory way.

"It was only an act of homage," he said. "Do believe me. I was carried away by your art."

"Then I don't like it," she said. "Please understand that. I've seen a lot of life, and I know what men mean when they offer girls help. Well, I don't want any of your help. I've fixed it all up with Mr. What's-his-name."

"I know," said Gideon, more humble still. "I beg your pardon. It was unwarrantable. I want you above all things to trust me."

"That's not the way to go about it, then!"

"I know. And I shall never forgive myself if I lose your friendship. I will never offend again, I promise you." He was almost comic in his

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"We've always lived near the water. Their father was a seafaring man."

Letters to the Editor

SEMINOLE, Texas, July 15, 1930.

The present is supposed to be the progressive age, and the time has come for the division of the vast area of the State of Texas into five states, leaving Austin to be the Capitol of the portion to retain the name of Texas, the City of Dallas to be the Capitol of another portion, the city of Houston, to be the Capitol of portion, the City of Lubbock to be the Capitol of another portion, and the City of San Angelo, to be the Capitol of another portion. But for the splendid public buildings at the City of Austin, San Antonio would be the proper place for the portion to retain the name of Texas. Of course spontaneous sentiment will oppose such a project, but practical people have learned that sentiment is a bad guide. When Texas was annexed, provision was made for the division of the territory into several separate states, and no barriers exist to prevent such a result. If the territory of the present State of Texas was divided into several states each of such states would have two United States senators, whereas it now has but two such senators. The present State of Texas has a population of approximately six million people, and it is rapidly increasing, and as no state can have more than two United States senators, the present State of Texas is not at all fairly represented in congress. Of course all manner of conflicts would necessarily arise over the divisions to be made of the area, and the dividing lines between the respective new states, as also the conflicts between existing cities in the area of the new states as which should be selected as the capitol of such state, but all such matters are capable of being adjusted, and must be adjusted fairly. The existing indebtedness of the present state must be apportioned against the new states, as also the accumulated public school funds and unsold public school lands must be properly apportioned among the respective new states, and when that is accomplished each new state would proceed upon its own separate business. Each separate new state would draft its own constitution and enact its own statute laws, of course both to be consistent with the federal constitution and statutes. All valid outstanding bonded indebtedness existing in the present state of Texas should be assumed by the territory carved into new states, since the respective territories-areas-receive the benefits derived from the proceeds of the bonds. Each new state could adopt its own judiciary system and respective courts and thus be rid of the incubus now cursing and disgracing the present state, and each new state could refuse to enact any prohibition legislation, leaving the enforcement of the 18th amendment entirely with the federal government. Each new state provided for taxation to be equal and uniform, and each new state could provide for humane and reformative treatment of its convicts.

The cities above named need not necessarily become the capitols of their respective territories, and there would be some lively contests by competing places, but that can all be thrashed out by the people of the respective new states. All things considered, no reason whatever exists why the vast and varied territory of the present State of Texas should not be divided, on the contrary, every reason exists why, at this stage, it should be done. Today Texas is blessed-cursed with a horde of comic politicians and demagogues dominated by shysters members in both branches of the legislature, determined to defeat all manner of reform efforts by the people, with too many courts and too many loopholes for the protection of criminals and lawbreakers, until the people have lost hope, and may at any time resort to old Judge Lynch to eliminate crime. Of course ignorance and selfishness are the greatest obstacles to progress and development, and various and sundry objections will be raised against the division of the present territory of Texas into about five states, but to all sensible people the time has come, and it behoves the intelligent Press—the newspapers of Texas to espouse the cause, and for the substantial citizenship of the state to unite, to the end, that plans be inaugurated for such an accomplishment.

In the past, in critical periods and in emergencies, strong men have come forth to lead the masses, and guide in the ways of wisdom for the public benefit.

If any Texan wishes to join in this essential movement let him speak out.

Otis Akers Is Found Insane By Texas Jury

Life Termer in Robbery Case Declared Sufferer of Dementia Praecox at Wichita Falls Trial Tuesday

WICHITA FALLS, July 15. (AP)—Otis Akers, under life sentence from Wichita county for robery, was found insane by a jury in district court here yesterday.

Specialists testified that Akers is a sufferer from dementia praecox, symptoms of which were described as being hallucinations and delusions and told the jury such persons are likely to become extremely dangerous.

Solons Folly Cited

Judge P. A. Martin of the 30th district court told the jury the Akers case was "a shining example of the folly of the legislature in recently turning down the recommendation of Gov. Dan Moody to biuld a modern prison system."

"Such trials as these are necessary because the antiquated Texas prison system provides no facilities for the treatment of care of the criminally insane," he said.

Conviction that the lunacy hearing had definitely solved the slaying at Dundee more than two years ago to Charles McDaniel, pioneer cattleman, was expressed by George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, after the jury reported. McDaniel was fatally wounded when he grappled with a man who was attempting to hold up a band there.

