ODDS & ENDS

Our Ground Observer Corps first alert went off like clockwork. A plane came over and circled town at about 600 feet during the alert Thursday afternoon but our boys were ready for him—the four of them were clustered around the domino table and had the whole sky covered.

Young Brenda Browne daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Browne, proved the sagacity of children the other day. Brenda is recovering from (first) a fractured right arm suffered in a fall from her swing and (second) a fractured right collarbone suffered in a fall from her slide a few days later. To Susie Mackey's exhortation, "Now Brenda, I do hope you'll be more careful," Brenda replied quick as a flash, "Susie, I'm gonna dig a hole and stay in it."

Knowing five-year-olds, we wouldn't bet on it!

After a total of eight months in the newspaper business we've learned one thing—the thing about printing machinery that you can depend on is that you can't depend on it at all.

The linotype-fixer, who is a combination mechanic, tinker, scientist and saint, got that instrument back in order and all looked like smooth sailing until just as we were about to make our first run last week. Billy Bob was feeding the press from the poop-deck when, with a noise like something out of the Bikini atom test, the press pooped.

Those in the back office variously dropped or threw whatever they happened to have in hand while Bill broke all existing or potential records for the combination high-and-broad-jump. When he came to earth he found he had somehow, while in mid-flight, cut

Senator Kelly Will Address PTA Tuesday

Senator Rogers Kelly of Edinburg will address members of the Parent-Teachers Association at its regular monthly meeting at 2:45 Tuesday afternoon at the school cafeteria.

Senator Kelly's speech is a part of observance of Public School Week in Texas.

Members are urged to be present and to bring guests. The public is invited.

the motor and still had all his limbs and digits.

A San Angelo specialist diagnosed Press's trouble as a fractured shaft but we know the true trouble—it's the perversity of machines. They use any opportunity to prove their superiority.

Public School Week begins Tuesday and we hunted back through our data on the local schools to find that the first school building was completed in 1889.

In the Devil of September 8, 1894 we found (with John Eaton's help) the following: "Sonora schools open Monday morning under the principalship of Prof. C. Stevenson of Weatherford assisted by a competent corps of teachers. Miss Reagan of Brownwood first assistant and Miss Thornton in charge of the primary department. Sonora must keep up its reputation as an educational center and in order to make the school a success all must work."

That last sentence applies in even more force today.

From the files for March 8, 1913 (43 years ago this week) we take this item: "School to Continue. The trustees of the Sonora school, finding that they will have money enough, have decided to continue the school another month. This will complete a nine-month session and the commencement exercises will be on May 23. The trustees are hopeful that with the district enlarged to continue to give nine month sessions each year hereafter."

We plan to keep these reports in mind when we visit the local schools next week during Public School Week. See you there.

Drive carefully observe Stop Signs.

Ground Observer Corps On 24-Hour Continuous Duty; Need Volunteers

On March 1 the Sonora Ground Observer Corps was asked to go on 24-hour continuous duty. Although the possibility of a sneak bombing attack appears to be remote, we only have to think of the Pearl Harbor attack to realize the need for vigilance.

Carswell Field at Fort Worth, manufacturing our only bombers capable of long-range retaliation, would likely be a prime target in event of attack. Since very high flying planes may be observed by radar, it is logical to assume that a sneak attack might be made by low flying bombers—probably coming in from the southwest.

At any rate we are being asked by the Government to do a job, and we need the cooperation of Sonora people to do it well. In order to make the chore as easy as possible and work the least hardship, our tentative plans are these: (1) Ask the all-night service station men, the night watchman, and power plant operator to assume responsibility from seven p.m. to seven a.m. (2) Ask 60 or more volunteers to assume responsibility for watching and reporting planes one day in each 60-day period.

Plane watching will be done from the home or place of business. When a plane is heard or seen the responsible person simply notes the number of planes, kind of plane (jet, bomber, fighter), the approximate height, and direction of flight. The Sonora operator is then dialed and the observer says: "Aircraft Flash Sonora 22341." The operator immediately calls San Antonio and a voice will say, "Air Defense, Go Ahead." The observer then slowly reports the information—Flying North." Detailed instruction will be given each observer.

At least 30 more volunteers are needed before April 1, so that each person will not have to serve more often than once each 60 to 100 days. Boys and girls are eligible to serve on Saturdays and Sundays, preferably in pairs. Women are especially urged to volunteer, and can watch for planes from their homes.

