Rescue Plane Plunges Into The Atlantic

Vast Search Being Staged And Mass Disaster Feared

(By The United Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6. — A Navy patrol bomber carrying perhaps 12 men crashed in flames into the Atlantic last night while searching for five torpedo bombers which disappeared mysteriously, it was revealed today.

The patrol craft, a "Mariner" from the Banana River Naval Air station, crashed off Ponce De Leon inlet, near Daytona Beach. The coast guard here said that flames flared 100 feet into the air and were seen by a merchant vessel.

No Wreckage Found

No wreckage was found in the morning, in a first search of the area, the coast guard said. Rescue operations were underway there and a vast search covered all of Florida and nearby waters for the smaller planes. An aircraft carrier joined in the search.

Officials of the Banana River station at first listed the Mariner only as overdue, but other sources said it was that plane which crashed into the sea, presumably carrying all its crewmen to death.

The torpedo bombers flew from the Naval Air station at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., yesterday afternoon and vanished without trace. Today a widespread hunt over thousands of square miles of land and sea was set in motion.

Largest Ever Staged

The search was perhaps the largest ever organized from the continental United States. Scores of military planes and vessels, among them the escort aircraft carrier Solomons, were called on for aid in piercing the mystery and if possible rescuing the men.

The search spread over land and sea as the hours went by without word from the missing planes. They had last been heard from late yesterday, while on a routine flight over the Atlantic. Sundown came and they should have returned, but there was no sign. No radio messages came through to indicate what might have happened.

In Jacksonville, Rear Adm. Ralph E. Davidson, chief of naval aviation operations in the area, ordered an immediate investigation.

His office reported that a ship, the Gaines Mills, reported having seen an explosion some time yes-

More Japs Ordered Arrested

Prince Konoye Is Included In List Of Nine

Jap Communists Plan To Reveal Criminal List

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 6.—Two powerful political figures whom many Japanese themselves consider among their top war criminals—Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Marquis Koichi Kido—were ordered arrested as war crimes suspects by General MacArthur today.

Seven other men also were listed as wanted.

Konoye, the dashing prince who served as one of Japan's most prized "front men," had been premier three times. Kido, a small, shrewd wirepuller, served as Emperor Hirohito's right hand man throughout the war.

Get Another Shock

Jittery Tokyo received another shock before it had recovered from MacArthur's announcement. Japanese Communists announced they would release Saturday a list of 1,000 asserted Japanese war criminals, including the emperor and empress.

In the diet, Premier Kijuro Shidehara declared that his government was in no position to criticize the Allied lists. He said he had no information on how many persons the occupation authorities intended to indict.

Others Are Named

Reaching into the highest circles, the supreme Allied commander named as the other seven wanted:

Vice Adm. Takuo Godo, who was unofficial envoy to Germany to present Japan's side of the China incident, also former cabinet member.

Shigeo Odate, long time politico-economist.

Taketora Ogate, vice-president of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi and a foremost Japanese journalist.

Viscount Masatoshi Okochi, industrialist.

Lt. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima who had been Japanese ambassador to Berlin since 1938.

Count Tadamasu Sakai, member of the House of Peers.

Yakichiro Suma, long time diplomat; formerly councillor of the Japanese embassy in Washington.

Konoye, premier at the time of the China incident and held the post the last time just before Pearl Harbor, when he was succeeded by Hideki Tojo, has been one of the most talked about men in post-war Japan.

Recently he had been reported active in revision of the constitution and had asserted he was doing the work at the request of MacArthur although MacArthur denied this.

Ex-Envoy Blames Dean Acheson For Defeating American Policy

Hurley And Sen. Connally In Stormy Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley shouted in a stormy session of the Senate foreign relations committee today that Dean Acheson had "destroyed" and "defeated" American policy in Iran.

Acheson now is undersecretary of state, No. 1 man under Secretary Byrnes. He formerly was an assistant secretary.

Hurley, who resigned last week as ambassador to China, did not explain immediately the basis for his contention Acheson had defeated American policies in the near eastern country.

He and Chairman Connally (D-Tex) shouted back and forth at each other before the testimony went into the record.

The white-mustached ex-diplomat objected to Connally's questioning and demanded to know if the Texas senator wanted to testify in place of him.

Connally admonished him the hearing was going to be conducted in courtesy and repeated, referring to Hurley's assertions about Iran:

"Who was it?"

Would Submit Document

"All right," Hurley answered grimly. "It was Dean Acheson."

"What did he do?" Connally asked.

I prefer to submit the documents," Hurley said.

"A document is only a repetition of fact," Connally observed. "If you know, your testimony is as good as a document. Do you know what he did?"

Hurley hesitated.

"I don't want to do this."

"Well don't," Connally snapped.

Hurley said:

"I can do it. I'm not bluffing. All right, here she goes. Square yourself!"

Circumstances Described

Then Hurley launched into a description of the circumstances surrounding the writing and issuing of the American-British-

Halsey Declares That Proposed Army And Navy Merger Is Pure "Bunk" And Invites Disaster

Plan Is Branded Wild Cat Scheme By Navy Leader

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Adm. William F. Halsey, jr., declared today it was "pure bunk" to claim that the proposed Army-Navy merger would bring greater efficiency to our armed forces.

In his typically colorful language, salted with an occasional "damn," the wartime chief of the rampaging Third fleet strongly opposed the single department of defense advocated by the Army. At best, he said, it would mean only "confusion slightly organized," and could well "invite disaster."

Denies Plan Has Merit

Halsey denied vehemently that the Army's "wild cat scheme" had any merit. But even if it did, he said, its way of "trying to put it over is un-American, un-Democratic and damn dangerous."

The admiral sounded off bridge-fashion at a Senate military affairs committee hearing on pending merger legislation. He said he was testifying as a "combat commander" who knows what war is "both from command and from operations."

"To assume that this 'strange marriage' will bring about greater efficiency is pure bunk!" Halsey shouted. "The complex administrative problems which would arise from this superficial union might easily mean that we would be there 'last with the least'."

Favors Unity In Field

Halsey said he favored unified command in the field through the joint chiefs of staff. And he believed that the wartime joint chiefs of staff should become a permanent part of our defense organization.

But a single department of national defense, placing the Army, Army Air Forces, and the Navy under one secretary, would mean a two-to-one vote against the Navy at cabinet level, he said.

Halsey said he saw how a single defense department worked when he was naval attache in Germany for two years—how a single department gradually grew into a military force that dominated the civilian government.

"I have been fighting against that kind of government for four years," he declared.

Marshall Tells Of Plans For Defense

U. S. Combat Squadrons Robbed Of Most Of P-36s For The Defense Of Hawaii

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 — General George C. Marshall testified today that early in 1941 he decided "to rob practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-36 planes" for the defense of Hawaii.

Marshall, then chief of staff of the Army, also told a congressional committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor four years ago that he knew of no commitment by President Roosevelt for the United States to go to war before it was attacked.

Air Attack Feared

The matter of sending additional pursuit planes to Hawaii was brought up by Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell.

Mitchell recalled a War-Navy department agreement in early 1941 that attack from the air was Pearl Harbor's No. 1 danger.

As a result of that, Marshall said, he sought "to see what radical measures might be taken to meet to a degree" the needs of the Pacific outpost.

Took Most Of Planes

"I made the decision," he said, "to rob practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-36 planes."

Thirty-one P-36's were rounded up, he recalled, leaving most fighter squadrons in the United States with three P-36s each. Marshall said the 31, with the pursuit planes already in Hawaii, brought the total there to 50.

In all his planning, Marshall asserted, he had in mind "planes and guns for defense against an air attack on Hawaii."

As far back as Feb. 6, 1941, the committee learned, Marshall stated at a conference with General H. H. Arnold, air force chief, Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, intelligence

Young Demos Face Debates

FORT WORTH, Dec. 6 (U.P) — The two-day state convention of the Young Democratic clubs of Texas, opening at 2 p. m. today in Fort Worth, promises heated sessions.

Joe C. Luther, Dallas member of the state Democratic executive committee, was in Fort Worth yesterday putting the finishing touches on two resolutions, both fraught with debate - arousing properties, that he'll present to the group during the convention.

Would Abolish Poll

One of Luther's resolutions calls for abolition of the poll tax as a voting requirement in Texas, a proposal that never has failed to provoke the most vigorous opposition in every political gathering at which it has been offered.

The second, also controversial, proposes that the legal voting age in Texas be lowered to 18 years. This proposal is aimed primarily at enfranchising the under-21 veterans, and Luther's slogan, of course, is "If they're old enough to fight, they're old enough to vote." Since nearly 90 per cent of the Texas Young Demos served in the armed forces, the proposal may find considerable support.

Are Being Revitalized

After a war-time lapse of five years the Young Democratic clubs are being revitalized for participation in next year's elections and the process is expected to be accompanied by a struggle for con-

Painters Ask NLRB Hearing On Wages

HOUSTON, Dec. 6. (U.P)—Five hundred painters remained idle today while their representative in Washington sought to get a hearing before the National Labor Relations board on their demand for a 25 cents an hour pay increase.

The painters, on walkout from the big Navy hospital under construction and 20 other jobs, said they expected a ruling tomorrow.

RIOTS ARE PREDICTED

NUERNBERG, Dec. 6. (U.P)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, successor to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, predicted today that Germany might have "isolated food riots" this winter but said the Allies had enough soldiers to handle any situation that might arise.

Big Expansion Program For Tech Okayed

New Dormitories And Stadium Are Given Approval

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus of Texas Technological college, surprised a meeting of the college board of directors Wednesday by agreeing to underwrite $100,000 toward the cost of a $300,000 athletic stadium and announcing the principal sum of bonds in that amount eventually would become a gift of the college in a move spearheading a postwar expansion program.

Jones' announcement highlighted a meeting which saw the directors approve proposed construction of three additional dormitories for the college to cost an estimated $1,900,000; accept an offer of the City of Lubbock for a lease on facilities at Lubbock Army Air field, if declared surplus ;and appoint a committee to confer with Chairman Weaver Baker of the State Board of Control and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in Austin Dec. 14, with a request that the board of control press its application to the RFC immediately for gift of the Pantex Ordnance plant to Tech.

Select Name For Stadium

In accepting Dr. Jones' offer to underwrite the first $100,000 toward construction of the stadium with the provision that the remainder of the money be raised by popular subscription within 90 days, the board unanimously voted to name the stadium the "Clifford and Audrey Jones Memorial stadium" and pay an interest rate of 5 per cent per annum on the revenue-bearing bonds Jones would purchase. Jones had previously suggested an interest rate of three and one-half per cent, in his prepared statement read to the board.

"At the option of the board of directors of the college the bonds or any of them may be paid at any time and thus abate interest on such bonds principal as is paid," Jones' letter to the board stated. "This provision is solely in the interest of the college at such time as it might have excess funds and desired to stop further payments. I am not expecting bond principal ever to be paid," the letter continued.

Board Members Boost Total

Jones explained he hoped a stadium would help Tech become a member of the Southwest conference and added "I've always wanted to do something for the college." Chairman Thompson remarked earnestly "No man has done more for it than you have."

Immediately after voting to accept Dr. Jones' generous offer and

Pearl Harbor Tributes Set

A Texas basking in new-found peace will coast through tomorrow with few observerances of the Pearl Harbor day that touched off World War II.

Mayor Lee Preston of Denton proclaimed tomorrow Victory day. A special Pearl Harbor day program will pay tribute to the men who left their homes to serve in the war.

Plan Special Program

The observance will be linked with a special program planned to celebrate the country's oversubscription of its Victory loan quota. Lucky bond holders will be awarded prizes that were unpurchaseable during the war — a new car, a new electric sweeper, electric washing machine and radio.

A rocket show will be staged in Corpus Christi. It, too, is sponsored by the war finance committee as a Victory bond aid.

Galveston will hold a Victory jubilee celebration featuring entertainment and a ball as part of the Victory loan drive. No other events are planned.

Governor Drops Hint On 1946 Campaign

AUSTIN, Dec. 6 (U.P)—First word from Gov. Coke R. Stevenson on the 1946 political campaign slipped out today.

The governor was asked at his press conference if he will follow custom and make appointments to the state board of education before he goes out of office:

"Maybe I am not going out of office."

Terms of three board of education members expire on Jan. 1, 1947.

The next governor's inauguration will be on Jan. 21, 1947.

Fire Damages Ships, Million-Dollar Dock

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 6. (AP)—A raging waterfront fire that damaged two Navy vessels and half-destroyed a $1,000,000 outfitting dock was brought mostly under control early today after 1,000 men fought it for three and one-half hours.

The U.S.S. Extavia and the Navy tanker U.S.S. Marias, were damaged. Damage to the dock, other wharves and the ships might total more than $1,000,000, E. H. Amar, port manager, said.

Approximately 25 men were treated for burns and suffocation.

