Dixon-Yates Fight Is On Again Today

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican battle lines were drawn drum-tight today as the House headed into another tussle over the controversial Dixon-Yates power project.

At issue is a section of an appropriations bill which would reject an Eisenhower administration request for 6½ million dollars to pay for a transmission line to link the Tennessee Valley Authority system with a private power plant at West Memphis, Ark., on the other side of the Mississippi River.

Ground already has been broken for the 107-million-dollar power plant, which is being built by the Dixon-Yates utility group under a 25-year contract with the Atomic Energy Commission. The Dixon-Yates power would replace energy now furnished AEC by the TVA.

In a renewal of last year's public-vs.-private power fight, the House Appropriations Committee voted to shift the 6½ millions from the proposed transmission line—which would hook up with a Dixon-Yates line in the middle of the river—and to assign it to start construction of a new steam generating plant for TVA at Fulton, Tenn. The steam plant would cost about 90 million dollars.

The 6½-million-dollar transmission line item represented only a tiny fraction of a $1,285,746,242 bill to finance the TVA, the AEC, several federal power programs and the vast Army Engineers navigation and flood control programs during the bookkeeping year starting July 1. But that small item promised to furnish the biggest fight.

The bill was due to reach the voting stage tomorrow. Final action might not come until Friday.

Republican House members huddled last night and agreed to try to eliminate from the bill language that would earmark the 6½ millions for the Fulton steam plant.

Assistant Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana said GOP House members were in "very substantial agreement" that the money should be left in the bill, but without any specific purpose assigned to it. Thus, Halleck said, the way would be open for the TVA to go ahead with the government's half of the trans-Mississippi line.

CAL Requests Permanent Certificate

Continental Air Lines has petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board for grant of a permanent certificate of operation over the airline routes in Texas and New Mexico formerly operated by Pioneer Air Lines, according to Jim Babcock, local Continental station manager.

The CAB last December approved Continental's purchase of Pioneer's routes and operations, and the Pioneer routes were integrated into the Continental system in April. Continental requests a "permanent certificate of unlimited duration" to replace the temporary certificate purchased from Pioneer. Continental is seeking permanent authority to operate over former Pioneer routes between Amarillo and Houston, Dallas and Houston, Dallas and Midland - Odessa and Lubbock and Albuquerque.

The application lists 16 major intermediate communities served on these routes, including Snyder. Snyder is served on routes between Midland-Odessa and Dallas with four flights daily.

Officials of the airline at Denver anticipate hearings by the CAB on the application in the near future. The board is now reviewing temporary operating certificates of all local service carriers preparatory to granting permanent certificates.

Impeachment Of Houston Mayor Talked

HOUSTON (AP)—Councilman Ira Kohler said another informal city council meeting may be held tomorrow to discuss impeachment proceedings against Mayor Roy Hofheinz.

Kohler made the statement yesterday after seven of the eight councilmen met at Councilman Joe Resweber's office. Several acknowledged there was talk of impeachment proceedings.

Resweber said Hofheinz is the only member of the council who objected to an investigation of city affairs.

Hofheinz said talk of impeachment is aimed at blocking the current investigation of a city land office scandal. "The investigation will not be stopped or slowed down," he said. "Some councilmen are losing cronies and agents every day and in at least one instance, the heat is getting very, very close."

Hofheinz has fired four city employes and suspended four others since the scandal broke two weeks ago. Newspaper reports that some city land acquisition agents had represented both the city and private buyers while handling rights-of-way purchases started the probe.

The Harris County grand jury met in special session yesterday to hear witnesses, including J. M. Nagle, public works director. Nagle carried into the grand jury room files containing house moving and wrecking applications made to the city for 1954 and 1955.

Dist. Atty. Dan Walton said he had no idea when indictments might be handed down.

"It's getting now where it's very difficult to prove whether what we have found in some cases is incompetency or outright dishonesty," he said.

Anti-Trust Suit Is Thrown Out By State Supreme Court

State Can't Show Cause, Court Says

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court today threw out the state's six-year-old anti-trust suit against 10 major oil companies.

The decision reversed a 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruling that the state was entitled to have its suit tried. It sustained the judgment of the trial court judge that the state had failed to show a cause of action which would entitle it to enter court.

In throwing out the case, the Supreme Court also reversed itself. It had ruled in October of last year that the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals was correct in saying the state was entitled to a trial.

Heart of the high court's ruling was that the state had admitted it had no direct proof of an illegal agreement between the oil companies to maintain an artificial price structure in violation of the anti-trust laws.

"As a practical matter," wrote Associate Justice Wilson, author of the court opinion, "the only thing which can be enjoined is an illegal agreement. The state says it has no direct proof of an agreement but must prove it by circumstantial evidence."

The court noted that the state, in seeking the right to a trial, had said it expected to prove an artificial gasoline price structure through "proof of trade association membership, standardization of gasoline, exchange of gasoline, and uniform crude oil and tank wagon gasoline prices . . . ."

"We hold that as a matter of law this will not establish an artificial price structure," Wilson wrote.

The Supreme Court said it was dismissing the case because "there is no point in burdening the trial court with a prolonged trial which must end in an instructed verdict."

In striking down the state's plan to prove antitrust violations through circumstantial evidence, the court said:

"Intent to violate is still a bedrock requirement of any penal law. Of course intent may be proved by circumstantial evidence, but the final judgment must be bottomed upon a finding of specific acts done intentionally for an illegal purpose."

The court said the state's attorney had admitted it would allege and prove the existence of the alleged illegal agreement "only as an inference which he contends flows from the following circumstances:

"1. Mutual participation in trade association.

"2. Background of knowledge and experience gained from previous pricing systems.

"3. Standardization of gasoline.

"4. Exchange of gasoline.

"5. Maintenance of uniform crude oil prices.

"6. Maintenance of uniform prices on tank wagon gasoline.

"7. Control of 90 per cent of the retail outlet.

"8. Control of 80 per cent of the business of marketing gasoline.

"9. Control of 65 per cent of the refining business.

"10. Increase of net profits over the costs of doing business during the existence of the conspiracy.

"11. Higher tank wagon prices in Texas than in other areas more distant from source of production."

On the question of whether control of a large percentage of the market by the 10 companies constituted monopoly, the court said the word monopoly "loses much of its meaning when applied to a market in which there are ten or more competitors."

"A monopoly does not result from simply naming as defendants all of the firms in a field of business endeavor if there be in fact a number of them," the court said, adding:

"We cannot make the violation of a penal stature dependent upon the grouping selected by the state and the state does not allege that the defendants are the only oil companies doing the acts charged. Such an alleged conspiracy has no definite boundaries."

Defendants in the suit were Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, the Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

The court said the state must fix "some boundaries to the conspiracy so that definite legal tests can be formulated for determining who should be a party defendant."

Justice Wilson said the case confronted the court with "the perennial legal puzzle of causation."

"Do uniform prices result from competition. Or can they result only from an agreement," he asked.

"Here we have a very complex economic question," he continued, "which might be treated as a fact question to be proved by expert opinion and other evidence if that were the true ultimate issue. But a uniform price as such is not the true ultimate issue.

"Uniform prices are not condemned by the antitrust act."

The court commented that the main current of the American business system seems to encourage the standardization of basic products.

"The mass production of standardized competitive products has become a part of the American business system and the life of our citizenry," Wilson wrote. "The grading of such products as milk, fruit, and cotton cannot be done until uniform standards are established. Many products, such as milk, are required by law to meet certain standard grading tests."

Such standard grading procedures may "necessarily, under the pressure of competition, produce standard retail prices throughout the state," the court declared.

The court's ruling came at a time when major and independent gasoline companies are battling it out in a price war in several West Texas cities.

India Effort Appears To Be Favorable

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration appeared favorably disposed today toward India's efforts to promote negotiation between the United States and Red China over Formosa and other issues.

There was no evidence that President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles had actually endorsed the diplomatic mission undertaken by India's V. K. Krishna Menon.

But it was reported they had given his account of his talks with Red Chinese leaders close and polite attention. He was treated with more regard than officials had expected in the light of the prevailing official view that he is unduly friendly to Red China.

After the Indian diplomat had spent 45 minutes with Eisenhower and Dulles yesterday, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made a surprise announcement that he would see the President again—in two or three weeks—and meanwhile would confer in greater detail with Dulles. In the afternoon he talked again with Dulles for more than an hour and with Vice President Nixon.

It appeared that since there is some prospect Menon may make progress in dealing with Red China, the President and Dulles want to encourage him to some degree without making commitments or designating him as a mediator.

In the forefront is the long-sought release of 11 American airmen held in Red Chinese prisons and other Americans detained behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Asked after his talk with Dulles whether the fate of the fliers had been discussed, Menon said he did not think the question was proper but commented, "You want the prisoners back, don't you?"

He urged a "degree of restraint" in writing about his mission, saying it is "still in the talking stage" and that published speculation could make difficulty because "in the Orient anything printed is taken as gospel truth."

Galveston Not Wide Open, Clough Says

HOUSTON (AP)—Galveston Mayor George Roy Clough said yesterday Galveston is a tourist city where people go "to have a good time," but denied it was a "wide open sin city."

Clough told the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce that Galveston had no industry and that if "you want to have a little fun, you are welcome."

The mayor said he still thinks the city's famous Post Office Street red light district is the best for the city. After taking office last month, Clough proposed that prostitutes be moved out of the small downtown hotels and ordered to return to the old district.

Two Prelates Are Expelled

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Well - informed sources said today that two Roman Catholic prelates accused in connection with last weekend's disorders have been expelled from Argentina.

They are the Rt. Rev. Manuel Tato, vicar general and auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and the Rt. Rev. Roman Pablo Novoa, canon deacon of the archdiocese.

Informed quarters said they were escorted to Ezeiza airport by federal police and placed aboard an Argentine plane which departed for Rome. Both are natives of this country.

They had been taken yesterday to police headquarters for questioning in connection with the disorders, in which more than a score were injured.

Shortly before they were taken into custody the government issued a decree designed to discharge them from their church posts. This invoked an old Spanish colonial law which gave secular authorities power to dismiss or suspend priests held to have violated their duties, the government said.

