CUSTOMS OFFICER HELD HOSTAGE — One of three Americans who kidnapped two Swedish customs officials Thursday in Malmoe, Sweden, is shown holding a gun in the back of customs officer Bertil Anderson as he directs him into a car. The men were arrested by customs for possession of marijuana and were attempting to escape. They were captured after police shot the tires out of their car.

PRODUCTIVITY KEY TO ENDING CONTROLS

Cost Of Living Spirals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy closed out a sluggish 1971 on a strong note, growing at a 6.1 per cent rate in the fourth quarter, but the cost of living surged in December, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department and the Labor Department released separate reports on the state of the economy and they showed markedly parallel movements.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the cost of living surged by four-tenths of one per cent last month after the price freeze eased. But the boost still left 1971 with the best December boost still left 1971 tion in four years, a 3.4 per with the best record on inflacent increase in the Consumer Price Index.

HIGH JUMP

The Commerce Department said Gross National Product jumped by a sharp 6.1 per cent in the last three months of the year and the rate of inflation slowed to 1.5 per cent, lowest quarterly rise since the third quarter of 1965.

It was during the middle of the quarter that Nixon's freeze moved into the less stringent Phase 2 controls.

For all of 1971, the rate of inflation by GNP standards advanced by 4.6 per cent, down sharply from the 5.5 per cent recorded during 1970's recession.

The two reports gave this picture of the economy: slow growth for all of 1971, an average of 2.7 per cent, a rate too low to trim the high rate of unemployment, now at 6.1 per cent; moderating inflation, but marked by a December rise in the cost of living that may last through the early part of 1972.

The fourth-quarter pickup in the economic pace cheered the Nixon administration.

MOVING AHEAD

"The economy has already shifted into a higher gear and the prospects for strong real growth and moderating inflation in 1972 are excellent," the Commerce Department's chief economist, Dr. Harold C. Passer, said.

The administration, meantime, says that increased productivity is the key to ending wage and price controls—and the regulations will be around until big business uses the key.

Crime On Upswing Here Last Year

Police have computed the major crime trend data for 1971 in Big Spring, which shows that crime in the city has increased 8.2 per cent over crime committed during 1970.

"This is a high percentage, and we are going to do everything in our power this year to get the crime activity back down to a reasonable level," said Vance Chisum, police chief.

Two main areas of crime, murders and robberies, were the major concern of Chief Chisum. In these two categories there were the highest increases, percentage wise, than in any other crime category.

Murders during 1971 increased by seven over those in 1970 for a total of eight, marking a 700 per cent increase in the category. The amount of robberies were recorded at 12, an increase of three over the 1970 total, which marks a 66.6 per cent increase.

"There were too many murders in the city last year, and there is no reason for the increase. We will concentrate our efforts in this area next year to bring the number down to nothing if possible," said Chisum.

Burglaries in the city increased by 49 over 1970 totals to 309 incidents in 1971. The police chief pointed out that this was too high, but was the general trend across the nation in that one crime category.

"We will concentrate our efforts there also, but this is one crime that is very high in every city across the entire nation," Chisum said.

During 1971 thefts over $50 climbed to 250 over 172 recorded in 1970, but thefts under $50 decreased from 352 in 1970 to 293 in 1971.

Auto thefts also decreased last year in the city for a total of 36, compared to 37 in 1970.

Some areas in the state have been able to decrease the amount of criminal activity during the past year. One of the most significant reductions occurred in Dallas, as criminal activity in that city decreased 8.9 per cent.

"To be able to reduce the amount of criminal activity, a lot of money must first be spent, and a department must have adequate personnel to get the job done," said Chief Chisum.

The federal average of commissioned officers per 1,000 population of a city is 2.6. That would mean that for a town the size of Big Spring, 70.3 commissioned officers would be required under federal averages.

According to police personnel records, there are only 39 commissioned personnel in the Big Spring Police Department.

Nab Suspected Air Pirate In Colorado

DENVER (AP) — A young, mustachioed man who hijacked a jetliner in Nevada, collected $50,000 ransom and then parachuted from the craft over the Colorado plains is awaiting action on a federal charge of air piracy.

The hijacker was identified by the FBI in Washington as Richard Charles LaPoint, 23. A spokesman said the identification was made through fingerprints.

BOSTON NATIVE

The FBI said LaPoint was a Boston, Mass., native who has resided in Seabrook, N. H., since November, 1970.

Earlier, the FBI said the hijacker had purchased a ticket for the Hughes Air West flight under the name of John Shane.

MYSTERY EXIT

Still remaining, however, was the mystery as to how the hijacker made his exit from the DC9. Officials said the only door open when the plane landed at Denver's Stapleton International Airport Thursday was a baggage compartment.

LaPoint is expected to be taken into custody at the Logan County Hospital in Sterling, 90 miles northeast of Denver. He will be brought to Denver for a hearing on the charge.

Claiming he had a bomb, the man commandeered the plane at Las eVgas' McCarran International Airport Thursday as it taxied down the runway for a flight to Reno.

GIVEN $50,000

Before allowing the 56 passengers and two stewardesses to deplane, he demanded and was given $50,000 in $10 and $20 bills, three parachutes and two crash helmets. He then directed pilot Don Burkhard of Seattle to fly to Denver.

At Reno, two Air Force F111 jets were ordered into the air at the request of the FBI and they tailed the DC9 as it headed east.

Over the plains near Sterling, the hijacker left the plane.

The F111s kept the parachute in sight as it drifted toward the grassy farmland below, radioing his position to their home base at Nellis Air Force Base, Reno.

One of the military pilots, Lt. Col. Edward Satterfield, said he saw the man land in a plowed field.

CHEATING SCANDAL AT AF ACADEMY

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — U.S. Air Force Academy officials say they expect many more resignations in addition to the 16 cadets who have already quit in a probe of academic cheating and other violations of the school's honor code.

Lt. Gen. Albert P. Clark, academy superintendent, said Thursday night the cadets themselves are conducting the investigation and are checking a list of about 75 names, of which 23 are seriously implicated.

"All of these cases where the honor violations are confirmed will result in resignations," Clark said.

The latest investigation is the third involving cheating at the 3,900-student Air Academy since 1965.

Asking Legislation To Halt Dock Fight

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon sent Congress emergency legislation today that would provide for arbitration of a West Coast dock dispute and an immediate halt to the strike at Pacific ports.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said he wanted the measure passed by the end of next week.

"Let there be no mistake about the urgency of this legislation," he wrote. "This is a vital matter to the people of this country, and the nation can afford no delay."

A two-stage strike by the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union against the ship-operating Pacific Maritime Association is estimated to have caused economic damage mounting into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Here is how the legislation Nixon proposes would work:

Immediately upon its becoming law, the strike would end. Then the secretary of Labor would appoint a three-member arbitration board that would hav 40 days in which to m-tao have 4 days 0n which to imhave 40 days in which to impose settlement terms. The board's findings would be binding for at least 18 months, meaning there could be no strike or lockout during that time.

The President acted after conferring at his home here with Undersecretary of Labor Laurence Silberman.

Draft Lottery Booked Feb. 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft lottery for the two million young men turning 19 this year will be held Feb. 2, earlier than any of the three previous drawings, the Selective Service announced today.

Since none of the men may be drafted before next year, they will have 11 months' notice to consider their chances of being drafted if classified 1A.

Artificial Affair

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The foreman of a heifer ranch near Emmett is suing his employer for a quarter of a million dollars, claiming permanent injuries resulted when he was kicked by a cow as he was attempting to artificially inseminate it.

Manuel Martinez filed the $250,000 suit in 4th District Court Thursday against Holstein Heifer Ranch, Inc.

Martinez said he was engaged in the "ultra hazardous activity" of artificially inseminating the animal when it kicked him and permanently injured his left arm.

He said the cow had kicked another person on a previous occasion and that his employer should have warned him of the danger involved.

Demos Firing Away At Nixon's Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's hopes for avoiding Democratic criticism of his State of the Union message lasted about as long as it took Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey to reach the television cameras.

And Democrats were to take to the airwaves today with an hour-long live television-radio response featuring questions phoned in by listeners around the country.

The prompt response to Nixon's State of the Union message, delivered Thursday, served to underscore the fact that this is a presidential-election year and that Nixon himself is a declared candidate for a second term.

COMPLAINTS

Republican reaction was generally favorable, but even a few GOP members of Congress registered complaints.

Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, called the speech a "depressing blend of liberal utopianism in domestic policy and continued apathy concerning our deteriorating national security."

Ashbrook, who is opposing Nixon in the New Hampshire presidential primary, said the speech had widened the split between Nixon and conservative Republicans.

Muskie called the half-hour address "an empty speech." Humphrey said it created "a major confrontation with the leaders of Congress" and is unlikely to bring favorable action on the President's stalled legislative program.

In the major new note of his speech, Nixon pledged to unveil later this year what he termed a revolutionary plan to ease the reliance on property taxes to finance public education. This could be a proposal for a value-added tax—in essence a national sales tax.

Flu Plague Hits Coahoma Schools

There will be no school at Coahoma Monday, Supt. W. A. Wilson announced Friday noon.

He said that classes were being suspended in an effort to overcome a plague of respiratory ailments or flu which has rocketed absentees.

There were 124 students absent Friday, or about 15 per cent of the enrollment, and this was 24 more than the day before. In addition, there were six faculty members out, and "some others who ought to be out, because of the illness," said Wilson.

He expressed hope that an extra day, besides the weekend, would give a chance for students and faculty to recuperate.

Killing Odessa Divorcee Charge Will Hit Meadows

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Odessa authorities awaited today the return of a New Mexico man who waived extradition in connection with the discovery of a woman's skeleton here.

Johnny Meadows, 34, formerly of Odessa, waived extradition to Texas and was to be brought here from Aztec, N.M., where he has been jailed. Ector County Sheriff A.M. Gabrel said Meadows is charged with disposing of mortgaged property but that Meadows will also be charged with murder in connection with the death of Gloria Sue Nix Green.

UNDER MATTRESS

The skeleton of the 26-year-old divorcee was found early Thursday under a mattress beside a road here. The attractive young woman disappeared last June from the oil well service company office where she was employed.

An employe found the woman's shoes and purse in the unattended office and investigators said that indicated she had not left the office voluntarily.

The grim remains found Thursday were identified by two dentists using dental records and charts. Further, Mrs. Green's mother identified a birthstone ring found near the body.

FEW CLUES

The discovery of Mrs. Green was but another episode in a series of killings in the Odessa area in which young, attractive women have vanished only to be found months later. Three women have been found dead in Odessa since 1968 — two strangled and another stabbed. The remains of a Kermit woman were discovered 50 miles west of Odessa.

Officers have worked with relatively few clues in the mysterious disappearances as there seemed to be no definite threat of similiarity between the slayings.

Mrs. Green's skeleton was bound with an electrical wire around the ankles and neck.

Mrs. Green vanished 13 days after the remains of a Kermit woman, Nancy Mitchell, 27, were found west of Odessa. Mrs. Mitchell disappeared from her home, leaving two sleeping children behind. She had been missing 10 months when officers discovered her skeleton.

QUESTIONED, FREED

For a time, investigators sought to establish a link between the Odessa killings and the disappearance of several women in the Lubbock, Amarillo, and Dallas area.

No definite clues establishing a tie-in were made public, however.

Meadows was questioned and released shortly after Mrs. Green vanished.

Gabrel telephoned his office from Aztec early Thursday, instructing them where to look for Mrs. Green's remains.

Response To Museum Is Good, Says Worthy

Public acceptance beyond the fondest hopes of the founders greeted Heritage Museum during its first year of existence, Jerry Worthy, the institution's first president, told the annual meeting Thursday evening.

In his president's report to the group at the Chamber of Commerce conference, Worthy said that the museum had drawn 7,538 in the 200 working days since it had been opened first in mid-April, an average of nearly two score a day. This is better traffic than museums in many larger cities, he said.

The pioneer women's exhibit, now on display, is doing even better than that. It has drawn 1,689, or better than 50 per day, he reported.

Due to the support of the City of Big Spring and Howard County (each appropriating $5,000 annually), the museum has been able to operate within its budget, Worthy said. Gifts from individuals and foundations have helped the museu mto remodel and repaint the building and close in windows for protection and for more display space.

He recalled that since opening with an exhibit primarily of pioneer photographs of Big Spring and area, the museum had put on two other major exhibits — one on early ranching, the current one on pioneer women. In between there have been art exhibits by Louise Swim, Abilene, and The Texas Art Gallery with Western paintings, plus displays by Bart Mann, goldsmith, and a personal appearance by Ace Reid, Western cartoonist.

Named trustees were Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Sidney Clark, Edith Gay, Daryle Hohertz, Jerry Worthy and Wade Choate.

Officers named by the trustees were Mrs. Clyde Angel, also one of the founding trustees, president; Wade Choate, vice president; Edith Gay, secretary; and Sidney Clark, treasurer.

Named to fill vacancies on the board were Dr. P. W. Malone, Mrs. Annie Phinney, Miss Agnes Currie, Tom Adams.

First Federal Report Glows

First Federal Savings and Loan Association members heard glowing reports on the 1971 record when they held the annual meeting Tuesday.

Assets gained by almost 30 per cent during the year.

Dividends paid fell just a hair under the million dollar mark, amounting to $978,720.

Members re-elected K. H. McGibbon to the board.

The board re-elected Elmo Wasson as president; Charles E. Biel, executive vice president; Malcolm Patterson, secretary-treasurer; Lorene Minnick, assistant treasurer; and Lu Norris, assistant secretary. Hold-over directors are Wasson, Patterson, R. V. Middleton and Robert Stripling.

During the year, according to the annual report, there were $2,332,405 in first mortgage property loans. Reflecting a sign of the times, mobile home loans rose to $1,002,391 and other loans included $196,048 for home improvements and $125,575 for college education.