"Sweet Revenge"

Ex-Tenant Gets His Chance To Oust Landlord

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 6 (U.P)—Talk about "sweet revenge."

An unidentified Albuquerque landlord recently demanded that four families occupying a two-story apartment house move at once, because the building was to be torn down and a business establishment erected in its place.

Housing conditions being what they are in the Duke city, the tenants pleaded with the landlord, but to no avail.

Finally, one of the desperate tenants located a house to his liking, and in it was residing—you guessed it—his erstwhile landlord.

Gleefully, the tenant bought the house and demanded immediate occupancy. And the landlord has resorted to OPA with the plea that "there ain't no justice."

British Pledge To Aid Poland Delayed War

NUERNBERG, Dec. 6 (AP) — Britain's pledge to aid Poland in the event of hostilities delayed start of World War II seven days as Hitler unsuccessfully tried to keep the British neutral, according to a statement by Herman Goering filed at the war crimes trial today.

Allied prosecutors filed the statement with the international military tribunal. Goering, one of the 20 Nazi leaders on trial said Hitler originally had planned to invade Poland Aug. 25, 1939, but held up his attack until Sept. 1 while his diplomats sparred to try to "eliminate British intervention."

Efforts Are Described

Describing Hitler's last-minute efforts to keep Britain out of the war, Col. Merwyn Griffith-Jones, assistant British prosecutor, described the diplomatic maneuvering as "a bogus offer of negotiation intended simply to bribe or otherwise keep England from assisting Poland."

After seven days of behind-the-scenes activity, the records introduced as evidence revealed, Hitler unleashed his war machine and invaded Poland on Sept. 1. On Sept. 3, Britain and France declared war in support of Poland.

Text Of Pleas

The prosecution submitted the texts of pleas from President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, French Premier Eduard Daladier and Pope Pius which the fuehrer rejected.

Hitler's decision to strike in the fall of 1939 was made five months earlier when he ordered the Army to be ready to strike by Sept. 1, 1939. (The Goering statement indicated that Hitler had advanced the date a week in the interval.)

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, German naval commander and another of the defendants, was disclosed by one of his own memoranda introduced as evidence as taking a leading part in planning the occupation of Norway by introducing Vidkun Quisling to Hitler.

Raeder in a confidential memorandum said he had sold Hitler

Peace Within 10 Days Said To Be Likely

All Points Being Studied As Chiefs Open Discussions

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 6 — Hopes for settlement of the General Motors strike were raised today as the corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers headed toward their first wage negotiations in the 16 days of the walkout.

Neither side in the wage fight which has idled 213,000 workers offered a formal statement, but definite signs of optimism were appearing for the first time. One report said there might be peace within ten days.

Possibilities Not Exhausted

Today's bargaining session was arranged at yesterday's meeting of union and General Motors officials at Pittsburgh, attended by CIO President Philip Murray.

A citizens committee invited by the UAW-CIO to study the dispute said in its report today that the "full possibilities" of collective bargaining had not been exhausted.

President Murray of the CIO said "all points in dispute" would be conscidered at today's UAW-GM meeting and Walter P. Reuther, auto workers vice president, declared that GM had agreed there would be "no strings attched this time."

Had Previously Refused

General Motors previously had refused to negotiate other issues until what it termed "illegal picketing" had been stopped,

A new government policy, announced by Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet, permits manufacturers to seek price increases to offset wage boosts up to 33 per cent above the levels of January, 1941. It does not guarantee, however, that the OPA would grant such increases.

Three Per Cent Higher

This figure is three per cent higher than the previous one, and if added to an offer General Motors made the union before the strike was called would boost it to an average of about 13 per cent —still less than half the union demand.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president, speaking at a strikers' rally at Buffalo last night, said he was "happy to report" that negotiations were being resumed, but he gave no indication that anything would be conceded in the wage battle.

A union spokesman said some 450 presidents and stewards of Chrysler corporation local voted here last night to continue work "for three months, if necessary"

Cold Weather To Continue

(By The United Press)

Continued cold weather is in store for Texas.

The U. S. weather service reported today that temperatures this morning were higher than in several days, but forecast lower readings during the next 24 hours in all parts of the state except the southeast corner.

Lufkin reported a 24-degree minimum early today — Texas' coldest spot. It was above freezing in the Panhandle, usually the state's coldest section.

Low In East Texas

Over in neighboring New Mexico, the town of El Morro reported a low of four degrees. That state generally, however, had minimum temperatures from the low 20's to near the 40's.

Several East Texas areas had low temperatures slightly below freezing.

Skies were clear over the state, with no precipitation falling during the past 24 hours. New Mexico also had very few clouds.

Tonight's minimum temperatures were forecast to range from 24 to 28 degrees in the Panhandle and South Plains, and from 28 to 34 degrees in the northern portion of East Texas.

Three Persons Held As Loot Is Found

Police this afternoon held three persons in connection with investigation into recent thefts here —and announced recovery of such loot as fog and driving and tractor lights, plumbing tools and supplies.

Bill Mabray, assistant chief, said city detectives had taken statements from the three held and said indications pointed to further recoveries of stolen property, possibly including tires and wheels.

Those held admitted no illegal activities outside Lubbock county, Mabray said. Investigation was being continued.

Man Fails In Bold Robbery

HOUSTON, Dec. 6. (U.P) — Charles Edward O'Conner, 48, of Chicago, today was charged with a bold, daylight robbery of a department store cashier of $2,131.90 after his capture yesterday by a man who trailed him for 15 minutes through downtown streets jammed with holiday shoppers.

O'Conner admitted he entered the store yesterday afternoon, knocked down Louise Vella on a stairway after she put up a spirited fight for the money, and calmly walked out of the store to mingle with the Christmas crowd.

Arrested Soon After

Fifteen minutes later he was arrested by S. E. Williamson, of Dallas, superintendent of the H. L. Green company store which operated the store, who trailed him through the streets and overtook him in a shoe shine parlor

O'Conner told police he had lived in Houston for a week and was desperate for money to support his wife. He was unarmed.

He said he went into the store Tuesday and saw the cashier put receipts from each cash register into a small bag and place the bag into a money case.

Grabbed The Money

O'Conner returned yesterday and watched Miss Vella start up the stairway with the case. He met her at the landing and grabbed the money.

$214,120 Offered Lubbock Farmers In '46

Federal Agriculture Program For Coming Year Is Explained

A background of evolution of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, of which he is administrative officer for Lubbock county, was sketched at today's weekly Kiwanis club luncheon program in Lubbock hotel by Walter Y. Wells in emphasizing importance of Saturday's county-wide election to name 36 community chairmen for the local program's 12 physical divisions.

Wells said the 1946 program, like those of war years, had departed from the "plow-under" aims; rather, that it would impose no acreage allotments or marketing quotas. He said the government, through the Triple A, would guarantee 90 per cent of parity, 92½ per cent for cotton—which means that "price of products will be supported at least two years more."

The AAA program will underwrite soil conservation practices by offering $214,120 to Lubbock farmers in 1946 to reward compliance with suggestions for terracing, contouring, improvement of irrigation projects and raising of legumes or "cover" crops "to keep our soil young and fertile," he said. Each farmer who hopes to qualify for such subsidy must obtain approval first, from the community committeemen he will name at Saturday's election. First come will be first served in the benefits, in substance.

Chas. Whitacre reminded the club that Lubbock county stands far down, 176 among Texas' 251 counties, in subscription of E bonds in the Victory Bond drive —having pledged only 29 per cent

Impatience Grows In Germany With Attitude Of The French

BY CARL D. GROAT
Special Correspondent

FRANKFORT, Dec. 6 — While impatience grows with the French attitude on occupation questions, the British and the Americans are tending increasingly to operate their zones as units.

Newest cause of friction with the French is their failure to maintain proper feeding levels in their zone. General Eisenhower's recent report pointed out that caloric intake in some places had come down to 800 daily causing German health to deteriorate in French areas.

"I suppose," one officer remarked sarcastically, "that we'll end with having to feed the French zone too."

Impression Of Ruins

Leaving Germany, after a survey of more than a month, one is likely to retain an impression of stark ruins, dramatic aftermaths, contradictions, conflict, and yet co-operation.

Here in Germany are the Allies who co-operated closely under a stress, only to wrangle and delay now.

Here is a nation so badly battered that one shudders to think of another war, yet it's a nation which generally appears to regret only that it was defeated.

Here, too, is a nation most of whose people deny any sympathy with Nazis, yet privately will suggest that Nazism had its good features; and some even long for reappearance of a strong leader. Their inclination to lean on others and take orders from above is still inherent in Germans.

Not Generous Enough

A. U. S. Army intelligence survey discloses some Germans complain that the "generous Americans" have not proved generous enough, while others are fearful that Americans plan to withdraw from the occupation.

In Germany, too, is the paradox of almost complete apathy toward politics. Some citizens excuse this with the claim they fear to join any party lest like Nazis in it later is outlawed and its members are punished.

The Communists — close-knit, shrewdly led and working hard — have become the dominant party but are encountering opposition in the south which is strongly Catholic. In the north where the Nazis had sold a strong bill of goods, the Communists run into hatred of the Russians. North Germans believed the war primarily was against Russia.

The Social Democrats, roughly akin to England's laborites, had the strongest following hitherto in moderates and right-wingers, and now are showing some strength in scattered parties.

The Socialists are co-operating to some extent with the Communists, but are charry of any real union.

Job One Of Headaches

Meantime the job of administering the conquered land is replete with headaches. The Germans are not quite so docile as they were immediately after their defeat, but generally the displaced persons are more troublesome than Germans.

The Eisenhower report noted the incongruity of a half million adequately housed displaced persons in the American zone, but they are idle due to lack of a work program. In some places the Army has had to send out patrols to halt their depredations.

Germans resent presence of the MP's but overlook the fact the Nazis were responsible for them by enslaving them during the war. American administration is good but is hampered by departures of good military government officials and complications resulting from the four zones with barriers between them.

The re-education program is suffering because of indifference or inability of the Army to supply appropriate personnel. Success of the occupation depends on whether Germany learns Democracy and scraps militarism.

The Army is large enough from a military standpoint for safety purposes but needs more trained top men. It's probably appropriate criticism that there was not enough advance planning for military government nor for necessary re-industrialization. However military government has worked out generally well, and it's hoped the big problem of industry can be solved. A clear-cut policy which will permit Germany to live but not to rearm still is required.

The decline of the dinosaur is believed to have been related to a change in climate, to which they were unable to adapt themselves.

Lorenzo, Robertson, Estacado Top Quotas

LORENZO, Dec. 6, (Special)—A big Victory Loan campaign rally in the high school gym here Wednesday night saw residents of Lorenzo, Robertson and Estacado go over the top in their subsciptions both of E bonds and other bonds quotas by a substantial margin.

The three communities had a quota of $33,000 in "E" Bonds and $15,800 in other types of bonds for the Victory Loan for a total of $48,800. With tonight's sales during the intermission between the Lorenzo-Robertson boys and girls basketball games at the school, the residents of the communities pushed their "E" bonds sales well past the $33,000 quota and other type of bond sales past $50,800. The final total now stands at more than $83,800 for both types of bonds.

Fred Wiese of Lorenzo is chairman for all three communities with Roy J. Terrell handling bond sales in Lorenzo, John A. Wheeler handling sales in Robertson and "Bunch" Fullingim handling sales in Estacado.

In the baseball games, Lorenzo and Robertson split their games with the Lorenzo boys winning over the Robertson boys and the Robertson girls winning over the Lorenzo girls—and with Uncle Sam winning all the way around.

Flu Cases Increase, Health Rules Given

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP) — Reports from various sections of the state indicate the number of influenza cases is increasing with the advance of the fall season.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, said that while most of these cases are mild and lend themselves to treatment readily, "it is essential to realize that influenza, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence."

The State Health officer said "living by the laws of nature, securing plenty of sleep, daily exercises in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene, are the best known bulwarks against all respiratory diseases."

Gen. Marshall Warned Hawaii Real Danger For Islands Would Be First Six Hours Of Warfare

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Pearl Harbor investigators learned today that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short took command in Hawaii with advice from Gen. George C. Marshall that:

1. The danger time for Hawaii would be "the first six hours of known hostilities," and

2. The "real perils" were "sabotage" and "surprise raid by air and by submarine."

Files Are Received

This was disclosed when the Senate-House investigating committee received files of correspondence between Marshall, then Army chief of staff, and Short from February to October, 1941.

Also disclosed were exchanges between Marshall and Lt. Gen. C. D. Herron, 1940 commander in Hawaii, detailing the history of an "alert" ordered that year because of fear of a Japanese sneak raid. Herron reported that alert had not upset troops or the civil population.

The fact that Hawaiian forces were kept on the alert for months in 1940, on direct orders from the War department, was disclosed in the Army Pearl Harbor inquiry board's report made public last August.