One Acquitted

One man was tried on a charge of murder growing out of the slaying after having been held in jail nearly a year and was acquitted when he established an alibi.

Sheriff N. L. Speer of Huntsville, who brought Akers here, and R. H. Vaughn, acting warden of the penitentiary, who appeared as a witness, each testified that Akers had made statements to them he had killed McDaniel.

"He grappled with me and the gun went off: I didn't kill him, he committed suicide." Speer quoted Akers as saying.

City Sanitation Is Given Praise

High praise for sanitary conditions in Lubbock's restaurants, dining rooms and other places where foods are prepared or sold, as well as the water supply, was given yesterday by H. E. Hargess, of Austin, district sanitary engineer for the state.

Mr. Hargess visited the various eating places and inspected both the preparation and serving of foods. He had only words of commendations. He also inspected the city's water supply and the swimming pool and said these passed satisfactorily.

Lubbock has an A-1 rating for its water supply according to the state highway department. Mr. Hargess left in the afternoon for Amarillo.

Says It Was A Great Help To His Brother

"My Brother Has Taken One Bottle of Argotane and Improved Immediately" He Says

"Yes, Argotane has certainly helped my brother, and he just took one bottle of it and improved immediately," said T. F. Mathews, a dairyman of San Angelo, while talking with the Argotane man recently.

"My brother, J. H. Mathews, lives on the Cedar Hill ranch at Sterling City, and is very well known there," continued Mathews. "He suffered from stomach and digestive troubles for several years, and was in a very bad condition. He lost his appetite and hardly ate enough to keep him going, what he did eat disagreed with him, his food soured and formed gas, and he would be in misery for hours. He would have severe pains in the pit of his stomach, was badly constipated and had to take strong laxatives. He had frequent headaches, and was going downhill every day.

"Argotane was advertised so highly, and so many people had recommended it, he got a bottle and began taking it. He has just taken one bottle and anyone can tell he has improved greatly. His stomach trouble is relieved and all his digestive pains are gone, now he can eat anything he wants without the slightest touch of indigestion. The gas has stopped forming on his stomach and, in fact, his general condition has improved. Argotane has certainly helped my brother and I am glad to give this statement for him for he thinks Argotane is a grand medicine.

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Dowen's Drug Store. Adv.

Distinct Improvement In Crop Conditions In Texas Is Revealed In Report; Wheat Yield Is Above The Average

(Special To The Avalanche)

DALLAS, July 15—The month of June, with improved weather conditions, has witnessed a distinct improvement in general crop conditions of Texas, according to the crop report for the month just released by the Southland Life Insurance company. While crops are generally late, state-wide conditions as reflected by the crop map are beginning to compare more favorably with this time last year.

One of the most encouraging features of the report is that the Panhandle and North Texas wheat crops have turned out far better than was indicated in the May report. Much land that was expected to yield practically nothing has harvested almost normal crops, and the total wheat yield for the State is now estimated at about average. The first load of wheat was reported brought to Hale Center, June 13 and harvesting is expected to be completed by the early part of July. Several counties have reported earlier harvests than ever before and a very high grade of grain, tests ranging as high as 64 pounds to the bushel and better. Wheat in the Panhandle however, fared better than in other sections of the state. As the report is closed it is learned that considerable wheat is being kept off the market in anticipation of better price. The price of $1 per bushel paid for early Panhandle crops dropped off quickly after the main crop began coming in.

Cotton Has Fair Chance

Cotton, while late in most sections owing to replanting necessary, has a very fair chance of turning into a good crop. Warm, sunshiny days during June have helped and there has been less insect damage reported than last year. South Texas, where one or two counties report prospects of a bale to the acre apparently has best chances for cotton. The plant is beginning to fruit in the more Southern counties, and in the Rio Grande Valley the first bale of the season, from Starr county, has been harvested and taken to Corpus Christi. Fields are reported clean and farmers protecting themselves from possible insect invasions.

The harvesting of oats was reported as nearing completion at the end of June. The condition of this crop, with the exception of some counties in West Central Texas, appears fair to excellent, unusually large yields were made in several counties in North Texas.

Corn and feed crops were reported generally fair to above normal but in many places, especially in North, Northeast and East Texas, need rain. Sugar cane, melons, tomatoes and truck are in fair condition, more so in the Southern portion of the State. Rice in Southeast Texas will be ready for harvest about August 1st and figs are ripening now.

While general business conditions are rather sluggish, individual reports show that income from milk remains for fall months. Many reports show that income frm milk butter, poultry, and eggs is eeping farmers "even" until cash is received from crops.

Clean-Up Work In Lubbock Praised

In announcing the cup for the state winner in the National Paint-Up-Clean-Up campaign will not be awarded until in January, 1931, R. W. Emerson, general manager, in a letter to W. B Atkins, local general chairman, praised this city for its splendid work here last spring.

Each of the eight district chairmen for the campaign were later named as permanent chairman for the entire year. They will report regularly on conditions in their respective districts.

