EFFORT TO SAVE CAMERA IS FATAL

C. L. Swartz, a Photographer, Killed by Train

STRUCK BY KATY FLYER

Was About to Take View of New South Hemphill Manufacturing Plant

C. L. Swartz, a well-known photographer of this city, was struck by a train and killed this morning while trying to save his camera, which he had placed in position upon the Katy tracks south of the city.

The accident occurred shortly before 10:30 o'clock and Swartz died an hour later before he could be removed to St. Joseph's Infirmary, as intended.

Swartz was struck by the heavy timber of the pilot of the southbound Katy Flyer and hurled about fifteen feet. When picked up it was found that he had suffered a compound fracture of the right forearm, together with internal injuries.

Swartz, accompanied by James Hays Quarles, B. L. Waggoman and William Capps, went out to the plant of the Fort Worth Iron and Steel Company, South Hemphill, this morning to secure photographs and descriptive matter regarding the new industry.

Witness' Story

According to a witness of the accident, Swartz and Quarles were on the Katy right of way and had adjusted the camera so as to secure the best view and light for a picture. The whistle of the southbound train was heard and Swartz at once started for his camera. Quarles tried to stop him, but was unable to do so.

The photographer dashed upon the track directly in front of the engine. He succeeded in reaching the instrument, but was struck at the same instant. The train was stopped and those with him at once rushed to his assistance and summoned a physician.

Was Widely Known

Mr. Swartz, who was about 40 years of age, was one of the best known photographers in North Texas and had been engaged in business here about fifteen years. He was a familiar figure at all public gatherings, where he invariably secured group pictures. His views of the Al Hayne Triangle filled with people gathered to greet President Roosevelt attracted much attention.

He is survived by a widow and two children, together with his brother, John Swartz, who was summoned immediately after the accident.

Funeral arrangements had not been made at noon today.

SEARCH ORDERED FOR MISSING BANKER

Abraham Schiffer, Controlling Owner of Alamosa Institution, Unheard from Since Last Thursday

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Through police headquarters a country-wide alarm has been sent out for Abraham Schiffer, a controlling owner in the silk firm of Holgran & Meyer and a part owner of the Alamosa Bank of Alamosa, Colo., which closed its doors a few days ago after $250,000 of its funds were reported missing. Mr. Schiffer left New York Thursday, ostensibly for Alamosa, and has not been heard from since. He did not reach his destination and telegraph messages to various parts of the country having failed to reach him, his brother, Herman, fearing that he has met with violence, yesterday asked the police to aid in finding him.

Isaac Schiffer, another brother, was Abraham's partner in the western bank.

According to a statement made at their office yesterday, they were interested to the extent of $35,000 each. Their first knowledge of trouble in the bank's affairs came to them last week, when it was reported that $70,000 had been lost in some unknown manner. They at once prepared to go to Alamosa, Isaac starting first. He is there now. Abraham was unable to go until last Thursday.

About a year ago Mr. Schiffer was shot while in charge of the bank at Alamosa and his brother thinks he may have been again assaulted.

In speaking of the management of the Alamosa bank, Herman Schiffer said yesterday he knew nothing of any speculation in mining stock or mines which is reported to have caused the collapse of the bank. He said that so far as he knew his brothers were not interested in any such deals. He said he was unable to express any opinion on the cause of the failure because he was without news except that in the public prints.

SEARCH FOR PENNY LEADS TO DEATH

Two Children Hunting for Coin Fall to Note Approaching Street Car

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Searching for a penny intended for a band of wandering musicians, and which had rolled into the street, Lillian Sarrell, aged 3 years, and Catharine Sullivan, aged 6 years, of Brooklyn were run down by a surface car last evening. Catharine was killed instantly and Lillian cannot live long.

CALLS CHARGES GRAFT

Dr. Tabor Protests Against Health Certificate Fees

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 6.—Dr. Tabor is in receipt of letters from two or three physicians who continue to charge for health certificates, in which they take strong objections to Dr. Tabor's denunciation of the practice as graft. Nevertheless the state health officer reiterates his condemnation and advises against it, again asserting that it is graft of the worst sort, and should not be tolerated.

TEXAS WON'T FOLLOW NEVADA'S EXAMPLE

No Likelihood That Permit of New York Life Insurance Company Will Be Cancelled

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 6.—It may be stated with a degree of certainty that the state of Texas will not cancel the permit of the New York Life Insurance Company to do business in Texas. There are two many policy holders of this company in Texas for any such action and too much money is involved to the people in general to say nothing of the amount of taxes paid to the state by the New York Life.

It is learned from a reliable source that the investigation now reported to being conducted by Commissioner Clay will never lead to such summary action as some of the other states in the union have taken.

On Dec. 31, 1904, the company had 24,432 policy holders in Texas, amounting to $54,296,273. During the year of 1904 there were issued 10,377 policies, amounting to $19,385,962, making the total number of policy holders on Dec. 31, 1904, in force 29,706, and the total amount $63,083,033. Premiums collected, $2,129,952.56. Losses paid to Dec. 31, previous year, $28,875.89. Total losses incurred during past year, $538,462.80; total losses, $562,338.69; losses paid during the year, $514,959.92.

The company has over 500 agents in Texas and the amount of tax paid is $40,000.

PHILIPPINE STORM WAS VERY SERIOUS

Over Two Hundred Natives and Twenty-Five Americans and Foreigners Were Killed

MANILA, Oct. 6.—Government reports show that the result of the recent storm is very serious. At least 200 natives and twenty-five Americans and foreigners were killed. It is impossible to identify many of the latter. The government's police work the past year in the provinces of Cavite, Batangas and the island of Samar, which made possible the largest acreage planted in the history of the islands, has been undone, and it is estimated retarded development one year in the hemp provinces.

In Albay, Sorsogon, Masbate and Samar fields have been devastated, warehouses destroyed and stocks damaged. Roads are impassable and the transportation facilities are crippled. The loss is incalculable. In Albay and Sorsogon 80 per cent of the buildings, dwellings, schools and warehouses have been destroyed.

The storm, in connection with the severe drouth which obtained early in the year will, it is estimated, decrease the receipts of the islands 40 per cent.

The army is a heavy loser at southern posts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Alfred Mosely, head of the English educational commission, has been here for a few days. The immediate object of his visit was to lay plans for the entering in American schools and universities of his two sons.

One of his sons has just passed the examinations for Yale and has entered the Sheffield Scientific School. The other son has entered an American preparatory school.

NEW STAR DISCOVERED

Harvard Observatory Brings Out a New Light

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 6.—A new star, reaching almost the sixth magnitude, has been discovered by the Harvard observatory. The new light is in the constellation Aquilla, and takes its name—Nova Aquilla, No. 2—from that fact, it being the second new star found in that group. The light from the new star is steadily decreasing. The star when first seen was of 6.5 magnitude, but now it has a magnitude of 11.5.

LIFE INSURANCE SINS "SHOCKING" TO JEROME

New York District Attorney Says He Will Bring Them Before Grand Jury

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—District Attorney William T. Jerome announced in a statement to Justice Davy, in the criminal branch of the supreme court yesterday, that he intended to present to an extraordinary grand jury the revelations affecting the conduct of life insurance business which has been made before the legislative investigating committee. Mr. Jerome said the inquiry by this committee has shown greater moral obliquity and moral obtuseness on the part of the persons important in the business world than did the "shocking revelations" in regard to the Equitable Life.

He said there was public excitement and a sense of outrage at what had been done, and that it would undoubtedly meet with general commendation if he were to select certain individual transactions and place them before the grand jury at once.

However, he regarded it as his duty to wait until the investigating committee had completed its work and then to ask for an extraordinary grand jury and lay before it the matters disclosed by his own study of the situation as well as that of others. This he said he intended to do.

STRIKERS OPEN STORE

Go Into Competition With Employing Electricians

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 6.—Striking electricians here have opened a store and gone to contracting in competition with the employers that locked the men out on a demand for higher wages. The employers say they are getting plenty of men and are not concerned over the strikers' move. The strike store is operating on the co-operative plan.

Composer to Live Abroad

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—It was reported yesterday that Dudley Buck, the organist and composer, who sailed for Europe two weeks ago with his wife, had left Brooklyn for good and would spend the rest of his life in Munich.

Mr. Buck, who is in his sixty-sixth year, was the leading church organist in Brooklyn for more than thirty years.

GAYNOR AND GREENE SKETCHED IN A CANADIAN COURT ROOM

John F Gaynor — Benjamin D. Greene

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 6.—Two United States marshals are in Ottawa with credentials to the governor general of Canada calling for the persons of John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene, charged with having conspired to defraud the United States government in harbor contract work at Savannah, Ga.

It was in connection with this work former Captain Oberlin M. Carter, then government's representatives at that post, served a sentence in a military prison in Kansas.

Both Gaynor and Greene say they are willing now to return to the United States because they will have a fair trial and be acquitted. They declare the extradition judgment rendered by the Canadian courts was due mainly to the "imperial relations" between the governments.

Both men are expected to be on United States soil today. Their trials, delayed through the efforts of lawyers who have fought the case stoutly and bitterly in Canada, will doubtless be as long and interesting as the celebrated trial of former Captain Carter. The warrants for Gaynor and Greene will doubtless be signed by the minister of justice today.

ROCK ISLAND EXEMPT FROM EMERGENCY RATE

Railroad Commission Accepts the Statement of General Freight Agent McCabe

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 6.—The railroad commission yesterday evning late issued two orders exempting the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway and the Texas Central railway from the operation of the emergency order on dry goods, which became effective on Sept. 15.

In the order exempting the Rock Island, J. C. McCabe, general freight agent of the company answers a number of questions propounded by the railroad commission on the subject. In his answer Mr. McCabe says it has never been the intention to cover up anything, and that the company has never declined shipments of freight via Galveston on the same basis which prevailed over their line for the past several years.

Text of Statement.

The full text of Mr. McCabe's statement to the commission and the order issued is as follows:

Austin, Texas, Oct. 5, 1905.—Whereas, J. C. McCabe, general freight agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway company, makes the following statement in answer to questions propounded to him concerning the emergency rate on dry goods, etc., provided by circular No. 2317, and indicates a willingness to observe the commission class A car load rate between points in Texas, including Galveston; said statement being as follows:

"Your letter of Sept. 29 has been received. I beg to advise that the letter of Sept. 27 was written by my chief clerk on telegraphic advice to him from me, after he had given me the substance of your letter of Sept. 25. It was not our intention to cover up anything or to in any way mislead you in the letter referred to.

"I will answer the last part of your letter of Sept. 29 first: We are perfectly willing to accept and transport seaboard freight via Galveston on the same basis which has prevailed on our lines for the past several years; we have never declined to do so. So far as any agreement entered into at Chicago or any other place, for a different course on our part, is concerned, it has never been submitted to me. I may state in this connection, as stated in my letter of Sept. 21, that we have never been offered any dry goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, notions, etc., in straight car loads from the Atlantic Seaboard or from Galveston, for points on our line, and there is not the least probability that we ever will be offered such shipments.

"Answering the first question in your letter: It is entirely immaterial to us whether we receive the goods on combination of locals through Galveston or on through rates from the Atlantic Seaboard for the reason that the shipments are through billed and we receive in settlement a percentage proportion of the published through rate from the Atlantic Seaboard regardless of whether the rate is arrived at by combination or otherwise. Our proportion, on account of our short mileage, is exceedingly small. With this company it is a question of divisions entirely, and not a question of rates.

"Answering your second question: We have not agreed, since the Chicago meeting, to accept and conform to the agreement to which you refer, nor have we been asked to do so. In matters of this kind, to perfect an agreement or understanding, so far as this company is concerned, would require the assent of either the president or vice president of this company, or of the undersigned; and I say to you frankly that I have not had one word from either of my superior officers in connection with any agreement, understanding or discussion at a meeting at Chicago in August referring to the matter of dry goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, notions, etc., from the Atlantic Seaboard to Texas points, nor was I present at any such meeting, nor have I since, either by word or letter, agreed to become a party to the understanding to which you refer and in connection with which I have no official advice whatever, except such as I have received from the railroad commission of Texas."

It is therefore ordered by the railroad commission of Texas that said Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway company is hereby exempted from said emergency circular No. 2317, Effective at once.

L. J. Storey, chairman; Allison Mayfield, O. B. Colquitt, commissioners.

Strengthens Rumors

In the order exempting the Texas Central, W. F. McMillin, general freight agent of the company, makes a statement admitting joining in the proposition to enjoin the commission, but declares that he did not understand it at all, and declares that he hopes to be able to say to the commission in a short time that his road has withdrawn its concurrence in this matter.

Both roads agree to and express their willingness to observe the commission class A car load road between points in Texas on dry goods, including Galveston. These orders are effective at once.

The action of these two roads shows that many roads in the state do not like the emergency order, and strengthens the report printed some time ago that the railroads will finally withdraw the injunction suits.

NEW YORK JAIL CALLED DEN OF BLACKMAILERS

Sheriff Says Men Imprisoned in $10,000 Suits Have Been Released for $17

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Ludlow street jail in New York City is a blackmailing institution, according to Sheriff Erlanger's statement yesterday before the board of estimates.

"I know that Ludlow street jail," said the sheriff, "through the civil process, is the champion blackmailing institution of the United States. I know of one case where a man was imprisoned for a breach of promise in a suit for $10,000 and the people who put him in jail compromised for $17 and that $17 was divided among three persons.

"I believe that nine out of ten of the civil prisoners who are sent to Ludlow street jail are there through process of blackmail. The system is all wrong to the shame of the legislature."

Mr. Erlanger asked for $100,750 for the annual expenses of the jail. Nine prisoners, he said, was the greatest number there had been in this jail at any one time during the past year, and at present the jail has three. They are guarded and cared for by one warden, eleven keepers, two engineers, two cooks and a laundress.

After this announcement by the sheriff it was computed that on a basis of nine prisoners in the jail all the time each one cost the county $30 a day during his incarceration.

EDNA SUSPECT HUNT ALMOST ABANDONED

Special to The Telegram.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 6.—The promiscuous search for Monk Gibson out of Edna is being abandoned today. The searchers and blood hounds have returned to town discouraged. The rangers will now take up the work along an entirely different line. Absolutely no trace of the fugitive has been discovered since Sunday. The town is quiet and the troops are still encamped.

DIRECTORS OF WABASH VOTE PRES. RAMSEY OUT

Gould Forces, at Special Meeting, Name F. A. Delano His Successor

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Joseph Ramsey, Jr., was yesterday removed from the presidency of the Wabash Railroad Company at a special meeting of the board of directors, held in this city. F. A. Delano was elected as his successor.

Eight directors, including Mr. Ramsey were present at the meeting. Mr. Ramsey has been engaged in a contest with Mr. Gould for the control of the road.

Mr. Ramsey, after the meeting, said his removal was entirely illegal, for the reason that the meeting had not been properly called. He made a protest before the board, saying that the by-laws required five days' notice for a special meeting of the board, and that the notices for this meeting were mailed only Wednesday night. His protest was overruled, however.

President Delano took charge of his office at once. "Mr. Ramsey and I have always been friends hitherto in the railroad business," said he, "and I do not want to come into this controversy in any way.

"As to Mr. Ramsey's charge about the illegality of the meeting I can say nothing. I am not a lawyer, but there were several good lawyers on the board at the meeting and I presume that they would not attempt anything illegal. It was the general understanding that this was an adjourned meeting."

NEWC TO RAMSEY'S ATTORNEY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—When shown the dispatch from New York regarding the removal of Joseph Ramsey, Jr., from the presidency of the Wabash railway at the special meeting of the directors in New York, F. W. Lehmann, the attorney representing Ramsey in the application recently filed for a writ of temporary injunction against the holding of a meeting in Toledo Oct. 10, said to the Associated Press:

"This is certainly news to me. All I have to say at this time is that the action in New York will not in anyway affect our action here for an injunction. We will proceed just as had been decided upon."

OLD MAN REFUSES CLEMENCY OF JUDGE

Aged Counterfeiter Insists Upon Entering His Original Plea of Guilty and Gets Thirteen Months

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 6.—Pleaded with from the bench by Federal Judge Burns to withdraw his plead of guilty; offered the services of the best attorney at the bar free of all cost, white-haired William McDermott, 60 years old, insisted upon his plea of guilty in the federal court to the charge of counterfeiting and asked for immediate sentence.

He had coined twenty nickels just to see if he could, and told Judge Burns that he had no more money than was needed at home while he was in the penitentiary.

He was given thirteen months at Leavenworth.

HARVARD FOOTBALL IS TOO STRENUOUS

Theodore Roosevelt Jr. Temporarily Incapacitated by Bad Cut Over His Eye

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 6.—The first freshman to be laid out on Soldiers' Field this year was Theodore Roosevelt Jr. The accident happened yesterday. Two freshmen elevens were practicing. Young Roosevelt was playing end on one of them. The play came toward him and he plunged into the scrimmage.

When he was disentangled, he was bleeding profusely from a cut over his eye. He was hustled off to the dressing room and the cut, not big enough to require stitching, was patched up with a cocoon.

MONEY IN MUTUAL FOR THE M'CURDYS

IOWA MAN TO TAKE DR. SALMON'S PLACE

CHARLES P. CURTISS

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 6.—The announcement that Professor Charles Franklin Curtiss is to succeed Dr. Salmon as chief of the bureau of animal industry in the department of agriculture at Washington has brought gloom to the alumni of Iowa State College.

Professor Curtiss has probably had more to do with the upbuilding of Iowa's great agricultural college than any other one man. He was born in Iowa and was graduated from the high school at Ames, the seat of the college. He took three degrees from the latter institution.

Eight years ago, at the age of 36, he was made a professor at State College, and he has since been made dean of the department of animal husbandry and director of the experiment station.

Professor Curtiss has witnessed the growth of the institution from a position of obscurity to a high rank among the agricultural colleges of the world. Three times within as many years his department has carried away practically all prizes at international expositions.