The first document in the Marshall-Short file was a letter dated Feb. 7, 1941, when Short took over his command, in which the chief of staff told him:

Would Discourage Enemy

"My impression of the Hawaiian problem has been that if no serious harm is done us during the first six hours of known hostilities, thereafter the existing defenses would discourage an enemy against the hazard of an attack.

"The risk of sabotage and the risk involved in a surprise raid by air and by submarine, constitute the real perils of the situation. Frankly, I do not see any landing threat in the Hawaiian islands so long as we have air superiority."

Marshall added that "the fullest protection for the fleet is the ("the" underscored) rather than a ("a" underscored) major consideration for us."

Marshall also advised that he understood from Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, that Husband E. Kimmel, new fleet commander, was sometimes "brusque and undiplomatic" but "at heart a very kindly man."

Army To Protect Base

Marshall hoped that Short would always make it "clearly apparent" to Kimmel that the Army's mission was to protect the Navy base. He said he accentuated that because the day before he had run into "old Army and Navy feuds" on another matter.

The chief of staff said he would do all he could to strengthen air protection in Hawaii and was looking into the possibility of getting barrage balloons from England.

Short wrote Marshall a lengthy letter Feb. 19 outlining conditions he found and saying he was taking steps, among other things, for:

"1. Cooperation with Navy.

"2. Dispersion and protection of aircraft and of the repair, maintenance and servicing of aircraft.

"3. Improvement of the harbor defense artillery."

On March 5, Marshall asked for "early review" of the situation on defense from air attack. He told Short that establishing a satisfactory system of coordinating all available means "is a matter of first priority."

Short replied that one of the first projects he had investigated was "the aircraft warning service which I believe is vital to defense of these islands."

He said the National Park service was making certain restrictions on use of its lands and he thought the Secretary of War (Stimson) ought to take it up directly with the Secretary of the Interior (Ickes).

"Defense of these islands and adequate warning for the United States fleet is so dependent upon the early completion of this aircraft warning service that I believe all quibbling over details should be stopped at once," Short added.

Requirement Not Waived

The Hawaiian commander got back a letter March 15, signed by Gen. William Bryden in the absence of Marshall, which said park service officials "are willing to give us the temporary use of their lands when other lands are not suitable for the purpose" but would not waive a requirement that all building plans be submitted to them.

As it developed, no permanent radar stations had been constructed months later when the Japanese attacked.

Over the months, Short was pressing continually for more equipment and funds. His letters stressed, too, a need for more air fields and protectice revetments.

"On all fields," he said on March 15, "the planes have been kept lined up on the field where they would suffer terrific loss."

Short told his commander May 2 that the Navy apparently was getting funds without submitting detailed estimates and hence had been able to "accumulate required materials and almost corner the local labor market."

Maneuvers Held

In May, Short held maneuvers and reported to Marshall that the Navy had cooperated and there had been simulated bombing attacks.

In July-August there was a difference of opinion over where a new air field should be established. Short proposed a location between Kipapa and Waikakalua, but the War department decided on Kahuku point.

Marshall wrote Oct. 10 that he had been looking over Short's "standard operating procedure," prepared July 14, and was "concerned with missions assigned to air units."

"For instance," he added, "the Hawaiian air force, among other things, is assigned the mission of defending Schofield barracks and all air fields on Oahu against sabotage and ground attacks . . .

"This seems inconsistent with the emphasis that we are placing on air strength in Hawaii."

Short replied that with planes in the air the air forces would have 3,344 men "with no assigned duties" and that any ground threat probably would not develop until planes were destroyed.

Once the planes were lost, he added, several thousand air men might be left "and it would not look plausible to have them sit down and do nothing while infantrymen were detailed to protect them and their air fields."

Marshall suggested in reply that the airmen "be permitted to concentrate on the technical training."

It was disclosed that the 1940 alert, while Herron commanded Army forces in Hawaii, was ordered because the War department suspected Japan was timing a settlement of differences with Russia so as to undertake a raid against Oahu.

On June 17, the War department ordered an alert of the "complete defensive organization to deal with possible trans-Pacific raid." It suggested this be done on a "maneuver basis" to avoid "creating public hysteria."

Herron reported next morning that he had "all antiaircraft observations and security detachments in position with live ammunition and orders to fire on foreign planes over restricted areas and in defense of any essential installations."

"Some local interest in ammunition issues but no excitement," he added. "Navy inshore and offshore air patrols in operation."

Herron was told June 19 he might modify his measures but "adaquate guards on a semipermanent basis will be maintained at all critical points."

All Went Smoothly

On June 24th, Herron wrote Marshall saying all had gone "smoothly and efficiently."

"I have been highly gratified," he said, "by the promptness and precision with which the planes get off the ground every morning promptly at 4:30."

On July 15, Marshall authorized additional relaxation "except that first, precautions against sabotage will be continued on the basis of instant readiness, and second, aerial patrol measures can be reduced to a training status, but so arranged as to be reestablished on an alert basis on short notice."

After two months of such precautions, Herron advised that the "only present measurable loss is the weathering of the hundreds of miles of field wire in place, largely for anti-aircraft purposes, but that is probably worth while."

Asked by Marshall, on Aug. 28 whether the alert, as then in force, was imposing "too heavy a tax to continue on the present basis," Herron replied:

"My absolutely frank and honest opinion is that 'the alert' as now carried on here does not dull the keen edge, or exhaust morale. I think that our real power accumulates and that now that the season of individual target practice and instruction is about over. The maneuvers of numerous small units camped along the beaches will build up naturally and easily the effectiveness of the alert."

Get Better Cough Syrup By Mixing It at Home

Quick Relief. Big Saving. So Easy! No Cooking.

To get quick relief from coughs due to colds, you should make sure by mixing your own cough syrup at home. It's no trouble at all, and you know it's pure and good. It needs no cooking, and it's so easy to make that a child could do it.

From your druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add enough plain syrup to fill up the pint. To make syrup, stir two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired. The full pint thus made should last a family a long time, and gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick results, you've never seen its superior. It seems to take hold instantly, loosening the phlegm, soothing the irritated membranes, and helping to clear the air passages.

Goodfellows

in spreading Christmas cheer to kiddies, bring or mail your contribution to The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas avenue as soon as you conveniently can do so. As has been the custom since the Goodfellow movement started here in 1934, all contributions will be acknowledged by publication in The Morning Avalanche and Evening Journal.

The expectation is that the number of children to be remembered this Christmas will be about the same as last year, when they numbered 2,000. But the cost of everything is up, as everyone knows from experience. Consequently, it will cost a little more for each child on the list.

The money will be used to provide for each child a package containing, among other things, a new toy or toys selected especially for the boy or girl receiving it, as well as candy, fruits and nuts. Everything has been bought, but remains to be paid for.

There will be no distinction between children because of race, color or creed. All will be treated exactly alike.

A little further along, help will be needed in preparing the packages. Volunteers will be called for at that time. On Christmas day, more volunteers will be needed to distribute the packages to the children.

Santa Claus To Hundreds

This is the eleventh Christmas that the Goodfellows have been on the job in Lubbock. During that time they have played Santa Claus to around 34,000 boys and girls. Not once during those years have the generous people of Lubbock failed to over-subscribe a Goodfellow fund.

Contributions will be received at The Avalanche - Journal office, 1211-13 Texas avenue. Or they may be mailed to the Chief Goodfellow, whose identity is secret P. O. Box 561.

The Chief Goodfellow urges that you send your donation—anything from 25 cents up—at once.

Mrs. Jopling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilson, Big Sandy, Tex.

The pair met at William Beaumont General hospital at El Paso in 1941, where Capt. Jopling was a patient and Miss Wilson was a nurse on duty.

Welfare Rolls Being Boosted

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP) — The old age assistance rolls showed a net increase of 1,008 during November, which lifted the present rolls to 174,449, reports the state Department of Public Welfare.

The net increase in expenditure for old age assistance was $61,852 and the average grant was $24.44.

The aid to dependent children rolls showed a net decrease of 490 families, with a net decrease in money of $5,451 for an average grant of $21.27. The number of families on the November aid to dependent children rolls was 10,587.

The aid to blind rolls increased 222 cases, with a monetary increase of $8,357 and an average grant of $25.14.

The department said figures are not yet available on the total number of grants which were increased above $30 by the new constitutional amendment permitting a $40 maximum payment.

The increasing number of applications is attributed by the department to: cessation of wartime employment, diminishing number of service allowances being received, and decrease in rental income as Army camps and defense industries close down.

Japanese-American Girl, Run Out Of Her Home Town By Vigilantes, Will Receive DSC Awarded Brother For His Bravery

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (U.P.) — When Mary Masuda, a Japanese-American girl, returned to her California home last May five self-appointed "vigilantes" ran her out of town.

This Saturday she will have a different kind of visitor, Gen Joseph Stilwell, who will present to her the Distinguished Service Cross the Army has awarded to her brother who was killed at Cassino, Staff Sgt. Kazuo Masuda. Three other brothers also served in the Army, one being wounded in Belgium.

Rally To Be Held

After the presentation, at the Masuda family home at Santa Ana, Cal., the city's civic unity committee will hold a rally honoring veterans of all races. There will be speakers representing the Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, negro, Mexican and other minority groups of American citizens in that area whose young men wore the country's uniform.

It was General Stilwell who said recently that veterans of this war should "use ax handles if necessary" to see that their colored comrades are treated justly when they return home.

The war relocation authority arranged the presentation ceremony in co-operation with the Army.

High Prices On Herefords

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 6 (AP)—M. P. Moore, of Senatobia, Miss., owner of the Circle M ranch, paid an all-time high price of $6,100 for a female Polled Hereford at the annual American Polled Hereford Breeders association show and sale being held here.

The prize animal bought by Mr. Moore was Alf Stella Beau 7th, owned by John M. Lewis and sons of Larned, Kansas. Officials said it was the highest price paid for a female Polled Hereford in the history of the association.

Another Sells High

Another female bringing a top price was Alf Rose Battle 78th, owned by John M. Lewis and sons, to A. G. Rolfe, of Poolesville, Md., for $6,000.

The champion sales bull of the show, Mischief Lamplighter 2nd, owned by R. E. Halbert, of Sonora, Tex., was auctioned for $7,000 to Henry and Jean Holfeldt, of Belair, Md.

Other top prices paid for female Polled Herefords are as follows: Dulcie Mischief 25th owned by Mans Hoggett of Mertzon Tex., sold for $3,750 to L. J. Top Prices Paid

Top Polled Hereford bull prices were paid as follows: M G Domino 6th, owned by G. R. Brewer, of Louisville, Ky., sold for $3,000 to Giltner brothers, of Immence, Ky.; Domino Lad 4th, owned by Double E ranch, Senatobia, sold for $3,000 to R. J. Lowe of Huntsville, Ala.; Alf Battle Domino, owned by John M. Lewis and sons, sold for $2,900 to Ralph Painter and sons of Monmouth, Ill.; and Alf Battle Domino 56th, owned by John M. Lewis and sons, sold for $2,900 to Ralph Painter and sons of Monmouth, Ill.

Eighty animals picked from the best of the show were auctioned Tuesday and 71 more are scheduled to be sold today.

At a banquet of the association Tuesday night, A. G. Rolfe of Poolesville, Md., was elected president succeeding Jim Gill, of Coleman, Texas. Mans Hoggett of Mertzon, Tex., was elected vice president and B. O. Gammon of Des Moines, Ia., was re-elected secretary.

John M. Lewis was continued as chairman of the board of directors, while M. P. More, Jim Gill and Clifton Rodes, the latter of Louisville, Ky., were named members of the board.

Missouri Students Unable To See Game

DALLAS, Dec. 6 (U.P) — There were few sports fans here today who thought the Cotton bowl football game Jan. 1 would be played before anything but a capacity crowd.

But at the University of Missouri, there were a lot of disappointed students who would have helped fill the Dallas bowl except for a board of deans refusal to grant a one-day extension of the school's Christmas holidays.

The deans' action made it impossible for many of the students to make the trip from Columbia, Mo., to Dallas. Missouri students are expected to be present for classes on the morning of Jan. 2.

Mechanics To End Courses In City

S. M. Newberry, jr., will be in charge of the meeting which opens with a barbecue.

M. W. Waldron, U. S. Employment Service office manager, will discuss "Why the Employment Service Is Interested in Training Programs for the Adult Worker."

A. L. Ferguson will talk of "How the Automotive Jobber Can Assist the Mechanic." Other short talks will be heard and sound movies will be shown.

Joe L. Reed, district supervisor of vocational training, will present unit certificates.

Services Held For Children

CHELAN, Wash., Dec. 6 (AP)—A Navy chaplain, who rushed here last week when he learned two of his young nephews were passengers in a school bus, which had plunged into Lake Chelan, officiated yesterday at memorial services for the two boys, 13 of their schoolmates and the bus driver.

