Heavy rains cause flooding at lake

Heavy rains over the weekend, up to nine inches in some areas, caused some roads to be closed and resulted in flooding at Lake Colorado City.

Morgan Creek, which flows

Officials at Morgan Creek Power Plant Tuesday asked that boaters keep off Lake Colorado City until barriers can be placed around the morning glory valve or until the lake subsides.

A security fence around the morning glory, the first spillway valve, was washed away because of the rising waters and the swirling drain hole is a threat to boaters who stray in the area.

into Lake Colorado City, was out of its banks Monday, causing the lake level to rise to within half a foot of the emergency spillway.

Officials at Morgan Creek Power Plant said Tuesday that the lake level stood at 2,073.50 and that the level had apparently "peaked". The overflow is now being diverted through a morning glory valve and will for several weeks, officials predicted.

Lakeview Resort, a fishing village consisting mostly of mobile homes, was closed to the public Monday after rising waters flooded the streets and crept into some of the trailers.

Many cabins, mostly on the west side of the lake, were threatened by the rising water and several had water in them by Monday afternoon.

Lake Colorado City is the primary water source for Colorado City. Mayor Elmer Martin said that the runoff, combined with water wells currently in use, should ensure an adequate water supply for the next several years.

Sunday afternoon, many roads in the area were closed temporarily because of the heavy rains. In Colorado City, 10th Street had to be closed because of high water and several other streets were flooded, causing hazardous driving conditions.

South Highway 208, between Colorado City and Silver, had water flowing over it in several low spots Sunday afternoon, slowing traffic.

The service roads of Interstate 20 was also flooded by the heavy rains causing parts of them to be closed temporarily.

KATE AND HARRIS SISSON'S cabin at Lake Colorado City was one of the victims of the flood caused by recent rains. Water was up to the window sills of the cabin located on the west side of the lake. The Sissons live in Odessa.

'Old timers' recall early C-City

Joe and Neil Pond of Big Spring, whose grandparents were early settlers in Mitchell County, captivated their audience at the Mitchell County Old Timer's Reunion Saturday with their stories of early Colorado City.

Some 400 people were in attendance for the annual event held at the Civic Center.

Mrs. Pond, whose father was the first chamber of commerce manager in Colorado City, said her grandparents, William Penn and Sarah Ruddick came to Mitchell County in 1882 "as soon as the railroad arrived here."

The Ruddicks were farmers and the West Texas landscape was "quite a shock to them", said Mrs. Pond. Her grandfather, for whom Ruddick Park is named, bought several sections of land from the state for $2 an acre and the family lived in a dug-out until lumber could arrive from Fort Worth with which to build a house.

"My grandfather was determined to be a farmer and he raised the first cotton crop in the county," said Mrs. Pond. "He also had an orchard and a dairy farm."

"He turned out to be a successful farmer," she said.

Joe Pond told the audience that his grandfather, F. S. Pond, settled south of Loraine in 1890.

Pond's father, J. E. Pond, was a building contractor and built several homes in Colorado City. His father also designed and built First Christian Church which is still in use today.

Pond said he has fond memories growing up in Colorado City, especially of the Colorado River.

"I grew up on the river with my little 22-rifle on my hand," he said.

He said there were eight "delightful" swimming holes along the river with his favorite being "little blue".

"My home was across the street west from what is now the football stadium," he said, noting that "huge" cattle herds used to pass near his house. He also remembers the race track and the Texas Ranger camp with "rows of tents".

The fire station with horse drawn wagons "fascinated me", he said, also recalling the OK wagon yard operated by the Nunn family and the old St. James Hotel which at one time was "the fashion center for all of Texas."

Pond said he also remembered wood board sidewalks and prying bullets out of the pipes holding up awnings on downtown buildings.

USDA files charges against livestock dealer

Willie Hudson, a livestock dealer at Colorado City, has been charged with writing a bad draft and failing to pay for $164,282 worth of livestock, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said.

B. H. (Bill) Jones, head of USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said Hudson buys livestock at auction markets in the Texas Panhandle.

