HUGE BOMB PLOT BALKED AT COST OF 2 LIVES

Federal Court Upholds Constitutionality Of Texas Truck Control Law

ENFORCEMENT ORDERED ON COURT RULING

Weight, Height, Size, Speed Regulated Under Provisions of Measure

LOADS ARE LIMITED

Injunction Halting Arrests To Be Automatically Dissolved Friday

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The validity of house bill No. 336, which regulates motor trucks and their operation upon the highways of the state, was upheld finally by a three judge federal court here in a memorandum decree filed late today with Federal Clerk L. C. Masterson.

The brief decree not only affirmed the previous action of the same court in upholding the validity of the major part of the bill, but lifts, after Jan. 1, the interlocutory injunction granted against enforcement of the one section of the bill previously held unconstitutional.

Injunction Denied

The three judge court, composed of United States Circuit Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr., and U. S. District Judges T. M. Kennerly of Houston and Duval West of San Antonio, found throughout for the defendants and denied the requested injunction, dismissing the bills of the complaints "for want of equity, without prejudice, however, until Jan. 1, 1932, to the interlocutory injunction heretofore granted against the enforcement of section 3-F of the act."

Attorneys in the case pointed out that section 3-F, known as the "14 container section," had been held invalid because it was discriminatory against certain articles, such as bales of cotton, but another section, limiting loads to a 7,000-pound maximum, becoming effective on Jan. 1, automatically removes the taint of discrimination from section 3-F, and that it therefore was useless to continue in operation after Jan. 1 the injunction against its enforcement.

Ed Sproles of Fort Worth was plaintiff in the case, which was against various state officials and others.

PATROL CHIEF ORDERS ENFORCEMENT

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Instructions to strictly enforce the weight load provisions of the law passed at the regular session of the legislature limiting the size, weight and loads of trucks were issued today by L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, to all state patrolmen.

The instructions were effective immediately.

The law prohibits transportation of loads in excess of 7,000 pounds over state highways except where the truck is carrying commodities

Fight For Oil Tariff Quickens With First Action Due Jan. 7

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Added vigor will be injected into the drive for an oil tariff as the independent producers come to Washington and members of congress return for the resumption of sessions next Monday.

Meanwhile, as proponents of protecting petroleum levies gather their forces, opponents maintain silence, although there's a strong current of hostility in each house.

The first action by the senate on any sort of oil tariff proposal is expected to come up Thursday Jan. 7, in the commerce committee under Chairman Johnson of California.

Dollar Tax Bill

Johnson's committee had a problem of jurisdiction to get out of the way before further action on the bill before it, which is sponsored by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, to place a $1 a barrel charge on crude oil imports and 50 per cent ad valorem on refined products.

It is the first protective oil proposal in the senate. The bill, Shortridge says, is based upon constitutional provisions governing foreign commerce so as to avoid a general reopening of tariff schedules and to permit the senate to act prior to a house decision.

Administration would be under the direction of the treasury, which would levy the charges through the customs bureau.

Quick Action Sought

Johnson said the committee would have to decide first whether it was a tariff bill, and thus should originate in the house, or a revenue measure, which should go to the finance committee.

Shortridge will urge the committee to take immediate action. Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, joined today in expressing optimism over the prospects of obtaining an oil tariff at this session. Capper said he thought chances of favorable action are much better than a year ago.

Independent producers, Thomas said, headed by Wirt Franklin, of Ardmore, and Tulsa, Okla., would return to the capital the latter part of this week and soon would ask the house ways and means committee for hearings.

Lee Optimistic

Marvin Lee, of Wichita, president of the Kansas division of the Independent Petroleum association, said the independents believed "the sentiment of congress for a tariff on the home industry is much stronger than in the past."

Opposition in the senate is expected to come from states such as Maryland and New Jersey with large refineries, but opponents are

First Returns in Finland's Prohi Election Point to Law Repeal

Women Vote Overwhelmingly Against Maintenance of Dry System; City Ballots Pile Up Heavy Lead of Wets

HELINGSFORS, Dec. 31. (Thursday) (US)—The "noble experiment" of prohibition, tried by Finland for 12 years, appeared doomed as first counted returns today showed a landslide vote for repeal.

Women, whose votes were kept separate, voted overwhelmingly in favor of repealing the present dry law.

The city of Helsingfors voted heavily in favor of repeal of the prohibition law, and meager returns from other urban constituencies indicated a majority for modification or repeal.

Returns Slow

The returns were slow, however, from districts where the dry vote was expected to be greatest.

Betting odds of three to one that voters favor abolition of the prohibition laws were laid.

Wet leaders were confident of a victory and forecast action by parliament to modify or repeal the prohibition laws, in effect since 1919.

The polling was brisk in the last hour or so, but on the whole there was a light vote cast on the measure which will determine repeal, modification or continuance of the present laws.

Greek Center Votes

At Valamo, a constituency which includes the largest Greek orthodox monastery housing several hundred monks, heavy voting was reported, but the industrial districts showed slight interest in the outcome and registered a light vote.

The northern districts of the country cast comparatively few ballots, it was disclosed after the voting ended last night. The vote was heavier in Helsingfors and other districts, but no greater than in ordinary parliamentary elections.

Parliament is expected to act for modification of the present laws regardless of the outcome of the vote on the referendum, as the government is urgently in need of revenues which could be brought in by a liquor tax.

JAPS INCREASE CHINESE ROUT

New Year May Find Chinchow Occupied

(By The Associated Press)

Japan's Manchurian armies stampeded the Chinese retreat yesterday and it appeared they would celebrate New Year's day, their nation's favorite holiday, by occupying Chinchow.

The Chinese were swept back on two fronts. A column approaching Kowpangtze, important railway center, got within four miles of the city, which is expected to fall today without resistance. Another column, advancing on Kowpangtze from the north, occupied Tahushan after a 43-mile push which was accomplished so easily an entire infantry regiment moved in bright green motor trucks without so much as a cavalry screen in front of them.

Meanwhile the Chinese, in rout, were seeking safety below the great wall of China. The evacuation of Chinchow, ordered by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, was being carried out as quickly as trains could be found to transport troops.

The Japanese army in the field had not received authentic information about the evacuation, and so proceeded to carry out its previous plan of operation with military precision.

The fall of Chinchow, expected to take place with little if any bloodshed, will make Japan the de facto master of all Manchuria.

Shanghai heard heavy casualties had been inflicted by Japanese air bombers at Kowpangtze.

Marshal Chang declared he ordered his Chinchow garrison to retreat beyond the great wall to prevent Japan from finding an excuse to invade China proper.

Federal Grand Jury to Probe Prison Break

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30. (UP)—A federal grand jury will be called in all likelihood to investigate the recent break at the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., on Dec. 11, the Kansas City Journal-Post said today in a dispatch from Leavenworth.

A previous story in the Journal-Post revealed "a lack of discipline throughout the prison." Today's article said the Journal-Post's source of information could not be revealed, but that it was received shortly after the departure of two justice department operatives, Hugh Larimer and F. J. Mackie, following an investigation of affairs at the penitentiary.

Call Money Highest in Year on N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Call money on the New York stock exchange advanced to 3½ per cent this afternoon, the highest rate since Dec. 31, 1930.

Bankers attributed the firmness to year-end settlements. The quotation opened at 3 per cent while the rate compared with an extreme low figure of 1 per cent during last summer's dullness, it was described as exceedingly cheap compared with past years.

Government financing operations, withdrawal of about $300,000,000 currency from the banks for Christmas gift purposes and the desire of banks and other institutions to dress up their statements for year-end presentation, were said to have resulted in moderately better demand for money.

EX-SHERIFF BILLED AGAIN

Schuyler Marshall Jr. Indicted for Bank Robbery

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Dec. 30. (AP)—Schuyler Marshall Jr., former sheriff of Dallas county, was indicted here today on charges of burglary and robbery with firearms.

The indictment was returned by the Ellis county grand jury after an investigation of the burglary of the Farmers and Merchants State bank at Ferris Dec. 17.

Herbert Scales, clubman of Dallas, and J. Robert Kelly and H. W. McBride, also of Dallas, were indicted on similar charges.

Others Billed

Fred and Bud Mace, brothers, and their brother-in-law, Roy Thornton, and Clarence Blake were indicted on charges of burglary in connection with the looting of a store at Red Oak Nov. 21.

Complaints filed in Waxahachie had charged Marshall and Scales with participation in the Red Oak burglary, but they were indicted only in the Ferris incident.

Marshall and Scales have been at liberty on bond, while the others, with the exception of Blake, have been in jail for several weeks. Blake has not been arrested.

Watchman Questioned

District Attorney Archie D. Gray said Marshall and Scales would be arrested again, and, if liberated, would be required to make new bond.

About 28 witnesses appeared before the grand jury.

Among those questioned by the jury was Bob Cunningham, aged nightwatchman of Ferris, who was disarmed and kidnaped prior to the fruitless effort to burn a way into the bank's vault.

Relief From Oath for Italian 'Profs' Sought

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 30. (AP)—Relief from the Fascist oath for Italian university professors is being sought by a group of Harvard professors in an appeal to the Institute of Intellectual Cooperation of the League of Nations, it became known today. The Harvard group is led by Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school.

A communication addressed to the institute at Geneva said in part:

"Since political doctrines no less than all others, should be the subject of discussion and revision, it seems to us that this oath involves an intellectual coercion which is incompatible with the ideas of scholars. As such, we feel that the institute of intellectual cooperation among nations cannot ignore it."

ROSS STERLING HINTS OF PLAN TO RUN AGAIN

Reporters Interpret Governor's Answers as Wish For Re-Election

NO EXTRA SESSION

Executive Doubts Success Of Allred's Suit Against Big Oil Companies

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling gave expression to three major thoughts for the new year today.

He let it be known without saying so directly that he would be a candidate in the Democratic primaries of next July and the ensuing general election for renomination and re-election to a second term.

He expressed doubt that the suit brought by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred against 15 major oil companies and two petroleum associations alleging violations of the anti-trust laws of Texas would result in banishment of the defendants from business in the state.

Parries Questions

He could not see any surface reason why the legislature should be called into extraordinary session during 1932.

Newspaper men, in a post-Christmas interview, drew from the chief executive by interrogations a virtual admission that he planned to ask for a second term, just as have all Texas governors since 1883 when O. M. Roberts retired, satisfied with a single term. The governor attempted to frame replies that might save him from a direct declaration for re-election, but the newspaper men considered that he had definitely committed himself.

To See People

An expressed desire "to get out and see the people" during the coming year, as the governor had been quoted in his Christmas greetings to the citizens of Texas was interpreted by many to mean he would ask the voters to return him to the gubernatorial chair, he was told.

He admitted that that was "probably a correct interpretation."

Later when pressed for a definite "yes" or "no" he dismissed his in-

Testimony in Mail Fraud Suit Comes to Close

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30. (AP)—Testimony in the Universal Oil and Gas company mail fraud case came to a dramatic end late today as two rebuttal witnesses declared the allegedly fraudulent 1929 financial statement of the company came directly from S. E. J. Cox, promoter and alleged unofficial head of Universal.

Cox, twice convicted and sentenced on similar charges, had testified the statement was prepared by others and that it was withdrawn from the mails when he found it was being used.

At the close of testimony, Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught told the jury he would arrange to place the case in their hands before tomorrow night.

School Boys Missing As Fierce Blizzard Hits Western States

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 30. (UP)—A terrific blizzard, which marooned travelers, blocked highways and endangered livestock herds, swept Eastern Colorado and Wyoming and Western Nebraska today.

Nine persons were reported missing in the storm.

Fears were expressed for the lives of five members of the Albin, Wyo., high school basket ball team and their coach, who have been missing since Tuesday night.

School Party Missing

The five boys, Fred Weges, Edwin Anderson, Frank Rabou, Tim Cox and Joe Manerolla and the coach, Felix Veveree, left Cheyenne, Wyo., for their home in Albin after practicing basket ball in the Cheyenne school gymnasium yesterday. They have not been heard from since.

In addition to the basket ball team, three other residents of Albin were missing. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie King and Mrs. Estelle Field, Mrs. King's sister, left Scotts Bluff, Neb., for Albin, late Tuesday and have been missing ever since.

Sheriff's Search Fails

Sheriff George Carroll of Cheyenne returned to his home exhausted after a 12-hour futile search for the missing boys on the drift-choked highway between Cheyenne and Albin. Albin is 50 miles northeast of Cheyenne.

Snow, whipped by a 60-mile-an-hour gale, drifted rapidly. Residents of the blizzard-stricken area were afraid to venture out of doors. All highways in eastern Colorado and Wyoming are completely blocked.

In southeastern Colorado, where less than one year ago, six children and a driver lost their lives in the Pleasant Hill school bus disaster, high winds whipped the snow

Judge Riled by Published Stories; Charges Contempt

MT. STERLING, Ky., Dec. 30. (UP)—John T. Moutoux, staff correspondent of the Knoxville, (Tenn.) News-Sentinel, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, telephoned a report from here today to his editor, Benton J. Stong, that he had been cited in contempt of Montgomery county circuit court and ordered to appear in answer to the charge Thursday.

Judge Henry R. Prewitt, presiding over the Montgomery court, declined tonight to confirm or deny Moutoux's assertion that he had been cited in contempt, declaring:

"I do not care to discuss the matter, but you can say, and say in big headlines, that no man or newspaper can lie about me and get away with it, and some newspaper has done that."

Further than that, Judge Prewitt said, he had "nothing more to say."

Correspondent N. Y. Times Dies at Washington

His death brought expressions of regret from President Hoover, many others in official life and members of his own profession.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with burial in Rock Creed cemetery here.

A widely known expert on naval and foreign affairs, Mr. Oulahan's last assignment was covering the passage of President Hoover's debt moratorium in its progress through congress.

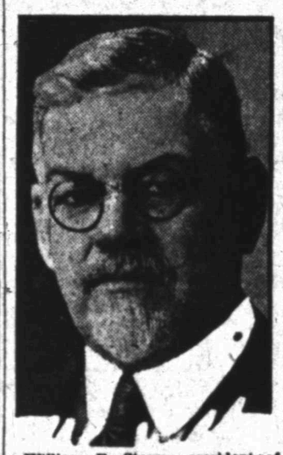

BLUSTERY WIND

A chill blast of wind swept down on Wichita Falls from the north Wednesday afternoon and sent the mercury plunging downward.

At 5 p. m. here Wednesday the temperature had dropped to 49 from a maximum of 70 for the day. The mercury continued its downward trend during the evening and at midnight had reached the 40 mark.

The immediate area surrounding Wichita Falls, however, was under practically the same weather conditions as here: brisk winds, cloudy skies, dropping temperatures.

Sued by Cleric

William B. Storey, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway and Mrs. Storey were sued for $200,000 yesterday by Dr. Ulysses J. Warren, minister, who claimed the couple had alienated his wife's affections.

PASTOR SUES RAIL MAGNATE

W. B. Storey and Wife Named in $200,000 Claim

CHICAGO, Dec. 29. (UP)—Dr. Ulysses J. Warren, Corning, N. Y., minister, sued William B. Storey, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, today charging him and Mrs. Storey with alienation of his wife's affections.

Dr. Warren asked $200,000 damages, saying that the Storey's a wealthy middle-aged couple, had persuaded his wife to leave him. The minister's attorney stressed the fact that there was "absolutely no scandal connected with the case."

