DAVIS IN THE WEST, OFFERS FARM AID

Warrant for Firpo Arrest Complicates Bout With Wills

U. S. TO LOSE IN SCRAP WITH ARGENTINE PUG

Fans to Kick If Fight Is Stopped; Others To Kick If It Isn't

STILL UNDECIDED

Bringing Girl Into America Causing Heavyweight All Kinds of Trouble

Special to The Record News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The arrest of Luis Angel Firpo on a warrant from Washington charging him with violating the immigration law, his subsequent admission to bail, and postponement of the hearing of the case until four days after his scheduled meeting with Harry Wills September 11, were the outstanding developments today in the deportation proceedings instituted by Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn.

The warrant charged Firpo with having brought or attempted to bring Blanca Picart, an Argentine manicurist, into the United States for immoral purposes and for having gained entrance under false and misleading statements.

Will Have $1,000 Bond.

Bond for the fighter will be set at $1,000, immigration officials said. That is the usual bond in such immigration cases.

And thus the main bout on today's card is one between—

Luis Firpo, of Argentina, in one corner and Canon William S. Chase of New York, in another corner.

And the outcome is a foregone conclusion. The referee loses.

The referee in the battle will be Uncle Sam.

Firpo came to this country a few weeks ago to tackle Harry Wills for the right to meet Jack Dempsey. But his efforts now are centered on recovering from a short right to the morals given him by the New York churchman.

Uncle Sam didn't know he had been signed to referee the Canon Chase-Luis Firpo battle until Canon Chase produced evidence in the line of photos and dates tending to prove that Firpo had mis-stated facts when he explained the status of the Argentine beauty who arrived from Luis' homeland on the same boat with him. First Firpo said the young lady was just a chance acquaintance of the voyage. Then he said she was his secretary.

Ties Himself In a Knot.

Firpo never should have feinted the second time. He should have stuck to his story—staked his all on the one punch.

Now he finds himself a bit groggy. The evidence was laid before the immigration officials. They had no other course open but to pursue these charges. And as matters stand Uncle Sam faces this situation:

If the finding cause the government to deport Firpo before the fight nine million fight bugs who want to see Firpo and Wills meet will give Uncle Sam the run.

If court action on Luis' part causes a delay until after the fracas to set there will be a cry of "money" in connection with the withholding of action.

If the proper officials decide that there is not conclusive proof that Firpo has transgressed the immigration laws and decide to let him stay the church people all over the country will boo Uncle a bit every time he appears in a figurative ring.

So, whatever the outcome of the Firpo-Wills fight itself, Uncle Sam will emerge from his job a loser. He has already been socked on the button.

Why the Diligence?

And meanwhile the fight fans are wondering whether or not such diligence would have been shown regarding the status of the lady mentioned has not Firpo been what he is—an outstanding figure in the sport world—and a game which has been under constant fire.

If Canon Chase does succeed in his efforts to have Firpo deported he will hold an enviable position in the boxing game. Firpo won worldwide fame by knocking Jack Dempsey out of the ring. Chase, if his blow connects, will knock Luis Angel from New York to Buenos Aires.

CHARGES OF CANON MAY FORCE FIRPO TO LEAVE COUNTRY

Deportation without the right of return awaits Luis Angel Firpo (inset), Argentine pugilist, if he is found guilty on charges by Canon William S. Chase (above) of New York City. The canon accuses Firpo of perjury by his statement that Miss Blanca Loudres Picart, who came here with him from South America, was his secretary. Miss Picart was sent back. Thus the Firpo-Wills prize fight is endangered through a warrant sworn out for Firpo's arrest Saturday by immigration officials.

DR. J. F. REED, PIONEER HERE, DIES SATURDAY

Veteran Physician of County Succcmbs at 7:10 p m., After Illness of 2 Years

HERE IN 1891

Moved to Iowa Park From Tennessee; Funeral At 4 p. m. Sunday

Dr. J. F. Reed, one of the pioneer residents and practicing physicians of Wichita county, died at 7:10 Saturday night at his home, 2014 Tenth street, following a lingering illness of several years duration. For the past two days his condition had been critical and death had been expected momentarily.

Since late in 1922 when his health first broke, Dr. Reed had been failing. He was able to be up and about his home, however, and at times made short excursions about the city. He had grown gradually weaker since the first of this year and had been bed-fast practically all summer. His advanced age, 69 years, accentuated the gradual break-down in health. For two days he had clung to life by a thread and the end came quietly last night.

Born in Tennessee.

Born in Huntland, Tenn., Sept. 13, 1855, Dr. Reed came to Texas in 1891, settling in Iowa Park where he took up his medical practice. In 1904 he moved to Wichita Falls and has made this his home ever since.

Throughout his years here, Dr. Reed had been active in civic affairs. He was a member of three fraternal organizations, the Masons, Elks and Odd Fellows, and had also been a staunch member of the First Presbyterian church here. In addition he was interested in municipal affairs and served one term as park and health commissioner of the city. Failing health compelled him to relinquish his office at the expiration of his first term.

He was especially eager to see a well developed chain of parks for the city and worked untiringly to that end not only while in office but throughout all the years of his local residence. Dr. Reed furthermore retained his interest in Iowa Park and enjoyed an exceptionally wide circle of friends and acquaintances in that neighborhood. He was one of the most interested members of the Wichita County Old Settlers association, of which he was president, when the annual picnic was held several weeks ago near Iowa Park.

Funeral Sunday.

Surviving relatives include a niece, Mrs. C. C. Averill of Houston, two sisters and one brother in Tennessee.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be in charge of the Odd Fellows of Iowa Park and this city, together with Rev. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The body will be taken to the Iowa Park cemetery for burial.

PANDEMONIUM GREETS FLIERS

American Round-the-World Airmen Arrive at Boston, Met by 75,000

By The Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Six army airmen entered today upon the last stage of their journey around the earth by airplane when they arrived in Boston, their first objective on the Atlantic coast of the United States. The three big cruiser planes, completing 125-mile jump from Mere Point, Maine, where they were forced down by fog yesterday, dropped to their moorings in Boston harbor five months, to a day, after the fliers hopped northward from Seattle in April.

In these months Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, with Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, in the flag-plane Chicago, and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson, with his mechanician, Lieut John Harding, Jr., in the plane New Orleans, have flown 23,000 miles. The fighting, taking them from America's west coast around the world, through the tropics and the far north to the American east coast, was regarded by army officials as having virtually attained today its objective, the circumnavigating of the globe by air—for the first time in human history.

There remains now only the transcontinental journey, no longer accounted a remarkable feat in aviation.

Showing the strain of their five months of travel in which they virtually encircled the globe, the six Americans reached here adim a pandemonium of foghorns, bells and sirens from hundreds of harbor craft, liners and naval vessels and were greeted by a crowd of 75,000, probably the most enthusiastic that

DISCRIMINATION OF REPUBLICANS HIT BY NOMINEE

Declares G.O.P. Favors Big Manufacturers Against Farmers, He Says

SPEAKS IN OMAHA

Declares Democrats Have Program That Will Be Farm Salvation

Special to The Record News.

OMAHA, Sept. 6.—A readjustment and lowering of rail and water freight rates; tariff and tax reform, and government aid in stimulating the cooperative marketing movement and in establishing an export marketing commission, constituted the cardinal point in a farmer relief program presented here tonight by John W. Davis in his first address in his campaign for the winning of the west.

In offering this platform before an audience in the city auditorium, the democratic presidential nominee vigorously assailed the republican party for which he characterized as the discrimination again the farmer in favor of manufacturer, and for its failure to cooperate fully in the restoration of economic conditions abroad so as to furnish a market for American farm products.

Taking up the republican proposal as outlined by Charles G. Dawes, the vice presidential candidate, that the entire farm relief problem be submitted to an "impartial, non-partisan, competent commission under economic guidance," Mr. Davis asserted that there already had been sufficient investigation and charged that in proposing a new one the administration was "seeking to evade a decision on matters of principle."

"The democratic party," Mr. Davis said, "has a definite program by means of which we hope to restore to the farmer the economic equality on which he has been unjustly deprived. We undertake:

"To adopt an international policy of such cooperation by direct official instead of indirect and evasive unofficial means, as will reestablish the farmer export market by restoring the industrial balance in Europe and the normal flow of international trade with the settlement of Europe's economic problems.

Would Adjust Tariff.

"To adjust the tariff so that the farmer and all other classes can buy again in a competitive market.

"To reduce taxation, both direct and indirect and by strict economy to lighten the burdens of government.

"To readjust and lower rail and water rates, which will make our markets, both for the buyer and the seller, national and international instead of regional and local.

"To bring about the early completion of international waterway systems for transportation and develop our water powers for cheaper fertilizer for use on our farms.

"To stimulate by every proper governmental activity and progress of the cooperative marketing movement and the establishment of an export marketing corporation of commission in order that the exportable surplus may not establish the price of the whole crop.

has met them since they hopped off from Seattle five months ago to a day.

Glad to be back on native soil again, but with a hint of weariness in their eyes that suggested hours of vigilance, exposure to extremes of climate and planning, the aviators showed even more in their manner than by what they said.

"Hello, folks, we're glad to be with you again." These were almost the first words of Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, leader of the flight. With that short speech into a radio mouthpiece, Smith was speaking to his mother in Seattle and to listeners-in throughout the country.

"I guess we're about as glad to be here as you people are to see us," Lieut. Smith said in an informal talk with reporteds and friends on the reception barge.

"What was the toughest jump you had in your flight?" some one asked.

"The one from Iceland to Greenland was the toughest," he replied, "on account of the fog."

While enroute over Old Orchard, Lieut. Nelson, flying very low, dropped a message in a leather case for Captain Harry M. Jones, almost at his feet at his hangar there. It read:

"Greetings from the world fliers, enroute Pictou, N. S., to Boston, Mass., U. S. A.

"Hello everybody. You bet we are glad to be back. Regards from each."

It was signed by Lieut. Smith and all his companions.

Lieut. Smith and Nelson are personal friends of Captain Jones.

The world fliers will not hop off for New York tomorrow as previously planned. Lieutenant Smith said to night that they would leave Monday if possible.

MOTHERS SEND LOVE TO WORLD FLIERS AS THEY REACH AMERICA

By The Associated Press.

MERE POINT, Maine, Sept. 4.—The first written greetings received by the world fliers at this place where they stepped on home soil after an absence of five months, were from the mothers of Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and John Hardin.

The message of thankfulness for their safe arrival was given the officers here by the Associated Press to which the mothers of the army aviators had entrusted it for delivery.

The greeting sent by wire from San Francisco where it was signed by Mrs. Maude Smith and Mrs. Robert A. Chase Harding follows:

"We, two of the happiest mothers in all the world today, bow our heads in reverence to the supreme pilot who has guided our precious boys and their comrades to safety thus far, our hearts overflow with joy and graitude. May God still bless you until we can take you in our arms. Because we love you, we love you, we love you.

"Your devoted mothers."

COSDEN

of some sort in Baltimore. He risked nothing on wells, but with some friends established a tiny refinery at Bigheart in 1909. Its capacity was fifteen barrels of crude oil a day, and Josh himself drove the tank wagon in which the daily demand of crude oil was collected.

The growth of the business was phenominal. In 1916 Cosden was head of Cosden & Co., with big refineries at Tulsa, making much money and losing little, fo the safest of all ing business was the safest of all angles of the oil business.

Meets Prince.

As fortune flowed into Cosden's hands, he was divorced from his first wife and later married Mrs. Nellie Neves Roeser. They went east for social conquest and were not welcomed by the keepers. A trip abroad, where the Cosdens attended a party at which the prince of Wales was guest of honor, smoothed the social way on this side of the ocean. He previously had met the prince on the turf. A costly stable, a yacht and palatial homes brought social contact, but little attention from the leaders. The Cosden fortune was considered too young to be taken seriously.

Cosden sought a Wall street flavor for his fortune two years ago. He plunged in cotton and emerged with some winnings. He attempted to repeat last year.

Is Caught Short.

He was caught short when the price soared, and bankers seized Cosden's personal property to save themselves. A large block of stock was impounded in which Cosden now has only an equity. He holds the option good until November 1. On that date sentence will be passed on Cosden. Fate may send him back to start over, or it is barely possible he will pay cash to recover his stock, and ascend again to control his company.

Cosden is not yet 50 years old. In his Oklahoma days he did not smoke or drink. His manner suggested bashfulness in any company. His tastes were for home life, according to friends, who say his second marriage has been a happy one.

LaFollette Campaign On Track of Ballots

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The LaFollette-Wheeler campaign is rapidly shaping into form for an aggressive, intensive drive for votes. Organization practically has been completed, arrangements for raising finances have proved satisfactory and attention is now being given to the final details before Senator LaFollette takes the stump.

To Argue Cotton Rates

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. — Hearing on Texas cotton rates will be held in Washington before the interstate commerce commission October 9, according to word received today by the Texas railroad commission. The commission is endeavoring to have a hearing on grain rates at about the same time to avoid two trips to Washington.

WILL NOT QUIT NATIONAL POST

Mrs. Bloodworth, in Statement, Tells Why She Refuses to Resign

Asserting that the request for her resignation was "entirely out of harmony with the spirit of fair play," Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth, national committeewoman for Texas, has flatly refused the edict of the state executive committee that she abandon her political post. In a letter to E. A. Berry of Houston, chairman of the committee, she sets forth her reasons for refusing to resign and states that she intends sticking to her guns throughout the four-year term to which she was elected.

Letter to Berry.

Mrs. Bloodworth's letter to Mr. Berry is as follows:

Hon. E. A. Berry,
Chairman Democratic State Executive Committee,
Houston, Texas.

My dear Mr. Berry:

Since the democratic state convention has passed a resolution requesting my resignation as national committeewoman for Texas, I am writing to advise you and through you, the members of the state executive committee, that I am not conscious of any reason that would justify me in abandoning the position of trust to which I was duly and properly elected for a term of four years, and concerning which the Austin convention had no authority to act. I shall continue to perform the duties of that important trust to the best of my ability, and keep faith with the national democratic party.

Convention Excited.

It must be apparent the convention was in an excited frame of mind and that it would have been futile to have attempted a defense under these conditions, but I am constrained to believe that upon reflection the injustice of the procedure and action of the convention must be regarded as entirely out of harmony with the spirit of fair play.

In this connection I wish to call attention to the fact that the resolution adopted by the convention was presetned to the committee on platform and resolutions, composed of thirty-six of the leading members in the convention, and that after full discussion and deliberate consideration, former Governor Ferguson being present and among those who expressed opposition to the resolution, it was withdrawn by unanimous consent. Surely the cool judgment of the platform and resolutions committee should carry greater weight than the heated conduct of a stampeded convention.

Denies Klan Charge.

I absolutely deny the charges made against me on the floor of the convention as to my having at any time participated in any act commonly referred to as "river bottom justice" with which I have no sympathy. I have no official connection with the ku klux klan."

I am a democrat, always have been and always expect to be, and while I did not vote for Mrs. Ferguson in either primary, I believe in majority rule. I am now, as I have been since the run-off primary, in favor of her election as governor of Texas.

I am deeply interested in the success of the national democratic ticket. In my opinion the election of Davis and Bryan will mean the honest administration of governmetal affairs and the elimination of graft and special privilege from the national capitol.

Assuring you of my desire to cooperate in all matters looking to the betterment of our state and national governments, I am,

Respectfully,
MRS. J. T. BLOODWORTH,
National Committeewoman of Texas

6 CARS BURN; $15,000 DAMAGE

Property loss which may mount as high as $15,000 was sustained at 2:30 Saturday faternoon when fire of undetermined origin swept the garage of the Goodner Wholesale Grocery company, Fifteenth street and Scott avenue. Six automobiles were either completely destroyed or badly damaged, while the building itself was practically consumed.

Officials of the company reported that a Hupmobile touring car, a Dodge touring car and a Ford touring car, together with a Ford, Packard and Wichita truck were in the building. So rapidly did the flames spread no time was given to remove the machines and workmen about the plant were unable to make much headway with a private fire line. The fire seemed to envelope the entire garage at once, a spectator, and was blazing fiercely before the alarm was turned in.

With the blaze extinguished and the ruins cooled, firemen found a big drum of Wood alcohol buried under the debris. That it did not explode and cause more damage with probable injury to firemen is regarded as almost miraculous.

Officials of the Goorner company stated that the loss would be covered by insurance.

Fighting Chance For Republicans, Creagor Believes

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—The republican party of Texas has not and will not make "any character of trade or combination with any group or class," R. B. Creager, national committeeman of that party in Texas said in a statement here today. Commenting on the nomination of Dr. George C. Butte, dean of law, University of Texas, as republican candidate for governor to oppose Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the democratic nominee, Mr. Creager said the republicans had a "fighting chance" and predicted the greatest vote in the history of Texas in November.

"Dr. Butte will have the solid republican vote of the state and in addition will receive a vote of from two to three hundred thousand of the best element in the democratic party," Mr. Creager asserted. "Nomination of a woman for governor attracted nation-wide attention and comment. This attention and comment is as nothing to that which will be attracted to Texas in November, when it is announced to the world that a republican governor has been elected in this state.

"The election of Dr. Butte will mean an efficient business administration for Texas, freed from that bitter strife and partisanship and that pandering to classes that would follow the return of Ferguson to the governor's chair. Dr. Butte will have no enemies to punish and no friends to reward."

ZR-3 to Have Weather Reports on Ocean Flight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Preparations were completed today by the navy for furnishing a complete meteorological service to the Zr-3 in her trans-Atlantic flight. Through the use of naval ships located at strategic points, exhaustive data on weather and wind conditions will be gathered and transmitted to the air ship from the moment she leaves her base in Germany for Lake Hurst.

CLEBURNE.—Contracts awarded at $169,125 for paving North Main and South Main streets.

BUSINESS MEN BOOSTING TRIP

Harrell and Mytinger In Favor of Fair Special And Pledge Support

"It is of importance to every business man of Wichita Falls that the Texas-Oklahoma Fair special to be run through parts of the trade territory on September 16 and 17, be a big success, as nothing will probably mean more for the success of the fair than this piece of boosting and publicity," declared J. T. Harrell of the City National bank, in an interview Saturday morning.

"The Texas-Oklahoma Fair is one of this city's big assets and its success depends to a great extent on Wichita Falls business men getting right behind it and doing their part," he said.

J. C. Mytinger is another local business man of prominence who is a strong booster for the fair special and will be counted among those present when the special leaves Wichita Falls on September 16.

"I believe the trip will be a mighty good thing to have," Mr. Mytinger declared, "and it is up to us to make a special effort to support it and our splendid fair."

According to reports Saturday the trip is over half sold at this time and it is the desire of the committee to finish it up Monday, so that the equipment can be ordered and all definite plans made.

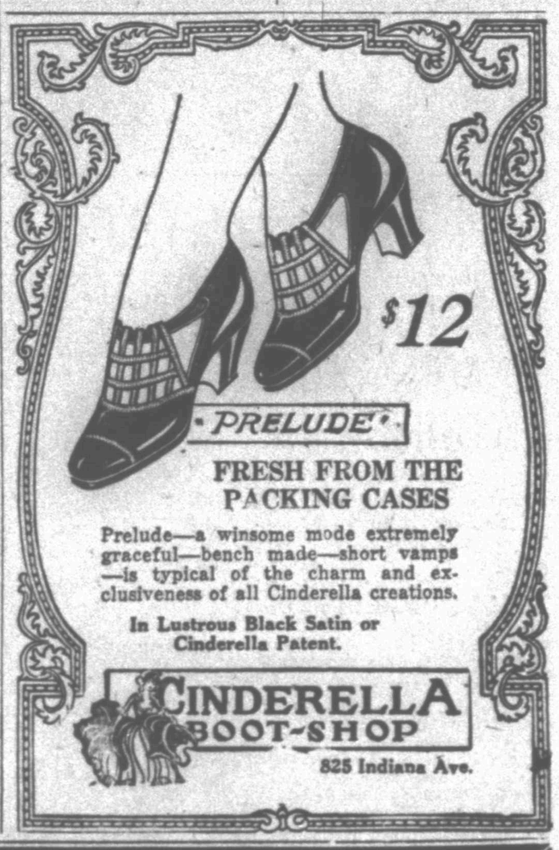

The trip will be run for two days and will cover as much as possible of the trade territory. A band will be a big feature and a parade will be held at each stop it was stated. The bag-piper and his troup of Highlanders is expected to attract a great deal of attention.

Negroes Advised to Watch Their Step While in North

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Negroes who have migrated into northern sections from the south are called upon in an "address to the country" adopted at the concluding sessions of Lott Carey Baptist foreign mission convention to "deport themselves in such a manner as not to bring reproach upon the race." It urges that they refrain from spending their money on luxuries and pleasures and buy homes, erect business houses, strive in every way to make good law-abiding citizens of themselves."

DALLAS.—General contract let at $47,345 for erection of addition to Hogg school building.

A&M BUILDINGS ASKED OF BOARD

Higher Education Institutions Would Spend $5,457,000 On New Structures

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Sept. 6.—Sixty-six new buildings at the 14 state higher educational institutions, at a cost of $5,427,500 were asked in the budget estimates filed by those schools with the board of control. The University of Texas, a land-grant college, is prohibited from receiving general revenue appropriations for building purposes.

Not Yet Considered.

The board of control has not yet cared the educational building program. After both it and the legislature trims some of the proposed new buildings, Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, governor nominee, has announced she will materially reduce the building programs of educational institutions.

Texas A. & M. college leads, with applications for 22 buildings. However, 10 of these are small demonstration cottages, costing $3,000 and one for the instructional staff.

Texas Tech Seven.

