

Pay Raise Measure Headed For House

AUSTIN (AP)—The $810 teacher pay raise bill headed for House action today. The bill which cleared the House in the regular session.

The bill would cost the state $144 million in the next two years. It was approved Wednesday by the House Education Committee. Rep. Dewitt Hale, the sponsor, said he would seek House passage today.

In the Senate, passage of the $2.6 million Senate appropriation bill was considered possible. Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney, the sponsor, said it is up to Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey whether it comes up on the Senate floor, but "I sort of imagine he'll be ready."

The bill was approved in 20 minutes by the Senate Finance Committee.

House tax writers worked late into the night, but floor consideration of a tax bill appeared unlikely before next week.

The Senate Education Committee whizzed through a hearing on the teacher pay raise bill, identical to the Hale bill. Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, the author, said he is not ready to move with the legislation.

Both houses passed bills during the regular session giving teachers an $810 boost in minimum salaries and a $108 per year experience increment. No tax law to pay for the increase passed so the bills died.

Total cost of the Hale-Aikin bills would be $180,375,000. The state would pay 80 per cent, or $144,300,000. Local school districts would pay the rest. The legislation would give beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree a minimum of $4,014. Local districts can pay more than the minimum, however.

On tap for committee hearing this afternoon was Rep. Charles Ballman's bill which he said embodied Gov. Price Daniel's tax program.

The House Revenue and Tax Committee heard testimony Rep. Bob Eckhardt's gas tax aimed at interstate pipeline companies which buy gas from Texas producers through dedicated reserve contracts. The bill went to a subcommittee.

"My bill just says that where natural gas is not bringing as much as one penny tax to the state on each 1,000 cubic feet, then an additional tax is levied equal to the difference between the additional amount would be paid mostly by the pipeline companies, he added.

In a resolution adopted 120-19, the House authorized a committee to look into the recent increase in auto insurance rates ordered by the State Insurance Board.

"I don't think the people of Texas believe their interests have been looked after properly. I think the people are going to blame the legislature for this increase," said Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont, who asked for the investigation.

Satellite Is Breaking Orbit Record

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—A Midas satellite equipped to detect hostile missile firings was circling the earth every 2 hours and 40 minutes today in a record-breaking orbit that repeatedly takes it over the Soviet Union.

Midas III, the first in the missile-alarm series to be launched from the West Coast, carries infrared equipment which can spot rocket exhaust.

The rocket—a big Atlas booster topped by an Agena second-stage vehicle—blasted off at 8:12 a.m. Wednesday from this Navy missile base adjacent to Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force officials were jubilant, since the high altitude and circular orbit will permit the spy-type vehicle to scan wider areas.

The same officials were firm, however, in refusing to issue progress reports on the satellite. All they would say was that Midas III's first pass over the Soviet Union would take place five hours after launch and that it would be in scanning range of Soviet missile bases in the Ural Mountains six hours later.

Ultimately, a network of sky scouts is expected to double the present 15-minute radar warning time of missile attack.

California Man's Prophecy Came True

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"I expect lots of fishermen get killed," Robert M. Lindeburg said to a friend with whom he was surf casting during a thunderstorm.

Minutes later Lindeburg was dead, struck by lightning. The friend, Lee J. Scott, who related the conversation later, said that he had agreed with Lindeburg and had suggested they go home. But Lindeburg decided to stay.

Scott said Lindeburg was fishing Wednesday with a steel pole and was barefooted. Scott wore rubber hip boots. As Scott started to leave the beach the bolt struck.

"All of a sudden I was knocked down and it felt as if my hair was frying, sort of sizzling," he said. "When I got up I wasn't hurt, just shaken."

Fiery Denver Plane Crash Investigated

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Tight-lipped federal and company investigators tried to pinpoint responsibility today for a United Airlines DC-8 jet liner landing crash that killed 17 persons Tuesday.

Of the 122 aboard, at least 50 received hospital treatment and 38 suffered minor injuries. None was in critical condition.

United imposed a complete blackout on any explanations of all seven crew members who escaped or from other company employees. UAL President W. A. Patterson, here from Chicago, refused to answer any queries from newsmen.

Federal investigators turned aside reporters' questions with a cryptic "There's nothing to say." Fire Chief Albie Feldman of Denver snapped back at critics who alleged there was delay in fire-fighting equipment reaching the crash scene.

"It didn't make any difference how many pieces of fire equipment we had there we couldn't have saved those 16 people," Feldman said. Those 16 passengers died in the flaming wreckage. The 17th victim was a Denver city engineer.

He was crushed when the mammoth airliner, reporting a hydraulic system malfunction, skidded from a runway at an estimated speed of 120 to 140 m.p.h. and slammed into his truck, in use on a construction project.