Msgr. Tato as auxiliary bishop has been in effect head of the Catholic church in Argentina during the illness of Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, primate of the country.

There has been no official announcement concerning the prelates since they were taken to federal police headquarters late yesterday.

Early this morning federal police staged a series of raids on residences of parish priests, apparently seeking eidence to support the government contention that the clergy incited the clashes between supporters of President Peron and the church.

Unofficial reports said there were no arrests this morning, but that careful searches were made of priests' homes and some handbills defending the church in the controversy with President Juan D. Peron's government were seized.

In suburban Nunez police pasted a "closed" sign over the front door of a parish house and left a uniformed officer on guard beside it.

Since the quarrel between the government and the church began seven months ago, 78 priests have been arrested, many on charges of disrespect to the president and other government officials. Most have been released after brief detention.

Also released last night were 95 Catholic laymen, men and boys, who were among the 438 arrested Sunday in the palace of Buenos Aires' archbishop where they had taken refuge after rioting in the Plaza de Mayo.

A high Catholic source said it could be presumed they were "detained" but there was no official announcement that they had been arrested.

The decree against them, signed by President Juan Peron and members of his Cabinet, accused the bishops of instigating the disorders which swept the city over the weekend. At least 29 persons were injured in clashes between church supporters and pro-Peron crowds.

The order cited an old Spanish law, dating back to Argentine colonial times, as authorizing the government to oust church authorities held to have violated their duties. Under an agreement with the Vatican, the Argentine government nominates the clergymen from whom the Pope appoints bishops for the country's dioceses.

A high church source said, however, the bishops might be continued in office even though the government has withdrawn its recognition.

Catholicism is the state religion in Argentina but the Peron government is trying to end its privileged position.

Adenauer Not Moved By Soviets' Wooing

By EDMUND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington officials say goodby today to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently reassured that Soviet blandishments have had no measurable effect on him.

One official who would not be quoted by name summed up this way the impression Adenauer is leaving as he flies to Boston:

"He's going to Moscow. He's not going until after the Big Four meeting in Geneva. He's not giving an inch to the Soviet push for neutralizing Germany."

Adenauer was asked at a press-radio-television reception yesterday whether he will accept a Soviet invitation to go to Moscow for talks about improving diplomatic and trade relations.

He said he "probably" will go and quickly added, "Such a trip, if it is to serve any purpose, must be prepared for and that takes time."

The July 18 opening of the Big Four meeting at the summit obviously will not give Adenauer the amount of time necessary for preparation before that date.

As if to discount fears in some quarters here that he and his fellow countrymen might be swept off their feet by a Russian offer to let Germany reunite if it would become neutral and repudiate the obligations just assumed under the North Atlantic Treaty, Adenauer over and over promised German steadfastness:

1. In a joint statement with President Eisenhower after their meeting yesterday: "It was confirmed that in their combined opinion the concept of neutrality is in no way applicable to Germany and that only in collective security arrangements can Germany assure its independence."

2. In his speech to newsmen: "I can assure you most emphatically —Germany will honor her obligations . . . The neutrality or neutralization of Germany would in a relatively short time permit Soviet Russia to extend her power over all of Western Europe."

3. In reply to a question: "If there were a choice between reunification and NATO and we chose reunification, within a very short time this would lead to Germany becoming a satellite state . . . We want Germany free and reunified."

In their joint statement, Eisenhower and Adenauer said they are "reassured that there is a very broad field of understanding between them."

Adenauer appealed to free world public opinion to "show great discipline" in what he said "may be a long period of negotiations" over East-West differences.

Tomorrow Adenauer will receive an honorary degree from Harvard University.

Butler Predicts Texans Will Support National Candidate

BIG SPRING — National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler predicted today that all Texas delegates would participate in the national Democratic convention in 1956 and then return home and work to support the nominee and the platform of the party.

Butler said he was predicting this on the assumption that Texas delegates, regardless of faction, would recognize the will of the majority at the national level just as they want the will of the majority recognized at the state level in their own state.

Butler took exception to a report which he said was in a metropolitan newspaper that claimed that he "snubbed" Governor Allan Shivers. He said the only reason that he did not accept a luncheon invitation from Shivers was that he could not meet with Shivers in Austin at noon and then arrive in Houston in time for a meeting which had been scheduled previously.

Butler said that he did not regard racial segregation as a political issue for the next campaign. Also, he said that he believed the tidelands question had been resolved by legislation. However, he said he thought some Texas officials were unhappy over the administration's interpretation of the tidelands act.

Butler held a press conference before he spoke at a $5-a-plate fund-raising luncheon in the Settles Hotel here. He came to Big Spring this morning from Lubbock and was introduced at the luncheon by Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring.

LUBBOCK (AP) — Democratic Chairman Paul Butler last night more or less gave national party forgiveness to Texas Democrats who bolted in 1952 to Republican Dwight Eisenhower.

But he took what looked like a healthy dig at Gov. Allan Shivers and other state officials who were elected as Democrats and then voted for the GOP presidential candidate.

"There is no obligation on the part of any party member to vote for every nominee on every occasion so long as a matter of conscience is involved," Butler said as he opened his much publicized tour to promote harmony among feuding Texas Democrats.

"I do believe," he continued, "that when men and women have been honored by high office in the Democratic Party that they should not for some flimsy reason give support to the nominee of any other party."

Whether Butler's statement was going to fan anew the already sizzling squabble between conservative and liberal factions of the party in Texas was a teasing question.

The bolt by the conservatives to Eisenhower has been a bitter issue between the two groups, with the liberals claiming they were the only ones who could truly represent the party because they "loyally" stuck to the Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson.

Shivers led conservatives who claimed they couldn't support Stevenson because of his stand for government ownership of offshore submerged lands.

Referring to this party squabble, Butler told 400 persons—from both factions—at a $10 a plate barbeque that he believed it was up to party members in each state to settle their own differences.

"I am not here to tell you what to do or how to do it."

Among those who heard Butler's first speech in a nine city tour was Ralph Yarborough, liberal candidate, who was defeated by Shivers in a bitter race last summer for the governorship.

Butler headed for Big Spring today for a speech, then was due to make another talk at a banquet in Dallas tonight.

Tomorrow, he'll be in Tyler and Waco, Thursday at Weslaco and McAllen, and in Corpus Christi and Houston Saturday. He'll finish with a "friendly luncheon" with former Vice President John Nance Garner in Uvalde Sunday.

In his speech, Butler made these other points:

1. Delegates to the 1956 convention will not be required to make a loyalty oath to the party.

2. He won't try to influence personally the seating of any delegation.

3. He believed the credentials committee should seat the delegate representing the will of the majority.

Butler defined the will of the majority as "a majority dedicated to the principles of the Democratic Party." He said his use of the word was in its general application and did not apply to any individual.

The crowd applauded frequently during his 50 minute speech, the loudest when he made his statements on partly loyalty and when he attacked the Republican administration, which he termed "the most blindly partisan administration the country has had."

In a news conference, Butler told reporters he particularly would like to see Shivers attend one of the party dinners at which he'll speak in Texas.

Earlier, Butler had rejected an invitation to have lunch with Shivers. He said his schedule was too crowded for him to swing over to Austin.

Shivers had telegraphed Butler the invitation and said he had wanted to talk over party differences.

"Regretable for the future of the Democratic Party in Texas," he said when Butler rejected the bid.

Shivers said the Texas Democratic Advisory Council, sponsoring Butler's tour, didn't want Butler to hear "both sides" of the Texas party fuss. The council is composed of party members who "stuck to Stevenson."

Butler said he wanted to talk to all Democrats during his tour

When he made the statement about hoping Shivers would attend one of the dinners, Butler said he hoped that those Democrats who said they would not show up at any of the functions, "will reconsider."

Was this a new plea for harmony, he was asked.

"I am phrasing it any way those who read it would like to interpret it," he answered.

Butler criticized those Texans "who are not satisfied with the Democratic Party, but who are not yet courageous enough to proclaim themselves Republicans."

"Those who cannot consistently support the Democratic platform and candidates," he said, should quit working as "Republicans within the Democratic Party and work for the Republican Party instead."

He made this statement a few hours before the one in which he said members didn't have to vote for a party candidate if their conscience wouldn't allow it.

He also defined consistently at the time as "not all of the time, but most of the time."

President Hides Out During Sham Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sirens screaming warning of impending atomic attack sent President Eisenhower and 15,000 other officials scurrying today for hideouts scattered in a 300-mile arc about the capital.

The mock warning touched off a great, three-day test of how the executive branch of the government could function in event an enemy actually did rain death and destruction on Washington and 48 other major cities of the nation.

Congress took no part in the exercise.

"Operation Alert 1955," as it was designated, contemplated that the officials would have three hours and 20 minutes notice in advance of the theoretical attack.

The time schedule:

12:05 p.m.—warning.

3:25 p.m.—Washington hit.

3:25-3:45 p.m.—Major cities hit.

The big question was: Could the President and his Briefcase Brigade, embracing key workers from 31 agencies, get out of town and swiftly take up, through emergency communications, the grim business of reorganizing the shattered nation and striking back at the enemy?

In theory, the first warning was to catch the capital by surprise. But the planned exercise had been well publicized since March. So the start of the exodus from Washington had sidelights which detracted from the atmosphere of realism.

Some of those who were to "flee" came to their offices with packed overnight bags. There were those who, uncertain when the next meal would be available, got in early lunches.

Helicopters, assigned to the task of evacuating Secretary of Defense Wilson and other defense officials, showed up two hours early.

The government's emergency locations are, of course, secret. The only authorized description of Eisenhower's was that it was "a mountainous, wooded area" within the 30 to 300-mile relocation arc.

Arriving and regrouping at the emergency sites this afternoon and tonight, a dispersed government will deal on paper with the awesome task of reorganizing a stricken nation while waging a retaliatory atomic war.

Scores of proclamations and orders will be "issued." Eisenhower will talk to his subordinates and commanders by closed-circuit television.

Electronic brains will assess "casualties" and "damage." Munitions orders will flow to plants outside target cities. "Refugees" will be steered to safe havens and the National Guard will be mustered to restore order.

Operation Alert already has turned a spotlight on a great gap in the government's defense readiness. Congress has neither plans to quit Washington nor a place to reassemble if a real attack should come.

