Rangers Win Bi-District; Enter State Tourney Boy Scouts To Conduct Tree Selling Campaign During Next Week

CHINESE ELMS WILL BE SOLD AT COST; ENCOURAGE TREE PLANTING

OFFER IS LIMITED TO TWO HUNDRED TREES FURNISHED BY LUBBOCK EXPERIMENT STATION FOR DISTRIBUTION IN THIS COMMUNITY

A movement was started recently to encourage the planting of more trees in Perryton and this community and arrangements were made with the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, Lubbock, to supply two hundred Chinese Elms at cost, to be furnished to home owners in this vicinity. The local Boy Scouts will sell the trees.

The trees have been secured through the county agent's office G. R. Sheets, who will supervise the distribution of the trees. A tree selling campaign is to be started by the local Scouts this week and will continue on into next week until the two hundred trees are disposed of. This offer is good for rural as well as city home owners and anyone interested should get in touch with the Scouts or with the county agent.

According to a letter from D. L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station, one hundred, four to five foot Chinese Elms will be supplied at fifty cents and one hundred, eight to ten foot trees will be supplied at one dollar and fifty cents. To this actual cost, the express will be added, which should not amount to more than from five to ten cents a tree.

The trees have been ordered out by Mr. Sheets and will probably arrive here next week end. These trees will be cared for by the county agent until called for.

The Boy Scouts are also offering to set the trees out for the buyers at a very small charge, should they so desire. All of the tree planting done by the Scouts will be under the supervision of Mr. Sheets.

PAVING ELECTION IS SOON

CITY TO VOTE $18,000 BOND ISSUE TO PAVE STREETS OF CITY, TUESDAY MARCH 19

One of the greatest forward strides the City of Perryton has made since its founding, less than ten years ago, will be undertaken Tuesday, March 19, when the city property tax payers go to the polls to vote on the proposition of issuing $48,000 worth of street improvement bonds, this amount to be used in the paving of fourteen and a half blocks of city streets.

Very little opposition to the movement made by the city council has been heard and it is expected that the election will carry by a large majority, but the city aldermen are anxious that a full vote turn out for the election in order to know the wishes of the citizens of the city on the proposition.

City paving in Perryton is absolutely necessary if the city is to keep pace with other progressive towns of the Panhandle. Follett let contracts for the paving of six blocks, Wednesday. Spearman has fifteen blocks of paving completed. Texhoma, Okla., has four blocks completed and is planning extensions. Hooker, Okla., is paving five blocks and has twelve more blocks under consideration. Dalhart has completed seventy-seven blocks and is planning on extensions. Higgins is also considering a paving program.

All of the fourteen and a half blocks of paving proposed by the city council are on Main street and the side streets adjoining Main street. None of the paving to be done is to extend into the residence sections of the city.

With the condition of Main street and the other city streets for the past six months, there can be little doubt in the minds of the voters as to whether or not the paving is needed and it is expected that the election will carry by an easy majority.

"SALLY'S SHOULDERS" COMES TO SCREEN HERE

Long awaited by many thousands of readers who followed the intriguing developments of "Sally's Shoulders" when it appeared recently as a newspaper serial, FBO's screen production of Beatrice Burton's story, with Lois Wilson in the leading role, is coming to the American Theatre on Monday for a run of two days.

Correll Home Completed

Judge R. T. Correll and Family Move Into Beautiful New Home Last Week

Judge and Mrs. R. T. Correll and family moved into their beautiful new home, which has been built for them under the direction of Ed Birt, last week. This house is one of the very finest in Perryton and has been planned with the word "home" uppermost in the minds of the owners and the builder.

The exterior walls are of brick, the facing being a red texture brick. In addition to the four bed rooms, the main floor of the residence has a large living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room and bath. The basement has eight large rooms which are finished. In the basement is a large curio room and the masters den. The entire house is heated with a modern steam plant.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shupe and sons visited Sunday with friends in Liberal, Kansas.

CITY ELECTION ON APRIL 2ND

MAYOR, TWO ALDERMEN, CITY CLERK AND ATTORNEY TO BE ELECTED AT REGULAR ELECTION

The regular election for the City of Perryton will be held on Tuesday, April 2, at which time a Mayor, two aldermen, city clerk and city attorney will be chosen. C. E. McLarty will be presiding officer of the election.