All who are willing to volunteer for one day's service every 60 days should see or call Norman Davis, E. B. Keng, or Reggie Trainer.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

LIONS TO HOLD BROOM SALE TUESDAY MARCH 27

The Lions Annual Broom Sale will be held Tuesday, March 27. Brooms, mops and ironing pads made by the Texas blind will be offered for sale. The Lions receive 25% of the proceeds.

Lions will act as salesmen and Dr. W. T. Hardy is general chairman for the sale.

Last year's sale netted $200.00 for the local club.

Go Fly A Kite - Weather's Fine, But Stay Away From Power Line

The what-is-it above is all that remains of a kite which became entangled in a 66,000-volt power line Sunday afternoon. The kite, which was being flown with a metallic string, interrupted service for several minutes. The kite's remains will be sent to West Texas Utilities Co.'s safety division for exhibition as a warning.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM

By Allan Shivers, Governor of Texas

GREETINGS:

AUSTIN, TEXAS

The greatest source of assurance for the future of the American way of life is our Public School System, which enables our youngsters to become familiar with the magnificent history of men and events which has made our Republic the most powerful, respected and favored country the world has ever known.

The public schools provide the tools of knowledge which will equip our young men and women to become constructive and responsible citizens in this land of freedom.

We have a great responsibility to maintain and advance the ideals and standards which our people have come to expect of their public schools. We must keep pace with the growing needs of our schools by providing new classrooms, improved methods and by encouraging loyal, able, qualified men and women to adopt teaching as a lifetime career.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of March 5 - 10, 1956 as PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK in Texas, and urge every citizen to visit at least one public school during this period and become personally acquainted with the programs and accomplishments of our educational system.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 10th day of January, 1956.

(SEAL)

ALLAN SHIVERS, Governor of Texas

MEET YOUR TEACHER

Miss Anne Palmer, English teacher at Sonora High School, prepares for a class in fourth-year grammar. Miss Palmer has been a member of the local faculty for 14 years now and holds a Life Membership in the local chapter of the PTA.

It is indeed fitting that our alphabetical list of teachers should find Miss Anne Palmer's name appearing during Public School Week in Texas. Miss Palmer, teacher of high school English, has been with the local schools for 14 years now and was last year selected to receive a Life Membership in the local PTA.

She is a member of the Baptist Church. Her out-of-school interests include reading, gardening and bridge. Miss Palmer's summers are spent in study or in travels which have taken her to almost every part of the United States and into Canada.

Kids, Adults Take Last Rides As Train Takes Off Coaches

P. J. (Pinck) Taylor sold his last passenger tickets Wednesday morning to a group of Sonora ladies who, carrying their shoe box lunches, rode the last passenger train out of the city, as passenger service was discontinued by permission of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Taylor, Sonora's first and only stationmaster had also greeted the first train in on July 1, 1930. Most citizens remember the fanfare with which the original passenger cars arrived on that day. Two trains were needed on the run, one pulling 14 pullman cars loaded with passengers and the other drawing coaches and freight cars. About 5,000 people were on hand to welcome the long-desired passenger service, with steam locomotives snorting, their arrival with the famed Santa Fe whistle, extra whistles and sirens.

In more recent years the old steam whistle became a thing of the past along with its locomotive, giving way to the more modern diesels with their insistent but less distinctive hoot.

SPECIAL COACH The Sonora ladies, Meses. Collier Shurley, George Wynn, Carra Simmons, Ed Mayfield, Susie Blanton, M. C. Scott, Lem Johnson and Thomas, spent the ride remembering shopping trips to San Angelo made previously on the Santa Fe. But Wednesday's trip was made in an air-conditioned coach regularly used on the San Angelo-Dallas run and put on especially for the day. They were met at the San Angelo station by Mrs. Tom Darrow and Mrs. Dudley Westbrook.

Final rides on the train began the previous Friday with the one-traditional first grade trip by school bus to Eldorado for the chair-car ride into the Sonora station.

That day forty-eight students with their teachers and room mothers arrived on the noon train, with students having availed themselves of all the services offered—Santa Fe booklets, Junior Engineer and Junior Courier Nurse badges, reclining seats, rest rooms and drinking fountains.

Graveside services for Robert Allen Smith, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neal Smith, were held Wednesday morning February 22, with Rev. J. E. Eldridge officiating.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith of Ozona and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drenman of Sonora.