It was business as usual for the legislators, despite recent testimony of Civil Defense Administrator Val C. Peterson that anyone who stayed in the Capitol under the bombsights of an enemy "is a dead duck."

One Dies In Train Crash

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (AP) —A Union Pacific streamliner, the Los Angeles Challenger, plunged off a section of flooded tracks in northeastern Colorado today, causing one death and numerous injuries.

A trainman was killed and at least five persons were reported hurt seriously. Numerous others also were injured.

Fort Morgan firemen and other volunteers used boats to bring many of the injured out of wrecked coaches. All but 4 of the 16 coaches on the westbound train left the rails, but only the locomotive and the two units behind it overturned.

The wreck was 6 miles east of Fort Morgan and about 85 miles northeast of Denver in an area of rolling farm and ranch lands. The tracks at that point cross a bridge spanning Wildcat Creek near where it joins the South Platte River.

A flash flood during the night swept down an old channel of Wildcat Creek and spread water across rails. About 200 feet of track was washed out.

Planning to seve creamed shrimp with green peas? Use the cooking liquid from the peas and some of the stock the shrimp was cooked in for the sauce. The peas, of course, should be cooked in a small amount of water so there won't be much liquid in the pan when they are done. The shrimp stock should have bay leaf, a clove, a few peppercorns, some celery leaves and salt.

A light summer dessert is Strawberry Coconut Cream, made with prepared pudding mix. It may be made several hours ahead of time, but the berries will become soft and unattractive if refrigerated overnight.

STRAWBERRY COCONUT CREAM

1 pint strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
1 package instant coconut cream pudding
2 cups milk

Wash the strawberries in cold water and drain. Set aside six choice unhulled berries for garnish. Hull the remaining berries, cutting the small or medium-sized berries in half and the large berries in quarters. Mix berries with sugar. Make up the pudding according to package directions. Spoon sugared berries into six sherbet glasses and top with pudding. Allow to set about five minutes. Garnish with whole berries.

A new cook book for grade school children is due to reach newsstands early next month. It will also probably be available in many super markets. Edited by Mary Alden, home economist for a major food firm, it is illustrated with step by step picture recipes in full color. Any child who manifests an interest in cooking should find the book simple enough to follow and might learn some really useful principles.

Chicken giblets are best used when they are fresh. But if you do want to freeze them put them in a package separate from the chicken parts.

Mother Of Two Is Charged In Slaying

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — A mother of two children was charged with murder early today in the bathtub drowning death of Michael Baldwin, 3, a neighbor's child.

Police Chief John F. O'Connell Jr. said he booked Mrs. Gertrude F. Riordan, 44, after she admitted the slaying in a statement taken down by a stenographer at police headquarters.

The fullyclothed body of the youngster was found in Mrs. Riordan's bathtub yesterday while police were looking for him on a report from his mother that he disappeared from the front porch.

Mrs. Riordan, mother of two teen - agers, Eleanor, 17, and Joseph, 15, lived in the apartment above that of the victim's family.

Michael was the youngest of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baldwin.

O'Connell said Mrs. Riordan related in her statement that the child called on her yesterday and said he wanted to play cowboys with her. She said she obliged. She tied a face cloth around his neck to take the place of a neckerchief and together they played cowboys. Later, she said, they went into the bathroom where Mrs. Riordan drew 10 inches of water so the youngster could float clothespins as small boats.

Then, the statement continued, "for some unknown reason" Mrs. Riordan picked up the youngster, put him into the bathtub and held his head under water until he went limp.

O'Connell said Mrs. Riordan wrote a note about the body to her sister-in-law Mrs. Leonora McDermott and gave the envelope to a taxi driver for delivery.

O'Connell said that when Mrs. McDermott received the shocking note she immediately called the victim's mother by telephone.

It was then that Mrs. Baldwin came upon the body of her son.

Notice Asked Before Visits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has ordered all its host of civilian secretaries, deputies, assistants, directors, generals and admirals to let the State Department know when they are heading out for visits abroad.

The idea isn't just to give American ambassadors and consuls time to bake a cake and lay out a red plush rug.

It is, says Department of Defense Instruction Sheet No. 5030.4, to "avoid conflicts and undesirable political reactions created by trips abroad by key officials in the Department of Defense."

Ambassadors who have just ushered in one visiting official and arranged for him to present an official view are too often surprised to have a second, unexpected arrival from Washington appear on the scene, sometimes with slightly different ideas.

The Defense Department for a number of years has taken care to notify the State Department and diplomats abroad of the intended visits from really top-level Pentagon circles. But overseas travel by dozens and scores of lesser brass has multiplied in recent years. The new instructions include them too.

Escape Plan Fails

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Three long-term convicts at Southern Michigan Prison seized a stamping plant foreman as hostage last night and tried to escape through a sewer tunnel which had been used by 13 convicts who broke out last December. Since then bars had been installed across the exit. After four hours the convicts, Mike Gisondi, George Patskan and Edward Robinson, came out and meekly surrendered. The foreman, George Clark, was unharmed.

More Atomic Production Is Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said today secret briefings by the nation's top military leaders have convinced him the United States will have to provide for more atomic production.

Jackson heads the Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee on military applications which yesterday concluded hearings lasting several weeks at which high officers of the armed services have testified.

Jackson said in an interview the Army, Navy and Air Force all are going to have greatly expanded needs for nuclear materials.

"It is entirely apparent additional production facilities will have to be built," he said.

The government now has a 12-billion-dollar investment in atomic installations. An expansion program of more than three billion dollars is just being completed.

Jackson said all three military services are coming to rely more and more on atomic materials, not only for weapons, but also for motive power.

Meanwhile, a floor fight appeared to be shaping up over the action of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee in knocking out funds for the "good will" atomic merchant ship proposed by President Eisenhower. Democrats voted against it.

Cohn Unhappy With Press

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Roy M. Cohn contends the nation's press is engaging in a deliberate "news blackout" on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and others who, he says, "are fighting communism."

"In the past three months the eggheads of the press have practiced silence," Cohn declared yesterday in a Flag Day speech.

The former counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee continued:

"You can go up and down the pages of the newspapers and you will find only a small paragraph now and then about McCarthy and the others who are fighting communism."

Cohn said it was "a deliberate policy . . . so that millions of Americans cannot know what is happening."

Wife Says She Will Stay In East Germany

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—Donal Starling, an accountant, says he has received word from his wife, who took their 2-year-old son to visit her parents in East Germany last February, that she won't be back.

He has appealed to Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) for help. Ayres has asked the State Department to investigate.

Starling said he received a letter two weeks ago from his wife Gisela, 25, from Stendar, East Germany, saying:

"It is not as bad here as we have been told, and I am staying of my own free will. I have become attached to my homeland."

Her husband, who met her in 1945 while he was in the Army, said he believed the letter was written under duress. He said he still loves Gisela, whom he married in 1947.

U. S. Steel To Answer Union Wage Demand

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The U. S. Steel Corp. will present to the CIO United Steelworkers Monday the first answer to the union's demands for a "substantial" wage increase from the basic steel industry.

The company and union agreed yesterday to the resumption of bargaining Monday after a recess that began last week when the USW finished presenting its demands to steel's Big Six, who employ 400,000 of the 600,000 basic steelworkers.

U. S. Steel, traditional pacesetter in labor matters for the industry, has given no indication of how much it will offer in its counterproposal.

USW President David J. McDonald was quoted as saying he expects an offer of a seven and a half cents hourly increase for the steelworkers, who now average $2.33 an hour.

That, says McDonald, isn't enough. He was quoted as telling union negotiators:

"We are not interested in a nickels and dimes settlement. We want a substantial wage increase."

Besides U. S. Steel, the "Big Six" includes Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., and Inland Steel Co.

The union will be free to strike at midnight June 30 if no agreement is reached by then. Negotiations are being held under a wage reopener clause of the current two-year contract. Only wages are being discussed.

Industry observers predict agreement on a figure between 12 and 15 cents an hour before the deadline.

White Sox Win And Take Second Place

The Trinity Methodist White Sox swamped the West Texas Bank Athletics 9-2 last night and took over second place in the American Little League. The game was rained out in the last of the fourth inning, but it had gone far enough to be called a full game. The second game scheduled for the night between the Kiwanis Club Braves and the Rotary Club Cardinals was called to be rescheduled.

The bucket collection which was to be given to the polio fund was not taken because of the weather, but will be taken Thursday night.

Besides handling the pitching chores, Charles Davis of the White Sox did a lot toward winning his own game by getting one of his team's two hits and scoring two of the runs. He struck out eight and allowed two hits in the four-inning game. Roland Key, the loser, fanned six, walked four and gave up three hits.

The White Sox started the scoring in the top of the second when Davis got on by an error, Tommy Perry walked and Davis Shaw was hit by a pitched ball. Morris Morton got on by fielder's choice, bringing Davis in for the first score. Then Joshua Johns, the catcher, brought all three runners home to make the score 4-0 in the top of the second.

The Athletics' two runs came in the bottom of the second when Roland Key, the pitcher, hit a home run with none on, and Butch Neidecken hit a single and later came in to score.

The White Sox widened their lead in the fourth by bringing in five more scores.

Next action in the Little League will be Thursday night when the Athletics meet the league-leading Yankees, and the Giants take on the Braves.

Dallas Takes 12th Win In 16 Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The Dallas Eagles won their twelfth game in the last 16 Tuesday night and they say around the club house there's something besides victory involved in a surge that drove Dallas to first place in the Texas League.

The boys are "winning this one" for Dick Burnett, club owner who died June 1.

Manager John (Red) Davis made a little talk before the club went out to play Shreveport that night. He told the Eagles "One of the greatest guys in baseball has just died. No man wanted to win any more than Dick Burnett. Let's go out there and win for Dick Burnett. And let's keep on winning."

They did, and the next night John (Red) Murff pitched a 4-hitter to beat Shreveport, then said: "That one was for Dick Burnett."

So it's been that way ever since.

Tuesday night they whipped San Antonio, erstwhile league leader, 6-3, and moved out front by 3½ games. San Antonio dropped from second to third and the teaming Fort Worth Cats charged into the runner up spot as they licked Houston 8-6.