Officers whose terms expire are F. P. Rogers, mayor; M. R. Coffee and Clyde Cofer, aldermen; J. C. Beever, clerk; and J. W. Payne, city attorney. The office of city marshal, which heretofore has been elective, was abolished at a recent meeting of the city council.

There is very little talk concerning the election. The present city officials are very efficient and the majority of them will probably be returned to office, provided that they see fit to enter the race. Aldermen Jno. N. Stump, J. W. Richardson and W. C. Bryan are the other members of the council but they have one more year to serve.

J. W. Richardson and son, V. W. left Wednesday morning with Coach E. E. Shupe and the Rangers for College Station where the state tournament will be held Friday and Saturday.

PERRYTON SHOULD HAVE COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Election time for city officials of Perryton is near at hand and the question of a city manager or commission form of government is talked of again. To our minds the commission form or at least the city manager plan is the only practical, economical business like method of conducting the affairs of the city.

Our present city council is composed of the very highest type of business men in the city but they do not receive enough compensation to give enough of their time to looking after the business and interests of the city. Perryton is a million dollar corporation. We have city owned property valued at several hundred thousands dollars. Thousands of dollars are expended annually by the city of Perryton. Yet we are hiring five aldermen and a mayor, whose total salary for a year will not exceed $500.00 to administer our business.

It is not just the right method. We need a city manager. A man who will devote his entire time to the city's business. We are sure that thousands of dollars could be saved annually under this method. Other cities have tried this system and are satisfied. Why not Perryton?

STYLE SHOW IS SEEN BY MANY

CROWD PACKS AMERICAN THEATRE TO SEE EDWARDS' TOGGERY STYLE EXHIBIT

A capacity house filled the American Theatre, Wednesday night, to view the style show staged by the Edwards' Toggery, which followed the regular motion picture attraction, between the first and second shows.

The revue went off in perfect order and the beautiful creations exhibit on the live models showed the correct styles in coats, dresses, evening gowns, and millinery for the coming season. One of the special attractions of the revue was modeling of children's apparel by a number of little tots who performed exceptionally well.

Roland Shearer, Follett, spent the week-end visiting with home folks.

Legion Banquet Mar. 15

Will Celebrate Tenth Anniversary of Founding of Legion With Big Banquet

The Pierce Johnson Post of the American Legion will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the founding of the American Legion with a banquet in Perryton on Friday evening, March 15. All members of the Legion, their wives and sweethearts and the members of the Auxiliary are invited to attend.

It was planned to hold a public meeting on this date but owing to the fact that the speaker from out of town that were desired could not come, it was decided to have the banquet only for the members.

Mrs. A. C. Witt is a patient in the Brewer-Caylor hospital. She has been quite ill several days with complications following the flu.

Joe Bockman, Roswell, New Mexico, is visiting with friends in Perryton this week.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH AT GRAY

LITTLE SON OF MR. AND MRS. CARL MEIGS BURNED TO CRISP WHEN FARM HOME BURNS

Roy Laverne, little three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meigs of near Gray was burned to death late Wednesday afternoon when the Meigs farm home was destroyed by fire. The flames started from an explosion of kerosene which was being used in starting a fire.

Mary Louise, age 6, a sister, suffered severe burns when the explosion occurred. She dashed from the house a flaming human torch but Mrs. Meigs followed and succeeded in putting out the flames which enveloped the little girl.

Mr. Meigs and a neighbor were working about a half mile distant and they rushed to the house when they saw that it was afire. Mr. Meigs made several trips into the burning home in a vain effort to find the baby boy and had to be pulled from the house the last time overcome with smoke. The house and contents was a total loss.

Other children are Charley, age 12; Carl John, age 10; Billie age 4. The remains were brought to the Wilson Funeral Home in this city where they were prepared for burial which will be in the Gray cemetery. Services will be held at the Gray church at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

DEFEAT WILSON HIGH IN THREE GAME SERIES ON LUBBOCK COURT

RANGERS TO ENTER STATE TOURNAMENT AT COLLEGE STATION COMPETING WITH FOURTEEN BI-DISTRICT HIGH TITLE HOLDERS

The Perryton Rangers earned a trip to College Station this week end when they defeated Wilson, champions of District 2, in two games out of three, played last Thursday and Friday nights in the Texas Tech gymnasium at Lubbock, becoming bi-district title holders of District 1 and 2. The Rangers won the District 1 championship at the Canyon tournament.

