Battle Rages In Lebanese Port Cities

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Bitter fighting raged Saturday in the Lebanese port cities of Tripoli and Sidon. Beirut was quiet during the day but darkness brought a flare-up of scattered shooting.

As the revolt dragged through its 50th day in this little Middle East nation, Prime Minister Sami Solh declared the U.N. observer group sent here is not equal to the job of halting what he termed increasing infiltration.

Lebanon's government has charged the United Arab Republic is smuggling arms and men into the country.

On the fighting fronts, rebel forces attacked government troops in a battle that lasted through the night and into Saturday morning in Tripoli. Reports from the coastal city said eight persons were killed and about 20 wounded.

Rebels using mortars and hand grenades attacked army positions, setting fire to one of the city's main squares.

In the southern seaport of Sidon, troops and rebels fought what an army communique described as a heavy battle. It said one captain was killed and casualties on the rebel side were unknown.

Solh said in an interview with The Associated Press that the smuggling of arms and infiltration have increased since U.N. observers arrived in Lebanon June 12.

Solh reiterated that he believes a U.N. police force is necessary to halt infiltration. He said he had told U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold a police force is needed when the U.N. official visited Lebanon this week, but that he did not hand a formal request to Hammarskjold. Solh earlier had told The Associated Press he had asked Hammarskjold for a police force.

The Prime Minister said his government had expected the U.N. to help Lebanon more "because we are surrounded by hostile Syria and Egypt and are fighting foreign elements inside our country."

The fighting in Tripoli ended during the day. Sundown brought only a few scattered shots.

The earlier 12-hour battle was the heaviest fighting reported in Tripoli since Lebanon's rebellion began there seven weeks ago with the sacking of a U.S. Information Agency library.

Maan Karami, a rebel leader, said the battle had begun at 10 p.m. Friday when rebel units slipped in close to Lebanese security force positions. The security forces were reported to have fought back with heavy artillery.

Karami said the fighting subsided by 10 a.m. but that the crash of artillery shells still could be heard in the hills behind the city.

It was the third straight day of heavy fighting in Tripoli, but there were no reports of renewed fighting on the eastern and southern sectors.

Russians Say American AF Plane Forced Down

MOSCOW (AP) — A U.S. Air Force plane with nine men aboard was forced down by Soviet fighter planes Friday night inside Soviet territory, the Soviet Union said Saturday night. The Soviets reported the plane burned and the crewmen were seized.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was said to have assured U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson the men are alive.

A note handed by Gromyko to Thompson protested what the Soviets called a crude violation of their frontier. They said the plane had crossed the Soviet Armenian border and had flown up to 105 miles inside Soviet territory. They said the plane traveled almost 50 miles more before it was forced to land.

The protest note said the plane was a four-engine military craft of the U.S. Air Force and that its crew wore U.S. military uniforms.

(The U.S. Defense Department in Washington said Saturday night it had received a report that a transport type aircraft, believed to be a C118 with nine persons aboard, was unreported on a flight from Nicosia, Cyprus, to Teheran, Iran, by way of Turkey. The C118 is a military version of a Douglas DC6A four-engine transport.

(The department said it had no further details immediately.)

Thompson, asked for comment, said he had no details or information other than the statements made in the Soviet note.

Embassy sources, who said the plane may have lost its way on a flight to or from adjoining Turkey, said there was no indication of the type of plane or its mission.

There was no indication whether the plane was forced down by gunfire after pursuit.

But it was learned later that Thompson asked Gromyko:

"Are the men alive?"

The foreign minister replied: "Yes."

(In Wiesbaden, Germany, headquarters of the U.S. Air Force in Europe said it had no knowledge of any of its planes being missing and referred further queries to the U.S. State Department.

(In Washington, the State Department press office said the department had not yet received the Soviet note. The Soviet Foreign Office usually presents its notes in Russian and they are translated at the embassy in Moscow before being transmitted to Washington.

(At the Pentagon, a spokesman said no report had been received of the incident up to late afternoon but that a request for report had been sent to the Air Force in Europe.)

The Soviet protest, also broadcast by Radio Moscow, charged that the plane came across the border south of Yerevan, capital of the Soviet Armenian Republic, which is a scant 10 miles from the east Turkey border.

Yerevan is about 40 miles northeast of Mt. Ararat, in Turkey, traditional resting place of Noah's ark.

The Soviet note said the plane flew over the border about 6:30 p.m.

"The American plane was met by two Soviet fighters which by means of signals proposed to it to follow them to land on a nearby airdrome," the note continued.

"The plane border violator did not obey this demand. The Soviet fighters forced the plane border violator to land. It landed on Soviet territory in a district at a distance of 150 miles from the site of the boundary violation and burned.

"After the landing of the plane, there were apprehended nine members of the crew of this plane. They wore American uniforms.

"As has been learned from testimony of these persons and documents found on them all the persons held are in the service of the U. S. Air Force."

". . . All given facts testify that this was a predetermined violation by an American military plane of the Soviet borders and its air space," the note added.

It accused the U. S. government of ignoring previous Soviet demands for safeguards to prevent such border violations.

It added that such actions aggravated Soviet - U. S. relations and hampered efforts for a peaceful international situation.

It was indicated the nine crew members were being held in a spot somewhere near the Armenian capital of Yerevan.

The text of the Soviet note as transmitted by the Tass Agency did not indicate how the U. S. plane was forced down or exactly where.

The exact area of the border crossing, the route allegedly taken by the plane inside the Soviet Union and where it came down were not described except in vague terms.

UAW Claims Its Members Favor Strike

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers reported Saturday its members were voting overwhelmingly in favor of authorizing strike action if necessary to back up the union's contract demands on General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The union gave the latest tally as 128,127 in favor of striking and 8,645 against.

Strike votes among the union's locals at Big Three plants throughout the nation were requested by UAW President Walter P. Reuther to support union negotiators in their deadlocked contract talks with the carmakers.

UAW members employed at Big Three plants have been working without contracts for the past four weeks since the old ones ran out.

The strike votes are expected to continue through July. Reuther has indicated he is in no hurry about threatening strike action so long as the companies have a large inventory of unsold 1958 model cars.

The voting has just started among Chrysler workers and is less than half completed among GM and Ford workers.

Soviets Ask Clear Pact On Test Ban

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Saturday night called for a full understanding with the United States on cessation of nuclear tests in connection with the beginning of technical talks July 1 in Geneva.

The phrasing of a statement Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed to U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson indicated the Kremlin had decided to participate in the scheduled opening of the Geneva talks. But it also indicated the Soviets would still press for an agreement on suspension of tests along with discussion of control.

The Soviet Union earlier had hinted it would not attend the talks unless its terms were met, but the United States had replied so far as it is concerned the talks will be convened as scheduled.

It was learned earlier Saturday that the Swiss Embassy has issued visas to the Soviet delegation of technicians.

A Radio Moscow broadcast said of the latest exchange:

"The Soviet government in an aide memoire to the U. S. government states that the question posed in its aide memoire of June 25—as to whether the U. S. government confirmed that the meeting of experts should be subordinated to the solving of the task of the universal and instant suspension of nuclear weapon tests—has remained unanswered and that no clarification has been given on the U. S. position on the matter."

It said the United States "evaded making a statement on its position on the main issue—namely the aim which the meeting of experts should serve."

"Naturally," the note said, "the decision on the suspension of tests should be taken by the governments themselves, and not by experts whose tasks include the preparation of control over compliance with the agreement on the discontinuation of nuclear tests.

"However," the note went on, "with the experts about to begin their work, a full and clear cut agreement should be reached among the governments concerning the purposes of the meeting.

"The Soviet government hopes that the government of the United States will make an unequivocal statement on the matter."

Thompson immediately forwarded the document to Washington.

His trip to the Foreign Ministry followed by only a few hours a visit by members of the Soviet eight-man technical delegation to the Swiss Embassy to pick up their visas.

Interceding With Agencies Part Of Job, Senators Say

By JACK BELL
And LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) and Styles Bridges (R-NH) defended Saturday as part of a Congress member's job the practice of interceding with government regulatory agencies.

The issue of whether a senator or House member should call on these quasi-judicial agencies for aid to constituents has been pointed up by the controversy over Sherman Adams' relations with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

The Pentagon disclosed, meanwhile, that Goldfine in the last two years of the Truman administration received four times as much dollar volume in defense contracts as he has since his friend Adams came to Washington in 1953 as President Eisenhower's top aide.

The contract figures — roughly 10½ million dollars and 2¼ million for the respective periods — were supplied by the Defense Department at a reporter's request. There was no suggestion of impropriety in connection with any of the contract awards.

The last two years of the Truman administration coincided with the Korean War—a time of heavy clothing buying by the armed forces to outfit troops in the cold Korean winters. Goldfine is a big manufacturer of textiles.

A House Commerce subcommittee inquiring into Goldfine's relations with Adams has heard no direct testimony that Adams ever sought to land contracts for Goldfine, from whom he had accepted expensive favors and hospitality.

It has heard allegations from Boston financier John Fox, former publisher of the defunct Boston Post, that Goldfine once boasted Adams would take care of a case against Goldfine pending in the Federal Trade Commission.

Adams, Goldfine and the White House had denounced Fox's testimony over a period of two days as a parcel of malicious lies.

There was no new comment from the White House Saturday. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Adams was spending the week end somewhere outside the capital. Hagerty did not say where.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) Saturday night assailed the subcommittee on the ground it has not complied with a House rule requiring secret sessions when a committee hears testimony which may tend to defame or degrade anyone.

The subcommittee rejected Thursday a petition from Goldfine's attorneys asking that Fox be heard in secret session. Harris said the group had been unable to determine from Fox's prepared testimony whether there would be any defamatory testimony. The committee instructed Fox to tell it in advance if anything he was about to say during questioning was defamatory.

Curtis said in a statement that procedural impropriety cannot be condoned.

Both Adams and press secretary Hagerty have said it is incredible that a congressional committee would provide a public forum for what they termed the falsehoods Fox spread.

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

BY WACIL McNAIR

The "June-in January" reference in reverse was appropriate for our weather most of the week, as the elements all but made the full cycle.

The rain and wind storm Monday took its toll in the southwest part of the county, although other areas got some benefits from the moisture. Then the ensuing cold spell, much more potent than the usual summer variety, sent weather sages to the record books. Lowest readings in recorded history were reported at several points in the state.

Snyder's lowest official mark was 59 degrees, considerably below the "seasonal" class. Air conditioners got a summer vacation.

* * *

Meanwhile, more evidence that the area's economy is sound came Friday when banks compiled figures in response to a call from the comptroller of currency. Snyder's two banks listed deposits totaling over $19½ million. That figure is not a mid-year record here, but it is the highest since 1952. Almost simultaneously, experts over the country expressed belief that the "recession" has passed its nadir and that the nation's economic picture will become steadily brighter during the remainder of the year.

Peace officers never know when a routine job will result in the capture of a fugitive. Snyder police picked up a motorist the other night on a traffic violation and subsequently learned that the individual was wanted in two states on felony charges. Moreover, Federal officers expressed interest when it was learned that the automobile involved might have been stolen in another state and subsequently driven across state lines. The driver was nabbed here when he ran a traffic signal.

Speaking of police work, Maj. Wilson Speir of the Department of public Safety headquarters in Midland, has advised that DPS personnel won't be taking a holiday July 4. Instead, highway patrolmen and staffs from other DPS branches will be pressed into service patrolling the highways in an effort to cut down the accident toll over the Independence Day weekend. They plan to put radar units into extensive use during the holiday. Keep that in mind, if you are planning a trip next weekend.

Probers Turn To Criminal Combines

By MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers predicted Saturday they will unmask in hearings starting Monday a criminal combine wielding great power in businesses and labor unions.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said hearings by the committee he heads will show a continuing tie between what the senator called an American criminal syndicate and the deported gangster Charles (Lucky) Luciano in Italy. Some, McClellan said, call it the Mafia.

He said he has subpoenaed 100 witnesses, including many racketeers and gangsters, for hearings here which will run off and on for months. McClellan said President James R. Hoffa on the Teamsters Union, with whom the committee has tangled previously, may be heard next month.

The starting point, McClellan said, will be an effort to cut through mystery still surrounding an assemblage raided last November by police at Apalachin, N. Y.

The police hinted but never proved that mobsters and others had gathered to carve up rackets left without a boss by the killing of Albert Anastasia. Some of those at Apalachin were evidently reputable businessmen.

McClellan said the hearings will switch from the Apalachin meeting to a study of gangster operations in the garment industry in New York, Scranton and Pittston, Pa.; then to Detroit and Chicago. Next, he said, they will cover other cities from coast to coast.

St. Louis, Mo., East St. Louis, Ill., Cleveland, Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco had been named as among the cities whose underworlds were under scrutiny.

McClellan and Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, named Vito Genovese, New York mobster, as perhaps the major witness from the Apalachin meeting ordered to be on hand for the hearing Monday.

Dodd Nominated By Connecticut Demos

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Thomas J. Dodd was named the nominee for the U.S. Senate Saturday by the Connecticut Democratic state convention.

The 51-year old former congressman won the nomination by acclamation by a first roll call gave him enough votes for victory.

The semiofficial count gave him 469 votes to 322 for former Gov. Chester Bowles and 98 for former Sen. William Benton.

Bowles and Benton then moved that Dodd get a unanimous vote, even though Bowles had enough ballots at the end of the roll call to force a primary.

Memorial Services For Crash Victims

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — Special memorial services will be held Sunday at the base chapel for the 15 men who were killed early Friday in a crash of a jet Stratotanker.

Chaplain Col. William F. Taylor will conduct one service at 11 a.m. EDT and Chaplain Maj. Lawrence A. Dickson J.R. a second service at 11:45 a.m. It was explained two services will be held because of the many persons who may want to attend.

Two Die In Plane Crash

WOLFFORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Piper Super Club plane crashed near here Saturday, killing its two passengers.

M. F. Dagley, 45, of Lubbock was killed when the plane crashed. Bennie Joe Durham, 23, of Wolfforth, died of injuries while en route to a Lubbock hospital. It was not learned who was the pilot.

Witnesses said the plane was circling a landing strip about a mile south of here when it stalled in a bank and plunged to the ground.

Dagley operated a fleet of 12 crop dusting planes in West Texas.

Wolfforth is about 10 miles southwest of Lubbock.

Soviet Ballet Star Caught Shoplifting

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The star of the Russian Bolshoi Ballet at the Brussels World Fair has been caught shoplifting in a Brussels department store, police said Saturday.

Olga Lepeshinskaya, once Stalin's favorite ballerina, was halted by a store detective as she was about to leave Friday.

Police said she had admitted taking an umbrella, two pairs of gloves, cuff links, and some tape.

The fiftyish ballerina begged in French and broken English not to be taken to police headquarters. She said she was due at a ballet rehearsal. She did not appear at Friday night's performance at the fair, although she was released after questioning at police headquarters and the Palace of Justice.

A spokesman for the department store, L'Innovation, said no decision has been made about prosecuting Miss Lepeshinskaya. He added, however, that legal action is rarely taken against first offenders.

Thus an international incident such as the case of the Soviet woman discus thrower may be avoided. Two years ago Nina Ponomareva, Soviet Olympic discus thrower, was charged with shoplifting five cheap hats in London. British, and Miss Ponomareva hid out in the Soviet Embassy.

The case finally was settled when Miss Ponomareva appeared unexpectedly in court and entered a denial. She was convicted but released after the Soviet Embassy had paid court costs.