He has become recognized as the best judge of live stock in the middle west, and is in great demand at fairs and stock shows.

Two Members of Family Drew $2,600,000

JEROME TO GET BUSY

Announces in Court That Special Grand Jury Will Take Up Insurance Scandals

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The astounding total of more than $2,600,000 has been paid as commissions by the Mutual Life Insurance Company to two members of the family of Richard A. McCurdy, president of the company, and the promise of District Attorney Jerome that the insurance scandals certainly would be submitted later to an extraordinary grand jury were the sensational developments in the insurance situation yesterday.

It was brought out by testimony before the legislative insurance committee that Robert H. McCurdy, son of Richard A. McCurdy, has received as commissions on foreign business $1,163,829 and on domestic business $541,852 and that Louis A. Thebaud, son-in-law of Richard A. McCurdy, has received an aggregate of $920,113 in commissions from the company.

It was also brought out that Robert H. McCurdy expected his income this year would be about $110,000.

Another incident of the day's developments was the publication of a letter from Charles E. Hughes, counsel of the legislative committee, to Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for James H. Hyde, the former controlling stockholder of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, in which Mr. Hughes said the committee would make no discrimination in favor of Mr. Hyde in his examination before the committee.

W. F. Thummel, the attorney who was associated with Judge Andrews Hummel in looking after legislation for the New York Life, the Equitable and the Mutual Life Insurance Company in the so-called pool that was disclosed last week, testified before the committee that he is now employed as an attorney for the Mutual Life Insurance Company at a salary of $7,200 a year.

He described the legislative pool and said the expenses were met by the company looking after the territory in which expenses were incurred and later an adjustment of the expenses was made between the three companies. He had received money from the New York Life in these adjustments, but kept no account of his disbursements.

He further described the division of the territory in the country, under which the three companies looked after legislation affecting insurance rates, and said the Mutual Life had paid out in 1904 about $15,000 for legislative work.

Answering Mr. Hughes he said that he traveled about the country and kept track of legislative measures affecting insurance. When asked just what he did to defeat measures on undesirable legislation, he said he tried to keep in touch with the persons interested. He became acquainted with as many members of the legislative committee as possible and presented such arguments as he could. He kept no account of disbursements. He told of his inability to defeat a general revenue bill in Nebraska.

In reply to a question as to the division of legal expenses among the New York Life Insurance Company, the Mutual Life Insurance Company and the Equitable Life Assurance Society, Mr. Thummel said:

"The Mutual Life has Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Washington Oregon, New Mexico; the Equitable tends to Maryland, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Colorado, Arkansas, California and Nevada; New York Life has Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Tennessee and Oklahoma. The rest of the territory is open."

McCURDY AGAIN ON STAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Robert H. McCurdy, general manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was again a witness today in the insurance investigation. He detailed the plans of the company's general agency system.

STREET CAR MEN TO BUY AUTOMOBILES

Plan to Use Ten Cars in Conveying Passengers during Times of Strike

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 6.—The national convention of Street Railway Employes, in session here, yesterday appropriated $20,000 for the purchase of ten automobiles, to be used by the union to convey passengers wherever there is a street car strike, the profits from fares to go back into the defense fund, from which the $20,000 is taken.

The union owns three autos, which were used during a strike in Saginaw, Mich. Others were leased during a strike in Bloomington, Ill. W. D. Mahon, president of the national organization, admitted that ten motor cars would not be of much use in case of a street car strike in Chicago or any large city.

"But they would be a start, at least," he said, "and we could buy or lease more and an auto is always good property."

CRANBERRIES SCARCE

Late Frosts and Cranberry Worm Are Responsible

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 6.—Cranberries will be scarce and high in price during the coming fall and winter, according to reports which have been received by the state authorities from the Jersey bogs and other producing centers. Growers in this state and Massachusetts declare they will harvest only 50 per cent or less of the usual crop.

Late frosts, last spring and ravages of the cranberry worm are blamed for the shortage. The loss will aggregate thousands of dollars. The Wisconsin crop, it is said, will be only about 75 per cent of the average.

MRS. PENFIELD DEAD

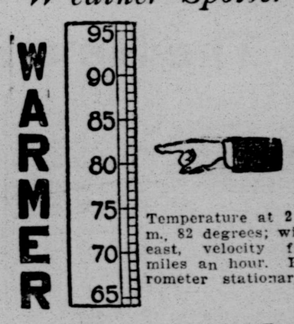

Was Wife of Former American Diplomat and Consul General

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Catherine Albert Penfield, wife of Frederick Courtland Penfield, a former American diplomatic agent and consul general to Egypt, died on Wednesday of heart disease at a hotel here. She was 60 years old.

Mrs. Penfield was at one time the center of an international dispute. Before she married Mr. Penfield in London, she was the widow of Colonel Edward MacMurdo, who built the Delagoa railroad. She inherited from him an interest amounting to $1,500,000 in the claim against Portugal on account of the seizure of the line in 1889.

In prosecuting her claim she appealed to Secretary Blaine and under pressure Portugal allowed the matter to be arbitrated. She finally received $500,000.

AUTO ENTHUSIASTS PLAN BIG GARAGE

Meeting Held to Arrange Stock Company to Manage Large Establishment

A dozen citizens of Fort Worth, men who are owners and drivers of automobiles or who some day will be, met at the Worth last night and discussed the proposition to organize a corporation for the purpose of operating an extensive and up-to-date garage, one that will be sufficiently large to allow the storage and care of a large majority of the motor cars in the city. The plans include the carrying in stock of a large quantity of supplies, articles that cannot now be obtained without telegraphing orders to St. Louis or Chicago and even New York.

It is planned to organize a stock company with $10,000 capital stock. Floor space covering at least 100x100 feet will be required and already offers have been made to those who have been actively interested in the proposed company by land owners in the heart of the city to improve property in accordance with the demands and needs of the proposed garage.

It is proposed to procure for the superintendent of the garage a competent man from some one of the big automobile factories. The equipment of the garage would include every facility for the care of the cars and their repair. The garage would be open day and night. A car washer and repair man would always be on hand, to say nothing of a repair car, ready to go out on a jump to the rescue or aid of some poor, unfortunate driver who might be in his best bib and tucker and to whom the thought of a half hour in the dust under his car might naturally be repugnant.

At the meeting last night D. T. Bomar presided, and aside from talking over the proposition, no organization was perfected. Another meeting will be held next week. Meanwhile a committee will be at work procuring additional subscribers of stock. Those present at the meeting last night were: W. G. Turner, W. W. Sloan, Jr., A. B. Wharton, D. T. Bomar, F. R. Hedrick, Dr. R. E. L. Miller, C. D. Reimers, M. R. Sanguinet, Charles Kolp, E. F. Ligon, Harry Huey and Durham Childress.

$3,600 Already Raised

There has already been $3,600 of stock subscribed for by the following: W. G. Turner, A. B. Wharton, M. R. Sanguinet, Harry Huey, C. D. Reimers, W. W. Sloan Jr., F. R. Hedrick and D. T. Bomar. All automobile owners, or prospective owners are invited to become members of the corporation.

The list of owners of cars, as shown on the books at the city hall, is as follows, and every one of these, and any others who are interested in motoring, are invited and requested to be present at the next meeting at the Worth hotel, next Tuesday evening: H. R. Cromer, M. L. Markell, P. P. Jones, George Lettler, Dr. Pollock, Dr. Warwick, W. G. Turner, A. B. Wharton, D. Childress, J. B. Card, Mitchell Greenwall, Mrs. R. J. Thompson, Dr. Lawrence, C. G. Harrold, J. S. Rall, M. R. Sanguinet, C. M. Wright, F. Richards, T. P. Day, W. G. Burton, W. Bryce, J. W. Brooker, Harry Huey, George Bound, R. E. L. Miller, A. E. Want, Fred Grunewald, Lee Rumsey, J. S. Peter, J. A. Abbott, C. Rockett, J. J. Millican, Will Eddleman, Dr. Ray, W. Edrington, J. T. Patty, Dr. Wilson, Roy Hughes, L. Runnels, J. T. Pemberton, E. L. White, W. C. Stripling, C. D. Reimers W. W. Sloan Jr. F. R. Hedrick, C. M. Dow, J. A. Murray, T. McDaniel, D. T. Bomar and W. E. Garabrant.

Scope of the Organization

The organization of this proposed company will be a direct benefit, not only to automobile owners, but to the public as well, as it will, without doubt, develop into the organization of an automobile club, to which the people at large can turn for responsibility of members in the use of the streets. Better roads are always traceable to active automobile associations and in many other ways can an organization be helpful.

The plans of those who are working toward the organization of the garage company include the desire to have every one that possibly can be a member of the company, and to whom, as members of the company, there will be held out special inducements in the purchase of cars.

A. B. Wharton and W. W. Sloan Jr. are a committee of two to solicit members of the proposed corporation and any one interested will find either one willing to call and explain the proposition.

Ministers, Doctors and Temperance Workers

Use and Recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the Only Effective Cure for Lung, Stomach and Nervous Diseases

"I THANK GOD THERE IS SUCH A MEDICINE," WRITES REV. DR. McLEOD, an active minister for 50 years. "For more than 40 years I had been afflicted with dyspepsia and nervous prostration. At times I was so run down I could not attend to my ministerial duties. Could neither eat nor sleep. I began taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It gave me strength, helped my digestion, settled my nerves, and I gained 10 pounds in one month. I recommend those who are weak, broken down, nervous, to take 'Duffy's.'" Greenleaf, Mich., January 22, 1904.

DR. BOWNE PRESCRIBED "DUFFY'S" 25 YEARS. "I have found that in pneumonia, grip and other exhausting diseases my patients never fail to respond favorably to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Taken as directed it is bound to relieve and permanently cure consumption." Dr. E. H. Bowne, Kingston, N. J., Aug. 3, 1904.

MR. THOMAS MORAN, TEMPERANCE WORKER, SAYS:—"I have lived in Rochester, N. Y., for almost 70 years and people know I am a strict temperance man, but I unhesitatingly recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the great good it did me during my illness. Two months ago I was so weak from bronchitis I could not raise by head. I had a low fever and all the symptoms of a relapse. The doctor ordered your whiskey, and I would not be living today but for its use. it made me strong, vigorous—better than I have been in years." July 26, 1904.

For over half a century men and women prominent in the affairs of the nation have been using and indorsing Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the one certain cure and preventive of disease. The opinions of a few of them are published in a booklet which we mail anyone free on request.

The unrivalled record of this splendid medicine is over 4,000,000 cures. More than 7,000 doctors use it in their homes and prescribe it regularly in their practice, and it's used exclusively in over 2,000 hospitals. It's an absolutely pure distillation of malt, scientifically combined with medicinal ingredients of highest quality. It acts directly upon the diseased organs and parts in a natural manner, and strengthens and builds up the entire system. It contains no fusel oil. Every testimonial is published in good faith and guaranteed.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist or grocer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal whiskey, and is sold in sealed bottles—never in flash or bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist" on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is not broken. Price, $1.00. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co. Rochester, N. Y. For Sale by H. Brann & Co., Fourteenth and Main streets.

COTTON CROP GOOD SAY RAILROAD MEN

Say New Orleans Statement of North Texas Condition Is Not Accurate

Railroad people here refute the statement sent from Houston to the New Orleans Times-Democrat that the cotton crop in North Texas and in the Oklahoma and Indian Territories is not a good one. The statement was made that the crop is the poorest in years, which railroad people say is not the truth of the situation. They admit that the acreage is not as large by from 20 to 25 per cent, but claim the cotton is of a good quality and is yielding much better than was at first anticipated.

A Rock Island official said today that the cotton along that line in Oklahoma was never better than it is at this time. It is true, however, that the season has not been beneficial, in some respects, but despite this fact there will be a very satisfactory yield.

Similar reports are given out by other railroad officials in North Texas. "The crop in the territory is one of the best in many years," said a passenger official in the Rock Island general offices today.

The crop along the Frisco between this city and Brady was never better than this year. The weekly report of this company will be issued Saturday and will show that the conditions are entirely satisfactory. There has been a shortage of rain, but even with this shortage, the crop has done very well and the yield will run all the way from a quarter to a half, and in some instances three-quarters of a bale to the acre.

DOUGHERTY'S SHORTAGE

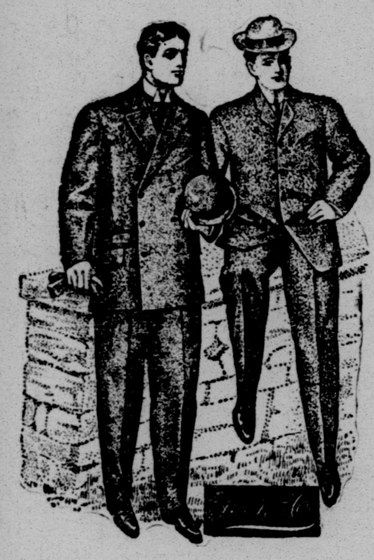

Will Have No Effect on Educational Association

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 6.—The shortage of Professor Newton C. Dougherty, who was arrested at Peoria, Ill., yesterday on charges of misappropriation of school funds and forgery, will have no bearing on the $175,000 fund of the National Education Association, of which he is trustee, at present, according to Albert Lane, district superintendent of schools and local member of the association. "Mr. Dougherty was a trustee and member of the executive board," said Mr. Lane last night, "but had no voice in the disposition of the funds, which are deposited in the First Trust and Savings Bank of this city. I had no intimation of his trouble until I learned it through a newspaper, but any shortage on his part cannot affect the association."

807 HOUSTON STREET

SOUTH SIDE STARTS SIDEWALK CAMPAIGN

Movement for Complete Paving and Street Marking Is Under Way

An idea which is said to have existed in the minds of many of the residents of the South Side of the city has been taken up by the Factory Club, as reported in The Telegram of Thursday, namely, that the owners of property pave their sidewalks.

Heretofore each property owner placed such paving, if any, as he might see fit and acted independently in the matter. There was a reason for this. Many people living on such streets as those from Adams to Peter Smith, including the territory from the corner of Daggett avenue and Henderson street southward, built their houses at a time when the adjacent lots were probably unoccupied. As a result the sidewalks made were not in conformity to any accepted rule, and those building later having ideas of their own concerning sidewalks, the people have only in the past few years realized the incongruity of appearance that is presented by the different material used and the different states of preservation existing in the frontage of different lots, by reason of the act that the walks were built at different times.

The people of the South Side are now beginning a systematic sidewalk campaign, which, if carried out in detail, as appears to be the general idea at present, will add not only to the property value of that section, but will make it the best looking residence section of any city in Texas.

The plan now is for all property owners to build sidewalks. This is being done by taking up block at a time and making a campaign among the owners of that property until results have been accomplished, when another block is taken up.

Street Designation

Display of street names is also being taken up in the same general campaign. A system adopted by one citizen living in Adams street is being followed by others and is made the subject of much favorable comment. Cement curbing was recently placed about his property. Before it became hardened he had the names of the streets cut in the cement a few inches from the top and the depression filled with black. The result is a street sign without defacement of the building and one visible for a long distance. House numbers are also being placed in the curbing in a similar way.

"Fort Worth is beginning to realize the fact that visitors looking for locations are deserving of some consideration," said a citizen this morning, "this being noticed in the business district and in the residence section.

"If none but Fort Worth people, who were born and raised here, had to travel about the streets it would be easy to follow the practice of smaller places that have names for their streets, but no indication of that fact. Strangers, however, cannot be supposed to know the names of all streets in Fort Worth, and it seems but fair to the many strangers who are flocking to the city that we place neat, plain street marks as used in other large places in all parts of the city. This has been done in nearly all parts of the downtown business district and I think it is only a question of showing the people what it is worth as an advertisement for Fort Worth to see them at every corner in the entire city."

Proper street marking is also required by the postoffice department for free mail delivery.

LOST AUTOMOBILE FOUND WITH LEVERS

Local Owners Awaiting the Moment When All Its Attachments Are Put Into Use at Once

The lost has been found.

Harry Huey's big 20-horsepower machine, sought for between Fort Worth and Colorado for the past several days, has at last arrived in this city.

The car, a big red devil, is now the admiration of the machine owners of this city. If there are any attachments for a machine not found fastened to the car, they have not yet been heard of on this side of the Atlantic.

Levers here and levers there, buttons between and foot pressers all around. If there is anything an automobile can be made to do, there is an appliance to make it do so.

Mr. Huey is already becoming quite expert in the handling of the cranks and wheels, but chauffeurs are anxiously awaiting the moment when it may become necessary to use all the levers at once. The result is still problematical.

INDIANA FARMERS COMING TO TEXAS

Katy Official Here in Advance of Large Party of Homeseekers

Dan Carlon, land and immigration agent for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company, headquarters at St. Louis, is here today in advance of a party of prominent and well-to-do farmers from Indiana, who are due to reach this city today. From here they will be taken out along the Katy in South Texas by Mr. Carlon. This is one of many similar parties to come to Texas through the efforts of the immigration department of the Katy.

Mr. Carlton is today distributing immigration literature about Texas and her wonderful resources. An article written recently by W. E. Curtis, the well-known correspondent, giving a thorough resume of conditions in Texas, has been included among the data being distributed.

The article is an exhaustive review of affairs in this state and makes excellent literature from an immigration standpoint. The circular bears the imprint of the Katy and Mr. Carlon says it is being distributed all over the south.

The article pays special attention to the importance of Fort Worth as a railroad, live stock, packing and grain center, figures being given which show that the growth of these industries has been phenomenal during the past few years.

WEATHER FORECAST FAIR AND WARMER

Conditions This Morning Show Few Clouds Hovering Over Texas. Temperatures Show Decrease

Condition of the weather for the bureau day ending at 8 o'clock this morning shows a general absence of cloudy weather, with slightly decreased temperatures. Only two Texas stations, Blanco and Houston, have maximum temperatures of 90 degrees.

The temperature at Fort Worth ranged from 64 to 84 degrees, with a wind velocity of four miles an hour this morning.