He was the Rev. Murdock Hale of Oakland, Calif., whose nephews, Stewart, 6, and Douglas, 8, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hale, were among the nine whose bodies still rest within the depths of the icy lake.

Flowers Dropped

As flowers dropped from small boats into the water, the Reverend Hale read services for the dead at the spot where the bus hit a rock and swerved off into the lake on Nov. 26. Townspeople, who had closed their stores and schools for the mournful occasion, joined relatives and friends in lining the bank of the lake for the services.

Earlier, sorrowing schoolmates had attended funeral services for five of the victims in the flower-banked Masonic temple. The Reverend Hale officiated at these services also.

Previously private funeral services had been held for another of the young victims and for Jack Randle, the bus driver.

Search for the bodies of the nine children still missing has been abandoned.

Masonic Memorial In Waco Assured

WACO, Dec. 6 (U.P.)—The erection of a new memorial Masonic grand lodge temple in Waco was assured today, following authorization for the appointment of a building committee by the Grand Lodge of Texas A.F. & A.M.

Construction will start as soon as materials are available, it was decided at the 110th annual communication of the Grand Lodge. Grand Master Bascom Giles of Austin, who presented the resolution, recalled that when he took office last year, the building project would be a major goal of his administration.

An auditorium large enough to accommodate several thousand persons will be an important part of the building, as will a library, museum, and permanent quarters for officers of various Grand Lodge bodies.

Deeds to a location adjacent to downtown Waco were presented to Giles by Waco Masons.

Goldsboro Man To Be Buried In Abilene

MORTON, Dec. 6. (Special)—The body of J. W. Smith, about 60, of Goldsboro, who died apparently of a heart attack Wednesday afternoon while riding in a truck with his son 30 miles west of here, will be sent to Abilene for burial, Singleton Funeral home reported.

The man and his son, Vernon Smith, had delivered a tractor earlier at Portales, N. M., and the son informed Deputy Sheriff Herman Crockett that his father complained of pain in his chest after they unloaded the tractor. His father was driving as they started back, but said his chest was hurting again and asked him to drive ,the son said.

About 30 miles west of Morton, his father slumped over against him. Thinking he had fainted, the son rushed him to Dr. J. A. Davidson in Morton, who pronounced the man dead.

V. R. Smitham Is New Dallas City Manager

DALLAS, Dec. 6. (AP) — V. R. Smitham became Dallas city manager today after nearly five years of service as acting city manager.

The city council voted Smitham's appointment after accepting the resignation of Col. James W. Aston who had been on military leave from the city manager's position.

Colonel Aston's letter of resignation, dated Nov. 16, stated that private enterprise offered opportunities he could not afford to refuse.

Cancer is killing 165,000 Americans annually, second only to heart disease in number of deaths.

Houston Cabs Stage "Slow Down" Strike

HOUSTON, Dec. 6. (U.P.)—Houston taxi drivers today staged a "slow down" by refusing to haul more than one passenger in a protest of a city ordnance returning them to pre-war status.

Cab drivers of four major companies, all recently purchased by Carol Bass of Beaumont and Orange, participated in the slow down while smaller companies continued their usual operations.

The ordinance directs drivers to haul as many passengers as convenient but forbids their waiting for additional passengers after the cab is engaged.

"Our action is an attempt to give the taxi riding public service it can't get under the present limitations," F. C. Walker, president of local 349 of the International Teamsters, Chauffers, Warehousemen and Helpers, said.

Taxi service at railroad stations and downtown hotels was practically at a standstill, but, Walker said, all emergency calls would be answered. Taxi companies in residential areas continued to answer calls.

Latin-Americans To Receive School Aid

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP) — Dr. C. W. Hackett, chairman of the executive committee of the institute of Latin-American studies at the University of Texas, said today $300 is now available for tuition scholarships for Latin-American students.

Dr. Hackett said the money has been contributed by the Austin Pan American round table and the Austin Rotary club, and is to be used for individual awards of $50 made on a competitive basis.

Violent Quarrels Among Nazis In Japan Over Hidden Wealth

By SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
Special Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 6. — Heinrich Stahmer, Nazi ambassador to Japan during the dying days of the Third Reich, unwittingly has revealed that there were violent quarrels among Nazi leaders over funds and possessions of the German colony in Japan when they realized the war was lost.

Stahmer was seized by U.S. authorities more than a month ago and is held in house arrest in the resort area back of Mount Fuji in central Japan.

Funds Are Seized

In addition to the 299 silver bars valued at nearly $120,000 captured in the Karuizawa raids, it is known that more than $250,000 in American currency and gold bars are held by our intelligence agents as part of the German war fund deposited here long before the war. It was accountable only to the German embassy.

Existence of the fund was known to a fairly large circle associated with the embassy and the Nazi party, as well as innocent members of the German community.

The fund now in our possession reportedly consists of approximately $175,000 in bills of all denominations, evidently gathered before the war since none is of recent issued. No appraisal of the gold has been made.

Information Secret

None of this information has been given out by our counterintelligence which maintains the closest secrecy over investigations into Nazi operations and finances. My information comes from some who were connected with earlier transactions by which the party leaders sought to cover up existence of the fund.

When Berlin realized she was cutting herself off from the rest of the world financially, according to one informant, she established funds in every neutral and Axis country in readily convertible securities and currency or metal and put these funds in care of respective ambassadors.

In Special Safe

The Tokyo fund was kept in a special safe at the embassy.

Meanwhile all Germans in the colony were taxed heavily over the past 10 years and urged to turn in any foreign currency or metal they came across in exchange for Japanese yen "for support of the Reich." These proceeds augmented the special fund, although a great deal is known to have slipped into the personal possession of top figures responsible only to Berlin.

When the war drew to a close in August Stahmer and Dr. Erich Boltze, then German embassy counselor, had a bitter quarrel over disposition of the fund. Before their differences were composed U. S. agents seized the entire amount.

Although Stahmer is confined under strict guard and all requests for interviews are denied, members of his household, including his wife, are permitted access to him. They also are free to come and go as they please, so the entire German colony knows the story—or at least one side of it.

Kentucky's first permanent settlement is near the site of Harrodsburg, once known as Old Fort Harrod.

Most people call it "hard coal," but, in the mineralogist's scale of hardness, anthracite is only slightly harder than rock salt.

Extra Effort Urged In E-Bond Campaign

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — With one goal passed in the Victory loan and attainment of another in sight, the war finance division today urged extra effort by the people to go over the top in the important E-bond drive. The formal campaign ends Saturday.

Today the $4,000,000,000 goal for sales of Victory bonds to individuals was passed, with latest totals showing sales of $4,036,000,000. The treasury said reports of heavy corporation sales indicated that the $7,000,000,000 corporation goal might be passed tomorrow.

But E-bond sales were at a level of $1,114,000,000—only 55 per cent of the $2,000,000,000 which is included in the individual sales goal. War Finance Director Ted R. Gamble, who has constantly stressed the importance of E-bond purchases as a block against inflationary spending, said there would have to be a sharp increase in E-bond purchases in the next two days in order to reach the goal.

Big Expansion Program Set

tendering him the honor of naming the stadium in behalf of himself and Mrs. Jones, the board members agreed to raise $50,000 themselves and to accept the offer of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and alumni of the college to raise an additional $150,000 for the stadium.

"I'll guarantee $10,000 of the amount," Board Member Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas spoke up, and immediately Chanslor Weymouth of Amarillo said "I'll guarantee $5,000 and believe I can get another $5,000 from Amarillo."

Would Seat 15,000

The proposed stadium would be constructed of steel and concrete and seat an estimated 15,000. It also would include shower and locker facilities for both the home and visiting teams.

If the remainder of the necessary funds are raised within the 90-day period as set out by Dr. Jones, contracts would be let and construction started in time to have the stadium available for use by next fall, providing materials and labor are available, it was said.

Construction of three additional dormitories on the campus, for which a bonding agreement was discussed with J. Ervin Shilg of Dallas, representing Garrett and Company, would provide for housing of 1,000 more students. The dormitories, two of which are designed as combination girls' units with separate dining rooms served by the same kitchen and the other for boys, would be contracted for by March, 1946, under the agreement. Each would contain 164 rooms, similar to present structures.

The new girls' units would be situated in the area between the present girls' dormitories and the president's home and the new boys' building would be located north of the present boys' structure. As one of the boys' dormitories is now being utilized by women, the new construction would make available an additional dormitory for boys as soon as the new buildings are completed.

The board voted to approve the bond purchase contract provided the insurance firm making the loan would make certain changes in the contract allowing redemption of any of the bonds after a five-year freeze period on payment of a 1 per cent premium for the bonds which would bear three and one-quarter per cent interest over a 35-year period.

Tentatively the directors plan to start construction as soon as the contract can be let as plans have already been drawn by Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, who was present for Wednesday's meeting.

Previously in the meeting, the board heard Mayor Ribble and Homer D. Grant present the City of Lubbock's offer of use of the 1,700-acre Lubbock Army Air field by the college. Mayor Ribble, in presenting the offer, pointed out that barracks and other buildings there have a capacity of up to five or six thousand students and in addition there is a hospital, power plant, sewage disposal plant, machine shops and other improvements.

Could Use Extra Room

"We could use it tomorrow," Chairman Thompson immediately declared, and President Whyburn explained that the housing thus made available would relieve congestion now when the school has an enrollment of 2,500 and next semester will probably exceed 3,000, including 1,000 G. I. students already enrolled for postwar training.

The board voted to accept the LAAF offer and lease the buildings on a dollar-a-year basis and in a resolution requested Lubbock city commissioners to submit to the city in the next election a proposal to sell the field to the college for the nominal sum of $1,000.

Attending the session were: Chairman Thompson, Weymouth, Hoblitzelle, McGee, Kyle Spiller of Jacksboro and O. B. Ratliff of Lubbock, Hedrick, W. T. Gaston, Tech business manager and board secretary, and President Whyburn. Absent were John B. Collier, jr., Ft. Worth and Robert Price of El Paso.

New Artificial Eye Perfected By Navy

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (U.P.) — The Navy has perfected an artificial eye that moves, and even shows expression.

This new plastic model does everything but see.

The new eye should hit the civilian market sometime in 1946, and at a price which even the lower income groups can well afford. The Naval Dental corps, working at the Naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., has manufactured more than 500 of these eyes during the past year.

Insects of the Philippine Islands presented a problem to automotive engineers when they ate such parts as cork gaskets, fiber bushings and wire insulation on military cars and trucks. These parts had to be wrapped in ordinary paper, wax paper, and then covered with a chemically-treated wax.

Psychology tests made at Purdue show that wearing spectacles makes a person look more honest and intelligent.

Planes Coming Into General Business Use, Dealers Told

The West Texas businessman will fly, as a part of his business day—and not for sport at the end of his day.

He will fly something light enough not to cost much—yet something powered enough to cruise more than 100 miles an hour, while "cutting across" section lines.

In other words, he will use an airplane like he today uses his automobile, for utility.

So believe M. F. Dagley and Emmett Morris, who doing distribution business on Municipal airport (now South Plains Army Air field) as Dagley & Morris, have booked more than $200,000 in orders for Piper Cub aircraft against the time when the Piper Cub company commences mass production Jan. 1.

Hosts To Dealers

Dagley and Morris were hosts Wednesday night at an open house and dinner in the North ballroom of Lubbock hotel to dealers of their 65-county West Texas district,—and some from Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Thirty-six person attended. Daidy Clairborne and Clyde Green, a vocal-piano team, entertained. William Winter, staff member of Eastern Air Trails, of New York City, spoke.

Others in attendance were the following from Lubbock: Virgil Musick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bean, Jerry Fulton, Mrs. Dagley and Mrs. Morris, Miss Betty Brown, Clyde Green, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Perkins, M. I. Hall, L. W. Sailsbury, C. C. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Perkins; and Cecil M. Hunter of Amarillo, F. D. Mason, jr., of Texhoma, Okla.; W. E. Madden of Odessa, Buck Sims of Pampa, W. M. McDonald of Fort Worth, W. M. McDonald of Fort Worth and Mrs. McDonald, G. O. Pauler of Crosbyton, Ralph Brown of Plainview, Claude Hutcherson of Plainview, Bill McNeely of Tahoka, Lee Williams of San Angelo, all dealers; and Woodson Wadley of Kerrick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinds of Hobbs, N. M., B. T. Smith of Tahoka, Buck Taylor of Lockhaven, Pa., of the Piper Cub company, J. Boyd of Santa Fe, N. M., and Sarah Sheppard of San Angelo.

Missing Planes

terday, but the exact location was not given.

Each of the torpedo bombers carried two men, and as many as a dozen may have been aboard the patrol plane.

The weather in the search area was generally fair today, with brisk winds and occasional showers. It was about the same when the planes vanished.

Entire Area Searched

They were believed to have been over the sea on a routine flight, but today the search was also extended to cover the entire Florida peninsula. Planes and surface craft patrolled all waters 150 miles to sea, from north of Jacksonville to the Bahamas.