Texas Technological college asked for seven buildings. The Kingsville normal college was the only one not to ask for any new buildings.

The eight normal colleges went 16 buildings, at a cost of $1,079,000 the first year and $427,500 the second year.

Texas A. & M. college, the College of Industrial Arts, North Texas Agricultural, John Tarleton college, Texas Tech., and Prairie View negro normal college want 50 buildings, at a cost of $3,951,000 the first and $1,506,500 the second.

Dormitories are asked at San Marcos and Huntsville normals. The San Marcos normal college also asks a science building, to cost $175,000 and an addition to its educational building, to cost $50,000.

The Nacogdoches normal college asks a library, to cost $225,000.

Building program of Texas Tech. college calls for a biological laboratory, a chemical laboratory, a library, women's dormitory, agricultural building, engineering building and home economics building.

A. & M. college asked for five cottages each year; a quarter-million dollar library, a dormitory each year; two apartment houses; an addition to the dining hall and kitchen, an agricultural engineering building; an addition to the textile engineering building; chemistry and chemical engineering building, and dairy husbandry building, at a total cost for that institution of $1,500,000.

Thoroughbreds to Run in Races

Several of the leading thoroughbreds of the east and middle west are expected to compete in the races during the Texas-Oklahoma fair Sept. 29-Oct. 5, inclusive, according to W. F. Weeks, director of speed of the fair association.

Fifteen entries have been received for the running races. Approximately 100 thoroughbreds will be here by the opening day of the exposition, Weeks stated.

Come From North

Most of the horses will be shipped from the northern states. Many of the fleet-footed animals are now racing on the northern fair circuits and will race at Oklahoma State fair, Oklahoma City, the week before the opening here.

The feature race during the fair will be the Texas-Oklahoma derby to be run Saturday Oct. 4. The event will be for three year olds and upward. The weight to be carried by the horses will vary according to the races won by the entry during the year.

Winners of one or more purses value of $700 in 1924 to carry three pounds extra. If such race was more than one mile seven pounds extra. Non-winners of a race valued at $500 one mile or over since June 1, 1924, allowed seven pounds. Such race of any value allowed twelve pounds. The derby will be over a distance of one mile and seventy yards.

Weeks stated that the nomination fee would be $10 and $15 additional to start. The Texas-Oklahoma Fair association will add $1,000 of which $350 goes to the second horse, and $200 to the third horse.

The derby is expected to bring a large number of entries to the fair and officials are of the opinion a dozen thoroughbreds will face the barried for the contest.

POTATO PIES—AND ALL THE REST READY FOR FAIR EXHIBITION

A new pie is born every minute! That seems literally true when one sees the countless novel pie fillings that have been "invented" this summer by the American housewife. Some of the most unique pies will be exhibited at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, Sept. 29-Oct. 5, according to housewives who are planning exhibits for the exposition.

Plain potato pie does not sound festive, but it really is a delectable dish. Sweet potato pie is even more toothsome. And lovers of vegetables fairly revel in the mouth watering pastries filled with onions, squash, carrots, green and yellow tomatoes, cucumbers—yes, and spinach.

But the historic apple pie is still "king" among all varieties, and in some states it is being eaten even for breakfast. In foreign countries it is known as the "American pie."

Rodent Pest Controlled

TUCZON, Ariz.—Arizona farmers and stockmen increased their profits by $525,830 during the past year as a result of rodent control, carried on under the bureau of biological survey and the agricultural extension division of the University of Arizona, according to an estimate issued here.

Prairie dogs were exterminated from several counties. Relentless war also was carried on against gophers, jack rabbits and cottontails. Poison was found the most effective method.

War Strength of Russia

MOSCOW.—According to Leon Trotzky, commissar for war, the present strength of the bolshevik army is just under 600,000. The leader of the red army denied a statement made by the British war secretary that Russia now has a permanent army of 1,300,000.

The Fable of the Low-Down Expert On Babies

By GEORGE ADE.

This following fable has to do with a Miscreant who specialized on Dirty Work. Once Georgie Cohan wrote a play about the Meanest Man in the World but the Fellow in the Play was a manicured Angel compared with the Central Character of the Indictment which is now being presented. He was so vile that he found it rare Sport to trample on tender Sentiments and lacerate the most delicate and poetical Emotions. He certainly was hard-boiled to a stony finish. To designate him as a Dog would be no Exaggeration.

No doubt you have heard Cases cited to prove that one who has the outer semblance of Manhood can be awful ornery. For instance robbing the Tin Savings Bank that belongs to a Blind Orphan. Or setting fire to the Old People's Home. Or selling worthless Oil Stock to poor Widows. Or Nipping the Candle-Sticks from an Altar. Or compelling the Wife to get her Spending Money by frisking the Trousers while Lovey is pounding the Ear. Or eating Peanuts in a crowd without passing any around.

No Biological Interest

Of course, such Crimes as the foregoing are serious enough and should be punished by the Electric Chair, but the Stuff pulled by the Contemptable Hound of whom we are writing called for nothing short of Boiling Oil or Molten Lead or both.

This is how he came to start on his dreadful Career. He was an old Bachelor who had only one mark to his Credit and that was: He never had blighted the Life of a Good Woman by marrying her.

Cruelty or Self-Protection?

He was the Kind that wanted his Morning Paper folded on the Table every morning and the Eggs had to be boiled just so and the Toast had to be thin and if the Coffee was not piping he howled like a Siberian Wolf. Hard to please in the way of Cigars and always complaining about the Laundry Work. Just about to leave the Hotel where he had lived for 16 years and camp somewhere else, but never keeping his Promise.

Well, this Egg, in spite of the Fact that he was hardly qualified to associate with the Human Race, had a great many Relatives, and quite a few Acquaintances and even a Friend or two, in the common Acceptance of the Term. Sometimes he left the high-priced Dump at which he was living and went to refined Homes. He had an occasional invitation to a Country Home. And of course, at his Office and his Clubs he came in contact with a great many Persons who had lost control of themselves and gone into the Matrimonial Jack-Pot and started bringing up Families.

He had a secret Contempt for all who were engaged in a Conspiracy to perpetuate the Anglo-Saxon Pace because he had studied it for nearly 50 Years and it struck him as being a Failure. However, he would not have butted into the Affairs of the poor Simps who had ball-and-chained themselves for Life if they had laid off of him. At least, that was his Alibi for all of the Harsh Work. He claimed that when he came in contact with Married Folks they began to brag about their Offsprings as soon as he was in Range.

He had not even a biological Interest in small red Babies or tiny Tots with shiny Curls or masterful young Urchins with bruised Knees or spindly Misses who were learning to attack the Piano.

The Age of the Swoozey Tooth.

They were all of a kind to him — each one a Combination of Tadpole and Interrogation Point and Gosh! how he dreaded meeting them!

And when gurgling Parents began to boast of the Physical Prowess and the Intellectual Brilliancy and the Native Wit of the immature Samples, he was annoyed, irritated, rancoed, and bored to extinction. It seemed that all who listened to these puerile and piffling Panegyrics were supposed to enthuse and register Amazement and give vent to certain Ejaculations indicative of their delirious Interest.

The old Hard-Shell had no appetite for all this Goo and Children and he decided, in Cold Blood, not only to get even with the wildeyed Parents who had been tormenting him for Years but also to fix it so that he would be spared future Punishment.

He discovered that Married Couples, although they could talk for Hours about their own Offsprings, were densely ignorant regarding Children in General. Each Parent was laboring under the Delusion that his or her Olive Branch was essentially different from any other Kid ever delivered by the Stork.

The deep-dyed Scoundrel deliberately became an Expert on the subject of Babies. He bought many Books and collected all sorts of tabulated Statistics and attended Lectures on Evolution and the Survival of Animal Instincts in the Genus Homo. He was loaded for Bear. Fathers and Mothers who handed him any of the time-honored Talk had a Fat Chance.

If Mr. Swoozey at the Office came to his Desk with the breathless Announcement that little Ferdinand had a Tooth, the Expert would ask, coldly, "How old is your Child?"

"Only ten months," would be the proud Reply.

"Ah, that is too bad. If the Child had been Normal and developing Tissue up to the Average for a healthy Infant, the first tooth should have appeared exactly Seven Months and Fourteen Days after Birth."

After which Mr. Swoosey would feel his way back to his Desk and sit in a benumbed condition for Hours and Hours.

Once his Cousin Maude propped little Richard, aged Six Months, in front of the chilblained Renegade and explains that the Sounds emerging from the little Darling were a deliberate Attempt on his part to pronounce the Word "Mama!"

"Moo" Three Months Late.

"Not at all," explained the heartless Iconoclast. "The inarticulate Sounds are merely Evidence of Atavism or Reversion to Primeval Type. Prof. Doremus Gumble has studied over One Hundred Thousand Cases and has many Cabinets filled with Phonographic Records and he has proved, beyond all dispute, that the noises made by Young Babies are identical with those emitted by certain species of Chimpansee and also of one type of Gorilla found on the east shore of Lake Albert Nyanza."

When a grinning and enthusiastic Papa tackled him in the Street and took up his Time with a Story of how little Robbie, only Seven Months old, could say "Moo" like a Cow, then this Cynic would pull out his Little Book and cite the Case of a Child in Lynn, Massachusetts, who, at the age of Five Weeks, could Imitate a Cow, and say "Dada" whenever the Male Parent came into the Room. He showed a little Table of Statistics indicating that the Average Age at which Infants begin the "Moo" Specialty is about Four Months, so that Robbie was really Backward and some one ought to advise him to Smoke Up.

One Day a Mother cornered him and exhibited her first and only Izzy-Wizzy and asked him if he had ever seen a Child of that Age with such a full Head of Hair. If he had been the ordinary, polite Hypocrite, he would have expressed Surprise and Delight at the Growth, but he was a Joy-Killer with a Mission to perform, so he let her know about a Baby in Michigan that had to have its hair braided in three long Queues at the age of Three Weeks. After that the Lady never spoke to him again.

He could prove by Huxley that very often the Grunting Sounds and the Facial Grimances were not indications of a dawning Intelligence bestirring itself, but were caused by Wind on the Tummy.

In Company one Evening a beaming Pa and Ma were handing a small squashy one around from one Guest to another and listening to the Heartfelt Declarations of Rapture. They called the Mean Man's attention to the Fact that the Darling was willing to go to any Stranger, and asked him if he did not consider it Unprecedented. By way of Reply he brought out some Note from Scientific Works, proving that a Small Child always shows a Discriminating Affection and a Distrust of Unfamiliar Faces, unless its Faculties are stunted. He said the Records would show a Child who will warm up to any Caller usually develops into an Easy Mark for Life Insurance Agents and Sure-Thing Promoters.

He knew just at what age a Tot should manage to Stand by holding on to a Chair, and how soon it ought to begin to speak Pieces and sing "Little Birdy in the Tree."

It gave him Cruel Joy to prove to Parents that one Baby was about the same as another and that all the Star Performances of little Itchy-Kitchy had been duplicated at least a Million Times in other Nurseries.

By following these cold-blooded Tactics he felt that he was protecting the General Public against one Variety of Pest, but when the Mothers got together of an Afternoon he was read out of Decent Society.

Finally the Manager of the Hotel married the Lady Cashier and in due Time there was a good deal of Excitement. The Frozen-Face was taken in to see the Eighth Wonder of the World. He looked hard at little Genevieve and said her Head wasn't shaped right and she would probably grow up to be a Defective. Next day he was asked to give up his Room and he had to move into a Club where all the Rooms were on a Court.

MORAL: Let on to be Interested and Pleased.

THE BLUEBACK SPELLER.

What may be designated as legislative lucidity is not a quality noted for its abundance in this day of innovation and experimentation. Surely few of us expected much of the recent session of the Georgia legislature, assembling as it did in the middle of a torrid summer. Among the enactments of that body, however, was one ordering the public school authorities to restore the old "Blue-Back Speller" to the public schools. Now it is said the Alabama legislature will do the same thing. If "Ma" Ferguson should induce the Texas legislature to follow the Georgia lead, she might make a tenstrike, as the bowlers would say. Possibly one of the reasons why the public school system evokes so much criticism that so many of the old standard books have been discarded. The fact of the matter is, the textbook industry thrives on frequent changes, and it almost seems at times as if the school system is maintained primarily to keep the publishing industry thriving. The "Blue-Back Speller" has had no equal as a textbook in all the history of the American public school system. It was the only textbook that some of the strongest men of American history ever knew, and it exerted a profounder influence in its day than any other book published, with the exception of the Bible. But it was too cheap, we suppose, and did not produce profit enough.

FROM A VICE PRESIDENT.

Former Vice President Marshall as a syndicate writer is rendering more service to the country than he did in the vice presidency, where custom enforced his silence on current problems. "If we could eliminate from the campaign the money that is usually spent by each party in touting its own candidate and assaulting the candidate for the opposition," he says, "we could get the American people to thinking of principles rather than of personalities." That is good sense. Three-fourths of the campaign propaganda is wasted. The men who prepare it are paid well, tens of thousands of dollars are expended for printing and postage, and the stuff goes into wastebaskets everywhere. The personal denunciation so freely indulged in has but little effect on intelligent minds. As Mr. Marshall says "no decent American can truthfully say anything to the detriment of President Coolidge or Mr. Davis. The men are different, but their points of difference have to do with personality and views, not with integrity, character or fitness." It would be worth much to the nation if the bunk of politics could be eliminated, and real issues considered.

ANOTHER COME BACK.

Pierce B. Ward of Johnson county is the democratic nominee for Senator in the Hill-Johnson district. He had a very hard fight, was thrown in a fierce run-off and won by twelve hundred majority. Hill and Ellis counties are in the Ward district. These black land counties returned majorities for the anti-klan candidates in the run-off and this helped Ward immensely.

Former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey invaded the district, making two speeches which were looked upon in the nature of a God-send by Ward and his lieutenants.

Pierce B. Ward is a native Texan. He served a full term in the Senate years ago. One of his sons is a youthful district judge and the other, a lawyer in the city of Dallas, was at one time private secretary to Charles A. Culberson.

Somervall is in this district. Citizens of Somervall do not love the state rangers. Neither do they love bloc politics. They call themselves democrats of the old school. They rolled up a majority for Ward.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT COTTON.

We read again the report that the South's cotton supremacy will some day end; that East Africa will take over the industry and leave the Southern cotton farmers out of a job. England has long been encouraging cotton culture in the dominions, and no doubt is making some headway, but there is no reason to fear for the immediate future of the American cotton-growing industry, except in so far as the boll weevil and other enemies of the plant render its production precarious. If the time should ever come when the South's great staple industry should be destroyed, however, no doubt the land may be devoted to other profietble uses. As a matter of fact, many Southern farmers have abandoned cotton already and are producing other crops. There is no reason to be frightened. In the meantime, it is possible that our cotton enemies may be destroyed and that cotton production will become greater than ever. It is a good bet.

Potash and Perlmutter

Discuss the Firpo-Wills Fight with Special Reference to Prizefighter-Authors.

By MONTAGUE GLASS.

"Outside of murderers, Mawruss, no class of people has become more refined in the past few years than prize fighters," Abe Potash remarked as he looked up from his paper the other morning. "Which I can remember when if you said somebody was a prizefighter yi understand, you didn't have to explain that he was also a loafer, you didn't need to go into details about color, y'understand."

"But loaferishness is now a thing of the past with prizefighters, Mawruss," Abe continued, "so much so, Mawruss, that a man can take his sister and his mother to see two prize fighters half kill each other and not hear a single word out of the way, y'understand."

Broken Faces Breaks Movie Contracts

"I presume, Mawruss, you are going to take your Rosie to see this here Firpo-Wills fight," Morris Perlmutter suggested, "or is she one of them back number women which couldn't stand the sight of blood?"

"What has blood go to do with prizefighting any more, Mawruss?" Abe asked.

"Well, if this here Firpo advertises himself as the Wild Bull of the Pampas, Abe, I naturally took it for granted that somewheres along the first few minutes of the fight, this here Wills would naturally have something on his face to make good Firpo's trade mark," Morris said.

"You've got a very funny idea of up-to-date prize fights, Mawruss, I prizefighters hit each other on the nust say," Abe observed, "which if face nowadays, how could they appear in such moving pictures as Neville of the Pennsylvania state constabulary afterwards? Take this here Jack Dempsey for instance, and I seen him in a picture the other day where there must have been as many as forty or fifty close-ups of him measuring at the very least thirty feet square, and if that feller eve got so much as a slipt lip i na prize fight, Mawruss, you couldn't tel d from where I was sitting."

"In former times it was very common," Abe admitted, "but nowadays Mawruss, the only disease which a prizefighter suffers from on account of his profession is Kleig eyes, obesity and writer's cramp. Of course, once in a while, a prize fighter gets into an automobile accident like Dempsey did the other day, and sometimes their faces get so smashed up on account of such an automobile accident, that it is feared they will be ruined as prize fighters because they will never be able to stand up before a camera again. But as for prize fighters getting their faces smashed up in a prize fight Mawruss, they dassent do it. It would bust up their moving picture contracts if they did."

Strihlings Are Preparing for Future

"Then suppose, Abe, this here Firpo-Wills fight would be held under the rules of the National Moving Picture Manufacturers' association, which seemingly has changed the Marquis of Queensbury rules so that nowadays it is a foul blow if one fighter hits another above the belt or anybow above the neck," Morris remarked.

"Well, why not?" Abe asked. "Then Marquis of Queensbury rules was regularly moved, seconded and adopted long before either moving pictures or prohibition had been invented, Mawruss, and in them days when a world champion lost his championship, there was practically nothing left for him to do but open a liquor saloon and you know as well as I do, Mawruss, a couple of cauliflower ears and a broken nose wasn't no handicap to a man who wanted to open a liquor saloon. In fact, Mawruss, an old time saloon keeper should ought to have had anyhow one cauliflower ear if only out of compliment to his customers—just to show that he wasn't no better than they were."

"But couldn't an ex-world's champion have written his memories in them days the same as he can do today?" Morris inquired. "Ink had been invented at that time, hadn't it?"

"Pens also," Abe admitted, "but in them days the parents of prize fighters was very neglectful of their children when it came to education, Mawruss. Take Mr. and Mrs. Stribling, the father and mother of young Stribling, Mawruss, and the way they are bringing up their son to be a light heavyweight champion, should ought to be a lesson to all parents—particularly if they've got some which show any disposition to injure their little playmates for life, or something. Mr. and Mrs. Stribling are actually keeping their boy in high school and learning him English composition and grammar, so that when they get old and maybe loses a championship, he can write his memories instead of bringing sorrow on their grey hairs by going into moving pictures, Mawruss."

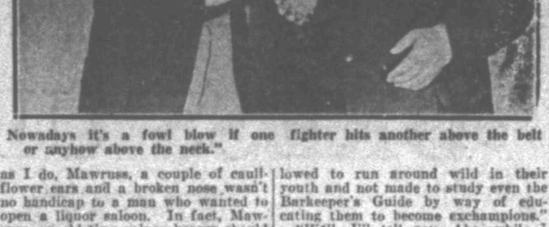

"No doubt Mrs. Stribling is kept busy writing notes to George's high school teachers, which read: 'Please excuse George from his psychology and trigonometry today as he stopped a haymaker last onight to oblige his mother, Mrs. G. W. Stribling.'" Morris suggested.

"Well, naturally a boy which tries to be light heavyweight champion of North America and valedictorian of his class in high school at one and the same time, is liable to have difficulties, Mawruss," Abe said, "but it's anyhow better than the training given them old time champions who was allowed to run around wild in their youth and not made to study even the Barkeeper's Guide by way of educating them to become exchampions."

"Well, I'll tell you, Abe, while I figure that everybody should ought to be allowed to write his memories in moderation, y'understand, I have always put the memories of prize fighters after they retired from the ring in the same class as the memories of chair, understand me. "Morris observed. "They ain't so much books of murderers before they went into the memories as horrible examples and warnings, and after all, Abe, it does seem a waste of good education to train a prize fighter in a high school, so that when he gets old, he can write a book to say that if he had his life to live over again, things would have been very different, believe it or not."

"But you've got to admit, Mawruss, that books by prize fighters and murderers are in a way interesting than books by authors, because what do you expect from an author but a book?" Abe said, "whereas for murderers and prize fighters to write books, must be very difficult."

"I know it must be difficult," Morris agreed, "and it's too bad it ain't impossible.

The Perils of Politeness

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

I was in Canada when the new police rule was put into force in our suburb, which accounts for what befell me on my return. The first day after my return I got out the car to drive into town. This is something I do not often attempt, for I lack the requisite hardihood to drive through traffic. I am always making little mistakes at the wrong time, and am always cut to the quick by the things the corner policemen say to me. Beside that I have a lively memory of being driven to court two or three times, and standing in line until it came my turn to be told that I was an idiot and ought not to be trusted with a baby carriage and requested to pay a fine of from five to twenty-five dollars.

My finances are such that I miss five or twenty-five dollars when they are taken away from me, and I am not one of these people who can forget rough language, especially when it is spiced with biting sarcasm.

Never having driven more than a few thousand miles, and being out of practice because of a protracted vacation, I felt certain this morning that I would make mistakes on the way into the city. I was right about that. In my anxiety to bring up when a traffic officer made one of these Egyptian motions with his hands at the second corner I stopped too suddenly, and the driver of a motor truck was unable to apply the brakes soon enough to prevent bumping into me.

The bump somehow or other locked by own brakes, so that I could not start when I got what seemed to be a signal from the officer to pull over to the curb and wait till he had time to attend to me. He looked at me in surprise as I tugged at the brake lever, while an increasing cue of cars parked behind me. Then he walked slowly over to me, while I awaited him as a bird with a broken wing awaits the coming of a tomcat.