Net operating income was pegged at $218,107 for the year.

Men's Day Is Set At Local Church

Men's Day, honoring laymen workers at Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Frazier, will be held Sunday in conjunction with the observance held annually by the Southern Baptist Convention.

"Men's Day is a chance to honor and recognize men of the church. Its purpose is also to acknowledge significant contributions made by men of the church, and to inform the church of present and planned missions-related activities carried out by the men of the church," said the Rev. Arthur Thomas, pastor.

The Rev. Thomas added that the special observance afforded an opportunity to challenge men in the church and to enlist their active participation in church activities.

Six laymen will be speakers for Sunday's service. They are Smokey Burgess, Buddy Ezzell, J. D. Buchanan, Charles Sitton, John Hughes and James Findley. Dr. Charles Ward will direct the men's choir.

Benefit Feed

The Bakers Chapel AME benefit barbecue will be held again Saturday with Charlie Merritt doing the cooking at Northwest Tenth and Lancaster. Net proceeds from the plates ($1.25) go to the church. There will be barbecue beef, pork ribs and chicken, plus trimmings.

WILLIAM G. HEIRENS

Illinois Slayer Making History

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — William G. Heirens, serving three consecutive life sentences for murders he commited 26 years ago, soon will become the first person in Illinois history to earn a college degree while a prison inmate.

Heirens was a 17-year-old college student in 1946 when he was convicted of the dismemberment slaying of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan after kidnaping her and of earlier slayings of Frances Brown and Josephine Ross, all of Chicago.

He has been confined to Stateville Penitentiary since and is unlikely to ever be released.

Heirens has been measured for a new suit he'll wear to graduation ceremonies under the traditional cap and gown. He is working on his last college term paper and will take his last college examination on Sunday.

He will leave the prison's honor farm, where he has been since last June, and take a short trip to Lewis College to receive his degree Feb. 6.

Heirens has completed 197 semester hours of college credit through television courses, extension courses and classes conducted at the prison by visiting professors.

"He probably has more college credits than anyone except a candidate for a doctor of philosophy degree," said Terence Bergin, superintendent of education at the prison.

Heirens completed his first correspondence course in 1952 from the University of Illinois.

Majoring in liberal arts, Heirens' studies included philosophy, logic, math, sociology, horticulture, calculus, business accounting, social psychology, journalism, creative writing, business law, cultural anthropology and German.

Prison authorities said he has made top grades in all his studies.

"This has helped me from living a vegetable existence, which is often the case when men are confined in prison for a long time," Heirens said.

"My sole purpose was to provide a challenge for myself."

VANDALISM

The desk clerk at the Holiday Inn reported Thursday morning that 10 to 15 cars parked over night at the motel had their tires cut. No damage value was reported to the police station.

Lou Nation reported valdalism to her vehicle while it was parked at the Past-Time Lounge Thursday. Approximately $400 worth of damage was done to the car, officers reported.

Demos Select Precinct Help

A meeting of the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee was held Thursday night in the Howard County court room, for the purpose of electing election precinct judges or chairmen.

D. A. Brazel, Democratic executive chairman, was the presiding officer in the meeting, and there were approximately 30 people present. A total of 23 precinct chairmen were selected for the coming election year.

Those selected include: Precinct 1 — Eliazar Rodriquez; 2 — Rayford Dunagan; 3 — John Roemer Sr.; 4 — Lloyd Thomas; 5 — James C. Barr; 6 — O. R. Crow; 7 — Hiram C. Reid; 8 — L. R. No precinct chairman has been selected for Precinct 18, and the rest of the chairmen are: 19 — M. H. (Slick) Boatler; 20 — Elra Phillips; 21 — J. D. Fortenberry; 22 — Billy T. Smith, and 23 — Dewey Ray.

In the up-coming elections, Precinct 23 will be the special canvassing board, or the absentee box.

W. D. Berry, past precinct chairman for Box 16 submitted his resignation Thursday night in the meeting. Berry said that due to a possible conflict of interest with his future plans, he felt it only fair that a new chairman be appointed to fill the position.

Floyd Young was selected to take over the precinct box from Berry.

Forsan Trustee Election Ballot Has Four Spots

FORSAN — Trustees of the Forsan County Line Independent School District have set April 1 as the date for school board elections. Four positions on the school board will be open.

Incumbents whose terms are ending are Elbert Strickland, Tom Yeats and Robert Rister, for three-year terms, and William R. Banks Jr., for a two-year term.

Candidates must file at the school tax office by March 1. The tax office hours are 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Trustees have set two polling places for the election — the Forsan High School building, and the Elbow Elementary School. Voting hours will be 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 1.

Absentee voting will begin at the tax office March 13 and will end March 28. Election judges will be Mrs. John Kubecka, Forsan, and Homer Thorp, Elbow.

The board also appointed a new board of equalization for the year. The new board includes Joe Frank Knapp, Homer Thorp, G. L. Monroney, and an alternate, John Cardwell.

The board tabled discussion of insurance coverage on the new band hall, scheduled for completion in about 10 days, and approved the purchase of a tractor and a shredder for mowing the school area.

Supt. H. D. Smith was ordered to get three bids for roofing repair on the Elbow gym. Plans for the new Forsan High School gym were approved tentatively, and Frank Donahue, engineer for the Armco Building Systems, Lubbock, was asked to have bids ready for the Feb. 14 school board meeting.

Killer Testifies He Sold Stolen Diamond To Bates

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Defense lawyers for Texas Sen. Jim Bates continued today to cross-examine a soft-spoken convicted murderer, a key witness against the Lower Rio Grande Valley legislator.

Bates, of Edinburg, is charged with receiving a stolen diamond from Adrian Lambert, a Corpus Christi native who has been convicted in three counties on burglary charges, once for murder without malice, and is now facing a robbery charge.

'FANCY' GEMS

Lambert claims he stole 36 diamonds, including one described as "fancy" and "unique" from the home of Edmond Ford, a Corpus Christi lawyer. He said he took the gems to Austin and sold them in the Capitol building to Bates for $4,400.

Ford had earlier testified that his loss was estimated at $25,000 to $27,000.

Defense lawyer Frank Maloney of Austin began cross-examining Lambert at 4:26 p.m. He was still cross-examining the man when District Court Judge Vernon Harville called for the overnight recess at 5 p.m.

The case is being heard in 105th District Court by a jury of eight women and four men. Jury selection for the case took three days.

Lambert testified that he told Bates the diamonds were stolen. He said Bates took the diamonds to a jeweler at Rosenberg near Houston where they were appraised.

NEEDED CASH

Bates returned and told him he would pay only $4,400, Lambert testified. Lambert said he did not believe that was enough money, but he accepted the money when Bates told him he could either take the money or the stone.

"I needed the cash," Lambert testified.

Describing his relationship with Bates as "close," Lambert said he first met the senator in 1966 when Lambert was charged with burglary in Hidalgo and Nueces counties.

He said Bates posted bond for him and the two became close friends.

Lambert said he was in Bates' home in the Valley about ten times, noting that he went there more often after Bates and his wife were divorced.

Lambert also testified that he got a girl friend, Diane Peterson, a job in Bates' office in Austin. He said the girl was there at the time he sold the diamond to Bates.

Much of the early cross-examination of Lambert concerned his criminal record. Maloney also got Lambert to admit he had fabricated evidence in the murder case in Harris County.

Lambert said the victim had threatened him over the telephone and later came to his home. Lambert said he sneaked to the front of the house while the man was knocking at the front door.

FIRED INTO TREE

The soft-spoken Lambert, who admitted being a burglar for 13 years, said he first shot the man in the foot and shot him again when he refused to stand still.

Lambert said then he went to the man's car, got a weapon and fired it into a tree and placed the weapon beside the man before the police arrived.

A jury in Harris County found Lambert guilty of murder without malice and set his punishment at four years in prison. Lambert is now appealing the verdict.

Nightly Airlifts Up Jewish Immigration

TEL AVIV (AP) — Nightly airlifts from Vienna to Lod airport outside Tel Aviv are swelling the immigration of Jewish families from the Soviet Union to Israel from a trickle to a flood.

Israeli immigration officials predict as many as 40,000 Soviet immigrants—each carrying only the equivalent of $100 and a crate of belongings for each family—may move to Israel this year. December recorded 3,000, and the January figure promises to be the same.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

The mass immigration poses huge financial and housing problems, but Premier Golda Meir summed up the Israeli government's attitude toward the newcomers when she said, "I pray for a million such problems."

Moscow has threatened to swamp Israel with immigrants, Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir told the world Zionist Congress in Jerusalem, but "we shall receive this flood gladly.

"Never has such a mighty state menaced such a tiny nation with such a threat—a threat which is received with the fervent hope that it will be implemented," Sapir declared.

Israel wants manpower, whatever the cost, to strengthen the population of 2½ million Jews.

The Soviet Union, with a Jewish population estimated at three million, could become a major source of manpower. Russian immigrants stepping off the jumbo jets this week said they had almost no trouble getting exit permits.

Israel absorbed 690,000 immigrants during 1948-51. It anticipates in 1972 in addition to the Russians 10,000 Jewish settlers from North America, 5,000 from South America and 15,000 from East Europe and other regions.

The Russian newcomers are poor. The Jewish Agency treasurer, Leon Dulzin, estimates "it costs $26,000 to absorb every family of four Russians in Israel."

The money goes for the immigrants' transportation to Israel, housing, education, social welfare and health services.

Housing is the biggest challenge.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Recent Russian immigrants have grumbled about being offered housing in remote development areas. They want to live near the bright lights of Tel Aviv or the cultural lures of Jerusalem.

Some Israelis assert so much is being spent on immigrants that not enough is left to rebuild slum areas or provide apartments for young couples after they have served in the army.

Methodists Commended

Local Methodists and Dr. Jordan Grooms, superintendent of the Big Spring District, have been commended for their aid in getting McMurry College's matching fund campaign well over its $500,000 goal for the construction of a new physical education center.

"I am very grateful for the fine job done by Dr. Grooms and Les Francis, of Snyder, and the people of the Big Spring district, who, along with hundreds of workers throughout the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Conferences, helped us to raise this money," said Morgan Jones Jr., chairman of the campaign.

"It is a real pleasure to work with these people," added Jones. According to Jones, the total amount paid or pledged to the campaign was $511,165.78, and nearly $12,000 more from active pledges made to the Golden Anniversary Fund in 1968 will be added.

Prevue Of CR '72 Given Kiwanians

Big Spring Kiwanians were treated to a sneak preview of Campus Revue '72 during their luncheon meeting at the Settles Hotel Thursday. Bill Bradley, Big Spring High School band director, presented the program.

Skits included Wayne Nugent singing "Wandering Star" from musical "Paint Your Wagon," Gary Witte in a television sportscast spoof, Diana Williams sang "Second Hand Rose" and "Greatest Star" from "Funny Girl," and Shiretta Owenby was accompianist. Patricia Palmer presented a sample of the "one liner" humor patterned after "Laugh-in" to be featured in CR '72.

Two BSHS Key Club members, Bobby Carlisle and Bobby Armstrong, were guests. Other guests were Dan McClinton, new education director at Baptist Temple, and Dr. D. H. McGonagill, of Texas State Optical.

School Financing Brief Countered

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The state's request for modification of a landmark ruling against the Texas school financing system drew a rebuttal from plaintiffs in the case Thursday.

In a brief filed in federal court, the plaintiffs said they saw no need to change the ruling returned by a three-judge federal panel here last month.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin had asked the court to amend its order for several reasons, primarily to allow school districts to continue to levy taxes and issue bonds.

The plaintiffs, residents of the predominantly Mexican-American Edgewood School District here, countered that the order provides for the present financing system to operate without change until the legislature draws up a new one.

"The court's order has not impaired existing obligations of contracts or the authority of school districts to continue to operate public schools, pending the implementation of a constitutional financing system," the plaintiffs said.

They said the order also allows the issuance of new school bonds until a different way of financing school building projects is adopted.

They further contended that any present or future bond issue obligations must be honored because the legislature has no constitutional authority to set up a new system that would change the contractual right of the bondholders to be paid.

The court ruled that the present system discriminates on the basis of wealth within individual districts and gave the state two years to correct it.

Martin had voiced concern over the possibilities of appealing the case because of the court's two-year jurisdiction in the case. But the plaintiffs argued the state can appeal at once to the U.S. Supreme Court and cited several precedents.

Martin also had suggested the order be amended so as to not strike down that section of the Texas constitution providing for school financing through property taxes. But the plaintiffs said pre-trial stipulations agreed the only point at issue was the provision that tax money be spent in the district where collected.

They argued the order struck at this constitutional limitation only and that no clarification was needed.

30-YEAR POT SENTENCE

Judge Orders Freedom Or New Trial For Militant

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge ordered freedom or a new trial Thursday for a black militant who received a 30-year prison sentence in 1968 for giving a marijuana cigarette to a policeman.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl Bue Jr. did not challenge the length of the sentence but said testimony at a hearing caused doubt whether Otis Lee Johnson had received a fair trial.

Bue said the critical issue was whether Johnson was accorded a fair trial in view of the climate of opinion in Houston at the time of the trial.

Dist. Atty. Carol Vance has 90 days in which to decide whether he will schedule a new trial, free Johnson from prison, or carry Bue's ruling to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Vance said his office would have to evaluate the ruling before a decision can be made.

Johnson was a civil rights activist in 1967-68 at Texas Southern University, a predominantly black Houston school where a 1967 riot led to the death of a policeman.

OTIS LEE JOHNSON

In citing testimony during Johnson's writ of habea corpus hearing, Bue said Vance who personally prosecuted the case, had testified that feelings ran high over the TSU riot shortly before the Johnson trial.