Mel Waters, Fort Worth's magnificent relief pitcher, stopped a Houston rally in the ninth to preserve the Cat victory.

Shreveport edged up on fourth place Tulsa by beating Oklahoma City 6-1 with a 5-run rally in the eighth inning. Nellie Daehn and Pidge Brown clouted doubles and Joe Koppe tripled to feature the 6-hit outburst.

Beaumont trimmed a half-game off Tulsa's lead over Shreveport—cutting it to one game—by splitting a doubleheader with the Oilers. Beaumont won the first game 2-1, using three hits to perfection. Tulsa took the second 4-2, slamming two runs across in the sixth and two more in the eighth.

Favorite Is Hard To Pick In US Open

By BOB MYERS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—How you gonna figure the winner of the 1955 U.S. Open?

The human element is risky enough to assess in a cast of golfers of comparable skill and temperaments—particularly when they range from a stolid Gene Littler to a tempestuous Tommy Bolt.

Everyone concedes that this 55th annual money battle is a wide open proposition, involving such interesting angles as the young fellows against the old pappy guys, the established players versus the dark horses and all aiming at the crown worn by one of the darkest horses of all, plucky Ed Furgol of St. Louis.

All the possible factors — fog, rain, wind, cold — are here, more so by far than at the usual sites of the national Opens. Baltusrol may have its rain, which it did last year; Texas could have its heat, as it did in 1952, but rarely does the U.S. Open offer such a variable prospect as this one.

Experts, looking over the entry list of 132 professionals and 30 amateurs, have come up with no less than 25 contestants who cannot be ignored in pre-tournament selections.

Cary Middlecoff, the Masters champion; Gene Littler, perhaps the brightest of the younger crop, with big Mike Souchak striding close behind; Julius Boros, the 1952 winner at Dallas; slender Dick Mayer, the Florida stylist; the famed slammer, Sam Snead, still seeking his first U.S. Open title—these and many more are mentioned as distinct possibilities.

And never to be forgotten is that man of golf himself, Ben Hogan.

Hogan, still a threatening figure, although not as fearsome in the past year, has won this tournament four times. There is no doubt that Fort Worth's favorite golfing son wants to become the only man to be a five-time champion.

Stanky's Firing Helped Little

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

No wonder Eddie Stanky says he doesn't hold a grudge against the St. Louis Cardinals for giving him a boot as manager. Why should he? They've been vindicating him ever since he left.

In three years as manager, Stanky had been accused of overmanaging, taking the game home at night, upsetting clubhouse tranquillity and other odds and ends in an effort to explain why the Cards looked good on paper but not in the National League standings.

Hoping a change "might make things better," the beer barons who own the club dispensed with Stanky and called in Harry (The Hat) Walker, a nice, easy-going fellow.

So what happens The Cardinals lose 12 of 17, slip into seventh place and fall 20 games behind front-running Brooklyn.

When Stanky left May 27, the Cards were fifth, 10 games back.

Neither Stanky nor Walker can take the rap, apparently. Walker has received just five complete games, losing three of them, from his mound staff in the 17 contests.

That was the story last night. Pittsburgh, only 4½ games behind St. Louis, belted starter Larry Jackson and Brooks Lawrence for eight runs in the fourth and won 10-5.

Dale Long hit a solo homer in the second and drove in three more runs on a double and bases-loaded single as 13 Bucs came to the plate in the big fourth.

The runaway Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their lead to 11½ games, whipping Cincinnati 9-0 after the runner-up Chicago Cubs had lost to the Giants 5-0. Milwaukee beat Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 4-2.

In the American, the New York Yankees held on to their slim 2½-game lead by beating Detroit 7-6 in 10 innings. Second-place Chicago beat Baltimore 1-0 and third-place Cleveland took two from Washington, 6-4 in 11 innings and 3-1 on rookie Herb Score's two-hitter. Boston belted Kansas City 12-4.

Johnny Podres won his sixth for Brooklyn, blanking the Redlegs on seven hits. The Dodgers scored six in the second inning, routing loser Johnny Klippstein and Steve Ridzik, as Duke Snider smacked his 20th homer with two on.

At Milwaukee, Eddie Mathews put it away for the Braves with a two-run clout in the eighth. Mathews had three of the seven hits off Roberts. Lew Burdette was the winner.

The Giants, verbally spanked by Manager Leo Durocher the day before for their lack-luster play, smeared the Cubs with three runs in the second on homers by rookie Gail Harris and Willie Mays. It was the fourth major league home run for Harris—all in the last five games. Ruben Gomez won his third. Sam Jones lost his eighth.

A four-base throwing error by pitcher Al Aber capped a three-run ninth for the Yanks, with Andy Carey racing all the way around to score the tying run after hitting in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then won it with a single in the 10th off George Zuverink after a walk and a single.

The Orioles' Saul Rogovin walked home the lone White Sox run in the eighth. Pitcher Jack Harshman made it four straight for Chicago.

Cleveland won its fifth straight in the nightcap at Washington as Score outlasted his wildness. He walked 11 and hit a batter while striking out six. The opener was won on Dale Mitchell's pinch single in the 11th after Ralph Kiner hit a pinch homer to tie it at 4-4 with two out in the ninth.

Norb Zauchin and Ted Williams batted in seven of the Red Sox's runs in the slugfest at Bos... Zauchin homered in an eight-run third. Williams hit his fifth home run and doubled twice, lifting his average to .378.

Probe Set On Santee's Expense Fund

PARIS (AP)—The Wes Santee "excessive expenses" case exploded again today with the announcement from International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage that he had asked the American AAU to investigate the charges.

Brundage offered no opinion on the case. He said he merely had studied the charges by a San Francisco newspaper that Santee had accepted more than the allowed expenses for three meets in California.

"I sent the story and a letter to Dan Ferris (AAU chieftain) and suggested the matter be looked into," said Brundage. "I have not yet heard from Ferris.

"No action has been taken against Santee yet and I don't know that any will. However, the charges are certainly too serious to let them stand."

Santee, on duty as a second lieutenant with the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton, Calif., reiterated his denial.

"It's simply a newspaper story," he commented. "It's Brundage's duty to check into any charges made against amateur athletes."

Ferris, in New York, said the matter would have to be taken up by the Missouri Valley district of the AAU and that it wasn't in his hands.

Marion Miller, Missouri Valley secretary, has taken no action yet because he hasn't seen the itemized expense list which the runner is required to turn in.

"Santee has not yet turned in his travel permits showing the amounts he received for expenses in the meets in questions," Miller said. "These are not about two weeks overdue. Until we get these permits signed by the meet managers and check the exact amounts he received, the case is still open."

Corpus Gains Again Without Playing Tilt

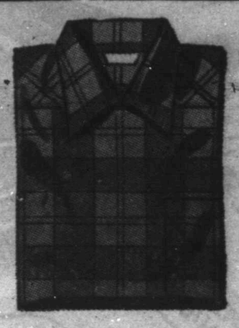

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi doesn't even have to play to increase its lead in the Big State League race.

Tuesday night, for instance, the Clippers were idle and gained a half-game. Second place Tyler and Port Arthur lost.

Waco beat Tyler 5-1 behind the 5-hit pitching of Cleo Lewright. He was hanging up his seventh victory of the season.

Harlingen whipped Port Arthur 6-3 with Walt Dunkovich leading the way. He hit a 2-run homer and a bases loaded single to count for four runs. Billy Mills went the route for his fifth pitching victory.

Bad Driving Penalty

Most people are aware that in many states public liability insurance for automobile drivers under 25 carries a surcharge to cover losses occasioned by the greater tendency of drivers under that age to get involved in accidents. This penalty fee was recently removed or reduced in the case of women drivers under 25, in at least one state, since statistics showed they had fewer accidents than men of the same age.

Insurance actuaries are notoriously nonsentimental people. They compile their tables of risks from cold statistics, and people who are prone to accidents are likely to be singled out for higher premium rates. This is the old carrot-and-stick technique of the familiar story of the donkey: a carrot as a reward for good conduct, a stick as a rebuke for mulishness.

The "certified risk" section of the financial responsibility laws involving bodily injury and property damage reads as follows:

"The bodily injury and property damage total policy premium including all applicable surcharges for a risk on which a certificate of insurance is filed to comply with the requirements of an automobile responsibility law shall be increased in accordance with the following schedule of surcharges." Then is set forth the various kinds of driving offenses which carry surcharges of from 5 percent to 50 percent.

All drivers, good and bad, pay higher premium rates than otherwise would be the case because of the nation's generally bad traffic record. But those who compile that record by personal disregard of the laws or of commonsense pay a higher rate than anybody else.

So, everybody who operates a motor vehicle and is required to show financial responsibility as a prerequisite to licensing has a direct financial interest in obeying traffic rules and keeping his record clean.

The Player Piano

Before we could get to the set and turn it off with our usual celerity the other night, a certain popular television pianist came on with a demonstration of the oldtime player piano, and thereby provoked the thought that there must be millions of young Americans in their teens and twenties who never saw a player piano, much less heard one perform.

Well, it turned out to be something of a coincidence. In the mail yesterday was a press release from the Midwest Research Institution of Kansas City saying that the Gribble Music Company of that city had decided to restimulate interest in piano purchases, and as part of this project Midwest had developed a device for the company which would convert any existing piano into a player piano. Oh, no!

There was a time when player pianos resounded throughout the land, the forerunners of the modern jukebox. About the best you could say for them was that they followed the tune with a sort of tinny faithfulness that left no room for the nuances of the really fine art of playing a truly magnificent musical instrument.

We would take no bets that there won't be a revival of the player piano. The idea has a nostalgic appeal to it that may fire the imagination of American collectors, and thousands of basements, attics, old barns, garages and warehouses may soon be discharging player pianos in all directions. Like the resurgence of barbershop quartet singers, a revival of interest in pianos generally might sweep the land. We could do worse.

Turtle Turns Car

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP)—A turtle bit his ankle, said Daniel Stamm, and that's why he ran into a Main Street safety island with his car. Stamm said the turtle, of the snapping species, got into his car somehow and latched onto his ankle just as he was turning a corner. He lost control and wound up with a dented fender and a ticket for reckless driving.

Diem Strengthens His Position As Head Of South Viet Nam With Help Of U. S.