They said, rather, that it was a case of a young married woman leaving her husband in favor of the luxury her elderly benefactors could provide.

Storey insisted he knew nothing about the suit or the charges against him.

Governor to Appoint Judge After Survey

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling said today he would make a personal visit to Hidalgo county before appointing a district judge to head a new court for that county created by the 42nd legislature.

POSTED BOMBS KILL CLERKS AT EASTON, PA.

ANTI-FASCIST MOVE

Officials Suspect Plot on Lives of Italian Leaders

EASTON, Pa., Dec. 30. (US)—A widespread bomb plot with intended victims in New York and other cities was checked here today, but only at a heavy cost of life, limb and property.

Two of seven bombs put in the mails at Easton exploded. The first killed two postal clerks, whose alertness pierced the plot and averted a series of tragedies in New York, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. It hurt three other clerks and partially wrecked the postoffice.

Expert Injured

The second exploded as it was being examined by Charles V. Weaver explosives expert of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., as he was examining it in a quarry on the outskirts of Easton. His hand was blown off and he sustained other injuries so severe he is not expected to live.

The bombs in general were directed to leading supporters of Fascism, and Fascist representatives in the East.

Publisher on Spot

One of the New Yorkers to whom the deadly parcels were addressed was Generoso Pope, millionaire New York contractor, publisher of Il Progresso Italo-Americano, friend of Mayor Walker, and recently a witness in private before the Seabury city-wide investigation. It was addressed to his office at 551 Fifth avenue.

Another was intended for Emanuele Grazzi, Italy's consul general in New York. But it was so badly addressed he might never have received it even if it had escaped discovery. The name was misspelled, and the street address was 134 East Tenth street, instead of East Seventieth street.

Editor Intended

The third New Yorker among the intended victims was Italo Falbo, editor of Il Progresso. This Italian language newspaper has consistently supported Fascism.

Other parcels were addressed to the Italian consulate in Pittsburgh, which recently was bombed, and to Napape Mariane, in the care of the Argentine consulate in Baltimore.

Every available secret service man in the country was assigned to work on the plot. On the job also were a score of postal inspectors from Philadelphia, Washington and New York, along with the state police of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and the Italian members of the Philadelphia detective bureau.

With this start, the long-awaited showdown in congress on modifying the restrictions of the Volstead act appeared in the offing.

Have All the Fun You Want Tonight, But Don't Do This and This and This

Wichitans will have to say farewell to 1931 and greet the new year with discretion, Police Chief Dick Morris warned Wednesday night.

"We want the people to have all the fun possible, but we won't allow celebrators to take advantage of the occasion to break any laws," he declared.

Traffic rules, especially in regard to speeding and tricky corners, will be strictly enforced, crowds will not be allowed to obstruct the movement of vehicles, and fireworks within the fire limits are rigidly taboo, the chief declared.

Noisiness in the residential section has its limits, too, and revellers will have to allow their neighbors to get some sleep after a reasonable hour, the edict continues.

"We want to be as nice to everybody as possible, but I'll have men out to see that nobody is endangered and that the general public is protected," Chief Morris concluded.

Ohio Prohi Shoots Self After Dismissal

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30. (AP)—Dismissed as a state prohibition agent, C. C. Barton of Sidney, Ohio, committed suicide by shooting in Hotel Cleveland today, after leaving a five-page letter which Coroner A. J. Pearse said charged a "scandal" in the state prohibition department.

The coroner said he had no way of knowing if Barton's charges were true. He refused to reveal contents of the letter and turned it over to County Prosecutor Ray T. Miller.

Veteran Canadian Diplomat and Statesman Claimed by Death

OTTAWA, Dec. 30. (AP)—Sir George Foster, 84, the "Grand Old Man" of Canadian public life, died today.

For nearly four decades, Sir George Eulas Foster, was one of Canada's foremost diplomats and parliamentarians. He was first elected to the Candian house of commons in 1882 and three years later became minister of marine and fisheries in Sir John Macdonald's government. He was appointed to the senate just before the general elections of 1921.

Sir George was a strong advocate of prohibition, supporting the movement throughout the dominion. In 1883, he introduced a resolution in the commons affirming the principle of prohibition and in 1890 a royal commission on the liquor traffic was appointed on his proposal.

Outstanding examples of his work were the passage of the bank act in 1891, when minister of finance, and his negotiation of the trade treaties with the West Indies in 1912, during his term as minister of trade and commerce. In the same year, Sir George also effected an arrangement by which Great Britain opened her world-wide consular service to Canadian trade and commerce.

Sir George attended the allied economic conference in Paris, June, 1916, as one of the four representatives of the British government, and accompanied Sir Robert Borden, then prime minister, to the peace conference at Paris in 1918. He was chairman of the Canadian delegation to the first assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva in 1920 and was elected a vice president of the assembly. He was acting prime minister in 1920 during the absence of Sir Robert Borden.

POSTOFFICE BLAST FATAL

Secret Service Called to Investigate

walked into the Easton postoffice shortly before 9 a. m. From a carton they nervously extracted six pacakages, which had been marked "fragile" and "desk sets."

They hurriedly demanded that the packages be mailed and—insured. Soon, in routine fashion, stamps were affixed to the boxes, which were tossed lightly to the top of other post-Christmas mail.

The two men vanished with their insurance receipts.

Clerk Suspicious

Soon the packages reached Edward Werkheiser, in the parcel post sorting room. He grew suspicious of them. Then he shook one, but still couldn't determine its contents. The return address, he noted read: "J. Markey, 251 Main street, Dover, N. J."

Suddenly, the box in Werkheiser's hands exploded. The concussion shattered wooden partitions, blew away a section of the ceiling, and hurled everyone in the postoffice from their feet.

Werkheiser's hands were blown off. He died on his way to the hospital.

Another clerk, John House, who was standing besides Werkheiser, lost both his arms and was blinded by the explosion. He died tonight in the hospital without having regained consciousness.

The injured postal workers included Clarence D. Keller, 32; David W. Garis, 50, and Arlington Alebrt all of Easton. They are suffering mostly from lacerations and shock.

Last Blast at Quarry

Weaver, the dynamite expert, was severely injured in the second explosion, although working with great care.

With secret service men and state police grouped about 50 yards distance, Weaver fashioned a razor blade on a stick about 15 feet long. He went to the bottom of a quarry nearby, and using an old wagon for a barrier, attempted to cut the paper away from the bombs.

He succeeded at first, but then became a little more daring. He still remained 15 feet away, however.

As he cut the brown wrapping paper from the sixth package, there was a blinding explosion. Portions of the wagon were hurled against his chest, and both arms were blown away. He was conscious but barely living when taken to the hospital.

Secret service men later described one of the bombs which had been opened before Weaver was hurt. It was composed of a cigar box, with a mustard jar filled with a special and powerful explosive. A small, trick "spot" battery was attached, so that when the lid, which worked on a spring, was opened, the battery would touch off the powder.

NEW YORK HOMES PUT UNDER GUARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (UP)—The homes of prominent Italians in New York were guarded by federal agents and police tonight to frustrate any further outrages such as the alleged anti-Fascist bombing at Easton, Pa.

New York is the "largest Italian city" in the world, having more residents of Italian extraction than Rome.

Federal authorities were understood to be inspecting all mails directed to prominent Italians to prevent the ending of concealed bombs through the parcel post service.

Members of the police bomb and radical squads were sent to the home of the New York residents to whom the Easton bombs were addressed. Chief Postoffice Inspector Charles Clarahan ordered careful surveillance of the mails.

Police Commissioner Edward Mulrooney was particularly concerned. His subordinates indicated that "anarchist anti-Fascist" are considered an outstanding menace to prominent Italians. They recalled that greater police precautions were taken during the recent visit of the Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, than at any time in the history of the city.

Count Ignacius di Rivel, outstanding authority of Fascism in the United States and former head of the Fascist League of North America, told the United Press he was positive the Easton bomb plot was the work of anarchist anti-Fascists.

The count said the bombs had been addressed to Italians who had played prominent parts in the welcome given Minister Grandi.

Court Upholds Texas Truck Law

from point of origin to the nearest common carrier railroad loading point or from the common carrier unloading point to the place of final destination. Where carrying to or from a common carrier point, the load limit is 14,000 pounds.

Cotton Regulations

Trucks carrying in excess of the maximum limits may operate only under special permit.

Phares ordered the state highway patrol to begin Jan. 1, to enforce the provision of the bill aimed specifically at cotton trucks. This provision prohibits trucks from carrying more than 14 boxes or bundles containing more than 30 cubic feet or where any one of the bundles weighs more than 500 pounds.

Enforcement of this provision until Jan. 1 was enjoined in a federal court suit.

Size Control

The law prohibits operation of a truck in excess of 25 feet long and of a truck and trailer in excess of 45 feet. The law also prohibits loading more than 7,000 pounds on a combination of vehicles unless the truck and trailer come under the common carrier rail provision or unless special permit has been obtained.

Width of trucks and loads is restricted to 96 inches and the height, including load, to 12½ feet.

Catholic Clergy to Disregard Mexican Limitation of Priests

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30. (AP)—Archbishop Pascual Diaz informed all Catholics under his jurisdiction today that neither they as citizens nor he as archbishop could accept the new law limiting the clergy in Mexico City and lower California.

In an open letter directed to priests and all other Catholics, the archbishop cautioned the clergy of the federal district "to remain in your posts as if nothing had happened and as if no danger menaced you."

The law, which limits the Catholoc church to 25 priests in the federal district (Mexico City) was passed last week by congress and became effective today with publication in the Diario Official. It permits only one priest for each 50,000 inhabitants.

The archbishop instructed Catholic laymen to be calm and resort only to strictly legal measures in protesting application of the law.

The law, he said, was in open contradiction with promises officially contracted with the Mexican government on June 21, 1929. For that and other reasons explained in his open letter last week to President Ortis Rubio, it was inacceptable.

"Remember your obligations for the welfare of the country and of the social order," the prelate said in cautioning the people against disturbances.

The measure could not really be called a law, the archbishop said, as it was "unconstitutional."

"We should always obey God," he said, "and man only when his authority does not conflict with rights the Catholics call divine."

CULBERTSONS' LEAD MOUNTS

Lenz' Deficit Rests As 20,220 Points Now

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (Thursday)—(UP)—Ely Culbertson and Josephine, his wife, became so perturbed over a bitter pre-session argument between Ely and Sir Derrick Wernher, an Englishman, that they could only manage a net gain of 3,900 points in the 16th session of the Culbertson-Lenz contract bridge match last night. Their total lead for 120 rubbers is 20,220 points.

The naming of names and giving of threats which occurred early last night before the match was resumed in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel roused Ely to the point where he feared for his game, and distressed Mrs. Culbertson no end. But if Sidney Lenz and his partner, Commander Winfield Liggett Jr., had expected to profit there, they were quickly disillusioned when play began.

Starting with a lead of 16,320 points on the 113th rubber, first of the night, the Culbertsons made 1,335 points on this rubber, dropped off a bit on the next and then forged steadily ahead until at one time in the 120th rubber, they were 21,125 points ahead. Lenz won this last rubber, however, and they dropped back to the 20,220-point lead for the end of the session.

The argument between Culbertson and Sir Derrick began when the latter asked the bridge expert when he intended to accept a challenge made last summer. Names flew thick and fast. Culbertson charged Sir Derrick with trying to put him off his game and threatened to chastise the larger Englishman. Sir Derrick finally left with the parting shot that Culbertson was "a cheap coward."

Argument Develops

Culbertson denied issuing such a challenge and a bitter argument developed.

Soon they were shouting at each other and, out of a clear sky, Wernher yelled:

"You're a yellow backslider, a cheap nobody!"

Ely clinched his fists and advanced on the huge man, screaming, "I consider you a cheap shark, not worth playing against, and I wouldn't dirty my hands at the same table with you."

By this time every one was in the room, including Mrs. Culbertson and Lenz. Lenz took it all with a smile but Mrs. Culbertson was trembling. Some one caught hold of Sir Derrick's arm and pulled him out of the room. As he left he shot back over his shoulder: "Just a cheap coward!"

More Words

"You're a coward yourself, Derrick!" cried Mrs. Culbertson after him.

There was more arguing, with the referees trying to cool Ely off. He refused to enter the playing room, declaring "it'll take another 20 minutes for me to cool off." Mrs. Culbertson, too, said she was nervous. They went in finally, however, 20 minutes late for start of the 113th rubber, and started the first hand without comment.

The Culbertsons were leading Lenz and Commander Winfield L. Liggett Jr., by 16,320 points at the opening of the session.

Though both the Culbertsons were nervous, they administered a severe setback to Lenz and Liggett in the first rubber. Liggett, who suffered only one set in all last evening's session—his first in the match—went down on all of the three bids he made. Lenz was set four tricks on the only hand he bid in the rubber and Culbertson, contracting for a little slam in hearts, suffered a set of two. Mrs. Culbertson made the two game bids which won the rubber and added 1,325 points to the Culbertson lead.

Lenz made a small slam in notrumps on a bid of three. Liggett went down again, bidding a small slam in spades and missing by one trick. Culbertson made a bid of four spades. Liggett made four hearts to win the rubber. Culbertson lead, 16,900.

First Lady Entertains Young Set for Son

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The capital's younger social set invaded the White House tonight for the executive mansion's liveliest party of the current season, a dance given by Mrs. Herbert Hoover for her youngest son, Allan.

Skillfully keyed to a brisk tempo, a modern dance band took the place of the more sedate marine band orchestra that officiates at the customary presidential receptions.

Action Due on U.S. Oil Tariff

declining any comment, preferring to wait until the issue is raised.

Senators Tydings, Democrat, Maryland; Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania; Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, and LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, have expressed opposition to a petroleum tariff, however, within recent weeks.

Jobs Promised

Russell B. Brown, counsel for the Independent Petroleum association issued a statement here today saying passage of a tariff on foreign petroleum and its refined products would make possible once more the steady employment of the 2,000,000 workers engaged in the oil industry and restore their livelihood to the 22,000,000 people dependent upon that industry.

Oil tariff advocates were promised today at least a chance to place their ideas before the house ways and means committee at hearings.

Chairman Collier said he had agreed to let proponents of the tariff present their case the latter part of February or early in March.

It would be impossible to start the hearings before February, he said, because of the necessity of getting a tax bill out of the way.

Speaker Garner is drawing a tariff bill. He has been asked to include oil. Independent producers are hopeful that he will do so.

Women Don't Wait for Leap Year Says Expert

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (US)—Leap year which makes its quadrennial bow again Jan. 1 has lost its significance for Deputy City Clerk James J. McCormick who marries more people at his license desk than any marrying person.

Said Mr. McCormick ruefully today:

"The women folks don't wait for leap year to pop the question anymore. Most of them do their own proposing nowadays no matter what year it happens to be."

Pipe Lines Draw From Storage in Etex Area

KILGORE, Texas, Dec. 30. (UP)—Pipe line runs of oil from the East Texas field exceeded the total daily production from wells today, for one of the few times such a condition has occurred with all wells flowing.

The daily production, as reported to military headquarters, totaled 344,106 barrels. The pipe line runs were 351,799 barrels. There were nine new wells completed today, making a total of 3,836 for the field.

Fierce Storm Maroons Travelers in Western States

across the barren prairies into drifts many feet deep. The entire region is virtually snowbound.

