RUSSIANS MAY LOSE POLAND

GERMAN OPERATIONS OF GIGANTIC EXTENT MAY FORCE WITHDRAWAL

GREAT CAVALRY MOVE

German Offensive Being Conducted By Cavalry on Scale Greatest in Present War

By Associated Press. London, July 19.—Attention now is centered on the gigantic operations in the eastern field of war where fighting is in full swing in nearly every section of the Russian line from the Baltic to the Onestier. General Von Beulow who was on the left of General Von Kluck on the first of the invasions of France now commands the extreme left of the German advance towards Riga which is being conducted by cavalry on a scale exceeding any heretofore during the war. Berlin claims an exceeding advance and Petrograd concedes an advance after the Russians made a stubborn contest. On Von Beulow's right is General Von Eichhorn, who is being held up by the great Russian forces of Ososwetz. On Von Eichhorn's right is General Von Gallewitz whose name appears for the first time in large operations. After capturing Prasnay he now is pressing a German attack on the Narew River and its tributaries. On the famous Rawa and Bzura lines there is comparative quiet which also is reflected on the south side of Warsaw, but to the southeast the movement against Lublin which was checked temporarily again is in full swing.

The Russians must fight a defensive battle for the possession of Warsaw or lose all of Poland. The Germans are consequently undoubtedly to prefer the first issue hence the Russians in the opinion of many military observers are likely to attempt a complete withdrawal with the armies intact.

These tremendous activities of the Germans in the east suggest that they have little reserves left to devote to the western campaign, which affords the entente allies a respite, either for a conservation of supplies and men or another attempt to capture Lille. Another view holds that the best service her allies could give Russia at this time would be the forcing of the Dardanelles. It is possible the allies may combine both suggested attempts but it is unquestionable that for the time the center of gravity in the war has shifted to eastern Europe.

DALLAS COUNTY IS RICHEST COUNTY IN THE STATE

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, July 19.—Dallas county is the richest county in the state, according to tax returns. The comptroller's department figures show Dallas county at $142,137,630.

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY WERE EXCEPTIONALLY HOT

With a maximum of 102 Saturday and 103 Sunday afternoon, the sure enough summer time has apparently come to Wichita Falls. Today, with showers during the morning and with a south breeze, the mercury remained below the 90 degree mark most of the morning. The mercury has not gone lower than 75 degrees for the past three days. The mark reached Saturday is said to be higher than any attained last summer.

SENATOR GORE BELIEVES THERE WILL BE NO WAR WITH GERMANY

Senator and Mrs. Gore

Confidence in the ability of Woodrow Wilson to steer this government safely through the complications that now face it was expressed by Thomas P. Gore, senator from Oklahoma, who was in Wichita Falls today on a tour from Vernon to Gainesville. The senator spoke at Vernon last night and left this morning for Gainesville where he will speak tonight. He is on a two weeks lecture tour.

Senator Gore said that he believed war with Germany would be averted by diplomacy and that despite the attitude taken by Germany, the situation would be amicably adjusted.

"The government of Germany is one thing," he said, "the people of Germany another. No government can go very far beyond the wishes of its people. President Wilson is standing firm for the rights and principles for which this government has always stood and I know he is going to be firm. If Germany could not recede, we could sever diplomatic relations; that would not be a very severe blow of course, but it would maintain this government's position. Mr. Bryan was not willing to go as far as the president in asserting the principles in question, and I believe he was right when he said this government should take the initiative by foregoing every possible risk. But the principles upon which the American demands are based must be upheld."

R. M. TODD SHOT BY A WOMAN AT GRAHAM

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IN FRY CASE PROBABLY FATALY WOUNDED

WAS SHOT THROUGH LUNGS

Mrs. J. H. Henderson, Proprietress of Alamo Rooming House Arrested and Given Bond

Special to The Times. Graham, Texas, July 19.—R. M. Todd, one of the defendants in the Fry case, was shot and wounded last night at the Alamo rooming house. Mrs. J. H. Henderson, proprietress of the Alamo rooming house, was the shooter. The shooting occurred in the street near the rooming house. Four shots were fired. Two of them entered Todd's body. One penetrated his lungs and the other entered the neck. Todd started to run at the first shot but had gone only a few yards when he staggered and fell. He told those who picked him up that he believed he was "done for." Todd has been taken to the residence of J. W. Fulp and none but his intimate relatives have been allowed to see him. Dr. W. M. Terrell is attending him.

The shooting took place at about 2 o'clock. The pistol used was a .38 automatic. A number of persons saw the shots fired.

Mrs. Henderson has waived a preliminary hearing and has given bond in the sum of $500. She has made no statement but it is understood that domestic troubles led to the shooting.

Todd was convicted last week in the county court on a charge of bootlegging. The maximum penalty for that offense in this county which voted local option before the law making this offense a felony was enacted, was assessed, the penalty being a fine of $100 and 60 days imprisonment.

MUCH LOOTING BETWEEN VERA CRUZ AND PUEBLA

By Associated Press. Puebla, Mexico, July 19. (Delayed in transmission.) Conditions in the region between Vera Cruz and Puebla are greatly unsettled. There has been looting and destruction of property. On the Inter-oceanic railroad between Vera Cruz and Jalapa, six miles inland all stations have been destroyed. There has been shooting in the state of Oaxaca and Guerrero. Trains are delayed and frequently passengers including Americans are compelled to lie on the floors of the coaches while Zapata bandits shoot through the windows.

Oaxaca, which early in June declared its independence of the rest of Mexico, until peace is restored, is a lawless region and is almost completely depopulated. The people are prepared to resist the invasion of that state by the forces of any of the Mexican factions.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE WILL GO TO CARDIFF

By Associated Press. London, July 19.—David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, has taken a hand in the South Wales coal strike and has announced his intention of going to Cardiff tonight to have a talk with the miners. This announcement was made at the same time as the report was received for new proposals had been advanced which apparently offered prospects of settling the strike.

Todd was tried here together with E. W. Fry, J. R. Linschke and Fred Todd for the murder of Tom Cherry Holmes, court house guard at Graham. All were acquitted their defense being that they had framed up with the guards a "friendly holdup" and that the guards opened fire on them. Todd has lived at Graham a number of years and had been in court several times. He was a fine physical specimen and is much above the ordinary man in intelligence. Judges and others relate that while in jail here with the other defendants awaiting trial on the murder charge that he discussed their defense frequently with the others and received in jail with them the evidence. Todd is married having a wife and several children.

WORKMEN SET NEW RECORD FOR CONCRETE POURING

Complete Concrete Work for Joint City and County Hospital Within 11 Days

What is said to have been a record for similar work was set by the workmen on the joint city and county hospital, when they completed all of the concrete work within eleven days. The concrete work done on this building would ordinarily take thirty days or longer, but was completed in less than half that time.

The first of the oil burning locomotives recently built for the Fort Worth & Denver was put into service today, making a run from Childress to this city with a small train of freight. It arrived at 1:30 this afternoon, in charge of W. F. Carter, engineer J. K. Fauntleroy, L. Dawson, the Denver's superintendent of motive power, also made the trip.

The engine is of the Mikado type and is said to be the largest in Texas. It is 73 feet long from the tender to the pilot and the wheels are 64 inches in diameter; the cylinder is 27x30 inches. The engine towers above the others in the round house like a giant. The tank contains 250 gallons of oil, which is sufficient for the average run, with a heavy load, from one division point to another.

There are ten of these engines to be put into service, six on the Denver and four on the Wichita Valley. None will be used for passenger service at present.

COATING OF ASHES USED TO CURE SABER WOUNDS

Frankfurt, Germany.—A surgeon whose work is almost exclusively among the Cosacks has shown the medical world of Europe a new wrinkle in the speedy and handy healing of dangerous wounds—especially when in the field and far from hospitals. The means consists simply of applying to the wound a thick coating of ashes—preferably made by burning cotton or wool cloth—and then binding it up with the bandage which every soldier carries. The ashes seem to draw the pain from the wound, and to act curatively in a remarkably short space of time. The method is particularly effective in saber and bayonet wounds.

CARRANZA FORCES TAKE BORDER TOWN

The prisoners later were released and went across the American border to the American side. American residents were not molested.

FAMINE CONDITIONS IN MEXICO CITY DESCRIBED

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—State department dispatches today confirm earlier reports of the severity of the Carranza troops at Anazacchi, Sonora. The triumphant forces took possession of Camaneca.

Famine conditions in the capital are described by a Red Cross report received by the state department. It says that more than 100,000 women on the day previous to the sending of the report, July 17, applied to the international committee for food tickets, only 40,000 were issued.

Where former soldiers were sent to a slaughter house to obtain blood that is saved and given away," the report says, "there are now 2,000 daily besieging the gates. Near these twenty persons were seen fighting over the remains of a dead horse."

He will confer with the labor leaders and others interested. It is expected that the influence of the government toward an early settlement of the differences will be invoked.

It is said that foreign interests well supplied with funds have sought to tempt labor troubles to prevent the shipment of American products to Europe, said Mr. Comer. "I know that an effort was made to bring about a strike of longshoremen and that when that failed an effort to cause a strike of seamen was then made."

AUSTRIAN SUBMARINE SINKS ITALIAN CRUISER

Guesppi Garibaldi Torpedoed off Ragusa and Foundered Within Fifteen Minutes

By Associated Press. Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, July 19.—The following official communication was received from Vienna under date of July 18: "An Austrian submarine this morning torpedoed and sunk south of Ragusa the Italian cruiser Gueseppe Garibaldi. The cruiser foundered within fifteen minutes."

The Gueseppe Garibaldi was an armored cruiser of 7,234 tons displacement. She was 344 feet long and was built in 1898. Her complement was 530 men. She was armed with one 10 inch, 2 8 inch, 14 6 inch and 10 3 inch guns. Ragusa is a fortified seaport of Austria-Hungary in Dalmatia on a peninsula of the Adriatic Sea.

NOTE IS DISCUSSED

President and Secretary of State in Practical Agreement—Cabinet Meets Tomorrow

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today discussed in detail a draft of the note to be sent to Germany this week informing the Imperial government that the United States will do if there is further violation of the American rights on the high seas. It was understood that the president and Mr. Lansing found that they had reached about the same conclusion, that the next communication will be of a definite character; that the United States will not remain passive in the event of another attack on an unarmed and non-combatant ship with the loss of Americans.

The note will announce to Germany the intention of the United States to assert its rights on the high seas in accordance with international law. There will be probably no direct or no discussion on the principles already treated at length in previous notes. Tomorrow the note will be submitted by the president to the cabinet.

In a cabinet meeting it was agreed the communication will be on its way to Berlin by Saturday. Although it is not certain if reference will be made to the attack on the Otranto it is known that the incident has been used as a previous suggestion that the next communication will take into consideration that German submarine commanders were conforming to the rules of international law. The president is said to have become convinced that the next note to Germany must point in more emphatic terms than has been used before the intention of the American government not to surrender an jot of its rights.

HEAVY AMMUNITION SUPPLIES GOING INTO MEXICO

San Antonio, Texas, July 19.—United States department of justice agents engaged in investigating Mexican conditions have information that an immense quantity of ammunition and other munitions have been shipped into Mexico in the last three weeks. The records show six carloads, or 30,000 cartridges. Four thousand rifles are now being delivered at Laredo as one order, another order for twenty rapid fire guns and 1,000,000 cartridges has been let and all told, it is known that at least 3,000,000 cartridges, 15,000 rifles and from 50 to 60 rapid fire guns have been sent or are being sent across the Rio Grande within the last month.

It is reported that other orders for immense quantities of munitions are contemplated and some kind of a record is being kept on all munitions being shipped from the United States. It is believed the federal officials know which factions are using these munitions but this information they refuse to give out. Reports from the ammunition dealers along the border indicate that they fear the placing of an embargo on all munitions at an early date and are now taking orders only for quick delivery.

REV. SMITH DEFENDS CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

DECLARES MEMBERSHIP WICHITA FALLS CHURCHES IS UP TO THE AVERAGE

DISCUSSES LOCAL OPTION

Says Official Board of Leadership in His Church is No Place for An Anti Imputations that the church membership in Wichita Falls is peculiarly indifferent to great moral problems was vigorously denied by Rev. Charles Clark Smith at the Sunday morning service at the First Methodist Church, corner Seventh and Lamar streets Sunday morning. He said he believed that the church membership in Wichita Falls was up to the average and said that those who know conditions believe there is much strength in the churches. He declared that if he should discover that he had in his church the official board a man who was an "anti" or that an "anti" was a teacher in the Sunday school he would ask that person to resign from official position.

His subject was "The Saloon Situation in Wichita Falls." In part he said:

"I have only one purpose in bringing this subject into the pulpit and that is to make sure if possible, that both pastor and people ring true on the issue now before us in Wichita Falls. It is one thing to be a pro as to national affairs and another when spoiled local conditions. What we have to deal with now is a family affair and we want to know where we stand. I have little patience with the charge spoken or implied that the church membership in Wichita Falls are peculiarly indifferent to great moral problems and particularly to the problem of intemperance in our midst. I believe the pastors are in a position to know and am sure that the general testimony of the pastors will bear me out in saying that the church membership in our churches are up to the average. We do not pretend to be perfect but to those who know conditions it is plain that there is much strength among the churches. If I should discover, as I do not believe that I shall, that we in this church have on our official board or on the teaching force in our Sunday school a single man or woman who is what we commonly speak of as an 'anti' I should call upon that individual to resign from office or position of leadership. If that should not be done the pastor would most assuredly resign because he does not believe that a pastor should continue to accept the position of supervision over an audience where persons who defend the most damnable sin of the ages are in leadership. This church must and I believe does ring true on this issue now before our community. Cannot Dodge Issue.

"In discussing this question we must remember that we are dealing with the issue in Wichita Falls particularly. We must remember also that we cannot deal with it as we should without stirring up some one possibly to ill feeling toward us. It will do no good but rather make us a joke if we persist in declaring that we are going to fight but we are going to be very careful not to hurt any body. Some pro talk reminds us of the old lady's advice to her son who was going swimming. That he should not go near the water. You are not going to get into a prohibition fight and mean anything for the cause without stepping on some one in the melee and the fellow stepped on with not like you. It will do no good to wax eloquent in glowing government statistics gathered from national problems. We may make some folks think we are good soldiers for the cause if we do that but the devil will take us for a joke so far as hurting his cause goes. What we must remember is that we really get at the problem in to lay bare the immediate cause and point out the necessary solution to the condition now obtaining here in our own city. Remember that this is a local option proposition. If it hurts some people we are all sorry but we cannot decide the issue because the fight will hurt some body. Surgery is always painful but when it has to be done we must not draw back because of the pain. Wichita Falls needs some moral surgery. It will hurt but the cancer must come out. We do not help the cause by blinding our eyes to the facts. We are sorry that these evils are here but if we ignore them we do not cure them. The wise citizens will seek to cure rather than cover up our defects.

Bootleggers Here Now. "What is the situation—that we face? So many phases of the problem have been ably discussed among us that I do not care to take them up. Some points, however, have appealed to me that I have not heard discussed yet. After a brief summary of conditions I desire to discuss these. First let us note that we have nearly two saloons per 1000 population. In many States where they have been working to regulate the saloon one per 1000 is the limit. We have bootlegging galore. Single with the crowds and this is evident. Notice the suit case customers coming out of the saloons. Note the federal licenses over in the flats. We want to keep this fact well in mind because when the town goes dry we are going to hear about the bootlegger as if he were a new product. Every saloon is bound to be the nest for a bunch of bootleggers. We have our red light section. We are far famed for our boarding houses. Any woman who would run a respectable boarding house must be on her guard day and night to keep these vamps out of her house. A certain lady employed a chambermaid a few days ago and before the maid reported for duty

LOCAL OPTION IN CLAY COUNTY.