London Surprises Come In One-Ton Packages

LONDON (AP)—A one-ton whale invaded London by speeding 60 miles up the busy Thames River Wednesday but got tangled in reeds and died.

The 14-foot mammal—a rare female specimen of the lesser Portuguese whale—slipped through the heavy river traffic to get 13 miles upstream from London Bridge.

Trying to evade a motor launch as the tide ebbed, she ran aground near Kew. A group of men came to the rescue, found she was injured and hauled her back into the river.

Spouting water, the whale sped away while police in a launch waved off boats and tried to maneuver her toward the open sea. But the whale got caught in reeds and died after the police launch dragged her free.

Sounds A-Mite Smoochy, Miss

LONDON (AP)—A pretty British dental nurse kissed Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin Wednesday night and pronounced him "the most kissable man in the universe."

"Oh, it was wonderful, just wonderful," said Olivia Brayden, 23. "I'm mad about him. I shall remember it always."

Olivia, ambushed the 5-foot-5 Russian as he emerged from the Soviet Embassy on his way to a reception. She flung her arms around his neck and gave him a solid smack on the cheek.

Yuri, a married man whose wife remained in Moscow, looked embarrassed.

So did his Soviet bodyguards. They grabbed the girl and pushed her back into the crowd gathered to see the spaceman.

Gagarin—who was kissed on both cheeks and the mouth by Soviet Premier Khrushchev after his space flight—quickly recovered his composure. He smiled, climbed into the car and rubbed at the lipstick on his cheek with his handkerchief as the car pulled away.

"Yes, I have a boy friend," Olivia told newsmen, "and I don't think he's going to like it very much."

Leave It To 'Beaver'; But Not The Late Show!

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jerry Mathers, 13-year-old star of ABC-TV's "Leave It To Beaver," has been in show business for more than 10 years. He broke into television at age 2½, soon after his family moved from Sioux City, Iowa, to Canoga Park, Calif., where they still live. His Dad, Norman Mathers, teaches school in nearby Van Nuys. In his own words, Jerry tells what it's like to be a big TV star and seldom be allowed up long enough to watch the other programs.

By JERRY MATHERS
Written for The Associated Press
One of the things I miss most because of my television job is watching television. My mother makes me go to bed at 8:30 on Sunday through Thursday nights because I have to get up at 6:30 in the morning on weekdays to get ready for work. This means I have to skip a lot of night-time shows.

I only tune in "Leave It To Beaver" once in a while. I already know the script and how each show ends. I always feed my pets and play with them a little while in the morning, before my mother drives me to the studio. One is German shepherd named Ron. Ton. Ton. He's a cousin, or something of Ron. Tin. Tin. I also have a rat who likes raisins.

We leave for the studio about 8 o'clock. Sometimes we take my 10-year-old sister, Susan, and my little brother, Jimmie, and a couple of neighborhood kids to school on the way.

The guy who puts my makeup on is named Jack. Whenever he sees me, he goes phew and holds his nose. That's because I run after shave lotion on my face in the morning, the way Dad does. I was 13 in June, but I don't have any whiskers yet.

School is held in a little shack inside the sound stage near the set. On days when other kids are working in the show, I have a lot of company in school. Other days it's just me and the teacher. She's nice but I like it better when other kids are there.

We have to be in school three hours a day, but it lasts almost the whole day because we go back and forth to the set whenever they need us for a scene. At lunchtime, all the kids eat in a big table at the studio commissary and horse around a lot.

If there's any time left after lunch, I go back to the stage and play basketball with Tony Dow and some of the kids in the show and the guys in the crew. We have a basket hung up on one of the walls.

We quit work at 5 o'clock, and I go home with my mother. She has to stay at the studio with me all day. Before dinner, I play ball with the kids in the neighborhood or maybe in hot weather go for a swim in somebody's pool. After dinner, I watch TV, build model planes or do some homework.

At 8, my mother helps me study my lines for the next day, and then I go to bed. But on Friday and Saturday, I stay up till 9:30. We rehearse on Monday and Tuesday, which means I get home early. It's sort of lonesome, though. My sister and all the other kids

Lawmen Chasing Accused Killer

KREMMLING, Colo. (AP)—A hundred officers, some with sub-machineguns, stalked through the rugged northwestern Colorado mountains searching today for a fast Shawgun accused of killing two officers and wounding two others.

State Patrol Lt. Hiram Short, 49, of Craig, Colo., and Under-Sheriff John Clark, 68, of Eagle County, died Wednesday night from bullets fired by the trouble-haired desperado.