Hudson has a right to a hearing on the federal administrative charges filed by USDA under authority of the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act.

If the charges are proven, he will be placed under a cease and desist order, similar to a permanent injunction. He could also be suspended from doing business and ordered to pay a civil penalty.

The P&S Act is an antitrust, fair trade practice and payment protection law. It is designed to maintain integrity in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat, and economic law and order in the marketplace.

leader for food and nutrition and clothing projects.

Blaine, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lemons, was the Gold Star Award winner in 1985. His record book was on gardening and horticulture. He serves as president of the Lone Wolf 4-H Club and currently has sheep, beef and horse projects. He served as a teen leader for the crafts and hobbies project group.

The Friend of 4-H Award was presented to the late Mrs. Jo Hill, former Mitchell County Extension Service secretary and former 4-H leader, who died last Thursday.

Mrs. Jan Lemons, in presenting the award post humously, said Mrs. Hill was aware that she was to be the award recipient prior to her death. Mrs. Hill served as secretary to the extension office for 15 years.

"She performed her duties well but went beyond the call of duty when she worked after hours, Saturdays and Sunday afternoons," said Mrs. Lemons. "She worked on whatever project was at hand whether it was the stock show, method demonstrations, food show, result demonstration book or the achievement banquet."

Mrs. Hill also served as a 4-H leader, said Mrs. Lemons. "Jo was loyal to 4-H and was dedicated to the cause of helping young people."

"Each quality I mentioned in Jo was also found in her husband, J.D. He was presented the Spur Clip Award from the Mitchell County 4-H some years ago," said Mrs. Lemons.

The Hills were parents of four children - Kathy, John, Steve and Bruce - who were active in county, district and state 4-H activities.

"Jo was the one who always had a smile on her face and always a kind word about everyone and everything," she said, noting that Mrs. Hill had been sent a bouquet of flowers from the 4-H congratulating her on being selected a Friend of 4-H prior to her death.

for students and ex-students will be held at the middle school cafeteria until 1 a.m.

Mayor Elmer Martin has declared Friday Howl Day and A. M. Holman Day in honor of the occasion.

Holman, a life-long resident of the area, is known as the Wolves number one fan, the proclamation reads.

"He deserves special recognition for his perseverance, stamina, and strength in support of the Colorado City Wolves year after year; and "A. M. Holman is unique, distinct and special, and

"Be resolved that the date of October 10 is hereby set aside as A. M. Holman Day and I urge all citizens to join me in commending this citizen for his dedicated efforts in providing continued support for the Colorado City Wolves," Martin said.

Howl Day is sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce. Becky Manning, chamber committee spokesman, said that all residents are urged to wear red and black on Friday in support of the Wolves.

"We want all the downtown employees and business people to wear red and black on Friday to help boost the spirit," said Mrs. Manning. "We want to see as much red and black lining the sidewalk as there is in the parade Friday afternoon."

In his proclamation declaring Howl Day, Mayor Martin said:

"The Colorado Independent School District annually invites ex-students teachers to homecoming festivities, and

"Such festivities provide a time and place for ex-students and teachers to assemble together and renew old friendships, and

"Such activities strengthen the sense of community and fellowship in Colorado City, now

"I, Elmer Martin, Mayor of the City of Colorado City do hereby proclaim in behalf of the City of Colorado City that all ex-students and teachers living in the city and elsewhere are hereby welcomed to the City and are encouraged to participate in all homecoming activities, and I further declare that Oct. 10, 1986 to be Red and Black School Color Day and urge everyone to participate."

Oct. 31 marks end of insurance period

October 31 ends the 1986 year insurance period for barley, oats and wheat grown in Mitchell County and insured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), according to Dottie Sampley, a representative for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

"Under the terms of the policy, any acreage on which harvest will not be completed must be left intact until an inspection is made," she said. "Any claim for indemnity may be rejected if these loss reporting requirements are not met."

"Any notice of loss must be given promptly after the total destruction of the unit, completion of harvest, or Oct. 31, whichever occurs earlier," she said, adding that the producer who anticipates a claim should notify his or her crop insurance representative immediately.