The state tournament will be held Friday and Saturday at College Station. The fourteen bi-district champions in the state will take part in the event.

The Rangers won the first game of the series Thursday night, defeating Wilson 25 to 9.

On Friday night, Perryton suffered a slump in the first game, and Wilson flashed a brilliant attack, winning 27 to 22. The teams then rested an hour before the deciding game started.

Then the Rangers, led by Peery, one of the greatest forwards ever seen in this section, hit their stride again and, although their opponents displayed a stellar brand of basket ball, swept to an impressive 28 to 13 victory, winning the bi-district title. It was by far the greatest game of the series.

STATE TO TAKE OVER HIGHWAY

GILCHRIST IS AUTHORIZED TO LOOK AFTER HIGHWAY PLANS OF STATE
 NO. 117

(From Amarillo News)
 Borger, March 3.—Gibb Gilchrist, state engineer of Texas, has been authorized by the state highway commission to take over highway 117 in Hutchinson county, from the Carson county line to Stinnett, "if and when he shall conclude that said highway is on proper location and is in condition to be taken over for maintenance."

At the same time the commission authorized the engineer to make an estimate of the cost of building a state road connecting Stinnett, county seat of Hutchinson county, with Perryton, county seat of Ochiltree county.

This action means that state highway 117 will be designated as a state road all the way from Panhandle to Perryton, in Ochiltree county, a total distance of approximately 110 miles.

Twenty-three miles of the road is now paved and fourteen more will be paved this spring.

Designation of the road by the state highway department carries with it an order to prepare plans for the constructing of a durable type of road between Stinnett and Perryton. This is a distance of more than 70 miles.

The connected system will join three, possibly four county seats, Panhandle of Carson county, Stinnett of Hutchinson county, and Perryton of Ochiltree county.

Hansford county is to have a county seat election soon and the town chosen probably will be on the new highway. Hansford, present county seat, Gruver, new town in the center of the county, and Spearman, the largest town, all are contenders for the honor.

Under the agreement of designation, Hutchinson county will agree to furnish half of the cost of the construction of the road between Stinnett and the Hansford county line. This road has been graded up by Hutchinson county and is in good condition as far as the Hansford county line.

Between the Hutchinson-Hansford county line into Spearman the road is a state road, designated and in good shape. Also the road between Spearman and Perryton.

Hansford county has also begun construction of a road into Gruver connecting Gruver with Stinnett and joined on the south by a Hutchinson county road from the Stinnett-Spearman road.

Gruver also has other road connections with Spearman and Perryton. This gives the new town good transportation facilities.

LEGION AFFORDS HAPPY ASSOCIATION OF MEN SERVING IN WORLD WAR

"A comradeship of men who have memories of squads right, submarine-infected seas, and trenches of France, are enjoyments of men who belong to the American Legion," said a member of Pierce Johnson Post today.

"By paying dues and taking part in the Legion, a veteran engages in great national projects of service. The Legion works for relief of disabled comrades, their dependents, and orphaned children of veterans. The Legion, through a great network of ten thousand posts, is engaged in the promotion of national defense, aviation, a safety campaign, a junior baseball world series, emergency relief, community service, and scores of worthwhile projects. The Legion stands in the front line trench of every field where the interest of World War veterans is at stake.

"The Legionnaire receives free upon payment of his dues to the organization. The American Legion Monthly. This magazine the product of one of the largest publishing plants in the world, is well illustrated. It commands the writings of leading authors. It is one of the most quoted magazines in the country. It is a delightful visitor to every man who shares the common memories of World War Service.

"Membership in the Legion, in most communities, entitles the veteran to club privileges as many posts own their homes. Whenever a veteran travels over the United States and foreign countries, he finds fellow Legionnaires. They are friendly and need no instruction beyond a Legion membership card.

"The Legion is democratic. Its meetings afford a forum for self-expression. In the Legion there is no rank. Millionaires associate with men of the most moderate circumstances, many life-long business associations are formed through Legion acquaintanceship. The fraternal affiliation of the Legion is strengthened a thousand times by memories of World War days. Legion posts enjoy assistance and companionship of the American Legion Auxiliary, consisting of approximately three hundred thousand patriotic women. Legion membership carries the privilege of joining the 'Forty & Eight', the play and honor society of the Legion.