General average of temperatures prevailing over the state ranges from 66 to 86 degrees. Abilene, Ballinger, Brenham, Brownwood, Galveston and San Marcos report from .01 to .56 inches rainfall and slight traces of precipitation are noted in the report from Huntsville.

Reports from Dublin, Taylor and Wharton, Texas, were missing. Weather report from New Orleans shows temperature range of from 70 to 80 degrees, wind velocity 12 miles an hour and .22 inches rainfall.

Official statements of weather conditions as reported to the local station of the weather bureau are:

"The cotton belt is generally clear, without rain of importance and temperatures remain unchanged.

"The country is generally clear, except local cloud-patches here and there. High pressure conditions are prevailing east of the Rockies, with the exception of a small barometric depression in the Gulf.

"Low pressure conditions are entering from the extreme northwest, rain falling in Oregon, and temperatures are generally high throughout the northwest quarter of the country.

"Upper Michigan is the only portion of the United States having temperatures down to the frost line.

"The cotton belt is practically clear, temperatures are about normal. Texas reports a few light showers since last report, Brownwood getting .10 of an inch, the maximum of the state."

SOMETHING DOING IN GEORGIA

There is a warm political fight on in the state of Georgia, between Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and Hoke Smith, formerly editor of the Atlanta Journal, and who served as secretary of the interior during the Cleveland administration. The fight between these two distinguished goober-grabblers seems to involve very largely the railway question in that state. Hoke Smith standing for a more drastic policy toward the railways and alleging that Howell is the ring candidate, backed up by the railway and corporate influence of the state. The Atlanta papers are taking great stock in the campaign, which has taken a very personal turn. The Constitution is teeming with bristling attacks upon Smith, charging him with accepting a loan of $50,000 from the president of the Southern railway, and then fighting the railways after being the beneficiary of their bounty. He is also charged with appointing a number of negroes to office during his incumbency of the office of secretary of the interior. The Atlanta Journal is just as aggressive in its fight upon Howell, charging him with being the willing tool of the railways and other corporations, and that through his election they are seeking to bind their tentacles more closely about the long-suffering people of that state.

"Fine old times are coming around in Georgia," says Tom Watson in his magazine for October.

The Hon. Clark Howell is running for governor; so is the Hon. Hoke Smith.

Brother Howell is the Georgia member of the national democratic executive committee. He has always been a Dave Hill man.

Brother Smith was a member of the cabinet during that smelly period known as Cleveland's second administration, and has always been a Cleveland man.

Again, Brother Howell used to be a rampant silverite, while Brother Smith was a ravenous gold bug.

But they both were rock-ribbed, moss-backed, mud-silled, unterrified democrats, and when the necessity arose for putting down populism or any other intrusive thing they both loved a flexible ballot box, a magazine voter, a color-blind returning board and a tally sheet which recorded whatever the voice in the phonograph said.

But times have changed. The Southern railroad system has been too defiant in running roughshod over the laws and the people. The corporation lobbyists have put their ditry fingers into too many pies. The fact that a republican like J. Pierpont Morgan can systematically rob a great state like Georgia through the machinery of the democratic party has become too plain and too intolerable.

Hence there is revolt all along the line, and Hoke Smith leads it.

In such a fight he has all my sympathy.

If he can do for Georgia what La Follette has done in Wisconsin and Folk has done in Missouri, he will become a heroic figure in the eyes of reformers throughout the land. No matter how faulty his record in the past may have been, he is hitting the bull's-eye this time.

For more than a generation, "the nigger" has been the stock-in-trade of the democratic party in the south. The fear that negro domination might be the result of a division among the whites has compelled us to submit to anything and everything that eastern democrats chose to put upon us. The manner in which the south has been dragooned through the democratic party by such heartless gold-hunters as Belmont, Morgan, Havemeyer, Ryan and Whitney is enough to make the cheek of every southern man burn with shame.

Hoke Smith now proposes to strike for southern independence by taking away the club which eastern democrats used to beat us down with; he proposes to banish the fear of negro domination by disfranchising the negro.

Whoever feels ashamed of the manner in which Tammany and the east have made a foot-mat of the south; whoever wants the south to become independent; whoever wants to see southern white men use their own brains and vote according to the dictates of their own convictions, must realize that nothing can be done as long as the south is forever frightened into political paralysis by the cry of "negro domination."

Hoke Smith proposes to put this old bugaboo out of business.

If he can do it he will have done a splendid work for southern independence and southern progress.

Tom Watson is a fine type of that rara avis known as a populist. The fact that he is against Howell and for Smith is a pretty safe indication that Howell is to be the winner. It is also a pretty good indication that Howell is a true democrat and standing for democratic principles.

The fight that is going on in Georgia serves to remind us that the railways as a political issue are not restricted to Texas. While Colonel Tom Campbell is thundering forth his mighty diatribes against the Texas railways, Hoke Smith is raising the same kind of sand over in Georgia, and this exemplifies the fact that the railways of the country afford opportunity for the exercise of the same kind of statesmanship all over the country. There are patriots and patriots who are willing to use them as a means of climbing to the desired political heights, but it is a plan that does not always work out. The people as a general thing are strongly averse to any form of persecution.

WHAT THE CATTLEMEN WANT

The cattlemen of the country are exhibiting considerable interest in the matter of the appointment of a successor to Dr. D. E. Salmon, who has recently resigned the position of chief of the bureau of animal industry at Washington. While the chief of this department is under the direction of the secretary of agriculture, yet the direction of live stock matters from a Federal standpoint is almost directly and wholly in his hands. He is the man who recommends and prepares the annual live stock quarantine measures, has control of quarantine matters and the enforcement of Federal laws governing the shipment of live stock.

There has long been an idea extant in the east, where effete ideas are most in evidence, to the effect that the chief of the bureau of animal industry must be a scientist. Dr. Salmon, who has just retired from the position, enjoyed the distinction of measuring fully up to that idea. He was a scientist from the sole of his pedal extremities to the very crown of his hirsute embossing, and it necessarily followed that he must be also afflicted with many of the vagaries that are affected by the man whose mind runs too strongly in the direction of science. His celebrated order governing the movement of cattle to market, providing that cattle should be so loaded in cars that one-third of their number could recline in dreamy slumber while en route, was a typical illustration of the extremes the scientific mind can sometimes attain, and the promptness with which that famous order was rescinded by his superior shows how quickly the edifice erected in a scientific manner can take a tumble and measure its full length on terra firma.

Theory is a fine thing when properly applied, and there are many problems that can be worked out with geometric precision on paper that prove of no avail when brought up against the things that are practical. If Dr. Salmon had been a practical man, versed in the cattle raising and shipping question, he would have known that his famous order was impractical. His common sense and knowledge of actual conditions would have forced him to the conclusion that the men who shipped cattle to market after producing them, and who were versed in every detail of the cattle business knew how to load them to advantage, both to themselves and to the cattle. But he was a scientific gent, and he attempted to settle the problem by invoking the scientific turn of his mind without any reference to the practical.

And this explains the interest the cattlemen are now feeling in the appointment of his successor. They have had a sufficiency of science and want something practical. They are insisting that Secretary Wilson shall appoint as chief of the bureau of animal industry a man who knows something about the live stock industry of the country. They want a man who is cognizant of the fact that range cattle do not travel to market in state and carry large Saratogas in the baggage coach ahead. They want a man who knows the difference between a dogie and a hole in the ground. It cuts no ice that Dr. Salmon could discourse learnedly on the boophilus annulatus and the scaribosa e pluribus unum. They want his successor to be a man who knows the real things he should know, and they are insisting on the appointment of such a man. The Breeders' Gazette of Chicago, the leading live stock publication of the country, says:

It appears that the appointment of Dr. Melvin to be Dr. Salmon's successor as chief of the bureau of animal industry is but a temporary one and it is intimated that Secretary Wilson proposes to take time to give the matter thorough consideration before a permanent choice is made.

The Gazette has already voiced the opinion of a majority of the stockmen of the United States to the effect that the chief of the bureau should be a practical man of affairs, some one in close touch with the commercial and business aspects of the industry; that the law requiring the appointment of a veterinary surgeon to this now important administrative office should be amended because it does not meet the requirements of the case at the present time. This is so manifestly true that there is little room for argument.

For nearly a quarter of a century the Gazette has been the steadfast friend of agricultural science and of those worthy men who in class room and laboratory have worked faithfully for the elevation of our greatest national industry. The colleges and agricultural experiment stations have never appealed to this paper in vain when seeking to mold public sentiment favorable to their profession. In season and out, publicly and privately, such influence as the Breeder's Gazette and its editors could exert has been on the side of higher education and scientific progress in agriculture. The secretary of agriculture has given the scientists a recognition heretofore unknown in his great department of the government. In fact the past ten years have seen the agricultural scientist exalted all along the line to a pinnacle of popular favor hitherto unrecorded in the annals of the business. The profession has gained vastly in prestige and receives today almost anything it really wants. All of which is right and proper enough.

There are not many indications of any particular revulsion of public sentiment in regard to our good friends the professors, but as a consistent supporter of their general cause the Gazette desires to say that the stockmen of the country are almost unanimously of the opinion that the proper sphere of a scientist's usefulness in connection with the government's work is the conduct of investigations and the giving of expert advice rather than the assumption of administrative or executive duty. One of Dr. Salmon's chief regrets in connection with his work in recent years has been that the administration of his bureau has led him steadily farther and farther away from his profession. In other words, a scientist in such a position has to practically abandon study and research and take up burdens and responsibilities foreign to his tastes, capabilities and training. This is a palpable injustice alike to the man of science and to the public.

If Secretary Wilson will confer with leading stock growers of the country upon this important matter he will ascertain that the sentiment is strongly against the appointment of any scientist, however learned, to be chief of the bureau of animal industry. They want an educated, broad-gauged, practical man of affairs; one whose knowledge of the growing, feeding and marketing of live stock and live stock products comes from a long and intimate identification with the business. This is an administrative office in which a knowledge of microscopic wonders and familiarity with the mysteries of chemistry count for little. It is one office that does not necessarily belong to a professor.

President Roosevelt announces that he is still standing pat on the railway regulation and control idea, and says when his message to congress is made public on Dec. 4, it will be found that he has not receded one particle from his original position.

Fort Worth business property is changing hands at a pretty lively clip these dags, and that fact serves to illustrate the confidence that is generally felt in the future of this city. Fort Worth is a live business proposition every day in the year.

Several states will take action against the New York Life Insurance Company by refusing permission to do business within their limits until the company has been purged of its president and those republican campaign contributions have been refunded.

President McCall of the New York Life has no recollection of those false reports furnished the governor of Texas concerning campaign contributions by his company. Sometimes it is very easy to forget.

CHAPTER XXXV.

A Doubtful Friend

I have to resume the thread of my own personal story at the point where, on the morning of my concealment by Herzog in the vacant house at Totland bay I was alarmed by the appearance of a man in a blue guernsey at the window of the drawing-room. It will be remembered that I was expecting Herzog to return with a supply of provisions, and that on drawing aside the blind I saw the stranger instead.

A moment's reflection showed that as he had undoubtedly seen me before I dropped the window blind, no good could be done by refusing to speak to him. He would possibly go and tell everyone he met that someone was living in the unoccupied house, with the result that I should be at once routed out by the agents or owner. So I raised the blind, opened the window, and beckoned to him. That I had made no mistake in doing so was at once made plain by the credentials he presented—a basket of provisions and a note, which proved to be from Herzog.

"My dear friend," it ran. "R. M. is off to London by the first boat, and I must stick to him like a leech. The chase will in all likelihood lead me to that brave little lass of yours. So I send the best substitute I can find at short notice. I should not be disposed to trust him too far, but as all these Isle of Wight fishermen have smuggling blood in them, they have an hereditary antipathy to law and order. This chap has been told that you are an absconding debtor. His name is Peter Croal."

My visitor, when I finished reading, was regarding me out of the corner of his eyes with a furtive benevolence that was by no means pleasing. It was as though he approved of me, but not from personal attraction, but as a possible source of income.

"I am obliged to you for bringing me these things. Did my friend give you anything for doing so?" I said.

Mr. Peter Croal drew his sleeve across his mouth and looked thirsty.

"In a manner of speaking, the gentleman did. Don't he say so in the letter?" was the tentative reply which made me distrust the man there and then.

"He doesn't mention the amount," I said, wishing to draw him out and verify my suspicions.

"Drat him for that!" retorted the fisherman, with a fine show of having been hardly treated. "The gentleman, he give me the money for the grub and the liquor, and 'arf a crown for myself. "But, Croal,' he says, that ain't anything like proper remuneration for a kind of secret job like this. I only gives you 'arf-crown because it's all the change I've got. I'll put it in this here note as t'other gent is to give you a sovereign."

I tendered the sum demanded out of the little store with which Herzog had supplied me in case a wider flight should be necessary, but I did not believe a word of the story. Herzog had, without doubt, adequately paid him, and this was only a try-on to make the most of the bit of luck that had come his way—the thin edge of the wedge of blackmail. If this was the spirit in which Mr. Peter Croal entered upon his trust I could foresee a heavy addition to my existing anxieties.

Having spat on and pocketed the coin, the fellow showed no disposition to go, nor was I, in my impotent position, able to suggest departure. He leisurely scrutinized the few pictures on the walls, and the furniture, and then his eye, too friendly for safety, traveled slyly back to me again.

"RIVINGTON! ARE YOU THERE, RIVINGTON?"

"Pretty little place—this you've got here all to yourself, mister. How long might you be going to bide in it?" he inquired.

"Till I choose to leave—or till you give me away," I said, hoping to measure his capacity for treachery by the extent of his disclaimer.

And full measure indeed he gave me. Such a plausible, honey-tongued rascal as that Isle of Wight lobster catcher it has never been by lot to listen to. He had taken a fancy to me, he avowed, the moment I drew aside the blind. He was "always one that stood by the unfortnit."

And then, suddenly, with a sequence of ideas that may or may not have been accidental, he added:

"If you was the bloke that broke jail at Winchester I wouldn't peach, seeing what a liking I've taken to ye. The newspapers say he's got away to America, but you can't believe printed stuff nowadays. Like as not he's laying up, snug and comfortable in jest such a crib as this."

And Mr. Peter Croal's benevolent gaze roamed round the room again with one little corner of each mild eye on me, it was made plain later. For the unexpected personality of his remark sent a shiver down my spine, of which I must have given some visible demonstration, though there was nothing to show that I had commited myself in the inconsequence of his next speech. When he had done examining the pictures and the furniture for the second time, he had apparently dismissed all thought of "the bloke who broke jail at Winchester." His ideas were all centered on the weather.

"'Mazing fine morning it be, after the storm last night, though I don't allow as it's settled," was his way of changing the subject.

"You must be glad it's fine, for I have no doubt you are one of the lifeboat crew," I forced myself to say to keep up appearances.

My allusion to the lifeboat seemed to annoy Mr. Croal, for it called forth the first expression of opinion from him that had a genuine ring to it.

"Lifeboat? Yes, I'm one of the crew right enough," he exclaimed, his face working with swift anger. "But you don't catch me going in her again. They ought to have made me coxswain when the vacancy fell in."

"You have resigned, or are going to resign, then?" I said.

Mr. Croal uttered an ugly laugh. "I shan't do no such foolishness as resigning," he replied bitterly. "I shall wait till there's a wreck, and then let 'em go short-handed. It may come today, or it may come a year off, but the time's bound to come when she puts off without Peter Croal and Peter Croal's mate, Bill Spicer. There'll be a fine how-de-doo when we don't answer the call."

It was not for me to voice my disgust at his callous selfishness, and I fear he took my silence for approval; for he continued to expatiate on the plight in which the crew would be when deprived, without notice, of the services of two of the oldest members. Had not my liberty and life been in the fellow's keeping I would have kicked him into the garden and over the cliff.

To my relief, he at last departed. Having drawn up the blind, to make his exit by the window through which he had entered, he looked back at me and grinned.

"Might be a chap escaping from jail, eh, mister—using a winder this way when there's doors to the house," he said, watching me narrowly.

"Yes, it is inconvenient, but it will not be for long," I replied.

Then he went, giving the gratuitous information as he lurched out into the garden that the wind was backing, and that there would be another blow from the westward before long.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Discovery

In the late afternoon, wearied with the gloom of living out the anxious day behind drawn blinds, I mounted to an attic at the top of the house on the seaward side, and seated myself at the window. I dared not open it for a breath of fresh air, but as the blind here was raised, I had a clear view without any risk of being seen in the interior darkness of the room.

The after glow of a superb sunset was lingering in the west, while in the bay the lights of yachts and pilot-cutters twinkled like fireflies. The clearness of the atmosphere on a night so calm, presaged rain and storm, lending probability to Croal's prediction that the dirty weather would soon be repeated.

Suddenly among the shrubs in the garden below, half way between the house and the brink of the cliff, I saw the motionless figure of a man. It was nearly dark now, and I could not distinguish his features, nor even his style of dress, but from his attitude he seemed to be taking a leisurely view of the house. Soon, without being joined by any one else, the watcher advanced toward the house, and as he stepped from the obscurity of the shrubs disclosed the glow of a cigar.

It was best to be on the spot—to confront this new development at close grips—so I groped my way down stairs. As I was entering the drawing room from the hall there came a tap at the window, followed by another and another. I stood still, scarcely breathing, and the tapping ceased.

A gravel path ran close to the window, and, after a pause that seemed indeterminable, I heard the "crunch" of a light footstep. And then, just as I was crossing the ink-black darkness of the room to open the window and end the suspense, I paused in consternation at the sound of my own name, spoken in no hostile tone:

"Rivington! Are you there, Rivington?"

"Who is it?" I asked, breathless.

"It is I—Ralph Carden. You may safely open to me. I come as a friend," was the reply which caused me to undo the catch and admit the speaker. He stepped into the darkness of the room, but not bfore I had caught a glimpse of his face and assured myself that it was really the young officer who had recognized me at Lord Alphington's.