A spokesman for the Brussels department store said a customer became suspicious of Miss Lepeshinskaya's actions and called the store detective.

Miss Lepeshinskaya is one of the best pupils of the Moscow choreographic School. Because of her ability she went directly from the school to the Moscow Theater Ballet Co. She is generally considered the best-dressed woman in Russia.

Austrians Cancel Trip To Moscow

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A government delegation's trip to Moscow has been postponed because Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is going abroad, Chancellor Julius Raab said Saturday.

The trip, originally set for July 13, was put off until July 21 at the request of the Soviet ambassador to Vienna.

An Austrian government spokesman said it was not known here where Khrushchev will be going.

Panels Plan For Cleanup Drive Here

Snyder's annual cleanup campaign is scheduled for July 7-11, and the Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce have committees making preparation for the campaign.

Stanford Land is chairman of the Jaycee committee, which is heading the drive. Dr. Carl Dillaha heads the chamber health and sanitation committee.

The chamber committee this week will be contacting civic clubs here in an attempt to get volunteers from each club to help in the pickup day activities. On Thursday of the cleanup week, trucks manned by civic club members will go throughout the city picking up trash cleaned up by residents between now and then.

The committees urged residents to begin cleaning up now, attempting to complete the cleanup of their property during the first three days of next week. Weeds, grass, and other smaller objects should be placed in containers and branches and limbs bundled, so they can be picked up easily. They should be placed in the alley or at the curb of the street, the same place residents use for regular trash pickup.

The Jaycee committee has noted that a large number of residents' garbage can lids have blown away. The panel urged residents to use this special time of year to get covers for garbage cans.

Mowing was done in the past during cleanup campaigns, but the committees this year urge residents to contact commercial mowers to have weed mowing done.

Bob Hope Winner Of Murray-Green Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope was announced Saturday as the winner of the 1958 Murray-Green Award of the AFL-CIO.

The award, in memory of the late labor leaders Philip Murray and William Green, consists of a medal and $5,000.

The AFL-CIO said Hope was chosen for his services to the men and women of the armed services, whom he has entertained all over the world.

Agencies May Hike Budgets Despite Deficit Prospects

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite the muchly-aired prospects of a fat tax bill in the next Legislature, most state agencies, it appeared Saturday, will ask for even greater appropriations than before.

Months ago, State Comptroller Robert Calvert officially predicted the state would face a 100 million dollar deficit at the beginning of the next biennium Sept. 1, 1959. This didn't anticipate any increased budgets for the state departments.

Gov. Price Daniel recently appointed a blue-ribbon economy panel to study every possible economy in the use of state funds and all sources of state revenue which may be available without the levy of more taxes. He also said he could envision no prospect of an overall cutback in state spending because of the state's growth.

For several weeks, budget hearings have been held and will continue into July but all of the biggest agencies examined to date want more money. The Legislature, meeting in January, will have to pass an appropriation bill for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1959.

In his budget request, Calvert asked for an increase in his salary from $17,000 to $20,000 and an increase in money from the state's general fund for his office from $460,000 in 1958 to $1,015,537 in 1960. The total budget for 1960 is $1,962,153.

Calvert and others in his office, which is the state's principal accounting office and main revenue gathering agency, told Senate investigators recently that shortages of personnel, low salaries and low penalties are factors preventing maximum collection of escaping taxes. Sen. Charles Herring, head of the committee, said Texas was losing up to 25 million dollars a year in uncollected taxes.

The prison system, already giving notice it would ask for a $500,000 emergency appropriation to finish out fiscal 1959, will ask for more than nine million dollars in new construction.

O. B. Ellis, general manager, said the state prison population would increase to 11,500 by Sept. 1, 1959. "In some places," he said, 'we have three men living in spaces which should have only one inmate. The board is very anxious that the governor and the Legislature be aware of the explosive conditions which exist as a result of overcrowding."

The system proposes to build a reformatory-type prison for 16-21 year olds at its old Ferguson Farm site on the Trinity River at a cost of four million dollars; buy new land near Huntsville to build a new prison similar to the Eastham unit for 1,500 men at a cost of 4½ million dollars (this would replace the Blue Ridge Farm near Houston which the board wants to sell); a tuberculosis hospital building at the Wynne farm at a cost of $300,000; and an industrial building to house the broom, mop, mattress and garment factories at a cost of $250,000.

The budget also requests $749,206 more in salaries, including $657,900 for additional guards.

The judiciary has asked for a total budget of $15,074,037 in fiscal 1960 compared to 1957 expenditures of $3,674,931. Most of the 11 courts of civil appeals asked for between $15,000-$20,000 more.

The Board of Control, the state's official purchasing agent for more than 200 state agencies, requested an increase in personnel from $89 to 289 with a corresponding salary increase from $647,869 to $995,338 in 1960.

Executive Director William Burke asked for a raise from $12,000 to $15,000 a year. The 1957 board expenditure was $759,860, the 1958 appropriation $1,010,304 and the 1960 request is $1,80[illegible]

OIL ROUNDUP

Slump In Drilling Causing Concern

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—A slump in drilling that caused concern within the oil industry last year has increased.

Wells drilled in five months of 1958 were nearly 13 per cent below last year. The total drilled in 1957 was only 9.6 per cent below the first five months of 1956.

Last year's decline was the first since 1949, which also was a year of weak market demand and constant controversy over oil imports.

Statistics on wildcat operations make the 1958 situation even gloomier.

Exploratory wells drilled from January through May were 23 per cent below a year ago. The 1957 January-May decline was only 8.6 per cent below 1956.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates 1958 operations through June 14 totaled 20,841 oil, condenstae, gas, dry, and service wells. The comparative 1957 figure was 23,930. This year's wildcats totaled only 4,127, compared to a year earlier 5,399.

World Oil magazine has forecast 50,137 wells will be drilled this year, compared to last year's 53,734. This would be 6 per cent below 1957 and cut operations to their lowest point since 1953.

Operations normally pick up a bit the last half of the year.

Some encouragement also was seen in a modest production allowable increase for July in Texas.

The Texas allowable will be boosted 121,745 barrels a day Tuesday. A nine-day production schedule has been ordered for July, ending a three-month period during which the state permitted production on only eight days, an all-time low.

The new July allowable of 2,604,798 barrels a day, however, still is well below the Texas record of 3,333,000 set 18 months ago when an 18-day schedule was in effect during the Suez crisis.

The drop from an 18-day pattern to one of eight and nine days simply means the income of the Texas oil operator, large or small, has been cut in half since the end of the Middle East emergency. While the oilmen have effected various retrenchments, the cutbacks in operating costs and overhead have not kept pace with the sharp slump in crude sales. The situation has caused funds for exploratory and development purposes to dwindle.

Scurry Location, Garza Discovery

The Texas Co. will drill the No. 235 P. L. Fuller one location northeast and southeast of production in the three-well Fuller, Southeast (Fuller sand) field of Scurry County, 13 miles north os Snyder.

Location, on a 29,707-acre lease, is 860 feet from the north and 2,188 feet from the east lines of 556-97-H&TC. Contract depth is 5,100 feet.

Shell Oil Company No. 1-CD Slaughter, Ellenbruger discovery in the Happy (Strawn) Field area in southwest Garza County, has been dual completed from the Strawn.

The second well from the Strawn in the field, it finaled for a calculated 24-hour flowing potential of 366 barrels of 39.4 gravity oil through a 14-64-inch choke and casing perforations from 8,038 to 8,048 feet.

The potential guaged was based on a 12-hour flow of 183 barrels of oil. Gas-oil ratio was 651-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of Section 43, Block 2, T&NO Survey, and one-half mile west of the Strawn discovery well of the field.

Release Engineers Castro Asked To

By GEORGE KAUFMAN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The United States decided Saturday to deal directly with Fidel Castro's rebels for the release of 10 American and 2 Canadian engineers held in the hot mountain jungles of northeastern Cuba.

U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith ordered U.S. Consul Park Wollan to attempt to make contact with the rebels from Moa, the north coast city where a band of 200 rebels kidnaped the men Thursday night.

Emissaries of the Moa Mining Co. went into the mountains Friday but apparently failed in their attempt to win release of the men. The engineers were working on a company building site.

In Washington, the State Department said it had a report that the rebels would release the men soon. Press Officer Francis Tully said the report had come from sources in the United States purporting to represent the Cuban rebels.

A Cuban driver for the Moa Co., who had been taken along by the kidnapers, has returned and reported the captives are unharmed and are being well cared for. He said he also was advised the rebels will release them soon.

The wife of one of the kidnaped men said she had been told by a rebel leader that the men were being well cared for and would be released in a few days.

Mrs. John Schissler, wife of a California engineer, quoted the rebel as saying the men had been taken in reprisal for direct U.S. military aid to the Cuban government.

The rebels charged that the United States had permitted Cuban army planes to use the Guantanamo Navy Base airport for operations against them. They also charged that the planes had received fuel from the base supply.

Smith denied these charges.

A Cuban army communique said the kidnapings were the work of a Communist group led by Raul Castro, brother of the rebel leader. Raul Castro has been in charge of rebel forces on the north coast of easternmost Oriente Province. Fidel Castro operates from the mountains in the southern part of the province.

Snyder RAs Challenge Oklahomans

DALLAS — Royal Ambassadors from Snyder Baptist churches have challenged Muskogee, Okla., RAs in a "Wrangler's Match" for the second Southern Baptist Convention Royal Ambassador Congress to be held Aug. 12-14 in Fort Worth.

Baptist youth from both towns will vie in tug-of-war contests during pre-session periods of the Congress, said associational Baptist Brotherhood president Alfred Chambers, Colorado City.

They are among 35 cities in Texas and nearby states competing in the "Wrangler's Matches."

"The city with the most boys attending the Congress," said Texas RA secretary Robert Chapman, "will be expected to win the tug-of-war."

The wrangler's match is one of a host of unique Congress features expected to attract more than 8,000 Royal Ambassadors from throughout the SBC.

A rodeo on a ranch near Fort Worth will inaugurate the 3-day meeting. Sessions will be held in the giant Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. Part of the Congress will feature dramatic demonstrations of Baptist mission work. Fifty-two foreign and home missionaries from 14 countries have already indicated that they will attend the Congress.

Congress theme is "Christ In Me — The Hope of the World." Program personalities will include Dick Jones, star of the "Buffalo Bill Jr." and "Range Rider" television series. Outstanding Christian athletes, musicians and scientists will also participate in the Congress.

A youth organization sponsored by men's Brotherhoods in Baptist churches, Royal Ambassadors are from 9-16 years of age. The youth participate in programs of study, fellowship and recreation designed to help mould Christian character, said Chapman.

Three Children Die As Fire Sweeps Home

ELBING, Kan. (AP) — Three children perished in a fire that destroyed the two-story frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dyck early today.

The children were trapped in upstairs bedrooms. They were Gene Dyck, 13, and his sisters, Barbara, 8, and Norma, 7.

The parents were sleeping downstairs and escaped uninjured. The father called to the children to jump, and the son replied, "I can't." Nothing further was heard from the children as the flames spread up a stairwell.

Authorities said the fire may have started from a water heater.

Labor Says Political Fund Subscribed Within State

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Organized labor hit back Saturday at Senate race campaign charges that "out of state" union funds have been sent into Texas for use of certain political candidates.

The money, said Jerry Holleman, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, was voluntarily contributed by Texas workers and funnelled back into Texas for election of candidates labor thinks are best for Texas.

He issued the statement sharply criticizing Senate candidate William Blakley who has made what he calls big union bossism and union support an issue in his effort to defeat Sen. Ralph Yarborough for re-election.

This followed publication of news stories reporting on union funds earmarked for Yarborough in his 1957 Senate race. Yarborough called the report a "desperate effort" to help Blakley's campaign.

It was "Texas workers' own money, gathered in $1 contributions, and not 'out-of-state' money," Holleman said.

Gov. Price Daniel's supporters will give his re-election campaign a big formal send-off at a downtown Austin rally Monday in a week of stepped-up activity in all Democratic primary races.

Many candidates for major offices as well as those seeking judicial posts will concentrate in San Antonio at mid-week when the State Bar convention draws thousands from over the state into easy handshaking reach.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough was back in Texas for a week-end of intensive campaigning. His opponent, William Blakley, planned to spend two and a half days campaigning in San Antonio.

Blakley ended a heavy week with a rally at Waco Saturday in which he told supporters "This is showdown time in Texas and we are on our way to victory." Monday and Tuesday in San Antonio he will continue his handshaking campaign and appear for 30 minutes on WOAI-TV Tuesday night. He will appear at the Bar convention Wednesday.

Yarborough, whose wife and son have been making personal appearances for him while he was in Washington, flew back to Texas Friday for a fast round of appearances. At Dallas he spoke to the Texas-New Mexico convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, Saturday he was a luncheon guest of San Antonio business men. He also appeared at the Luling watermelon thump and at Kenedy. Monday he will open his Dallas County headquarters.

In the governor's race, downtown Wooldridge Park will be the scence of Daniel's formal campaign opening. The natural amphitheather is a traditional speaking place for candidates. Daniel will be at his desk all day Monday, and Tuesday will dedicate a monument at Whitney as part of Harhilton County's centennial.

Tuesday Daniel will be in Dallas to speak to the Democratic Women's Forum. Wednesday he will address the Bar in a morning session.

The ground swell has started just like it did in 1938 and is "moving right along" to victory as it did that year, W. Lee O'Daniel said in Waco of his race for governor. He won his first race for governor that year over a big field of experienced politicans.

"I am completely overwhelmed with the response I have received here," O'Daniel said after his television appearance at Waco. O'Daniel returned to Dallas Saturday. He has announced no plans for next week.

Henry B. Gonzalez had scheduled a trip to Vernon in northwest Texas, but his San Antonio office said he had to cancel it because of transportation difficulties. Gonzalez had a night speaking engagement in Laredo.

In the lieutenant governor's race, George Nokes of Waco said that he would campaign in the Dallas-Fort Worth area during the coming week. He goes to Fort Worth Monday and Dallas Tuesday. Wednesday he will attend the Bar session in San Antonio.

Airman Dies Of Leukemia

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — An Indiana airman whose friends in Japan passed the hat to send his wife and son to his bedside died Friday night at Scott Air Force Base after nearly six months' treatment for leukemia.

Airman 1.C. John Veale, 22, Washington, Ind., was stricken last Jan. 8 in Japan and flown here for treatment.

A month later, air force friends in Japan chipped in to fly his Japanese wife, Kiku, and their 4-year-old son Kenneth to the United States. Their flight had been delayed until medical authorities certified that Mrs. Veale's case of tuberculosis was arrested.

Mrs. Veale has been dividing her time between the base hospital and the Indiana home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Veale.

Ivan Gatlin Will Undergo Surgery

Ivan Gatlin, 3006 Thirty-ninth Street, who has been ill for a number of months with a heart ailment, is to undergo heart surgery Tuesday at Methodist Hospital at Houston.

This will not be an emergency operation but a corrective one.

FDR Men Differ On Remedy

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Four surviving leaders of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "brain trust" differ sharply today on methods they would use, if they were back in power, to combat the current recession.

But all four—Adolf A. Berle Jr., Rexford Guy Tugwell, Raymond Moley and Benjamin V. Cohen—agree on this:

The present slump can't hold a candle to the flames of the Great Depression that swept the nation back in the '30s. Nor is it likely to get out of hand.