By PRESTON GROVER

SAIGON (AP)—The United States believes it has found the man to save Indochina from the Communists. He is Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic past 54 who looks like 40, drinks no alcohol, chainsmokes cigarettes, and has never married.

He has chosen a program of "Indochina for the Indochinese—and the French must go."

For at least part of this program he has solid State Department support. Washington is determined to back him in setting up his own government and in carrying out the domestic program he has outlined—a program which is both challenging and, to the French, shocking. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, once fully a supporter of Diem, evidently changed his attitude somewhat, and favored greater consideration of the French position.

The Diem program and his methods have turned the French colony into a community of howling Dervishes, for they insist Diem and his policies are exactly the best means of bringing the southern half of Viet Nam into the hands of the Communists, who already control North Viet Nam.

Diem proceeds with his program, doubtless hampered by the dispute between the two big powers. He is reinforcing his position almost daily. One American source says it is quite possible Diem has established himself so solidly that neither the French nor Americans could remove him except by a great show of force—even if they chose. Neither side seems eager to do that, certainly not the Americans. The French are not likely to fly in the face of the Americans.

The most determined American backer of Premier Diem here is Col. Edward Lansdale, chief of psychological warfare, a dark-haired athletic type around 40 who finds Diem's policies about 100 per cent right. No wonder, say the French, who insist that he is responsible for some of those policies.

The French hate him with a venom they reserve usually for Germans. Lansdale is aware of it and is not disturbed.

Psychological warfare is a broad term in these parts and Lansdale has intelligence agents planted all over Indochina. He does an incredible amount of getting about himself. He has an uncanny facility for ferreting out French moves to upset the Diem government.

Lansdale believes cooperation here with the French is impossible, that they will keep turning and twisting to keep a foothold in the government, asleep to the fact the Vietnamese do not want them.

Diem has outlined a program which runs directly counter to French ideas. It is:

1. Unify the national army into a single force with a single overall commander. This means five or six private armies, each dominant in its own region, will be dissolved or incorporated into the national army. It would take from the French any power of playing off one force against another.

2. Unify the country. That means taking land control away from the sectarian armies, taking away also their right to collect taxes and run the local government. Such unification is essential, Diem says, to permit among other things the settlement of some of the 800,000 refugees from the North. So far the Hoa Hao has blocked Diem's plans to put some of them in southwest Viet Nam. The Hoa Hao attitude stands in the way of America's land reform program here.

3. Call national elections, probably next month, for the country's first assembly. The sects must be liquidated first, Diem insists, else they will dictate the elections in their areas and perhaps pack the assembly. The idea is to create a state in which prosperity, security and democratic methods will be an appealing answer to the Communist program in North Viet Nam.

The French are urging another course. They insist there is a deep layer of French friendship and respect among the Vietnamese government. They ask that the French and Americans consolidate their policy, make mutual compromises, then jointly support a Vietnamese government that represents factions which Diem now is setting out to destroy in order to build up strength in his central government. There is no time left for a civil war against the sects, That road, say the French, will lead to disaster.

Gen. Paul Ely, the French commander, insists Diem does not know how to govern. He says Diem is building up a dictatorship. The Americans agree this latter may be true, but find no ready substitute for it elsewhere.

Who is on the right trail is hard to say. Just how far the State Department agrees with Diem has never been established.

The United States has sent in a new ambassador, a top quality State Department man, Frederick Reinhardt. He may be the answer.

Money Can Be Good Tonic For Soothing The Nerves

By INEZ ROBB

"I got plenty of nuthin'," as the Broadway bard sings, and I'm as happy as a crow in a corn patch, as a pig in a parlor, as a possum in a persimmon tree.

Because I aim to put my plenty of nuthin' in the hands of Robert R. Young, a li'l ole Texas boy who is the li'l ole chairman of the New York Central Railroad since he won that big proxy fight a year ago.

What Mr. Young can do with plenty of nuthin' is a caution and a comfort to a woman who is just crazy about men and money. He has just told the nosy Banking and Currency Committee of the United States Senate how he and some of his Texas confreres have made a clear profit of $10,000,000 out of plenty of nuthin' within the past twelvemonth.

By just signing a li'l ole paper and not putting up one red cent of cash two of Mr. Young's Texas friends, Sid W. Richardson and Clint W. Murchison, took over 800,000 shares, or $20,000,000 worth, of New York Central stock.

(Of course, the Mssrs. Richardson and Murchison COULD have paid cash as, with them, money is no object, since they make their own brand of the stuff in their Texas basements.)

Just by signing that bit of paper, "we made $10,000,000 on the deal without a dollar of risk," Mr. Young boasted to the Senators.

Well, sir, if there's one thing I've got, in addition to plenty of nuthin', it's plenty of paper. Man, I'm loaded! Mr. Young has caught himself another confrere. I don't know how long this racket has been going on, but I want in.

There's one thing to be said for me: I'm a good sport and I'm not greedy. I don't want Mr. Young to do any more for me than for his friends. If $10,000,000 is good enough for the Messrs. Richardson, Murchison and Young, it's good for me! I can always economize around the house.

I'm sorry I didn't get in on the ground floor with my plenty of nuthin' when the Messrs. Richardson and Murchison got in with theirs. That was when they purchased their 800,000 shares of New York Central for $25 per share, which soon began to zoom. (It's now around $43 per share.)

But I figure Mr. Young will find something equally as obliging in which to put my paper and plenty of nuthin'. Texans have a genius for making money out of a hole in the ground.

That great American philosopher, Joe E. Lewis, the night-club comic, once made an immortal statement when he observed that money is good for the nerves.

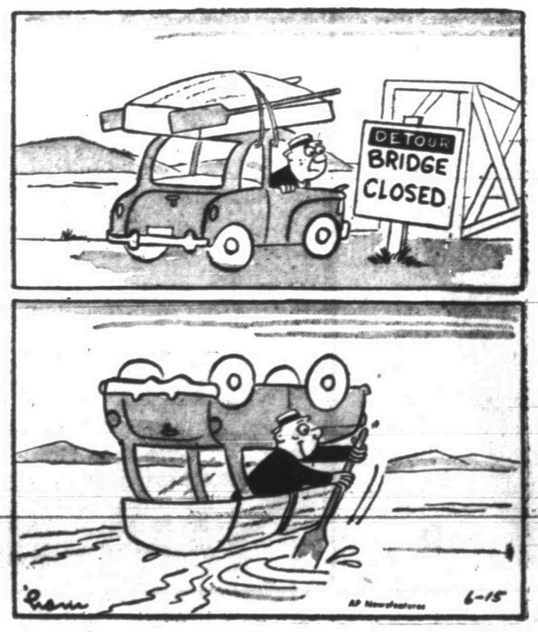

I have been feeling real nervous of late: kinda jumpy when the bank wants another installment on the mortgage, as of today, for instance; or I open a letter that begins "Final notice; please remit—"

There is no doubt that I need a good, soothing nerve tonic, something green, crisp and preferably with a picture of Woodrow Wilson, although in a pinch I would settle for some with a likeness of Salmon P. Chase.

Here's my plenty of nuthin', Mr. Young. Take it away—and don't come back till the nerve tonic runneth over.

Return To Childhood Scene Shows Adult Is Little Different From Dreaming Boy

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—What does a man find if he comes back years later to his old home town, and tries to dig back into his boyhood?

Well, the surprises he discovers may rather in a small way reconcile him to the guy he has become.

He may find, for example, that dumb and lonely as he felt himself to be then, he wasn't altogether as dumb as he thought he was. He may even be sobered into a thoughtful new responsibility by the realization that a new calendar hasn't made him a new man.

Do people improve with time? Do they get worse?

It's a great adventure to go back and try to decide. The opportunity to revisit myself when young fell to me during a stopover here on the way back from the Southwest to New York, where I work.

My mother had just sold the old home that had been the center of our family for 34 years.

The job I had to do was a basement job. It was my own job. Since I was a small child I had early grown the habit of collecting small souvenirs of my adventures on this earth, and now the problem was that the storage place at home was gone.

The old family home was gone, too. What did I want to hold on to? What to let go of?

Throwing away the mementos of your life is rather hard. These old memories have hands in them that grip you from old times.

The first day, when Mama was there and said, "you can't live ahead while you're still trying to live behind you," I was stubborn and threw little away.

The next day I came back without her and threw away my youth all alone with both hands. I feel now I threw too much away. But it's a personal handicap. Anything in life. . .If it is life...I don't like to see go.

As I said before, excavating the souvenirs of youth—only from your own living — is a surprising experience. I don't hesitate to use the word amazing. I am amazed to discover that, at the age of 44, except for the weapon of experience—and this is dull but useful and sometimes a momentarily effective weapon—I face life with no brighter sword than the hope and courage and intelligence I had when I was 19. All you can acquire is the information of caution.

What was there in the basement showed that.

Digging back through the dusty debris of childhood, put away originally neither with no more nor no less self - consciousness than I recall it now, I find small change.

Then, after finishing my high school classes and riding a bike for pay for the drug store six days a week at 15 cents an hour from 6 in the evening until 11 o'clock I would go home and draw cartoons, because I wanted to be a cartoonist.

I gave it up because I didn't have what it takes—talent, ability. So I turned to words, and earn this living.

I wrote poems then, but poems in that time, as in this time, were the cake of the spirit and bought no bread for the body.

Digging there all alone in the basement, I found the poor sad practice cartoons. They weren't as bad as I thought then. They looked rather good to me, after these years. It isn't the pencil, it's the idea. I found the poems. I read them and felt them again. What is a poem but the lyric reach of a heart grasping beyond the imprisoned mind?

Of course, there all alone in this rubble of remembrance in the basement, there were many things that needed to be thrown away, and many of them I did and miss already. There were old school pictures, faded photos of girls then pined for and later half-forgotten, friends dead and remembered by the force of their passing, and relatives revived.

But the main discovery in the basement was that, coming back after these many years, I was in no real way superior to the dreaming boy who had tried long ago to preserve these souvenirs I was discarding.

ACLU Is Seeking Modified Regulations For Passports

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department can let Americans travel abroad or force them to stay home by granting or withholding passports. Any citizen who goes abroad without a passport commits a crime.