GRAVESIDE SERVICES HELD FOR SMITH INFANT WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22

Graveside services for Robert Allen Smith, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neal Smith, were held Wednesday morning February 22, with Rev. J. E. Eldridge officiating.

NOTICE

City officials are becoming increasingly alarmed at the frequent recurrence of rabies suspected dogs reported within city limits.

Several specimens have been sent to Austin for examination and have been declared rabid. Supt. of City Utilities, R. M. McCarver, strongly urges vaccination and tagging of dogs immediately. He also urges that people notify city officials of any suspicious looking dogs.

It is thought that strong emergency measures will be taken in the near future if the epidemic continues.

Post Office Burglar Caught Here Friday

Arthur Clyde Griggers, 28-year-old oilfield roughneck, was arrested by local officers and Postal Inspectors E. F. Strickland of El Paso and E. E. English of San Angelo at his place of residence here Friday, February 24.

Griggers was wanted for burglary of the United States Post Office at Orla, Texas, on January 27. Taken in the burglary were 262 postal money orders, $85.00 in cash, $33.00 in stamp stock and a Post Office validating stamp.

When arrested, Griggers had in his possession a money order made out in the amount of $70.00, ready to cash. Officers took Griggers to San Angelo where he will face federal charges.

No Injuries In Sunday Wreck

John Thomas Lindsey, of Crane, escaped injury about 10:30 Sunday night, February 26, when his 1954 Mercury sedan struck an embankment on U. S. Highway 277 about 14 miles south of Sonora.

According to Patrolman Herman Moore, the accident occurred when Lindsey fell asleep at the wheel and the car left the road on the left, striking the embankment.

Damage to the automobile was estimated at $700.

ACROSS the DESK

From the Dove Creek Press, Dove Creek, Colorado: "Brainwashing" joined the English language shortly after the first American captives of the Korean conflict were returned in the prisoner exchange. The term refers to the actions of their enemy captors as the Communist forces attempted to sway their American captives to their line of thinking. However, without identification of the action as such, segments of America's population have been undergoing "brainwashing" for more than 20 years! All too frequently, the news on the national scene is filled with stories of labor violence and strife. Why? Simply because the organized laborer in the factory, the shop, or the store has undergone so much "brainwashing" from the union boss and the cooperative governmental bureaucrat that he's convinced that management owes him his job. This "brainwashing" of the American laborer is reflected further into the quality of his work. The poor quality of workmanship in the so-called "famous names" of household appliances, television sets, and automobiles has become a serious problem in the offices of the big manufacturers today. Yet, what can be done about it as long as the man on the assembly line has substituted "his outfit owes me my job" for pride of workmanship? But, let's leave the factory and head for the open country where we'll find the same thing happening on the farms of America. Although some of the farm and livestock organizations have been fighting government legislation for several years, still there is that portion of the farm population that believes that "the government owes me a living." And, thanks to overzealous political aspirants, the American farmer is practically in a position where it is impossible for him to help himself—he has to depend on the government for that! The solution to these problems, if there is any, won't be easy and won't be painless. The question is—can anything be done to correct these situations or is it already too late? The individual who believes that the government owes him a living will wake up some day to find that he owes his living to the government. From the Etowah News-Journal, Attala, Alabama: To become a convincing talker, keep both hands in your pocket while telling your audience of the fish that got away.

Looking Through The Windows Of Life

By W. H. Marshall

I am a human being. You are a human being. I make mistakes; you make mistakes. I am not perfect; you are not perfect. Only one perfect man ever lived on the face of the earth, and He was nailed to a cross. The people said He was a seducer. That man was Jesus Christ. After He had nailed Him to the cross and He had died, those same men cried out, "Surely, He was the Son of God!" Human being—yes that is what we are. We are still at the same old wicked trick of nailing our fellow man to a cross. Men around the whole world today are doing it. Personally we do it. How? I need not answer the question. You know the answer. I know the answer. But there is still hope for us human beings. God still believes in us. We still believe in ourselves and in one another. But we do so many mean and wicked things that it is a wonder that God lets us live.

"Why Soil Conservation Is Important To Everyone"

By Jan Keng Third Place

Soil and water are the basic elements of our existence because food and clothing come from the soil. Our nation's continued prosperity-the quality of our world leadership depends in large measure upon the wise use of our soil and water resources.