While saying the 30-year sentence raised no constitutional issue for federal jurisdiction, Bue said the sentence is indicative that influences other than evidence in the state court trial played a role in jury deliberations.

The Thursday ruling also recalled that Mayor Louie Welch had testified during the hearing that he was shocked upon hearing the length of the Johnson sentence.

Bue said there were three constitutional grounds for his granting Johnson's plea. All three involved motions that were denied by the court.

Johnson's attorneys had filed a motion for a continuance or delay of the trial, a motion to disqualify jury panel members who had heard of Johnson, and a motion for a change of venue.

Jurists Void Filing Fee For Political Candidates

DALLAS (AP) — State and county party officials had to go back to the drawing board today to find new ways of financing local primaries in the wake of a ruling by a three-judge federal panel that the law setting filing fees at up to four per cent of a candidate's salary is "invalid and void."

Rick Johnston, a candidate for justice of the peace in Pct. 7, who would have been required to pay out $3,456 on his $21,600 salary, brought the suit constitutional rights were violated by such a provision. Two voters from Tarrant County—Reuben Jenkins and Theodore H. Wischkaemper — also intervened as plaintiffs.

SAME TRIO

Earl Luna, Dallas County Democratic chairman, argued in favor of the filing fees.

The judges on the panel — U.S. Circuit Court Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin, and U.S. District Court Judges Sarah T. Hughes and William M. Taylor Jr. — were the same trio who turned down an earlier filing fee law because the fees were assessed mainly to raise funds for paying for primaries.

This time they took only 32 minutes to reach their decision.

Judge Thornberry, reading the ruling which will be followed by a formal judgment, said:

'House Bill No. 5, providing for filing fees for candidates for public office, and in the alternative for pauper's affidavits accompanied by the petition of a certain number of qualified voters is declared invalid and void. Those officers charged with enforcement of House Bill No. 5 are enjoined from further implementation.'

VICTORY FOR PEOPLE

The judge directed state and county committees of the political parties to meet and make new rules for carrying out the court's decision.

However, within an hour of the court ruling, Secretary of State Bob Bullock said in Austin that he would ask Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to request a stay of execution of the order until after this year's primaries, to be held in May and June.

"A failure of the court to grant a limited stay of their order may force the complete reorganization of our primary election system," he said. "I cannot see how we can make such a major change prior to the May 6 primaries."

YEAR OF REFORM

The court ruling was hailed as "a victory for the people of Texas" by Johnston.

'I think, in this year of reform in Texas, it will save significant influence on the primary and general elections," he said.

Luna said he had no immediate intention of calling his committee together.

"The judges have told us what we can't do. Now, hopefully, in their final judgment they will tell us what we can do," he said.

In Arlington, where he was when told of the court's decision, Governor Preston Smith said the order might cause a complete reorganization of the primary election system.

He added he hoped the court would stay its order until the U.S. Supreme Court issues a ruling on the matter.

The elimination of the filing fees creates the problem of how to finance the elections.

NO ONE TO BLAME

In Dallas, State Sen. Mike McKool said that a special session of the legislature was needed to get a new constitutional filing law. But Gov. Smith reportedly would rather not have a special session since it would have to be presided by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes who is running against Smith.

McKool said that he and the secretary of state warned the state Senate for three months that the new invalidated law was unconstitutional.

"But the Senate was determined to pass the measure," McKool said. "And now those who supported this unconstitutional measure which contained fees eight to 10 times more than other states, have no one to blame but themselves.'

McKool noted that the secretary of state prepared a constitutional filing fee bill which he sponsored in the last session and, he added, 'is ready for enactment.'

McKool is a candidate for the new 24th Congressional District's House seat.

Panel Ruling Can Only Hurt Party Finances

Howard County's Democratic party has been hit in the wallet by the action Thursday of a three-judge federal panel in Dallas in striking down the Jan. 1 law that set the filing fees for candidates thereby killing the source of political party income.

"No provisions are made in Texas other than through the filing fees to finance party primaries. I don't know what we can do but try to find another way to raise the money," said D. A. Brazel, county Democratic party chairman.

"The only solution I see is to ask each candidate if he wants to make a voluntary contribution to the party in lieu of the filing fee, and then we'd have to ask each candidate to sign an affidavit stating that the contribution was voluntary," said Brazel.

Cost of the last Democratic primary in the county was $4,000, according to Brazel, and he said that he expects the cost of the rise in the cost of printing ballots and election materials and because of the action of the county commission in creating an additional voting box which will have to be supplied and staffed.

Brazel said that chances for a primary are slim unless the state legislature takes some action in the matter to provide some method of fund raising for Democratic parties in the state.

To date, filing fees totaling $250 have been collected from the five Democratic candidates who have filed for office. Brazel said the money will be "kept in escrow" until each candidate can be contacted to see whether he money will be donated to the party or will be returned to each candidate.

County Republican party members are affected by the ruling to a lesser degree because their primary costs are less than those faced by the Demos.

"The ruling won't affect our primary effort, and we always try to get by as cheaply as possible. We don't pay our election judges and clerks. Supplies and ballots are our only expense, and that is usually about $150," said W. J. (Bill) Sheppard, county Republican party chairman.

Sheppard added that the party locally has never had the expense of a run-off primary election. He said that this year, one candidate, County Commissioner Bill Crooker, Precinct 3, will run on the Republican ticket, but that the party will be required to cover only the costs of primary elections in six voting boxes in Commissioner Crooker's precinct and will not be required to finance a county-wide primary.

Other Boys Are Waiting, Chesser Tells Gathering

Looking over the record of recruiting new boys for the past year, Alex Chesser, Houston, had a word of admonition for the 48th annual meeting of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"Three thousand boys are sitting out there," he said, "waiting for us to do something. They are waiting to see if there is something in Scouting that we said was there. We can't leave these boys just as statistics. For them, the decision on Scouting is still ours. We've got promises to keep."

Speaking to more than 300 individuals gathered from 18 counties which make up the district, Chesser urged his listeners to beam in on the individual boy. Youth is so fleeting, he added, that adults can't afford to dally in giving boys the very best in a Scouting experience.

Mrs. Georgia Jackson, who has put in more than a score of years of service as the wife of a scoutmaster (now deceased), as a den mother and expert in Cub training, became the first to receive the Silver Fawn award. Moments later, Mrs. Charles W. Ross, Odessa, whose husband had previously received the top Silver Beaver award, became the second woman to be honored by the council with the Fawn.

Recipients of the Silver Beaver award were Hubert Cargile, Snyder, Forest Muire and C. D. Johnson, of Midland; Edmund (Ned) Truex, Lee Criswell and Urbane Childers of Odessa; Harry King Jr., Monahans and Robert Morris, Kermit.

Bernold M. (Bruno) Hanson, Midland, succeeded Dr. Billy Shaw, Odessa, as council president. Jack Powell, Big Spring, was named a vice president of the council. Among executive board members from this area were Jack Alexander, James Duncan, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Ben F. Johnson, Joe Pickle, Dr. Clyde S. Thomas, Clayton Hicks. Jack Gulley was named council member at large, and S. M. Smith and Sam Anderson were named to the advisory board as was O. B. Bryant, Stanton.

Numerous awards were distributed for achievement of goals, including those to Jack Alexander, past chairman, and Clayton Hicks, new district chairman of the Lone Star district which embraces Howard, Glasscock and Sterling counties. Dr. Clyde Thomas and Ben Johnson, council committee chairman, were cited. The district, on a cumulative point basis, ranked first during the past year.

Reports at the business meeting of the council, which preceded the annual banquet in the Howard County Junior College cafeteria, showed that the council had reversed a trend of several years in declining boy membership. There was a net gain, and contributing to this were nearly 3,000 new Cubs, Scouts and Explorers.

Volunteer Firemen Are Kept On Run

Two grassfires and a cotton trailer fire kept county and volunteer fire department units busy Thursday.

First report of fire was made to the county sheriff's office at 1:28 p.m. concerning a cotton trailer fire at Planters' Gin, Lamesa Hwy. The county fire unit was dispatched to extinguish the blaze.

A grassfire was reported at 2:55 p.m. 20 miles out the Snyder Hwy. County and Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department units were dispatched. The fire was reported extinguished at 3:51 p.m.

Shortly after 5 p.m., the sheriff's officer received report of a grassfire from Webb AFB saying that the fire was near housing area west of Webb. The county unit and the Jonesboro Volunteer Fire Department were dispatched. A short time later, the fire was reported extinguished.

N. E. Roll Gives Talk In Forsan

N. E. Roll, chapter manager of the local American Red Cross, was the special speaker in the regular meeting of the Forsan Study Club Monday night.

Members of the club, meeting in the home of Mrs. Thetus Dunagan, were briefed on the many services the Red Cross offers to military families, as well as communities during times of emergency.

Roll mentioned some of the services being taught by the local Red Cross chapter are, life-saving, home-nursing, and hopefully in the near future, a mother-baby care program.

Two new members of the club were present at the meeting, Mrs. Betty Chadwell, and Mrs. Anita Shoults.

Camp Director To Speak Here

The Big Spring YMCA is announcing its summer resident camping plans for 1972. Curtis Mullins, executive director, stated that YMCA Camp Flaming Arrow will open June 4 for boys and girls eight through 15 years old.

Art Sears, Camp Flaming Arrow director, is conducting a special camp reunion and information session Tuesday, Feb. 1, 7 p.m., at the Big Spring YMCA and invites all past campers and parents and anyone else desiring information about the camp.

Camp slides, songs, games and prizes will be part of the program.

Camp Flaming Arrow, west of Kerrville on the south fork of the Guadalupe River, is a well-equipped resident camp complete with a modern dining hall, Olympic size swimming pool, horses, canoes, crafts, nature lore, sports, fishing, hiking, campfire and spiritual emphasis programs.

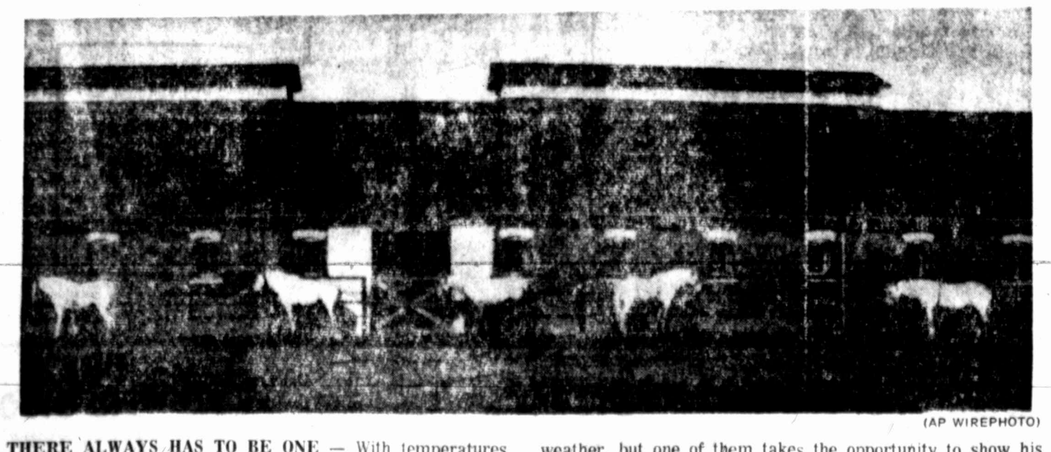

Youngsters bunk in rustic cabins supervised by college-age counselors.

For more information persons can contact the Big Spring YMCA, 8th and Owens, or call 267-8234.

Dares Firms To Run Great Ads In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — District court judge Tom Blackwell has ordered two Florida firms to halt advertising and sales practices that Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin claimed were misleading.

Dare to be Great, Inc., and its parent company, Glenn M. Turner Enterprises, Inc., agreed to regulations drawn by Martin's office.

Blackwell signed the order after attorneys for Martin and the firms met informally.

The order said the firms must stop advertising that Turner was selected as Lions International "Humanitarian of the Year."

Blackwell said in the order that Turner was accorded that honor only by a local Tampa, Fla., chapter of the Lions.

The firms also agreed to represent returns from their "multi-level marketing" investment program only according to amounts earned by a "substantial" number of investors.

Martin filed suit Jan. 8, alleging the firms engaged in deceptive trade practices and asking Blackwell to prohibit them from doing business in Texas.

He claimed Dare to be Great pushed a pyramid sales scheme in which profits depended on "the exploitation of others" who had virtually no chance of receiving a return on their investments.

Membership Drive For Y Nearing

The YMCA participating membership drive begins Monday at 5:15 p.m., with 105 workers under Jim Parks, general chairman, and Jim Baum, co-chairman, working to raise $13,500.

The campaign task force is made up of the chairmen and five division leaders, Mrs. Gene McElroy, M. A. Snell, Mrs. Pete Cook, Harold Bentley and Ben Bancroft; four captains under each division leader and four workers under each captain.

A circus theme will be used by the task force to help achieve the goal.

Workers will contact prospective members for new and renewal memberships and ask that anyone not contacted that would like to join to call the YMCA. Prospective members are welcome to come by and look at the YMCA facilities and ask about the various programs. Memberships are available from age six up, for boys and girls and men and women.

Chesley McDonald Honored By ACC

Chesley McDonald of Sterling County, well known in Big Spring, has been named recipient of the first Alumni Citation for 1972 at Abilene Christian College in Abilene.

McDonald has been president, vice president and a member of the board of directors for the ACC Alumni Association and a member of the college's National Development Council and Advisory Board.

Six such citations are presented each year.

McDonald was a three-year letterman in football at ACC, the Students Associations president and member of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" while a student there. He received a BS degree in business administration in 1940.