This week the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) goes into federal court seeking to force the department to modify its reasons for refusing passports and to let persons denied them have a chance to appeal.

Last year over 400,000 passports were granted. How many applicants were turned down? An official of the Passport Division said yesterday he does not know because the division keeps no record on the number of denials.

He said the department can refuse to grant a passport because:

1. An applicant is a Communist or has Communist ties, has a criminal record, is insane, or can't pay his way; or

2. The department doesn't think letting a certain individual go abroad is in this country's best interests. This gives the department wide latitude.

The official said: In cases which fall under No. 2 the State Department uses its own discretion. For example: an individual who wants to go to Latin America may, in the department's opinion, have links with revolutionists there. He wouldn't get a passport.

David Carliner, ACLU attorney, says a person may be refused a passport on the grounds that he said something considered disparaging about the United States.

He gave an example: One man's passport was held up because he was accused, among other things, of having said when last abroad that this country was full of capitalists who exploited labor. He finally got it.

What appeal does an individual have—and what chance to face his accusers and refute them—if he is refused a passport? The passport official said everyone is told why he can't get a passport. Carliner says only some are told.

The State Department has an appeals board before which an individual, refused a passport, can plead his case. But the passport official said only people with criminal records or those accused of Communist connections have a right to appeal to that board.

What of all others who are not criminals and are not Communists? The official said they have no appeal but can, if they want, get a hearing before people in the Passport Division. They are not told who their accusers are. Carliner says this is not a hearing but only an interview.

Carliner will present two test cases in federal court. In one he will ask a federal judge to force the State Department to give any person refused a passport a full hearing which he can present evidence in his own behalf, hear all the evidence against him, be represented by counsel, and face his accusers.

In the other case Carliner will challenge the right of the State Department to withhold a passport, with or without a hearing, because a man participated in politics abroad.

Businessmen Are Assessing Effects Of Auto Contracts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The first shock over, businessmen today are reassessing the effects to industry as a whole of the General Motors and Ford layoff plans.

The long-term effects are being sized up this way:

If the layoff pay plan spreads through industry it's going to be tough for the small struggling company. It's going to be harder to start up a new company in a competitive field, if the men you hire become permanent payroll members before you've tested your sales potential.

Companies big and small are going to take a long, hard look at their labor policies. As labor costs go up, the urge to invest in labor-saving machinery—the trend toward the automatic factory—will grow stronger.

Work schedules will be planned to avoid expensive layoffs. Rather than hire a new man in times of extra business activity—and thus add him permanently to work rolls—corporations will pay present workers more overtime.

Many state laws will have to be changed if the General Motors and Ford layoff pay plans are to work. Present laws in many states don't provide for supplemental pay to state unemployment benefits.

Pressure is likely to build up to get the states to pay more liberal jobless benefits—the higher the state payments the less of a drain on any one corporation.

The auto industry's labor settlement is also expected to have an effect on this summer's negotiations in other industries. Steel union leaders are reported raising their sights now for higher pay—they won't be asking for layoff pay until next year.

The plan, however, is expected to be an issue this year in talks between the unions and the farm machinery makers, the electric equipment companies, rubber and meat-packing industries.

Some lines of business are expecting to profit by the trend toward pay for laid-off workers.

Machine tool makers see a shot-in-the-arm for the movement toward automation, which means selling more of their products.

The construction industry expects more modern factories to be in greater demand.

Advertising men say that corporations will have to try hard to get customers to shift their buying habits and make them less seasonal.

Makers of office machinery say that lay-off pay will mean much more paper work. Computing the benefits will add headaches to corporate accounting offices — and should enlarge the market for mechanical brains.

Merchants in factory towns see in the new trend a leveling off of the peaks and valleys of buying. Laid-off auto workers will have tidy sums to spend and store sales won't plummet when factories close down for a time.

Capital Socialites Find Landlubber's Life Is Dull

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Local socialites are finding being landlubbers again slightly duller going after all the shenanigans they've experienced in recent days — a dinner-flight at 35,000 feet to Niagara Falls and back, "high tea on the high seas," and a gala dancing cruise down the Potomac.

On the 7 to 9:30 p.m. flight to the honeymooner's haunt, cocktails and caviar, filet mignon and champagne were served to a select 40 aboard a new airliner. Included on this elegant up-in-the-air shindig were several members of Congress, White House Asst. Charles Willis and Mrs. Willis, Asst. Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Carter Burgess, Civil Areonautics Board members and their wives and the president's pilot and air aide, Lt. Col. Bill Draper.

The high tea was really champagne served with an excellent and unusual buffet aboard the S.S. Silvestar down from New York and bound for Nassaut. Mrs. Harry Davidow, good-looking, blonde wife of a prominent Washington business man, threw this fancy do for the National Speech Clinic Foundation, with some 200 ladies "logging in" for the late afternoon cruise down the Potomac. Lively entertainment was provided when the ship's captain and spic crew temporarily turned their jobs over to members of the foundation.

Mrs. de Castro, wife of the Nicaraguan ambassador, was dubbed captain, Mrs. Wellington Koo, wife of the Chinese ambassador, was named purser, doll-like Mrs. Yang, wife of the Korean ambassador, was enveloped in starched white officer's jacket and cap as chief engineer. Pretty Mrs. Notowidigdo, wife of the Indonesian ambassador, Lady Spender, wife of the Australian ambassador and Mrs. Gamboa, wife of the former counselor of the Phillipines Embassy, were others designated for ship's duty.

Then there was the big moonlight cruise aboard the S.S. Mount Vernon, which steams up and down the Potomac between Washington and Norfolk, Va. About 600 took in this excursion and supper-dance with the evening's entertainment arranged by superhostess Perle Mesta, a benefit for the American Field Service International Scholarship Fund.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

NO COUNTRY FOR OLD MEN. By Warren Eyster. Random House. Lang. Pierce, Rowiger, Harnet; the farming, the isolation, the quietness were the old Coverly. The Mijacks, the steel mill, the labor union, the strife of worker and employer are the new Nesuehon Foundry, or ex-Coverly, a borough up the Susquehanna River. That's the ambitious span, 1889-1941, covered in this second novel by this Pennsylvania-born author.

The chief figures are the Langs' daughter Irene, looking from the top down; and the Mijacks' children, Naomi, Bart and Gilbert, looking from the bottom up. Irene, a sickly child, after an infatuation for pampered Raymond, accepts as husband wealthy, influential Pierce, her father's choice; their daughter, Dorothy, somewhat repeats the same process.

Old man Mijack founded what promises for a time to be a rough, tough dynasty. Bart is labor leader; Gilbert, the bad boy of the family, is a drinker quick with knife, brutal with girls; their sister, Naomi, is cut from the same sorry piece as Gilbert.

Central Pennsylvanian certainly is rich enough to merit the attentions of not only John O'Hara but also Eyster and any other novelists willing and able. Eyster consequently has a worthwhile theme and he is, furthermore, a serious, purposeful and worthwhile writer. But this unhappily is an unworthwhile novel. Being 600 pages long, it wastes more than 300 pages before it begins to be a novel. Because of the drag of description, introspection, reflection and not always successful attempts at poetic evocation, this is hardly getting into its stride when it actually should be speeding down the home stretch.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever the merits of the continuing arguments over live vs. filmed television, the trend still is toward celluloid.

This is evident to the viewer who compares present programing with what he saw two or three years ago, and is emphasized by the statistics.

The biggest of the film manufacturers (Eastman Kodak Co.) says motion picture film now accounts for 55 to 60 per cent of TV air time. The ratio is due to increase materially in the next few years, says T. Gentry Veal of the firm's research staff.

A good deal of filmed air time is rolled up by old motion pictures, but even in the prime viewing hours film accounts for a heavy proportion of the schedule with such shows as Lucy, Medic, Dragnet and Groucho Marx. Of the programs over the key ABC, CBS and NBC stations here this week in the peak audience hours of 7:30 through 10:30 p.m., 40 per cent are filmed and 60 per cent live.

The ratio for films is due to go up considerably in the fall. ABC has scheduled a weekly one-hour dramatic film show to be produced by Warner Brothers. CBS' new Wednesday night drama hour will have a new hour-long filmed show produced by 20th Century-Fox on alternate weeks. And CBS will have filmed shows in the early evening half-hour now occupied by news and music.

A number of live shows of the past season may well be replaced by film next season.

In addition, more films are being made for direct distribution to stations after the pattern of the Liberace show, Ramar of the Jungle, Sherlock Holmes and others not transmitted on the networks.

Reds Report American Soldier Given Asylum

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany said today it has granted political asylum to Horst Spanier, identified as a U. S. soldier.

East Berlin newspapers said Spanier was a member of the 12th Infantry Battalion of the 2nd Armored Division. His serial number was listed as RA15 528 280, but his rank and home address were not given.

The newspapers quoted Spanier as saying he left his Army post because he did not want to be a fighter for "American imperialism," and also that he hoped to begin a new life in East Germany.

U. S. Army officials here said a soldier named Horst Spanier has been missing from the 12th Infantry Battalion at Worms, West Germany, since May 8.

Dutch Charges Are Refuted

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian government today angrily refuted Dutch charges it has tortured 23 Dutchmen arrested 18 months ago.

A Foreign Ministry statement countered that the Jakarta government would issue its own "white paper" on alleged Dutch subversive activities in Indonesia, until the end of 1949 the Netherlands' biggest and richest possession.

The Indonesian statement said the Dutch charges made in The Hague Monday "will have no other effect but to increase the bitterness of the Indonesian people and deepen the present ravine between the Netherlands and Indonesia."

The Dutch statement accused Indonesian police of maltreating prisoners and using them as witnesses against others. It said the men were arrested in December 1953 after the extremist Darul Islam movement began agitating in Indonesia for an autonomous Moslem state.

Texaco Plant Banquet Set

The Texas Co. will honor employes of its Fuller Gasoline Plant and their wives at a banquet Saturday night celebrating the Fuller plant's safety record.

The banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Hilander.

Several officials of the Texas Co. from out of town are expected here to help celebrate a safety record which has seen the Fuller plant accumulate 250,000 man hours with no loss of time caused by accidents.

An award in recognition of the plant's safety record will be presented by A. E. Willig, superintendent of Texaco's Gas and Gasoline department of West Texas. E. E. Calloway of Fort Worth, supervisor of industrial relations, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet.