UPPER PLAINS CATCH BLIZZARD

AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 30. (AP)—Fringes of a blizzard sweeping to the north of the Panhandle today brought a blustery snow storm to extreme northern points of the region and scattered flurries of snow borne on a stiff north wind to other parts. Lowering temperatures were recorded.

Snow ranging from a light blanket to an inch coating was whipped into the north plains shortly before noon today. Temperatures dropped steadily to marks near the freezing point.

The blustery conditions prevailed at Amarillo and immediately surrounding territory. The storm was expected to pass from the region under fair skies tomorrow.

FLOWERS BLOOM IN MISSOURI-KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30. (UP)—Winter weather, contrasted with unseasonal warmth, prevailed today in sections of the Southwest.

While a blizzard was sweeping eastward into Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas, flowers were blooming in Missouri and Kansas. A wind of cyclonic intensity struck Morrilton, Ark.

A severe snow storm struck the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles from the Rocky mountains this afternoon. Temperatures dropped to the freezing point. The heavy snow still was falling tonight.

Snow fell in western and northern Nebraska, supplying needed moisture to fields. Relief workers did not anticipate added suffering in seven counties along the South Dekota state line where two Indians already have died from starvation.

Carloads of foodstuffs and clothing have been sent into the area, stricken by drouth and a grasshopper plague last summer. Charitable organizations are in charge of the situation.

Telephone and electric power lines at Morrilton were torn down and communication was temporarily disrupted. Several small buildings were unroofed and windows were shattered by the force of the winds.

Violets, roses and fruit trees were in bloom at Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. Topcoats and furs were left at home in Missouri and Kansas when temperatures in the middle 60s prevailed over the two states.

Einstien Arrives at Pasadena for Work

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Dec. 30. (AP)—With a treasured violin under his arm and a smile and ready wit for a small group who met him, Dr. Albert Einstein arrived today from Germany to take up work in Pasadena among his contemporaries in science.

The violin was an important part of the German scientist's equippage. On a visit to Pasadena last year he forgot it and had to borrow an instrument. A violin is to Einstein what golf is to the average business man—a relaxation from the strain of thinking.

'Kiki' Roberts Quizzed In Diamond Murder

BOSTON, Dec. 31. (US)—Jack "Legs" Diamond, slain racketeer, spent four hours, on the night that he died, in the room of his sweetheart, Marion "Kiki" Roberts, she revealed today to District Attorney John T. Delaney, of Albany.

The Albany district attorney questioned "Kiki" throughout the entire afternoon in her place of concealment in greater Boston.

Delaney left Boston tonight to return to Albany, stating that "I do not regard Marion Roberts to be the cause of the homicide."

The Day In Washington

The American Federation of Labor today added its demand to requests for direct federal aid to the unemployed.

Senator Norris, Independent Republican of Nebraska, about whom revolves much of the third party talk, warned regular Republicans not to drive out of the party those dissatisfied with President Hoover.

Senator Dill, Washington Democrat, said the nomination of Governor Roosevelt of New York for the Democratic presidential candidacy, was the best way to meet the third party threat.

Richard V. Oulahan, New York Times bureau chief and dean of Washington newspaper correspondents, died of pneumonia.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, coauthor of the 18th amendment, flatly refused to serve on a committee named to hold hearings on proposed changes in the dry laws, saying he lacked time.

Representative Rainey, Democratic house leader, questioned the accuracy of the treasury's estimate of increased revenue requirements.

terrogators with this: "I have never said I would not stand for re-election."

For the first time Governor Sterling answered questions put to him touching on the Allred suit to drive major oil companies from Texas and collect $17,850,000 in alleged penalties for claimed anti-trust law violations.

Oil Suit Views

Replying to a question as to what he believed would be the economic reaction should the suit succeed and the corporations be denied the privilege of doing business in Texas, he said he could "not conceive" of such an outcome of the litigation. He added, however, that "that would be a nice way to get some money in the treasury." The general revenue fund of the state has been overdrawn several months, the deficit aggregating approximately $4,000,000.

There is not anything on the horizon that might provoke an extraordinary session of the legislature during 1932, he said. He would not consider bringing the legislators here to consider congressional redistricting to make room for three additional national representatives Texas will have in the 73rd congress, Governor Sterling said. Unless the state is redivided into 21 districts, to replace the 18 now existing, by the general election of 1932, Texas will choose three congressmen from the state at large.

A BIG VALUE

Today is the day of values. People find it an easy matter to get high quality at low prices if they merely use intelligence in making selections. Take aspirin for instance. Thousands realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 10c for twelve tablets of genuine pure aspirin. Because of this more than nine million boxes of St.Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin have been sold in one single year. "St.Joseph's" is genuine, pure aspirin that meets every government standard. It is packed in moisture-proof cellophane to preserve the purity and full strength of each tablet. Be safe, be economical and always ask your druggist for "the largest selling pure aspirin in the world for 10c—St.Joseph's".

DANGER IN TOO MUCH BLOWING!
Clear Nasal Passages with Mentholatum
Mother, nose-blowing is often carried too far. And then it causes injury to delicate membranes. When the child's nose is clogged up, the less blowing the better. Use Mentholatum instead. A little in each nostril will clear the air passages. It will also soothe irritated membranes. To overcome the cold more quickly also rub Mentholatum briskly on the child's back, chest, neck and nose. That will draw more blood to the surface and help prevent inflammation of the breathing passages. In jars and tubes, 30c. Three times as much in large jars, 60c.

Holiday Luncheon-Program Held By Junior Forum

More than 100 members and guests of the Junior Forum were present Wednesday at the December luncheon given in the auditorium at the Forum clubhouse. The holiday motif made the tables lovelier than usual. Tall red tapers burned in crystal candlesticks that were adorned with fluffy tulle bows; small orange pots held miniature red berried trees.

Mrs. T. A. Hicks gave the invocation and Mrs. P. P. Langford, sponsor, told of the beautiful program arranged for the January luncheon. Miss Mary Virginia Barron introduced Mrs. T. A. Hicks as the woman who had honored the juniors in a talk over the radio and Mrs. Hicks was given a round of hearty applause.

Miss Marguerite Peery gave a review of the social events of the month and told of the money that had been made, and Mrs. Thomas Korn announced the play, "This Thing Called Love," to be put on by the Harlequin players at the forum in the near future.

Splendid readings by Misses Laura Fritz and Anna Belle Harrell and a musical fantasy given by Miss Minnie T. Baker, assisted by many of her pupils, completed the program.

Members of the Junior Forum were invited to a tea to be given Thursday afternoon by Miss Mary C. Boone at Bluebonnett hill, honoring Miss Johnnie Morgan, whose engagement to Albert George McGowan of Wiai Ni Loka estates, Fiji islands, South seas, has been announced.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We heard an argument the other day that took the prize for foolishness, although the couple who started it recognized its imbecility before it had gone too far.

The price of rugs was mentioned and when some one said $400, the man let out a howl. "$400," he ejaculated. "Why no rug on earth is worth that price." "Oh, yes," his wife said. "There are larger rugs and smaller rugs that are worth even more."

There was another snort. "Well, if I were a multimillionaire," the gentleman asserted, "I wouldn't have rugs that cost that much in my house." "Oh, yes, you would," his wife said sweetly. "If you were a millionaire we'd have rugs that looked like jewels on our floors." There was a sharp argument for a moment or two, then with a twinkle in his eyes, the man cut it short. "If I were a millionaire," he said, "you'd get $30 a week for an allowance, and you'd live on it, too."

It would be a miracle if the man ever accumulated $100,000 and they both knew it. But for a few moments, it looked as if they meant to quarrel over the miraculous possibility.

We have known harsh words and an aftermath of sore hearts that started over just such impossible sources. Quarrels are such futile things, anyway. So futile and so terrible to us, that we think of Heaven as a place where a voice is never lifted. You have heard enough however, of our heavens.

We are ready to register a big kick, even though kicking doesn't do any good. Along about the first of December, a friend of ours subscribed to two magazines for our Christmas present. They were supposed to arrive by Dec. 15, but there's been no sign of them. So she is out her money and we are out our present.

She bought them from a boy who, according to his talk, was trying to pay his way through college by taking subscriptions. Well, there it is. Every autumn a group of prospective students in colleges, rings our bell for a number of days in succession to try in vain for subscriptions. Many of the boys may be legitimate students, but such salesmen will suffer through the trickery of one thief.

There's one thing we've always been willing to hand to these college solicitors. They can put up a line of talk that will break down any barrier that isn't adamant—if the person solicited has any money.

Their lines came back to us when we read this tale in the current New Yorker. The Harold Wilcoxes of Nutley, N. J., have a grison, which is a very odd-looking South American weasel-like carnivore.

A salesman came to their door without noticing the grison. In the midst of his well rehearsed talk on the soap he was selling, he caught sight of the grison, blanched, but went on with the talk.

"It preserves the fine texture of the most delicate skin and lends a lasting and radiant rosiness to the complexion my God what is that thing?" he concluded.

We only wish our friend had kept a grison on her wide porch.

Attractive Bridge Luncheon Honors Pretty Bride-Elect

The first of a series of beautiful pre-nupital courtesies following the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Willette Jarrell to Robert Tucker Roark, was a bridge luncheon and towel shower given by her sister, Mrs. R. E. Spake of Dallas, in a private dining room at the Wichita club Wednesday at noon.

Honey dew and green, the chosen colors of the honoree, were stressed in decorations. Green bells adorned with tulle and rose buds rested on a bed of ferns in the center of each table, covering honey dew and green mint cups filled with pastel mints.

In the games, the high score prize, a lovely imported treasure chest was won by Mrs. J. H. S. Bonner and the second, a dainty set of French lingerie, went to Mrs. Bill McKemie.

The honoree received a box of linen towels from the hostess and the beautiful assortment of towels given by the guests were wrapped in dainty tissues and ribbons in green and honey dew.

A dainty luncheon was served to the charming honoree, Miss Willette Jarrell, Mesdames Bill McKemie Jr., Clarence Beavers of Olney, J. H. S. Bonner, Landon H. Cullum, Walter M. Priddy, O. B. Kiel, Misses Marjorie Bright, Joline Woods, Jeannette Moore, Mary Dulaney, Dell Hatchitt, Martha Ellen Hines, Elizabeth Langford, Mary Elizabeth Donnell and the hostess, Mrs. Spake.

World's Holidays Theme of Address By Mrs. Hartsook

An interesting talk on holidays by Mrs. C. R. Hartsook and a group of charming violin numbers furnished the program at the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the Wichita club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Hartsook told of various ways in which different nations celebrate the same holiday and of changes from ancient commemorations. New Year's eve with the value of resolutions made on that date, was particularly stressed. Many interesting facts about Russia that came to Mrs. Hartsook from her niece, Mrs. Herman Dunn who has lived in Russia for the past 15 months, were related.

Misses Thelma Nell Norvell and May Bartlett, accompanied by Miss Mildred Anderson, played a pretty violin duet and Miss Anderson also accompanied Miss Norvell in violin solos.

Reports on Christmas charity work done by the club were made by Misses Susie Downing and Erma Schnelle.

Guests included Mrs. Hartsook, Misses Norvell, Anderson and Bartlett and club members present were Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler, and Misses Maude Thomas, Lena Derzaph, Lillian Pardew, Erma Schnelle, Susie Downing, Helen Nixon, Mayme Kuhfuss, Glenna Miller, Anna Selpelmeyer, Cleo Bowers, Minnie Bedford, Zula McKay and Ethel Glasgow.

"B.C." Relieves Headaches and Quiets Nerves

Realizing that no one drug can conquer even ordinary headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time.

You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B.C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B.C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes.

"B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs.—Adv.

SENORITA'S AIR CAREER ENDED

Stella Carranza Forced to Quit Flying

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Family objections interrupted today the aviation career of Senorita Stella Carranza, comely sister of the late Captain Emilio Carranza, famous Mexican flier.

Making her way to Dallas several weeks ago in comparative secrecy, Senorita Carranza enrolled at a flying school at Love field and with the exception of four hours, had completed sufficient flying time to obtain a pilot's license when family objections caused her to stop. She left Dallas at 3:45 today on a plane of the Bowen Airlines, for San Antonio, en route back to Mexico City. She expected to take a night train from San Antonio to Brownsville and board a plane there tomorrow for the Mexican capital.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas has 1,323,774 families living in 1,213,474 homes. Interesting in this connection is that there are 256,686 radios in the state, covering 18.6 per cent of the homes, while daily newspaper circulations total 1,202,905 and the weekly newspapers have approximately 1,000,000 more.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Eagle pass citizens are aiding in the financial arrangements looking to the establishment at Piedgras Negras, across the Rio Grande, of a 100,000 watt radio station, one of the most powerful stations ever planned.

The combination water-rail freight rate that went into effect on Nov. 1 has given a considerable impetus to fruit and vegetable shipments out of the lower Rio Grande valley. The rate furnishes opportunity, for the first time, for Texas fruit and vegetables to compete on Atlantic seaboard markets with Florida products.

Tentative contract for the expenditure of $1,500,000 on rehabilitating the dam across the Colorado river at Austin has been made. The lessors, in return for a 40-year lease, would deliver to the city 4,000,000 kilomatts annually and permit the city in addition to use the lake for recreational purposes. An alternative under consideration and for which surveys are to be made is a low dam across the river to create a lake from East avenue as far up the stream as Deep Eddy.

Two new casinghead gasoline plants are planned for Gladewater. An oil refinery is planned for Rio Grande City. Another refinery, with a daily capacity of 1,400 barrels, is planned for Chautauqua Switch.

Brinkley Amends Petition for Libel

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 30. (UP)—An amended petition charging the Kansas City Star alone with libel and asking $5,000,000 damages was filed today in federal district court here by Dr. J. R. Brinkley of Milford.

In his earlier suit, Dr. Brinkley had also named the publisher of a Junction City paper and two Junction City distributors of The Star. The original suit was brought in Geary county district court but was transferred to federal court.

Brinkley set forth 15 separate causes of action in his petition, asserting he had enjoyed a lucrative practice and a good reputation until The Star began a campaign against him. In April, 1930, he charged, The Star "determined upon and mapped out" a campaign against him and subsequently published and caused to be published articles that were "wickedly, maliciously, and wilfully" libelous.

Kilauea's Eruption One of Long Series

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 20. (AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar Jr., volcanologist, believes the present eruption of Kilauea, world's largest active volcano, is just one of a series of prolonged disturbances.

These he expects to culminate in another explosive eruption similar to those of 1790 and 1924.

New American Epoch

IN THE news that more aliens left the United States than entered it during the first nine months of 1931 there is an indication that a turning point in American history has been reached.

For more than a century Uncle Sam's domain was a magnet for the people beyond the seas. They came in tremendous floods, setting into motion one of the greatest migrations in the story of mankind. And now, evidently the migration is over and a slight backwash has begun.

According to estimates made recently, the number of aliens who went back to the old country in the past year was around 25,000 greater than the number of aliens who came and stayed. Severe immigration restrictions, widespread deportation proceedings, and—above all—the business depression are probably responsible.

But what a change it all is from a few years ago! From 1914, for instance, when fully a million Europeans found admittance to the country; from the postwar years, when the United States looked like an earthly paradise to innumerable war-stricken men and women beyond the sea.

An epoch is over. The land of opportunity has found that it has all the inhabitants it needs for a while. And some of the newcomers, on the other hand, have found that life can be just as hard on this side of the ocean as on the other. Uncle Sam has grown up, and his coastline no longer gleams beyond the western horizon as a land of illimitable promise.

