

Seven Women, Five Men to Decide Brilab Case

HOUSTON (AP) — Seven women and five men will decide the innocence or guilt and possibly the political future of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton.

The powerful political figure and two Austin attorneys — Donald W. Ray and Randall B. Wood — go on trial today in a Houston federal court on charges arising from the 10-month FBI undercover operation Brilab.

The three are accused of extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy in an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

Also indicted by the federal grand jury June 12 was L.G. Moore, regional director of the Operating Engineers Union. Moore will be tried at a later date.

The 12 jurors and four alternates were picked Tuesday from an original panel of 104.

One juror is Hispanic, the others Anglo. All of the alternates are women, including one black.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor has ordered that only the jurors' names and occupations would be made available to reporters.

The judge, giving no explanation, refused to reveal ages or hometowns. And he gave an oral order that forbid anyone, "public or press," from contacting "any juror selected in this case."

Gerald Goldstein, a San Antonio lawyer defending Wood, would say only that the jurors ranged in age "from kids under 30 to those over 60."

The jurors are Mary Lou Lesseraux, secretary; Sylvia Solomon, homemaker; Margaret C. Hudock, homemaker; Ronnie R. Rodriguez, welder; Robert J. Blackwell, construction foreman; Sharon Sternadel, clerk; Ruth A. Barton, statistical assistant; Debbie A. Brady, no occupation listed; Tye Yates Holman, Jr., retired rancher; Charles G. Sivealls Jr., retired school superintendent; Lala Mae Messerly, licensed vocational nurse; and James P. Haynes, restaurant manager.

The alternates are Margorie Brown, a supervisor; Peggy

M. Burchett, computer and accounting clerk; Dorothy J. Nicholson, clerk, and Mary V. Cook, homemaker.

Goldstein said defense attorneys had examined jurors closely looking "for those with the sophistication needed to sit and listen to the tape recordings, and sophisticated enough to be able to sift through all the news stories preceding the trial."

Each prospective juror was questioned in private, something seldom done in Houston's federal courts. Most of the questioning centered on any possible prejudices developed by the great amount of publicity given the Brilab investigation.

The charges threaten the political future of Clayton who has spent 20 years in the Legislature, served three terms as speaker and once considered running for governor in 1982.

He is accused of accepting a $5,000 bribe, with an $500,000 more promised in the future, for his influence in delivering a multimillion-dollar state employees' health insurance contract.

Wood and Ray are accused of conspiring with Moore in an attempt to get Clayton's support for the insurance scheme.

Clayton said he received the $5,000 but thought it was a campaign contribution and planned to return it to Moore.

A key prosecution witness will be FBI informant Joseph Hauser, who posed as a representative for a major insurance company and was with Moore and Clayton during that Nov. 8, 1979 meeting when money changed hands.

Hauser taped the conversation and this, along with several other secret recordings, makes up the bulk of the government's case.

Another government witness will be Russell T. "Rusty" Kelley, the speaker's executive assistant.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Woods estimated the government will need about a week and a half to present its case and could be through by Oct. 2.

School Board Declares Interest in Tax Office

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Members of the Hereford School Board voted unanimously to declare their interest in participation in a full central appraisal and appraisal office here and also reviewed matters including student enrollment and effectiveness of busing in connection with the pairing program during a regular meeting held Tuesday night.

Supt. Dr. Harrell Holder informed board members that the school district could enter into the full appraisal and tax collection concept for "only about 15 percent more" than the present cost to the school system.

"I feel we might as well start participating in this because we can collect taxes for only a little more than the appraisal cost," he stated.

Board members then voted to indicate their interest in approaching the program with the intent of full participation.

Assistant Supt. Larry Wartes gave a report on the various bus routes and the success of transporting students to paired schools under that program here this school year.

"We have some fluctuation in the number of students riding buses each morning, but we may be hauling more kids," stated Wartes.

A question concerning possible overcrowding of some of the buses, particularly in the area of Shirley School arose during the meeting when a message from a concerned parent on Star Street was presented to the school board.

The parent claimed that bus No. 11, with a capacity of 72 passengers, was routinely carrying from 88-99 passengers and had on occasion carried as many as 106.

The parent expressed concern about the crowding and asked if the school would be liable for a lawsuit in the event of an accident.

"We can put four of those little kids in a seat and 88 isn't overloaded," stated Wartes.

"The number of kids riding particular buses can fluctuate widely some mornings. We may have to give some designation for certain kids to ride certain buses in order to avoid this kind of problem, but we're in the process of working it out," stated Wartes.

Dr. Holder added that the overcrowding problem is concentrated on buses in the Shirley area at this time, and that the school may have to "go back individually and designate which buses the kids will ride."

Holder pointed out that similar overcrowding problems have been worked out in other school areas in the city, and added that parents have proven understanding and cooperative.

"We'll have to adjust this route, just as we have the others. We can have as many students standing as there are seats in the bus and be in compliance, although 106 people on a bus would have had us out of compliance. We have the buses and the capacity to keep any child from having to stand on the bus, and that's my intention," stated Holder.

School trustees voted to continue membership in Texans for Equitable Taxation and to pay the $300 dues to the organization.

Board member James Gentry explained that the organization represents the interests of smaller school districts in the legislature and stated, "I feel they have been successful in helping in the past."

Board members gave the nod to seeking bids on a new van for the school district as Wartes pointed out that the present van operated by the schools has amassed over 80,000 miles.

Trustees were informed that an expenditure of about $9,500 could be expected for a new van.

Dr. Holder reported that school district enrollment is showing some improvement with a current enrollment figure of 5,292, as compared to 5,435 at this time last year.

An additional number of sophomores and juniors were reported on the school rolls, evidently omitted due to mistakes in counting earlier this fall.

The school board accepted the resignations of Margaret Phipps of Tierra Blanca and David Willis, high school instructor, and also approved employment of Jane Coplen and Claudine Lehman at Northwest, Sharon Crawford at Shirley, Cathy Guseman at Tierra Blanca, Randal Pool at La Plata, and Sharon Hodges, Sharon Johnson and Jeanette Ramey as special education instructors.

Dr. Holder informed board members that Monday "marked the first time in a long while that no student in the school system was in a classroom with more than 27 neighbors."

He added that the student-teacher ratio is now about 25-1.

"Our pairing is doing what we want and we're not having overcrowding. We're lowering the pupil-teacher ratio," he commented.

School board members also heard a presentation on the student teaching program from Gene Minor of the West Texas State University student teaching department and were informed that seven student teachers are working in Hereford schools.

All board members with the exception of Paul Ramirez were present.

DHR Reverses Program Stand

By BOB NIGH
Staff Writer

Bettie Dickson, director of Hereford Day Care, Inc., was elated today when informed that the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR) had reversed its decision to turn over two children's food programs to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Mrs. Dickson was one of some 30 persons to voice their displeasure with that move at a hearing in Austin last week.

"I think that's fabulous, Mrs. Dickson said when informed of the DHR's reversal by The Brand this morning. "I think the hearing really did make the difference," she said.

The two food programs in question are the child care program which pays for meals served to children in day care centers and which affects the local centers, and the summer program, which provides meals and snacks to children who normally receive free or low-cost lunches at school. Combined, the two programs serve more than 95,000 youngsters in Texas.

Locally, Hereford Day Care, Inc. serves 160 children daily. "Of course, not all of them are from low-income families," Mrs. Dickson pointed out.

DHR board chairman Hilmar Moore said the June 11 decision to turn over the programs to the USDA resulted from a desire to reduce the number of state employees. That stems from a request by Governor Bill Clements for a reduction of 5 percent in state staffs. Merle Springer of the DHR staff

DSG Reports Deficit

By ALLISON RYAN
Staff Writer

Jim Bullard, Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator, reported a loss for the second month to the board of directors at the regular board meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Bullard reported the hospital showed a loss of $25,249 for the month of August. The July report showed a loss of more than $30,000.

An average daily census of 23.3 (August report) doesn't make for good economics. We need the figure to show about 30 in order to break even," Bullard said.

Bullard said August was a good month for newborns. "Although we had 60 newborns in August, it is difficult to collect for these."

Out patient services including radiology procedures, E.K.G.'s and respiratory and physical therapy were down in August. "This is a bad time of year. However, we will be receiving tax money in October which will help," Bullard said.

Bullard asked the board for a resolution to provide for a line of credit at the Hereford State Bank in order to cover overdrafts that might occur. "Because of the nature of federal banking regulations, the bank must be careful about extension. We need to establish line credit or a note," Bullard said.

Frank Zinser, president of the board, had some questions about the procedure and asked for a resolution to negotiate with the bank before taking steps in either direction. The board voted in agreement.

Money problems continued to be discussed with a report that $4,630 was written off as uncollectable.

"Some of this comes from employees of the carnival that was here. I feel if we spend our time and dollars on these people, the organization who sponsors activities such as the carnival should contribute. In the future, we may have to set up some type of bond or reserve account to cover hospital care," Bullard said.

No Quick Release Seen for Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie, back in step after a day of confusion and conflicting comments, are advising Americans not to expect a solution soon to the hostage crisis in Iran.

Muskie told reporters Tuesday on Capitol Hill that both he and Carter are "extremely cautious" about any likelihood that a settlement is near.

And Carter, campaigning in Atlanta, said "there is no

The board of directors voted in June to write off accounts each month that had been in small claims court or the credit bureau for six months or more.

In other business, Bullard reported that an agreement had been reached with the Texas Department of Human Resources concerning subsidy for personnel to assist in one area of financial business.

"We will have someone on hand two or three days of the week to aid in receiving government assistance and help with medicare and medicaid. I think we will get a return on the investment," Bullard said.

According to Bullard, the program would be a public service by assisting people who are not on a program, explaining medicare to those who do not understand how the system works and assisting families who need to place a family member in a nursing home.

Eligibility criteria for public health service was questioned by Dr. Gerald Payne.

Dr. Payne questioned why a patient had been refused service at the clinic.

Fun Breakfast Tomorrow

Fun, games and prizes are on the agenda for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce "Fun Breakfast" scheduled for Thursday at 6:30 a.m.

New teachers and school personnel have been invited to the breakfast, which is held every two or three months. Community announcements, games and cash prizes are highlights of the event.

The month's breakfast will be sponsored by Computer System and Solutions, a new business being established here by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Patrick and Bobby Jones.

Mike Carr, C of C executive vice-president, announced that local businesses will sponsor tickets for the teachers.

Lower Grades Get More Aliens

DALLAS (AP) — Three-quarters of the illegal alien children registering for school in Dallas have enrolled in kindergarten or the first three grades, school officials said.

That concentration in lower grade levels has surprised school officials, but Deputy Associate Superintendent Robby Collins said it should make it easier to educate the children.