RUSHING WATERS at Lake Colorado City caused part of the protective fencing around the morning glory spillway to wash away Tuesday prompting officials at the Morgan Creek Power Plant to restrict boating on the lake until more barriers can be put in place or until the lake subsides.

THE LAKE CABIN of A. W. Rowe of Colorado City had water lapping at its back door Monday as the waters of Lake Colorado City continued to rise after recent flooding in the area.

Letter to the Editor

To the editor:
Brenda Tarter, City Manager
My name is Denise White and I wanted to write and tell you about something you should know about. First of all my little girl Chrissy had a bad bicycle accident on Tuesday and had to be taken to the hospital. I found out while she was being attended to, no one even knew who she was. I found out that half of the people there thought she was J. O. Dockrey's grandchild, the other half thought she was Grady Morris's grandchild.

I saw my little girl's pink bicycle laying on the ground and I told the lady it was my little girl's bicycle and so she took me straight to the hospital. When we got there I found out that it was Chrissy, who is alright now, thank God. I found out that the accident happened right there where the doctor's clinic was on Chesnut and also that a doctor was supposed to have been there, but that nothing was done for her. I then remembered about a small tag that Chrissy brought home from Kelley School when Vince, the crime prevention officer for the police department was doing his program. I remember reading about the tag Vince calls the "Life Saver tags." With all the information about a child and even a signature form, the parent consents to a doctor for medical treatment. If I would have done what Vince suggested about those tags, I feel that she would have received the medical attention she needed. I want to say thank you for having such good police officers who really care, working for our town and our children. Yours truly, Denise White

Snyder plans "Buffalo Days"

Snyder hums with activity as the community's sixth annual White Buffalo Days celebration approaches Oct. 11-13. A full slate of fun—ranging from children's events to the historical musical "Whirligig"—is scheduled.

Three performances of the musical show will feature some 100 cast members and a crew of about 20 additional local individuals.

Saturday a full day of activities centers around the Scurry County Coliseum and agricultural complex begins at 8 a.m. with a biathlon race. A parade through the downtown area is set for 9 a.m.

Events slated on the coliseum grounds include arts and crafts booths, food booths, turtle races, a stick horse rodeo, a talent show and a BB gun shoot out.

Also, a variety of crafts demonstrations will be held throughout the day. Local artisans will demonstrate spinning, weaving, quilting, pottery and other crafts.

For the first time, three performances of Whirligig will be offered. Added to the local celebration in 1983, the musical offers a glimpse of Snyder's history from the town's beginnings through the oil boom era.

This year, Snyder High School drama teacher Jerry Worsham narrates the story.

Created by locals, the production was written by Donna Fowler. The musical is choreographed by production chairman Myra Martin, who also designed the costumes.

Martin brings several years of dance experience to the production. She began taking dancing lessons at age six and has taught dance both publicly and privately. Her experience includes choreographing and directing musical numbers like "West Side Story," "Wizard of Oz," "Around the World in 80 Days" and "Oliver."

Drama director Sue Parham has taught drama to Ira High School students for several years. A graduate of Abilene Christian University, she hosted two radio programs as a student.

Local piano instructor Lynn Bethel directs the production's musical numbers. A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene with a master of arts degree in music, she wrote the words to the opening number "Are You From Snyder?" sung to the tune, "Are You From Dixie?"

Performances are slated for Saturday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m., Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the coliseum. Tickets for the show are $6 for box seats, $4 for general admission and $2 for children.

CHRISSY WHITE, left, a first grader at Kelley Elementary, and Officer Vince Ariaz of the Colorado City Police Department, display a sign telling the benefits of children wearing "life saver tags". Chrissy was injured last week in a bike accident and if she had been wearing a "life saver tag", it would have helped emergency personnel identify her and treat her more quickly.

Ariaz presents program; issues "life saver tags"

Crime Prevention Officer Vince Ariaz of the Colorado City Police Department talked about the danger of talking to strangers last Thursday and Friday to groups of two, three and four-year-olds at Rainbow Land Day Care and Mitchell County Day Care Center.