From now on the pace will be slower. Never again, probably, will we receive immigrants as we used to. Probably it is a very good thing, although it is hard not to feel a sentimental twinge of regret over our arrival at national maturity.

Yet we shall feel the effects of this lost era for many years—perhaps forever. For every man and woman who came here felt, dimly but firmly, that life was somehow going to be better over here; that there would be more freedom, more opportunity, more happiness. That vision is still with us. It was born partly on Bunker Hill and partly in the steerage, and as long as we keep it our path will lead upward.

Roosevelt and Favorite Sons

AT THE threshold of a momentous political year it appears that the duty of selecting a president of the United States will fall upon the Democratic party, and that among those so far mentioned for the Democratic nomination Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, is far in the lead.

If Roosevelt's onward march toward the nomination is to be brought to a halt, it will be done through the support of state delegations to favorite sons.

Paul R. Mallon, a Washington correspondent of the United Press, writes that a poll shows that Roosevelt is reasonably certain of 402 votes, while it is probable there will be an equal number of votes for favorite sons, with 296 votes doubtful.

Under the two-thirds rule of the Democratic party 734 votes will be required for nomination.

It is quite apparent from this situation that there will be no certainty about the Democratic selection upon the first ballot, and that it will probably require many ballots to bring about a nomination.

Roosevelt has the advantage of being the outstanding candidate and far in the lead; at the same time he has the disadvantage of being the candidate whom all the rest are trying to head off.

Mallon's poll shows more sentiment than suspected for Governor Murray of Oklahoma and much secondary strength for Newton D. Baker and Governor Smith.

Texas is pretty certain to give a complimentary vote for John Garner, a favorite son. After that it may play some important and decisive part in the selection of the nominee and the next president.

Mrs. Pinchot in Politics

MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT'S announcement that she will run for congress next year against Representative Louis T. McFadden insures Pennsylvania of at least one contest that will be packed with interest.

By any standard, the wife of Pennsylvania's governor is one of the most interesting women in the country. Furthermore, she is a good campaigner—she ran against McFadden three years ago and came within 2,000 votes of retiring him to private life. The race will be well worth watching.

It is quite possible that the majority of her fellow-citizens throughout the country will be pulling for her, too. Representative McFadden's utterly absurd attack on President Hoover in congress recently was hardly the sort of thing to promote a widespread desire for his—McFadden's—re-election.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Dear Walter Winchell: I know that you don't conduct a "problem" column but don't you think it's about time some one took a dig at the depression boss who is making life miserable for thousands of terrorized employes? Can't something be done to make these bosses realize that employes are quite as human as the employer, his wife and children?

Being a stenographer is depressing enough without having to face the chronic scrowl of a boss who becomes insulting when his stenographer punctures his pride by correcting his punctuation.

Aren't bosses who insert ads like the following:
WANTED—Stenographer, not over 25 years old. Must have some college education and at least two years' experience. Accuracy, speed, personality and good appearance essential. Salary $13.

unwittingly putting into cold storage snubs for themselves? What if the girl selected from the mob of applicants turns out to be a potential Vina Delmar or Ann Harding? It will serve such a boss right if the girl refused to even autograph a photograph for his desk.

Lowly as the stenographer profession is, from it (may I be trite and repeat, despite it?) many women have risen to prominence.

With apologies to you, W. W., it's men like the above mentioned employers who literally kick their employes up the ladder. Even in this day of depression it seems incredible that any man should dare to make so many demands for $13 a week. He asks for (and gets) a girl who has spent four years in high school, at least two in college, another year at a business college, and then two years in training, and he offers her $13 a week. . . . Provided she has good looks, good clothes, personality, intelligence and other minor afflictions, such as a musical voice, discretion and of course, pretty hands.

In exchange for her clerical services, her decorative value, her education and former training, her capacity to accept minor and major abuses, depending on the vagaries of the major domo's temperament, not to mention her tact which prompts her to greet Mrs. Boss (who always comes in at the wrong time) with a bellowing "How do you do, Mrs. Boss, and engage her in several forced rounds of conversation while the old grouch opens the door to his private office so that by the time his wife storms in she will think the very attractive young woman at the non-executive side of the desk is discussing business . . . the stenographer is rewarded with $13 at the end of the week.

Subtract the price of lunches and car fare and you'll find that the $13 a week stenographer has less than $9 left. Out of this sum she must allow for at least one pair of hose that she tears at her desk, which is another $1, and, let some one wiser than this stenographer attempts to be tell a girl who is young, attractive, alive and probably popular, how she can pay her room rent and board, buy soap so that she can do her own laundry, treat herself to a much needed pair of gloves, a hair trim, buy face powder, cold cream, witch hazel, toothpaste, an occasional bit of clothes, to say nothing of gum and ciggies (we simply must have our ciggies—they keep a stenographer's throat fit for the task of meeting the countless people who come into offices)—for less than $9 a week.

The burden of poverty could be lifted if the boss were less depressing, but it is invariably the driving boss who will ask "the girl" to bring back some drinking glasses when she's out to lunch, and not only forget to pay her the dime when she returns, but scold her for taking 40 minutes instead of the allotted 30. He is the kind of boss who fails to say "good morning," mumbles when he is dictating, growls if the stenographer dares to make a telephone call, and will not even pretend an apology when he finds the letter from Brown Bros. which, he has been telling the girl (between closed teeth) has vanished through her carelessness, has been, as the almost prostrate stenographer tried to tell him, in the top right-hand drawer of his desk. (If he'd only leave that damned desk unlocked once in a while, she'd find everything he says she's lost).

And if the frightened stenographer looks as though at last she is going to assert herself, the boss intercepts that outburst with:

"There are plenty of girls who'd be glad to have this job."

Remembering the army of girls who were waiting with her that day she was interviewed, the stenographer realized that while an argument might satisfy the soul, it is the body that demands nutrition first.

Thus the underdog is born or the bear is lashed into action and it is the wise boss who will remember Dorothy Parker's observation: "Elephants and women never forget."

Some girls, with a practical eye, begin casting about for a husband and are often rewarded with a mate whose money and kind heart stand them in better stead than the dream of the more romantic sister who will not abandon her desk unless true love calls.

But what about the ambitious stenographer?

In this age of retaliation which has nurtured numerous "Ex" books, might not a "dark horse" stenographer burst forth with an "Ex-Stenographer" volume?

It shouldn't be much of a task . . . for haven't many bosses forced unpleasant notes in the memories of their stenographers . . . notes that would require but little concentration of memory racking to transcribe?

And the dedication could be so simple:

"To my boss whose selfishness, pettiness, grouchiness and general unpleasantness made me so mad I had to do something . . . hence this book."

"A STENOGRAPHER."

And They Hang Pictures!

"Dear Mr. Winchell: Ease up on that actor that kicked a girl out of that show—I mean the girl who committed suicide. She must have been unbalanced to do a thing like that. I know lots woman who think nothing of doing that to a man tho they aren't in the show business. And they don't get mentioned twice in your column. Ease up—E. Blaauw, 609 W. 33rd St., Kansas City, Mo."

It takes all kinds of people, as Baird Leonard used to say, to make a world like ours.

SYNOPSIS

Stephen Ashe was the best criminal lawyer in the West until liquor ruined his career. Disapproving of his daughter, Jan's, marriage to Ace Wilfong, notorious but honest gambler, he makes a wager with her to discontinue drinking if she will give up Ace. He loses. Jan and Ace are married. Ace adores her and they are very happy together. Then Stephen disappears and Jan is frantic. Stephen realized the worry he was causing Jan and thought it best to go away. He took Ace into his confidence but swore him to secrecy. He did not, however, reveal his destination and the bank which forwards Ace's money to Stephen will not disclose it. Mac, Stephen's handy man, innocently tells Jan that Ace knew Stephen's plans and she is hurt. Dwight Sutro, an old friend and rejected suitor, calls after an absence of two years' abroad. Jan throws her arms around him and kisses him just as Ace enters. Ace resents it but says nothing. Later, Jan stuns Gwennie, her jealous sister-in-law, with the statement that even a married woman may amuse herself with an admirer. Instead of telling Ace that she knows of his part in her father's disappearance, she locks the hurt in her heart and it casts a shadow across their love. Ace thinks the change in her is due to Dwight Sutro. Gwennie reads a note from Dwight to Jan, and slyly places it in Ace's room to make sure he sees it. Following a stroll in the park with Dwight, Jan goes to his apartment.

CHAPTER XLVI

It was the first time she had been to the small gray house very high on Buchanan street that Dwight had taken upon his return. Not from any sense of the conventions, She would have been amazed, she would have wondered with laughter if we were still in the Victorian age, she would actually have been startled as by the revival of some Bostonian witchcraft law if you had suggested to her that married women do not visit the houses of young bachelors with a reputation. But the house had been in the throes of decorating and furnishing.

While Williams fixed luncheon they prowled about the house from cellar to garret, and Dwight told her where he had bought the Byzantine crucifix, how he had stumbled upon the little fountain of carved lapis lazuli in Stockholm, and what he had gone through to secure for her a Keats manuscript.

"That fireplace and window I shipped from an old Italian palace near Verona," he said suddenly, "I went to see Juliet's tomb there. Do you remember you used to say you wanted to see Juliet's tomb? That's why I went."

"Juliet's tomb," said Jan Wilfong softly. And she slipped down upon the old, velvet couch, hands about her knees, eyes upturned. "Tell me, Dwight, did you do all the things we used to talk about, you and I and daddy? Did you stand on the very spot where Mary of Scotland knelt when they chopped off her lovely head? Did you walk in the gardens of the Trianon, in the very footsteps of my glorious, tragic, foolish Marie Antoinette? Did you find the room in that little house in Bonn where Beethoven used to sit playing? And did you go to the lake of Killarney—oh, Dwight, tell me!"

He did not seem to have heard the last of her words. His eyes were fixed upon the turned-back petal of her mouth. They were naked, lustful, caddish eyes. His lips were set with desire, they were lecherous with desire.

"Jan, I love you," he said hoarsely.

The warm, childish glow drained from her face. White, blank, unreadable, old as the desert, she stared at him—rose, a little blindly.

Her body reacted to his nearness as Stephen Ashe's body reacted to a glass of whisky. Between some men and women there is a current like that. It is purely a matter of physiology. The current turns on and the cells vibrate. Nothing to do with them, nothing personal, any more than the tangle that a glass of champagne sends through your veins is personal.

That desire in Dwight Sutro's eyes. It seemed terrible to Jan Wilfong that any one could desire a thing so consumingly. Pity touched her, a queer, understanding pity which knew that the desires that handle men are no easier to bear because they are evil.

Desire. Pity. Magnets laid outside the path to draw a free soul. But the pull was not quite strong enough. Jan Wilfong made a dainty gesture of withdrawal.

"I am still waiting for that little bit of butter on my bread," she said teasingly.

Williams, carrying out the first course with fearsome care, tried to connect that look on his master's face with some memory. That night in bed it came to him for Williams was a persistent man. Once in India, when he was a soldier, he had seen a cobra miss its kill. Well, cobra or no cobra, he thought, turning over restlessly, he would have to walk careful these days. A vicious sort of brute. Mr. Sutro was, when he got going on one of his spells. He had no mind to be kicked down stairs again as he had been that time in Monte Carlo, not if he knew it.

Jan Wilfong had a queer honesty. Queer dishonesty, too, born of those long years of criminal law, of fighting the law, cheating it, getting the best of it by any clever means. She hated lying. Imaginative lies, maybe. Artistic license, such as Stephen Ashe had always employed, contending that it was only fair to one's audience to make a story as entertaining as possible. But lying to escape anything, to gloss over anything, to make things easier, she couldn't endure.

She could, however, keep silent. There are few women who can keep silent. Jan actually sank into a pool of silence, from which only her unreadable gray eyes stared out at you. And Ace Wilfong, having lived with that silence now for days, suddenly made up his mind that he would live with it no longer. His temper, which he understood too well to risk allowing it about loose, was straining at the leash. Yet he could not see himself angry with Jan. Never with Jan. He was so terribly in love with Jan.

Having made up his mind in a flash, he went downstairs without even waiting to put on his coat or his tie or to brush his hair, which stood up in unruly curls all over his head. His white shirt was open at the throat and his throat looked tense. There was that about him which showed why he was master of men in his own world, why men feared and respected his word.

Jan, before the fire, had an open book on her lap. The poems of Edna St. Vincent Millay seemed to her the only modern poetry, and she had complained bitterly the other day to Dwight Sutro that she hated having to look through all those little volumes for the particular line she wanted. So Dwight had had them bound together for her in a marvelous old leather cover. That was the book which was open on her lap. She always held a pencil when she read and made little notes and pictures on the margin. Now she was drawing endless profiles of Stephen Ashe, as he used to sit in the courtroom, chin on hand—mere sketches of the Ashe jaw, the arched nose, the lock of hair that had a habit of dropping over his forehead, but each of them as she drew stabbed her with a sick pain.

He came to look over her shoulder, and put his hand on her hair. When he saw what she was doing, he said, "You miss your dad so!"

"Yes."

She twisted to look up at him and her eyes were hot with an accusation he did not understand. Not a fortunate beginning. Luck was against Ace Wilfong that day. If he had turned back the pages of the book he would have seen that, before Jan began to draw those profiles of Stephen Ashe, she had drawn whole margins of baby heads, like those you see in women's magazines. She had been wondering why she did not have a baby. Was she going to lose that, too?

Ace Wilfong did not know how to break through her silence, guarded by those hostile eyes.

He was at a disadvantage. For deep within him was a fear, and for a man who is brave, who loves courage and demands it first of all the virtues, that is a bad thing. It robs him of power, distorts his vision.

From the very beginning, his love had been marred by that little, unworthy fear, bastard of his idolatry. The things she had of birth and breeding and education, things without meaning to Jan herself, became terribly important to him. There was a sort of boyish sweetness in this fear remnant of the ragged newsboy who had sold violets, but that was not what was needed now. If he could have swept fear aside there was no moment when he might not have mastered Jan Ashe. And it was a master she needed.

But he, who could meet any man face to face, who had with all men a perfect and irresistible naturalness, was afraid always that he might violate her code, that he might do something to turn her from him in disgust.

In the face of her silence, he said at last brutally and baldly what he had come to say. He would say it. He would violate his own sense of this thing to fulfil to the last letter his duty to Jan. He would try.

"Jan, I'd rather you didn't go around quite so much with this young Sutro."

Instantly he could have bitten his tongue out. Where was his tact? Where was his knowledge of human nature? And he knew suddenly that he had brooded too long upon this thing. There was a capacity for brooding in Ace Wilfong, heritage of a Swedish father, an Irish mother.

Jan raised her head slowly from the pictures of Stephen Ashe. She laughed. The well of anger within Ace Wilfong trembled and surged.

"Please don't be silly, Ace," she said lightly. "You make a big mistake if you think you can order me around. I told you before I married you that I must be free—free. I don't consider it necessary to give explanations or excuses for what I do to anybody. But this much I will tell you. I should have gone mad these last months without Dwight. I intend to have as much of his companionship as I choose. You married me under the agreement that I should always be free."

He got up and walked the length of the room, walked back and forth. Outside, a sudden rain blown in from the ocean beat upon the windows. Two things concerned him, beat upon him as the rain beat upon the windows. How far was he bound by the warning of hers, which she had given and he had accepted before their marriage? Where lay his honor in regard to that? And could this man or her own world, her own class, this man who met her mind to mind in many things where Ace Wilfong could not yet go—oh, he would some day, but not yet!—could this man make her happier?