Three of the four would resort to F. D. R's favorite device of pump-priming to bolster the sagging U. S. economy. One opposes such methods now.

Two would cut some taxes. One would not. One was noncommittal.

Bitterly assailed in their heyday as boondogglers, socialists, wild-eyed utopians and welfare staters, the ex-brain trusters admit to few if any regerets over the revolutionary policies they created a quarter of a century ago.

"I sometimes think we were pretty conservative and didn't go far enough—although we seemed to be going pretty far at the time," said 63-year-old Berle, now a New York corporation lawyer, who helped frame the Roosevelt program.

Commenting on the 1957-58 economic dip, here is what the ex-members of FDR's "shadow cabinet" said in separate interviews:

Tugwell, 66, a key figure in the brain trust group:

"This thing they call the recession is nothing like the Great Depression we had in the '30s. Today you've only got six or seven per cent unemployment—what the hell, WE had 50 per cent!"

Moley, 71, editor-author, once lambasted by critics as a combined Rasputin and Svengali because of his influence with Roosevelt:

"Today's recession will cure itself if they just let things alone. I hope President Eisenhower keeps on acting the way he is acting, restoring confidence and quelling fears."

Cohen, 63, sometimes described as "the man who wrote the New Deal," now a retired Washington, D. C., lawyer:

"This is a serious recession, not to be taken lightly. There is no reason to expect a sudden rebound, but we have built-in safeguards to prevent another Great Depression."

While disagreeing on how they would counter the present undertow, the ex-brain trusters concurred in the belief that many of the measures initiated during the New Deal—including social security, unemployment insurance, and regulation of stock market margins—are now serving as a cushion against shock waves running through the economy.

"This time we are facing a recession with a better kit of tools than we had in 1933," Berle said.

"We know more about taxation, about government credit, about created credit. This time we know what is going on."

Berle served as an assistant secretary of state from 1938 to 1944 and had a hand in writing some of the major anti-depression legislation in the first 100 days of the Roosevelt administration.

White-haired Rex Tugwell, who retired last year as professor of political science at Chicago University, scoffed at what he described as exaggerated anxiety over the current slump.

"I wouldn't even call it a recession, not by the standards of what we had in the '30s," he said in an interview at his modest red-brick home in Greenbelt, Md.

Former arch New Dealer Moley, once known as unofficial chairman of F. D. R.'s original brain trust, was the first of the White House inner circle to break with the late President.

He has spent the last two decades writing newsmagazine columns and books and delivering speeches attacking bigness in government and other trends which he characterizes as the nation's most dangerous heritages from the Roosevelt era.

Moley served briefly as F.D.R's speech writer and as a top architect of New Deal policy. He was an assistant secretary of state.

On the wall beside his office desk hangs a smiling photograph of Roosevelt, inscribed "to the ancient professor from his pupil," but Moley today vigorously opposes many of the methods F.D.R. used as antirecession weapons.

Chain-smoking Ben Cohen, one of the top lawyers of the New Deal, specifically blamed two moves by the Eisenhower administration for present economic doldrums.

"It stems from the failure of the Federal Reserve Board to perceive the shifting trends and from the cruel and unnecessary cutbacks in defense contracts last summer," Cohen said.

"What a howl would have been raised if the New Deal had disturbed the delicate fabric of business confidence as former Secretary of Defense Wilson and former Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey did a year ago. That's one of the major reasons for the slump we are going through today."

Political Rally Set At Fluvanna

A political rally has been set for Monday night at Fluvanna under sponsorship of the Scurry County Farmers Union.

The rally will be held at the ball park at Fluvanna at 8 p.m. Monday.

County, district, and area political candidates who are on the ballot for the July 26 Democratic primary are being invited to attend the rally and make brief talks.

Plans call for holding similar rallies in other communities later, according to Bill Jordan, Farmers Union secretary here.

Gathercole Breaks Three World Marks

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Perry Gathercole shattered three world records Saturday as the Australian swimming team took its final workout before leaving for the British EMPIRE Games at Cardiff, Wales. Gathercole held all three records broken.

He bettered the 110-yard breast stroke mark by six-tenths of a second when timed in 1:12.4 and slashed four seconds from each of standards in the 220-yard and 200-meter breast strokes. In the former he was clocked in 2:36.5 and in 2:36 for the metric distance.

Perfect Attendance For 83-Year Span

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A perfect Sunday School attendance of 83 years—claimed by church officials as a world's record—will be marked Sunday by Miss Jennie Powers, 86, at Westside Presbyterian Church.

Even the foot-deep snow of last Feb. 16 didn't keep her home. Two men carried her to a car and drove her to church for a service attended by only a few. The record was compiled entirely at the Westside Church.

School Cafeteria Meal Prices Hiked

in school cafeteria 2-36 Wylma

The Snyder school board has announced that a raise in school cafeteria meal prices must be put into effect this fall when the 1958-59 school year begins.

Due to increased food costs and the fact that the government has not supplied as much in surplus commodities as in the past, the board said it felt it will be necessary to raise the cost of meals.

There will be a five-cent increase in the cost of student meals and those of school personnel. That will raise elementary students' meals from 35 to 40 cents, junior high and high school from 40 to 45 cents, and school personnel from 45 to 50 cents.

Parents and other partons, when occasions arise that they eat in school cafeterias, will pay 65 cents instead of the former charge of 50 cents.

The board made the decision after a budget study on the cafeteria program.

Board members say it is their intention to attempt to make the cafeteria program break even, not to make money. The cafeteria program lost money during the school year just ended.

Nasser, Western Leaders May Avoid Head-On Clash

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western leaders and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic alike showed signs Saturday of backing away from a head-on collision over Lebanon.

Washington's fears that the strife in that divided land might lead to a general Middle East war have declined.

U. S. officials said Saturday a Western show of force in the eastern Mediterranean may have impressed the highly nationalistic, pan-Arabic government at Cairo and persuaded Nasser it would be unwise for him to go too far in supporting the Lebanese rebel cause.

Some Washington officials thought it encouraging that Nasser had decided to go through with his plans for a visit to President Tito of Yugoslavia. He set sail Saturday on a trip that will keep him away from Egypt for about three weeks.

Others said there was a danger of wishful thinking about the Egyptian leader's plans. They said his absence from his own capital would be a smart cover if he were planning some major stroke by which pro-Nasser rebels would seek to crush the present pro-Western government of Lebanon.

Thus there were divided views on the Lebanese crisis, which has been one of the most dangerous President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have faced in many months.

Informed officials said it would be foolish to make predictions. But on one point, which could prove to be a critical clue to the way the crisis is going, there was general accord.

Around the State Department, officials agreed that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold had returned last week from a Middle East mission in an unexpectedly optimistic mood about the prospects for bringing the Lebanese situation under control.

Informed sources said they found it impossible to believe Hammarskjold could have taken such a hopeful line on the basis of what he had learned in Lebanon. They thus reasoned that the explanation is to be found in what he learned in Cairo of Nasser's plans.

Hammarskjold emphasized he believes a team of U. N. observers now being built up in Lebanon will be sufficient to carry out the U. N. assignment there. Authorities in Washington said the United States will support Hammarskjold in any action he recommends, even though some are skeptical about the success of his plan.

The U. N. Mission is to discourage outside intervention in Lebanese affairs by the infiltration of arms and men who have been coming over the Lebanese-Syrian border. Syria is a part of the Arab Republic, and Nasser's Cairo Radio for weeks has carried on a campaign of violent agitation against President Camille Chamoun's government at Beirut.

State Department officials said it was probably significant that Nasser had accepted the U. N. observer operation in the first place instead of persuading the Soviet government to veto it in the U. N. Security Council. They said it also was significant that he had not launched open military operations which would have constituted aggression against Lebanon. That would have required the United States and Britain—under assurances they had given Chamoun—to intervene with force.

If, as most Washington diplomatic officials now think, Nasser gave Hammarskjold the impression that he has reduced or will cut off the aid to the rebels, then the U. S. view is that much of the fire is going out of the crisis. If Nasser has not given such indications, then Hammarskjold's optimism is unjustifieid.

It has become increasingly clear in the last week that the U. S. and British governments are determined to avoid if possible any involvement of their own forces in Lebanon. Britain has moved thousands of troops into Cyprus—torn by its own internal conflict—where they stand ready for flight to nearby Lebanon if necessary. The U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean is carrying large contingents of Marines. The presence of these forces may have been sufficient, along with the U. N. action, to save Lebanon from outright foreign aggression.

But officials say any final solution of the Lebanese political and civil strife must be sought inside the country.

Washington policy holds the solution should be achieved in two stages:

1. The present government should bring the military threat to its survival under control.

2. The government should be reorganized and given a new president and almost certainly set upon a slightly different foreign policy, less ardently pro-Western.

The heart of the whole crisis has been Chamoun's position. He was elected president in September, 1952, under a constitutional restraint to one term. Several months ago he began talking about changing the constitution to permit a second term. This split the country.

James Found Not Guilty

Earnest James was aquitted Friday by a jury in 132nd District Court on an indictment of robbery by assault.

James was represented by Fred Auforth, appointed by the court as his attorney. District Attorney Wayland G. Holt was prosecutor. Judge Sterling Williams presided.

The case started Friday morning and the jury returned its verdict about 5:15 p.m. Friday after deliberating slightly more than half an hour.

James had been accused of robbery at knifepoint of David Henkell, attendant on duty at the Ed Neves Humble Service Station, 1401 Twenty-fifth Street, on May 2.

Witnesses for the state in the case were Travis Steele, police chief, policemen J. D. Frith and R. H. Tatum, Henkell and Mrs. Marvin Gray.

Denfense witnesses were James' father, Frank James, Eddie Ruth Spears, Floyd Wellington, and two policemen, Clyde Thomas and A. E. Crowley.

Jurors were Harold Bennett, foreman, Ross Blanchard, J. H. Kimbrell, L. A. McClanahan, Marvin Hanback, Doyle Henricks, Jurden Brunken, George Vicary, K. O. Pitner, L. A. Berry, Fickas Bell, and Ralph Eades.

British Poet Dead At 77

ISLE OF WIGHT, England (AP) —Alfred Noyes, 77, a robust British writer who made a living on poetry, died in a hospital today.

Probably his best known poem was "Kew In Lilac Time." Another, "The Highwayman", was made into a movie.

Six feet, 200 pounds, clean-shaven and short-haired, Noyes was a far cry from the popular conception of a poet. But his poems immediately became popular here and in the United States. Many of them were set to music.

He made 15 trips to the United States and lectured in more than 1,000 U.S. communities. He was professor of modern English literature at Princeton University from 1913 to 1923. He held honorary degrees from Yale, the University of California, and Syracuse University. He was graduated from Oxford.

In 1907 Noyes married Garnett Daniels, daughter of a U.S. Army officer, Col. B. G. Daniels. She died in 1926. Later he married an English widow, Mary Weld-Blundell. They had one son and two daughters.

Has New Job At 85

LUTON, England (AP)—At 95, Accounts Clerk Harry Gordon-Grhame has started on a new job keeping books for a garage. His boss, Colin Parrott, 24, said: "He's just the man we've been looking for. I think there's a future for him here."

Captain Says Tanker Cut Across Bow

NEW YORK (AP)—The tanker Empress Bay "suddenly turned across our bow" just before the Swedish freighter Nebraska knife into her port side, says Capt. Oskar F. Olsson of the Nebraska.

Olsson, 52, testified Friday before the Coast Guard's three-man board of inquiry into the Wednesday morning crash. The Empress Bay sank and two of its crew were lost.

Olsson's testimony supported earlier statements to the board by Thomas F. Haughn, East River pilot on the Nebraska.

Haughn said the tanker failed to answer two signals. The second, he said, was the danger signal — at least four short blasts. At the time, the pilot said, the distance between the ships was one and a half ship lengths.

Haughn said he ordered the freighter's engines stopped when he gave the danger signal. The Nebraska was "still making a little headway but was practically sopped" when the ships collided, the pilot said.

The hearing resumes Monday.

Irish Links Queen Quits Cup Squad

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)— Philomena Garvey, Ireland's golfing queen, officially withdrew from the British Curtis Cup squad Saturday in protest against the omission of the shamrock in the emblem on the team's jackets.

The British women golfers will play the U.S. team at Boston, Aug. 8-9.

British golfing chiefs have adopted the Union Jack as the blazer badge. The previous badge carried the emblems of England, Scotland and Wales plus a shamrock for Ireland.

Dior House Creator Makes Fortune Grow

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Marcel Boussac, a versatile Frenchman of many enterprises, went from riches to glad rags to accumulate a personal fortune which today is estimated at 127 million dollars.

Owner and creator of the fashion house of Dior, Boussac is France's biggest textile manufacturer and the leading racehorse owner and racetrack winner in the world. He also owns the influential Paris newspaper Aurore, manufactures washing machines and kitchen equipment, and is rumored to own half a dozen other newspapers, fashion houses and manufacturing enterprises.

Born in Chateauroux in central France in 1889, the son of a prosperous shirt manufacturer, Boussac entered the business world at 18 with a gift of 100,000 gold francs, then worth about $20,000, from his father.

He promptly invested in the cotton goods market and laid the groundwork for Comptoir de l'Industrie Cotonniere (CIC), a textile concern that today employs 30,000 people, turns out 35 per cent of France's cotton exports, and is exceeded in size only by three U. S. textile firms.

Now the owner of 60 mills, Boussac built his business by a series of bold maneuvers, executed with Gallic dash and a gambler's courage. After World War I, he picked up a string of mills cheaply and turned a neat profit by buying up surplus airplane fabric from England for manufacture in shirts and underwear.

After World War II, with the same flair for the flamboyant, Boussac took another big plunge by buying the Lille textile mills and their million dollars worth of machinery. He financed the deal partly by Marshall Plan aid and by selling his stable of race horses in Kentucky.

Most millionaires who dabble in racing do it for sport, a losing sport. Boussac, a keen sportsman, is in racing to make money, which he does steadily.

The same motive prompted Boussac to put up 60 million francs after World War II to create a fashion house that is now credited with saving France's position as fashion queen of the world. For his designer, he picked a quiet, self-effacing man named Christian Dior.

When Dior died last year, Boussac took another big chance by picking Yves Saint-Laurent, a shy, 21-year-old, virtually unknown designer, to head the house. It paid off with the fashion critics at the very first show.

To Boussac, time is money. All trips over an hour are made by plane. Lunch of tea and a boiled egg is taken at his desk on a tray. Time: 10 minutes. Boussac often works far into the night but seems to have no worries about nervous strain or overwork. Indeed, a doctor once grumbled that he "had no nervous system at all."

A short, stocky man with only a little white hair left, piercing bright eyes and a clipped moustache, Boussac dresses conservatively but affects regal airs. When he walks through the lobby of his building, employes discretly point him out to visitors, but nobody dares address him. Like Queen Victoria in her palace, he is not to be spoken to unless he speaks first, and he speaks only to a handful of old, top employes who call him "Monsieur Marcel." To everyone else, he is simply, but grandly, "Monsieur."

Fiscal Year Ends With Big Deficit

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is due to wind up this fiscally unhappy year at midnight Monday with a deficit of 2¾ to 3 billion dollars.

High administration officials predicted this Saturday. Looming ahead for fiscal 1959 beginning Tuesday is the even more dismal prospect of red ink aggregating 11 billion dollars, or perhaps close to 12 billion.

This would carry the federal budget farther off balance than in any year since World War II, not excepting the period of the Korean War.