"What's the matter, brother " said the cop. "Brakes jammed?"

The silky courtesy of this beginning only increased my fear. I recognized it as the usual prelude to some reference to my physical and intellectual incapacity. So I feebly whispered:

"I think so."

"Well," said the blue coat, 'that might happen to anybody. The gentleman behind you was a bit over hasty. Let's look at the damage."

Still convinced that there was something sinister in this politeness I looked at him dumbly as he walked around behind the car, jerked at the brake rod, and called to me:

"Try it now. I think it's released."

I pushed down the lever, and stepped on the gas, thinking that a violent application of the power would be necessary to overcome the friction of the locked brake shoe. To my amazement the car leaped the street intersection and collided with a milk wagon that was crossing from the right hand side. The milk wagon driver got out and walked over to me, and was just opening his mouth to speak to me about it when the cop came running up and held up his hand.

"Now better not say anything you'd be sorry for," he said. "This gentleman had no means of knowing that his brake was free, and he merely applied a little too much power. The fault was my own your wagon does not seem to be seriously damaged."

I sat there and gasped.

"You're a little bit rattled by that other collision," he continued, turning to me, "and I don't blame you. Pull over to the curb and tinker with the brake a little, and then be on your way."

I pinched my cheek to see if I was awake, and did as I was bid. When I had inspected the brake and found it was all right, I sat and waited for the officer to come over and give me a summons. For a time he was busy directing traffic and did not see me. When at last he looked in my direction he waved his hand and called pleasantly:

"It's all right. Steady down and you'll have no more troube. Drive on, and good luck next time!"

Thoroughly shaken I proceeded on my way, but a horrible suspicion had arison within me which caused me to tremble in every limb. I had gone mad! Things like this did not happen. Suddenly, and without warning I had become a maniac, and here I was in charge of a 60 horse power car, bereft of the power of reason, seeing visions, and hearing words that could never have been spoken, while every pedestrian between me and the city was at my mercy!

It was a horrible thought, and one not calculated to steady my foot on the throttle or my hand on the steering wheel.

As I went on I ran over signal after signal, thinking the while that I must get to an alienist as soon as possible and find out why I had thus been unaccountably stricken, and what could be done about it.

Nor were my fears for my mental condition abated when every policeman on traffic duty in my way instead of making the accustomed speeches called out cheerily:

"Best be a little careful sir. Might meet with an accident going over a signal like that some time."

I was haggard and careworn by the time I had reached our suburban limits. I crept along sometimes at a snail's pace, fearing I would hit some one ahead of me. Again, as my mind dwelt on the disorder that appeared to have seized it, I would fly along at forty miles an hour, dodging in and out to pass trucks and cars ahead of me, and thinking only of how important it was to get to a doctor.

A mile beyond the suburban line, I breezed by a metropolitan policeman who had just set the signal at "stop" as I came up.

I was making twenty-five miles an hour, but he swung on the running board as I went past and said:

"Over to the curb there, Jack. What do you think you're running an airplane?"

I went over to the curb, where the traffic officer proceeded:

"Alecks like you ought to be sent over the road for attempted murder. Who in the —— do you think you are?"

"I-I-I-I," I began.

"That's what they all say," said the cop. "Tell it to the judge."

He took my name and handed me a summons. But I received it with gratitude, as one upon whom a princely gift had been bestowed. For I knew that my mind was all right, after all.

I went to our police chief when I got home, after having paid a fifty dollar fine in the city, and asked him what was the matter with the officers in our town.

"Aw," he said "I been trying to make them polite, but it don't work. Everybody thinks they're nuts or softies, or else come in here and give themselves up for lunatics. They can talk as they please after this. The whole town has been tied up in a traffic jam since they started in to be civil.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

VIRGO.

Today's principal planetary aspect being Venus adverse Saturn, it tends to retard and take the joy out of the normal Sunday recreations. It has a tendency to create an irreligious and dissatisfied atmosphere and, whilst portending disappointment in love, and makes it a very unfortunate occasion for marriage. Through all the day's trials, which can be minumised by self-restraint, it must be borne in mind that "every cloud has a silver lining."

A child born today will not attain maturity without experiencing one serious sickness, although its infancy will be comparatively free from ailments. The character will be amiable, its disposition cheerful and attractive, and its mentality quite above the average. The child will give no worries, and it should be permitted to live as natural a life as possible, so as to develop its inherent traits of sweetness and tractability. It will in early life show artistic learnings which should be encouraged with timely help and good advice.

If today is your birthday, you possess a forceful character and unbounding energy, but lack one important ingredient of real success, viz self-respect. You do not realize that you may lose your earthly all, yet if you retain your self-respect you can still be rich in the things that count, the things that endure, the things worth while. If you lose your self-respect, even though you possess a fortune, you are poor indeed, a bankrupt, a failure.

Self respect is not pride; it is not haughtiness; it is that hard-to-define "something" which prevents you stooping to meanness, pettiness, harshness, bossiness; which resents every form of unfairness; which rebels against injustice; which impels one to have scrupulous regard for the rights, feelings, and susceptibilities of others.

Without self respect there can be no genuine success. Success won at the cost of self-respect is not success —for what shall it profit if you gain the whole world and lost your own self-respect?

Self-respect is made or marred less by what one does than by the spirit in which it is done.

Successful people born on this date are: Thomas A. Hendricks, lawyer, congressman; Nathaniel Wheeler manufacturer; Ferdinand V. Hayden, geologist; Melville D. Landon, humorist; Edmund M. Holland, actor; J. Pierpont Morgan, financier.

COTTON IN NOCONA SECTION RIPENING

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Sept. 6.—Cotton in this section is opening rapidly and gins will soon be runing full capacity. Farmers are already hunting pickers and are willing to come to town in cars after them. The price paid is from $1 to $1.50.

Fifty-two bales were received today, totaling 153 for the season. The average price paid, 23 1-4c. Another cotton yard will be opened here in a few days by Ed Herring of Nocona. Some rain at this time would help cotton much.

A Lost Lady

BY WILLA CATHER

The boys were genuinely moved.

With the summer months Judge Pommeroy's health improved, and as soon as he was able to be back in his office Niel began to plan to return to Boston.

He had seen the end of an era, the sunset of the pioneer. He had come upon it when already its glory was nearly spent. So in the buffalo times a traveler used to come upon the embers of a hunter's fire on the prairie, after the hunter was gone; the coals would be trampled out, but the ground was warm, and the flattened grass where he had slept and where his pony had grazed told the story.

It was what he most held against Mrs. Forrester; that she was not willing to immolate herself, like the widow of all these great men, and die with the pioneer period to which she belonged; that she preferred life on any terms. In the end, Niel went away without bidding her good-bye. He went away with weary contempt for her in his heart.

It happened like this—had scarcely the dignity of an episode. Going over to see her one summer evening, he stopped a moment by the dining room window to look at the honeysuckles. The dining room door was open into the kitchen, and there Mrs. Forrester stood at a table making pastry. Ivy Peters came in at the kitchen door, walked up behind her, and unconcernedly put both arms around her, his hands meeting over her breast.

CHAPTER XXV.

Later Years.

She did not move, did not look up, but went on rolling out pastry.

Niel went down hill. "For the last time," he said, as he crossed the bridge in the evening light, "for the last time." And it was even so; he never went up the poplar-bordered road again.

If he had not the nature of a spaniel, he told himself, he would never have gone back after the first time. It took two doses to cure him. Well, he had had them!

He had news of her now and then, as long as his uncle lived. "Mrs. Forrester's name is everywhere coupled with Ivy Peters'," the judge wrote. "She does not look happy, and I fear her health is failing, but she has put herself in such a position that her husband's friends cannot help her."

And again: "Of Mrs. Forrester, no news is good news. She is sadly broken."

After his uncle's death Niel heard that Ivy Peters had at last bought the Forrester place, and had brought a wife from Wyoming to live there. Mrs. Forrester had gone west—people supposed to California.

It was years before Niel could think of her without chagrin. But eventually, after she had drifted out of his ken, when he did not know if Daniel Forrester's widow were living or dead, Daniel Forrester's wife returned to him, a bright, impersonal memory.

Niel was destined to hear once again of his long-lost lady. One evening as he was going into the dining room of a Chicago hotel, a broad-shouldered man with an open, sunbrowned face, approached him and introduced himself as one of the boys who had grown up in Sweet Water.

"I'm Ed Elliott, and I thought it must be you. Could we take a table together? You remember Mrs. Forrester? Well, I saw her again, 12 years after she left Sweet Water, down in Buenos Ayres." They sat down and ordered dinner.

"Yes, I was in South America on business. I'm a mining engineer. I spent some time in Buenos Ayres. I recognized her by her laugh—that undn't changed a particle. She seemed glad to see me, made me go into the hotel, where we met and talked to me until her husband came to drag her away to the dinner.

Oh, yes, she was married again—to a rich, cranky old Englishman; Henry Collins was his name. People said he was rich but quarrelsome and rather stingy. She seemed to have everything. They traveled in a fine French car, and she had brought her maid along and he had his valet. She asked about everybody, and said, "If you ever meet Niel Herbert, give him my love and tell him I often think of him." She said again, "Tell him things have turned out well for me. Mr. Collins is the kindest of husbands."

"Do you suppose," said Niel, "that she could be living still? I'd almost make the trip to see her."

"No, she died about three years ago. I know that for certain. After she left Sweet Water, wherever she was, she always sent a check to the Grand Army post every year to have flowers put on Capt. Forrester's grave for Memorial day. Three years ago the post got a letter from the old Englishman, with a draft for the future care of Capt. Forrester's grave, in memory of my late wife, Marion Forester Colline."

"So we may feel sure that she was well cared for to the very end," said Niel. "Thank God for that!"

"I knew you'd feel that way," said Ed. Elliot, as a warm wave of feeling passed over his face. "I did!"

THE END.

STOCKS LOWER IN BRIEF TRADE

Buying Power Made No Show of Strength Despite Short Covering

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Stock prices again pointed lower in today's brief but active session. While selling apparently was not as urgent as it had been in the two preceding days, short covering was in evidence, but buying power continued to lack impressiveness. Recessions in most of the pivotal shares were limited to fractions, although losses of 1 to 2 points were quite common in other sections of the list.

One of the features of the session was the sharp break of 7 1-4 points in American Water Works common to 105 3-4 just before the close.

U. S. Steel common touched a new low on the current movement at 105 7-8, but rallied later to 106 1-8, off 1-8. Baldwin closed 1-8 lower at 119 3-8, while American Can dropped 1 1-2 points to 124 1-2.

Persistent liquidation of American Woolen sent that stock to another record low of 51 1-2 but it moved back to 52 1-2 at the close, showing a net loss of 2 5-8 on the day. Fears for the safety of the quarterly dividend of 1 1-4 per cent on Chandler were reflected in the liquidation of that issue, which sold down to a new low at 35 1-4.

Buying of Lackawanna was again the outstanding feature of the railroad list, that stock moving to up 143 1-2 a new high since 1921, before profit taking forced it back down to 141 3-4, up 3-8.

Market Letters

Clement Curtis & Co.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Wheat: Market was slightly easier than yesterday with fluctuations within a range of about one cent. The early weakness was influenced by lower cables, resulting from reports that it is raining in Argentine. Weather reports from Canada and the northwest also were favorable. On the weak spots there was fair support by commission houses. Receipts of grain at primary markets the past week were the largest on record. Notwithstanding the heavy movements of wheat, it has been handled without any congestion at fairly steady to firm prices, indicating a healthy situation in the wheat market.

Corn: There was considerable buying early on scattering reports of frost, but on a slight advance locals who bought early turned to the selling side, which caused market to ease off, with little net change for the day.

Oats: The selling side was largely hedging, but offerings were well absorbed within narrow range of prices.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—The cotton market today was a dull affair with trading light and fluctuations developing a narrow range, the extreme spread being 15 points on December. It was a pre-bureau market with traders having no desire to enter upon new commitments. After opening slightly higher in sympathy with Liverpool, which market resumed Saturday trading today, October trading up to 23.83; December to 23.97 and January to 23.98, or 13 to 16 points above the close of yesterday, the market eased off on moderate hedge selling. At the lowest October traded at 23.75, December at 23.62 and January at 23.65, or 11 to 15 points down from the highs near the start. The close showed net gains for the day of 3 to 6 points.

The firmness of Liverpool was attributed to shorts covering, fearing the bureau report on Monday.

The weather was again bone dry and the official forecast promised generally fair weather for over Sunday. Spot news was rather mixed with little improvement in the basis.

The government report showing condition and indicated yield of September 1st will be issued at 10 o'clock New Orleans time Monday.

The census bureau will also report at the same hour the total amount of cotton ginned prior to September 1st.

New York Cotton.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—An early advance in the cotton market was checked by hedge selling today and after reaching 24.95 December eased off to 24.04. It was steadied at this level by trade buying or covering, however, and closed at 24.09, the general market closing irregular at net advances of 6 to 11 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 6 to 16 points. Active months sold 8 to 21 points net higher on pre-bureau covering, which was promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and continued private reports of deterioration. The demand was supplied by realizing and southern selling, after which prices eased off during the forenoon, but offerings were well taken on the decline from 24.65 to 24.50 for October and from 24.00 to 23.96 for January. Considerable October contracts seemed to be available, and were taken against sales of later deliveries, presumably to transfer hedges.

Another private report today estimated the crop at 61.2 and the indicated yield at 13,200,000 bales. Private cables said a rally from an opening decline in Liverpool was due to easier exchange rates.

Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 33,000 against 36,000 last year.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—Spot cotton steady, 5 points up. Sales on the spot 304 bales to arrive 300. Low middling 24.27; middling 23.77; good middling 24.27.

WHEAT LACKS TRADE INTEREST

Sentiment of Saturday On Chicago Board Slightly Bearish

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Interest in wheat appeared lacking today and the market moved within a narrow range sentiment on the whole being slightly bearish. At the finish wheat was down 1-2 to 1 cent, with September $1.22 1-8 and December $1.27 1-8. Corn advanced 1-4 to 3-4 cent; oats climbed 1-8 to 3-8 cent and provisions ranged from 5 cents lower to 10 cents higher.

Reports of frosts in some sections had little effect on corn values as the damage was not large. Buying by shorts on the dips checked an early break and resulted in an upturn in values.

Demand for oats was good and the market averaged higher on unfavorable reports from Canada where a damaging frost was reported to have occurred in some sections.

Provisions were firm in line with the strength in hogs and on development of better cash demand for lard overnight.

RACE MEET IS FEATURE IN FAIR

Frederick County to See Many Auto Races Say Plans Just Announced

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 6.—speed bugs are all hopped up over the card of races scheduled for the county fair in Frederick, Sept. 10 to 13 inclusive. Entries registered with City Clerk Womack show that some of the fastest dirt track cars in southwestern Oklahoma and north Texas are to be in the events and the purses are such as to attract dirt eaters. Two hundred and fifty dollars is each ten-mile event, to be split first, second and third.

Ted Arnold, Childress, Texas, with the Dodge that was in the money several times at the Texas-Oklahoma fair in Wichita alls last year is an entry. Sam Jewell of Walters is said to have just expended $1,500 on a Dodge that he believes capable of clipping off a fast mile or so and Mac Pace of Woodward is already lined up. Pete Kratelli of Gotebo—no its not a nightmare, three really is such a town—is entering "Pete's Special," which he thinks a few of. Larry Hogan of Grandfield who says his Ford will make a mile and a half in a minute and four second on a straightaway track is also entered while L. F. Koepke of Hutchinson, Kan., will try with a Fronty Ford.

So far the Hollis boys who copped most of the big money last year have not been heard from but it is expected that Jimmie Antrim, "Spooks" Alexander and Kurg Williams will have cars here, as they have been making the dirt track circuit this summer and are now at Hollis.

TILLMAN COUNTY SEES PROSPERITY

Frederick, Okla., Section Reports Crops Breaking Record of 20 Years

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 6.—With a million and a half dollars of wheat money resultant from the estimated crop of Tillman county, in circulation, and with a six million dollar cotton crop just coming on, merchants, farmers and bankers are predicting the healthiest financial condition in the county for the past 20 years.

Cotton men who have made a thorough survey of the county now estimate the crop at over sixty five thousand bales, and figuring the low price of 20 cents a pound the result will give the six millions to pay off all the mortgages.

Three carloads of negro cotton pickers have arrived in Frederick from Oklahoma City and picking in this county will begin in earnest within two weeks. Many of the fields are now showing enough opened bolls to look white. Frederick's seven gins are all in order and four of them are fixing up daily waiting the expected rush that will soon come. Grandfield has received two bales this week. Frederick one, with other points in the county yet awaiting their first.

The cotton money, together with that gained from the wheat harvest, will give Tillman county farmers in the neighborhood of ten million dollars this winter. In many cases the cotton crop alone will yield more than the selling price of the land.

OLNEY COTTON CROP ON WAY TO GINS

By the latter part of next week the movement from the farms to the gins will be in full swing.

Cotton buyers here say the staple is longer and better than last year.

PARRISH-WHITE LOT AND SOUTH ARCHER COUNTY SHOW MOST PEP NEW WILDCATS STARTING UP

Humble, Norton, White and Sun Company Starting up in Pease District.

By A. HALLMAN,
Record News Oil Editor.

A general revival of interest in field activity and the starting up of numerous new wildcat operations has distinguished the past week from its duller predecessors in this district. Summer vacationists returning home are getting down to work and with the 100 per cent purchase plan of the Texas Company forecasting improvement in industrial conditions it is not at all unlikely that the coming thirty days will see Archer county and the Wichita district back on its feet again. New completions are needed to counterbalance slight decreases in production for the past few weeks but it is likely the resumption of development will likely provide these.

There was no change in posted market prices all week, and little spot trading in crude oil. Refined markets continued about the same with production moving fairly well and prices fair but no improvement in either noted.

The Wichita Pipeline company started running oil from the Benson producers just across the Archer county line in north Young county. This makes the third pool in the south Archer locality to get pipeline connections, Swastika and the Ragle district having been served for some time.

Archer County.

Drilling in Archer county outside of numerous wildcat locations is principally confined to three localities, the Parrish-White district, in north Archer county, and the Skastika and Ragle districts in south Archer.

In the Parrish-White district the Kentucky Oil corporation and Tex-O-Kan are on the sand and due for completion immediately. Carter and Macon Oil and Gas company completed and placed on the pump their No. E-1, production being given as 200 barrels from the sand around 1,600. Carter and Macon are drilling or are ready to drill on the E-3, west offset to the original producer, and on the E-2 north offset to the Magnolia No. 1, Parris. The Magnolia is drilling on a west offset to this well, and has placed on the pump a south offset. Their No. 2, for a smaller producer than the No. 1, making about 100 barrels.

The Kentucky is drilling on an east offset ot the Magnolia No. 1, while H. A. Muce has a derrick up and is rigging up for a test a quarter of a mile south of this test in the northwest corner of the forty acres to the south. Further to the east E. W. Carter has not yet started up again.

In Swastika the Shamrock completed its Richardson-Mayfield No. 10, and pumped 167 barrels the first 24 hours from the well from the usual Swastika sand.

Dilday completed dry west of the Comac group, and at the same time of writing Cooper and McLaughlin has as yet an indeterminable factor, east of this duster. Stanley-McGregor completed for a 35 barrel well on his new lease east of the Magnolia and is drilling another on the old lease. The Panhandle is drilling their first here.

The Sunshine States is drilling below 1,000 feet on their test east of the Green-Flowers group.

Simms Oil company has made a location for a test in the northwest corner of block 29, Falls county school lands while the Humble Oil and Refining company is going in for a test on the Graham land, Scnell survey, just south of the Texas company Pease producer on a lease purchased from Andrade. Norton is getting ready to drill in the southwest corner of the survey. The producing area was further defined to the north and west with dry holes by the Oil Investment company and Howell, Norton also finally abandoned his third test. White-Sassouns and Sun Oil company are drilling near the new Andrews well.

W. C. Young is starting up on the De Moss land, south of Archer City. Clifford Mooers is drilling on his well to the north of Waite Phillips, while the Oil Investment company completed their second duster in a week northeast of the producer on the Tyler land.

Ray and Featherstone completed their No. 3, Nichols and placed it on the pump for a daily flush of 300 barrels. Drilling was started on two others, the No. 5 and the No. 4, the No. 4 to the west and the No. 5 north of the first producer. Simms Oil company is drilling to the south while Stidham and Thrasher are drilling east of the No. 5.

Texhoma is almost down on their No. 7, Kemp and Kempner, this being the only activity in the Orton district. Shappell is drilling on his No. 15 on his J. L. Case lease, while west of the Atlantic dry hole Maxwell, Netherton, and Everest are drilling at about 1,300 feet.

Wichita County.

The Burnet ranch furnished Wichita county's new producers in the main, Maer-Staniforth Gwynn completing their No. 7 for a nice well from the 1,800-foot sand and the Texhoma and Perkins completing their 1-A for a good producer from the same level. Texhoma made location and is drilling on the 2-A, and made location for 3-A, 300 feet futher south.

D. O. Johnston completed dry on the James land south of Electra, while O'Donohoe and Gates made a small extension to the KWFVL pool with a 25-30 barrel well in block 27 to the east.

In the McCarty district, Beaver creek, the United Central was idle while Lee, Mammon, Bullington et al started deepening their No. 1, encountering the 1,600-foot sand at 1,677 feet. Casing is being set above. Muce and Robertson have made a location and have a derrick up for a test on the twenty acres east of the Hamon-Lee-Bullington tract.