Sheriff Chancy Van Pelt, 54, of Grand County, and Robert Hoover of Grand Junction, a State Game and Fish Department education officer, were hospitalized at Denver with serious bullet wounds.

The slayer, described as in his early 20s, was driving a car purchased July 3 at Sioux City, Iowa, by a man giving the name of Delmar Dean Spomer of Storm Lake, Iowa. Officers said Spomer left Storm Lake July 6.

Officers said they believed they trapped the gunman in a ravine near State Bridge, Colo., about 15 miles southwest of Kremmling near Piney Creek. The area, popular with fishermen, is about 130 miles northwest of Denver.

The gunman abandoned his car after a gun fight in which Clark was wounded in the jaw.

Some officers said the desperado may have been wounded before fleeing on foot into the mountain fastness.

Officers pieced together this sequence of events:

Hoover, driving westward on U.S. Highway 40, stopped to assist a motorist whose car appeared to be stalled. Hoover became suspicious after the driver failed to produce adequate identification and radioed for the sheriff and the state patrolman.

The three questioned the motorist for a few minutes and decided to take him to Kremmling for further examination. They started walking to Van Pelt's car when the motorist drew a pistol and fired rapidly at Short and Van Pelt.

After wounding them, the gunman fired on Hoover, who had rolled into a roadside pit in an effort to escape the shooting.

The gunman raced away in his car, driving through Kremmling and turning southward on a road toward Eagle County.

Sheriff Henry Knuth and his undersheriff, Clark, drove northward to intercept the fleeing man. When they attempted to stop the approaching car, the Iowa auto rammed into the officers' vehicle.

At the same time, a shot through the window struck Clark in the jaw. The gunman jumped from his car and ran into dense roadside woods.

Barbecued Chicken Must Be Saucy

By CECIL BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
FOOD'S on the outdoor charcoal grill. That's one thing we're sure of this summer. Everywhere we go we hear talk about barbecue sauce.
Some Saturdays we pop into food markets. We notice Pop's there right along with Mom, choosing this old product, pondering over that new one.
Sometimes we eavesdrop. What's so fascinating about grocery conversation? Recipe talk! Here's an example: HE: Did you put soy sauce on the list? JIM EVANS says it's great to add to prepared barbecue sauce. SHE: Yes, but how about picking up a bunch of scallions? Sally Watts tells me they give interesting flavor. What to try them in the sauce when you barbecue the chicken tonight? So here's a grilled chicken recipe calling for prepared barbecue sauce, soy sauce and scallions! A friend of our own recommended this version. We tried it and our taste buds gave it their blessing. Want to hand it to Pop?
SAVORY GRILLED CHICKEN
2 large or 3 very small broiler-fryers
Salt
1 jar (1 pound, 2 ounces) all-purpose seasoning barbecue sauce
1 clove garlic (crushed)
¼ cup minced scallions (green top included)
½ cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Large chickens may be cut in serving-size pieces. Very small ones may be split in half or quartered. Sprinkle chicken with salt on all sides. Stir together the remaining ingredients. Star to grill or broil chicken with skin side down; brush generously a few times with the sauce. Turn chicken when almost half done; brush a few times with sauce; continue broiling until drumsticks are tender. Any sauce not used for brushing chicken may be heated and served separately. This sauce is on the hot side. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
One of the characteristics of silk shantung that connotes quality is that the shib is part of the yarn and does not pull out. This is also true of good rayon shantung. Pluck the shib to test, or check the label for content.

Fall Clothes In Previews This Week

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Anyone who doesn't already know that women are a deceptive lot would get an instant education at the New York costume group's fall style previews this week.

More than 200 female writers here for fashion press week saw the mannequins demonstrate their witchery.

Clothes did the tricks.

For example, on the runway stood Whistler's mother, shoulders bent, wearily under the weight of a huge fringed white shawl, a demure white skirt reaching her toes. Then as suddenly as she could whip off the shawl she turned into somebody's sultry granddaughter in a décolleté dinner gown that even a non-Whistler would whistle at.

Time and again models strode the runway in Monte-Sano's "poor girl" cloth coats—big woolly plaids not too expensive looking for a trip to the Internal Revenue office. Yet for the walk back they were rich girls, with coats reversed to mink, nutria and cat fur sides, proving you can always hide money in the lining.

Yet even the most knowledgeable women reporters were deceived by some of designer Jane Derby's Empire silhouettes.

"Is she or isn't she?" they whispered behind their hands as pretty young ladies paraded one by one in dresses that belied and flared out suddenly at the bosom line in an enigmatic way. They weren't.