The escort carrier Solomons, off the southeast Florida coast by chance, was called into the search and launched her planes this morning. The Solomons onrmally carries 25 or 30 planes.

The Royal Air Force at Windsor field, in the Bahamas, sent out a flight. The Third Air force at Tampa, Fla., and the Air Transport command base here joined in the work, flying low over the Everglades and the flat Florida land.

Seemed To Have Vanished

The search was being made without any hint of where the missing planes and their crewmen might be. The flight seemed to have vanished completely and simultaneously.

Authorities were unable to guess what may have occurred that would not allow time for even one of the group to flash a radio signal.

Navy officials here said only that the Solomons "happened to be in the neighborhood." It was not known if it were returning to a United States port from a war area.

All merchant shipping in the coastal waters also was asked by radio to aid in the search, the largest air-sea rescue operation for the stations in this area.

Each Had Two Men

The planes, from the Naval Air station at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were reported overdue when they failed to return from a routine flight. Each carried two crewmen.

None of the planes sent out distress messages, apparently, and the exact location of any mass disaster was a mystery.

The Fort Lauderdale station did not release the names of the missing men.

Christmas Boxes To Be "Thank You" For The Yanks Up North

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 6. (U.P.)—American soldiers in the Arctic will have good cause to remember the people of Seattle this Christmas.

"This is our way of saying 'thank you' to the men who have won the war for us," said Mrs. William S. Lindberg, chairman of Seattle's Victory Canteen Committee, in describing how 2,000 gift boxes will be sent by air to GIs in Alaska and the Aleutians.

Pan American Airways will transport the five-pound boxes free of charge, from Seattle to Annette Island, Ketchikan, Juneau, Whitehorse, Fairbanks, Galena and Nome.

ESTIMATE ON LIVING COSTS IS INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — The administration provided a possible wedge today for reopening some deadlocked wage disputes by boosting its estimate of how much living costs have increased since 1941.

Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet announced the cost of living rise is closer to 33 per cent than the previously accepted 29.5 or 30 per cent. And he added that employers who raised pay scales accordingly could use that factor as a basis for seeking price increases.

Elaborating On Policy

Collet was elaborating on President Truman's announced wage-price policy. In that declaration of October 30, Mr. Truman listed cost of living raises among the few classes of pay boosts which could be considered by OPA in passing on price increases.

Neither Mr. Truman then, nor Collet last night, offered any guarantee that OPA would hike ceilings as a result.

Collet directed government agencies dealing with various phases of the wage-price policy to use the new 33 per cent figure in comparing the increase in average straight time hourly earnings of a worker with the advance in living costs since January, 1941.

A special presidential cost-of-living committee reported last spring that 3 or 4 per cent should be added to the then estimated 29.56 per cent advance to take account of poorer quality merchandise and disappearance of low-cost goods.

British Pledge

on the idea of occupying the Norwegian coast.

Proving the lies of Hitler's diplomatic double talk with the fuehrer's own official records, British prosecutors revealed that a wehrmacht directive dated April 3, 1939, ordered the Army to be ready for the Polish invasion "at any time from Sept. 1, 1939, onwards."

Denied Invasion Plans

Three weeks after the Nazi 'der tag" had been set, Hitler made a speech to the reichstag on April 28 in which he shouted that he "had no thought of proceeding in any way against Poland," according to other documents introduced.

Germany's Axis partner, Italy, was not let in on the plan to invade Poland until Aug. 12, 1939, and Mussolini made an urgent but fruitless request for Hitler to postpone the war to permit Italian rearmament to progress, other documents showed.

Trial Will Recess

At the request of counsel for the 20 accused Nazis, Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding judge on the four power tribunal, announced the trial would recess from Dec. 20 to Jan. 2.

The order alerting the German Army to be ready for invasion of Poland by Sept. 1, 1939, was issued by Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command and one of the 20 German leaders on trial. The directive disclosed that it was made on Hitler's order.

Attached to the order was another directive signed by Hitler himself on April 11, 1939, referring flatly to "preparations for the conduct of the war" against Poland.

head, and Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, war plans chief, that:

Planes Out Of Date

1—The Navy had too few anti-submarine nets at Pearl Harbor and there was a possibility of a Japanese attack.

2—The planes available in Honolulu were out of date.

3.—There were two active defense areas—Panama and Honolulu.

Marshall was questioned at length concerning the pre-war Allied conferences, presumably with reference to contentions that there was a U. S. commitment to go to war before the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor.

Knew Of No Promise

Mitchell asked:

"Did you ever know of any commitment by the president or anyone else by which the United States was committed to engage in war without being attacked."

"No sir, I did not," Marshall replied.

"Did these conferences contain any commitment for the United States to go to war?"

"No sir," Marshall answered emphatically. "I didn't interpret them as such. They were intended to deal only with possible eventualities."

Mitchell asked whether Marshall knew of any commitment made at the historic Roosevelt-Churchill conference in August, 1941, when the Atlantic charter was proclaimed.

"I was not involved in the political discussions," was the general's terse reply.

He said he also did not know of parallel British-American protests to Japan until he returned to the United States and general discussions with the State department were started. Then, he said, he learned of the message President Roosevelt had seen "after he sent it."

Appeals For Gifts

Parker F. Pronty appealed for heavy contributions of toys and other gifts from Kiwanians, who were asked to bring offerings to next week's luncheon, for the Goodfellows' stockpile of Yuletide cheer for those who otherwise will be deprived. It was announced that an annual Fathers and Daughters program would be given next Thursday by the club. One hundred 12 extra guests will attend, it was indicated.

Rev. Alsie H. Carleton, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, offered an invocation. George Wilson was introduced as a new member. Guests included Garnett O. Reeves and B. M. AT LAST

We have decided what to do with our

NYLONS

Yes, our NYLONS will be coming in just any day now—Those gorgeous, kleer, sheer, nationally advertised Claussner NYLONS that are exclusive with the Jo Ann Shop in Lubbock . . .

We figured and figured on a plan for distributing these first NYLONS EQUITABLY. We did not want to favor our charge customers over our cash customers—or vice versa. And we wanted all of our loyal out of town customers to have a fair chance with our valued Lubbock patrons . . .

So here's what we finally decided and we think you'll all agree it's as fair as fair can be . . .

Every Jo Ann customer who is interested in obtaining a pair of NYLONS as soon as possible is asked to write a penny post card to the Jo Ann Shop, Lubbock, Texas, immediately. And the sooner you get this card into the mail, the sooner you'll get your Nylons. And here's why . . .

As your card gets to the Jo Ann Shop, it will be numbered, when our Nylons arrive and your number is reached, you will immediately be notified that a pair of Nylons are wrapped and are waiting for you at the Jo Ann Shop . . .

Here's what you put on your post card:

Name, Address, Phone number (if you have one), Hosiery size, and that's all there is to it . . .

If you like, you may state at the bottom of your card that you'd like a pair of Nylons each month. Your card will be filed in the Jo Ann Hosiery club file, and a pair of Nylons will be held each month for you . . .

If you prefer, you may bring your application for Nylons in person when you're shopping for beautiful Christmas Clothes and Christmas Gifts at the Jo Ann Shop tomorrow . . .

England Will Get Four Billion Loan

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 6. — A United States loan of $4,400,000,000 to Britain, subject to approval by Congress and Parliament, was announced today in the British press and was hailed as a boon to world trade.

Official announcement of the agreement, following 12 weeks of negotiations between the two countries in Washington, was expected to be made tonight simultaneously in the two capitals.

Repayment In 50 Years

The London press said the agreement called for repayment over a 50-year period starting from 1946, and declared no interest would be payable for the first five years. Thereafter, the accounts said, the rate of interest would be 2 per cent.

The ultra-conservative Daily Sketch termed the loan a "Magna Carta for world trade," and said it would "ease Britain's winter." The laborite Daily Herald said failure of the negotiations would have meant "further tightening of belts, general imposition of restrictions to avoid a call for dollars, and a period of intensive trade rivalry."

Pay For Lend-Lease

London newspapers said the agreement provided that of the total amount of the loan, $650,000,000 would be used in payment for goods in process of delivery to Britain when lend-lease was ended.

The Daily Herald said acceptance by the British of the Bretton Woods monetary plan was a condition of the loan, and that "the United States Congress will be kept in session to ratify the loan simultaneously with the passage of the Bretton Woods bill by Parliament."

The Daily Mail said the detailed document listing the terms included a provision that Britain work toward a reduction of the sterling debt and dissolution of the dollar pool. The Mail said also that one condition was that Britain join with the United States in a long-range plan to reduce tariffs and eliminate quotas and restrictions on world trade.

Six Texas Counties Over V-Loan Quotas

(By The Associated Press)

Six Texas counties have gone over the top in the Victory Loan drive.

But the state as a whole remains far behind.

Latest figures show that Brooks, Sutton, Irion, Denton, Sterling and Menard have topped their quota.

Texas has bought only 46.2 per cent of its $90,000,000 E-bond quota.

It is estimated that the U. S. Army used 94 pounds of waterproofed paper for every soldier who entered combat.

Practice Of Labor Unions Protested

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 6 (U.P.) — Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma senators and congressmen today had an emergency request from the Fight for Free Enterprise group to stop what the group's executive committee termed labor unions' "extortion and intimidation" practices.

Chairman William Walker of the executive committee was directed to wire the legislators. "This organization," the committee said, "with its many thousands of adherents not only in Texas but throughout the entire southwest, expects you (legislators) to act to kill this revolution by halting labor dictators."

The committee said it wanted to see the "enactment of legislation entirely fair but just as strict in making labor unions responsible as are the laws which now regulate industry and business."

Scientist Claims Japs Dying For Weeks After Bombing Raid

Atomic Bomb Rays Caused Fantastic Effects

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP) — A scientist described today how fantastic effects of rays given off by atomic bombs killed Japanese weeks after the blasts which flattened Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Dr. Philips Morrison, who helped assemble those bombs, said the rays strangely affected the blood and made the victims a prey to fatal infection.

Tells Of Gruesome Findings

In a statement prepared for the special Senate atomic energy committee he told of the gruesome findings of a party which inspected the devastated cities after the Japanese surrendered.

He said most persons within a mile of the bombs died quickly —either from the great heat of the blast or injuries suffered in demolished buildings.

Many who escaped death by blast or burn, Morrison said, "died from the effects of radium-like rays emitted in great number from the bomb at the instant of the explosion."

"This radiation affected the blood-forming tissues in the bone marrow," he said.

"The blood does not coagulate, but oozes in many spots through the unbroken skin, and internally seeps into the cavities of the body. The white corpuscles which fight infection disappear."

After describing the destruction wrought to Hiroshima Morrison said it is probable that an atom-bombed American city "would be as badly damaged as a Japanese city, though it would look less wrecked from the air.

A suit filed by the U. S. under the War Food administration to revoke occupation of certain lands in Dawson county and collection of rents from Curtis W. Hankins was settled with the verdict favoring the plaintiff. Lands and premises and $30. rent will be recovered by the U. S. according to the court ruling.

J. F. Stroud was awarded $750 in his suit against Carl Ratliff for injuries allegedly sustained in an automobile accident.

Walter Lee Crider in suit against the Hartford Accident and Indemnity company was awarded $2,500 for workmen's compensation.

Russian declaration at Tehran regarding Iran.

When he completed that portion of his testomony the senators appeared puzzled at the connection with Acheson, but no one questioned him immediately on the point.

Meanwhile Artemus L. Gates, Navy undersecretary, paid his second call on President Truman since his return from a trip which included a tour of China. He wouldn't talk about the conference.

Before the Hurley hearing resumed today Senator Bridges (R-NH) said he wanted answers to three questions arising out of Hurley's testimony before the committee yesterday.

Bridges said the debonair diplomat's opening testimony yesterday convinced him Hurley had been "sabotaged" by his subordinates. He added that while President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes apparently had backed Hurley up privately, they had failed to do so publicly.

Answers Demanded

Bridges said he wants the answers to these questions:

1. "Why did the subordinates try to undermine his work?
2. "Why are they still holding responsible posts in the diplomatic service?
3. "Why did the president and the State department refuse publicly to support General Hurley?"

"We need to let a little air into the dark recesses of the State department," Bridges told a reporter.

Oddities Of The Football Year—

Backward Punt Converted Into 85-Yard Touchdown Run Takes Prize; Dog Blocked One Score

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (AP)—When California converted its own backward punt into an 85-yard touchdown run that knocked U. C. L. A. out of the Rose bowl, coaches and writers participating in the Associated Press season-end poll agreed they had found the oddity of the football year.

There was the matter of an Indiana touchdown being called back because of interference by a German boxer dog and the strange affair at Princeton when Yale punted only once in an entire afternoon for a total yardage of zero, but the California incident was the queerest.