"An even spread of students through all grade levels would have caused more manpower and equipment problems," he said.

"With a concentration of students in lower grades, we can just go ahead and create new classes where they're needed," he said.

Dallas school officials estimate 1,000 undocumented children will enroll by the end of the week.

Almost 700 students had been admitted by Tuesday.

The pace of enrollment slowed Tuesday when only 80 students enrolled. But officials speculated some parents may have held off registering Tuesday to celebrate Mexican Independence Day.

Agreement Reached

In Actor's Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Negotiators for striking actors reached tentative agreement with film and television producers early today on the main contract issue in the eight-week walkout, but other issues remained to be settled, a federal mediator said.

The agreement on residual payments to actors for programs shown on pay TV and in video cassettes was reached after 15 hours of talks, which ended at 6 a.m. EDT, said federal mediator Tim O'Sullivan.

Sullivan declined to disclose details of the agreement until leaders of the two actors' unions — the Screen Actors Guild and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists — could discuss it with their members.

"There are a number of issues which still remain to be settled, including wage scales," O'Sullivan said. "The unions will wait until the other matters are settled and then vote on the total package."

Talks were to resume later in the day.

Woman Convicted

In Death Hoax

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An El Paso woman convicted of helping fake her husband's death five years ago in Mexico and then collecting life insurance and government benefits could be sentenced to 22 years in prison and fined $30,000.

Jurors deliberated nearly two hours Tuesday before convicting Kathelyn Van Draai Miller on four counts of conspiracy and fraud. Her husband, Clifford Jerome Miller, faces trial on similar charges.

U.S. District Judge Harry Lee Hudspeeth scheduled sentencing for Oct. 9.

Federal prosecutors said Mrs. Miller knew her husband was still alive when she applied for death benefits.

No Charges Filed In Bomb-Mailing

DALLAS (AP) — No charges will be filed against the woman who mailed a package containing a crude explosive device that ignited while being unloaded at the U.S. Postal Service Dallas bulk mail center, according to a postal official.

Postal inspector Henry Herrera said Tuesday the U.S. attorney's office refused to accept charges against the woman. She mailed the package for a friend who had recently been discharged from the U.S. Coast Guard, he said.

"As far as we can tell, there was no criminal intent," Herrera said. "Apparently the person who mailed the package did not know she was breaking the law."

The Dallas police bomb squad disarmed the explosive device, made from an old clock, a clock radio wired to a speaker and three military-type flares.

The package also contained a booklet opened to a photo of Max Cleland, the triple-amputee director of the U.S. Veteran's Association.

A portion of one of the phosphorous flares ignited after the package was jarred while being unloaded from a Houston delivery truck, inspectors said. No one was injured but three other packages were damaged.

Ribbon Cutting

A formal ribbon-cutting ceremony was held at Dickie's Restaurant Monday to welcome Nancy and Gary Victor as new owners and managers of the cafe. The Hustlers' organization of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce conducted the ceremony. Lee Umsted is chairman of the goodwill group. Mike Carr, C of C executive vice president welcomed the Victors into the business community.

Reagan Ends Texas Tour

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan wrapped up a four-city campaign tour of South Texas with promises to cure the nation of a malaise created by a failed presidency.

Reagan repeatedly assailed the president's domestic policies Tuesday and urged a partisan audience in this oil-rich city not to allow Carter to "walk away" from the consequences.

"... That is the issue today. Not just what he has done, not just the promises he has broken, not just the sorry record he has made — but what he is doing to us now, what his policies have already done to shape the future," the former California governor said.

The Republican candidate began his two-day campaign swing Monday night in San Antonio, several hours after Carter completed a whirlwind tour here.

Accompanying Reagan were GOP vice presidential nominee George Bush, former President Gerald R. Ford, Gov. Bill Clements, former Gov. John B. Connally and former Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach.

Reagan and Bush were to leave the Bayou City today. During a long day of campaigning Tuesday, Reagan attended Mexican Independence Day celebrations in San Antonio and Harlingen and spoke at an outdoor rally at a Corpus Christi airport.

Republicans hope the visit to Texas would cement many of the votes, particularly Hispanic, that helped put Carter in office.

Mexican-American voters in Texas now number more than 750,000, compared to less than 500,000 four years ago. In the 1976 election, Carter captured 87 percent of the Hispanic vote.

"No one is more aware of what his election campaign can mean for America than Texans," Reagan said.

In San Antonio, Reagan promised to slash individual income taxes 10 percent during each of his first three years in office and to tie income tax brackets to inflation to eliminate "bracket creep."

"Jimmy Carter has become the greatest taxer in the history of the Republic and our economy is close to the breaking point."

Later in Harlingen, he chided the Carter administration's policies toward Mexico and backed Clements' suggestion that Hispanic workers be given temporary employment visas if they seek jobs in the United States.

As Reagan arrived at the convention center he was greeted by two dozen women waving posters and handing out literature denouncing the Republican Party platform and its opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment.

Bush preceded Reagan on the red, white and blue platform at the Houston fundraiser, expected to pump $2.8 million into state party coffers.

The former United Nations ambassador chided Carter for his refusal to debate

Reagan next week.

"The debate in Baltimore next Sunday will tell the story of this 'now you see it, now you don't see it' leadership," Bush said. "Next Sunday, people will see an invisible president... one who ducks out when it suits his political convenience."

"I predict Ronald Reagan will whip his empty chair," the former United Nations ambassador said.

The "Lone Star Tribute" dinner reportedly pumped $2.8 million into state party coffers.

Reagan followed with a 20-minute speech tailored to the 2,800 people who paid $1,000 a plate to hear the Republican candidate attack the Carter administration's energy policies.

Gloria Garcia Appointed SW Bell Supervisor

Gloria Garcia has been appointed business office supervisor for Southwestern Bell's Hereford and Canyon business offices.

In her capacity, the Hereford native will manage the company's Phone-Center operations and bill payment receiving. Five service representatives and tellers in the two offices will report to her. She will also be in charge of the company's community relations activities.

Garcia, a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School, joined the telephone company in Hereford in 1971. Earlier this year, she transferred to Pampa as a business supervisor, the position she held before returning to Hereford.

A member of St. Joseph Catholic Church, she was active in Big Sisters, the Satellite Center board of directors and the Hereford Chamber of Commerce Women's Division before moving to Pampa. While in Pampa, she was a member of the Altrusa Club. Garcia replaces John Cooke, who moved to Dallas.

Hospital

A representative from the clinic reported the man had not been released from his Amarillo doctor, therefore, he was referred back to that doctor.

Criteria for receiving medical care from the public health service includes salary, monthly bills, rent receipts or amount of government programs, such as food stamps, received.

The board agreed that the criteria needs to be reviewed and agreed to do so at a later date.

The board also heard a report from the medical staff by Dr. Duffy McBrayer.

Other members present at the meeting included Ed Reinauer, Jerry Smith and Deward Roberson.

Day Care

said 14 jobs, all federally funded, were involved.

USDA food program administrator in Texas, B.H. Pulliam, agreed with those protesting the move last week at the hearing. "The Child Care Program provides nutritious meals to poor children in day care centers, Head Start programs and the like, and Summer Feeding Program fills in the gaps for the school lunch program in the summer," he said.

Those testifying at the hearing in Austin last week, including Mrs. Dickson, contended that delays in payments and bureaucratic foul-ups would cause fewer children to benefit from the programs if the USDA took them over.

Asked about those possible delays Mrs. Dickson said that the local center normally gets payments from the DHR within six weeks of application. "When the Department of agriculture handled the programs three years ago, we were looking at a delay of up to six months in receiving the payments," she said.

Acting commissioner Marlin Johnston told the board several witnesses predicted the "tight money situation" would cause their programs to die if USDA took over. "Creditors simply would be unwilling to carry accounts for the two-to-three months required by the USDA to pay claims," he said. "The obvious consensus is this department can do a better job than the USDA."

Moore and the rest of the DHR board obviously agreed. He said the DHR's primary goal was to serve the public and this had to rank behind staff reductions. "This is obviously a service the people want," he said.

Hostages

presidential nominee Ronald Reagan, said "this sort of inability to get one's act together is characteristic of the present administration and we watch it with some amazement."

At a news conference Tuesday at Reagan's suburban Arlington, Va., campaign headquarters, Allen said "we were as surprised as anyone to see yet another flip-flop in the Carter administration's declarations."

In Corpus Christi, Texas, the day before, Carter had said recent events in Iran "may very well lead to a resolution of this (hostage) problem in the future."

Hours later, however, Muskie acknowledged that despite formation of a new government in Tehran there was still no direct negotiation over the hostages.

The secretary of state offered further clarification Tuesday, saying: "I've been in close touch with the president over the past week while this speculation has emerged and we are in complete agreement that these developments should be viewed with extreme caution without raising expectations."

Muskie insisted Carter's statement in Texas reflected no undue optimism.

"The future's a long time," he said.

"I read the statement the president made in Texas and I found it completely consistent with the attitude of caution which he and I share."

Carter offered no direct explanation Tuesday for his more pessimistic outlook. But he told an Atlanta television reporter that he had been unaware when he spoke in Texas that the speaker of the Iranian parliament and two

Islamic religious leaders had reaffirmed the demand for a U.S. apology for past deeds in Iran.

That demand, which the administration has vehemently refused to meet, was omitted last week from four conditions set by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Iranian revolutionary leader.

The Iranian parliament, meanwhile, delayed a full debate on the hostages and in a raucous session Tuesday voted to select a special committee to deal with the fate of the 52 Americans held since Nov. 4.

Turkish Leader Slain

By STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A district police commander was assassinated in Istanbul this morning, and informed sources said his killers were believed to be members of the leftist revolutionary Dev-Sol organization retaliating for the military coup that toppled Turkey's civilian government.

Aykut Genc, 32, was cut down in a hail of at least 10 pistol shots as he started his car in the upper class Sisli district. His wife rushed to his aid but the police commander was killed instantly.

The assassination was termed typical of Dev-Sol operations and similar to the murder of former Prime Minister Nihat Erim in Istanbul last July.

In Athens, meanwhile, leftist terrorists booby-trapped and burned four cars belonging to U.S. Embassy personnel in the Greek capital. No injuries were reported.

Police said the extremists said they attacked the cars because the U.S. government was responsible for the coup in Turkey.

Turkey's Dev-Sol group telephoned newspapers early this morning to warn that it was planning violent retaliation soon against the military coup.

The group has been held responsible for much of the country's leftist violence in the last six months and is thought to have about 1,000 active and well-armed members scattered through seven major Turkish cities.