McDonald coached at Anson and Colorado City after graduation from college, then served as high school principal in Sterling City. He was on the Sterling school board 18 years and an elder for the Sterling City Church of Christ.

McDonald now ranches in the county.

Actress Reports Mink Coat Theft

CHICAGO (AP) — Police report the theft of a mink coat from actress Lauren Bacall and say it is valued in the "thousands of dollars."

Police said Thursday that Miss Bacall discovered loss of the knee-length coat early Wednesday when she returned to her suite in the Ambassador East Hotel after a performance in the musical "Applause" at the Opera House.

Two Civilian Space Agency Pilots Killed In Jet Crash

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two civilian Space Agency pilots have been killed when their T-38 jet crashed into the beach on Matagorda Island not far from Port O'Connor.

The men killed in the Thursday crash were identified as Stuart M. Present, 41, and Mark C. Heath, 37. The men were employes of the Space Agency's Aircraft Operations office here and were not astronauts.

Officials said they were attempting their third instrument landing practice of the day using the Matagorda Island Bombing and Gunnery Range runway. The plane crashed in a dense fog about 2,000 feet south of the runway.

Radar units at the Federal Aviation Administration station at Palacios were following the flight. When the aircraft disappeared off the radar scope officials launched an aerial search.

Fog hampered searchers for a time, but the wreckage was later spotted through a break in the fog bank and a ground party later recovered the bodies.

The two men were utility pilots for the Space Agency. They flew a variety of aircraft and frequently flew space officials from point to point in the country. The T-38 jet they were flying was part of a fleet of such craft used by the astronauts to commute between the various space flight training centers. The aircraft was based at Ellington Air Force Base, which is near the Manned Spacecraft Center, home of the astronauts.

Present was nearly killed a year ago in the crash of an aircraft used by astronauts to train for moon landings. On Jan. 29, 1971, Present was flying the Lunar Landing Training Vehicle (LLTV), a wingless, rocket-supported craft, when it went out of control. The pilot ejected and landed safely by parachute.

Present lived in Seabrook and Heath in Friendswood. Both are small communities not far from the Space Center. Both pilots were married.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Out-Of-Town Doctor Bills Can Be High, Reader Says

Dear Editor:

Have you ever had to take a loved one to another city to receive medical attention? I have experienced this for the past two years with three members of our family. An aunt, with heart trouble, spent three months in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

The cost of medical treatment, operations, expenses to and from Lubbock, rooms at a motel, food, etc. ran into the thousands of dollars. Another member of the family spent a month or longer in the same hospital for medical treatment at a cost of about $700, not counting motel rooms, expenses, travel, etc.

At the present time, another member of the family is in M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. She has been there approximately one month and looking forward to another two weeks or longer. Again the cost of operations, medical treatment, room, etc. will range from $150 to $200 per day for biopsies, fees for half a dozen doctors including consultants.

Had Big Spring had the necessary medical facilities to take care of these members of our family, we would not have had to travel to great distances to receive the specialized care. Can you imagine how much money has been spent in other cities because we can't take care of citizens locally?

I am in favor of bigger and better medical facilities here in Howard County and Big Spring, and I care less who wants to take the giant step forward to see that the citizens get the best medical treatment locally.

If this medical center will bring a needed pathologist, thoracic-cardiovascular surgeon, neurosurgeon, cancer surgeons, and other specialists needed here, then we need it. If the Howard County Hospital Authority should prove to be illegal, then steps must be taken to correct this mistake and give the citizens a chance to express their feelings. Let's face it; we need more specialized medical treatment in Big Spring and Howard County. An added blessing is that we will receive approximately 100 new jobs, plus new doctors, who will build new homes, etc.

Ballard Motion Up For Hearing

Whitmer Jean Ballard's motion to have 118th District Judge R. W. Caton disqualify himself from presiding over Ballard's Feb. 7 murder trial in Alpine was to be heard today at 3 p.m. in the district courtroom.

Ballard is charged with murder with malice in connection with the Dec. 2, 1970 shotgun slaying of Steve Currie, 71, prominent Glasscock County Rancher.

Bobby Bearden, Midland attorney appointed to defend Ballard, filed the motion in 85th District Court, Alpine, alleging that Judge Caton's neutrality in the case had been impaired.

Ballard's trial has been moved to Alpine on a change of venue from Midland following the conviction there of Orville Davis, 51, for his part in Currie's death. Davis was sentenced to life in prison.

Guadalupe Ramos Given Sentence

Guadalupe Ramos, 20, pleaded guilty Thursday in 118th District Court to a burglary charge and was sentenced to three years in prison.

Ramos was arrested Dec. 15, 1971 for burglary. He had been scheduled for trial beginning Monday. Ramos was one of three defendants in criminal cases on the docket for Monday. He was returned to custody in Howard County jail to await gransfer to the Texas Department of Corrections.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today for part of the Gulf Coast and in the East from northern Florida to southern New York. Rain is also forecast for the Pacific Northwest and parts of the northern and central Rockies and western Plains. Snow is expected for the northern Plains and upper Great Lakes. The warming trend will extend over most of the nation.

Rebekah Lodge Has Installation Ceremony

Mrs. William R. Loftis, retiring noble grand of John A. Key Rebekah Lodge 153, received a past noble grand's jewel from her husband during an installation service Tuesday in the IOOF Hall. Mr. Loftis was "lodge sweetheart" during his wife's term of office.

Miss Juanita Hamlin was installed as noble grand, Mrs. W. E. Rayburn as vice grand and Mrs. Ralph La Londe as treasurer. Escorts were W. C. Cole, R. B. Hughes and the Rev. Elra Phillips.

Others installed were Mrs. Lee Thackrey, warden; Mrs. Grady Sudberry, conductor; Mrs. Homer Petty, chaplain; Mrs. Charlie Boland, musician; Mrs. Alton Allen, color bearer; Mrs. Leon Cole and Mrs. Grady Beck, right and left supports to the noble grand; Mrs. Jim Ferguson and Mrs. William C. Ward, right and left supports to the vice grand; Mrs. R. B. Hughes and Mrs. A. I. Johnson, inside and outside guardians; Mrs. Lois Anderson, Rebekah color bearer; Mrs. W. C. Cole and Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, right and left supports to the chaplain; and Mrs. Julia Moore and Mrs. Everett Hood, right and left supports to the past noble grand. Mrs. Luther Bonner was named the new lodge mother.

The installing officers were headed by Mrs. U.S. Beechly, deputy president of District 11. She was assisted by Mrs. Jones Lamar, Mrs. La Londe, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Boland, Mrs. Leon Cole, Mrs. J. C. Pye, Mrs. John Cate, Mrs. O. L. Rodricks, Mrs. Thackrey and Mrs. Hood.

The new noble grand's chosen song, "How Great Thou Art," was sung by Mrs. C. C. Carlton of Tyler, accompanied by Mrs. Boland, pianist. Miss Hamlin presented a corsage to her mother, Mrs. Pauline Hamlin.

Mrs. Hood made the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Loftis from her lodge mother, Mrs. M. R. Ray, who was unable to be present.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a lace cloth over pink linen. Featured in the centerpiece were white candles and pink and white carnations. Among the guests were members of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284.

Mrs. Beechly will conduct lodge instruction Jan. 25.

LUNCH DRESS — The Spanish Steps in Rome form a background for Parisian singer-actress Patrizia Szabo as she models a beige crepe lunch dress. The creation, worn with a large hat of ostrich feathers, is part of Tita Rossi's spring-summer collection presented in Rome Thursday.

Big Springers Take Part In Installation

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Vena Fortune was installed as noble grand of Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287 Monday evening.

Other new officers are Mrs. Charlie Christopher, vice grand; Mrs. Mim McCoy, secretary; Mrs. Mason Coggin, treasurer; Mason Coffin, chaplain; Mrs. Al Morgan, warden; Miss Sammye Laws and Mrs. Walter Graves, right and left supports to noble grand; Lynn White and Charlie Christopher, inside and outside guardians; Mrs. Lloyd Hasting, conductor; Mrs. Elna Sprawls, musician; Mrs. Jess Angel and Mrs. Henry Louder, right and left supports to vice grand; and Mrs. Virgie Johnson, past noble grand.

Mrs. U. S. Beechley of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, Big Spring, district deputy president, was present with her staff. Pianists during the evening were Mrs. Charlie Boland, Big Spring, and Mrs. Bill Coggin.

After the business session, a salad supper was served.

Agent Gives Tips On Homemaking

STANTON (SC) — "Tips for 1972" was the program presented by Mrs. James Eiland, Martin County home demonstration agent, for Lakeview HD Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Horace Tubbs.

Mrs. Eiland illustrated ways to enhance the decor of homes, as well as hints for gardening, cooking and sewing. She displayed a pot holder, jewelry box and picture which could be made easily.

Mrs. Ray Russell, a new member, was elected secretary-treasurer to replace Mrs. W. D. Bryant who resigned. Mrs. Lee Castle, a former member, rejoined the club.

Former Resident On Dean's List

Mrs. David Canfil of San Angelo, formerly of Big Spring, has been named to the Dean's List at San Angelo State University. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Dee Foster Sr. and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Johnson, all of 1111 E. 13th. Mrs. Canfil is the former Vicky Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holland. She graduated from Big Spring High School prior to her parents' move to San Angelo.

Club Views Wig Styles

Mrs. Sherie Dorton of Sherie's Beauty Salon demonstrated how to style wigs for the British Wives Club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Elmer Watts, 127-A Barksdale.

Several members assisted in the program by modeling wigs and hairpieces when they were styled.

Farewell gifts were presented to three members. Mrs. Ronald Huntley is moving to England and Mrs. George Hayes and her mother, Mrs. Irene Mulley, are moving to California.

Mrs. James Donaldson won a bouquet of flowers to be wired to her mother in England, and Mrs. Herman Stanley won a free hair styling from Sherie's Beauty Salon.

Mrs. James Clemons of Ireland was a guest. The next meeting is Feb. 3, time and place to be announced.

Farewells Said At Luncheon

Mrs. W. A. Hall was honored Wednesday at a farewell luncheon in the home of Mrs. E. D. Rawlings, 2703 Carol, with Mrs. C. C. Reed as cohostess.

SM. Sgt. and Mrs. Hall have resided in Big Spring during his tour of duty at Webb Air Force Base. Sgt. Hall is retiring from military service, and the couple plans to spend a great deal of time traveling over the United States.

Guests were seated at a dining table covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with a large sea shell arranged with green and gold mums. A nautical theme was carried out in other decorations.

The hostesses presented a canister set to Mrs. Hall.

High Tallies Announced At Club

Results have been announced for two duplicate bridge sessions held Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club.

The La Gallinas games, now being held on Wednesday instead of Friday, had Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. as first place winners. Other winners were Mrs. Auriel LaFond and Mrs. Bill Johnson, second; and Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry tied for third and fourth places with Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. George McAlister.

The La Gallinas group will meet again at 10 a.m. next Wednesday.

In the regular LGA bridge play Wednesday winners were Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. A. Swartz, first; Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. Fred Kasch, second; and Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, third.

Forsan Families Entertain Guests

FORSAN (SC) — Guests of the J. H. Cardwells were their granddaughter, Miss Karen Breithaupt, and Miss Diane Karback, both of Odessa. The Cardwells were weekend guests of the Breithaupts in Odessa.

Mrs. M. M. Fairchild and her sister, Mrs. Leo Parker, visited O. C. Harta Sunday at Midland Memorial Hospital.

The Al Fitts' of Springfield, Mo., were recent guests of her mother, Mrs. F. E. Davidson.

Recent guests of Mrs. Vera Harris were her brothers-in-law and sisters, the G. F. Parkers and the D. Y. Rays, all of Olton.

The J. L. Overtons were guests of their daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Mac Robinson of Fort Worth.

Lisa Day observed her 12th birthday recently with a party hosted by her mother, Mrs. Dub Day, in the home of the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. T. R. Camp.

The Floyd Griffiths of Los Angeles, Calif., were guests of their parents, the J. D. Gilmores and Mrs. Johnie Griffith.

Mrs. Leon Ward and Sheila Ward went to California recently to visit Mrs. Ward's sister who is ill.

Baptist Circle Gains Member

Mrs. Lillian Reed became a member of the Prayer Band Mission Circle, Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, during a Wednesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Mary L. Ivery. Mrs. Beatrice Person presided, and Mrs. Reed led prayer.

In the business session, new mission books were purchased and a shower was planned for a church member whose home was damaged by fire.

Mrs. Ivery, class teacher, brought the lesson, assisted by Mrs. Person.

Wednesday evening the members prepared dinner for a bereaved family.

The next circle meeting will be Feb. 2 in Mrs. Reed's home in the Northcrest Apartments.

"My Dead Want Me", Says Widow At Grave Of Il Duce

PREDAPPIO, Italy (AP) — The road to the hill country farmhouse where Benito Mussolini's widow has lived since Il Duce's day is pitted with ruts and potholes.

"Benito paved roads all over Africa," complains Donna Rachele, as the widow likes to be called. "But he never thought to fix up the road to our house."

Despite her 81 years, Donna Rachele still uses the road a lot. The white-haired, wiry little woman of tough peasant stock goes every day to the Predappio cemetery where Il Duce is buried.

"My dead want me," she says simply.

She will sit for an hour or so at the tomb gossiping to her dead of family affairs or the changing times.

Until a few months ago she also went each day to "le Caminate," a restaurant she has run for 10 years atop the Rocca Delle Caminate, a nearby hilltop where Mussolini had his official summer villa.

The restaurant is closed now for extensive repairs. The place was wrecked in a fight between Communists and Neo-Fascist youths last June 29, on Mussolini's birthday. Friends say the place will be reopened, perhaps in February.

"I'm not a rich woman even though I am the widow of the ruler of Italy," Donna Rachele has said. "I need the money."