J. W. DeFore is superintendent of the Texaco Fuller Gasoline plant, which is located on the Clairemont road.

No Injuries Reported In Three-Car Crash

No one was injured, and damage was minor in a three-car accident in the 2600 block of Avenue S yesterday afternoon.

The wreck involved a 1953 Buick club coupe driven by Curren A. Heath, 50, of 3716 Austin Avenue a 1955 Pontiac coach driven by La-Wayne Hulse 33, 3725 Rose Circle, and a parked 1955 Buick club coupe owned by W. T. Long, 2233 Sunset Avenue.

The Long car had been parked parallel to the east curb by his wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Long. The other vehicles were traveling north, the Buick in the center lane and the Pontiac in the right lane. The Pontiac struck both other vehicles as Heath attempted to change lanes.

Geisenhoner To Head District Defense Fund

Ralph Geisenhoner, executive vice-president of the Snyder National Bank, has been named chairman of District 12 in the Texas United Defense Fund.

The statewide group will sponsor the United Service Organization campaign for $640,000 in Texas this year. The USO is a member of the Scurry County United Fund and will participate in that organization's activities. Geisenhoner's district, however, covers Scurry, Fisher, Kent, and Stonewall Counties.

J. M. Willson, Sr., regional chairman for the campaign said the majority of the Texas goal will be included in Community Chest and United Fund campaigns this fall.

Trains Are Rolling Again In England

By NATE POLOWETKY

LONDON (AP)—"All right, mate, don't push. Plenty of trains today. Tickets, pliss."

Britain's nationwide railroad strike—the first since 1926—was over after 17 days of street traffic jams, piled-up warehouses and looming shortages of coal and raw materials.

In London's vast terminals, the eerie silence was shattered once more by the scream and roar of trains, the jabber of passengers, the mad crush of humanity.

Suburban trains, packed tight as sardine cans, disgorged happy commuters who had walked, hitchhiked, bicycled or driven cars to work each day.

Last night leaders of the 67,000-member Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen called off their strike on the nationalized railroads and agreed to submit their demand for a wage hike to arbitration.

Officials said it would take at least a few days to restore order to freight yards and goods warehouses. Although nonstriking members of the National Union of Railwaymen kept freight traffic running at a third of normal during the walkout, tens of thousands of loaded coal wagons were waiting at the nation's mines. Tons of raw materials awaited delivery to factories, which in turn had mountains of manufactures.

Much freight traffic also had to be diverted from the hurriedly mobilized fleets of trucks and canal barges which kept Britain's industrial wheels from stopping.

Resumption of normal long-distance passenger service also probably will be delayed slightly.

The strike was estimated to have cost the British Transport Commission, operators of the railways, a million pounds ($2,800,000) a day, and the striking union 300,000 pounds ($840,000) in strike pay.

The walkout also forced many industrial plants to trim their working hours and to lay off 10,000 or more workers. But there was no serious industrial dislocation and no mass unemployment.

The peace pact was pounded out at a series of conferences yesterday between the Transport Commission and the two rail unions.

The commission agreed in principle to the striking union's demand that firemen and engineers be paid more money than less skilled workers. Previous differentials were narrowed by a wage increase given the other union earlier this year. The union agreed to submit the question of the exact amount of the raise to the decision of an impartial arbiter, Lord Morris, 53-year-old appeal judge for the Isle of Man.

Morris' decision will apply also to engineers and firemen who belong to the National Union of Railwaymen, which agreed there would be no "leapfrogging" wage claims by the less skilled men.

Two other strikes still bothered Britain.

A walkout of 20,000 dock workers has partially idled seven ports. A wildcat seamen's walkout, mainly by stewards and catering staffs demanding better living conditions and a shorter work week, has tied up the sailing of six transatlantic liners from Liverpool and Southampton.

Sabre Jets In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Three F100 Super Sabre Jets capable of flying faster than sound arrived this month, the Far East Air Forces said today. U.S. airmen will fly them in "familiarization" flights, FEAF said. The plane has a speed in exess of 700 miles an hour.

Young Joins Bell Office

Ben R. Young, formerly of Abilene, has been named business representative for the local Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., acording to Truman Black, manager of the firm here.

Young, 25, will move here in a few weeks after attending a company school in Fort Worth. He has been employed with Southwestern Bell since 1951, when he was a frameman. In 1953, he became a telegraph repeaterman, and last year he was a coin collector. All his employment with Southwestern has been in Abilene.

As business representative, he will handle business and sales contacts and collections here.

Young, a native of Callahan County, is married and has no children. He attended North Texas State College and Hardin-Simmons University. He is Baptist.

Scout Executive Will Be Selected Here Soon

No definite selection has yet been made for a Boy Scout executive to be assigned to the Snyder area, according to Lyle Deffebach, a Buffalo Trail Council official.

Deffebach said the council's board has reviewed a list of applicants and has narrowed the field down to three. One of those three men will probably be chosen for the executive post and may be here within 30 days.

The vacancy was created when Bob Eastus, district executive, resigned a few days ago. The district covers Scurry, Borden, and Mitchell Counties.

U. S. Forces Boost Income For Okinawa

FT. BUCKNER, Okinawa (AP) — American spending in Okinawa last year enabled the Ryukyuans to pay for 77.4 per cent of their food and other imports, the U.S.-sponsored Ryukyuan government said today.

The report said the Ryukyu economy's largest single income in the year ended March 31 was the $48,454,000 "derived as a direct result of U. S. forces being here."

Former Snyder Man Dies At San Angelo

B. O. Bridgeman, 58, a former Snyder resident, died this morning in a San Angelo hospital. Mr. Bridgeman lived here about 20 years ago, and was engaged in the operation of a motor freight line. Funeral services are tentatively planned tomorrow in the Ratliff Funeral Home in Eldorado.

Most Modern Trucks on any job with the most advanced truck features the industry has ever seen!

CHEVROLET

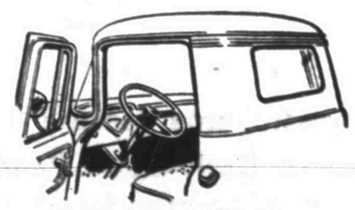

Only new Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks bring you the shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck and today's most advanced sixes—plus all these truly modern features!

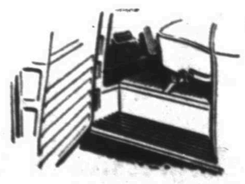

They're the marks of a modern truck, and they out-date any make without them!

And they're the moneymaking, moneysaving advantages that ask this question: Can you really afford not to make your next new truck a Chevrolet? Judge for yourself!

Beginning with Work-Styling, an entirely new development in truck design. For the first time in any line of trucks, Chevrolet brings you two styling treatments—one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty jobs. Here is styling with a meaning. Styling that's matched to the model and the job.

The latest in cab comfort and safety. Inside you can count on the same ultra-modern touch—softer seat action that reduces driver fatigue and more durable construction throughout. The new Flite-Ride Custom cab features the extra comfort of a foam rubber cushion and harmonizing two-tone inside. Outside, bright metal moldings and new two-tone color options. Both the De Luxe and the Custom cabs set whole new standards for comfort and convenience.

New concealed Safety Steps. They're out of sight with the doors closed. That way, snow, ice or mud can't collect to cause accidents.

New panoramic windshield. The windshield alone has 1000 square inches of safety plate glass to give you a wider, virtually unobstructed view of the road—and there's more glass area all around. A glass-guard molding completely surrounds the side windows, reducing possibility of breakage.

Fresh air in all kinds of weather. With new High-Level ventilation, air is drawn in through louvers at cowl level. That means air is constantly circulated through the cab, regardless of disagreeable weather conditions.

High-Voltage power—V8 or 6. You really have it modern under the hood! The new lineup of Chevrolet truck engines includes the shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck, and most advanced sixes. All have a modern 12-volt electrical system—double the voltage for quicker, surer starting and more efficient spark plug firing.

Tubeless tires standard on ½-ton models. Pickups, panels, Suburban Carryalls—all models in the ½-ton class now come with new tubeless tires. Here's greater blowout protection!

Every Power Helper in the book. Power Brakes, for example, are standard equipment on 2-ton models, an extra-cost option on all others. The new handling ease of Power Steering, another extra-cost option, cuts turning effort up to 80%. There's new gas-saving Overdrive, as an extra-cost option on ½-ton models . . . and truck

Hydra-Matic—ideal for stop-and-go city hauling—available at extra cost on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton jobs.

The new Cameo Carrier. Long and low, with smooth, fleet lines, here's the Custom pickup that may well create a whole new class of truck owners!

And the final touch. Color! New colors and two-tone combinations add the final styling touch. Your selection is wider than ever before. Choose the color or combination that best calls attention to your business and take full advantage of the advertising value of your new Task-Force model.

When the time comes to trade in '55 models, the man without a really modern truck stands to take a good-sized loss. Come in and see us soon.

BOLD COLORS—One of the features men are looking for in their sport shirts this year more than ever before are bold new colors, Grady Erwin, above, manager of the men's department of Owens Department Store, said. He is holding a shirt which features large checks for the design. Sport shirt week in Snyder begins Thursday and lasts for one week, but the comfort of the shirts will make many men continue to wear them for all-occasion wear the rest of the summer. Crop Outlook Mostly Good

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas crop outlook presents a varied picture, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today, with good rains offsetting to some extent earlier drought and freeze damage.

Wheat prospects improved last month, the department said, but it will still be a very short crop with production at only about 36 per cent of the 1954 yield.

The rye crop will be smaller than last year's, but above the 10-year average from 1944-53. Oats and barley suffered from the March freeze and dry weather, and these crops were reported at the lowest level in years.

Corn, also hard hit by the freeze, has made an excellent recovery, the department said, except in extreme South Texas.

A bright spot, the USDA said, is the cotton crop, generally off to a good start with the first bale ginned June 8, about a week later than in 1954.

Rice crop prospects were reported as "very promising."

The peach and pear crops will be a near failure because of the spring freeze. Texas citrus prospects are about average, the USDA said, although oranges and grapefruit are considerably below the favorable prospects of a year ago.