Thousands of supporters were reported to be ready to join active members in action against the military leaders who took power Friday in a bid to end the political violence that has left some 2,000 dead in this vital NATO member since January.

Dev-Sol's telephone messages to newspapers came the night after Turkish troops launched a crackdown on political extremists and leftist bureaucrats and intellectuals, sweeping through city offices and professional societies in Ankara and Istanbul.

Also hit in the crackdown was the Mining Research Institute, the largest in the Middle East, on Ankara's outskirts.

In all the Tuesday raids, witnesses said, soldiers rounded up suspected Marx-

Payment to Beekeepers Scheduled to End

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small but popular subsidy program is being eliminated by the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Friday that after seven years the program, which provides federal payments to beekeepers who lose bees accidentally to pesticides, will end Oct. 9. They said the reason is because of the program's "limited scope" and its "lower budgetary priority."

The program began in June 1971 and was retroactive to Jan. 1, 1967. About $35 million in payments have been made for bee losses. In recent years, the payments have run between $3.5 million and $4 million annually. About 1,800 beekeepers participated.

More than 5,000 people are estimated to have been detained.

Police Investigate Rash of Vandalism

Hereford police are investigating renewed incidents of vandalism here that resulted in extensive damage at numerous sites.

Eldon Fortenberry reported damage to doors and windows at homes under construction on La Plata Drive with total damages estimated at $250.

Hamby Realty of Rt. 2 also reported vandalism to property at 103 Wolf where windows were broken and a door kicked in.

Frank Barrett of 345 Douglas informed police that a window was broken at his home, apparently by vandals. There was no estimate of damage.

Air rifle-wielding vandals struck at the Ink Spot, 144 West Fourth, where windows were damaged.

The 7-11 store at 13th and 25 Mile Ave. reported that some individuals stole merchandise after pretending to intend to buy gas.

Police officers made two arrests Tuesday, one on a warrant from the county sheriff's office and the second on assault charges in connection with a family disturbance.

City police issued 13 traffic citations Tuesday and made 11 police-related calls.

County sheriff's officers recovered a semi-tractor trailer rig stolen from a residence here yesterday only a few blocks from its original location. The ignition key had been taken from the rig.

A truck-pickup collision occurred near Summerfield yesterday resulting in only minor injuries. The pickup's driver was admitted to Deaf Smith General Hospital for overnight observation.

Obituaries

H.D. CULPEPPER

Services were conducted this afternoon for H.D. Culpepper, 97, a pioneer of Deaf Smith County, in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. Denzil Pulliam officiated, assisted by Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor of First Christian Church. Interment was in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Culpepper died Monday evening at Deaf Smith General Hospital after a long illness.

Coming to Deaf Smith County in 1924 from Silverton, he served as County commissioner for Precinct Three from 1934-46. He was a member of the Central Church of Christ and IOOF. A retired farmer, Mr. Culpepper was born July 19, 1883 in Savoy. He married Hettie Mae McDaniel Dec. 20, 1904 in Durant, Okla. She preceded him in death in April of 1967.

Mr. Culpepper is survived by two daughters, Zelma Kuykendall of Dove Creek, Colo., and Verna Featherston of Tulla; four sisters, Jewel Keaton of Fort Worth, Billy Thurman of Odessa, Monnie Lemma of Corpus Christi, and Golda Martin of Farwell; 10 grandchildren; 26 great-grandchildren; and 15 great-great-grandchildren.

Key Volunteers Named For Annual St. Jude Bike-a-Thon

Ann Lueb, chairman for the Hereford area St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels For Life Bike-A-Thon, today announced the names of key volunteers for the October 4 event.

Wanda Stanley is rider recruitment chairman, and she plans to have sponsor forms available at all elementary and junior high schools by Sept. 22. Anyone missed can call 364-4270 or 364-4548.

Sue Banner is prize chairman. Several local merchants have already donated prizes. Anyone interested in donating prizes can contact Mrs. Banner at 364-5085.

Refreshment chairman is Joann Jesko. Anyone wishing to help serve or provide refreshments can call her at 289-5588. Sandy Burrus will be in charge of follow-up. She will announce time and place for funds to be turned in following the ride.

Route chairman Mary Gilster and Mrs. Lueb have established a safe route using a one block area in far north Hereford. Riders will ride up to 20 laps. Starting point will be at Greenwood Baptist Church.

"Our committee people are giving their time and talent to help in the fight against cancer and other catastrophic childhood diseases," Mrs. Lueb said.

"With volunteers like these," said Mrs. Lueb, "our ride has to be a great success."

Funds raised support St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, the largest childhood cancer research institution in the world. Cancer is second only to accidents as a killer of children in this country.

Since opening in 1962, this non-sectarian research center has become the leader in developing new treatment procedures to save children stricken by catastrophic diseases.

For more information call Mrs. Lueb at 364-4548.

Fashions for Business Woman

The American Association of University women (AAUW) gathered for their first meeting of the fall at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame room for a style show and short business meeting. The style show was presented by Kathy Poland, owner of "Women's World Boutique." Mrs. Poland conducted a short fashion workshop to those present with emphasis on "fashions for the business woman." Modeling for Mrs. Poland were left Barbara Allen and Tammy Laing.

Sauce for the Goose

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I thought I had heard everything, but that letter in your column about the kid in Denver who is filling suit against his parents because they did a lousy job of raising him did it.

Now I think I'll sue my kids because they didn't turn out the way my husband and I hoped they would. We gave them a lot of love and spent thousands of dollars on their education. Not one turned out to be a doctor, a lawyer, a scientist, an engineer or president of the United States. We are disappointed and think they owe us something for letting us down. Sign this - Sauce For The Goose In Ashland, Wisc.

DEAR ASH: Your letter is a hoot, but I hope you don't start a trend. It could jam the courts permanently.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 26 years old, own my own business, am neat and clean, and have been told I'm very good-looking. I have a pleasant personality and a good sense of humor, but for the last three years not one female relationship has worked out.

I'm not crazy about hanging out in bars, or joining organizations. I devote a lot of time to my business. Here's my record: No. 1 dumped me because "I was too nice a guy." Nos. 2 and 3 said they couldn't get over their previous boyfriends. No. 4 was sure I wasn't normal because I was in no great rush to get her into bed. No. 5 left for Las Vegas to go back to her ex-husband. No. 6 was disappointed because I wouldn't change to meet her specifications. No. 7 was interested only in sex. Conversation bored her.

A month ago I met a terrific 18-year-old who works in the same building. She seems sensible, kind, respectable and interested. I've learned to ignore the "robbing-the-cradle" jokes, and I don't feel that chronological age is all that important.

Ann, I honestly care for her. Lately, I've noticed our relationship is slipping. Maybe I'm just paranoid but I don't want to lose her. Any suggestions? - Second Sting

DEAR SECOND: If this last romance falls apart, I suggest that you get some counseling and find out why you repeatedly make selections that don't pan out. That's the principal problem - it's not the women. Check the phone book under "Mental Health" and go to work and learn about yourself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I

Deadline Draws Near for W.I. Parent of Year Nominations

WTSU-Students who wish to nominate their parents for Parents of the Year at West Texas State University have until 5 p.m., Friday, Sept. 19. Parents (or Parent) of the Year will be announced during the third annual Parents' Day on Saturday, Sept. 27, at the 7:30 p.m. football game at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium between the WTSU Buffaloes and the Southwest Texas State University Bobcats.

Nomination applications are available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each weekday at the Activities Center desk. Students are required to include a paragraph about the reasons their parents should receive the honor.

Parents' Day will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the foyer of the WTSU East Dining Hall with registration.

WTSU President Max Sherman will welcome parents and students to a luncheon at noon in the dining hall. Cost of the luncheon will be $2.40 for parents and half price for children eight years of age and younger.

Entertainment will be provided and parents may visit with professors and administrators at the luncheon.

At 2 p.m., the seven colleges and schools, 12 residence halls and five church centers, in addition to other university facilities, will be open for visitation.

The University Chorale will perform at 3 p.m. in Northern Recital Hall as part of the Honor Choir Festival featuring selected high school choirs.

Parents may view a display of equestrian skills from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Horse Center located North of campus on the Canyon Expressway.

Tickets to the football game may be obtained at discount prices at the Parents' Day registration table.

He's Alive and Well

NEW YORK (AP) — The mobile manager is alive, well and up and about in the corporation, despite rumors to the contrary.

The notion had spread recently that the species, whose traits include exceptional dedication to the company and much geographical movement, was out of synch, made passe by enlightened quality-of-life concepts. "A cruel hoax," declares Prof. Eugene Jennings, who pioneered in studies of corporate management mobility more than three decades ago. You can't have it your way and get the top job, too, he says.

Jennings, Michigan State University professor, confidential adviser to chairmen of major corporations, and author of many books on corporate life, says the ingredients of top management success remain:

1. Graduate education; and among organizations; 3. Commitment to long hours, including evenings and weekends; 4. A deferential spouse; 5. A family that can be uprooted and relocated.

"Granted, some realize their high ambitions without adhering to one or several of these values," says Jennings. "But study results fly in the face of those who portray the route as easier than it really is." The study referred to was by Heidrick & Struggles, an executive search firm for whom Jennings interprets changes and trends. For one thing, it showed that the demands made by corporations have changed little. Close to 40 percent of corporation presidents come from outside the company, Jennings states, and even those who come up within the company (such as at General Motors) were mobile in the sense they were exposed to various areas of the company, tested in many jobs and moved about.

And they put in the hours, too. "Very few at the top don't work 60 hours a week," he states. Very few, he adds, don't work weekends. And few do not have a deferential spouse whose career comes second.

The fact is that these qualities, long ago attributed to mobile managers, are perhaps in greater demand than five years ago, Jennings concluded after reviewing several hundred responses in the study. "There are more MBAs (masters of business administration) and greater inter-organizational movement," he says. "Deferential spouses are in the majority and willingness to move geographically hasn't sickened." One of the clearest indications that mobility is esteemed comes in the paycheck.

"Certainly, compensation increases are greater among those who move to other organizations than those who move within," he says.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Former Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub, U.S. Army retired has recently indicated the U.S. Government may have abandoned American POW's and MIA's still unaccounted for in the Far East, 2,800 men in all - 2,490 from the Vietnam war and 389 from the Korean War some 30 years ago. Many of these men were known to be alive at the cessation of hostilities, or had been seen alive prior to Southeast Asian peace accords.

The government has 'openly' admitted that 389 prisoners of war were left in Korean prisoner of war camps after the fires of that war went out. There is mounting support, both from unofficial and official sources that American POW's and MIA's are still held captive in Indo-China. After sorting through over 300 first-hand sightings of Americans by refugee sources the American government is prepared to 'listen' to the thunders of such evidence, and possibly take action.