Our prohibition friends, with their characteristic policy of dealing in generalities, have been telling us about the wonderful improvement wrought in Clay county with the adoption of prohibition, but again they fail to go into details and give the voter the true facts with reference to conditions there.

In order that the public may have the figures for consideration in this connection, this committee has gone to the trouble to gather a few statistics from the records of that county, and from prominent business men, and these are presented herewith.

In presenting these facts we desire to reflect in any way on our neighbor, but in as much as the prohibition committee has raised the issue we shall, as is our purpose in dealing with the record of other communities, give the true conditions as they are found to exist.

Postoffice Receipts. Local option was adopted in Clay county in September, 1909, and the record of postoffice receipts, which is always accepted as an accurate illustration of the condition of any town or city for the three years prior thereto and for three years afterwards is as follows:

1907	$6,386.73	1910	$8,103.51
1908	7,288.37	1911	8,088.69
1909	8,204.66	1912	6,881.66

From these figures it will be seen that there was a steady gain each year until the adoption of prohibition, after which the receipts declined until in 1912, when the total was $1,322.62 less than the year in which local option was voted.

Prior to the adoption of local option the saloon license and occupation tax of the county was sufficient to meet the requirements of the jury fund, but immediately thereafter it became necessary to set aside a portion of the tax money for this purpose, which appropriation, in 1912, amounted to $2,000.00. Furthermore, the tax rate in 1908 and 1909, years just preceding the election, was 25 cents, whereas in 1910, 1911 and 1912 the rate was raised to 30 cents, and this in the face of an increased valuation following the development of oil and gas.

Working Conditions Changed.

Listen, you that have heard the oft repeated plea of the pro that its adoption will not affect the progress of the city, or decrease the amount of building activity. In 1909 Henrietta had an active Union of carpenters with a membership of thirty, and all members profiting by virtue of a reasonable amount of employment. Following the election the union was forced to disband and surrender its charter on account of the business depression and consequent inactivity in a building way, and now there are but nine carpenters in the city, one of whom stated to a member of this committee that he was now working on the only job he had had since August, 1914.

Again, one of the prominent lumber men there stated that for the year prior to the adoption of prohibition his sales totaled $120,000.00, and that according to records available and to the best of his recollection, he had not sold that amount in all since that time. We might further call attention to the fact that there has not been a business house of any consequence built since Henrietta was thus afflicted.

These facts should be a sufficient argument to the laboring men as to the probable result in the event prohibition prevails. If prohibition thus affected Henrietta, may not reasonably expect a like result, except more pronounced, in Wichita Falls.

Records of the Courts.

Prior to August, 1909, there had been filed in the District court of Clay county a total of 3,400 civil and 1,830 criminal cases. Since that time these numbers have been increased to 4,044 civil and 2,637 criminal cases, an increase of 644 civil and 207 criminal cases. It is estimated by court officials that twice the number of murder cases, originating in the county, have been tried since local option went into effect, as for a like period previous to that time.

Business Property Affected.

As in the history of every town afflicted with prohibition, the usual depression following the change so affected the demand for business property that every owner felt the effect in the remarkable falling off in rentals for store buildings. Three buildings that formerly rented for $171.80 per month, now bring but $55.00. Another building on the square rented for $65.00 rent, but only commands $25 at the present time. Three other rooms brought $155.00 before prohibition and are now rented at $60.00. One building, a two-story structure, has been vacant since prohibition went into effect.

Prior to that time there were six churches in Henrietta, each having a resident pastor, while now only two denominations support a resident pastor, one congregation no longer keeping up an organization. If prohibition is so beneficial to the churches and morals of a community, why this record at Henrietta?

WICHITA FALLS ANTI-PROHIBITION COMMITTEE.

PROHIBITION PROMOTES CRIME.

It is a favorite argument with our prohibition friends that to vote out the saloons will materially reduce crime and make the community a better place in which to live. The orators talk eloquently along this line, and the agitators cry it from the streets corners, expecting, of course, that their statements will be accepted as true, and that such three 'gentlemen callers' came to see if she had arrived at her new work.

Sufficient to say that for that lady she did not arrive at all. When our town has gone dry and the next logical step is taken, the breaking up of the restricted area you will hear a great cry about scattering the evil through the city. Let us note now that it is already scattered from one end of the city to the other and we have the red lights besides. If a strange woman should come to our city now and with no knowledge of conditions should set out to find a place where she might safely engage some what chaos would she have getting into the right house. There are good places beyond doubt, but how will the strange woman fare who is searching for the good place? Now I am a citizen of this city. I know to general conditions before I came here. I have purchased property here and expect to hold what investment I have right here. I have no desire to run down our city but I consider it my duty as a citizen to recognize our evils and to not say that Wichita Falls is the worst city in Texas because I do not know Texas. But I do say that Wichita Falls is a desperately wicked place. There is more vice here in proportion to the population than in any place where I have ever lived and I have lived in widely separated sections of our country. Any one can see that we have deep-seated vices here. I have said repeatedly and still say that the good people of the town are as fine as any I have ever known. But when we speak of averages we must be frankly honest and admit that our moral, social and intellectual conditions are very low. This will appear to the observing in many ways. Let me indicate one condition that to my mind is pertinent. If I remember rightly we graduated from our high school last June a class of 18. In another town well known to the writer where there is a population of scarcely 4000 there was a graduating class of 80. We have very near four times the population with one-third the number of young people in our graduating class. Or contrast still another town with a population of 1000 and a graduating class of 12. If we had pupils at the rate of 12 per 1000 we should have 180 in our graduating class, and this is not at all out of proportion. If we should try to catch up with the first town we would need to place 240 instead of 18 in our senior class. In other words that town of less than 4000 population has at the ratio of 13 pupils to our 1 in the high school.

"Now what has that to do with the saloon question? Much every day. These towns are in communities which have been dry for a long time. The per capita wealth is not so large as in Wichita Falls but there is almost no poverty. Every family can send their children to school. Nearly every family has the desire to educate their children. Get back of the school situation in our city and you will find that the saloon has played a disastrous part all these years. If we would raise the moral and intellectual status of our city we must begin right by striking at the chief source of poverty and ignorance and dead-end hopes and ambitions. A booster cares little for the future of his family and can not and will not furnish the money to send them to school. When Uncle Sam went down to Panama to dig the big ditch he said, 'If my boys all die with yellow fever I can not put this job through.' The mosquito is guilty of spreading this disease and breeds in the swamps. I must get rid of his breeding place. If we would clean up vice and ignorance in Wichita Falls we must first get rid of the cesspools where the devil has his hatcheries. If we want our boys and girls to have a fair chance in life we can do nothing better than to clean up the infected atmosphere. Poverty, degradation, vice and ignorance follow in the wake of the saloon. These things do not con-

"dope" will go unchallenged. They do not produce the facts and figures to substantiate these assertions, relying on general statements secured from friends of prohibition in other communities.

That the public may not be misled by such statements, the true facts as shown by statistics are given herewith, involving comparisons of conditions in localities with and without prohibition. Such figures should appeal far more forcibly than any general statements that the prohibitionists may make.

But it is not "bleeding" Kansas alone that suffers from this fallacy. Listen to the voice of depression from prohibition-ridden Georgia. A December, 1914, issue of the Constitution, of Atlanta, says:

Conditions in Georgia.

"To cope with the alarming crime conditions that have struck terror to the heart of residents and night pedestrians of this city, Chief James L. Beavers, in his annual report to the city council, will appeal for four police sub-stations, forty new policemen and additional equipment.

"The sale of drugs in the underworld has even exceeded the traffic in blind tiger whiskey. The use of drugs has become so general among the lawless element that the prison institutions of the city are being forced to make special provisions for the care of drug fiends.

"It was not a surprise in police court Saturday morning and afternoon to find that there had been more arrests for carrying concealed weapons on Christmas than on any other Christmas in the department's record."

If prohibition is so successful in reducing crime, why such reports from Atlanta, one of the leading cities of the south? Why should the hearts of residents and night pedestrians be stricken with terror? Why necessary to appeal for forty additional police to cope with a situation directly due to the adoption of prohibition? Why necessary to make special provisions to care for the increased demand on penal institutions? And why should it become necessary that an increased number of citizens be forced to violate the law by carrying concealed weapons?

More Murders in Dry States.

United States statistical abstracts show that in 1912 "dry" Memphis had 64 murders per 100,000 population and "wet" Milwaukee had only 4. In "dry" Atlanta there were 89 murders per 100,000 population, and in "wet" Philadelphia 2, while Chicago had only 9. How can these facts be reconciled with the idea that you get rid of 90 per cent. of crime when you destroy the legitimate saloon?

In view of the fact that the prohibitionists hold up Kansas as a shining example of the success of that theory, it will be interesting to note the effect that prohibition has on that state from a criminal standpoint.

Kansas has a juvenile delinquency record of 25.68, as compared with a record of 11.17. Nebraska, a wet state adjoining.

Prisoners held for homicide was 62 per cent. greater in Kansas than Nebraska, and life prisoners 52 per cent. more, per one hundred thousand population.

The Kansas percentage for prisoners of all kinds was 64 per cent more than her sister "wet" state.

Kansas has a percentage of 11.36 per 100,000 population for murders committed, there being twenty-four states with a cleaner record.

Comparative Statement.

But some may say that these figures are selected to meet conditions. Then below will be found a statement of the percentage of prisoners in nine "dry" and nine "wet" states, as shown by U. S. Statistical abstracts for 1913, page 58, table No. 38, the figures showing the number per 100,000 population:

Prohibition States.	Percentage	Licensed States.	Percentage
Georgia	191.4	Pennsylvania	106.7
Kansas	91.1	South Dakota	47.8
Maine	88.3	Texas	108.6
Mississippi	127.0	Wisconsin	71.8
North Carolina	64.4	Arkansas	85.1
North Dakota	63.6	Iowa	60.9
Oklahoma	101.1	Minnesota	77.7
Tennessee	125.7	Nebraska	55.1
West Virginia	119.8	Ohio	54.0
Average for 9 "dry" states	109.1	Average for 9 "wet" states	77.3

Numerous statistics could here be reproduced to refute the general statement of the prohibitionists that crime decreases with the adoption of prohibition, not a single state thus afflicted showing an improved condition over any other state from a moral or law-abiding standpoint.

Local Option Ineffective.

If the record is such to show an unsatisfactory condition as a result of statewide prohibition, what may we expect from the adoption of local option. Certainly prohibition cannot be made more effective as a local option measure than where applied to an entire state. If prohibition promotes crime, as a statewide proposition, we must admit that local option will produce the same result when applied to a county or community.

We submit then that if the history of prohibition is such as to disprove the time-worn plea that it will improve conditions, but rather shows to increase the number of criminals, that there is little reasonableness in the argument for its adoption, and we believe that the unprejudiced voter will refuse to saddle upon this county such a condition.

WICHITA FALLS ANTI-PROHIBITION COMMITTEE.

ment is advanced for retaining the saloon and this has been well met (time and again. Some of us would sell our birthright for a mess of pottage. We would put money above morals. One thing needs to be emphasized especially. To vote for the saloons to remain here is to vote for a continuation of our present moral conditions. Some moderate drinkers will say I have a right to drink when I want to and so I will vote for the saloon to stay. You should remember Mr. Respectable Drinker, that you are voting not for what you claim for yourself but for the perpetuating of the conditions we now have.

CAN LLOYD GEORGE WIN?

British Waiting For More Weapons
and More Shells and Germans
Likely to Beat Them

London. (Correspondence of the Associated Press). The war on the French front has now developed into a race between Lloyd George and the German general staff for Calais, declares Lovat Fraser, a prominent British writer. In a letter to the Mail, urging that everything else should be temporarily laid aside in England for the work of reinforcing the efforts of the new minister of munitions.

"With the Germans and their monster guns at Calais, we should lose control of the narrow seas," writes Mr. Fraser. "If we get enough shells and guns in time Calais may be saved."

"There is every reason to believe that the Germans will soon strike another blow at Calais. It is no answer to say that they tried and failed last November. The first battle of Ypres was a hurried affair which developed on both sides without careful preparation. The next time the Germans try to burst through they will throw into the attack every ounce and they will only move when they are able to advance with a strength which they think overwhelming."

"The enemy regards the seizure of Calais as an essential prelude to the destruction of England. The question is far graver than the country thinks and the attack will probably come this summer or autumn."

Danger is Real. "This country still laughs at talk of invasion. Not many months ago it was laughing at Zeppelins. No one laughs at Zeppelins now. Far stranger and more unlikely things than the invasion of England have already happened in this war. The German talk of invading England is more than a dream. They began to think about it very early in the war, and in their usual practical manner began to prepare for it. They have ready today the transports, the wharves, the railway sidings and the stores."

"If they make the attempt, it ought not to succeed, but there is more than a chance that they might effect a landing. The problem does not admit of detailed public discussion, but it ought to be regarded quite seriously and gravely. The best authorities now believe that the Germans will try to land."

Mr. Fraser is not sanguine as to the question in Russia or the Dardanelles, but believes that England must fight out the war right at her doorstep in northern France.

Germans Believe Winning. "The Germans," he observes, "believe they are winning the war, and if a stranger from another planet alighted among us and judged by surface indications alone, he would probably think so too. Take the western theatre; the allies are stuck fast; the French, who have done wonders on their own front, are waiting for the British. The British are waiting for more weapons and more shells, and as we have now reached midsummer, they will wait a long time. All through Europe there is not a single big man visible for this is a war of myriads directed by pygmies.

"The country ought also to know the real significance of the Russian retreat in Galicia. There has been too much talk about magnificent withdrawals, and the unimportance of Lemberg. The fact is that though Russia has fought bravely, she can do nothing much more this summer owing to the lack of munitions and other causes and unless the coming winter is much harder than the last, her movements may be greatly restricted until next spring."

The Dardanelles is almost too painful a subject to write about. We must stick to it now, but we only win our way there by inches and at grave risks and to get through we may need diversions from other quarters which are not yet forthcoming."

BARB WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS FOUR MILES IN DEPTH

These With Machine Guns and Railroads' Big Factories in German
Superiority Over Russians

Warsaw, Poland. Barb-wire, machine-guns and excellent railway arrangements, have been the chief elements in the German operations in Poland during the past three months. Owing to overwhelming superiority in these three respects the Germans have been able to hold the line many hundred miles in length against what was frequently a far superior force of Russians, at least as numbers were concerned.

To defend the German positions along the little rivers Buzza and Rawka, where the two armies have been facing each other since last autumn, would in the ordinary manner of speaking require nearly eight army corps. But the Germans have been able to maintain their places here with a small fraction of that number, owing to the fact that their barb-wire defenses and troop-transit arrangements are so perfect.

Along this Buzza-Rawka front of about forty miles, the German barb-wire defenses are literally four miles in depth. The entanglements being so arranged that in a military sense they cover the whole territory. Behind each group of entanglements at the little strategic ganglions which are easy to determine from the contour of the land and the lines of possible approach, there are posted little batteries of machine guns ready to sweep away any rash offensive. It would cost an attacking force hundreds of thousands of men to wade through these wire entanglements, which zigzag and crisscross in hollows and mass themselves in hedges and walls, all the vital points being commanded by a merciless storm of machine gun fire.