Ariaz showed a film featuring Winnie the Pooh and friends who talked about the subject. The kids were told who "bad" strangers are and the kinds of tricks strangers play to get kids to like them such as offering them candy, money and rides home.

After the program, the children were made Junior Police Officers and given stick-on badges. Ariaz also gave each child a "life saver tag" and told them to make sure their parents use them as directed.

Ariaz says a "life saver tag"

- accomplishes five things:
- it identifies the child;
 - it allows the police officer to call parents immediately;
 - provides medical information for paramedics;
 - it will allow an emergency room doctor to contact your family or physician, and;
 - it provides parental consent so a child can be treated at the hospital.

Stenholm disappointed in tax bill

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles W. Stenholm cast his vote against the just-passed Tax Reform Act of 1986 because of his concern about the negative impact the bill would have on a domestic economy which, in his opinion, can stand very few additional blows.

Stenholm expressed disappointment in the overall content of the bill, H.R. 3838, which restructures the federal income tax system and will affect virtually every citizen and corporation beginning in 1987. The legislation, which was the result of reconciling different versions previously passed by both bodies, was later approved by a 292-136 vote in the House of Representatives and 74-23 in the Senate.

The area congressman said of his vote, "I was deeply concerned about the detrimental effects this bill will have on Texas and the entire country. It will discourage personal savings, business investment and charitable contributions. Especially in the near-term, the effect of this bill will be very negative on agriculture, real estate, oil and gas and small business in general."

Stenholm said, "By refusing to deal with the federal deficit, this bill guarantees that Congress will open the tax code again and again in the next few years to find ways of increasing revenues. Passage of this tax reform bill will create more, not less, uncertainty because of the retroactive provisions it contains and because of the revenue it will bleed from the Treasury in the next few years."

Stenholm listed as negative the retroactive changes in business investment and taxation of pensions, the repeal of the special capital gains tax rate, limitations on the tax-exempt bonds that can be issued by state and local governments and the loss to some individuals of their deductions for charitable contributions. He also noted that taxpayers actively working in real estate, unlike other industries, will be restricted from offsetting losses from one venture against income from another.

"Of particular concern to Texans is the fact that the state and local sales tax deductions will be repealed," Stenholm said. "As one of only five states with no income tax, Texas must rely more heavily on sales taxes. It is unfair for the federal tax code not to treat all states and all state taxes equally."

Also of concern to Stenholm were 682 special "transition rules," worth an estimated $10.6 billion, which were inserted at one point or another during the year-long process of considering H.R. 3838. Most of these transitions were conferred tax breaks on individual companies and other entities, again shifting tax burdens from one taxpayer to another.

In expressing dismay with Congress and President Reagan for ignoring the deficit while concentrating on rewriting the tax code, the Stamford Democrat cited studies by Congress' Joint Committee on Taxation showing that H.R. 3838 would increase taxes by $11 billion in 1987, then decrease revenues by $32 billion over the next two years. In the span of the next five years, $120 billion in added taxes will be levied on business, while the deficit increases, not decreases, he said.

"There are some good provisions in this bill," Stenholm said, "and I want to acknowledge that. It was both wise and fair to eliminate most tax shelters since most accomplished little of a productive nature. But it was neither wise nor fair to future generations to pass this bill and completely ignore the deficit spending of this country, or even worse, to actually increase the deficit in the next three years."

Pecan crop small but very good

COLLEGE STATION—Texans will soon be feasting on golden kernels of pecans as the 1986 crop reaches maturity.

This year's crop is expected to be short, but what it lacks in quantity, it will make up in quality, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist.

"Qualitywise, this year's crop will be off the chart; it should be the best crop we've had in the past 10 years," points out Dr. George Ray McEachern.

Most of the state has had excellent rains since mid-August, and that accounts for the excellent quality of this year's pecan crop, explains the horticulturist.

"We should have a crop of between 25 and 30 million pounds; that's about 40 percent of normal," McEachern points out. "However, the crop also will be short in other pecan growing states."