The recent hostage crisis in Iran, brings to the surface the pressing problem of the POW and MIA service-men. Clarification of this issue is indeed both important, and essential. Americans must realize the possibilities that our government has in the past 'abandoned' Americans in the sake of 'normalization.' This attitude can not be condoned nor is it correct. It is also important to note that we cannot afford to go to war over this issue of hostages. If that were the criteria for war, we have a much better reason for seeking retribution in Indo-China. This is provided that war is a viable way of settling moral issues, and furthering idealism. But, the POW's and MIA's must not be forgotten.

Only the most ardent and convicted campaign of the American public will bring the ear of bureaucracy within hearing distance of the 'captured Americans' plight. I urge all citizens and citizen-groups to write our public officials and request an accounting of the POW and MIA issue. Four important points should be stressed:

(1) All documents relating to POW and MIA's in Southeast Asia should be made public. These documents should include all material about Korea and Vietnam regardless of Classification or reference.

(2) The POW and MIA issue should be included as a part of all negotiations with China, The Soviet Union, North Korea, and other areas of Indo-China.

(3) Rewards to be paid in gold should be allocated for the return of all 'live' POW's still being held in Indo-China.

(4) Officials at all levels should be urged to publicly support the move of accountability of POW's and MIA's and strive to declare a national moratorium date to bring to bear national attention on this problem.

There is no final chapter in the annals of war. The wounded are many ... both physical and mental and they are wounds that never heal, but, time makes them more bearable. The POW and MIA issue is such a wound. For the soldier it is physical wound, for the American conscience it is a wound which can not be ignored nor go away, and though time has made the POW and MIA issue something we can 'live with' it has not closed the books on those boys who are still 'over there'. Help bring the POW home ... Thank you.

Bob Denver Onstage For Comedy-Mystery

Bob Denver, known to millions of television viewers as the loveable Gilligan on "Gilligan's Island," will be onstage at Amarillo's Country Squire Dinner Theatre beginning September 23 to star in the comedy-mystery "Catch Me If You Can."

Performances are scheduled Tuesday through Sunday evenings, with a special Saturday show-only matinee, through October 26.

Before his identification with the hit "Gilligan's Island" series, Denver delighted audiences of "Dobie Gillis" and Gillis' humorous sidekick Maynard G. Krebs. Other TV series included two years as the star of "The Good Guys" and then a comedy-western series called "Dusty's Trail."

Movie credits include a co-starring role in "For Those Who Think Young," with James Darren and Pamela Tiffin, "Who's Minding the Mint?" with Milton Berle and Joey Bishop, and "Sweet Ride" at 20th Century Fox.

Lately Bob and wife Dreama Peery have devoted much time to stage work, appearing together in productions across the country.

"Catch Me If You Can" is a mystery-comedy suitable for all ages. Country Squire is located at I-40 and Grand in Amarillo.

Hereford Garden Club

Discusses Flower Show

Members of the Hereford Garden Club began preparations for their annual flower show set for Oct. 10 at their recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Clinton Jackson.

Mrs. Edgar Lemons presented schedules to the members and Mrs. R.L. Ethridge spoke to the group about flower show knowledge.

Mrs. Ethridge presented three main thoughts including "the schedule is the law of the show, to harden and groom all materials and reviewed elements and principles of design."

Mrs. H.R. Cocanougher, yearbook chairman, presented the new yearbooks. She also presented the tip of the month saying now is the time to watch fruit trees for bores to put out fall plants.

Mrs. D.N. Garner presented articles from National Gardener which is still stressing to "Beautify America."

Mrs. Art Stoy served as co-hostess and arrangements were presented by Mrs. R.L. Wilson, Mrs. Cocanougher and Mrs. Ethridge.

Other members present included Mmes. O.G. Hill, W.C. Hromas, J.N. Jacobsen, G.W. Newsom, Burnie Riley, Alfred Smith, C.M. Tucker, S.S. Williams and Jack Wilcox.

Under Construction

Once considered a "fossil" like the moon with a surface little changed over millions of years, Mars now is regarded as a planet still "under construction." Like Earth, it may have a molten core, a crust that shifts and cracks and mountains that sometimes blow their tops.

Fiesta Parade

Colorful floats were a highlight of the Fiestas Patrias parade through downtown Hereford Saturday. Subjects were in keeping with the Mexican Independence Day theme. Among entries were these two floats, the one pictured in the top photo depicting the Virgin of Guadalupe, and the float in the bottom photo, sponsored by the Women's GI Forum, proclaiming the 1980's as the "Decade for Hispanics." Fiesta activities concluded here with a ball Saturday night. (Brand photos by Jim Steiert)

The Newspaper Bible

GOD HAS NO 'TEACHER'S PETS'

Well, you may be saying, "what terrible people you have been talking about!" But wait a minute! You are just as bad. When you say they are wicked and should be punished, you are talking about yourselves, for you do these very same things.

And we know that God in justice, will punish anyone who does such things as these.

Do you think that God will judge and condemn others for doing them and overlook you when you do them, too?

Don't you realize how patient He is being with you? Or don't you care? Can't you see that He has been waiting all this time without punishing you, to give you time to turn from your sin? His kindness is meant to lead you to repentance.

But no, you won't listen; and so you are saving up terrible punishment for yourselves because of your stubbornness in refusing to turn from your sin; for there is going to come a day of wrath when God will be the just Judge of all the world.

He will give each one whatever his deeds deserve.

He will give eternal life to those who patiently do the will of God, seeking for the unseen glory and honor and eternal life that He offers.

But He will terribly punish those who fight against the truth of God and walk in evil ways - God's anger will be poured out upon them.

There will be sorrow and suffering for Jews and Gentiles alike who keep on sinning.

But there will be glory and honor and peace from God for all who obey Him, whether they are Jews or Gentiles. For God treats everyone the same.

He will punish sin wherever it is found. He will punish the heathen when they sin, even though they never had God's written laws, for down in their hearts they know right from wrong. God's laws are written within them; their own conscience accuses them, or sometimes excuses them. And God will punish the Jews for sinning because they have His written laws but don't obey them. They know what is right but don't do it. After all, salvation is not given to those who know what to do, unless they do it.

COMPUTER SYSTEMS & SOLUTIONS

9-15-80

This is to introduce you to a new business in Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

Our business will be known as COMPUTER SYSTEMS & SOLUTIONS and our goal is to improve your profits through improved productivity.

We started this business because we believe that any business that wants to remain a force in the marketplace must have control over internal business information that matches or is superior to their competitors. This includes among other things, data concerning Payroll, Inventory, Accounts Receivable and Payable, Sales Cost Accounting, Production, Cash Flow and General Ledger.

Small businesses are being forced to find ways to cut labor cost and obtain tighter control over their operations.

We plan to offer assistance to you in the following manner:

- (A) Market the best total computer system available anywhere at a very competitive price. We firmly believe our system, dollar for dollar, will out perform any system in the world today!
- (B) For those who choose, for what ever reason, not to purchase their own computer system, we will offer a "Data Processing Service". This service will allow them to use a computer to input their records as well as access reports for their business.

We are sponsoring the "CHAMBER FUN BREAKFAST" this Thursday, September 18th, so that you may view some of the systems. The breakfast will be from 6:30 A.M. till 7:45 A.M. at the Community Center. The Chamber asks that you call for reservations as they must have a head count for the food.

We will of course be glad to remain after the breakfast as long as necessary to answer your questions and demonstrate some of our systems.

We also have a system at Litho-Graphics Printing & Office Supply, 621 N. Main and will be providing demonstrations Thursday and Friday. Hope to see you soon.

La Madre Mia Host Country Breakfast

La Madre Mia Study Club began their new year with a breakfast recently in the home of Mary Beth White. Theme for the morning activities was "Old Ma White's Farm."

In conjunction with the theme, members were asked to wear farming duds and come for a country breakfast. Outside decorations used included laundry hung on a line on the front porch with a wash tub and scrub board. Members went through an outhouse door as they entered for breakfast.

Following breakfast President Betty Lady conducted a short business meeting and plans were discussed for the annual Holiday Tour of Homes according to Lucy Rogers, home tour chairman.

Yearbooks were distributed for the coming year, secret pal gifts were exchanged and secret pals were revealed.

Hostesses for the morning were Mary Beth White, Mysedia Smith, Betty Taylor, Bunny Anderson and Betty Lady.

Those present included

Joyce Allred, Ruth Black, Beverly Bryant, Glenda Gerles, Mary Herring, Sharon Hodges, La Jean Henry, Sondra Martin, Gladys Merritt, Tricia Sims, Georgia Sparks, Debbie Tardy and Marlene Watson.

HHS Cross-Country Team Fares Well In 1st Track Meet

By Mauri Montgomery
Brand Sports Editor
Spurred by long distance runners Rodolfo Carrasco (a junior who placed fourth in his three-mile cross country race with a 16:37) and Kellie Howell (who paced a 15:00 cross-country time good for 17th place), the HHS cross-country boy's and girl's teams managed to make good showings in the first competition of the season at the Levelland Chamber of Commerce Meet this past weekend.

The boy's squad came out of the season debut holding a 6th place 168 point tally in the overall team standings behind Odessa High which won the event with 58 for the affair. Hobbs landed second after accumulating 76, Coronado had 89 for third, Monterey added up 90, Odessa Permian brought in 96, Dumas followed Hereford with 185, Plainview 189, Canyon 197, and Brownfield sank the tail-end of the 10

YMCA Needs Coaches

The Hereford YMCA needs more coaches for the 3-4 grade flag football teams.

For those interested in coaching a team, there will be a meeting held Thursday night at the YMCA office in Sugarland Mall.

Coaches for 1-2 grades will meet at 6:30 p.m., the 3-4 grade meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. while 5-6 grade coaches will meet at 7:30 p.m.

team field with a score of 206.

Other HHS runners for the boy's squad that made up the five best scores for the club included: Fernando Carrasco-a sophomore that turned in a time of 17:43 for 22nd place, junior runner Chris Carter who completed the run in a 19:18 for 49th, Eric Alexander-a senior on

Patricia Salazar who managed to take 25th at 15:36, Linda Sermino trailed closely behind on that run after posting a 26th place with a 15:45, Louise Mays was handed the 27th berth after clocking a 16:17 over the long run, Michelle Osborn ran a 17:24 for 40th and Kathy Morrison raced for a 17:25 that gave the squad paced a 19:52 for a 54th place berth and sophomore Edward Flores followed closely with a 19:56 race which netted him 55th in the competition.

In the girl's segment of the meet, the Whiteface long-distance team capped third place after netting a total of 83 points over the day's running. Tullia controlled the first place berth after amassing only 20, while Brownfield took second with 59, Dumas trailed Hereford after grasping 93, Hobbs added up 106 for fifth and host team Levelland came up on the end of the pack in sixth place with 120 combined points in the contest.