Early in our country's history men did not realize the importance of soil conservation. Land was new, rich-apparently unlimited. Virgin forests were cleared-the land farmed carelessly for a few years-then abandoned. The trend was ever westward-to break out new fertile land.

Time passed swiftly. Population increased tremendously. No more rich virgin soil to clear for farms. Timber resources were rapidly depleted. Millions of buffalo had been sacrificed solely for his hide!

Nature rebelled against man's use of the land. Drought and wind combined to wreak havoc on our Great Plains. Millions of tons of rich topsoil were lifted up and drifted eastward to haunt descendants of our early pioneers.

The rains came again-rain that once was tamed by a protective canopy of grass and trees now crashed against the naked soil and became a raging torrent of muddy water. Our nation was shocked into the importance of soil and water conservation.

Nationwide studies on soil and water conservation were set up. New plants were developed in an effort to again grow grass on the Great Plains. Forests were planted. Flood control dams were started. People began to realize that if America was to survive there must be another essential interest in soil and water conservation-the basis of American progression.

Why is soil conservation important to everyone? It is the basis of food production today and the only hope of survival tomorrow.

Q-Can you tell me what the Wild Life Refugee Protection Bill provides?

A-H.R. 5306, introduced by Congressman Lee Metcalf, of Montana, provides basically that it is the policy of Congress to maintain and preserve the national wild life refuges, and would require prior Congressional approval before any part or all of a wild life refuge could be disposed of or relinquished by the Secretary of the Interior. Companion bills have been introduced by Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, and Congressman Henry S. Reuss, of Wisconsin.

Q-How many presidents have come from states west of the Mississippi River?

A-Three. Herbert Hoover, born in Iowa and elected from California; Harry S. Truman, born in Missouri, and President Eisenhower, born in Texas, and living in Kansas before entering military service.

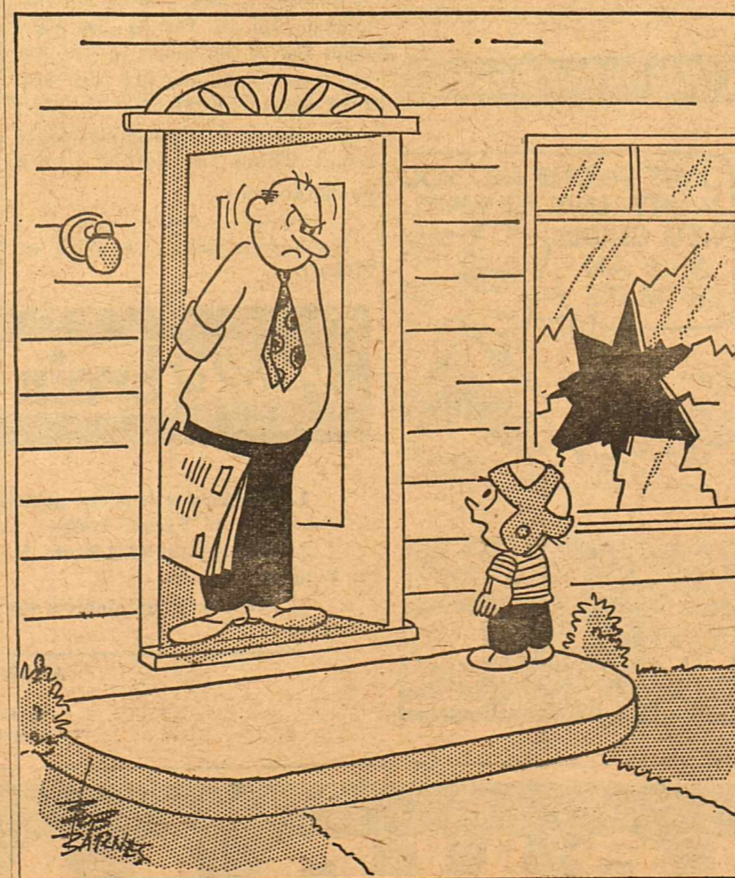

Q-Do widows of Presidents get pensions?

A-Not as a matter of law, but by special acts of Congress annual pensions of $5,000 have been granted to the widows of Presidents Tyler, Polk, Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Cleveland, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Coolidge.

Q-What salary does the vice-president receive?

A-He receives $30,000 per year, plus an expense allowance of $10,000.

Do-It-Whose-Self?

Monk McCarthy's almost as good at publicity stunts as he is at servicing and repairing cars—which is pretty darned good.