The restaurant offered a "Mussolini" wine" and "spaghetti alla Benito."

The Mussolini tomb here in the Romagna Hills between Florence and the Adriatic also has suffered damage from vandalism. It was partly shattered by a bomb explosion at Christmas time. Mrs. Mussolini has hired a guard to protect it. Also buried there are Mussolini's son Bruno, who died in a war-time plane crash and daughter Anna-Maria, who died a few years ago.

Donna Rachele has stuck to her old habits of life. "I'm usually up at 6," she says, "sometimes at 5."

Until a year or two ago she planted and hoed her own garden and tended her hens and rabbits.

She is battling with the state now to increase her pension for 30 years of her husband's work as a civil servant — his 20 years and eight months as premier, eight years service in the army before that and six months as a grade school teacher.

After seven years of litigation, the Supreme Court ruled in 1968 that she was entitled to a pension. She received 152,000 lire a month or $258. But she contends that under a law increasing state pensions she should receive 228,000 lire or $387.

FROM BASEMENT TO SANCTUARY — Sunday, Berea Baptist Church will observe the 10th anniversary of its founding. The church had its beginnings in 1962 in a basement and has grown to its present facility pictured.

Berea Baptist Will Observe Tenth Anniversary Sunday

Former ministers and church members have been invited to be present Sunday when Berea Baptist Church celebrates the 10th anniversary of its founding. In 10 years the church has grown from a basement meeting to a church complex with a congregation of 500 persons.

The Rev. E. O. Hartwell, former pastor, will present the message during the morning service, and former pastors, the Rev. J. F. Fields and the Rev. Bill O'Dell, will also take part in the morning service.

The Rev. Roy Collins, who surrendered to the ministry at Berea Church while stationed at Webb AFB, will bring the evening message.

Charter members and former pastors of the church will be honored guests on the anniversary. After the morning worship strvice, there will be old-fashioned gospel singing and a dinner on the church grounds.

From its founding in a basement of a residence with a congregation of 45, the church has grown to its present stature. Church construction was begun in September, 1962, and the members were involved in a continuous building project for the next three years, until in 1965, the present facility was completed.

Some accomplishments over the years have been a class for children termed "slow educables," and the program is believed to be the only one of its kind sponsored by a church in the Big Spring area; a day school and nursery program and a bus ministry to bring worshippers without transportation to the church each Sunday.

The Rev. Gary Hicks, pastor, extends a cordial invitation to all former and current church members to attend Sunday's festivities.

Music Leader Assumes Role

Dan McClinton, new music and youth director at Baptist Temple, has assumed his new duties. Church members welcomed McClinton and his family to their new roles Sunday.

McClinton comes to Big Spring from San Antonio. He and his wife, Myla, have two young sons, Scott and Travis, who were born just before the family accepted the Big Spring position.

Church members welcomed the family with an "old fashioned pounding" or dinner at the church Sunday, and by cleaning, painting and furbishing the home the family is to live in while serving the local church.

Bishop Here To Lead Evangelistic Thrust

BISHOP ALSIE CARLTON

First United Methodist Church of Big Spring will host the Big Spring District Evangelistic Thrust Sunday at 7:00 p.m. Bishop Alsie Carleton of the Northwest Texas-New Mexico Area will be the preacher for this service.

Bishop Carleton is a former pastor of Big Spring's First Methodist Church, a native Texan, educated at McMurry College, Southern Methodist University, and he has held pastorates throughout Texas.

He was elected to the Episcopacy in 1968 and assigned to this area

At the service, Cecil Morris of Denver City will be in charge of the music. Choir members from throughout the district will form a great choir for this service. Chris McCormick, Midland, a high school student, will sing a solo. All ministers and laymen of the district are to gather for the Evangelistic Thrust.

Following the worship service, there will be a period of time in which pastors and laymen will participate in groups where information and skills will be shared relative to a distinctive evangelism ministry in the local church. These will include: apartment and mobile homes, youth ministry, coffee house, telephone ministry, coffee cup witnessing, evangelism at times of stress, inner-city ministry, and mass media.

Week Set To Honor Clergy

Feb. 3, 1943, at 1:15 a.m., the troop transport Dorchester was torpedoed and sunk in the cold North Atlantic waters off Greenland. The ship was only 90 miles from its destination, but within twenty-seven minutes 678 of the 904 men on board were "lost in the iceberg waters of the North Atlantic."

Among these 678 men were four chaplains — a priest, a rabbi and two ministers. These chaplains went down with their ship because they had given their life jackets to soldiers who had none. With utter disregard for self, the chaplains stood hand in hand, praying to the God they served for the safety of those men who were leaving the sinking ship in fear and terror.

Civitan International, remembering this heroic deed of brotherhood and love, resolved to set aside a week, as a time to pause and pay tribute to contemporary clergymen of all faiths.

Locally, by the pronouncement of J. Arnold Marshall, mayor of Big Spring, the week of Jan. 28 through Feb. 3, 1972, has been set to commemorate the deed of the four chaplains and to salute every clergyman. Civitans invite churches, temples, groups and individuals to join in celebrating this national event.

At noon on Jan. 28, the Civitan Club will meet at the Tea Room to honor the clergymen of the community. The speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. James Puckett of Temple Baptist Church.

Dallas Evangelist Set For Midway Revival

DR. J. P. McBETH

Dr. J. P. McBeth, Dallas, will be evangelist for a week of revival beginning Sunday at Midway Baptist Church. J. V. Bristow, Midway will be in charge of the singing for the revival.

Dr. McBeth is a native West Texan, and he is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Theological Seminary and the University of Philadelphia. Dr. McBeth entered the evangelism field after 28 years as a pastor.

First Baptist, Coahoma Plans Week's Revival

Evangelist Rick Ingle is the Evangelist in Revival services each night Sunday through Jan. 30 at the First Baptist Church, Coahoma.

Before his conversion in 1953 Rev. Ingle was a ghetto gang leader in the ghettos of Philadelphia, Penn.

One of the highlights of the revival campaign will be the evangelist's life story testimony, "From A Ghetto Gang Leader To The Pulpit," on Friday evening.

The public is invited to all of these services. The meeting begins each evening at 7 p.m. The First Baptist Church is located at 210 South Ave. Coahoma. The Rev. Guy White is the pastor.

TINKER TOY CHURCH

And it has a silver bell on the steeple and a cross on top. No one suggested to Bobby that he use his birthday toy this way. He did it himself.

He could have made a ferris wheel, or a barn, or a wagon. But, as it happens, he made a church. Maybe it is because, since he was a tot, the Church has been so important in his life.

To Bobby the Church represents a warmth and love that made him want to "build one of his own."

Does your child feel that way?

Emotion And Forecasting

A clutch of British scientists looked at the world of A.D. 2040 and said, in effect, bad show!

The eminent group, including Julian Huxley, the biologist, said Britain should stop building roads and should reduce its population by 50 per cent within the three-quarters of a century.

The roads are taking up too much space, we suppose, and the population increase is using up natural resources faster than they can be replaced.

Population Zero, then, won't do.

The scientists envision the day when petroleum production and reserves will collide with demands of increased population and that source of energy and other resources will be gone.

They project Britain's population maximum under conditions of self-support at 30 million instead of its present 55 million. They guess there will be 15 billion people on the earth in 2040 unless something quite spectacular happens.

These estimates are results of brain-storming among big thinkers, of course. Anyone who would pin his career to projections of the world's condition 70 years hence has to be a big dreamer.

Advances in human progress come in great leaps. A relatively small breakthrough will provide energy from fuel that multiplies as it burns. We haven't reached the ultimate in food production by any means. We have made a mere start on the business of population control.

The scientists do us a fine service in dramatizing the problems in order that research and development may not be impeded foolishly. Change is a fundamental part of the creative process and the end of technological possibilities is not yet in sight.

One of the neglected activities of mankind that requires dramatic upgrading is that of thinking. Emotion still makes too many decisions. If the world survives to the year 2040, it will be a remarkable place to live, particularly if there are 15 billion people in it. They will have had to become considerably more civilized than they are now, and that's a goal worth shooting at.

Not So Funny Anymore

Comedian Pat Paulsen can't have things both ways, but he's trying.

Paulsen emerged as a comic candidate for president in 1968, using the old Smothers Brothers show as his platform. In 1972, Paulsen swears he is a serious candidate and even posted earnest money in the New Hampshire Republican primary.

The NBC network regards seriously such things as candidacy for the presidency and the Federal Communications Commission's equal time law. The network is refusing to run a show which features Paulsen as host.

To do so, NBC contends, would require equal time to all the other candidates. This could tie up prime time for several evenings, considering the current flock of hopefuls.

Implications of this are serious for Paulsen, who makes part of his living from television. Should local stations and the other networks follow suit, Paulsen would find himself without much of his income.

However, the decision is proper, even though it isn't funny anymore to Paulsen.

Cooper's Valeditory

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Twenty fat volumes representing hundreds of hours of effort contain the key to a strategic arms agreement. It is a new verification pattern that, in the view of those who worked it out, will insure beyond reasonable doubt against any violation of the pact which President Nixon is expected to sign when he goes to Moscow in May.

THE OPTIMISM grows out of the fact that the American negotiators at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) at Vienna have the backing of a consensus of every branch of government concerned with the nuclear balance. In the past State, Defense, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff were pulling and hauling in different directions. This not only made it difficult to reach a bargaining position but it insured all sorts of squabbles when and if the Senate was called on to ratify an agreement.

The big jump came with the breakthrough of last May 20, which put the SALT talks on a different plane. It was negotiated in Washington by Henry A. Kissinger, the President's advisor on national security affairs, and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. A simultaneous announcement in Washington and Moscow heralded a fresh start that would cut through the tangle of nuclear rivalry.

YET FOR ALL the optimism at the prospect that the negotiators in Vienna will agree well in advance of the President's journey on a limitation on defensive missiles, with at least an approach to the far thornier problem on offensive missiles, the dark fears out of the past will not down. The frame of reference for the offensive negotiation puts the U.S. with 1,050 intercontinental ballistic missiles, the Soviet Union with 1,600, of which 250 to 300 are the giant SS-9s. The United States would still have, what with submarine-borne and other missiles, an over-all superiority.

NEVERTHELESS, pressure for an offset is building up with the demand for a greatly expanded nuclear submarine force. Intelligence reports out of the Soviet Union tell of a hugely expanded naval building program.

IN THE LONG drama of nuclear disarmament — the extraordinary complexity, the fears, suspicions, the false starts, the dismal failures — one remarkable figure stands out. Sen. John Sherman Cooper is not only dedicated to finding a way out of the nuclear jungle but he has more expert knowledge than anyone outside the ranks of the professionals.

Recently returned from Vienna where he was thoroughly briefed by the American negotiators, Cooper is moderately optimistic. This is, in part at least, because he believes SALT is the last chance for a pause in the mad armaments race. If SALT fails, then with a new escalation more and more of the resources of each side will go into weapons of annihilation.

IT WAS COOPER who last year reversed a stand on many years of opposition to the antiballistic missile. He gave his reason in the course of Senate debate over an amendment that would have knocked out of the defense appropriation bill $1 billion plus for ABM.

"I have not changed my views about the inadequacies of the Safeguard ABM system. But for the present — and this is the core of my statement — the adequacy or inadequacy of the ABM system is not the issue before us . . . I strongly believe that the SALT talks are the most important diplomatic negotiations that have been undertaken since the nuclear age began . . . I believe it best that we do not alter the basis upon which negotiations are taking place."

Productivity Slows Down

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — During the past few years the increase in productivity of the American economy has slowed markedly, causing many critics to claim that America is losing the skills that made it the foremost industrial nation.

Management is blamed for not being more innovative. Unions are accused of being obstructionist. Workers, some claim, do not apply themselves. Big business is charged with monopoly. Government regulation is said to be oppressive.

All these have been cited at one time or another for blocking productivity gains. There may be some truth in the claims.

Productivity has grown only 2.1 per cent a year in the past five years compared with a 20-year average of 3.

But rather than blaming any one element or seeking the answer in some indefinable change in the American character, others see the decline resulting more from a failure to understand the areas in which improvements can be made.

Productivity is improved by the more efficient use of men, Gordon F. Bloom of the Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology notes, we have done this mainly on the basis of individual companies. Now we may have to do so on an industry basis.

The opportunities for improving productivity now lie in "the interfirm locus rather than the intrafirm area which until now has been the major sphere of productivity emphasis," he stated before a panel of the Conference Board.

Management, he said, has come to recognize that even though individual components of a total system are each working at top efficiency they will not necessarily generate maximum efficiency for the company as a whole.

One reason for this, he said, is that one facility within a company may improve its productivity at the expense of another. He cited as an example a company with one warehouse to serve a number of retail stores.

If the warehouse manager cut down on the frequency of store deliveries, prohibited all special orders and restricted hours for shipping to suit the convenience of the warehouse, he would raise tons shipped per manhour.

But, productivity at the store would suffer, as would the company itself.

Formless Campaign

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although the ambitions of aspirants to the Democratic presidential nomination are being described prominently in the news, there seems to be little tendency for the Democratic party to organize its constituency behind concrete issues. The general impression conveyed is that the various personalities — like Sen. Edmund Muskie and Sen. Hubert Humphrey — will in due time begin to tell the American people why there should be a change and what they would do if successful in winning the presidency.

TODAY IT might be assumed that the Vietnam war is the principal issue. But President Nixon is gradually whittling it down, and by the time the election is held, the controversy will have dwindled in importance and opposition candidates will be up against challenging questions. If they say they will never favor American involvement to save small nations and assure them the right of self-determination, this will be a repudiation of what the Democratic party has affirmed under its last two presidents. If signs appear that a peace treaty will be negotiated to end the fighting in Vietnam, President Nixon will derive much favorable support.