FIGURED THAT THAW'S NINE YEAR LEGAL FIGHT COST HIM MORE THAN $1,000,000

The nine year struggle of Harry K. Thaw, who shot and killed Stanford White, is said to have cost his family more than $1,000,000. John B. Stanchfield's fee in the latest action is reported as $100,000. More than forty lawyers, many of them leaders in their profession, have been retained for Thaw. Numerous alienists have been engaged by both sides. In the nine years since Stanford White was killed Thaw has engaged in ten distinct legal actions, each complex and entailing many minor suits. To keep Thaw in Matteawan, New York state is said to have expended more than $300,000. "The state knows what lawyers cost," said Thaw, "because it could not afford to pay Jerome his price to stay in the case. It has been expensive for the state as well as for me." In the accompanying illustration are shown Harry Thaw immediately after the jury had declared him sane; Thaw

The only possible way of penetrating such a mass would be by destroying it with a persistent storm of shells, and even this would require several days, giving the defenders time to bring up reinforcements over their admirable strategic railways. It looks like the railroads are simply bound to lose. About a year ago train service was curtailed on account of slack business. Since that time auto mobile routes have been established between Wichita Falls and a number of nearby towns along the railroads. These auto routes are now handling much of the local business that formerly went to the railroads, further depleting the railroad revenues. The auto routes appear to be filling a want that resulted from the curtailment of passenger service, and from indications are doing a profitable business. The people will be served.

Heavy demands are being made on The Times' space these days by the discussions on the local option question but room will be found for communications that are not too long on the six proposed amendments to the state constitution to be voted on next Saturday. The Times would like communications from railroad and traveling men on the proposal for absent voting; from lawyers on the proposal to increase the number of supreme court justices; from educators on the proposal for complete divorcement of the University of Texas and the A. and

M. colleges, and will be glad to hear from readers on these or any of the other amendments. The Times will also print gladly the views of cattlemen and farmers on the proposal to adopt tick eradication in Wichita county.

The time is short and our space is limited. Communications should get to The Times within the next two or three days and should not be too long

The prospects now are that there will be no improvement of the cotton market this fall over that of last fall, notwithstanding the acreage has been reduced and the government crop reports estimate the yield at about 4,000,000 bales less than it was last year. The reason for this is that Great Britain has about supplied herself with all the cotton she will have use for during the next year, and has fixed things in such a way that American cotton cannot be shipped to markets where there is a demand for it, and where those needing the American cotton are willing to pay a price that will leave the producer a profit. Our too friendly attitude toward Great Britain in this European war is costing the cotton producers of the South from 5 to 6 cents per pound on their cotton. The quicker the cotton producers recognize this fact the better it will be for them. Congress can render the necessary relief and even if a special session of congress has to be called to do this, it ought to be done.

CONGRESSMAN HENRY ANNOUNCES FOR U. S. SENATE.

Waco, Tex., July 19.—Congressman R. L. Henry of Waco makes the following formal announcement of his senatorial candidacy, outlining his platform of principles:

"By this formal statement I announce my candidacy for United States senator in the primaries of 1916 upon the following declaration of principles:

"In 1896 I became a representative in congress and my constituency have honored me with ten consecutive terms. It is right to here express my gratitude to my people for honoring me with a commission extending through twenty years. As a test of my qualifications and fidelity, I cheerfully refer to my constituency.

"It is appropriate that the voters of Texas know the quality of my democracy and my position on the political issues at this time.

First, Pledges to My Constituency.

"When candidate for representative I promised to support a policy of tariff revision to provide adequate revenue unimpaired by elements of protectionism; the election of United States senators by direct vote; an income tax law; the strengthening of the anti-trust laws; reformation of our currency system with a view of destroying the money trust. Constantly I have urged all these things, and they are now law by and through the joint efforts of those believing in their efficiency. These pledges have been sacredly observed by me during my congressional career, and I experience great pride in their redemption.

Second, Defense of the Wilson Administration.

"In the senatorial campaign I shall defend the Wilson administration. The tariff, the currency and the anti-trust acts and the constructive legislation of the democratic party are sound and characterized with wisdom and should not be repealed. They shall have ready support and defense on all occasions.

Third, Rural Credits.

"The Baltimore platform declaring that rural credits legislation is of equal importance to the reformation of our currency laws, democracy should immediately redeem that promise. Having studied the question for many months, I suggest legislation upon substantially these principles:

"Provide for organizing national farm loan associations, with federal charters and governmental aid, of not less than five farmers, in certain districts throughout the United States, for the purpose of making long time loans on farm lands at a rate of interest not to exceed 6 per cent per annum for the purpose of improving farm lands already acquired and for enabling tenants and those without homes to purchase and improve farms and broad acres. These associations should

WHAT ABILENE THINKS OF PROHIBITION.

We, citizens of Abilene, Taylor County, Texas, certify:

- 1.—That in 1902 we voted to abolish the saloons and that the law has been in full force and effect ever since.
- 2.—That since that date we have grown from a population of 5,000 to 12,000 and we believe our city has increased in population and popularity because of its prohibition attitude.
- 3.—That crime is less, the courts less burdened with business and the jail less used for local prisoners than before the existence of the law.
- 4.—That business of all kinds has increased and improved at a greater rate than formerly.
- 5.—That our schools have become so popular that buildings are inadequate to take care of the annual increase of students.
- 6.—That our churches have increased in wealth and in point of membership two hundred and fifty per cent.
- 7.—That our merchants and business men as a whole are much better pleased with present conditions than when we had saloons.
- 8.—That we believe after twelve years' experience any attempt to return the saloon conditions would be overwhelmingly defeated.

It was our expectation from the first, that this car would play a large part in determining motor car values.

We said as much in our advertisements almost a year ago.

We expected it to set up in the public mind a model and a pattern of what a car of moderate price should be.

We expected that it would encourage buyers to judge motor cars by the standard of quality—not by price.

Surely the results have more than realized our expectations.

Surely you can see that the car is considered a criterion of what constitutes real worth.

Once a man has driven the car even for a few miles, nothing can distract his mind from its performance and its quality.

He thinks of the price only in relation to the remarkable value it buys.

That is why the first 20,000 fell so far short of supplying the demand.

That is why the second 20,000 are being absorbed with equal eagerness.

Genuine Paprika is NOT a Kind of Cayenne Pepper

Because they look alike, most of us have a sort of general impression that Cayenne (Red) Pepper and Paprika are made of pretty much the same thing, only that one is hotter than the other. And that the difference in the "burn" of them comes from the way they're made or by putting something into the Paprika to sweeten it.

The best Cayenne is ground from pods that come all the way from the East Indies. Of course, some of the lower grades of Cayenne come from Jamaica, South America, Mexico and our own South, but when we speak of Cayenne we refer to the choicest, most pungent and finest flavored, such as White Swan Red Pepper.

The real Paprika though comes from Spain or Hungary and has no Cayenne mixed with it. It is an entirely different pod than Cayenne and is used to flavor with its own delightful and distinctive taste, mild and sweet, while Cayenne is used primarily to make things hot. And yet though so different, it belongs to the red pepper family. Therefore, it is possible to use ordinary red peppers in making a so-called Paprika and to call it by a name similar to this and be within the letter of the law. It is more hot than tasty yet it might pass for Paprika.

Here again you must buy your Paprika under the brand of a company whose standing and integrity are both beyond question, if you are to be certain of getting a Paprika that has the real and delicious flavor that only the best can have. We guarantee to you that White Swan Paprika is genuine and unadulterated—packed to preserve all flavor and goodness. Your grocer sells White Swan Red Pepper and White Swan Paprika—both of distinguished quality, purity and strength.

J. R. HOUSTON BEING TRIED ON PANDERING CHARGE

Brother of Young Woman Involved Tells of Purported Marriage of Couple

J. R. Houston, indicted for pandering, is on trial in the 20th district court today. The jury was completed at eleven o'clock, and the first witness was E. O. Green, brother of the young woman involved in the case. He testified to the purported marriage of Houston and the young woman. Edna Mays, proprietress of a resort in the flats, testified that a man came to her place in April and sought to place a girl therein. She was not fully positive that the defendant was the man, but thought that he was.

The defendant is represented by Judge Edgar Scorry and Nelson and Hunter, District Attorney Leslie Humphrey and Deputy County Attorney Davenport are conducting the prosecution.

Mae Howard was the first witness for the state this afternoon. She testified that a girl was placed in the house by a man, but she was far from positive in her identification of the defendant. Deputy Sheriff Carnes and Policeman Rawls testified to seeing the girl at the house. The state then rested its case, and the defendant also rested without putting on any witnesses. The state did not put the girl, supposed to be Houston's wife on the stand.

The jury trying the case consists of A. B. Crites, B. Daniel, D. E. Hooks, J. W. Lee, W. Beasley, N. G. Quinn, A. A. Vermillion, E. A. Cox, E. F. Noe, W. Y. Hammack, R. F. Wright, W. D. Shell.

Houston was at one time in charge of a large ranch in West Texas and was quite well to do, it is said.

IMPROVEMENTS IN SEYMOUR'S ELECTRICAL PLANT

(Seymour Banner)

The new 60 cycle generator at the Seymour Mill, Elevator & Light Co. is fast being connected up all over town. All motors have been installed, new fans have been placed and next week it is planned to cut in all the residence section. This will enable residents to have continued electric lights all day if they want them. The heavier voltage is making necessary much rewiring and improvement of the system.

The change from the D. C. to A. C. current has been a big expense to the light company as well as to patrons. It has necessitated new motors and new fans, and as there are practically no D. C. plants left in the State, it makes the old fans and motors almost worthless. However, the company hopes to give better service now than ever before and a change will perhaps never again be needed. Figures are being received on a high tension wire to be extended to Bonarton, Gore, Munday and maybe Knox City, giving these enterprising towns the advantage of electric lights. If this should be done another engine would be installed, so that patrons would never lack for "juice." The present engine, a big Corliss, has been remodelled until it is almost a new machine.

COTTON BEING SENT TO GERMANY THROUGH HOLLAND

London, July 19.—Sir William M. Ramsey, noted British scientist, held the opportunity containing in the statement issued by W. F. Reed, the inventor of a smokeless powder process, declaring that cotton was not necessary for the production of high explosives, to renew his campaign for the "supreme necessity of excluding cotton from our enemies' country."

The scientist says there is no dispute between himself and Reid, the latter referring to material used in charging shells while Sir William Ramsey referred to firing the charge when he said that "modern propulsive explosives are not made without cotton." Sir William asserts that during May nineteen times as much cotton as its normal supply was allowed to enter Holland and adds: "It is certain that it passes into Germany. We eventually are fighting against ourselves. We indirectly are killing our own men."

The World's Lowest Priced Knight Motored Car

This announces the greatest achievement in the history of the automobile business.

The Knight is the automobile motor that revolutionized the entire motor car industry of Europe.

The Daimler of England, the Panhard of France, the Mercedes of Germany, the Minerva of Belgium—in fact practically all of the costly European cars—are equipped with the famous Knight type motor.

And these are the motor cars that cost from $4,000 to $8,000 each!

Practically every royal and titled family in Europe owns one or more Knight motored cars.

The Knight type motor is the nearest approach to 100% efficiency.

This motor differs from other motors in that where all others deteriorate with use, this improves; to all others carbon is harmful, here it is beneficial; size for size it has more power. It has no noisy poppet valves; no noisy cams; no uncertain valve springs; no troublesome valves to grind; practically no wearing parts. The Willys-Knight has the same advantages and is just as efficient as those costly European Knight cars.

As we build more cars in a single week than most European manufacturers build in a whole year, we are able to utilize every modern manufacturing economy.

That is why our price is so much less.

The Willys-Knight, in our opinion, has the least vibration and is the smoothest, quietest and most economical car made.

Have your demonstration at once—Immediate deliveries.

sport and fashion are making a fad of it.

A special costume for woman farmers has been designed and exhibited at a woman's farm work show given by Lady Cowdray at her London home. The suit is made of tough brown linen fashioned into a long coat buttoned down the front. Knickerbockers of the same material are worn underneath, buttoning below the knee. This costume is not only cheap, but allows as much freedom of movement as man's dress. Because of the knickers, the women farmers can climb trees for pruning or picking fruit. At Lady Cowdray's exhibition, every branch of farm work was represented, dairying, gardening, orchard work and work in the fields.

Some prejudice is encountered on the part of the old fashioned farmers. When they receive an application for work from a girl who looks like the dairymaid of a comic opera, they are inclined to give a refusal on the spot. Most of the applicants have little idea of what real farmwork is like. They think of a rose covered cottage, with tea served in the garden among the flowers and an arched arched existence. But they are willing to learn about pigs, chickens, and stock, and generally do well at fruit picking and hay raking.

Peculiar Boring Clam.

One of the strangest creatures known to science is the pholas, or boring clam. When still very minute the animal bores into the sandstone ledges at extreme low water, by means of its sharp shell, which is replaced by secretions as it is worn away. It penetrates the rock to a depth of six or eight inches, and borrows out its burrow as it increases in size. Shaped roughly like a top, it could not leave its rock dwelling even if it wished to do so. For food, it depends on the animalcules that float in sea water, which it seizes by its long siphon, or tongue. The pholas is in great demand at the seaside resorts along the Pacific coast, for its meat is very tender and makes excellent soup.—Youth's Companion.

A Memorable Year.

Quite naturally anything that has to do with ourselves assumes first importance, but this trait is not often so plainly exhibited as in the case of the aged gentlemen whose great-grandchild came running to him in a state of eager excitement. It seems that the boy had just learned the date of Washington's death, and was anxious to impart his information to others.

Swiss and Austrian inhabitants on the frontier of the Voralberg have just had a striking example of this brought home to them.

A farm workers engaged in cutting hay on the slope of the Gamp Alp, a mountain some 6,600 feet high, near the Swiss-Austrian boundary line, brought his child to the field with him and placed the three and a half-year-old youngster under a bush while he set about his hay-making.

Some two hours later, he returned to the place but could not find the child. He searched high and low, fearing he might have mistaken the bush to the shade of which he had left his the infant. Beside himself with anxiety, he hurried to the nearest village and reported the circumstances to the police, who sent out a general alarm.

Several days later, some chamois hunters of the district, having learned of the loss of the child, reported that they had seen an eagle flying over them, carrying "something heavy." The conclusion was reached that the eagle's burden must have been the missing child.