"There are deeper benefits derived from membership in the Legion. The veteran soon falls into the swing of things. He soon catches the spirit. He begins to ask 'What can I do to help?' The men of the Legion serve in peace as they did in war."

BAPTISM AND THE LORD'S SUPPER

Matthew 28: 19, 20; I Corinthians 11: 23-29

Samuel D. Price, D. D., Associate General Secretary of the World's Sunday School Association

The two sacraments in the Christian Church are named in the title. The dictionary defines "sacrament" as an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace, instituted by Jesus Christ. To the Roman soldiers the word meant an oath or pledge, that was taken especially when about to go forth for war on a mission for his country. The Scripture portions, aside from those named above, for intimate study are Matthew 3: 13-17; Acts 1: 38-41; Romans 6: 1-14. Then it is recommended that you turn to the word in both a general and Bible dictionary.

Baptism is introduced by John the Baptist during his preaching in the wilderness. He taught that people who became penitent because of their sins and purposed to live a different life should give public testimony thereto as they received the rite of Baptism, which would signify this inward working of grace. The Old Testament has many references to the use of water in symbolic cleansing. Jesus, coming from Nazareth, sought this Baptism, not that He had committed any sin, but that He might thus formally take our law place before Jehovah.

When the Risen Lord gave His great commission He instructed the apostles, and their followers, to go everywhere, proclaim repentance from sin through the Crucified One and then direct the converts to register the consciousness of the change of heart and their purpose after new obedience in this rite of Baptism.

The Lord's Supper was instituted just after the observance of the Jewish Passover in the upper room in Jerusalem. Unleavened bread was used as a symbol and also the cup, concerning which He said in invitation, "Drink ye all of it." The rich meaning is set forth by Paul in the passage from I Corinthians. This Scripture is used by every Christian minister as he celebrates this Sacrament. The symbolism brings to mind the body and blood of Jesus Christ, which were given in sacrifice on the cross. The minister will break a piece of the bread and pour the grape juice during the service. Prayer is offered repeatedly, and particularly in setting these elements apart for this holy use. A very helpful book to give to any first communicant is "Communion to the Communion," by Rev. Charles R. Erdman, D. D.

This Memorial Supper has also a promise and links between the Ascension and the Second Advent, which is a truth to be believed by all Christians and not only by those who especially emphasize the Return of our Lord. Another name for this Supper is Eucharist. This means "giving of thanks." Solemnity of course inheres in such a memorial and pledge, but it should also be rich with joy because of the blessings that have been made possible. In the service the believer accepts what has been done for him and likewise pledges renewed and full obedience to his Savior.

HIGH COST OF CHEAP SCHOOLS

Experience has shown that the cheapest article may prove the dearest in the end and so quality has become the slogan of reputable business and industry. Our schools have undergone the same experience and adapted the same slogan. A piece of bad merchandise can be replaced by a better; an inferior educational training, however, may bring permanent injury. Fortunately, quality has begun to assume value as it relates to our schools. The sign is in the lengthening term of service given to superintendents and teachers. This is due to a realization by boards of education that it is expensive to lose a strong superintendent and good teacher from the community. An investment in the nature of a reasonable salary increment which will retain an able executive is small when the fate of a continued educational policy is at stake—when a community with well-organized functioning school system is faced with the loss of a recognized leader and plays with odds on securing a less able executive.

Such a salary increase is insurance against depreciation—a preventative measure against lessened efficiency in the school system. The same situation may exist with the stronger personalities on the teaching staff. The departure of a mediocre teacher is of little moment; the removal from the classroom of a personality that radiates cheer, hope, comradeship, courage and the will to work is a distinct loss.

In recent years there is an increasing evidence that school administration is a business and subject to the laws of business. Today business is a symbol of quality in the character of products, quality in the calibre of its workers. We hear executives tell of the lengths they go to secure these—how they specify betterments, enforce standards and evaluate trade-marks. School officials have an equal concern for their products.