"This will surprise you, after the way I treated you the other night," he said, when I had refastened the window. "The fact is that you really have Lady Muriel to thank for it."

"God bless her!" I rejoined. "What most surprises me is that you should have discovered that I was here."

"It is that that brought me—at Muriel's instance," he replied, going on to explain briefly that Croal was the source of his information.

It appeared that after my sentence, but before my escape, Carden had been out sea fishing in Croal's boat. All England was then talking of me and of my supposed crime, and, in discussing the trial, Carden mentioned that I had been at Woolwich with him for a short time.

That day Croal had come to Carden and informed him that a man who might be the escaped convict was concealed in the vacant house on the cliff. As he was not sure, and had been paid to supply the mysterious hermit with food, he would be glad if Carden would contrive to get a look at him, so that if he proved to be Rivington, he, Croal, might claim the reward. If not, there would be no harm done, and he could go on making a smaller profit by carrying provisions.

"Well," proceeded Carden, "this put me in a precious awkward position. I knew that you were Rivington, and guessed that something had occurred to make you go into closer hiding. But I also knew how interested Muriel was in you on account of Miss Chilmark, and how stanchly she believed in your innocence. I—well, the fact is I have reasons for wishing to stand well with Muriel—and I knew she would be furious if I were instrumental in your recapture. So I went straight at her and told her what had happened, at the same time assuring her that there was no mistake about it—that you are the man supposed to be nearing America. She is bent on helping you."

"Again God bless her," I said, adding, with an instinct for the real source of danger, "but what of Croal?"

"He is to come to see me tomorrow, when he expects to hear the result of my inspection, if I have been able to obtain one," Carden replied. "If I do as Muriel wishes, I shall have to act the casuist and tell him that I didn't recognize you."

"I should not wish you to act against your convictions on my behalf, but you will be better able to judge when you know the secret of my escape from Winchester," I said. "Then, if you choose to espouse my cause, you will at least do so with your eyes open."

And I told him everything, suppressing only, as in honor bound to the man whom I believed to be at the eleventh hour trying to serve me, the true name of Sir Gideon Marske's emissary. In my disclosure Herzog was called "Doctor Barrables," and so, without any slip on my part, he remained to the end. From Ralph Carden's boyish point of view, Herzog did not seem to matter at all. All his ideas ran on Roger Marske, and the implication of him and his father in my life tragedy.

"By Jove, Rivington!" he exclaimed, as his hand sought and gripped mine in the darkness, "you have convinced me now. I'll be square with you. When I came I was in Muriel's interests alone, but I'm in yours, and in those of that plucky girl of yours, now. What is best to be done? We seem to be in the thick of a business that will set England ablaze. Those blackguard Marskes!"

Verses That Ring

THE PASSING OF THE RANGE

Beyond the fields of corn and grain
Lies a vast tract of grassy plain,
Whose billows, like unto the deep,
In restless undulations sweep
And touch the shore line of the Night,
Far from the boundary of sight.

Roamed wild the buffalo and deer,
In undisturbed possession here,
Till from their mighty breeding ground
The best herds of the Southland found
The broad, rich grazing of the north
And drove the wilder tenants forth.

Then toward the prairies flowed the gold,
And Cattle Kings great herds controlled.
The "feed" was good—the winters mild,
And fortune smiling, they too smiled,
But reckoned not there would dawn the day
When Nature would her scepter sway.

But so it was. A winter's breath
Cast o'er the range the blight of death.
The herds had neither food nor shield,
And died by thousands on the field;
And with them riches pinons took,
Like snow before the warm chinook.

Then did the bearers of the fleece
In multiplying bands increase,
And drive the cattle herds before
And plunge their owners into war;
Each fighting for supremacy,
(And so, indeed, 'twil ever be.)

But herds and flocks must onward go—
The march of progress wills it so.
Toward that vast land the human-kind
Have turned their eyes, nor looked behind;
And where now sagebrush plats abound
There fruitful gardens will be found.

The irrigating ditches run
From lake and river, and each one
For many miles its course pursues
The living liquid to diffuse;
And whereso'er the water flows
There vegetation richly grows.

So must this broad expanse become
To agriculturists a home;
And steers and sheep in smaller band
Divide with fruit and grain the land;
And house and hamlet there will rise,
And churches' spires point to the skies.

AMONG EXCHANGES

It seems somewhat strange that when rich men, like the officials of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Packing Company of Chicago pleaded guilty to violating a United States statute, in which both a fine and imprisonment were the lawful penalty, that the imprisonment part of the penalty should have been overlooked. To a fellow who has plenty of money a fine has no terrors. In his case the stripes bring about a more violent case of palpitation of the heart.—Texarkana Courier.

Has the Courier forgotten the palpitation exhibited by these men when called up to receive sentence? The press dispatches say that Well, one of the men under indictment, was frightened so badly that he came very near dying.

There is one thing that can be said in favor of Mr. Bell's candidacy for governor: If he is elected, he can never be accused of practicing nepotism by filling the offices at his disposal with his own sons, for up to the present time Mr. Bell is a bachelor. And, by the way, in case of his election he will be the first bachelor that has ever occupied the governor's mansion.—State Topics.

Judge Bell may have some plans concerning future occupancy of the governor's mansion that have not been made public. Grover Cleveland went into the White House a celibate, but he left it a happy Benedict.

A state election is to be held in Ohio in a month, and the opposing political parties opened the campaign a little more than a week ago. A state election is not to be held in Texas until November, 1906, yet some of the candidates for state offices opened the campaign more than a month ago, and are trying to make the political pot boil before there is any fuel with which to start the fire. There are no "off years" in Texas, notwithstanding that elections are biennial.—San Antonio Express.

And the people of Texas are growing very weary of premature politics and too previous politicians. They want some surcease from the man who is eternally after office.

The score in Oregon now stands: One United States senator and one congressional representative convicted; one representative still under indictment and one United States senator still open to suspicion.—Houston Post.

The Oregon record is all right if the men are guilty of the charges, and the juries that tried them were the judges on that point. The fact that a man is a member of the United States congress should not be a cloak for any form of rascality.

Canada claims to be the rightful owner of the north pole. She will not, however, be obliged to throw any guards around it until some American shall approach within assimilating distance.—Galveston Tribune.

Let Canada claim the north pole if she wants to. The time is not far distant when the Dominion will be a part and parcel of these United States, and all that Canada has and claims will be ours. Americans are settling in that county by the thousands and these sturdy scions of American independence are but strengthening the probability of the annexation that seems sure to come.

The county judge of Parker county is a man after our own heart. Upon seeing the decision of the attorney general that the county is not to furnish stamps to its officers, he expressed himself as concurring in the opinion, and forthwith refunded all the money he had used for the purchase of stamps.—Bonham News.

The county judge of Parker county did the proper thing under the circumstances. If it is unlawful for county officials to enjoy the privilege of free stamps there is nothing else for them to do but pay for them.

The newspapers at Dallas are talking about several stables of horses that will be at the Dallas Fair. Will the Austin "augean stable" be among the others—and if so, will it contain winners or only also rans?—Sherman Register.

The augean stable will not be represented at the Dallas Fair. In fact, this stable is in very bad odor now, even with the people who brought the issue to public attention.

Bishop Goodman (impressively)—Only think, children! In Africa there are 10,000,000 square miles of territory without a single Sunday school, where little boys and girls can spend their Sundays. Now, what should we all try and save up our money and do?

RAILROADERS GUESTS OF PANTHER CLUB

Ex-Governor Sayers Delivers Address at Regular Meeting of Local Social Organization

At the regular meeting of the Panther Club, held at Hermann Park Thursday afternoon, the guests present were: L. S. Thorne, vice president and general manager of the Texas and Pacific; W. G. Van Vleck, second vice president and manager of the Southern Pacific, Houston; W. C. Nixon, general manager of the Santa Fe, Galveston; S. P. Jones, receiver of the Texas Southern, Marshall; S. J. Wright of Paris, vice president of the Paris and Great Northern; D. B. Keeler, vice president, General Superintendent Cotter and W. F. Sterley, general freight agent, Fort Worth and Denver City, and S. B. Hevey, general superintendent of the Rock Island, Fort Worth, and S. Mims of Thurber. Captain Paddock was toastmaster.

Among those present at the barbecue were: Martin Casey, George Diehl, John P. King, R. L. Rofers, L. P. Robertson, McNamara, Zane-Cettl, Lydon, Elbert G. Rall, A. E. Want, Ben O. Smith, W. G. Newby, W. B. King, W. H. Cargill, A. S. Dingee, H. M. Fickinger, Howard W. Peak, W. F. Sterley, N. H. Lassiter, E. W. Tempel, John B. Hawley, B. B. Paddock, J. E. Weeden and R. F. Milam.

Messrs. Keeler, Cotter and Sterley were elected members of the club, as were Messrs. E. H. Rall, A. E. Want, J. L. Price, Zane-Cetti and Thomas W. Slack.

Governor Sayers, in a brief address, said that after having served the public to the best of his ability for the past sixteen years, he was now engaged as general counsel for the General Managers' Association, and in that capacity expected to serve both the railroads and the general public for the remainder of his natural life.

Presiding at the meeting was John B. Hawley, founder of the club and city engineer of Fort Worth, assisted by the secretary, Arthur S. Goetz.

At the closing of the session the usual

SIXTY DIVORCES DISMISSED AT ONCE

Waco Judge Strikes Three Score Cases Off Docket at One Move

WACO, Texas, Oct. 6.—At one move yesterday Judge Sam Scott of the Fifty-fourth district court dismissed sixty divorce cases, and there is mourning in the camp of unhappy married people today. Most of the cases dismissed, however, had been on the docket two years and after finding that attorneys would not give them attention, and after warning them that the cases would be dismissed, Judge Scott disposed of them as indicated. It is the biggest batch of cases of the kind ever dismissed here.

OFFICERS THREATENED

Hillsboro Authorities Arrest Negro on Suspicion

HILLSBORO, Texas, Oct. 6.—A week or ten days ago Constable Dalton of the Hillsboro precinct received an anonymous letter, evidently written by a negro, complaining on behalf of that race of alleged discriminations by the officers and threatening dire vengeance and retaliation unless it cease. Within the past two days Sheriff Satterfield has received a similar letter, evidently written by the same party. A negro now in jail is suspected of having written the letters and the officers regard the evidence against him almost conclusive. Further developments are expected within a few days.

STEAMER HITS ROCK PASSENGERS RESCUED

Wreck Near Eureka, Cal., Declared to Have Been Due to Heavy Fog

EUREKA, Cal., Oct. 6.—Fast upon rocks a mile and a half south of the steamer Humboldt, the San Francisco and Portland Company's steamer St. Paul, Captain Randall, lies a total wreck. Its ninety-three passengers and crew of sixty-five men are safe. Some on board the steamer are en route to San Francisco, but the greater number are in Eureka, having arrived on the tug Ranger and Eureka and the steamer Vanguard, which rescued them from the wrecked steamer. The captain and most of the crew are in the Eureka.

The disaster, it is said, was due to a thick fog.

Captain Randall states that the disaster was due to the fog and attaches the blame to no one. Captain Randall was about to get up and take a look around when the ship struck a rock. The shock awakened the passengers and the watch below. Considering the circumstances there was no panic or unnecessary confusion. Captain Randall and masters of the Ranger and the Vanguard consider the St. Paul a total wreck both as to ship and cargo. It had aboard 1,100 tons of miscellaneous freight. The women suffered much from exposure and a number of them fainted when they realized their peril.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS PRAISE ROOSEVELT

Pass Resolution Lauding Efforts As Peacemaker at City Convention for Nominating Mayor

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Political precedent was upset last night when resolutions praising President Roosevelt for his tact and statesmanship in bringing about a settlement of the Russo-Japanese war were adopted amid enthusiastic cheers at the democratic city convention in Carnegie hall.

The resolutions created a sensation. They spoke of the President's remarkable tact, surprising courage, distinguished ability and commanding influence in achieving the greatest peace triumph of the age. Loud cheers marked the mention of Mr. Roosevelt's name and a storm of applause followed the conclusion of the reading.

Perfect harmony marked the convention, which unanimously and without dissent nominated George B. McClellan for mayor, Herman A. Metz for comptroller and Patrick F. McGowan for president of the board of aldermen.

STATE QUARANTINES TO BE LIFTED SOON

Louisiana Parishes Preparing to Again Throw Doors of Commerce Open

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—A chill in the air and cooler temperature in portions of Louisiana brightened the spirits of the people generally today and raised the hope that with improving conditions in every direction, a complete resumption of business is not many days distant.

More communities are intimating their desire to remove the restrictions as soon as reasonable safety will permit. St. James parish is to lift her quarantine on the 20th; Baton Rouge probably at the same time, and Alexandria on the 15th.

Shreveport, which has suffered the most severely in a commercial way by the cancellation of practically all trains, is taking steps to resume communication with some of the surrounding parishes which it is believed will be the first step to wiping out of the quarantine altogether.

Natchitoches has made concessions already, and likely will soon throw herself open to the whole state.

Owing to the quarantines, many terms of courts had to be deferred, but arrangemen's are now being made for their resumption.

The drift of laborers into the sugar districts is growing heavier now, that the season for cane cutting is near at hand. A large crop is to be harvested. The sensational reports sent away from here a week ago to the effect that the crop had been destroyed by the storm is utterly without foundation. Practically no damage was done.

The local situation continues to grow better, with a steady reduction of cases under treatment and a further decrease is promised in the weekly death list.

That the government believes the situation here is under complete control is indicated by the fact that the officers are still being suggested for the transfer to other points.

In connection with the history of the fight that is to appear in the servise records, Dr. White has asked his ward headquarters to furnish complete reports in their possession by Oct. 13.

Steady progress is being made in wiping out the fever in St. John parish, between Baton Rouge and New Orleans. The quarantine against Kentwood, Tangipahoe parish, has been raised. Only one case appeared there, twenty days ago. Not a new case has developed in St. Bernard in the past twenty-four hours. Baton Rouge is free from the fever.

Interest is still growing in the meeting at the East Leuda Street Christian church. The crowds are increasing. The service Thursday night was attended by a large and attentive audience. The sermon, delivered by Rev. R. R. Hamlin, on the subject of decision, was a strong one, urging people to decide to do right and obey the gospel.

There will be service tonight with sermon by Dr. Duke. The subject will be "The New Birth." Service begins at 7:30 o'clock.

BELLEVUE REVIVAL

"Seeking the Lost," Sermon Topic for Tonight

A large attendance is reported at the revival service of North Fort Worth Methodist church Thursday night, Rev. J. M. Bond, who is assisting the pastor, Rev. J. P. Mussett, preaching upon the "Way to Win Souls."

COTTON CROP SHORT

Page Harris, division superintendent of the Texas and Pacific railway, is in the city from Marshall, Texas. When asked as to conditions of the cotton crop in his territory Mr. Harris said:

"The early rains hampered farmers in planting and after the crop was planted many were forced to abandon their crops altogether on account of the continued rains of early summer.

"Cotton acreage is, for this season, greatly reduced through the section of East Texas traversed by the main line of the Texas and Pacific, more so than was contemplated.

"The yield per acre will also be short. I cannot give an accurate estimate of the yield per acre, but think it will be much less than last year."

BURNED BY POWDER

As a result of playing with a shell for a shotgun, George O. Cassa, the 6-year-old son of Mrs. J. C. Cassa of 1008 Pacific avenue, was severely burned about the face. The powder from the shell, which became ignited, struck him in the face in such a way that had the shell been loaded the shot would have killed him.

The boy was playing in the yard with several companions when the accident occurred. He was hurried to the Glenwood drug store, where his burns were dressed. The powder missed his eyes and he will not be permanently injured.

FARMERS IN SESSION

The Tarrant County Farmers' Union is holding the regular quarterly meeting in the Labor Temple today. The meeting this morning was devoted to the regular business of the organization. There were about seventy delegates in attendance this morning, with a few more expected in this afternoon.

District Lecturer Evans was also in attendance. The meeting this afternoon is to be devoted to discussion of the cotton season and other matters concerning the farming business.

Grounds for Exemption

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 6.—The railroad commission indicated today that it would exempt from operation of the dry goods emergency order any railroad in the state which can show conclusively that it has not been a party to the Chicago agreement, in which the roads are said to have agreed to protect a combination of locals through Galveston on shipments rebilled at Galveston.

Auditorium Notes

The auditorium circus grows in interest and proportions. Now that the railroads have made the excursion rates previously granted for Oct. 26 to include Oct. 25 also, all those taking part in the local effort are busy writing to their friends in other towns to come in for the great funmaking event.

The circus committee has now not only a great aggregation of home talent, spectaculars and horse show, but has rented the complete equipments and outfit of Campbell Bros.' great shows. The properties engaged from the Campbell Bros. include a complete menagerie of seventeen cages of wild animals, elephants, herd of camels, the latter all "city broke," bands, a string of Shetland ponies and 150 of the finest horses to be found in the United States.

This outfit will be the background for home talent. Bankers, lawyers, merchants, professional men and prominent society ladies will appear in feats of marvelous and surpassing interest. All together the combination, hitherto unknown in the history of tented shows, will throw into the shade even the attraction exhibited under the names of famous showmen.

The date now definitely decided upon will be Oct. 24 and 25. There will be daily parades, all local talent appearing in the toggery of a sure enough show and circus.

Miss Henderson, who is drilling the spectacular features of the Auditorium circus, desires a large attendance at Imperial hall tonight. She wants to get to work at 7:30 o'clock and all the young people are reminded of the hour and the request.

CONSOLIDATION OF MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

A deal has been closed between three important manufacturing industries of this city that will prove of immense value to the city and the surrounding country. The Acme Metal and Machine Company and the Fort Worth Boiler Works, both doing a manufacturing business in the machinery line of this city, in connection with M. P. Ferls, also of this city, purchased from Lee M. Rumsey, sole owner and manager of Fort Worth Machine and Foundry Company, his entire plant, business, good will and holdings.