Local Alpinists at once formed an expedition to search the mountain fastnesses for a trace of the eagle's nest. But notwithstanding their earnest efforts nothing has been seen or whether

To The Voters of Wichita County

(Advertisement)

Our anti friends are hard pressed for argument. They dare not defend the open saloon, but like the criminal lawyer who knows his client is guilty they are talking of every thing else but the issue. They denounce state wide prohibition as being a failure in Maine and Kansas, and give that as the reason why we should not have local option here. Some of the men who sign these statements as to prohibition being a failure in two great states, in 1911 signed other statements urging the people of Wichita County to vote for state wide prohibition here. Our anti friends ought to at least be consistent. They still talk about the churches and the splendid cause of religion, and say in effect that the saloon takes nothing from either. "By their fruits ye shall know them." We are willing to let the churches and the saloons stand or fall by their own record. What preacher in this county is defending the open saloon. They are much distressed that we have given the facts from the criminal record of this county and well they may be. The tax payers are not going longer to let the saloons remain to cause from sixty to seventy five per cent of our criminal and divorce cases, and a like per cent of the pauperism in the county. It costs too much in money and in the blood of human hearts to keep the saloons longer here. We have not misrepresented the record or misstated the facts and our anti friends know it. We are giving daily through the public press statements from towns all over Texas that all kinds of conditions have improved under prohibition. If prohibition is a failure why don't the people vote back the saloons in the 119 dry counties of the state? Why is the per centage of crime greater in all of the wet counties than in all of the dry counties? They know that not a single piece of property will depreciate as much as twenty-five per cent from its real value, and if there is any depreciation at all it will be on only a few houses now rented for saloons and other purposes whose rental and other value is now too high, and they know further that no decrease will be shown in the values on the county tax rolls next year because of prohibition, and that no farmer or business man will pay higher taxes because the county is dry. This is a figment of the imagination born in the mind of some enthusiastic anti for campaign purposes only. Our geographical location has nothing to do with our failure to get a state school. Gainesville is in the adjoining county to Denton, and Denton already has two state schools, and yet Gainesville dry gets the new Girls Reform School, while Wichita Falls, wet, gets nothing. Patrick Henry chairman of the committee that located this school said no saloon town had any chance to get it. In 1909 John Marshall then Speaker of the House of Representatives who was on the locating committee, declared in a letter to the chairman of the prohibition committee, that no town was even seriously considered for the West Texas Normal that had saloons. R. E. Huff and others who saw this letter can verify this statement. Why should they consider Wichita Falls? Who is there in Texas who would want to train teachers for our public schools in a saloon town? Where are all the state normals located? At Denton, San Marcos, Huntsville and Canyon City, all dry towns. If the saloons are such moral institutions why did the manager of the window glass factory threaten to shut down that plant if a saloon opened up out there under our new city charter, and why do the property owners refuse to allow them on Eighth street. According to the latest records there are eleven women in the bawdy houses with a federal revenue license. If our anti friends want their names they know where to get them. They know they are there and it is just as much their duty to prosecute them as it is ours. What can we do with them? Fine them only in a wet town, but if the county goes dry we can send them to the penitentiary, unless they stop selling liquors to all classes of people in the night and at other times. Not many of them are going to take out a revenue license with the penitentiary staring them in the face under the state law. Gentlemen stick to the issue. What have you to say for the open saloon, is it good or bad?

Here's Your Hat: What's Your Hurry?
"You say that many will leave town. Very well we should be glad to have that element go. How about the folks that will come here if the town goes dry? I know personally of several families who are considering this city as a home when the saloons get out. We will lose some citizens from the red light section. We will lose some rooming house people and quite possibly some of our hotels. But in their places in less than five years will be built up a citizenship that will make us all glad and which will give a stability to our city that we do not now possess. A real estate owner told the other day of a high salaried man who failed to pay all his rent for a couple of months. On inquiry the real estate man found that that man had just paid a $40 bar bill. He owed the landlord and the groceryman but he paid the saloon keeper."

Another Question.
"You say that it will throw many men out of work. Very well. How many men has the saloon put out of work in Wichita Falls during recent years. It was incapacitated more men than are employed in all the saloons in the city. Let the saloon man get out now and earn his living like other laboring men. Let him give something in return for his money. Let him do honest work and he will think more of himself. What has happened to Ohio street in the last few years? Why will certain kinds of business refuse to be located near a saloon? Why did a bunch of office men get new quarters recently when a saloon was put in under them? What means this commotion if a saloon is a good thing in the community? There are a hundred questions that a business man needs to answer before he concludes that a saloon is a good thing. It may get good rentals for one building but what does it do for the buildings either side of the saloon?"

Let us consider the business side a little further. About how much liquor is sold in Wichita Falls annually? As near as can be ascertained about $200,000 worth. Now that sounds like a big sum of money and the saloon man and a few real estate men who are peculiarly interested in the welfare of the saloons say, see how much money that brings to our city. But how much of it stays here? To begin with at least 60 per cent goes to make Milwaukee famous or to some other brewing or distilling section where some two thirds of your money on the start. Pay freight, pay an assessment to fight prohibition and send away a little more and if we have $55,000 left we will do well. What have we in return for what our county has paid $200,000. A few landlords have big rentals on a few buildings. About forty saloon keepers and bar tenders have a fair salary part of which they will spend for legitimate merchandise, etc. What other enterprise doing a $200,000 business leaves so little for the money?

"Brethren the anti may say nice things about the churches in our town and profess to be a booster but remember when you cast a vote for the continuation of the saloon in this city you vote against the church. We have nice churches but less than one-third of our population are attendants. When you cast a vote for the saloons you are voting to keep a number of young people out of school. You are saying that a dozen landlords and a few saloon men need this money worse than the families in our town. We have nice schools but not one-tenth of the young people who should graduate are doing so. We have nice homes but many of them are honeycombed with vice. Our material equipment for a city is fair but what we need now is a citizenship that will make Wichita Falls a city with something substantial to boast of. To get that we must get rid of the saloons. Let no man who professes to be a Christian play false in this matter."

"Park Johnnies" a comedy number with Louise Orth and "A Life in the Balance," a two part drama with King Baggot featured make up the picture program. Tonight the baby show begins at this theatre.

The Gem.
Marc McDermott and Miriam Nesbitt are featured in "Her Proper Place" a three part Edison drama of political life with a pleasing love element in the story. The Hearst-Selig news completes the program.

The Empress.
Dustin Farnum is featured in "Captain Courtney" a four-part Paramount.
Leonardo Davis is made an orphan when George Granville, a renegade American in the services of the Mexican forces, raids the Davis ranch killing his father and mother. Leonardo riding home sees smoke in the distance, and on his arrival finds that his parents have been brutally slain.

In his rage and grief he vows to dedicate his life to avenge the death of his parents.

Several years of intermittent warfare follow between the Americans and the Mexicans, and about this time the country side is terrorized by a highwayman known to the Mexicans as "Captain Courtney." This title he has gained by his unflinching cruelty to women, to children, to the poor and to the helpless, in spite of the fact of his ruthless actions against the Mexicans.
"Captain Courtney" rescues Eleanor, the "ward of Father Reliance," from a Mexican who has insulted her, and immediately a friendship springs up. Granville has also met Eleanor and is likewise infatuated. The rivals have many encounters in and about the mission.
The Mexicans are about to attack the mission, when Captain Courtney rides his horse through the window and warns the Padre of the impending danger. Courtney then rides to get Kearney's American troops. Just as the ammunition of the defenders is exhausted, the troops arrive and save the day.

"The Plunderer" a Fox feature that plays at the Majestic Tuesday William Farnum an ideal type of Western manhood is featured. Mr. Farnum when announced was made that "The Plunderer" would be filmed commenced taking a vigorous two months' training for the great fight that is made one of the chief episodes in "The Plunderer."
The fight is the most thrilling bare knuckled battle ever filmed. It is positively terrific in its ferociousness. Farnum, single handed, fights and beats a score of drink mad and hate crazed Western miners. He toys with the enraged physical giants like a kitten with mice. As with his bare knuckles he hammers them into insensibility, avenging the murder of his aged friend, Old Bells Parks. To get the full realism of the part the actor conditioned himself for eight weeks just as rigorously as if he had been going after the heavy weight championship. In freezing weather he rose at 5:30 a. m. at his country place at Sag Harbor, L. I. and under the stern eye of a trainer, jogged ten miles over the frozen roads while his mentor rode at ease in an automobile. Then came a swift dip in the icy waters of the harbor from the dock on his estate; followed a brisk rub down and breakfast. After a brief rest Mr. Farnum spent most of the morning in his gymnasium, sparring and dallying with the medicine ball. In the afternoon came another jog over the roads and then a very light dinner and bed. So when you see that battle upon the screen in "The Plunderer" and it is the most heart quenching, breath catching fist fight ever filmed. Don't forget, as you see the actor smashing and slashing his foes, that, not unnaturally, it was some job to find actors willing to face the Farnum fists.

J. L. (Daddy) Moore has sold his plumbing business to his son, D. A. Moore and will retire from business going to his farm four miles east of the city.

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Fines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardul, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardul, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously.

Since taking Cardul, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight.

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer. For half a century, Cardul has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year. Cardul is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution, and help build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardul has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

BOOTLEGGING AS IT IS PRACTISED IN RUSSIA

Berlin, July 19.—Disparate chances in obtaining liquor have been taken by the Russian Cossacks andundry civilians in trying to get around the prohibition rules of the great empire, according to stories that drift back to Germany by way of returning troops.

Nothing else the hated order or ukase went into effect there began a wholesale transportation of liquor toward the inner part of Russia from the towns and cities in the west. Those in charge of the big shipments began to report that many of the bottles had been broken in transit.

They failed to state that the contents first had been sold to the Cossacks, but they had to give up this transparent ruse when the breakage became so alarmingly great as to open the eyes of the authorities. The next game was to become the victim of a robber attack. The liquor transporters again and again were found beside their teams or wagons, bound and gagged, while their wares were gone.

This too sufficed only for a time, for the police soon discovered the "stolen" vodka in the possession of landlords in towns near the scenes of the attacks. Those who wanted liquor had to get better accordingly, and even held up trains and robbed whole cars of their precious contents. Needless to say the army grows were in league with the robbers.

GIANT AEROPLANES OF DOUBTFUL ABILITY.

London.—Although it has been announced in the House of Commons that the British government has giant aeroplanes under construction, this type of aircraft does not command the entire confidence of experts.

The idea of the giant flying machine came from Russia, where the Russian constructor, Sikorsky, had even before the war built a four-engine car, with two engines, each driving a propeller to each side. This car developed 500 horse-power and it is said that one car flew for six hours with sixteen passengers. Sikorsky is also credited with having taken two dozen at once on a short flight. A modified type of 250 horse power is now used for war purposes by the Russians.

One serious drawback to the giant aeroplane pointed out by C. G. Grey, a well known writer and expert on aeronautical subjects, is the difficulty in finding a field large enough for starting and landing. A machine of such a size needs a long start. But even more important is the objection of putting too many eggs in one basket. A giant plane carries an enormous amount of explosives, which is ordinarily distributed among a flock of small machines. On the Ostend raid, nearly forty machines took part with the loss of only three. More than a score were sent by the French against Karlsruhe of which but two were brought down.

Where the giant plane promises to be most useful is in defensive operations. With several machine guns and a large gun of the pom-pom class, it can patrol its own lines for hours at a stretch, repelling the enemy scout

REICHENBACH SINGLE PERSONS MUST PAY FOR PRIVILEGE.

Dresden, Germany, July 19.—The authorities of the little city of Reichenbach, in the vogtland, have decreed that all unmarried persons, male or female, hereafter must pay for the privilege of single blessedness.

Those with incomes ranging from 1400 to 2200 marks must pay 8 per cent. more than they usually do; those whose incomes run between 2200 and 4000 marks must pay an additional income tax of 10 per cent; those getting from 4,000 to 10,000 marks must pay 15 per cent; and those whose incomes are above the 10,000 mark figures must pay 20 per cent additional tax.

The only exceptions are persons who have relatives dependent upon them. The authorities throw no light upon the ways and means by which female "bachelors" may remedy their single state, and escape the new taxation.

THE VICTROLA HAS NO PEER

If all the people could hear all of the substitutes for Victrolas, there would not be any music machines except Victrolas. Rather a contradictory statement, but a fact never the less.

The Victrola is so far ahead of all the tin horn imitations that any prospective buyer who would take the trouble to hear all of them, would not hesitate to buy the Victrola.

It is the one great musical machine with a tone volume that carries through the largest auditoriums, and yet may be heard in the smallest rooms without the mechanical twang that so offends the ears of real musicians.

It is the one great musical instrument from which you can get the masterpieces of the world's greatest singers and players. The art of these great singers and players is recorded in imperishable form exclusively for the Victrola.

Aldo, Amato, Bori, Braslau, Butt, Calve, Caruso, Culp, DeGogorza, Depachmann, Destinn, Eames, Elman, Farrar, Galski, Gluck, Hamlin, Homer, Jadowker, Kreisler, Kubelik, Martinelli, McCormack, Meiba, Michailowa, Ober, Paderewski, Patti, Powell, Ruffo, Schumann-Heink, Scotti, Sembrich, Terry, Tetrassini, Whitehill, Williams, Zimbalist, as well as the greatest bands and orchestras of the world.

It is the one great instrument that brings to the home the music that is desired, and anybody can make up a program from the Victor numbers that will be entertaining to the audience. It also brings into the homes the newest dances and dance music, and the folk songs and dances of all nations.

The Victrola is sold at various prices, from $15 to $300, and on easy terms.

RUSSIANS MAY LOSE POLAND

GERMAN OPERATIONS OF GIGANTIC EXTENT MAY FORCE WITHDRAWAL

GREAT CAVALRY MOVE

German Offensive Being Conducted By Cavalry on Scale Greatest in Present War

By Associated Press. London, July 19.—Attention now is centered on the gigantic operations in the eastern field of war where fighting is in full swing in nearly every section of the Russian line from the Baltic to the Dnieper. General Von Baulow who was on the left of the German attack on the first of the invasions of France, now commands the extreme left of the German advance towards Riga which is being conducted by cavalry on a scale exceeding any heretofore during the war. Berlin claims an exceeding advance and Petrograd concedes an advance after the Russians made a stubborn contest. On Von Baulow's right is General Von Eichhorn, who is being held up by the great Russian forces of Osetovsk. On Von Eichhorn's right is General Von Gallewitz, whose name appears for the first time in large operations. After capturing Przemysl, he now is pressing a German attack on the Narva River and its tributaries. On the famous Rawa and Bzura lines there is comparative quiet which also is reflected on the south side of Warsaw, but to the southeast the movement against Lublin which was checked temporarily again is in full swing.

The Russians must fight a defensive battle for the possession of Warsaw or lose all of Poland. The Germans are considered undoubtedly to prefer the first issue hence the Russians in the opinion of many military observers are likely to attempt a complete withdrawal with the armies intact.

These tremendous activities of the Germans in the east suggest that they have little reserve left to devote to the western campaign, which affords the entente allies a respite, either for a conservation of supplies and men or another attempt to capture Lille. Another view holds that the best service her allies could give Russia at this time would be the forcing of the Dardanelles. It is possible the allies may combine both measures, but it is unquestionable that for the time the center of gravity in the war has shifted to eastern Europe.

DALLAS COUNTY IS RICHEST COUNTY IN THE STATE

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, July 19.—Dallas county is the richest county in the State, according to tax estimates in the comptroller's department. Figures show Dallas county at $142,135,630.

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY WERE EXCEPTIONALLY HOT

With a maximum of 102 Saturday and 103 Sunday afternoon, the sure enough summer time has apparently come to Wichita Falls. Today, with showers during the morning and with a south breeze, the mercury remained below the 90 degree mark most of the morning. The mercury has not gone lower than 75 degrees for the past three days. The mark reached Saturday is said to be higher than any attained last summer.

Senator and Mrs. GORE

Confidence in the ability of Woodrow Wilson to steer this government safely through the complications that now face it was expressed by Thomas Gore, senator from Oklahoma, who was in Wichita Falls today en route from Vernon to Gainesville. The senator spoke at Vernon last night and left this morning for Gainesville where he will speak tonight. He is on a two-weeks' lecture tour.

Senator Gore said that he believed with Germany would be averted by diplomacy and that despite the attitude taken by Germany, the situation would be amicably adjusted.

"The government of Germany is one thing," he said, "the people of Germany another. No government can go very far beyond the wishes of its people. President Wilson is standing firm for the rights and principles for which this government has always stood and I know he is going to be firm. If Germany could not recede, we could sever diplomatic relations; that would not be a very severe blow, of course, but it would maintain this government's position."

Mr. Bryan was not willing to go as far as the president in asserting the principles in question, and I believe he was right when he said this government should take the initiative by foregoing every possible risk. But the principles upon which the American demands are based must be upheld."

Weeks of Massachusetts is Senator Gore's guess for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I thought for a while it would be Burton of Ohio," said the senator, "but it seems Roosevelt is opposed to him, and I don't think he can be nominated. The situation is, as I view it, that no progressive can be nominated and no conservative can be elected."