Merchants employing large groups can tell you what labor turnover costs them. They can show you the expense of regaining a customer's interest lost through inferior service. Both items are expensive. They eat up profits. The business of school administration is as sensitive to these methods of investment as is every other business. To maintain educational quality in the face of increasing attendance is the challenge. What it costs the schools to regain a pupil whose interest is lost through inefficient teaching or management is not known in figures, nor can the loss to a community by the substitution of a weaker for a stronger type of teacher be measured. Parents who have experienced either will say that the experimenting is expensive; that the loss is so self-evident it should be avoided. If, in a spirit of thoughtless economy, it is not prevented, such economy may prove to be costly and extravagant.

The value of a commodity lies in the quality of its service. The buying of good administration and teaching at the figure the market demands would seem less expensive than the buying of inferior service at bargain rates. That school system which retains the interest of pupils and gives valued service through the executive and teaching force, may prove more economical than a system costing per pupil but unable to hold the pupil's interest and giving mediocre service through a less efficient teaching staff.

The quality of school service depends on holding the interest of its customers and confining the labor turnover to the less efficient. Such procedure will go far toward remedying the high cost of cheap schools.

A TORNADO VISITS EUROPE FLORIDA IS SOUND INTROVERTS MISS WEST PITIES WOMEN

Terrific storms in Europe have killed many in Europe and Britain, the high winds putting a new fear in the populations. Tornadoes and earthquakes visit different parts of the earth, impartially, nations might be content with the war nature forces upon them, not insisting upon fighting and killing each other.

The tornado in Europe, leaving a trail of loss and death, will not cause foolish pessimism, such as outsiders have displayed after a wild storm in Florida.

Florida's high wind comes only rarely and never in Winter, when the harvest season of tourists is on.

And Florida in one important respect has an advantage over other States in her financial condition and freedom from debt.

Florida, as a State, owes nobody a dollar. The State is absolutely free from bonded indebtedness, its laws forbidding the State to borrow for any purpose, except for suppressing insurrection within the State, or repelling armed invasion.

No State is in a better condition financially than Florida, destined to be one of the greatest States in the Union, in population and in money.

And now, after the boom, while the foolish nurse their wounds, is a good time to buy in Florida, if you buy wisely.

Professors of Northwestern University tell business men selecting employes to pick out extroverts and avoid introverts.

The introvert is a dreamer, withdrawing within himself. The extrovert is a back-slapper and a go-getter.

Theodore Roosevelt, Mussolini, William Howard Taft and Governor Smith are of the extrovert type.

There is something of the introvert and extrovert in every man. Charles Fourier told about it more than a hundred years ago, using the words "internal intuition, and external rational," which are better.

Miss Rebecca West, forceful young British person who writes well, pities American women. Their lives are tragic, says she. Many of them live parked high up in skyscrapers, "where they can't even keep a dog."

It's sad not to keep a dog in a skyscraper. But Miss West will know when she gets married that a baby or even a husband is a good substitute for a dog.

The latest eruption of Mount Etna "destroyed" ten thousand acres of fertile Sicilian land. Frost, rain and sunshine will crumble the lava to dust. Weeds will grow, soil will form. Earth's worms will chew it up, and those acres will be fertile again, and Etna will be a dead volcano.

It will take some time, thousands of centuries. There is no hurry, for according to Professor Millikan, men will live on this planet for a thousand million years longer.

The biggest fortunes are not always left by the greatest men. Schubert, greater than a million ordinary millionaires, left ten dollars' worth of property. Many unpublished songs sold for $2.

Spinoza, great Jewish philosopher, who has taught millions how to think, left as the most valuable asset in his "estate" a pocket knife with a silver handle.

But he left a name worth more than the total capitalization of General Motors.

A TRUCK FOR EVERY PURSE AND PURPOSE

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF PERRYTON

The American Legion will soon celebrate the tenth anniversary of its organization. To those who so nobly served their country in time of great peril it will be an anniversary of achievement for a great work has been performed by the Legion in the decade of peace that has followed the close of the World war. The American Legion was born out of the spirit of comradeship and mutual helpfulness that was so outstanding among those who fought side by side in the great struggle and it is today carrying on a program of public service that has no parallel in the nation's history.