Clopton and Stone are drilling southwest of the Cochran producer on the Weeth land, while the Mid-Kansas is below 1,630 feet south of Electra.

Clay County.

Shelton Oil company is drilling deeper after almost making a well from a 1,000-foot sand on their location about three miles due east of the D'Varmett group, Body land. Casing trouble is given as the cause for the failure.

Globe drilling company has started deeper after bailing salt water at 1,870-foot sand in their test, while Cumley has a derrick up a mile further south for a new test.

John O'Neil spudded Friday on his test on the O. A. Ross land, southeast of Wichita Falls about ten miles.

OIL MAN HERE USES AEROPLANE

It is a big transformation from a mesquite covered plain to a safe landing place for aeroplanes, yet that is just about what is due to happen to Archer county if other operators of this district follow the lead of Jack Clark, Major Oil company.

Clark is a resident of Fort Worth and keeps his own scouting plane to make his trips to and from the fields. One day quired a hurry last week when business required a hurry-up trip to Wichita Falls he made the distance from his office in Fort Worth to Call Field in one hour and twenty-five minutes, contracting his business here in a little less than an hour and getting in the air again immediately for the return trip.

Clark was formerly a flyer in the British air service.

APPROVAL METED PANHANDLE RULE

Operators Express Willingness to Cooperate With Railroad Commission

Opinion of operators drilling wells in the Panhandle section of Texas all speak somewhat the same in regard to the new ruling of the railroad commisalon which will force them to apply mudladen fluid or water to gas strata encountered in that country in drilling oil wells between depths of 2,300 and 2,900 feet. While operatons agree that the enormous waste iicurred in allowing gas from these strata to run wild until the 600 feet of formation has been drilled through and casing can be set beneath it and the gas cased off should be prevented if possible there is some skepticism as to the practicability of attempting to shut it off, although the co-operation of drilling parties has been promised the commission on every hand.

Four-Hour Drilling Period.

The practice recommended by the commission of watering off or holding back with mud-laden fluid the gas while drilling, and drilling for periods of four or five hours, stopping them and reaming down through the swelled anhydrate is meeting with general approval, al though there is some inclination to balk at the added expense of such process.

Operators in the past have in almost every case drilled either with rotary or standard tools to the gas bearing strata, 15 to 20 in number between 2,300 and 2,600 feet, setting casing somewhere above the strata and below them using a bradenhead attachement to allow utilization of the gas. While the well was being drilled between these depths gas was allowed to run wild, it having been found that attempts to water or mud it off resulted in the seeming lime formation swelling above the tools and imprisoning them in the bottom of the hole, causing fishing jobs oftentimes unsuccessful with lost holes as a result. A twenty-four screw with water or mud in the hole when drilling through this anhydrate formation has been found impossible, the anhydrate taking on water like a sponge and swelling quickly (causing a contraction of hole diameter). The four or five-hour screw recommended by the railroad commission to be followed by reaming has been found satisfactory save for the added expense in some cases.

Enormous Waste.

The gas flowing freely from drilling wells after they had reached this depth would average 30,000,000 cubic feet per well, according to estimates made by the railroad commission. With several wells allowing this waste its total would run into figures beyond human comprehension. This tremendous waste is regarded as inexcusable by the commission, even though the supply is known to be practically inexhaustible and limitless.

The practice of allowing it to how from the hole without attempting to curb the flow constituted in addition a great fire hazard, several rigs and derricks having been lost in the Panhandle by reason of just such dangers. In addition the abrasion to casing and cable is known to be very great, one company having pulled a string from a well drilled in this district and found it so thing in places that it has been left on the rack at the old location ever since.

SHALLOW GAS WELLS GETTING PLAY NOW

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 6.—"We are getting a new gas well nearly every morning," declared Wilbur D. Allen of Austin yesterday. Mr. Allen, assisted by the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, was preparing to make tests of the gas found in shallow wells of Duval, Jim Hogg and Webb counties in the vicinity of his ranch near Hebbronville. Enormous quantities of gas is indicated by the wells, he declared and development is on the increase in that section.

Five Producers, Five Drilling Wells, Four New Locations, and One Ready To Pump Summarizes Ragle Activities

OLNEY, Sept. 6.—The Ragle district opened by the Consolidated Oil company (Knight and Hines) and the Panhandle Refining company, located about two miles north of here on the Young-Archer county line, is one of the newest pools of Archer county, and at present the one that is holding out most promises of development. There are five wells already producing in the pool, and one more drilled in and rigged to pump but not yet placed on power, all of these being the wells of the Panhandle Refining company and Knight and Hines.

About a quarter of a mile west of the producers Jeffers and Newby are reported resting on a sand in their test on the E. A. Hausler land about a mile and a half northwest of this test E. A. Carey is drilling around 900 or 700 feet.

Locations have been made by the Shamrock Oil company offsetting the B-2 producer to the south, and by Lee Wilson on a forty acres obtained from Nancy McChesney offsetting the same producer on the west. The Swastika Oil syndicate has made a location for a test in the southwest corner of the A. P. Neal land. D. White survey, diagonal offset to the Panhandle-Consolidated No. 1 C. L. Davis, drilling. Jeffers and Newby have made a location for a test southwest of the producer on the C. West land, block 239 TE&LCO survey, abstract 486, northwest corner of the tract.

Panhandle and Consolidated have three tests drilling, the No. 1 C. L. Davis A-lease, north of the production, at 650 feet; No. 3-D Ragle in the southeast corner of the D-lease, at 520 feet, and the No. 3-B, north of the furthest south producer, drilling below 930 feet. All three tests should reach the sand during the week.

The five producers are making around 465 barrels of oil a day, one of them—the B-2—flowing between 150 and 165 barrels through the tubing every 24 hours.

Sand depths on the wells, made public today for the first time follow:

B-1 (discovery well), 1,077-1,085, about a 50-barrel well.

D-1 (west offset to discovery well) 1,090-97 feet.

B-2 (southwest corner of B-lease), 1,067-77 feet, flowing through tubing between 150 and 165 barrels a day.

C-1 (southeast corner of C-lease) sand at 1,065.

C-2 (west offset of C-1), sand at 1,065-75 feet. Both of these wells is reported to be 50-60 barrel producers.

D-2 (east offset to the C-1, located in the southwest corner of the C-lease), Sand at 1,064-91 feet, 27 feet in; well not yet placed on power and probable production unknown.

The D-3 Ragle is located 300 feet east of the No. D-2, and the B-3 drilling, is located 300 feet north of the B-2. The No. 1 C. L. Davis is located in the northeast corner of the Davis land, just to the north.

Wells are being placed on the pump from the central power station near the center of the D-lease. Right-of-way has been obtained for a four-inch water line from the city of Olney water supply to the northwest to supply drilling wells with water, and construction is expected to start immediately.

Acreage trading has developed some nice figures for land in this area recently and there is no question but that it is attracting more attention from operators than any other section of Archer county. The pool can hardly be called defined as yet in any direction save to the east where dry holes by Knight and Hines and the Eagle Creek Oil company are located. An old dry hole by Creighton et al away to the southwest is not proving much of a drawback for that territory, a good showing having been obtained there.

MAGNOLIA TANK WAGON THE SAME

Retail Prices Lowered Two Cents; Margin Now 3 Cents

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Sept. 6.—Magnolia Petroleum company has established a tank wagon price of 13 cents and not 11 cents as erroneously quoted a day or so ago for gasoline here. The change made recently lowered the retail price from 18 to 16 cents, but did not change the tank wagon schedules, merely reducing the margin from five to three cents. At Muskogee the Magnolia's prices are 13 and 18 cents and at Oklahoma City 14 and 19 cents.

Another Refinery For Amarillo Soon Says Pantex Head

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Sept. 5.—That one or more additional refineries will be installed here within the next few months is the opinion of Dorset Carter, general manager of the newly completed Pantex pipe line to the Carson and Hutchinson county fields to Amarillo. Carter stated yesterday that he had advised owners of 100 idle refineries in the United States that the location is excellent and that all the oil required may be had from the Panhandle pool.

The Amarillo Refining company has the only plant located here at present and its capacity is known to be less than the amount of oil being brought here by the Plains Pipeline company via rail from Panhandle station.

Peter-Kemp Area Gets Rotary Test

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Sept. 6.—Lowry and Cavin in block 4 in the Swastika field are drilling in their No. 2 Harbison from the top of the sand found at 1,328 feet. The sand was found high in this test and it is believed that an unusually good well will be brought in.

In the Peter-Kemp shallow Billingsley et al have spudded for a rotary test on the Kemp land, survey 401, location being 695 feet north and 150 feet west of the No. 6 well of the Peter's company. This is the first rotary test in this field, star machines having heretofore been used.

On the forty acres to the north of production in the Benson pool, survey 1397, Polk Anderson is drilling at 650 feet with a Keystone machaine and should reach the Benson sand within the next few days.

To the east and a little south of the Benson producers, on the G. B. Hamilton land, survey 3401, Harris et al have a broken drill stem in the hole at 510 feet.

SOONER OUTPUT RISES STEADILY

Tonkawa-Cromwell Up While Million-Dollar Burbank Shows Decline

The crude oil production of Oklahoma continued on the upward trend during the month of August with an increase of 805,474 barrels, according to the current issue of the Oil Weekly. The outstanding feature of the month was the rise of Tonkawa in the daily production during the latter part of the month, this with the increase in the Cromwell district ran the grand total of the state higher than it ever has been in the history of the state. The total for the month of August was 15,875,029 barrels for the entire state.

The Tonkawa output was 1,603,490 barrels as compared with the previous month's output of 1,223,730 barrels. This is due to the deep sand wells in the area.

Cromwell pool, in northern Seminole county, also registered an increase during the month. The final output showing an increase of 691,475 barrels over the month of July. The center of interest in this district was the one mile extension well of the Central National Oil company in section 4-10-8, which nearly doubled the producing area of the field.

In the flush production report for the month the Cromwell pool sent Seminole county into the lead with a total of 68,060 barrels from 55 wells. Kay county ranked second with a recovery of 31,096 barrels from the 15 completions, due to the deep sand completions at Tonkawa.

It is interesting to note the sudden decline of the Burbank pool. Thirty-eight successful completions gave but 3,037 barrels of flush production.

The total number of completions in Oklahoma during the month was 455 wells. Of this number, 313 were producers, 23 were gas wells, and 119 were dry and abandoned. The total flush production from these 313 producers was 177,297 barrels.

Production Summary.

TEXHOMA-PERKINS MAKE LOCATION, 2-A

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company and Perkins have made a location for their No. 3-A, 300 feet south of their No. 2-A, Burnett, 750 feet south and 150 feet east from the northwest corner of the northeast 40 acres of the northwest quarter of the G. R. Meade survey, section 6, abstract 464, south of Fowlkes station.

This well will offset the just starting No. 8 of Maer-Staniforth, and Gwynn.

TEXHOMA DOWN TO 700, MONTAGUE

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company is drilling at a depth of about 700 feet on their test on the N. J. Howard land, north of Nocona Chamblin survey, Montague county. This is the second of two Montague county tests drilled by the Texhoma Oil and Refining company.

RICHLAND AREA IN SMALL SLUMP

Lack of New Extensions Puts Drilling at New Low Level

Special to The Record News.

CORSICANA, Sept. 6.—Failure of the Richland pool near here to score any important extensions to the proven area in recent weeks has caused drilling here to slump lower than usual although daily production is holding about steady. The Simms Oil company's Fish club, No. 1, failed to extend the field in the northeasterly direction when the Woodbine was tested recently and tested salt water at 2,987 feet. On the opposite end of the field the Gulf Production company's R. C. Elkins, No. 1, bailed sand at four different horizons between 2,985 and 3,006 feet, but tested dry each time.

The No. 2 well of this company nearby proved a producer of the 300-barrel class from sand bailed at 2,996 feet. The first attempt for deep production in the vicinity of the Richland field has failed thus far, S. T. Green and others in the northwest corner of the field being reported to have bailed salt water after setting a liner and bailing at 3,567 feet.

Figures Show Most Decided Pickup in Over 60 Days

Drill permits issuance during the past week took a decided jump and reached the figure of 33 for the five business days of the week, eleven in excess of the number issued the previous week. On one day, Thursday, last a total of 13 permits were issued, ten for Archer county, two for Wichita county, and one for the old proven section of Wilbarger county.

The 33 permits issued during the week were divided among the counties as follows: Archer county, 24; Wichita county, 8; and Wilbarger county, 1. The week before permits were divided among the counties as follows: Archer 11, Wichita 7, Carson 1, Montague 1, Baylor county 1, and Clay county 1.

Of the 24 permits issued for Archer county nine were for the sections south of Archer City, four were for the Pease and Andrews district, and the remainder scattered over the northern part of the county. Fifteen of the total permits issued in all three counties were for No. 1 wells, which in most instances signifies outlying or wildcat wells.

GALVESTON, Sept. 6.—Galveston bunched seven hits off I. Morgan, E. Morgan, and Osborn which coupled with a wild pitch by E. Morgan gave the Crabs a 5 to 4 verdict over Wichita Falls this afternoon in the first game of the series.

The quartet of Spudder runs were all scored in the fifth inning off the delivery of Delaney. The runs were accounted for by three hits, a walk, and two errors. Fitzgerald led off with a home run over the left field fence. His mates took heart and Callaghan then followed with a double to center. Williams drew first on fielder's choice when shortstop threw wildly to third in effort to catch Callaghan. Turgeon scored Callaghan with a single to left, and Williams romped on into the pan, Turgeon taking second when Whiteman in left fumbled the ball. Golvin flied out to right, and White walked. Metzler grounded to short, forcing White at second, but Turgeon scored. Jonnard hoisted out to right.

Galveston made counter in the second when Bagwell hit a home run inside the park. The Crabs scored again in the last half of the fifth when Pitcher Delaney tripled to left with Schroyer on base.

Galveston knotted the count in the sixth, scoring two. Single to center by Whiteman, double to left by Bagwell, and single to left by Burkett brought home the bacon.

The game was stowed away in the seventh, the Crabs netting the one run needed for the margin. Hurt grounded to short, but was safe at first when Golvin dropped the throw. Brown popped out to short. Whiteman singled to center, Hurt drawing up at third. E. Morgan uncorked a wild pitch and Hurt scored. The next two batters popped out to the infield.

The Best Hurling Staff in the American League

Clark Griffith is confident that his pitching staff will carry his team to the American league pennant. This despite the fact that they must do all their pitching on foreign fields. He bases his belief on the fact that his team alone has the mound staff efficient enough to carry the team along at top speed without subjecting any one man to overwork.

He points out that Cobb, in his desperate fight to stay in the race, has been forced to overwork Earl Whitehill and Edwin Wells, two youngsters. Huggins, by the same token, is tempted to overwork Herb Pennock, his only dependable pitcher. Not one of the other four members of the famous 1923 "big five" is hurling consistent ball.

Griffith points out these facts and then parades before you this pitching staff:

Zachary and Mogridge, the best pair of lefthanders in the big show with a slight shade on Whitehill and Wells for dependability.

Zahnizer, Marberry and Martina and Ogden, all of whom have shown ability to fill in the gaps between the victories of the first three pitchers mentioned.

And Allan Russell, as effective a relief pitcher as the league now boasts.

Truly a formidable array! The best one Griffith has collected in all his years as pilot and boss of the Washington team.

Drab Prospects of Wichita Falls Eleven Brighter, Avers McCallum

Games Matched With Vernon for October 18 and Electra October 25—Amarillo Probable Opponent Later

While Wichita Falls high school moleskinners line up for the second week of the annual fall grind beginning Monday with two-a-day sessions the drab prospects of the opening hours of training begin slowly to take on a brighter hue. According to Coach Bud McCallum, one-time brilliant athlete of the Texas Longhorns and now a football coach of unestimable ability in his second year as a grid mentor, the absence of the great Leo Baldwin, premier Texas high school athlete who graduated the past spring from Wichita Falls high school, and the absence of a number of other worthy veterans from this season's squad may not be felt so bad, after all.

Not Enough Dope to Cause Jubilation.

Preliminary practice, however, has not given McCallum a sufficient line of pointers on his prospective Coyote eleven to cause any excitement or jubilation over the probable outcome of the 1924 interscholastic league race. Not all of the squad has been out for practice yet; several old heads are missing, and a number of new athletes are expected to be on hand soon.

Two games bearing on the state race have been matched. The ancient rivalry between the Coyotes and Vernon will be resumed Oct. 18. And a still more bitter struggle is looked for Oct. 25 with the Electra eleven, coached by Bully Gilstrap, also of Texas university in his first year at the coaching game. Gilstrap will be remembered as the Longhorns' fighting right end of the past several seasons. Further details of the schedule will be worked out toward the latter part of this week said McCallum Saturday.

By way of test games, the Coyotes may meet all or one or two of the following elevens; Decatur Baptist College, Bowie, Strawn, and Lawton, Okla. These contests will have nothing to do with the Texas high school class A battle for the championship.

Amarillo probably will be one of Wichita Falls' opponents in midseason.

BELT FACING NEW MEDICAL CHARGES

Charges of practicing medicine without a license and receiving fees for such service were filed Saturday in county court against J. T. Belt, resident on Mississippi street where he is said to have considerable practice. The complaint was made by Assistant County Attorney Wayne Somerville.

Mr. Belt was tried in the county court at law last Thursday on a similar charge but was found not guilty by a jury. Additional evidence is now reported to have been unearthed and the new complaint was accordingly made.

NATS CONTINUE WINNING WAYS

Red Sox Flatten Out By Tabulation Of 8 to 2

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Senators had little difficulty today in taking the second game of the series with Boston 8 to 2. Manager Harris of Washington, was presented with a solid gold diamond studded baseball by a group of Washington admirers when he came to bat in the first inning. He proceeded then to smash a screaming triple to center scoring McNeely.

Ohio State Bantam Champ to Scrap Fink Thursday

MOKO MINGLES WITH ONE-TIME COAST BATTLER

Levine Meets Graves—Riley Back for Tilt With Texas Kid

Willie Sullivan, Ohio state bantamweight fistic champ, was signed Saturday to mix gloves with Frankie Fink of Dallas in the main event of the American legion weekly fight card nevt Thursday night in the legion open air arena, said Promoter Don Wofford yesterday evening. The bout is to be over the 12-round route, and Fink will find in this boy a real opponent, according to Wofford.

Attractive Program.

The legion has arranged an attractive program for the night in the way of battles while The Record News will furnish round by round and blow by blow reports of the Wills-Firpo heavyweight set-to scheduled for New York the same date. In this way Wichita Falls fight fans will not be forced to miss one treat in order to witness the other. It is estimated that several thousand fight fans here will be interested in the outcome of the match up east, whereas at least 1500 enthusiasts probably will crowd into the legion arena to take in the local battles.

Moko Broke Red's Ribs.

Moko Carpenter, twice conqueror of the belligerent Red Lewis, Galveston heavyweight, will meet Rube Murray of Altus, Okla., in an eight or ten-round semi-windup, according to Wofford. Murray was at one time a resident of the Pacific coast where he met a number of good heavies. Carpenter won over Lewis on a technical knockout Labor Day in Waco, the Wichita Falls boy having punched in a pair of Lewis' ribs during the sixth round.

Graves Wants Tabby.

Jelly Graves has issued a challenge to Tabby Levine. Both are Wichita Falls featherweights, and the gathering Thursday is expected to be divided fairly evenly between them. The scrap will be four or six rounds, probably four.

Jimmy Riley, lad who has mixed it in the legion arena on several occasions, will come again from Altus, Okla., this time to tear into Texas Kid of Fort Worth. This bout, also, probably will be a four-rounder.

Mrs. Hurd Again American Queen Of Golf Course

NAYATT, R. I., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, today became queen of American links for the third time, defeating Miss Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Calif., former tennis champion, whose progress in her first national golf tournment has been amazing.

The score in the 36-hole final round was 7 and 5, yet this decisive defeat leaves some glory for the woman from the Pacific coast. She progressed farther in her first effort to win the golf title than many have in many years of effort.

Miss Browne was one up after playing two holes and immediately lost this lead, never to have it again. At the turn in the morning round, Mrs. Hurd was two holes to the good, having gone out in the excellent medal of 41, as good as any player has done in the tournament.

Miss Browne took 44 and shortly after the turn began to exhibit a very inferior variety of golf through the greens. She was five down after playing the morning round.

By the time they had played nine holes in the afternoon Mrs. Hurd's advantage was seven holes.

A 15-foot putt for a par 3 at the 28th hole gave Miss Browne hope, but it was abandoned at the 29th. Mrs. Hurd got a par five here while Miss Browne put her third into a brook guarding the green. The concluding hole was a half in fives.

MEHLHORN WINS WESTERN OPEN

St. Louis Golf Professional Makes Low Scort Of 293

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—William Mehlhorn of St. Louis today won the western open golf championship at Calumet Country club with a score of 293. He played his last round in 75, including a record of 34 for the second nine and on his second circuit of the course he equaled the course record of 70 with a record of 34 for the first nine. He scored his first round in 76 and his third in 74.

Al Watrous of Grand Rapids finished in second place with 301 while Chick Evans took third honors with 302 and Eddie Held of St. Louis, another amateur, was next with 303.

They were the only two amateurs to finish among the prize winners and both at times had fine chances to win the title. Evans threw away his opportunity this morning when he got enmeshed in a creek at the third hole and took eight strokes and again lost in the woods on the seventh hole and took six strokes. He had a chance to tie for second place by sinking his last putt of thirty feet, which bobbled the cup but refused to stay in.

Held dropped his chance for top honors on the first nine of his last round where he took forty two strokes finishing with a 76, the worst score he had made during the tournament.