Fabrics in the show were foolers too. Coats that looked like politically historical vicuna were not. Materials quilled to seem like karakul fur had not a hair. Dresses that appeared to be knit or jersey or cottons were something else again.

There was no fooling anyone about color trends this year, however. Designers Jane Derby, Monte-Sano and Branel showed their partiality to forest greens, deep navies, and black and brown combinations.

And white, once reserved for brides and summertime tans, is a snowy favorite for winter, with each designer. But then fashions for fall and winter are as contrary as they are deceptive.

Gray and brown, brown and red, orange and red—hitherto unheard of hues in the same company—are now compatible companions. Wools once preferred for coats and suits are slinky tubular evening dresses. And satins, reserved to go with the cocktail shaker, have become a part of tailored little business suits.

But there's no point in being deceptive about the high cost of keeping in style this year. Instead of that one good, serviceable winter coat ordinarily expected to last several seasons, a Monte-Sano spokesman predicts that at least three or four will need to be in every woman's closet.

Dresses and suits will continue to match coats, an expensive style trend that began this spring.

52 Graduates Of 1941 Class Gather Here For Reunion

The graduation class of 1941 held their twentieth year reunion Friday and Saturday with a full slate of activities.

Friday night's activities started with a family barbecue in the National Guard armory with approximately 140 in attendance. The exes introduced children and grandchildren and exchanged stories of years past. Many had not seen other members of the class in 20 years and a good time was reported.

Saturday morning, an informal coffee was held in the armory with friends of the exes dropping by. Saturday evening a dinner was held in the 66 Dining room for exes and their families as a finale of the reunion.

The invocation was given by James Neal. Donald Ray Scott was master of ceremonies and introduced visiting teachers, followed by each person introducing his husband or wife and gave an account of his work, children and locality of residence.

Jimmie Wells received a large ovation for having come the farthest to attend the reunion, 1300 miles. Letters were read from many exes who were unable to attend.

Mrs. Gerald Walton was introduced and presented the program "That Wonderful Year, 1941." A highlight of the program was the introduction of seven members of the 1941 football team who were present.

There were 85 graduates in 1941 from Snyder High School and 52 were present for the festivities, with 90 exes and guests attending the dinner. Forty-five live in Scurry County. After graduation many of the graduates went into the armed services.

Concluding the program, Scott read a humorous "Letter from a Soldier" written during World War II. The benediction was given by Kenneth Wilson.

Each of the 87 present expressed delight for having the opportunity to get together for such enjoyable festivities and made plans to meet again in 1966. This was the second reunion of the class as it met for a reunion in 1951.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stanfield, teachers and sponsor in 1941; Mr. Pop Patterson, teacher in '41; Mr. W. W. Hill, Fort Worth, principal in 1941; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stittman, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Bynum, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyd, Grand Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Narramore, Beach Grove, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dorman, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard V. Gill, Lubbock; Mr. W. H. ## Curves Take Preference In Fashions

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas industry is betting its spoils of yarn on the fact that men like curves and a slight bulge here and there in women.

Models who parade in the dresses made here for Southwestern buyers fit this idea.

Dallas manufacturers credit the curved - woman look for the winning third place in the nation — behind New York and Los Angeles — in fashion production.

Designers Diana Martin says "we design for what we feel is the typical American woman, not what Paris thinks she is or what New York tells us she is."

"The curved woman look is accepted in our market because it's easier to wear," she says.

Mrs. Martin is quick to add, however, that this does not mean Dallas ignores high fashion from Paris or New York or Los Angeles.

"We take these fashions, when we have to, and modify them to fit into our ideas."

Most models in this fashion-conscious city don't have the inverted posture slouch or the broom handle body and they don't pose with the lowered - eyelid look so popular in high fashion magazines.

"The majority of the models here are rounder than they are in New York or on the West Coast," says Kim Dawson, a former model who stages fashion shows for the fashion industry. She points out that the dresses and sports wear made in Dallas are for models built more like the average woman than the high - price shaped models in Paris.

Women seem to prefer their models with a look of health and happiness, manufacturers say, because this is how the women like to think of themselves.

Arnie Happy Over Soggy Conditions

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer's prospects of capturing the golf title he covets, the British Open, improved today after hours of heavy rain drenched the parched fairways and greens of the Royal Birkdale links.

"I'm happy to see the course getting a soaking," said the favored pro from Latrobe, Pa. "It needed rain—and I'm sure playing conditions will be the better for it."

Palmer was poised at 70 after the first round of the championship, which carries a first prize of $3,920. He was two strokes behind the three first-day leaders—defending champion Kel Nagle of Australia, Harold Henning of South Africa and Dai Rees of Wales.