The horticulturist says the carryover crop will likely be sold by the time this year's crop hits the market. That means prices to growers should be good. However, consumer prices should be about the same as last year.

"Consumers can expect new crop pecans to be on the market about the first of November," McEachern points out. "To select for quality, check the kernel color. The lighter the color of the kernel, the better the quality."

McEachern advises consumers to store pecans in the freezer as soon as they get them home. "This preserves their quality, and they can be used straight from the freezer as needed," he says.

House kills debate on immigration guidelines

WASHINGTON, D.C.—An attempt to reform the nation's immigration guidelines ended last week when the House of Representatives killed a procedural rule to allow debate on the controversial bill.

By a vote of 202 to 180, the House rejected a motion setting the rules for floor debate. As presented to the House, only those amendments favored by the Judiciary Committee would be allowed. Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) cited these unreasonable tactics as one reason for siding with the majority of the Texas delegation and the House in voting against the rule.

"I would like to resolve the immigration issue," Stenholm said. "It is very apparent to me that we badly need to gain control of our borders. However, when we do it, it will have to be in a fair and just manner. This was neither."

The area congressman added, "The leadership must learn to let the House work its will. We were presented with an ultimatum—either accept this bill our way or forget it. Well, this is not the way a democratic body is supposed to work. We didn't accept it. I don't know when they're going to learn to stop doing this. I will never compromise my convictions out of convenience for a single vote."

It was the third time in six years that Congress had failed to tackle the immigration problem. The main point of contention dealt with the guest-worker program. Other points of controversy included first-time penalties for employers of undocumented workers and the issue of amnesty.

"The guest-worker section of the bill was plumb ridiculous," Stenholm said. It would have granted permanent legal status to all agriculture workers who could prove they had been at work 60 days in the year prior to May, 1986. After they receive Green cards, the ag workers could leave their jobs without restrictions for other employment. Such movement would create a void of employees, which, under the provisions of the bill, would probably trigger another cycle of new ag workers. The result of this chain-reaction would be the loss of more job opportunities for the domestic workforce.

"Our economy cannot afford the continuing stream of illegal immigrants. Immigration reform should curb the tide of incoming aliens. Yet this proposal further opens the floodgates we're trying to close. It makes no sense whatsoever," he said.

SALLY MENDOZA, vice president of the student council and in charge of this year's homecoming activities at Colorado High School, places a sign telling of homecoming week events at the school.

Student of the Week

Mendoza has a busy week

Colorado High School senior Sally Mendoza has been extra busy this week organizing homecoming festivities.

The 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mendoza is vice president of the student council and part of her duties is homecoming.

She's quick to point out that she has had plenty of help, especially from fellow classmate Holly Tarter and from Miss Kathy Wilson, student council advisor.

Sally is active in several organizations this year including Wolverines, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, athletics, and DECA.

She's proud of the fact that the Wolverines have a new "look" this year because of the newly designed uniforms for the pep squad of which she serves as president.

"We're also more active this year and do more with the cheerleaders," she said. The Wolverines will be performing a dance routine during Friday night's homecoming game.

She was president of DECA last year and competed in advertising at contest in Midland.

This will be her third year to compete in informative and persuasive speaking at University Interscholastic League contests. As a sophomore, she won second and third places in a Sonora meet.

This will be her fourth year to participate in volleyball, basketball and track. Her favorite sport is track in which she runs the 1600 meter and 3200 meter events.

Sally was elected freshman and sophomore favorites and was secretary of the junior class.

She says she has enjoyed CHS and that she "likes the people" because they're "nice to work with".

Her future plans include attending Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She's spent all her life in Colorado City, and now she's ready to leave, she says with a smile.

Win over Brady will enhance playoff hopes

It's a fine line the Colorado High School football team is living on this year—one that has the Wolves on the verge of elimination one week and on the threshold of the playoffs the next.

A loss to the winless Coahoma Bulldogs last week would have all but buried any playoff hopes for the Pack this year. Instead the Wolves defeated the Pups 13-7 for their own first victory to rebound from a loss to state ranked Ballinger—a third loss in a row following a season opening tie.