These gentlemen propose to reconstruct the old business, put it on an even better footing than before, increase the capacity, and assure the public in general that all orders, however large or small, will have their best attention.

Mr. Rumsey retires from business, thanking the public for the kind consideration and patronage of the past, and bespeaks for the new business a most hearty consideration of all patrons.

The officers of the new company will be William Richmond, president and general manager; M. P. Ferls, vice president; Charles E. Bowman, secretary.

TARIFF LIKELY TO SPLIT CONVENTION

Massachusetts Republicans Divided Over Question of Duties and Reciprocity

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 7.—A factional contest upon the question of tariff revision, especially with reference to reciprocity with Canada, which involved the nomination of a candidate for lieutenant governor and the presence of five aspirants for nomination for attorney general, gave unusual interest to the republican state convention in Tremont Temple here today.

Although the committee on resolutions spent yesterday afternoon and last evening in hearing the arguments of the reciprocity supporters and late last night had reached a decision to introduce a compromise plank in the convention platform, early today it seemed likely a collision between the advocates of reciprocity and those who opposed tariff changes on the floor of the convention could not be prevented, because of the demand of the revisionists for more specific utterances than the committee was willing to make. The reciprocity delegates, headed by Eugene Foss of Newton, declare they insist on a plank demanding the removal of the duty on hides, iron ore, lumber and wood pulp.

POER CASE WITH JURY

No Verdict Yet in Hillsboro Murder Trial. With Jury Since Yesterday

HILLSBORO, Texas, Oct. 6.—In the district court here the past three days has been consumed in the trial of the Bob Poer murder case. It has been with the jury since yesterday afternoon and it is believed that a disagreement will be the final outcome of the trial. Poer was indicted in 1901 for the murder of a negro in a saloon in Hubbard City. He was tried at the fall term of court in that year and convicted of murder in the second degree, the penalty being assessed at confinement in the penitentiary for eleven years. The case was appealed and the judgment reversed. It has been continued from term to term since. The prominent of the family gives unusual interest to the case.

TABOR DENIES CHARGE

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 6.—State Health Officer Tabor today denied the charge made by a Beaumont paper that the quarantine against Shreveport, La., is being maintained at the suggestion of Dallas business men in the shipment of freight so that Dallas and other North Texas points may get business which naturally belonged to Shreveport. Dr. Tabor said that there is no embargo against Shreveport or even New Orleans in the shipment of freight, provided it is properly fumigated according to the rules promulgated by Texas, effective July 25.

Several witnesses have been summoned by the state.

WOMAN'S VITALITY

DEPENDS ON CARE REGARDING A SIMPLE MATTER.

Mrs. Ford Tells What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Surely Do for Many Perplexed Women.

"I wish I could help other women get rid of certain physical troubles as completely as I have succeeded in getting rid of mine," said Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Pushmataha, Miss., recently. "You know," she continued, "that a woman's health depends chiefly on the regularity of just one function. If she fails to keep that properly regulated she has no end of physical misery. I suffered from that one cause for two wretched years, during one of which I was kept in bed all the time. I tried medicines enough to cure any illness, but nothing gave me the slightest benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cured me. Why, I was suffering all the time practically from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of sound health.

"Within three weeks after beginning the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I experienced such relief that I knew they must be adapted to the needs of my case. After using them for a short while longer I became and have since remained a well woman, and the reason why is simply that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The pills which Mrs. Ford praises so enthusiastically cure the chief ailments of women by thoroughly renovating the blood. They make uterine action regular and painless, banish headaches, languor, nervousness, create appetite, promote digestion, put color in the complexion, build up strength and, in a word, enable women to reach and maintain full physical perfection.

Every woman should send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y., for a valuable booklet, entitled "Plain Talks to Women." No. 2838—A Stunning Shirred Effect.

It often happens that most becomingly dressed woman is she who fashions her own gowns. It is indeed a great credit to the American woman of today that, with all her strenuous life, she still retains the ancestral art of plying the needle.

One of the most modish of the new waists is shown here, and it will win the admiration of beauty-loving women everywhere because of its possibilities. For the slender woman the shirred bolero effect will supply fulness to the bust, and the puff sleeves breadth to narrow shoulders. A soft veiling in lavender or yellow, with ecru lace and crushed girdle of a dark-hued chiffon velvet or taffeta, will develop this model most becomingly. For a medium size, 6¼ yards of 27-inch material are necessary.

Pattern No. 2838 is cut in five sizes from 32 to 40 inches bust. This pattern will be mailed, postpaid, in any of the given sizes, by enclosing 10 cents and sending the size, name and address to The Pattern Department of The Telegram.

MAY SUCCEED CHAPELLE

Rt. Rev. A. Van de Vyver Likely to Be Named Archbishop

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 6.—It was reported yesterday that Rt. Rev. A. Van de Vyver, bishop of Richmond, has resigned or is about to offer his resignation, to the congregation of the propaganda at Rome.

Bishop Van de Vyver will return to Richmond tomorrow after an absence of several weeks in Europe. As bishop of Richmond, Bishop Van de Vyver is a suffragan of Cardinal Gibbons, as the archbishop of Baltimore, the see of Richmond belonging to the province of Baltimore.

In connection with the rumored resignation of Bishop Van de Vyver, it is said he may be named as the successor of the late Archbishop Chapelle in the archdiocese of New Orleans. Mgr. Chapelle died shortly after the outbreak of yellow fever in that city.

Another prelate who is mentioned as a possible successor to Mgr. Chapelle is Rt. Rev. Henry Granjon, Bishop of Tucson, Ariz. Dr. Granjon lived at St. Mary's Seminary, this city, for several years prior to his consecration, and was at the head of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith in the United States.

NO PRAISE FOR WITTE

St. Petersburg Municipality Rejects Idea of Honor to Envoy

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 6.—Strong sentiment against Count Witte developed at the caucus of the St. Petersburg municipality yesterday evening, called to discuss civic action in recognition of his services at Portsmouth. Suggestions that a banquet be given in his honor, that he be presented with the freedom of the city or an address were rejected and a resolution adopted declaring that he was not worthy of any special honor because his services at Portsmouth "were the only redeeming sacrifice for political mistakes in which he has acquiesced and which were responsible for the war."

The first act of the ministerial committee's sessions, which have been resumed with Count Witte's return, was an important concession on the language question, permitting commercial schools at Warsaw, Riga and Reval to use Polish or German as the language of instruction in all studies except Russian grammar, history and geography.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

A Remedy Which Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Stomach Troubles

The remedy is not heralded as a wonderful discovery nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles with which nine out of ten suffer.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (government test), golden seal and diastase. The tablets are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments to test the digestive power of the active principle contained in them is sufficient to thoroughly digest 3,000 grains of raw meat, eggs and other wholesome food.

Stuart's Tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever in digesting food or curing indigestion.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most widely known of any treatment for stomach weakness.

This success has been secured entirely upon its merits as a digestive pure and simple, because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely on the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue. They cure dyspepsia and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive power which weak stomachs lack and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found at all drug stores and the regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit better than any other argument.

RAILROAD OFFICES TO BE CONSOLIDATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 6.—The announcement has been made that the local offices of the various Vanderbilt lines will be consolidated on Nov. 1, and after that date Charleston C. Crane will handle all passenger business on the lines, and John Gill, who has just returned from the east, will assume the responsibilities of the freight department. The consolidation folows the appointment of several months ago of Captain G. J. Grammer to the position of traffic manager of the Vanderbilt lines. He has been, it is said, long considering a plan of consolidation.

M., K. AND T. GETS THE FAMOUS "KATY POND"

Litigation of Fifteen Years Standing Finally Settled Today In Muskogee Court

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 6.—After fifteen years of litigation the status of the "Katy Pond" was finally settled this morning in Judge Raymond's court, fixing the title to it with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad. The original suit for the title to this property was brought under the title of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad and the city of Muskogee vs. Ross Meagher et al. This was six years ago.

For fifteen years this piece of property has been constantly in the courts and no one could have the pond drained and improve the property, but as the matter has been settled, this pond will be drained and the location will be one of activity. The new stock yards of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad will be located at this point and will be one of the finest stock yards along the Katy lines, costing $30,000. At the present location of the stock yards a new round house, with a capacity of twenty-six stalls and costing $50,000, will be built. A new coaling plant, at the cost of $18,000, a brick machine shop, a new freight depot and other improvements of the Katy will amount to about $150,000.

In the settlement of this case the Katy railroad pays $4,000 in cash to those interested in the title, the Katy paying that and making the settlement in order to go ahead with the improvements of this division.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 6.—Yesterday at the United States Indian agency there were seventy-five applications, representing about twelve thousand acres of land returned from Washington, approved by the secretary of the interior, removing the restrictions from land of the allottees. This makes the land salable and taxable. Indian Agent D. H. Kelsey stated today that the applications for removal of the restrictions are being heard and forwarded to Washington at the rate of twenty-five per day.

CORBETT Says NELSON

Has Earned a Rest. Dane Fought 72 Battles to Win Championship.

BY JAS. J. CORBETT.

(Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Is it right for the public to insist on Battling Nelson meeting everybody that challenges him? Is it right even for the fight fans to ask the great little Dane to engage in another championship battle inside of six months at least?

None of you ever held the honor probably, and do not know what it means to be champion fighter of the world if only in that division known as the lightweight. In the first place, the honor is gained only after a long, tiresome trip over roads covered with obstacles that are not known to the ordinary member of the sporting fraternity who knows only the theoretical side of the ring game.

We do not have to go further than Nelson to illustrate every side of this question. He fought 72 battles before he even got a chance to fight for the title. Think of that. He had to whip at least two-thirds of that number. Then the time comes for the great contest that will either place him in the spotlight or relegate him to the background, probably forever. He wins. He lands the honor for which he has struggled just as hard as the man who has landed his million. It takes him a long time to get it. Then should he part with it, or even run the risk of parting with it, at once? With it will go all honor and the chance to make a fortune. I have been through the mill and know whereof I speak.

You already know that Nelson is game and that he can fight; that he has whipped the best man in his class in the world. Then why ask him to fight until he has at least a chance to enjoy a part of the honor?

A lot of the sporting writers are demanding that Nelson turn his attention to Gans. I do not know why.

Several years ago Gans whipped a white champion. Since then he has been mauled and hammered a couple of times by men who had superiors in the ring.

Take the fight with Britt. Gans put up a pitiable exhibition. Britt pounded him around like a punching bag, and would have whipped the tar out of him had he not made a slip and dealt a foul blow which, it was claimed, injured Gans. The colored man got the decision, despite the fact that his going up to the time the accident happened was of the shadiest character.

Gans was either weakened so much by having to make 133 pounds, or has gone back so far that he is out of consideration.

Personally, I believe that if Nelson were to offer the colored man a chance at 133 pounds, Joe wouldn't come any nearer making it than a cow would of flying.

Unless he would train so hard as to weaken himself, the colored champion could not make the 133 mark unless he sawed his leg off. He fought Walcott only recently for the welterweight title and I believe that if Nelson fights him at all it ought to be for the welter title.

What is said about Gans' weight goes for Gardner, too. He is beyond the 133-pound mark so far that it would be impossible for him to get down to Nelson's limit without weakening himself so that his chances would be anything but flattering against the boy who has demonstrated that he has a punch that many of the big fellows have not.

Attell's claims are based principally on what Young Corbett has to say about him, and not upon his record.

Terry McGovern's defi, so far as I know, has not been taken seriously by anyone, and I am not excepting Terry himself when I make the statement.

* * *

Tommy Ryan made a remark after the 71st round in his long-drawn-out fight with Danny Needham, at Minneapolis that is still handed down by the fight fans who saw that memorable battle.

Ryan had pounded Needham until his hands were almost jammed back into his arms. He wondered if he never would be able to make Danny take the count. Probably no little man had ever taken a greater beating and kept coming up round after round.

Just before the 72d round started one of Ryan's seconds turned to him and said: "Tommy, you ought to get him this round. You look mad enough to eat him."

"Yes, and I am mad enough to eat him," came the quick reply from Ryan, "but you know I am a Jew."

* * *

Battling Nelson may be a great fighter, but he is a bum speaker. One of Nelson's friends arrived in New York the other day and I met him on the street. He saw the Dane in his maiden appearance on the stage and witnessed him in his first effort to respond to a curtain call.

Nolan, Nelson's manager, had overlooked getting anything ready for his protege, and when he appeared before the big audience that had turned out to see him he stumbled over a single little "I" with which he started his speech more than he would over the feet of an antagonist. Finally in a poor sort of way he got out the words: "I am glad to be here and I hope you are." That was all. He admitted afterward that if someone had asked him his name he would have been unable to tell it.

TRAINING a FOOTBALL ELEVEN.

Written for The Telegram by Dan McGugin, Coach of Vanderbilt Eleven.

It is necessary for the successful trainer to become intimately familiar with the men under his charge. He must not only know something of their physical organization, but in order to get them in the best condition for athletic output, he should be capable of studying the minds and habits of the men under him. This is necessary because no two men will stand the same amount of exercise, and the same sort of quality of food with the same results. Of course, the system of exercise and diet is generally uniform, but there are always some men on the team who require close personal attention.

The men who furnish little worry for the trainer are the ones who are hale and hearty—men of tremendous physical power and splendid physical balance.

In contradistinction are the players who are inclined to be slender, and of more delicate construction. Many such men, though not naturally of robust physical force, through determination and persistence, attain physical development of beautiful curves and symmetry. Such men usually possess a lot of nervous energy, and as a consequence of their temperament and physical construction are more apt than any of their teammates to go stale. This type of man brings anxiety to the trainer, because of his tendency to lapse from a highly sensitive nervous mental and physical condition.

To become stale, athletically, means to react from a perfect condition to an enervated one. Perfect physical condition is a highly sensitized and intense state, and consumes and demands energy. The fat athlete is seldom, if ever, stale, because his body is stored with nerve food which more than supplies the demand upon it. But the lean man is the one who is confronted with the danger of going stale, because there is not that in his system which will furnish satisfaction to the cry of the nerves for nourishment.

The alert perception of the trainer sees evidence of staleness in the listless eye, in the lack of elasticity in the step, and in the absence of snap and ginger in the whole man. He warps the thing of the moment into importance, whether it is vital or not, just as any other abnormal being does; and the trainer has got to watch him then. Relish is gone, and he is exacting and bothersome about his food. The appearance of dishes ordinarily sightly fails to attract him, and even excites disfavor and aversion.

The following menus are suggested for athletes in training:

BREAKFAST.

Cereal. Dry Toast.
Soft Boiled or Poached Eggs.
Broiled Steak. Baked Potato.
Grapes or Figs.

LUNCHEON.

Soft Boiled or Poached Eggs.
Creamed Potatoes. Celery.
Cold Beef or Mutton.
Dry Bread or Toast. Fruit.

DINNER.

Roast Beef or Mutton or Roast Fowl.
Baked Potato. Clerey.

YESTERDAY'S RACE RESULTS

AT LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—One of the largest crowds that ever attended the trotting races here saw Ethel's Pride, the favorite, win the classic Transylvania Stake in straight heats. It was the seventeenth renewal of this race. There were nine starters, and Ethel's Pride sold favorite, with Turley second choice. In the first heat Turley finished second, close up.

Geers, driving Turley, did not make his drive until too late. In the second heat Ethel's Pride took the lead and held it. Turley could not overtake her and finished second, with John Caldwell coming fast in the stretch and finishing a good third. Ethel's Pride led by a length all the way in the third heat. Mainland made a gallant struggle and all but beat the Directum mare in a heart-breaking finish. Ethel's Pride is owned by John Shepherd of Boston and was driven by W. J. Andrews. The stake was worth $5,000.

Dan Patch, the world's champion pacer, equalled his record of 1:56 and also broke the track record for the fastest mile ever trotted or paced over it. He was driven by H. C. Hearsey, and his fractional time was 0:29 1-4, 0:58 3-4, 1:27 1-4, 156.

First race—Racing futurity, 3-year-olds, $5,000, three in five: Bonalet, by Bonnie Direct, won; Miss Adbell second, Josie M third. Best time, 2:09 1-4.

AT BELMONT PARK

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The surprise of the racing at Belmont yesterday was the defeat of the 1 to 12 favorite, Broomstick, in the last race, which was won by Sailor Boy, a 12 to 1 shot. Despite the fact that he was carrying top weight, 126 pounds, Broomstick was considered to so far outclass Sailor Boy and Lola H that he was held at the prohibitive price.

Four favorites won. Hello, who broke down in the last race Wednesday, was destroyed yesterday.

First race—Seven furlongs: Just So won, King Pepper second, Jack McKeon third. Time, 1:25 1-5.

Second race—Steeple chase, two miles: Del Canta won, The Lad second, Alfar third. Time, 4:04.

Third race—Six furlongs: Lawsonian won, Content second, Vanguard third. Time, 1:15 1-5.

Fourth race—Hunter Handicap, one mile: Coy Maid won, Rose of Dawn second, Delphi third. Time, 1:39 1-5.

Fifth race—Six furlongs: Pythia won, Cary second, Curly Jim third. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Sixth race—One mile and one furlong: Sailor Boy won, Broomstick second, Lola H third. Time, 1:52.

AMUSEMENTS

ALBERT TAYLOR

Albert Taylor and his company will appear at Greenwall's Opera House tonight in "A Country Lawyer." Saturday matinee, "College Chums," and Saturday night, "The Prodigal's Return." Mr. Taylor this season has turned to be in the legitimate and no longer will be with a so-called repertoire company. The three plays Mr. Taylor has selected will be given in all details and should bring forth a rousing big house. Ladies will have an opportunity tonight of witnessing the performance free when accompanied by a person with a paid 50c ticket if purchased before 6 p. m.

AL. H. WILSON

Golden-voiced singer, Al. H. Wilson, in his new comedy, "The German Gypsy," will be the attraction at Greenwall's Opera House Tuesday night, Oct. 10.