The business upturn which the administration expects this fall could improve the budget outlook, but not substantially. The lag in payment of corporate income taxes would delay much of the effect of a recovery until fiscal 1960.

Even for the bookkeeping year now closing, however, officials acknowledge that present guesses may be wide of the mark by as much as a few hundred million dollars. It will be two or three weeks before the final vouchers can be tabulated at the Treasury.

The business recession was the chief villian in transforming fiscal 1958 from what the Eisenhower administration expected to be its third successive year of balanced budgets into the start of a new period of deficit financing.

Income tax and corporation tax payments have dwindled with the drop in personal income and business profits. President Eisenhower's original estimate of $73,600,000,000 in receipts this fiscal year has shrunk to roughly 70 billion dollars. Spending is expected to be in the neighborhood of 73 billion dollars.

One official in close touch with budget developments said that a 2¾-billion-dollar deficit is "as close as we can come now" to an estimate for the past 12 months.

Another high source, equally close to the income and outgo picture, reported that a three-billion-dollar deficit is "as good as any figure we've seen." Experts of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation made a still higher guess; they now believe a $3,400,000,000 figure would be reasonable.

Administration advisers expect no gain in total revenues in the fiscal year ahead. In fact, a decline is expected by some, while spending is expected to rise to another peacetime record of 78 to 80 billion dollars.

Budget director Maurice H. Stans in April gave notice that with the programs Congress was considering, "we are threatened with 80 billion dollar budgets for the next few years, which could well mean extended deficit spending."

Experts can be found, however, who doubt that fiscal 1959 spending will come very close to 80 billion dollars; the new military weapons programs have not advanced as rapidly as anticipated. But if federal spending does soar to that height, the same sources argue, the deficit will be less than 11 billions because the outpouring of government dollars will generate enough income to boost tax collections.

Surety Firm Is Purchased

HOUSTON (AP)—Lloyd Bentsen Jr., president of Consolidated American Life Insurance Co., announced Saturday the purchase of the Lincoln (Neb.) Liberty Life Insurance Co. for seven million dollars.

Bentsen said the two companies will be merged under the name of Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance Co. and will maintain executive offices in Houston. While the executive offices will function here, the expanded Lincoln Liberty will continue to maintain its offices in Lincoln.

Bentsen will be president of the merged company. He said the merger gives the company a total of 147 million dollars in insurance in force, boosts total assets to 28 million, and increases company territory from 3 states to 12 states.

Truck Driver, Girl Killed In Accident

BRAWLEY, Calif. (AP)—The driver and a young girl passenger were killed today when their truck-trailer plunged into a drainage canal five miles east of Brawley.

Dead were Howard Markham, 43, of Denton, Tex., and Elizabeth Weir, 15, of Tucson, Ariz.

California highway patrolmen said the girl was asleep in the truck's sleeping compartment when the vehicle went through a highway stop sign on State Highway 115 and careened into the canal across the road.

The heavy load of foodstuffs shifted forward, fatally crushing the driver and the girl. It required more than four hours to extricate their bodies.

United Funds Blasted By AMA Leader

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A director of the American Cancer Society and past president of the American Medical Assn. has accused united funds charity drives of attempting to sabotage research.

Dr. John W. Cline, San Francisco surgeon, made the attack at the close of the 107th AMA national convention Friday.

He said he had no quarrel with united funds as such but with "professional organizers who for years have been attempting to take over the national voluntary health agencies."

Dr. Cline said the organizers have created "confusion and hostility among the citizenry of scores of communities and jeopardized the success of highly efficient health programs."

The AMA House of Delegates passed a resolution favoring separate money-raising campaigns for cancer, heart, polio and other major disease-fighting agencies.

Child, 4, Drowns In Neighbor's Pool

LA MARQUE, Tex. (AP)—The young son of a Galveston junior high coach drowned Friday in a neighbor's swimming pool.

He was John Graham, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Graham. The body was found in a pool at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lamar.

Investigators said the youngster was learning to swim and left his home before his parents awoke. The father is an assistant coach at Galveston's Lovenberg Junior High.

Stock Market Advances In First Half

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced impressively in the first half of 1958 despite the business recession.

The market has now won back about 60 per cent of the losses suffered in the sharp decline from last July to the Oct. 22 low.

Although corporate earnings were slashed and dividends cut or omitted by many firms, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated 30 billion dollars, based on stock exchange figures and the rise in The Associated Press average.

In the past week the market consolidated recent gains to new 1958 highs. The AP stock average managed a 50 cent gain to $174.30, not much below this year's top of $175.40.

The market declined on the first two days and rose on the last three. The lower-priced stocks and more speculative issues were favored as the blue chips rested.

The six-months upsurge in the face of poor "fundamentals"—the lower earnings and dividends—bred a large army of skeptics on Wall Street. They regard present stock prices as "unrealistic." They've backed this opinion with their money, creating the largest short interest since the exchange began recording this in May 1951.

The short sellers are betting on a sizable market decline. Their short sales are a record 5,795,105 shares. This represents the sale of borrowed stock which the "shorts" hope to repay through future purchases at lower prices, thus making profits.

Unit Road Plan Discussed

The county commissioners court, other county officials, and representatives of other organizations were guests of the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday as they held an informal discussion on the unit system of county road operation.

The unit system for which the optional county road law of 1947 provided, was explained by Ernest Sears, who presided at the meeting. It provides for operation of county roads under supervision of a registered licensed engineer. It does not do away with commissioners or the precinct system but calls for a trained person to handle county road building and maintenance.

Last year the law was amended so a county could provide for either a road administrator or an engineer. The engineer, or administrator, would be hired by the commissioners court and responsible to the commissioners court.

A Jaycee committee which has been studying the unit system has found both these types of unit systems in operation in various counties.

The law, Sears said, had the main purposes of providing for county road building and maintenance more economically, equipment being used more equitably, and having a professional man in charge of roads.

The Jaycee committee, Sears said, felt from checking with some other counties that the unit system offers some opportunities or warrants checking into. He added that the Jaycees are not in protest or criticism of the commissioners court, the present form used here, or any one commissioner.

A member of the Jaycees committee, Ray Houpt, read from an article in the Fort Worth Star Telegram of March 30 which dealt with the unit system. It quoted H. H. Weaver, county judge of Howard County, as saying the unit system, which was initiated after "cellently." A vote there in 1948, works "excellently." Two years ago, he said, proponents of the precinct system tried to restore it in Howard County, and it was defeated in an election six to one.

"I can't conceive of any county going back to the old system, or going back to the Dark Ages," the article quoted Weaver as saying. "—Under the unit system all of the people in the county benefit, not just one precinct," he explained.

Howard County has a plan to build 20 miles of roads each year under the unit system. The county now has 600 miles of roads. Weaver said they are built to specifications of the state farm-to-market roads which will last and carry heavy oilfield traffic.

Weaver's opinion, according to the article, was that if Howard County went back to the precinct system an estimated 30 per cent more equipment would be needed.

The article also quoted Joe Hamilton, Ector County auditor, and Selwyn Webber, county judge there favorable to the unit system. Hamilton said going back to the old precinct system would cost Ector County $100,000 more a year. Ector County has a road administrator drawing $600 a month plus a free house and utilities and an automobile.

Other counties have indicated interest, including Deaf Smith, where petitions were being circulated in March for a unit system election on July 26. There has been considerable support for a unit system in Dallas County.

Bexar County has the unit system in operation, and county Judge Charles Anderson there calls it more efficient than the precinct system. Their county engineer receives $12,000 annually, the maximum salary provided in the law.

Hount said that throughout the U. S. 30 cents of every $1 goes to one from of tax or another and that if this way is more efficient he believed the people would be in favor of it.

Sears compared it basically to the SACROC unit here and the city manager form of government.

Cullen Toombs, commissioner of Precinct 2, asked if anyone had ever checked on the reports from Howard and Ector Counties. Art Blanchard, a member of the Jaycee committee, said that he, Dick Roberts, and Charles Blakey had been to Howard County and that those to whom they talked were very enthusiastic about the system. Howard County officials will be on a Jaycee program here July 11 to discuss the unit system, and the commissioners court will be invited, Blanchard said.

County Judge Edgar Taylor brought out that Howard County initiated the optional road law by election, while Kent County has one by resolution of the commissioners court, with a county road administrator.

There were a number of questions and discussion on comparison of money spent and equipment used in the precinct system as opposed to the unit system. Jaycee committeemen said it is difficult to make a comparison in Howard County, since it has been 40 years since the system began. Also, Blanchard said, there are many variables in expenditures which would make a true comparison difficult, such as payment of debt, purchase of machinery during one year with no set way for depreciating it over a period of years, etc.

Commissioners said that figures from the treasurer's office in Kent County show that Kent is spending more money under the unit system than it was under the precinct system by $12,000 or $13,000 annually. Sears said that Howard officials felt they were saving money and turning it into more and better roads.

John Montgomery, Kent County judge, was to have been at the meeting to speak but was not there because of illness.

The Jaycees will not have their regular meeting next week because of Friday being Independence Day.

Kids, Toys Keep Policemen Hopping

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Bears, panthers, tigers, cats and dogs were all over the place—and so were kids and cops.

But it was the kids who had the cops hopping around the New York Central's freight station. The varmints were only cute, cuddly stuffed toys. And hordes of tots running merrily about, all seemed to have them.

It seemed three little boys had gotten into a boxcar and hauled out three cases of the stuffed toys, which they hid under the station platform until "later."

Not very much later, though. Other youngsters discovered the treasure trove and it was a great day—until the big roundup began.

Unit Plan Merits Study

The county unit road plan, which was discussed at a meeting of the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce at its luncheon meeting Friday, has been largely experimental for the better part of a decade, but now is gaining a substantial foothold in the state.

It was mentioned in the Jaycee meeting that several counties in the state have kept the system in operation long enough to appraise its value.

The principle involved in the system, which is available to counties under the optional road law of 1947, as amended, is two-fold. More efficiency of operation and more economy.

These two factors go hand-in-hand, of course, but there are reports which indicate that some counties which have adopted the county unit system have improved the efficiency of their road-building and maintenance activities while cutting costs simultaneously. Some actually are spending more money today than they were under the old system, but they vow that they are getting more for their dollars.

There are some, no doubt, who have realized no visible benefits from the new plan. Indeed, some of those who now are strong boosters of the county unit system had their moments of doubt at the outset.

Key to success, as in every other activity, rests in the management personnel. Successful operation would be dependent to a great extent upon the engineer, or administrator, who, in turn, would be responsible to the policy-making body, or commissioners court.

When operated in the spirit of the law which makes it available, the system appears attractive. However, it is not a system to be delevoped on the spur of the moment without study and planning.

It should be thoroughly explored, if for no other reason, so that local residents will become familiar with its operation and objectives. Then, if the people desire it, steps should be taken to put in the unit system here.

There is always a place for efficiency and sound economy.

Countdown Is Tense Period

By JIM ENGLAND
Managing Editor
Ogden Standard-Examiner

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —"T minus 600 minutes and counting," announces the test conductor.

And so begins the exhaustive, delicate countdown before the firing of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile. Before the technicians are 80 typewritten pages listing some 36,000 parts that must function properly before the test missile blasts off.

When the big "beasts," as they're nicknamed here, become operational, warmup and launching procedure will be measured in minutes rather than hours. At present, though, the countdown lasts from seven to 12 hours, depending on the number of "holds."

The minute-by-minute checks are necessary because research data are the primate purpose of the test firings. Scores of electrical circuits, instruments, valves, hydraulic systems, tanks, lines and hoses are checked one by one. Then attention turns to sub-systems and entire systems.

The testers don't get near the missile during the countdown. They do their work some 750 feet from the launching pad—in a tortois-shell-shaped concrete blockhouse jammed with testing equipment. They view the giant missile on four television receivers and through a like number of periscopes extending through the blockhouse roof.

The director of the four Atlas launching centers at this Air Force missile test center is F. M. MacNabb, a leathery-faced soft-talking Scot.

Before the Atlas is launched, he explains, it has been static test fired at full power on the pad. Then a guard is placed over it until a time is cleared for takeoff.

When the test conductor starts a countdown, he reads off each item separately. For example, he might ask for fueling valve check, and won't proceed to the next item until he receives verification that the valve can be activated remotely from the inside of the blockhouse and lights on the control panel show it is operational.

As you watch the procedure, he breaks in occasionally after a sequence to drone:

"T minus 380 minutes and counting."

Everything is unusually silent as the minutes tick by. You watch the sweep of a second hand on a specially constructed clock mounted just under the four TV receivers. The only real sound is the voice of the test conductor and responses from the various panel operators.

With an hour to go, the giant red and white 12-story service tower is rolled back and the area around the launching pad is cleared of all personnel. A red light goes on and three blasts from an air horn is the final warning to clear the area. The fueling starts.

At about T minus 40 minutes the liquid oxygen and hydrocarbon go into the missile's cavernous tanks. A white plume rises from high on the "beast" indicating to observers that vent vales are open.

The fueling still continues at T minus 15 minutes by remote control. Five minutes later the last report is received on weather and from the range safety officer.

Then the tension increases. Not a head turns from the chart of instrument each man is watching.

At T minus 4 minutes a flow of water starts over a huge cornucopia-shaped flame deflector to preserve it from the white-hot blasts of the rocket engines. The fuel level is checked again—carefully. Through the TV cameras, now at closeup, you can see the missile sweat.

At T minus 2 minutes, electrical circuits in the missile are switched from the pad system to its own power sources.

At T minus 40 seconds the level of liquid oxygen is checked again and adjusted if necessary.

At T minus 27 seconds the test conductor pushes a black button and the last human act necessary for launching the Atlas is complete.

For the next 36 seconds (yes, it extends after zero) an automatic sequencer does all the work. Only if something goes wrong will the test conductor press a large red knob that cuts off everything.

At 15 seconds the water flow over the flame bucket is shooting out at the rate of 35,000 gallons per minute and the automatic cameras start operating. . .

"Nine, eight seven. . ."

Another set of cameras begins grinding. Each such piece of instrumentation is checked to make sure it is operating.

With the count of four the engines start. . .

At one, the last set of cameras, those that track the missile, are started.

Then. . .zero.

Modern Camp On Ruins Of Carthage

By RELMAN MORIN

CARTHAGE, Tunisia (AP) — A modern army camp stands today amid the noble ruins of ancient Carthage.

Tunisian riflemen look out across the terrain that recorded the footprints of innumerable armies through 3,000 years of warfare.

Their brick blockhouse sits on top of an incredible layer-cake of vanished civilizations, each one built on the foundations of the old.

Barbed wire fronts the beach where Roman and Vandal, Saracen and Crusader — and perhaps forgotten battalions before them —came ashore to seize the glittering city.

Sentries patrol near the site of Moloch's statue, the fiery god to whom babies were sacrificed. In the amphitheater, the blood of Christian martyrs flowed and their persecutors shouted, "Behold they are baptized."

This was Carthage.

It is one of the most beautiful places in the world, covering gentle hills on the edge of the sky-colored Mediterranean — and doomed through the ages to know no peace.

Today, once again, armed men are stationed there. This is the reason:

Two years ago, Tunisia won independence from France. But French troops remain on Tunisian soil. The nationalist rebellion in neighboring Algeria makes it necessary, they say.

Tunisians confined the French to their barracks. To prevent them from coming out—or at least to make it a serious international incident if they did—roadblocks dot the highways and vulnerable shore points are guarded.