THERE ARE some Democrats who are already declaring that the Vietnam war cannot be expected to be dominant and that the real question will be whether the administration has succeeded in bringing about economic recovery. If unemployment has increased substantially and the condition of the country is no better than it has been, the administration will naturally be blamed for this. If, on the other hand, the administration's recovery program has worked out, what other issue can make headway in the campaign?

THERE ARE plenty of localities which are anxious to get federal funds for particular projects, and undoubtedly the Democrats will claim that they will be able to provide more money for various purposes. But so far as the country as a whole is concerned, spending by the Nixon administration has been rather extensive. The real problem is how to keep the budget from running such large deficits and adding to inflationary pressures.

Inflation is a theoretical subject with most voters. They understand it ought to be curbed. When some appropriation is deemed necessary, however, public opinion goes along with it, even though the current deficit may be increased. That has been the experience in the last few years.

Bares Theda Bara Love

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Money may outlast love but it has a lower rate of interest.

There hasn't been a really good movie vamp since Theda Bara. Did you ever notice that the letters of her name could be rearranged to spell "Arab Death"?

This may be a financially insecure world, but probably half the people in it never have to hock anything at a pawnshop. Have you had to?

The vagaries of life are better expressed in the Mother Goose rhymes than in the average college history textbook.

The average male in America now reaches the peak of his power in kindergarten. That is the year in which he is both made and broken. Never afterward is he quite the little king at home he was before. He becomes a pilgrim prisoner in a vaster universe.

Time and change slowly are destroying many past avenues to fame. Who now can become a leading figure in his community, blessed by his own claque of admirers, by becoming the best whittler, the best horseshoe pitcher, or the champion long-distance spitter in town?

Isn't it ironical that it is at the top rung of the ladder of success that you need the most elbow grease to keep from slipping off.

A poet is a person who cannot break an eggshell without regret, because it means the death of a perfect beauty.

The stenographer who chews her gum the fastest is usually the one who makes the most mistakes in her typing.

The average man would hesitate more before proposing to a girl if he knew in advance that after he married her he would have to buy her a new pair of hosiery every week the rest of their life together.

The most pitiful allergy case of all is the guy who can't stand himself.

Anything that can defend itself tends to win our respect. The dandelion might have as many supporters as the rose—if it simply had thorns.

You're getting deeper into middle age if you find it harder and harder to think of a good reason for staying up after midnight.

A successful executive is a guy who can put his feet on his desk without worrying whether one of his shoes has a hole in it.

Even the most modest of men harbors the conceit that his memoirs could be made into a best seller—if he could just find the right guy to write them for him.

Why Not Join?

Around The Rim

Brian Peay

ARE YOU a young man between the ages of 21 and 35? If you are, are you currently making efforts toward establishing your roots in the community, and finding better ways in which to serve the community where you live?

Would you be interested in joining with other men, both family and single men, in community affairs and leadership training? Would you be willing to use a portion of your spare time from work trying to improve your own leadership capabilities, all the while revamping and molding the community into the type environment you want for your children, and your children's children?

Can you benefit from working and conducting projects slanted toward aiding the mentally handicapped and fatherless boys? Would it behoove you to be able to influence your local, state and national governmental leaders, concerning your hopes, desires and aspirations about the type government under which you wish to live?

COULD YOU DERIVE something meaningful out of picking up a phone during Christmas season, and listening to girls and boys' long lists of Christmas wishes.

Do you care about yourself and your family enough to desire the feeling of knowing in an indirect way you are making the world a little bit better place for them to live?

If your answer is yes to the previous questions, it is only logical that you would be a prime candidate for membership in the Big Spring Jaycees.

This week every official from the President of the United States all the way down to our own city's Mayor has proclaimed this time as National Jaycee Week.

AND THIS YEAR marks the 26th year the Jaycee organization has been founded in the city, and the fourth year the organization will be bidding for Blue Chip classification in an effort to gain the coveted Gold Chip Award.

This year the organization has scheduled many projects and activities to benefit both the chapter members and the community. But the greatest aspect of the club is that it offers a man the opportunity in which to mature in leadership areas through different series of public speaking and civic oriented projects and programs.

In the Membership Stag Night activities, held Tuesday at the NCO Club on Webb AFB as part of the Jaycee week commemoration, Rick Clayton, Texas state Jaycee president, summed up the whole essence of Jayceeism in one statement.

He said, "the most important thing a man can do in his lifetime is in some way to change the world. To most this seems almost impossible, but nothing is for a man who wants to do it, and the Jaycees provide him the vehicle by which to get it done."

Poor System

Garth Jones

The famous debates of the Texas Legislature in the past over state spending have been nothing but discussions of who gets the privilege of paying the tax bill.

THAT'S THE decision of one of the state's most dependable and reputable research organizations, the Texas Research League, which has been trying to tell state legislators their shortcomings for years.

"The Texas appropriation system virtually excludes the majority of the legislators from the decision-making process and prohibits any meaningful debate over spending issues," said a recent special report from the league, a privately-financed organization that spends its time and money trying to show state and local governments a better way to give taxpayers their money's worth.

"THE ONLY real question up for discussion during Legislative debate on state spending is who gets to pay the tax bill that almost always results from this process."

The league made several suggestions to the state senators and representatives who will gather some time this summer in a special session to decide state spending for the next state fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

Similar suggestions have been made to previous legislatures — and largely ignored.

AT THE beginning of the 1971 Legislature, and at the specific request of Gov. Preston Smith, the league made another special report pointing out "that a fragmented system for planning, authorizing and controlling state expenditures helps produce Texas' recurring fiscal crisis."

"No action was taken to improve the system by the 62nd legislature in 1971," the recent report says.

What happened?

THE GOVERNOR made numerous fiscal recommendations and the Legislative Budget Board, made up of Senate and House experts on legislative spending, recommended a total budget of $6.7 billion. The House took these recommendations and passed a two-year spending bill $231 million higher. The Senate then took the House bill, and all the previous recommendations, and passed a bill that was $374 million higher than the Budget Board recommended. A 10-man conference committee, named ostensibly to iron out difference between the two houses, finally arrived at a compromise bill two days before the session ended — $413 million more than the Budget Board recommendation.

"THE HOUSE Appropriations committee and the Senate Finance committee are prodded into competition for increased spending commitments. Instead of limiting itself to reconciling differences between the two chambers, the 'free' conference committee usually adds a variety of individual increases to the total," said the League.

The League pointed out that the 400-age bill handed the 181 legislators just two days before the end of the session had more than 200 changes in it that most of them had not seen previously. This included 97 changes that increased the cost of the bill $65.5 million — of which none of these had been debated in either the House or Senate. There were 129 changes that increased the cost of the bill $29.7 million above the amounts approved by record votes of the House and Senate.

Then there was $113 million in "hidden spending," the League said.

THE LEAGUE makes three recommendations to the 1972 special session, the 1973 general session and future legislative sessions.

—The recommendations of the governor and of the Legislative Budget Board should be combined into one proposed budget presented legislators "that represents a realistic spending plan.

—The Senate and House committees drawing up respective appropriations bills should have sufficient staff to "price tag" the prospective spending increases under consideration.

—THEN THE governor, with advice from the Budget Board, should have power between legislative sessions, "to manage the spending process."

My Answer

Billy Graham

My daughter married a man she was not in love with, because he offered security. Should she get a divorce? B.D.

When your daughter stood at the altar of God and took the marriage vows she was obviously aware that she didn't love this man. The mistake was made in giving consent to marry a man for the mercenary cause of personal security.

She should pray, not to be released from her vows which were taken before God, but that love will be given her for this man who loves her. Your daughter has committed two sins. First, deception, because she took a vow she didn't mean, and second, in marrying for such a low reason. She has sinned against this good man, and has sinned against herself. Since no Biblical cause for divorce is present, she has no right to even think of divorce. Her only hope is to pray for forgiveness, and that God will give her as much love for this man as she has had for herself.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble — Nahum 1:7

PRAYER: Our Father, support us daily that by Thy grace and goodness we may learn something truly meaningful in every experience. In Christ's name we voice this petition. Amen.

Jinx Endures, Texans Wins Over Jayhawks

South Plains College used superior fire power and a tightly-knitted defense to defeat Howard County Junior College, 75-71, in Western Conference play here Thursday night.

Six times the Hawks have taken the court against the Texans since Buddy Travis moved from the local college to South Plains as coach and six times they have lost. Everyone on the HCJC campus is beginning to get a complex about it all.

Howard County led by as much as six points but scoring ace Archie Myers fouled out with 5:19 remaining and the Hawks' chances practically went out the window.

South Plains screened the Hawks away from the basket, forcing them to take shots from outside they wouldn't ordinarily take.

Myers wound up with 32 points, which is only slightly below his norm. Tommy Jordan of South Plains, scoring his final bucket just as the buzzer went off, also accumulated 32 points — all the result of field goals.

Lawrence Young connected with a two-pointer just before the first half ended to give HC a 41-40 bulge at the intermission.

South Plains stayed out in front from three to five points through the early going but Myers began to connect to close the gap.

The Texans lost Rushie Moore, one of the top rebounders, with 2:46 left in the game but adjusted well and began to feed Jordan more.

Leonard Wates gave South Plains a lead it never again yielded when he hit a bucket with just under three minutes to play.

Jim Kreier played well for HC, scoring 13 points and fighting valiantly on the boards along with Young.

The loss was HC's fifth of the year, compared to 19 wins. In conference, the Hawks are 3-1.

South Plains left with a 3-0 league record. On the year, the Texans are 13-5.

HC returns to competition Tuesday night in Clarendon.

JAYHAWK GLEANINGS — Those who would fault HC for losing should look to the record. Coach Harold Wilder is getting maximum effort out of his troops. The last two opponents the Hawks have met (New Mexico JC and South Plains) haven't had a native of their state performing for them. New Mexico starts four Indianans and one from New York. South Plains, and what an about-face that school has done in recruiting practices (e. g., flying boys in for visits), is using two New Mexicans, two Virginians and one from Pennsylvania, as starters. Six of HC's first eight players are Texans.

If coach Harold Wilder is to continue to compete, he must be allowed to recruit on a far wider scale than he does now. Texas has some stellar talent but the better high school basketball is still being played in the east and midwest. The Jayhawks took last night's defeat hard, but they shouldn't have. They played a fine game and, to their credit, they didn't fall apart when Myers fouled out. The outcome was in doubt until the final half minute. — T. H.

WITH ARCHER

Unknown Shares Lead In Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Owens drives the golf purists out of their minds.

He hits everything cross-handed, that is, with his left hand lower than his right when he grips the club. And he can't bend his left knee.

And he's also tied for the lead with George Archer after one round of the $150,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open golf tournament. Each had a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 Thursday on the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course.

"They say you're supposed to have a firm left side in golf," the soft-spoken 34-year-old Owens said. "Well, I've got the firmest left side in the world."

His knee was fused in an operation after he injured it in a practice jump while a member of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.

And about that cross-handed grip?

"My father was a greenskeeper at Winter Haven, Fla.," he said. "We lived on the course. When I started playing, I didn't have anyone to play with or anyone to teach me.

"I thought I was doing it right. I had two hands on the club just like everyone else."

Owens and Archer, who won the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open two weeks ago, held a one stroke lead over Lou Graham and defending champion J. C. Snead, tied at 66.

The group at 67 included Bobby Nichols, Herb Hooper, Jack Montgomery, Bob Murphy, Jim Jamieson, Mike Morley and rookie Chuck Thorpe.

Dave Hill headed a group of a half dozen at 68 as the touring pros took advantage of the beautiful, warm weather to shoot exceptionally low scores.

But Lee Trevino, just named The Associated Press Athlete of the Year and the man picked to win this tournament, had his putting woes and was far back in the field at 71.

Owens lived in New York for 13 years, working much of that time as a sporting goods salesman. He's 34 and just joined the pro tour late in 1970 after three years on the Negro tour.

Bulldogs Oppose Golden Cranes

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs face one of their biggest challenges of the year in an 8 o'clock District 5-AA basketball encounter with the Crane Golden Cranes. B teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p.m.

Crane is roaring after a slow start. Coahoma must be regarded as a championship contender. Crane is coached by Arlen White, former HCJC player and later a coach at Sands High School.

Outlook Grim For Phelps And Irish

By The Associated Press

After losing by 65 points to Indiana earlier this year, Notre Dame Coach Dick Phelps philosophized that things could be worse.

He was right. Things have gotten worse for his basketball team.

The fighting Irish have been beaten four of five times since that Indiana humiliation, including an 84-79 defeat to Duquesne Thursday night.

"We're not a good running club and we're not a good shooting club . . . and, actually, there's not much else," says Phelps, who's not used to such ineptness.

Before he came to Notre Dame this season, Phelps didn't know what it was like to be a loser. He coached spectacular freshmen teams at Penn and led Fordham's exciting club into the NCAA playoffs last season.

He knew he wouldn't have a rose garden at Notre Dame, with the loss of seven players from last year's 21-8 squad. But, on the other hand, he didn't expect all the thorns. Two returning lettermen were lost to injury and a bright sophomore was bounced because of disciplinary problems.

Georgia Tech, one of the eight teams to beat Notre Dame this season, trimmed Tulane 94-78 in Thursday night's action which included none of the ranked clubs.

Elsewhere, LaSalle topped American University 59-53 and Temple ripped St. John's, N.Y., 79-65 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra; Utah turned back Utah State 66-59; Tulsa nipped Creighton 76-75 and St. Louis trounced Evansville 94-81; and Oral Roberts, the nation's leading scoring team, beat Idaho State 86-85.

Notre Dame had serious intentions of winning its fourth game in 11 this year before Duquesne cut off a late Irish rally. Lionel Billingly scored 29 points for the Dukes, who won their 11th game in 12.