A feature of more than special interest, especially to music-lovers, in the performance is the beautiful, tuneful and catchy melodies.

Mr. Wilson will sing six new songs during the play, the success of each song being so strongly marked that the question as to which one is the best is purely a matter of personal opinion. There is the charming love ballad, "No Love Like Thine;" the beautiful heart-story, "My German Rose;" the irresistible waltz song, "Under the Harvest Moon," "The Love Trust," which, as its title indicates, appeals to every heart; a yodel especially fitted to Mr. Wilson's marvelous voice, and "The Girl for Me," a bright and snappy march song of unusual attractiveness.

MURRAY AND MACK

Murray and Mack, the popular comedians, are presenting this season an entirely new and original farce-comedy, which is said to outclass everything they have ever produced, inasmuch that it is written entirely new lines and especially for them. They have given this new effort the title of "Around the Town." The company is a large one, containing many popular favorites from the vaudeville stage, together with a large chorus of male and female voices. Murray and Mack comes to Greenwall's Opera House Wednesday matinee and night, Oct. 11.

POLYTECHNIC BREAKS ATTENDANCE RECORD

Enrollment Far in Excess of That at Same Period Other Years

The attendance at Polytechnic College now numbers 475, which is far ahead of any other term at this time of the season. Of this number about three hundred are boys and one hundred and seventy-five girls. Last year there were but 330 students at the beginning of October. The expectations of the college are for an attendance of close to 650 or 700 students before the end of the year. As soon as the cotton crop is in and the wheat planted a large increase will undoubtedly be shown. More students will also enter at the beginning of the second term on Jan. 13.

College Magazine

The first number of volume 12 of the Polytechnian presents a pleasing aspect both in get-up and quality of work. The prominent place is given to "Sovereignty of the Common People," the prize-winning oration of last spring by F. M. Bransford. Other articles are: "The Triumph of Universal Peace," by William Hamilton; "Night Brings Out the Stars," by Bert E. McGlamery; "A Plea for the Young Men's Christian Association," by M. L. Latham, and "Athletics," by M. B. McCarthy.

The editorial staff of the magazine is given as follows: B. L. Agerton, editor-in-chief; C. C. McKinney, literary editor; Miss Irene McCarver, exchange editor; B. O. Brown, assistant exchange editor; A. A. Dowda, assistant exchange editor; Miss Leona Sensabaugh, local editor; Wallace Gregg, local editor; Miss Lizzie Smith, assistant local editor; M. B. McCarley, athletic editor; Clyde C. Cockrell, business manager; Otto Neilson, assistant business manager.

Class Organizes

A meeting of the graduating class was held Wednesday for the purpose of perfecting an organization. G. F. Winfield is president and Miss May Spivey secretary. E. J. Snyder was elected class poet and committees on class pins, class colors and a class motto were appointed.

New Rifles Ordered

An order has just been sent in for fifty more Springfield rifles for the battalion. At present a drill is held every morning to perfect the work. Later on, however, but two drills will be held a week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Society Meeting

Gilman; debate, "Resolved, That the Divorce Law Should Be Abolished;" affirmative, F. Snyder, Zeak Herrin and W. Harrison; negative, J. R. Wilson, F. M. Holmes and W. B. Abbott.

College Notes

Rev. C. L. Browning of Itasca, one of the first graduates of Polytechnic College, will preach on Sunday.

The first lecture of the College Lyceum course was given Wednesday night by Professor Charles Lane of Georgia on "Talks and Talkers." The next lecturer will be Louis J. Beauchamps, who speaks Nov. 2.

Interest in athletics is high, even though the football team has been abolished. Baseball, basketball and tennis are the chief attractions. The university baseball team has been organized and is willing to play. A game with the high school for Thursday had to be postponed.

There are four basketball squads organized among the young men and two among the young women, which practice every day. The first teams are playing fast games. Officers of the girls' organization have been elected as follows: President, Mrs. J. D. Young; vice president, Louise Gause; secretary, Miss Watson; treasurer, Amy Jones; captains, Leon Hightower and Nora Maloney.

The girls are much interested in tennis also and have five teams. Plans are being considered for matches with other colleges next spring.

A LOVELY COMPLEXION

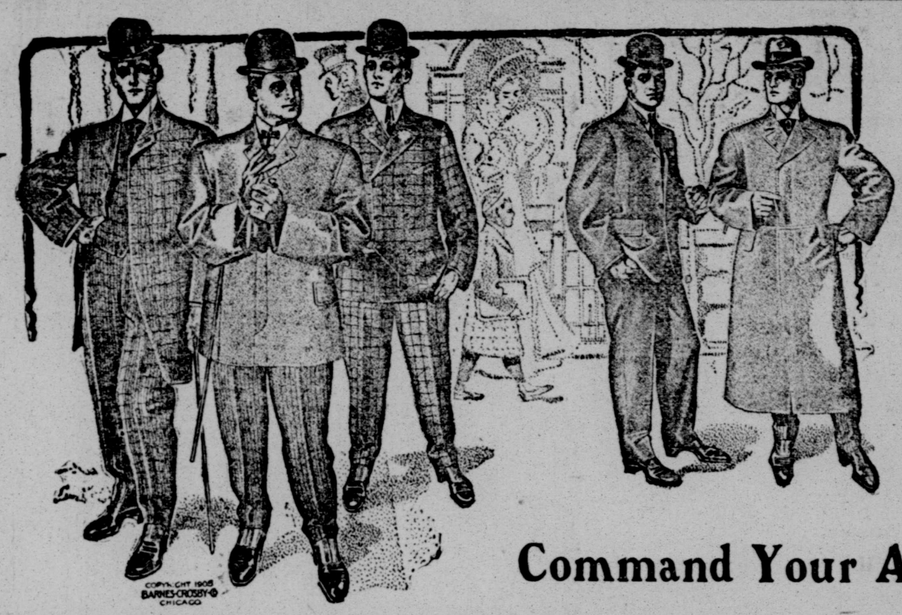

New York Lady Proves That Every Woman May Have It By

USING CUTICURA SOAP

"Mrs. R. Reichenberg, wife of the well-known jeweller of 146 Fulton St., New York, says: "I had a friend who was justly proud of her complexion. When asked what gave her such a brilliant and lovely complexion, she replied, 'A healthy woman can be sure of a fine skin if she will do as I do, use plenty of Cuticura Soap and water.' She insisted that I follow her example, which I did with speedy conviction. I find that Cuticura Soap keeps the skin soft, white, and clear, and prevents redness and roughness."

Burton-Peel's CLOTHING STORE

The Best of Ready to Wear is The Best of Any to Wear

Our $10 $15 and $20 Suits Command Your Attention

We believe in everything we sell. We've studied its production so well—we've passed it through so severe a test of criticism that it must prove itself up to everything we claim for it.

In Clothing we know we have something more to offer you than ready-to-wear ever meant to you before. We buy from different large makers in order to get the variety of ideas, but we select the cloth and trimmings they use. The men who design the garments (cutters, they're called in tailoring) are the best artists in their line in America. They create styles. These big manufacturers can employ such skill; the best cutters want to go to them because it means more to them financially than if they were in a retail tailoring shop.

We close the argument by saying Burton-Peel buy for six great active, healthy Clothing stores. The chain of stores consume great quantities, enough to command, and in a great many cases, dictate the price. We cite you three great lines that go on sale tomorrow at $10, $15 and $20

Each line contains the correct cut, correct cloth, style and new favored shades, single and double-breasted. When we say to you, a saving of $2.50, $5.00 and $7.50 on these lines, we mean it, and comparison will prove it.

MURDERER AT 7 IS A MAN OF EXPERIENCE

MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 5.—Local physicians and psychologists are greatly interested in the case of Leon Chambeau, the 7-year-old criminal, and there is a wide divergence of opinion as to his nature.

When examined in the jail here his head was found to be well formed and he showed no decided signs of degeneracy. He is clear-eyed, supple of limb, though under-sized, being hardly larger than a well-grown boy of 5 years.

In actions and nature, however, he is a thorough tough, and the heads of the Waukesha Industrial school will have their hands full with him.

He was found crying bitterly in his cell just before being taken away and on being questioned he said he would die unless he was given some tobacco to chew. He was given a package, and he had a chew in his mouth and the package in his pocket when he left on the train.

By his environment he has become impregnated with criminal tendencies. A near relative taught him to steal and took him on thieving and barn burning expeditions.

The boy swears like a trooper and can stand more whisky than most men.

He is crazy unless he has tobacco. The home of the Chambeau family is a dilapidated log shanty, about two miles from Wausaukee. The mother can speak little English and is simple-minded. Leon had her terrorized.

There is a little 6-year-old girl living yet. Three babies have died, including the one Leon burned to death last week by saturing the cradle with kerosene.

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

HOXIE RANCH SOLD

TAYLOR, Texas, Oct. 6.—A real estate deal of more than ordinary importance and one involving a cash consideration of $75,000 and the transfer of some of the best black land in Williamson county, was consummated in Taylor yesterday. Through the agency of Fred L. Welch and Francis A. Allison, lessees and managers of the Hoxie San Gabriel ranch, north of Taylor, the celebrated Hoxie Flag Springs ranch, containing 1,400 acres of very rich black land, situated one mile east of Taylor, just outside the city limits, and owned by the John R. Hoxie estate, of which Mrs. Mary Hoxie is administratrix, was sold, together with all the improvements thereon, to the Hibernian Banking Company of Chicago. Welch & Allison have been instructed by the new owners to resurvey and plat this land in tracts of 80 and 100 acres and place the same on the market, which means the cutting up and passing of this ideal Texas home of the lamented Chicago millionaire, John R. Hoxie, deceased. Flag Springs, from which this ranch took its name, was the rendezvous and camping spot for the immense herds of cattle in years gone by which passed up "the trail" from Texas to the northwest. Well watered and as fertile as land can be, it was here that John R. Hoxie established his Texas home, the establishment of which, through the agency of the (then) Texas Land Company, was largely due the selection of the site for the present populous city of Taylor, a vast expanse of prairie land then used for grazing purposes only. The passing of Flag Springs ranch carries with it memories of which cowboys of thirty and more years ago are familiar.

CALVES SHIPPED OUT

"The big end of the calves have been marketed from the Midland country," said Thomas Voliva, who was at the yards in advance of a shipment made by Garrett & Voliva, large Midland county cattlemen, who have been heavy contributors to the local market recently. "Shipments of good cows will be small," he continued, "grass being fine and owners figuring it good policy to hold such stock as they can raise calves from, rather than dispose of it at prevailing market prices. There will, however, be a good many old shelly cows shipped from there. We have very few steers other than yearlings and 2s, and they will practically all be held for the northern demand next spring. Our steers will be finer than ever next spring, and we are anticipating a big demand. Quality is being improved every year, and with the abundance of grass we have this fall, our steers cannot help but winter well and be in excellent condition next spring. I have been in Midland county for twenty-odd years and conditions there are better now than I ever before saw them. Cattle are about as numerous as in former years, but because of the fine grass we could handle about twice the usual number to better advantage."

HOLDING THE TOPS

"Range conditions in Mitchell county are as fine as could be asked for and cattle are in excellent shape," said G. W. Waddell, who was at the yards with a two-car shipment of cows and calves. "The market, however, is getting, as a rule, only the tail ends of the cattle in that section and from the present outlook the best will be carried over. As a general thing, cattlemen there are comparatively free from debt, and with a good winter range assured and an immense feed crop, they are going to hold their best cattle for better prices than are now prevailing. I believe there will be an improvement in the market in the near future. These big runs cannot last always and with a decreased marketing of common and immature stuff, which I think will soon occur, the market will get better. One of the chief causes of the heavy marketing is that so many Texas ranches have been placed on the market and are being cut up into farms. Mitchell county is rapidly undergoing this change. Land is getting too valuable to graze cattle on to any advantage. Our crops there this year were immense. Cotton will average a half bale to the acre and kaffir corn, milo and sorghum never yielded larger returns. Even Indian corn, which we have never been able to grow very successfully heretofore, made around twenty to twenty-five bushels and some fields made up to thirty-five bushels."

RANGE CONDITIONS GOOD

H. B. Holmes of San Antonio was at the yards looking over market conditions. He reports range conditions good in Bexar and surrounding counties, and says that there are a good many cattle down there that will soon be in good shape for the market, though he does not believe the movement will be large unless the market improves considerably, and says that few cattle will be shipped before December. Fewer cattle will be fed than usual, feeders being generally of the opinion that the big corn crop north will make fed cattle plentiful and cheap.

FEEDING OUT WEST

O. A. Smith and A. Sears were in with a car each of cattle shipped from Taylor county. Mr. Smith says there are still a good many cattle to come from that section, though recent shipments have been on a liberal scale. He is of the opinion that about the usual number of cattle will be fed this winter at the oil mills at Abilene and Sweetwater, but says that feeders will generally confine their operations to one or two loads and that he knows of no one in that section who is planning to feed a large string.

RANGES LIGHTLY STOCKED

A. C. Pearson was in with a load of mixed cows and calves from Big Springs. One of the cows was good enough to bring $3 per hundredweight. Mr. Pearson says cattle are in good condition in the country around Big Springs. There are a good many cattle, but with plenty of grass the ranges are in no danger of being overstocked.

DOGS AS PROTECTORS

Waco Man Advises Their Use in Country Districts

WACO, Texas, Oct. 6.—A gentleman of this city who has given very close attention to the trouble which has been caused through attacks on white women advises that all white women living in the country should have large dogs about the place and should seek to care for the dogs themselves, leaving the men of the place to look after other matters. By caring for the dogs themselves this gentleman thinks they could have the animals so they would accompany the women everywhere and care for them, also making it impossible for anyone to slip up and strike down the women unawares in their homes. He thinks that this plan, followed generally, would have a splendid effect.

THE CHANGES OF TIME

A Plain Story of the Diverging Paths of Two Girl Playmates

By EMILY D. CARROLL

(Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

We were playmates in childhood, Mary Grey and I, and as we grew to womanhood our friendship grew still stronger till at last we were almost inseparable. I cannot tell how many foolish promises we made to each other, for we were romantic young simpletons and we loved each other. I know one promise was never to marry, but always live together in some snug cottage where we should be as happy as the day was long. I proved recreant to my promise, as witness my husband and two of the sweetest darlings that ever gladdened a mother's heart. Mary still lives in maiden meditation fancy free.

She was a very pretty girl, four years my senior, though she did not look it. She was an orphan and when a rich uncle in Philadelphia agreed to adopt her she consented to the arrangement. Not long afterward her uncle died and Mary was his heiress.

According to promise we corresponded regularly for a time. Such lengthy, passionate letters as she wrote me! Never did a fond girl prize her lover's letters more than I prized Mary's. She missed me so much, she said. She wanted to see me so badly. I must come and pay her a visit. This was before my marriage. One thing and another happened to prevent my going. Gradually the years slipped by and I had taken another name and my heart was thrilling with a strange, delightful, yet solemn feeling. But Mary Grey, my girlhood friend, was not forgotten. I wanted her to share my joy. I wanted to say to her, "Here is my husband and your brother, Mary, sweet sister." I wanted to lay my firstborn in her arms and say, "He is mine, Mary. Love him for my sake."

But the poor girl was tied down in her New England home. She still wrote to me occasionally and I to her, but not so often, for other duties claimed our attention. I talked about Mary so much that at last Charlie grew tired of hearing her name and began to tease me.

"Your friend is an old maid, isn't she Lucy?" he asked me one evening.

"An old maid!" I replied indignantly. "No, indeed, sir, she is not an old maid."

At last Mary agreed to pay us a visit. What a time I did have in planning for her reception. She was an heiress and, I feared, might think our little home very poor indeed. True, it was comfortable and all that Charlie and I cared for, but Mary was rich and used to much grander surroundings, I mused.

The glad day arrived and Charlie was to bring our guest from the station in time for lunch. When I heard the carriage I ran eagerly to meet Mary. But was that Mary; that tall, thin, sallow, dignified woman, who looked as if she had certainly "swallowed a poker," so straight and stiff did she appear?

It was Mary beyond a doubt, for she kissed me quite warmly and said I had changed very little since she last saw me. She was dressed very elegantly, but not tastefully, and she had lost several of her front teeth. In short, she looked anything but the pretty, delicate Mary Grey I had known and loved.

"Are you not dreadfully bothered with your children, Lucy?" she asked me after luncheon, "or are you fond of them?"

"Passionately," I cried, as I caught my darling Florrie in my arms and kissed her rosy mouth.

"It is very fortunate that you like them," she replied. "I do not like them. I know very little about children, never having lived much with them."

My heart turned sick. Not love children! How could she ever get along with us?

When the little ones were put to sleep that afternoon I took out some sewing and entered Mary's room for a chat. I began by sympathizing with her in her lonely life, but to my surprise she informed me that she really had quite a pleasant time. She lives in a handsome house when at home and keeps up a continual round of gayety. Some further attempts on my part to bring out a line of conversation on which we might be mutually interested failed and I gave up the task.

Both Charlie and I tried to make her visit as pleasant as possible, and in her dignified way she really seemed to enjoy it as much as she could enjoy anything. But when it drew to a close and Mary bid us farewell I could not refrain from drawing a sigh of relief. It was such a dreadful awakening from the bright dream of my girlhood. The Mary Grey I had known had surely taken flight and in her stead was a woman who missed much of the good things of life.

Only a short time ago we heard from good authority that Mary is to marry a rich widower, the father of four children. I should like to know very much how Mary will get along with so many little ones around her. I cannot but hope that the marriage will change her for the better in some respects, and that she may be happy, for after all, there is a great deal to respect in my old friend who used to be everything to me.