Miss Martin attended John Tarleton Agricultural college in Stephenville and is a graduate of Texas Technological college in Lubbock. For two years she was employed in the school at Acres.

Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs, district agent, was in Wellington this week to assist the new agent in taking over the duties of the office.

Answers to Questions

Readers of this newspaper are reminded that this department does not undertake to give advice on legal, medical, or financial matters. Any question of fact, however, will be answered by personal letter, without cost to the reader save a two-cent stamp for the reply postage. Writers must give their full names and addresses and state their questions clearly. Address all inquiries to the Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Who is the dean of American college professors?—M. H.

A.—Dr. Julian D. Taylor of Colby college. He is now 85 years of age and has taught Latin at Colby for 63 years.

Q.—Why is the trail at Grand Canyon called Bright Angel Trail?—E. R. N.

A.—When the geological survey was making observations of the district in which the Grand Canyon was located it came to a dirty unsavory-looking stream which was called the Dirty Devil. Some weeks later the party came to a clear, beautiful stream running down a gorgeous canyon and to express their relief this was called the Bright Angel creek. The trail is named for this.

Q.—Is there a layer of air between water and the ice which freezes upon it?—L. W.

A.—There is not.

Q.—What color is ebony before it is finished?—S. D.

A.—The Sapwood is almost a golden color, while the heart is black. Sometimes the wood is streaked.

Q.—Can a cow swim?—B. G. R.

A.—Cattle, like most hoofed animals, are good swimmers, and have often been known to swim several hundred yards. The distance would depend somewhat on the current or roughness of the water.

Q.—What is the derivation of the word gas?—G. M.

A.—This term was invented by the chemist Van Helmont of Brussels who died in 1644. He applied it to a supposed vapor produced from water by cold. Its form was suggested to him by the Greek word chaos.

Q.—When was cast iron pipe first used for water pipe?—J. H. W.

A.—Cast iron water pipe was experimented with at Versailles, France, as early as 1664, but owing to difficulties of production it could not be afforded by water works companies until 1738. It was introduced into England about this time. The early American cities used log pipe systems but after a number of breaks in the pipes, Philadelphia ordered cast iron pipe from England. New York followed and subsequently Baltimore. The superiority of the cast iron pipe created such a demand that a foundry was built at Millville, New Jersey, in 1834.

Q.—What is sterling silver?—W. E. D.

A.—Sterling silver is defined as the alloy, in the proportion of 925 parts of silver to 75 parts of copper, legally fixed as the standard of fineness of British silver coinage.

Q.—How old is Brigadier General Glassford, the new chief of police of Washington?—U. C. D.

A.—He is 48. He was born Aug. 8, 1883, at Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Q.—When eggs are dipped in mineral oil, need they be kept in cold storage?—N. L. Y.

A.—This process seals the pores in the shell and thus prevents, to a large extent, the evaporation of water from the egg. Most of the processed eggs are placed in cold storage if they are to be held for any length of time. The process, therefore, is not primarily designed to replace cold storage but rather to prevent deterioration in the quality of cold-storage eggs.

Q.—Please explain the Union Pacific scholarships.—G. K.

A.—The Union Pacific system offers agricultural scholarships in the following states: California, Montana, Nevada, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Washington. Annual scholarship awards are made to students of agriculture in vocational high schools. A $100 scholarship award and a $50 award are made.

Q.—What proportion of the national business is done by check?—E. B.

A.—It is estimated that 95 per cent of the business done in the United States is done with checks and credit instruments.

Q.—Is it true that a person in an airplane can see a submarine when it is submerged?—H. P.

A.—If the sea is calm and the air is perfectly clear, it is possible for an airplane to see a submarine which is submerged 50 and 60 feet. Only under these favorable circumstances is this possible. Traveling depths of submarines vary. The newer type submarine submerges about 230 feet.

NEW MOVE FOR THIRD PARTY

Venture May Be Launched In February

By LOUIS SEIBOLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (US)—Another move to organize a third party to give battle to both Republican and Democrats is scheduled for launching sometime in February.

Preliminaries for the prospective venture today revolved about Senator Norris, of Nebraska as a prospective candidate.

Norris has rejected suggestions that he enter the Republican contest against President Hoover. It might develop, however, that continued pressure on the Nebraskan senator would be sufficiently strong to induce him to contest the regular nomination.

Those contemplating the independent lineup, of course, count on such independent and irregular Republicans as Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, Brookhart of Iowa, and Pinchot of Pennsylvania, as available candidates.

Democrats Cool

So far no Democrats of prominence have mixed into the third party excursion. According to some Democratic leaders, however, William G. McAdoo would welcome an opening to lead a movement under the dry standard.

Third party plans have been in process of development for three weeks. The promoters of it include influential Republicans who do not believe that President Hoover can win and Democrats who see little hope of unity in their own organization.

According to several men in both groups with whom the writer has talked here and in New York a satisfactory program dealing with fundamentals and ignoring factional and personal grievances will be produced in time to organize a militant army.

One of the most important features of the plan now under consideration will advocate complete divorcement of the American government from European avarice and squabbling. Another will provide for drastic economy in the cost of government. A third will insist on remodeling government machinery for meeting disastrous economic problems.

Emotion Big Obstacle

The great difficulty previously experienced by promoters of third party movements has been caused by emotions rather than reasons. This has been the chief defect of all plans for organizing a third party put forward by the Association for Political Action organized by Professor John Dewey.

The same obstacle has been encountered by other groups. An example was provided by a popular demonstration in New York three or four months ago.

This outburst, participated in by more than 15,000 persons represented every variety and shade of political and social opinion. It was made up of Socialists, Communists and many other irregular units. The banners displayed during the demonstration advocated 62 different reforms in the conduct of national, state and local government.

It is the purpose of the promoters of the third party project to eliminate most of these whimsical and extravagant demands and provide a program dealing solely with basic causes for political unrest.

At least one stubling block in third party plans will undoubtedly be in meeting demand for reform of the prohibition law.

Tinkham Defends Attack on Cannon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts said today he was actuated "by a sense of high public duty" in issuing a statement several months ago charging Bishop James Cannon Jr., with being a "shameless violator of the federal corrupt practices act."

He made this assertion in an answer filed in District of Columbia supreme court to a $500,000 libel suit brought against him by Bishop Cannon.

Tinkham issued his statement after being challenged by Bishop Cannon to repeat remarks he had made against the churchman on the floor of the house. Members of congress cannot be sued for statements made on the floor.

Bishop Cannon is now under indictment on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act by failure to report all campaign expenditures he received during his fight against the presidential candidacy of Alfred E. Smith.

Tillman Cotton Crop Doubles 1930 Yield

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 30.—There were 66,313 bales of cotton, couting round as half bales, ginned in Tillman county, from the crop of 1931 prior to December 13, 1931, according to the federal report. At the corresponding period in 1930, 36,672 bales were ginned.

Owing to the great amount of moisture which fell the past two months, together with cloudy weather and dew, making it unfavorable for cotton picking, that little of the fleecy staple has been gathered in this locality during that period. Considerable of the crop is still standing in the fields. The wet weather has caused considerable damage to that in the fields and also to that which was bailed but left in the open.

Train Wreck Attempt Charged in Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 30. (AP)—An attempt to wreck a Frisco train near Greenland, Ark., was charged to Clarence Bunch of Detroit, today, and he was imprisoned here.

Police said he admitted helping two other men place a cross tie on the track several days ago. Workers found it, however, and removed it before a train passed. He did not name the other men.

The officers also said Bunch was implicated in a similar attempt near Sarcoxie, Mo., last week.

Suspect Confesses In Bank Robbery

EUFAULA, Okla., Dec. 30. (UP)—Sheriff John McQuillen announced this afternoon that Sam Brandson, 25, Dewar, has confessed to a charge of participating in the robbery of the Hitchita State bank in September.

Two other men arrested at Okmulgee yesterday were held for questioning. Names were withheld.

Health and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"
By DR. FRANK McCOY

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Start a Health Reference Book

Tomorrow is the first day of the new year—a day upon which many people feel the urge to do things in a bigger and better way, to avoid the old mistakes and find the road to a healthier and happier future. It is the common rule to make resolutions, to resolve deep down in the heart to do the things which we know are helpful and wise.

One of the best possible resolutions is to be healthier physically with a wholesome mental outlook. After all, what can one do without good health and a clear mind? These assets double the enjoyment of eating, sleeping, living, breathing, loving and sociability. Those who have these assets taste joys which are denied those who are ill. The truth remains that the one with health feels high-spirited, walking feels like dancing, talking feels like singing, and a meal of even simple foods tastes like a banquet. This is the kind of health which is real health. In this year every one of you would win a health like this, I am sure that you would put this down as the happiest year you have had.

One way to remind yourself to keep healthy is to save these articles. I have received letters from thousands of my readers who tell me that they do this regularly, cutting the articles out and pasting them in scrapbooks.

You may have noticed that I vary the topics of these health articles from day to day; one article tells of a specific food, another of a specific disease, a third of diet in general, the fourth of the workings of the mind, the fifth anatomy or physiology, the sixth on psychology, the seventh on the week's menus, etc. My aim in diversifying the subjects is to make this health column as helpful and instructive as possible by covering from time to time all the diseases and essential points of diet, psychology and hygiene. If you will start with tomorrow's article, you will in the course of a year have created a good health reference book which you can alphabetically file, on health, food, hygiene, care of the sick, and many other subjects. You will also have a complete set of menus for a full year.

By saving these articles in a book form by pasting them in a scrap book you will have at your fingers' ends any article you wish to look at or study. Undoubtedly many times in the past you have wished that you had saved some special article only to find it lost. Through this plan you will have a suggestion for the treatment to follow when some one dear to you becomes ill. Most sicknesses come as an emergency, often beginning in the middle of the night when you cannot readily reach your doctor. I am sure that you would find the articles invaluable to consult at such a time.

Start the scrap book tomorrow. You do not need an expensive book. The articles are nearly all of the same length and for this reason they will give a neater and more uniform appearance than most scrap books have. By doing this you will have a book which you could not buy at any bookstore and one which you will not want to lose once you have started it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Laxatives

Question—Norma asks: "Will you please tell me what magnesium carbonate is? About three years ago I was told it was good for constipation and have been taking a bite of it every morning since that time. I seem to crave it—can't get along without it—and my mother tells me it dries up my blood. I would like your advice about it."

Answer—Magnesium carbonate is a mildly aperient anti-acid. There is no serious harm from its use except that you are liable to neglect the removal of the real cause of your constipation which is either in wrong food or a prolapsed and kinked condition of your intestines. It is unnecessary to become a slave to any drug laxative or medicinal preparation, but they are often temporary lifesavers when you are trying to discover the bad habits or faulty functioning which is producing your disorder.

Metabolism Test

Question—Mrs. I. asks: "What is the metabolism test for? If the thyroid gland is drying up, is it the sign of tuberculosis?"

Answer—Briefly stated, the test for metabolism shows how much a patient's oxidation departs from the normal. One type will burn up too much food and also bodily tissues, and the other's oxidation is sluggish and insufficient to burn up the normal amount of food. A reduction in the size of the thyroid is no sign of tuberculosis.

Orange Juice and Egg Yolk

Question—Y. asks: "Will a mixture of orange juice and egg yolk cure long-standing digestive disorders?"

Answer—The mixture you ask about is a simple combination, and many people find it agrees with them better than the ordinary bad mixtures of food, but there is no magic in such a food combination any more than there is in the use of other simple food mixtures.

Commerce Office Moves Into New Quarters Friday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The commerce department today was ready to move into its new quarters.

Beginning at 8 a. m., Friday, and working day and night through New Year's day, Saturday and Sunday, equipment of the department will be transferred to the new building in time to permit the 5,000 employes to start work there Monday.

Every activity of the department except the bureau of standards will be housed in the eight-acre building.

The new building, seven stories high is between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets and stretches from E street on the north to Constitution avenue three blocks away.

There are 36 gross acres of floor space in its 3,000 rooms in which almost six acres of glass let in the light through 5,200 windows.

The building is arranged in three general sections. The north wing is to be occupied by the patent office and the south by the coast and geodetic survey and the census bureau. The central unit houses the secretary and other administrative officials and a number of different units.

On the top floor is a space for the department library. A basement cafeteria will accommodate 2,400 persons an hour. An auditorium and a number of small conference rooms provide facilities for various types of gatherings.

Frederick Chamber Discusses Public Mart

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 30.—Establishment of a market place in Frederick where farmers can sell their own products was discussed at the regular luncheon of the chamber of commerce Tuesday noon at the Hotel Frederick. R. E. Tomlinson said he owns some vacant lots on South Ninth street which could be used for this purpose. It was suggested that a hydrant and water trough be installed so that horses and other stock could be watered.

Farmers and others having stock, implements or other articles which they desire to trade or sell could bring it to this place where they could either trade them or have them sold by an auctioneer, it was pointed out.

It was the opinion of those present that a market place would be desirable, and it was decided to have this matter referred to the trade extension committee.

Wichita Falls has begun to raise its own football players. Every ward school in the city is supporting a football team, and what teams! Although most of the players could run between your legs without you noticing it, every one of them has the right kind of spirit. These teams will play a complete schedule between themselves, beginning after the opening of school and lasting through most of the winter. Charles Lindsay, assistant coach of the high school Coyotes, has been the main factor in the organization of the ward school conference. He has assigned players from the Coyote squad to coach the different teams of the city.

The only team that does not have a Coyote player for a coach is San Jacinto which is coached by C. F. Mauldin, one of the teachers. Mauldin was the first man in the city to take any interest in a ward school team, and was the first person to organize a team. His charges have played several games already, and it is expected that he will enter a strong team in the conference.

When H. D. Fillers took over the position of superintendent of city schools, he announced one of his intentions was to organize football in the grade schools of the city. Every plan that Lindsay or Mauldin has formed for the betterment of football in the ward schools has met with the approval of Mr. Fillers. The new superintendent came to Wichita Falls with the intention of making this a football town. The organization of football in the ward school will certainly be a long step toward that goal.

This organization will give the young player experience in the fundamentals of the game and in handling the ball. One trouble with football in the high school today is that the coaches have to spend too much time in teaching the fundamentals when they should be developing the technique of the individual player. Coach Holton believes in teaching the fundamentals in the spring and polishing off the player in the fall. This is the best plan under the circumstances, but if the player were already experienced in the fundamentals of the grid game, all of the time could be spent in the development of teamwork.

This conference between the ward schools of the city will be maintained throughout the next few years, and the Ambler believes that when these ward school trained athletes begin reaching the high school, a great change will take place. Not only will these players be experienced in the grid sport, but they will also be hardened to the rigors of the sport—and they'll be football-minded.

Harrold Quint Trims Electra Tigers Again

The Tiger first team played during the first half and were edged out by the Harrold boys by the narrow margin of one point at the end of the half. In the second half, the Electra second team was placed in the game against Harrold's first team and were defeated, 14-5. The Tigers are scheduled to meet the Holliday team at Holliday Thursday night.

GRID MENTORS DOUSE FLAMES

But Real Fireworks May Flare Up Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—The business of giving football its annual overhauling slowed up today while athletic directors discussed such things as intramural sports and financial budgets, but it was scheduled to resume at full blast tomorrow at the star chamber session of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

What today's program lacked in fireworks was promised at the concluding session, when such eminent specialists as E. K. Hall, head of the national football rules committee, Dr. Thomas Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Charles Kennedy, president of the N. C. A. A., will be heard.