Senator Gore considered it a foregone conclusion that Wilson would be the Democratic nominee. He was less certain, speaking frankly, that Wilson would be re-elected.

"It depends to a large extent on business conditions," he said, "if business continues to improve, he will certainly be re-elected."

The senator said that he considered an extra session at this time as quite unlikely; he does not believe it will be called unless something not now foreseen should arise. Senator Gore, who has been blind for a number of years, was accompanied here by Mrs. Gore, who has been his constant companion for years. While he talked, Mrs. Gore sat by him, seeing that he got his breakfast in the Westland dining room.

R. M. TODD SHOT BY A WOMAN AT GRAHAM

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IN FRY CASE PROBABLY FATAL WOUNDED

WAS SHOT THROUGH LUNGS

Mrs. J. H. Henderson, Proprietress of Alamo Rooming House Arrested and Given Bond

Special to The Times. Graham, Texas, July 19.—R. M. Todd, one of the defendants in the Fry case acquitted at Wichita Falls last April, was shot and, perhaps fatally wounded here this morning by Mrs. J. H. Henderson, proprietress of the Alamo rooming house. The shooting occurred in the street near the rooming house. Four shots were fired. Two of them entered Todd's body. One penetrated his lungs and the other entered the neck. Todd started to run at the first shot but had gone only a few yards when he staggered and fell. He told those who picked him up that he believed he was "done for." Todd has been taken to the residence of J. W. Felpe and none but his intimate relatives have been allowed to see him. Dr. W. M. Terrell is attending him.

The shooting took place at about 7 o'clock. The pistol used was a .38 automatic. A number of persons saw the shots fired. Mrs. Henderson has waived a preliminary hearing and has given bond in the sum of $500. She has made no statement but it is understood that domestic troubles led to the shooting.

Todd was convicted last week in the county court on a charge of bootlegging. The maximum penalty for that offense in this county which voted local option before the law making this offense a felony was enacted, was assessed, the penalty being a fine of $100 and 60 days imprisonment.

ment in the county jail. Four other cases were pending.

Todd was tried here together with E. W. Fry, J. B. Lischke and Pete Todd for the murder of Tom Cherry, Holmes, court house guard at Graham. All were acquitted their defense being that they had framed up with the guards a "friendly holdup" and that the guards opened fire on them. Todd has lived at Graham a number of years and had been in court several times. He was a fine physical specimen and is much above the ordinary man in intelligence. Jailers and others relate that while in jail here with the other defendants awaiting trial on the murder charge that he discussed their defense frequently with the others and reviewed in detail with them the evidence. Todd is married having a wife and several children.

DENVER'S OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVE MAKES RUN

First Trip Made By One of Monster New Freight Engines Made Today From Childress

The first of the oil burning locomotives recently built for the Fort Worth & Denver was put into service today, making a run from Childress to this city with a small train of freight. It arrived at 1:30 this afternoon, in charge of W. F. Carter, engineer J. K. Fauntleroy, L. Dawson, the Denver's superintendent of motive power, also made the trip. The engine is of the Mikado type and is said to be the largest in Texas. It is 73 feet long from the tender to the pilot and the wheels are 64 inches in diameter; the cylinder is 27x30 inches. The engine weighs 350,000 pounds. The tank contains 350 gallons of oil, which is sufficient for the average run, with a heavy load, from one division point to another.

There are ten of these engines to be put into service, six on the Denver and four on the Wichita Valley. None will be used for passenger service at present.

CARRANZA FORCES TAKE BORDER TOWN

OCCUPY NACO AND CAMANEA SONORA AND HAVE TAKEN ANAZACCHI

MUCH LOOTING NEAR PUEBLO

100,000 Women Apply For Food Tickets in Mexico City—40,000 Are Given Tickets

By Associated Press. Naco, Sonora, July 19.—Carranza forces occupied this town today after a brief scuffle with the Villa garrison in which four of the defenders were wounded and eleven prisoners taken. The prisoners later were released and went across the American border to the American side. American residents were not molested.

FAMINE CONDITIONS IN MEXICO CITY DESCRIBED

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—State department dispatches today confirm earlier reports of the victory of the Carranza troops at Anazacachi, Sonora. The triumphant forces took possession of Camaneca.

Famine conditions in the capital are described by a Red Cross report received by the state department. It says that more than 100,000 women on the day previous to the sending of the report, July 1, applied to the international committee for food tickets; only 40,000 were issued. "Where formerly 200 persons went to a slaughter house to obtain blood that is saved and given away," the report says, "there are now 2,000 daily besieging the gates. Near there twenty persons were seen fighting over the remains of a dead horse."

MUCH LOOTING BETWEEN VERA CRUZ AND PUEBLA

By Associated Press. Puebla, Mexico, July 19. (Delayed in transmission.) Condition in the region between Vera Cruz and Puebla are greatly unsettled. There has been looting and destruction of property. On the interoceanic railroad between Vera Cruz and Jalapa, sixty miles inland, all stations have been destroyed. There has been shooting in the outskirts of Orizaba and Cordova. Trains are delayed and frequently passengers including Americans are compelled to lie on the floors of the coaches while Zapata bandits shoot through the windows. Ozoaco, which early in June declared its independence of the rest of Mexico, peace is restored, according to reports is enjoying comparative prosperity. The people are prepared to resist the invasion of that state by the forces of any of the Mexican factions.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE WILL GO TO CARDIFF

By Associated Press. London, July 19.—David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, has taken a hand in the South Wales coal strike and has announced his intention of going to Cardiff tonight to have a talk with the men. This announcement was made at the same time as the report was received for new proposals had been advanced which apparently offered prospects of settling the strike.

WORKMEN SET NEW RECORD FOR CONCRETE POURING

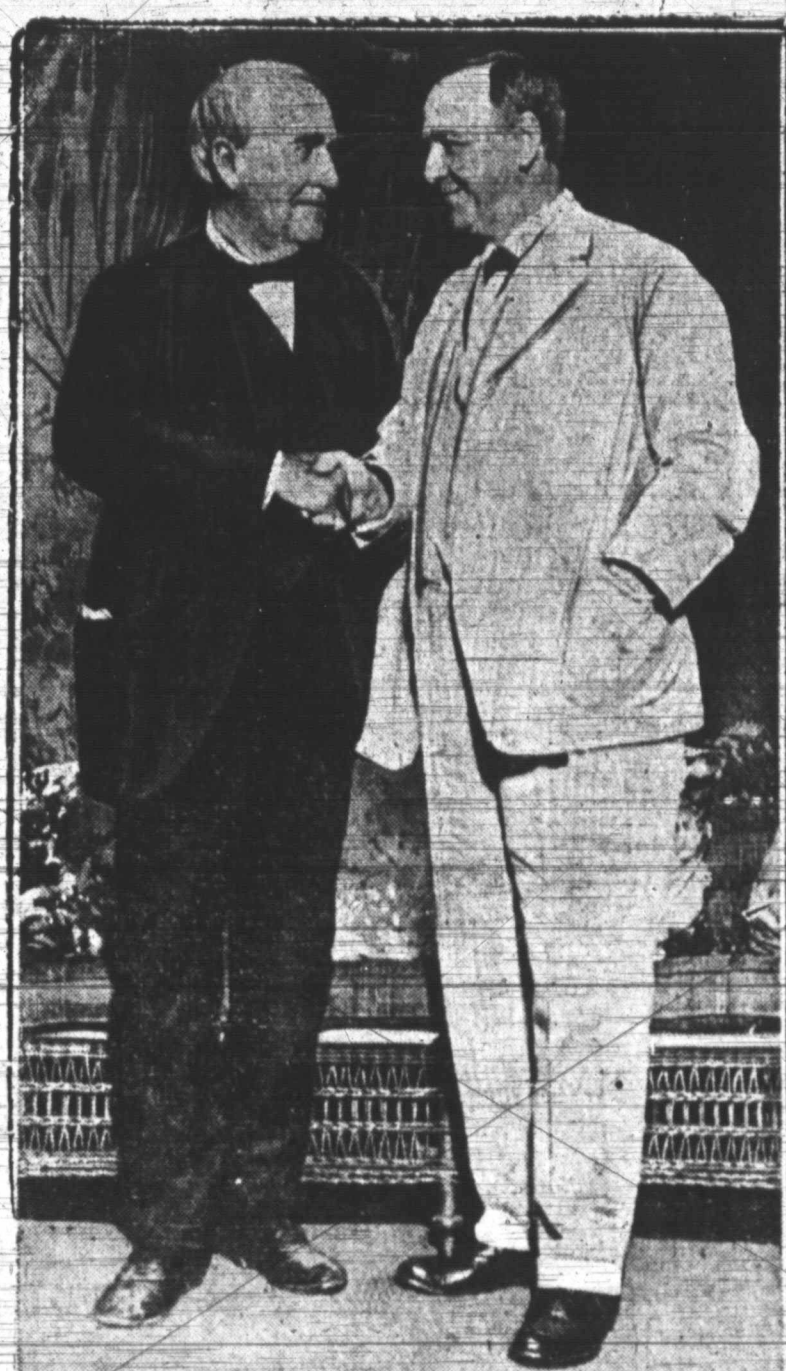

Complete Concrete Work for Joint City and County Hospital Within 11 Days

What is said to have been a record for similar work was set by the workmen on the joint city and county hospital, when they completed all of the concrete work within eleven days. The concrete work done on this building would ordinarily take thirty days or longer, but was completed in less than half that time. Mr. Dunning of the Little-Dunning Construction company, which has the contract for the hospital, was forced to be out of the city and the foreman, Dick Whitehall, set about showing Mr. Dunning that things could happen, anyhow. The result was the establishment of a new record. The framework of the new hospital is now complete and the masonry work is well under way, every indication that the work will be completed within contract time.

COATING OF ASHES USED TO CURE SABER WOUNDS.

Frankfurt, Germany.—A surgeon whose work is almost exclusively among the Cossacks has shown the medical world of Europe a new wrinkle in the speedy and handy healing of dangerous wounds—especially when in the field and far from hospitals. The means consists simply of applying to the wound a thick coating of ash—preferably made by burning cotton or wool cloth—and then binding it up with the bandage which every soldier carries. The ashes seem to draw the pain from the wound, and to act curatively in a remarkably short space of time. The method is particularly effective in saber and bayonet wounds.

INVENTIVE GENIUS PLANNING TO MAKE THIS COUNTRY IMPREGNABLE

THOMAS A. EDISON and SECRETARY DANIELS

"I believe that when we have assembled the inventive genius of this nation we shall be in a state of defense such as no other nation has ever known," said Secretary of the Navy Daniels just before he went to the home of Thomas A. Edison, the noted inventor, at Llewellyn Park, N. J. "The next war will be fought by machinery and by men of brains. They say we have millions of men and a limit of money. We need more than that. We need the skill, we need to bring about the mobilization of brains. I believe in preparedness, also in scientific preparedness, and my idea in organizing a navy board is to bring about a mobilization of the inventive genius of the country. I want to get together men who have devoted their lives to science and to use their genius and their skill to benefit the country. I want to help these men to develop their ideas for inventions that will be a service to the country in time of war." The accompanying photograph of Mr. Edison and Secretary Daniels was taken at Mr. Edison's home.

LEO M. FRANK'S CONDITION BECOMES MUCH WORSE

Temperature Rises and It Is Feared Blood Poison May Develop—Frank Delirious

By Associated Press. Milledgeville, Ga., July 19.—Physicians who examined Leo M. Frank this morning said soon after his condition was much worse. The jagged cut in his throat received at the hand of a fellow prisoner Saturday night was swollen and his temperature was 102.4. Dr. Rosenberg, the family physician last night believed Frank's condition improved and he left for Atlanta. He and another Atlanta doctor were summoned here today. Early today Frank began showing signs of nervousness but it was not considered unusual. His temperature continued to rise and at daylight he was delirious at brief intervals. His temperature reached its height shortly before 8 o'clock and then began to drop.

Blood poison is feared as the wound was dressed hurriedly and the weapon may have been infected. William Green, Frank's assailant, still refused to talk today. He is kept in irons. Some of the guards today recalled that he had expressed a feeling of animosity towards Frank before the latter was brought to the prison but that at his arrival they had not heard him say anything of the case.

Eate seemed to have played into Frank's hands in that the convict physician, W. C. McNaughton was near him when Frank was attacked. His quick work in making a ligature of the end of the jugular vein stopped the flow of blood. McNaughton, like Frank, was saved from the gallows by a commutation of Governor Slaton. Dr. Rosenberg also said that the muscles in Frank's neck were badly cut and that if he lives his neck will be stiff and probably drawn to one side.

PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM HIS VACATION

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—President Wilson returned from Cornish, N. H., this morning. His train was on time and he drove at once to the White House to begin a conference with Secretary Lansing and other officials preparatory to tomorrow's cabinet meeting which will take up the American reply to Germany's latest note on submarine warfare.

FOREIGN INTERESTS ARE MEDDLING IN AMERICA

Gompers Charges That Efforts Are Being Made to Foment Labor Troubles

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today began an effort to end the strike in the Remington Arms plant at Bridgeport, Conn. He will confer with the labor leaders and others interested. It is expected that the influence of the government toward an early settlement of the differences will be invoked.

"I know that foreign interests well supplied with funds have sought to bring on labor troubles to prevent the shipment of American products to Europe," said Mr. Gompers. "I know that an effort was made to bring about a strike of longshoremen and that when that failed an effort to cause a strike of seamen was then made."

TAX RATE TO BE HIGHEST IN HISTORY OF STATE

According to Estimates of Comptroller Total Levy Be 54.6 Cents On the $100

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, July 19.—According to figures compiled by the comptroller, the state automatic tax board will fix the ad valorem tax at 29.5 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation. Added to this will be 20 cents for schools and five cents for Confederate pensions making a total of 54.5 cents. This will be the highest tax rate ever levied by the state.

SON KILLS FATHER IN COOK COUNTY

By Associated Press. Gainesville, Texas, July 19.—Lon Steele, a farmer aged 50 was fatally shot at his home last evening near here by his son, Will, aged 18 with a shot gun. The father returned the fire with a revolver dangerously wounding the son. The trouble is alleged to have started over the mistreatment of young Steele's mother by her husband.

WILL DECLARE U. S. COURSE

NEXT NOTE WILL WARN MANY U. S. WILL ACT IF RIGHTS VIOLATED FURTHER

NOTE IS DISCUSSED

President and Secretary of State in Practical Agreement—Cabinet Meets Tomorrow

By Associated Press. Washington, July 19.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today discussed in detail a draft of the note to be sent to Germany this week informing the imperial government that the United States will do if there is further violation of the American rights on the high seas. It was understood that the president and Mr. Lansing found that they had reached about the same conclusion, that the next communication will be of a definite character; that the United States will not remain passive in the event of another attack on an unarmed and unprotected ship with the loss of Americans. The note will announce to Germany the intention of the United States to assert its rights on the high seas in accordance with international law. There will be probably little or no discussion on the principles already treated at length in previous notes. Tomorrow the note will be submitted by the president to the cabinet.

In official quarters it was agreed the communication will be on its way to Berlin by Saturday. Although it is not certain if reference will be made to the attack on the Orduna it is known that the incident has been aside previous suggestions that the next communication will take into consideration that German submarine commanders were conforming to the rules of international law. The president is said to have become convinced that the next note to Germany must point in more emphatic terms than has been used before the intention of the American government not to surrender an jot of its rights.