Mr Emerson in his letter, stated "In the meantime, I wish to congratulate you upon the thoroughness with which you have prepared your report which, to date, is unsurpassed by any which have been received from Texas.

"Certainly there is no doubt about you having put on a real campaign in Lubbock, and I shall be very careful to see that the judges make a good examination of your splendidly prepared report."

Open Campaign On Unpaved Streets

Cost figures for the large number of unsightly leave outs of paving on the streets of Lubbock are being prepared by city engineering department officials in an effort to secure the cooperation of property owners who desire the improvement costs. City officials are anxious to have these paved as soon as possible.

"Aside from being very unsatisfactory," J. Bryan Miller, city manager said in discussing the plan, "leave outs in street paving are a decided source of danger. A majority of automobile drivers will seek to stay on the pavement when passing these places and naturally they swinging to the wrong side of the street if the leave outs are on their side. This is a menace to traffic going in the opposite direction."

Monroe on Hill For Locals at Merrill Field

Manager Luenberger Hopes Team Will Show Big Improvement with Return of Hurler

Merrill Park will be the scene of considerable activity this afternoon when the Lubbock Hubbers clash with the Tahoka baseball club at 4 o'clock. The Hubbers have been experiencing some hard times recently and the win column has been foreign to them since early in the season. Today's game with the Tahoka nine promises to hold interest for the most scrupulous of young league followers. The Lynn County aggregation holds the undisputed leadership of the league with six wins and no losses to their credit. The Hubbers are entrenched in fourth place, having lost four of their six starts.

Monroe To Pitch

One Monroe, hailing from Wilson, will be named to start the mound duties for the locals this afternoon. His hurling, while not of stellar brand so far, will have his second chance, and will be made or broken today. He will have every opportunity to show his worth as a pitcher this afternoon against the powerful Tahoka hitters, and faces the assignment in the role of underdog. The remainder of the lineup will be the same which faced the Lamesa entry here Sunday, or as follows: D. Waller, first base; Marshall, left field; Granada, center field; R. Waller, right field; Green, short stop; Hambright, third base; Holland, second base; and Devers, catching.

The fact that Lefty Squires, star Tahoka hurler, pitched Sunday's game against Levelland means the strong possibility that the stellar wrong hander will not be in the lineup against the locals, and his absence will be appreciated. Frank Larkin will more than likely be used by the Tahoka club. As a pitcher, Larkin is no slouch, and will give the Hubbers something to be thinking about during the course of the game today.

Other Teams Meet

Winners meet losers today throughout the league, as the Southland club entertains the Levelland force while Brownfield goes to Lamesa to meet Lubbock's enemy of Sunday.

Tilden Inspires American Netmen In Interzone Go

PARIS, July 15. (AP)—Both American and Italian Davis Cup tennis teams were hard at work today getting into shape for interzone finals to start here Friday.

The Americans, their training program stiffened under the directino of Bill Tilden, have become accustomed to the red composition court of the Roland Garros Stadium and the larger and more resilient ball.

John Van Ryn's strained shoulder, which had caused him some trouble, is in shape again. He was able to play several sets with Tilden yesterday and today.

The Italians, under the leadership of Baron Humbert De Morpurgo, had their first session on the racing club courts today.

Seeded Netters In Tight Fight For Clay Honors

KANSAS CITY, JJuJly 15. (AP)—Sixteen tennis players from all sections of the nation, except the West, the same sixteen seeded Sunday as the best in the 1930 national clay courts tournament, tonight had advanced to the third round. One match today thrilled the gallery as Bryan Grant, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., met the Stanley Ajmquist, Berkeley, Cal., player on his way home from the inter-collegiates. Grant won 0-6; 6-0; 6-1.

Tomorrow Grant meets the defending champion, Emmett Pate of Dayton, O., who today advanced easily by defeating Karl Kamrath, Dallas, 6-1, 6-2.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

LET'S HAVE A CONTEST!

Boxing commissioners, as a rule, are fairly dumb, but they have no exclusive monopoly on the privilege of being unintelligent. In any sort of stupidity contest, the masterminders of the lawn tennis business would run them a pretty race for first prize.

The other day I was talking with a magazine editor who had arranged for a series of articles by a woman member of the United States tennis team at Wimbledon. He had just received a cablegram from the player, stating that "a new ruling had been made stating that no member of an official team may write or give interviews while a member of that team." The penalty for breach of the ruling, the star wrote, would be removal from the team.

This probably is the last word in something or other, but we can determine just what it is. But that isn't all.

The Colonel Is Bullish

You have to hand it to Colonel Jacob Ruppert, buyer for the big New York baseball department store known as the Yankees. The colonel's bullish enthusiasm hasn't been equalled in this day and age by any other magnate in either major circuit.