MAGAZINES

WOOL MIXTURES

How to Detect the Ruinous Cotton Thread In Cloth

The difference between wool and cotton is very great, and in the case of separate threads of each is plainly apparent; yet, when these same threads are closely interwoven some good judges are mistaken and buy mixed cotton and wool goods, firmly convinced that there is not a thread of cotton in the cloth. It is the custom of all mills that manufacture cotton and wool mixtures to run the cotton crosswise in the looms, thus leaving the wool to run lengthwise. This is done for two purposes: first, to impart the glossy appearance which the longer stretch of wool thread gives when run in the length of the goods, and secondly, because the proportion of cotton is necessarily less and therefore more difficult to detect. The cotton thread, of course, is much smaller and very difficult to distinguish in closely woven fabric.

Take the bolt of goods at the cut end and examine closely the crosswise thread, slowly pulling it apart. If it breaks almost evenly and comes apart slowly then one is safe in judging it to be all wool. If, on the contrary, it breaks in short, uneven strands and falls apart easily, refuse to accept the goods, for it is undeniably cotton, and will not give satisfaction. It were far better to get all cotton or all wool.—October Men and Women.

DELIGHTFUL BOOK ON FRENCH HOME LIFE

In "Home Life in France," to be published this fall by A. C. McClurg & Co., there are many interesting points for American readers. Here are a few characteristic extracts from the book:

"One curious feature of French etiquette is the direct opposition of many rules of our own. With ourselves an introduction entitles a lady to acknowledge or not as she pleases a 'presentee' of the other sex. Precisely an opposite rule holds good in France; here, as in so many instances, custom following tradition, Louis XIV never encountered a washerwoman or chambermaid without raising his hat. A Frenchman following the example of the Rio Soleil, pays indiscriminate homage to the sex; he would never dream of addressing a shop assistant or a concierge without such a salute. Under no circumstances whatsoever must a lady in France take the initiative; it is for a man to proclaim himself her real servitor, for her to accept his obeisance."

"'A married French woman never enjoys her fortune till she dies,' once observed an old French lady to me, 'that is to say, she cannot touch a fraction without her husband's consent. We cannot buy a silk dress with our own money till we first get our husband's leave.'"

"As we all know, every French girl of means and position is in precisely the condition of a royal princess. Under no circumstances whatever must she so much as cross the street to post a letter alone. To invite a school fellow to the house without first asking permission, to take up a book before consulting her mother as to its suitability, would never enter her head."

RAISINS GO HIGHER

California Growers Boost Prices Skyward

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 6.—Midnight last night the board of directors of the California raisin growers' company announced the prices it will ask for raisins this year. The prices are higher than they ever were before except in 1903, when the extremely high prices caused disaster to the old association.

The new schedule was arranged on what is known as the 4½-cent or sweat box basis as follows: Loose raisins, 4 crown, 6½ cents per crown; 3 crown, 6 cents; 2 crown 5¾ cents; seeded raisins, fancy, 16-ounce 8½ cents; fancy 12-ounce, 6 5-8 cents; choice 16-ounce 8 cents; choice 12-ounce 6 3-8 cents.

HILLSBORO PLANNING NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Board Selects Committee to Purchase Lot. Patterson Institute Building May Be Bought

HILLSBORO, Texas, Oct. 6.—The city school board of Hillsboro has appointed a committee to select a lot for a high school building, and has on foot a plan to purchase the Patterson Institute building and move it to a more convenient lot to be selected as provided for. BAD BLOOD WEAKENS THE SYSTEM AND INVITES DISEASE

Every part of the body is dependent on the blood for nourishment and strength, and when from any cause this vital stream of life becomes impoverished or run-down, it invites disease to enter. No one can be well when the blood is impure; they lack the energy that is natural with health, the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the vital energies are at a low ebb, and they suffer from a general broken-down condition of health. The system is weakened and unable to resist the diseases and disorders that are constantly assailing it. The Liver and Kidneys, failing to receive the proper stimulation and nourishment from the blood, grow inactive and dull, and the waste matters and bodily impurities that should pass off through these channels of nature are left in the system to produce Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases or some other blood disorder. When the blood is in this weakened and diseased condition it should be treated with a remedy that is not only thorough, but gentle in its action. S. S. S., a purely vegetable remedy, made of roots, herbs and barks, is just what is needed. It not only cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisons, and enriches and strengthens it, but gently builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. S. S. S. reinvigorates every member of the body, gives tone and vigor to the blood, and as it goes to the different parts, carries robust health and strength. S. S. S. acts more promptly and gives better results than any other medicine. It cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases and all other blood disorders, and cures them permanently. Our Medical Department will be glad to give advice without charge to all suffering with blood or skin diseases. Address

"WHEN IT WAS DARK"

What Clergy of All Creeds Say of this Book

"WHEN IT WAS DARK" the tremendously powerful new religious novel which was made the subject of a remarkable sermon by the Bishop of London at Westminster Abbey, in which he advised every one to read it, has now stirred the American clergy as no work of fiction has ever stirred religious sentiment before.

The Texas rights to print thisowerful story in serial form have been obtained by The Fort Worth Telegram. The first instalment of the complete novel will appear in next Sunday's issue, by arrangement with G. P. Putnam's Sons, owners of the American copyright.

On this page appear expressions of opinion of the book's great moral value from leading American clergymen who have read it.

"Worthy the Pen of a Shakespeare"

THE REV. JOHN MERRITTE DRIVER, Pastor People's Church, New York.

For vastness and daring of conception, originality of treatment, dramatic surprises and denouements, rush and thrill of recital, passionate and blood-red fervor, yet never becoming perfervid, and in the main brilliancy of literary arrangement and execution, "When It Was Dark," the story of a great conspiracy, is a great book.

I read the 391 pages of the book at a single sitting. It is so vivid, realistic and passionate one could easily believe it was flung off at a single writing. Much of it is as swift, virile and furious as anything that came from Byron and Shelley, though with none of their occasional coarseness.

At least one chapter is worthy of the pen of a Shakespeare. The argument ad hominum excoriation of Mrs. Humphrey Ward, as Lucy Armstrong, is one of the keenest and fiercest pieces of polished invectives we remember to have read. The veiled reference to Bradlaugh, Gladstone and other English notables remind one of the political novels of the younger Disraeli.

The leading characters are real flesh-and-blood people and not wire-worked automata; especially Gortre, the author the book, Spencer, Father Ripon, Llewellyn, Schaube, Sir Michael Manichoe, Gertrude Hunt. From necessity "liberals" and Unitarians are severely dealt with, but never roughly or uncouthly. The rejoicings of Unitarians over the discrediting of Christ and the downfall of Christianity is a lurid and immensely suggestive bit of writing.

The portrayal of the results upon the pagan world and upon the social, philanthropic and business life of the Christian world of such a discovery is the work of a master hand. Strangely enough, ever and anon in the onward rush and wavering retreat of this Titanic struggle between gigantic persons and principles, there creep in occasional light gleams and music notes that are most restful and delightful. Those who are familiar with London, Dieppe and Jerusalem will be charmed with the author's descriptive searchlight flashes and hurried but true to life silhouettes.

Should the book be widely read, as it probably will be, it will give great offence in certain circles and there will undoubtedly be many heated indignant rejoinders, all of which will be very illuminating and by no means unprofitable. After all is said, "When It Was Dark," the story of a great conspiracy, is a great book, a genuinely great book, and we believe its publication in serial form by the American and Journal and other papers and its circulation among the people will result in great good.

"Nothing Less Than Wonderful," Says the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady

BY THE REV. CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY.

I have just finished reading "When It Was Dark."

Contrary to my practice, which is to give no public commendation of books unless they are sent me for review by some literary paper or magazine, I write in behalf of this story.

Not for a long time have I read anything at once so strong and so enthralling. There are many criticisms which might be made, the chief being that the means is not adequate to the end. I cannot imagine that such a discovery with such an indorsement could produce such consequences in the world; but granted that it might do so, the author has worked out and developed the resultant appalling catastrophe with a skill and force which is nothing less than wonderful. It moved me profoundly.

I have no interest in the sale of the book, of course, but if what I have written shall serve to promote its wider circulation among men I shall feel that I have done humanity a service.

THE REV. WILLIAM B. LEACH, Pastor Fulton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago.

"When It Was Dark," to my mind, is one of the most remarkable books of the century. The story is a most powerful one, dealing as it does with some of the most tremendous facts in Biblical lore. And it is certainly most interestingly written.

THE REV. W. R. CARWARDINE, Pastor Ada Street Methodist Church.

"When It Was Dark" is a story truly daring in its conceptions and one well worthy the serious consideration of every student of the Bible and believer in the Messiahship of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. It is a book that cannot be read by either a believer or unbeliever without being much benefited thereby.

THE REV. JOHN D. PICKLES, PH. D., Pastor of St. John's Methodist Epispal Church, Boston.

I have read "When It Was Dark" with absorbing interest. It is marvellously conceived and as remarkably developed. It is powerfully written and is a great book.

REV. ALBERT E. GEORGE.

The book is truly fascinating. To make a theological atmosphere interesting and attractive in fiction has been accomplished by the author. The book will give hope and instill confidence in the realities of the Christian faith. It is well worth reading, and the shifts in its scenes are always interesting—in fact, spectacular; but Christianity is a deeper reality in human life than it has aimed to teach.

HENRY CORNELL WILSON, Christian Science Reader and Chairman State Publication Committee of the Church of Christ, Scientists.

The book which has so excited England and caused the Bishop of London to refer to it in a sermon tells in many graphic chapters what Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy has said in a brief sentence in "Science and Health":

"There is but one way to heaven and harmony, and Christ shows us the way."

THE REV. RUFUS A. WHITE, Pastor People's Church.

For the preacher this book, "When It Was Dark," will be found full of sermons of the most practical, vitalizing kind. And for all classes of readers the story, as it will appear in the newspapers, will be found full of pathos, tragedy and love.

This is a book that, in my opinion, is destined to accomplish much good, and I am glad to know that permission to publish it in serial form has been granted. It should be read and owned by every Christian minister and be found in every Christian home.

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF

"WHEN IT WAS DARK"

Will Appear

In The Telegram Next Sunday!

¶ All England is excited over this marvelous story, without doubt the greatest religious novel since Ben Hur

¶ Less than a dozen American newspapers have secured the right to print this story serially. The Sunday Telegram will be the only paper printing it in the entire State of Texas

¶ Everybody will be talking about this story from the first installment. The furore created by "In His Steps" in the United States some years ago is nothing to the sensation "When It Was Dark" has created in Great Britain

"The most powerful argument for Christianity ever put in form of narrative fiction"

HOW THE REV. MR. GORTRE DISCOVERED THE CONSPIRATOR

"You speak according to your lights, Mr. Gortre," he said. "I am no Christian, but there is much good in Christianity. My words and writings may have helped to lift the evil of superstition and hereditary influence from the eyes of many men, and in that sense I am an enemy of the Christian faith, I suppose. My sincerity is my only apology—if one were needed. You speak with more harshness and less tolerance than I should have thought it your pleasure or your duty to use."

Gortre arose. "Man," cried the priest with sudden sternness, "I know! You hate our Lord, and would work Him evil. You are as Judas was, for tonight it is given me to read far into your brain."

Schuabe rose quickly from his chair and stood facing him. His face was pallid, something looked out of his eyes which almost frightened the other.

"What do you know?" he cried, as if in a swift stroke of pain. "Who—?" He stopped as if by a tremendous effort.

Some thought came to reassure him.

"Listen," he said. "I tell you, paid priest as you are, a blind man leading the blind, that a day is coming when all your boasted fabric of Christianity will disappear. It will go suddenly and will be swept utterly away. And you, you shall see it. You shall be left naked of your faith, stripped and bare, with all Christendom beside you. Your pale Nazarene shall die amid the bitter laughter of the world, die as surely as He died two thousand years ago, and no man or woman shall resurrect Him. You know nothing, but you will remember my words of tonight, until you also become as nothing and endure the inevitable fate of mankind."

He had spoken with extraordinary vehemence, hissing the words out with a venom and malice, general rather than particular, from which the Churchman shrunk, shuddering. There was such unutterable conviction in the thin, evil voice, that for a moment the pain of it was like a spasm of physical agony.

Schuabe has thrown down the mask; it was even as Gortre said, the soul of Iscariot looked out from those eyes. The man saw the clergyman's sudden shrinking.

The smile of a devil flashed over his face. Gortre had turned to him once more and he saw it. And as he watched, an awful certainty grew within him, a thought so appalling that beside it all that had gone before sank into utter insignificance.

He staggered for a moment and then rose to his full height, a fearful loathing in his eyes, a scorn like a whip of fire in his voice.

Schuabe blanched before him, for he saw the truth in the priest's soul.

"As the Lord of Hosts is my witness," cried Gortre loudly, "I know you now for what you are! You know that Christ is God!"

Schuabe shrank into his chair.

"Antichrist!" pealed out the accusing voice. "You know the truth full well, and, knowing, in an awful presumption, you have dared to lift your hand against God."

Then, there was a dead silence in the room. Schuabe sat motionless by the dying fire.—From "When It Was Dark."

The Tremendously Powerful New Religious Novel Which Has Thrilled All England, and is Now Stirring the American Clergy

Bishop Fallows Urges Clergy and Laity to Read This Epoch-Making Book

By THE RIGHT REV. BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS, Presiding Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

This is a remarkable book.

It is thoroughly original in its conception. It graphically portrays the social, moral and spiritual darkness which would ensue were essential Christianity proven to be untrue.

But it will be severely criticised by the truly Protestant portion of the Church of England. It will be forcibly resented by the Unitarian wing of Christendom as being utterly antagonistic to the real position assumed by them.

But the book will be widely read and will provoke active thought.

The setting of the story is in the very vicinity where I was born. In the parish school of one of the Church of England edifices I received my first instruction. Hence the story has a peculiar interest for me.

I do not wonder at all that the Bishop of London advised his hearers to get the book and read it. I would certainly echo his admonition and earnestly advise the clergy and laity to read this epoch-making book.

I shall refer to it in the prelude to my sermon next Sabbath morning and urge my parishioners to read it.

Its publication by the American newspapers can only result in great good to those who take advantage of this opportunity thus afford them to read it.

"The Literary Sensation of the Century"

THE REV. R. KEENE RYAN, Pastor Garfield Boulevard Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

I have read "When It Was Dark," and in humble judgment it is bound to prove the literary sensation of the century.

I do not wonder that its publication in England has stirred the British empire as no other book has done in years, for it is an epoch making book and one that will inevitably attract world-wide attention.

In wonderful colors, it depicts what would result to the world if for six months the religion of Jesus Christ should lose its hold on the people and His resurrection should in any way be disproved.

This is a story that will appeal powerfully to the women of the land, for the reason that the book goes to show the power of Christ and the truth of His resurrection over her life and destiny, the unalterable love of womankind for Him and the resultant effect upon her and her position in the world should the resurrection ever at any time be disproved.

The story is exceedingly well told and is extremely fascinating throughout.

Constantine Schaube is the central figure of the story.

He is a very wealthy man, highly educated, deeply versed in Biblical lore, but with an inherent aversion for religion, especially the New Testament, and that part of it dealing with the divinity, resurrection and ascension of Jesus.

This man resolves to overthrow the whole Christian structure by disproving the resurrection and consequent claims of Christ.

The suggestion that Schaube and his co-conspirators desired to implant in the minds of all Christians was that the body of Christ had been stolen from the original tomb in order to keep it out of the hands of Christ's enemies and to further fulfill His prophecies.

In this they were highly successful for awhile, and for the space of six months a pall of darkness fell over the entire Christian world, which is most vividly described by the author, Guy Thorne.

Crime increases, morality wanes, the churches become deserted, the clergy lose heart, the marriage relation becomes lax, and all society is demoralized. Chaos and anarchy hold their saturnalia in every city and nation, men forget God and a flood of wickedness and impiety is poured over the earth in a deluge. The flames of battle and revolution light the heavens with a lurid glare.

Then the trick is discovered through the unflagging faith of Basil Gortre. The deception is discovered; the conspiracy is revealed and the pure and undefiled religion of Jesus Christ once more resumes its sway.

The story is graphically told. You cannot forget it. It will haunt you, and yet in a pleasing way. The interest is admirably sustained throughout, and there is not a dull page in it.

The faith of Basil Gortre is sublime, and the heart of the reader is moved to admiration and to tears by his heroic spirit.

Never once does he waver in his faith and allegiance to his Lord and Redeemer.

It is a book that is destined to provoke wide criticism and to do incalculable good.

Already it has been the means of awakening deeper piety in England and the continent, and has caused a tremendous revival of religion to sweep over many parts of the British Isles.

The publication of the story by the American newspapers in serial form will promote interest in the Christian faith and cannot help but aid the cause of true religion throughout the nation.

It should be read by every man and woman in America, and should receive the serious consideration of the clergy of this city.

Ministers all over England are preaching sermons concerning the work, and the same thing should be done here, and such will no doubt prove to be the case here.

R. KEENE RYAN.

THE REV. DR. ROBERT B. BAGNELL, Metropolitan Temple.

A profoundly interesting subject. Such a book can only be a tonic and a stimulant to Christianity, or rather to the people whose Christianity is of the weak and wavering sort.

THE REV. DR. LEWIS L. PARKS, Calvary Church.

If the theme worked out by Mr. Thorne is accepted in the true spirit, "When It Was Dark" becomes a masterpiece, and, in its vivid word-picture of a world without Christ, one of the most powerful aids to Christianity and religious thought ever put on paper.

THE REV. DR. WILLIAM T. CROCKER, Church of the Epiphany.

Avowedly a work of fiction with a strong, set purpose. It will serve to arouse a fervor and an enthusiasm among Christians of the "indifferent" sort. Altogether a fine conception.

THE REV. DR. NATHAN A. SEAGLE, St. Stephen's Church, No. 120 West st Sixty-Ninth Street.

"When It Was Dark" seems to be one of the strongest stories in literature. Any work which attracts thought to the real blessing of Christianity is necessarily valuable.

THE REV. DR. WALLACE McMULLIN, Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church.

The picture of a world plunged into darkness because of the temporary destruction of a belief in the divinity of Christ, of the ultimate righting of a stupendous wrong, and of the gradual emerging of poor, lost, wavering humanity out of darkness into light should teach a lesson never to be forgotten.