Went Over His Head

California had the ball on its own 33. Left End Jack Lerond had been called back to punt but the slippery ball slithered off the side of his foot and went back over his head, bouncing to his own 15. His blocking back, Quarterback Ed Welch, scooped up the ball and ran 45 yards to the UCLA 40 and lateralled to Lerond who went the rest of the way for the only score of a 6-0 game.

The dog story happened in Champaign, Ill., where Indiana, destined to go on to capture its first conference title, was playing Illinois. Midway in the second period with fourth down on the Illinois 15 the dog wandered onto the field behind the Illinois defense just as the play started. Referee Bill Blake blew his whistle just before Melvin Groomes faded back and tossed a pass to End Ted Kluszewski in the end zone. The score was nullified but Indiana, luckily for its Big 10 hopes, went on to win, 6-0.

Catches Own Pass

Down in the southwest, Jack Price of Baylor caught his own pass for a seven-yard loss after it had bounced off the arm of a Texas defending lineman, while at Ohio State, Fullback Ollie Cline once punted straight up and back for a seven-yard loss.

Texas had a handyman manager in Billy (The Rooster) Andrews, 4 feet 11 and weighing 150 pounds, who dropped his duties as water boy to kick the extra points. He was the co-captain in the traditional Texas Aggies game.

In a season when entire backfields were changing schools as of November 1 with Navy transfers, the fans found such colleges as Middlebury, Franklin and Marshall, Tufts and Ursinus finishing their season by Oct. 13 and Johns Hopkins not starting their campaign until Nov. 3.

Startled The Crowd

Allan Dekdebrun of Cornell startled the crowd in the Colgate tilt by dashing forward five yards as though off on a run and then calmly punting over the head of the Raiders' safety man.

After sitting on the bench for seven games, Hobey Thomas, a Kentucky back, got the sign to enter the contest with West Virginia. As he reached for his helmet his shoulder snapped out of place. A teammate helped jerk the shoulder back in place and Thomas dashed onto the field to play.

Wichita Falls Is Picked To Defeat Amarillo Sandies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Opening guns of the battle for the Texas schoolboy football championship will be fired this week-end as the 16 district champions swing into action in the first round of the state play-off with 112,500 fans expected to see eight games.

Paris and Lufkin will be the scenes of contests tomorrow afternoon, with games at Fort Worth and San Antonio tomorrow night and at Wichita Falls, El Paso, Waco and Houston Saturday.

Few Big Boys Around

Tight favorites appeared all along the line, meaning there were few of the big point boys hanging around.

Wichita Falls was picked to trim Amarillo, Odessa to beat El Paso High, Highland Park (Dallas) to topple Paris, Crozier Tech (Dallas) to beat North Side (Fort Worth), Waco to down Breckenridge, Lufkin to defeat Marshall, Goose Creek to win over Milby (Houston) and Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) to edge out Brownsville.

Only seven of the sixteen teams are undefeated. With perfect records are Odessa, Paris, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville. Wichita Falls and Highland Park each has been tied.

Expected To Win

Strangely two of the most beaten teams—Jefferson, with three losses, and Goose Creek, with two—were expected to defeat a couple of elevens that haven't lost a game or been tied this season.

Top game on the list is that at Paris which matches undefeated teams—the only one in which the participants haven't dropped a tilt this season. But the biggest crowd is expected at Houston where 22,000 are due to tax the capacity of the stadium to see Milby battle Goose Creek. San Antonio forecast 20,000 for its game.

Here's how they look from this corner (anticipated attendance in parentheses):

FRIDAY

Highland Park at Paris, 2:30 p. m. (7,500)—A good ball game with Highland Park winning by a touchdown.

Crozier Tech at North Side, 8 p. m. (18,000)—All-out offense against all-out defense with Crozier Tech winning by two touchdowns.

Marshall at Lufkin, 2:30 p. m. (7,000)—Lufkin is undefeated and untied; it will be the same way after this game.

Brownsville at Thomas Jefferson, 8 p. m. (20,000)—Brownsville, on its record, should be favored, but the nod from here goes to the comeback kids of San Antonio.

SATURDAY

Amarillo at Wichita Falls, 2 p. m. (12,000)—A tight one but Wichita Falls by seven points.

Odessa at El Paso High, 2 p. m mountain time (14,000)—Odessa by two touchdowns.

Breckenridge at Waco, 2:30 p. m. (12,000)—Waco by three touchdowns.

Goose Creek at Milby, 2:30 p. m. (22,000)—Probably the best ball game in the state with Goose Creek edging out.

West Texas Teachers Cage Season Started

CANYON, Dec. 6. (AP) — With a 76-36 victory already on their record, West Texas State Teachers' basketball team is in a campaign which includes games in Kansas City this month and the quest of the Border conference championship.

The Buffaloes defeated guards from the Herford, Tex., prisoners of war camp last Saturday. In their next contest, the Buffs will meet a Sheppard field quintet here Saturday night.

Invited to the double-headers sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball at Kansas City, the Buffs will play Loyola university — national champs — on December 21 and Valparaiso university on December 22.

Raiders Open Cage Season

Portales Squad First Opponent

The collegiate basketball season will get underway tonight at Texas Tech gym with band music from the Tech band livening up the opening game of the season for Coach Polk Robinson's Red Raiders, who tangle with the Eastern New Mexico State college of Portales at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Polk Robison is hopeful his charges can mark up a win in the opener. He is sending four veterans and a 6 foot, 8½ inch freshman against the visitors and feels the Raiders will at least make a good showing.

Three Letterman Start

Gene Hardey and Jiggs Jackson, lettermen from last year, will be at the forwards, Jay Kerr, letterman, and Bill Kelley, member of the team the first semester last year, are to work at guards and Tilley Sneed, towering Idalou freshmen, at center.

The quintet has been working together since practice opened two weeks ago and has acquired considerable polish. Kerr and Hardey, particularly, are said to be much better than last year, while Sneed has made material progress in working into the Tech scheme of play.

Squad Of 40 Boys

Almost 40 lads have been candidates for the Raider team, most of them freshmen. Robison has not had sufficient opportunity to classify each aspirant and may use many men tonight in efforts to see how they function under fire.

Certain of seeing action will be: Rabbit Pardue, Lubbock freshman; Ardis Barton, Spring Lake frosh; Clayton Roberts, Portales sophomore; Jim Putnam, Throckmorton fish; Don Dollar, Dumas freshman; and Leon Sckoup, Dublin first-year man.

The Eastern New Mexico team, coached by Al Garten, won its only game of the year when it upset New Mexico Military institute by a close score last week. The visitors will remain in Lubbock for a second game Friday night, also at 7:30 p. m.

BORDER OLYMPICS SET

Region Two, Class A Football Playoff Moves Into The Final Round; Two Games Are Slated

The Region Two, Class A schoolboy grid playoff will move into the final round this weekend, with games at Littlefield and Sweetwater due to name the two clubs which will scrap it out for the final honors.

The fireworks starts at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at Littlefield, where the greatest offense meets the greatest defense, Denver City, in the region playoff. The scene will then shift to Sweetwater, where the Roscoe Plowboys and Monohans Loboes play a night game on the neutral field.

Officials of the winning schools will likely hold a meeting Friday night at Sweetwater to set the date and site for the regional final game.

Littlefield will be seeking its second trip to the regional finals, playing Merkel last season at Littlefield, and losing to the Badgers' great little back, Billy Wayne Frazier.

The chances of getting another glimpse of Frazier this season was blanked out when Roscoe came up with a back rated as even greater than the Merkel Myth, and Roscoe's Wild Walter Maloney is the big noise in the south half of the regional territory.

Littlefield goes into bi-district play Friday afternoon with one of the best records in West Texas, challenged only by the high geared Ballinger Bearcats. Littlefield has scored 428 points this year, bettering in ten games what the high scoring team of last year did in 11 games. Littlefield obtained the scoring habit last season by counting 362 points.

Denver City is 209 points behind the Wildcats in scoring, showing 219 for the season. But the Mustangs haven't had to do much scoring to finish the season with nine wins and one tie. The combined opposition of ten foes could muster only two scoring forays across the Denver City goal line, for 12 points.

Levelland's Lobos scored once in a 6-6 tie with Denver City in the second game of the season. Sundown's Roughnecks scored in the last game of the season, but Sundown lost a 6-39 decision.

Littlefield played three other Class A district winners, beating two of them, and losing only to Ballinger in a tight 19-14 battle The Wildcats nosed out high scoring Hereford, 13-6, and walloped the District 4-A champions, Floydada, by an 85 to 0 score.

The only other mar on the Wildcats record was a 20-20 tie with Sudan, which Littlefield won by penetrations to gain the district title.

Roscoe has won ten games, lost none, and piled up 330 points to 31 for the opposition. The only team to press the Plowboys was Merkel, with Roscoe winning 14-12 in a duel between Maloney and Frazier.

Monahans record is unknown, but were beaten by McCamey, Class B bi-district winner, and tied by Pecos. McCamey won 7-6, and Pecos tied the Loboes, 14-14.

Hood Is Winner In Main Wrestle Card

Making short work of the main event, the Hood returned to the win column last night in the weekly wrestling show at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena, besting Charley Trejo in straight falls.

The Hood and Trejo were paired after the two had successfully survived the wrestle-royal that named the pairings of the six grapplers for the card.

The wrestlers "ganged" Milt Olsen first, and Olsen was pinned in five minutes. Two minutes later, Gorilla Poggi was pinned, pairing these two for the opening preliminary.

Four minutes later, Tont Ross was pinned, and Ivan Jones went out a minute later, pairing this pair for the semi-final.

Olsen won the one fall preliminary, beating Poggi in 17 minutes with a leg split.

Jones came from behind to win the semi-final of the card, after Ross had won the first fall in 16 minutes with a leg split. Jones evened the match in another 18 minutes with a giant body swing, then took the deciding fall in six minutes with a flying body block and pin.

The Hood had little trouble in handling Trejo in the main event, taking the first fall in 14 minutes with a knee lift and body pin, then taking the second fall in 30 minutes with a body slam and full nelson.

Average man's chest circumference should be 10 per cent greater than that of the belt line.

Big Job Bill Hits A Snag

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—The so-called "full employment" plan got hit by a truck in Congress. It's a long way from being a full employment plan now.

President Roosevelt was for the plan in principle when Senator Murray (D-Mont) offered it in the Senate 11 months ago. President Truman endorsed it, too.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex), shortly after the Murray bill went into the Senate, introduced an identical measure in the House. Each declared:

Have Right To Work

"All Americans able to work and seeking work have the right to useful, remunerative, regular and fulltime employment and it is the policy of the United States to assure the existence at all times of sufficient employment opportunities to enable all Americans who have finished school and who do not have fulltime housekeeping responsibilities freely to exercise this right."

There it was. It said people who wanted jobs had a "right" to jobs. And it said the government would "assure" full employment.

This bill finally was passed. But it was a watered down version.

It had this change right at the beginning:

"All Americans able to work and seeking work are entitled to an opportunity for useful, remunerative, regular and fulltime employment, including self-employment in agriculture, commerce, industry or the professions."

Phrase Is Gone

Gone was the phrase: "Right" to full employment.

Even though the watered version which came out of the Senate called the measure a "full employment act," the House expenditures committee toned this down and called its bill the "employment-production act."

There's nothing in the House bill about full employment. It speaks of a "high level" of employment. Which means: The government wouldn't promise jobs to everyone nor say it was obligated to find jobs for everyone.

Mako lost the hard duel 11-9, 6-4.

Don Budge, seeded No. 1, had little difficulty disposing of Bert Brown, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-0. Fred Perry outplayed Jeff Millman, Beverly Hills, 6-2, 6-1. Bill Tilden had to unlimber his fastest serves to win 6-1, 8-6, over Jerry Hover.

Ex-Texas Convict Is Held By FBI

DALLAS, Dec. 6 (U.P.)—John Will Buster, jr., 35, of Dallas, was in the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington, following his arrest on a fraudulent check charge.

The FBI said Buster, a former inmate of the Texas state penitentiary, had obtained checkbooks in Denver, Colo., and Toledo, O. His trail of bad checks allegedly extended from the west to east coast.

Buster's criminal record includes more than 20 arrests and 10 prison sentences. He escaped from the Texas penitentiary in 1934 but was recaptured 10 months later.

Pastors Open Session Here

At Asbury Methodist church, at Twentieth and Ave. T, was opened this morning a Pastor's Retreat in the interest of evangelism, second phase of the Crusade for Christ throughout Methodism.

Ministers from the Plainview and Lubbock districts are to be present for the two-day meeting, according to Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Lubbock district superintendent. Rev. W. C. Hinds, former Asbury pastor, now superintendent of the Plainview district, joins Mr. Lipscomb and Dr. C. A. Bickley, Asbury pastor, as official hosts for the session.

Meals To Be Served

Lunch and evening meal will be served at the church each of the two days.