His latest gimmick is a hand-bill titled: "Do-It-YOURSELFERS! Why Not Grease Your Own Car?"

Then he follows with two paragraphs about all the greases you'll need—the full set of wrenches, spray gun, grease gun, four jacks—the ability to work flat on your back with a face full of goo. And at the very end there's this line: "Or, if that's too much trouble, we'll do the job for 75¢."

From where I sit, I'll have to admit Monk's schemes attract attention. They often seem far-fetched to me, but he and I always had different opinions on how to run a business—just as we have different opinions about what's the best beverage. He likes hot tea—I prefer a glass of beer—which doesn't keep us from having a "smooth-running" friendship.

Rooms Needed For Housing Student Guests

More housing facilities are needed to accommodate students coming here for the speech meet. High School Principal Norman S. Davis asks that anyone willing to house these high school students contact him at the school.

All meals, including breakfast, will be served to guest students at the school cafeteria.

"We greatly appreciate all everyone has done," Davis said. "We could never have made this meet the success it has been in the past without the co-operation of the Sonora people in housing our guests. We are still short on housing accommodations for the students and would appreciate your getting in touch with us if you have a room which you will make available."

SMALL boys and soap are not always compatible. While you're convincing Junior that his ears need washing, you might give him a short lecture on the history of soap, just to distract his attention and to protect yourself. From the earliest time, water and clays - the forerunners of soaps and detergents - have been used for cleansing. Soap has been prepared and used in homes for hundreds of years. A well equipped soap factory discovered in the ruins of Pompeii indicates the large-scale use of soap some 2,000 years ago.

A pipe smoker may be interested to know that Meerschaum also is called Sepiolite, a white or yellow earth material. It is obtained principally from Eskisehir in Asia Minor, but it occurs also in Samoa, Moravia, Spain, Morocco, and in the United States in New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Utah, and California. It is very soft and highly porous. When dry it floats on water. It is used chiefly in the manufacture of the famous tobacco pipes.

KERRVILLE MOUNTAIN SUN— A raging grass and brush fire that several times threatened to spread to adjoining ranches burned off over 300 acres on the L.T. Davis ranch Tuesday afternoon before it was brought under control by Kerrville firemen, city employees, and volunteer firefighters from the city and near by ranches. The fire, which started when workmen on the Davis ranch, 4 miles north of Kerrville, were burning piled brush, leaped out of control and pushed by a brisk wind raced up draws and over ridges faster than it could be beaten out. -en- FORT STOCKTON PIONEER — Letting of contract on the Marathon road, scheduled this week after a low bid was filed Monday, will be the best news of a long

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From John S. Flint, Clarksburg, West Virginia: I remember when I lived with my parents on a farm at Greenbrier, in Doddridge County, West Virginia, about a mile above the Ross school house. This is where I learned to read and write. I remember how we would watch for the Huxter wagons which would pass once a week. We would trade eggs at 12 cents a dozen for coffee, sugar, rice and a few other articles. And I remember harvest time when my father would haul corn and sleds full of pumpkins down the hill to our corn crib. Our farm joined that of my grandfather, who had a large place with big meadows and huge apple orchards. In the spring of the year I would help Grandpa build log fires at night to keep the frost from killing the fruit. I remember . . . Election Day, 1892 . . . we moved to a small village called Morgansville, West Virginia, and there I remember Uncle Ike's cane mill and evaporator. Uncle Ike, as everyone knew him, was a medical doctor who administered to the entire community as well as running the can mill every fall. The Ballenger family tent show would come about every summer. And the Lowther family, a musical show. And I remember the Jones Grist mill near the junction of Middle Island and Buckeye Creek. There is nothing left now but the old mill pond. (Send contributions to this column to The Old Timer, Community Press Service, Frankfort, Kentucky.)