HEAVY AMMUNITION SUPPLIES GOING INTO MEXICO

San Antonio, Texas, July 19.—United States department of justice agents engaged in investigating Mexican conditions have information that an immense quantity of ammunition and other munitions have been shipped into Mexico in the last three weeks. The records show six carloads of 30.30 cartridges. Four thousand rifles are now being delivered at Laredo as one order, another order for twenty rapid fire guns and 1,000,000 cartridges has been let and all told, it is known that at least 3,000,000 cartridges, 15,000 rifles and from 50 to 60 rapid fire guns have been sent into Mexico across the Rio Grande within the last month.

It is reported that other orders for immense quantities of munitions are contemplated and some kind of a record is being kept on all munitions being shipped from the United States. It is believed the federal officials know which section is getting these munitions but this information they refuse to give out. Reports from the ammunition dealers along the border indicate that they fear the placing of an embargo on all munitions at an early date and are now taking orders only for quick delivery.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST TENT SHOW

A temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Mary T. McAuley from allowing a tent show to occupy lots owned by her at Twelfth and Indiana was secured in the 78th district court today. The complainants being J. W. Stone, Jim Maxwell, W. L. Lane, and J. D. Scruggs, all of whom reside in the vicinity of Twelfth and Indiana. Wayne Scruggs is attorney for the plaintiffs, who allege that a tent show at that point would be a disturbance. Judge Nicholson, in chambers, granted a temporary restraining order and set the case down for hearing tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

REV. SMITH DEFENDS CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

DECLARES MEMBERSHIP WICHITA FALLS CHURCHES IS UP TO THE AVERAGE

DISCUSSES LOCAL OPTION

Says Official Board or Leadership in His Church is No Place for an Anti Imputations that the church membership in Wichita Falls was peculiarly indifferent to great moral problems was vigorously denied by Rev. Charles Clark Smith at the Sunday morning service at the First Methodist Church, corner Seventh and Lamar streets, Sunday morning. He said he believed that the church membership in Wichita Falls was up to the average and said that those who know conditions believe there is much strength in the churches. He declared that if he should discover that he had in his church on the official board a man who was an "anti" or that an "anti" was a teacher in the Sunday school he would ask that person to resign from official position.

His subject was "The Saloon Situation in Wichita Falls." In part he said:

"I have only one purpose in bringing this subject into the pulpit and that is to make sure if possible that both pastor and people ring true on the issue now before us in Wichita Falls. It is one thing to be a pro as to national affairs and another when applied to local conditions. What we have to deal with now is a family affair and we want to know where we stand. I have little patience with the charge spoken or implied that the church membership in Wichita Falls are peculiarly indifferent to great moral problems and particularly to the problem of intemperance in our midst. I believe the pastors are in a position to know and am sure that the general tenor of the pastors will bear me out in saying that the church membership in our churches are up to the average. We do not pretend to be perfect but to those who know conditions it is plain that there is much strength among the churches. If I should discover, as I do not believe that I shall, that we in this church have on our official board or on the teaching force in our Sunday school a single man or woman who is what we commonly speak of as an 'anti' I should call upon that individual to resign from office or position of leadership. If that should not be done the pastor would most assuredly resign because he does not believe that a pastor should continue to accept the position of supervision over an audience where persons who defend the most damnable sin of the age are in leadership. This church must and I believe does ring true on this issue now before our community.

"I cannot define this question. We must remember that we are dealing with the issue in Wichita Falls particularly. We must remember also that we can not deal with it as we should without stirring up some one possibly to ill feeling toward us. It will do no good but rather make us a joke if we persist in declaring that we are going to fight but we are going to be very careful not to hurt any body. Some pro talk reminds us of the old lady's advice to her son who was going swimming. That he should not go near the water. You can not get into a prohibition fight and mean anything for the cause without stepping on some one in the melee and the fellow stepped on will not like you. It will do no good to be eloquent in quoting government statistics gathered from national problems. We may make some foolish thing we are good soldiers for the cause if we do that but the devil will take us for a joke so far as hurting his cause goes. What we must come to is we would really get to the bottom of the law here. The immediate cause and point out the necessary solution to the condition now obtaining here in our own city. Remember that this is a local option proposition. If it hurts some people we are all sorry but we can not deduce the issue because the fight will hurt some body. Surgery is always painful, but when it has to be done we must not draw back because of the pain. Wichita Falls needs some moral surgery. It will hurt but the cancer must come out. We do not help the cause by blinding our eyes to the facts. We are sorry that these evils are here but if we ignore them we do not cure them. The wise citizens will seek to cure rather than cover up our defects.

"Bootleggers Here Now. What is the situation that we have to face? So many phases of the problem have been ably discussed among us that I do not care to take them up. Some points, however, have appealed to me that I have not heard discussed yet. After a brief summary of conditions I desire to discuss these. First let us note that we have nearly two saloons per 1000 population. In many States where they have been working to regulate the saloon one per 1000 is the limit. We have bootlegging rackets. Mingle with the crowd while this is evident. Notice the suit case customers coming out of the saloons. Note the federal licenses over in the flats. We want to keep this fact well in mind because when the town goes dry we are going to hear about the bootlegger as if he were a new product. Every saloon is bound to be the nest for a bunch of bootleggers. We have our red light section. We are far famed for our boarding houses. Any woman who would run a respectable boarding house must be on her guard day and night to keep these rascals out of her house. A certain lady employed a chambermaid a few days ago and before the maid reported for duty

LOCAL OPTION IN CLAY COUNTY.

Our prohibition friends, with their characteristic policy of dealing in generalities, have been telling you about the wonderful improvement wrought in Clay county with the adoption of prohibition, but again they fail to go into details and give the voter the true facts with reference to conditions.

In order that the public may have the figures for consideration in this connection, this committee has gone to the trouble to gather a few statistics from the records of that county, and from prominent business men, and these are presented herewith.

In presenting these facts we disclaim any desire to reflect in any way on our neighbor, but in as much as the prohibition committee has raised the issue we shall, as is our purpose in dealing with the record of other communities, give the true conditions as they are found to exist.

Local option was adopted in Clay county in September, 1909, and the record of postoffice receipts, which is always accepted as an accurate illustration of the condition of any town or city, for the three years prior thereto and for three years afterwards is as follows:

1907.....	$6,384.73	1910.....	$3,103.51
1908.....	7,283.27	1911.....	5,083.69
1909.....	8,204.46	1912.....	6,831.66

From these figures it will be seen that there was a steady gain each year until the adoption of prohibition, after which the receipts declined until in 1912, when the total was $1,322.52 less than the year in which local option was voted.

Prior to the adoption of local option the saloon license and occupation tax of the county was sufficient to meet the requirements of the jury fund, but immediately thereafter it became necessary to set aside a portion of the tax money for this purpose, which appropriation, in 1912, amounted to $2,000.00. Furthermore, the tax rate in 1908 and 1909, years just preceding the election, was 26 cents, whereas in 1910, 1911 and 1912 the rate was raised to 30 cents, and this in the face of an increased valuation following the development of oil and gas.

Working Conditions Changed.

Listen, you that have heard the oft repeated plea of the pro. that its adoption will not affect the progress of the city, or decrease the amount of building activity. In 1909 Henrietta had an active Union of carpenters with a membership of thirty, and all members profiting by virtue of a reasonable amount of employment. Following the election the union was forced to disband and surrender its charter on account of the business depression and consequent inactivity in a building way, and now there are but nine carpenters in the city, one of whom stated to a member of this committee that he was now working on the only job he had had since August, 1914.

Prior to the adoption of prohibition his sales totaled $120,000.00, and that according to records available and to the best of his recollection, he had not sold that amount in all since that time. We might further call attention to the fact that there has not been a business house of any consequence built since Henrietta was thus afflicted.

These facts should be a sufficient argument to the laboring men as to the probable result in the event prohibition prevails. If prohibition thus affected Henrietta, may we not reasonably expect a like result, except more pronounced, in Wichita Falls.

Records of the Courts.

Prior to August, 1909, there had been filed in the District court of Clay county a total of 3,400 civil and 1,330 criminal cases. Since that time these numbers have been increased to 4,044 civil and 2,037 criminal cases, an increase of 644 civil and 707 criminal cases. It is estimated by court officials that twice the number of murder cases, originating in the county, have been tried since local option went into effect, as for a like period previous to that time.

Business Property Affected.

As in the history of every town afflicted with prohibition, the usual depression following the change so affected the demand for business property that every owner felt the effect in the remarkable falling off in rents for store buildings. Three buildings that formerly rented for $171.80 per month, now bring but $55.00. Another building on the square rented for $65.00 then, but only commands $25 at the present time. Three other rooms brought $135.00 before prohibition and are now rented at $69.00. One building, a two-story structure, has been vacant since prohibition went into effect.

Prior to that time there were six churches in Henrietta, each having a resident pastor, while now only two denominations support a resident pastor, one congregation no longer keeping up an organization. If prohibition is so beneficial to the churches and morals of a community, why this record at Henrietta?

WICHITA FALLS ANTI-PROHIBITION COMMITTEE.

PROHIBITION PROMOTES CRIME.

It is a favorite argument with our prohibition friends that to vote out the saloons will materially reduce crime and make the community a better place in which to live. The orators talk eloquently along this line, and the agitators cry it from the streets corners, expecting, of course, that their statements will be accepted as true, and that such

"dope" will go unchallenged. They do not produce the facts and figures to substantiate these assertions, relying on general statements secured from friends of prohibition in other communities.

That the public may not be misled by such statements, the true facts as shown by statistics are given herewith, involving comparisons of conditions in localities with and without prohibition. Such figures should appeal far more forcibly than any general statements that the prohibitionists may make.

But it is not "bleeding" Kansas alone that suffers from this fallacy. Listen to the voice of depression from prohibition ridden Georgia. A December, 1914, issue of the Constitution, of Atlanta, says:

Conditions in Georgia.

"To cope with the alarming crime conditions that have struck terror to the heart of residents and night pedestrians of this city, Chief James L. Beavers, in his annual report to the city council, will appeal for four police sub-stations, forty new policemen and additional equipment."

"The sale of drugs in the underworld has even exceeded the traffic in blind tiger whiskey. The use of drugs has become so general among the lawless element that the police institutions of the city are being forced to make special provisions for the care of drug fiends."

"It was not a surprise in police court Saturday morning and afternoon to find that there had been more arrests for carrying concealed weapons on Christmas than on any other Christmas in the 'party men's' record."

If prohibition is so successful in reducing crime, why such reports from Atlanta, one of the leading cities of the south? Why should the hearts of residents and night pedestrians be stricken with terror? Why necessary to appeal for forty additional police to cope with a situation directly due to the adoption of prohibition? Why necessary to make special provisions to care for the increased demand on penal institutions? And why should it become necessary that an increased number of citizens be forced to violate the law by carrying concealed weapons?

More Murders in Dry States.

United States statistical abstracts show that in 1912 "dry" Memphis had 64 murders per 100,000 population and "wet" Milwaukee had only 4. In "dry" Atlanta there were 39 murders per 100,000 population, and in "wet" Philadelphia 2, while Chicago had only 9. How can these facts be reconciled with the idea that you get rid of 99 per cent. of crime when you destroy the legitimate saloon?

In view of the fact that the prohibitionists hold up Kansas as a shining example of the success of that theory, it will be interesting to note the effect that prohibition has on that state from a criminal standpoint.

Kansas has a juvenile delinquency record of 25.68, as compared with a record of 11.17 for Nebraska, a wet state adjoining. Prisoners held for homicide was 62 per cent. greater in Kansas than Nebraska, and life prisoners 52 per cent. more, per one hundred thousand population.

The Kansas percentage for prisoners of all kinds was 64 per cent. more than her sister "wet" state.

Kansas has a percentage of 11.36 per 100,000 population for murders committed, there being twenty-four states with a cleaner record.

Comparative Statement.

But some may say that these figures are selected to meet conditions. Then below will be found a statement of the percentage of prisoners in nine "dry" and nine "wet" states, as shown by U. S. Statistical abstracts for 1913, page 58, table No. 38, the figures showing the number per 100,000 population:

Prohibition States.		Licensed States.
Georgia	191.4	Pennsylvania	106.7
Kansas	91.1	South Dakota	47.8
Maine	58.3	Texas	108.6
Mississippi	127.0	Wisconsin	71.8
North Carolina	64.4	Arkansas	83.1
North Dakota	53.6	Iowa	69.9
Oklahoma	101.1	Minnesota	77.7
Tennessee	125.7	Nebraska	55.1
West Virginia	119.8	Ohio	64.0
Average for 9 "dry" states	109.1	Average for 9 "wet" states	77.3

Numerous statistics could here be reproduced to refute the general statement of the prohibitionists that crime decreases with the adoption of prohibition, not a single state thus afflicted showing an improved condition over any other state from a moral or law abiding standpoint.

Local Option Ineffective.

If the record is such to show an unsatisfactory condition as a result of statewide prohibition, what may we expect from the adoption of local option. Certainly prohibition cannot be made more effective as a local option measure than where applied to an entire state. If prohibition promotes crime, as a statewide proposition, we must admit that local option will produce the same result when applied to a county or community.

We submit then that if the history of prohibition is such as to disprove the time-worn plea that it will improve conditions, but rather shows to increase the number of criminals, that there is little reasonableness in the argument for its adoption, and we believe that the unprejudiced voter will refuse to saddle upon this county such a condition.

WICHITA FALLS ANTI-PROHIBITION COMMITTEE.

three gentlemen callers' came to see if she had arrived at her new work. Sufficient to say that for that lady she did not arrive at all. When our town has gone dry and the next logical step is taken, the breaking up of the estranged area you will hear a great cry about scattering the evil what chance would she have of getting into the right house. There are good places beyond doubt but how will the strange woman fare who is searching for the good place? Now I am a citizen of this city. I know in general the conditions before I came here. I have purchased property here and expect to hold what investment I have right here. I have no desire to run down our city but I consider it my duty as a citizen to recognize our defects. I do not say that Wichita Falls is the worst city in Texas because I do not know Texas. But I do say that Wichita Falls is a desperately wicked place. There is more vice here than proportion to the population than in any place where I have ever lived and I have lived in widely separated sections of our country. Any one can see that we have deep seated vice here. I have said repeatedly and still say that the good people of the town are as fine as any I have ever known. But when we speak of a vice we must be frankly honest and admit that our moral, social and intellectual conditions are very low. This will appear to the observing in many ways. Let me indicate one condition that to my mind is pertinent. If I remember rightly we graduated from our high school last June a class of 13. In another town well known to the writer where there is a population of scarce 4000 there was a graduating class of 60. We have very near four times the population with one-third the number of young people in our graduating class. Or contrast still another town with a population of 1000 and a graduating class of 12. If we had pupils at the rate of 13 per 1000 we should have 130 in our graduating class, and this is not at all out of proportion. If we should try to catch up with the first town we would need to place 340 instead of 13 in our senior class. In other words that town of less than 4000 population has at the rate of 13 pupils to our 1 in the high school. "Now what has that to do with the saloon question? Much every day. These towns are in communities which have been dry for a long time. The per capita wealth is not so large as in Wichita Falls but there is almost no poverty. Every family can send their children to school. Nearly every family has the desire to educate their children. Get back of the school situation in our city and you will find that the saloon has played a disastrous part all these years. If we would raise the moral and intellectual status of our city we must begin right by striking at the chief source of poverty and ignorance and dead-end hopes and ambitions. A booster cares little for the future of his family and can not and will not furnish the money to send them to school. When Uncle Sam went down to Panama to dig the big ditch he said, 'If my boys all die with yellow fever I can not put this job through.' The mosquito is guilty of spreading this disease and he breeds in the swamps. I must get rid of his breeding place. If we would clean up vice and ignorance in Wichita Falls we must first get rid of the consoling status quo. The thought that surely the place needed preachers if ever any town did. On a recent trip over into Oklahoma several parties inquired of me as to the moral conditions here and whether there was hope of getting rid of the saloons. One family in particular desired to move here when the saloons went out. This is not a pleasant subject to converse about but it is our business to change the condition and not the subject of conversation. All this has a very decided bearing on our future. "So far as I know only one argument is advanced for retaining the saloon and this has been well met time and again. Some of us would sell our birthright for a mess of pottage. We would put money above morals. One thing needs to be emphasized especially. To vote for the saloons to remain here is to vote for a continuation of our present moral conditions. Some moderate drinkers will say I have a right to drink when I want to and so I will vote for the saloon to stay. You should remember Mr. Respectable Drinker that you are voting not for what you claim for yourself but for the perpetuating of the conditions we now have.