Hence, the Tunisian camp at Carthage, and the barbed wire bristling on the seashore.

So history repeats itself.

This is the newest chapter in the story of ancient Carthage, a story that began long before Cato, the Roman censor, cried out "Carthago delenda est"—"Carthage must be destroyed."

And it continued long after the Roman legion destroyed the city and sowed the ground with salt to make it forever barren.

Even the name is mysterious.

Scholars surmise that "Carthage" was the Roman way of pronouncing "Kast Hadracht", meaning "New Town." Was this the new city, founded by Elissa, Princess of Tyre — the Dido immortalized in Virgil's "Aeneid"? Why did she come to this spot, bringing the wealth of her native city? Who were the people already living here?

The shadows of time hide the answers.

Carthage's ships are believed to have gone as far as Iceland, and perhaps even to the shores of America, 15 centuries or more before Columbus.

Imperial Rome in three terrible wars shattered the power of Carthage and left the site of the city almost a desert. It was in these Punic Wars the great Carthaginian general Hannibal showed his tactical genius in years of fighting in Spain and Italy. To battle the Roman army he marched his troops and elephants across the Alps. But Hannibal did not win the war, and the victors dictated severe terms.

Yet Carthage rose again, and the agony and glory of Carthage went on to modern times.

Waves of invasion swept the city in century after century — Romans, Vandals, Byzantines, Saracents, Crusaders, the armies of Barbarossa, the Turks, Spaniards and French.

Progressive Care Stirs Enthusiasm

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

Feel better? Pay less. That's the basis of a new hospital plan.

When you're very sick, or just had surgery, you get special, intensive care, and pay the daily going rate of about $20 to $25 a day.

When you're better, you and your bed are moved into another zone in the hospital where you don't need—and so don't get—so much attention. Your bill drops to perhaps $16 to $18 a day.

Then when you're feeling pretty perky, you move into a self-help zone, a kind of do-it-yourself hospital. You're well enough to walk to the cafeteria, or X-ray room, or dress yourself, and in other ways save time for nurses, or use of costly rooms. So you pay only $8 to $12 a day or less.

Equally or more importantly, this method brings you better medical care, says proponents.

Called progressive patient care, it has been under test for more than a year at Manchester Memorial Hospital in Manchester, Conn.

It has stirred considerable interest and enthusiasm in medical circles.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

(Substitute columnist for Buck Francis, who is on vacation, is Mrs. Martha Zeck, teacher at the junior high school.

Our family seems to meet the qualifications of sports fans. The family jalopy is always gaily bedecked with gold and black streamers on its frequent trips to neighboring towns, and our five voices add to the cheering section at most Snyder football, basketball and baseball games.

There are times, however, when we are a bit dubious about the species of human beings known as "fans."

Here is our list of people the stadiums could do without:

Loud-Mouthed Critics Not Needed

Strong-lunged sports enthusiasts who almost exceed the bounds of good taste with their loud messages to umpires, coaches, and other spectators.

Arm-chair quarterbacks who would have always passed when the quarterback sneak failed. Such criticism never helped a player and may have done some harm.

Would-be-coaches who would have called for another play when the strategy doesn't work, but never give credit when the play does succeed.

Fans who are "too busy" to go to games during a losing streak. (We MIGHT have one some day.)

Seriously, every fan is a representative of Snyder. Let's all try to accomplish a three — fold goal — teach good sportsmanship to our young people, build good will for our town, and boost our teams in every way possible.

But, after all, Snyder fans must be a rather special group. At a recent regional game with Mineral Wells, star pitcher David Grabel's mother told us, "Snyder is one of the friendliest towns I've ever seen."

Small boys, including our own four year old, who run up and down in front of spectators just as the center-fielder makes that spectacular catch.

Giggling girls who ask at the third quarter of a basketball game, "Did Johnny make that last touchdown?" "If your boyfriend can spend hours in practice, can't you at least learn the basic rules of the game".

Small boys, frequently ours, who crowd in to get the last cold coke at the concession stand.

Snyderites in "foreign" cities who gloat over the accomplishments of the Tigers, but never have a good word for the losing host players.

Cats Keep Streak Going In GP Loop

The undefeated Cats continued their undisputed lead in the Graduate Pony League Friday night when they shut out the Braves 11-0.

Winner Bennie Greenfield pitched a two-hitter to beat the Braves, walking only one and striking out six. Loser was Devane Jones who was relieved in the third inning by Doug Brunson. They allowed the Cats 11 hits and seven walks.

The Cats scored three runs in the first, with two runners beating out throws to home and another being pushed across the plate on a single by Jimmy Moroney. In the third, three runners in a row got on by singles, Ronnie Wylie, Alex Cross, and Eddie Watson, and two more followed them with singles, with those three runners crossing home plate. The next two singles were by Coleman John and Greenfield. In the fourth, one run was singled in by Watson.

An error and singles by Greenfield and Jerry Walker got four runs in the sixth.

On Monday night, the Yankees are to meet the Braves.

Bosox Win On Ted Lepcio's Pinch Homer

DETROIT (AP) — Ted Lepcio, who was hitting below .200, smashed a pinch-hit home run in the 12th inning Saturday, giving the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Lepcio was the first batter to face southpaw Billy Hoeft—the Tigers' fifth pitcher. He sent his third pitch zooming into the left field seats. Bob (Riverboat) Smith, a rookie southpaw gained his fourth victory with three innings of relief work. Twice he retired the Tigers, leaving two runners stranded.

The loss dropped the Tigers back into a tie for third place with the Red Sox.

After Lepcio batted for Smith, Murray Wall hurled the 12th inning and retired the side after Harvey Kuenn doubled, his fourth hit of the game.

Lepcio was forced to share his hero's role with slugging Jackie Jensen.

Jensen clouted two home runs — his 21st and 22nd of the season — and accounted for four of the Red Sox's tallies. They came in successive times at bat off starter Jim Bunning and reliefer Herman Wehmeier.

6 Braves To Play On National Squad

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Fred Haney will have six members of his world champion Milwaukee Braves on his squad when he takes the National League team into the annual major league All-Star game at Baltimore on July 8.

Outfielder Hank Aaron and catcher Del Crandall were selected for the starting lineup by a vote of the league's players and Haney picked four others Saturday as he completed the 25-man squad.

Haney chose pitchers Don McMahon and Warren Spahn, shortstop Johnny Logan and third baseman Eddie Mathews.

According to custom, the manager picks all of the pitchers and Haney rounded out his hurling staff by selecting Johnny Antonelli of the San Francisco Giants, Dick Farrell of the Philadelphia Phillies, Bob Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Larry Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals, Johnny Podres of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Bob Purkey of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Haney's other selections were outfielders Richie Ashburn of the Phils and Walt Moryn and Lee Walls of the Chicago Cubs; catchers John Roseboro of the Dodgers and Bob Schmidt of the Giants, and infielders Don Blasingame of the Cardinals and George Crowe of the Redlegs.

As the squad stands, the Braves will have six players, the Pirates four, the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants three each and the Redlegs, Phils and Dodgers two each.

The selection of only two Cincinnati players was a far cry from the rosters of the past two years, when Redlegs dominated the starting lineup under the old system of having the starters picked by a vote of the fans.

The National League starters, excluding the pitcher, will be Crandall, catcher; Stan Musial of the Cards, first base; Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates, second base; Ernie Banks of the Cubs, shortstop; Frank Thomas of the Pirates, third base, and Willie Mays of the Giants, Bob Skinner of the Pirates and Aaron in the outfield.

Cards Win Despite Phil Triple Play

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Louis rookie Gene Green banged out his first major league grand slam homer and veteran Sal Maglie gave up only five hits Saturday as the Cards trounced Philadelphia 8-1, in a game marked by the season's third major league triple play.

Green's big blow came in the first inning and put the Cards ahead to stay. Don Blasingame tripled and Curt Flood singled him home. Stan Musial's double advanced Flood to third and Ken Boyer was issued an intentional walk by loser Curt Simmons. Then Green cut loose with his big hit, his fifth homer of the season.

Here's how the triple play came about:

Flood beat out an infield hit to third. Wally Post dropped a fly by Stan Musial and Ken Boyer lined to second baseman Solly Hemus. Hemus stepped on third to snare Flood and threw to first to nab Musial. The Chicago Cubs and Washington also have executed triple plays this season.

Stranahan Seeks 1st U. S. Title Since '53

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England (AP) — Frank Stranahan starts the lonely task Monday of salvaging the first American victory in the British Open Golf Championship since Ben Hogan turned the trick in 1953.

The big Ohioan is the American in the 128-year-old tournament with the best chance. Former title holder Gene Sarazen, now 56, is here, but says it's just for laughs. About 14 other Americans are not considered good enough.

A near record field of 360 golfers will play four rounds each over the 6,633-yard championship links at Royal Lytham and St. Anne's.

Bucs Thump Chicubs, 7-3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates put the skids on a seven-game losing streak Saturday, thumping the Chicago Cubs 7-3 with the help of a 4-run fifth inning.

Bob Skinner's bases-loaded single, an error by shortstop Ernie Banks and Ted Kluszewski's double produced the runs in the fifth. Skinner also drove in the Pirates' first ally in the first inning with a sacrifice fly after Billy Virdon led off with a triple.

Rookie Curt Raydon won his third game, but needed help from reliever Bob Porterfield. Raydon was lifted in the sixth with two aboard. Porter field snuffed out the rally by getting Bobby Thomson to hit into a double play.

The Cubs scored single tallies in the second, fourth and sixth innings. Thomson, Sammy Taylor and Dale Long drove in one run each with a sacrifice fly.

White Sox, Giants Pace Little Loops

The White Sox of the American League and the Giants of the National League kept out front in Little League standings Friday night as both took wins.

The White Sox beat the Athletics 7-4 and the Giants downed the Cardinals 11-6.

Loser Craig Stokes put up a terrific battle for his Athletics against the White Sox. He struck out 14 batters, but he lost to the Sox, allowing nine hits and four walks. Winner Robert Foree allowed six hits, walked none, and struck out one.

The Sox moved out in the first inning when Jimmy Wilson hit a home run with one on. In the top of the fourth, they added three more runs, two on a single by James Baker and one on a error.

The Athletics began to fight back during that inning, however, gaining four runs, one when Ronnie Chauncey beat out a throw to home, Robert Kay and Phil Moore singled in one each, and another came in by error. The Sox added a couple more runs in the fifth, however, one singled in by Pete Greene, one doubled home by Baker.

It was an easier win for the Giants after the first three innings were out of the way. At the end of three innings, the Giants and Cards were tied 2-2.

Charles Parks, Z. B. Rinehart, and Doc Rinehart each slammed the ball to push runs across in that inning for the Giants, while one run walked in for the Cards. The Giants got five more in the fifth, and it was no ball game from there on.

Winner J. D. Allen gave up only three hits and struck out five, but he walked 11. Loser was Kenneth Dieke, who in five innings allowed six hits and nine walks and struck out six. His relief, Ed Schulz, didn't allow a hit, walked two, and struck out one.

Tomorrow night, Little League play scheduled will be Indians vs. White Sox in the 7 p. m. game and Braves vs. Giants in the second game.

Seattle Girl Nips 100-Meter Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nancy Ramey, a Seattle girl who will be 18 Sunday, broke the world record in the 100-meter women's butterfly Saturday at the International Invitational Swim Meet.

Miss Ramey covered the two-lap course in 1:09.6. The recognized world record, 1:10.5, was set by Ann Voorbit of Holland last year. The approved American record, 1:11.00, was established by Shelley Mann of Washington, D. C., in 1956.

Stengel To Lean On Yanks, Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel wound up with 9 of his own run-away New York Yankees, including 3 pitchers, as he completed the 25-player American League squad for the July 8 All-Star game Saturday.

As expected, Boston's Ted Williams—omitted from the starting AL lineup named in Friday's poll of players, coaches and managers—was picked by Stengel for his complete squad which has seven pitchers.

The eight players, exclusive of pitchers, who received the highest vote at their respective positions in the player poll will start and play a luinimum of three innings. Remainder of the squad was named by Stengel.

Stengel's unit includes five players from the Chicago White Sox; three from the Boston Red Sox; two each from the Cleveland Indians, Baltimore Orioles and Detroit Tigers; and one each from the Kansas City A's and Washington Senators.

The Yankees, who had first baseman Bill Skowron and center fielder Mickey Mantle named as starters, also will be represented by pitchers Whitey Ford, Bob Turley and Rinold Duren; catcher Yogi Berra; outfielder Elston Howard; shortstop Tony Kubek; and second baseman Gil McDougald.

Stengel will have three top lefties, including Ford, Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Billy O'Dell of the Orioles. His right-handed mound guns will be Turley, Early Wynn of the White Sox, Duren and Ray Narleski of Cleveland.

George Washington received 5,000 acres of Kentucky land when he sold his race horse Magnolio.

RAY HOUPT
CANDIDATE FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE
90th DISTRICT

THIS IS HOW

RAY HOUPT

STANDS ON THE LEADING ISSUES OF OUR STATE

1. Party Registration
Ray Houpt believes in a real two-party system in our state government. This can be assured by party registration law—to keep Republicans out of Democratic Primaries.

2. Taxation
Ray Houpt will demand that the state budget be balanced without income or sales taxes by shifting the bulk of the tax burden to out-of-state buyers of Texas' natural gas. A severance tax of 2c per thousand cubic feet would raise $75,000,000 annually, 70% of which would be paid by out-of-state users. If the state needs more than 75 million extra per year they could increase the tax on liquor, cigarettes and gasoline to raise the additional revenue needed. There should be serious consideration given to eliminating some of the services furnished by the state.
It is high time we start economizing in government at all levels, since more than 30 per cent of the peoples income is collected in taxes of one form or another.

3. Utilities Commission
Ray Houpt will fight for a state Utilities Commisson with power to regulate rates; Texas and Iowa are the only states that do not have a Utilities Commission to help the towns and cities of their states in disputed rate cases.

4. Insurance Reforms
Ray Houpt advocates an insurance reform law with a 10 year moratorium on new life insurance companies in Texas. Raise existing capitol and surplus from $100,000 each to $500,000 each. Require any company that has a charter to have agents in the field, producing a certain amount of insurance each year. Any insurance company that is not writing insurance is not an insurance company, but is using its charter for a tax dodge.

Miss Arnold Defeats British Tennis Idol

By STERLING SLAPPEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tiny Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., upset British Amazon Christine Truman Saturday and keyed a six-player American advance through another round at the rain-splashed Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Miss Arnold, just 19, standing 5-1 and weighing barely 100 pounds, outplayed, outdrove and outvolleyed her 6-foot, 172-pound opponent who became Britain's tennis idol after her victory over New York's Althea Gibson in the Wightman Cup matches two weeks ago. The score was 10-8, 6-3.

The center court battle brightened American prestige considerably on another gray, drizzly day that also saw the advance of Miss Gibson, the defending women's champion, and Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, chief American hope in the men's singles.

Miss Gibson, playing well within herself, joined Miss Arnold in the quarter-finals with a 6-0, 6-4 victory over Lorraine Coghlan of Australia. Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont of Wilmington, Del., only other U.S. survivor in women's play, won a third-round match from Australia's Norma Marsh 6-3, 3-6, 8-6. Eighth-seeded Karol Fageros of Miami fell before Britain's Pat Ward, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

MacKay, former champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, and 44-year-old Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., stepped up to the fourth round in men's singles.