Three others were on 69, but Palmer's biggest rival for the title, Gary Player of South Africa, trailed at 73.

"I'm quite content with the position I'm in," Palmer said. "A great deal depends on the weather, but don't forget that the rain is not going to suit only me. It's going to please everybody in the field."

None of the 108 golfers competing for the title wants rain while they're actually playing. But most agree that the drenching will make the greens hold the ball better.

The reason why it suits Palmer is that he always plays right for the pin with raking irons—and the slower the greens, the more likely he is to start scattering birdies around.

The other three golfers at 69 were Dave Miller of Scotland, Norm Johnson of England and Jean Garaialde of France.

as the NL beat the AL 5-3 in 10 innings at San Francisco Tuesday in the windswept All-Star game, play at Chicago tonight and could regain the lead from idle, first-place Detroit.

New York slipped one percentage point behind the Tigers Sunday before the majors started the three-day All-Star game break.

In the National, the Cincinnati Reds take a five-game bulge into the opener of a four-game series with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati. The second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, with pitcher Don Drysdale sidelined by suspension and catcher Norm Sherry sidelined by injury, start a three-game set at home against last-place Philadelphia.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh drove in the winning run in the All-Star game and Willie Mays of San Francisco, who batted in the tying run and scored the clincher, go back to belting against each other as the third-place Pirates play the Giants this afternoon at Candlestick Park, San Francisco's Cave of the Winds.

The other NL game sends Milwaukee to St. Louis tonight. In the American, it's Baltimore at Boston, Minnesota at Cleveland and Kansas City at Washington.

The Yankees, 3-2 over the White Sox this season, send Bill Stafford (7-4) against Chicago and Early Wynn (7-1), the right-handed veteran who will be shooting for his 25th career victory and sixth in a row. New York figures to have first baseman Bill Skowron back and doesn't expect to be without Mantle, who injured his wrist while batting in the All-Star game. Skowron injured his back once again in pregame practice on Sunday.

Time And A Half At The Minimum

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe the New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants should receive additional pay for working overtime. They have the best major league records in extra-inning games. The Yanks, only one percentage point behind Detroit in the American League pennant race, have won four overtime games and lost two for a .667 mark. The Giants have four victories, only one setback and one tie, in 10 extra-inning games. The Associated Press disclosed today.

DOWN FOR COUNT—British fighter Terry Downes stands over his opponent, Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., who slipped to the canvas in the sixth round of their title bout in London. Pender was down for the count of two. Downes, of London, won part of the middleweight championship recognized in New York, Europe and Massachusetts when Pender quit at the end of the ninth round because of a deep cut over his left eye. Referee is Ike Powell of Wales. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London)

Might Lopez Be Retiring? 'Could Be'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Al Lopez, veteran baseball player and manager who has spent 36 of his 32 years in the game, said Wednesday he may retire at the end of this season.

However, in an interview with Ralph Warner, Tampa Tribune sports columnist, Lopez said he didn't know what it would be like to "be out of the game."

"When asked directly if he planned on retiring, he answered: 'Could be.'"

Lopez, pilot of the Chicago White Sox, has been a manager 13 years.

The Tampa native started playing professional baseball as a 16-year-old catcher in the Florida State League. He spent 18 years as a major league before becoming a manager.

In Chicago, the Sun-Times said it had contacted Lopez in Florida and quoted the White Sox manager as saying: "I don't know where he (Warner) got it."

Lopez said he told Warner he's not worrying about next year because he has a contract which runs through 1961 and "I'll finish the season before making any decisions."

Jumper Thomas Nearing Payoff

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Jumbo Jim Elliott has been running John Thomas through a concentrated course in high jumping and said today he hopes to see a successful end to the program in the United States-Soviet track meet Saturday and Sunday.

The Soviets have been building up to this showdown meeting between Thomas and Valery Brumel, the world's two top high jumpers, for months. Just Wednesday Soviet coach Gabriel Korobov said the burden was on Thomas and that Brumel would win.

"John has been looking very good," said Elliott, the U.S. team coach. "If he keeps up his present form, I've got a hunch he's going to be hard to beat."

Elliott revealed that he has been working on Thomas' takeoff more than anything else.

"I think John has been worried too much about the bar and not enough about the takeoff," said Elliott. "I have been trying to get him to forget the bar."

"I think he has been approaching the bar too slowly and at the wrong angle. I have had him working on moving in a little faster, and then approaching the bar straight instead of at the angle he has been using."

Elliott is not a newcomer in coaching high jumpers. In fact, on the basis of how high the jumper can get over his own height, Elliott developed one of the best ever. Little Phil Reavis, 5-8, rose 6 feet, 10 inches—14 inches over his own height.