CAN LLOYD GEORGE WIN?

British Waiting For More Weapons
and More Shells and Germans
Likely to Beat Them

London.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press). The war on the French front has now developed into a race between Lloyd George and the German general staff for Calais, declares Lovat Fraser, a prominent British writer, in a letter to the Mail, urging that everything else should be temporarily laid aside in England for the work of reinforcing the efforts of the new military operations.

"With the Germans and their monster guns at Calais, we should lose control of the narrow seas," writes Mr. Fraser. "If we get enough shells and guns in time Calais may be saved."

"There is every reason to believe that the Germans will soon strike another blow at Calais. It is no answer to say that they tried and failed last November. The first battle of Ypres was a hurried affair which developed on both sides without careful preparation. The next time the Germans try to burst through they will throw into the attack every ounce and they will only move when they are able to advance with a strength which they think overwhelming."

"The enemy regards the seizure of Calais as an essential prelude to the destruction of England. The question far graver than the country thinks and the attack will probably come this summer or autumn."

Danger is Real.

"This country still laughs at talk of invasion. Not many months ago it was laughing at Zeppelins. No one laughs at Zeppelins now. Far stranger and more unlikely things than the invasion of England have already happened in this war. The German talk of invading England is more than a dream. They began to think about it very early in the war, and in their usual practical manner began to prepare for it. They have ready today the transports, the wharves, the railway sidings and the motor."

"If they make the attempt, it ought not to succeed, but there is more than a chance that they might effect a landing. The problem does not admit of detailed public discussion, but it ought to be regarded quite seriously and gravely. The best authorities now believe that the Germans will try to land."

Mr. Fraser is not sanguine as to the question in Russia or the Dardanelles, but believes that England must fight out the war right at her doorstep in northern France.

Germans Believe Winning.

"The Germans," he observes, "believe they are winning the war, and if a stranger from another planet alighted among us and judged by surface indications alone, he would probably think so too. Take the western theatre; the allies are stuck fast; the French, who have done wonders on their own front, are waiting for the British. The British are waiting for more weapons and more shells, and as we have now reached midsummer, they will wait a long time. All through Europe there is not a single big man visible for this is a war of myriads directed by pygmies.

"The country ought also to know the real significance of the Russian retreat in Galicia. There has been too much talk about magnificent withdrawals and the unimportance of Lemberg. The fact is that though Russia has fought bravely, she can do nothing much more this summer owing to the lack of munitions and other causes and unless the coming winter is much harder than the last, her movements may be greatly restricted until next spring."

"The Dardanelles is almost too painful a subject to write about. We must stick to it now, but we only win our way there by inches and at grave risks and to get through we may need diversions from other quarters which are not yet forthcoming."

BARB WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS FOUR MILES IN DEPTH

These With Machine Guns and Railroads Big Factor in German
Superiority Over Russians

WARSAW, Poland.—Barb wire, machine guns and excellent railway arrangements have been the chief elements in the German operations in Poland during the past three months. Owing to overwhelming superiority in these three respects the Germans have been able to hold the lines many hundred miles in length against what was frequently a far superior force of Russians, at least as numbers were concerned.

To defend the German positions along the little rivers Bzura and Rawka, where the two armies have been facing each other since last autumn, would in the ordinary manner of speaking require nearly eight army corps. But the Germans have been able to maintain their places here with a small fraction of that number, owing to the fact that their barb wire defenses and troop transport arrangements are so perfect.

Along this Bzura-Rawka front of about forty miles, the German barb wire defenses are literally four miles in depth, the entanglements being so arranged that in a military sense they cover the whole territory. Behind each group of entanglements at the little strategic ganglions which are easy to determine from the contour of the land and the lines of possible approach, there are posted little batteries of machine guns ready to sweep away any rash offensive. It would cost an attacking force hundreds of thousands of men to wade through these wire entanglements, which zigzag and crisscross in hollows and mass themselves in hedges and walls, all the vital points being commanded by a merciless storm of machine gun fire.

FIGURED THAT THAW'S NINE YEAR LEGAL FIGHT COST HIM MORE THAN $1,000,000

The nine year struggle of Harry K. Thaw, who shot and killed Stanford White, is said to have cost his family more than $1,000,000. John B. Stanchfield's fee in the latest action is reported as $100,000. More than forty lawyers, many of them leaders in their profession, have been retained for Thaw. Numerous alienists have been engaged by both sides. In the nine years since Stanford White was killed Thaw has engaged in ten distinct legal actions, each complex and entailing many minor suits. To keep Thaw in Matteawan, New York state is said to have expended more than $300,000. "The state knows what lawyers cost," said Thaw, "because it could not afford to pay Jerome his price to stay in the case. It has been expensive for the state as well as for me." It was our expectation from the first, that this car would play a large part in determining motor car values. We said as much in our advertisements almost a year ago. We expected it to set up in the public mind a model and a pattern of what a car of moderate price should be. We expected that it would encourage buyers to judge motor cars by the standard of quality—not by price. Surely the results have more than realized our expectations. Surely you can see that the car is considered a criterion of what constitutes real worth. Once a man has driven the car even for a few miles, nothing can distract his mind from its performance and its quality. He thinks of the price only in relation to the remarkable value it buys. That is why the first 20,000 fell so far short of supplying the demand. That is why the second 20,000 are being absorbed with equal eagerness.

WHAT ABILENE THINKS OF PROHIBITION.

We, citizens of Abilene, Taylor County, Texas, certify:
1.—That in 1902 we voted to abolish the saloons and that the law has been in full force and effect ever since.
2.—That since that date we have grown from a population of 5,000 to 12,000 and we believe our city has increased in population and popularity because of its prohibition attitude.
3.—That crime is less, the courts less burdened with business and the jail less used for local prisoners than before the existence of the law.
4.—That business of all kinds has increased and improved at a greater rate than formerly.
5.—That our schools have become so popular that buildings are inadequate to take care of the annual increase of students.
6.—That our churches have increased in wealth and in point of membership two hundred and fifty per cent.
7.—That our merchants and business men as a whole are much better pleased with present conditions than when we had saloons.
8.—That we believe after twelve years' experience any attempt to return the saloon conditions would be overwhelmingly defeated.

be federated in twelve federal land banks, corresponding substantially to the twelve federal reserve banks. The details should be so worked out under the amortization plan as to allow these mortgages to run for periods of time ranging from five to thirty-five or more years and should permit paying off present incumbrances of more than $5,000,000,000 so as to reduce interest rate and burdens. And as members of the federal land banks, these associations should be allowed to use the farm mortgages as collateral with said land banks for the purpose of converting them into cash and as the basis for farm loan bonds or debentures.

Twelve Federal Land Banks.
The government should authorize the establishment of twelve federal land banks, with a capital stock of not less than $500,000 each, for the purpose of buying mortgages from the land associations, and of raising the capital therefor by issuing farm bonds or debentures.

Government Deposits in the Federal Land Banks.
The law should allow the secretary of the treasury to deposit in the federal land banks one-half of the general fund held in the treasury of the United States in order that such banks may use this government money to securely establish and maintain this rural credits system. The credit of the government should be furnished in this and other ways in abundant measure to place the farmers' banking machinery upon the surest foundation. The commercial banking act is saturated with government aid. The government should subscribe for the stock of the federal land banks, provided the subscriptions of farm loan associations and other subscribers are not sufficient.

"It should be provided that the government credit and funds are placed behind these banks in abundant fashion. The federal government should obligate itself to purchase each year $50,000,000 or more of these farm loan bonds. It should come squarely to the aid of these banks and if necessary, even guarantee all their bonds.

"A farm loan board should be created in the treasury department at Washington, analogous to the federal reserve board and endowed with substantially the same powers. This system should be entirely separate and distinct from the federal reserve act. State institutions should be allowed to enter the system. These are the essential and fundamental points of the legislation I shall advocate.

"By this method let us make it possible for farmers to lighten their burdens and for the millions of worthy and homeless men, tenants and laborers, to acquire farms and pay for them under the amortization plan in periods running from five to thirty-five or more years at a very low rate of interest, and in no event to exceed 6 per cent per annum. In this way we guarantee homes for the homeless and lands for the landless. And thus we can put upon the uncultivated lands in Texas, amounting to a hundred million acres, sturdy farmers and homebuilders.

Fourth, For the Relief of the Cotton Growers and Farmers.

"The principle of the bills introduced by me for the relief of the cotton growers will be an issue and I shall defend those measures.

"In addition to what the secretary of the treasury and the federal reserve board have ample authority for doing now to finance the present cotton crop, the things proposed by me in congress last year should be speedily adopted by congress.

"Still a representative in congress I am ready to render relief to the cotton grower should the European war again menace the price of his crop. The same fight will be made by me to induce the federal government to finance their needs. Under such conditions the government should deposit in the national and state banks of the South $250,000,000 or more, to be advanced to the producers of cotton at a low rate of interest for one year or longer. For such purpose redeemable United States notes should be issued to that extent, or Panama canal bonds should be sold and the proceeds added to such notes to bring such funds up to that amount and as much more as may be required. I shall insist that these public moneys as a trust fund to be loaned to the cotton growers as he did when he went to New York city banks on August second, last year, $40,000,000, with much larger sums on subsequent days, aggregating $140,000,000, to steady the stock market on Wall street. The cotton can be pro-

Genuine Paprika is NOT a Kind of Cayenne Pepper

Because they look alike, most of us have a sort of general impression that Cayenne (Red) Pepper and Paprika are made of pretty much the same thing, only that one is hotter than the other. And that the difference in the "burn" of them comes from the way they're made or by putting something into the Paprika to sweeten it.

The best Cayenne is ground from pods that come all the way from the East Indies. Of course, some of the lower grades of Cayenne come from Jamaica, South America, Mexico and our own South, but when we speak of Cayenne we refer to the choicest, most pungent and finest flavored, such as White Swan Red Pepper.

The real Paprika though comes from Spain or Hungary and has no Cayenne mixed with it. It is an entirely different pod than Cayenne and is used to flavor with its own delicate and distinctive taste, mild and sweet, while Cayenne is used primarily to make things hot. And yet though so different it belongs to the red pepper family. Therefore, it is possible to use ordinary red peppers in making a so-called Paprika and to call it by a name similar to this and be within the letter of the law—it is more hot than tasty yet it might pass for Paprika.

Here again you must buy your Paprika under the brand of a company whose standing and integrity are both beyond question, if you are to be certain of getting a Paprika that has the real and delicious flavor that only the best can have.

We guarantee to you that White Swan Paprika is genuine and unadulterated—packed to preserve all flavor and goodness.

Your grocer sells White Swan Red Pepper and White Swan Paprika—both of distinguished quality, purity and strength.

J. R. HOUSTON BEING TRIED

ON PANDERING CHARGE

Brother of Young Woman Involved
Tells of Purported Marriage of Couple

J. R. Houston, indicted for pandering, is on trial in the 30th district court today. The jury was completed at eleven o'clock, and the first witness was P. O. Green, brother of the young woman involved in the case. He testified to the purported marriage of Houston and the young woman. Edna Mays, proprietress of a resort in the flats, testified that a man came to her place in April and sought to place a girl therein. She was not fully positive that the defendant was the man, but thought that he was.

The defendant is represented by Judge Edgar Scurry and Nelson and Hunter, District Attorney Leslie Humphrey and Deputy County Attorney Davenport are conducting the prosecution.

Mae Howard was the first witness for the state this afternoon. She testified that a girl was placed in the house by a man, but she was far from positive in her identification of the defendant. Deputy Sheriff Carnes and Policemen Rawls testified to seeing the girl at the house. The state then rested its case, and the defendant also rested without putting on any witnesses. The state did not put the girl, supposed to be Houston's wife on the stand.

The jury trying the case consists of A. B. Critch, B. Daniel, D. E. Hooks, J. W. Lee, J. W. Beasley, N. G. Quinn, A. A. Vermillion, E. A. Cox, E. F. Noe, W. Y. Hammack, R. F. Wright, W. D. Shell.

Houston was at one time in charge of a large ranch in West Texas and was quite well to do, it is said.

IMPROVEMENTS IN SEYMOUR'S ELECTRICAL PLANT

(Seymour Banner)

The new 60 cycle generator at the Seymour Mill, Elevator & Light Co. is fast being connected up all over town. All motors have been installed, new fans have been placed and next week it is planned to cut in all the residence section. This will enable residents to have continued connection, lights all day if they want them. The heavier voltage is making necessary much rewiring and improvement of the system.

The change from the D. C. to A. C. current has been a big expense to the light company as well as to patrons. It has necessitated new motors and new fans, and as there are practically no D. C. plants left in the State, it makes the old fans and motors almost worthless. However, the company hopes to give better service now than ever before and a change will perhaps never again be needed. Figures are being received on a high tension wire to be extended to Bomarton, Goree, Munday and maybe Knox City, giving these enterprising towns the advantage of electric lights. If this should be done another engine would be installed, so that patrons would never lack for "juice." The present engine, a big Corliss, has been remodelled until it is almost a new machine.

COTTON BEING SENT TO GERMANY THROUGH HOLLAND

Reed, the inventor of a smokeless powder process, declaring that cotton was not necessary for the production of high explosives, to renew his campaign for the "supreme necessity of excluding cotton from our enemies' country."

The scientist says there is no dispute between himself and Reid, the latter referring to material used in charging shells while Sir William Ramsey referred to firing the charge when he said that "modern propulsive explosives are not made without cotton." Sir William asserts that during May nineteen times as much cotton as its normal supply was allowed to enter Holland and adds: "It is certain that it passes into Germany. We eventually are fighting against ourselves. We indirectly are killing our own men."

The World's Lowest Priced Knight Motored Car

This announces the greatest achievement in the history of the automobile business.

The Knight is the automobile motor that revolutionized the entire motor car industry of Europe.

The Daimler of England, the Panhard of France, the Mercedes of Germany, the Minerva of Belgium—in fact practically all of the costly European cars—are equipped with the famous Knight type motor.

And these are the motor cars that cost from $4,000 to $8,000 each!

Practically every royal and titled family in Europe owns one or more Knight motored cars.

The Knight type motor is the nearest approach to 100% efficiency.

This motor differs from other motors in that where all others deteriorate with use, this improves; to all others carbon is harmful, here it is beneficial; size for size it has more power. It has no noisy poppet valves; no noisy cams; no uncertain valve springs; no troublesome valves to grind; practically no wearing parts. The Willys-Knight has the same advantages and is just as efficient as those costly European Knight cars.

As we build more cars in a single week than most European manufacturers build in a whole year, we are able to utilize every modern manufacturing economy.

That is why our price is so much less. The Willys-Knight, in our opinion, has the least vibration and is the smoothest, quietest and most economical car made.

sport and fashion are making a fad of it.