MacKay, trailing Australian Bob Mark 4-6, 8-8 when rain intervened Friday, played spottily but well enough to win, 4-6, 10-8, 6-4, 6-4. Mulloy eliminated 21-year-old Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. Patty completed a rain-delayed match with bearded Torben Ulrich of Denmark, 4-8, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

Other men's favorites moved along with little effort, including top-seeded Ashley Cooper and third-seeded Mervyn Rose, both of Australia.

Cooper, still troubled by a pulled thigh muscle, defeated Joergen Ulrich of Denkark, 9-7, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. Rose toyed with Brazil's Ronald Barnes, 6-3, 9-7, 6-4. Jaroslav Drobny, 1954 champion from Egypt, bounced one of the second line Aussies, Rod Laver, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4; All were third round matches.

On the other hand, Miss Arnold's victory over the touted Miss Truman cleared away perhaps the top obstacle to Miss Gibson in her bid for another championship. Miss Truman, although only 17, was seeded second and was rated a good chance to win after her tremendous play in leading Britain to its first Wightman Cup victory in 28 years here two weeks ago. Only 18-year-old Maria Bueno of Brazil remains as a serious threat off past form. She defeated Britain's Joan Curry, 6-0, 6-2.

Little Mimi, who said afterwards "I never thought I would lose," broke through Christine's man-like service with a sizzling backhand in the 17th game to set up her first set victory. Miss Truman, known as a slow starter, scored a service break in the first game of the second set and held her own service for a 2-0 lead. Then Mimi rallied, winning the next five games—three on service breaks—for a 5-2 lead.

She appeared over-anxious as she dropped her own service at love but fought back again for her fourth break of the set and one of the top upsets of the current 72nd tournament.

Braves Finally Get No. 1 Over Dodgers

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The pace-setting Milwaukee Braves, with nothing to show for seven games with the lowly Dodgers this year except defeat, finally turned on their tormentors Saturday to hammer out a resounding 7-3 victory. Rookie right-hander Carl Willey went the distance as he limited Los Angeles to four hits.

It was Willey's second straight major league victory. He shut out San Francisco 7-0 in his debut last Monday.

The Braves backed up Willey with an 11-hit attack that included homers by Johnny Logan and Henry Aaron. The Dodgers used four pitchers, starting with left-hander Johnny Podres, who failed to last a full inning, but assimilated his 7th loss against 7 defeats.

Willey got stronger as the game wore on, having his principal trouble from Gil Hodges. The big Dodger first sacker lined a sacrifice fly with the bags loaded in the opening frame to drive in one run, and crashed his 12th round-tripper of the season with none on in the sixth, a shot into the left field bleachers. Willey went along nicely then til the ninth when the Dodgers scored an unearned marker. This came on a throw by Ed Mathews that hit Dick Gray in the back trying to score from third on a bunt.

Cavan Takes First Money

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Irish-bred Cavan, last of 11 starters at the final turn, came up fast and outdistanced the field Saturday to win the $47,900 Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

Cavan took the $35,000 first money by two lengths, running the mile and a furlong in 1:49 2-5 and returning $3.00, $2.60, and $2.20 to his backers.

The conqueror of Derby and Preakness winner Tim Tam in the Belmont Stakes, Cavan appeared slightly lame as he headed for the winner's circle. Jockey Pete Anderson dismounted before the Richards Trophy, named for the late Delaware Racing Commission chairman, was presented to Cavan's owner, retired Boston banker Joseph E. O'Connell. Trainer Tom Barry said the injury to Cavan's left foot did not appear to be serious.

Red Sox Shut Out Phillies In Pony

The league-leading Phillies were shut out 3-0 Friday night in Pony League play by the last place Red Sox.

In the other Friday night game, the Tigers downed the Dodgers 9-4.

In spite of the loss, the Phillies still hold a comfortable lead, with the Tigers running second. In Monday night play, the Red Sox will meet the Tigers in the 6:30 p.m. game and the Dodgers and Phillies will play the second contest.

Charles Gladson pitched a three-hitter to become winner over the Phillies, and loser Bob Pena also pitched three-hit ball. Gladson walked none, Pena three. Pena struck out 14, Gladson four.

Only six runners were allowed on base by Gladson, and only one of those got past first base.

Jerry Guthrie tripled in the third to drive in one Red Sox run, and Guthrie got home on a passed ball. In the sixth, Gladson, who had singled, scored on a pitcher's balk.

The Tigers took an early lead in their game, scoring two runs in the first, one singled home by Mike Morris and the other getting home on Bubba Fleming's triple.

The Tigers were already ahead in the third, when they scored five runs, and they added two more in the fourth. The third inning runs came on two errors, a passed ball, a single by Fleming, and a double by William Robinson.

Ed Carl Foree, winning hurler, allowed 10 hits, walked five, and struck out seven. Loser was Smith, who in three innings had four hits, two walks, and five strikeouts. Dalton Walton, who pitched the last three innings, gave up seven hits and one walk and struck out two.

Ted Dailey and Joe Szombathy, two assistant football coaches at Syracuse University, both come from Phillipsburg, N.J.

Californian Shatters Babe's Mark To Win Women's Open

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—Willowy Mickey Wright turned the U. S. Women's Open Golf Championship into a runaway Saturday and her winning total wiped out a U.S. Open record established by the incomparable Babe Zaharias.

Miss Wright, a 23-year-old blonde from Chula Vista, Calif., took the lead at the outset and won the biggest ladies' tournament of them all in a blazing finish.

Despite Saturday's rugged 36-hole requirements, Mickey fired a 70 in the morning round and a 74 in the afternoon for a winning 290 total. That eclipses the 291 record total that the late Mrs. Zaharias had in winning the 1954 U. S. Women's Open at Peabody, Mass.

This is the biggest victory of Miss Wright's young career and gives her the 1958 "slam". Recently she won the Ladies' PGA championship, and she did it in the same decisive fashion in both events.

She won the LPGA by six strokes and took this one by five.

Miss Louise Suggs, twice a winner and twice runnerup in the Women's Open, had a 74 and a 71 at Forest Lake Country Club and finished with 295.

Miss Wright's total was two strokes under par at Forest Lake's 37-36—73 layout.

At the halfway point before the 36-hole finale, Miss Wright had only a one stroke lead over Fay Crocker, 1955 Open winner from Montevideo, Uruguay. Miss Crocker could do no better than 76-74 for a 297 total that gave her third place.

The victory was worth $1,800 to Miss Wright, who turned professional in 1954, the year she finished in a fourth-place tie as an amateur in this same tournament.

Alice Bauer finished strong with a 75-72 and her 300-total over the 6,240 yard course put her in fourth place. The 1947 champion, Betty Jameson, of San Antonio, finished fifth at 303.

Betsy Rawls, who took the 1957 title when Mrs. Jackie Pung, of San Francisco, was disqualified for a scoring error, had the day's best performance after a slow start. Her 73-70 pulled the three-time Open champion to 304, good enough for sixth place. Miss Rawls also won in 1951 and 1953.

Mrs. Pung tied with Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., for seventh place another stroke back. Patty Berg of Lemont, Ill., tied with Vonnie Colby of Miami Beach at 306.

The leading amateur was Anne Quast, Stanford coed, whose 307 total deadlocked her with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Bev Hanson of Indio, Calif.

Indians Nip Orioles, 6-5

CLEVELAND (AP)—Vic Power doubled and J. W. Porter singled home the winning run in the ninth inning Saturday, giving the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The Tribe continued the winning habit for new manager Joe Gordon, again using the formula of late-inning rallies.

Gordon sent up three pinch-hitters who drove in as many runs.

The Indians wiped out a 5-2 deficit with two runs in the sixth inning and single runs in the eighth and ninth frames. It was the second victory for the Tribe under Gordon. Don Mossi won his second straight in relief, to give the lanky southpaw a 6-6 mark.

The Orioles scored three runs in the first inning for Billy Loes, in search of his first victory after seven losses. Lenny Green drove in two of the markers with a bases-loaded single.

Chisox Rally, Rap Senators

CHICAGO (AP) — Although Washington banged four homers, two in a row by Roy Sievers, the Chicago White Sox rallied for four runs, three unearned, in the sixth and an 8-4 victory over the Senators Saturday.

Washington's Rocky Bridges and Norm Zauchin also hit solo homers.

Chicago starter Jim Wilson was not even close to repeating Billy Pierce's near perfect victory over the Senators Friday night and left in the sixth in which Sievers hit his second homer for a 4-3 Senator lead.

The decision went to Bob Shaw, who faced only three Senators, completing the sixth inning. Gerry Staley hurled the last three frames. The Sox chased Washington starter Truman Clevenger in the sixth as they collected four runs on five hits, two sacrifice flies and an error.

Round Table Out Front

CHICAGO (AP)—Round Table, racing's only active millionaire thoroughbred, romped to victory Saturday in the $56,050 Arch Ward Memorial Handicap to gain second place in the all-time money winning list.

The victory, Round Table's 22nd in his past 24 starts, was worth $33,000 and boosted his earnings to $1,090,014. He surpassed Citation who earned $1,085,760 and is second only to Nashua who has earned $1,288,565.

Willie Shoemaker kept Round Table, owned by Travis M. Kerr, within range as Aysha set the pace. Round Table took the lead after turning into the home stretch and finished the 1 3-16 miles race on Washington Park's turf in 1:54 4-5 seconds. The time was one-fifth of a second slower than the track record set by Swaps in 1955 and matched by Hoop Band in 1957.

Bank Deposits Encouraging

By The Associated Press

Booming bank deposits — spectacular in some cases and strongly encouraging in others, pointed up Saturday the vigor of Texas' economy in the face of recession talk in some parts of the nation.

Many cities, added up all-time record deposits as of June 23 — when banks were ordered to account to the U. S. comptroller of the treasury and the Texas Banking Commission.

Almost all banks reported good increases over the mid-year bank call last year — when there was not a whisper of the recession which has occupied businessmen and economists since.

A few cities reported declines from a year ago, all for special causes.

Kilgore, for instance, told of a decline there which could be blamed on a slowdown in the oil industry.

The Plainview Herald blamed a decline in deposits on heavy withdrawals by farmers for irrigation pump fuel, fertilizers and insecticides. Deposits declined a million and a third dollars — but two days after the call, one bank showed less than $1,000 difference in deposits from a year ago. The change in dates of the bank call—June 6 last year — apparently made considerable difference at Plainview.

Many cities in farming areas were looking forward to possible record deposits this fall when bumper crops now in the field are harvested.

Among those setting all - time records for deposits were Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Midland, Tyler and Denton.

Setting records for this time of year—were Abilene, Victoria and Dallas.

Some percentage increases were huge, among them El Paso, with a 19 per cent gain. Dallas' increase was a third of a billion dollars, and Harris County's (Houston) was almost as large.

Several bankers pointed out that gains were made in the face of slow business in the oil industry, which has been worrying with production cutbacks for months.

Said Malcom Meek, president of the Citizens National Bank at Abilene, "We had to depend during the drought on oil and, fortunately we had it. But fundamentally, our is a farm and ranch economy. Now, the farmer is beginning to receive some money again. His prospects for the fall are wonderful."

College Squabble Leads To Heated Discussion In Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — The affairs of East Texas State College at Commerce were discussed, sometimes heatedly, at a meeting of ex-students and college representatives here Friday.

The meeting, not an official one of the ex-students, was spiced by the unheralded arrival of four ETSC faculty members who said they came to answer questions in behalf of Dr. James Gee, president.

"Why are you here?" was the first question and Dr. Kenneth Evans, professor of sociology, replied:

"President Gee heard that a meeting was going to be held. He thought we should have someone here to answer questions."

The discussion that followed immediately was on the "general studies program" that has caused controversy at the college and among former students. It was explained as an exploratory program.

Fireworks started when William Bowen began asking questions about reports of unrest in the faculty. He asked about turnover and resignations.

At this point, two leaders in the ETSCI Alumni Assn., Tom Taylor and Steve Matthews, made a plea that the matter be dropped. Both said the controversy was getting into the newspapers and hurting the college.

A group led by Mrs. W. H. Ibbotson, Keith Henley and George Cates said they would not let it drop. They asked that the group meet again and suggested that Dr. L. D. Parsons, recently removed from the ETSC faculty, and others appear.

In addition to Dr. Evans, these ETSC faculty members were here: Dr. Campbell Butler, English professor; John Windell, registrar; and Dr. Paul Street, professor of biology.

In discussing the "general studies program" they said other top ranking schools such as Rice used it. They said that students who wished to specialize in science did not have to take the prescribed curriculum. The faculty members said the program was designed to strengthen the entire college.

Dr. Evans said:

"We did make some mistakes. They were probably in typography or presentation of the courses in the catalogue. Using the term 'communications' substituted for English was probably unwise. We have changed the catalogue."

McCormack Is Endorsed

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Democratic Convention today endorsed Edward J. McCormack Jr., 34, for attorney general. He is the nephew of Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass).

The endorsement came on the fourth ballot. The other three ballots were indecisive when the convention reached a near riotous adjournment at 2:30 last Sunday morning.

More than 1,200 delegates qualified today. There were 1,700 at last week's session.

The fourth ballot count gave McCormack 733 votes. Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg was in second place with 303 and Endicott Peabody ran last with 215.

Ward announced he will abide by the decision of the convention but Peabody said he will enter the Sept. 9 primary anyway.

CRMWD Board Sets Meeting On Monday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have been convoked for a meeting in Big Spring at 11:30 a.m. Monday.

E. V. Spence, general manager, said that the special meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing the purchase of water rights.

Irene Arzedi Finally Weds

NEW YORK (AP) — Irene Arzedi, who disappeared five hours before her scheduled wedding to Joseph Pinto last Feb. 22, was married to him Saturday.

She was quiet but nervous as she entered Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Brooklyn for the 10-minute Roman Catholic ceremony.

The Rev. A. Benincase, who officiated, closed the church doors to photographers, reporters, and about 200 bystanders.

As they left the church, Mrs. Pinto, 29, refused to speak to newsmen. However, Pinto, 31, said:

"This is the happy ending to the story. We knew all along we were going to be married."

A wide search was conducted for Mrs. Pinto after she had failed to appear for the February ceremony. She was located eight days later, saying she had become frightened and had taken a bus trip to Los Angeles.

Retail Sales In State Increasing

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said Saturday "Texas retailers are clearly faring well."

Retail stores in May increased 12 per cent of April and were estimated at $1,109,000,000 to bring cumulative sales for five months to within one per cent of the 1957 total.

The bureau predicted a 12 billion dollar plus year in retail sales, an estimate seven per cent higher than the one estimated for 1957 at this date last year.

Cumulative sales for the first five months of the year are 14,857,000,000.

Sales of durable goods were up 16 per cent and nondurable goods sales were up 11 per cent in May over April.

Best showing were jewelry stores, up 44 per cent, furniture stores, up 34, farm implement dealers, plus 22, department stores, plus 18, liquor stores, up 16, and service stations and motor vehicle dealers, both up 14 per cent.

Stores averaged the best gain over May 1957 were farm implement dealers, drug stores, grocery stores, hardward stores and gasoline and service stations. Considerably lower sales than in May 1957 were reported by office and school supply dealers, family clothing stores and motor vehicle dealers.

In the May-to-May comparison of department store sales, largest increases were made in Temple, up 19 per cent, Port Arthur, up 12, Lockhart, up 10, Brownwood, Bryan and Texarkana up 9 per cent. Bryan and Paris, both up 9 per cent, led in the five-month cumulative periods, while Texarkana was 9 per cent behind a year ago.