Steve Post scored 28 points and Bob "Peanut" Murphy had 22 to pace Georgia Tech over Tulane; Steve Baruffi scored two field goals and made a key steal in the final minutes for LaSalle; Temple held St. John's to three field goals in the first 16 minutes to handily whipped the Redmen; John Dearman led Utah with 17 points and St. Louis shot a hot 54 per cent from the field while crushing outgunned Evansville.

Schramm Says All-Star Team Picked Too Early

DALLAS (AP) — Tex E. Schramm, the general manager of the world champion Dallas Cowboys, figures this week would be a good time to select the National Football League's All-Pro team and coach.

"I don't want to pick any fights with the selections made because all are obviously fine football players, but inequities will exist until you wait and determine what the whole season is about," Schramm said. "And that is winning the championship. It all boils down to the pressure-packed three playoff games and the guys who performed in those should tip the scales.

"Tom Landry (Dallas Coach) won the Super Bowl and Roger Staubach was the quarterback on the Super Bowl champion team and voted the most valuable player on the field."

Schramm added, "There were a bunch of other players on the field who won the championship in a fashion most people say was as convincing as any Super Bowl victory going back to the Green Bay victories."

Schramm said that under the present system of selecting the Coach of the Year "Tom Landry will never make it. He wins every year and he will never make it. This year Dallas won 20 of 23 games. I don't see how you can improve on that."

GOOD FINISH

The Cowboys won their sixth exhibition game, went 11-3 during the regular season, and climaxed their three playoff games with a 24-3 Super Bowl victory over Miami.

The only Dallas players selected to the All-Pro team were defensive tackle Bob Lilly and offensive linemen Rayfield Wright and John Niland.

George Allen of Washington was named Coach of the Year and Bob Griese of Miami was the All-Pro quarterback.

"When you hand out honors at the end of the year, the playoff performances should be taken into consideration as well as those during the regular season," Schramm said.

On another subject, Schramm was asked his opinion of complaints about Super Bowl VI being dull.

BS AFTER 3RD WIN

Steers, Bronchos Vie Here Tonight

Shaken by a narrow defeat at the hands of Abilene Cooper earlier this week, the Big Spring Steers return to District 5-AAAA basketball competition here this evening against Odessa High.

Like Big Spring, the Bronchos have blown hot and cold this season. The Hosses appeared capable of making a run at Midland High for a while but since have fallen upon hard times.

Big Spring carries a 2-3 conference record onto the floor into the 8 o'clock contest. Overall, the Steers are 14-9.

Odessa is 3-2 in district, with only an outside chance to tie Midland High for the first half championship. On the year, the Cayuses are 13-10.

Odessa leans heavily upon such boys as Leland Casey and Terry Been. Both can hit from close in and far out and have been carrying the Hosses all year. Larry Sheilds is another proven performer for the Odessans.

Ron Plumlee, the local coach, will likely go with Robert Wallace, Mike Randle, David Newman, David Carter and Johnny Tonn.

Wallace tossed in 30 points in a losing effort against Abilene Cooper earlier this week and has shown fine improvement in recent games. He was also very effective under the boards.

Randle and Carter give the Steers good height when it comes to fighting for the rebounds. Tonn and Newman are steadying influences in the backcourts.

JV units of the two schools square off in a 6:15 p.m. contest.

The Steers wind up first half play in San Angelo next Tuesday.

Smitty Hill Is Appointed San Angelo's Head Coach

SAN ANGELO — F. L. (Smitty) Hill, one of the most successful coaches in Southeast Texas, has been named head coach and athletic director at San Angelo Central High School.

He succeeds Dan LaGrasta, who resigned recently to become an assistant at Texas A&M University.

Hill's starting pay will be $15,000 per annum. He has been at Port Arthur Jefferson High School the past six seasons. He was an assistant there from 1957 until 1965, when he was elevated to the head coaching job.

During his tenure as a head coach, Jefferson has won 56, lost only 11 and played three ties. Jefferson competes in District 22-AAAA.

Hill is 41 years of age. His teams have won three district championships and his 1970 team was 13-1 before losing to the eventual state titlist, Austin Reagan, in the semifinals of the playoffs.

While an assistant at Jefferson, he served under Clarence Underwood. Smith indicated he might bring several assistants with him here.

Smith's family includes a 179-pound boy who played guard and fullback on Jefferson's freshman team the past season.

Hill's teams have never lost more than two games a season. Cotton Speyrer and Gary Hammond, later Southwest Conference greats, were among the players who performed for Hill at Jefferson.

Sands Mustangs Capture Two Games From Loop

ACKERLY — Sands won both ends of a basketball doubleheader from Loop here Thursday night.

Margin in the boys' game was 80-56. The Mustangs are now 21-2 over-all and stand 7-0 in conference.

The Sands girls won, 49-36, for their 17th success in 27 starts. Within the league, Sands is 7-2.

Coahoma Is Nearer Title

COAHOMA — Coahoma's girls moved closer to the District 5-AA basketball championship by defeating Crane, 51-30, here Thursday night.

The Buildogs are undefeated in five league starts. Crane skidded to 0-4.

Theresa Beal led Coahoma in scoring with 23 points while Sally Echols banged in 13. Terry Anderegg kept Crane in contention with 17.

Crane could manage only two points in the second period and trailed at the half, 29-9.

The Coahoma girls meet Ozona here Monday evening. Crane is 1-4 in the district.

Coahoma B girls also won, clipping Crane 54-26 with Judy King high for Coahoma with 22 and Lane for Crane with 17.

Carlos Ortiz Is Winner Again

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Carlos Ortiz, former world lightweight champion, has won the third consecutive fight in his comeback attempt after a 2½-year layoff.

The 35-year-old fighter from The Bronx, N.Y., won a fourth round TKO over Terry Rondeau, 135, of Pittsfield, Mass., in Thursday night's scheduled 10-round main bout at the Portland Exposition building.

Ortiz, weighing 109½, decked Rondeau once in the third round and twice in the fourth before the referee stopped the fight at 2:36. It was the first time Rondeau had ever been knocked to the canvas.

Johnson Again Has Surgery

HOUSTON (AP) — Veteran Houston Oiler quarterback Charley Johnson of Big Spring underwent corrective surgery Thursday on his right knee.

Defensive tackle Mike Tilleman was scheduled to have surgery performed on his left big toe Friday.

Houston Best As Safety

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As a pass catcher, Kenny Houston said he was lousy at first, just couldn't hang onto the ball.

And to make matters worse, quarterbacks still try to avoid throwing to him.

Of course, Houston isn't among the National Football League's leading receivers, though he scored more touchdowns than many players—four in 1971.

He's a safetyman for the Houston Oilers and the record-breaking four touchdowns on nine interceptions in the past season gave him nine touchdowns via pass thefts in his five pro seasons.

The 27-year-old Houston is here to play for the American Football Conference All-Stars against the National Conference in Sunday's 22nd annual Pro Bowl in Memorial Coliseum.

Houston said he's surprised that it only took nine touchdowns to break the record held jointly by Erich Barnes of Cleveland and New York and Herb Adderley of Green Bay and Dallas.

"I had seven before I realized there was anything special about it. I thought the record must be about 20, at least. When they told me I was one shy. I decided to go out and get it this year," Houston said.

"I feel I could have broken it years ago. I dropped a few that would have been easy touchdowns my first year or two. I just wasn't concentrating. I didn't realize the value of an interception touchdown when you sit down with the man and talk contract."

Eagles Now Tied For First Place

Goliad's Eagles tied Goliad's Longhorns for first place in Seventh Grade Basketball League standings defeating the Steers, 31-19, here Thursday. Each team has a 7-2 record.

Craig Bailey, Bubba Stripling and Tommy Churchwell played well on offense for the Eagles while Terry and Mike Harris excelled on defense. Churchwell led all scorers with 10 points.

GOLIAD EAGLES (31) — Terry Harris 2-2-6; Tommy Churchwell 4-2-10; Bubba Stripling 1-0-2; Craig Bailey 2-0-4; Mike Harris 1-0-2; Del Poss 1-0-2; Kevin McDaniel 2-0-4; Dwayne Trawick 0-1-1. Totals 13-5-31.

Home A Motel

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son (age 19) lives at home and goes to a local college. Dick is a good boy and well liked. He's the youngest of six children and we live in a large home with five bedrooms.

Nearly every night we have one or more of Dick's buddies staying here. Some just ring the bell, whether Dick is home or not, and we have welcomed them.

But how about couples? (They always say they're married.)

We love our son and want his friends to be welcome here, but we don't want our home turned into a motel substitute, and we certainly don't want unmarried kids sleeping together on our premises.

What do you think?

DICK'S FOLKS

DEAR FOLKS: Married couples (unless they are visiting from out of town) shouldn't have to bed down at your place. I also agree that you shouldn't provide sleeping quarters for couples whose marital status is in question.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my wedding and my mother is giving me a hard time. She doesn't like the wording on my wedding invitation because her name is not on it, but my father's is.

My parents are divorced and I am living with my father. In a book of etiquet it says that when the parents of the bride are divorced, the wedding invitation is issued by the parent with whom the bride lives.

I have shown this to my mother, but she insists that I am not LIVING with my father. My father owns apartments and I have an apartment in his building, but he doesn't charge me rent, gas or electricity, so I am living OFF him, right? So isn't that the same as living WITH him? WEDDING WOES

DEAR WOES: No. In the case of divorced parents, it's not OFF whom the bride lives, but WITH whom. And since you don't live with either parent, it would be less awkward to use BOTH their names on the wedding invitation, or neither.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My son and his wife just had a darling baby boy, and when I drive by their place, I get a longing to see the baby, so I stop in for a few minutes when I know the baby will be awake.

Well, one day my daughter-in-law said, "I wish you would call before you come."

The next time I called, she said, "I was just going out the door, when you called so don't come over now."

Then I said, "I just wanted to leave the baby's suit I finished knitting," so she said, "Okay, come on."

Abby, when I got there 10 minutes later she wasn't even dressed, and the baby was still in his nightie, so she couldn't have been going out the door when I called. I was heartsick.

About a week later I stopped by without phoning first and she greeted me with, "Didn't I ask you to call first? Next time I won't let you in!"

What should I do?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Make it a practice to always telephone before you drop in. Your daughter-in-law is obviously a very inhospitable girl. And a most unfeeling one, to boot. But since she is so insistent that you call first, abide by her wishes.

Need Water

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hope you can settle a debate among some of us young mothers about giving plain water to infants and children.

From the first day home from the hospital, I gave my children water. Now, as tots, they drink it by the glass, and most of the time a glass of water and glass of milk at each meal. They have never been constipated and their general health is excellent.

Children of my friends often suffer from constipation, but my friends contend that they "don't believe in giving children water." I cannot seem to convince them that every living creature needs some water daily.—Mrs. D.L.

I'd quit arguing with them — but also hope that their kids will manage some way to get enough water. The body is 80 per cent water.

It is perfectly true that all living things need water. Even plant life, so far as that goes. A human being, deprived of water, will die in a few days, but can usually survive starvation for several weeks.

To a lesser degree, inadequate water can cause all sorts of lesser troubles, and constipation is one of them.

I certainly see no harm in giving water to infants and small children. Neither do I recommend forcing it. And water, as such, isn't the only water a person (or baby) gets. Milk contains a great deal of water. Fruits and vegetables are particularly high in water content. And soups. Even meat contains more water than most folks realize.

When you get right down to it, there is no better way to gauge the amount of water we need than our thirst, and whether we slake the thirst with water, milk, soup, fruits or whatever, the important thing is to get enough, one way or another.

It is possible, of course, that the constipation of your friends' youngsters is from factors other than lack of water.

Anyway, no, I dont go along with the idea that there's anything wrong with giving plain water to anyone at any age.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hurt my knee playing ball and a big lump came below the kneecap. The doctor took X-rays and put a cast on it for six weeks. He called it something that sounded like Oscar Schlattery's disease. What exactly is it?—J.L., age 13.

That's a pretty good try—it's Osgood Schlatter disease, and it keeps popping up in guys your age and thereabouts.

Briefly, there's a temporary derangement if circulation to a section of bone, sometimes from an injury and sometimes there's no way of knowing exactly what caused it.

If the bone is protected by a cast or other means of keeping strain off it, the circulation resumes and there's no permanent damage. Sometimes, though, a fellow has to wear a cast much longer than you did, and some even have to stay in a wheelchair for a time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of hives and the cure?—Mrs. A.T.

Almost always allergy,—and you aren't likely to make much headway with the problem until you find out what the allergy is.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how—naturally and without gimmicks—to the level that best suits your individual needs. Don't Repeat

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

ONCE: (Q.) I have done a terrible thing. A cousin of mine moved up here. I like him. Well, one day we went too far. I'm not pregnant or anything, but I feel so guilty.

What should I do? I'm not that kind of girl. We haven't told anyone. I will not do it again, I know that. But if I tell my parents about it they will kill me. — No More in Connecticut.

(A.) Dismiss the incident from your mind, resolve not to repeat it, and count it a lesson learned. This type of behavior doesn't pay off.

* * *

CHANGE OF HEART: (Q.) A couple of months ago a boy was interested in me but I wasn't interested in him. He wasn't too good looking. When he came to see me I would manage to always be busy or getting ready to go somewhere. I guess he got the message, because he hasn't been back.

But now I like him. I have seen that even though he isn't handsome he has a wonderful personality. I didn't notice how nice and considerate he was at first. How can I tell him that I was stupid and I am sorry? -- Eyes Open Now in Washington, D.C.

(A.) Next time you see him ask him to call you when he has time. When he calls, explain honestly that you've missed seeing him and would like for him to come over again if he would still like to.