DENTON MATCHED WITH ARCH COOPER

Joe Denton, Amarillo welter and a popular fighter with Wichita Falls fandom, has been matched to meet Archie Cooper of Oklahoma City at Ada, Okla., next Thursday evening.

TRAMMEL PLANS BOUT IN EAST

Duke Trammel, Fort Worth boxer, who spends a greater part of his time in Wichita Falls and who has appeared on the legion card here on numerous occasions, plans to box Ace Riddle, Oklahoma welterweight, at Ponca City this week. After the Riddle bout, Trammel expects to train a week and then appear in a semi-windup bout in Hartford, Conn., for which he has been made a $350 guarantee.

ARCHER CITY HOPES FOR STRONG ELEVEN

The Archer city grid team, undefeated to date, began football practice the past week, and is expecting to be victorious again this fall.

Several of the 1923 athletes graduated, but the old reliable Stub Rawlett, right end; S. Walker, fleet back; Percy Morrison, the punter; and Verne Carrington, left end; are all on hand for duty. The remainder of the squad will be made up of recruits and last year's substitutes.

By ROBERT EDGREN.

They have been saying that Luis Angel Firpo is either dumb or clever, and very few have been able to analyze his blank stare and tell what was behind the bushy eyebrows.

Firpo may be dumb, but he has evolved at least one new idea. He has collected all the newspapers he could find with pictures of Wills in action and stories about Wills' fights, and has been spending the final days of his training studying Wills the way an entomologist studies a bug.

The first intimation the camp had of Firpo's new stunt came when Luis appeared in the dining room with a bundle of papers under his arm. After dinner he took one of the papers and began walking around the floor, mumbling something in Spanish. Bill Tate was just finishing his third helping of apple dumpling when something hit him back of the ear. Waiting only to recapture the dumpling he turned around, and found Luis waving one fist and gazing excitedly at a paper held in his right hand.

"How come?" demanded Tate.

Luis turned around and apologized. "Eeet ees ze punch for paralyze Weels," he explained in perfect English. "Me, I look the picture, I see the opening, I get heem queek."

Firpo Not So "Dumb."

Tate retired to a safe distance and Firpo continued his studies. Just then the waiter came in with a tray and ducked out again as Luis missed him by an inch. Then Luis went to his own quarters, where there was more room. The net results of his first day's study of how to hit Wills, as Wills appeared in action in the pictures, was one gold fish bowl, one lamp and a couple of chairs.

But Luis seems perfectly satisfied. He knows all about Wills now and has planned a defense for everything Wills can do and an attack that ought to get the big Senegambian no matter how he twists, turns or holds.

Firpo looked a little fat when he began training, but had no comment to make when visitors asked him if he wasn't afraid of tiring out in the ring. He has taken the fat off quickly. After all a fellow whose natural weight in training is near the 220-pound mark doesn't need to look like a featherweight. You never could see all of John L. Sullivan's ribs, and John could sock with anybody.

That Firpo isn't "dumb" is indicated by his handling of the moving picture rights. He knew that pictures with Wills in them wouldn't draw much money in New Jersey and that there would be no chance at all to show them in other states, so he sold Tex Rickard the American rights for $10,000. Rickard says he considered that in the light of a bonus for Firpo, and he usually manages to give his fighters a bonus in some form or other.

No Reference to Wills.

Firpo has trained harder for this fight than he trained while getting ready for Dempsey. Down at Altantic City he loafed around, ran almost not at all, boxed very lightly, and used his left hand chiefly to call the waiter. At Saratoga he has had better sparring partners and has given them a fairly hard workout almost every day. When Firpo came up from South America there was some doubt of his condition, owing to his having had over a million pesos for about a year. But he had been through some work at home, and was ready to go to it as soon as he could get to the quarters.

Firpo hasn't the slightest doubt that he will beat Wills. He is about as talkative as a Peruvian mummy, but the few words he does let out don't refer to Wills at all. They are all about what condition Dempsey will be in and what will happen when he meets Dempsey again. Firpo is sure of one thing. He thinks being in the moving pictures, isn't going to keep the speed in Dempsey's remarkable legs. Luis tried being a movie star himself, in the Argentine, and quit because he liked fighting better, and there is more money in fight pictures anyway. He asks all sorts of questions of everyone who has seen Dempsey, but only grunts when a visitor mentions having been at Wills' camp. At the same time he scans the papers to find stories about Wills, so perhaps his indefference is more or less assumed.

Dempsey's Opinion of the Fight.

Wills has come up a bit in the estimation of the "wise birds" who bet money on fights. His long seige of training has made an impression. The only question is how much hard work can improve his speed, and it was speed that he lacked entirely when he fought Madden. Some of the good pickers say that if Wills is allowed to fight the way he usually wants to, holding and hitting, he'll finish Firpo within six rounds.

One gentleman who follows ring affairs in an amateur way says that he watched Wills at work on the docks for two years during the war, when he had a job as a stevedore and was kept busy carrying beef aboard the supply ships.

"He could do as much work as four men," he said, "and was always willing to go out at night and box at the hospitals and camps in exhibitions. He was strong as a gorilla, but I never thought he had any speed in his punches. He had to clout his man, using his forearm like a club, to land a hard blow.

Wills has followed that style ever since. If he can change it now, he's a wonder.

When I saw Jack Dempsey a few weeks ago and asked him what he thought of the fight he said: "I never saw Wills fight and don't know anything about him. I don't know how good he is. But I think Firpo goes down too easily when he's hit."

Anbody Dempsey hits is likely to "go down easily." Wills hasn't Dempsey's jolting punch. He is more like Firpo in hitting. The Wills-Firpo fight will be between two men just about equal in speed. Firpo is more determined and more aggressive. This quality may be offset by Wills' greater knowledge of the game. And that makes it a battle.

Stamford Husky Joins Coyotes

Each day the prospects for a winning high school football team are increased with the addition of another good man. W. Cannon, who played with Stamford high school team last fall and made a name for himself in the Abilene game when the little Stamford team held the state champions to one touchdown, was in Wichita Falls Saturday and said that he intended to cast his chances with the future state champions, namely the Coyotes. Cannon weighs 184 pounds and is all muscle.

What does he play? When asked that question Cannon modestly replied that he played center, end and backfield last fall. He established a record last year due to his ability as a punter and because the Coyotes are sadly in need of a good kicker due to the graduation of the great Baldwin. Cannon may prove an important cog in the team's machinery.

Illinois A. C. Wins National A. A. A. U. Title

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 6.—The Illinois A. C. won the team honors at the National A. A. A. U. championship today with 43 points. The New York A. C. was second with 33, Newark A. C. third with 31 and Boston A. A. fourth with 20 points.

FIVE SENATORS IN .300 CIRCLE

Yanks Lead in Team Hitting, But Nats Faster On Paths

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Washington's gallant fight to conquer the Yankees in the race for the American league champion is an interesting tale of figures reflected in the batting averages today.

Comparison of the Yanks and Senators reveal five Washington players hitting in the select .300 class, while the Yankees can boast only of four, including Ernie Johnson, a utility player, who has only participated in 56 games. Outfielder Goslin leads the Senators in batting with an average of .335, followed by Rice with .328. Judge is hitting .317, Leibold .304 and Matthews .301.

The Yankees have their mighty Ruth as their batting mainstay. The Babe, however, has shown a tendency to slip, the latest averages giving him an average of .386, compared with .392 a week ago. He has totaled 42 homers. Johnson is batting .358, Meusel .318 and Dugan an even .300.

Nats Steal 100 Bases.

Washington has almost reached the 200 mark in sacrifice hits and of these Stanley Harris, the boy manager, himself is credited with 41. Harris also is tied with his teammate Sam Rice for the honor of running next to Eddie Collins of the White Sox in stealing bases. They have 15 apiece, compared with 39 for Collins. The Washington team reached the 100 mark in thefts, compared with 58 for the Yanks.

Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Senators, is the outstanding pitcher of the league. He is enjoying a percentage of .750, the count for him being 18 victories and six defeats.

In team batting, the Yankees excel. They have gathered 1,312 hits for a total of 1,919 bases, compared with 1,283 hits for the Senators for 1,192 bases. The Washington players have scored 616 runs, compared with 685 for the Yankees. In sacrifice hitting, however, the Senators have scored 196, compared with 163 for their opponents.

Ruth Still Leading Batter.

In individual batting, Jamieson of Cleveland remains next to Ruth with a mark of .355. Falk of Chicago follows with .349, with Eddie Collins, White Sox captain, fourth with .347.

Other leading batters: Speaker, Cleveland, .346; Cobb, Detroit, .343; Boone, Boston, .340; Myatt, Cleveland, .338; Bassler, Detroit, .337; Goslin, Washington, .335.

In the National league, the sensational batting of Rogers Hornsby overshadows the performance of all others. The St. Louis star, when forced out of the game due to an injured back, was hitting .432 and going a terrific pace. He had accumulated a total of 202 hits for 336 bases, including 23 home runs. His

The finall call for the 1924 annual Wichita Falls tennis tournament scheduled for this week was issued Saturday by the tournament committee composed of Ted Williams, tournament manager, M. A. Ellis, and L. O. Landon. The officials urge that all netsters and would-be tennis sharks hop to it and turn in their names to the committee before Monday night. The opening round of play has been set for the Municipal club courts Tuesday afternoon and no entries after Monday will be taken. It is the hope of the committee to make this tournament one of the most successful, if not absolutely the best tournament of its nature ever staged in north Texas.

Landon-Hill Furnishes Trophies.

Any player in north Texas, although not a resident of Wichita Falls, is extended the invitation to compete in the tourney, but entry must be made before Monday night. Ted Williams, manager, can be found at 710 Travis street. His telephone number is 5102. Landon can be located at Landon-Hill sporting goods company any time Monday, and Ellis will be found at the Security National bank.

There will be both doubles and singles play. Landon-Hill has charge of the singles trophy annually played for, and this company will present suitable prizes to the victors in the doubles competition.

Entries received so far are Donald Hallman, Mercer Parks, Tom McCarty, John Kerr, H. W. Tatum, Ted Williams, Oscar Powers, Bill Powers, M. A. Ellis, E. A. Bebb, Henry Akin, Raymond Myers, Clifton Haynes and Paul Hines.

It is understood, but no entries have been turned in as yet, that players from Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Electra, Henrietta and several nearby towns have signified intention of participating. Tournament officials will be glad to receive these entries and give publicity to the point that no entrance fee will be charged, each man furnishing his own balls.

Trinity Tigers to Present Powerful Eleven This Year

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 6.—Head Coach A. J. Robinson announces that Trinity university, in his judgement this year will be represented on the football field by a team which will rank above that of last year. Mr Robinson will be assisted in handling the team, which for the first time in the history of the institution will have two men coaching it regularly by Loland Wilkins, a Trinity star of 1911-13. Since his graduation Wilkins has coached Beaumont and Palestine high schools. At Beaumont one of his teams reached the finals in the state interscholastic race.

A number of veterans are expected to return this year, including Borders, Schley and Robinson, ends; McCluney, center and Elms, tackle; Nelson and Dickey, guards; Manning, center; Morrison, quarterback, Ferguson and Lowe, halves; Vanlandingham, fullback; Williams and Bryant, reserves.

The training season for the team will open Sept. 10, Coach Robinson has announced. Moreover, he said, out of the large list of candidates, which includes a considerable number of promising fresh men from high schools and junior colleges, 35 men have been chosen. Fourteen of them are veterans of last year. Meanwhile Yoakum field has been placed in condition for the football season and permanent bleachers erected which will take care of 500 additional spectators.

Australian Davis Cup Players Stop French

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 6.—Australia today won the Davis cup inter-zone final three matches to two at the Longwood Cricket club, the French team dividing honors in two concluding singles matches. The decisive encounter was the first of today's program, Gerald L. Patterson of Melbourne defeating Captain Jean Borotra of the French team, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3. Rene LaCoste then defeated Pat O'Hara Wood of Australia, 8-10, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

retirement enabled Fournier of Brooklyn to gain slightly in home run honors, for Fournier increased his total to 26.

Cuyler of Pittsburgh with an average of .381, continues to rank second to Hornsby. Wheat of Brooklyn is third with .376, followed by Youngs of New York and Bressler of Cincinnati with .341 each.

Carey of the Pirates is in no danger of losing the base stealing honors. He's leading with 37.

Other leading batters: Roush, Cincinnati, .340; Fournier, Brooklyn, .338; Kelly, New York, .328; Frisch, New York, .322; High, Brooklyn, .322.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

WE ARE SELLING INDIAN HEIGHTS.
Nine building sites have been sold and five others are in process of consummation. If you have been told, as some have, that Indian Heights building sites are high, they have misrepresented the facts to you. Have them prove that statement by comparing the price of Indian Heights with any other desirable lot in Wichita Falls. You will then be convinced that this property can be purchased at this time at one-half to one-third the price of desirable lots in other sections of the city.
There is not a question but that Indian Heights building sites will double in value within the next two years, and we believe that this addition will be in greater demand than any other property in the city. We are staking our reputation on Indian Heights.
Let us show you this property and quote you price and terms on each individual building site.

WILLIS JURY FREED BY COURT

Stands 9 to 3 for Acquittal But Unable to Reach Definite Agreement

Standing, as they informed Judge Martin, nine to three for acquittal, the jury in the S. H. Willis case was discharged at 9:30 Saturday morning without arriving at a verdict. Willis was on trial on an assault with intent to murder charge against him. This was an outgrowth of a shooting affray several months ago in which John Nickels was slightly injured.

Willis' fate was laced in the jury's hands Friday morning after argument of attorneys. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the jury reported itself hopelessly divided. Judge Martin refused to release them, however, and ordered that the deliberations continue.

In a previous account of the case in the Record News it was stated that trouble over Nickels' wife was alleged to be the basis of the matter. This was an error. At no time was such evidence introduced or alleged and this correction is printed out of justice to all concerned.

K. C. BLONDY IN FOR TEN YEARS

A tourist of parts, with considerable mileage already to his credit, he now faces just one more comparatively short jaunt and then for a period fo 10 years or slightly less must confine his wanderings to that area, the outer limitations of which are known as the walls of Huntsville state penitentiary. With him for the first seven years will be hoddy in peace and war.

His real name is Jack Martin, address U. S. A., but for general purposes he is known as "Kansas City Blondy." It was this moniker that he traveled under in his meanderings about the country and it stuck even when he appeared before a recent grand jury in the 30th district court. A bill of indictment charging robbery with firearms was returned against him as "Kansas City Blondy."

Identified by Victims.

Thus he has been known in jail and out.

Blondy and Ray Brown, his companion, were arrested several months ago and identified as the two hijackers who on July 7 held up Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keys at Murphy's Corners. The filling station and store operated by Mr. and Mrs. Keys lost $104 through the operation and although the robbers were caught and identified, none of the money was ever recovered.

The pair was subsequently indicted and their trial called Saturday morning by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court. Attorney Harry Bounenberg was appointed by the court to represent the men when they appeared without counsel. At the conclusion of the case he was thanked by Judge Martin for his services in behalf of the defendants.

Refuse to Plead Guilty.

Despite the identification of Mr and Mrs. Keys and other evidence gathered by the state, Blondy and his pal declined to plead guilty. The former took the stand in his own defense, told a rambling story through which the state shot damaging hole and left without having aided himself to any appreciable extent.

Brown was an interested spectator while Blondy was on the stand, and after the latter's release decided that he could add nothing. Accordingly he declined to submit to a cross-examination.

The jury was out but a few minutes in each case and came in with a 10-year sentence for Blondy and one of seven years for his companion.

Unless they appeal, which seem unlikely, they will be taken to Huntsville within a short time.

Statements for last quarterly payments on subscriptions to the United Charities fund for the year were put in the mails Saturday afternoon by Mrs. E. B. Geraline, Jr., secretary of the board. Damage of about $50, which came near being much larger, was sustained at the Jamieson cotton gin, Second and Lamar, when fire of undetermined origin broke out in the place at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. One of the big parties of the coming week is that planned by the Baptist young people of Wichita county when they are to meet Friday evening, September 12 at Scotland park at 6:30 o'clock, according to announcement made Saturday. One of the important changes in the junior college schedule this year will be the length of periods. The periods last year were 45 minutes in length for both the college and high school students. This year the periods will be increased to one hour, 15 minutes being spent in instructive studying and the remaining 45 minutes in recitation. The majority of the larger high schools in the state are adopting this plan.

A staff engineer from the state board of health will be in the city soon to investigate a complaint recently made against emptying of sewage into the Wichita river, according to Mayor Collier. SCHOOLS READY FOR FIRST BELL

Officials Expect 8,000 Pupils On Hand for Opening Of Winter Term

School starts tomorrow.

All the buildings have been cleaned out, repairs made and everything gotten in readiness for the school session. Dr. Cantwell announced Saturday that all final arrangements had been made for a great year and that all attendance records will be broken. It is thought that approximately 8,000 students will enroll in the public schools of Wichita Falls this year.

Some Stay In Austin.

Due to the large number of pupils in the seventh and eighth grades it is thought by the school authorities that the junior high school will not accommodate the students and two hundred will be forced to remain in the Austin ward school.

From all indications all the ward schools in the city will be crowded but provisions will be made for this. Juvenile Officer W. G. Bralley has announced that the enforcement of the regulations will be more strict this year and that no excuses for absence will be accepted.

More than 900 are expected to enroll in the junior college building and of this number it is thought that at least 200 will be college students.

All students are requested to be at their respective schools tomorrow morning at 8:45 and at that time assignments will be made by the instructors.

The art display at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, Sept. 29-Oct. 5, will be representative of Texas and Oklahoma artists. The various exhibits will be unique and interesting. The paintings and sketches will be the most complete collection of any displays shown in the southwest, according to a member of the Wichita Falls Art association.

Amateur artists will have a large collection selected by a committee in each of the cities in the Wichita Falls trade territory. The younger artists are being encouraged by older men of the profession. The exhibits by the amateurs are being prepared with care.

The art committee is negotiating with a prominent art critic and lecturer who will be in charge of the display. Lectures and helpful suggestions will be given visitors looking over the exhibits.

REALTORS PASS ON WATER RATE ISSUE AT SATURDAY MEET

The Wichita Falls Realty Board held its first regular weekly luncheon since the summer months at the Kemp hotel Saturday with W. S. Cuee, president in charge.

P. S. Richardson, secretary, announced to the members resent that the local board was now affiliated with the state board and that all members were now authorized and instructed to use in all their advertising the phrase, "Member Real Estate Board" as indicative of their conformity to the code of ethics and rules of the board.

Discuss Water Rates.

The main question brought before the members was that of the water rates and an adequate water supply for irrigating the lawns and garden in the residential district. After considerable debate it seemed to be the concensus of opinion that the question of fixing and determining equitable water rates should be solved by experts in water rating.

A plan to supply large quantities of untreated irrigation water by gravity through a separate system of low pressure pipes at a cheap rate was discussed. Certain members who had visited or lived in cities where irrigation water was made available in this way spoke of its cheapness and many advantages in building up and beautifying a city.

WATER TASTE TO BE ELIMINATED

Odor Will Disappear In Few Days, Lawton Reports; Is Growing Less Now

The unpleasant odor noticeable in city drinking water the past few days cannot be attributed to Lake Kemp according to F. N. Lawton, manager of the city water department, who names vegetable matter in Lake Wichita for the trouble. The odor and taste is an annual occurrence Mr. Lawton declares, and can be expected to disappear in a few days.

In the following letter to the Record News Mr. Lawton explains the matter fully:

Editor Record News:

During the last few days an unpleasant odor and taste in the city water has been noticed in certain parts of the city.

This condition is not unusual for this time of the year and every summer after a hot spell of weather this color and taste is detected in the city water.

This taste and odor is a result of decaying vegetable matter such as grass, weeds and flowers bordering the shore of Lake Wichita and the canal leading from the lake to the pumping station. This vegetable debris forms a gas which contains no bacteria but permeates the water and gives it an unpleasant odor and taste It is a harmless gas and generally passes off in a few days.

Gasses Burned.

This odor can be eliminated by passing the water from one vessel to another, thus allowing the oxygen of the air to come in contact with the water and burning up the objectionable gas.

Some months ago the water department installed a device to throw the water some eight feet in the air at the vale house at Lake Wichita to aerate it, and the same method is provided at the pumping plant. We are also using chemicals at the plant in order to eliminate as much of the odor as possible.

This condition lasts only a few days as a rule and is a natural condition at this time of the year. It is not to be attributed to the water from Lake Kemp which has been run into the upper end of Lake Wichita for the last few weeks.

Kemp Water Clear.

The water from Lake Kemp is very clear and has had the effect of clearing up the water in Lake Wichita adding a certain sparkle and degree of clearness to the city water which it did not have in the past. Many water users have stated that in their opinion the taste of the city water has been improved since the addition of the Lake Kemp water.

The water department is doing everything possible to eliminate the trouble, by chemical treatment flushing of the fire hydrants and aerating the water.

The odor is already less noticeable and we feel sure that the water will be normal in every way within a few days. Dr. Douglas, the city chemist, is making daily analyses and has pronounced the water pure and free from all harmful bacteria.

Yours very truly,

F. N. LAWTON,
Manager City Water Dept.

Wide Variety In Color And Fabrics Shown In Fall Styles Here

Clothes—that is the one word which at this season of the year is paramount in the minds of women. The fall wardrobe must be replenished, and the Wichita Falls merchants are putting on the market the new things which they have just received from the eastern markets.

New materials are being shown at the stores, materials that are really difficult to speak without having studied them, but the difficult names do not take away from the beauty and quality of the cloth.