STOCKS

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—At times during the first hour the stock market was heavy and some stocks declined quite sharply. The traders were less disposed to buy stocks, believing that the banks would endeavor to get higher rates for loans over Sunday. Rubber, common, was especially weak in consequence of the somewhat unfavorable statement made for the last half year. A report that in the near future the directors of the Republic Steel and Iron Company would authorize a payment of the back dividend on the preferred was the reason given for the buying in that security.

The money market opened at 6¾ per cent, at which very few loans were made. The renewal rate was 7 per most, most of the borrowing being made at that figure up to noon. The announcement that over $4,000,000 had been engaged from Paris for shipment to this country was followed by a covering movement, bringing prices nearly back to last night's level. The market was almost wholly professional and uninteresting. The close was practically unchanged, aside from advances of 2 points in A. L. and 1 in Chesapeake and Ohio.

IS DEVOTED SUITOR OF MISS ALICE

Illinois Congressman's Attention to President's Daughter Taken as Matter of Course

Members of the Taft party returning from the orient say the romance in which Miss Alice Roosevelt and Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio are the principal figures seems likely to find a natural ending at the altar at no distant day, when Miss Roosevelt will become Mrs. Longworth. Mr. Longworth was most attentive to Miss Roosevelt at all times on the trip. It is said he rescued her from a perilious situation on a trip which some members of the party took to Mindanao.

Miss Roosevelt, Mr. Longworth and several other members of the party will return on the steamship Siberia.

ASSISTANCE PROFFERED

Sheriff's Office Sends Offer of Help to Edna

The sheriff's office here was in communication over the telephone with the sheriff at Edna, Texas, Thursday night in regard to assistance being required in the search for the negro, Gibson. The sheriff there reported that they had as many men as could possibly be used and that the work was going on as well as could be expected.

It is very probable, however, that if Edna were not so far away there would be some volunteers from Fort Worth, attracted by the big reward that is now offered, even though assistance is not being asked.

The mortgage is alleged to cover all the material used by Russell in his gallery. The deputy returned with his prisoner to Whitewright.

COTTON

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The cotton market opened weak at a decline of 9 to 12 points and soon increased the loss to a matter of 24 to 25 points, under active liquidation and bear pressure inspired by lower cables and reports that a prominent Texas authority predicted the crop 25 to 30 per cent in excess of the popular expectations and had advised farmers to market the crop as rapidly as possible.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING PLANNED

Need of Increased Room Being Discussed—Will Be Referred to Board

Plans are being discussed for the erection of an additional high school building in this city.

Owing to the fact that there is a full attendance at the Fort Worth High school this year fourteen teachers having an average of thirty-eight pupils each, there is a strong feeling existing among the teachers, pupils and parents for better accommodations there for next year.

This will necessitate the new building. While no definite plans have been announced, it is presumed that the school board will act favorably to such a requirement, when the matter is brought to its attention. At the last meeting of the board pressing business occupied the attention of the session and it is stated that Superintendent Hogg probably will call the attention of the board to the matter at its next session.

The congestion of pupils in rooms at the high school building has been the subject of much comment by pupils in attendance at the building and has been spoken of by teachers in chapel talks at the opening exercises from time to time.

It is understood that it will be the effort of all interested to secure the location of the desired new building on the same lot with the high school and facing Hemphill street. This, it is asserted, will give plenty of room for playgrounds, and will place all the high school pupils in constant touch with each other, the superintendent being thus enabled to give more time to the different grades of high school work.

The matter of a new high school building probably will be discussed at the regular school board meeting Monday, Nov. 6.

FRIDAY'S REVIEW AND SALES

Very light receipts of cattle today, 1,200 head, making 14,346 for the week.

Steers

The steer market was illy supplied for market purposes, all steers being on the feeder order, some of the best of these sold at $3.40, a price called steady with the week's slight recession. The bulk of sales was at $2.50 and $3.25. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
23.....	1,114	$3.40	12.....	1,055	$3.25
1.....	830	2.50

Cows and Heifers

The main part of the day's supply of adult cattle consisted of butcher cows of somewhat uncertain quality. The good demand for butcher cows still keeps up, and the light supply caused prices to firm up a trifle, and more activity to prevail in the selling. Top cows sold at $2.50, with the bulk of car lot sales going within the range of $1.60 and $2. Sales:

Calves

Calves made almost as much of a show as to numbers as all the other kinds of cattle, 500 being in the pens. Packers are still in search of choice vealers and unable to fill the urgent orders. Calves of this character advanced a quarter, selling at $4.40. Fat heavy calves keep up the recent advance, mostly landing $2.50@3. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	2Ave.	Price.

Hogs

The run of hogs fell away somewhat, the supply reaching 1,500. The quality was measurably good, since ten out of the nineteen loads came from Indian Territory and Oklahoma points. On these the market was strong to 5c higher, but medium and light hogs sold 10c to 15c lower. Pigs again commanded better prices. Hog tops, $5.30, with the bulk at $5.10@5.25; pigs, $4@4.50. Sales:

Sheep

No sheep on the market.

TRADE ITEMS

Never breed an unsound horse. Remember that "like begets like."

Water horses as often as possible; a little at a time is better than excess at long intervals.

Before determining to allow the ewes to be fed early due preparations should be made for the lambs that may be expected.

The pig intended for breeding should not be crowded by high feeding, but crowd the market pig and get him to market just as soon as you can.

The brood sow will keep healthier and breed better if she is allowed plenty of exercise. There is nothing better for her than the range of a good pasture.

The summer of 1905 has been a phenomenal one in a beef-making sense. Grass came early both in native pastures and on the range and its growth has been luxuriant. Feed galore has literally gone to waste and cheap gains have been made in most sections of the country.

Exercise is quite as important as feed; for a stallion is easily ruined if fed high and giver little or no exercise. Right care and management should be given to every good stallion to get good results.

While sheep will give a larger profit than any other animal on the farm, the wool, the mutton lambs and manure must contribute.

POSTAL CLERKS STRIKE

Refuse to Accept Lower Salary at Goldfield Office

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Oct. 6.—Owing to a reduction of the salaries of the clerks at the postoffice here from $120 a month to $80 a month by directions from Washington, ten men walked out of the office and were only persuaded to return by Postmaster Collins personally guaranteeing them their former salary. Ten new civil service men from San Francisco will take the places of the old force at the lower salary.

ORDINANCE NO.....

An ordinance granting to G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right and franchise to construct, maintain and operate a street railway over and upon certain streets in the city of Fort Worth, and to erect and maintain poles and overhead trolley wires thereon.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Fort Worth, and by the duly qualified voters of said city at an election upon a referendum in accordance with the law in such cases made and provided:

Section 1. That in consideration of the stipulations and agreements hereinafter contained, to be kept and performed by G. E. Montgomery and his assigns, and subject to the limitations herein set forth, the city of Fort Worth, a municipal corporation in the county of Tarrant and state of Texas, has granted and does hereby grant to the said G. E. Montgomery of Tarrant county, Texas, and to his assigns, the right of way for a single track street car line, together with all necessary switches, side tracks and turn outs, over, along and upon the following streets and portions of streets, within the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth, to-wit:

Commencing on Arlington Boulevard at the point where same is intersected by the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth; thence eastward on said boulevard to the bridge over Clear Fork of Trinity river; thence eastward over and upon said bridge and across said river; thence east on West Seventh street to Penn street; thence south on Penn street to Texas street; thence east on Texas street to Monroe street; thence north on Monroe street to Jackson street; thence east on Jackson street to Throckmorton street; thence south 30 degrees east on Throckmorton street to Fifteenth street; thence east 30 degrees north on Fifteenth street to Jones street; thence north 30 degrees west on Jones street to Ninth street; thence west 30 degrees south on Ninth street to and across Houston street; thence in a direction a little west of south on the street lying southeastward from and adjacent to the Carnegie library building to and upon Throckmorton street to a convenient point of junction near the city hall with the line as hereinbefore set forth; and also from the above mentioned line on Fifteenth street where it crosses Houston street, and forming a junction and connection with said line, thence south 30 degrees east on Houston street to Front street; thence eastward on Front street as near as practicable to the track of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company to and upon Main street to a point as near as practicable to the Northern Texas Traction Company's tracks; and the right is hereby granted to cross any and all street car tracks that may be intersected by said line of railway.

Sec. 2. That upon the conditions, limitations and considerations aforesaid and hereafter mentioned, the said city of Fort Worth has granted and does hereby grant unto the said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right to construct, equip and maintain along and upon each of the said streets and portions of streets as set forth in section 1, hereof, a single line of street car track with all necessary switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and all necessary poles and wires and overhead equipment for propelling electric street cars by an overhead trolley system, and the right to operate street cars along and over its said tracks, to carry goods and passengers for hire upon and over said tracks, and to do all other things necessarily incident to the rights and privileges in this ordinance expressly granted.

Sec. 3. All tracks laid under the provisions of this ordinance, except switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and except at places where turns are made, and where the street is partially occupied by some other street car track, shall be laid and kept as nearly in the middle of the street as is practicable, and the top of each rail of each and every part of said track and the space between the rails shall be kept level with the surface of the street alongside, and the tracks, rails, poles, wires and all other equipment shall be of standard quality, and so constructed and maintained that travel upon said streets shall not be unnecessarily obstructed or endangered at any place, and all matters of construction and maintenance shall be under the supervision of, and subject to the approval of the city engineer and city electrician and the city council. All rails on portions of streets that are now, or shall hereafter be paved shall be first-class nine-inch grooved rails, and shall be laid in such manner as to make the least possible obstruction to vehicles, and shall be maintained in that condition.

Sec. 4. The said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall at his or their own and sole cost and expense, pave and repave, or otherwise surface and resurface and keep constantly in good order and condition with the same material with which the street outside is paved or surfaced, all that part of each street occupied by him or them which lies between the rails of said tracks, and for eighteen inches on each side thereof, and the said Montgomery, or his assigns, shall conform his or their tracks and every part thereof to the proper grade of each street, and change the level of said tracks as often as and whenever the grade of any such street is changed, so that every part of each track shall always be kept at the duly established grade line, or as near thereto as the surface of the grade of the street outside of the said track will permit.

Sec. 5. The city engineer shall direct and point out the places at which poles erected under this ordinance shall be set, provided, however, that no poles shall be set in violation of any city ordinance.

Sec. 6. The rights, privileges and franchises granted by this ordinance shall exist and continue in favor of said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns for a period of twenty-five years from and after the date of the passage of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. Said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall have thirty days in which to accept this ordinance, and the provisions thereof, and shall do so by filing with the city secretary of Fort Worth his or their written acceptance, and shall have six months from the date of said acceptance in which to begin the construction of said road, and twelve months in which to finish and equip said road.

Sec. 8. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

ORDINANCE NO. 944

An ordinance providing for the separation of white and negro passengers on the street cars of the city of Fort Worth.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Fort Worth:

That whereas the indiscriminate seating and commingling of white and negro passengers on street cars causes affrays, disturbances of the peace and makes travel thereon unsafe and insecure,

Section 1. That every street railway company, lessee, manager, receiver or owner thereof operating street cars in the city of Fort Worth as carriers of passengers for hire, shall provide and require that all white passengers boarding their cars for transportation or passage shall take seats in the forward or front end of the car filling the car from the front end, and that all negro passengers boarding their cars for transportation or passage shall take seats in the back or rear end of the car, filling the car from the back or rear end.

Section 2. The term "negro" as defined herein includes every person of African descent as the same is defined by the statutes of the state of Texas, and all persons not included in the definition of negro as above defined shall be deemed white persons within the meaning of this ordinance.

Section 3. Any street railway company, lessee, manager, receiver or owner thereof which shall fail to provide and require that all white passengers desiring seats shall take seats and fill the car from the front end as herein provided, or which shall fail to provide and require that all negro passengers desiring seats shall take seats and fill the car as herein provided from the back or rear end, shall be liable for each and every such failure to a penalty of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars to be recovered by the city of Fort Worth in any court having competent jurisdiction, and each failure to comply with the provisions of this section on any street car operated in the city of Fort Worth shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 4. The conductors on all street car in the city of Fort Worth shall have authority to refuse any passenger or person the right to sit or stand in any street car in the city of Fort Worth unless such passenger or person shall comply with the provisions of this ordinance, and such conductors shall have the right also to remove from any street car any passenger who does not comply with the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 5. If any passenger upon any street car in the city of Fort Worth, after having been forbidden to do so by the conductor in charge of said car, shall attempt to ride on the said street car in any place other than the place pointed out to such passenger and other than a proper place for him to ride under the provisions of this ordinance, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined upon conviction not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars.

Section 6. The provisions of this ordinance shall not be construed so as to prohibit nurses from riding in the same end of the car with their employers, even though of different race, and shall not prohibit officers from riding with prisoners in their charge in the same end of the car, even though they be of different race.

Section 7. The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to any excursion car or special car run strictly as such for the exclusive benefit of either race, but in all such cases said cars shall be plainly marked "Excursion Car" or "Special Car."

Section 8. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force immediately after its passage and publication as required by law.

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so sly that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse menstruation, accompanied by unusual pain, from the ovaries down the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice free of all charge if you will write her about yourself. Your letter will be seen by women only.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my monthlies stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor on the uterus and would have to undergo an operation.

"Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After trying five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my monthlies around once more, and I am entirely well."—Fannie D. Private Secretary to Ramsey Declares His Principal Has Not Been Overthrown

E. L. Keyser, private secretary to Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash system, is in the city today on his way to the Pacific coast to spend his vacation. Before leaving for the west Mr. Keyser will spend a few days with an uncle at Bryson, near Graham, on the Rock Island.

Speaking of the struggle between Mr. Ramsey and Mr. Gould for supremacy of the Wabash system, Mr. Keyser said when shown the action of the directors of the Wabash in ousting Ramsey, that the fight is not finished yet and that Mr. Ramsey will remain in the struggle to the bitter end. The clash between the two interests, Mr. Keyser says, is a difference of policy that is to dominate the Wabash system.

Of course, Mr. Keyser was not able to say what the outcome will be in the struggle, but he believs that Mr. Ramsey is able to hold his own in the fight that is being waged.

SANTA FE CUT OFF

Plans of System Involve Extensive Construction

The route of the long projected cut-off to connect the lines of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system in Southern Texas with its main line to the Pacific coast, has just been made public by the announcement that a charter has been issued to the Gulf, Santa Fe and Northwestern to build a road from Brownwood in Brown county, which town is on the Gulf system, northwesterly to Texico on the Pecos Valley line, near the New Mexico boundary, a distance of approximately 350 miles.

A further description of the plans of the Santa Fe in regard to this cut-off appeared in the Railway Age of a recent date, as follows:

"Between Texico and Rio Puerco, N. M., on the Santa Fe Pacific, thirty miles west of Albuquerque, the Santa Fe has for some time had a line under construction, under the title of the Eastern New Mexico railway, on which work is being pushed with large forces. The distance is 275 miles. Thus, by the construction of 625 miles of road between Brownwood and Rio Puerco, the Santa Fe will have a very direct line between Galveston on the gulf and San Francisco on the Pacific. This line would be a total of 2,138 miles in length.

"By the Southern Pacific the distance from Galveston to San Francisco is 2,184 miles, or forty-six miles more than by the new route of the Santa Fe. From Galveston to Los Angeles by the Santa Fe the distance will be 827, compared with 1,702 miles by the more southerly route of the Southern Pacific, leaving the advantage in this case with the Southern Pacific by 125 miles.

"It has for some time been supposed to be the intention of the Santa Fe to extend its San Angelo branch west to El Paso, thus giving a practicable connection with its California line, but the alternative of extending from Brownwood, on that branch, to Texico, which has been adopted, is a natural result of the decision to build between Texico and the Pacific line, in order to secure a route from Chicago to the Pacific coast by way of the existing line through the Texas Panhandle, which will avoid the heavy grades and abundant curvatures of the present main line by way of La Junta and Albuquerque.

"In addition to this the long main line through an apparently unpromising country, there will also be built a branch about 125 miles long north to a connection with the Pecos Valley line near Amarillo, which will give the northerly portion of the Panhandle direct connection with the gulf."

TURN THE CAN AROUND

and you will learn what is the "power behind the dough." In the high-class powders it is cream of tartar, extracted from clean, delicious grapes, and that is healthful. In the low-grade powders it is "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

Of what use are twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents, if eight of these ounces are alum?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged!

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. When buying baking powder, examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows it to be free from alum.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"The cotton acreage of this year along the lines of the International and Great Northern railroad is 20 per cent less than last year," said Leroy Trice to a reporter for The Telegram yesterday.

"While I am not prepared to make a very close estimate as to the yield per acre, it will be fairly good. The general opinion obtains that the farmers are to have prosperity this fall and the general outlook for all crops is decidedly good.

"Weather conditions during the season have been favorable to the tiller of the soil, for the most part, and the future outlook is likewise good."

Mr. Trice's car was attached to the Texas and Pacific westbound train yesterday afternoon.

WORKING ON STREETS

Repairs Being Made in Second Ward at Present

There is a decided improvement being made in the condition of the residence streets in the Second ward. Gravel is being placed on many of the streets that have been washed out by the recent rains. A large force of men is doing the work.

As a general proposition the residence streets are being placed in better condition than are the business thoroughfares which are very much in need of cleaning up.

LOCAL RAILROAD MEN GO OVER NEW ROUTE

Arlington Heights Traction Company Builders Go to Oklahoma

W. P. Engle and associates interested in the construction of the Arlington Heights street car line, left Thursday afternoon for Lawton, Okla., where they go to look into the proposition of constructing an interurban line from Lawton to Fort Sill, a distance of forty or fifty miles.

Plans for the construction of this road, which will likely be one in the chain projected for the southwest, have been printed in The Telegram.

The solid construction of the local line running from this city, with heavy joints and rails, is taken as a significant fact, in view of the interest displayed by the owners in other lines.