Mrs. Kenneth Wilks and children, Caryn and Tom, of New Iberia, La. spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Renfro. Mrs. Wilks is a member of the University of Texas Speleological Society, and a few others who are just interested in spelunker activities. -en- ELDORADO SUCCESS — Mrs. Jack Elder and daughter, Patricia, attended the West Texas Art Exhibit Sunday at Big Spring and Mrs. Elder won third place out of a large number of entries, with her landscape. -en- JUNCTION EAGLE — Good attendance and interest is reported shown by those attending the first-aid class each Tuesday and Friday evening in the country court room. SCANNING THE NEWS

PASSAGE of the so-called Harris natural gas bill which takes the regulation of natural gas prices out from control of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and hands it over to the various State Public Service Commissions for control, will do three things: (1) It will undoubtedly increase the price of natural gas to some 25,000,000 consumers eventually; (2) It will likely cause a split in the heretofore unified ranks of the Democratic party; and, (3) It will place the Democratic party in the position of being a party to the "give-a-ways" for which they have so furiously condemned the Republican party. This is virtually the same bill passed by the Congress originally under the name of the Kerr bill, for Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, and which President Truman vetoed. Last year under a new version it was re-introduced in the House by Representative Harris of Arkansas, a Democrat, and just skinned through the house with heavy Republican support, and somewhat lighter Democratic support, but enough to pass it. The companion bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator William Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, and was made one of the "must" bills by Senator Lyndon Johnson, the Majority leader in the Senate. One of the heaviest lobbies in history has congregated in Washington to bring about passage of the bill throughout the debate. Opposition to the bill has been spearheaded by Senator Paul Douglas, Democrat, of Illinois, and he sought several crippling amendments to the measure, one of which would eliminate the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance granted the oil corporations, and another which would have eliminated the tax deductibility of cost of drilling a dry well which the oil companies enjoy. Proponents of the measure declare that the present bill has been provided with safeguards to protect consumers. However the opponents still maintain that the passage would cost consumers as high as $800,000,000 annually in increased cost of natural gas, and that the so-called safeguards are purely of the paper variety and that a breakdown of federal regulation of prices at the well-head will mean large price increase at the other end of the pipeline in the middlewest and eastern states. There has been no statement of policy from the executive branch of the government as to the possibility of a presidential veto. The Nation's college and university enrollment this year will top the three-million mark for the first time in history, according to a report of S. M. Brownell, Federal Commissioner of Education. Institutions reporting the largest enrollment include: University of California, 38,594; State University of New York, 33,634; New York University, 31,867; City College of the City of New York, 26,426; Columbia University, 25,887; University of Illinois, 24,129; University of Michigan, 23,765; The University of Minnesota, 23,393; Ohio State University, 21,744 and University of Wisconsin, 20,119. Total enrollment includes 1,784,000 men and 937,000 women.

March and April are usually the two months to do range pitting and seeding.

Ranchmen who plan to pit and seed old cultivated fields or bare flats should make plans very soon to get the work done. Experience gained on the Edwards Plateau SCD trial area last year clearly proved that seeding following pitting is far more likely to succeed than seeding without pitting.

Soil Conservation Service personnel will be glad to assist ranchmen in working out seeding rates, pitting land and planting the seed. Texas grown grass seed can be purchased in Sonora at the Sonora Wool and Mohair company, or can be ordered from other sources.

The Sutton County ASC program allows a cost-share payment of $1.00 per acre for pitting, and approximately one-half the cost of seeding. Land seeded to grass cannot be grazed until frost.

Bare areas seeded to grass on the trial area last April produced enough ground cover by fall to greatly reduce the bitterweed hazard. Unpitted land is now covered with a thick stand of bitterweed, while only an occasional plant is found on the pitted and seeded area. The earlier pitting is done in the spring the better opportunity grass has to cover up the area before fall. Ranchmen who do not expect to cultivate old fields are especially urged to seed them to grass. With average rainfall this summer old fields pitted and seeded now can produce a good seed crop by fall. Two seed crops were produced last year on the SCD Herbert Fields trial area, with only 14.75 inches total rainfall for the year.

Guest Editorial

By Robert L. Hardgrave, Jr.

I am an individual American. I raise my voice to protest these weird surrealistic daydreams of the internationalists. I believe that the Constitution IS the key to peace for which we all yearn.

Christmas in jail . . . Dismal! . . . Bleak . . . Lonely! Imagine yourself in jail on Christmas-far away from home . . . in a strange land, among strangers with different customs and habits-and a language strange to your ears. But I guess we couldn't say among strangers, for you, you an American citizen, are solitary confinement. You are in the Alcatraz of France: Melun Prison-and this is Christmas 1953. This is just your first Christmas here-but, don't worry there are four more to go. Solitary confinement every day for five years.

This was Christmas for an American soldier, Richard T. Keefe. Twenty-five-year-old Richard Keefe is a Navy Veteran, and a former resident of the District of Columbia. In 1951 Richard Keefe reenlisted in the Army and was sent to France. Mrs. Keefe and their two small children stayed in the United States.