New Coats Arrive

For the cooler weather many new coats are being shown, with different shades of brown for the leading color. The deep nap of materials used last season for coats has given way to a preference for a smoother cloth, suede-like in appearance. Ottoman is one of the new coatings, a raised rep giving the idealized bengaline effect.

Fawnskin is another popular coating which is finding favor with the women. It is as soft and pliable as its name implies. It is silky and fine without the long, deep pile.

Kashmir Rivona has a deeper pile and partially reveals the grain, giving a pleasing luster. Kashmana has a loft light surface, pliant as soft kid leather with a mole skin pile. Velnewy is another of the new fabrics which is described as having a finish like the "face of a ripe peach."

Warm Clothes In Demand.

Warmth without weight might be the slogan of the fall season. There are not the heavy weight coats of former seasons, but light weight, yet warmth-giving in their close woolen weaves.

Alameto cloth with Jap mink fur trimming, velmoure Pompitt material, chamo, a chamois finished cloth, are also among the favored contings of the 1924-25 season.

As for colors and shades—well, Adelaide W. Neall has well expressed them in the "crazy color maze" in the Saturday Evening Post: Brown is the leader in the coats, pheasant brown, kobra, copper, morocco, are among the well known.

Colors and Shades.

For both coats and dresses have been mentioned the Soudanese, a dull woodsey tone which inclines to taupe, and all bronze shades from reddish brown to warm henna. Shutter green reviving all the becoming family of green and peacock shades including "spruce," a dark evergreen tone is coming back. "Celadon" is a shade of green rivalled by the richer forest green and the "cactus" green, the shade of the Texas plant.

Dress Styles.

Again the woman has many styles from which to choose her fall wardrobe of gowns. Fashions for every form are to be found, and still Dame Fashion need not be offended at the woman's choosing. The new three-piece suit or "ensemble" is quite popular. The long tunic blouse which may be worn with the princess slip or skirt of different material than the blouse is also one of the pleasing achievements of the designers.

Brown is a leading color in the dresses, but black runs a close second. Many lovely materials are made into charming gowns for the wearers of the dainty frocks.

Venetian fuchia is quite the right material for the afternoon dress. It comes in tones between the petunia, pansy, mulberry and plum to hollyberry, cranberry, pacquemino, claret and lacqueminot, claret and lacquer. Burnt russet, a deep leather tone, Malay, rosewood, Hinoke, pheasant (a cedar bronze), dusk, a cloudy grey, olive, jade, lupin blone, grey-green, artichoke and spinach green are all colors that are being worn this season.

Other Fabrics.

Among other favored dress fabrics which may be found in the favored shades include Poiret twill, charmineette, picquetine, charmeen, celesteen, a new slef-stripe of charmeen weave, hairline, and Barbara, a suede fabric with hair line stripes or blocks. Tarkestar, a cloth resembling wool poplin is another of the poular new fabrics.

Varied trimmings are used for the dresses and coats, but fur, a band of fur, a collar, fur trimming on the coats is the best thing of the season, according to the dictates of fashion. The heavy silks are made quite plain and quite fancy, just to suit the whims of the purchasers. Buttons, colored silks of contrasting material, self color, lace, or maybe a bit of fur are used. Indeed, the buyer at this season has many materials and colors to make the selection for the frocks in the fall wardrobe.

COLLEGE PLANS MADE AT SLUMBER PARTY

Miss Thelma Cain was hostess for a most enjoyable "farewell vacation" entertainment in the form of a slumber party at her home at 1003 Monroe street, Thursday evening.

MORE LAWS FOR TEXAS PROMISE OF LEGISLATURE

Legislation, Far Reaching, In Prospect When Thirty-Ninth Session Convenes

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 6.—Legislation, far-reaching in its effect, and largely free from the "nut" bills of many sessions and freak statutes proposed at every meeting of the legislature, apparently will be enacted by the thirty-ninth legislature next January, when partisanship and bitterness of political factions are smothered out by the billows of oratory and submerged by the majority votes of the house and senate.

After the legislature has had its try at political legislation dealing with anti-klan demands for laws to require publication of klan membership, some of the serious legislation which apparently will be tackled, with fair prospects of part of it being enacted, appears to be:

Special and Welfare.

Ratification of the U. S. child labor constitutional amendment.

Making appointment of the pardon board compulsory, instead of optional.

A modified minimum wage law, or the appointment of a commission to survey the state and report on a minimum wage law.

Educational.

Adoption of the Texas educational survey report and legislation to make it operative.

Changing form of leasing university and school mineral lands to competitive basis, as prospecting rights are sold on submerged state land.

Changing motor vehicle license tax law so that part of the new weight tax, probably one-fourth, shall go to schools instead of part only of the horsepower tax, with a possible increase in the gasoline tax, then eliminating the biennial appropriations from general revenue to supplement the school fund and for rural schools. This would eliminate one of the controversial issues of every legislative session.

Legislative.

Adopting the codifying board's report, thus bringing the laws up to date, correlating and unifying them, eliminating the repealed portions and integrating the amendments with initial acts. Possible submission of a referendum for a constitutional convention to rewrite the constitution, as well as the laws.

Taxes.

A state income tax and a sales tax, together with a series of occupation taxes on industries such as enumerated in the Patman bills two years ago. It is not believed that either income or sales tax can be made a law unless provision is made at the same time for an actual and certain reduction of the ad valorem tax below the minimum at which it has stood, with the exception of the year 1920-21 for several years. It was then lowered by Governor Hobby from 75 to 63 cents per $100 valuation, for all state purposes.

Health.

Strengthening the medical practice act. Reorganizing and making more effective the state health department. Speakers representing the Texas Medical association, recently declared here that of the $150,000 annual appropriation for the health department "most of it was spent in salaries and traveling expenses," and about $10,000 a year was applied to effective health work, in sporadic mosquito control activities. These figures were furnished by the health department, but not the statements accompanying them, the purpose being to show that when the legislature last year cut the appropriations in half, much of the effective statewide health work was cut off.

Business.

There will be a large number of bills offered regulating and supervising business activities, as are always offered.

One measure which may be passed will aim at strengthening the safeguards about "trade acceptances," so as to popularize that form of credit.

The Texas legislature will probably memorialize congress to prevent the federal reserve system from doing, as the St. Louis bank in the system has declared it will do, of refusing credit on cotton receipts from any except U. S. warehouses. As a means of making that protest more forceful, the legislature will probably attempt to pass a law declaring that in Texas all state-supervised and approved warehouses shall have full rights to issue warehouse receipts, to be accepted by Texas banks without discrimination.

The consolidation of the markets and warehouse department and department of agriculture, together with the realignment of functions now handled by the A. & M. college and the agricultural board seems assured, since the commissioner of agriculture made his campaign on that principal issue and the governor's nominee is pledged to consolidation. Educational and research work would be transferred to A. & M., and administrative and supervisory activities to the elective commissioner of agriculture.

HE GAVE COOLIDGE A GOOD SPANKING

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—With the exception of Father John Coolidge, Henry C. Howe of West Virginia asserts he is the only man ever to have turned Calvin Coolidge across his knees and administered a good old fashioned spanking.

Howe, federal meteorologist for West Virginia, tells how the punishment was given in his early life when he was a schoolmaster in Vermont.

Coolidge was one of his pupils. On a certain fateful day, the boy who is now president of the nation, then but 10 years of age, wavered from his accustomed paths of studiousness and good behavior.

A minor infraction of rules was committed. The spanking was awarded at once.

Around the World With Togo

BEDSIDE READING.

To Editor Record News, who oftenly get undigestion from devouring too much news.

Dearest Sir:—

Two or three weeks of yore I commence getting that stylish dissease name of Insommia. It art very tired sickness which make it so that I cannot sleep before 11 p. m., when I sink back exhausted from too much thinking.

"Nogi," I say so to my light-head cousin the other p. m., "unless I get more refreshment out of my dreams I shall soonly be a nervus rex. What to do about it?"

"Did you ever try reading some book or magazine against your pillow?" require Nogi soothly.

"How could I afford 35c for a magazine to sleep on?" I contuse.

"That are cheaper than Dr's bill," he narrate. "Medicated advice might cost you 50c, carfare xtra."

Therefore I took his words nerously while putting hat & overshoes on my feet that evening and eloping around corner to the News, Cigar, Fruit, Gum, Shoepolish & Literature Store of Hon. Lorezno Cowitch, who sells it.

I find Hon. Cowitch scrubbing a lady shoes with one (1) hand while with another he sold Sweetheart Lemon Kisses to a pimple-colored lady who look like she needed something like that.

Highbrow Literature.

"Hon. Cowitch," I corrode when all his customers had gone & we was quite alonesome, "what you got in your reading liberry which are good literature to sleep with?"

"What variety of dreams do you prefer?" he ask hashly. 'Pleasant, natural, flirtatious or porcupine?"

"I are very fond of nightmares," I report, "but I require them to end happly."

Just then another lady, African extract, emerge in and require a pair shoe laces for No. 11 dancing pomps.

"Togo," renig Hon. Cowitch with business voice, "just go to shelf, table, floor and everywhere and you will find literature of all descriptions."

And what he spoke was truthful. Mr. Editor, if you saw what I seen, you would stop printing quickly. There befront of me were periodicos, books and republications standing in stacks, piles & dumps. Color of them inflamed my tired eyes slightly, but at lastly I come to one which look kind of smallish and brownish with portrait of femiline lady getting onto street cars. I open it nervely to see if it would put me to sleep.

"We are sorra to report," say Page 1 of this printing, which were very religious in its nature, "that considerable frisky sights are happening all around us. So that America shall be reformied, let us relate to you a few."

I could never get to sleep reading that, Mr. Editor, so I snatch up next vol. which were name of Smutty Stories. It commence with a historical writing called "A Tale of 2 Drummers." I axpect I should like that, for I are very fond of novel about drummer-boys & warfare. But it turn out to be something about 2 travelling sailman who had nothing brite about them axcept their diamond stuckpins.

Hon. Cowitch Objects

I scramble again in piled literature and discover a very comickle paper name of "Fudge." A lady was on the cover, but I do not think she look very motherly.

I do not feel drowsy even then, so, I keep looking & find following list of publishers:

1. Emotion Picture World, a magazine full of actresses whose lives reads like a scenario by Harry Thaw with sub-titles by Luis Firpo.

2. Barebone Independent. This news tell how Revolution will start next Wedsdy, if it do not rain. Following line of march:

A—To Washington where White House will be burned before brekfast.

B—Wall Street where Soviate of Office Boys will be egganized to throw poperweights at all Cappitalists, thusly destroying the Money Gang.

3. I. W. W. Weekly which say "Workmen, arise!" but it do not tell whether they are to arise by daylibt shaving time or what.

4. Physical Axercise, showing by portraits how Midnight Foolies Girls keeps healthy and do not catch cold in one-act bathing suits.

5. Atheists' Trade Journal which prove that Relidgion are out of style because Hon. Robt. Ingersoll are still heard loudly. I believe so, because I have one of his watches.

6. The Radio Racket, full of lectures by slightly insane scientists, telling how a Double Combustion Baby Grand Outfit with a Triple ignition Edible Tickler Coil with a Firproof Envelope were made by an inmate of the Peovia Idiot Asylum, price 88c.

7. The International Sunshine Gazant, cantaining a article by Sir Jamrot Durbar, East Indian thinker, saying how Unhappiness & Rumatism could be removed from the world if people would stop shaving and say "Coo Coo" with deep breathing 21 times brite about them axcept their diamond stuckpins.

After two (2) hours of that, Mr. Editor, I decide it are getting pretty late evening & I have read plenty. I commence to feel somewhat weary in my intellectual brain. Therefore I lay aside all that literary education and start walk outward from store.

"Hi!"

"How is?" I ask to know, stopping.

"Where you going without buying something?" he talk like a shotgun.

"I do not come here to buy anything," I deseribe. "I merely wish to read, which I have done enormally, thank you."

"I shall charge you at leastly 25c," he dib.

"For what, if anything?" I ask it.

"If you are here merely to make $$$$," I say hottily, "I shal not trade with you anny more." & with that I slope back to home of Mrs. & Mr. C. W. Quackmire, where I go bed with my wakeful Insommia.

Exercise For Togo.

But what do you think, if anything, Mr. Editor?

No soonly my bereaved head was laid down amidst sheets & blankits than I got very dope-brained and fell right into sleep.

And what sort of a nightmare you think I dreamed?

I drempt I were pulling a piano off a wagon by its wooden legs when a voice like a pile of bricks spoke following:

"Togo, I saw you, you notty boy! To show you how wickid America are getting to be I shall read you a page from Smutty Stories—"

"Stop!" commit a bob haired voice. While looking around I see a Foolies 1924 lady with a sort of absentee bathing suit. "Phisical Axercise are all that Togo need," she decry. "Stand still, Togo, while I will twist you into my Daily 12."

And with those iced words she grabb my lower leg & place it twice under my right chin. Then she tie both elbows around my poor face & say for sweetly smiling, "Now relax while I go to Boston and count my Mr Jong score."

While standing there, all unhinged, a fatty gentleman with pancake eyes knecktie, "then I shall call down the rath of Heaven, XYZ broadcussing."

Horble noises. Sounds of cyclones falling over the Panama Canal. From where I stood, all wrapped around myself so I could not ran, of suddenly I observe 20,000 sandwelge men with "I. W. W. Weekly" printed on them. With militia feet they all come marching straight at me. How confused! Soonly they would stamp all over me. Yet how to escape away?

"Workmen, arise

And advertise!"

They holla that together like chorus girls. Tramp, tramp, tramp the bums come marching. Nextly I knew one of them walked right over my nearest corn. Ouches! Then another stroked me on my wounded kneck. My sakes of land!

"Save me from it!" I scrill.

"You can be eride by saying "Coo Coo" 21 times while deep breathing," pronounce Sir Jamrot Durbar, approaching uply with a tin skillet on his skull.

"Stop spoiling our Revolution," ripp that I. W. W. sandwedges, marching on my face while I woke uply & found myself sleeping on the floor with my feet in the waterpitcher.

Hoping you are the same

Yours truly

HASHIMURA TOGO.

Governor's Office Has Seen Many Changes Since Jim Ferguson at Time of Impeachment Quit Room

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 6.—Jim will hardly recognize the old place when he comes back."

Mrs. Ferguson and James E. Ferguson will find a totally different looking executive office next January 20, to that from which "Farmer Jim" walked smilingly on Sept. 25, 1917. "Well, there never was a day when I could use my time better to look after my personal affairs."

Map Was Dated 1870.

As Governor Ferguson left the chief executive's chambers, the big business office adjoining the private room of the governor was in marked contrast to what it is today. There were no partitions in it. Across the end of the room hung a large map, bearing the date 1870. Many present-day counties did not appear on the map and in west Texas, the section which gave Mrs. Ferguson thousands of votes, was bare of a single railroad or town, marked simply "Llanas Estacadas," or staked plains.

Over this map, partly concealed by it, hung a great American flag, probably 18 feet long by 7 to 8 feet high. The governor's private secretary, John L. Wroe, sat at a roll top desk and near him were a small table on which lay the requisition record, and a stand holding a big dictionary. In the room was a long table, with a dozen chairs about it, including a great, wide chair made in the Texas prison for Governor Jim Hogg, many years before. Around the wall were glass-front book cases, partly filled, and piled on top with reports papers and books. Standing on one was the plaster cast of a statue of Johanna Troutman, maker of the Texas flag, seated in a high backed chair. A "globe" map was on the table. No other person had a desk in this room but Mr. Wroe. Across the rear of the room was a big steel filing case for pardon records, and an oldish-looking iron safe stood near the front wall.

In Three Sections Now.

Now? The room has been partitioned off into three sections. It has been finished in cream and blue. In the front section there is a broad flat-top, where a woman secretary and a woman assistant secretary sit. The row of three telephones which formerly graced the desk when there were two phone companies here have been replaced by one phone and the long distance instrument transferred to a booth. Within the partitioned section, a man assistant secretary has a desk, while within the third compartment are other desks. Hogg's chair and the bookcases and cabinets and safe, the map and giant flag have been removed.

In the stenographer's room, where in Ferguson's administration the only assistant secretary, a man, and the only stenographer, a man, worked, are two young women stenographers.

But it is in the private office and anteroom of the governor that the most miraculous change in appearance has been wrought. Governor Neff sat at a big rose-colored desk in front of a small oak table. There was a bright red curtain on the floor. Now the office has been finished in a beautiful blue and gray carpet and walnut desks, table and chairs; with shiny floors.

Strains of Dixie On Radio Move Southerner to Tears

Special to The Record News.

LOS ANGELES.—He stood at the corner of Second and Spring streets, a man of middle age, rather shabbily dressed. Across the way a radio loud-speaker was broadcasting the noon-day concert. A soprano sang a selection from a classic; the idlers evinced little interest. Next came a piano rendition of the Miserere from "Il Trovatore." This got somewhat more attention. Still the lone man seemed bored.

Came the announcement that southern melodies would be sung by a male quartet.

Instant attention from the wayfarer!

They sang "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Black Joe." Followed "Suwanee River" and "Down Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow."

The man listened. His eyes moist. He shifted his weight from one foot to another, moved forward a step or two and leaned, as though tired in body and mind, against a lighting post. Then there came from the singers—"Dixie."

He took off his hat. His eyes glowed. A tear rolled down his cheek and splashed on the lapel of his coat. "O, I wish I was in the land of cotton!" sang the quartet with all the melody of the darkeys at the Mississippi steamboat landings. When the song was ended, the man turned to another standing near, and said:

"By gad, suh, that sho' was music!"

He moved away, down the street, into the traffic, alone—a thousand miles "alone."

He carried with him—"Dixie!"

GRAHAM.—Excavation work started for erection of $500,000 hospital building.

GREENVILLE.—Site at Washington and St. Johns streets purchased for construction of seven-story hotel.

The Married Life Helen and Warren

"It just won't screw on," anxioused Helen, struggling with the curtain rod. "Oh, hold it tight!" as the ladder lurched.

"I'm holdin' it. Why dontcha try another one?" advised Susie.

"They're all the same. Now I've dropped it again," as the small brass end clattered to the floor. "It rolled under the sideboard—yes, there it is."

At any other time Helen could have quickly put up these dining-room curtains. But now, because she was in a desperate hurry, everything went wrong.

And it was all the laundry's fault for not delivering the curtains when promised!

"I'm afraid them peas is dry," worried Susie. "Can I run a minute?"

"Oh, there's Mr. Curtis!" as the door banged. "Yes, you can go now."

"For the love of Lulu!" amazed Warren from the hall. "What's all this?"

"Quick, dear, come hold this ladder! She has to see to the dinner."

"Puttin' up curtains at this hour? Of all the idiotic stunts!"

"They just this minute came from the laundry. Hand me that other rod."

"Now you'd better get down from there and get dressed. The Osgoods'll be here in twenty minutes."

"I can do it, if you'll help. Don't stop to argue! Hand me that hammer."

"Don't see any hammer," glancing about with his usual helplessness.

"She just had it. There it is—on that chair."

Two pair of curtains up, Helen, tense and flustered, started on the last.

"Let that window go," growled Warren. "Nobody'll ever notice. Come down and I'll get that ladder out of here."

"Dear, don't—you only rattle me!" running the rod through the crisp dotted Swiss curtains. "It's these ends that're so mean. Now this one won't fit!"

"Here, get down, I'll fix it."

Climbing down, she steadied the ladder, while Warren fumbled with the obdurate fixture.

"They've painted over these darned things! No wonder they won't screw on. Here, give me some tacks. I'll fix it for tonight."

Anxiously Helen watched as he drove in two tacks on which he rested the rod.

"Oh, Warren, that's not safe! It might come down."

"Do for tonight. No time to fuss now. Where d'you keep this ladder?"

"Behind the pantry door," always exasperated at his ignorance of everything about the house. "What's that green stuff on the rug? She fixed that torn in here! Dear, run the carpet-sweeper over that. I've got to dress—it takes me longer."

"Where's the carpet-sweeper?" as he took out the ladder.

"In the pantry—where it's always kept."

A run in her beige chiffon stockings! A hasty dab of cologne to check it. No time to change now.

Hooking up her dress, she dashed out to the kitchen.

"Susie, don't forget you cracked that large platter—you'll have to use the small one. I hope Mr. Curtis won't get it all over the cloth when he carves."

"If them peas taste scorched, ain't my fault," grumbled Susie belligerently. "They boiled down dry while I was helpin' with them curtains."

"Just set the stew pan in cold water. That draws out the scorched taste. Oh, don't put the mint jelly in that saucer—use the olive dish. And don't cut those butter squares so thick! Oh, I've got this hooked all wrong!"

Starting back to her mirror, Helen paused in the dining-room for a final survey of the table. There, against the side-board, Warren had left the carpet-sweeper!

Exasperated at his carelessness she thrust it into the pantry and was darting back to her room when the bell rang.

"Dear, are you dressed?" rushing to his door. "Can you receive them?"

"Wonder you wouldn't be ready for once," jerking on his dinner coat. "Always start some fool job the last minute. Got all week to get ready—yet you're puttin' up curtains when you ought to be dressed. Why the Sam Hill don't you—"

When, flushed and self-conscious from her breathless haste, she fluttered out to meet her guests, Mrs. Osgood's cool composure contributed to her discomfort.

And a few minutes later, as they went into the dining room, her confusion was further increased by an overlooked box of tacks on the sideboard.

"What's your reaction, Mrs. Curtis?" Mr. Osgood turned to her. "What do you think he should've done?"

Helen caught her breath. Wondering how she could spirit away the box of tacks, she had not heard what had been said.

"Why, I—I hardly know," she faltered.

"You think he should've published that letter?"