Bob Shawkey has told the colonel all along that the Yankees needed pitchers. Jake has taken an option on pitchers Howard Craghead and Pet Daglia of the Oakland team. The option expires in September, and if it is exercised, another 100 grand will have winged its way to the coast for promising baseball talent.

The colonel paid $75,000 for Lazzeri, and the direct corners aren't crowded with pebble bearing messphones and shouting that Jake was gypped. The colonel paid $50,000 to the Seals for Pitcher Vernon Gomez last year. Lazzeri, Lary, Reese and Meryl Hoag, the new outfielder, cost the colonel in the neighborhood of $275,000. If he puts out an other $100,000 for Craghead and Daglia, his purchase on the coast alone would amount to $375,000. It looks as though it might be cheaper to buy a franchise in the league.

If the colonel fails to buy Craghead and Daglia, it is said that Billy Evans is ready to step in with a juicy bid for the pair on behalf of the Cleveland Indians.

Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

apologies. "After all, in France nobody would think anything of my kissing your hand."

"Well, we're not in France," Judy said curtly, "and I don't like your kissing my hand."

"I swear it shall never happen again!"

"I hope not. Anyway, I shan't see anything of you, because I'm going to be very busy. I'm off now."

She was slightly mollified. He really seemed alarmed at the consequences of his temerity. Moreover, it had all been wildly exciting. If Guarvenius or the young pianist had kissed her hand, she wouldn't have minded a bit. It was the memory of Gideon's former glances. It was the certain knowledge that he "fancied her," as she put it.

But in her youthful pride Judy knew herself to be capable of holding her own with any man. A reckless sense of adventure was pervading her whole being, stealing upward to her head, like the fumes of strong wine. She saw a career before her.

Gideon came out into the hall with her. It had a fine staircase up the center, and was lighted by a glass dome from above. It was positively crowded with beautiful, rare, precious things.

"One day," said Gideon, in what she called his "trying-to-be-friendly" voice, "I hope you will come and see my house on the Grand Canal in Venice."

The words arrested her attention. Venice was in Italy. She had an idea.

"I wish you'd believe that I am ashamed of myself," he went on before she could speak.

"Right-o!" she said, with a sudden flashing smile. "Will you do something to prove it?"

"Anything in he world," he replied.

She could have roared with laughter at the light that came into his eyes, because he thought she was going to ask something for herself. She knew men, did little Judy Grant!

She told him the story of Dan, the waiter at the Cafe Turc, and his mother's death.

"Will you give him the money to go over to Italy and fetch her back?" she asked. "I suppose it would be a flea bite to you."

"Much pleasanter," he retorted. He could be very frank and companionable when he chose. "I shall be delighted. I remember Dan, and his voice. Will you wait a minute while I go and fetch the money?"

She negatived the idea.

"I'll send Dan to you here. When can you see him? I'll have nothing to do with it; but I shall tell him"—again she gave him a half-mocking smile—"how kind and generous you are."

"You're a good friend, Miss Judy," Gideon said. "Send him here at any time tonight. I'm dining at home with some friends. I wish I could persuade you to come."

She was all thorns again.

"No, thanks. I've had enough for today. Dan will come alone. It will be late, after the café closes. Dan works harder than anybody I know, but not harder than I'm going to."

She was at the front door, which Gideon opened for her. Perhaps she felt a little ungrateful, for she turned to him and said simply:

"I ought to thank you. I owe it to you. If you hadn't put the idea into my head and got Mr. What's-his-name here, I could never have done it."

"I want no thanks," Gideon said, and there seemed to be something thick in his throat. "I've done nothing, anyhow. You won't let me help you. Perhaps in time you'll come to like me just a little bit."

Alan and Chummy were discussing Judy over their very frugal dinner at Ginori's more than a month later. Their mid-day meal, consisting of sandwiches, they ate at the art school.

Steyne had been back from Maine a little less than a week. He had glowing accounts of the beauty of the hills in the bourgeoning spring, when the larches draped the hillsides like a mantle of pale-green feathers, and the mountain streams rushed in brown cascades over their stony beds, and the birds sang in a mad chorus through all the hours of the lengthening day. Nevertheless, he said he was glad to be back in New York and at work again, and he appeared to settle down to his easel and the careless bohemian life with perfect content.

He had found a change. Chummy was feverishly at work. She had already got her first commission—a portrait. She thought she would take up portrait work. Alan's line was very modern landscape, verging on the futurist, and yet keeping an appeal to the general public. He was really clever, and in his prosperity much more diligent than of yore.

Judy was never seen. She only came back to sleep, Chummy said. She told him all about Judy's wonderful luck in being taken up by Guarvenius, and he was bound to express a satisfaction which he was far from feeling.

"I'm afraid Judy's working too hard, though," Clarissa said with an anxious look. "She comes home dead tired. I don't believe she has anything to eat all day."

"But it's damnable, Clarissa! Something must be done. She'll kill herself! Look here, I owe her an enormous lot for looking after you like she's done. Can't we manage it?"