Olga Alaniz jaunted to the finish-line right on the heels of top HHS runner Howell after she placed 18th in the affair with a time of 15:07. Following her performance were Whiteface runners; her a 41st place in the competition.

In junior varsity running, three HHS girls placed but there was no team score in lieu of insufficient personnel on the squad.

Those cross-country runners included Holly McNeese who placed 23rd after cutting a time of 16:27, Allyson Thomas paced herself for a 26th place in the competition following her time of 16:39 and Jana Morgan brought in a time of 18:01 for a 34th place in the meet.

Freedom Takes 1-0 Advantage

NEWPORT, R.I. AP - The U.S. 12-meter yacht Freedom, skippered by Dennis Conner, scored an easy victory over Australia and took a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for sport's oldest trophy, the America's Cup.

The Big Push

Big defensive tackle Dale Phillips pushes an offensive lineman aside on the line of scrimmage and looks for the ball carrier Tuesday in the Whitefaces' preparation for the upcoming contest with the Borger Bulldogs. The Hereford defensive unit was instrumental in the Herd's 14-0 victory over the Palo Dons after allowing the Amarillo team a total of 97 yards on offense. The HHS team (now 1-1 in preseason play) is scheduled to tackle the Borger squad in Borger Friday at 7:30 p.m. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Guthrie, Rudolph, Named to Women's HOF with King

NEW YORK (AP) - The new Women's Sports Hall of Fame will provide a symbolic refuge against athletic discrimination while providing inspiration for future female sports triumphs, according to two of its first inductees.

"I really think the establishment of this Hall of Fame is a very important thing," said Janet Guthrie, the pioneer for women race car drivers. "Women tend to lose their history. The result is when an achieving woman, a woman capable of achieving something really remarkable comes along, she's made to feel like a freak."

"She's not; she's just one of a long line of very capable athletes and women in other areas of endeavor."

Wilma Rudolph, the 17th of 19 children, overcame a childhood illness and long odds to become a triple gold medalist as an Olympic sprinter. She also feels the Women's Sports Hall of Fame will make life easier for future generations of female athletes.

"I feel that it's important that we as women have a base for what we do. I think the foundation will create great leverage for young women," Rudolph said. "I've seen it come a long way. I've seen women athletes being called freaks and a number of names. Now we are young ladies involved in the world of athletics, and that feels good."

"We know we're different. I feel good being different because I can still make a major contribution."

Guthrie, Rudolph and tennis star Billie Jean King, three athletes who blazed new trails for members of their sex, were inducted into the Hall of Fame, along with six other women, at the inaugural Sports Foundation Awards Dinner Tuesday night.

Selected earlier for their contributions before 1960 were Patty Berg, golf; Babe Didrickson Zaharias, golf and track and field; Amelia Earhart, aviation; Gertrude Ederle, long distance swimming; Althea Gibson, tennis and golf, and Eleanor Holm Whalen, swimming.

The Hall of Fame will be housed in the New York headquarters of the Manufacturer's Hanover Trust Company, which also sponsors the Hall.

King, who has won a record 20 Wimbledon titles and four U.S. Open singles crowns, helped launch the first successful women's professional tennis tour in 1970.

Phillies, Pirates Struggle to Narrow Montreal Lead

Expos Keep Pressure on NL Teams

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Montreal Expos, who suffered the disappointment of staying in the division title race until the last day before being eliminated last year, are taking nothing for granted this time around.

Although 5-3 and 4-2 victories in a doubleheader with the New York Mets Tuesday night gave the Expos a 2½-game lead over Philadelphia in the National League East, there were no celebrations or cocky predictions afterward.

There was just grim determination to keep up the pressure on Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the defending champions who are now five games down after beating the Phillies 3-2.

"It was a big night, but what's more important is that we battled back in both games," said Gary Carter, who contributed his 25th homer of the season in the opening game victory that went 11 innings. In other NL games, Los Angeles and Houston stayed in a first-place tie in the West when they lost 2-1 to Atlanta and 4-3 to San Diego, respectively, while San Francisco beat Cincinnati 8-1 and Chicago edged St. Louis 6-5.

In the second game, David Palmer, 7-4, overcame a shaky start that saw the Mets take a 2-0 lead. After that, he retired 13 straight in one stretch before leaving the game after eight innings.

In the ninth, a dropped throw at the plate by New York catcher Butch Benton led to two unearned runs that broke a 2-2 tie.

"It feels good to contribute again," said Palmer of only his second start since returning from the disabled list.

Pirates 3, Phillies 2
Jim Bibby and Kent Tekulve pitched brilliantly the first five months of the season, but both tailed off in the last few weeks until Tuesday night's victory over Philadelphia.

Bibby had lost three of four prior decisions and had failed to pitch more than six innings in his last five starts, while Tekulve went 0-4 and saw the Pirates go 7-15 since his last save Aug. 22.

Bibby, now 17-5, had a two-hitter through eight innings against the Phillies before giving up Mike Schmidt's 39th homer and two walks to start the ninth. But Tekulve came in to retire three straight batters, the last two with runners on second and third and save the victory.

Padres 4, Astros 3
San Diego beat Houston for the second night in a row to keep the Astros from taking over sole possession of the lead in the West. Jerry Mumphy drove in two runs, including a game-winning double in the seventh inning, and John Curtis evened his record at 8-8 with 72-3 innings of six-hit pitching. Rollie Fingers recorded his 21st save.

Braves 2, Dodgers 1
Jerry Royster, who has 11 hits in his last 13 at-bats, drilled a run-scoring single, his fourth hit of the game, in the seventh inning to power Atlanta over Los Angeles. The Braves — still hoping to get back in the West Division race — have won five in a row and 29 of 38 to trail the leaders by six games.

Phil Niekro, 15-14, scattered five hits and struck out four in seven innings before getting relief help from Rick Camp, who saved his 17th game.

Giants 8, Reds 1
San Francisco broke a six-game losing streak and kept Cincinnati from making up ground in the pennant race as Larry Herndon and Rennie Stennett knocked in two runs apiece. Ed Whitson, 10-11, scattered six hits for the victory and also had a two-run single in the ninth.

The Reds remained 4½-games behind the Dodgers and Astros.

Cubs 6, Cardinals 5
Cliff Johnson's three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning carried Chicago over St. Louis.

Ken Oberkfell's sacrifice fly gave the Cards a 4-3 lead in the top of the eighth before singles by Jim Tracy and Bill Buckner set the table for Johnson's 10th homer. Keith Hernandez brought the Cardinals within a run in the ninth with a solo homer off winning pitcher Bill Caudill, 2-5.

Hurls 15th Clash Without a Run

Gossage Provides Golden Eggs for Squad

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Even after continual use, the New York Yankees are still squeezing Goose eggs out of Rich Gossage.

Good as gold, New York's tireless relief pitcher continued to mow them down Tuesday night as the Yankees beat the Toronto Blue Jays 5-4 and moved a step closer to the American League East title.

Coupled with Baltimore's 8-3 loss to Detroit, the Yankees improved their lead over the Orioles to a solid six games.

"He just comes in and rears back and fires," said Toronto Manager Bobby Matlack. "It makes a big difference when you've got somebody like that to come in and blow you out."

Gossage replaced starter Ron Guidry with one out and two runners on base in the seventh inning after RBIs by Lloyd Moseby and Damaso Garcia cut the Yankees' lead to one run.

The big right-hander retired Alfredo Griffin on a pop fly, struck out pinch hitter Al Woods and allowed only an infield single by Moseby with two out in the ninth. Gossage has not allowed a run in his last 15 appearances, saving 12 of those games and retiring 73 of 85 batters while yielding five hits and six walks. One batter reached on an error.

After winning three consecutive pennants, the Yankees slipped to fourth last year in the AL East in large part due to Gossage's injury-plagued season.

Elsewhere in the AL, Boston walloped Cleveland 9-5; Oakland defeated Texas 4-2 and Chicago edged Seattle 2-1. Rain postponed a doubleheader between Minnesota and Milwaukee and a contest between Kansas City and California.

The Yankees jumped on Jim Clancy, 13-13, for three runs in the bottom of the first after he walked Willie Randolph and Bobby Murcer, the first two batters. Oscar Gamble singled the first run across, and Jim Spencer and Rick Cerone added RBIs.

John Mayberry opened the Toronto second with his 25th home run, but the Yankees added two decisive runs in the fifth on a walk to Bobby Brown, a stolen base, Randolph's single, Murcer's sacrifice fly and Gamble's third single of the game.

The victory, the Yankees' sixth in a row and 14th in 15 games this month, improved Guidry's record to 14-10.

Tigers 8, Orioles 3
Steve Kemp drove in four runs while rapping out three hits, including his 19th homer, to lead Detroit over Baltimore.

Kemp's two-run homer in the sixth off Steve Stone, 23-7, forced a 2-2 tie and his two-run single off reliever Tippy Martinez capped a four-run rally in the seventh.

Norris post his 20th victory as Oakland defeated Texas.

Mickey Klutts, whose two-run homer in the ninth sent the game into extra innings tied at 2-2, led off the 11th with a single off Danny Darwin, the third Texas pitcher. One out later, Orlando Gonzalez singled to right to set up McKay's game-winning hit. Darwin walked Jeff Newman intentionally to load the bases, and Mario Guerrero's sacrifice fly scored the second run of the inning.

White Sox 2, Mariners 1
Chet Lemon hit a solo homer and a triple, scoring both of Chicago's runs, and

Landry Praises Philly Squad

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry says about the only things that could keep the Philadelphia Eagles out of the playoffs are injuries or fatigue from carrying Dick Vermeil off the field.

"He just comes in and Denver.

Landry refused to criticize quarterback Danny White, saying "It will take him time to get the feel of things. He's very intelligent. He'll get there."

Both dropped out of the top 10 and were replaced by No. 8 Littlefield and No. 10 Edna.

Other teams receiving voter consideration were: 5A, Lubbock Coronado, 18 points, Bryan and Austin Reagan 12 each, Abilene Cooper 11, Longview 8; 4A, Ennis, 17, Corpus Christi West Osco 12, Mount Pleasant 10 and McKinney 9; 3A, Barbers Hill 10, Willis 11, and Rockdale 9 and 2A, Seagraves 14, Wheeler 11 including one first place votes and Mart, 10.

Here is The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points based on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Class 5A

He (Stevenson) telegraphed where he was going to throw the ball," said Simmons.

North Texas State quarterback Joe Stevenson did it once too often Saturday night. Seconds later Simmons was dragging Stevenson into the end zone at the end of a 26-yard interception return.