Best showings over April in total retail sales increase was Sherman, up 50 per cent and Paris up 26. The leaders in gains over May 1957 were Sherman, up 28 per cent, Temple up 22 and Paris up 18.

Total advertising linage in 25 Texas newspapers was 4 per cent above April but 5 per cent below May 1957.

Defense Act Is Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday signed a bill extending the 1950 Defense Production Act for two more years, until June 30, 1960.

The act was to expire Monday. The administration had asked for an extension, saying the authority is needed to assure prompt performance on contracts for guided missiles and other essential defense procurement.

Under the act, the President may establish priorities for defense contracts. It also gives him limited power to allocate materials for defense purposes.

The President also has authority to make loans and purchases to build up defense capacity and to establish a reserve of trained executives to fill government positions in time of mobilization.

MRS. BOBBY JOE POLLARD
. . . nee Janelle Moore

Janelle Moore Marries Bob Pollard In First Baptist Church Friday

Double-ring wedding vows for Miss Janelle Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Moore, and Bobby Joe Pollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Pollard, were read at 8 o'clock Friday night in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the church, officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Church decorations were white tapers in floor candelabra, flanked by baskets of white gladioli. Candles were lighted by Renee Price, niece of the bride. Flower girl was Debbie Price, also a niece of the bride. They wore dresses of white embroidered organdy over pink taffeta and halos of white love flowers.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Beth Wiman at the organ. She also accompanied Miss Dana Scarbrough as she sang "Whiter Thou Goest" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white Schiffli embroidered nylon tulle over white net and satin. The fitted bodice featured short sleeves and a portrait neckline outlined with lace medallions. The very bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, was fashioned with a redingote of the embroidered tulle, parting at the centerfront to reveal a ruffled underskirt of net. Lace medallions edged the redingote opening.

The bride's veil, fingertip length, fell from a lace pillbox accented by circlets of pearls, rhinestones and sequins. Her long mitts were of embroidered tulle to match her dress. She carried an arrangement of pink roses and white love flowers atop a white pearl-encrusted Bible.

Mrs. Miller Price of Lovington, N.M., attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Doris Lewis and Miss Connie Connell. They wore bouffant street-length dresses of pink embroidered silk organza, designed with scooped necklines, cap sleeves and wide cummerbunds. Pink bows with short veils were worn as headdresses, and they carried bouquets of pale pink gladioli.

Serving his brother as best man was Raymond Pollard. Ushers were Joe Reeves and Jerry Springer.

Mrs. Moore chose for her daughter's wedding a sheath dress of beige lace styled with a cummerbund of brown organdy and beige accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Pollard wore a navy sheer dress with white accessories and a white corsage.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a white cloth over pink. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of pink flowers and a miniature wedding bell. Miss Patsy Ramsey served the cake, and Miss Peggy Spence poured punch. Miss Nell Crawford was assisted by Mrs. Gene Pate in registering guests. In the receiving line with the bridal couple were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Pollard and the bride's attendants.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a suit of gray cotton with a white blouse. Her accessories were black, and her corsage of pink roses from her bouquet. The couple will be at home on West Thirty-seventh Street. Mr. Pollard, a graduate of Snyder High School, is associated with Mr. Moore in business here. Mrs. Pollard is also a Snyder High School graduate.

Army Life Not Much Change For Movie Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens to a celebrity in the service?

Some insight on this matter is given by Pvt. Russ Tamblyn, one of Hollywood's famous draftees. He was in town after completing his basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif. His next assignment: Ft. Sill, Okla.

Russ expected a rough time when he entered the Army. But he had only one serious run-in, and that was with a corporal. He was told suddenly one weekend that he would have to stay on the post to act as company runner.

"But I've got a girl coming to visit me," Russ protested.

"That's tough luck, movie star," said the corporal.

Russ excused himself and said he'd be right back. He wasn't. He kept the date with the girl. His reward: two weeks of extra duty.

"Otherwise, I didn't have any trouble," he said. "I was generally treated just like any other soldier, which was the way I wanted it.

"The other fellows in my platoon were a little bit in awe for a while. Some of them asked for autographs, mostly to send to their folks back home. But that wore off."

Russ's latest picture, "High School Confidential," played the base while he was there. But his outfit was restricted and couldn't attend.

How did he find the Army training?

"Easy," he commented. "I expected the physical part to be tough, but it was a breeze. Of course, I was in pretty good shape. I had just finished 'Tom Thumb,' in which I had to climb up walls and ascend a rope to the top of the stage.

"The part I hated about the Army was the fact that the training is geared to the slowest learner. The instructions are drilled into you over and over until it drives you nuts. They take four or five hours to show the platoon how to do a left face.

Building Parade Float? Library Can Help You

Have you ever tired to make a parade float, but didn't know where to begin?

Many Snyderites will probably be in just such a fix when time for this summer's rodeo parade nears, but fortunately the new Scurry County Library now can offer a big help. It is the new Book, Vaughn's "Parade and Float Guide a Dennison publication, which meets the need.

Contents include a history of parades; "Staging a parade;" "Designing and building floats", "No town is too small for a parade", "Watch for gremlins in a parade" "Clowns in a parade" and "Properties, papers, paints and parades". Illustrations, chiefly photographs, range from small floats pulled by small boys, hometown parades, average size floats, to the professional, large scale extravaganzas of Miami, Los Angeles, and other resorts.

Planning the parade includes all steps between "Set up your parade organization" to "Run your parade", "Accept applause."

Designing and building the float begins with diagrams of attaching platforms to trucks and to trailer chassis, with or without beds; adding wallboard contours, and camouflaging the truck form. Diagrams for wiring and lighting the float are included. Details for decorating the frame include flowers, paper festoons, and fringe.

The Scurry County Library Story Hour met Saturday June 28, at its new time, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Mrs. John H. Boren, again assisted by Bettie Boren, told stories. Stories told were "Angus and the Cat" and Archie the Angel", followed by a finger play and singing game. Present were: Marta and Wayla Walton, David McCommas, Hugh and Helen Fry, Betty and Michael Lange, Sheila Brown, Bebo Boren, George and Rebel Koehl, Con-Jean Boston, Paula Younkin, Sammie and Sharron McDaniel.

Invitation is extended to all children, from four to six years of age, to attend the story hours, 9:30 — 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

Columbines Give Gardens Airy Colors

Columbines, among the most dependable of garden perennials, provide airy gracefulness and fascinating colors for home gardens.

The current issue of Flower & Garden magazine tells about the cultivation of these beautiful flowers and where they fit best in the garden picture.

They thrive in sunny places as well as in partially shaded problem areas. In a mixed border, columbines contribute a full measure of charm and they are completely at home with such favorites as irises, daylilies, delphiniums, Oriental poppies, bleeding hearts and other plants.

Columbines range in height from about 12 inches to three feet, and the modern long-spurred hybrids often produce foliage masses several feet in diameter.

They may be started from seeds or obtained from nurseries. The plants should be set out during fall or early spring and since they are relatively disease-free will require little care.

More than 25 varieties of columbines are named and described in Flower & Garden, offering a wide selection of plants that will add much charm and grace to garden areas.

Sack Styles To Shine In School Rooms Next Autumn

BY EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The fall school bell swings the sack and the trapeze fashion into the classroom.

Styles in children's wear are following the lead of grown-up fashions. No less an authority than Carl Bauer, president of the Children's Wear Assn., predicts that the sack won't be sacked. Some children's wear manufacturers have gone as far as to show 75 to 80 per cent of their lines in these new fashions, he says. But he thinks the average will hit about 60 per cent between the chemise and trapeze with 40 per cent in what he terms conventional styling.

In the style trend for tots, plaids are important. There are kilts. There are knits and knit trims. There also is a change in color with russet brown and gold tones important, together with blue green shades of Burgundy, royal blue and green.

So if Mother thinks she may escape the sack by waiting out the trend, she may have a long wait.

Library Here Features Books For Very Youngest Readers

This week's book list is for Scurry County Library's very youngest readers; the boys and girls who are nine years old or younger.

The first book we want to tell you about is one of our favorites. The name of the book is "Archie Angel", and it is about a little boy-angel who did not like to wash his face and hands or go to bed on time. Read all about the funny things that happen to him when he finds himself living with the farmer's chickens.

There are so many books written by Mr. Gates that we would like to tell you about a few of them. If you are just out of the first grade you may want to read about "Tip" and "Toby", or you may like the book "Polly the Kid". It is about a little goat who ate flowers, got on the kitchen table, and had fun playing with a little black puppy.

You boys and girls who are just out of the second grade will enjoy the story of "Buster the Burro". Buster liked to eat apples, and he liked to go fishing. "Always Ready" is about Sandy and Robin, two little boys who lived by the ocean.

If you were in the third grade last year, you will enjoy "Little Bear, the Indian Boy", "Trails in the Woods" is a story about Jack and Nancy and their visit to see their grandmother and grandfather. You will also want to read "Animals are Fun"; maybe you can read it to your little brother or sister.

All of you will like the book "Small Rain". It is a pretty book of Bible verses, and you will want to tell your Sunday School teacher all about it. "Thank You, God" is a book of prayers.

Another is "First Prayers". (Scurry County Library has the last in both the Protestant and Catholic editions). Two others you will want to read are "Friends With God" and "A Child's Life of Jesus".

Do you think it might be fun to be a triplet? Read about Snipp, Snapp and Snurr who are triplet boys, or about Flicka, Ricka and Dicka who are girls.

Be sure to look for the stories about "Marshmallow," the rabbit, "Barkis", the puppy; "Babette", the kitten; and "Herbert the Lion". These are such pretty books too.

Every child enjoys the old tale of "Puss in Boots." That cat lived quite a life — ask for the book so that you can find out about all the strange things he did.

Have you been asking Mother and Dad questions about the oil wells you see in the county? "Pogo's Oil Well" has pictures that will help you understand about the wells.

If you have been wondering about the different trees you see, ask for "What Tree is It? Watch for the book "What Indian is It?" — you may want to check it out the next time you are in your library.

Books Moved Under Guard

AUSTIN (AP)—A valuable rare book collection was moved to the University of Texas Saturday under guard of Louisiana and Texas state police.

It was the largest such acquisition in the university history: The Parsons Library, containing about 40,000 rare volumes and several thousand historical maniscripts.

Two commercial van lines handled the shipment with a state police escort.

The collection was the property of E. A. Parsons of New Orleans. Its acquisition was made possible largely by the gifts of Judge and Mrs. W. St. John Garwood of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Will Clayton of Houston and the M. D. Anderson Foundation.

Beauties Do Okay After Competition

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As the season for beauty contests approaches, we are asked to shed a tear for the plight of the poor winners.

Don't do it! Judging from a local survey, the contest winners are doing all right.

It is often claimed that nothing remains for beauty queens after their victory except oblivion. True, few of them have set the world afire as actresses. But they can still make good livings on the basis of their prize-winning assets.

This is the conclusion reached after surveying a team of lovelies assembled as moon maidens in "Missile to the Moon." That's not bad surveying. Not when the girls include Reneta Hoy (Miss Germany), Sandra Wirth (Miss Florida), Tania Velia (Miss Yugoslavia), Mary Ford (Miss Minnesota), Marianna Gaba (Miss Illinois), Lisa Simone (Miss France) and Sanita Pelkey (Miss New York).

None of the girls has exactly hit it big in Hollywood. Yet they claim they are able to support themselves on earnings from clubs.

Do beauty titles help their acting careers?

No, says Miss Germany. They are labeled as beauties without talent.

Yes, says Miss Minnesota. "Beauty contests can be stepping stones to a career if a girl keeps her head."

But all agree that beauty must be accompanied by talent. If a girl has both, she can have a chance in Hollywood.

State Fair Musical Puts On 'Oklahoma'

One of the most popular and tuneful musical shows of all time, "Oklahoma!" will last through July 6, by the State Fair Musicals in Dallas.

Stars of the show are Jane Powell as Laurey and Rusty Draper as Curly.

Miss Powell is the lovely young movie star who has also recently made a big hit with her night club act in New York and in television appearances on the Steve Allen Show. Draper is the handsome red-haired singer whose record releases are frequently noted on the best-selling lists.

They will be supported by an outstanding cast which includes some Broadway stage, television and the movies, and by the Musicals singing and dancing ensembles.

The show will be presented with the sumptuous settings and elaborate staging for which the Musicals have become famous. The distinguished production staff includes Musical Director Lehman Engel, one of the best-known Broadway musical comedy conductors Stage Director George Schaefer, who directs and produces some of the most popular shows on television as well as the New York stage and Choreographer Dania Krupska who has created the dances for a number of top Broadway shows.

"Oklahoma!" is one of the most popular musical shows ever presented. It has been seen by literally millions of people all over the world and has also been made into a movie.

Some of the infectious melodies from "Oklahoma!" include "Oh What A Beautiful Mornin'", "Surrey With the Fringe On Top," "People Will Say We're In Love" and of course, the rousing favorite, "Oklahoma!" which has been adopted by the Oklahoma Legislature as the state's official song.

"Oklahoma!" will be presented at the State Fair Music Hall in Dallas nightly at 8:15 p.m. except Sundays, and with a 3 p.m. matinee on Sundays. Tickets can be purchased by mail or in person from the Musical Downtown Box Office, 1315 Elm Street, Dallas.

Oil Pickup Would Make A Good Year

AUSTIN (AP)—If the expected pickup in demand for petroleum takes place, 1958 may prove to be a good year after all, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The bureau said the state's economy is considerably improved over the low levels in February and March. Business barometers went up generally in May as they did in April, leaving "two consecutive months of improvement behind us."

"Now that we have apparently reached the trough of the recession, it becomes a question of time until the forces of regeneration can begin a new rise toward a crest...The strength of the fall pickup in business will provide the needed clue," the report said.

One important factor is the acceptance of the 1959 model automobiles which will be on the market sooner than usual. The bureau said consumer acceptance of the new models would have been improved if the excise tax had been discontinued but since the tax will remain there appeared no likely reduction in prices.

In Texas, the rate of economic activity was three per cent higher in May than April, which was up five per cent from March.

Kids Have Natural Urge To Compete With Fathers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The second generation of Crosbys has been much in the news lately, and Bob Crosby thinks he knows why.

"It's the natural urge that all kids have to compete with their fathers," said Bing's younger brother. "It's nothing new, nor is it peculiar to show business. There's many a butcher's son who is frustrated because he can't cut as thin a slice of bacon as his father.

"But when the father is famous, the urge to compete comes in the form of publicity. It's easy to get into the papers when you have a famous name. But it can be quite embarrassing to the family.

"I tell my own children and I tell Bing's that they shouldn't let the fact that their fathers are in the limelight affect them. They should be neither extroverts or introverts because of it, but just try to create their own individuality."

Of course, that is easier said than done. The young Crosbys have made the headlines and gossip columns already. Bob's own 15-year-old Chris made the papers last week.

"It was a stupid thing and Chris himself admits it," Bob said. "He doesn't know why he did it, except that he had just broken up with his girl and wanted to teach her a lesson or something.

"He had just gotten his own new car as a reward for getting a B average in school. He was seven days away from getting his own license, so he had to have an older boy drive for him.

"Well, he and the other boy drove by a new car and they decided to see how fast it could go. They were starting to push it away when they were caught.

"It was a senseless thing to do, but think of the senseless things that you did when you were a kid—the things you could have been arrested for.