Texas pastures made what the department called a "remarkable recovery" during May, but their condition is still only 66 per cent of normal, down 10 points from a year ago and 13 points below average.

French Queens Worry Mayor

PARIS (AP)—New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner says he didn't mind being photographed with two bathing-suited French beauty queens but what will the folks back home think.

He isn't worried about Mrs. Wagner, a beautiful blonde herself. She was in the photograph too, and all four subjects were smiling.

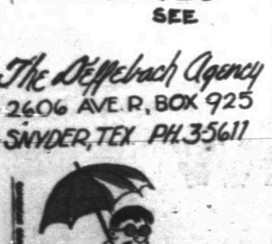

The mayor of Paris, Bernard Lafay, apologized to Wagner yesterday because "Miss Paris" and "Miss France" had turned up at the airport in scanty attire Monday for the Wagners' arrival on their European tour.

Lafay said he feared such a greeting wasn't dignified and he wanted the visitor to know the City Council hadn't sent the girls. The greeting had been strictly private enterprise.

"Ah, Paris," Wagner said later. "They were charming, you know. But what will my fellow citizens think when they see those photos?"

The captions in the New York Journal-American: "Oo-la-la . . . Si bon! New York was never like this."

Mothers Seek Missing Sons

HONG KONG (AP)—The mothers of two missing American servicemen said today they are sending letters to nine foreign embassies in Peiping "asking them to intercede on our behalf."

The women, Mrs. R. H. Shaddick, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Nannie Wright, of Jacksonville, Fla., have been waiting in Hong Kong for three weeks for Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to reply to their request to visit China in search of their sons. Chou has not replied.

The pair are scheduled to leave for home Friday. They said they will stay "until the last moment, waiting for something to break."

They said they had written the embassies of Burma, India, Denmark, Switzerland, Finland, Pakistan, Norway, Indonesia and "one other," asking them to arrange for them to interview Chou.

Lt. John P. Shaddick II was reported missing after bailing out of a plane over North Korea Jan. 29, 1953, and was later reported seen in prison by repatriated prisoners. Army Sgt. James B. Wright was missing after a battle in the Kumhwa sector of Korea.

The two mothers carry with them 15 letters from other mothers in the United States who have sons missing.

Amateur Beekeeper Is Stung To Death

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Walter C. Crenshaw, an amateur beekeeper most of his life, was stung to death yesterday.

The 47-year-old service station operator was stung three or four dozen times and died in less than 10 minutes.

He and his brother-in-law Max Crenshaw, 26, were transferring a swarm from one hive to another when the insects attacked.

Max finally gave up and ran for the house. Walter followed, walking in with bees clinging to him.

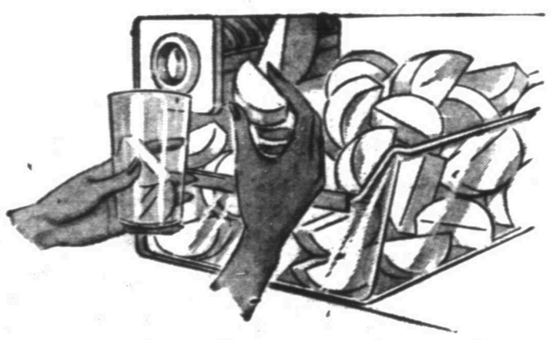

Then, with the help of Walter's wife, the men began killing the bees by smacking them between their hands.

The elder Crenshaw, after telling his wife he couldn't feel the stings, sat down on a bed and collapsed.

Parcels Transferred

China Starts New Purge

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio today reported a counterrevolutionary clique connected with the Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek had been exposed in Red China.

The broadcast gave no details of arrests.

It said members had "even won their way into the Chinese Communist party to steal documents and intelligence information so as to work against the revolution from within and without."

The report apparently heralded a new purge.

Three men were named as members of the clique. The leader was identified as Hu Feng, a writer. Others named were A. Lung, a former major in the Nationalist army, and Li Yuan.

The broadcast said they "hid themselves within the ranks of the progressive people and used art and literary work as a camouflage for their criminal deeds."

Hu Feng was identified as a member of the National People's Congress, the "parliament" of Red China.

He said representatives of two federal agencies will reach Las Vegas by this weekend to handle applications for disaster aid from the city, businessmen and home owners.

Mail Clerk Is Convicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Curtis C. Wilson, a Houston railway mail clerk, was found guilty yesterday of violating the Hatch Act last year.

Wilson was charged with having a letter published that opposed the nomination of Gov. Allan Shivers. T... vil Service Commission ordered Wilson, a veteran of 29 years postal service, suspended for 90 days.

The Hatch Act bars political activity by federal employes.

At Houston, Wilson said he hadn't received official notice of his suspension. He said he felt certain an appeal would be carried into federal court by the American Civil liberties Union, which represented him before the Civil Service Commission.

He said he hoped they would make a test case out of it. "It doesn't seem fair," he said. "My next door neighbor can say who he wants for governor or president but I can't."

Wilson was charged with writing a letter opposing Shivers published in the Houston Post June 22, 1954. The letter was in the Post's "Soundoff" column, which consists of letters offered by individuals.

Wilson admitted writing the letter, the Commission said, but said he contended he had no idea he was violating the law.

Livewire Recruiter

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Don Hartle, 17, an orphan, went to enlist in the Marines, but the aunt with whom he lives had never legally adopted him and couldn't sign the necessary consent papers. Recruiting Sgt. Carl Volz, 23, stepped up and had himself made Dan's legal guardian. "You gotta get 'em one way or the other," he commented.

Texan Takes Six-Day Journey In Box Car

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Manuel Ramirez, 28, rested in a warm hospital bed today, recuperating from the effects of six days he spent locked inside a pitch-black refrigerated railroad car.

Ramirez jumped into the car in Chicago last Wednesday, hoping to return to his family in Laredo, Tex. A workman sealed the car. The temperature inside was about 50 degrees.

Yesterday the car, carrying sheep hides, arrived at a Philadelphia leather processing plant. Employes found Ramirez, almost too weak to move.

He's being treated for malnutrition and dehydration. And he's still got to get to Texas.

Kefauver's Panel Starts Movie Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie sex and violence, already the cause of a serious industry breach with the Legion of Decency, gets a going-over from the Kefauver Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, which begins a three-day stand here today.

Today's session will be but a curtain raiser for the big Hollywood show expected to steal headlines tomorrow and Friday. Civic leaders have been invited to testify today.

Tomorrow a dozen movie bigwigs will answer charges that a recent loosening of the motion picture production code has had an unhealthy effect on the minds and morals of teen-agers.

Committee investigators previously have subpoenaed press books of "Son of Sinbad" and "Blackboard Jungle," two pictures which have come under much fire from censorship bodies. Press books contain the advertising and publicity campaigns of pictures.

Dore Schary, production boss at MGM, the studio that made "Blackboard Jungle," is slated to take the stand tomorrow.

Kefauver said the subcommittee is "as interested as film makers in learning how their product can be improved."

"Officials of the industry," he said, "will assist us in examining their code with an eye toward evaluating the code in the light of the effect of crime and horror motion pictures on juvenile conduct."

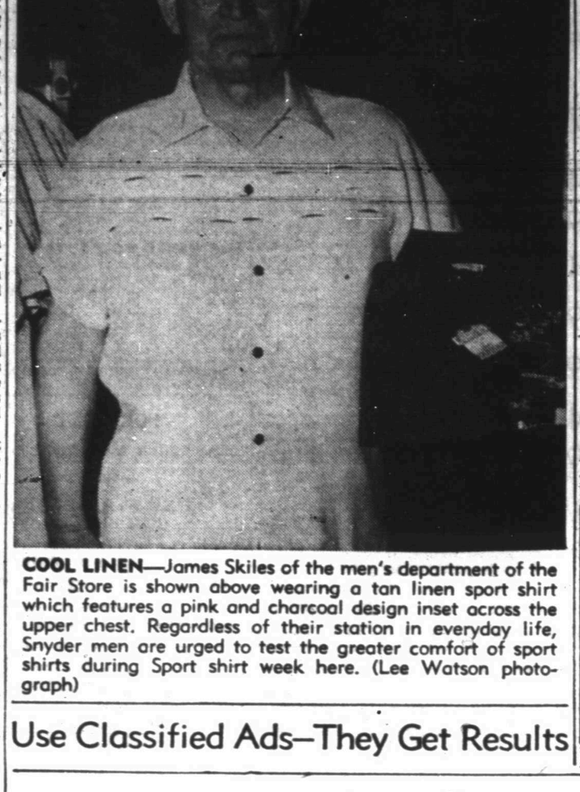

Part of the Friday session will be devoted to the so-called "smut mills" which mail out literature and art to teen-agers.

Peace Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House yesterday passed a resolution sponsored by Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) reaffirming "the deep desire of the people of the United States for an honorable and lasting peace." It expresses "the hope that the people of all nations of the world join with the people of the United States in a renewed effort for peace."

Man Donates Skin

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An anonymous white man donated almost two square feet of skin grafted yesterday on the body of Margaret Rose Thomas, a 5-year-old Negro girl critically burned by a stove March 2.

COOL LINEN—James Skiles of the men's department of the Fair Store is shown above wearing a tan linen sport shirt which features a pink and charcoal design inset across the upper chest. Regardless of their station in everyday life, Snyder men are urged to test the greater comfort of sport shirts during Sport shirt week here. (Lee Watson photograph)

Shakespeare Interest Pays

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City policeman Redmond L. O'Hanlon is finding his spare-time interest in Shakespeare profitable. He has piled up winnings of $16,000 on the CBS television giveaway show $64,000 Question.

Last night he doubled his $8,000 prize of the week before by telling who printed the first collected edition of Shakespeare's plays, and when. The answer: Isaac Jaggard and Ed Blunt in 1623.

Next week O'Hanlon, the father of five, can choose whether to take the $16,000 or try to double it by answering another Shakespeare question correctly. If successful, he then will have a chance to try for the top prize of $64,000.

Should he miss a question, however, he loses the cash winnings accumulated so far but will get a 1955 Cadillac as a consolation prize.

O'Hanlon, 39 and a policeman for 10 years, makes a hobby of Shakespeare and his works. He chose the Shakespeare category for questions on the show.