The greatest work of the Legion has been to care for those who suffered most by the war. The best efforts of the organization have been exerted in the behalf of the disabled soldiers, the war orphans and those who were left widows by the war. Although much has been accomplished for these war sufferers there is still a great deal to be done. The Legion has given assurance that this work will be continued as long as there is a need for it. In the field of community service the Legion has successfully conducted civic betterment projects in all parts of the country that have demonstrated in a concrete way the power of the Legion to serve in time of peace. The celebration of the Legion's tenth anniversary on March 15 and 16 will be the occasion for a renewed effort to enroll more war veterans in this work. It is the purpose of the Legion to increase its membership in order that its work for the year may be broadened and extended. The people of this city are truly appreciative of the character of the work that is being done by the Legion and they believe every encouragement should be given for its continuance.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, F. P. ROGERS, Mayor of the City of Perryton, do hereby proclaim Friday, March 15, and Saturday, March 16, as the dates for the Tenth Anniversary Celebration of the American Legion and urge all citizens to aid the Legion in every possible way to increase its membership strength. Every veteran should subscribe to the program of the organization by wearing the Legion button.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Perryton to be affixed. Done in the City of Perryton, this 6th day of March, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Nine.

Tires for the new Ford are specially made to give long wear

WHEN the new Ford was designed, it was immediately apparent that a new tire would have to be made to match the car's performance. It was distinctly a new problem, for here was a car with quicker acceleration, greater speed and more braking efficiency than any car of similar size or weight.

So that every Ford owner might be assured of maximum tire mileage at the lowest cost, the Ford Motor Company devoted many months to research and experiment in conjunction with the leading tire manufacturers.

As a result, certain definite specifications were developed for tires for the new Ford. These specify cords of certain strength and texture, a large volume of tread and side-wall rubber, sturdy non-skid design, and reinforced plies for protection against bruise breaks—all the strong features of construction formerly considered for only the largest tires.

Great care also was taken to secure the best riding qualities in connection with the transverse springs and the Houdaille shock absorbers.

Though the Ford tires are designated as 30 x 4.50, they have the resiliency and air space of much larger tires because of the drop center rim of the steel-spoke wheels.

For best results, the tires on the new Ford should be kept inflated to an air pressure of 35 pounds and checked regularly to insure this pressure all the time. This is important. Low inflation breaks down the sidewalls of a tire. By causing overheating, it also destroys the rubber that acts as an insulation, with consequent separation of the cord.

At the end of each 5000 miles, when you have the front wheels packed with grease, it is a good plan to have the wheel alignment checked. This will prevent premature wear.

When punctures come, as they will with any tire, you will find the Ford dealer particularly well-equipped to make repairs quickly and at small cost. See him, too, for replacements. Then you will be sure of getting tires built specially for the Ford car according to definite Ford specifications.

THE DESPERATE LOVER

By E. Phillips Oppenheim
ILLUSTRATED BY FRANK B. DRIEN

For though all his apathy he was conscious of a great sickening disappointment, something gone out of his life which had helped him, day by day, through all that weary imprisonment. Dear to his heart had grown that hope of standing one day before the masters of his Order, and claiming, as his rightful due, vengeance upon those whose word had sent into captivity Dear to him his money and treasure among his thoughts had grown that hope. In his prison house he had grown narrower, other thoughts and purposes had faded away. That one only remained, growing stronger and stronger day by day, until it had seized hold of his whole being. He lived only through it and with it. Now he had gone to Signor Bartolozzi, only to find that the Order had given up its old purposes and principles—had become a mere social club.

Given some soul-absorbing purpose, some cherished end, however dimly seen through the mists of futurity, and a man may preserve his reason through the longest captivity; while day by day, his narrowing life contracts till all conscience, all hope, all sentiment, become the slaves of that one passionate desire. Day by day, it looms larger before him; day by day, all doubts concerning it grow weaker, and the justice of it becomes clearer and more unquestioned. Right and wrong, justice and injustice, according to other men's standards, have no power over it in his own thoughts. His moral sense slumbers, so deeply has it become grafted into his life, that he no more questions its right to exist than he does the presence of the limbs upon his body. As surely as the night follows day, so surely does his whole being gravitate toward the accomplishment of his desire. It is a part of what is left of his life, and if it is smitten, his life is smitten. They are at once sympathetic and identical, so closely entwined that to sever them is death to both.

Thus it was with Count Marioni and thus it was that, day by day, he sat in his sitting-room slowly pining to death. Trade feet had tramped upon the desire of his life, and the wound was open and bleeding. Only a little longer and he would have turned upon his side with a sigh, and yielded up his last breath; and so far as his numbed faculties could have conceived a thought, death would have seemed very pleasant to him. He was dying of loneliness, of disappointment and despair.