"It's just too bad that there had to be so much publicity. I think there should be a rule here, as there is in New York City, that names of minors who are involved in misdemeanors should not be publicized."

Bob added that it's difficult to rear children, famous or not, in this era and in Hollywood.

"It's hard to give them values in this period of uncertainty," he commented. "The boys know that they can look forward to two or three years in the Army; their future is unsettled."

Ambulance Plane Crashes On Takeoff

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—An ambulance plane en route from Houston to Lancaster, Pa., crashed in an attempted takeoff Friday night, injuring two passengers, one a bedfast veteran.

Clifford Wallace of Houston, the pilot, escaped unhurt. The passengers were Robert Orr, 30, of Lancaster, being flown to his home from the Houston Veterans Administration Hospital, and his fiance, Janet DeGolia, 29, of Lancaster.

Orr, on a stretcher, suffered severe cuts on his left leg and feet. Miss DeGolia suffered a concussion and cuts on her shoulders and head.

Button Pushers Must Go

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, says producer Paul Gregory, needs to get rid of its "hysterical button pushers."

They are major reasons why programing exhibits timidity and mediocrity, he feels.

A showman of relentless energy who operates in the three worlds of TV, theater and movies, Gregory is a provider of special projects under contract to the CBS network. His criticism is of other than network representatives.

His major complaint I've got is the areas of approval given to some star and agency people, so that things keep fluctuating right up to show time and you never are able to get what you want into a mold that jells," he asserts.

"If TV is going to do big shows in the future, then they've bloddy well got to keep such characters away from the programs."

Although he doesn't know how or why such interference developed, the dark-browed Gregory is ready to start making some changes of his own henceforth.

"For the first time I've read the small print in a contract," he says, "and on shows from now on I'm not going to bend."

The creator during the past several years of such TV specials as "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," "Three for Tonight" and "Crescendo," Gregory is tentatively contemplating a spectacle for late fall about the greats of filmland.

The idea struck him when he became fascinated by the footprints which are embedded in the sidewalk of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

His plans however are subject to swift change—a Gregory tradition—for he is currently plunging into Broadway work after an interlude of moviemaking.

The screen production of "The Naked and the Dead," having been completed, he is bringing "Marriage - Go-Round" starring Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert to Broadway this fall.

Tarzan One Big Money Film Series

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Barrymores, Brandos and Bogarts may come and go but there'll always be a Tarzan.

That most durable—and commercial—of movie stars this summer observes his 40th anniversary of fabulous profit-making.

An estimated two billion people have paid a half billion dollars to watch Tarzan swing through trees in 32 pictures since the first one, "Tarzan of the Apes," was released in 1918.

No Tarzan picture has even come close to losing money. And, with worldwide audiences, the muscular man in the loin cloth rates as one of the most popular of all Hollywood products.

Some years ago, a group of visiting Russian journalists toured the Hollywood studios. They met most of the big name stars without the slightest hint of recognition.

Then they spied Lex Barker.

"Is Tarzan! Is Tarzan!" they chorused.

One of them commented that Tarzan is the greatest Russian movie star. They were surprised to learn that Barker was a Hollywood actor—who had quit as Tarzan some months before.

Sy Weintraub, president of Sol Lesser Productions, explains the Russian attitude:

"Tarzan's meager lines are always dubbed into the language of the country in which Tarzan is being shown, with the result that the French will swear Tarzan is French and the United States fans are just as positive he's American."

Until recently, said Weintraub, Tarzan pictures were the only American films shown behind the Iron Curtain.

Vicuna Not In Goat Family

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Johnson County Democrats were straightened out Friday night about the source of vicuna wool, the rare and expensive kind that has come into prominence in the Goldfine-Adams case.

A long resolution condemning President Eisenhower for upholding his top assistant, Sherman Adams, referred to the wild vicuna as a "mountain goat living high in the Andes."

"That's wrong," said delegate Thomas McCorkle, assistant professor of agricultural medicine at the State University of Iowa. "The vicuna is not a mountain goat. It's a 'dwarfed camel.'"

The convention changed the description before adopting the resolution.

Crops, Ranges Make Growth

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Most Texas crops and ranges are making good growth after rains fell in most of the state, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Saturday.

"However, district agricultural agents report a need for general rain in South Texas and much of the Coastal Bend as grain crops show ill-effect, and in the Panhandle for row crops and native pastures," Director John Hutchinson pointed out.

With the first bale of cotton ginned in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and seed planted and up in the Panhandle, the cotton harvest should begin its move northward across the state in a few days. Prospects are good, although insects have done some damage in most sections.

Ranges are improving generally, except in areas mentioned above as needing rain, and much hay still is to be baled. Livestock remains in good condition and the market is favorable.

The watermelon harvest has moved into Central Texas with good yields, but only fair prices. The tomato harvest is ending in East Texas after a disappointing season. Vegetables in the Panhandle are making progress, except in hail damaged areas.

All North Texas crops benefitted from rains up to four inches except small grain which is about 75 per cent harvested. Pastures, ranges and livestock are in good condition.

In South Texas a lack of rain has caused lower yields of grain sorghum as harvest gets underway. Cotton is making good growth. Even though scattered showers fell and some local areas were flooded a good general rain is needed.

Northeast Texas crops and pastures also are taking on new vigor which brightens the outlook. The moisture came at the right time, especially for sweet potatoes, sorghum and corn. Pastures are looking good and cattle are in good condition.

Conditions are much the same in deep East Texas. Crops and pastures are making better growth. The tomato season is about finished.

The wheat harvest in the Panhandle 65 to 70 per cent complete, was slowed by moisture and high wind. Native pastures and dryland crops still need a good general rain. Wheat yields have been above average and cattle are in good condition.

Rolling Plains cotton and sorghum were damaged by heavy rain and hail in isolated sections of Floyd, Crosby and Garza counties. The rain extended south and was beneficial to parts of Frisco, Hale, Scurry, Howard and Mitchell counties. Counties further south need rain, but crops generally still are making excellent progress. The wheat harvest is almost complete.

At San Angelo Roy Huckabee said moisture conditions in the Edwards Plateau are much improved after several days of scattered rains, and that range and pasture prospects are greatly improved. Livestock is in good condition. The small grain harvest is complete and cotton and sorghum growth is excellent, especially where rain has fallen. There's some grasshopper damage and rabbits are causing much damage to plants in Nolan County.

The best yields of wheat ever made in Shackelford County and the best in 45 years in Wilbarger were reported. Cotton is squaring in some nearby counties, but cotton and sorghum especially need moisture.

Central Texas cotton, corn and sorghum are making promising growth as cotton sets fruit, corn tassels, and grain begins to head. Rain helped most sections but skipped some. Peanuts have been planted and are up in the west Cross Timbers area. Small grain has been harvested and many farmers are stubble plowing the land.

Increased corn, sorghum, and watermelon yields should result from scattered showers in South Central Texas, but some crops, especially in the southern sections were too far advanced for much benefit from rain.

The Gulf Coast area had some areas helped by showers, but other areas are very dry, and corn is hurting. Rice looks good, cotton is fruiting heavily and grain sorghum is heading. Livestock is in generally good condition but pastures are weedy and need rain.

False Chinch Bugs Found On Farms East Of Snyder

One of the big problems the West Texas farmer has in raising cotton is that of keeping the insects from destroying it.

At various stages of the cotton's growth, different types of insects work on it, and the farmer must use different kinds of poisons to curb them.

Last week, one of the worst infestations of insects tentatively identified as false chinch bugs was found east of Snyder on the Doyle Pogue farm.

The bugs were concentrated in a dry lake bed which was covered with weeds, but they were working out into the fields and doing considerable damage. The bugs were one-half inch deep in spots.

Lemond Vandiver lost eight to 10 acres of cotton to the bugs, while Joe Eicke had some badly-infested cotton.

Most of those farms are about seven miles east of Snyder. About two miles south of there, Vestal Boothe found an infestation of the same type bugs on the Warren Sturgeon farm, where he lives.

A small infestation of the bugs was found far from those farms, west of Snyder near the rodeo arena.

Eldon Cleveland and J. B. Wilder of Lubbock entomologists for the Stauffer Chemical Co., were taken to the farms by Jake Greene of the high school vocational agriculture department, and they said the infestation was the worst they had ever seen.

The two entomologists made the tentative identification of the insects as false chinch bugs. Positive identification will be made at Texas A & M College.

Getting at the source of the insects first, the farmers burned off the dry lake bed. Recommendations were made for control of bugs, and the farmers planned to poison the insects. Boothe was planning to poison his last week. The recommended control is one pint of dieldrin and one-half pint of parathion for each acre of badly-infested crops, and one pint of dieldrin for that which does not have such bad infestation.

Farmers in this area who have near them large weed patches or lakes were urged to check their crops immediately for these insects, which are small, like knats or fleas in the nymph stage and about one-fifth of an inch long when grown. They also have wings when grown.

These are sucking insects, working on the base of the plant and leaves.

Not primarily cotton insects, they will eat anything which is green, including cotton and grain sorghums.

14th Child First Girl In Family

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP)—The 13 sons of the Matthew Wagners had a flock of boys names ready for the new baby in the family. But it turned out their mother had the winning combination. She picked Mary Ann.

The first girl in the all-boy family that, Wagner says, "takes what God gives us," is due home this weekend from Holy Family Hospital. Born Wednesday, she scaled a robust 10 pounds, 6¼ ounces. Home for the Wagners is a 38-acre dairy farm on which everyone shares the work.

Obviously the boys hadn't counted on having a sister, and Wagner admitted today that he had "given up all ideas of having a girl." But his wife, Julitta, thought differently.

"I have an idea she had that named picked out five years ago—just hoping," said Wagner. The boys, though, had been asked for suggestions. Each had favorite names and we wrote them all down—all boy's names."

Wagner said the boys reacted quite naturally to the happy news. "they didn't say much, but everyone of them grinned from ear to ear. With that many brothers to look out for her, Mary Ann ought to make out all right," he added.

Will there be more children?

"Will it rain tomorrow," answered Wagner. "Who knows? We are a Catholic family and we take what God gives us. So far we have nothing to complain about."

Even the hospital got into the spirit of the thing. Mrs. Wagner's hospitalization was "on the house."

Pat Boone, Athletes At Church Rally

DALLAS (AP) — Singer Pat Boone and track stars Bobby Morrow and Eddie Southern are featured in a Church of Christ youth rally here Sunday that is expected to set a denominational attendance record.

Ten thousand persons are expected at the rally, set for 2:30 p.m. in the Dallas Memorial auditorium. The rally is being sponsored by the Elmwood Church of Christ and other Church of Christ congregations in the Dallas area.

The denomination's record gathering under one roof to date is 5,500, sponsors of the rally said.

Boone, star of his own television show and idol of teen-age music fans, will lead the singing and also take part in a discussion of young people's problems.

George Bailey, evangelist for the College Church of Christ at Abilene Christian College, will speak on "Living for Christ."

Assisting in the services will be Morrow, Southern, and Roddie Osborne, Texas A&M football star.

Building In State Rises

DALLAS (AP) — Construction awards in Texas during June rose to $99,289,815, the highest figure for any June since 1950.

The six-months total for the state is now $537,858,699 and if good weather continues, 1958 should be close to the all-time record set in 1957, the Texas Contractor, an industry publication, reported.

Engineering awards in June totaled $43,941,176, a sharp rise over May. Texas Highway Department awards of more than 17½ million dollars was the largest engineering item, followed by REA, telephone lines and other utility construction which totaled slightly over 16 million dollars.

Non-residential and residential awards both dropped during June compared to the previous month. Non-residential awards were $30,015,579 and residential awards $25,333,060.

Crippled Children Guests At Stamford

Bill Braymer, prominent civic leader of Abilene and an official of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center has arranged to bring a bus load of children from the center to Stamford for the Texas Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo on July 2.

The bus will be driven right to the bleacher section where the children will have a ringside seat for the entire performance without having to get out of the bus.

The children will be special guest of the Texas Cowboy Reunion at the invitation of Mr. W. G. Swenson, the president. For many of these youngsters, it will be the first and only rodeo they have ever seen. Many of the boys will get to see real cowboys riding, roping and whooping it up, just as they have often dreamed of doing but were not physically able.

100 Sailors Climb In Ring With Bull

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A hundred U.S. sailors, dressed in white uniforms, climbed into a ring with a young bull Saturday.

The bull had padded horns and for an hour, spectators in the stands roared as the sailors threw or rode the bull or got thrown or butted by him.

The young bull was turned loose for the sailors at the end of a bullfight in honor of Vice Adm. Bernard Liege Austin, commander of the U.S. 2nd Fleet, and his men.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE BIBLE

QUESTION: How old is the Bible?

ANSWER: The Bible is not just one book, but a library of books. The Protestant Bible has 66 books, the Roman Catholic Bible 73 and the Jewish Bible 24. Even the word Bible means "book" in the Greek language. The Bible is found in all parts of the world and in all sorts of languages. There are 195 complete translations of it and about 1,130 partial translations.

Because the Bible is a series of books, it was written at different times. The oldest sections of the Old Testament are believed to have been first cast into a writing form in the 10th or 9th century before the birth of Christ. The New Testament had largely been completed by the middle of the 2nd century after the birth of Christ although there were many later additions and revisions.

FOR YOU TO DO: Have you ever read the Bible clear through? Try it at the rate of a chapter or two a day; you will find it fascinating.

(Today's question was submitted by Carol Lee Grau of Chester, Pa., who will receive $10. Send your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Monday: How do you measure the distance from the earth to the stars?) 6-29

Beware Girls: Cool Teen Style May Leave Boss Cold

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

IF YOU WANT to get that job, girls, don't apply for it wearing a sack dress, a straggly short haircut, bare legs and loafers. These are the current pet hates of bosses, as revealed by a recent survey of 208 office executives.

The girl wo gets the job, employers agree, is the neat, well groomed miss who wears a trim tailored suit (fitted, please), a small hat, clean gloves, sheer stockings, plain pumps with high or medium heels, a medium length, well-brushed hairdo and a minimum of makeup.

As to boys the best way not to get a job is wear an Elvis Presley haircut, a loud sports coat and slacks, pork pie hat and two-tone oxfords with rubber soles.

The bosses say that the first impression made by a young job seeker is the most important. The boy or girl who takes the trouble to be well-groomed and properly dressed when applying for a job is the one who may be expected to show initiative and responsibility after he gets it.

No Sacks

Employers are almost unanimous in vetoing the sack dress as office attire, and they are firm in their stand against sloppy flat-heeled shoes and bobby sox or bare legs.

They have little use for the pony-tail hairdo, and particularly abhor that ragged crew-cut affected by many high-school girls.

The average boss also is not impressed by the girl who shows up wearing heavy eye makeup and garish lipstick. A discreet use of makeup, of course, all right, and even desirable. The object should be to make it look natural, so that the unobserving male will think you are wearing none.

Business Suits

Employers in eastern cities agree that young men seeking jobs should wear suits with coats and trousers that match. Preferred is a dark suit, white shirt and quiet tie. This attitude is somewhat relaxed in the West and Midwest where sports clothes are more acceptable for business wear. Dark well-shined oxfords are the approved footwear.

Girls also are warned to avoid metallic nail polish and long fingernails. Employers feel reasonably enough, that the girl with curled talon fingernails will not be to efficient at the typewriter. They also frown on heavy perfume and an excess amount of costume jewelry for office wear.