Morning and afternoon sessions of the Retreat are to be confined to ministers, Mr. Lipscomb said, but night services are open to the public, and an urgent invitation was extended the public to hear visiting speakers.

Opening the Retreat at 10 o'clock this morning, Rev. W. E. Peterson, of Plainview, former Asbury pastor, was to lead devotional, followed by an explanation of the Retreat by Rev. Frank Beauchamp of Abernathy, secretary of the board of evangelism.

At 11 o'clock, Dr. Hazen Warner, from Drew Theological seminary, was to speak.

Afternoon Session

After lunch at the church, the afternoon devotional was to be led by Dr. A. W. Hall of Lubbock. Speakers are Dr. John McCormick, of Little Rock, from the board of evangelism, and Dr. Warner, who will include a round table discussion in his address.

An evening meal will be served at 5:45, and the evening service, open to the public, starts at 7 o'clock with a sing-song, followed by an address by Dr. Warner.

The same program outline will be followed Friday, with Rev. J. B. Baker, Amherst pastor, and Rev. I. A. Smith, of Post, leading morning and afternoon devotional, respectively. Dr. Warner will speak again Friday evening in a general public service to close the Retreat.

A similar meeting was held last week at Sweetwater, for that part of the conference, and the third is scheduled next week at Clarndon for the eastern part of the conference.

Doughnut Shortage Alarming To Dunkers

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 6 (U.P.)—Shreveport dunkers were alarmed today over a threatened shortage of doughnuts.

When eight pastry workers walked out at Vitamelk Bread Co., the situation was bad enough, the dunkers thought, but when the manager said the two men he had hoped to keep as doughnut makers wouldn't report to work, the problem became acute.

Vitamelk's manager said the sugar shortage was responsible. He notified pastrymen a week ago they might be laid off temporarily, he said. Instead of waiting, they walked out.

Rome inherited from Greece the use of masks in the drama.

HOW about a campaign in these parts to eliminate the "one-eyed" automobiles which are infesting the streets and highways in unprecedntd numbers?

After all, driving an improperly lighted motor vehicle is agin' the law and, more important, it's a dangerous practice because the approaching motorist can't tell until the last split second which car light is off and which one on. It's hard to know which way to dodge and sometimes wrecks result.

There's quite an epidemic of cars and trucks without tail-lights, too, albeit one-eyed cars are by far the greater threat to life and limb.

It occurs to us that when drivers are so careless that they insist upon getting out at night in improperly lighted vehicles the public has a right to protective measures on the part of city, county AND state officers, especially the latter.

Anyone who doubts the prevalence of improperly lighted vehicles in and around Lubbock these nights needs only to get in his car after dark and ride around awhile.

THE Plainsman admittedly is no expert in the field of public education but it occurs to him, as it must to many outside that field, that public schools everywhere would do well to extend the teaching of spelling and basic grammar far past the levels now in vogue.

This probably doesn't fit in with the expert ideas of the Columbia university pedigogues, and perhaps others of the "advanced" school of educational thought. But regardless of the opinions of the doctors of philosophy in education around and about, the fact remains that our schools and colleges are turning out graduates—and have for many years—whose knowledge of the requirements of English and of selling is 'way off base.

It seems to us that public education from the primary grade through college is doing very well with the frills and furbelows and we suppose a certain amount of that sort of fluff is defensible.

But from where we sit, grammar and spelling represent education per se and it would be a good idea if students were permitted to spend less time listening to radio programs, dancing around Maypoles and discussing world problems four miles over their youthful heads and more on impressing them with the fact that there is only one "t" in "cat" and that commas, semicolons and correct tenses have their places in this glad, new world.

THE college people tell us that they dont have time to beat the basic principles of English into the noggins of kids who come to them poorly equipped due to inefficient high school instruction—and maybe they don't. But that doesn't absolve the college people from guilt. After all, those who teach English in the high learn to spell by the time he comjobs in college and if they can't do the jobs well that weakness bounces right back into the laps of the college teachers.

As for spelling, if kids can't learn to spell in five or six years of such instruction, they should be exposed to eight, 10 or 12 years of it. It doesn't make sense to say "a youngster ought to be able to learn to spell by the time he completes the sixth grade," and let it go at that. If he hasn't learned to spell by then, he should be given more spelling.

Obviously, it takes an experienced doctor to evaluate, properly, the degree of technical education obtained from any given medical school by any given graduate; a lawyer to assay, properly, the degree of excellence of the graduates of any given law school.

Therefore, we do not presume to pass upon the degree of excellence, or lack of it, in the technical and professional teaching fields.

However, we can read and our hearing is good. So we say without exaggeration that if the medical and law schools of the nation aren't doing better teaching jobs in their fields than our arts and science institutions are doing in the matter of English, then it's a miracle that we aren't all dead, or in jail!

IN the matter of spelling, that definitely is not a college job. Youngsters should have all of that instruction necessary before they get out of high school.

But the fact remains that no matter what professional educators may say, public school kids aren't being exposed to (1) enough spelling, or (2) good enough spelling instruction, or (3) a combination of the two.

Reading, writing and figuring are still the major foundation stones of education and bid fair to remain as such.

Every individual employs all three throughout his lifetime, therefore there cannot be too much stress laid upon them.

More and better instruction in English and spelling is an educational "must" no matter how one looks at it and it's time educators and non-educators, as well, band together to bring it about.

PERHAPS there are those who have felt there has been too much policing of football games in Lubbock. We long have had on duty at all ball games here state police, city police, military police and state guard police—together with Tech ROTC boys as ushers and uniformed firemen who could be pressed into service if necessary.

But The Plainsman has always thought it a good idea to have plenty of persons at the game ready, if the occasion should arise, to handle any serious difficulty.

Up at Pampa the other day, a bad situation was barely averted because there was insufficient policing at the Pampa-Amarillo game. At the conclusion of the contest, which had been marked by unruly actions by a sizeable portion of the big crowd, irresponsible boys and young men by the several hundred ganged around Referee Ab Curtis and threatened bodily harm to him. As Mr. Curtis—one of the very best and fairest football officials in the country—told the press later, action of a couple or three Pampa policemen and the Pampa High school saved the day. But the point is, the crowd should never have been permitted to become unruly during the game and the "ganging up" around Mr. Curtis should never have been possible.

Crowds of all sorts are apt to "get out of line" and give way to mob action and football crowds—especially when their favorite is being given a drubbing—are no exceptions.

The incident at Pampa offers opportunity to commend authorities at both Texas Tech and Lubbock High for maintaining plenty of police protection at games here—and to commend officers here for keeping things well in hand.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

IT is rather pitiful the way it is so hard for grown-ups to have a good time at a party when it is so simple and easy for kids.

MILLETT

To begin with, the small fry start out with the right approach. They're delighted to be going. Some parties are better than others — but there is no such thing as a dull party —when you are 4 or 5 or 6, instead of 40 or 50 or 60.

Then you go anticipating a good time, instead of worrying for fear you will be bored. And you don't wonder about how you look. You know what you are wearing is extra special.

HONESTY IS BEST

AND if a little boy says your dress is pretty you don't go coy or say "What, this old thing?" No, you answer "I know it," with honesty and dispatch.

There is no pretense either about what's-to-eat being of prime importance. You aren't concerned with watching your figure or worrying about allergies. And if you don't like something you just say so, and ask for a double serving of something else.

The host or hostess isn't wholly responsible for keeping the young guests in line. All the guests feel duty-bound to see that things are done right and are ready and willing to put an obstreperous guest in his place. That makes for a better party.

THE HOSTESS DOESN'T CARE

AND — unlike grown-ups — the host or hostess has as much fun as any of the guests. For with the young host or hostess it is everyone for himself, and none of that foolish worrying over whether other people are having a good time. They're at a party, aren't they, so why wouldn't they be having fun?

It's too bad, isn't it, how much easier it is to have fun at 4 than it is at 40, when you have to work so hard at it?

ITALY TOYS WITH DYNAMITE

COLD, hungry and desperate Italy is toying with the dynamite that once before blew its national structure to bits.

There, as a myriad of widely-diverse political factions struggle for the top as the result of the Parri government's fall from favor, a strange parallel seems to be developing to the situation in 1922 which provoked the Fascist 'March on Rome."

Then, it was the inability of the Communists and Socialists to get along with each other and among themselves which paved the way for Mussolini—and its present low estate.

The Communists went over—lock, stock and barrel—to Russia. One school of Socialists plumped for an immediate revolution, a minority Socialist group urged retention of constitutional and democratic methods. The radical Socialists captured most of the trade unions, and a succession of strikes, mostly of the sit-down variety, paralyzed whole cities, whole industries and whole services.

The budding Fascist group which had not got to first base in the 1919 elections, in which their only two candidates for the Parliament, one of them Mussolini, were defeated, were standing by. They grabbed the opportunity which the widespread political trouble and strikes offered them. Fascist strong-arm men, recruited largely from unemployed World war I veterans, usurped the army and police, put down the strikes and routed the strikers.

The Fascists achieved a unity where the Socialists and Communists had failed, but it was a superficial unity, manufactured with violence and secured with threat. Recent history shows its fate.

Along at this stage, Mussolini came in. Now, Il Duce is gone. But the Italian people will have to be on guard against his ghost.

Profit-Sharing May Be Labor Solution

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — New Senator William Knowland of California is a staunch Republican. Stuart Symington, Surplus War Property administrator, is a Democrat. But they seem to have something in common when it comes to helping solve the tangled labor situation.

At any rate, Symington telephoned Sen. Knowland the other day to congratulate him on his recently announced plan for Labor to share in company profits.

PEARSON

"It's a great idea," the Surplus Property administrator told the senator from California. "I know, I tried it in St. Louis and it worked."

What Symington put across in St. Louis was an experiment which the labor-management conference could well have studied. He had a bad strike in his Emerson electric plant, led by a union leader who frankly admitted he was a Communist.

Finally, Symington proposed profit-sharing. At first Labor was suspicious. So were the stockholders and directors. But Symington persevered. Finally they agreed to a plan whereby profits at the end of the year were divided, partly on the basis of seniority, partly on the basis of skill and importance of work.

First year the profits were only $13,000, but last year they totalled $2,000,000, a lush melon to divide up among employees. The latter are now 100 per cent sold on the idea and so are the stockholders. The workers worked harder, profits are larger, and stockholders got a bigger dividend check.

"Labor got 30 per cent of every nickel we made in 1944," says Symington, "and a system like that is the only basis for permanent labor peace."

NOTE — Symington's survey of various profit-sharing plans leads him to believe that whenever it has been tried out sincerely it has never failed.

COMBAT DECORATIONS

ONE unfortunate fact in this war is that many of the enlisted men and young officers who performed miracles of heroism got no decorations for them. As one young lieutenant described it:

"We were so busy fighting that I never had time to write down citation. It didn't seem important then. But now that we're back home and see all the spinach on other people's bosoms, naturally it makes the combat boys a little envious. We didn't realize that the folks at home considered these things so important."

Probably it's too late for some of the combat men who so richly deserve recognition to get it now. However, there may be some consolation in realizing the manner in which some decorations are wangled. For instance, this writer recalls a telegram in a U. S. colonel's office in Belgrade, Jugoslavia, from a U. S. colonel in Bucharest, Roumania, just after the last armistice. It read:

"Am sending one carload sugar for Jugoslav government relief. How about that order of St. Sava you promised me."

Or again many combat veterans recall the spinach on the bosom of Brig. Gen. Julius Holmes. They did not realize at first that his order of the Phoenix from Greece, his Lebanese Order of Merit, his Commander of the Crown of Jugoslavia, his Southern Cross of Brazil, his Tunisian Nishan Iffticas and numerous other medals were largely received when he was protocol officer for the New York World's Fair.

HURLEY'S SPINACH

AGAIN the delightful and irrepressible Patrick J. Hurley, ex-ambassador to China, could tell an interesting story of how he got the Silver Star citation which so proudly adorns his chest. It was awarded for "galantry in action on Nov. 11, 1918, in voluntarily making a reconnaissance under heavy enemy fire."

Nov. 11, 1918, of course, was Armistice day, and everyone knew on that fateful morning the war was coming to an end. Furthermore, what the citation does not say is that Hurley was with the judge advocate general's office which operates well behind the lines.

But an hour or so before the Armistice, Hurley came forward in company with Col. E. St. John Greble to watch the historic end of the war. They were about 2,000 yards behind the lines when Lieut. Col. Wilbur Rogers of the 77th Field artillery stopped them and told them the show was over. But they were bent on going forward anyway.

Seven months after the war was over, on June 3, 1919, Hurley mysteriously received a Silver Star citation for "voluntarily making a reconnaissance under heavy enemy fire on Nov. 11, 1918."

Regardless of any other facts in the citation, the trip obviously was "voluntary."