"Oh, Alan, I'll try, of course; but Judy can read things right in the back of your head."

He looked at her almost fiercely.

"Clarissa, no girl ought to work!"

Cotton — Price Trends Are Upward in Cotton; Livestock — Slaughter Cattle Trading Is Steady; Grain — Good Demand for Wheat on Tuesday

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—(AP)—Cotton developed a little more activity today, and the price trend was rather upward following early declines on poor cables and rains in the east.

The opening dip attracted active short covering which was added to by an official prediction of fair and warmer weather for the western belt, the market gaining 26 to 27 points from the lows. After covering demand had been filled, prices reacted 7 to 8 points from the highs on realizing.

Prices Rally

Prices rallied again in the late trading to levels 30 points above the lows on covering, but lost about half the advance near the end. The general market closed steady at net gains of 11 points on all active months.

Port receipts, 3,165; for week, 9,526; for season, 8,135,684; last season, 9,480,273. Exports, 2,693; for week, 14,613; for season, 6,586,345; last season, 7,802,506. Port stock 1,613,195; last year, 654,850. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston, 41,813; last year, 66,585; spot sales at Southern markets, 1,983. Last year, 5,359.

NEW YOR KCOTTON

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—Early selling on reports of better weather in the south and relatively easy cables was absorbed on declines of 6 to 12 points in cotton here today, and prices later rallied on covering and some trade buying.

Contracts became comparatively scarce on the advance from 12.78 to 12.99 for July and from 13.58 to 13.88 for new October. Some realizing was encountered at higher figures, and the close was several points off from the best with the market steady at net advances of 3 to 10 points.

Liverpool cables attributed the decline there to Bombay selling, and both the Liverpool and the continent were credited with selling here later. While part of the buying during the day was attributed to New Orleans interest. Exports today 2,569, making 6,948,427 so far this season. Port receipts 3,286. U. S. port stocks 1,605,834.

Bank Robbery

bandit car apparently was wounded in the exchange and was dragged from behind the wheel.

Little Hope Held

Physicians tonight held little hope for recovery of one of the victim's of the bandit's bullets. She is Mrs. Emil Johnson, who was shot through the arm and in the chest as she walked along the sidewalk with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Gildia. Mrs. Gildia also was shot, but the bullet wound in her leg was not considered serious.

Only eight minutes were occupied by three bandits in gathering up $27,000 in cash and $13,000 in negotiable bonds after intimidating 25 employees and customers in the bank while two others with machine guns held a crowd of more than 100 at bay outside.

Stock Mart Movements Irregular As Professionals Begin Profit Taking

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Wall Street's baby bull market lost a little weight today.

Perhaps the professionals who have been nursing it along were not impressed by the size of their following and decided to take profits while the profit taking was good. Perhaps there was a renewal of short selling.

Movements Irregular

Doubtless both factors were influencial in the irregularity of the day's movements, which resulted in a scrambled assortment of minor gains and losses.

With the exception of last Friday, the market had been advancing for a week. The virility displayed last Saturday and yesterday had caused some concern in conservative quarters as to the advisability of overextending a demonstration of bullishness at this time.

Telephone Gains

Selecting American Telephone as the leader, bulls carried the stock across 230 to the highest price in more than a month for a net gain of 8 3-4 points. Some of the smaller day-stocks and a fair representation of miscellaneous stocks finished the day one to five points higher.

These included Electric Autolite, Vanadium, Houston Oil, Hudson Motors, Otis Steel, National Steel, Michigan Steel, De Pont and A. M. Byers. Missouri, Kansas, Texas was bought in anticipation of the dividend declaration and rallied a couple of points.

With most of the seasoned investment shares, however, operators for the advance had only indifferent success. American Can, U. S. Steel, general Electric and General Motors were dull and Union Pacific lost 4 points.

Commodity prices advanced. Wheat rallies more than a cent. Corn was up one to two cents, and cotton closed 3 to 10 points.

Politics

eral's department to investigate the poll tax receipts there.

New Issue Involved

The investigation of poll taxes in Bexar county and the subsequent filing of ouster suits against two officials of that county has become an issue in the attorney general's race with Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt defending his action and Representative Cecil Storey, his opponent, charging it was a political move.

The seven active candidates for governor were "at it" Tuesday in South, central west, northwest, northeast and southeast Texas, with each of the two first mentioned sectors entertaining a pair of aspirants to the nomination.

Small In South Texas

Clint C. Small, preceding Jim Young into far south Texas, spoke at Kingsville in the afternoon and Corpus Christi at night. Young, speaking at San Antonio Tuesday night will cover practically the same ground Wednesday and Thursday that Small visited Monday and Tuesday and Small will speak at San Antonio Thursday night.

At Dallas headquarters for Small, John Erhard, managing his campaign in northeast Texas, predicted the Panhandle senator would get a clear majority in West Texas. He added that he thought West Texans would go to the polls in larger numbers than usual because they had a candidate in the race.