Simmons' touchdown helped put North Texas State on ice in a 28-9 Southern Methodist non-conference football victory and earned the senior cornerback The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award.

Simmons now has 11 career interceptions.

The 5-11, 188-pounder wasn't recruited out of high school by the University of Arkansas although he was named to The AP Super Team and the Arkansas Gazette Super Team.

"Maybe they (the Razorbacks) didn't think I was fast enough," said Simmons. "My speed has increased in college."

Simmons was clocked in 4.4 seconds in the 40 last spring, one of the fastest on the team. SMU was the only major college team to recruit him.

"I was a running back in high school and I thought I'd be a running back in college," he said. "I enjoy carrying the ball."

SMU Coach Ron Meyer said Simmons and the other cornerback, Charles Bruton, who had two interceptions against North Texas, are as good a pair as you can find.

"They are two quality players," said Meyer. Simmons, who had a reputation of gambling too much early in his career, said he has settled down.

"You can get into trouble gambling and every now and then I have to catch myself," said Simmons.

But what Simmons mostly catches is passes thrown by other team's quarterbacks.

Breckenridge Receives High Rating in AP Top Twenty

The easiest choice for voters in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll came in Class 3A this week where Breckenridge received the unanimous support of all 18 sports writers and sportscasters.

Breckenridge defeated Iowa Park 20-6 in its season opener and came back last week with a 21-7 victory over perennial Class 4A power Brownwood to earn the unanimous selection.

Meanwhile, Temple in Class 5A, Bay City in 4A and Pilot Point in 2A rolled on as the No. 1 ranked teams in their classifications.

Temple blasted San Antonio Sam Houston 55-6 to easily retain its advantage over No. 2 Plano and third ranked Port Arthur Jefferson. Plano and Port Arthur Jeff switched places from a week ago.

Bay City shutout Dickinson 10-0 to remain the Class 4A leader and Pilot Point waxed Whitesboro 20-6.

The Class 5A ranks suffered three losses last week including No. 6, Lewisville, No. 8 San Antonio Churchill and No. 10 Texas City. Churchill, which lost to San Antonio Highlands 16-13, was the lone loser to survive, retaining the No. 9 position.

Port Neches-Groves, expected to challenge Port Arthur Jefferson in Dist. 22-5A, moved into the No. 10 spot and Eules Trinity, 2-0, took over the eighth spot.

No. 6 Paris, No. 7 Brownwood and No. 9 McKinney suffered losses among the 4A rankings with Paris dropping to No. 8 and Brownwood and McKinney dropping from the top 10. Corsicana, No. 9, and Andrews, No. 10, are the 4A newcomers.

Ninth ranked Port Isabel was defeated by Marine Military Academy of Harlingen 44-14 and San Augustine, tied for 10th last week, lost for the second straight week on the 2A list.

"I've never seen a coach (Vermeil) carried off the field in September before," said Landry. "Usually you wait until a little later in the year for that. I'm just glad we don't play the Eagles for awhile."

Vermeil was hoisted to the shoulders of his players after last Sunday's 42-7 drubbing of Minnesota — the same day Denver blasted the Cowboys 41-20.

"If the Eagles can avoid injuries, they will be a cinch for the playoffs. They are out in front and their schedule isn't real tough," Landry said.

Dallas doesn't play the Eagles until Oct. 19 in Philadelphia.

The Cowboys must face unbeaten Tampa Bay Sunday in Texas Stadium which will be a sauna at the 3 p.m. kickoff if the current Texas heat wave continues as predicted.

"We'll start working out (Wednesday) in the hot weather at 3 p.m. ... we'll work through the heat," said Landry.

Temperatures reached 100 degrees or higher on 68 days in Dallas this summer and Landry has varied the workout schedule to get around the blistering Texas heat.

He said it was tough to condition the team as hot as it has been. He cited tailback Tony Dorsett as an example.

"Tony missed the last two preseason games and, because of the heat, it's been hard for him to get back into condition," Landry said.

Landry also said if it's extremely hot Sunday — the long range forecast says it will — "We will substitute a lot."

He said the Denver whipping was not setting well with his players.

"It got their attention. Not many players on this team have been with us when we got beat that bad," Landry noted.

The Cowboys opened strong with a Monday night 17-3 victory over Washington on the road then had to travel to

World Sugar Stock Drawdown Likely in 80-81

WASHINGTON--World sugar output in 1980-81 is expected to total 87 to 92 million metric tons (raw value), up from an estimated 85.4 million in 1979-80. However, the exact level will depend on weather, the size of the rust-plagued Cuban crop, and the extent of Brazilian diversion of cane from ethanol to sucrose production.

Global sugar consumption in 1980-81 is estimated to rise about 1 percent from 1979-80's 91 million metric tons. Thus a stock drawdown of 2 to 3 million tons is likely. After jumping about 10 cents in May to 31 cents a pound (68 cents a kilogram) the International Sugar Agreement (ISA) world price for raw sugar has fluctuated between 28 and 34 cents. With no solid evidence of substantial changes in world supply-demand prospects, speculative market adjustments and uncertainty about the 1980-81 outlook likely touched off the price movements. The ISA's Stock Financing Fund went into operation on July 1, 1980. Since then, all sugar traded between ISA member countries has been subject to a fee of 50 U.S.

cents per metric ton (about 0.023 cents a pound). The Fund will finance the holding of special buffer stocks, should they again become necessary. The U.S. raw sugar price (New York spot) has closely followed world price movements. In August, the price rose to nearly 36 cents a pound (80 cents a kilogram) before relaxing to around 32 cents toward the end of the month. The average retail price for refined sugar in the United States jumped up sharply in July to 42 cents a pound (92.4 cents a kilogram). Between January and July, the retail price rose 59 percent, compared with increases of 61 percent in the world price and 53 percent in the wholesale price of bulk sugar. Retail sugar prices for the rest of 1980 are expected to rise only slightly from current levels unless 1980-81 crop prospects deteriorate from present estimates. U.S. beet sugar output in 1980-81 may total around 2.9 million short tons (raw value); 2.6 million metric tons, near last year's level. Estimated sugarbeet acreage for harvest of 1.18 million (478,000 hectares) is up 5 percent, but a severe drought in the Red River Valley (Minnesota-North Dakota) has reduced average U.S. beet yields about 1 ton per acre. The 1980-81 sugarbeet crop could total 22 million tons (20 million metric tons), about equal to last season.

U.S. prices for HFCS in January were up 60 percent from 1980-81 world cocoa crop in excess of estimated consumption, causing stocks to rise for the fourth straight season. Partly in anticipation, cocoa prices have declined from $1.39 a pound ($3.06 a kilogram) in January to around $1.00 in August. Lower prices could stimulate increased U.S. use of cocoa in 1981.

U.S. prices for HFCS in January were up 60 percent from 1980-81 world cocoa crop in excess of estimated consumption, causing stocks to rise for the fourth straight season. Partly in anticipation, cocoa prices have declined from $1.39 a pound ($3.06 a kilogram) in January to around $1.00 in August. Lower prices could stimulate increased U.S. use of cocoa in 1981.

Hot, dry weather in much of the country has reversed earlier production prospects for U.S. honey in 1980. An output of around 190 to 200 million pounds (86 to 91 million kilograms) is now expected, down nearly a fifth from 1979. Smaller world and U.S. supplies have recently strengthened prices.

U.S. sugar imports through June 1980 totaled 2.10 million tons (raw value); 1.91 million metric tons, down 16 percent from the same period in 1979. Imports in calendar 1980 are expected to slip about a tenth to around 4.5 million tons (4.1 million metric tons).

U.S. sugar exports totaled 223,000 tons (raw value); 202,000 metric tons) during January - June 1980, compared with a 1979 calendar year total of only 18,000 tons (16,000 metric tons). Exports in calendar 1980 may total about 350,000 tons (318,000 metric tons), as exporters take advantage of drawback privileges on previously imported sugar.

Total mainland stocks of raw and refined sugar fell to 2.5 million tons (raw value; 2.3 million metric tons) on July 1, down nearly 800,000 tons (726,000 metric tons) from a year ago. Reduced beet sugar stocks accounted for 70 percent of the drop, as beet sugar deliveries nearly matched 1979's January-June pace despite a 12.5-percent smaller beet sugar output.

High fructose corn drop (HFCS) shipments in 1980 will likely reach 2.1 million tons (dry basis); 1.9 million metric tons, up 20 percent from 1979. Glucose corn sirup sales for food use are expected to slightly exceed 1979's 2 million tons (dry basis); 1.8 million metric tons). Dextrose shipments for food use are likely to total about 425,000 tons (dry basis; 386,000 metric tons) in 1980, up 6 percent from last year.

WAC Seed To Host Field Day

WAC Seed Co. will host a grain sorghum and corn variety field day Thursday beginning at 10 a.m. at the Pacific Oilseeds sunflower plant on Holly Sugar Road.

Coffee and donuts will be served at the plant prior to a tour of grain plots with Dr. Geoffrey Thomas.

A free barbecue lunch will be served at the Pacific plant following the tour and a question and answer session will then be moderated by Dr. Thomas.

Individuals planning to attend should contact the WAC office at 364-1424.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cigarette smoking by Americans is expected to decline by an additional 1.1 percent this year, as measured on a per capita basis, says the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Monday the 1980 estimate of cigarette "consumption" now is 3,880 cigarettes - 194 packs of 20 each - compared to 3,924 cigarettes or 196.2 packs in 1979.

The per capita smoking figure used by USDA refers to people 18 years old and older, and include non-smokers as well as smokers.

Tower Issues Own Call For Embargo Hearings

WASHINGTON-In light of the Carter Administration's continued vigorous defense of its Soviet grain embargo, Senator John Tower has joined in the call for comprehensive joint Senate hearings to examine the use of trade suspensions in the conduct of U.S. foreign policy.

Tower and 10 of his Senate colleagues called for joint hearings involving the Senate Agriculture, Banking and Foreign Relations Committees. The Senators contend that by drawing on the expertise of these committees, the hearings could provide the first comprehensive Senate overview of the use of trade as a tool of foreign policy.

Tower has consistently criticized the President's imposing the embargo, saying it is both an inappropriate and ineffective response to the Russian invasion of Afghanistan.

In their call for the joint hearings, the Senators cited "the President's willingness—and perhaps even his commitment—to use trade suspensions as a principal means to implement U.S. foreign policy," and noted that it "represents a significant development in the conduct of foreign policy and trade relations."

The Senators said the hearings could provide answers to a number of questions surrounding the use of embargoes:

-Does the Administration intend to make future use of trade suspensions as an instrument of foreign policy?

-Have trade suspensions proven to be an effective tool of foreign policy?