The sanity court of the District of Columbia, Case No. 16988, shows that E. St. J. Greble was adjudged insane Jan. 13, 1936, and committed to St. Elizabeth's asylum. Some State department officials now wisecrack that they wish his former comrade-in-arms was with him instead of now badgering them in the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

LOVES PERSECUTION

THE story is being whispered round that Mississippi's Senator Bilbo actually paid to have his office picketed by a wounded war veteran.

Whether true or not, it is a fact that the Mississippi filibusterer always has thrived on persecution. He was in jail on a contempt of court charge when he first began his campaign for the Senate. It made him a martyr. Since then, Bilbo has always capitalized on the attacks against him. He is now claiming a Northern conspiracy to dictate to the state of Mississippi whom it should send to the Senate. That's why it's rumored that he paid the veteran to picket his office so he could pull the persecution charge again.

NOTE—Meanwhile, various anti-Bilbo candidates are on the horizon, latest being Lieut. Com. Nelson Levings, only naval officer from Mississippi who served on the battleship USS Mississippi.

CAPITAL CHAFF

THE Maritime commission is about to disintegrate, just at a time when it's hardest to keep a Merchant Marine going. Admiral "Jerry" Land, the chairman, is exiting soon, probably to head Pennsylvania - Central airlines . . . Admiral Howard Vickery, another able commissioner, is leaving to head the American Bureau of Shipping, which establishes safety standards for ships. Numerous young shipping experts who have worked faithfully are stampeding for private jobs . . . the National Labor Relations board, once kicked all over the lot by business and various labor factions, has won unique recognition. The Labor-Management conference could agree on just about one thing—namely, to increase appropriations for NLRB, and to keep it independent of the Labor department. Yet, a few short years ago, NLRB was considered the greatest enemy of business . . . Billy Rose, the big Broadway producer, is having servant troubles. Reason is Senator Bilbo. A news columnist reported that Rose was on a committee with Senator Bilbo to plan a National stadium in Washington, D. C. Billy never met Bilbo, but New York negroes hate Bilbo so that they won't work for Billy Rose. They think he's a friend of Bilbo's.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

THE technical term for the transposition of letters or sounds in a word, or series of words, is metathesis, but the more familiar designation is "Spoonerism."

The Rev. W. A. Spooner, Warden of New College, Oxford, achieved this dubious claim to fame when he announced to his congregation: "Let us now sing the hymn 'Kinquering congs their title take'" Another time he caused a mild commotion in church by demanding "Is this pie occupewed?"

A radio announcer created two classics of his own when he referred to New Guinea gungles instead of New Guinea jungles, and topped it with slote flulo for flute solo. Emil Wedge of Baltimore's famous Enoch Pratt Library quotes a gentleman who declared, "My wife says that I have had tee many martoonis, but I am not so much under the affluence of inchoel as some pinkie theep. I mean thinkle peep."

THE New Plays: "Strange Fruit" bulged with more gusto between covers than it does behind the footlights, according to official first-nighters. Some of the episodes sizzle, they add, and some fizzle. But it remains "sinewy enough to grapple with a vital theme." Despite severe interference from critics and groups, in Philadelphia "Strange Fruit" attracted big money . . . John C. Wilson's production. "The Day Before Spring" (it arrived the previous weekend), is a delight—with the sort of music that made Rodgers and Hart famous. The show is a big hit . . . Crouse and Lindsay's "State of the Union" is fine enough to be America's 49th state . . . Out of town reviewers were impressed with Elmer Rice's new play, "Dream Girl." His wife, Betty Field, stars brilliantly in it. . . . The aisle-assassins (for the majority) didn't appreciate John Van Druten's "The Mermaids Singing." The Hollywood Reporter's critic (I. The Youngsters He Promised To Love, Cherish

History Is Repeating Itself In Present Chinese Crisis

General's Book Draws 1919 Parallel To 1945

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—History is repeating itself with a vengeance. At times you have the impression of watching an old newsreel that shows the same pattern of mistakes and disasters.

Few Americans today remember that after World war I we had an expeditionary force of American soldiers in Siberia. One of America's strangest military ventures, it might well have drawn us into a futile war against the "Bolsheviks" that would have proved costly in lives and dollars.

CHILDS

While the parallel with the situation in China today is not by any means exact, it is close enough to be an object lesson for those who would learn from history. In 1919, as in 1945, we were divided over the policy to be followed.

Book Tells Whole Story

In that earlier time, it was the State department that wanted to intervene actively in Russia's civil war. If it had not been for the steadfast integrity of an American commander in Siberia, one of the numerous plots hatched to involve Uncle Sam more deeply in Russia's internal quarrel might have succeeded.

That commander was Major Gen. William S. Graves. Years later, when more of the background informaiton was available, Gen. Graves wrote a book called 'America's Siberian Adventure" in which he told the whote story.

Written with the almost transparent honesty of a soldier determined not to exceed orders clearly stating that he was not to intervene in Rcssia's internal quarrel, it is a fascinating narrative of intrique.

THE Japanese, the British and the French all wanted to get the United States committed to a wholesale war that would have as its objective putting down Bolshevism. By every possible means, their representatives tried to get Graves and his command into the scrap.

Without any prior background in diplomacy, the American outsmarted them. This was largely because Gen. Graves, in spite of the projaganda howls about the Bolsheviks, was not deceived as to the facts of what was happening in Siberia.

The Japanese, of course, had the biggest stake. They had an army of more than 70,000 men in Siberia, in spite of an agreement with the U. S. which said the limit would be 12,000. The Japs hoped to stir up so much trouble that eventually they would end up in full possession of a slice of eastern Siberia including, perhaps, the vital port of Vladivostok.

Japs Backing Cossacks

The Japs were supplying munitions and money to certain notorious Cossack chieftains who were guilty, as Graves was able to prove over and over again, of the most horrible atrocities against the peasantry. The British were backing czarist Admiral Kolchak, who was not quite so bad. But Kolchak went about it in exactly the same way to alienate any popular support he might have obtained from the Russian people.

At the very time Kolchak's armies were collapsing, with wholesale desertions to the Bolsheviks, U. S. diplomatic representatives in Washington and in the Far East were trying to get our government to recognize the Kolchak regime as the government of Russia.

Woodrow Wilson had sent Graves and his troops to Siberia for the stated purpose of helping a wandering army of Czecho-Slovaks get to Vladivostok and from there across the Pacific and home. The instructions handed Graves by Secretary of War Newton D. Baker specificially said he was not to intervene to any way in Russia's internal quarrel. Graves stuck to his instructions and used his troops only to guard the Trans-Siberian railroad, over which the Czechs would have to travel. Even so, American lives were lost, most of them, according to Graves, at the hands of the Cossack bandits back by Japan.

"I was not surprised, but none the less gratified," Gen. Graves wrote in conclusion, "that the American officers and enlisted men were, almost to a man, firm believers in the traditional policy of the United States, as old as the government itself, that all countries should settle their own differences, without interference of the United States soldier. Misrepresentations of the American troops, as well as the cry of 'Bolshevism' did not swerve the American officer or soldier from his conception of what was right and just."

Back home, of course, there were newspapers and public officials who were denouncing Graves for his failure to join in the crusade against Bolshevism. That it would have been a futile crusade, because of the historical background that led up to Russia's civil war, Graves knew very well. Re refused to budge and he had the backing all along of his chief of staff, Gen. Peyton C. March, who was equally steadfast in spite of an intrigue between military intelligence in the War department and the State department.

It's too bad that Graves, book is out of print. A great many Americans today could read that record of an honest soldier with profit.

Meet The People—
Three-Year Veteran Of Navy Is Only 16

HOUSTON, Dec. 6 (U.P.)—Meet a three-year Navy veteran who's just 16 years old.

Meet Bobby Pettit, who at 13 slipped by the recruiting authorities and who rose to the rank of first class electrician's mate.

Mustered out of service, Bobby at first was afraid he would not receive his honorable discharge. They simply gave him notice his enlistment was voided by his tender age of entry into the Navy. That would have cut him out of GI Bill of Rights privileges.

So Bobby put on his uniform, ribbons and battle stars, five of them. He went to a Veterans' representative here. Letters were written, reports made and the upshot is that Rear Admiral L. E. Denfield of the Bureau of Navy Personnel says young Pettit will most definitely receive honorable discharge papers.

Although the 40-watt incandescent light bulb filament appears to be scarcely more than an inch long, it actually contains about 18 inches of accurately coiled wire.

Housing Shortage Is Expected To Be Even Worse During 1946

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 — The housing shortage, already the most critical in the country's history, will be worse next year.

The return of millions of veterans, combined with an estimated 1,500,000 marriages and 2,750,000 births in 1946, means a much greater increase in the demand than in housing units. It is estimated that no more than 475,000 houses will be built next year under the most favorable conditions.

Restrictions Arrive

There was a pronounced scarcity of housing before the war due to a deficiency in home building in the depression years. On top of that, the war brought restrictions, a record-breaking population increase of more than eight millions since 1940, and the migration of millions of workers and their families from farms and small towns to the cities.

Housing experts figure construction can't get rolling until 1947 and that substantial relief from the shortage will not come before 1948. Reconversion Director John W. Snyder says "the demand for houses during the next year may be four or five times as great as any possible supply. Any large expansion of the building program is going to take time."

Shortage Of Contractors

Besides shortages of materials and labor, the number of construction and supply concerns is far short of need. Snyder says the number of contractors engaged in direct construction and in maintenance work has fallen from 500,000 in March 1940 to about 140,000 now. Another complication is labor-management trouble in some materials industries.

Under the best circumstances, Washington sees no quick, one-way solution. Government agencies plan to help grease the ways for a vast, long-range building program by private industry, but officials declare that its success is primarily the responsibility of local communities.

John D. Blandford, jr., administrator of the National Housing agency, estimates that some 12,600,000 new housing units will be needed over the next 10 years. He divides these roughly into 3,600,000 units at monthly charges of less than $20, some 4,800,000 units at monthly charges between $20 and $40, and 4,200,000 units at monthly charges above $40.

Bill Is Introduced

A revised general housing bill has been introduced in the Senate by Democratic Senators Wagner of New York and Ellender of Louisiana and Republican Senator Taft of Ohio. A special feature of their "non-partisan" bill is designed to enable private builders to do more building for the so-called "middle-income market"—families that can pay between $20 and $40 a month.

The Wagner - Ellender - Taft measure would authorize federal loans to local communities for urban slum clearance and redevelopment and loans for housing and farm families of very low income. It also provides for 500,000 additional units of low-rent public housing over a 4-year period. These are designed for families who pay rents of less than $20 a month.

Priorities Are Granted

Meanwhile, the Civilian Production administration is granting priorities for equipment and is strengthening inventory controls "to prevent hoarding of building supplies."

Representative Patman of Texas has introduced a bill in the House which provides for a "housing czar" with power during the next two years to fix maximum sale prices on both new and old houses. The Patman measure also would have the government engage in emergency housing projects where lack of sufficient housing makes that appear necessary.

This measure has been attacked by builders and some members of Congress as tending to "regimentation" and as being unworkable. The Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill has no provision for fixing maximum sale prices on houses, new or old.

First to fly an airplane off the deck of a U. S. ship was Eugene Ely, pioneer who made the flight from a special platform built at the bow of the U. S. S. Birmingham at Hampton Roads, Va., Nov. 14, 1910.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. Adv

Big telephone construction program is under way

Telephone service for those waiting is first goal of $53,000,000 project for Texas

The postwar telephone construction and improvement program already has started. It is a $140,000,000 program—of which $53,000,000 will be for Texas—designed, first, to catch up with the demand for service, and second, to provide telephone users with the most adequate and modern service possible in the years ahead.

Service for waiting applicants

We are making thousands of new telephones, hundreds of miles of cable and wire, and equipment to expand scores of central offices. As facilities become available, we are putting in telephones in proper turn for those waiting.

New telephone instruments are being installed as rapidly as they are delivered, and by the first of the year—or shortly thereafter—we shall be able to furnish service for those waiting in neighborhoods where there already is enough central office equipment and cable to connect their telephones.

The slower, more complicated job of building and installing central office equipment, in the many towns where it is needed, is being pushed. A lot of progress will be made by the middle of 1946, and most of this job should be completed by the end of the year.

When waiting customers have been served, the job of expanding the telephone system to provide the kind and amount of service people want will get into full swing. These include individual lines and residence extensions. More equipment and the most modern devices also will be added.

Hundreds of miles of long distance lines will be placed in underground cable, and steps will be taken to introduce in some places a system by which operators can dial telephones in distant cities.

In the next five years, we plan to install 165,000 new rural telephones, more than doubling the number of farm telephones in this territory.

The conversion of telephone exchanges from manual to dial telephones will be resumed.

Mobile radiotelephoning — whereby drivers of busses, trucks, and automobiles can talk through the central telephone system—will be developed.

How much? How long?

Besides the $140,000,000 for special construction and improvement, another $100,000,000 will be spent for the normal growth of the business. Several years will be required to complete the entire program.