What were they talking about?

"Why, I—" she looked appealingly at Warren.

His eyes were grimly humorous. He knew, but would not help her.

"My lorgnette! The chain's broken," dismayed Mrs. Osgood, as something clanked to the floor.

Eagerly welcoming the interruption Helen stooped to pick it up. What was that under it? She paused, petrified, the blood rushing to her face.

The platinum lorgnette had fallen on a clotted mass of dust! From the carpet-sweeper! Warren, in running the sweeper over the rug, had tipped it, emptying the contents. Fuzz, dust, hair, threads, pins—a repugnant mass!

Her face crimson, Helen picked up the lornetee. Caught by a hair, the whole repulsive snarl came with it!

To longer ignore it was impossible. Mrs. Osgood was staring with undisguised disgust.

"Oh, I—how dreadful!" stammered Helen, trying to sever the abhorrent mass. "It's—it's from the carpet-sweeper. Susie's so careless! She must've turned it over. It always comes out when you do that."

In the awkward pause that followed, Susie entered with the vegetables.

"Susie, get the dust-pan and take this up at once," severely. "It's from the carpet-sweeper—and you didn't notice it."

"Twasn't me that done that. Mr. Curtis came out and got the sweeper just 'fore dinner—I heard him runnin' it in here."

Helen's face grew a deeper crimson. What would the Osgood's think?

"Well, Curtis, you wouldn't get a housemaid's reference after that job," laughed Mr. Osgood.

"Mr. Curtis must be a most accommodating husband. I can't imagine Richard using a carpet-sweeper!"

The supercilious elevation of Mrs. Osgood's eyebrows completed Helen's humiliation. Did she think Warren helped with the housework?

"Startin' to rain," Susie with the mound of dust on the dust-pan, passed at the open window. "Comin' in here. I better put it down.

A scream! A crash!

"Just missed that dish on the sideboard," shrugged Warren.

"I didn't touch it—just came down." Susie was ruefully rubbing her shoulder. "It's the one Mr. Curtis put up."

"Curtis you seem to be getting in wrong tonight," chuckled Mr. Osgood.

"As a general houseworker, guess I'm pretty bum," admitted Warren. "I came home at six to find Helen perched on a ladder, puttin' up those blamed curtains," ignoring her frantic signals. "Do all women start on these last-minute jobs?"

"They'd just come from the laundry—they were promised for yesterday," Helen plunged into profuse explanations.

"Well, what of it? What's the big rush to get 'em up? Eat in here without curtains, couldn't we?"

"Dear, this's a nice way to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Osgood. I don't know what they'll think," Helen was almost in tears.

"That's all right, Mrs. Curtis. We've been married a great deal longer'n you folks, and we've had many things happen at company dinners. Molly, remember that time the plaster fell down in that three room flat?"

But Mrs. Osgood was unresponsive to reminiscences of their early poverty.

Helen did not regain her poise all evening. Even after they returned to the library, where she served coffee and her best bome-made cordinal, she was still painfully self-conscious.

Fortunately, as the Osgoods were starting early in the morning on a week's motor trip, they did not stay late.

"Well, Curtis, you'd better improve on your housework, if you want a reference from me," a final cordial having put Mr. Osgood in a jovial mood.

"Huh, get housemaid's knee doin' all that work—and only ball things up," grinned Warren. "That was a nice mess I dumped out of the carpet-sweeper. Novel dinner diversion!"

"Oh, I wish we could take her along," Mrs. Osgood stooped to pet Pussy Purr-Mew. "You wouldn't give her as a dinner souvenir?"

"I'm afraid not," laughed Helen. "We'll have to make up for our blunders some other way."

"Oh, it COULDN'T have been worse!" she wailed. "EVERYTHING went wrong!"

"What'd you expect? Starin' fool jobs the last minute!" Warren lit a cigar with his most exasperating shrug. "Darned more important for you not to be all flustered, than to have those curtains up. So fussed you pulled that break at the table—didn't know what they were talking about."

"Oh, that awful mess from the carpet-sweeper! Her lorgnette fell right on it! How could you've spilled that without seeing it? And the way you put up that rod—just laid it on those two tacks! I told you—"

"That's right, go ahead, blame it all on me! Make me the goat! What 'bout you? Not a darned thing to do—yet you're never ready when we've anybody to dinner. Always leave everything till the last minute! Why in thunder don't you begin in time?"

Then, with a dismissing shrug.

"But what in blazes do we care? Give 'em something to talk about. Bring on your next party—we'll treat 'em to a wet mop centerpiece and dust-rag napkins!"

Oil Men from Foreign Lands to Meet in Tulsa

By The Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla.—Leading oil operators of Germany, France, Rumania, Mexico, Venezuela, Chile, Uruguay and England will participate in the second annual International Petroleum Exposition, to be held here commencing October 2.

Exposition grounds are already covered with structures resembling a miniature city. There will be 16 exposition buildings. "Queen Petrolia" will be chosen at the exposition from among the winners of the various oil state beauty contests.

All the latest type implements of the industry will be shown, including American and foreign made machinery and tools. Experts will demonstrate the development of oil from the crude state to the finished products, employing a miniature refinery and a model field with drills and pumps, actually working.

Women Out to Demand Recognition as Barbers

INDIANAPOLIS.—The outstanding question to confront delegates to the convention of the Journeymen Barbers' International union when they assemble here September 9 is—Shall women be admitted to the ranks?

For 15 years women have sought to become members, according to Jacob Fischer, secretary, but the vote has always been against them. But with women customers flocking into the shops for bobs, union officials admit that a decision will be more difficult at this convention.

Locust Plague in Germany Used as Source of Oil

BOCHOLT, Germany.—A plague of locusts has brought a new industry to this region where the insects have been gathered by the ton and oil extracted from their bodies. The locusts came over the frontier from Holland, by countless billions, and were caught by women and boys with great baskets.

The oil is intended for airplane motors and is said to be particularly adaptable for winter flying because it does not congeal in low temperatures. Good, fat locusts retailed at about one-fourth of a cent a pound. After the insects passed through the oil extraction process the refuse was used as fertilizer.

Community of Interest to Advantage of All

Communities are usually judged by the quality of their public utilities. When these are all run down, or when they are the subject of bitter attacks on the part of notoriety seekers, so that their normal development is hampered, the communities suffer. Few manufacturers, for instance, care to locate in a town where there is marked hostility that may some time cripple the service they must depend upon.

Generally speaking, the utilities themselves have recognized the fact that the public is entitled to the best of service and that it should have knowledge of whatever affects this service. As a result, the public all over the country is learning to work with these utilities toward community betterment.

With this growing sense of co-operation, most people realize that the infliction of unnecessary costs upon a utility makes that utility's service cost more to the consumer. Time was when the public conscience consented generally to increasing the expenses of gas companies. Now most of the consumers realize the increased cost comes from them as much as from the company, and that the gas rate must cover all such items as lost gas as well as all used gas.

This development of the community of interest between the customers and the utilities must work out to the advantage of the consumer. We are happy in the co-operation and good will of the many thousands for whom we produce natural gas.

FEDERAL-KNIGHT TRUCK LATEST ACHIEVEMENT

Speedy Delivery Car Wins Laurels In Present Use

The wonderful development of the motor truck industry has brought about many conveniences and economies in the transportation of merchandise.

Motor vehicles are now used on short hauls by 157 railroads. This is an increase of about 300 per cent in one year, according to figures published by the national automobile chamber of commerce.

The post office department at Washington, D. C., employs 4,434 motor trucks, and one large manufacturing concern now has a fleet of more than 12,000 trucks of various sizes.

Trucks Offer Possibilities.

In an interview with M. L. Pulcher, president of the Federal Motor Truck company of Detroit, he stated his belief that "the potential truck market offers a field of great opportunity. Every man in business today is looking for the most economical transportation possibilities, and the motor truck is the answer to this problem.

"As the motor truck industry continues to develop new uses for trucks will be discovered," Mr. Pulcher said. "New types of bodies will be developed, which will enable every merchant, in every line of business, to extend the limits of his delivery system and increase his profits while lowering his delivery costs and reducing his prices to the consumers.

"In support of this belief, Federal has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in anticipating the needs of truck users. The latest addition is the Federal line of motor trucks in the new Federal-Knight, which has been enthusiastically received and loudly praised by users in every conceivable vocation from farmer to manufacturer.

Great Achievement.

"This new Federal is everywhere regarded as the greatest achievement in the Federal career of 15 years in building motor trucks exclusively. It is a light weight speedy delivery truck of from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds capacity, which exactly meets the needs of 30 per cent market which exists today for trucks of a capacity of one ton and under. It is powered by the world famous Willys-Knight motor, the only motor in the world that actually improves with use, growing quieter, smoother and more powerful mile after mile and season after season.

"The design of this motor is such that it will stand strains and take more punishment over a long period of service than any other type of motor built. It is most economical in gasoline and oil consumption, and amazingly free from any necessity of engine repairs and adjustment.

"Because man's transportation problem is different, the determination of the right size and capacity of truck to use is a vital matter, and to aid truck users in finding a proper solution to their hauling and delivery problems, we maintain at the Federal plant, in Detroit, a staff of experienced engineers who are always ready to give truck users the benefit of their experience, without obligation."

Turks Agitate Sale Of Caliph's Treasure

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The question of what is to be done with the treasures of the caliph is occupying front page space in all Turkish newspapers. These treasures contain some of the most valuable gems in existence.

One group of papers demands that the treasure be sold at international auction, so that the money may become available for much needed purposes of reconstructing the country and for relieving distress among the abjectly poor.

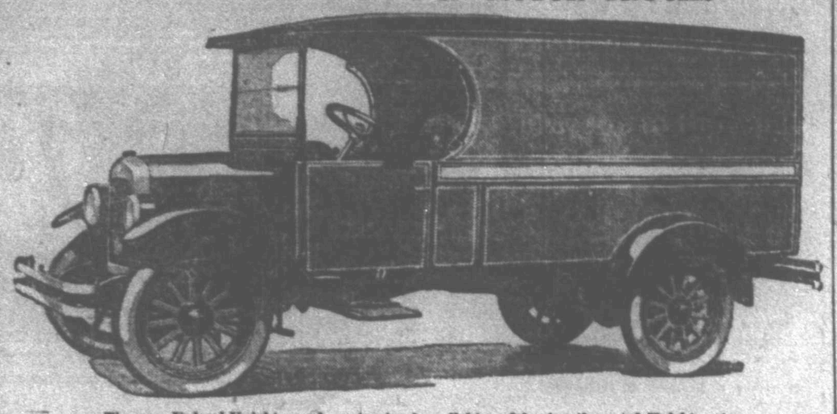

Until 1916 the treasure was kept in the palace of Top-Kapu. After the present regime succeeded to power it was brought to the mosque of Achmed Pasha at Angora. The treasure includes the gems and works of art collected by the sultans and caliphs through centuries. There are necklaces of walnut sized diamonds, medallions of rubies and topas, chains of pearls of priceless value, diadems and crowns of precious stones, goblets and cups of gold and silver, swords and scimitars and pistols set with jewels, and the famous saddles of the sultans and princes, which are studded with diamonds and other precious stones.

T.-O. FAIR TO HAVE BIG SHOW

All Exhibits to Combine To Make Affair One Of Best Ever Held

The Texas-Oklahoma fair, Sept. 29-Oct. 5, will present the best balanced show in its history when the gates are thrown open to the public, according to officials in charge.

The exposition will be a striking index of progress in agriculture and live stock raising which has been made this year. The exhibits of boys' and girls' club work and the work of the women will eclipse those of the two previous expositions.

Many Fine Exhibits

"Visitors will be tremendously impressed with the host of fine exhibits of farm and home work this year," says Secretary R. E. Shepherd. "They will find the fair a score of fairs within a fair, for each department will present a complete little fair in itself. We have been liberal with premiums and prizes, purses and attractions.

"Women and children will find much to interest them in the displays of women's and children's work. Boys and girls enrolled in club work are entering exhibits good enough to win prizes in many of the open classes in competition with seasoned exhibitors. Many mothers will have to excel to beat their daughters when the judges place the awards.

Good Entertainment

"Our entertainment program is the best ever arranged in the southwest. Like the educational exhibits, it is well balanced, with enough variety to please the most exacting patron. Among a few of the high class attractions are running horse racing, auto racing, vaudeville and hippodrome acts, midway shows, fireworks, band music and many other special features."

A crew of workmen is busy getting buildings and grounds into tiptop shape for the opening. Everything will be in readiness by the opening day.

Natives of American Samoa Want Their Status Defined

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa.—The recommendation of Secretary of State Hughes that the sovereignty of the United States be extended over Swain's island was reported here by radio when President Coolidge sent it to the senate. It caused surprise, and raised the question of the status of American Samoa.

Swain's island, known as Olosega to the Samoans, lies north of Samoa. Originally it was a coral atoll and was built up by tche energy of the original settlers and their descendants. Many shiploads of earth have been taken from Samoa to build up the small island and it now is very productive in cocoanuts. Though always connected with Somoa commercially, it had been classed as one of the Tokelau group of islands belonging to Great Britain.

Leaders among the natives of American Somoa say they want a billpassed by congress defining the status of their country in relation to the United States. The chiefs of Tutuila have been asking this for 24 years.

Thus far the islands are known to congress as "the United States naval station, Tutuila." The naval station is at Pago Pago and the country outside, though styled part of the station for some purposes, has nothing to do with it in other respects, and this had led to confusion.

Big Manufacturer Lauds V-Type Construction of Peerless Engine

The confidence of the Peerless Motor Car company in the V-type principle of eight-cylinder construction is strongly emphasized by D. A. Burke, president and general manager in a letter to Stanley W. Smith, president of the Southern California Peerless distribution.

Mr. Burke writes that the Peerless company will continue to build and sell its eight-cylinder car, adhering to the V-type principle, and ever adding refinements and improvements as it has for the last nine years.

"In the evolution of the automobile from the early single-cylinder days," writes Mr. Burke, "the best minds of the industry have devoted more time, thought and skill toward the development of the ideal type of power than to the improvement of any other part of the car's mechanism.

"From the one-cylinder design, manufacturers seeking the highest quality of performance passed through the stages of the two, the four and the six and reached the climax of smoothness, flexibility, efficiency, dependability and all-around satisfactory performance in the V-type eight-cylinder principle.

"Several hundred thousand motor cars powered with V-type eight-cylinder engines have rendered a quality of service unparalleled in the automotive industry. No other type of high quality engine for motor cars has won so great a following of satisfied owners.

"The Peerless Motor Car company was one of the first manufacturers to offer a V-type eight-cylinder car. Nine years of dependable service in the hands of owners have proved the Peerless V-type engine to be smooth in operation, yet powerful, unfailing in efficiency, and exceptionally economical."

SLAYS HUSBAND TO STOP PAIN

Kills Man She Loves When Doctors Say Cancer Incurable

PARIS.—Madame Jean Zyznowski killed for love.

She slew the one human being on earth who loved her, and whom she adored. She shot him in cold blood, but with a heart torn with anguish because she believed that the circumstances gave her a right that was higher than the divine commandment and because thereby she was following another command of Christ: Be merciful.

Zyznowski was a famous Polish artist—a painter. Two years ago he was stricken with cancer of the stomach. Doctors said that the final stages of this disease constitute the most awful form of cancer, the agonies of Zyznowski were indescribable. He was perpetually in pain. He could not eat, drink, move without pain. Suffering was his bedfellow at night as it was his companion during the day.

"One was seized with a desire to turn away, to stop up one's ears, to flee," said the physician in charge.

And through it all, never leaving his bedside, sat the devoted wife—the young and beautiful wife to whom this man writhing in pain represented her all.

In turn he beseeched the nurses the doctors, his wife. They could only turn away, a sob in their throats.

"Thou shalt not kill!"

Finally the doctors announced one more operation. It was to be the final effort for a cure. If it failed, all failed. Zyznowski would die.

The young wife refused to be absent during the operation. She sat through it, every turn of the knife twisting in her own sob-wracked body.

Makes Her Decision.

And when it was over, and the doctors shook their heads, she asked wildly:

"Then will he die? How long? how long?"

They told her that he would live probably a week—perhaps a month.

"And suffer—like that?"

They nodded silently.

She drew a revolver, and, before the startled nurses could stop her, she shot her husband dead.

Even the calloused police refused to arrest her. They put her in a private ward, and there she lies still—an honored prisoner. Flowers heap her room.

Mother Sets Too Fast a Pace For Daughter; Divorce

Special to The Record News.

LOS ANGELES.—Mrs. Sarah E Thornton was not one of those old-fashioned mothers who feared comparison with their blooming young daughters, according to the divorce suit of William R. Thornton.

Mrs. Thornton, her husband declared, without hesitation, displayed her maturer charms in friendly competition with those of her daughter, Irene. They were about together to dances, according to the story of the husband and father, masquerading as sisters, with the result that the mother would bring admirers home with her to "spoon" on the curb at all hours of the night, and that the daughter contracted an undesirable marriage at 14 years of age.

This chummy co-operation between mother and daughter Thornton complained, resulted in the destruction of his home.

BALLOON TIRES FOR MOON CARS

1925 Models Will be Equipped With 20-Inch Disc Wheels

That the Moon Motor Car company adheres rigidly to its high standards of motor car building and equipment is clearly shown by their action in adopting only genuine full size balloon tires, and the small, 20-inch disc wheels, as standard equipment at no extra cost on their full line of 1925 models.

Moon stands four-square on the balloon tire issue, says George H. Kublin, chief engineer for Moon, and although some automobile manufacturers are equipping their 1925 models with semi-balloon tires and the regular, large size wheels, we consider such equipment a compromise and a make-shift which sacrifices both the riding qualities and performance of cars so equipped, says Kublin.

Before adopting full size balloon tires, says Kublin, our engineering department thoroughly tested out both the genuine balloon tire and the semi-balloon tire equipment, subjecting them to hundreds of miles of road service, and we have carefully studied the effect of both types of low pressure tires on the riding qualities, performance and wear on the car itself. By actual tests it was revealed that the semi-balloon tire made riding just a little easier than the old style high pressure tire, and that cars equipped with semi-balloon tires did not perform nearly as well, especially on hills, as those equipped with balloon tires.

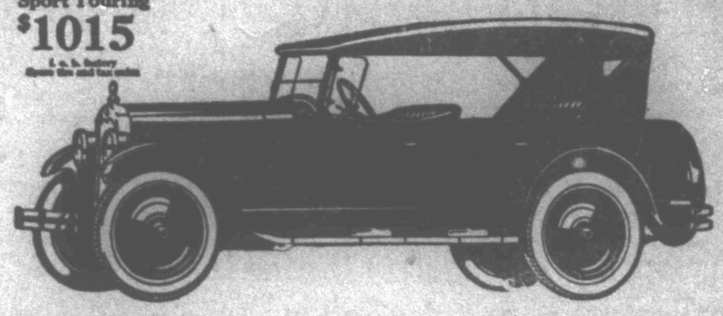

In order for Moon to adopt the genuine balloon tire equipment on its 1925 models, it was necessary for the company to discard thousands of dollars worth of the old style wheels, and thus it will be seen that Moon adheres to its high standards even at a financial sacrifice, and pursues the policy of giving the motoring public what it considers to be the best value and most satisfactory product, regardless of cost.

TIRE DEALERS WILL MEET IN OHIO NOVEMBER

Fifth Annual Convention For National Association To be Held 18, 19, 20

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 6.—The fifth annual convention of the National Tire Realers' association will be held in Akron, Ohio, November 18, 19, and 20. The organization is composed of retail tire merchants from all parts of the United States.

Akron was awarded the fifth convention because it is the largest rubber-manufacturing center in the world and an ideal city for a gathering of tire dealers.

In Akron, 60 per cent of the crude rubber imported into the United States is consumed. Twenty manufacturing companies have a capacity of 100,000 tires per day.

More than 2,000 tire dealers, members of the association, and non-members, from all over the country are expected to attend. The convention will be held in the Armory, which has a seating capacity of 2,500.

The association aims to advance the business interests of tire dealers, and promote co-operative relationship between the manufacturer, the tire dealers, and the buying public.

An interesting program has been planned for the entertainment of the convention guests. Arrangements have been made for trips through the rubber plants, and speeches by high officials in the tire and rubber industry.

Rubber Company Builds Ideal Road

The "ideal section," soon to be built on the Lincoln Highway, is expected to become the most famous piece of highway in the world. The exact location has not yet been chosen, but it has been intimated that the section may be constructed in Indiana not far from Chicago.

"The funds for building the ideal section will be provided by the United States Rubber company," says Roy Craft, of the Wichita Garage, local dealer in United States tires. "The company has always been interested in better roads, and has undertaken this work in order that the world may have a concrete illustration of the ideal type of road to build."

Auto Output Rises 5.3 Pct.

Production of motor vehicles in July was 258,000, according to estimates based on shipping reports to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

This total is 5.3 per cent above June. As production during the past few months has been adjusted to retail conditions, this increase, the first since the decline which started in April, is believed by leaders in the industry to reflect a steady strengthening in the business outlook, in accord with predictions made earlier in the season.

Dodge Slogans Get Attention

"It is increasingly evident that the brief, succinct, and meaty Dodge Brothers slogans now appearing in newspaper all over the country are being favorably received by the motoring public," said Manager Varner McFall Bros. Dodge Brothers dealers for Wichita Falls and vicinity, and commenting upon the many enthusiastic remarks heard from advertising experts and laymen alike on the power and appeal of the cryptic phrases.