The last hope of any definite suggestions for rule changes lies with Hall, since neither eastern officials or the football coaches, would commit themselves at the earlier meetings this week. In view of the widespread agitation over the 1931 death toll, there has been much advance interest in Hall's report. It is understood he will deal extensively with the situation arising from gridiron casualties.

This morning's session, at which Dr. Edwin Fauver of Wesleyan presided, dealt with intramural sports and their importance to a school's athletic life. Dr. Charles Kennedy made the principal address, in which he stressed the doctrine of "sport for sports sake" and deplored the importance attached to victory.

An informal vote was taken on the idea of abolishing freshman competition schools and substituting an intra-mural program for first year students. It was voted down, 28 to 25.

Welter Title Bout Slated on Jan. 28

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (UP)—Negotiations were completed today for a world's welterweight title bout between Lou Brouillard of Boston, present champion, and Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, former champion, at the Chicago stadium and Jan. 28 was named tentatively as the date for the 10-round match.

Nate Lewis, Chicago stadium matchmaker, said that if he completed arrangements for a bout between Tony Canzoneri and Bat Battalino, he might stage the Brouillard-Fields bout in early February and put on the Canzoneri-Battalino contest on Jan. 28.

Fields, who won the 147-pound title from Joe Dundee and lost it to Jack Thompson in less than a year, arrived today from Los Angeles and started light training. Fields has completely recovered from an injury to his hand, sustained in a bout with Danny Delmont in Pittsburgh several weeks ago.

Dempsey and Sachs Deny They've Split

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (UP)—Reports of a break between Jack Depsey, former heavyweight champion, and his manager, Leonard Sachs, were denied by both of them here tonight.

"That's the best laugh in a long time," Dempsey said when informed of rumors that Sammy Goldman, manager of Tony Canzoneri, was now representing him and was trying to arrange exhibitions in North Dakota and Montana.

"Goldman has nothing to do with Dempsey and never will have," Sachs said.

The fighter and his manager arrived here today from Reno and were to leave tonight for Pasadena to see the Tulane-U. S. C. football game.

Dempsey refused to make a definite statement about his plans to fight again, but Sachs claimed he would participate in a major engagement after April one.

Henrietta Cagers Nip Buffalo Springs, 34-32

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Dec. 30.—Henrietta and Buffalo Springs senior cagers fought through an exciting game here last night, but Buffalo's attempt to avenge their defeat earlier in the season failed by two points. Henrietta won, 34-32, with Jackson and McAdams responsible for 10 points each. G. Butler, Buffalo center, made 15 of the Buffalo points, and L. Brock, guard, came second with nine points. Butler played his first game on the first string team last night.

In the second game, between the Henrietta juniors and the Buffalo second string, the score stood 16-16 at the end of the game. In spite of a rally by the Henrietta team, at the end of the extra three minutes the score was 20-20. Buffalo finally made three more points in another two minutes of play. Gill, Buffalo forward, and Cooley, center tied for high honors with eight points. The Henrietta scoring was led by Sims, forward, with 10 points.

New York Commission Disapproves Two Bouts

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (UP)—Proposed bouts featuring featherweight Champion Bat Battalino of Hartford, Conn., against Ray Miller of Chicago at Madison Square garden, Jan. 8 and lightweight Champion Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn against Herman Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., today were disapproved by the New York state athletic commission.

Lefty Grove Talks Sparklingly Of Japanese Barnstorming Tour

LONACONING, Md., Dec. 30. (AP)—"The Japanese are swell fellows and take their baseball seriously," but they just couldn't hit 'Lefty' Grove's fast one that turned American league batters inside out last season.

"We had the time of our lives on that trip," Lefty said today as he reared back on his chair in the bowling alleys he owns and runs in baseball's off season. He and a band of companion big leaguers returned last week from their tour of Japan during which they played 17 games before more than 500,000 Nippon rooters.

"The Japs are better fielders than they are batters," the Philadelphia Athletics' star declared.

"My fast one? I don't believe I threw a curve ball in any of the games. The Japs didn't seem to be able to do much damage to the fast, straight ones.

"Their own pitchers hardly ever lasted more than four innings against us. The twirlers there displayed form equal to major league pitching here but at the end of a comparatively short time they went to pieces.

"Larry French of the Pirates, Bruce Cunningham of the Braves and I split up the work for our team and so none of us were overworked. None of us was forced to bear down and we won every one of the 17 games."

Tokyo, metropolis of the Japanese empire was the scene of five of the games, Grove said, but the largest crowd, 60,000, turned out at Osaka. Several of the stadiums in which the American team played were larger than the average in this country, the hurler declared.

One of the things that surprised him was the absence of the "razzberry." Most of the brilliant plays were applauded and there the thing ended. "We all had the time of our lives, and in every place we visited the natives tendered us a royal reception," Lefty said.

Kunnel Winn Has Made the Derby A Semi-Windup, Mr. Runyon Avers

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—I suppose he has his own good reasons, economic, or otherwise, but it strikes me that Kunnel Matt Winn, the sage of Ol' Kaintuck, has voluntarily reduced the famous Kaintucky Dubby to the status of a semi-windup, and made our eastern Preakness the main event of the spring racing of 1932.

Kunnel Winn's Dubby has been set for May 7 at Churchill Downs, a week ahead of the Preakness, which is to be run at Pimlico on May 14. For years the Dubby has always followed the Preakness by at least a week, and was a sort of final test for the eastern 3-year-olds before they went down into the blue grass to meet the equine flower of the South and West.

There was one exception, which was in 1919, when Sir Barton won the Kaintucky Dubby, then was shoved aboard a train for Maryland where he won the Preakness. Two years ago, Gallant Fox won the Preakness, then went down into Kaintucky and took the Dubby.

The reason I think Kunnel Winn has reduced the importance of his famous event, is that the eastern owners are not apt to send their stars to Kaintucky that early in the season, and without the easterners the element of sectional rivalry is removed from the Dubby, and with it a lot of the color of the great race.

For instance, it is extremely unlikely that the Whitney stable will send Top Flight, champion 2-year-old of last season, and possibly one of the greatest fillies the American turf has ever produced. It is quite probable Top Flight would have been the favorite for the Dubby in the winter betting, and her participation in the race would have given the Dubby one of the greatest drawing cards it has ever had.

You know one great horse can draw a lot of paying clients to a race course, just as one greater fighter can fill an arena, or one greater actor pack a theater. Gallant Fox was largely responsible for the breaking of several American turf attendance records during this 3-year-old form. The clients wanted to see him run. Twenty Grand was a big card last year.

Tick On is another eastern star, well liked by many eastern horsemen for the Dubby, that will probably be kept out by the change in dates.

I fear that the withdrawal of the eastern cracks will keep at home a lot of our distinguished citizens who have been making a holiday of that journey to Kaintucky for years.

The Dubby gathers together the East, South and Middle-West, but now the East will probably wait on it's own race, and let the westerners and southerners have the Dubby to themselves. While that may have economic advantages of which I am not aware it isn't going to do the Dubby any good.

Of course racing in ol' Kaintuck hasn't been so hot the past couple of seasons from a financial standpoint. In fact, conditions have seldom been worse, though the game has continued to prosper fairly well. So Kunnel Winn undoubtedly acted for what he considers the best interests of his own racing organization.

However, what is Kaintucky's loss is Maryland's gain, as the nags that make a good showing in the Dubby will undoubtedly be shipped to Baltimore. Thus the Preakness will be more representative of the racing land at large than it has been for several years, and perhaps we can steam up a little sectional rivalry there.

EAST AND WEST TEAMS PICKED

Crack Lineups Selected for New Year Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Eastern and Western football stars completed heavy training today for the East-West charity game here New Year's day.

The squads were put through long workouts, the Easterners running off ground plays at their Stanford university practice field while the Westerners polished off on a passing attack, at Berkeley.

Rival coaches indicated the following players would start the game:

EAST	Pos.	WEST
Orst, Colgate	L.E.	Neill, Stanford
Marvil, NW.	L.T.	Schwegler, Wash.
Hoffman, Not D.	L.G.	Justice, Nebraska
Miller, Purdue	C.	Bican, Oly. Club
Hickman, Tenn.	R.G.	Koster, Nebraska
McMurdo, Pitt.	R.T.	Edwards, Wash. S.
Hewitt, Michigan	R.E.	Wellendorf, UCLA
Russell, NW.	Q.B.	Mason, S. M. U.
Purvis, Purdue	L.H.	Kieckner, S. Fran.
Mortes, Dart.	R.H.	Fossani, S. Mary's
Hinkle, Bucknell	F.B.	Davis, Oly. Club

The East will go into the game with an advantage in weight, Marvil scales around 230 pounds; Hickman 218 pounds, McMurdo, 212 pounds and Hoffman, 200 pounds. The eastern backfield combination also will hold a decided advantage.

Outclassed in man-power, the western team will concentrate on an aerial attack in hope of chalking up its fifth victory in the annual classic started in 1925. East teams have won twice.

"GRAY FOG" NOW "DONS"

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Henceforth athletic teams of San Francisco university, St. Ignatius until last year, will be known as the Dons. In the past the college teams were referred to as the Gray Fog, but some of the students thought the name might reflect on the city's weather.

California Fears Wet Field in Rose Bowl Classic With Tulane

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30. (UB)—Experts here today were predicting that only a wet field can prevent University of Southern California from piling up a score against Tulane on New Year's day in the intersectional rose bowl classic here.

And these same experts are giving the Trojans a margin of approximately three touchdowns against efficient team from New Orleans. The critics appear almost a unit in fixing the score at five touchdowns to two.

Coach Howard Jones, of the Trojans, has not made any changes in his forward wall. However, he has stressed fundamentals in the belief that the Greenies will attempt to cross up the Trojans with a clever running attack—to say nothing of their vaunted aerial offense.

If the rose bowl field is dry, it is likely that Coach Bernie Bierma, of the Greenies, will start Di Coligny and Upton in the tackle positions. But a slow, wet gridiron might cause him to send in his 222-pound giant, Cunningham.

One of the big problems faced by Tulane is this: Can "Papa" Felts, their fullback, withstand the power of the Trojan's running plays while backing up the line? It will be Felts' job to plug up the holes in the line and halt the smashing drives of Jim Musick and Gaius Shaver, once they get past the scrimmage wall.

"Wop" Glover will likely get the starting call in his regular halfback position for the visitors. But Bierman admitted today that there still is a chance that Payne might be used. Payne is an excellent ball carrier.

Should the field be dry, Orv Mohler, marvelous open field runner for the Trojans, will be sent into the game in its early stages.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 30. (UP)—Arkansas' bid for the divorce business of the nation thus far has proved disappointing, sponsors of the 90-day law admitted today.

Hidden Thoughts and Tea Green Win Races

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 30. (UP)—Hidden thoughts and tea green, two rank outsiders in the betting, won the second and third races respectively at Jefferson park here today and handsomely rewarded the two persons who bet $2 on their collective chances in the "daily double" conducted on the two events.

The payoff was $1,295.10—odds of $646.55 to $1—and was the highest of the meeting save for the clean sweep made on Dec. 7 when one ticketholder won the entire pool of $1,445.40.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—There was a little more southern selling in the cotton market here today and while offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering prices worked gradually lower from a slightly higher opening.

March contracts sold off from 6.53 to 6.48 and closed at 6.49 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 1 to 7 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 1 point with most of the active months selling a point or two above yesterday's closing quotations during the first few minutes on overnight buying orders. There were supposed to include a continued trade demand, partly from brokers with far eastern connections with possibly some local buying on the higher opening of the stock market.

A decline set in, however, extending to 6.64 for May and 6.81 for July or about 4 to 6 points below yesterday's closing quotations. Last prices were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

There were reports from the South that a little more low grade cotton was showing up following recent rains, but that it was meeting a ready demand. According to local sport people, merchants have been buying in the South to complete their December commitments, and there has been little or no change in the basis. It was rumored that some European spinners had been cancelling contracts for East Indian cotton and replacing with American owing to the lateness of the Indian crop and the relatively high prices in the Indian markets. Liverpool cables reported trade calling and covering in that market supplies by realizing and said sales of cotton yarn were running below production. Exports today 38,607 making 3,989,581 so far this season. Port receipts 36,256. U. S. port stocks 4,665,241.

Futures closed steady, 1 to 7 points lower. Spot steady; middling 6.55.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30. (AP)—After a steady opening and an early gain of 2 to 4 points the cotton market turned easier today owing to realizing and hedge selling, losing 7 to 8 points from the early highs, but recovered 4 to 5 points of this loss in the late trading. The close was steady and net unchanged to 2 points down for the day. Trading was somewhat more active.

The market opened steady although cables were 2 penny points worse than due. Private cables stated that the trade called and there was covering on easier sterling. Manchester cabled that the sales of yarns were below production.

March closed at 6.48 or net unchanged for the day, May at 6.65 down 2 points net and July at 6.82 or net unchanged.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 1 to 2 penny points up on New Orleans.

Stocks and Bonds Climb Slowly; Cash Trading Expected Thursday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (US)—Stocks and bonds closed higher today but no great significance could be attached to the action of either market.

There was further evidence that a good deal of the year-end liquidation, arising entirely out of a desire to establish tax-losses or for final clean-up purposes, had been accomplished during preceding sessions. With this pressure lifted, modest recoveries were again scored among most stocks, though no external influences were noted to account for the improvement.

In several issues, the short-interest seemingly had become temporarily extended, in proportion to the daily trading volume, and here advances of a point or so were temporarily abrupt, though no sustained sharp upward movement was witnessed anywhere in the list.

Among bonds, the U. S. government issues displayed improvement from the previous day's severe weakness, and other sections of the market likewise showed fractional gains for the day.

Most encouraging item of the day pertaining to the railroads was the announcement that 15,000 of the Southern Pacific's shop employes had agreed to a 10 per cent wage reduction. While these developments are significant straws in the wind, it is recognized that the major wage-reductions among railroad employes are yet to receive the sanction of the most powerful unions. Nevertheless, the market is proceeding on the theory that such action will be witnessed some time during 1932.

There still remains, therefore, the most essential element of traffic-increase to induce substantial buying of the railroad securities.

The credit-relief agency to handle the funds derived from the increased freight rates will probably swing into action early in the new year and some funds should be available almost immediately thereafter for eligible roads.

It was stated at Washington that about 18 class 1 railroads are not eligible to participate in the "pool" plan. These roads, however, will retain the revenues accruing from the emergency surcharges.

The roads ineligible for the loan plan are those in receivership, those in default of fixed charges, and those driving less than 50 per cent of their revenue from freight transportation.

Within the market itself, price movements were generally uninteresting. Steel common staged a brisk rally of about a point at one stage, which presumably induced some covering by the "teddy bears," those all day-to-day sptculators who have been striving to secure a point or so profit from rapid trading. When the market ended, steel was up exactly one-eighth of a point.

Despite the wage news, railroad stocks closed virtually unchanged on the average. Utilities were up about half-a-point on the average.

Tax sales probably represented half the day's total turnover, and the influence of such transactions was highly confusing. For example Atchison and Union Pacific were reported to be involved in numerous such transactions. Atchison rose two points while Union closed unchanged. The explanation probably lies in selling of Union while Atchison was bought in exchange.