Thomas, for example, has gone 10 inches over his own height. He stands 6-5½ and his world record is 7-3½.

Thomas lost all three meetings with Brumel last winter in Madison Square Garden. In their only other meeting, in the 1960 Olympics, both were beaten by Robert Schavlikadze, who also will be in the weekend meet. The high jump is scheduled for Sunday.

Craft To Pilot Houston's Buffs

HOUSTON (AP) — Harry Craft, a member of the coaching staff of the Chicago Cubs, was named manager of the American Association Houston Buffs Wednesday.

Craft, former manager of the Kansas City Athletics, succeeds Lou Klein, who returns to the coaching staff of the Cubs. Craft began observing the Buffs Tuesday and will take over active direction of the club Sunday.

Klein took over as Buff manager two months ago when Grady Hatton was promoted to director of player personnel for the National League Houston Colts, owners of the Buffs.

The Buffs this year have a working agreement with the Cubs. Craft was an outfielder for six years with the Cincinnati Reds. He was a minor league manager from 1949 until 1955 when he joined the Athletics as a coach.

All-Stars To Report In To Graham

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The 1961 College All-Star football team — 56 strong — reports to Head Coach Otto Graham today to open a three-week training program.

The collegians, who wound up their school competition last fall, will oppose the champions of the National Football League, the Philadelphia Eagles in the 28th annual All-Star game Aug. 4 in Soldier Field.

Graham's assistant coaches and the players register at Northwestern University today. The squad will hold one-a-day practice sessions Friday and Saturday and start twice-a-day session at Dwyer Stadium Monday.

This is Graham's fourth year as head coach of the All-Stars. The former Northwestern and Cleveland Brown quarterback now is head football coach at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

Graham's assistants are Don Doll, formerly of Southern California; Dick Stanfel, San Francisco; John Sauer, U.S. Military Academy; Mike Scarry, ex-Cleveland Browns player and former coach at Washington State; and Dante Lavelli, Cleveland Browns.

Looking for beef as well as speed and ability, coaches selected 25 players who weigh from 230 to 285.

Ends include Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh; Earl Faison, Indiana; Marlin McKeever, Southern California; and El Kimbrough, Northwestern.

Among the tackles are Joe Riggins, 245, Illinois; Ken Rice, 245, Auburn; Bill Shaw, 250, Georgia Tech; and Bob Lilly, 255, Texas as Christian.

Guards include Jack Novak, 225, Miami of Florida; Myron Pottios, 228, Notre Dame; Jim Tyrer, 265, Ohio State; and Bruce Tarbox, 235, Syracuse.

Center prospects include Frank Viated, Navy; Mike Pyle, Yale; and Greg Larson, Minnesota.

Backfield prospects include: Tom Matte, Ohio State quarterback; Joe Bellino, Navy; Bob Cresping and George Blair, Mississippi; Tom Mason, Tulane; and George Flemming, University of Washington.

Philadelphia starts drills at Hershey, Pa., Friday.

Willie Shoemaker has led the riders at Hollywood Park the last eight years and 11 times in the past 12 years. Last year he rode 82 winners at the Inglewood, Calif., track.

MAJORS NEATLY CUTTING THEIR OWN THROATS

Curses On Thee, Almighty Dollar!

By Harold V. Radloff
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues are paying out bonuses due to total $9,000,000 for high school boys and collegians and everybody in baseball says it's bad and ought to be stopped.

That's the way it is every year but nobody does anything about stopping it. Baseball is like that. The majors virtually ruined the minor leagues with their television and said they were hated to see the minors fade out. Because then they wouldn't be able to get developed players. But they were getting millions of dollars for the broadcasts, so they just went right on doing them.

Few minor leagues are left and those that are functioning are losing money. The Texas League minor league shifts with the season and not finished in order to stay afloat.

The baseball men say it's bad to pay a high school boy, who isn't likely to be able to stick in even the high minors, $100,000 bonus. It's costing a lot of money and the results are poor.

On the part of professional baseball it is a bad practice. However, based on the way baseball operates, it is no more than just. Baseball signs boys just out of high school and boys who are only freshmen in college. Those boys are giving up an education for baseball and they deserve to be paid a sum that a college education would be worth. It is only reasonable to believe that an education would be worth $100,000.

If baseball had the same rules as pro football there would be none of the gigantic bonuses. Pro football will not sign a boy until his class has graduated in college, then it's a draft.

Pro baseball, however, refuses to follow such a line. Under its rules a high school boy can't be signed until he has finished his eligibility but the collegians are free game for the pro baseball scouts. The only stipulation is that a collegian won't be signed during the current college year, unless he's over 21 years of age. Then he can be signed anytime.