"Practically every outstanding characteristic of Dodge Brothers Motor cars has been briefly, but attractively phrased and recalled to the attention of the people of America by this highly effective method," asserts Varner, "and as a natural result, knowledge of the car and its worthiness, already so well-known to the motorists that it appears to lack significance, has been renewed and reawakened to a new appreciation of the many improvements which are constanly being made on the car that has earned so enviable a reputation for modest upkeep and long life."

Engine Speed Record Claimed

STUTTGART.—The highest engine revolution known is alleged to have been reached by a new design of internal spindle grindstone used to grind cylinders. The shaft revolves 80,000 times a minute.

NON-STOP CAR KEEPS ROLLING

Maintaining its steady progress without any further hold-up by boulevard "Dick Turpins," the Willys-Knight nonstop car which started on its new schedule early this month, is fast rolling up new record mileage. At present time it has covered a total of 14,819 miles with an average of 6,062 miles to the gallon of oil. The average mileage is 10.3 miles to the gollon of gasoline.

Old Rules For Safety Driving Are Still in Use

"A dozen years ago motorists were given a general list of 'don'ts as well as a general information booklet, yet in spite of the passage of time many of these are still in effect," asserted Bill Robertson, sales manager for Parmentor Motor Co., distributor here for Star cars. "Some of the urgings which ought to be observed by autoists follows:

"Don't start on a tour without preparation for any and all emergencies. Be sure your car is in good shape and then keep it so.

"Don't map out your tour like a railroad timetable and try to keep the schedule. Map out roughly about where you expect to stop and then make up your mind to go where you please and stop when you feel like it.

"Don't try to make fast time. Take it easy and enjoy the country.

"Don't forget your gasoline. It is better to stop and fill up while you know you have plenty than to run out five miles from any supply station.

"Don't be dissatisfied with the car, or the roads, or the weather, or the hotels. Take things as they come and get the most out of everything.

"Don't hurry. Take plenty fo time for meals. Start at a comfortable time in the morning and stop for the night before you are tired out.

"Don't be inconsiderate of others using the highway. Their appreciation of any little courtesies you may show them and the satisfaction of knowing that you have made friends rather than enemies for your favorite sport will be among the pleasantest memories of your trip.

"Don't openly disregard speed laws and ordinances. Flagrant violation of them may mean arrest, expense and delay, and is sure to cause prejudice against the automobile. There is a tendency on the part of the public toward a liberal interpretation of speed laws and limits which should be fostered by decency rather than discouraged by abuse," Mr. Robertson concluded.

SALES UPLIFT PROGRAM STARTED

Information received from the central office of the Southern California Automotive Dealers revealed the fact that the National Automobile Dealers' Association and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce have a well-developed plan for a national sales development program, starting at Atlantic City on September 22-27, 1924. This sales conference will be conducted in all the principal cities of the United States and will cost approximately $50,000, which amount will be borne by the various automotive organizations throughout the country. The results of this campaign will have a much desired effect on the automotive industry, stated George Bellis, president of the Southern California Association, as the recent period of order-taking did not develop many salesmen and has left the industry with an entirely inadequate force of capable salesmen, both in the sales and service end.

RECORD SALES FOR CHRYSLER

Three Weeks Sales Exceed All Previous Records

Weekly telegrams from all Maxwell-Chrysler district offices indicate that in the three weeks ending August 16, 1924, the sale of Chrysler cars to the public exceeded the record of any other three weeks since the introduction of the Chrysler Six. Retail sales of the Chrysler in August are running 13 per cent ahead of June, despite the fact that June is usually considered one of the best and August one of the poorest selling months of the year.

Dealer stocks have been brought up to normal in the past four months so that the Chrysler factory will now be relieved of the burden of bringing up dealer stocks in the face of an unprecedented retail demand. The great volume of retail business insures steady production at the Chrysler factory for the bulance of the year.

Maxwell sales are not showing the customary August let up.

Retail sales in August as well as in July have been running higher each succeeding week and Maxwell dealer stocks are only six days sales above the low stock figure of a year ago. In the past four months, dealer's stocks have been reduced 50 per cent. This means that increased factory output will be necessary to meet current retail demand.

Four-Wheel Brakes Are Common Now

"During a recent month, thirty-four articles in twenty-six newspapers in nineteen states played a part in rousing the public to a sense of the importance and imminent necessity of adequate brakes," says D. L. Fritz, of Fritz Motor Co., distributor for Rollin automobiles in Wichita Falls.

"These articles, ranging from news of brake inspection movements to editorials, demonstrated that the subject was of vital importance to motorists.

"Now practically all manufacturers are incorporating four-wheel brakes in their cars, or soon will. No more illuminating comment on the superiority of four-wheel brakes can be made than a statement showing the rapid growth of their use.

"When Rollin first made its national debut at the New York show very few cars had four-wheel brakes, and still fewer were showing any great enthusiasm over them.

"The Rollin was the first moderately priced car to standardize on four-wheel brakes and was the first car at any price to incorporate the combination of four-wheel brakes and balloon tires in the original design."

Franklin Beats Best Train Time Dallas-El Paso

A 10-C Franklin sedan carrying 5 passengers and baggage covered the 683 miles between Dallas and El Paso in 18 hours and 9 minutes elapsed time. Running time was 16 hours and 46 minutes, an average of 40.75 miles per hour. This elapsed time performance of the Franklin sedan beats the time of the "Sunshine Special", fastest train on the Texas & Pacific railroad, by 4 hours and 26 minutes.

Sam G. Barnes of Dallas acted as observor on this run, which was started as "dawn to dusk" test. Leaving Dallas at 4:31 a. m., the car covered 603.3 miles to dusk, lights being snapped on at 8:21 p. m. Practically the entire run was made over the Bankhead highway. Among Texas drivers these roads are described as "fairly good." Northern motorists would describe them as "tough going."

This run, said to be one of the most sensational ever staged in Texas, is the latest in the series of remarkable records which have been established by Franklin drivers since the introduction of the Franklin 10-C motor with its 49 per cent increase in power.

A Butte, Mont., driver negotiated a round trip between Butte and Spokane, Wash., 696 miles, in 22 hours and 7 minutes elapsed time, performing the often attempted but never before accomplished feat of making this trip within a period of 24 hours.

An Ohio car, under official observation, covered 140 miles in 2 hours and 58 minutes, an average of 46.8 miles per hour, 32 minutes better than the previous record for the trip.

CHEVROLET PUTS OUT NEW MODELS

Three New De Luxe Cars Soon to be Shown Here

Three new De Luxe models have just been introduced by the Chevrolet Motor company, factory officials in Detroit announce. They are the De Luxe sedan, touring and coupe, and embody the latest improvements and accessories of the automotive industry to increase the comfort and pleasure of motoring. Much attention has been given to beautifying the appearance of the new models and among other innovations is the use of the Duco finish.

For several months past there has been a consistent and steadily growing demand for Chevrolet cars with special fittings. As quickly as this trend appeared, factory officials started to work on the De Luxe models. Research and experimental work tested every accessory before it was selected, and the color experts of the General Motors Corporation, Chevrolet Motor company, Du Pont company, makers of Duco finish, and the Fisher Body company were consulted before the finish of the new cars was decided upon. In fact every factor entering into the makeup of the De Luxe models was thoroughly proven before the company started production on the new styles which now complete the Chevrolet line.

The De Luxe sedan has a double Duco finish in blue with a contrasting red trim. This is further set off by the nickeled radiator, head and cowl lights and aluminum kick plates. This, as are the other two De Luxe models, is equipped with disc wheels, front and rear double-bar bumpers, motor meter, etc.

The De Luxe touring is also finished in Duco in a gray, a deep slate color which harmonizes with the upholstery of a shade lighter tone.

The Coupe has a roomy, two-passenger body finished in the same rich blue as the sedan. Both the coupe and sedan have special deep velour upholstery with Marshall type springs. The upholstery is a gray that harmonizes with the blue finish.

Spring Suspension That Cuts Out Side-Sway

The Brougham

Combine the Chrysler Six new spring suspension with the special six-ply high speed balloon tires, standard on all models, and you have an unequalled degree of comfort in riding. Other features that help set the Chrysler Six apart are the utter lack of a vibration period at any speed, the ability of the motor, although only 3-inch bore by 4½-inch stroke to deliver 68 horsepower, a speed capacity better than 70 miles an hour, gasoline economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon and an alertness that enables you to shoot from 5 miles an hour to 50 in less than 19 seconds.

The Chrysler Six — Pronounced as though spelled Cris-a-lor

Results never before known, which you can count on the Chrysler Six delivering, bear upon every phase of performance. None of these surprising accomplishments is more remarkable, or more acceptable, than the elimination of side-sway.

This is due to the adoption of an entirely new practice in spring suspension. In the Chrysler Six the rear springs are mounted at right angles to the axle, close to and parallel to the rear wheels—instead of at an angle to conform to the taper of the frame.

As soon as you can, take a ride in the Chrysler Six. Try it out on a turn and note how securely it takes it, without the slightest suggestion of disagreeable or alarming side-sway. And while you are in the car, try it out also on a cobbled street or rutted road. You'll find you can ride in comfort at 60 miles an hour.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan

ORDERS PUSH AUTO SUPPLY

Oldsmobile Distributors Unable to Keep Up With Business

New models always attract much attention, but in the opinion of M. T. Birch, manager for Birch & Gates, Oldsmobile distributors in Wichita Falls, few have in the past proved as popular as the new Olds cars recently placed on display at the showrooms of the local distributing organization. Mr. Birch points out that actual orders total more than three times the dealer allotment and production schedule set for August.

"This is not only the case locally, but everywhere throughout the United States, according to a communication just received from the factory," he continued yesterday. "These orders, supplemented by earnest pleas for more cars have resulted in the factory speeding production as rapidly as possible without sacrifice of quality in an effort to keep pace with the demand.

"As a consequence we are able to make deliveries in a reasonably short time after orders are given by purchasers.

"Advices reaching the factory from central distributing points have without exception reported large crowds on the opening day and since to view the Oldsmobile in its new Duco finished costume. Much favorable comment was reported, particularly on the new radiator lines, the Duco finish on all models and the use of beautiful and striking colors, either a rich blue or a weathered bronze green, on all lines."

Gold Service Pins Awarded To Old Timers

Twenty men who have served in the Pierce-Arrow organization continuously for twenty-one years or more were decorated with gold service pins by President Myron E. Forbes last week at a big factory celebration held in honor of the debut of Pierce-Arrow's new moderately priced car, the "Series 80."

According to word received here by Wm. Lampe for Wichita Falls, Pierce-Arrow distributors, several thousand Pierce-Arrow employees joined in the celebration, journeying to a beach near Buffalo, N. Y., where they witnessed an interesting industrial pageant which traced the history of the Pierce-Arrow company from the early day when bird cages, refrigerators, velocipedes and bicycles were the company's products. In the procession was the first car built by Pierce-Arrow, the little one-cylinder Motorette of 1901, and also present-day products, including a line of motor trucks, the modern Pierce-Arrow six-cylinder coach, the big dual-valve six and two of the new "Series 80" cars.

In presenting the service medals to veteran employees, President Forbes said he was inaugurating what would be an annual custom, for there are many Pierce-Arrow workmen whose terms of service are approaching the twenty-five year mark, and who have all contributed their skill to the perfection of the new "Series 80" Pierce-Arrow models.

Durant and Star Cars Take Vets To Movie Ball

A fleet of Durant and Star cars was furnished by the Walter M. Brown Motors, Inc., of Los Angeles, to transport a number of disabled war veterans from the Figueroa street Hut to the Ambassador Hotel and return for the Greater Movie Season ball last Wednesday evening. Walter M. Brown and officials of the concern bearing his name have always made it a policy to aid the veterans by furnishing them transportation whenever necessary. Yesterday Mr. Brown received a letter from the "vets" thanking him for the use of the Stars and Durants for the occasion, stating they appreciated the assistance he had rendered.

WOMAN, 95, PROUD OF "INDEPENDENCE"

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON. — The Mexican war of the late forties is still a very vital matter to Mrs. Mary Fastnaught.

Because her husband, then a young German boy just arrived in the United States, went out under the American flag to fight in this war. Mrs. Fastnaught, who recently celebrated her 95th birthday, receives a pension check for $30 every month.

"These checks are sufficient for an old lady like me," who has never been out of Columbia, to live on," Mrs. Fastnaught says.

Although she lives with one of her sons and one of her daughters, the $30 every government pay day makes her, as she calls it, "an independent woman."

Effective Way to Preserve Butts of Telegraph Poles

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM. — An ingenious method to save telegraph poles from rotting has been successfully tried here. Before being planted, the poles are drilled longitudinously with a small center hole, and then the opening at the bottom is plugged. This hole runs to a point about one foot above ground when the mast has been set up. The pole erected, a small side hole is drilled aslant one foot above ground to meet the center hole. Creosote oil is poured in the center hole and the outside opening closed. Linemen refill from time to time.

Road Hogs Make Motoring Dangerous And Provide Unpleasant Thrill For Pedestrians; Many Fatalities Result

Ostracism of the road hogs and personal responsibility are the two factors which can materially reduce the motor death rate in the next three months, in the opinion of the National Automobile chamber of commerce, based on the report of the traffic mortalities for July, 1924.

It is estimated that 9500 lives have been lost on the highways this year, chiefly in preventable accidents.

Analysis of 9131 fatal and non-fatal accidents in Oregon by Sam A. Koser, secretary of state, indicates that 1381 were due to road hoggishness or failure to give right of way. Sixty per cent of all accidents in this state were due to carelessness on the part of operators or drivers.

Banks on Public

As public opinion is the untimate controling force, the National Automobile chamber of commerce sees one of the chief remedies for the situation in the development of a public opinion which will ostracize the road hog with the same thoroughness with which it treats the boor elsewhere.

That will take care of the other fellow. Obersvation of one's own conduct, that is personal responsibility, will go far toward eliminating all the preventable accidents.

As we are at the peak of the touring season and nearing the time when schools open, the chamber emphasizes that the need for personal responsibility on the part of every driver is particularly pressing now. It estimates that a widespread effort on the part of everyone for a three months' period would save 3000 lives, or the bulk of the preventable disasters.

San Francisco's Record

July, though registering some improvement over June, did not show that sharp curtailment which is needful if the grand total of fatalities in 1924 is to be lower than the mark in 1923.

In Massachusetts the total was 71 in July, as compared with 58 in June. The 1923 July total, however, was 72.

Cleveland, St. Louis, Buffalo and San Francisco registered improvement in July over the preceding month.

San Francisco's record is perhaps the most encouraging in the country, as it shows a reduction in the motor fatalities for the frist seven months of this year, with a total of 49, compared with 57 for the same period in 1923 and 70 in 1922.

OLDS OPENS UP VERNON BRANCH

L. B. Hubbard Manager Of New Office; Shipment Of Cars Here

This week marked the opening in Vernon of a branch house of Birch & Gates Oldsmobile distributors, under the management of L. B. Hubbard, formerly of the local sales staff. Commodious quarters in the new Howard building on North Main street, diagonally across from the Ford agency, has been fitted up as a complete sales and service unit for the convenience of present and prospective Oldsmobile owners in the Crowell, Vernon, Chillicothe territory.

A factory shipment of Oldsmobile cars, including one of the new de luxe sedan type, sport car of the enclosed models, is expected early in the week by the local dealers. Reports from the Dallas branch of the Olds Motor works indicate a brisk movement of cars to Texas points although the factory at Lansing is approximately 12,500 orders behind with deliveries.

Blanton Returns.

One of the week's returning vacationists to report indications of unusual prosperity in Texas points is O. C. Blanton, who with his family recently completed a circle tour to the south plains country. From Seymour and to the west, cotton looks as though a record yield might be obtained, according to Mr. Blanton. "We had opportunity to study conditions at close range as we camped along the roadside or wherever we wished to stop, having arranged the interior of our Oldsmobile sedan for such purpose."

Paul H. Zink and family of Iowa Park have returned from a vacation to the Gunnison river section of Colorado, having completed a 3,500-mile trip in their Oldsmobile sedan, including numerous side trips to scenic portions of the Rockies.

200 Locomotives Scrapped

HAGENAU, Alsace.—A "boneyard" of 200 heavy duty locomotives of the latest type has been installed here by French authorities. These engines, delivered by Germany to France on account of the Versailles treaty, can be run only on Alsatian roads, built by the Germans, because French superstructures are not strong enough to stand the Teuton strain. To handle the traffic in Alsace only a score of them were needed.

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

In addition to the above, according to Mr. Warren of the Highway Garage, millions of pounds of chemical ingredients, tons of steel, thousands of tons of coal, millions of gallons of water, millions of kilowatts of power and thousands of employes incidental thereto, were required to furnish the materials used.

"Watch Ford" Is Automotive Industry Motto

Reports of improving conditions in the automotive industry received from Detroit this week by Claude Redd, sales manager, Ford and Lincoln dealer, show the undeniable influence of the great Ford organization. "Whenever there is an indication of any fireworks in the industry," said Redd, "nearly everybody sits back for the minute until they find what Ford is going to do."

New Willys-Knight Attachment Eliminates All Motor Vibration

Overland Company Gets Rights on European Invention

Complete elimination of the annoyance of all motor vibration in its Willys-Knight models is said to be achieved by Willys-Overland by the addition of the Lanchester balancer, a new British invention, as standard equipment, in all future production. Cars equipped with this device are now ready for demonstration at all local dealers.

This remarkable device, which has been the sensation of European motoring circles for the last [illegible] has been used with phenomenal success on the other side of the Atlantic by leading motor-car builders.

Willys-Overland has been able to obtain the American rights to the balancer by special arrangements with its inventor, Dr. F. W. Lanchester, F. R. S., a British engineer of outstanding genius.

In Early Days

Ever since the first days of the multiple cylinder motor car, automotive engineers have endeavored to conquer vibration. In the beginning, when the multiple cyliner car had replaced the old one and two-lungers, the vibration in the engine passed almost unnoticed. The transition from one improvement in the engine passed almost unnoticed. The transition from one improvement in itself, that the latter type of engine was regarded as approximating perfection. It was the introduction of the closed car that necessitated greater refinement in the engine.

The Lanchester balancer is based on purely scientific deduction with reference to the causes of vibration in a motor, and is applied in such a manner as to counteract this vibration at all speeds. It is a simple corrective device of small gears attached to the center main bearing of the motor, driven in opposite directions by a third and larger gear at twice engine speed. The third gear is part of the crankshaft. This rotation of the smaller gears, which are drilled in order to distribute their weight unevently, gives equivalent, though opposite movement to the mass of the pistons neutralizing the vibration which these set up.

This device was first tested by Dr. Lanchester in the cars which bear his name. Results were remarkable, but not long after this factory turned over its entire capacity to the production of engines and airplanes. After the war, the Daimler company, builders of Knight motored cars in England, adopted the balancer. At the present time all Vauxhall cars are also equipped with this mechanism.

General Tire Factory to Have Larger Quarters Says Akron Announcement

AKRON, O., Sept. 6.—The General Tire and Rubber company, Akron, Ohio, has begun the construction of three additional wings ot its factory, in the hope that the work will be concluded in time to augment tire production within a few months. Just a year ago General added three factory wings to take care of the growth of the demand for General tires, and a month ago a new power house was placed in operation. Orders have increased so steadily, however, that it has been found impossible to take care of present business and future growth without still greater production hence the new work that is now being started.

The additions will increase the factory's capacity about 50 per cent. One new unit will be a mill room, another three-story wing will include a tire room. The third will be a saw-tooth wing to take care of other operations. While this factor work is going on the company will also take steps to enlarge its general office. The cost of the improvements will be about a third of a million dollars.

SAN ANTONIO.—Three bridges to be built within city limits at cost of $100,000.

Something That Money Won't Buy

After your dealer delivers your car, he has fulfilled his part of the "dollar and cents" obligation to you—all the service that follows costs money. But there's something that comes with your car which cannot be divorced—it isn't on the bill of sale—it isn't what you would call a visible asset, but it's there just the same.

That thing is the dealer's interest in that car. He is proud of the fact that you chose his car—he wants to see you get more than you expect from that car. He maintains a staff of expert mechanics and technicians that your pleasure will not be stinted. Most owners grow away from the dealer who sold them the car—most owners make a serious mistake in doing so.

For after all is said ano done, the dealer is the only man who is really interested in YOUR CAR—and not your pocketbook. Drive around tomorrow and let your own dealer help you get the mileage out of the car that the factory put in.

WEDNESDAY IS THE TENTH!

You don't need a "Stake" to be successful and to have those things which make life worth while — but you do need a good credit rating. A reputation for meeting your obligations promptly — help yourself, help merchant and help your city—Wednesday is the tenth of the month and the time to PAY YOUR AUGUST BILLS!

Credit Cannot Be Purchased

Credit is a courtesy—a convenience extended by business firms to their clients. It cannot be demanded—there is no law governing the extension of credit. It is entirely up to the merchant's discretion.

Shopping is made easiest—more pleasant when purchases may be charged. There is a certain amount of self pride to be permitted to say "charge it."

Credit is the axle upon which the wheels of commerce revolve. Prompt payment is the lubricant that permits those wheels to revolve smoothly—without friction.

"Poor Pay" Usually Raises a Lot of Noise

When credit is denied him or when his credit is stopped. Certainly all merchants want business from all who promptly care for their obligations—and in many instances a merchant will go to the poor-pay endurance before he stops credit.

If a man whose credit has been stopped will study the matter he will invariably find that he was at fault—not the merchant.

PAY YOUR BILLS PROMPTLY AND YOUR ACCOUNT WILL BE WELCOMED.

ALLOW YOUR BILLS TO DRAG ALONG FOR MONTHS AND YOUR CREDIT WILL BE STOPPED.