The large trust companies, handling trust estates, are known to follow the policy of selling a security for tax-loss purpose, simultaneously purchasing another issue in the same group until the tax-sold issue can be replaced after the legal iterim has elapsed.

With a great proportion of the day's transactions of such character, the market obviously lacked much significance.

A large volume of "cash" transactions probably will be witnessed in the market tomorrow, since this is the only manner in which loss can be registered for 1931 tax-purposes. It is to be hoped that the stock exchange specialists will be more lenient in such transactions than they were a year ago.

After so disastrous a market year as 1931 a great deal of last minute adjustments remain to be completed tomorrow, so that the true significance of the day's market may be lost in the confusion.

Since the stock exchange will remain open Saturday, there will be only a one-day interruption to the market. It is understood that last week's extended holiday was not to the liking of all stock exchange interests and, furthermore, there is no desire to close the market during the first business day following the new year's holiday.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (AP)—Marked improvement in demand for all commodities was reported.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or group three points, freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling 58½@59½c; No. 1 hard, 13 per cent protein 60½@61½; 14 per cent protein 64½@65½c; 15 per cent 68½@69½c; 16 per cent 72½@73½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 68@70c; No. 2 kaffir 68@70c.

Basis delivered group one points: Corn—No. 2 mixed 42@43c; No. 2 white 43@44c; No. 2 yellow 44@46c.

Basis delivered group three points: Oats—No. 3 red 24@25c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Efforts to keep step to the tune of the stock market put grain values down today. Wall street final rallies being too late for Chicago.

Snow falls in western sections of domestic winter wheat territory where drouth has been a crop menace, tended also to drag grain prices lower. On the other hand, Argentine dispatches told of crop delays and deterioration and there were European forecasts of enlarged export demand for North American wheat after the turn of the year.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼@½c under yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ¼c lower, oats at a shade decline to ⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents higher.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Shipping demand here for corn was slack, and there was some selling of corn against purchases of wheat.

Provisions reflected better commission house demand for lard.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—March 55⅝c offers; May 56¼@56¼c, 57⅝@57¼c; July 55⅝c, 57⅝@57¼c. Corn—May 41c, 41⅝c; July 42⅝c, 43⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (US)—The sharp closing rally in stocks and expectations that if the December situation has any effect on the market it is likely to be constructive brought an active demand for offers in the wheat privilege market today.

Local traders contiued to sell corn against purchases of wheat. However, the market met continued support on the dips and losses were not as large as in the leading grain.

Some reports of Hessian fly infestation in the wheat fields of Inlana were received today.

The government weekly weather and crop report says that abnormally mild weather with generally ample moisture throughout the main sections of the winter wheat belt has resulted in continued growth.

NEWSIES CALL ON PRESIDENT

Hoover Given Medal by Boy Tourists

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Nearly 500 newsboys met with President Hoover today on the White House lawn, gave him three cheers and a medal and received his thanks and a photograph in return.

There were boys, boys and more boys waiting outside the president's office as he emerged, three groups in all. A boys' band struck up the national anthem and every one stood at attention.

The president stood first with three score youngsters from the Brooklyn Daily Times. He was surrounded.

"I am a sort of mayor in this part of the country," he said, "and if you boys don't have a good time here let me know."

Mr. Hoover stood next with trimly uniformed members of the New York division of the junior naval militia. Under the command of Capt. Harry Zeiner, the 50 boys, between the ages of 10 and 18, are on an educational tour.

Next the president moved to the largest group of all, more than 400 members of the American Newspaper Boys association, gathered from almost every state in the union.

"Let's give the president three cheers," said Richard Townsend, of Atlanta, Ga., and they were given with considerable vim.

Young Harry Plowman, of Alexandria, Va., then made a brief address, explaining this was "the second annual patriotic pilgrimage" of the news boys' association.

Presenting a gold medal, he said it was a token of "love and affection from the boyhood of America, more particularly our fellow newspaper boys."

"It is very beautiful and I thank you," the president replied, smiling and bowing to the group.

A check for $8.50 also was missed and may serve to trace the thieves. Entrance to the building was made through one of the front windows. The hall door was pried open.

Flood Waters Recede From Mississippi Town

GLENDORA, Miss., Dec. 30. (AP)—Flood waters which have deluged this town the past 10 days, lifted some of their pressure today and moved on southward.

Glendora residents topped the 11-mile levee protecting their homes from the Tallahatchie river's fury with new sandbags and took a breathing spell in the belief that only an unsuspected weak point in the defense could turn the flood-waters in on them.

Water receded from the business district today, leaving the streets passable the first time since the levee broke Monday.

Meat-Eating Plant on Display in Flower Shops Here

Insects or Texas Beefsteak Preferred by This Orchid

A meat-eating plant, which varies an insect diet with tid-bits of raw steak, will be on display in three Wichita Falls florist shops Thursday, to live on local bugs and Texas tenderloin until next Tuesday.

H. C. Smith of Cleveland, Ohio, brought the hungry plants to town and will see that they miss no meals. The carnivorous flower, which produces fragrant purple blossoms in the spring, is called the Matre orchid, though its botanical title, Chrysanphora Californica, sounds more ferocious. It originated in Oregon, where it grows in moss and water and absorbs insects and meats through its gastric juices.

The Matre orchid resembles a walrus, a hooded top growing out of funnel shaped, twisted stocks. Just under the hooded head is the mouth. Incautious flies, moths and mosquitoes sense the deadly honey as far as 15 feet away. They light on the plant—and are lost.

The hapless insects drink their fill, become drowsy, drunk—pass out. Then the millions of tiny hairs, growing downwards, which line the Matre orchid's mouth hold their victim until he starves to death. Assimilation by the gastric juices of the plant through veins leading to the roots follows.

The Matre orchid lovely as it is, is not above eating a cockroach, a beetle, or an ant, if more dainty bits are not available. Three hundred and fifty victims a week are its toll.

But if the insects aren't available, then the hungry plant must be fed by hand, and eight or 10 grains of raw meat, the size of a grain of wheat, are fed into its mouth by toothpicks. The 10 grains will keep it alive for a month.

The plants will be on display at both the Bebb flower shops and at the Palace of Blooms.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Wage cuts of 10 per cent were accepted here today by 325 more Southern Pacific company employes Vice President J. H. Dyer in charge of operations and Chairman H. C. Kinney of the shopmen's committee announced late today.

The wage cut, effective Jan. 1, 1932, was agreed upon by stationary engineers and firemen of the motor power division and mechanics and helpers in the stores department with the same reservations as in the shopmen's cut, Dyer said. If the brotherhoods negotiate lesser cuts with eastern roads, the cuts here are to be lessened, and no greater cuts are to be made if the eastern roads decide on a reduction of more than 10 per cent.

ANAHUAC, Texas, Dec. 30. (AP)—Frank W. Geer, 31, was charged today with murder by officers investigating the drowning of J. L. McElrath, whose body was found Sunday in Trinity bay. Meanwhile a search went forward for the body of F. C. Bonham, McElrath's companion on a hunting trip begun Dec. 10.

Al Smith Observes 58th Birthday But Refuses Comment on Politics

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—"Let's see" mused former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, "I was born in 1873, and this in 1931. That makes me 58."

In his office in the Empire State building, a room so filled with souvenirs as to resemble a museum, Mr. Smith—who is still "the governor" to his associates—celebrated his birthday today.

He was in a gay and chatty mood, once he grew a trifle impatient, when he was asked to make a prediction on business conditions in 1932.

"No use making predictions," he said, "the ink isn't dry on them before everything goes the other way."

And once he grew serious.

"No, I haven't anything to say about politics," he said. "As a matter of fact, I haven't settled in my own mind what I'm going to say."

Some one asked "Well, how are you feeling today, governor—just like a boy?"

"Happy all right," he grinned, "but not just like a boy. You don't feel just like a boy after 58 birthdays."

Somewhat ruefully, Mr. Smith admitted he had grown "three or four pounds heavier" since his last birthday.

"The trouble is," he said, "I don't get enough swimming. I've been swimming 50 of my 58 years, but nowadays I'm too busy. If I could just get some swimming, I'd soon get rid of this."

"Tonight all the children are going to be home for dinner, and we're going to a show."

Canada Pays for Exchange Deficit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (INS)—Effective Jan. 4 the Canadian postal service will pay a premium on money orders destined to the United States, the premium amounting to the difference in the value of the Canadian and United States dollar, the postoffice department announced today.

Ever since Great Britain went off the gold standard in October last, Canadian postal orders to this country have been on the basis of the current value of the pound sterling. This caused the United States postoffice department to threaten to discontinue money order exchange unless the money orders were the full value of the United States dollar.

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Dec. 30.—Two 99-year prison sentences were assessed against John Lee Bowie, negro, tried here Wednesday on two burglary charges. The life terms were imposed under the state habitual criminal act. County Attorney J. W. Glasgow said Bowie has served prison terms from Hunt and from Fannin county on similar charges.

The 30-year-old negro was found guilty of burglarizing the home of E. M. Hildenfeld on Dec. 8 and that of Henry Field on Nov. 27.

John Bowie, negro given life prison term in Henrietta Wednesday, was arrested in Wichita Falls Dec. 9 as he attempted to pawn goods stolen from a Henrietta home. The stolen goods were recovered by Patrolmen Musick and Hart and the man turned over to Henrietta officers.

Japanese Freighter Held In Grip of Wild Storm

SEATTLE, Dec. 30. (UP)—The Japanese freighter Tamohu Maru, reported disabled in the stormswept north Pacific south of the Aleutian islands, tonight was feared to be at the mercy of mountainous waves.

No word had been received from the vessel since 6:35 a. m., and two other ships, the Empress of Russia, and the Hikawa Maru, which picked up distress signals were unable to go to her assistance because of heavy seas.

The Japanese ship, manned by 45 sailors and carrying no passengers, sent three brief messages for aid. A disabled steering apparatus left the vessel helpless.

With the November royalties, the total received by the university in royalties was $14,766,779. This is exclusive of bonuses and rentals on the highly valuable land.

NEIGHBORS TO MEET WITH C-C

Invitations Sent to Town Of Territory

Invitations to the officers of 47 chambers of commerce in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma to attend the annual meeting of the Wichita Falls chamber on Jan. 8 were sent out from the local office Wednesday. A first notice of the meeting has already brought acceptance from many cities and a large out-of-town delegation is expected to swell attendance at the Memorial auditorium.

A climax in the evening's program will come with the announcement of the two annual citizenship awards, one cup going to the citizen whose philanthropies have been most outstanding, another to the man of greatest service to the community. A committee composed of the presidents of most of the civic clubs, under the leadership of W. S. Abbott, is studying the records of nominees, and will elect the winners on the day of the meeting. The awards are sponsored by the Advertising club.

The names of six new directors, to be elected from 20 candidates, will also be announced at the meeting.

The Cowboy band from Simmons university will give a concert preceding the address of Dr. Gus Dyer, from Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn.

The program has been arranged to appeal to the general public and approximately 4,000 people are expected to gather.

Wind and Rain Storm Hits Arkansas Town

MORRILLTON, Ark., Dec. 30. (AP)—A rain and wind storm early today unroofed several buildings, flooded stores at Plummerville and severed a transmission line which left Morrillton without electric power for several hours.

At Plummerville at 4.1 inch rain pushed Gap creek out of its banks and water stood a foot or so deep in stores. The water receded rapidly, however, and by noon normal business was resumed.

INQUIRY HEARS MARCH LEADER

A. F. L. Representative Pleads for U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The march of unemployed demonstrators to Washington at the opening of congress culminated today in a threat before a senate committee to "make it damn uncomfortable for those who don't feed the unemployed."

Three threat was shouted by Herbert Benjamin, leader of the demonstration its participants called "the national hunger march" into the ears of senators who had earlier heard the American Federation of Labor throw its full strength behind requests for direct federal unemployment relief appropriations.

Gifford Denies Need

Meanwhile, Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, took cognizance of the movement for federal appropriations with a statement expressing confidence local communities would be able to handle the relief problem.

Benjamin obtained a hearing before the senate committee considering federal relief appropriations, after twice interrupting the proceedings to demand an audience.

He read a prepared statement several thousand words long, which included the legislative program the marchers wanted to present in the house and senate chamber when congress opened, and concluded with an oral statement in which he said:

"We intend to go forward in our struggle to organize the unemployed, to make fights in the streets and to make it damn uncomfortable for those who won't feed the unemployed."

Received in Silence

His threat was received in silence by the committee members present, Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Costigan, Democrat, of Colorado.

Speaking for the Federation of Labor, Edward F. McGrady, its legislative representative, appealed to members of congress through the committee "not to shirk the responsibility" of preventing distress in this "national emergency."

Gifford's statement, given out in connection with the testimony before the committee, demanding federal appropriations, referred to his statement to President Hoover Nov. 28, in which he reported "there is every indication that each state will take care of its own" this winter.

Asserting that "many of our states, cities and isolated districts frankly admit that they are unable to meet the demands that are being made upon them for relief," the labor representative asked:

"Is our federal government going to allow untold numbers of our American citizenship to suffer, if indeed they do not die, from cold and hunger in the coming months which undoubtedly be the worst period of hardship that this nation has ever witnessed?"

McGrady's voice rose as he concluded with this statement:

"The cry of despairing fathers and mothers and undernourished and sick children is rising in greater volume, and the American Federation of Labor prays that the congress of the United States will see to it that the federal government will lend its aid in the very trying months to come."

He estimated there will be 7,500,000 unemployed during the first part of 1932 and said 6,000,000 additional were working three days or less a week this month.

PAYMENT OF TAXES URGED

Water Districts in Need of Funds, Says Remington

Urging that taxpayers in Wichita County Water Improvement districts Nos. 1 and 2 take advantage of the opportunity now offered to avoid penalties and interest on delinquent taxes, G. A. Remington, general manager of those projects, emphasized Wednesday the fact that this relief is but temporary and should be used while available.

"This law and the decision of the supreme court in declaring it constitutional," said Mr. Remington, "affects all delinquent taxes in the two water improvement districts. It allows taxpayers the privilege of paying their delinquent taxes, plus any attorneys' fees or court costs which may have accrued, but without penalty or interest attached provided payment is made between Sept. 30, 1931, and Feb. 1, 1932. Our districts are seriously in need of funds, and the remittance law affords our taxpayers a wonderful opportunity to clear up their delinquent taxes during this limited period and save penalty and interest."

Mr. Remington reminded taxpayers that this law is a temporary relief, and that on and after Feb. 1, 1932, all penalties and interest unpaid again will be added to the tax for collection just as though no temporary relief legislation had been passed.

"All penalties and interest collected by our districts on delinquent taxes since Sept. 30, 1931, and up to the time that the supreme court's decision was made will be returned to the taxpayers after Jan. 1 upon presentation of tax receipts held by those making such payments," Mr. Remington announced.

At Dr. Ledford's offices here, the Ledford Baby and Children's clinic, 1310 Ninth street, it was said the Wichita Falls physician will be out of the city for approximately a week.

Terracing Exhibit Planned at Quanah

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Dec. 30.—A terracing demonstration is to be held soon on the farm adjoining the country club, according to announcement made by Luther Hunter, county agent, and L. H. Maloy, manager of the Cameron Lumber company, who have completed inspection trips, and are arranging plans. The exact date will be announced later.