Actually, baseball is pretty strict regarding high school boys, which is commendable. A boy still in high school can't be signed, unless his high school signing class is signed. Even then he is not obligated to report for baseball service until the class with which he originally entered high school has graduated in other words, eight semesters after his original entry in the ninth grade.

A student who drops out of high school prior to expiration of his athletic eligibility and continues to remain out for at least one year may be signed to a contract but if any baseball man is found to have influenced such withdrawal that man is penalized.

Pro Scouts can talk to high school students about baseball contracts at any time and they can conduct tryouts during the summer vacation. But during the school year the school officials must agree to it for the boys to be given tryouts.

Pro baseball can't pay the boy anything in the tryout camp. It can't even pay his travel expense or enter into an agreement with him for future services. Of course, proving that the expenses were paid or if the boy reached an agreement on a contract would be quite difficult.

The high school boy is taken care of but the collegian certainly is not. And if he gives up an education in favor of baseball he should be paid a sum commensurate. So it is difficult to sympathize with baseball because it is spending itself out of business by paying $100,000 in bonuses.

Craft began observing the Buffs Tuesday and will take over active direction of the club Sunday.

Klein took over as Buff manager two months ago when Grady Hatton was promoted to director of player personnel for the National League Houston Colts, owners of the Buffs.

The Buffs this year have a working agreement with the Cubs. Craft was an outfielder for six years with the Cincinnati Reds. He was a minor league manager from 1949 until 1955 when he joined the Athletics as a coach.

ANOTHER WAR OF NERVES

Looking Back For 21 Years We See Puerto Rico Climb

By INEZ ROBB
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—Few Americans from the mainland, I fear, have any clear idea of the importance of the peaceful revolution that has transformed Puerto Rico in the past 21 years, or its inestimable value to the cause of democracy not only in this hemisphere but around the world.

Even a few statistics will reveal the reason Puerto Rico is always a glow with official visitors examining her economic and social revolution for helpful hints to improve conditions back home.

In 1940, for example, this island was indeed "the poorest of the Caribbean." Today, oil-rich Venezuela is the only Latin American nation that enjoys a higher per capita income than Puerto Rico, although the latter's natural resources are almost wholly confined to scenic beauty and a tourist-tailored climate.

When a group of brilliant young Puerto Ricans began to plan the organization of "Operation Bootstrap" 21 years ago, the Puerto Rican had a life expectancy of 46 years. A heritage of ill health was one of the island's many afflictions at that time. Today—in less than a generation—the life expectancy has increased by an amazing 25 years to a total of 71 years.

The commonwealth has built schools, hospitals and health centers with unswerving persistence. Schooling is compulsory (and free) through the sixteenth year. And although the rich United States cannot yet afford to teach a secondary language in the vast majority of its public schools, English has been compulsory in the schools of this Spanish-speaking island since 1952.

Eighty-six percent of her people are literate, and the percentage increases every year.

On a per capita basis, Puerto Rico is Uncle Sam's best customer, even topping Canada. And on an aggregate basis, she buys more from us than enormous Brazil, although Brazil is larger than the United States and Puerto Rico is smaller than the State of Connecticut.

In 21 years, Operation Bootstrap, a combination of imagination, daring and brilliant planning, has produced these and other miracles by transforming the island from a poverty-stricken agrarian community to a prosperous industrial one.

Nevada Plumbers' Strike Ends

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Most of southern Nevada's striking plumbers—including a group working on vital nuclear moon rocket tests—prepared to return to work today after an 11-day walkout.

Ninety per cent of the 300 men out since June 30 approved a new contract late Tuesday. In the contract, late Tuesday, in the number returning to work were 45 men employed at the Nevada test site 75 miles north of here. They were working on facilities for the Rover test series, a forerunner of nuclear moon rocket project Nova.

Those reporting for their jobs today are employed by firms belonging to the Master Plumbers Association. The plumber and pipefitters union approved an association offer of 50-cent raise over two years. Scale before the walkout was $4.81 an hour.

Negotiations continued with the Federated Employers of Nevada, a management group employing the remaining 10 per cent.

Mothers Must Be 'Gamblers'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—I'd hate to be a mother.

When your hard-up neighbor down the street wins $356 on a daily double racetrack bet, he is hard enough to live with.

In one afternoon he has gone from the poor mouth to the rich mouth.

The morning found him reluctant to recognize his own virtue. The evening finds him unable to resist the temptation to denounce his government-dispraise his taxes. The money he has won has made him an authority on everything.

I'd hate to be a mother because she is like the gambler who won a daily double. It changes her whole outlook, too.