A special costume for woman farmers has been designed and exhibited at a woman's farm work show given by Lady Cowdray at her London home. The suit is made of tough brown linen fashioned into a long coat buttoned down the front. Knickerbockers of the same material are worn underneath, buttoning below the knee. This costume is not only cheap, but allows as much freedom of movement as man's dress. Because of the knickers, the women farmers can climb trees for pruning or picking fruit. At Lady Cowdray's exhibition, every branch of farm work was represented, dairying, gardening, orchard work and work in the fields.

Some prejudice is encountered on the part of the old fashioned farmers. When they receive an application for work from a girl who looks like the dairymaid of a comic opera, they are inclined to give a refusal on the spot. Most of the applicants have little idea of what real farmwork is like. They think of a rose covered cottage, with tea served in the garden among the flowers and an arcadian existence. But they are willing to learn about pigs, chickens, and stock, and generally do well at fruit-picking and hay raking.

Undertaking Too Much.

"One sees a great many anemic looking young men these days." "I wonder why that is."

Peculiar Boring Clam.

One of the strangest creatures known to science is the pholas, or boring clam. When still very minute the animal bores into the sandstone ledges at extreme low water, by means of its sharp shell, which is replaced by secretions as it is worn away. It penetrates the rock to a depth of six or eight inches, and hollows out its burrow as it increases in size. Shaped roughly like a top, it could not leave its rock dwelling even if it wished to do so. For food, it depends on the animalcules that float in sea water, which it seizes by its long siphon, or tongue. The pholas is in great demand at the seaside resorts along the Pacific coast, for its meat is very tender and makes excellent soup.—Youth's Companion.

A Memorable Year.

Quite naturally anything that has to do with ourselves assumes first importance, but this trait is not often so plainly exhibited as in the case of the aged gentleman whose great-grandchild came running to him in a state of eager excitement. It seems that the boy had just learned the date of Washington's death, and was anxious to impart his information to others.

"Grandfather," he cried, "what great event occurred in 1799?"

"Let me see," said the old man, musingly. "Oh, yes, to be sure! I was born in that year."

Swiss and Austrian inhabitants on the frontier of the Voralberg have just had a striking example of this brought home to them.

A farm workers engaged in cutting hay on the slope of the Gamp Alp, a mountain some 6,600 feet high, near the Swiss-Austrian boundary line, brought his child to the field with him and placed the three and a half-year-old youngster under a bush while he set about his hay-making.

Some two hours later he returned to the place but could not find the infant. Beside himself with anxiety, he hurried to the nearest village and reported the circumstances to the police, who sent out a general alarm.

Several days later, some chamois hunters of the district, having learned of the loss of the child, reported that they had seen an eagle flying over them, carrying "something heavy." The conclusion was reached that the eagle's burden must have been the missing child.

Local Alpinists at once formed an expedition to search the mountain fast-

To The Voters of Wichita County

(Advertisement)

Our anti friends are hard pressed for argument. They dare not defend the open saloon, but like the criminal lawyer who knows his client is guilty they are talking of every thing else but the issue. They denounce state wide prohibition as being a failure in Maine and Kansas, and give that as the reason why we should not have local option here. Some of the men who sign these statements as to prohibition being a failure in two great states, in 1911 signed other statements urging the people of Wichita County to vote for state wide prohibition here. Our anti friends ought to at least be consistent. They still talk about the churches and the splendid cause of religion, and say in effect that the saloon takes nothing from either. "By their fruits ye shall know them." We are willing to let the churches and the saloons stand or fall by their own record. What preacher in this county is defending the open saloon. They are much distressed that we have given the facts from the criminal record of this county and well they may be. The tax payers are not going longer to let the saloons remain to cause from sixty to seventy five per cent of our criminal and divorce cases, and a like per centage of the pauperism in the county. It costs too much in money and in the blood of human hearts to keep the saloons longer here.

We have not misrepresented the record or misstated the facts and our anti friends know it. We are giving daily through the public press statements from towns all over Texas that all kinds of conditions have improved under prohibition. If prohibition is a failure why don't the people vote back the saloons in the 179 dry counties of the state? Why is the per centage of crime greater in all of the wet counties than in all of the dry counties? They know that not a single piece of property will depreciate as much as twenty-five per cent from its real value, and if there is any depreciation at all it will be on only a few houses now rented for saloons and other purposes whose rental and other value is now too high, and they know further that no decrease will be shown in the values on the county tax rolls next year because of prohibition, and that no farmer or business man will pay higher taxes because the county is dry. This is a figment of the imagination born in the mind of some enthusiastic anti for campaign purposes only.

Our geographical location has nothing to do with our failure to get a state school. Gainesville is in the adjoining county to Denton, and Denton already has two state schools, and yet Gainesville dry gets the new Girls Reform School, while Wichita Falls wet, gets nothing. Patrick Henry chairman of the committee that located this school said no saloon town had any chance to get it. In 1909 John Marshall then Speaker of the House of Representatives who was on the locating committee, declared in a letter to the chairman of the prohibition committee, that no town was even seriously considered for the West Texas Normal that had saloons. R. E. Huff and others who saw this letter can verify this statement. Why should they consider Wichita Falls? Who is there in Texas who would want to train teachers for our public schools in a saloon town? Where are all the state normals located? At Denton, San Marcos, Huntsville and Canyon City, all dry towns.

If the saloons are such moral institutions why did the manager of the window glass factory threaten to shut down that plant if a saloon opened up out there under our new city charter, and why do the property owners refuse to allow them on Eighth street.

According to the latest records there are eleven women in the bawdy houses with a federal revenue license. If our anti friends want their names they know where to get them. They know they are there and it is just as much their duty to prosecute them as it is ours. What can we do with them? Fine them only in a wet town, but if the county goes dry we can send them to the penitentiary, unless they stop selling liquors to all classes of people in the night and at other times. Not many of them are going to take out a revenue license with the penitentiary staring them in the face under the state law.

Gentlemen stick to the issue. What have you to say for the open saloon, is it good or bad?

Here's Your Hat: What's Your Hurry?

"You say that many will leave town. Very well we should be glad to have that element go. How about the folks that will come here if the town goes dry? I know personally of several families who are considering this city as a home when the saloons get out. We will lose some citizens from the red light section. We will lose some rooming house people and quite possibly some of our hotels. But in their places in less than five years will be built up a citizenship that will make us all glad and which will give a stability to our city that we do not now possess. A real estate owner told the other day of a high salaried man who failed to pay all his rent for a couple of months. On inquiry the real estate man found that that man had just paid a $45 bar bill. He owed the landlord and the groceryman but he paid the saloon keeper."

Another Question.
"You say that it will throw many men out of work. Very well. How many men has the saloon put out of work in Wichita Falls during recent years? It was incapacitated more men than are employed in all the saloons in the city. Let the saloon man get out now and earn his living like other laboring men. Let him give something to return for his money. Let him do honest work and he will think more of himself. What has happened to Ohio street in the last few years? Why will certain kinds of business refuse to be located near a saloon? Why did a bunch of office men get new quarters recently when a saloon was put in under them? What means this commotion if a saloon is a good thing in the community? There are a hundred questions that a business man needs to answer before he concludes that a saloon is a good thing. It may get good rent and for one building but what does it do for the buildings either side of the saloon?"

"Let us consider the business side a little further. About how much liquor is sold in Wichita Falls annually? As near as can be ascertained about $400,000 worth. Now that sounds like a big sum of money and the saloon man and a few real estate men who are peculiarly interested in the welfare of the saloons say, see how much money that brings to our city. But how much of it stays here? To begin with at least 60 per cent goes to make Milwaukee famous or to some other brewing or distilling section. There goes two-thirds of your money on the start. Pay freight, pay an assessment to fight prohibition and send away a little more and it we have $85,000 left we will do well. What have we in return for what our county has paid $300,000. A few landlords have big rentals on a few buildings. About forty saloon keepers and bar tenders have a fair salary part of which they will spend for legitimate merchandise, etc. What other enterprise doing a $300,000 business leaves so little for the money?"

"Brethren the anti may say nice things about the churches in our town and profess to be a booster but remember when you cast a vote for the continuation of the saloon in this city you vote against the church. We have nice churches but less than one-third of our population are attendants. When you cast a vote for the saloons you are voting to keep a number of young people out of school. You are saying that a dozen landlords and a few saloon men need this money worse than the families in our town. We have nice schools but not one-tenth of the young people who should graduate are doing so. We have nice homes but many of them are honeycombed with vice. Our material equipment for a city is fair but what we need now is a citizenship that will make Wichita Falls a city with something substantial to boast of. To get that we must get rid of the saloons. Let no man who professes to be a Christian play false in this matter."

Several years of intermittent warfare follow between the Americans and the Mexicans, and about this time the country side is terrorized by a highwayman known to the Mexicans as "Captain Courtney." This title he has gained by his unflinching cruelty to women, to children, to the poor and to the helpless, in spite of the fact of his ruthless actions against the Mexicans.

"Captain Courtney" rescues Eleanor, the ward of Father Reinado, from a Mexican who has insulted her, and immediately a friendship springs up. Granville has also met Eleanor and is likewise infatuated. The rivals have many encounters in and about the mission.

The Mexicans are about to attack the mission, when "Captain Courtney" rides his horse through the window and warns the Padre of the impending danger. Courtney then rides to get Kearney's American troops. Just as the ammunition of the defenders is exhausted, the troops arrive and save the day.

The Majestic.
In "The Plunderer," a Fox feature that plays at the Majestic Tuesday William Farnum an ideal type of Western manhood is featured. Mr. Farnum when announcement was made that "The Plunderer" would be filmed commenced taking a vigorous two months' training for the great fight that is made one of the chief episodes in "The Plunderer." The fight is the most thrilling bare knuckled battle ever filmed. It is positively terrific in its ferociousness. Farnum, single handed, fights and beats a score of drink mad and hate-crazed Western miners. He toys with the enraged physical giants like an aroused Titan, as with his bare knuckles he hammers them into insensibility, avenging the murder of his aged friend, Old Bells Parks. To get the full realism of the part the actor conditioned himself for eight weeks just as rigorously as if he had been going after the heavy weight championship. In freezing weather he rose at 5:30 a. m. at his country place at Sag Harbor, L. I. and under the stern eye of a trainer, jogged ten miles over the frozen roads while his mentor rode at ease in an automobile. Then came a swift dip in the icy waters of the harbor from the dock on his estate; followed a brisk rub down and breakfast. After a brief rest Mr. Farnum spent most of the morning in his gymnasium, sparring and dallying with the medicine ball. In the afternoon came another jog over the roads and then a very light dinner and bed. So when you see that battle upon the screen in "The Plunderer" and it is the most heart quickening, breath catching fist fight ever filmed. Don't forget, as you see the actor smashing and slashing his foes, that, not unnaturally, it was some job to find actors willing to face the Farnum fists.

J. L. (Daddy) Moore has sold his plumbing business to his son, D. A. Moore and will retire from business to his farm four miles east of the city.

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously.

Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight.

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution, and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for literature explaining our case and 64-page book, "Cardui for Women," sent in plain wrapper, etc.

BOOTLEGGING AS IT IS PRACTISED IN RUSSIA

Berlin, July 19.—Disparate chances in obtaining liquor have been taken by the Russian Cossacks and sundry civilians in trying to get around the prohibition rules of the great empire, according to stories that drift back to Germany by way of returning troops.

Not long after the hated order of ukase went into effect there began a wholesale transportation of liquor toward the inner part of Russia from the towns and cities in the west. Those in charge of the big shipments as their first move in turning a penny began to report that many of the bottles had been broken in transit.

They failed to state that the contents first had been sold to the Cossacks, but they had to give up this transparent ruse when the breakage became so alarmingly great as to open the eyes of the authorities. The next game was to become the victim of a robber attack. The liquor transporters again and again were found beside their teams or wagons, bound and gagged, while their wares were gone.

This too sufficed only for a time. For the police soon discovered the "stolen" vodka in the possession of handbills in towns near the scenes of the attacks. Those who wanted liquor had to get bolder accordingly, and even held up trains and robbed whole cars of their precious contents. Needless to say the train crews were in league with the robbers.

GIANT AEROPLANES OF DOUBTFUL ABILITY.

London.—Although it has been announced in the House of Commons that the British government has giant aeroplanes under construction, this type of aircraft does not command the entire confidence of experts.

The idea of the giant flying machine came from Russia where the Russian constructor, Sikorsky, had even before the war built a four-engine car, with two engines, each driving a propeller to each side. This car developed 500-horse-power and it is said that one car flew for six hours with sixteen passengers. Sikorsky is also credited with having taken two dozen at once on a short flight. A modified type of 250 horse power is now used for war purposes by the Russians.

One serious drawback to the giant aeroplanes pointed out by C. G. Grey, a well known writer and expert on aeronautical subjects, is the difficulty in finding a field large enough for starting and landing. A machine of such size needs a long start. But even more important is the objection of putting too many eggs in one basket. A giant plane carries an enormous amount of explosives, which is ordinarily distributed among a flock of small machines. On the Ostend raid, nearly forty machines took part with the loss of only three. More than a score were sent by the French against Karlsruhe of which but two were brought down.

Where the giant plane promises to be most useful is in defensive operations. With several machine guns and a large gun of the pom-pom class, it can patrol its own lines for hours at a stretch, repelling the enemy scout

REICHENBACH SINGLE PERSONS MUST PAY FOR PRIVILEGE.

Dresden, Germany, July 19.—The authorities of the little city of Reichenbach, in the vogtland, have decreed that all unmarried persons, male or female, hereafter shall pay for the privilege of single blessedness.

Those with incomes ranging from 1400 to 2200 marks must pay 5 per cent more than they usually do; those whose incomes run between 2200 and 4000 marks must pay an additional income tax of 10 per cent; those getting from 4,000 to 10,000 marks must pay 15 per cent; and those whose incomes are above the 10,000 mark figures must pay 20 per cent additional tax.

The only exceptions are persons who have relatives dependent upon them. The authorities throw no light upon the ways and means by which female "bachelors" may remedy their single state, and escape the new taxation.

T. S. Ehlman returned to his home in Dallas today after a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Jesse Smith.

THE VICTROLA HAS NO PEER

If all the people could hear all of the substitutes for Victrolas, there would not be any music machines except Victrolas. Rather a contradictory statement, but a fact never the less.

The Victrola is so far ahead of all the tin horn imitations that any prospective buyer who would take the trouble to hear all of them, would not hesitate to buy the Victrola.

It is the one great musical machine with a tone volume that carries through the largest auditoriums, and yet may be heard in the smallest rooms without the mechanical twang that so offends the ears of real musicians.

It is the one great musical instrument from which you can get the masterpieces of the world's greatest singers and players. The art of these great singers and players is recorded in imperishable form exclusively for the Victrola.

Aldo, Amato, Bori, Braslau, Butt, Calve, Caruso, Culp, DeGogorza, Depachmann, Destinn, Eames, Elman, Farrar, Gadski, Gluck, Hamlin, Homer, Jadlowker, Kreisler, Kubelik, Martinelli, McCormack, Melba, Michailowa, Ober, Paderewski, Patti, Powell, Ruffo, Schumann-Heink, Scotti, Sembrich, Terry, Tetrizzini, Whitehill, Williams, Zimbalist, as well as the greatest bands and orchestras of the world.

It is the one great instrument that brings to the home the music that is desired, and anybody can make up a program from the Victor numbers that will be entertaining to the audience. It also brings into the homes the newest dances and dance music, and the folk songs and dances of all nations.

The Victrola is sold at various prices, from $15 to $300, and on easy terms.