Several thousand acres of Hardeman county lands have been terraced under the direction of Mr. Hunter, and 1932 plans call for much development along this line of soil conservation. The value of terracing must be demonstrated through actual farming the terraced lands over a period of a year or two, according to Mr. Hunter, and inasmuch as many acres of Hardeman county land have proved this value during 1931 it is believed 1932 will see additional thousands of acres terraced.

Gangsters 'Mow' Gambler; Dump Body From Car

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (US)—As he was about to enjoy a cigar, Abe Cooper, alias Schneider, gambler, small time politician and former investigator, was cut down by gangster bullets. His body was found today sprawled by the side of a country road where it evidently had been thrown from an automobile.

The cigar which had not been lighted was in one hand. A box of matches was in the other. Two .45 caliber bullets had been fired into Cooper's head, five more in his body.

LOOT RECOVERED

Carrigan School Janitor Receives Reward After Discovery

Solon W. Seals, janitor of the Carrigan school, won a reward Wednesday after he had discovered an overcoat and scarf, stolen from a home at 1803 Victory Monday night, rolled together under shrubs at the school.

The coat was the property of W. A. McLean and the scarf belonged to R. J. Flechtner, occupants of the looted house. Several other stolen articles are still missing, so that the janitor was given only $7 of the $15 reward offered by the losers.

When Flechtner and McLean discovered their losses, they found also a pearl necklace stolen from a neighboring home which the burglars had absentmindedly left at the scene of their second job.

Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge. The musical program to be given during the first 40 minutes of the hour from 11 p. m. to 12 o'clock has been arranged by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, organist and musical director at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. R. E. Strange, Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., and Mrs. F. R. Collard, organists; Miss Tilla Mae Schaefer, soprano; Mrs. C. Y. Tully, soprano; Mrs. W. M. Priddy, mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, soprano; and Mrs. Mahaffey, organ accompanist, are the local artists to be heard in the program. During the 20 minutes before midnight, Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give a short talk on the New Year's theme.

An illustrated talk by Rev. Bruce Corbin, pastor, styled "On the Road to Mandalay" will feature a program to be given at the Grace Methodist church beginning at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Personal knowledge and experience gained while serving as a missionary in British Burma will be the foundation of Rev. Mr. Corbin's talk. Social entertainment, refreshments, and old-fashioned watch night service, and a communion service will follow, the meeting closing just after midnight.

Lutheran Rites

At the Floral Heights Methodist church a special New Year's eve program has been arranged. Directed by Mrs. George Thorburn, a short musicale will be presented from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m. The succeeding 45 minutes will be given indoor games directed by Rev. Finis A. Crutchfield, pastor, and Dr. Austin F. Leach. George Taylor, tenor, with his guitar, will entertain those present during the succeeding period, and members of the senior Epworth league will present a play, "Dust of the Road."

From 11:15 to 12 o'clock Rev. Mr. Crutchfield will conduct a devotional service, closing with the passing of the old year at 12 o'clock.

Special services are to be held at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Eleventh and Holliday streets, in commemoration of New Year's day, according to Rev. C. M. Beyer, pastor.

The first service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, and will be followed by a watch party in the church to be conducted by young people of the Walther league. The congregation also will meet at 11 o'clock Friday morning at the church. Rev. Mr. Beyer will preach at both services.

New Freight Rates In Effect Monday

Through the weekly transportation bulletin issued to manufacturers and jobbers Wednesday, Dudley B. Foy, traffic manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce reminded shippers that the increased schedule of freight rates takes effect on Jan. 4, next Monday.

Mr. Foy pointed out that the general increase does not effect livestock, grains, mill products and general agricultural products. A hike of 1 cent per hundred pounds will be assessed against cottonseed meal cake, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, cantaloupes, cabbage, tomatoes, onions, fresh vegetables and beans.

The following petroleum products will be subject to the same increase until Feb. 15, when the new I. C. C. schedule becomes effective—crude petroleum, refined petroleum products, lubricating oils and greases.

On all freight under car load lots an increase of 2 cents per hundred pounds will go into effect.

Director of Lions Club Band Critically Ill

Critical illness of Leo M. Underwood, director of the Lions club boys' band, in a hospital in Louisiana, was reported to members of the Lions club at its weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Wichita club.

Mr. Underwood had been ill for several weeks, but continued his work until shortly before Christmas. He had been accepted for hospitalization by the world war veterans' organization, and left this city only a few days ago.

Rev. Finis A. Crutchfield, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, gave a short talk in observance of New Year. Our thinking, he declared, can always determine our attitude toward any actual thing. One's vision should so be adjusted, the speaker said, that one may look at things in the right light.

Dr. A. D. Pattillo sang several numbers, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker. Chester Morgan returned to the membership of the club Wednesday.

Excited Texas Merchant's Story of Gypsy Game Endangers Hearing

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 30. (AP)—An excited Texas storekeeper's story of a gypsy "blessing game" that cost him $5,000 today almost broke up an extradition hearing before Gov. B. M. Miller honored a requisition for the return of a man and a woman to stand trial at Port Arthur.

Mike Nicholas, Port Arthur storekeeper, identified pictures of Tom Stevens and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Diana Stevens, as the two gypsies who exchanged rolls of money under his pillow on Jan. 16, 1929 after "blessing" the money and assuring Nicholas that the $5,000 would be doubled.

To Seek Writ

After Governor Miller granted the extradition papers, W. C. Taylor, Mobile attorney, said he would seek habeas corpus proceedings to prevent their return to face charges of felonous theft and false pretense.

Nicholas said he borrowed the money at the bank and placed it under his pillow at Mrs. Stevens' directions, "sprinkled with salt and papper," then waited for the 100 per cent return, but that investigation showed only a roll of newspaper clippings inside a few $1 bills.

Humor Injected

Humor was injected into the hearing as Attorney Taylor sought to learn the language of the gypsies from Nicholas.

"What language do you speak?" he asked Nicholas.

"I spik Assyrian," the storekeeper said.

"What language do the gypsies speak?" Taylor asked.

"I don't know," Nicholas said, "four or five languages, what kind do you want?"

Deputy Sheriff H. F. Baker, Jefferson county, Texas, testified that Stevens and his daughter-in-law were members of a journeying band of gypsies that "worked" all the larger Texas cities during 1929.

"They are wanted now in Orlando, Fla.," Baker said. "Tom Stevens took $2,800 from a negro woman with the same game in 1928 when I was chief of police there."

The gypsies were arrested at Mobile upon a fugitive warrant sworn out by Sheriff W. W. Covington of Beaumont, Texas.

Our Children

Brief Authority

Little children lean on their teachers and parents. They depend upon their authority and act upon it. If the use of authority is wise the child learns to obey gladly. He learns that obedience results in happiness for him. He feels no weight in this authority, only a benign hand leading him.

Should the teacher or parent misuse his authority the story is far different. He is silenced, sent here or there, at the whim and for the pleasure of the adult. He concludes the grownup people are his enemies and plans to escape their oppression at the earliest possible moment.

The wise use of the brief authority we possess, which lasts only for the first few years of the child's life, puts us into the right relationship with the children. They come to us as to a friend. When we decide against them they may fret a moment but their old experience rises to the rescue and they follow along cheerfully enough. The unwise use of our authority results in a separation of teacher and pupil, parent and child. That means the child loses the support he might have had if the authorities had been all they ought to have been.

It is a mistake to draw oneself up to full height and roar out an order. That makes a child afraid and when he obeys in fear he registers a vow to escape with all quickness.

It is a mistake to puff out one's chest and say, "Because I say so. I, I, I am the person to be considered first, last, all the time." The child will submit because he must, but he will register a protest against your domination that will last as long as he does.

Go softly all your days. Walk in humility before a little child. He is a mystery to the wisest among us. He has come out of the Infinite and he will return there, and you will know very little about either his coming or his going. You have been dressed with a little brief authority over him, and it behooves you to tread softly.

Our attitude toward a child who has emerged from his first childish growth ought to be kindly and impersonal. Avoid saying, "I say so." "Because I tell you to." Keep all personal reference out of your relationship as long as you possibly can do so. Make suggestions rather than permit yourself direct orders.

Children, once they pass the nursery stage, should begin to show individuality and express a certain degree of personal power. They feel this within themselves and whenever you command, whenever you dictate, whenever you dominate in any way, opposition rises to the surface and the child resists. Indirect guidance is best. Reserve your authority for the rare occasions when it is imperatively needed.

There are occasions, rare and delicate, when a parent must assert his authority in defense of the child. But that need not mislead us into making the mistake of misusing our little brief authority and rendering ourselves helpless to help our own children.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Butchered Hog Has Yellow Meat; Pen-Mate's Flesh Is White

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Dec. 30.—A. B. Fletcher butchered a 500-pound hog Monday and the meat, especially the fat, was so yellow, instead of white, that it was decided to have Luther Hunter, county agent, send samples to Austin for analysis, it being feared the animal had some kind of disease.

A smaller hog, kept in the same pen and fed on the same ration of skim milk and wheat, proved to have the whitest meat.

HIJACKERS GET LIQUOR CARGO

Two Railway Cars Looted By Gang of 25

AURORA, Ill., Dec. 30. (AP)—Two carloads of liquor from Florida were hijacked from a railroad track and hauled away in trucks by a gang of 25 men, Burlington railroad agents reported today.

The shipment, labeled "shrimps" and consigned to a fictitious firm in Aurora, contained 3,500 cases and was estimated to be worth $200,000.

The shipment was billed to the Aurora Distributing company, which does not exist, in care of a storage firm. The latter denied knowledge of the contents of the shipment or its intended consignees.

Frederick Buildings Near Completion

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 30.—Frederick's two major building operations, the federal building and First Baptist church, which were begun several months ago, will be completed in several weeks. The postoffice is now a beehive of activity, painters, carpenters, laborers and others being at work decorating the interior, finishing the floors, placing boxes and other fixtures, putting in marble walls and doing other finishing work.

A feature in the basement with which Postmaster A. M. Dennis is well pleased is a "swing" room, in which carriers and other employes can rest when not on duty or when waiting for a train.

Over 2,000 yards of cement floor are found in the basement and main floor of the Baptist building. An effort is being made by the Baptist building committee to secure a $20,000 loan on the structure in which case this building will be completed at an early date.

Work Resumed on Projects at Memphis

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Dec. 30.—Work on the new Memphis to Mulberry bridge highway was resumed Monday after nearly a week of lay-off on account of freezing weather. The company has about 3½ miles of concrete laid to date. Bad weather and the lack of sufficient materials has held the work up. Also work on the new federal building was resumed after a delay on account of the weather and the failure of the federal inspector to arrive in Memphis.

Work on the new road bed and bridges on the Estelline-Tell highway is progressing nicely this week. The road bed is in fine condition and Mr. Smith, superintendent of the bridge work, says that one piling for one bridge will soon be driven. The rocky creek beds caused a great deal of trouble at first but with a well machine the piles are easily driven.

RATE CASE TO COURT FRIDAY

Utility Seeks Injunction Against Floydada

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 30.—Judge James C. Wilson of the U. S. district court for northern Texas has set a hearing at Fort Worth for Friday on the question of making permanent an injunction secured by the Texas Utilities company against the city of Floydada to prevent that city from enforcing an ordinance calling for lower electric rates.

Deputy U. S. Clerk Olive Fluke of Lubbock received papers Monday in the case. She has approved $10,000 bond posted by the utility company here.

A temporary order restraining the city from enforcing the rates was issued Saturday by Judge Wilson.

20 Per Cent Reduction

The new ordinance, passed Dec. 8, sets up rates approximately 20 per cent lower than now are charged. The ordinance was to have been effective Dec. 20, replacing one passed by the Floydada city council, May 4, 1916.

The petition of the utilities company said it served communities in Panhandle, South Plains and New Mexico. Total property values at Floydada is set at $272,859.61 in the petition, which sets out that the company earned 1.9 per cent on the investment in the nine-month period ending Nov. 30, 1931.

Rates Set in 1916

Under the ordinance passed in 1916, the residential light rate was set at 17 cents per kilowatt hour, less two cents per kilowatt for prompt payment. Minimum was $1.50 for light customers. A minimum charge of $1 per horsepower for power customers was allowed.

The utilities company at present charges a residential scale of 11 cents per kilowatt for the first 25 kilowatt hours and three cents for consumption in excess of 50. The business scale ranges from 11 cents to three cents for all energy used in excess of 2,000 kilowatt hours. Initial charge for power consumption is $1 per kilowatt connection. The scale then ranges from five cents per kilowatt to one cent.

The rates proposed in the ordinance are: Residence, from nine cents per kilowatt hour to three cents; business, from nine cents to three cents; power, initial charge of 75 cents per kilowatt connected, an energy ranging from four cents to one cent.

Josephus Daniels Believes Liberal Demo Almost Certain to Win in '32

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (INS)—The economic situation—not prohibition—will be dominant issue in the 1932 presidential campaign, in the opinion of Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration.

He declared in an interview here today that "people are thinking of bread, not booze" and predicted that if the Democratic party nominates a candidate for the presidency who is a "progressive" they are almost certain to win.

Not since 1912 when the Democrats elected Woodrow Wilson has the chances of the party for victory been as bright as they will be in 1932, in Daniels' opinion.

His definition of a "progressive" candidate was one who has "no vestige of standpatism or pink Republicanism." Although he declined to predict what Democrat would win the presidential nomination he said that among the candidates who are "liberal and progressive" are Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Newton D. Baker of Ohio.

"The people will demand a change in 1932," said Daniels. "Conditions are bad, as everybody knows. The Republican party has had an opportunity to rectify conditions but has failed. It seems to me a change is inevitable."

Daniels sees 1932 as not unlike 1912 when Wilson, a liberal and progressive, was elected. He said that had the Democratic party nominated what is termed a conservative at that time, Col. Theodore Roosevelt would have been victorious.

Insurance Paid To Springer Widow After Long Search

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 30.—Mary A Burns, for whom search had been made by T. C. Loveless, local clerk of the W. O. W., in order to send her a $622.55 draft on an insurance policy, was located at Springer, Okla. She was the widow of William J. Burns, who died at Springer last spring. Burns was a member of the Frederick camp but had left here a number of years ago. For more than two years his whereabouts was not known either to the head office or to local officers of the Woodmen order.

Loveless kept inquiring of old-time settlers until finally he met J. C. Phipps who knew the Burns family in Arkansas. He said they moved here when he did in 1905 and farmed here several years, later moving to Springer.

FARM BOARD MEMBERS SUED

South Carolina Loan Man Claims Damages

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 30. (INS)—Two members of the federal farm board, three officials of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank, the warden of the federal penitentiary and three others were named defendants in a suit for $2,000,000 damages filed here today by R. C. Horne Jr., former president of the South Carolina Agricultural Credit company.

Horne charged that he was convicted and imprisoned falsely through a conspiracy.

The defendants are:

Eugene Meyers Jr., of New York, and Chester Norrill, of Washington, D. C., members of the federal farm board; Frank H. Daniel, J. Downs Bell and W. J. Thomas, officers of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank; Arthur C. Aderhold, warden of the Atlanta penitentiary; Harry B. Macklin, W. B. Eve Jr., of Coffee county, Ga., and Jenkins Sims, of Buske county, Ga.

The suit accuses certain officers of the South Carolina concern, a subsidiary of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of South Carolina, of manipulating the renewal of farmer's loans to their own advantage, and then, when they faced prison, of "looking for a scapegoat." The company was thrown into a receivership and Horne indicted.