She gambled on a small investment and her reward as a winner is a moist bundle of maybe 7 pounds or so of crying human protoplasm. It is wet at both ends and dry probably only in the middle. And it stays that way month after month.

Life is full of laughter, but for some mystic reason no baby is ever born smiling. They enter this world struggling in anger and fear and hunger. Too many leave the same way.

I'd hate to be a mother.

The year before she became a parent she is eager to discuss such intellectual questions as whether the earth would be better if Picasso had got stuck in his blue rather than his pink mood, or if Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Tennessee Williams could shake hands across the distance.

But the day after she becomes a mother she becomes a tigress.

A hundred thousand or more infants may be born on a single day, but her world is instantly concentrated to the squirming kingdom of newness.

Day after day she reduces herself by enlargement trying to make this dewy glob into a person. She has to curb its normal, strident, gluttonous, wide-mouthed appetite for self-indulgence into discipline and acceptance of the aims and rights of others. She has to escort it sensibly and sensitively from yearning to learning to exultation.

It is a hard and always difficult and often lonely and sometimes heart-breaking task.

The reward, if she does a good job-and microbes or war don't ruin her effort the darn thing goes off its own, leaving her to start its own family. Is she does a bad job, it complains with the breath she gave it to object against the life she conferred.

I'd hate to be a mother. The job has so much responsibility. Perhaps that is why women make the best mothers. They are much better gamblers than men. Men bet themselves against now, and not always willingly. But most women are eager to stake themselves against eternity, gambling on a finer issue.

Motherhood is for the birds-or women with feathers of hope in their soul.

Khan Meets Today With U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ayub Khan of Pakistan meets with President Kennedy today to discuss Pakistan's sagging relations with India over the contested issue of Kashmir.

The two leaders were to discuss the Kashmir question at their second White House meeting Wednesday but concentrated instead on Pakistan's economic development problems.

Ayub will be host to the Kennedys tonight at a formal dinner in a downtown hotel.

A communique will be issued before his departure Friday for New York aboard a U.S. Air Force plane.

U.S. and Pakistan officials both agreed that Ayub's visit here so far has cleared up misunderstandings and improved U.S.-Pakistan relations.

Pakistan officials made no secret of their desire that the United States take a more prominent role in inducing India to meet with Pakistan at a conference to arrange a settlement of the Kashmir dispute.

Pakistan has held out for a plebiscite conducted by the United Nations to decide whether Kashmir belongs to Pakistan or India. India has turned down the plebiscite and incorporated two-thirds of Kashmir into the Indian National Union.

While holding out for a plebiscite high Pakistan sources indicated this would not bar the United States or some other third party from suggesting that India's Prime Minister Nehru and Ayub meet to arrange a negotiated settlement.

Mays Wife Sues For Separation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The twice-divorced wife of Willie Mays filed a separate maintenance suit against the San Francisco Giants star Wednesday claiming he was indifferent, hostile and arrogant.

Scarlett Wendell (Marguerite) Mays told a news conference at her attorney's office Willie "would come home in the evening, have dinner in his room and then go out to play pool. He plays pool almost every night he isn't playing baseball."

Charging mental cruelty, the 34-year-old Mrs. Mays, who has a 14-year-old daughter, asked $3,500 a month support for herself and the couple's 2-year-old adopted son, Michael Rosiny.

Mays could not be located for comment.

Humors of friction between the couple—married in Elkhart, Md., on Valentine's Day, 1956—began three years ago. Last January Mays packed his bags and moved out of their New Rochelle, N.Y., home. But Mrs. Mays, 31, accompanied the 30-year-old center fielder at spring training, returned to New Rochelle and then came to San Francisco later in the season.

She said she is not asking for a divorce because "I am a Catholic and my religious principles are opposed to divorce." She did not comment on her past two marriages.

'Republican Army' Men Sued For $2.75 Million

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. is asking $2.75 million damages from two men charged with blasting microwave towers in the Utah and Nevada desert.

Bernard Brous, 31, and Dale C. Jensen, 23, are awaiting trial on charges of setting off explosives May 28 at three stations in the remote area. The stations have been rebuilt.

The utility company civil suit, filed here Wednesday, also lists 10 John Does, two unnamed corporations and a co-partnership, likewise not named. After their arrest in Mexico last month, Brous and Jensen said they were the only members of a "republican army" and dedicated to the overthrow of AT&T.

August Draft Call For Army Will Be 8,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army plans to draft 8,000 men next month to help bring it up to an authorized strength of 870,000.

The August draft call, announced Wednesday by the Defense Department, is the highest since last December, when it also was 8,000. Army manpower at the beginning of June was about 856,000.