Thomas B. Love, in a speech at Dublin Tuesday afternoon which was broadcast, requested Earle B. Mayfield to say whether he would support Mrs. Ferguson if she were nominated and Alfred E. Smith if Governor Smith were nominated for president in 1932. The inquiries were an aftermath to the radio announcement of a well-known Fort Worth pastor that he was supporting Mayfield. The preacher was vehement in opposition to Governor Smith two years ago. Love spoke at Brady tonight.

Mayfield was at Clarksville Tuesday afternoon and at Texarkana Tuesday night. His Dallas headquarters announced that W. M. Pierson of Dallas would speak in his behalf Wednesday at the big picnic at Leonard.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, who said he was assured of support for his wife from all sections, was at Brownwood Tuesday night. From LaGrange came the report that preparations were being made for a large turnout at a non-political celebration there Sunday under the auspices of the Hostyn Catholic women, at which Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will be guests.

Speaks for Miller

Maury Hughes of Dallas, member of the state executive committee, spoke at the Dallas county Miller-for-Governor Women's club luncheon Tuesday. "Don't let anyone tell you that Barry Miller hasn't a chance," Hughes said. "Every other candidate is afraid of Barry Miller in the runoff and they're trying to 'play down' his strength. Miller was at Beaumont Tuesday night.

Sterling was in northwest Texas, Tuesday, finishing up his strenuous day with talks at Vernon and Wichita Falls. He will be the first of the candidates to invade Dallas, speaking there Wednesday night.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 15. (AP)—trading in slaughter cattle here today was a little more active and about steady. Figures called for 2,500 cattle, 1,000 calves, 700 hogs and 1,000 sheep.

Steers sold at from 4.25 and 4.50 to 7.90 and 8.25; the latter prices bought loads of well finished heavy beeves.

Two loads of heavy cake-on-grass yearlings sold at 9.00 while short loads of medium quality slaughter yearlings sold at 6.50 and 7.50.

Bidding Spotty

Bidding on cows was spotty, and some buyers were inclined to make further reductions, canners sold from 2,50 to 3.00. Butcher cows make from 4.00 to 4.50.

A load of strong weight calves sold at 9.00 or fully steady. Heavy calves in carlots sold at 7.75.

The hog supply was light. Truck hogs 10c lower with top of 8.90. Sheep scarce. Steady. Fed truck lambs 7.00 to 8.00, with a few at 8.50. Yearlings 6.50.

Racial Situation

Wolf) Gonzaullas, late today received orders from Governor Moody and the adjutant general to take charge of Jesse Lee Washington, negro accused of beating to death Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Collingsworth county farm wife, when state prosecutors were ready to bring the negro back from Oklahoma for trial.

Gonzaullas declared he would "protect the prisoner at any cost."

Whether the negro was still in the Oklahoma state reformatory at Granite, Okla., where he was taken after the slaying, was not divulged, neither would the officers state when they expected to remove the negro.

Grand Jury Will Consider Slaying

(By Associated Press)

WHEELER, July 15.—A special session of district court to consider the case of Jesse Lee Washington, negro charged with the slaying of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, white, near Shamrock last Friday, was convened by Judge W. R. Ewing of the 31st district court here today.

Judge Ewing ordered a special grand jury to meet Thursday to consider evidence against Washington. He said he intended to transfer the case, when an indictment is reported, to Miami for trial. He said inflamed feeling in this section aroused by the brutal slaying of Mrs. Vaughan, clubbed to death with an iron pipe, would prompt him to enter a change of venue to Miami, Roberts county.

To Be Tried July 28

Judge Ewing said his court would convene at Miami on July 21 and he would set the negro's trial for July 28.

Allred

part:

"Most of you will remember, I am sure, that in the campaign for this same office four years ago James V. Allred was defeated by Claude Pollard of Houston by only 4,000 votes out of more than 700,000. At that time, although some of his friends suggested that he demand a recount, he congratulated Mr. Pollard upon his election and announced that he would be a candidate this year. Two years ago, when it was rumored that Pollard was going to resign, his friends in Young county, where he served as district attorney, put his name on the ticket; but he refused to oppose Pollard upon his assurance that he did not intend to resign.

"Governor Moody saw fit at that time to appoint the present attorney general, the gentleman from Laredo. I have no right to criticize the governor for that action and I do not. No doubt he owed that plum to his political friend. But I do feel that since more than 356,000 people had endorsed my brother such a short time before, they should have had some consideration."

SCHILDKRAUT DIES

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 15.—(AP)—Rudolph Schildkraut, 68, a great actor two decades ago in Jewish theatres of Europe and later a celebrity in Biblical pictures of the screen, died here today in the midst of his film career.

ARMY PILOT KILLED

MOORESVILLE, N. C., July 15—(AP)—F. B. Tyndall, United States army pilot from Langley Field, Va., was killed when his plane crashed near here tonight.