The people at the hotel had made several attempts to rouse him, but in vain. He answered no questions, and in his quiet way resented intrusion. He paid whatever was demanded, and he gave no trouble. The manager, who knew his history from a short cutting in a newspaper which had chronicled his arrival in London, was at his wits' end to know how to save him. He had once endeavored to reason gently with his eccentric visitor, and he had been bidden quietly to leave his room. On endeavoring to make one more appeal, the Count had risen quietly and pointed to the door. "I wish only to be left in peace," he said, with a touch of dignity in his sad, calm manner. "If you cannot do that I will go away to another hotel. Choose!" The manager had bowed and withdrawn in silence. But he was a kindhearted man, and he was still troubled about the matter. Day by day the Count was growing weaker; before long he would doubtless die from sheer distaste of living as much as from any actual disease. Something ought to be done toward communicating with his friends, if he had any. With a certain amount of reluctance, the manager, as a last resort, penned the following advertisement and sent it to the principal London papers.

"If there are any friends or relatives still alive of Count Leonardo di Marioni, who has recently been set free by the Italian Government after a long term of imprisonment, they are requested to communicate, personally, if possible, with the manager of the Hotel Continental, where the Count is now lying dangerously ill."

The great room in which the Count Marioni was sitting was almost in darkness, for the afternoon was dull and foggy, and the curtains were partially closed. There was no lamp lit, and the only light came from the brightly-burning fire near which the Count was sitting in an armchair ludicrously too large for his frail body. The flames fell upon his white, worn face, with its deep branding lines, and gleamed in his great sad eyes, so bright and dry that they seemed like mirrors for the firelight. His hair and short unkempt beard were as white as snow, matching even the unnatural pallor of his skin, and his black frock coat was buttoned across a chest which would have been narrow for a consumptive boy. He did, indeed, look on the threshold of death.

He had not turned his head at the opening or closing of the door, but presently another sound broke the silence. It was a woman's sob, and as he slowly turned his head, a tall, graceful figure moved forward out of the shadows, and he heard his name softly murmured.

"Leonardo!" His hand went up to his forehead. Was it a dream; or was he indeed back once more in the days of his youth, back among the pine woods which topped his castle, walking side by side with her whose presence seemed to make the long summer days one sweet dream of light? The familiar odor of violets and wild hyacinths seemed to fill the room. The fog-bound city, with its ceaseless roar, existed for him no longer. The sun of his dear country warmed his heart, and the sea wind blew in his eager face. And she was there—his queen the great desire of his weary life. All his pulses leaped with the joy of her presence. Five-and-twenty years of lonely misery were blotted out. Ah! memory is a wonderful magician!

"Leonardo! Will you not speak to me?" Again that voice! Where was he now? Face to face with her on the sands of Palermo, deceived, betrayed, given over to the enemies of his country, and by her—the woman for whom his passionate love had been his sole crime. Listen! The air is full of that cry of threatened vengeance. Hark how the echoes ring back from the cliffs. "By the sun, and the sky, and the sea, and the earth, I swear that, as they continue unchanged and unchanging, so shall my hate for you remain!" Darkness—a prison cell. Year by year, year by year, darkness, solitude, misery! See the black hair turn gray, the strength of manhood wasting away, the eye growing dim the body weak. Year by year, year by year, it goes on. What was that scratched upon the whitewashed walls? What was the cry which rang back from the towering cliff? "Hate unchanging and unchanging!" The same—ever the same.

"Leonardo, have you no word for me?" He rose slowly from his chair, and fixed his eyes upon her.

Before their fire she shrank back, appalled. Was it a storm about to burst upon her? No! The words were slow and few.

"You have dared to come—here, dared to come and look upon your handiwork! Away! Out of my sight! You have seen me. Go!" Tears blinded her eyes. The sight of him was horrible to her. She forgot, in her great pity, that justice had been upon her side. She sank upon her knees before him on the velvet pile carpet.

"Leonardo, for the love of God, forgive me!" she sobbed. "Oh! it is painful to see you thus, and to know the burden of hate which you carry in your heart. Forgive me! Forgive us both!" He stooped down until his ghastly face nearly touched hers.