If he resumes his visits, let him know little by little that it took some time for you to realize how many good qualities he has but now you do, and that you are sorry you were so blind in the beginning.

$400 Million Hangover In Texas, Smith Says

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas has a $400 million hangover due to alcoholism, Gov. Preston Smith told the Employe Alcoholism Conference here Thursday.

"We have 273,000 alcoholics working today," Smith told 200 government and industry representatives. "Each of them affects four other persons for a total of two million Texans adversely affected by alcoholism."

Smith said the $400 million loss was made up by absenteeism, lost productivity, loss of trained management, and increased medical and retirement expenses.

He said the Texas Commission on Alcoholism has been directed to plan with other state agencies and the Texas Public Employes Association to start a state employe alcoholism program.

Six per cent of the state's 63,000 employes are alcoholics, the governor said, and there are an estimated 425,000 throughout Texas.

"Certainly alcoholism is the No. 1 drug abuse problem throughout the state," Gov. Smith said.

The new state program, he added, will follow that outlined by the federal authorities and is like efforts already begun in New York and California.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
4 ♣	Dble.	Pass	4 ♡
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

West's preemptive opening bid of four clubs pushed his opponents into a four heart contract on extremely thin values, but it also provided South—the declarer—with some clues that proved very helpful in the play.

North strained to double four clubs since he had only 14 high card points and only a bare tolerance for hearts. South had just enough to take the double out. It may be observed that if he passes instead of bidding four hearts, West makes 10 tricks, losing only one heart and two diamonds.

West opened the king of clubs against four hearts and East followed suit with the deuce. Altho it probably would have worked out better for the defense had West continued the suit, he shifted to the deuce of spades. East put up the ace and returned the six of spades which West ruffed with the queen of hearts to complete the defensive book. The latter now exited with the ace of clubs which was trumped in dummy as the queen appeared from East's hand.

From the fall of the cards, it appeared that West had started with eight clubs, one spade, and one heart. Inasmuch as he had ruffed in with the queen, the king of hearts was the only higher card in the suit still outstanding and if West had that honor also, he might have been expected to open the bidding with one club instead of a preemptive call.

Prospects were very dim for picking up East's trump holding without casualty, but South resolved to give it the old college try. The six of hearts was led at trick five from dummy and when East followed with the three, the deuce was promptly played from the closed hand. West showed out—discarding a club. Another heart was again ducked by East and covered by declarer's eight.

The North hand was entered with queen of diamonds, the king and queen of spades were cashed on which South disposed of two diamonds. The ten of spades was led next and ruffed with the ten of hearts in order to reduce declarer's trump holding to the same length as East's. The jack of diamonds was overtaken by the king and at trick 12 a diamond was returned. East was down to the king-nine of hearts and his trump holding was trapped under South's ace-jack.

Student Center Ground Broken

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — Ground was broken Thursday at Mary Hardin-Baylor College for the proposed student center on the Belton campus.

Guy Mabee of Midland, Mary Hardin-Baylor Trustee, represented the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation, the contributor of the $250,000 grant for the center, the largest single gift ever made to the college.

Crop Increase Can Only Help U.S. Consumer

The current state-wide "3.76 in '76" is designed to increase agricultural income in Texas to $3.76 billion in 1976, and is geared to help the agricultural industry . . . but what does it mean to the consumer?

"Consumers are concerned with an assurance of adequate food supply, and 3.76 in '76 is a program of growth," says Bruce Griffith, Howard County agricultural agent. He adds that the program is important because the increasing population must be fed on a decreasing amount of land used for agricultural production.

"Guidelines in the program are meant to increase production and improve quality," Griffith says of the project which seeks to increase cash receipts to agriculture by one billion dollars at the end of the 1976 crop year.

The increase in production and cash receipts will benefit the consumer as well as the producer. Food prices will undoubtedly reflect an increased efficiency in production and marketing as costly practices in current use are improved or eliminated.

Technology in production and food preparation will be reflected in food prices, although cost of individual items will also be determined by the amount of preparation before purchase by the consumer. This would include special services such as precooking and specialty packaging.

Farmers will gear their production to specific markets that are dictated by consumers' preferences. This in turn will provide consumers with higher quality foods in greater amounts at stable prices.

Book Excerpts In Texas Star

Look out for basketball — Texas teams are recruiting from where the players are, crowds are growing and the cage game is no longer just something to kill time between football seasons.

Roy Edwards brings the sports fans up to date on roundball in a Texas Star story Sunday.

A new look at the Mier Expedition is provided by John Edward Weems, whose "Lottery of Death" article is an excerpt from a new book which is being widely acclaimed by critics. It offers a new perspective on the infamous "black bean" drawing.

A widow who runs a big ranch is the subject of Gail Tomlinson, who tells about Mrs. Gladys Johnson's experiences, through good times and bad, directing a major Polled Hereford operation for more than 20 years.

Editor Jimmy Banks reveals that he gets all kinds of mail, some of which he answers, including one letter from a man who wants to know if the "George Barnes Guitar Course" is designed to raise money for Ben Barnes' political campaign.

Vestry Members To Be Elected

St. Mary's Episcopal Church will have its annual congregational meeting Sunday morning following the 10:30 service. New members of the vestry will be elected to replace Wade Choate, Ralph McLaughlin, Dr. Pete Rhymes and Maj. Woody Thelin.

Reports will be heard from the several parish organizations, the budget for 1972 will be adopted, and delegates and alternatives to the Diocesan Council will be elected.

Following the meeting the vestry will meet to elect officers for the coming year.

Malone To Deliver Talk In Dallas

Dr. P. W. Malone, who has served as a trustee of Howard County Junior College district since it was created in late 1945, will present the viewpoint of a community college at a National School Boards Association meeting in Dallas Feb. 11-12.

He will speak on the subject, "Why Comprehensive Community Colleges," at a workshop session both afternoons. Another panelist will look at technical institutes as part of the community viewpoint.

The NABA meeting in Dallas is being sponsored directly by the Council of Community College Boards as a trustee training conference.

Flu Outbreak Tapering Off

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's outbreak of influenza appears to be tapering off.

State Epidemiologist Dr. Stanley Ferguson says, "Things may be peaking out — maybe."

Dr. Paul Redstone, a staff epidemiologist with the state Health Departmen, concurs it the diagnoisis.

He cautioned, however, that some areas which have as yet escaped the epidemic may see an increase in the near future.

HOUSTON HOMICIDES

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston posted a record murder year in 1971 with 301 homicides reported, police said.

One homicide detective said only about 13 per cent of the murders were solved.

The 301 figure compares with the previous record in 1970 when 287 murders were committed. No clearance record is available for 1970.

Statistics from 1971 show the most homicides happened in January when 38 were reported. The lowest monthly total was 13 in November.

GIMMICK INSURANCE—IV

'It's So Lucrative'

Editor's Note: Merely outlawing "gimmick" life insurance policies doesn't take them off the market. This is the last in a series of four articles examining the problem which will be the subject of a state hearing starting Jan. 27.

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Outlawing "gimmick" life insurance policies is easy. Getting them off the market is the hard part.

The State Insurance Board outlawed "certain participating" policies that are marketed as "investments" Dec. 1.

But the board's procedures are so slow that a company could sell for months a policy that has officially been branded "deceptive."

YOU ASKED

And that, warns board Chairman Larry Teaver, is likely to happen.

John Stephenson, head of the board's life insurance policy approval division, told why:

"It's so lucrative."

Teaver said the "certain participating" policies — which he calls "gimmick" policies — are bad because:

—They are misrepresented as investments when they really are ordinary life insurance policies.

—Premiums are astronomical in many cases.

—Salesmen and their literature paint a bright picture of future profits from the policies, but the fine print says dividends are not guaranteed. Dividend performance has been spotty.

IT WILL TAKE TIME

—Customers are told they are part of a special class of policyholders.

"Actually, the biggest insurance companies and most legitimate companies in the world pay dividends, but they pay them to all policyholders, and no special consideration is given to any group," Teaver said.

Teaver promised that "the company that deliberately misrepresents — we are going to take action and get this guy off the streets."

But it will take time.

Teaver said the board was asking companies to submit lists of their "gimmick" policies. He said he expected action would be taken in January to remove them from sale.

Another insurance association, however, plugged for the "gimmick" policy order for several years and thinks it's great.

STRONG AS MUSTARD

"The order is just as strong as mustard. If enforced, it will be one of the greatest boons to ending misrepresentation in the sale of life insurance as an investment," said Dean Davis of Austin, attorney for the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

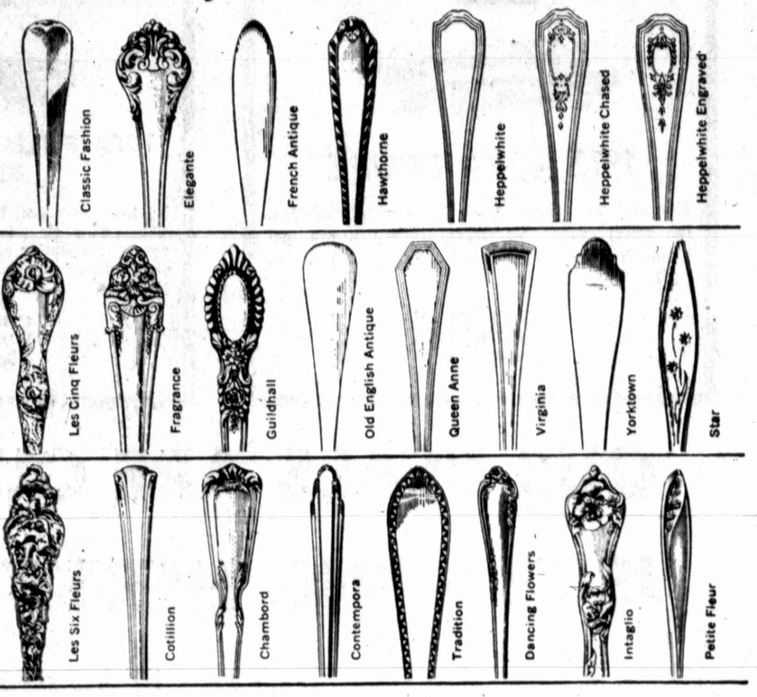

Teaver admits enforcement is "the weakest part of our entire system."

But he says he intends to strengthen it.

The public, he said, can help by complaining to the board about shady practices they encounter.

"We want people to write," Teaver said.

Russian Poet To Tour U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian writer Yevgeny Yevtushenko has arrived in the United States for a four-week tour during which he will read his poetry and appear with American poets at New York's Madison Square Garden Jan. 28.

After he ends the poetry-reading tour, Yevtushenko said, he plans to spend another month sightseeing in the United States.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' Hip

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Evangelist Oral Roberts says he saw a production of the rock opera "Jesus Christ Superstar" when it played in his hometown of Tulsa, Okla., and "I dug about 70 per cent of it."

"I don't often dig that much of a church service," the radio preacher and college president told about 400 persons attending the ninth annual prayer breakfast sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening for you to release various projects and ventures that you want to put in motion. Accept advice from someone who can help you with them now. Your mind is working overtime, combining good judgment and accurate hunches. Use them fully.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A day and evening when much can be accomplished, so get an early start. Contact good friends and state your aims. Gain their cooperation. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The morning is fine for talking over new arrangements with others, and gathering information you need. The evening should be devoted to the romantic side of life. Be sure to follow your hunches.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An ideal day to entertain since you are in a congenial frame of mind. State your personal aims to right persons at gathering. Show that you are a thoughtful person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you demonstrate your finest abilities to bigwigs today, you gain their favor and support. Stop being so self-conscious. Give your support to bigwigs in a civil matter.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have fine ideas that you can put in operation now and add to present success. You also gain the respect of prominent persons. Listen to the suggestions of a good friend.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Respected advisers now can assist you to put your business and personal affairs on a much better basis with substantial support. Please mate in a different way tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to discuss any differences you have with associates and come to a better understanding. This could be troublesome, but well worth it. Take it easy tonight at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are now free to do the work you enjoy the most and make much progress. Later take those treatments you need to feel fit. Show particular concern for kin tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to enjoy recreations and can do so with ease since the planets are favorable for such. Join with those who are truly congenial. Avoid quarrelsome persons.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can do something today to get situation much improved at home. You have new interests to work on that can become a real success in the future. Have fun with kin tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't neglect to do your shoppinng, writing letters and handling a transportation problem. If you are active, you can improve your life considerably. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) An ideal day to talk over your practical financial ambitions with experts and get the right advice. A good time to study future plans. Don't lose your temper in the evening.

Wheels Up 'Landing' Hurts Two

DALLAS (AP) — Two men from the Houston area remain hospitalized today following the crash of their light plane while attempting to land at Love Field here.

Hospital spokesmen said the pilot, Robert Southworth, 39, of Houston, suffered a compound fracture of the left ankle and was in serious condition. His companion, Mike Crampton, 24, of Sealy, was listed in fair condition with undetermined injuries.

A fire department spokesman said the 1960 model single engine, Beech Bonanza was attempting a landing on a crosswind runway at the north end of the field.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the plane apparently ran out of gas and attempted a wheels up landing. It missed the pavement and slammed into the earth, damaging the left wing, propeller and engine cowling.

ADULTS ONLY COLOR

'Full Adult Status' Bid

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Petitions are being circulated on all Texas college campuses to give "full adult status" to 18, 19 and 20-year-olds, says the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association.

The association said if about 60,000 signatures can be obtained, the issue of full majority rights for those 18-20 can be put on the May 6 Democratic and Republican Party primary ballots as a referendum.

The referendum would ask the 1973 legislature to grant adult status to anyone who is at least 18.

The association said the referendum drive should help in its campaign to register new young voters since a student must have registered to vote to sign the petition.