-What effect will the use of food as a foreign policy tool have on the U.S. agricultural sector and world agricultural production and distribution?

-How can U.S. agricultural productivity and expertise best be used in a positive way to support U.S. foreign policy interests?

-What parameters, if any, would the Administration place upon the use of trade suspensions for foreign policy purposes?

-Should the current embargo on high technology to the Soviet Union be expanded to include other members of the Warsaw Pact?

-What are the Administration's intentions regarding future trading relations between the U.S. and the Soviet Union?

-Why did the Administration limit itself to only three responses to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, i.e. do nothing, go to war or impose diplomatic and economic sanctions?

-How did the Administration make the decision to take the action it did against the Soviets?

-Under what circumstances would the Soviet embargo be modified or ended?

Grain Program Views Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is asking the public for its views on how to set up next year's program for corn and other feed grains.

A major item is whether to require corn farmers to idle part of their land next year as a condition for getting federal price supports and other benefits.

On Aug. 15, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced a decision not to have wheat farmers set aside part of their land for the 1981 harvest. Later last month he said "the odds are against any kind of feed grains set-aside for 1981."

One reason the land-idling requirement seems remote at the present time is the reduced harvests of corn, sorghum and other grains — except wheat — that resulted from this summer's drought and heat wave.

Also, world demand for U.S. grain is at a record level and is expected to remain strong through next year. Thus, if export requirements — possibly triggered by short crops in other parts of the world — should increase still further, American farmers could be caught with millions of acres of idle land at a time when needs and prices are climbing.

Deputy Secretary Jim Williams, acting while Bergland was out of town, said public comments on the 1981 feed grains program should be submitted by Oct.

27. The deadline for announcing the program is Nov. 15.

Williams said views also are wanted on levels of price support, target prices and the price levels at which grain is released from the farmer-owned reserve program that is operated by the government.

Written comments can be sent by Oct. 27 to: Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, USDA, Room 3630-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

In a related development, the department also said Friday it has decided to begin a price-support program for sunflower seed, primarily a source of high-quality vegetable oil.

Williams said several levels of support are under consideration — $6, $7 and $8 per 100 pounds of seed.

Public comments on the sunflower seed program, specifically whether it should involve traditional price-support loans, purchases or combinations, can be sent to the same address by Oct. 16, he said.

Officials said they "see a long-term increase in sunflower seed production, although 1980 acreage declined 10 percent from 1979," when seed output almost doubled from 1978. The major producer of sunflower seed is North Dakota, followed by Minnesota and South Dakota.

Fertilizer Use Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fertilizer industry organization says production and shipments of most fertilizer products show an increase over year-earlier levels.

The Fertilizer Institute, in a recent report, said figures for July — the first month of the new fertilizer marketing year — indicate "an optimistic outlook" for this fall.

Edwin M. Wheeler Jr., president of the institute, said production of key products such as anhydrous ammonia and "wet process" phosphoric acid increased substantially in July.

Ranch Day Set Saturday At Tech Heritage Center

LUBBOCK — Self-sufficiency was a passport for ranchers in early America, and visitors at the 11th annual Ranch Day Saturday, Sept. 20, will see how those pioneers made do.

Ranch Day, sponsored by the Ranching Heritage Association, takes place on the 12-acre Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University. Admission is free to the public for the first time in several years. The barbecue luncheon, however, is $6 per person.

The annual meeting of the Ranching Heritage Association, and the election of officers, will take place immediately following lunch. President Lauro F. Cavazos of Texas Tech University will be the speaker. Ed Wilkes of KRLB Radio, Lubbock, will be master of ceremonies.

The Ranching Heritage Center, with its score of authentically restored ranching structures, depicts the early history of ranching in America.

On Ranch Day there will be activity in all the buildings so visitors can learn how wool is carded and spun, how rawhide is used to make a chair seat, how tack was cleaned and a variety of other crafts used to make life more livable on the frontier.

Volunteers who will demonstrate will know their 19th century ranch crafts. Betty Mills, Museum curator of costumes and textiles, has copied designs from pillow shams in The Museum collection so that volunteers will be embroidering authentic designs of the past century. They will even be using the turkey red embroidery floss so popular in that time. The embroidery group will be working in the Box and Strip House at the center.

Quilters at Las Escarbas, the large field stone house from the XIT Ranch, will be using a quilting frame from The Museum collection to practice one of the arts that is regaining popularity.

So that even the smells will be authentic, William C. Green, conservator of history at The Museum, has researched traditional German food, and a volunteer Ranch Day occupant of Hedwigs Hill, the double log cabin, will be pickling cabbage and cucumbers.

Tanning and canning and cooking will be other activities so visitors can experience the sights and sounds, as well as the odors, of the past.

Docent-Volunteer Guild members who will be participating include Gladys Martin, Maude Blomshield, John Blomshield, Muriel Landers, Sidney Landers, Mary Ripple, Jan Kimbley, Madge Webster, Sue Nan Merrill, Dodie Patterson, Verna Pistole, Martha Spears and Lena Waters.

Members of the Quilters' Guild serving as volunteers for the event include Margaret Jordan, Nell Peel, Donna Locke, Connie Luger, Mildred Franklin, Iva Barker and Carrie Lou Holtzman. Community volunteers Alice French, Melvin French and Larry McDonald also will be participating.

In addition to museum staff, teachers for the volunteers have been Madge Webster and T.J. Pearson. Folksingers will furnish music throughout the day. The site will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30-4:30 p.m.

Amid all the complaints about the gasoline shortage, there was recently this letter on the editorial page of the Washington Star: "In your listing of rules and regulations on the odd-even gas plan, you said that van pools are eligible for an exemption certificate. Does that include me?" It was signed "Gerald M. Van Pool, Kensington, Md."

Church Ceremony Eases Pain of Divorce

DALLAS (AP) — Standing before their minister, their friends and family gathered around, the couple recites their special ceremony, receives a blessing and leave the church altar.

Dave and Lynn (not their real names) have not just married. They have just divorced.

After 13 years of marriage and three children, the couple found their union was not working. They sought counsel from the man who married them — Robert Elliott, a United Methodist Church minister and professor at Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University.

Together, they worked out a divorce service, performed in the same church as their wedding 13 years earlier.

Elliott said the idea of a divorce service had developed through his years of counseling troubled couples. The church, he said, can make divorce more painful by frowning on couples who split.

"Divorce is the only major life trauma for which the church has no ritual, no rite of passage to help a person symbolically traverse the dangerous passage from one stage of life the next, to let go of the ties to the old and to risk receiving the gifts and tasks of the new," he said.

The divorce service is something akin to a funeral in that it offers a catharsis, a ceremonial ending that may help participants close the emotional door on an unsuccessful marriage.

He calls it "a service of ending and beginning."
The service for Dave and Lynn was Elliott's first and only. But he said publicity about his service in Arizona and California prompted a flood of requests for copies of his ceremony.

Portions of Dave and Lynn's ceremony said:
"The two of you once stood in a place like this, before God, and exchanged vows of commitment in marriage. Those vows were made in good faith and earnest commitment. But sometimes even the most earnest vows cannot be kept..."

Lynn then said:
"Dave, I release you as my husband and ask you to be my friend. I cannot be your wife, but I affirm again my love and respect for you. ... I ask your forgiveness and offer you mine for the hurts that we have done one another."
Elliott concluded the service with this declaration:
"I declare that you are, before God, released from your bonds of marriage and are no longer husband and wife. You are set free to face new futures as separate persons. Carry no burden of guilt or recrimination for what is past. Accept grief as it may come, but release the past into the past and receive the future as God's gift of new possibility."

Elliott agreed that the divorce service is not for everyone and that timing often is important. Dave and Lynn had been divorced legally for eight months when they decided they were ready for the service.

Like any emotion-charged subject, Elliott's service has touched off some controversy.

"Frankly, I think it's artificial, a contradiction of what worship of God means," said Sudduth Cummings, an Episcopal priest with the of the Church of the Incarnation. "I would never use it and I could never see a time when we as a church would sanction such a service."

Diana Heath, minister of the First Unitarian Church here said she would not use the service, preferring "counseling to help the couple achieve an OK divorce."

"Marriage is a celebration, something to be shared with the community," she said. "Divorce is a loss and grief situation, something more private."

Joseph Quillian, dean of the Perkins School of Theology, called the divorce service "sound."

"Anytime the church doesn't turn its back on people, that's sound," he said. "There's no reason something shouldn't be done ceremonially for committed Christians who divorce."

"And committed Christians do get divorces, you know."
A Presbyterian minister whose 15-year marriage recently ended in divorce, said he and his ex-wife "have the kind of relationship where such a service would be not only appropriate but meaningful."

"I have always felt the church was missing something in its relationship to divorced people, and now the matter comes home rather forcefully," said the pastor, who preferred not to be quoted by name.

"How dare the churches condone divorce?" asked one man who said he stuck out an unhappy marriage for 11 years because he felt his promise before God was sacred.

"It's a bold thing to do," Elliott admitted. "The church has to sanction the breaking of vows. Some people are unable to keep their vows, and the church must offer forgiveness, not guilt."
"It offers enough of that anyway."
But Elliott said he doesn't see the service as endorsing divorce, but accepting the reality of an emotional crisis that has touched millions of people.

=Formula stains removed=

DEAR POLLY — I have a problem getting formula stains from my baby's clothes and from clothes that have been handed down from the older child. Thanks for all your help. — KELLY
DEAR KELLY — One laundry authority suggests using fabric color remover (found at the dye counter in variety stores) for removing stubborn stains from white clothing. Use according to directions and then launder with an enzyme detergent. If any stains remain, dissolve one ounce stannic acid crystals (found at the drug store) in a gallon of water in a plastic container. Soak clothes 10 to 15 minutes and launder again with the enzyme detergent. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I always keep on hand a few small and medium size cans that fruit or vegetables come in. The tops are removed with a can opener and the cans carefully washed and dried to be ready to hold the small amount of paint needed for little touch up jobs. — MAE

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Sharon, who wanted to know of a good way to loosen that sand and grit that is often found in greens, kale, spinach, lettuce, etc. We have both spring and fall gardens and the best way I have found to do this is to put a couple of squirts of dishwashing detergent in the sink and then fill it about half way with water. Immerse the greens in this for about half an hour and then drain the water off. Rinse in clear water at least twice and they should be clean and ready to cook. — M

DEAR POLLY — During a recent thunder storm our current went off and stayed off all night. I devised a way to light my sleeping area safely. A candle was placed in an aluminum pan and then set in the bottom of the bathtub. I could sleep worry free as there was enough light to get up by, and the candle could do no damage. — GLADYS

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Less elastic artery

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have essential hypertension. I'm 65 years old and weigh 200 pounds. I'm 5 feet 11. I've been told that my condition is labile in nature. Recent blood pressure readings have been from 202 over 110 to 150 over 64. I take Aprozoline and Hydrochlorothiazide. Also Motrin for my arthritis and I pop vitamin E, three aspirins and a zinc tablet each day.