Rain Followed By Clear Sky In This Area

Large Areas of South Plains Visited by Helpful Showers Tuesday Morning; Rain Extends West and South

Clearing skies yesterday afternoon followed a morning of showers for Lubbock and a general rain that visited a large portion of the South Plains area Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Most of the rain, according to reports, was to the west and south. New Mexico Monday night and Tuesday had good showers around Roswell and on to the Texas line.

Brownfield and on west to the New Mexico line had good rain that began falling about 5 o'clock and lasted until noon. Lamesa reported good showers also.

Rain Extends North

To the north, Hale Center had a shower, while other towns between Lubbock and that town did not have as much moisture. There was no rain north of Hale Center according to North Plains coaches.

Drivers of the Pioneer Motor lines from Roswell and Clovis both reported good rains to within a short distance of Lubbock. The rains lasted until around noon.

Texas Motor Ways did not report much rain east of this city.

While many sections of the South Plains were reported to have a fair amount of moisture, there were many spoted sections that are in need of considerable moisture to bring cotton and grain sorghums out of the present slump.

has not been figured, Mr. Ellis explained. It will not be known what the state's share will be until the state rate is made known. The county rate, as announced Monday, is 72 cents, a reduction of three cents from the 1929 rate in spite of an additional road bond tax of ten cents.

Mr. Ellis is of the opinion that the state tax will be slightly increased this year.

Rolls as tentatively compiled by Mr. Ellis and his force, include:

B—Rendered residence property	$15,579,180
C—Non-resident rendered	3,296,450
E—Utilities	1,968,290
G—Banks	304,020
D—Unrendered	4,008,870
Total	$25,156,810

The taxes in 1929 amounted to $358,968.70. Of this sum $163,276.54 was the state's share, $180,110.66 the county's share and the balance for school funds and poll tax.

In 1928 the total taxes amounted to $345,718.37, while in 1927 they amounted to $340,546.70.

Plans Go Forward for Clint Small Political Rally Here Saturday; Expect Big Crowd

Delegations from All Parts of South Plains Expected to Attend Speaking; Local Club Behind Gathering

Residents of the South Plains Saturday night will give answer to the claims of opponents of Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington that his candidacy for governor does not have complete district support when a huge rally will be staged in Lubbock for the senator, R. J. Murray, president of the "Small-for-Governor" club declared yesterday.

"We are going to show Texas that this section of West Texas is for Senator Small," Mr. Murray declared. "The entire 30th senatorial district has been organized in his behalf and we are expecting a big turnout from citizens of the district."

Expect Crowds

Reports received yesterday from the entire district indicated every town would have a large delegation here. Many business men from this section who were here on other business reported that their towns would be well represented in the tribute to be paid the Wellington candidate for governor.

Plainview will have a delegation of 200 to 250 it was estimated yesterday. Other sections of Hale county will be represented by large delegations.

From Crosbyton, Ralls, Lorenzo, Lamesa, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Brownfield, Amherst, Littlefield, Sudan, Shallowater, Idalou, Abernathy, Seminole, Seagraves, Anton, Muleshoe, Dickens, Spur, Slaton, Post, Levelland and Bledsoe, it is expected that many car loads will come to Lubbock.

The stars of the campaign looked rather doubtful," Mr. Murray added, "but reports which are coming in us daily indicate that Senator Small will carry west Texas overwhelmingly, particularly in the district represented by Senator Pirtle L. Parrish.

The program Saturday night will begin at 7:30 o'clock with a program by the Westerners, Lubbock High school band. For an hour from the balcony of the Hotel Lubbock the boys will play.

Seats will be arranged at Avenue K and Broadway where the speaking is to start at 8:30. E. L. Klett, city attorney, is to introduce the senator.

Following the address, in which Senator Small will discuss the issues of the campaign, friends of the senator will tender him a dinner. Mrs. Small will also be present as a guest.

association already belonging as enumerated in this district. This number is more than one fourth of total members in the state. Farms estimated in the district total 42,390, with about 32,000 of these being in cotton counties. Thus it is figured there are at least between 20,000 and 25,000 more cotton farmers who are possible members from which to draw.

It will require 4,000 members in the district to wipe out the guarantee of $20,000 which was underwritten by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in securing the district office.

Tuesday's meeting was featured by interest manifest from those in attendance, as evidenced in questions asked by men from all parts of the district, and by reception offered the speeches of C. O. Moser, vice-president and secretary of the American Cotton Cooperative association; Lawrence Westbrook, Mr. Dieterich, R. J. Murray, who is president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; F. R. Friend, vice-president of the First National aBnk, and A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce.

"The Federal Farm Board and our government," said Mr. Murray in opening the meeting, "have decided to put this program of farm aid over in spite of all possible opposition. This is the first time anybody with the necessary capital has been a friend to the farmer."

Mr. Murray explained the aim of the meeting to be the molding of sentiment in favor of the movement. "The aim is to organize the farmers in some effective method of selling his products as big business utilizes," he stated.