French authorities did not notify Mrs. Keefe that her husband had been arrested. Neither did the United States Army or the State Department. She knew nothing of the trial until she read an editorial in a local newspaper. She didn't know what to do. She wanted to contact the newspaper but Army officials advised her against doing so.

As soon as Richard Keefe was convicted in France her monthly allotment was cut off. Her only means of support-$136.90 a month was gone and their two sons were becoming very sickly. They discontinued her allotment, as if Richard Keefe was no longer a member of the United States Army.

But wait-we're getting ahead of ourselves; what of the crime? Like thousands of other homesick, bored GI's Keefe went on the town. He got a little . . . drunk. New Orleans, where this boy was stationed, isn't far from Paris, and he along with several other boys decided they would tawe a little joy ride over to Paris. They swiped a French taxi, and headed for gay Paris.

This is car theft-regardless of the fact that it was a prank. Almost any court-including an American court-would have given him some kind of punishment. "It is the sentence of this court. . ."

Private Keefe had the amazing good fortune to land in front of a rather friendly judge, when he came into court. He gave Keefe the minimum sentence: "five years in solitary confinement." BUT the truth is even worse-that judge could have sent him to a French penal colony for LIFE! Unbelievable? . . . it seems so. If the roulette wheel of French justice had thrown him in front of a different judge, one who hated Americans, the joy ride of this GI could have been a one-way death ride to Devil's Island. An interesting sidelight on this trial is that of a Frenchman who was tried, about the same time, in another French court. An American GI, James Wilkins, was also involved in this case. The Frenchman was found guilty and was also given a sentence of five years-but not in solitary confinement! He was sent to prison for the murder of James Wilkins. But you ask yourself, "I thought American soldiers were subject to American laws, courts and customs." They were until July 15, 1953, when we signed the NATO States of Forces

Treaty, which in reality sold our soldiers down the river. The United States Armed Forces are no longer under the protection of the Constitution. They are subject to the laws, courts, and customs of the country in which they are stationed. They may be arrested with any reason, and can even be tried in secret and shot before a firing squad-all legally. This law would hold true in Yugoslavia, a Communist country, which is supposed to be friendly to us. If they were to go back to Russia, the Yugoslavia, could arrest and execute every American in their country, and would have to do no explaining to our State Department. If one of our soldiers in a Moslem country stole a chicken, he would be tried and sentenced in a Moslem court. The usual penalty for such a crime is having your right hand cut off.

This great dard stain upon our national honor-this betrayal of our fighting men was brought about by the fanatical internationalists who have deluded themselves into some kind of delightful day dream. They dream that world peace can in some mysterious way be achieved by destroying the one thing that has actually produced peace: The Constitution of the United States of America.

We can stop the adoption of treaty laws which are contrary to our Constitution by adopting the Bricker Amendment. . . It's not too late. Remember there are other Keefes in other countries-some may be your sons.

LIONS ROAR

At their regular Tuesday luncheon meeting at the basement of the Methodist Church, Lions Club members heard Boyd Lovelace announce three water conferences to be held in March. The first will be held in San Angelo on Thursday, March 1, the second in Lubbock on March 15 and the third in Mineral Wells on March 29. These meetings are sponsored by the Water Resources Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Lion W. R. Cusenbary, chairman of the Water Committee urged as many Lions as possible to attend the meeting in San Angelo.

Lovelace also gave a short talk on the dangers involved in flying kites near power lines.

Norman Davis, Ground Observer Corps superintendent, announced that the local post will go on 24-hour duty as of March 1.

A film strip, "Paper In The Making," was shown by Pat Lyles.

Lions Directors announced that they have voted to join with the school in the purchase of a sound projector. They also set the date for the annual Broom Sale for March 27. Dr. W. T. Hardy will be general chairman for the sale.

Two guests, Mr. Sterling and Dick Webster of Ozona, and one new member, Gene Shurley, were present.

Deadline For Car Inspection Is April 15

Only 19 per cent of Sutton County motor vehicles have been inspected so far this year. Deadline for the inspection is April 15.

Local Patrolman Herman Moore advises and urges owners to have their cars and trucks inspected now in order to avoid the last minute rush. Drivers of un-inspected vehicles are subject to fines of up to $200.00 in Justice Court.

Official inspections for 1956 began in September at official inspection stations, allowing a six-month period for completing inspection.