It was a big cost that the Wolves had to pay for their win.

"We're probably less healthy than we've ever been," said head coach and athletic director Tom Ramsey.

Linebacker Jerry Hulme suffered a broken wrist and will play defense only. He, Ralph Gonzales and Terry Jackson all three are injured running backs that will severely limit the options in Colorado City's offense.

Jackson has yet to recover from a thigh bruise. Gonzales was so banged up from Friday's contest that he did not suit up for Monday's workout.

"Anytime you weigh 130 pounds and carry 19 times you are going to be sore Monday," said Ramsey. "Beau Rees was the only running back in uniform yesterday (Monday)."

Tight end Reggie Gardner, who has already seen duty there, was as a back Friday and again Monday.

Gonzales was one part of a Colorado City offense that might have gotten things turned around during the win. He was six yards short of 100 yards. Many times big gains were found behind the sweep blocking of Edward Melendez and Corey Flanagan as receiver Larry Mayes also slowed the Bulldog pursuit.

"They (Melendez and Flanagan) had a good game offensively," said Ramsey. "They (Coahoma) were concerned with our inside running game. It was a misdirection play where the backs cross. We were as quick as they were and were able to get outside on them."

A bigger part of Colorado City's offense were turnovers—or a lack of them. One fumble and one interception drastically improved the Wolves in that area—despite the wet weather.

"We worked on a lot of no-turnover drills. Both teams sort of stopped turnovers."

Though improved, the Colorado City offense came up short of the goal line on at least two occasions. Twice wide-right field goals turned the Wolves away empty handed.

"We missed both of them so I guess they turned out to be not that good of decisions. At the time I thought a field goal would win it."

Eventually one more score was all it took.

It was a 50 yard pass from Ismael Silva to Larry Mayes that broke a 7-7 tie on a Gonzales score.

Following losses to Post and Ballinger, Ramsey said he felt the hardest part of the schedule was behind the Wolves. With Friday's win over winless Coahoma, is the easiest part also behind?

"Friday's game was not easy. We had to fight and scratch for everything we got."

Early in the season, Ramsey alternated quarterbacks Silva and Cary Ritchey in long stretches. That changed to series and against Coahoma, the two even switched in the middle of drives.

"It gives them a chance to rest since both play defense. It gives me a chance to talk to them."

Ramsey said both will see action again tomorrow.

Gonzales' running and the Wolves tough defense both fell under the scrutiny of the Brady scouts that were seated directly under the press box.

The Wolves and the Bulldogs hook up this week. The teams are similar in the fact that defense is playing heads above the offense and both squads are led by a large group of juniors.

Brady has put itself in prime position for the district's runner-up spot. A Colorado City victory would put that shoe on the Wolves.

"Brady is 2-0 in district and 4-1 overall. They and Ballinger are the only undefeated teams. This is our bid for the playoffs. A loss would not eliminate either team. A win would help us because Brady has yet to play Ballinger."

"It appears to be a pretty balanced district after you get past Ballinger. Merkel won (1-1) and Wylie (1-1) was defeated. It would be unusual for Ballinger to lose. There's a race for the runnerup spot."

The Wolves and Clyde also stand at 1-1 with Coahoma and Sonora at 0-2.

"Brady's got a lot of speed but they do not have big linemen. They've been able to score points and had a good defensive game against Sonora. They are living off defense."

"Backs Brad Wallace (185 pound junior), Clayton Jones (165 pound senior) and Michael Sellman (165 pound sophomore) would make a pretty good relay team."

One thing in favor of the Wolves is the long distance Brady will have to travel. That and the fact that it's Homecoming for Colorado City. Some might remember the class of 1977. An infamous Snow Bowl kept the '76 team out of the playoffs but probably was the spark that resulted in back-to-back district championships the next two seasons. They'll be back to see if the spark still lives at CHS. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

Bulldogs continue to win

The Loraine Bulldogs continue to make the most of their first sixman season ever—despite the fact that they will not make the playoffs even if they continue their unbeaten ways.