"Curse you!" he muttered hoarsely. "You dare to look at me, and ask for forgiveness. Never! never! Every morning and night I curse you. I curse you when my mother taught me to pray. I live for nothing else. If I had the strength I would strangle you where you stand. Hell's curses and mine ring in your ears and sit in your heart day by day and night by night! Away with you! Away, away!"

She was a brave woman, but she fled from the room like a hunted animal, and passed out of the hotel with never a look to the right or to the left.

Count Marioni sat in his old attitude, brooding over the fire from the depths of his armchair, with a sad, vacant look in his dull eyes. At first he took no notice of the opening of the door, but as the light, smooth footsteps crossed the floor toward him and hesitated at his side, he glanced wearily up. In a moment his whole expression was changed. He was like a numbed and torpid figure suddenly galvanized into acute life.

He passed his hand swiftly across his eyes, and his thin fingers grasped the sides of his chair with nervous force. Ah! he must be dreaming again! It was one of the faces of the past, tempting and mocking him! Yet, no! she stood there, surely she stood there. Mother of God! Was this madness come at last?

"Margharita!" he cried, stretching out his hands toward her. "Margharita!" It was no dream, then, nor was it madness. It was truth. There were loving, clinging arms around his neck, a passionate, weeping face pressed close against his. Hat tears, her tears, were trickling down his hollow cheeks, kindling his stagnant blood by their warmth, and thawing the apathetic chill whose icy hand had lain so heavy upon him. A sob escaped him. His eager, trembling fingers pushed back the clustering hair from her temples. He peered wonderingly into her face. It must be a vision; it would surely fade away and leave him once more in the outer darkness. Five-and-twenty years had passed! She had been like this then! A sense of bewilderment crept in upon him.

"Margharita!" he exclaimed feebly. "I do not understand! You are Margharita; you have her hair, her eyes, her mouth! And yet, of course, it cannot be. Ah, no! it cannot be!"

"You are thinking of my mother," she cried softly. "She loved you so much. I am like her, am I not?" "Married! Margharita married! Ah, of course! I had forgotten. And you are her child. My sister's child. Ah, five-and-twenty years is a long time."

"It is a shameful, cruel time," she cried passionately. "My mother used to tell me of it, when I was a little girl, and her voice would shake with anger and pity. Francesca, too, would talk to me about you. I prayed for you every evening when I was little, that they might soon set you free again. Oh, it was cruel!" She threw her arms around his neck, and he rested his head upon her shoulder. It was like an elixir of life for him.

"And your mother, Margharita?" he asked fearfully. "She is dead," was the low reply. "Ah! Margharita dead! She was so like you, child. Dead! Five-and-twenty years is a weary while."

SELECTING TRIM

Interior trim is usually in a home as long as it stands, and should be a subject for much thought as well as the best of workmanship, when the house is built. The finishing of the various kinds of trim depends upon the kind of wood selected. There are several kind of woods used for interior trim which may be classified as open grained or closed-grained types. The open grains are filled with Silex pasts filler, while the close grains can be bought to a good finish with the use of ordinary filler.

Some of the woods which are classified as open grains are: oak, walnut, and mahogany, while close grained woods are: Birch, Maple, gum, white and yellow pine and basswood.

In specifying interior trim woodwork, insist upon properly seasoned, dry kiln stock, and in the specifications for the finishing of your interior woodwork insist that the surface be smooth, clean and dry, and that all nail holes and cracks be filled.

One of the newer developments in the handling of interior trim is the cut-to-length sealed or sets, matched before delivery. This kind of stock is usually clean, dry and neat and makes good joints.

Interior trim should equal in finish the best quality of the furniture in your home.

Full Measure

Yes, we sell electric appliances. Why? Because we feel that our responsibility does not stop when your home has been supplied with electric current. We feel that it is a part of our job to see that you get the full measure of better living that appliances change electric current into.

To do that we have to be sure that the toaster, the percolator, the washing machine, the vacuum cleaner or any other electric servant that you get from us is suited to do its work, and that it will do it at a minimum of expense.

That is why every appliance we offer you—and every appliance we ever will offer you—will be tested and proven. Every "new wrinkle" in appliances is thoroughly investigated before we bring it to you.

Electricity is our business. And all the trained men and women in our organization are working to just one end . . . to give you the greatest possible benefits from the current you buy.