What bothers me is the wide spread between my systolic and diastolic readings. Frequently the spread is 100 points or more. Would you also comment on my medications?

DEAR DR. LAMB — The upper reading, the systolic pressure, is the highest level in your arteries. The lowest reading, the diastolic level, is the lowest level of pressure in your arteries. The highest pressure is reached at the peak of the ejection of blood from the heart into your arteries occurring while the heart is contracting.

One reason for the systolic pressure to be high is because the heart is pumping out a lot of blood each time it contracts. You can see this in the healthy, young athlete who is working vigorously.

A second reason for a rise in the systolic pressure is the loss of the elasticity of the aorta, the large artery that comes directly from your heart. In a young person this large artery is very elastic and as blood is squirted out from the heart into the arteries it merely stretches. That keeps the pressure from going too high.

As people get older the artery hardens and loses its elasticity. The more this occurs the more likely it is that the systolic blood pressure will rise. This can occur even though the low reading (diastolic) might be normal. There are other reasons for a high systolic pressure and a normal or a low diastolic pressure. These are usually related to a defect in the valve at the outlet of the heart.

In view of your history and the two pressure readings you've included in your letter, I would think that you probably have some loss of elasticity of your aorta which would be normal in your age group. The labile nature of your blood pressure may be associated with increased pumping action of your heart. It's a little difficult to judge since you're already on medicine.

If it's true that you have a tendency to have an overactive heart part of the time, you might do well on propranolol (Inderal). Many times doctors have to try different combinations of medicines to find out what works best for each individual patient.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-8, Your Vital Blood Pressure. It will explain in greater detail the three main factors that influence your blood pressure and how they're influenced by different medicines. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You can influence your blood pressure a great deal by your life style. If you have any excess fat, and I suspect you do at your body weight, you'd be very wise to get rid of it. Other aspects of your life style that influence your blood pressure are also discussed in The Health Letter I'm sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like some information on the pancreas. Could you tell me what its functions are? My sister has a malignant tumor of the pancreas. She has had surgery for it but the doctors didn't remove the tumor or the pancreas. They have been giving her chemotherapy treatments which have made her very ill and they are now giving her radiation treatments. Will they help her to live longer? When they did her surgery they made a bypass of the tumor and clamped it off.

What would cause a tumor of the pancreas? She seemed in good health until about six weeks ago when she became very nauseated and couldn't keep her food down. Prior to that she had had a complete physical. The doctors found nothing wrong then and she had had the tests of the upper and lower digestive system and it didn't show up. They finally made a stomach scan which showed a tumor in her side.

DEAR READER — I'm sorry to hear of your sister's problem. It's a very serious illness as you realize.

I sometimes call the pancreas the enzyme organ because one of its main functions is to form pancreatic juice that drains into the small intestine at the same point the bile drains from your liver. It contains enzymes that are important in the digestive process of breaking down carbohydrates of all kinds, fats and proteins. If a person is not producing sufficient amounts of these enzymes and can't break down these basic food elements, he will lose much of the undigested food through the colon.

Scattered throughout the pancreas are the little tiny endocrine glands called the islets of Langerhans. These produce insulin to maintain your normal blood glucose level. Defective islets can lead to diabetes.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 11-4, The Pancreas: Your Enzyme Organ. It will give you more details about the pancreas and its function and various diseases that can affect it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

When a tumor is in the body of the pancreas so that it doesn't press on any other structure, it can be silent for a long time, not producing any symptoms. That enables it to get fairly advanced before trouble is spotted. If the tumor happens to be in the head of the pancreas that's wrapped around the bile duct, it can obstruct the bile duct and cause sudden painless jaundice.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you explain "abnormal ECG due to hypokalemia." I am overweight and I do not understand this. I have an irregular heartbeat real bad at times.

DEAR READER — That means that the doctor who read your electrocardiogram saw characteristics on it that we attribute to a low potassium level. Incidentally, you can develop a low potassium if you're on some of the drastic reducing diets. I mention this because of your comment about being overweight. Also a low potassium level can contribute to irregularities of the heart. Some of the diuretics used to wash out water not only wash out sodium salt and water but also wash out potassium. This includes some of the medicines used in the treatment of high blood pressure.

Fall Brings End to Peak Pest Control Period

By RAYMOND THOMPSON and JAMES LESER

The rain we have all been waiting for finally arrived—a month too late. The greatly needed moisture will help our winter wheat crop prospects and begin to fill our moisture depleted soils. Cotton fields have lots of open bolls. Producers need to start thinking about an early harvest. Bollworm and beet armyworm problems are mostly over except for a few scattered instances. Aphid problems have been temporarily relieved by recent rains. A very few boll weevils were finally found in a couple of fields below the Caprock.

Weevil populations are very light again this year. Soybeans are still susceptible to beet armyworm and podworm damage but spraying for these pests is just about finished. Wheat fields need to be checked for greenbugs, armyworms and flea beetle problems. A few late planted sorghum fields could still have problems with sorghum midge and headworms. Corn harvest is well underway.

COTTON

Problems with bollworms and beet armyworms are pretty much over for this year. While moths of these two pests are still abundant, and some fields are still receiving heavy egg lays, infestations of worms for the most part are not developing. A combination of factors is probably responsible including increased predator activity, the advanced maturity of the cotton crop as a whole and hence its unsuitability as a host to support infestations, and most importantly, the infertility of bollworm eggs.

It appears that bollworm moths are just plain "tuckered out." Several eggs per leaf is not an uncommon sight with the majority of these eggs failing to hatch. Also, when eggs are grouped closer together, predators tend to find them easier. The few eggs that are hatching are not producing very many viable worms. It's fairly easy to find dead 1-3 day old worms up in squares.

I think we can safely say it's over for more producers on the South Plains. A few fields remain that will develop economic infestations and others exist that need to be cleaned up right now, but the vast majority are through with pest problems.

The economics of worm control at this time is highly uncertain. Bollworm and beet armyworm damage has become more evident to farmers during the last few days. Don't compound earlier mistakes and treat these late infestations. It simply won't pay. If you have doubts at this time as to whether or not a field needs to be treated, it probably doesn't. Also, it probably would be a good idea to stop using ovicides in most instances since very few eggs are hatching anyway.

The biggest problem facing producers at this time is not pest related. Whether or not it is economical to harvest the crop is of great concern. While some acreage has already been abandoned, decisions on much of the remaining drought stressed acreage are left. Harvest should also be of concern even at this early date. With so much open cotton, early harvest will be necessary to avoid "stringing out," weathering effects and excessive yield loss.

WHEAT

Greenbugs are still increasing in area wheat so check your fields. Some fields have been invaded by an additional pest—flea beetles—a small (less than one-eighth inch), shiny, black beetle that hops when disturbed. Feeding by flea beetles is very obvious due to the small size of the wheat plants. Leaves are skeletonized causing the plants to appear bleached out before they wilt and die. Infestations usually begin on field margins and gradually move across the field. If flea beetle damage becomes excessive, control measures may be necessary. Parathion is probably the best and most cost effective material currently available. In addition to excellent flea beetle control, greenbugs will be controlled, too. (Caution! Grazing restriction is 2 weeks).

SOYBEANS

Soybeans that still have green leaves and pods are still attractive to beet armyworms and corn earworms. Continue scouting beans until lower leaves begin turning yellow and falling off.

New Program Aimed At Boosting Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of agribusiness leaders is putting together a gung-ho program to help boost U.S. farm exports in the coming years, a move they say is necessary to help build a stronger farm economy.

The program, unveiled Monday, has two objectives:

—Identifying specific ways that maximum expansion for farm exports can be achieved over the next five to 10 years.

—Telling all Americans of the "critical role" farm exports play in creating jobs, reducing inflation and strengthening the U.S. dollar.

The new program, called the "U.S. Farm Export Education Project," will involve "leading members of the farm and export community with top decision-makers" in Congress and throughout the federal establishment, its sponsors said.

The program, which is being coordinated by the Agricultural Council of America, will be headed by a so-called Blue-Ribbon Committee on Export Expansion.

Don Chartier, president of FAR-MAR-CO, Hutchinson, Kan., is chairman of the committee. Other members include three former secretaries of agriculture — Orville Freeman, Earl Butz and Clifford Hardin — and a current governor, John Carlin of Kansas.

"We can conclusively demonstrate that this nation's economic well-being is directly and substantially linked to the growth and expansion of farm exports,"

Chartier said.

"With double-digit inflation causing so much uncertainty in our economy, there's no better time to promote one of the real strengths in our nation," he said. "Agricultural exports occupy a position of major importance in the U.S. economy — with the potential to assume an even more significant role in the future."

The Agriculture Department, which has been boosting U.S. farm exports for years, recently said those exports would rise to a record value of $40 billion in the fiscal year that will end on Sept. 30, a 25 per cent increase from $32 billion in 1978-79. And USDA predicted a possible rise to as much as $45 billion next year.

Chartier said his "Blue Ribbon Committee" will meet at the end of this month to consider a draft of a plan to guide the export effort.

The draft will be presented by a steering committee headed by Tom Hughes, administrator of USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, and Darwin Stolte, president of the U.S. Feed Grains Council.

In turn, the plan will be distributed by members of Congress who will be asked to name prominent constituents to serve on a national task force on farm export expansion.

"We hope this phase of the project will attract significant input from non-farm leaders — people who ultimately must be convinced that increasing farm exports is a matter of national, not just agricultural, interest," Chartier said.

A National Conference on Farm Export Expansion is scheduled for Feb. 9-11, 1981, in Washington, he said.

Those interested in more information on the project can contact: U.S. Farm Export Education Project, P.O. Box 23421, Washington, D.C. 20024.

Soviets Continue Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, continuing its recent buying spurge, has bought an additional 200,000 metric tons of U.S. grain for delivery in the year that will begin on Oct. 1.

Agriculture Department officials said Monday the latest orders, reported by private exporting companies, included 100,000 metric tons of wheat and 100,000 of corn.

The new orders raised to more than 4.2 million metric tons the total of grain Russia has bought for 1980-81, the final year of a five-year agreement under which regular sales are specified.

President Carter on Jan. 4 suspended additional sales of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union in response to its invasion of Afghanistan. But he exempted the five-year agreement, under which Russia can have a maximum of eight million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn.

Thus, according to the latest information, Russia now has bought more than half of what it is eligible to get in the fifth and final year of the agreement.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat.