The Gold and Black blanked Strawn 41-0 at Novice Friday to improve to 3-0.

"We pulled off a pretty good upset," said coach Tommy Meredith. Strawn was supposed to beat us by ten points."

Strawn came up empty in only two trips inside the Bulldogs twenty yard line to fall to 3-2. Freddie Benitez led the Bulldog defense with 14 tackles—seven were unassisted.

Freshman Rudy Sanchez opened the scoring with a first quarter 13 yard run. He got a second score on a one yard run in the second period. Ector Castro's point after kick made it 14-0.

Lorraine went to the air for the rest of the scores. Quarterback Eddie Benitez completed 12 of 21 passes for 257 yards and four touchdowns.

His first strike was a 30 yard completion to Freddie Benitez. Castro's PAT made it 22-0.

Benitez added another second period touchdown with a 20 yard throw to Sanchez for a 28-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Benitez threw to Joe Vasquez for a one yard score and passed to Shawn Finley for the extra points.

A 50 yard third quarter pass to Roger Henderson ended the scoring.

Lorraine held Strawn to 33 yards rushing and 56 yards passing. The Bulldogs added 130 yards on the ground to Benitez's 257 through the air. Leading receiver was Sanchez with four receptions for 60 yards. He also gained 73 yards on 11 carries.

This Friday the Bulldogs are at home for a 7:30 p.m. contest against 2-2 Patton Springs.

"I think we have a better ball club than they do," said Meredith. "I keep telling everybody that it will be a good ball game but the kids want another blow out."

SWCD election of directors set Oct. 14

An election for directors to serve in Zones 1 and 2 on the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District Board is scheduled for Oct. 14, at the SWCD office in the G-Kell Building in Colorado City, announced Jimmy Harrison, Chairman of the board. The election will be held at 8:30 a.m.

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land within the district where the election is being held. The person must also live in the county or any part of which is in the district and the voter must be 18 years old.

Legal qualifications state that a candidate for the office of a soil and water conservation district director must own land in the zone he represents, be 18 years of age and be actively engaged in farming or ranching. He must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district. Spouses of those eligible may also vote.

Zone 1 of the district includes an area beginning at the north-west corner of Mitchell County, south along the Mitchell-Howard County line to the intersection of Morgan Creek, then east and southeast along Morgan Creek to the intersection of State Highway 163, then northeast along State Highway 163 to the intersection of the Colorado River then northwest along the Colorado River to the Mitchell-Scurry County Line, west along the Mitchell Scurry County Line back to the point of beginning. Zone 1 includes all of the land enclosed in the above description.

Zone 2 of the District includes all of the land east of the Colorado River to the Valley View Road which runs from Bernards north to the Scurry County Line. The North boundary is the Scurry County Line and the south is Interstate 20.

Current members of the board of directors of the Mitchell SWCD are Jimmy Harrison, chairman; D. M. Smith, vice chairman; Travis Turner, secretary; Warren Anderson and George Martin, members.

The purpose of the Mitchell SWCD is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The district board of directors coordinate the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purpose.

All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator.

Local church to hold area meeting

There will be a meeting of the South Plains Section of the West Texas District Assemblies of God Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the First Assembly of God in Colorado City.

About 17 churches are expected to take part in the meeting.

On Sunday, Oct. 12, evangelist Harold Eatmon will be preaching in both morning and evening services at First Assembly. Rev. Eatmon held a revival at the church last January.

HAS THIS EVER HAPPENED TO YOU?

Even a minor fender-bender can cause whiplash, spinal misalignment, pinched nerves, and muscle spasms, which, if undetected and uncorrected, can make your body susceptible to arthritis, joint degeneration, disc degeneration or other serious problems.

Auto Accident?
Most Insurance Plans Cover Chiropractic.

Following any auto accident, no matter how minor, it is important -- and makes good common sense -- to get a chiropractic checkup.

We offer free consultation and spinal function test. If x-rays and treatment are indicated, automobile, liability, no-fault, and/or group health insurance usually cover the costs in full.