Mr. Moser referred to the group assembled as the natural leaders of their communities and of this entire section. "If we fully realized the effect upon all of us that prosperity of the farmer would bring about," he said, "we will be interested and active for the betterment of conditions of the farmer." He declared that no community can live in any higher standard of living than the income of that community, which is reflected in the wealth creating ability of the farmers. "The farmer is the largest producer, the largest buyer and the lagest borrower in the United States," he stated. Need for organization to bring about a change from the unfair balance of trade between the producer and the middle man was stressed.

"Success or failure of bringing about aid to the need of people on the farms of this country," said Mr. Moser, "depends upon the action of this group." He explained relationships of the American Cotton Cooperative Association to the Federal Farm Board and of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association to those organizations and to the cotton farmers.

Cheers greeted Mr. Murray's statement: "I shall join and put in every tenant I can," at the close of Mr. Moser's talk.

Mr. Westbrook declared. "There is nothing more important than to see that the farmers of every community you represent, are given the full benefit of the Agricultural Marketing Act as applied under supervision of the Federal Farm Board." He told that the plan of service is to bring the aid as close to the farmers door as possible, through location of branch offices in every trading center around which is raised sufficient cotton to sustain such a branch.

"The farmer who enters this organization," stated Mr. Westbrook, "will become part of the largest cotton merchandising concern in the world has ever known and will have greater financial backing than any concern ever had. In addition he will receive his proper share of these."

Five towns that have been negotiating for branch offices announced belief and assured the meeting they would close necessary details within a few days to cinch offices. Mr. Westbrook had told them these all would be definitely assigned by July 25.

G. H. Tubb, of Levelland, stated the business men and farmers of Hockley county, he believed, would underwrite the guarantee following the visit of Mr. Moser to Levelland today.

J. W. Hammock, of Sudan, stated Littlefield would close their deal shortly. Maury Hopkins, of Plainview, stated the same for his city, as did A. L. Forrest, of Lamesa.

Richard Wischkaemper, of Shamrock, declared Wellington had underwritten the guarantee and that 13,000 bales of cotton had already been pledged for that office.

Only Chance

C. A. Barron, vice-president of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, of Lamesa, said he had delivered every bale he had grown for 10 years to the cooperative. He said if farmers did not now take hold of the program, it looked like no other chance would ever be offered.

W. H. Hames, of Crosbyton, director of the Texas association; Earl Davis, of Acuff, and M. S. Hudson, of Hale Center, also directors of the organization, spoke.

Following is a list of those in attendance at Tuesday's meeting: W. H. Hames, H. M. Reed, H. A. Sessions, J. R. McDuff, B. H. Howard, Perry Roberts, W. M. Curry, of Crosbyton; Nelson Perdue, W. O. Lea Oil Field Near Hobbs to Be Scheduled

Proration Agreement Reached by Twenty-four Operators in Pool; to Start Daily Marketing Schedule Today

ROSWELL, N. M., July 15. (AP)—The Hobbs pool of Lea county, N. M., will go on a daily marketing schedule of 35,000 barrels of oil today or tomorrow under the proration agreement reached by 24 operators of the Hobbs area.

The agreement has the approval of the state land commissioner, Austin D. Crile of New Mexico and State Geologist Glen Staley.

Will Curb Production

The proration agreement will give Hobbs a monthly production of 1,500,000 barrels. The field at present has a potential production based upon active wells of 24 companies of 4,710,000 barrels monthly.

Operators entering the proration arrangement have agreed no well in the Hobbs poll will be shot unless necessary. No oil will be placed in storage on the field; no wells in the area will be placed on air or gas lift; and no well will be operated in such a manner as would unnecessarily or unreasonably waste gas or dissipate gas pressure in the field.

Effective Six Months

The proration agreement will be in force for six months from the date of signing and may be renewed or extended for successive periods of six months each thereafter by agreement of all parties and with the consent of the state officials.

The agreement is based on the pipeline outlet of Hobbs pool to be equally prorated among the 24 producing companies.

Newspapers Make Protest On Rates

AUSTIN, July 15. (AP)—Vigorous protest against the application of certain insurance companies asking an increase in the rates on trucks used for the delivery of newspapers was registered here today at a hearing of the insurance commission by representatives of Texas newspapers. The newspapers representatives argued the proposed increase would raise the insurance premiums 140 per cent over the present rate.

The application sough to have newspaper delivery trucks placed in classification number two instead of number three, which carries a considerably reduced rate.

It was alleged at the hearing by G. J. Palmer, vice-president of Houston Chronicle, that an effort was being made by insurance companies to make Texas newspapers pay rates as high as those assessed in Chicago, New York and other large eastern cities, although the operating hazard in Texas was considerably lower than the hazards in those cities.

The newspapers were joined in the protest by agents of several insurance companies who stated they were satisfied with the present rates and did not favor any increases.
